LAST MINUTE EFFORT TO PREVENT RAIL STRIKE

FIVE KILLED IN AUTO-TRUCK ACCIDENT NEAR GRANBY

World News In Brief

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The cost of living is soaring with summer temperatures all over the United States.

In a single month meat prices have advanced from four to 14 cents a pound; butter has gone up three to six cents a pound; milk is a cent a quart higher in many places.

A survey by The Associated Press of the high cost of living in 15 key United States cities showed $1 a pound was the common price for the "cheaper" cuts of steak in many cities.

Paris, July 14.—(AP)—France observed Bastille Day today in an atmosphere of labor unrest. Wage walkouts have made 100,000 Frenchmen idle and threatened to affect 1,000,000 Government workers.

The gloomy labor scene brightened slightly last night when strikers in French airports, who had slowed plane traffic almost to a halt, agreed to return to work, terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

Meanwhile Premier Robert Schuman negotiated with union leaders to prevent a further spread of the walkouts.

Rome, July 14.—(AP)—Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's leading Communist, was shot and severely wounded today as he emerged from the Chamber of Deputies building. One doctor who saw him expressed the belief he would live.

His assailant was arrested. First reports identified the man as Michele Ballante da Raddazzi, a 25-year-old student from Catania Province, Sicily. He was described as an ardent Nationalist with no party affiliation.

The attack came at the height of a new drive by Italian Leftists to upset the mid-of-the-road government of Premier Alcide de Gasperi. Both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate suspended their sessions.

CONDITION OF CHARLES ABBOTT UNCHANGED

Latest reports from the Montreal Neurological Institute indicate that the condition of Charles Abbott who underwent a critical brain operation for the removal of a bullet, believed self-inflicted after the slaying of his wife Sunday evening, is still critical. Some days may elapse before there is any major change in his condition.

Southern Democrats Still Battle Equal Rights Plank

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Philadelphia, July 14.—The Democrats today threatened to bring their intra-party fight into the open at the National convention as the rebellious Southern states remained adamant against a platform plank assuring equal treatment for Negroes.

The 1,596 delegates were offered the chance to complete the nominations today of President Truman as presidential candidate and Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky for Vice-President—and go home.

But the platform writers, a committee of 108, had been unable to reach a compromise on a civil rights plank that would keep the insurgent Southerners quiet.

The "solid" Southern states, always for the Democratic party, have been angry at President Truman ever since he asked Congress to enact legislation abolishing the poll tax, ending segregation between Negroes and whites and making lynching a federal crime. The South regards such legislation as a violation of states' rights.

Three weeks ago the Republicans put a civil rights plank in their platform, unimpaired of the South which they cannot depend upon for support in any event.

With the Democrats it is different.

Special Cabinet Session To Follow Mitchell's Parleys With Rail Union Executives

Again Brands Duplessis As A Dictator

Godbout Declares That Autonomy and Communism Issues Used As Smokescreen to Cover Scandals.

St. Aubert, Que., July 14.—(AP)—Liberal Leader Adélard Godbout said here yesterday it was not the Ottawa Government that was giving away "our wealth" to strangers but the Government of the Province.

He charged that the majority of road contracts in Quebec under the Duplessis administration went to "millionaire contractors—the McNamaras and Franceschinis" of Toronto and the "Ediker" construction firm of Niagara Falls.

Mr. Godbout, addressing four separate meetings yesterday in villages of his home county of L'Islet where he seeks re-election in the July 28 Provincial election, said the Government had wasted millions on the Quebec-Chicoutimi highway.

"And all these jobs are being done by men from Ontario who do not speak our language," he said. "I had the proof of this returning from Chicoutimi since I spoke to more than 15 workers who did not understand me because I spoke to them in French."

He criticized the use of heavy road machinery "hired at $15 an hour by the year which was costing the Province more than $100,000 a month."

"To hide these scandals," he said, "The Premier has erected a smoke screen" in putting forward Provincial autonomy and Communism as election issues.

He said the Premier has subjected Quebec to the strictest dictatorship in its history. "You have only to recall the manner in which the Government leader has treated municipal councils, school commissions, professional associations and labor unions to find the truth of my words."

Labor Leaders Refuse Any Comment On Results of Talks Designed To Avert Nation-Wide Railway Strike Tonight.

By JOHN LEBLANC, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, July 14.—(AP)—An hour and a half before a cabinet meeting scheduled to discuss the railway wage strike threat, Labor Minister Mitchell went into conference with heads of 18 international unions.

A half-hour later, heads of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, representing the other union men affected in the dispute, also were called into conference with the Minister.

Meanwhile, less than 24 hours before the deadline for a strike which would cripple Canada's rail transportation, the Cabinet prepared to meet in an 11th-hour emergency session to discuss the situation.

As the international union men emerged from Mr. Mitchell's office and the C.B.R.E. representatives filed in, Frank H. Hall, chairman of the committee negotiating for the 122,000 members of the 18 international brotherhoods said simply:

"The chips are down. The final figures are under discussion."

Government Financing Plans Shift

Three American Insurance Companies Purchase $150,000,000 In Bonds To Replace U.S. Bank Loan.

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

Ottawa, July 14.—(AP)—Canada has switched her current borrowing in the United States to the open financial market.

This, in effect, is the meaning of Finance Minister Abbott's announcement yesterday that the government is selling $150,000,000 in long-term bonds to three American insurance companies.

The financing replaces, although it doesn't entirely eliminate, the $300,000,000 loan negotiated last fall with the United States Export-Import Bank—which was virtually borrowing from the United States Government.

The $150,000,000 will be used in the main to pay off $140,000,000 already received from the Export-Import Bank, and that much of last year's deal is wiped out and can't be re-borrowed. It leaves

Three Montreal Sisters And Two Companions Died From Injuries: Local Child Dies

(Special to Record)

Granby, July 14.—A blinding cloud of dust on the highway between St. Paul d'Abbotsford and St. Césaire brought death to five persons yesterday when a pleasure vehicle containing a party of Montreal residents struck a heavily-loaded gravel truck about two miles beyond Abbotford and some seven miles from this city.

The dead, including three sisters, and their two companions, all from Montreal, were: Gisèle Levasseur, 18, Joseph Salvail, 30, the driver of the car, Gertrude Bouchard, 28, Rose-Aimée Bouchard, 17, and Pierrette Bouchard, 15. Pierrette succumbed to her injuries in St. Joseph's Hospital early this morning, while one of the victims died in the ambulance on the way to the hospital and the others succumbed during the night.

