Mikoyan, US Disappointed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anastas I. Mikoyan leaves for Moscow today to report on his tour of the United States.

Mikoyan evidently was disappointed that he could not budge Eisenhower administration leaders from their restrictions on Soviet trade and their policy of standing firm against Soviet pressures over Berlin. He charged that the cold war still is on in the state department.

State department officials were disappointed that the Soviet visitor came up with no concessions in Soviet policy on Berlin and other German issues.

OWN EXPLANATION

Mikoyan had his own explanation of that as he made his final appearance at a big Soviet Embassy reception Monday night.

Bridegroom Loses Nerve—And Wife

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Deborah Baker told the judge that after the wedding ceremony in 1956 her husband, London, took her out to eat.

"Then he put me on a bus and told me to go home," she testified Monday. "The last thing he said was that he just wasn't going through with it."

She was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Pilot, Airline Blamed In 79-Death Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — Reports were issued Monday on Canada's worst air crash and the grounding of a federal government ocean-science ship.

A board of inquiry report on the crash Aug. 11, 1957, at Issoudun near Quebec City of a Maritime Central Airways plane killing all 79 aboard said a turbulent thunderstorm probably was the cause.

It also said there appeared to be no justification for Capt. Norman Ramsay of Montreal, pilot of the DC-4 chartered aircraft, continuing toward Montreal from London, England, at the "extreme range of his aircraft." It had been a "grave error in judgment" not to stop at Quebec City for more fuel.

CREW FATIGUED

The board said the flight crew, on duty by then for 22 hours with rest facilities leaving "much to be desired," would have had a "very low" capacity to deal with an emergency.

Breaches of air regulations involved had consisted in overloading the plane, failure of MCA to comply with operations manual requirements for flight dispatchers and Capt. Ramsay's mistake in following a flight plan for

"Why should we make concessions if no one else is making any concessions?" he asked a questioning reporter. "Everybody is talking about concessions but no one is making them."

Addressing the National Press Club, Mikoyan said he had found in two weeks of travel around the United States that the American people, including business men, are "tired of the cold war" and want peace in the world.

He also took the occasion to argue that Russia fears the rearming of West Germany with rockets and modern weapons.

He said there are many "revenge seekers" who at some future time might try to use that power forcibly to change Russia's frontiers with Poland and Czechoslovakia.

GRIM ANSWER

Asked what would happen if West Berlin were blockaded and the West should use force to get through, he hesitated a moment and said grimly: "Force meets with force, you know."

U.S. officials credited Mikoyan with having created a new image of Soviet leadership in the American mind — an image of a friendly, warm man interested in all aspects of American life and in talking to all kinds of people.

They also credited him with having persuaded many business men that Russia offers an undeveloped market for American products.

Strikers Drafted In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine government, in its toughest action so far to break a nationwide general strike, today ordered all Buenos Aires transport workers to report for work or face military courts.

The trolley, bus and subway operators were drafted into the army as the strike already showed signs of collapsing. It began Sunday under the leadership of followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron and Communists.

The two groups had hoped to force the government to back down on its austerity program by granting another round of wage increases. The program is designed to check inflation and rebuild Argentina's economy from the chaos Peron created to buy workers' support.

FRONDISI IN U.S.

One government official pointed out that the strike already had failed in one objective: to force President Arturo Frondizi to cancel a two-week state visit to the United States. This failure removed much of the point of continued defiance of the government by 113 unions, the official said.

Frondizi arrived in Charleston, S.C. Monday and said he was not concerned about the strike situation.

Some 7,000 workers had seized the government-owned Buenos Aires meat packing plant Saturday to protest plans to sell the money-losing business to private operators. Police and troops used tanks and tear gas to rout them.

In retaliation, 62 Peronist unions called out transport workers in the capital shortly after midnight Saturday. By Monday they had been joined by 19 unions with Communist leanings and 32 unions which usually take an independent line. Some of the unions set a 48-hour strike period which expires Wednesday.

SOME CONFUSION

The confusion apparently was over whether the master of the ship or the hydrographic ship's officers are at all times responsible for the safety of the ship and personnel aboard.

The transport department last August issued an order stating that "hydrographic ship's officers are at all times responsible for the safety of the ship and personnel aboard."

The board of inquiry suggested that the transport department in future recruit commanding officers who are both master mariners and hydrographers, vesting responsibility for navigation in one person.

Call Girls On Company Payrolls

NEW YORK (AP)—Viewpoints expressed on a radio program indicate that sex has become big business in the world of big business.

Unidentified speakers on the program, "The Business of Sex," said that the use of call girls to help swing big deals for large corporations has become so widespread that some companies pay prostitutes by the month and others keep them on regular payrolls as part of public relations staffs.

Seaway Ceremony Indefinite

OTTAWA (CP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip this summer will see Canada from rugged shores of Newfoundland to balmy Vancouver Island and the northland, it was shown in an outline itinerary of their visit issued today by the government.

The royal couple will arrive by air at Torbay Airport, St. John's, Nfld., on Thursday, June 18, to open a 15,000-mile, six-week visit to this country. They will tour every province and the northern territories before leaving Halifax for home by air Saturday Aug. 1.

The itinerary left unclear the arrangements and actual site for the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, main purpose of the visit. The opening will take place June 26 and 27 at Montreal or Cornwall, Ont., or both.

VISITS 78 CITIES

Today's itinerary, which lists 78 Canadian cities—and one American stop, Chicago—gave no times or details of the programs at the various towns and cities the royal couple will visit.

The Queen and prince will cruise the St. Lawrence River and Great Lakes in the royal yacht Britannia and depend heavily on air, train and car for transportation to other areas.

They will travel north at least as far as Whitehorse in the Yukon. It is possible they may go even farther north, to Dawson City of gold-rush fame. The Queen will be the first sovereign to visit the Northland.

The visit to Chicago aboard the Britannia, which will be partly manned by Canadian sailors, is scheduled for July 6. The city will be holding its international fair and exposition that day.

DAY IN OTTAWA

There will be a one-day visit to Ottawa, on Dominion Day, July 1. On her last Canadian visit, in October, 1957, the Queen confined her stay to four days in the capital, to which she had come to open Parliament.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, apparently anticipating protests from communities not included in the itinerary, said "it is to be hoped there will be visits in the future when, with the aid of air

Press Sold

LONDON (Reuters)—The 170-year-old St. Lukes Printing Works where British banknotes were printed before the Second World War has been sold by the Bank of England to Oddeninos Property and Investment Company for a reported £1,000,000. The business of printing banknotes was transferred from the plant after its facilities proved too small to cope with increases in note circulation.

Reporters See Batista Men

561 Men Jammed In Prison For 150

By ROBERT BERRELEZ

HAVANA (AP)—Jammed into a prison normally housing 150 men are 561 followers of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista awaiting trial on "war criminal" charges.

The prison is inside La Cabana fortress on a hill overlooking Havana, not far from historic Morro Castle.

The prisoners are Batista police, military men and informers.

OPEN VISIT

Escorted by two unarmed guards, our party of U.S. reporters was given an unhindered visit to the cells. All were opened for us.

Some prisoners were reluctant at first to talk.

Finally one young prisoner said he would speak English "because what I say now the guards may take back to the prison director."

"The only crime I committed was to arrest some rebels," he said. "I struck or hurt no one."

