RACIAL EQUALITY THROWN BEFORE WORLD Fatal Auto Accident-Report Severe Fighting In China

Grave Problems Are Raised By Jap Amendment

A Grave Crisis Prevails in Peace Discussions Through Japan's Insistence Upon an Amendment to Proposed Protocol of Arbitration and Security—Japanese Delegate Moved Suppression of Clause in Protocol Draft Which Proclaims an Aggressor State Any Country Refusing to Abide by Decision of the World Court of Justice.

(Associated Press Despatch.)

GENEVA, September 29.—Grave international problems are believed to have been raised through the Japanese demand at the League of Nations discussions for an amendment to the proposed protocol of arbitration and security. Many of the delegates are of the opinion that the whole question of racial equality has been thrown definitely before the world by the Japanese amendment, which touches upon a state's sovereign rights; and that Japan will continue to insist through the League of Nations for revision of international law so that matters now deemed to belong exclusively to the internal jurisdiction of a state may occasionally and rightfully be the subject of world-wide concern, demanding treatment on the broad basis of equity.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM MAY BE FORCED BEFORE COUNCIL

The delegates from the British Dominions, especially Australia and New Zealand, are showing anxiety over the outcome of the Japanese amendment, because they fear that the immigration problem may be forced before the Council of the League for consideration if the amendment is accepted. Sir Littleton Groom, attorney-general of Australia, is president of the sub-committee which is discussing the Japanese amendment today, and which will decide whether to recommend its adoption by the League of Nations commission on arbitration.

The Japanese amendment is to strike from the protocol the declaration that a country refusing an arbitration award of the World Court shall be proclaimed an aggressor. Japan objects to the prohibition against fighting out a case before the League of Nations when the World Court has ruled that the issue involved is purely a subject within the domestic jurisdiction of the other party to the dispute, and that by inference there is neither cause for conflict nor for arbitration proceedings.

HAS EXCITED APPREHENSION OF MANY DELEGATES

The Japanese proposal has excited the apprehension of many delegates, who fear that Japan wants to maintain the right to go to war over matters touching on the sovereignty of a state without its being attacked by other members of the League. The Japanese indignantly refute this insinuation. They contend that a great injustice could be done to Japan by setting up a state's rights doctrine, and by having this doctrine upheld by the World Court. They insist they merely want the privilege of further hearings before the organs of the League in order to obtain justice.

M. Adachi, in presenting the Japanese amendment, argued that the most elementary logic and equity prohibited the League from declaring a criminal nation that might wish to act in any precise manner in a case where no real solution was indicated by the machinery set up by the League. It was quite inconceivable, he said, that when a dispute arose between members menacing world peace and good will among nations that no solution should be found.

JAPANESE DELEGATE PRESENTS HIS AMENDMENT.

Then, in the name of the Japanese delegation, M. Adachi formally proposed the suppression in Article Six of the protocol, of the sentence which hails as an aggressor state any country which ignores a unanimous report of the Council or ignores a judicial or arbitral decision, declaring that a dispute between states is founded on a question which according to international law belongs exclusively to the national competency of one of these states.

"I appeal not only to your juridical conscience," he declared, "but above all to your conscience as statesmen. I appeal to your love for the League of Nations and for the peace of the world. I hope our amendment will encounter here, if not unanimity, at least an overwhelming majority."

MEMORANDUM SETS FORTH CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH GERMANY WILL MAKE APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, Sept. 29.—Leopold von Hoesch, German Ambassador to France, today called upon Premier Herriot, and handed to him a memorandum setting forth the conditions under which Germany will make application for membership in the League of Nations.

The text of the memorandum will not be made public, but it is understood on the best authority that the Germans laid down no conditions for membership, but make it clear that the Reich will expect to have a permanent seat on the council of the League.

The memorandum also points out that, in view of the limitations on the size and strength of the German army provided for in the Treaty, the Reich cannot undertake to participate in the application of sanctions under a guarantee pact such as the one now under discussion at Geneva, although Germany offers no objections to the general principles of such an arrangement.

The document will be submitted to a cabinet meeting on Thursday, and the general impression in official circles is that it contains nothing which might form an insurmountable obstacle.

DISARMAMENT COMMISSION ADOPTS BENES REPORT

GENEVA, Sept. 29.—The disarmament commission of the League of Nations assembly on Saturday adopted the Benes report on the draft protocol of arbitration and security.

CHINESE HAVE RESUMED FIGHT FOR SHANGHAI

Severe Battle in Progress—Hundreds Killed and Many Others Wounded in Fighting.

(Associated Press Despatch)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—Hundreds of Chinese soldiers were killed and many others wounded this morning on a six-mile front from Niansang to Mulu, when armies of rival military governors fighting for possession of Shanghai continued hostilities with impetuous intensity.

According to a witness who returned this afternoon, after traversing the sector from Niansang to Mulu, west of Shanghai, both sides were drenching the lines with shrapnel.

Numerous relief stations behind the six-mile Niansang front were filled with wounded, while scores of others were arriving on stretchers.

The dead have been left where they fell, according to the witness, and this practice has resulted in a carion odor extending over the whole battle area.

The offensive, which has resulted in continuous firing since it opened on Saturday morning, has enabled the Chekiang forces to drive the Kiangsu troops back six miles.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER IN NOVA SCOTIA IS DEAD

Howard W. Corning, of Chegoggin, N.S., Died This Morning Following Brief Illness.

(Associated Press Despatch)
FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 29.—Howard W. Corning, of Chegoggin, N.S., aged forty-five, leader of the Conservative opposition party in the Nova Scotia Legislature, died this forenoon at Victoria Public Hospital, where he was under treatment for typhoid fever.

Mr. Corning was one of the leading stock breeders of Nova Scotia, and for some years he had been one of the principal exhibitors at the Fredericton Exhibition, making the round of the chief fairs in New Brunswick each fall.

When he arrived in Fredericton this year with his Guernsey cattle and other stock he was ill, and at first it was believed he was suffering from pneumonia. Physicians diagnosed his illness as typhoid fever, however, and it was said that the disease had been contracted before he reached here, and had already made considerable progress.

Mr. Corning was then taken to Victoria Public Hospital and Mrs. Corning was sent for. The remains are being taken by the widow to his home in Nova Scotia for interment.

Howard W. Corning, member of the Provincial Legislature of Nova Scotia, was one of the outstanding farmers and stock breeders of the province. He was a consistent prize winner at the Toronto Exhibition with his fine herd of Guernsey cattle, and was secretary treasurer of the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Association. He was first elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1911. He was defeated in 1920, his opponent on this occasion being Hon. E. H. Armstrong, the present Premier of the Province. Elected originally as a Conservative, he subsequently assumed the leadership of a small group in the House, styling themselves the people's party. During the sessions of 1923, he moved a resolution setting forth that in the light of Nova Scotia's history under confederation, the people should have another opportunity, by means of a plebiscite, of deciding whether or not they should remain within the dominion of Canada.

Mr. Corning was born April 17th, 1879, at Chegoggin, N.S., of United Empire loyalist stock. He is survived by his wife, formerly Eleanor G. Churchill, and one son.

The weather is fine throughout the Western Provinces.

Forecast: Northeast and north winds, cooler and with rain today and part of Tuesday.

Boundary Dispute Tears Ireland

LONDON, September 29.—Rudely awakened to the reality of the Irish question which they thought settled for good, politicians admit far-reaching consequences may result from the present dispute over the boundary between the Free State and Ulster.

Ireland is divided into two states. Parliament set up Ulster as a separate unit. When it established the Free State the assumption was that there would be a readjustment of the boundary between the states if necessary.

Now the Free State insists such readjustment is necessary. But Ulster balks and will not appoint a member of the Boundary Commission.

Parliament may be forced to legislate. If it does and Ulster fails to compromise, defends its policies physically, trouble will come.

Pressure is being brought to get Ulster to compromise. Three Ulster counties are involved. A majority of the people in them are Catholic, and seemingly in sympathy with the Free State. But circumstances are such that any revision would bring dissatisfaction to many.

"It is nonsense to speak of territory being torn from Ulster," the Premier of Ulster says. "The tearing process was at the expense of Ireland as a whole."

And Sir John Craig, over in Ulster had this to say:

"Ulster relies on the act of Parliament. She did not want to be torn from the British Empire, but to the interests of national unity she reluctantly agreed to be cast adrift."

"We are ready to consider light readjustments, but we can never consent to hand over any one of the counties as a whole. No power on earth can force us to hand over any one of the counties we hold."

The situation is further complicated by Republicans in the Free State who have always been opposed to the Free State Government. It is further complicated by extremists in Ulster who openly threaten to hold by force any minute part of the territory against any British or Free State troops.

The whole matter is "up in the air," and politicians are grave.

Little Child Killed And Seven Injured When Motor Car Went Over Embankment On Lennoxville Road-- Several Accidents

Four-Months-Old Child of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beaudoin Died from Injuries Shortly After Accident—Other Members of Party Were Not Very Seriously Injured—Inquest Opened This Morning, But Was Adjourned Until Next Monday—Motor Skidded in Soft Gravel and Plunged Over Car Tracks into Deep Ditch.

COLLETTE Beaudoin, the little four months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beaudoin, is dead; while Mrs. Beaudoin and her four-year-old son, Jules, High Constable Philias Lanctot, Mrs. Nova Chevalier and her three-year-old son, Miss McCourt and Mrs. McCourt, all of this city, are in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, as the result of an automobile accident which occurred on the Lennoxville road opposite the convent of the Reverend Sisters of Notre Dame D'Anges, the old Ames property, about three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The members of the party were returning to the city from East Angus in Mr. Philias Lanctot's car, an Essex coach. On turning out to allow another car to pass, the rear wheels of Mr. Lanctot's car skidded in the loose gravel, and the driver apparently lost control, the car swerving across the street railway tracks, turning turtle and finally landing at the foot of a deep embankment.