According to eyewitnesses a dense cloud of dust obscured Salvail's vision and caused him to swerve into the path of an oncoming truck which was loaded with more than 10 tons of gravel. The tragedy occurred about 3:30 yesterday afternoon and the victims were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Granby, where they were attended by Dr. St. Jean and other Granby physicians.

According to the Provincial Police, Jean-Paul Ricard, 25, of nearby St. Césaire, driver of the truck, escaped with a few scratches.

Traffic Officer Honorius Beaudry was called to the scene of the accident.

Death Takes Ex-Chief Of Opposition

Hon. R. B. Hanson, Progressive Conservative House Leader in 1940, Dies After Lengthy Illness.

R. B. HANSON

Fredericton, July 14.—(AP)—Hon. Richard Burrage Hanson, lawyer-politician who argued every inch of the way in court or Commons, died in hospital here early today after two weeks' illness. He was 69.

As House Leader he guided Progressive Conservative Parliamentary strategy for three critical war years after the Liberal sweep of 1940 left his party numerically weak.

An imposing figure in his front opposition bench, Mr. Hanson was always impeccably dressed in the semi-formal manner of an earlier generation. He always wore wing-collars, frequently used a gray waistcoat under a black cutaway and waved his black-ribboned glasses to emphasize a point.

When the late R. J. Manion and his Conservative forces were overwhelmingly defeated in the 1940 general election, Mr. Hanson, one of two former Ministers of the last Cabinet of the late Viscount Bennett left in the House, assumed the Parliamentary leadership.

He held the vital post and responsibility of Leader of the Opposition during the war years to 1943 when Canada was in the controversial throes of mobilization and the Allies' fortunes of war were low.

In 1943 Hon. John Bracken assumed national leadership of the party. Mr. Bracken did not enter the Commons until after the 1945 general election and in the meantime the House Leadership was assumed by the then-young Gordon Graydon, Member for Peel in Ontario.

But the veteran Mr. Hanson remained as Mr. Graydon's deskmate and by tacit agreement was a sort of second leader of the Opposition. He often seemed to disregard his retirement to a less active Parliamentary role and would jump to his feet ahead of party leaders to protest or argue when he felt an attack should be made on Government legislation.

He was ably fitted for the role of Opposition leader and assumed his responsibilities with a zeal that ensured the closest scrutiny of the tremendous wartime expenditures and unprecedented wartime powers which Parliament

HOLLYWOOD'S NEW WAR FILMS SHOULD MAKE EX-GIS HAPPY

Hollywood—Hollywood's post-war pictures should make ex-veterans happy. All of the studios are avoiding the sugary sentimentality and the rough comedy (where femmes are concerned) of post-World War I movies.

Raoul Walsh, directing Warner's "Fighter Squadron," was behind the camera on the famous "What Price Glory." He says: "I couldn't get away with those type of characters on the screen today."

If there's such a feud between Pette Davis and Robert Montgomery on the "June Bride" set, as some people insist, how come Pette wrote a glowing by-line story about Bob for a news syndicate?

Lauren Bacall already has made reservations at Cedars of Lebanon hospital to keep that date with the stork in January. But why under an assumed name? That baby will get more publicity than Lana Turner's wedding.

The inside of Lauren's suspension at Warner's for turning down another picture is, I hear, because she wanted the feminine lead opposite Gary Cooper in "The Fountainhead," but lost out to newcomer Pat Neal. Lauren wanted that role as much as she wanted a baby.

"A Dancing Lana" Vera Ellen, didn't seem to click in her movie debut for Sam Goldwyn but, as things sometimes happen in Hollywood, she's now headed for stardom at M-G-M. Vera and Gene Kelly team up for the biggest dance sequence in "Words and Music." The Metro front office is hailing her as "a dancing Lana Turner."

M-G-M is looking for a new title for "Sun in the Morning," which co-stars Jeanette MacDonald, Claude Rains and Loretta Young. Some wag on the lot suggested "Morning Becomes a Lassie." Nice tribute for Dinah Shore. The Standing Room Only signs are already out for her opening August 20 at the Palladium in London.

You'll be seeing it on the main title of director Ray McCarey's 20th Century-Fox movie, "The Gay Intruders." The characters in this picture are purely imaginary and anyone claiming resemblance or similarity ought to be ashamed to admit it.

It always happens department: Despite their political views, which she blamed in her divorce, Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan have been lunching together on the Warner lot.

Looks like Leif Erickson has the oddest stage role of the year in the Broadway-bound fantasy "That's the Ticket." He plays a knight who has been dead 600 years and goes through the entire play in a full suit of armor.

Benny Is Tops If there's any question that Jack Benny is the No. 1 personality in show business today, he broke every existing box-office record with his personal appearances in Detroit and Cleveland before going to Europe.

Inflation note: Deanna Durbin paid $85,000 for songwriter Jimmy McHugh's home.

Robert Young, the railroad magnate who owns a couple of film companies, is continually mistaken for Robert Young, the actor. When he went to England, the telephone operators at his hotel called down and asked if they could have a dozen autographed pictures, saying: "We just loved you in your last picture."

His favorite story of the confusion is about the time he testified before the ICC on his desire to take control of the New York Central railroad. He had quite a rough cross-examination at the hearing. He wasn't very encouraged to see on his way back to his hotel, a big movie marquee reading: Robert Young in "They Won't Believe Me."

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

If Thomas E. Dewey is elected President, it's my belief that he'll go even further to the left than Roosevelt did. As I see it, it's the inevitable conclusion to one of the most interesting, pre-arranged, razzmatazz careers of our time.

Let me tell you why I think Tom will walk out on the big money boys exactly as the Squire of Hyde Park did in 1932.

To begin at the beginning, it's pretty well known that the public prominence of Governor Dewey is no accident. From the day he bought his first brief case, he has conducted himself like a man who had an engagement with a chapter in this history books. If you doubt it, here's a quick rundown of his career.

In 1935, he was appointed special prosecutor by Governor Lehman and assigned the job of breaking up the smelly alliance between the politicians and gangsters of New York. It was more or less a routine appointment, but there was nothing routine about the way the 33-year-old attorney went into action. With a sharp eye for the spectacular, he staged a series of lightning raids and arrests, and for the next two years he was seldom off the front page.