The prison commandant, Alfonso Zayas, agreed that the prison was jammed far beyond normal capacity but said that could not be helped under the present circumstances.

Another prisoner, former policeman Hector Figueroa, 29, claimed all he had done was "to arrest those who were putting

Spending And Lending Policies To Continue; Bumbling Says Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker says the government will continue its policies of spending and lending to meet the "serious" unemployment problem.

He told the Commons Monday night this will be done, although he said economists haven't been able to solve the problem of putting money into the economy without inflation.

But he gave the hopeful prediction that "we are on the way out" of the recession.

CHARGES FUMBLING

Mr. Diefenbaker was replying to strongly worded charges by Opposition Leader Pearson of government "bumbling and fumbling" with inflation, recession and unemployment.

Mr. Pearson said the government's sink "is filled with dirty dishes while argument goes on how to clean them economically without breaking any politically."

Inflation in the last year had sliced nearly $2 from the value of the $9 monthly increase in old age pension put through by the Progressive Conservative government in 1957.

Mr. Pearson wound up a 140-minute attack with a non-confidence motion accusing the government of "lamentable indecision" in dealing with grave economic issues.

CCF House Leader Hazen Argue charged the government with ignoring election promises to curb unemployment and inflation.

NO PLANNING

He presented another non-confidence motion blaming "contradictory and confused policies" of the government on an absence of social and economic planning, and saying the government has not given agriculture a fair share of the national income.

The two motions will form the basis of the 10-day throne speech debate which continues today.

Mr. Diefenbaker's 100-minute speech in reply to Mr. Pearson contained a lead of statistics to back his contention that last year "Canadians worked more, earned more, spent more and saved more than in any comparable year in the history of this country."

MP's Bill Asks Bilingual Cheques

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Quebec members Monday introduced private bills in the Commons which would force the federal government to issue all its cheques and other negotiables in both French and English.

However, only one of the bills—the one introduced by Samuel Boulanger (L—Drummond-Arthabaska) is likely to be debated. It was the first to be given first reading.

The others were presented by Theogene Ricard (PC—St. Hyacinthe-Bagot) and Louis-Joseph Pigeon (PC—Joliette—l'Assomption—Montcalm).

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada ended 1958 with the highest December unemployment since the Second World War, though the rate of increase in the last month was slower than a year earlier.

Government figures released today indicated 440,000 persons without jobs and looking for work at mid-December, an increase of 79,000 from mid-November and 48,000 more than December, 1957.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland said he would prefer a full-fledged federal-provincial conference but the committee meeting proposed is "perfectly satisfactory." He said he expects the committee of ministers to meet here shortly.

Premier Frost of Ontario said the federal government's proposed course is aimed at a solution to "inequities" in federal-provincial fiscal relations.

Philip Begins World Tour

LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth waved goodbye to her husband today as a giant jet airliner whisked Prince Philip away toward India on the first stage of his 100-day world tour.

Prince Philip was due in India Wednesday. He will tour India and Pakistan and then fly to Burma to board the royal yacht Britannia Feb. 18 for a Pacific cruise.

No Conference

Premiers Consulted On Taxes

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker is seeking the co-operation of the provincial premiers in a continuing study of federal-provincial fiscal relations but has given no hint when he may summon a full-fledged Dominion-provincial conference.

Commons questioners unsuccessfully sought information on the convening of such a conference Monday as Mr. Diefenbaker tabled his latest communication with the premiers.

The letter asks the premiers for "your co-operation" in a proposal in the throne speech that fiscal relations "receive continued active co-operative study" by a committee of deputy finance ministers under supervision of the finance ministers. The committee of deputies was set up in 1955 as a continuing body.

ARRANGE MEETING

The letter adds that Finance Minister Fleming will get in touch with the provincial finance ministers to arrange a ministerial meeting.

The provinces seem certain to make a bid for a bigger share of the tax revenue they receive from the federal government from personal and corporation income taxes and inheritance taxes.

Under the present arrangement, the provinces receive 13 per cent of personal income tax collections, nine per cent of corporation taxes and 50 per cent of inheritance taxes.

Mr. Diefenbaker's letter drew attention to a throne speech statement that this arrangement is to be continued for another year. The formula was put into effect temporarily last year when the federal government boosted to 13 per cent from 10 the provincial share of personal income tax collections.

In addition to these payments, the four Atlantic provinces share in a $25,000,000-a-year grant for four years. The grant started last year.

MIXED REACTION

So far provincial reaction to Mr. Diefenbaker's latest plan has been mixed. Provincial Treasurer Fines of Saskatchewan said he will demand 15 per cent of corporation and personal income tax collections and continuation of the 50 per cent of inheritance taxes.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland said he would prefer a full-fledged federal-provincial conference but the committee meeting proposed is "perfectly satisfactory." He said he expects the committee of ministers to meet here shortly.

Premier Frost of Ontario said the federal government's proposed course is aimed at a solution to "inequities" in federal-provincial fiscal relations.

Theftford Child Dies In Fire

THEFTFORD MINES (Special) — A three-and-a-half-year-old girl died early today when fire destroyed the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Little, 177 Mitchell Street. Three other children were saved.

Dead is Donna Little. The other children are Susan, 6, Karen, 5, and Kim, two and a half months.

The fire broke out about midnight in the two-story, asbestos-covered house. Cause of the fire was not known this morning.

The Little family was asleep upstairs when the fire started.

First to escape were Mrs. Little and her daughter, Susan, who jumped from the building. They were followed by Mr. Little with Kim.

Two Black Lake miners, Wendell Marshall and another unidentified man, who were returning home from work, rescued Karen.

A neighbor, Mrs. Howard McHarg, who saw the flames, turned in the alarm. Firemen from the Theftford Mines department were unable to save the Little house, but prevented the flames from spreading to neighboring buildings. No estimate of damage was available.

Sidewalks built by Roger Faucher Inc., were accepted and approved, following receipt of lab tests that were satisfactory to the Council.

It was agreed to pay the Southern Canada Power about $250 to move and relocate poles on Barker and Decarie Streets. The sum of $75 was subscribed to B-M Anti T-B League Seals. It was decided that reading of amendments to By-Law 324, Business Tax, be considered as STANBRIDGE EAST — The Women's Association of the United Church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Belle Fairfield at its annual meeting and election of officers and also the congregational meeting.

Mrs. Frank Corey, the president, opened the meeting, and reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Leslie Lackey, and by the treasurer, Mrs. Gus Broeckaert.

Mrs. Roy Fortin presented the slate of officers as follows: Mrs. T. Tomkinson, president; Mrs. G. Broeckaert, vice-president; Mrs. Leslie Lackey, secretary; Miss Barbara Soule, treasurer; all were elected unanimously.

Mrs. Corey, the retiring president, expressed her thanks for the co-operation of the members during her term of office and Mrs. Tomkinson hoped for similar co-operation.

In the meantime the session met. The report of the secretary was read and the membership roll revised. Rev. T. F. Duncan reported that 17 new members had been added to the roll.

The congregational meeting was held with Rev. T. F. Duncan in the chair. He gave a short review of the year's work. Reports were also given of the Sunday School, the session of Elders, the Stewards' Board, the Missionary and Maintenance, and of the Woman's Association. All showed a busy year.