At the time of the accident the side windows of the car were down, while the top of the car did not collapse, and these facts probably saved some of the occupants from receiving more serious injuries than they suffered. Although it was deemed advisable to take all the injured to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, they are reported not to be very badly injured, their chief injuries being cuts from the broken glass of the windshield. Mr. Lanctot is probably the most seriously injured of the party of seven taken to the hospital, and he will have to undergo a slight operation to have the glass removed.

Mrs. Beaudoin, Mr. Lanctot's daughter, was quite badly bruised, but her injuries are not considered to be dangerous. Her four-year-old son, Jules, was apparently not injured at all, although he was taken to the hospital, and will remain there for a short time in case that any complication should set in. It was necessary to lift the car in order to get this child from under it, and therefore the hospital authorities wish to keep him for a while until they are sure that there is no danger.

Mrs. Nova Chevalier and her three-year-old son were both bruised and cut.

Mrs. and Miss McCourt were not badly injured, although both are somewhat cut about the face and neck.

Reverend Sisters Render Valuable Assistance.

The Reverend Sisters of Notre Dame D'Anges in front of whose convent the accident occurred, were immediately on the scene, and rendered very valuable help to the injured persons. The Sisters brought out a first aid equipment, and supplied bandages and other such necessities. They also took the children into the convent, and later accompanied them to the hospital.

A call was immediately sent in for Lord's ambulance by the Sisters, and in a very short time the ambulance was there and conveyed Mr. Lanctot, Mrs. Beaudoin and Mrs. Chevalier to the hospital, while Mr. H. H. Ingram took Mrs. and Miss McCourt and the three children.

Inquest Opened This Morning.
Coroner Bachand opened an inquest this morning into the death of Collette Beaudoin, the infant child of Mrs. Beaudoin. Following the swearing in of the jury and the viewing of the body, the inquest was adjourned until Monday evening next. The coroner and jury men this morning visited the scene of the accident in order to fully understand the case.

Mr. Lanctot and the other occupants of the car were not capable of telling any of the circumstances, but it is expected that by Monday next they will all have fully recovered from their injuries.

REPORTED THAT MECCA HAS BEEN CAPTURED BY WAHABIS; HUSSEIN'S SCANTY FORCES ARE RETREATING

Confirmation of Capture Is Anxiously Awaited by Moslem World—Even if Mecca Is Not in Hands of Wahabis, They Appear to Be Seriously Menacing It—Rumors of Fall of City Created Sensation in Cairo, and Are Causing a Stir Throughout Islam.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, Sept. 29.—While the Moslem world is anxiously waiting confirmation of the report that Mecca has been captured by the Wahabis—fanatical Mohammedan reformers, who held the Holy City for a few years at the beginning of the nineteenth century—what little news is reaching the outside world by way of rumor suggests that the report is likely to be true.

King Hussein, who during the Great War made Mecca the capital of his new kingdom of the Hedjaz, is reported by the Daily Chronicle's Cairo correspondent to be retreating with his scanty forces of Hashimites to Jeddah, the port of Mecca. The belief is held, according to this correspondent's dispatches, that Hussein's allies have failed in their attempt to recapture Taif, which the Wahabis seized recently.

Possession of Taif is one of the greatest importance to Mecca, because it is from there that the capital receives most of its foodstuffs. The tribes between Mecca and Taif are stated to have refused to help Hussein, according to current reports, in danger.

Even if Mecca is not yet actually in the hands of the Wahabis, they appear to be seriously menacing it. If they capture and hold the city, it is supposed that the famous pilgrimages will cease, as the Wahabis vehemently opposed and frequently try to prevent the pilgrimages, regarding them as equivalent to idolatry.

The Chronicle's correspondent says that the rumors of the fall of Mecca created a sensation in Cairo, and are causing a stir throughout Islam.

Reuters' Cairo correspondent reports that news concerning Mecca is scarce, but that the position of the city is believed to be critical, with the civilian evacuation having already started and the seat of the government transferred to Jeddah. A battle outside the walls of Mecca is thought to be imminent.

Premier Herriot Takes Sharp Exception To Arguments Advanced By Six Cardinals

Denies that Measures Elaborated by French Government Constitute a Grave Menace to Internal Peace, Justice and Liberty—"Under Our Administration All Functionaries, Clerics and Others Have Been Permitted the Fullest Liberty in Their Religion," Says French Premier.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Premier Herriot has drawn up a reply to the letter sent to him by the six cardinals of France in which they called his attention to the deep feeling aroused by his policy toward the church, especially with regard to suppression of the French Embassy to the Vatican, introduction of education without religious teaching in Alsace Lorraine and strict application of existing laws to religious orders.

The reply which was submitted to the Premier to the cabinet council, yesterday, for its approval, is couched in moderate terms, but takes sharp exception to the arguments advanced by the cardinals.

"It is entirely impossible for me to admit," the letter says, "that the measures elaborated by my Government can constitute, as you say, a grave menace to internal peace, justice and liberty."

"Under our administration all functionaries, clerics and others, have been permitted the fullest lib-

DANVILLE FAIR ON SATURDAY WAS SUCCESS

Large Number of Exhibits in Every Department--Big Crowd in Attendance.

(Special to the Record)

DANVILLE, Que., Sept. 29.—A record crowd visited the forty-eighth annual fair of the Danville Union Agricultural Society at Danville. Fine weather attracted many people to the grounds, and every department was well patronized during the entire day. Music was furnished by a band from the Catholic College of Danville.

In every department the entries were heavy. Livestock, poultry, floriculture, etc., were all well filled. The Ladies' Department was exceptionally heavy, and some very fine exhibits were shown in the various classes. The director in charge voiced the opinion that the Ladies' Department at the Danville Fair was second to none and stated that he would not hesitate to show it in competition with any other fair in the Eastern Townships.

The midway was one of the most attractive parts of the fair for the younger people, and many a booth took in a good share of the contents of the young men's pocket-books. Games of chance as well as mechanical and other amusements, all did a good business during the day.

In the Ladies' Department, which was in charge of a committee consisting of Messrs. C. H. Cleveland, George Hamilton, Jude Thibault, Joseph Perkins, assisted by the members of the special ladies' committee, a number of special prizes were competed for. These were donated by Messrs. E. W. Several special prizes were offered in other classes, including a number in the cooking and floriculture departments.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them.

Get about two ounces of peroxide powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts, and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores, and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of peroxide powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.

UNCLE JIM'S LETTER

Dear Corner Children:—

I just wonder how many of the cousins read Saturday's corner, and whether they liked the new game or not? It is a long time since some of the corner folk have written to me, but I know every one is busy and there seems so little time to write after school lessons are over.

The lovely fall weather makes us all want to go out-of-doors and that is the best thing to do for there will be many days before the snow comes that will not be nice. How many of the corner cousins go to the woods after beech nuts and hazel nuts.

I hope you will all like the Wise Owl's Question Box. It will be a change from the riddles, and we may all learn something from it. Now, please send in a question about something you really wish to know, but remember that useless questions will go into the W.P.B.

I have received a letter and papers about the J.R.C. work from Mrs. Shaw, and will have part of them in the corner. Please read all the news about the J.R.C., and tell me if you wish to continue the Lone Member group this winter. We ought to become a worthwhile group now, and try to do good while keeping well and happy ourselves.

Tomorrow I will have Mrs. Shaw's story about Rosie, a little girl who was assisted by the J.R.C. boys and girls, and we must have a bright story. How would a fairy story do?

I shall closely watch the mailman until he brings me some more letters from my nieces and nephews who are scattered all over Canada, and in many of the United States. Come, American cousins and Canadian cousins, get out your paper and pen or pencil and write to.

UNCLE JIM.

THE J.R.C.

Pledge—"I promise to serve the King and honor the Flag of the British Empire, and to work for the Red Cross, the emblem of Service for others."

Dear Juniors:—Here we are once again, ready for another year of school and for another year as members in the World Crusade of the Junior Red Cross. May it prove a happy, healthful year for you and for those you hope to serve.

How many of you remember the three promises for which your pledge and motto stands?

1st. You promise to serve yourselves by putting into practice the Rules of the Health Game.

2nd. You promise that you will serve your King, your Flag and your Country by being real citizens now interested in public affairs.

3rd. You promise that you will do all you can to serve other boys and girls who are ill or crippled.

I want to publicly thank the Juniors who have helped so much in the Children's Clinic; the Juniors who knitted such beautiful sweaters; the Juniors who sent the scrapbooks and the boxes of toys. I am hoping you will soon send me some more parcels, because my cupboard's empty, and I am always being asked for help by people who know how the Juniors live up to their motto, "I Serve."

There are so many children who need a little help to make them strong and healthy. Some of the groups have already decided to look after one child. They are going to earn enough money to send him to the hospital if he needs it; they are going to write to him while he is there; they are going to send him parcels of books and toys and a warm jacket to wear in bed. Wouldn't you like to do the same? It does not cost much money often to adopt a case (perhaps only $2 or $3), and if your group cannot earn enough we will add some money from the Crippled Children's Fund, and you will still be able to feel that this boy or girl is your own to help personally.

Three cheers then for the Junior Red Cross in its Crusade of Service. There are over six million members all over the world. I am sure you are all proud to be a link in that great chain which is binding all countries together for peace, health and happiness.

With best wishes to all,
Your Fellow Worker,
(Signed) RUTH B. SHAW.
Supervisor Junior Red Cross Prov. of Quebec.

Wise Owl's Question Box

Boys and girls like to ask questions. Sometimes they ask silly ones, those which no one can answer; sometimes they ask questions because they really want to learn about things and are often turned away with a laugh and another question, "Oh, why do you want to know?"

I don't think that is quite fair, do you. How can we learn if we do not ask questions? Every one should answer a child's question sensibly if possible, and if they cannot answer it correctly, then do not answer it at all. Isn't that right, children?

Now, how many questions have I asked?

Well, we are going to have a Question Box instead of a Puzzle Box, and we must have nice, bright questions to fill it up to the brim. Who will be the first one to ask a question of the Wise Owl?