On the strength of his gang-busting record, he got to be governor. In Albany he walked fast, stuck to the middle of the road and didn't take any wooden nickels. When the script called for it, he was for labor. When his act needed a change of pace, he was for capital. Never leading with his left or his right, he played it safe—battling for precincts rather than principles.

Once, after staging a U.S.O. benefit at Madison Square Garden under his chairmanship, I sat down and chinned with him, off the cuff and off the record. If I ever saw a gent with electric lights in his eyes and an applause-meter for a brain, he was it. My impression, then as now, was that Thomas E. Dewey had big up his mind to be the Mr. Big of our time. And, as of this writing, it looks as if he's going to see his dream come true.

In the face of his lah-dee-dah record, why am I predicting that such a man will desert the middle of the road and start walking to the left once he's in the White House? On what idiotic premise am I basing my prophecy that this darling of the Union League Club will suddenly fall in love with the little people and become their champion?

My premise is a simple one: Only as a champion of the little guy can a career-hungry man in our time go down in the history books as something special. In this, the fifth feverish decade of the Twentieth Century, no President is going to cop more than a footnote in the history books unless he sides with the Have-Littles in their 200-year-old tussle with the Have-Lots.

If Dewey is elected, he and his family will move into the White House around the end of January. Sometime during the first night of his occupancy, Mrs. Dewey will be upstairs inspecting the closet space and the new President will be alone. He figures to go poking around the rooms and halls of the historic mansion where he's going to spend the next four or eight years of his life.

On this tour of inspection, Tom will see a lot of portraits of our former Presidents on the walls. And unless he steps up to look at the name plates, he's only going to recognize a few of the faces. Washington, the patriot; Jefferson, the champion of civil liberties; Lincoln who freed the slaves; Teddy Roosevelt who fought big business; Wilson, the internationalist, and F.D.R. who, in spite of his blunders, fathered a monumental set of social reforms. The Tylers, Van Burens, Polks and Harrisons—if Dewey remembers their faces at all, it will be because he saw them on the high-priced postage stamps.

When he walks into the room which Abe Lincoln once used as an office, the new President may very well wonder why one man is remembered and another forgotten. As he puffs a cigarette, Dewey figures to ask himself some questions: "Where do I go from here? How do I keep from becoming another Harding? What do I have to do to rate bronze statues and a national holiday on my birthday?" For the first time in his career, nobody will be able to do anything for Tom. For the first time in his life, he won't have to worry about reaching for the next rung of the ladder, because there won't be any. When you're President of the United States, you have no future except in people's memories. Put yourself in Dewey's place. Which way would you jump? Would you decide to string along with the few fat cats, or would you make a bid for immortality by fronting for the millions of lean ones? I think it's as simple as all that.

When I predict that Marse Tom is going to carry the ball way left of center, don't get me wrong. I'm not referring to Mr. Stalin's kind of left. I'm talking about those liberal gestures which a courageous President can make within the framework of our Constitution.

Does this column mean that I'm going to thump the tub and vote for Dewey this November? As of right now, I don't know. But I do know I'm not going to be afraid to vote for him. And if I do decide to pull the Dewey lever, it'll be because I confidently expect someday to hear a lot of good Republicans refer to him as "That Man."

Freight Embargo Imposed And Ticket Sales Curtailed As Rail Strike Deadline Nears

With the operations of the Canadian railways threatened by a general walk-out of the workers early tomorrow morning, the transportation concerns have already taken steps to prevent unnecessary loss for shipments in transit. The most drastic step is the order of the Railway Association of Canada which has placed an embargo on the acceptance of freight shipments after midnight tonight. As freight sheds and receiving offices in most centres close at five o'clock, the effective time of the embargo is early this evening.

An embargo was placed in effect last Sunday on the shipment of livestock and perishable commodities.

Already the cancellation of certain long-distance passenger trains has been ordered and a statement by the Railway Association states "Cancellation of passenger trains will begin on Wednesday and those who do travel are again warned they must be prepared to terminate their journeys by midnight Wednesday, July 14."

In addition to the employees of the railways, the commercial telegraphers who operate the telegraph services of the country and the employees of some seventeen railway-owned hotels strung across Canada are also involved in the threatened walk-out.

No general cancellation of trains in this district effective today was reported by railway officials as in most cases those in operation will be able to reach their destination before midnight. However, it is understood that the Canadian Pacific train due here at 8:15 tomorrow morning from Saint John, N.B., will be cancelled if no settlement is announced early this afternoon while Montreal to Saint John trains normally passing through here early this evening will be halted at Sherbrooke.

Instructions have been issued to ticket agents not to sell transportation for journeys which cannot be completed by six o'clock tomorrow morning, the deadline for the walkout. Local passenger agents report that there has been a general cancellation of sleeping and parlor car reservations for long distance trips on the part of the public, which is fearful that they may be unable to return from their trips or perhaps be stranded at some intermediate point.

While many are hopeful of making medium length trips by motor bus, Provincial Transport Company officials were none too optimistic that they could provide substantial relief. A spokesman at the local office declared that lack of reserve equipment would prevent any large-scale duplication of runs. The normal heavy traffic of mid-summer was pressing their coaches to the limit, he said, and he doubted if the present rush service could be expanded.

Post office officials have warned that there will be a drastic curtailment of mail services in the event the strike becomes effective. Effective the moment the strike starts, all mail services within Canada and to and from other countries, will be suspended with the following exceptions:

1.—Ordinary correspondence up to one ounce in weight.
2.—Air mail in the nature of correspondence, without weight limit, prepaid at air mail rates.
3.—Medicines, including analyses, specimens and other similar items prepaid at normal rates.

Except as provided for in the above, no mail will be accepted or carried during the period of the strike. The public is warned to take the fact that many trains will not complete their journeys when mailing parcel post, newspapers, publications and printed matter. A ban on the acceptance of perishables is already in effect.

The Bell Telephone Company is preparing for a sharp increase in the volume of long distance calls, resulting both from the railway strike itself, which is bound to be reflected in calls from shippers and expectant receivers over the non-arrival of goods and the diversion of traffic usually handled by the telegraph system to long distance wires.

Guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday was E. D. Millican, executive director of the Quebec Hospital Service Association, who spoke on the philosophy of Blue Cross.

In his opening remarks the speaker said he felt that a parallel can be drawn between one of the major undertakings of Rotary and the functions of Blue Cross, that mutual aid is the co-ordination of science and religion in devising a means whereby each may help to share the other's burdens.

