

FOUR DEAD IN
WINNIPEG FIRECharred Bodies Of Woman,
Baby And Child Found Just
Inside Doorway Of House

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—Four members of the family of Wilfrid S. Sharatt lost their lives in a fire which destroyed their home early today. The dead are: Mrs. Wilfrid Sharatt, aged 38; Ernest aged 2 1/2; Margaret, 15 months and a newborn baby.

Sharatt is in the hospital suffering from burns and shock. Search of the ruins today revealed the charred bodies of Mrs. Sharatt, the baby and the child. The bodies were found in the doorway which had been barricaded for the winter. The body of Ernest was found near the main exit.

The Sharatt family lived over a little confectionery store. They had awakened from sleep to see flames and smoke issuing from a hot air register. Mr. Sharatt rushed down the stairway to investigate and when he opened the door into the store there was a burst of flame which enveloped the staircase and cut off all the way to escape for his wife and children and the path of his own return to their assistance. He went to an outside window and called to his wife to jump but there was no response. When neighbors and firemen got to the scene the whole interior of the building was a mass of flame and rescue of the family impossible.

Sharatt, a salesman, served with the Royal Army Medical Corps during the war and was married in England shortly before he came to Winnipeg three years ago.

The cause of the fire is unknown.

BATTLED GALES

Seventy Two Days To Cross
Atlantic

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 7.—Seventy two days from Queenstown, Ireland, and a hundred and thirty from London, the schooner Susan Cameron, Captain Archibald Lehman arrived in port yesterday after a battle of over two months with gales and hurricanes on the North Atlantic.

For ten days her crew drank distilled salt water and the vessel put into Shelburne on Monday for supply of fresh water. Owing to the length of the passage the crew wore out their oil skins and boots and during the latter part suffered from the lack of waterproof clothing.

Own Life In Sask.

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 7.—Police investigation into the death of Edward Bruder, farmer, who shot himself last week, reveals that this was his second attempt to take his own life. On retiring to bed he took a large dose of chloroform. The drug failed to work so he rose before daylight, went to his barn and blew his brains out. He left three notes declaring his intention to kill himself and praying for his wife's forgiveness. Friends say he was worried over his income tax payment.

DREG CAUGHT ON BOTTOM

Digby, N.S., Jan. 7.—The gasoline fishing boat of George Rudolph of Newellton, Shelburne County, presumably "wound" herself to the bottom of the Bay of Fundy on Saturday when her sculler, dreg, operated by a gasoline engine, caught on the bottom and the boat was hauled stern first, downwards. Her occupants, George Rudolph and Fred Tebo were left in the water and were rescued about twenty minutes later by Vernon Bent of Digby who happened to be fishing nearby.

LABOR AGAINST
HONORS SYSTEMParty's Whole Philosophy
Against Absurd Distinctions
Of Any Kind

(Canadian Press Cable.)
London, Jan. 7.—At a conference of University labor members of Parliament at Liverpool representing all British Universities except Edinburgh and St. Andrew's, a resolution was carried unanimously welcoming Arthur Henderson's minority report on the conferring of honors and supporting his recommendation that political honors should be abolished. Arthur Greenwood, M.P., (Nelson and Colne), who moved the resolution, said the whole philosophy of the Labor Party was against political honors, indeed against absurd distinctions of any kind. There had been attempts to destroy the Labor Party by means of measures which would have prevented Trade Unions funds from being used for political purposes. Trade Unions, he said, ought to be free to dispose of their funds as they employed associations or any other voluntary body. The Labor Party raised its money openly, but now it was clear that other political parties relied almost entirely for their resources on revenue from honors sold by them when they were in power. The proposals of the Royal Commission which investigated the honors question were quite inadequate to deal with the evil. They only threw a little carbolic acid on the system so it might smell sweeter in the future.

STAY EXECUTION
FOR TWO WEEKSFrank Bianchi Supposed To Hang On January 25 For Murder Of Fraser

Toronto, Jan. 7.—Frank Bianchi, sentenced to hang in the county of Essex for murder, has been granted a reprieve of two weeks by Mr. Justice Lennox in an order made at Osgoode Hall yesterday. Bianchi was to have been hanged on January 25 but execution is postponed till February 8. The Sheriff found certain obstacles in the way of carrying out the sentence at earlier date. Executive clemency has been asked for as the prisoner though convicted was recommended for mercy. Bianchi was found guilty by a jury of having murdered William Fraser at Windsor on October 1 last. He was sentenced by Mr. Justice Lennox on November 10 to be hanged at Sandwich Jail on January 25.

While awaiting sentence he made an attempt upon his life and was weak from the effects of the wound which he inflicted when he appeared before Justice Lennox for sentence.