The heating system, through the efforts of the W.A. and donations received, was fully paid for.

Election resulted as follows: Sunday School superintendent, Bruce Kidd; the Stewards' Board, re-elected with two names added; secretary-treasurer, B. Kidd, re-elected; Mrs. Broeckaert will have charge of Missionary and Maintenance fund.

Thetford Mines High School News

The younger students of Andrew Stuart Johnson Memorial High School enjoyed a skating party in December at the High School rink. After a pleasant hour of skating the children were treated to refreshments in the gymnasium.

Following this, some of the youngsters participated in a "hoola-hoop" contest. Much to the surprise of most, a boy, Nico Kuyt, was champion. When the excitement subsided, the older girls of the High School led the children in a singsong, accompanied by Miss Marlene McFadden at the piano. Time passed so quickly, and too soon the party was over.

The Students' Council sponsored a dance for the high school students. The stage and gymnasium were beautifully decorated thus adding to the spirit of the party.

The Grand March was led by Jack Bateman and Andree Michaud, assisted by Mr. Jack Visser. Paul Jones proved to be most enjoyable, and later in the evening a Spot Dance was held. The idea of the dance was to see who would be on a certain secretly chosen spot when the dance ended. Peter Davidson and Andree Lavigne were the lucky winners and were presented with a Johnny Mathis record album.

Lunch was served by some of the girls. The lunch was donated by a few of the students, and soft drinks were provided by the Students' Council.

Anne Kovacich was mistress of ceremonies. Music was supplied from records brought by students and the record player was donated by Mr. Visser.

Noted Canadian Chocolate Firm To Erect $5 Million Plant Here

The Walter M. Lowney Company, Ltd., a Montreal chocolate manufacturing firm, will construct a $5,000,000 plant in Sherbrooke which will give work to over 1,000 employees at peak operation. Edmund J. Littler, the company president, announced yesterday at a special press conference in City Hall.

Mr. Littler said construction would begin in a year's time at a site east of Burlington St. and would become the main plant of all but the company's ice cream division. The building is expected to be completed in about two years, he said.

The announcement was made before the aldermen, members of the Senior Chamber of Commerce and various industrial and business representatives.

Mr. Littler's announcement represents the culmination of two years' work by Ald. Paul Gervais, chairman of the Industrial Relations Committee, who was assisted by Ald. Everett Nicol and Marcel Savard, by the president of the Chamber of Commerce, by Mayor Nadeau and various local businessmen.

Ald. Gervais, commenting on the announcement, said "the population of Sherbrooke with the members of the council and all those who worked together for this industry will be pleased to learn of its arrival."

"From the economic point of view of the establishment of a plant at a cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 will activate all sorts of developments in the construction field."

"The revenues and salaries alone will be several million dollars annually."

"The coming of such a large company has created a prestige and confidence of the city in the eyes of businessmen and industrialists as well as in the eyes of all who are considering the possibility of establishing an industry here."

"Also, I predict that the arrival of such an industry will bring with it an economic development of connected industries. I join the population of Sherbrooke and the City Council in thanking the Senior Chamber of Commerce, the Roman Catholic and Protestant School Boards and the various industrialists who contributed both work and information during these two years of negotiations."

"It is an eloquent example of the co-operation the various organizations of this city can bring to a project."

Mayor Nadeau, in a brief address after Mr. Littler's announcement, said, "The population of Sherbrooke is happy to learn that such a well-known and progressive firm as the Walter Lowney Company has decided to settle in Sherbrooke."

"It is an indication of the company's confidence in the population."

"I believe that their decision will revive our economy and will largely contribute to supporting our possibilities as well as give our fellow citizens an added confidence in the future of the region."

"January 19, 1959, surely marks an historical stage in the development of Sherbrooke with the coming of this new industry."

CHARTER
Last week, Mayor Nadeau met with Finance Minister J. Bourque in Quebec to discuss the question of amending the city charter to permit the loan of a large sum for construction purposes.

Upon his return, the mayor said that the proposal had been favorably received by Mr. Bourque. The new amendment will be included in the city's private bill which will be introduced before the Quebec Private Bills Committee tomorrow morning.

Demands Ottawa Change Policy On Law Tenders

A resolution will be sent to the federal government asking that it modify its policy in awarding tenders to the lowest bidder, the Sherbrooke City Council decided at a public meeting last night.

The resolution was the upshot of a debate on the delay in the construction of the municipal airport. On this latter point, the council decided to send a delegation to Ottawa to meet Maurice Allard, M.P., for Sherbrooke, to discuss the question or to accompany Mr. Allard in a meeting with federal transport officials.

Ald. Paul Gervais, chairman of the municipal transportation committee, opened the debate.

Rushing Plans For Bishop's Winter Event

Bishop's will stage its annual winter carnival on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 5 - 7. University lectures will be cancelled for the three-day event.

Under the chairmanship of Jacques Courtemanche, the carnival committee is planning to enlarge the carnival program, now in its fifth year of existence.

The University of Sherbrooke will combine with Bishop's for the Thursday night program in the Sherbrooke Arena which will feature a hockey game between the two university teams.

Other features of the carnival program include a winter sports day at Hillcrest Lodge, a concert Saturday afternoon and a Carnival Ball the same night in the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Successful Year Is Reported By East Ward Church

The annual vestry meeting of the Church of the Advent took place last night in the church hall under the chairmanship of the rector, Rev. Ronald Reeve.

A summary of the year's activities in the parish presented by the rector showed the present state of the congregation with a slight decline in membership, the services held, and the additions made to the church, including a new electric organ and certain new furnishings. He commended those who had taken part in the every-member visitation, stating that results were already apparent.

The election of officers resulted in both wardens being re-elected, A. C. Britton as rector's warden and H. A. Plow as people's warden. Raymond Norris was appointed vestry clerk and Roland Loughheed envelope secretary.

Financial reports were presented by the warden and by representatives of the various parish organizations, and the rector congratulated the groups for their splendid work. Future plans for improvements to the church were discussed and these included a new heating system, exterior painting and improvements to the grounds. Committees were appointed to look into these matters and to sponsor a financial campaign when the cost is determined.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by members of St. Margaret's and St. Agnes Guilds.

He said that a delegation had met federal officials several months ago. "The council acted with solidarity with the support of the people."

"Today I find myself unable to answer questions about the airport. At this time of the year when we talk about unemployment these works have taken an inexplicable turn."

Mayor Nadeau said it was the general opinion shared throughout the city.

"We acquired land and we sold it to the federal government to build an airport. Ten days ago, I

Windsor Firm To Mark Centenary

WINDSOR MILLS — (Special)

A summer-long program of special events, highlighted by an open house early in June is planned by the Canada Paper Co. Ltd., to mark the hundredth year of its operations. Neil Powter, public relations director for the company, told a gathering of superintendents and foremen held at the Chateau Windsor last night.

Mr. Powter was the chief speaker at this dinner meeting of company officials which was presided over by Walter Houghton. The speaker was introduced by Alec Philip, vice-president of the company.

Observance of the centenary will get underway within the next few days with the company's stationery carrying the information that this is the hundredth year of its existence and about Feb. 15, stickers carrying the same idea will be attached to all products shipped by the plant.

With the coming of warmer weather, it is planned to decorate the plant and erect pylons at the approaches to the town of Windsor Mills telling of the centenary, while a series of plant visits will be arranged, climaxed with an open house during June.