He traced the rapid growth and expansion of the Blue Cross, said that, without the support of the leaders of communities and organizations such as Rotary, who give of their time without remuneration, the Association could not have achieved the phenomenal success it has in the past fifteen years.

The speaker outlined the many advantages which the Association offers its members in the different categories and quoted statistics to prove the invaluable benefits derived by the subscribers.

Increasing Anglo-American Solidarity Marks Dispute

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

One of the outstanding aspects of current international crisis is the increasing American-British solidarity, a solidarity which forms the backbone of the bloc of democratic nations.

We get a striking demonstration of this in the coordination of effort being displayed in the Berlin crisis. We see it again in the way London has veered around to the Washington viewpoint that the United Nations should use strong methods to halt the war in the Holy Land.

This intensification of unity is due to numerous factors. But foremost is recognition that it is essential for the defence of democracy against Bolshevist aggression which aims at world conquest. Britain and the United States hold the balance of power in this conflict which involves the freedom of mankind.

Then, too, there is a mutual respect for integrity and ability to deliver the goods in emergencies. I'm reminded of a remark made to me the other day in a New York subway by a young Englishman, a stranger to me, who was trying desperately to figure out how to reach his destination.

"I don't see how you folk ever get anywhere," he said gloomily. "But you always arrive, so I suppose you must be right."

That was a backhanded compliment to the United States. It was almost identical with what I've heard Englishmen say of their own country innumerable times.

"We British have an extraordinary faculty for mulling things up—but some way we always manage to muddle through."

It's true that Americans frequently do "arrive" and that Britons as often "muddle through." Both countries recognize this quality in the other, and respect it. And if each also recognizes it in itself, what's wrong with that?

So it isn't strange that the King, in addressing the Anglican Bishops attending the Lambeth Conference in London should appeal for close collaboration between the United States and Britain to assure world peace. "We may not be able to maintain peace, but the consensus of observers seems to be that such collaboration will contribute more towards it than will anything else."

The trend of the struggle for Berlin hinges on solidarity among the democratic countries. The German people recognize this, as witness, banner lines in their newspapers proclaiming that "The whole world is watching the Battle of Berlin." There is no exaggeration, for this may be the turning point in the conflict between Communism and democracy in Europe.

Helicopter New Recruit Of Mounties

Writer Believes That Famous Force May Soon Introduce Helicopter to Increase Efficiency.

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, July 14.—The Mounties' next mechanical recruit may be that yo-yo of the skies, the helicopter.

The distinct possibility is raised by Staff Sgt. D. W. Dawson, A.F.C., in an article of the R.C.M.P.'s aviation section in the Force's quarterly magazine.

"It seems safe to predict that in the not-too-distant future the helicopter will be brought into play," he writes. He lists its abilities to land and take off vertically, to hover and drop supplies, to do rescue work and mercy flights and even traffic control, says its importance in police duties becomes more obvious with time.

The article traces the origin of the aviation section in 1937, its wartime demise, and its post-war return to activities including patrolling the sky, mercy flights, inspection tours, forest-fire ranging and transportation.

It has six planes—land, amphibious and ski types—posted at Regina and Ottawa.

The section allows Mounties to be in one place to, say, testify in court and be back at headquarters the same day; to spend far less time in escorts—even prisoners, it has been found, like air travel even if it lands them in prison sooner; to make bird censuses; to do border patrols; to watch illicit hunting; to relieve the isolation of northern detachments; to get to outlying crime scenes quickly, just about capable of landing on a bandit's back.

voted the government. Hon. Grote Stirling, retired Member for Yale in British Columbia, and former Minister of National Defence, was the other Bennett Government veteran who sat on the front bench with Mr. Hanson.

Mr. Hanson's qualifications for party House leadership included chairmanship of Parliamentary committees on Railways and Telegraphs and Banking and Commerce. He had also served during the Bennett regime as Minister of Trade and Commerce.

He was a big man and did not look unlike his old party chief and fellow New Brunswicker, Viscount Bennett. He was considered a chief of his party in New Brunswick and had some claim to that standing through his long years as successful candidate in the York-Sunbury riding in which this city is located. He held the seat from 1921 to the 1935 general election when the Liberals won the seat. They held it for only one term and Mr. Hanson won it back in 1940. He did not run in the 1945 election but actively supported the party candidate—Lt.-Gen. Ernest Sanson, a Canadian army corps commander during the Second World War.

Gen. Sanson was defeated by the late Fisheries Minister Bridges. The seat is now held by Veterans Minister Gregg. Mr. Hanson was a son of Richard B. Hanson and Hannah P. Mann, of English and Scottish origin. He was born at Beccabee, N.B.

Mr. Hanson was Mayor of Fredericton for two years, 1918-1920, and in 1921 he was elected Member of Parliament for York-Sunbury in a by-election. He represented that constituency in the Commons until 1935 and in 1934 served as Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Cabinet of Hon. R. B. Bennett, later Viscount Bennett.

He was re-elected to Parliament in 1940 and assumed the position of Leader of the Opposition. Called to the New Brunswick Bar in 1902, he was created a King's Counsel in 1917. He was city solicitor for Fredericton from 1920 until 1925.

He was director of several companies, including Fraser Companies and the New Brunswick Telephone Company.

He received his early education at St. Andrews, N.B., High School and later attended Mount Allison University at Sackville, N.B., and Dalhousie University at Halifax, from which he received his law degree.

A member of the United Church of Canada, he was married in 1906 to Jean Balfour Neill of Fredericton. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. George Tompson of Halifax.

was for a 35-cents-an-hour boost. It later was scaled down to 28 and it became known Monday that they were asking something less than that figure. The companies have offered 10 cents.

The Railway Association of Canada announced in Montreal last night that the companies will accept no freight shipments after midnight Wednesday night. This was another indication of the seriousness of the strike threat—the same organization announced last Saturday an embargo on acceptance of livestock and perishable goods.

Last night's announcement said also that, if the strike develops, 17 hotels operated by the Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway "may be unable to provide services to guests" after 10 p.m. tonight.

As the Cabinet prepared for new consideration of the crisis, Mr. Hall said the companies and the unions were still "several cents" apart in their proposals for a compromise of the dispute.

He said Labor Minister Mitchell's last proposal for settlement had been on the basis of an increase of 15½ cents an hour. On the other hand, he declared, the unions felt they were entitled to 28.4 cents to give them the same living standard they enjoyed at the time of their last increase in 1946.