Aid Of Neighbor

Toronto, Jan. 7.—With the demand "give me your money," backed by a revolver, a man stated by the police to be John Joseph White, entered the clothing store of Louis Ralsberg, on Yonge street yesterday, and held up the proprietor. Ralsberg, being near the door at the time, darted outside and locked the door and then went next door and called for the assistance of Metros Berzon. The latter returned with Ralsberg to his store and leaping upon White, wrenched the gun from his hand after feeling him with a hard blow on the face. Ralsberg telephoned for the police and White was placed under arrest.

Archdiocese Of Montreal
Apostolic Protonotary

Montreal, January 7.—An unusual ceremony was witnessed here this morning at the Basilica of St. James where, preceding High Mass, Mgr. A. J. Plette, Vicar General of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Montreal, received his brief and was admitted as a member of the College of Protonotaries Apostolic, an institution to the Papal curia established for the purpose of registering pontifical acts and to make and keep records of beatifications.

Outside of Rome admission to the College is given as a mark of distinction for ecclesiastical services and gives to the prelate thus honored certain privileges. Should such a prelate visit the See of St. Peter he would be accorded a place in the Papal cortege.

Mgr. Plette was appointed Vicar General following the death recently of Mgr. Delandusy. The brief was dated Rome, December 1 and bore the signature of Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State.

GT. BRITAIN AND
TRADE REVIVALLondon Banker Sees No Reason
Why She Should Not
Be As Prominent As Ever

(By Canadian Press Cable.)
London, Jan. 6.—"I see no reason whatever why Great Britain should not be as prominent as ever in the trade revival now setting in," declares Sir Edward Mackay Edgar, one of London's merchant bankers in an article in the Saturday Review. The world still has to come to us when it wants the best. In one quarter clouds still hang low. Over four years after the armistice the Allied Powers are meeting for the tenth or twelfth conference on the reparations question, a problem that half a dozen business men and financiers could settle in a month, if only national jealousies, vanities and illusions would get out of the way."

Many Signs Warrant Optimism
Although 1922 was generally speaking a year of severe trade depression in Great Britain many signs warranting optimism are seen during the closing months, says the American Chamber of Commerce in London in its official summary of business and economic condition in this country.

The Review asserts that exports of British goods were higher by 20,000,000 pounds than in 1921 and that their value is still increasing. It is apparent, the summary says, that the adverse balance sheet has been relieved by more than 100,000,000.

Coal exports in 1922 nearly are troubled in quantity and nearly doubled in value, while exports of cotton goods showed a remarkable increase.

SINN FEIN CLUBS
IN CONVENTIONIssue Appeal To Irish People
For Approval, Support And Cooperation

Dublin, Jan. 7.—Nineteen clubs were represented at the Sinn Fein convention held at Mansion House today. The convention unanimously decided to support the request of its executive committee for the resumption of the special congress of Sinn Feiners which ratified the Collins-De Valera pact of last May. The following appeal to the Irish people also was unanimously approved:

"The Sinn Fein in Dublin, conscious of its duty to the Motherland, has taken steps to secure an honorable peace. We have set ourselves to a difficult task. We are mindful of the pitfalls ahead but believing in the firm desire for and the will to secure peace in the hearts and heads of all Gael, we begin our work in high hope for its successful completion."

"To you we appeal for cordial approval, moral support and such cooperation as we may later seek."

"In unanimous appeal to the Sinn Fein organizations throughout the country, the Dublin Sinn Fein asks the members of the organization to help them secure a just and permanent peace."

Mrs. McBride To Fore
Maud Gonne McBride, one of the women leaders of the Sinn Fein who was arrested Friday has been liberated and today again was standing amongst the ruins of Sackville Street repeating her protest against alleged ill treatment of prisoners. She also attended the Sinn Fein convention.

Miss Taft, Secretary of the Women's Prisoners Defence League, founded by Mrs. McBride, who also was arrested Friday, is still being detained in Mountjoy prison. No reason for the government's action has yet been announced officially. A third woman was taken into custody with Mrs. McBride and Miss Taft but managed to make her escape from the police car while on her way to the prison. She is still at large.

GIRLS COTTAGE
SCHOOL VISITEDAnnual Entertainment Given
On Saturday For Directors
And Committee Members

Montreal, January 7.—Directors and members of the Finance Committee of the Girls' Cottage Industrial School, Sweetburg, together with a number of invited friends and sympathizers, went out to the school on Saturday for the annual entertainment. Arrived there at noon, the visitors inspected the buildings and equipment including the new wing which was completed last fall. Very favorable comments were made by the party upon the ample accommodation now provided for delinquent non-Catholic girls in this province and upon the fact that the provincial government has seen fit to subsidize the institution.

Luncheon was served and in the afternoon the girls put on their entertainment, the program including patriotic songs, recitations, dances and an exhibition of gymnastic work.