During open house week, it is planned to have a number of special days—Windsor Mills Day, Sherbrooke Day, Children's Day—Mr. Powter continued.

Other events planned would be an Old-timers' gathering for pensioners and employees with more than 25 years of service and receptions for the leaders of the pulp and paper industry.

A Windsor Mills committee, to take charge of the local angle of the celebrations, has been selected, comprising Walter Houghton, chairman, Andre Michaud, Allan Bagnall, Gerard Durand, Clifford Allan, Richard Ross, Frank Harper and John McCabe.

Do It Now--- And Save

The do-it-now campaign launched officially during the week-end by the local Employment Advisory Committee, offers local citizens a splendid opportunity to not only help themselves but to help the community to a greater prosperity. The eight-week drive is designed to counteract the long-standing belief in many quarters that the spring and summer months are the only times for building.

This might have been true a quarter of a century ago, but with modern developments many types of outside construction are continued during the cold weather and there are many advantages to carrying out inside work — such as alterations, renovations, re-decoration, repairs and maintenance — during the winter season.

For instance, skilled tradesmen are more readily available at this time of the year and, not being rushed, are able to work better with a consequent saving to the home-owner. And deliveries and service on materials are better when the supply houses are not too busy. Some firms offer discounts in the winter.

But construction work is not the only means of boosting winter employment, which may be aided by such things as dry cleaning, maintenance and repair of equipment such as power mowers, outboard motors and automobiles.

Canada's production efficiency is seriously undermined by the incidence of winter unemployment, which in normal times results in a labor shortage during the summer and a shortage of employment during the winter months. By seeing that the available work is distributed as evenly as possible, production costs will be reduced and average personal income increased with a consequent benefit to all elements of the population.

No Compromise By Reds

Despite his protestations of good will and his cheery, quick wit, Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan has shown himself to be as inflexible a representative of the Kremlin as any the West has encountered. Mr. Mikoyan has left an impression wherever he has gone in the United States of eagerness to end the cold war. But on critical points, he hasn't budged an inch.

Talks with President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles have produced no new answers to the old problems. Observers, perhaps clutching at straws, see a softening in the Russian line in Mikoyan's claim that Premier Khrushchev did not issue an ultimatum to the West to get out of West Berlin. However, they concede that he may have been only trying to create a more conciliatory atmosphere for high-level talks.

Mikoyan, however, has gone to the lengths of appealing over the heads of top American officials to the American people for counter-proposals to the Soviet position on Berlin. Perhaps behind this unusual plea is a Soviet realization that they have made so much of the Berlin issue that they are looking for a way to extricate themselves without backing down on all their demands.

Even if the West should offer a means for the Soviets to compromise, it should not be at the expense of giving up our right to be in Berlin or our necessity to keep troops in Western Europe.

The demands the Kremlin has made on the West are impossible for us to meet short of surrender. There can be no compromise on such vital issues as maintaining the strength of Atlantic treaty nations in Europe. The West is in the difficult position of having to devise a counter offer which avoids this type of surrender. And no such counter-offer will be acceptable to the Russians unless they recognize the West has every right to be in Berlin.

Looking For Trade

The Canadian mission to the West Indies has been making progress in its discussions with island officials on means of increasing trade between this country and the federation.

The mission is sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and comprises 40 business men, including representatives of financial and manufacturing firms. It is headed by Chamber of Commerce president A. C. Ashforth, a banker.

The group has agreed with local officials in Jamaica that restrictions on currency, imposed because the West Indies is part of the sterling group, and lack of proper communication and transportation facilities are the main stumbling blocks to trade. With the increased strength of sterling in recent months, there is every hope that currency restrictions will be relaxed. As the volume of trade increases transportation will improve of necessity.

The West Indies Federation is an important market for Canada and there have been close trading ties between the two for many years. One criticism that has been heard in the past, and which will presumably be taken to heart by the Canadian mission if it is still valid, is that Canadian exporters have not always given West Indians the quality or service they demand. Canadians will find it difficult to compete in price with some other nations but quality and service can make up for price in many lines of goods. The mission reflects increased Canadian awareness of the value of this market, and will benefit both parties.

bother with her solid six card club suit and bid four spades. When East went on to five hearts Bea also refused to be shut out and continued to five spades.
West doubled and put the king of hearts right on the trick. If he had shifted to a diamond he would have beaten the hand but the possibility of a concealed club suit had not occurred to him and he continued the hearts.
Bea ruffed with the queen of trumps. She played the ace and king and when East showed out it was a simple matter to finesse against West's ten spot. Dummy's last trump allowed Bea to get rid of one of her losing diamonds and while she had to lose one diamond at the finish her contract was safe.
Simple, but quite a nice result when you consider that East and West were cold for their five hearts.

(Baltimore Sun)
The United States still thinks of itself as pre-eminent in the field of automobile production. So it is—but by a steadily reduced margin. The U.S. is producing at the rate of about 4.3 million automobiles and 800,000 commercial vehicles a year. But Europe is doing very well, thank you, with a production of about 3.5 million autos and 750,000 commercial vehicles. As things are going, Europe will presently be well ahead.

Berlin Question

Allies Double-Crossed By Russia

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Berlin has been a recurrent hot spot in the cold war because of its geography, because it is an island in Soviet-held East Germany and nowhere attached to the Allied zone.

How did this happen? Why did the Western allies agree to it? The answers are not clear. But there are good clues in the published memoirs and statements of President Eisenhower, Sir Winston Churchill, former president Harry S. Truman, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and others.

A perusal of these documents points to these conclusions:

1. The United States, Britain and France trusted Russia and were double-crossed.
2. They underestimated the ability of the West's armies to capture Berlin ahead of the Russians, who were closer but facing stronger German resistance.
3. They generally discounted the political side of war in their zeal to win quick military victory. Churchill, however, cautioned frequently this would lead to trouble.
4. Nobody ever suggested pie-shaped zones of occupation with tips at Berlin so that each occupying power would control its own access routes to Berlin.

The Soviets gave early notice that they regarded occupation agreements as far less than sacred vows. Two months after the Yalta agreement in February 1945, Russia set up its own Communist government in Austria and refused admission to Western representatives. Moscow did this despite agreement at Yalta on joint occupation of Austria.

But the war was still going on then and, from east and west, the Allied armies were closing in on the big prize, Berlin.

Eisenhower told his press conference last Dec. 10 that the decision to have Berlin within the Soviet zone was "just simply a political decision." He indicated displeasure at having to order a retreat of his forces to allow the Red Army to take over a captured chunk of Germany, 400 miles long and 120 miles at its greatest depth.

In his 1948 book, Crusade in Europe, Eisenhower wrote:

"I always felt that the Western allies could probably have secured an agreement to occupy more of Germany than we actually did. I believe that if our political heads had been as convinced as we were at SHAEF (supreme headquarters) of the certainty of early victory in the west, they would have insisted at Yalta, upon the line of the Elbe (River) as the natural geographic line dividing the eastern and western occupation areas."

Eisenhower added, however: "I have never discussed the matter with any of the individuals directly responsible for the decision."

In his six-volume history of the war, Churchill indicated that Eisenhower, running the Allied military offensive, gave little thought to post-war political problems in Europe.