But he declined to say whether the 28.4 cent figure was the one the unions had presented as their latest demand to the companies. The closest he came to naming the figure was to say that it was "much higher" than 17½ cents, which had been suggested in some published reports as the amount at which the unions were ready to settle.

Queen Ingrid Injured In Auto Crash

Two Young Princesses of Danish Royal House Also Hurt—Chauffeur In Serious Condition.

Copenhagen, July 14.—(AP)—Queen Ingrid of Denmark and two of her young daughters were injured today when the Queen's automobile skidded on a slippery road and crashed into a tree.

King Frederik IX drove to the scene from nearby Rosenborg Palace, the Royal summer residence. He helped the Queen and Princesses into ambulances, in which they were taken to a State Hospital at Sønderborg. Their condition was described as not serious.

Police said the Queen was driving the Royal car. The chauffeur was at her side, in the front seat. Princess Margerthe, eight, and Princess Ann Marie, 28 months, were in the back seat. The crash occurred near Lave Wood, north of Graasten, South Jutland.

Queen Ingrid was able to get out of the car herself, although she limped from a fractured knee cap. She carried the two Princess out of the car.

Both the little girls were bleeding from bruises of the face. The chauffeur suffered the most severe injuries—a fractured skull and crushed jaw. His condition was termed serious.

Grain Crops In Western Canada Light

Rains In Sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan Too Late to Offset Earlier Dry Weather.

Ottawa, July 14.—Although field-crop conditions in many parts of Canada are roughly on a par with last year, grain prospects in Western Saskatchewan and some parts of Alberta have pulled down the over-all crop expectancy to "considerably below" that of 1947.

This was reported yesterday by the Bureau of Statistics in two separate reports. One concerned the field crops in Canada as a whole; the other was the eighth in a series of telegraphic reports dealing specifically with the great breadbasket of the Prairies.

Despite recent rains in the west, prospect in the western half of Saskatchewan, in east-central Alberta and to some extent in northern areas of Alberta have not been helped.

"It is too late," the Bureau said, "for any extensive recovery in western and northwestern Saskatchewan and only light yields are anticipated."

On the brighter side, crop conditions continue good in Manitoba, fair to good in eastern and north-central Saskatchewan.

In Ontario the condition of the winter wheat crop is somewhat above last year. Other grain crops show even greater improvement over last year's low points, except in Nova Scotia where wet, cold weather delayed seeding operations and retarded growth.

Delay Advised In B.W.I. Self-Rule

London, July 14.—(Reuters)—Self government should not be given to the British West Indies without due consideration for the inhabitants, Labor Member James Harrison said in the House of Commons last night.

Asking questions about economic conditions in the West Indies, he said self-government "might be a way of avoiding some of our responsibilities, but the people out there do not want independence until some means have been set up by which they can run their own economy."

David Rees Williams, Colonial Undersecretary, said the Colonial Office view was that a solution to the problem of the West Indies could only be found by planning the area as a whole.

For that purpose the Colonial Secretary said he had appointed Sir Hubert Rance, last Governor of Burma, as chairman of a committee to coordinate the common services of the area.

Great progress is being made with the development of plantations and holdings, the Secretary added.

Citizenship Bill Restored By Commons

Amendments to Commonwealth Citizenship Measure Made By House of Lords Rejected By Commons.

London, July 14.—The Citizenship Bill was restored to its original form by the House of Commons yesterday after amendments by the House of Lords.

The bill, after the Commons finishes with it, will be sent back to the Lords for their approval. The bill would give the people of each self-governing Dominion status as citizens of their own country and a common status as members of the Commonwealth.

For the people of Britain and the colonies the bill provides a common citizenship.

The Lord's objected to the term "citizen" because of its republican flavor and amended the bill to read "British subject." The Commons against Conservative opposition changed it back to read "citizen" by 308 votes to 111.

The Commons also deleted a clause inserted by the Upper House that would have maintained the present status of Eire citizens as British subjects.

The original clause was restored, making it possible for Eire citizens, who under existing law are British subjects, to retain British nationality without giving up their Eire citizenship.

Home Secretary C. D. E. said Prime Minister Churchill of Australia agreed with the bill as originally drafted and that the corresponding Australian bill would be drafted upon the same lines.

The Home Secretary, who had piloted the bill through the Commons, said "citizenship" was the proper term because the Westminster Parliament could only legislate for Britain and the Colonies.

Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe, former Conservative Attorney-General, argued that under the bill a special class of citizens would be set up in the Dominion "with special privileges which the Dominion governments care to give him."

$160,000,000 which still can be called for in case of necessity between now and the end of this year, when the arrangement runs out.

However, in view of the present shift to private financing, it is not believed the Government intends to take more money under the fall loan. Its purpose was to provide a safety margin in Canada's United States dollar balance, and these have shown modest improvement.

The new bonds will be payable in United States dollars, pay interest of three per cent, run for 15 years from Aug. 1, 1948, to Aug. 1, 1963, and have been sold at par.

The interest rate is one-half per cent above the yield for the Export-Import loan, but the deal with the private companies is apparently regarded by the government as a good one, Mr. Abbott commented.

"The purchase on such favorable terms of this substantial issue of Canadian bonds by these three large insurance companies in the United States is a tribute to the high credit standing of Canada in the United States market."

Last fall's loan, it was stated in the announcement at the time, was made from a public institution because of the necessity for quick decision.

Companies taking the new bonds are Prudential Insurance Company of America, Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, and Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

London, July 14.—(Reuters)—Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Britain, called at the Foreign Office today and handed to State Minister Hector McNeill the Soviet reply to the British note on Berlin.

A Foreign Office spokesman said no immediate outline of the contents could be given, as it was in Russian and was being translated.

Bringing Up Daughter

Mothers Stress Education But Neglect Training For Duties Of Wifehood

Most mothers strive to give their daughters an education, but few mothers make any effort to teach their daughters how to live. They seem to think that a knowledge of how to conduct themselves and make the most of their opportunities will come by Nature, as Dogberry thought reading and writing did, so they don't bother to try to teach their girls anything except what used to be called "Booklearning."

DOROTHY DIX

Never was there a greater mistake, for while the occasional girl genius rates the higher education, what the average girl needs is to be taught how to make the most of herself and the life she is destined to lead, and that basic fact most mothers entirely ignore. You would assume from Mother's attitude towards her daughters that they were all going to marry millionaires who would coddle and spoil them, so there was no use in Sally and Mamie learning how to do any practical work, or acquiring any technique for getting along with a temperamental husband.