INDIAN SUMMER
(By Ethel Blair Jordan.)

September wanders, an Indian maid,
Down through the yellowing forest-glade;

Her dress the color of brown leaf-mold,
Beaded in purple and fringed with gold.

She blazes a trail on hill and plain
Of red-stemmed orchards and golden grain.

Her peace-fires burn through the long, still days,
Vibrating her path in a soft blue haze;

Her white drifts back like a half-heard bell:
"Oh harvests and homes, farewell farewell!"

CHAPTER XV.

The Ransom.

In the glory of the following morning, sparkling and clear after the storm, with an invigorating, briny tang in the air from the salt-ponds on the south of the island, a curious scene was played on the beach of the Virgin Magra, at the foot of a ridge of bleached dunes, besides the spread of sail from which Levasseur had improvised a tent.

Enthroned upon an empty cask sat the French filibuster to transact important business: the business of making himself safe with the Governor of Tortuga.

A guard of honor of a half dozen officers hung about him; five of them were rude boucan-hunters, in stained jerkins and leather breeches; the sixth was Cahusac. Before him, guarded by two half-naked negroes, stood young d'Ogeron, in frilled shirt and satin small-clothes and fine shoes of Cordovan leather. He was stripped of doublet, and his hands were tied behind him. The young gentleman's comedy face was haggard. Near at hand, and also under guard, but unopinioned, mademoiselle his sister sat hunched upon a hillock of sand. She was very pale, and it was in vain that she sought to veil in a mask of arrogance the fears by which she was assailed.

Levasseur addressed himself to d'Ogeron. He spoke at long length, in the end—

"I trust, monsieur," said he, with mock suavity, "that I have made myself quite clear. So that there may be no misunderstandings, I will recapitulate. Your ransom is fixed at twenty thousand pieces of eight and you shall have liberty on parole to go to Tortuga to collect it. In fact, I shall provide the means to convey you thither, and you shall have a month in which to come and go. Meanwhile, your sister remains with me as a hostage. Your father should not consider such a sum excessive as the price of his son's liberty and to provide a dowry for his daughter. Indeed, if anything, I am too modest, pardon! M. d'Ogeron is reputed a wealthy man."

M. d'Ogeron the younger raised his head and looked the Captain boldly in the face.

"I refuse—utterly and absolutely, do you understand? So do your worst, and be damned for a filthy pirate without decency and without honor."

"But what words!" laughed Levasseur. "What heat and what foolishness! You have not considered the alternative. When you do, you will not persist in your refusal. You will not do that in any case. We have spurs for the reluctant. And I warn you against giving me your parole under stress, and afterwards playing me false. I shall know how to find and punish you. Meanwhile, remember your sister's honor is in pawn to me. Should you forget to return with the dowry, you will not consider it unreasonable that I forget to marry her."

Levasseur's smiling eyes, intent upon the young man's face, saw the horror that crept into his glance.

berger recently.

Miss Dorothy Thompson, Upper Bedford, has returned home, after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. George Hayes, at Guelph.

Mr. T. J. Knight, of Cowansville, has opened a store of electrical and radio supplies in the Kimmell Block.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Derriek and Mr. and Mrs. V. B. McKenny recently spent the day in Clarenceville on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hunter, of Stanbury, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison, Upper Bedford.

Mrs. Douglas Moore has returned from a stay of two weeks in Hemmingford, and is at present with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Moore in Stanbridge East.

Mr. Howard Crown, Mrs. A. French and Miss Aleon French, of Schenectady, N.Y., motored to Bedford and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens. Returning on Thursday, Miss Ella McNamara and Mrs. J. M. Stevens accompanied them as far as St. Albans, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Ewing and daughter, Miss I. Ewing, and Mr. Alma Percy and son, Francis, motored to St. Albans, Vt., on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Derriek and Mrs. J. M. Stevens motored to St. Johns on Friday, where the former visited the school in his capacity of inspector the following afternoon.

Miss Freda Vaughan, of Stanbridge Ridge, was the guest recently for a few days of Miss Thel—waiting the Captain's signal.

Levasseur considered his victim, and beheld him tense and braced, his haggard face of a leaden hue, beads of perspiration glistening on his pallid brow just beneath the whipcord.

Mademoiselle cried out, and would have risen; but her guards restrained her, and she sank down again, moaning.

"I beg that you will spare yourself and your sister," said the Captain, "by being reasonable. What, after all, is the sum I have named? To your wealthy father a bagatelle. I repeat, I have been too modest. But since I have said twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces it shall be."

"And for what, if you please, have you said twenty thousand pieces of eight?"

In execrable French, but in a voice that was crisp and pleasant seemingly to echo some of the mockery that had invested Levasseur's, that question floated over their heads.

Startled, Levasseur and his officers looked up and round.

On the crest of the dunes behind them, in silhouette against the deep cobalt of the sky, they beheld a tall, lean figure scrupulously dressed in black with silver lace, a crimson ostrich plume curled about the broad brim of his hat affording the only touch of color. Under that hat was the twany face of Captain Blood.

are whiter, clear, glistening—why not yours?

Remove the dingy film that's clouding them—you'll be surprised that your own teeth are as pretty as anyone's—make this unique test.

THAT most of us have pretty teeth without ever revealing them, is the remarkable assertion of many high dental authorities.

This is why: Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which you cannot see with your eye, but which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming.

Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully. So most people had unattractive teeth no matter how often they cleaned them. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

the world. But the Eastern Townships has recently earned distinction through another of its products.

Although the natives of the Townships have always had the reputation of being second to none, it is not often that the less fortunate communities perceive or admit the distinction until it is demonstrated in a manner that cannot be overlooked. The superlative qualities evidently manifest themselves early in the lives of some of us, however, as in the case of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacLeod, of Timmins, Ontario, formerly of the Eastern Townships. The child in question, Garneth Maude, aged four months and twelve days, received a prize at the baby show at the Northern Ontario Fair at Porcupine, Ont.

A SUCCESSFUL RALLY DAY

The members of the Sunday School staff of the Methodist Church are very much elated over the very pronounced success of the Rally Day Service held in Wesley Hall yesterday afternoon. An attendance of three hundred had been set as an objective, and much planning was done to secure that number, but the congregation responded beyond all expectations to the invitations sent out and gave the school a record Rally Day attendance of 412.

Much of the success was due to the energetic visitation of the homes of the scholars during the week, and in particular to the putting through of a contest plan among the scholars of the school, rewards being offered through the generosity of Mr. Edward Lister for the four scholars bringing out the largest numbers of visitors for the occasion.

The sermon of Rev. Dr. Lennon, in connection with the morning church service, also awakened interest in the work of the Sunday School. He preached on the theme "Our Children the Second Great Asset of the Christian Church."

The programme followed at the Rally Service was that prepared by the joint Sunday School Boards of the three uniting churches in Canada. It circled around the idea of "Our Neighbors," all the hymns, Scripture Readings, recitations and the address, which was given by Rev. Dr. Lennon, being on that theme.

This successful rally of the School is to be followed next Sunday by Promotion Day, when a thorough re-organization of the classes will be effected, and in connection with which the contest rewards are to be presented. Six new teachers have been secured, and the prospects are big for one of the most successful years in the Sher-

YOUTH DROVE MOTOR WHICH STRUCK WAGON

Car Was Owned by Adelard Gravelle, of St. Adolphe—Son Had Taken It Without Permission—Victim's Condition Slightly Improved.

The twenty-three year old son of Mr. Adelard Gravelle, of St. Adolphe de Dudswell, was the driver of the automobile which ran into the horse and wagon of Mr. W. J. Marlin, of Lennoxville, on the highway near the Experimental Farm last Thursday night. It is understood that young Gravelle, who does not possess a driver's license, took his father's car without leave, and on the night of the accident was in company with two other young men.

After the accident occurred, the car and its occupants disappeared, and in spite of the efforts of the Mayor of Lennoxville, Mr. H.W.S. Downs, and the Sherbrooke police, the identity of the driver remained a mystery until the car was discovered in a garage in Sherbrooke on Friday. With the assistance of the collectors of Provincial Revenue, the identity of the owner of the car was discovered.

Mr. Adelard Gravelle, the owner of the car, came to Sherbrooke today, and will visit Mr. Marlin, the injured victim of the accident, in an effort to arrange for a settlement. Mr. Gravelle, it is understood, stated in an interview with Mayor Downs and Captain Camirand, of the local police, that his son had taken the car without leave several days previous to the accident, and had not been seen by his father since he left home.

Mr. Marlin's condition was reported this morning as being slightly improved. He sustained several fractured ribs and was injured about the head.

On the Quebec highway several minor accidents were reported this morning. One of these occurred in the vicinity of Garthby, when an automobile, which had been noticed following a very erratic course along the road, ran into a ditch and smashed a wheel and mudguard.

Near Marleton another accident took place when a large touring car was damaged slightly. No one was hurt.

Still another accident happened this morning between Cookshire and Bichon, when a motor truck grazed the side of a passing buggy, smashing one wheel. No other damage was reported. A minor accident was reported on Saturday afternoon on the Victory Highway.

LENNOXVILLE

Funeral of Miss Olivine Martin.
The Methodist Church was well filled on Saturday afternoon with sympathizing friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Martin, brought together for the funeral of their eldest daughter, Miss M. Olivine Martin. At the tender age of twelve years the little girl, after only a few days' illness, passed away.

Rev. F. R. Matthews, pastor of the church, conducted prayers at the home of the parents near Milby, and afterwards preached the funeral sermon and conducted the service. The hymns, "Abide with Me," "The Leadeth Me," and "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross," all favorite hymns of the little girl, Miss Bayne presiding at the organ.

The white casket was covered with floral designs and was borne by four boys, Gerald and Linwood, Cascaden, cousins of the deceased, Rupert Littlejohn and Henry Giber.