Churchill said he argued for capture of Austria and as much as possible of Eastern Europe to prevent Russia from getting there first and setting up puppet regimes. Instead of moving into Austria, Churchill wrote, Eisenhower drove for Berlin.

Truman said in a Washington speech last year that, as a new president feeling his way, he made solemn agreements with the Russians at Yalta, leaning heavily on his advisers.

"And inside of a year, the damn Russians had broken 32 of their promises," Truman said.

Montgomery, in his memoirs published last year, said he was aware of the political dangers. He said he sought to convince Eisenhower the West's armies should launch a powerful, single thrust at Berlin, to capture it ahead of the Russians. Instead, he wrote, Eisenhower decided to make a general advance toward Berlin on all fronts.

Churchill wrote in his book that the more territory the Western allies captured the stronger they would be in post-war bargaining with the Russians. He said he argued this with Truman, but Truman decided instead to hold the West's advances pretty close to occupation lines already agreed upon at Big Four conferences in 1944.

As things turned out, Russia had a harder time moving 35 miles against almost fanatical German resistance on Berlin's eastern defenses than did the Western armies coming from farther away in the west. The Western advance was halted to allow the Russians to take Berlin.

The Allied powers agreed upon U.S.-British - Russian occupation of Germany. This was ratified at the 1945 Yalta conference. Russia objected to including France among occupying powers. Eventually, the U.S. and British zones were reshuffled, giving part of them to France.

REPORTING

OTTAWA — You need more than a program to know the players in the capital's greatest show, the House of Commons. But once you know them, you're in for some of the most fascinating entertainment extant today.

Commons speeches can be dull. But when the House scintillates it cannot be equalled on a stage, because these men and women in politics are not playing. This is for keeps.

The emotions and tensions of the Commons are those of the Roman arena. Instead of muscular naked bodies straining in conflict, using net and trident to entrap and slay, we witness a much more sophisticated struggle of men armed with sharp minds and quick tongues, seeking to entrap one another and slay in the political sense.

You see a prime minister adulated by some and reviled by others. You know his strengths: his superb ability as a political strategist and parliamentary ringmaster, his sincere ambition to enhance the well being, the stature and the service to mankind of this country, his liberalism, his resoluteness of purpose and action. You know his weaknesses: his overweening ego, his personal vanity, his domineering tendencies, his hastiness of decision coupled in apparent contradiction with a habit of procrastination.

You recall times when his words have soared to the heavens in passionate defence of freedom's principles. You recall other words of hypocrisy and pettiness of spirit.

You know something of the pressures, the conflicting considerations and the anxieties which bedevil this man. When principles, policies, politics and personalities conflict, what gives?

Across from him sits his arch-foe, the leader of the opposition. Here is a man beaten last spring, back into the fight, grinning often, awaiting opportunities to belittle the administration's achievements, to turn the people against the government, to destroy and replace the prime minister.

You know something of the apprehensions and uncertainties of the prime minister in the face of this challenge — the pitfalls he must try to sidestep, the weaknesses in his own ranks against which he must try to guard. You know he has to be aware of such trivia as the romantic attachments which two of his ministers have for their secretaries, as well as of the booby traps in the plausible-sounding words that emanate from the Kremlin.

With a great depth of insight such as this, newsmen cover the Commons. The fray in the House not infrequently involves them, as the other day when Trade Minister Churchill promised newsmen he would supply them with copies of the 1958 economic forecast as soon as he had tabled it in the Commons.

Before he had a chance to table it, Opposition leader Pearson asked Prime Minister Diefenbaker to make it public. Diefenbaker, unaware of Churchill's intention, declined to table it pending House action on an opposition motion for its production.

A few minutes later Diefenbaker rose again, after Churchill had whispered urgently in his ear. The PM said that because this procedure, i.e., waiting for action on the motion, would prevent the Liberals from receiving the forecast in time to use it in the current Throne Speech debate, he had asked Churchill to table the report immediately.

Subsequently Churchill refused with great surliness to provide copies for news correspondents, saying he was under no legal obligation to do so. He apparently suspects a reporter tipped off Pearson as to his intention to table the document, thus enabling Pearson to embarrass Diefenbaker.

Dog-Eating Season Brings Police Warning

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters)—Police today issued a warning against dog stealing as the dog eating season got under way in crowded small restaurants advertising "fragrant meat."

Police said they stopped 75 dog-snatchings in the last two weeks. Pets worth $200 are said to have been sold by thieves as dog meat for as little as $1.

According to police reports there are about two dozen restaurants selling cooked dog meat in Taipei.

Operators of the "fragrant meat" restaurants keep their sources of supply secret and police can do nothing about them because the law does not prohibit the selling of dog meat.

There is a superstitious belief among some persons in south China that dog meat is a high-calorie food and highly nutritious, especially in winter months.

MAGOG — Neighbors and friends learned with regret of the death of Douglas H. Wells, who passed away at his home, 232 St. Patrick St., on December 10, 1958, at the age of 78.

Mr. Wells was born in Brone, May 15, 1880, the second son of the late Peter Wells and his late wife, Elmira Hollingsworth.

Farm Forum Activities

THIRD RANGE

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Brown entertained members of the Third Range Farm Forum, on January 12. There were 12 present. The broadcast was considered good. After the Greenleafs were read the questions were discussed.

What do you fear most from vertical integration?
We fear that we would feel loss of control of our product the most.

Will vertical integration help you stay in business? How?
With vertical integration there would be too much competition between the small farmer and the contract farmer.

Have you any experience with contract production in your area? Explain?

There is no experience with contract production in this area; one French farmer raises broilers but is not a forum member. Following the discussion, cards were played at two tables. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by the members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Norrie Bonallia, Third Range, on January 19.

ROSENBERG —

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Creller spent a day in Montreal with the former's mother, Mrs. Margaret Creller, at Evident Rest Home.

Mr. Ashley Sheltus, of Toronto, and Miss Kathryn Sheltus, R.N., of Montreal, were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sheltus.

Mrs. Byron Deline was a holiday guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Malko, in Chambly.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Creller were New Year's guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gilman, in Montreal.

The Doctor Says

MEDICAL GROUPS LEAD WAY IN FIGHT AGAINST RHEUMATISM

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service
It was only about 30 years ago that two or three dozen physicians, who had a special interest in rheumatic diseases, organized the American Rheumatism Association. This is a voluntary medical society designed to encourage study of the rheumatic disorders.

Since that time the association has grown to include several hundred physicians in the United States and Canada, has held annual meetings, and through its membership has presented a great deal of information in the field.

Also, financial support for medical research and the training of specialized physicians has increased greatly, principally because of the establishment of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

The name "rheumatism" covers a number of different diseases. The most important of these are rheumatoid arthritis, rheumatic fever, degenerative joint disease, fibrositis, gout, muscular rheumatism, spinal arthritis, juvenile arthritis (Still's disease), bacterial arthritis, tuberculosis of the joints, and, of course, a number of less common or less well known varieties. In many of these the cause is not known. In some it is still uncertain as to whether the diseases are truly different or only different forms of the same disease.

During the past few years a great deal of information has been obtained on almost all forms of rheumatic disease. For example, encouraging reports have appeared on a test which can be used with reasonable success in the early diagnosis of rheumatoid arthritis.