It may seem too bad to blame Mom for the messes that her children so often make of their lives, but it is only too true that the parents are visited on their children and the cherished daughters have to pay a cruel price for their mothers never having taught them how to live.

It is a sad truth that most of the marriages that end in divorce are the result of mothers never having taught their daughters how to be wives. They never have drilled Mamie and Susie in the technique of rubbing their husbands' fur the right way. They don't even know how to cook.

HUSBANDS DISCONTENTED

And so when the young husband ceases to be a great lover and becomes just a provider, and when he sits down to meals that would give an ostrich stomach ulcers and sees his salary going into the garbage can, the domestic brawls start and end in the wreck of another home.

And — God help them — the marriages that break so many hearts because Mother never has taught her beloved daughter anything about men, or how to pick out a husband, or even to analyze her own feelings! I get hundreds of letters from girls who tell me that they THINK that they are in love, but they are not certain. Or that they are going to marry a drunkard, or a roue, or a ne'er-do-well, but who SAYS he will reform.

Forewarned is forearmed, and many a marriage that has dragged an unsophisticated girl down into the gutter with a drunken husband would have been prevented if only her mother had taught her, from her cradle up, to look with scorn on weaklings and derelicts.

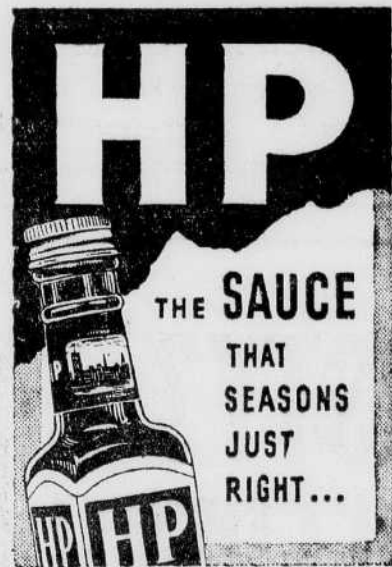

And the poor, little, ignorant, foolish girl-children who stumble into the pit before they are old enough and wise enough to realize their danger, what sorrow, what shame for them and their families would have been saved if only their mother had taught them what they needed to know about living.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

MODERN MARRIAGE

CHIEF CAUSES OF UNPOPULARITY ON DATES

By Dr. PAUL POPENOE

It's an old question but always timely: How can young people be popular with the other sex? This time it's a high school class in social science that want to know. Very sensibly, the students began to explore this aspect of social science and to collect opinions. They assigned Gladys to ask for mine.

I'll reply by quoting a recent study which sociologist Harold T. Christensen has published. You'll find it in the April issue of the Journal of Home Economics, in case you want additional details, Gladys.

It is based on replies of 1,388 students in marriage classes which he taught at Brigham Young University, but I think you'll find that the opinions of college and high school students in other states would be much the same as those in Utah. Girls were asked what were the commonest objectionable practices of boys, in order of frequency, and they replied:

1. Want too much netting.
2. Are dishonest in flattery.
3. Want to date only "popular numbers" or act as if doing partner a great favor by condescending to date her.

4. Stay too late on dates.
5. Flirt with other girls or bring about other dates.

When the boys, on the other hand, were asked about behavior of girls that they found unsatisfactory, they arranged their indictment in this order:

1. Flirts with other boys, even when on a date.
2. Prefers to date only "popular numbers"; the boy who isn't a BMOC is discriminated against unfairly.

3. Is late in being ready for a date.
4. Pours out too much dishonest flattery.

5. Is a poor conversationalist. This doesn't answer your inquiry directly, Gladys; you asked how young people can be popular and I'm pointing out some of the ways in which they can be unpopular. But I believe your classmates will find it worth while to consider what these boys and girls named as "pet peeves." Check them over and see if there are any with which you disagree. Check them as to whether you agree with the order of ranking. Then act accordingly.

Questions and Answers
Q—Don't mothers know, from their own childhood, how children should be brought up?

A—Many of them think so! But as psychologist Kate Friedlander remarks, "If not taught otherwise, the tendency of each mother will be to bring up her child exactly as she herself was brought up if she had a happy childhood, or in exactly the opposite way if her own was unhappy. Neither the same nor the opposite upbringing may be in conformity with modern requirements."

Q—How can I become more popular?
A—It's partly a matter of forming the habit of friendliness. Start by saying something appreciative to someone today; to two persons tomorrow, three the next day, and so on. You'll soon find people responding.

Q—My parents object to the man I'm going with, merely because of his family.
A—Oliver Wendell Holmes remarked that, "Every man is an omnibus in which his ancestors ride." Family background is certainly not the only thing to consider, but it should not be ignored either. Give it the weight it deserves, not more.

McGILL HOLDS GEOGRAPHY SUMMER SCHOOL

Derby Line, July 14.—"We are racially given to thinking that our ways are best, and that we ought to be kind and change the ways of other peoples to conform to ours," was a thought-provoking remark by Dr. Stefansson, at the opening talk at the Haskell Opera House, last Wednesday evening, of the McGill Summer School, in Geography lecture series.

There was a good attendance at this first of the free Wednesday evening talks at the Opera House, and the friendliness of the community was made manifest by Dr.
A. R. V. White, chairman of the board of trustees, of the Haskell Free Library, who welcomed the school for their second year at the Boundary.

Miss Edna M. Moore expressed the appreciation of the townspeople for the opportunity, given them, in sharing the pleasure and benefit derived from the lectures, and invited the officials and members of the school to feel free to call upon local people or organizations for any help or information they desired.

Professor George H. S. Kimble, of McGill, presided at the meeting, and expressed his pleasure at returning to these hospitable communities.

"The Promise of the Arctic"
was the title of the talk by Dr.
Stefansson, and was different and interesting approach to the story of the Arctic. The speaker has spent ten winters and thirteen summers in the Arctic, and said that he wondered why that made him an authority, when he has spent much more time than that in New York, and was not considered an authority on that subject.
He spoke of the clothing the people of the Arctic wore, of their boats, their eating habits, and their ways of living. The theme of his talk was that our attitudes toward peoples of other cultures will be more helpful to us when we are ready to learn, as well as to teach.

The speaker on Wednesday, July 21, will be Dr. L. Dudley Stamp,
C.B.E., B.A., D.Sc., on "The Changing Face of Britain" and the speaker tonight, on July 14, will be Dr. J. Wesley Coulter, M.A., Ph.D., on "South Islands and Peoples."