The chief mourners were the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Martin; one brother, Reginald; and a little sister, Dorothy; Mr. Felix Martin, of Sawyerville, grandfather; Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, of Martville, uncle and aunt; Mr. Albert Whitman, uncle; Mr. and Mrs. Cascaden, of Lennoxville, uncle and aunt; Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Paige, Spring Road, cousins; as well as a number of more distant relatives. The children of Milby school, where Olivine had been a pupil, attended in a body.

The Lennoxville branch of the Women's Institute, of which Mrs. Martin was a member during the residence of the family in town, sent a floral design, also the Canadian Girls in Training of the Methodist Church, and many others who sought in this way to express sympathy to the mourning friends. Interment took place in Malvern Cemetery, where, in the still beauty of the autumn afternoon, the body of the little girl was laid gently to rest.

Opening of Ascot Consolidated School

The formal opening of Ascot Consolidated School took place on Friday evening with a large attendance of pupils and friends of the school. A bright programme was given by the pupils, consisting of choruses, a piano duet by Misses Edna Davison and Annie Hatcher; physical drill by girls and boys; a flag drill by the boys; a doll drill by the girls.

Mr. J. H. Woodside, chairman of the Board of School Commissioners, presided, and Rev. Dr. Rothney was the speaker of the evening. Dr. Rothney compared the past and present methods of teaching, the former small school room with its scanty equipment, where now are fine buildings with everything necessary to make school life pleasant and profitable.

He congratulated the staff on the result of the past year in the school, stating that a comparison between it and other consolidated schools showed that the Ascot school stood at the top of the list. He showed that the modern objective of school life did not mean merely the accumulation of knowledge, but that it should prepare for efficient living in after years. Regular attendance was urged upon the pupils, to whom each absent day was a distinct loss, as a weak link may deplete the value of a chain. The duty of parents in making regular attendance possible for their children was pointed out.

The principal, Mrs. R. H. Ashe, gave a report of the preceding year and appealed for co-operation and sympathy from the parents. Prizes were distributed for the last year's work, and the school formally launched upon a new year of effort.

Harvest Home Service in St. George's Church

Larg congregations were present at both services in St. George's Church on Sunday, when the annual harvest home was observed. The church was beautifully decorated with an abundance of autumn leaves and flowers. These were twined about the altar and pillars, while near the entrance was an arch under which the worshippers passed on their way to the pews. Near the back of the church was a pyramid consisting entirely of vegetables and tastefully trimmed with leaves and flowers. The combination of glowing leaves and the lighter colors of the flowers was most effective in the subdued light of the church. Music and sermon were in character with the day.

Rally Day Observed

A programme prepared by a joint committee of the Sunday School Boards of Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches for use in the various schools was carried out yesterday in the Methodist Church. The children occupied the choir seats and led in the singing. Specially chosen scripture readings were given and the pastor, Rev. F. R. Matthews, spoke on the assigned topic, "Our Neighbors." The superintendent of the school, Mr. W. A. Hyndman, presided over the service. The offering will be devoted to the work of the General Board of Religious Education of the Methodist Church.

Sidelights on Men and Women in the Public Eye

BOB'S "MAGGIE" LOATHES PAINT-POWDER WOMEN

Dr. Patterson Says Men Would Be Arrested for Indecency Wearing as Little as Most Women.

IT was in the far interior of the United Provinces of India on a terrifically hot Sunday afternoon. The sun poured down from a cloudless sky of such brilliance as has never been seen in Canada, stifling all activity of any kind. Scarcely a native or even a dog stirred on the streets, so languid did that intense tropical heat make them feel. Inside the houses the effect was the same except in a small bungalow-like hospital proudly showing the red cross. Here a young lady doctor in spotless white moved noiselessly about easing a suffering patient here or cooling an aching head there.

Over the bedside of one young mother the lady doctor hesitated. The grim reaper had almost claimed the occupant of that unblemished cot; another hour without scientific medical aid and the tiny bundle of humanity beside her would have cried in vain for his mother. Even yet the fate of the sleeping girl is still in the hands of the doctor-nurse from Canada.

It is a bitter, cold day in mid-January. The wind sweeps and howls about Toronto's city hall as if in mocking challenge for all those within to come and face its bitter blasts. The patrol wagon of the police department draws up to a side door, and, from its chilly interior, seven sad-looking women follow a constable into the building. As if in joyous relief from the piercing cold without, they troop into the women's courtroom and seat themselves expectantly on the unupadded benches. On the magistrate's dais, enshrouded in a black legal gown, is Dr. Margaret Patterson, first woman police magistrate of the province of Ontario.

The first prisoner is a thin, pale, young woman who admits having sold her womanhood to buy food for a hungry and scantily clad little boy. If mother goes to jail the little fellow will cry in vain. Her fate, like that of the stricken Indian woman, is in the hands of Dr. Margaret Patterson, because the white clothed doctor of the Allahabad hospital and the black-gowned magistrate of Toronto's women's court are the selfsame individuals.

For her work amongst the natives of the United Provinces during a severe outbreak of the dread bubonic plague Dr. Patterson was decorated by the King with the Kaisar-i-Hind medal, "for public service in India," and in the same emotionally-torn country she met, and, later, married, Professor John Patterson, of the University of Allahabad.

For her public work in Canada Dr. Patterson has figuratively received every known civil decoration. She sits on the boards or directorates of almost all charity drives, and seldom a day goes by that she is not invited to be guest of honor or patroness at some public or social function.

As the mayor publicly represents the city as a whole, Dr. Patterson represents the women of this city. She is the enemy of paint, powder and the bizarre in feminine style, a lecturer, preacher and author of some note, having written and had published by the score pamphlets dealing with the problems of young womanhood. Her text book on physiology and hygiene is still used in the public schools of India.

She is the most original woman thinker in Toronto. She is never neutral, being always on one side or the other, but never astraddle. She does not seek always to ally herself with the big battalions. She does not fear defeat, and she cares not one snap for precedent. The physician in her spoke when the first prisoner brought before her on the morning of March 30, 1922, was remanded for mental observation. It has frequently spoken since and always with wisdom.

When Dr. Patterson threatened to eject an irate lawyer from her court in August of last year, the legal fraternity sat up in amazement. When at a public meeting six months after assuming office Dr. Patterson made the statement that a certain type of criminal lawyers were "scavengers of civilization who hover over our police courts and cells like the vultures over the temples of Bombay," a great wave of indignation swept the profession, and eight days later the magistrate apologized.

However, when certain delegates to the Toronto Trades and Labor Council described her as "a cold-blooded woman" and "a woman of absolutely no degree of intelligence," she raised no cry of consternation or defence. She ignored

Eckardt Didn't Have to Go Hunting Bears Bears Came Till They Were Unbearable

Founder of Aklavik, Canada's Centre Furthest North, is Old Unionville Boy — A Friend of Stefansson — Hopes to Establish Post on Victoria Land.

FOR the commencement this is a bear story, about the weirdest bear hunt that ever happened to a man. It concerns Alonso W. P. Eckhardt, brother of H. P. Eckhardt, the wholesale grocer of Toronto, of Albert J. H. Eckhardt, former well-known casket manufacturer, and Ross Eckhardt, famous Canadian athlete, one of that first Canadian lacrosse team among whom were the late General Sir Sam Hughes and Dr. James L. Hughes, which introduced the game to England.

But to go back to bears. Dusk is just falling somewhere on the Yukon river, not very far from Dawson City, in those strange gold rush days, which, after all, are not nearly so far back as they seem at first thought.

A man with a rifle is sitting waiting on the steps of a somewhat dilapidated northern mansion made of logs. Not many weeks before it had been "The River House," de luxe hotel for fur traders and other adventurers journeying by this convenient river highway. But its proprietor had taken suddenly ill. Almost a hundred miles north in Dawson, he had asked his friend Eckhardt to look in at the cherished quarters.

So Eckhardt is waiting to have an accounting with whoever broke through the thatched roof and left broken windows, broken doors, upturned stove and sad wreckage of general pandemonium.

Around the corner of the cabin came a bear. Twenty minutes later came a second one to investigate the first one. Still a third one followed suit.

Darkness fell, and still Eckhardt was sitting on the steps, waiting. Came the fourth figure, a playful monster who began sword-dancing and rugby practice with some old tin cans.

Eckhardt hesitated. Were his eyes betraying him? Would he dare shoot or not? At last he shot. There was a roar, as the great animal jumped, it seemed, ten feet in the air. He weighed over a ton. Eckhardt raised him by a block and tackle, and did not wait for anything more.

In the whole north country to-day, perhaps, nobody is so well known as A. W. P. Eckhardt. In these days of repeated reports of Eskimo trials in Aklavik, it is interesting to know that it was Eckhardt who founded this outpost of Canada furthest north at the mouth of the Mackenzie River. As manager of the Northern Trading Company he had first established his post forty miles down the river on the east side, where the Hudson Bay Company's buildings are still located to-day.

Eckhardt had his eye on a better situation.

all charges on the theory that "they never knock a dead one."

During her crusade against indecent styles of feminine attire she declared before the Ottawa Women's Club that "if a man wearing as little clothing as the modern girl does walked two blocks in public he would be arrested for indecency. No girl's body can be sacred which is disfigured with paints or powder or covered with insufficient dress. When I see girls making themselves cheap either in manner or dress I can't help thinking they are like goods on a cheap bargain counter—often handled but never purchased."

When she occupied the pulpit of Wesley Methodist Church last December, Dr. Patterson coined the phrase "animated cigarette holders" as descriptive of a certain type of young men and warned all girls to avoid them.

During her own girlhood Dr. Patterson was known as "Bob's Maggie" in the Scottish-Canadian village of Perth, Ontario, where she was born. This was because five cousins of that name in the same clan were frequently mistaken for each other unless designated by the addition of their father's name to their own.

When it was still a very unique thing to do "Bob's Maggie" studied medicine at the University of Toronto and graduated as a qualified medical doctor from the North-Western University at Chicago in 1899. Following that she traveled to India, where she gained distinction, and she has been annexing it in one form or another ever since.