Also, the relationship between sore throat caused by streptococci and rheumatic fever has become so clear that steps taken to prevent or control sore throats of this nature have reduced the chances of developing rheumatic fever.

The question of treatment has been by no means neglected. But it certainly cannot be claimed that this is satisfactory, except

Florals Blossom In the Evening

This dashing dress shows the formal look of the short evening gown for Spring, 1959. It's a Larry Aldrich design in shocking pink warp-printed taffeta. Empire line is indicated by band and bow at front. Skirt has very wide cut.

NEW YORK — A whole world of dazzling flower prints bursts forth to lend drama to evening dresses for spring.

Many of these are warp-printed silk taffetas so crisp and rustly that they billow out without need of help from a petticoat.

The flowers depicted on them bloom big, bold and beautiful in a melange of colors that never blossomed in any garden.

The Empire line is fully represented for evening. Often, the high-waisted evening gown is teamed with matching coat. The evening coat has, in fact, come back into favor for spring wear.

The high waistline appears above very full skirts for evening. And for cocktails and dinner, the shirtwaist dress in sheer fabrics gets a new treatment: the Empire line above a wide skirt. Special mention should go to pretty chiffon dresses molded closely to the torso from neckline to below the waist where they break into a series of fluttering flounces.

Even chiffons take to prints this spring as well as to vivid solid colors. Lace and silk organdie are used for the traditionally formal and floating ball gowns. Polka dot and coin dot chiffons appear in several collec-

One Thoughtless Woman Somewhere, Please Note

Somewhere there is a woman I hope will read this column. That woman is the wife of the man who wrote the following letter:

"I've been happily married for several years, but I am deeply concerned about one thing, my wife's selfishness toward her family as well as mine.

"Before we were married she used to say: 'After we're married there'll be just the two of us.' I didn't dream she meant it so literally. But she does not want to be bothered with either her family or mine.

"I can understand many things, but I cannot understand this attitude. My wife's mother is a wonderful person. A widow who earns her own living, she worked hard to educate my wife, to give her a nice wedding and all the things that are important to a girl.

"My wife takes all that for granted. She never offers to do one thing to make her mother's life a little easier or more pleasant.

"When we go out in our big car there are just the two of us. She wouldn't think of asking her mother to go for a ride in the country, or taking her in the car to do an errand. No, her own mother can stand in the rain and wait for a bus.

"If my wife doesn't want to be bothered with my family, all right. My parents have each other and a car to get around in and they have a good life of their own.

"But I can't understand her attitude toward her own mother who is all alone and whose life is mostly hard work.

"Wherever we go and whatever we do there are just the two of us. Would you please try to open my wife's heart to her own mother?"

I couldn't say it nearly so well as you have already said it, but I can print your letter and hope that your wife will read it. Also that it will be an eye-opener for any wife whose idea of marriage is one for "just the two of us."

OBITUARIES

JOSEPH PHILAS FORTIER, OF MELBOURNE

MELBOURNE — Residents of this community learned with regret of the death of Joseph Philas Fortier, who passed away at Mrs. M. McKeage's Rest Home, Sherbrooke, on Dec. 16, 1958. He had been in poor health for the past two years.

Mr. Fortier was born March 1, 1870, the son of Francois Xavier and his wife, Marie Cyr, of Wotton. On Oct. 26, 1896, he was united in marriage to Miss Marie Lemoine. Of this union five children were born, Drucille, Mrs. David M. Osborne, who died in 1940 in Africa, where she had been a missionary for 16 years; Clara, Mrs. O. A. Fowler, Kingsbury; Rebecca, Mrs. M. Walters, Richmond; Corrine, Mrs. Henry Winget, South Durham; and Gerald, of Melbourne, with whom he made his home.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Fortier spent 15 years in St. Theodore d'Acton before moving to Richmond, where they resided for six years, then to Melbourn, where they spent the remainder of their lives. His wife predeceased him several years ago.

In addition to his four children, Mr. Fortier leaves two sisters, Mrs. Robert Barr, Melbourn, and Mrs. Louis Dubuc, Windsor Mills; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gerald Fortier; eleven grandchildren; four sons-in-law; and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held on Friday, Dec. 19, in the French Protestant Church, Melbourn, following prayers held at the W.A. Stone Funeral Parlor, Rev. J. A. Smith officiating.

Bearers were Lloyd, Gerald and Lewis Fowler, John, David and Raymond Fortier, all grandsons. The large attendance and floral offerings were silent tokens of love and esteem for a man of exemplary character, who will be sadly missed by his family and friends.

Interment took place in Maple Grove Cemetery, Melbourn.

PERSEVAL C. CHAPMAN, OF EXETER, ONT.

Formerly of Frost Village

WATERLOO—The many friends of this community learned with deep regret of the death of Perseval C. Chapman on Thursday, January 1, at Exeter, Ont., after a long illness.

Percy Chapman was born at Frost Village on March 7, 1892, the eldest son of Charles Chapman and his wife, Jennie George. In 1919 he married Kathleen Martin, of South Stukely. They lived at Frost Village, where their niece and nephew, Freda and Lawrence Chapman made their home with them.

During his lifetime Mr. Chapman was keenly interested in all aspects of agriculture and was known throughout the province as a breeder and exhibitor of Ayrshire cattle. He was instrumental in organizing the Frost Village Farm Forum and for several years was vice-president of the Co-operative at Waterloo.

In 1954 he sold the farm to his brother, George, and after an extended trip to the west coast, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman spent a year and a half at Burford, Ont., before settling at Exeter.

Mr. Chapman leaves his wife; a brother, George; a niece, Freda, Mrs. B. Leonard, of Arkansas; and a nephew, Lawrence, of Frost Village. His brother, Fred, predeceased him 15 years ago.

Funeral services were conducted by Dr. Haltz at Exeter on January 2 and by Rev. H. Boomhour at St. Paul's United Church at Waterloo on January 5. The choir sang the hymns "Unto the Hills" and "Abide With Me."

The many beautiful floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which Mr. Chapman was held. At the request of Mrs. Chapman, the cut flowers were sent to the Furlong Rest Home.

The bearers were, Oral McGovern, Edward Webster, Donald Spencer, Wilbur Wallace, Andrew Bowker and Maurice Campbell. Interment was in Frost Village cemetery.

MRS. MINA LONGWEAY, OF TOMIFOBIA

TOMIFOBIA—It was with sadness that neighbors and friends of this community learned of the death of one of its oldest citizens, Mrs. Mina Longweay, at her home on Thursday, December 25, in her 89th year.

Mrs. Longweay, the former Mina May Manning, was born in Clarenceville, Que., July 12, 1870, the daughter of Richard and Alice Hines Manning. Moving to Stanstead County at an early age, she spent her girlhood days at Griffin's Corner.

On June 26, 1895, she was united in marriage to Seymour J. Montie, of St. Armand, Que., where of this union one daughter, Alice M., was born. The family returned to Stanstead in 1901, having purchased the Katham farm, where they lived until the death of Mr. Montie in August, 1928.

On July 26, 1933 she was united in marriage to Henry M. Longweay, a childhood friend and came to Tomifobia to reside. Mr. Longweay predeceased her in April 1949.

Funeral services were held at her late home on Saturday, Dec. 27, Rev. A. McKinley Rose officiating. Interment was in the family lot at Crystal Lake Cemetery.