The programme was carried out under the direction of Miss Macklin Acting Superintendent, and staff.

SAUVE OPENING
HIS CAMPAIGNSpeaks At Monument National
Tonight--Dissolution Is Expected Tomorrow

Montreal, Jan. 7.—Arthur Sauve, Provincial Conservative leader, will officially open the general election campaign of his party at a meeting at the Monument National here tomorrow night. It is thought that the Government will dissolve the Provincial Legislature on Wednesday next and announce elections for an early date in February.

It is expected, says a Montreal Gazette writer, that Premier Taschereau will open his campaign either in Quebec or Montreal.

He adds: "With thirty days at the most for campaigning, the Ministers will be kept busily engaged in the coming elections. There are a number of Counties where the present sitting Members have pressed them to address meetings. From an electioneering point of view the Province is fairly well divided as to Ministerialship."

Below Quebec the Counties are looked after by Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture, who represents Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence in the House, and Hon. A. Galipeault, Minister of Public Works and Labor, who sits for Bellechasse.

Montreal and the North Shore Counties will be specially looked after by Hon. Athanase David, the Provincial Secretary, who sits for Terrebonne; Hon. J. L. Perron, Minister of Roads, who is a member of the Legislative Council and Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests, who sits for Chateauguay, and who will also have such Counties as Huntingdon, Laprairie, Napierville, Veureuil and Soulanges to give some personal attention to.

There are two Ministers in the Eastern Townships, Hon. J. E. Perrailli, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, who represents the County of Arthabaska in the House, and Hon. Jacob Nicol, the Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Municipal Affairs, who sits for Richmond but who may shift his seat to Compton in the coming election. These two Ministers will have the special task of looking after the eastern Townships.

Mr. Sauve and his lieutenants are lining up for a vigorous battle also and intend to cover as much ground as can possibly be done in the time allowed. Following to-morrow night's meeting Mr. Sauve goes on to Quebec and then to Chicoutimi and will probably pass the rest of this week in that district.

INQUEST ON CONSTABLE

PRODUCED SOMETHING NEW

St. Catharines, Ont., Jan. 7.—The inquest yesterday into the shooting of Constable Truman of Thorold disclosed the fact that the officer was fired upon on the day previous to that on which he met his death.

Provincial officer Stockbridge, stationed at Thorold testified that the was with Truman at 2:30 a. m. when shots were fired at them from a passing automobile. The speed of the car was so great they could not make out the number. Truman had been jointly active against the bootlegging element. This was the only new evidence disclosed and the jury returned a verdict that the Constable was shot by some person or persons unknown.

ARCHEOLOGISTS
ALL STIRRED UPOver Discovery Of Tomb Of King Tutankhamen, Famous
Egyptian Monarch

(By Canadian Press.)

London, Jan. 7.—Archaeologists throughout the world have been stirred up to an unusual pitch of interest by the recent discovery of the tomb of King Tutankhamen, the famous Egyptian monarch of the Eighteenth Dynasty, by Lord Carnarvon, assisted by Howard Carter, a well known archaeologist. For nearly thirty years Lord Carnarvon and Mr. Carter have been carrying out excavations on the site of the ancient Thebes, on the west bank of the Nile, at Luxor, in the Valley of the Kings, and the successful result of their long and careful search has been greeted with a chorus of congratulations.

The daily newspapers have given some information on the wonderful discovery of Pharaoh's tomb, but the press generally has not gone into the matter with the wealth of detail given by the Cairo correspondent of the London Times. Describing the find of the explorers the Times correspondent says:

First they saw three magnificent State coffins, all gilt, with exquisite carving, and animal heads of Typhon, Hathor, and Anubis. On these rested beds, beautifully carved, gilt, inlaid with ivory and semi-precious stones, and also innumerable boxes of exquisite workmanship. One of these boxes was inlaid with gilt inscriptions, another contained emblems of the underworld; on a third which contained handsomely embroidered Royal robes, precious stones and golden sandals were beautifully painted hunting scenes.

Beneath one of the coffins was the State throne of King Tutankhamen, probably one of the most beautiful objects of art ever discovered. There was also a heavily gilt chair, with portraits of the King and Queen, the whole encrusted with turquoise, cornelian lapis, and other semi-precious stones.

Two life-sized bituminized statues of the King, with gold work, holding a golden stick and mace, faced each other, the handsome features, the feet and the hands delicately carved, with eyes of glass and headresses richly studded with gems. There were also four chariots, the sides of which were encrusted with semi-precious stones and rich gold decorations. These were dismantled, with a chariot's apron of leopard's skin hanging over the seat.