CURE FOR WILD OATS

ACCORDING to an American newspaper the Rev. G. A. Studdert-Kennedy—better known by his war-time nickname of "Woodbine Willie"—was being interviewed during a recent visit to that country by a group of New York reporters.

"Mr. Kennedy," a reporter said, "what would be your advice to a young man who was sowing his wild oats?"

"I'd advise him to grow sage," said "Woodbine Willie."

MADE NO DISTINCTION

THAT quaintly original English comedian on the ladder, Du Callon, tells this funny story off the stage.

A doctor went out to dinner, and was partnered by a gushing young lady.

"Is it true, doctor," she asked "that you are a lady-killer?"

"Madam," replied the doctor, "I make no distinction between the sexes."

Typical Eskimos at Aklavik.

Here the whole drift of the wind and the snow beat against the unprotected buildings. But on the other side of the river were bluffs which offered protection from the western gales. Here he moved his trading post, and called it Aklavik.

To-day this capital of the far north, which is just beginning, to be known to Canadians, is a busy little centre. It is the only town inside the Arctic circle which boasts 100 yards of sidewalk. Here are two missions, the Anglican and the Roman Catholic; and here the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have a barracks and all courts sit. Ordinarily about 150 people, the village takes on the bustle of a metropolis when the Eskimos come in with white fox skins to barter. Mr. Eckhardt pays a tribute to their integrity. Sometimes they receive credit for goods even to the value of five to seven thousand dollars. It may be two or three years before they come back to settle the account. The important point is that they do come back.

Stefansson often speaks of the hospitality he receives when he visits Mr. Eckhardt at Aklavik. On his last expedition he not only bought his goods from him but was his guest for two weeks.

A pioneer of modern Canada, Mr. Eckhardt, who has just returned to the far north after his bi-annual visit to his relatives, hopes soon to establish another post 600 to 1,000 miles farther northwest at Victoria Land, where there are great quantities of white fox. Adventuring ever since he was one of the first in the gold rush to the Klondike, Mr. Eckhardt is still going strong.

Thought He Saw Astral Body of Lady Harcourt

Famous Editor Told Friend of Weird Adventure While Staying at Sir Wm. Harcourt's

THE late H. W. Massingham, the famous editor of the English Nation, at the time he was editor of the Daily Chronicle, had a house in Nightingale lane, where you would find Bernard Shaw, John Burns and a host of other celebrities, who were accustomed to drop in on Sunday afternoons. The first Mrs. Massingham was a friend to many a rising musician, and her entertainments were always delightful. On such occasions politics were strictly taboo.

Massingham once told a friend an eerie experience. He was staying with Sir William and Lady Harcourt, and had lingered one evening in the library for some time after the first song had gone for dinner. Suddenly realizing how late he was, he made a dash for the stairs to dress, but saw Lady Harcourt coming down, so stood aside. She passed him without a glance or a word, which rather surprised him.

Massingham went upstairs, and, to his amazement, met her again on the landing—this time in the flesh. "Hurry up!" she said, "or you will be late!" He would have ascribed the apparition at the foot of the stairs to imagination, had it not been for the fact that the real Lady Harcourt was wearing exactly the same frock—a very striking one—as he had observed upon her "astral body" in the hall below!

Rumor Persists That Prince Henry To Wed Lady Mary Theresa Scott

THE rumor in London persists that the engagement of Prince Henry, who is twenty-four years old and the third son of King George and Queen Mary, to Lady Mary Theresa Scott, who is twenty and the fourth daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, will be announced before long.

This is the second successive season Prince Henry has been spending partly at the Buccleuchs' Scottish seat, and his stays there have been more in the nature of private visits to friends than of the formal visits of a prince. In the normal course of events it is considered in London that Prince Henry probably will marry at no distant date.

Leaving aside the Prince of Wales—the question of whose marriage seems now to have become unsolvable—Prince Henry is next in line to wed now that his other older brother, the Duke of York, is married. The King and Queen are said still to consider Prince George too young to end his single state.

Lady Mary, who like her sisters, is extremely good looking, was one of the prominent debutantes of the past season.

This is not the first time the names of one of the Buccleuch daughters has been connected with British royalty. For some time previous to her marriage to Lieut. Charles Phipps in 1919 it was strongly rumored that his wife, formerly Lady Sybil Scott, second daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, would become engaged to the Prince of Wales. But that report shared the fate of all previous and subsequent rumors of that kind.

Lady Mary's brother, Lord William Scott, is in the same regiment, the 10th Hussars, with Prince Henry, and a great personal friendship exists between them.

How to Become an Orphan Explained by a Lawyer

Canon Joshua Hinchcliffe, the Most Versatile Figure in B.C. Politics, Solves a Problem Without Fee

CANON JOSHUA HINCHCLIFFE, who enjoys the distinction of being able to defeat Premier Oliver in his home town of Victoria, and who was the first man in holy orders to get a seat in the British Columbia legislature, has recently added to his accomplishments by becoming a full-fledged lawyer.

As member of one of the service clubs of Victoria, Mr. Hinchcliffe recently did yeoman service at a picnic given to orphan children. To one small boy at least, he was the most important adult in sight. With wistful eyes the lad approached Mr. Hinchcliffe and inquired whether he, too, could not form part of the picnic party.

Mr. Hinchcliffe explained with regret that arrangements did not permit of this, as the picnic was for orphans only.

"Gee, Mister, but I'd like to go! How can I become an orphan?" asked the youngster.

This was a question that neither the politician nor the churchman in Mr. Hinchcliffe felt competent to answer, but the lawyer was equal to the occasion.

"It's quite simple, sonny," he explained. "All you have to do is to wait long enough."

To the credit of Lawyer Hinchcliffe, be it said, he did not charge the boy anything for this good advice. But that may be because he has not been a lawyer very long.

THOSE LONDON FOGS

WHEN in England recently, Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the leader of the American world-fliers, was greatly struck by the congestion of the London streets.

During one of many waits on a journey from Charing Cross to the Mansion House, he asked the driver of his taxi whether a typical London fog is really so terribly thick as has been reported.

"Sure, and it is," replied the man. "Some of 'em are so thick you can't cut 'em with a knife."

"Indeed! Then how does the traffic get through?"

"Well, the first vehicle makes a tunnel, and the rest follow."

Miracle Man of New Zealand "Cures" People All Over World

Ratana, Man of Mystery, Hopes to Regenerate Maori Race—Holds Himself Aloof From White People, None of Which, Except Newspaper Men, are Allowed to Enter His Village—May Come to Canada

A "MIRACLE MAN" has arisen among the Maoris of New Zealand. And another racial movement is in progress among the conquered races of the British Empire.

In a shabby Walthamstow suburb of London, behind a shabby Y.M.C.A. building, at the present time, is a long tin hut which houses forty Maoris of the Ratana concert party and divine healing mission of New Zealand, who will eventually reach Canada. Within this hut is the mysterious Tahu Wiremu Ratana, the leader of the mission, who is refusing to let himself be seen, just as he has kept aloof from the white men in far-off New Zealand.

From the beginning Ratana has built up a legend of mystery and aloofness. Stories of his "cures" began to spread through the country in 1920, and white people began to apply to him for help. Replies to their letters instructed them how to pray for healing, promising that Ratana would also pray for them. Some of them who said that they were "cured" sent him large sums of money. Much to their surprise, they found it returned to them a few days later.

"Ratana accepts no fees," says his secretary, "excepting small amounts sent to him to prepay postage on replies to letters, which on 600 letters a day would cost us heavily."

No white men, except newspapermen, have ever been admitted to his village, not even people who have come to thank him.

Through a miracle of faith Ratana is said to have begun his career as a healer.

In 1918 Ratana was a prosperous Maori homesteader on the north island. He owned 600 acres on the downs, about 125 miles from Wellington. His grandfather was a chief of local distinction, a convert to Anglicanism. Ratana himself married into a Maori Presbyterian church, and has seven children.

Shortly after the war ended, the Maoris were swept by an influenza epidemic and Ratana was one of its victims. It is said to have left him stone deaf. Deprived of his hearing, he turned to reading, and what happened next may be related in his own words: "I began by reading the New Testament," he wrote shortly afterward, "I came to the passage where the centurion appealed to Jesus to heal his servant, who was at the point of death. Jesus commended this man's great faith. He healed the sick servant while he spoke."

He began by fasting and praying for six days and at the end his hearing is said to have returned. Thereafter he began an attempt to heal other Maori victims of the epidemic.

"There are hundreds of stories about these early 'cures' among his own people," says Clair Price, who interviewed him, in the New York Times magazine, "and it is impossible (for this writer, at any rate) to make any attempt at a sifting out of the true from the false. Here is a sample of the many stories which are told of this early period: A Maori woman who had been left blind by the epidemic came to him. He told her to have faith 'in the one God' and to confess her sins, 'not to me but in prayer.' Then he passed his hat over her eyes and took it away. 'What do you see?' 'I see a little light.' He passed his hat over her eyes again: 'What do you see now?' 'A few objects dimly.' 'Go home now, and to-morrow your sight will come back to you.' It is said that it did."

European Christian bodys in New Zealand who have investigated his work have sent resolutions of greeting to him for the great moral and spiritual revival resulting from his work among the Maoris.

Almost like Gandhi to thousands of natives in India is Ratana to the Maoris, although he is loyal to British institutions.

But more than a moral revival is the movement he has begun. He aims at nothing less than the revival of his race. He has lifted the Maori birthrate by 50 per cent. Through his influence the Maori population has increased from 47,000 to 52,000 in the last six years. He has put before his race a "covenant" whose signatories pledge themselves to faith in Christianity, to the renunciation of idolatrous tohungaism, to baptism, to fidelity in marriage, to the better care of children, to prayer for the devastating liquor business which has almost ruined the aboriginal race.

glimpses of Ratana himself as he traveled from village to village among his own people say that his is an athletic rather than an ascetic figure, that his thick black hair is wet, sprinkled with grey, that he dresses in European clothing of blue serge, that he is invariably seen leading one of his little sons by the hand, that, except for his bronzed complexion and his incessant smile he resembles a prosperous English country gentleman, and that he is easily the most important figure in the dominion to-day.