While these talks are for the Geography School, they are open to the public, and the local people of the community are cordially invited to attend. There is no charge for the talks, and they start at 8:30 p.m., at the Haskell Opera House each Wednesday evening.

LOCALS DOWN FARNHAM 4-1; ST. JOHNS HERE TOMORROW

Calvert Hurls Four-Hitter And Retires Ten At Plate As Mates Pound Out Nine Safeties To Edge Out Railroaders

Paul Calvert turned back the Farnham baseball squad last night at the local park with four hits to permit his mates to earn a 4-1 decision in a scheduled fixture of the Provincial Baseball League.

Calvert turning in his best performance, since he was sidelined with a sore arm, scattered four singles to keep things under control. The visitors picked up a single in the fourth, two in the fifth and another in the sixth for their only hits.

He sent ten men down via the strike-out method and gave three free passes to his opponent, Joe Crimmins, was touched by seven bingles and doubles by Joyce Tores and Clavo Duany and he issued four free rides to first.

The local squad went out in the front in the lower half of the second frame when after two men were out Paul Calvert singled, and then Normie Dussault and Torres banged out singles, coupled with a passed ball by Eddie Janicki to permit Calvert to cross the plate with the first tally. Gladu went out at first to end the rally. In the third the Athletics, again after two men were out, pushed out two singles by Coimbre and Dube but they were left stranded, high and dry, when Frank Saneomb was thrown out at first.

In the fourth D. Pope got Farnham's first hit when he beat out an infield hit to reach first, but he was left there as Atkins was thrown out by Calvert at first. Couillard came up with the second hit and was pushed to second by Janicki's sacrifice. Breault received a free pass and Crimmins fled out to Dussault. Johnson singled to load the sacks but Calvert bared down and struck out Lavendovsky to kill the visitor's only good scoring chance of the game.

Sherbrooke got their second run in the fifth when Torres doubled, and after Gladu went out on an attempted bunt, Big Clavo Duany drove out a single to send Torres across the plate. In the seventh the local came up with two runs when Gladu walked, Duany doubled and Coimbre came through with a fielder's choice to score Gladu. Dube then got a fielder's choice and Duany was in with the fourth tally of the game.

In the sixth Patterson got on, when Torres committed a miscue, he then stole second and went to third when Saneomb committed the second error of the inning. Dave Pope drove him home when he singled for the only tally registered by the visitors. In the seventh, eighth

Ross K.O.'s Whynott But Federation Fails To Recognize Him As Champion

Halifax, July 14.—(P)—The Canadian middleweight boxing title is still much in doubt today. And George (Rockabye) Ross, the West Bay Road, N. S., farm-boy, is wondering how he can become recognized champion by the Canadian Boxing Federation.

Ross was "very disappointed" that the title was withheld by the C.B.F. after his 12-round unanimous decision over Roger Whynott of Mahone Bay, N. S., here last night. Using a rapier-like left hand to batter Whynott's face and eyes, Ross won all but two rounds on the scorecards of the three officials, losing the 10th on two low blows.

Ann Clark Denies Color-Line Story

Montreal, July 14.—(P)—Ann Clark of Vancouver, who represents the Women's Athletic Federation of the Canadian Olympic Association, last night ridiculed any suggestion that the color line had been drawn in the selection of the women's Olympic track competitors.

Ab Foster, coach of Toronto's Malvernettes, was quoted in Toronto as saying he thought Rosella Thorne, Montreal negro, was left off the team "because she is colored."

Miss Clark said there was no foundation for such assumption or belief.

Canadian Olympic Team Has Natty Uniforms

Montreal, July 14.—(P)—Spic and span in their natty Olympic dress, Canada's finest athletes marched on the field at Molson Stadium yesterday and had their pictures taken.

It was the last official gathering before their departure today for Halifax. The entire delegation of 138, including 106 athletes, Olympic officials, managers, coaches and trainers, will entrain at noon. The entire Canadian party sails tomorrow from Halifax aboard the Aquitania.

President Sidney Dawes of the Canadian Olympic Association wished the athletes good luck.

2 Non-Residents Left In Quebec Net Tourney

Quebec, July 14.—(P)—Only two non-residents of Quebec Province—Toronto's Jack Hopkins and Vancouver's Lorne Main—remained in the running today for singles honors in the Quebec Lawn Tennis Association Open Tournament. Only doubles matches are on tap for today.

Headed by Canadian Davis Cup players Henri Rochon and Brendan Macken, Montreal net stars continued to dominate the field with five entries reaching the men's quarter-finals after third-round matches yesterday. The others are Rene Buser, Jean-Jacques Desjardins and Jean Richer.

The eighth player is Jean Paul Turgeon of Quebec, runner-up to Buser for the Provincial Closed Title in Montreal Cup play last month.

Competition for the women's singles was in an All-Montreal show with defending champion Elaine Filides, Patricia Macken, Francoise Lacasse and Mrs. Pauline Laquerre in the semi-finals.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 14.—(P)—Gossip in front of the television receivers in Detroit says that if the Tigers should decide for any reason to dispense with Steve O'Neill's services, Doc Cramer is in line for the manager's job. But nobody really is after genial Steve's scalp. They know he can't hit for the club. If the "syndicate" which took Beau Jack from a caddy's job at Augusta, Ga., and made him a lightweight champion still has anything to say about Beau's affairs, it should say: "Get out and stay out."

Zeean Olson of Oakland, Calif., chief United States hope in women's diving, got her start in the sport on what was once a dump ground at Cedar Falls, Ia. Later it was transformed into a municipal swimming pool. Her father, a former three-sport star at Iowa State Teachers, will champion her on the trip. . . but the chaperoning isn't necessary says Ann because "I'm going steady." . . times is concerned. Ross is recognized as king since outpointing Len Wadsworth of Hamilton at Glace Bay, N. S., in May. But for the second time in three months, the Federation failed to recognize the 34-year-old Cape Bretoner, unbeaten in more than 30 professional fights, as the Canadian titleholder.

The Halifax Athletic Commission, newest Federation member, gave its approval to bill the bout as a title scrap and also announced that it was supporting the claim of Montreal's Jean Richard to the Canadian Featherweight crown. The Commission informed the Federation of its decision following an indefinite answer from the Federation in reply to the Commission's application for official sanction.

In a telegram received shortly before the bout, Elmer Ferguson, Federation secretary, said he had not been able to contact President Frank Hogan for a decision but he doubted if approval could be given. Ferguson said the Federation did not sanction the Ross-Wadsworth Glace Bay fight because the Cape Breton Boxing Commission was not a Federation member and "technically Wadsworth will still be champ."