Other noteworthy objects were Royal sticks of ebony with the head of an Asiatic in gold as a handle; another of the handsomest kind of filigree work; also a stool for a throne with Asiatic carved upon it, denoting that the King had placed his foot on the neck of the Asiatic prisoners taken in war. There were some quaint bronze-gilt musical instruments and a robing dunnery for Royal wigs and robes.

There were enormous quantities of provisions for the dead, comprising trussed ducks, haunches of venison, etc.; all packed in boxes according to the custom of the time. Some remarkable wreaths, still looking evergreen were found in the ancient tomb. In a box was a roll of papyrus, which may render a mass of information about the life and times of King Tutankhamen.

One of the excavated chambers revealed an indescribable state of confusion. Here furniture, gold beds, exquisite boxes, and alabaster vases, similar to those found in the first chamber, were piled high, one on top of another, entirely reclosed them. It was impossible to get inside at the time of the discovery. Numbers of these treasures are still in a very good state of preservation, but others are in a somewhat precarious condition. It is hoped, however, that most of them can be preserved.

There seems no doubt that this wonderful collection of objects formed part of the funeral paraphernalia of King Tutankhamen, and that they were removed from the tombs where they were originally placed, and in order to preserve them from thieves were transferred for safety to these chambers.

The sealing and blocking of the doors and passages which have so far been opened suggest that metal robbers had attacked these chambers, and that inspectors of Ramesses IX. had reason for entering and reclosing them. Whatever the chambers may have contained originally, their contents today are sufficient cause for sensation. They considerably increase the world's knowledge of Ancient Egyptian history and art, and experts consider that the discovery will probably rank as the most important of modern times.

What adds interest to this discovery is that there is still a third chamber which, significantly, the two figures of the King which have been discovered are guarding. Until the vast amount of material in the other chambers have been completely removed it is impossible to ascertain the contents of this third chamber. Tutankhamen's reign was from 1358 to 1350 B.C.

The Egyptian Government, it is said, now claims that Pharaoh's tomb as Royal and untouched by robbers. This, according to the terms of Lord Carnarvon's contract, means that he is not entitled to a single one of the objects unearthed as the result of Lord Carnarvon's expenditure and trouble, and that Mr. Carter's unceasing work for many long, weary years will go unrewarded.

A Few Pointers About A Watch

Most people, providing their watch did not stop, would let it run year in and year out and never think of having it re-oiled or conditioned.

A motor—to give satisfaction—requires regular attention and the more delicate mechanism of any watch will refuse to work unless proper attention is given to it.

To give satisfaction and have long service a watch should be overhauled at least once a year.

But Death Of Sherbrooke Man Later Ascribed To Natural Causes

(By Canadian Press)
Sherbrooke, Q., Jan. 7.—What at first looked a murder was later ascribed to natural causes when the dead body of John McCauley, 70 years of age, was found in his house at Suffield, near here. Blood was scattered over two rooms and the man's hands had been badly cut. Chairs and furniture were also found upset. "Upstairs the man's wife, 80 years of age was found ill in bed and nearly frozen with cold."

According to the police, McCauley was stricken with hemorrhage and had upset chairs and tables in his efforts to get help. There was no evidence of robbery and money was found in the house, together with two bank books showing deposits of over $1,000.

An autopsy and inquest will be held to-morrow.

CRUISE DE LUXE WILL START SOON

Empress Of Britain Leaves
New York On First Of Tours
This Month

The first of the two cruises de luxe to the West Indies, the treasure islands of the Spanish Main, Panama and Venezuela, to be made by the Empress of Britain will start from New York on January 20th. The many special features that contributed last winter to the success of these Canadian Pacific cruises have been retained and new ones added. The Empress of Britain was again selected by the Canadian Pacific for the cruise to the West Indies by reason of her great popularity as a luxurious ocean liner of the most modern and comfortable type and size, being of 22,000 tons displacement.

The Empress of Britain is also the only steamship making cruises to the West Indies burning oil fuel. This outstanding feature appeals to passengers who have travelled in the Tropics as coaling or shifting coal at the various ports is eliminated and passengers are assured of spotless promenade decks and open spaces without dirt, noise or cinders. The Empress of Britain is devoted entirely to the purposes of the cruise and no cargo is carried. In addition to the comforts to be found usually at only the best hotel ashore, the food and service is of Canadian Pacific standard. The passenger accommodation is most attractive and not more than 200 passengers are booked in a room unless it is desired to accommodate a family party. Those who desire to travel alone will find a good proportion of single cabins. The public rooms and cabins are fitted with electric fans, insuring perfect comfort at all times. Other attractions include a gymnasium swimming pool, verandah cafes and large decks for games and dancing. An augmented professional orchestra for concerts and dancing.