WASHINGTON, September 29.—President Coolidge will actively assume the presidency of the American National Red Cross, when the annual convention meets here early in October. He is expected to pre- side at the opening session.

Thirty-five hundred chapters of the organization, scattered over the land, will be represented by the delegates, who will assemble in Memorial Continental Hall, where the Chief Executive was recently notified of his selection as Republican nominee for the presidency.

Round table discussions of the various angles of Red Cross work; a pageant in which 150 young folk will participate to illustrate the organization's influence in the schools; a demonstration of life-saving methods in the water by experts, and a Foreign and Pan-American night, are features of the convention.

Prominent among the speakers besides President Coolidge will be John Barton Payne, chairman of the central committee of the Red Cross; Director Frank T. Jilnes, of the Veterans Bureau; James L. Fieser, vice-chairman in charge of domestic affairs of the Red Cross; Dr. Livingston Farrand, President of Cornell University; Dr. Charles P. Emerson, dean of the School of Medicine, Indiana University; Mrs. August Belmont, member of the Central Committee, Red Cross; and Colonel Ernest P. Bicknell, vice-chairman in charge of Insular and Foreign Operations of the Red Cross.

The convention will start Monday, October 6, and last through the evening of Thursday, October 9. Discussion of chapter problems will revolve around Red Cross workers in the regular army and navy; disaster relief; hygiene, home nursing and nutrition in home and schools; first aid and life saving, which, among others, has been taught under Red Cross auspices, to police and fire departments of the country; the volunteer service in which some communities are still making surgical dressings for local hospitals; the motor corps, which takes children and aged to hospitals, clinics and dispensaries; the making of books for the blind; children in schools organized for Red

The story is from "The Rose Bush of a Thousand Years", which is founded on an old French legend, but the picture itself opens in modern times in France, with a country girl, Joline Hofer (Viola Dana), being driven from her home because of her misdeeds. She goes to Paris, where she makes a living as a cabaret dancer, her earnings going to one Du Clos, an Apache, played by Otto Matiesen.

Paul Granville, a poor American artist, played by Monte Blue, goes every night to the cabaret to paint Joline's portrait, and she agrees to go to his studio to pose for him.

The Count de Roche then interests him in the legend of the Madonna of the Rosebush and Granville decides to paint a portrait of the incident. Joline is in a frenzy of anger when he tells her that she will not do as a model, because there is no saintliness in her.

Joline's heart is breaking at Granville's neglect. But her sorrow brings her triumph for Granville sees for the first time in her face the sad, sweet holiness of a Madonna.

BUY GERMAN GOVERNMENT BONDS NOW

In November, 1923, German Government Bonds touched their lowest level. The European political and financial outlooks were gloomy and involved. The world's financiers and bankers realized how important to the world's trade and progress the rehabilitation of Germany was. International conferences decided upon the urgent necessity for some equitable and immediate settlement of the German reparations question. Germany was in the position of a bankrupt debtor. The Allies, more especially France, desired to receive the payments due to them. Conferences culminated in the setting up of the Dawes International Expert Commission. During this period, German Government Bonds reflected the optimistic views of the convened nations. They rose steadily in value. The adoption of the Dawes report, and the acceptance by the Allies, drove these Bonds further up in value. The immediate acceptance of the Dawes conditions in the German Reichstag set the final seal upon the potential values of German Bonds, and caused them to make sensational rises.

Today our clients who purchased German Bonds in November, 1923, are comparatively wealthy. German Government and Municipal Bonds, at their quotations today, still sell at a fraction only of their real value at date of maturity.

Fortunes Earned by Shrewd and Thrifty Investors

Situation in November, 1923

European conditions were at their darkest in the fall of 1923. Exchange rates of European countries crashed. Foreign Government and Municipal Bonds depreciated. German Government 5% Bonds, valued at $238,500.00 during the war, were sold at $1.00. Other German Government Bonds, Polish Government, Austrian Government, and Municipal Bonds of these countries were almost unsalable, and in fact, difficult to give away.

C. M. Cordasco & Company

offered Polish Government Bonds at $10.00 per 1,000,000 Marks Bond; City of Berlin 4% Bonds, 1914 and 1915 issue, went begging for a few dollars; City of Bremen Bonds, pre-war issue, were practically valueless; City of Hamburg 4% Bonds, could scarcely be given away.

The House of C. M. CORDASCO & COMPANY advertised throughout the length and breadth of Canada, through Newspapers, Circulars, and all other available channels urging upon Canadian investors that these bonds had great potential values, and strongly advising their purchase. Each and every one of our clients was written to separately, and informed of the respective merits of each of the bonds, and insistently advised to purchase the bonds which, to their minds, showed greatest powers of recuperation and ultimate profit.

Our advice received very mixed reception. Many Newspaper's Financial Writers informed the reading public not to touch these bonds. We received much puzzle and at times hostile criticism. We received many letters from all parts of Canada informing us that all Continental Bonds were worthless. We were informed both by expert Foreign Exchange Brokers and the ordinary investing public that the German Currency was a more lucrative medium for speculation than German Bonds.

Happily, however, all our advice was not ignored. Many far-sighted and astute investors maintained an open mind and assumed that such advice, coming from a reputable house, must necessarily be based upon sound and exhaustive inquiries. An example we might give here was the following:

One of our clients had already invested $1,000.00 in German Currency before he had read our advertisements. A few days later, he came to us and purchased 60,000,000 Marks German Government 5% Bonds at an average cost of $19.92 per bond, or for a total of $1,195,200.00. Today his German Money is valueless. A few days ago he sold out his bond holdings, and obtained $165,000.00 for those bonds, a profit of $163,800.00 on his original money.

Worst of European Situation Over

It was becoming daily more evident to Bankers, Economists, and Financial Experts throughout the World, that the gloomy state of depression into which German Finances had fallen was unlikely to lead to any satisfactory settlement of the Reparations Question. Germany was powerless to lift herself out of her slough of despair. Aggressive oppression by military methods of the powers occupying the most wealthy portions of Germany had the opposite effect to that intended. Interested and uninterested countries realized the importance to the world of a stable German Government. New methods had to be found. Allied Nations convened conferences. The outcome was the setting up of a commission under the American Financial Expert, General Dawes.

Astute investors began to see that there were, after all, signs portending large profits in German Bonds. German Government 5% Bonds now became about $200.00 per 1,000,000 Marks Bond. Other Foreign Government and Municipal Bonds appreciated in value.

The House of C. M. CORDASCO & COMPANY still continues to urge upon their clients the exceptional opportunities offered for large profits in German Government Bonds.

European Reparations Settlement

The International Commission of Experts issued a report which was enthusiastically received by England, Italy, and the United States. France was impressed and ultimately accepted it. The German Experts called to the conference eagerly sought to place the report before their countrymen. The German Reichstag immediately adopted it. The constantly increasing favorable news from Europe gradually caused a rise in the value of all German Government and Municipal Bonds. Public opinion throughout the world considered the Report to be a fair, sound, and business-like one, and as the most likely means of ultimate settlement of the European Situation which had been in a chaotic condition since the cessation of hostilities. The adoption by the Reichstag of the Report caused sensational rises in the value of German Bonds. German Government 5% Bonds now became $2,800.00 per million. Polish Government 5% Bonds became $450.00; City of Berlin 4% Bonds, 1914, were quoted at $15,000.00; City of Stuttgart 4% pre-war issue, were quoted at $13,000.00; City of Munich, 4% pre-war issue, rose to $20,000.00; and all other Government and Municipal Bonds increased in value.

Immense Profits Made

The investor who had followed our advice, and purchased bonds when we urged him to, now became comparatively wealthy. Our clients who had ridiculed our suggestions to them, now insistently begged us to buy some of these bonds for them, even at a high figure. Our most inventive critics now praised our foresight. We were content that many of our clients were satisfied and had made large profits by following our advice.

History Repeating Itself

The history of the world is repeating itself today. The sale of Foreign Securities has long since passed the stage of being considered a speculative one. It is, on the contrary, full of exceptional possibilities for potential profits. The opportunities represented for profits of these bonds will never again occur in a lifetime. The United States was financially bankrupt after the Civil War. Their securities could then be bought for practically nothing, yet, in a few years time, the Americans were on their financial feet again, and are today considered the richest nation in the world. England, too, suffered the same financial distress when Napoleon nearly brought her to her knees. British Bonds went begging for next to nothing, but the victory at Waterloo sent them sky-high. The Rothschild family accumulated the majority of its wealth in these Bonds. The experience of France in 1870 is a further example.

A nation with the skill, natural resources, and latent wealth of Germany will stabilize herself and again take her place in the foremost rank of nations in a very short time.

Germany's Potential Wealth

few people realize that Germany has an area of 472,000 square kilometers, with a population of approximately 60,000,000 people. Before the war, Germany was one of the three most powerful nations of the world. She controlled the second largest mercantile marine. Her export of manufactured goods was the second largest in the world. The industry and inventive ability of her skilled workmen was unsurpassed. She was almost pre-eminent in iron manufacture; minerals in large quantities were found throughout her territory. Her North Sea and Baltic Fisheries were important. Before the war, her national wealth was placed at about $1,000,000,000,000.00. A nation defeated on the fields of battle by practically the whole civilized world came out of the conflict without one square inch of her territory attacked. Today her potential wealth is greater than ever. Minerals are produced in Prussia, Bavaria, and other places. Her present mercantile fleet has already recovered over one-third of its pre-war tonnage. Experts, especially appointed to examine Germany, believe that she is today far more wealthy than in 1914. General Dawes' Report says: "After a short period of recovery, we believe the financial and economic conditions of Germany will be returned to a normal state. Everything tends to a brighter and more prosperous future."