Mac Sanders, the local high flying speedster, failed in his attempt to make a berth on the Canadian Olympic Track team at Molson Stadium last week-end.

Mac ran into the toughest opposition he has ever competed against during his track career. The boys were track-wise and knew all the tricks, which was proven when they got him in a box and would not let him out in time to make his bid for the race, seems something to me like a horse race.

We hear of those things in horse racing but I thought that the running boys had not picked up those ideas but it seems they have.

No doubt Mac that you are a winner and in the future you will be able to look after yourself and not get caught in a similar position. You made a great try and I am sure, Mac, that all the fans were with you 100%, and the experience you gained will come in handy for you in your future competitions.

The Montreal Police A.A. must think that you still have what it takes by asking you to compete for them in the big police track and field meet to be held Saturday, July 24, in Toronto. As for the boys that had their fun in boxing you Saturday well you will no doubt run up against them some time in the future and then revenge will be sweet.

The Magog Horse Shoe Riding Club will be holding their third annual field day Sunday at Alton Milton's show ring, Cherry River Road. It is scheduled to get underway at 1:30.

Thirteen classes are on the program and the horse fans should see a real good show. Walter Nesbitt, of Montreal, will be the judge, with Eddie Smith as ringmaster and T. Lizotte in charge of the hitching ring.

In the local softball circles there will be only one game tonight, weather permitting, at the Paradise Grounds. The Sherbrooke Machineries will tangle with the Unicast Steel aggregation.

The City Senior Tennis tourney is rolling along and the evening is in the third round. The players are competing on three courts and at that rate it should not take very long before the semi-finals are reached. The committee is having matches in all events played and are trying to have the finals in the events reached about the same time.

Upsets Brighten Stranahan's Hopes Of Repeating Amateur Golf Victory

Hamilton, Ont., July 14.—(P)—Frank Stranahan's chances of a repeat victory in the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship appeared brighter today.

Upsets yesterday in the opening day's play sent to the sidelines half a dozen players who had been conceded a chance of wresting the honors from the wealthy Toledo, O., sportsman who also holds the British Amateur title.

The biggest surprise came in the defeat of Skeet Riegel from Upper Darby, Pa., the United States Amateur Champion. He went down before dodged Ken Ward of Montreal who won on the 19th hole after missing an easy 18th hole putt in a manner which would have knocked most players right off their game.

The 108 matches on the opening day—44 in a preliminary round and 64 in the first round—

Manager, Coach Draw Baseball Suspension

Kentville, N.S., July 14.—(P)—A coach and manager were under suspension from the Halifax District Senior Baseball League today following an alleged baseball game here last night.

Down 7-1 at the end of 3½ innings, second-place Dartmouth Arrows tried to stall, hoping that the game would be called because of rain before 4½ innings were up. But the rain held off as Arrows made deliberate errors.

Third-place Kentville Wildcats got into the spirit of things themselves and swung at pitches with one hand on that bat, apparently fishing a cigar from the pocket with the other.

Umpire George Flaherty, after warning both teams, called the game when one man was out in the bottom of the fourth and awarded the game to Kentville, 9-0. At the time, Wildcats were ahead 11-1 and still climbing.

League President Harry Butler immediately suspended indefinitely Manager Dev Vickers of Arrows and Coach Hank Swasey of Kentville.

By the time the game was called a good many of the 1,500 fans had left the park. About 800 stayed and booed till they were winded and then asked for—and got—rain checks. The rest didn't even bother about rain checks.

A game goes into the records if 4½ innings have been played. Arrows, who have wobbled out of first place in the last week and appears to be wobbling out of second, didn't seem to want the game to go into the records.

11th Defeat In 15 All-Star Games

Hardest Of All For N.L. To Take

St. Louis, July 14.—(P)—Baseball fans are wondering today whether the mere sight of an American League uniform drains the power from the bats of the National League hitters.

Although the American League went into the 15th annual All-Star Game yesterday with more bruises than one of Joe Louis' sparring partners, it had a comparatively easy time knocking off its "Cousins" for the 11th time in 15 meetings.

The score was 5-2. But for Stan Musial's first-inning two-run homer, the National League would have suffered the added embarrassment of a shutout.

As a matter of fact, the reputed National League power men have scored only three runs in the last three losing games, all on home runs. Johnny Mize, big New York Giants first baseman, accounted for the Nationals' lone run last year with a circuit smash.

Of all their defeats, yesterday's probably was the hardest to take. With the exception of Eddie Stanky, Boston Braves' second baseman, and shortstop Marty Marion of St. Louis Cardinals, every member of the original 25-man squad was in splendid shape.

In sharp contrast, the American League outfit was riddled by injuries. Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, and George Kell, top hitters, were laid up with injuries. The two "Money" pitchers, Bob Feller and Hal Newhouse, were hors de combat, the former of his own free will.

In addition, the National League mound staff was well rested, while six of the eight American League pitchers had worked last Sunday.

But the 34,000 who filled Sportsman's Park to near capacity saw right-hander Walter Masterson, Vic Raschi and Joe Coleman tie the National League in runs to knots after the first inning.

For about 10 minutes, or as long as it took Masterson to get over his jitters, it appeared that the Nationals, in one big swoop, were out to pay back their rivals for all the humiliations heaped upon them in the past. Of the first five men to face the bespectacled Washington hurler, four reached base. Two—lead-off batters Richie Ashburn and Musial—didn't tarry long. The sensational Philadelphia rookie center fielder singled to open the game, stole second, and after Red Schoendienst bounced out, trotted across the plate when Musial poled a long home run atop the right field pavilion roof. It was Stan's first homer in five All-Star appearances, but that was all the scoring the Nationals did. Except for a brief flurry in the Bob Porterfield of Newark Bears are the best bats at the moment to reach the charmed 20-victory total. All three of the pitchers have 11 victories to their credit.

Last year only Jim Prendergast, then with Syracuse, hit the 20-victory mark, the first hurler to do so since 1945 when four pitchers reached the coveted goal.

Only one game was played in the League last night, Toronto Maple Leafs beating Montreal Royals 6-2. Scheduled games between Syracuse and Newark and Jersey City and Baltimore were postponed because of rain.

Rookie Lou Posedel scattered nine hits in stopping the pace-setting Royals for the Leafs. The triumph was his fifth of the year.

Clyde King was the loser.