The itinerary for the first cruise starting from New York on January 20th, includes the following ports of call: Havana, Cuba; Port Antonio, Jamaica; Kingston, Jamaica; Colon, Panama; La Guayra, Venezuela; Port of Spain, Trinidad; La Brea Point, Trinidad; Bridgetown, Barbados; Port of France, Martinique; St. Pierre, Martinique; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Nassau, Bahamas, returning to New York, covering a distance of over six thousand miles during the 27 days of the cruise. The second cruise will start from New York on February 20th and will be similar to the schedule for the first cruise, Hamilton, Bermuda, being substituted for Nassau. There are excursions ashore at Jamaica; as the final port of call, the various ports, conducted by representatives of the Canadian Pacific, allowing unusual opportunities for visiting every possible point of interest during each cruise. Two days will be spent ashore at Havana and two days in Jamaica, including trips to many nearby points. An additional day is provided this year at Panama and a journey will be made from Colon through the Culebra Cut to Pedro, Venezuela; the trip includes one of the most fascinating rides in the world from the port of La Guayra to Caracas, the capital. Port Antonio, one of the prettiest spots in Jamaica, has been included in the itinerary this year.

Fares including accommodation on the steamship; landing and embarking facilities at the various ports range from $250.00.

ALL WORLD LOVES QUEEN ALEXANDRA

Her Long Life Has Been Spent In Thinking And Caring For Others

London, Jan. 7.—Dowager Queen Alexandra passed her seventy-eighth birthday last month. There must be few people in the world to whom so many wish well. This is the award of a lady who has passed her life in doing good, planning benefits and caring for other people. It is characteristic of her that every letter, every birthday wish was acknowledged by her secretary within 48 hours.

On her mother's birthday King George and Queen Mary went to luncheon at Marlborough House and remained for hours. The Prince of Wales, who is devoted to his grandmother, sent his customary present and a most affectionate message. Among the multitude of callers were many figures from the past, old officials, old servants. There may have been many bitter-sweet memories in the mind of the illustrious lady at Marlborough House on that day.

How Queen Alexandra fills her days must be a puzzle to many gentlemen of her generation. She never played cards well and does not play now. She is not fond of reading and never cared for sewing and needlework.

She has few of the resources with which her contemporaries entered their married life, but her time is well and warmly occupied and other relatives and with the in the affairs of her descendants. Innumerable causes which she supports. Much of her pleasure comes from letters and letter-writing.

removed from the bosom of his family so that he shall not father more paupers? He should, so his wife says.

This age old problem confronted the members of the Children's Aid Society here recently, in the case of an Ottawa family in dire poverty for years, who have eight children, and whose father has not supported them without charitable aid. The mother of the family had appealed to the Children's Aid for aid, and requested that, instead of the Society taking away her children, to take away her husband.

It was decided, as there is no law governing the removal of a frisky father, to refer the case to the Juvenile Court.

Canada's Historic Loss

The Basilica at Quebec which for over 300 years has been an ornament of the ancient city and which was gutted by fire recently. It will be rebuilt at once. In the lower right hand corner is Cardinal Beaudry's palace seen from the side of the monument to Bishop Lavall. The palace adjoins the Basilica and narrowly escaped destruction. In the upper corner is the Chateau Frontenac which stands about a block away from the Basilica and which is here pictured for the first time with the new tower.

THE fire that destroyed the ancient Basilica at Quebec on the night of December 22nd, destroyed one of Canada's ancient landmarks that had long years ago assumed a place in the affections of the Canadian people quite irrespective of creeds. To Quebec city the loss is irreparable, and the Christmas season in this city has been to some extent marred by the disastrous event. English, French, Catholic and Protestant dwellers in Quebec Province alike feel the loss of this historic old building with its association with Canada's romantic past. The building itself spoke of other days. Its architecture was characteristic of the Quebec city, and all who had visited it carried away a memory of a quaint old building, richer in historic interest than in architectural beauty, but none the less of great charm and an ornament to the city quite in keeping with the surroundings.

The ancient edifice dated from 1647 and occupied ground in the vicinity of the first parish church in Quebec, Notre Dame de la Reine, founded by the founder of Quebec in 1633. The first Mass in the Basilica was said on Christmas Day, 1650, but it was not until 1664 that the church was consecrated by the first Bishop of Quebec, Mgr. De Laval, and opened for public worship. It underwent a restoration in 1748. The church suffered considerable damage in 1759 as a result of the bombardment of the city by Wolfe's Artillery. Since that date it has undergone numerous alterations and additions. Mgr. De Laval, who died in 1708, was buried in the crypt of the Basilica, but in 1788 his remains were transferred to the seminary chapel. Fully 900 persons slept their last sleep in the crypt of the cathedral. They include the remains of four Governors of New France, church dignitaries, high military officers, judges, and many other prominent people.