What To Purchase

Investors in Selected German Government Bonds Will Reap Ample Profits. This has been our slogan during the past eight months, and we now have the daily pleasure of seeing our clients reap handsome profits on their outlays made by following our advice. TODAY, we do not advise to make immediate purchases of German Government Enforced Loan Bonds, issued in 1922. When the people of Canada fully realize and appreciate the potential profits to be gained from these bonds, YOU may be too late. There is not an illimitable quantity of them on hand. There will arise a scarcity of these bonds, which, fast alone, coupled with the insistent and increasingly large demand, will cause them to come to a very high figure.

We urge upon you to make immediate purchases of German Government 4-5% Enforced Loan Bonds, issued in 1922.

A few words concerning this bond. It was issued in denominations of 100,000 Marks in 1922. The rate of exchange was approximately 400 marks to the dollar. A bond of 1,000,000 Marks denomination had, therefore, a value of $2,500.00. Keep before you the fact that this is known as the Enforced Loan. German Government loans were made during the war, and since the war, precisely similarly to our own Canadian Victory Loans. Would you ever again invest in Canadian National Securities if our own Government repudiated its debt, or failed to repay the principal of its borrowings? The German regards the German Government as you regard the Canadian National Loan. We, therefore, have the position that the German Government received from its citizens $2,500.00 in the value of Canadian money, for every million Marks bond it issued. The German people will, therefore, insist that they be repaid the money they loaned to their country, plus the interest accrued.

But keep before your mind this most important fact in connection with the 1922 Enforced Loan of the German Government. Observe the word "Enforced." The German people were compelled to subscribe to this loan precisely in a similar manner as you are compelled to pay your Income Tax. Every citizen of Germany was compelled to subscribe to this loan in accordance with his means, based on a grading of his income.

If such a loan were issued by the Canadian Government, and you were forced to purchase a holding, would you be content to receive back anything less than what you had loaned to the Government? Your answer would be "NO." The German gives the same answer. Is it not plain, therefore, that the German will be repaid at the rate, in Canadian Currency, of $2,500.00? Yet today you can buy this Bond for $85.00 per million Marks bond. This loan will show you a profit of $2,415.00 on an outlay of $85.00.

It looks almost too big to be true. Yet, consider what we have spoken of above, regarding German Government 5% Bonds. People have made these large profits on their small outlays, and you are probably regretting that you are not one of these fortunate ones. Are you going to lose this opportunity? In twelve months' time, do you intend to be able to congratulate yourself on your wisdom and foresight in purchasing German Government Enforced Loan Bonds—or are you going to be again amongst those who wish they had followed our advice? We urge upon you to make up your mind, and to make it up quickly. Grasp this opportunity.

It has been said that the German Government would repay its loans in German Marks, which have today practically no value. Can this be true? The following Judgment of the German Supreme Court in Leipzig, which bears a close resemblance to the Supreme Court in Canada, will prove conclusively that this is not to be the case.

Some time before the war, a man named Stolz loaned to one named Reinshagen the sum of 13,000 Marks, secured by Mortgage on property. The mortgage became due in 1920. Reinshagen then demanded that the mortgage be cancelled, and tendered as payment to Stolz, 13,000 Marks for 13 borrowed. Stolz refused to accept the proffered amount, claiming that as the value of the Mark had depreciated so considerably, he must be repaid in gold value to what he had loaned. The German Supreme Court upheld his contention, stating that it would be in contradiction to the principles of fairness and justice, if the creditor was compelled to accept anything less than what he had loaned to the debtor. Reinshagen was, therefore, compelled to repay his loan in marks of gold value. So will the German Government be compelled to repay their bonds in marks of gold value for the sums they received for them.

We have obtained a limited quantity of the Enforced Loan 4-5% Bonds of 1922. These bonds will yield interest at the rate of 4% per annum up to the year 1930. From 1930 onwards, the rate will be 5%. Before advising you to purchase this bond, we made the most exhaustive investigation concerning its merits, and have come to the conclusion that the purchases of these securities at the present price of $85.00, will earn rapid and material profits in a reasonable space of time. In fact, we believe that all German Government and Municipal Debentures offer exceptionally favorable opportunities to investors, but we think that the Enforced Loan is pre-eminently the best investment.

BUY AT ONCE. The actual coupon Bonds of the German Government 4-5% Enforced Loan are now on hand, and we are able to make early shipment by registered mail upon receipt of order, provided that remittances are forwarded with order to cover immediately. All that is necessary is to fill in, and clip off, the attached order blank, forwarding same with remittance to cover by return mail. We do not undertake to be able to confirm sale to you without the remittance.

We await your immediate reply to the above advice, and extend to you the services of our expert staff. We shall be ready to re-purchase these bonds at any time you may desire to sell, and take up your profits.

IN PARIS

THE PARIS subsidiary of the Bank of Montreal is situated in a quarter rich in historic interest.

From a lofty column in Place Vendôme the statue of Napoleon looks out upon an imposing square the construction of which began in 1686 under authority of Louis XIV.—a square which has witnessed many of the city's greatest demonstrations and which now mirrors the social and business life of Paris.

Here, in the heart of the capital of France, the Bank of Montreal in 1919 established a subsidiary office in the Ritz Hotel Building. In February, 1922, the business of this office had become so extensive that enlarged quarters were opened near by at No. 6 Place Vendôme.

SENATORS NEED TO WIN ONLY ONE OF TWO GAMES

Washington Downed Boston, While Philadelphia Lowered Yankee Colors on Saturday—Giants Cinch Pennant.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Both Senators and Yankees were idle yesterday, and the latter will pursue their slim hope of a tie today. It will be necessary for the champions of the world to defeat Philadelphia twice while Washington loses its two remaining contests with Boston. A tie and a play-off of three games would then result.

Brooklyn finished its season yesterday by clinching the second place in the National League share of the series, as Dazzy Vance won his 28th game in a 5 to 1 victory over Boston.

Pittsburgh definitely fell to third place when the Cubs won by 7 to 4. The Giants, with the pennant won, and with most regulars resting, eased up and lost an 11 to 6 slug-fest to the Phillies.

St. Louis split a double-header with Cincinnati, winning the first game by 9 to 3, but losing the next by 8 to 2.

In the only American League game played, Detroit and Chicago went ten innings to a 10 to 10 tie until darkness forced the calling of the battle. It will be replayed today.

The St. Louis-Cleveland game was postponed by rain.

A SWIMMER OF STRENGTH

(Associated Press Despatch) BOSTON, Sept. 29.—Miss Eva Morrison, of Pictou, N.S., at times a stenographer, a telephone operator and a music student, today was acknowledged to be a swimmer of strength by the long distance swimming experts of this city. In waters too cold for more than one of several men who had entered with her, Miss Morrison yesterday swam for seven hours in an attempt to reach Boston light. Art Ross, who dove off with her, left the water a mile out, saying it was too cold for him. Miss Morrison continued to within a mile and a half of the light, eating chocolates fed her from a rowboat, when she was taken from the water because the tide had set against her.

BLUE BONNETS FINISH STRONG TO BEAT THESCO

Superior Combination Work Enabled Montreal Team to Overcome Two Goal Lead—Score Was 3 to 2.

Thesco went down to defeat by a score of 3 goals to 2 in a friendly game with Blue Bonnets' Football Club, of Montreal, at the Parade Grounds on Saturday afternoon.

Blue Bonnets possesses a strong combination, who hail from Ville St. Pierre and play regularly in the Second Division of the Montreal Football League.

The conditions were ideal and a good crowd turned out to witness the game.

Thesco won the toss and sent the Blues to face a strong wind. Play opened briskly, and gave early promise of a good game. An early misfortune overtook the Blues when Dakers unexpectedly passed back to Chatterton, and the ball rolled into the net to count for Thesco's first goal.

Thus encouraged, Thesco set up a severe pressure which ended in Miller sending wide. Blue Bonnets took up the attack and gave a delightful display of combination football, but Longhead was on the spot for the parting effort. Aston cleared in timely fashion the next minute. Linford had a solo run down on the left, but sent over the bar. From the goal kick, Thesco came down and Pearly fastened on, sending in a lovely drive which beat Chatterton all the way, landing in the far corner of the net. Two goals up Thesco played confidently, but were up against a forward line which was moving sweetly and always dangerous.

A foul against Thesco just outside the penalty box looked dangerous, but Aston cleared in fine fashion.

Penalty! was the shout the next minute when Davidson handled inside the box, and Referee Croft had no alternative but to point to the spot. Shagnessy took the kick and gave Loughhead no chance with a fast drive. The Blues were settling down, and Aston and Grimes had their work cut out for them. A drive by Linford was saved by Loughhead at the expense of a corner. Aston cleared the flag kick just as the whistle went for half time, with the score standing Thesco 2, Blue Bonnets 1.

Play was open for a time for the second period but Blue Bonnets were settling into a great combination game which was only spoiled a bit by wide shooting. Thesco worked down, but Brawley and Dakers showed themselves a pair of capable backs. A burst through the centre by Rice looked good, but he was brought down badly wounded and had to retire for a few minutes. With ten minutes gone Linford had a fine run down on the left and finished up with a great shot that beat Loughhead and brought the score to two all. Play was fast and ranged from end to end in great style, though the undoubted superior combination of the Montreal team was having its effect and Thesco players were held pretty tight in this half.

Aston showed up time and again with fine clearances. Two minutes from time a foul against Thesco let the Blues' forward line away and Linford put his team one goal ahead with a very clever shot from an almost impossible position just on the goal line. Thesco made desperate efforts to retrieve, but without result and a splendid game ended Blue Bonnets 3, Thesco 2.

Referee Croft handled the game in a most satisfactory manner to all. It is understood that a return game is to be played at Ville St. Pierre on October 25th.

The teams lined-up as follows: Thesco—Loughhead; Grimes and Aston; Smith, Mason and Davidson; Miller, Robertson, Rice, Pierce and Bennett.