The bearers were W. J. Embury, R. E. Ticehurst, J. L. Keeley, R. A. Hatch, Real Fortier, and W. E. Hatch.

The floral tributes, which were numerous and beautiful, bore silent testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held by all who knew her. The sun set years of her life were made much more cheerful and comfortable by the kindness and frequent visits of a cousin Mr. H. W. Shover, of Newport, Vt.

Mrs. Longweay is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Alice M. Cox, an only brother, George Julien, and Mrs. Julien, of Greenfield, Mass., a grandson, Eric L. H. DYSON HAWKE, OF SWEETSBURG

SWEETSBURG — The funeral of H. Dyson Hawke, who passed away early Sunday, Jan. 4, was held at one o'clock on Jan. 6 in Trinity Anglican Church, Cowansville, the rector, Rev. John Peacock, officiating. A large number were present and the severe storm and closed roads prevented many others from attending.

The bearers were his co-workers, Charles E. Buchanan, Byron Johnston, Edmund Lewis, Gerald Johnston, Dudley Hayes, of Cowansville, and Harmon Nichols, who had walked to Cowansville to attend his friend's funeral, as snow blocked the highway. The many and varied floral pieces testified to the esteem in which Mr. Hawke was held by all who knew him.

The remains were placed in the vault in the Union Cemetery at Cowansville and interment will be made in the spring at Riverside Cemetery, near East Farnham.

Mr. Hawke, who was in his 62nd year, had been ill for more than four years. He was born Dec. 23, 1897, at East Farnham, third son of the late W. N. Hawke and his wife, Sarah Stevens. He had been in the firm's employ for over 30 years and, with his wife and family, had resided near the plant until about four years ago, when they moved to 44 Main Street, Sweetburg. He had been a valued member of Cornerstone Lodge, A.F. and A.M.

Hawke, of Bermuda, Margaret, Mrs. Ronald Vail, Montreal, Miss Joan Hawke and Robert Hawke, at home; four grandchildren, Linda and Michael Vail, Montreal, Robert and Richard Hawke, Bermuda; two brothers, Charles of Montreal and Donald, of Vancouver, B.C.

International Baseball League Faces Strike As Players' Group Wants Pension Plan Or No Ball

NEW YORK (AP)—Organized baseball today was faced with its first serious strike threat in more than 10 years.

The dispute between the International League Baseball Players' Association and the International League over a proposed pension plan appears to have reached an impasse.

The union has ordered its 160 members not to sign their contracts and not to report for spring training. The league has refused to budge on its stand. Baseball commissioner Ford Frick is standing warily on the sidelines.

WILL STAND PAT

Feelings of the disputants: Bob Chakales, with Richmond Virginians and one of the player representatives — "Unless the league grants us a pension or the officials sit down with us for a discussion with honest intention, we're going to stand pat and (to) through with our plan (to) strike."

Frank Shaughnessy, International League president — "Our biggest problem is one of money. We just don't have it and are in no way able to finance any kind of pension plan. If they think

SHS And LHS Battle To 3-3 Hockey Deadlock

Sherbrooke High School and Lennoxville High battled to a 3-3 stalemate in a regular fixture of the School Hockey League.

The teams played close hockey throughout the game. Montgomery opened the scoring for Lennoxville in the first period, however, before the frame ended Mills evened the count when he accepted a pass from Boyd.

In the middle session each squad registered a goal. Boyd put Sherbrooke out in front but Planche squared it once again when he tallied on a solo rush.

The Mills-Boyd combination paid off again for Sherbrooke with Boyd getting his second tally of the game. This was short-lived as Montgomery potted his second for the Lennoxville team. Harrison drew the assist on the goal. The balance of the period saw the teams going all out in an effort to get the winning marker but time ran out and they were obliged to settle for a draw.

Eddie Anderson was in charge of the game which was fast and clean.

Andy Bathgate Of Rangers Turns NHL Scoring Race Into Near Dead Heat, Just A Point Off Geoffrion's Pace

MONTREAL (CP)—Andy Bathgate's five-point spurge last week has all but turned the National Hockey League's scoring race into a dead heat.

The hustling rightwinger of New York Rangers put together two goals and three assists and today finds himself only one point behind Montreal Canadiens' Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

The burly Boomer, who hasn't scored a goal in a 10-game stretch since Dec. 27, tossed in three assists in a single game and now leads the pack with 54 points.

TOP SCORER

The same two players are pacesetters in different departments. Bathgate, who has collected 28 assists, tops the goal-getters with his 25. Closest are Dickie Moore of Montreal and Don McKenney of Boston Bruins with 23 each.

Geoffrion, whose goal total stands at 19, leads the playmakers with 35 assists. Defenceman Bill Gadsby of New York is next with 31.

Third and fourth places in the scoring derby still belong to Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings and Eddie Litzenberger of Chicago Black Hawks. Howe has 47 points and Litzenberger 46.

Moore, last year's NHL scoring champion, remains in fifth place with 42 points.

Tied for sixth place at 39 points are McKenney and Montreal's Jean Beliveau.

Veteran Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal was blanked in his team's two games last week and fell from sixth place to an eighth-place deadlock with Alex Delvecchio of Detroit. Each has 38 points.

NFL Players To Ask For Pension Plan From Loop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League Players Association hits it may ask club owners for a percentage of television and radio receipts to establish an insurance and pension fund.

This was indicated Monday by association president Bill Howton of Green Bay Packers. He spoke to newspaper men shortly after his arrival for the opening of his group's two-day meeting Wednesday.

"There are other possibilities for revenue for the fund, such as additional exhibition games and player contributions."

Howton declined to say what percentage of receipts the players might ask.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell has said the league cannot afford a pension plan.

Campanella In Another Accident But Was Not Hurt

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, paralyzed from injuries sustained in an auto accident a year ago, was in another car accident Monday, but he was not hurt.

A large air compressor fell from a truck on the Long Island Expressway and smashed in the front of a car in which Campanella was riding.

The former baseball star's attendant, Leroy Newsome, was driving. Another passenger, Campanella's mother-in-law, Mrs. Fanny McNelly, 64, was taken to a hospital with minor injuries.

Campanella signed recently as a special coach with Los Angeles Dodgers.

Alex Barilko Suffers Slight Concussion

MONTREAL (CP)—Referee Alex Barilko, who fell to the ice on being struck by a rubber shoe during a hockey game in Chicoutimi Sunday, said Monday he has been ordered to rest at home because of a slight concussion.

Barilko consulted his personal physician on arrival home by air from Quebec City. An x-ray examination was made.

Barilko was handling the Trois-Rivieres-Chicoutimi Quebec Hockey League game when a fan heaved the rubber shoe. It struck Barilko, who lost his balance and fell. He struck his head on the ice.

League president Byron Higginson, who was present at the game, declared it no contest. It is to be replayed at some later date if it affects the QHL team standings. Chicoutimi was leading 6-1 at the time, after two periods of play.

ORLANDO CEPEDA WINS BATTING CROWN

SAN JUAN (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, the National League's rookie of the year with the San Francisco Giants last season, won the Puerto Rican Winter League batting championship with a .362 average.

Important Game For Both Clubs; Victoriaville Visits Magog While Rockets Take On Braves In Richmond

Second place in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League will be at stake this evening when the Asbestos Meteors and Sherbrooke Beavers clash at the Arena. In the other two Rockets will travel to Richmond and Victoriaville moves up to Magog.