The Basilica was one of the finest edifices of its kind in the Dominion and contained many very precious relics of the past as well as paintings by some of the leading masters of the French, Dutch, and Italian schools. Many religious treasures, vestments, ornaments and sacred vessels were also contained in the Basilica. Some of the stained glass windows were among the finest and most artistic on the American con-

TWO MEN LOST THEIR LIVES

One Narrowly Escaped Asphyxiation Fighting Fire In Paper Mills

Kapuskasing, Ont., Jan. 7.—Two men lost their lives and one narrowly escaped asphyxiation Saturday night while fighting a fire at the Spruce Falls paper mills. The fire, which, it is believed, was caused by spontaneous combustion, was confined to the chip bins which are located about 150 feet from the groutier.

The victims were R. E. Doherty, Ashland, Wisconsin, Superintendent of Power for the Spruce Falls Paper Mills, and William Shingo, Oshkosh, Wis., employed by the same company as an expert acid maker. They were fighting the blaze inside the ship bins and were asphyxiated.

J. Stevens, of Kapuskasing, who was nearly suffocated and suffered severely from burns is expected to recover.

TEN PERSONS WERE INJURED

Two Seriously, When Electric Train Hit Stalled Motor Truck

Fremont, Ohio, January 7.—Ten persons were injured, two seriously, when a Limited Lake Shore electric train, bound from Cleveland to Toledo and Detroit, chanced into a stalled motor truck five miles west of here tonight.

The first car of the train, after striking the trailer of the truck, turned over into a ditch, pitching its 60 passengers into a scrambled heap in the cars. They were rescued when farmers cut a hole in the roof of the car. The second car, containing about 60 more passengers, did not leave the rails.

Two passengers on the first car were seriously hurt and may die. They are Wm. Hein, 70 years old, Fremont, and Mattie Olsen, 25, of Detroit, Mich.

Eight other persons were being treated at a local hospital for minor injuries.

A STRIKE VOTE
WILL BE TAKEN

By All Edmonton Unions Regarding Joint Action In Coal Strike

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 7.—A strike vote will be taken by all the local unions regarding joint labor action in connection with the present coal miners' strike in the Edmonton field. It was decided on Saturday night at a meeting of the executives of all the trades unions of Edmonton and the delegates to the Trades and Labor Council.

It is expected that a week or more will elapse before the result of the balloting will be known. When the votes are counted, further action will be decided upon by the same delegates that met on Saturday night.

Saturday afternoon there was a large parade through the city streets of the striking miners, their wives and some sympathizers. It was estimated that there were over eight hundred in the turnout. The parade was closely watched by the police and there was no suggestion of disorderliness.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Senate went on record yesterday as favoring withdrawal of United States troops from Germany. It adopted a resolution by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, declaring it the sense of the Senate that the President should bring about the return of the remaining United States occupation forces.

The resolution as adopted carried an amendment by Senator New, Republican, Indiana, disavowing an unfriendliness to any of the European nations who might be affected by the withdrawal.

A previous resolution referring the matter to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was defeated.

TWO KILLED ON TORTURE RACK

Were Victims Of Black-Hooded Mob According To Evidence

Bastrop, La., Jan. 7.—Watt Daniel and Fletcher Richards were put to death on a rack of torture, the victims of a black-hooded mob, last August, according to testimony put into the record yesterday in the State's investigation into masked band outlaws in Morehouse Parish.

Exhibiting crushed and broken bones as evidence, Dr. Charles Duval and Dr. John Lanford, pathologists, testified that scientific examination of the bodies of the two men showed they had been tortured on a device "specially constructed for inflicting punishment."

The men who halted the automobile party, of which Daniel and Richards were members, wore black hoods according to witnesses who felt the wrath of the raiders but were allowed to return to their homes after being flogged.

These were the outstanding features of a day of sensational testimony, as a result of an investigation to fix responsibility for the slaying of Daniels and Richards and reveal perpetrators of other masked band depredations which Governor Parker has laid at the door of the Ku Klux Klan.

OTTAWA DOWNED
ST. PATRICKS 2-1

In One Of Hardest Fought Hockey Games Witnessed In Capital

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—(By Canadian Press)—In one of the hardest fought hockey games local fans have seen for a long time, Ottawa Senators defeated the town champions St. Patricks of Toronto Saturday night by a 2 to 1 score. The result of the game was hanging fire until the final whistle blew and for a greater part of the match the order of play was fast skating, snappy combination and exceedingly close checking.

There was as much difference between Saturday night's game and the first appearance of the St. Pats as there is between day and night. They were a hundred per cent better. They checked very close and used some very heavy combination plays. But despite all their good work and snappy hockey they were met a shade more than half way by the work of the Gerard tribe who turned in a splendid account of themselves. The forward line, Nichol, Denney and Broadbent, is settling down into the most dangerous line in the league and their work Saturday was above par. If shots count for anything the locals should have won easily, for while John Ross Roach was one of the busiest gents in Ottawa most of the time, a considerable number of shots went left against the boards behind the net.