Blue Bonnets—Chatterton; Brawley and Dakers; Patterson, Williams and Boyd; Shagnessy, Reid, Kelly, McCormick and Linford.

nis Club on Saturday commenced a tournament on the St. Francis Courts. Several matches have already been played. In ladies' singles, Mrs. B. H. Irwin, St. Francis, defeated Miss Wilkinson, United, 8-6, 6-0; Mrs. A. W. Blue and Mrs. A. W. Blue, St. Francis, defeated Miss Veilleux, United, 6-3, 6-1, 8-6.

In ladies' doubles, Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Blue, St. Francis, won from Miss Wilkinson and Miss Brien, United, 6-2, 6-1.

In mixed doubles, Mrs. Irwin and Ashton Tobin, St. Francis, won from Miss Kilkenny and Leonard Wolfe, United, 6-3; 6-2; Mrs. A. W. Blue and Mr. A. W. Reid, St. Francis, won from Miss Brien and Leonard Wolfe, United, 8-6; 6-3, 7-5.

STANSTEAD AND S.H.S. PLAY DRAW IN RUGBY GAME

Teams Too Even to Score—Little Excitement in Opening Game on Saturday.

A good but featureless game, ending in a no score draw, marked the opening of the local rugby season on Saturday afternoon, when the Sherbrooke High School lined up against Stanstead College on the Parade Grounds. The teams were matched so evenly that both found it impossible to score.

The kicking on both sides was somewhat weak, although several times the visitors nearly got rouges on their kicks. No very long runs were made, and the game was not one to excite great enthusiasm. The Stanstead boys fumbled and got off side penalties more than their opponents, but the local team's wings were slow, which proved a considerable loss. The collegians' wings, especially Halpenny, were fast and did good work.

Stanstead kicked off, but the High failed to make yards and kicked. This was the order of the day, for seldom were downs made. Pearson, for Sherbrooke, and Smyth, for Stanstead, made good runs in the opening period.

Upon fumble by the High, Cook picked up the ball and made one of the longest runs of the game in the second period. Sherbrooke was forced to kick, however, and Stanstead got possession. The High forced the collegians near the latter team's own line, and was nearly able to force them to rouge, but Stanstead caught the punt and ran out far enough.

The third period was Stanstead's and played was near the Sherbrooke line most of the period. The High line held well, however, and the visitors failed to make good their advantage, suffering also from a number of fumbles. In the final quarter the Sherbrooke High improved. Johnston, Conley and Cook made good yards on plunges, and Pearson and Sangster made a number of end runs. The Stanstead half-line also did good work. Both lines did some very effective blocking.

Mr. C. K. Tate, of Sherbrooke, refereed, and Mr. Amaron, of Stanstead, acted as umpire, with Mr. H. Conley, of Sherbrooke, as head-linesman. The game was clean throughout and marred by no bad accidents. A lot of side-line coaching was carried on by both sides, but was not stopped by the officials.

The teams lined-up as follows: Stanstead—Johnston, flying wing; Maule, Smith, Harrison, halves; Smyth, quarter; Clark, snap; Reid, Noyon, insides; G. McGowan, Watson, middles; Halpenny, Van Vleet, outside; spares: Stockwell, Mays, Hastings, Sharpe, Carson, W. McGowan.

Sherbrooke—Sangster, flying wing; Johnston, E. Conley, Cook, halves; Pearson, quarter; Keating, snap; Banks, Gough, insides; Lilley, Karschhausen, middles; Rappaport, Veazey, outside; spares: Duff, F. Sharpe, Blue, Montgomery, Loomis, Russ, Tate, Lothrop.

Games Next Saturday.

The Sherbrooke High will stage its second contest next Saturday afternoon, when it meets the High School team of St. Lambert, Que., on the Parade Grounds. Last year the local squad won two victories over the St. Lambert boys, and another interesting game is looked forward to this year.

PRINCE SPENDS MUCH OF TIME IN THE SADDLE

Put in a Little Work on His Ranch on Saturday—Entertained at Midday Dinner Yesterday.

(Associated Press Despatch) CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 29.—The Prince of Wales continues to enjoy perfect weather conditions for his holiday on the "E.P." ranch, and he is spending every hour out in the big open spaces, making trips into the foothills of the Rockies and to the remote sections of his property.

His Royal Highness is spending much time in the saddle on his favorite pony "Gopher". A handsome dark bay possessed of much spirit and a fine turn of speed.

On Saturday, the Prince took a hand at slicing hay, of which there is a splendid crop on the ranch this year, working for several hours and setting a pace throughout for the men who are busy gathering in the winter food for the stock. In the afternoon the Royal rancher was out shooting and brought back a mallard duck. General F. Trotter is proving the most successful angler of the party, justifying the reputation that he has on the Scottish salmon streams, and providing the ranch table with Rainbow trout each day.

Sunday was spent quietly at the ranch, but the Prince entertained at mid-day dinner a small party of guests, including Mayor Webster, of Calgary, Col. J. H. Gunn, D.S.O., of Calgary, C. K. Howard and Walter Thompson, of the Canadian National Railway, Mrs. W. L. Carlyle and Miss Helen Carlyle.

On Tuesday His Royal Highness will entertain at luncheon a number of gentlemen interested in the ranching industry in Alberta, including Pat Burns, Geo. Lane, of the Bar U ranch, A. E. Cross, of the A. 7 ranch, Archie McLean, of the Pincher Creek ranch, J. Brown, of the 7-U ranch, W. D. Thorne, of Aldersyde, Col. Jas. Wilker, W. R. Hal, R. B. Bennett, K.C., and W. F. Pierce, of Calgary.

Telegrams received at the ranch on Sunday indicate that the stock breeding experts from various sections of the United States, and from all parts of Canada, will be present on Wednesday for the sale of blooded cattle and sheep bred by the Prince of Wales. It is the intention of His Royal Highness to hold these sales annually in order that the valuable strains represented in the imported stock at present on the ranch may be made available to farmers and breeders throughout the country. The foundation stock of the ranch is of course, being retained, and is being steadily added to, so that the "E.P." ranch will year by year fulfill the aim of its Royal founder and be a most valuable agency in raising the general level of the stock on the farms of the Dominion. Among the animals to be sold on Wednesday are thirty-two shorthorns, two years old or under, representing the blood of the famous "King of the Fairies" and "Climax Broad-books".

There will also be offered sixteen Hampshire and fourteen Shropshire rams, representation of the best blood lines in England.

DENIES CHARGE OF PIRACY ON THE HIGH SEAS

Accused Gave Interesting Details Concerning the Smuggling of Liquor into United States.

OF PIRACY ON THE HIGH SEAS

Accused Gave Interesting Details Concerning the Smuggling of Liquor into United States.

(Associated Press Despatch) BREAST, France, Sept. 29.—Max Jerome, Phrygian-American, charged with piracy on the high seas in connection with the looting last July of whiskey from the French steamship Mulhouse off the Canadian coast, was subjected to twelve hours of grilling on Saturday by Captain Fournier, of the French Navy, who will act as prosecutor against Phaff before the marine tribunal. The examination was conducted with the strictest privacy in the presence of Phaff's attorney. Afterward Phaff's attorney reported that his client had repudiated the accusation of piracy, but had given many interesting details concerning the smuggling of liquor into the United States.

Phaff is said to have told Captain Fournier that he was unable to give the exact date of his birth, and that he did not know whether he had been born in the United States or in Germany.

On Tuesday Phaff will appear for his first official examination before a magistrate, and it is expected that P. G. E. Gide, prominent international lawyer and a member of the Paris and London bar associations, who is the accused's chief counsel, will be present.

WRECKAGE IS FOUND (Associated Press Despatch) CLEVELAND, Sept. 29.—Any doubt of the sinking of the whale-back freighter Clifton, with her crew of twenty-eight, was dispelled with the finding in Lake Huron of a hatch cover and the forward end of a pilot house.

MOTORCYCLE DRIVER KILLED (Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—Henry Muth, twenty-six years old, was instantly killed, and Oliver Lalonde, twenty-six years old, severely hurt when the motorcycle on which they were riding crashed into a pole near here yesterday.

THE MONTREAL CATTLE MARKET QUOTATIONS

Prices Paid for Cattle at the Montreal Stockyards—Other Details.

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—Cattle receipts 1,369. Buyers were engaged in purchasing small stock during the first part of the morning, only a couple of small lots of cattle being weighed up before 10.30 a.m. Jewish buyers were absent from the market today on account of the holidays, and indications are that trading in cattle and calves will be slow. One load of medium 1,225 pound steers brought $5, and one load of good fat western cows were sold for $4.25, and one lot of common, light steers and fair heifers brought $3.25. There were no choice cattle on sale, and prices looked like $6 for good steers, from $4 to $4.75 for just fair butcher steers and from $3 to $3.75 for light, thin steers, medium heifers and common to medium cows in mixed lots.

Quotations: Butcher steers, good $6, medium $4.75 to $5.25, common $2.75 to $4.50; butcher heifers, medium $3.50 to $4.50, common $2.50 to $3.25; butcher cows, good $4, medium $2.50 to $3.25, canners $1.25, cutters $1.50 to $1.75.

Calf receipts 2,221. Grass calves were lower. Buyers were offering $2.50, but sales made up to 10 o'clock were mostly $2.75 to $3, with a few at $3.50. Good veal calves were about steady at from $8 to $9, with a top of $10 for odd ones picked out.

Quotations: Good veal $8 to $9, common $3.75, grass $2.50 to $3.50.

Sheep receipts 8,604. The ruling price for straight lots of good lambs this morning was $10. One load of picked lambs were purchased on contract to be shipped out at $10.60, and a number were delivered on contract at $10.50 off cars. Common lambs sold from $8 up, but only a few below $9. Sheep ranged from $3 to $5.50.

Quotations: Ewes $3 to $5.50; lambs, good $10 to $10.60, common $8 to $9.

Hog receipts 2,779. Hogs sold in mixed lots brought from $9.50 to $9.75, with one lot of sixty at $10. Selects $10.25, and sows $6 to $7.