It will be the final appearance of the Meteors this year and the Beavers will be out to try and seek revenge for the 8-2 pasting they received in their last clash with the Miners. In their first meeting here the game finished in a 2-2 deadlock and tonight the locals will be out to even the count.

A slim two-points separate the two teams and a victory for the Meteors would put them on a level level with the Beavers. On the other hand if the Dube team can post a win they will increase their margin to four points and put them in a better spot.

At Magog the Aces will try for another home win when they clash with Red Goupille's Canadiens of Victoriaville. In their last meeting the team battled to a 4-4 stalemate while in the first encounter the Aces emerged the victors 6-3.

Playing In National Hockey League Gets Pretty Boring, Says Coach Phil Watson Of New York Rangers

NEW YORK (CP)—Most kids wouldn't agree with him, but New York Ranger coach Phil Watson figures that playing in the National Hockey League can get pretty boring.

It usually happens about this time of year, he says, and helps make coaches go grey. The boredom means players relax more quickly, he figures, and so teams lose games they would win if the skaters tried a bit harder.

START FRESH

Watson, not known for being philosophical about anything connected with hockey, sums up his idea this way:

At the start of the season, players are fresh after a summer vacation and glad to be back on skates. They enjoy hearing the fans cheer them on a good play. Rookies are full of bounce to try to stay with the team.

In the last weeks of the season, the playoffs loom in front of the players and they go all out to improve their standings.

But, Watson says, at the midway mark it's just monotonous. "You know how it is," Watson explains. "In almost everything you reach the stage where you say to yourself, 'Well, here we go again—another game.' That's the way it goes."

"All of a sudden you find your daily schedule becoming monotonous. You come into Manhattan, practise and go home. You take the same trains at the same time for games in the same cities. You stay in the same old hotel rooms. You eat the same pre-game meals at the same time and at the same places."

"You get pretty tired of it all. MAKE OTHERS QUIET

That's why this is the most important time of the year. If

Richmond Monarchs Come Up With Fine Rally To Tie Arts And Trades; Windsor Is Setting Pace In Race

RICHMOND — A third period goal by Andre St. Cyr at 5:45 gave Richmond Monarchs a 2-2 tie in their tilt with Asbestos Arts and Trades team. Some 175 fans watched the game which saw three goals scored in the second period. There was no scoring in the initial period.

Eight penalties were dishd out by the referees, with five going to Asbestos. R. Rousseau opened the scoring with a goal at the 6:55 of the second period giving Asbestos a 1-0 lead. Waverill Storie was sitting out a penalty at the time. G. Lambert made it 2-0 when he scored at 10:17 on a pass from J. St. Louis.

Denis Dubois got one back for Richmond when he took a pass from Mike Bergeron to beat goalie D. Roy in the Asbestos cage. The goal came at 16:45.

Andre St. Cyr scored the tying goal for the Monarchs when he went in on a play with Bergeron to net the puck behind the Asbestos goalie. The goal came early in the third period when Rousseau was in the penalty box. Spencer Dunn and the Asbestos netminder worked hard to keep the scoring down and had to come up with several good saves in their respective cages.

In the Saturday night tilt at the Asbestos Civic Center the Mill team gave Monarchs a 7-0 shellacking while the last-place Underground club got on the winning side in the league. Windsor Mills remained idle but will be hosts to Richmond Monarchs next Sunday afternoon at the Canada Paper Arena.

The Mill team has moved closer to the Windsor club and is just behind them in a second place. Arts and Trades follows closely with Richmond a few points in the rear while Underground is in last place.

Meadow Al Is Voted Two-Year-old Champion Pacer For 1958 And Is Listed As Favorite For Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Meadow Al, voted the champion two-year-old pacer of 1958, headed a record list of 95 horses nominated for the 14th Little Brown Jug to be held here Sept. 24.

Joe Neville, race chairman, said Monday that 74 colts and 21 fillies had been kept eligible through payments due Jan. 1.

Neville estimated the three-year-old pacing classic would be worth almost $75,000.

Meadow Al, owned by James Camp of Shafter, Calif., is the early favorite to give the stable a second consecutive of Alberton, P.E.I., and New Glasgow, N.S., who trains and drives they can budge us, they're wrong. We'll stand pat."

Frick — "I have never been asked to sit in on a conversation and I have never been asked about the rule. There is really nothing for me to say about this. It's a matter between the players and the clubs."

The players' association claims it represents 98 per cent of the players in the league.

COST $293,000

The players estimated a fund somewhat similar to the big league plan would cost about $293,000. They said they would be willing to contribute about $37,000 and that when they are 50 they would draw $59 a month. Only those who played five years would be eligible.

The players say the money could come from exhibition against major league teams, the all-star game and the little world series.

"The little world series lost money last year," Shaughnessy said. "It's up to them whether they refuse to sign or report. If they don't report the International League will still play baseball in 1959. Any discontented player will be traded."

MONTREAL (CP)—Maurice (Rocket) Richard, hockey's all-time greatest scorer, has a broken ankle bone and will be out of action for six weeks.

Managing director Frank Selke of the Montreal Canadiens said the fracture of the small bone was discovered by x-rays here after the 37-year-old Rocket returned from a road trip.

Richard, the National Hockey League's oldest player, was hit in the ankle at Chicago Sunday by the blazing shot of his own teammate, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

Young Skiers At Ottawa Ski Club Get More Free Instruction Than Any Other Club In Canada-Clifford

OTTAWA (CP)—More young skiers get more free instruction at the non-profit Ottawa Ski Club than anywhere else in Canada.

To support that statement, look at the total membership, says John Clifford, manager of the club's Camp Fortune in the Gatineau Hills of Quebec, about 15 miles north of the capital.

At latest count it was 3,500, or 20% more than last year's record total, and it is expected to approach 7,000 before the winter ends. It's the biggest ski club on the continent.

To clinch his argument Mr. Clifford points to the club's training program for "midget" members, aged 6 to 13. Started four years ago, it now offers free instruction by qualified amateur instructors to practically all of the club's 1,400-odd skiers in this class, both in recreational and competitive skiing.

"There's no place in Canada like it," he told a reporter. "Camp Fortune is unsurpassed as a winter playground for the whole family."

While father, often with mother on his trail, is off on the more mature slopes at Fortune, the family's midget members can be found taking training in classes of 10 to an instructor.

During the year, four weekend meets are held to sharpen those with a competitive flair. Last year's program was capped with a four-day final meet in March.

It drew 125 entrants from the club's midget ranks to compete in all four events: cross-country, jumping, downhill and slalom.

EXTENDED PROGRAM

For the first time last year, the training program was extended to include an intensive two days of instruction for some of the club's best junior skiers, a national competitive category with an age limit of 15.

The special school was made a three-day one this season, and 20 of the club's best young competitors took advantage of the opportunity.

Chief instructors were John Frapp, a registered member of the Canadian Ski Instructors' Alliance and one of the best in Canada, and Art Tommy, a former Canadian champion and a member of Canada's Olympic ski team a couple of years ago.

The training is provided by 60 qualified amateur instructors, polished and passed upon by Frapp in an instructors' school sponsored by an Ottawa newspaper.