The line-up and summary:

SAY SALARIES
ARE TOO HIGH

Nation-Wide Campaign To Cut Remuneration Of Elementary Teachers?

Montreal, Jan. 7.—What is stated to be the first gun in a nation wide campaign looking to reduction of salaries of elementary teachers was fired at a meeting of school trustees to which teachers were invited, held in Verdun, a suburb of this city, on Friday evening.

At this meeting the teachers were informed by the Chairman of the Trustees that the Board considered that the salaries were too high and a minimum of $950 was suggested for elementary teachers.

Miss C. C. Smillie, President of the Verdun branch of the Protestant Teachers Association of the Province of Quebec, affiliated with the Federation of Teachers of the Dominion, stated tonight that a meeting of the executive would be held tomorrow evening to consider the matter and that a general meeting of the teachers later in the week would be called to protest against salary reductions.

QUEBEC CURLERS
CAPTURE TROPHY

Local Rink Won The Eastern Township Trophy At Sherbrooke On Saturday

Quebec curlers scored an important victory at Sherbrooke on Saturday when the rink composed of Messrs. J. Shields, E. Altherr, T. J. Delany and F. S. Stocking, skip, all members of the Quebec Curling Club annexed the Eastern Township Trophy at the first time of asking in a charity bospital held in the capital of the Eastern Townships.

The rink played in several games during the course of the day, and all contests, except the final, were over the ten-end route.

The final contest, which was scheduled to go twelve ends, saw Stocking's rink and the opposing four all square at the end of the twelfth and an extra rink was necessary to decide the ownership of the trophy. The Quebec quartette scored four in the thirteenth end, and thus not only won the magnificent trophy but also became the possessors of individual cups.

There were a number of rinks competing in the Bospital from outside points, among them being crews from Magog, Thetford Mines, Granby and other points, so that the victory of Quebec in the face of such strong competition is all the more welcome.

SUZANNE WON IN STRAIGHT SETS

Mlle. Lenglen Defeated Mrs. Satterthwaite In Finals Of Women's Singles

Cannes, France, January 7.—Suzanne Lenglen defeated Mrs. Satterthwaite of England in the final of the women's singles of the Cannes lawn tennis tournament yesterday. She won in two sets, 6-4, 6-2, but against stubborn opposition such as she has seldom met.

In the first set indeed with the English women leading at four games to two, Mlle. Lenglen looked like a loser, her play had become ragged and she seemed to lack confidence and accuracy. She took the first games, but her drives lacked length and speed, her service was poor and her usual uncoquy placements were lacking. Mrs. Satterthwaite, overcoming her stage fright from playing against the champion, carried the next two games. Mlle. Lenglen made it two-all but the Englishwoman rallied again and took the next two by her nifty playing down and won the next two games, after each game had gone to deuce. Continuing her steady play the French girl captured the final two games without much difficulty.

FORCES FOR RHINELAND

Infantry And Artillery Ordered To Arrive There Before Wednesday

Paris, January 8.—Fort, naval and military engineers left Paris for Dusseldorf by train Sunday night, there to await instructions designating the different Ruhr mines they are to take control of, according to the morning newspapers. The 149th Infantry and the 62nd Field Artillery stationed at Toul have been ordered to the Rhineland, where they must arrive before Wednesday, says the Petit Parisien.

French Army Gathering.
Paris, January 7.—France's Rhine army is gathering to be ready to march when Premier Poincare gives the word for the carrying out of his still secret plan for seizing the Ruhr and the Rhineland. Trains were crowded tonight with officers and men hurriedly recalled from leave, returning to their posts and M. Poincare conferred this afternoon with M. Le Troquer, Minister of Public Works, on final arrangements for the transportation of the civil and military forces.

The French troops on the Rhine have been ordered by General Dugoutte to remain in their quarters wherever there appears to be any danger of clashes with the Germans and every precaution will be taken to avoid demonstrations.

There are several times the number of French forces in the Rhineland as are likely to be required for the Ruhr operations, but all the troops will be held in readiness for instant service although there is nothing yet to justify the assumption of immediate action.

The details of the French plan remain a mystery, but M. Poincare has repeatedly described the proposed entrance into the Ruhr as chiefly the work of engineers and customs collectors. This is the nucleus, but the military support required necessarily depends upon the French plan. The French plan is under no such restraint.

Belgian Troops For Germany.
Brussels, Jan. 7.—The Council of Ministers yesterday unanimously approved the Belgian delegation's attitude at the Paris conference after statements had been made by Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar. The Council was in session for four hours and discussed also measures for the execution of the French plan agreed upon at Paris.

Two Belgian divisions will assist seven French divisions in the occupation of Essen and the Ruhr district, says Le Soir. It adds, "It has reliable information that an arrangement to this effect has already been made between the French and Belgian delegates."

The arrangement must be referred to the Parliament and the King, the newspaper states, but in any event Belgian participation in the military occupation has been agreed to in principle.

KARAGHATCH HAS BEEN OCCUPIED

By Greek Division Despite Protest Of French Colonel Says Report

London, January 8.—According to a despatch to the Daily Express from Constantinople the Greek eleventh division has occupied Karaghatch, opposite Adrianople, notwithstanding the protest of the French colonel in charge of the town in behalf of the Allies.

Karaghatch is within the neutral zone along the Maritza River, which divides Western Thrace from Eastern Thrace. The eleventh Greek division until recently was eleven miles away from the neutral zone.

The Daily Mail says the Greeks are reported to be preparing for immediate action in case the Lausanne conference results in failure. It is believed they contemplate a new campaign to recover Eastern Thrace.

PEACE OR WAR

Placed Squarely Before Near East Conference At Lausanne By Ismet Pasha

Lausanne, Jan. 7.—Peace or war was the great issue placed squarely before the Near Eastern conference yesterday. Ismet Pasha for Turkey brought this issue concisely before the delegates when after refusing all Allied suggestions concerning special Courts for foreigners in Turkey, he declared solemnly:—

"Gentlemen, the key to peace lies in your hands."

Lord Curzon, accepting the challenge, retorted:—"If Peace is to come at Lausanne, it is essential that some arrangement on the question of foreign tribunals be arrived at, and he added significantly:—"We hope that time will soften the Turkish attitude and that Turkey will not maintain her position of today."

The discussion took place before the full Commission on Capitulations, which adjourned without reaching any accord on the most vital question on the Lausanne agenda and without fixing a date for the next meeting. The debate on capitulations was dignified throughout and marked by no evidence of ill-feeling. In this respect it differed greatly from the morning session which took up the problem of providing a national home for the Armenians.

Angry at the Allies attempt even to bring the Armenian question into the official discussion, Riza Nur Bey, the Second Turkish Delegate, delivered a short but violent attack on the Allies, then brusquely marched out of the meeting hall.

In consequence of this Lord Curzon, M. Barrere and Marquis di Girolamo forwarded a strong letter of protest to Ismet Pasha, requesting the Head of the Turkish delegation to write some explanation of his colleague's conduct. Riza Nur Bey, who usually says the caustic things for the Turks when the Turks believe they must be said, was not daunted by the Allied protest, but appeared smiling and gracious at the afternoon meeting when the fearful problem of capitulations was discussed.

The unfortunate incident of the morning, which followed the Allies' request that Turkey give her attention, from the humanitarian point of view, to the question of providing a national home for the Armenians, produced a bad impression.

A. R. MacMaster Hopes Canada Will Soon Be Sovereign State

(By Canadian Press)
New York, Jan. 7.—"I fondly cherish the hope that step by step, gradually, with the best of feeling to other British peoples and with their most cordial co-operation and consent, Canada will at no distant date achieve the full stature of a sovereign State," said A. R. MacMaster, K.C., Member for Brno in the Canadian House of Commons, in an address before the Canadian Club of New York yesterday on "Some Canadian constitutional developments."

Mr. MacMaster declared himself as belonging to the school of thought which believed that the history of Canada was the history of a movement in which Canada had led other overseas peoples owing allegiance to the British Crown from colonization to the enjoyment of an ever larger and larger national life, and that Canada could improve her constitutional position by insisting upon all those sovereign rights which she does not now possess.

"I believe we shall achieve these further rights," said Mr. MacMaster, "by the cordial consent of all British people, no matter in what quarter of the globe they may live, as the ties which bind all British people together are not found in statute books or legal documents, but in common ideals and common hopes for the peace and well-being of mankind."

NOT FOR PRESENT

Time Not Opportune For America To Act On Reparations Commission

Washington, Jan. 7.—Chairman Lodge of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate yesterday after a conference with Secretary of State Hughes that he did not consider the present time opportune for passage of the Robinson resolution on United States representation on the Reparations Commission. Administration leaders at once began mustering their forces to oppose it.

There were many indications that Senator Lodge spoke with a full knowledge of what the administration desired.

Mr. Lodge had conferred with the Secretary of State express instructions from his committee, to ascertain whether the executive branch of the United States government wants the resolution adopted or pigeonholed.

"NEW CANADA" IN NORTHERN FRANCE

Vimy Ridge Will Soon Be Planted With Canadian Trees—A War Memorial

London, Jan. 7.—(Canadian Press)—There is a corner of Northern France which is now forever Canada. It was purchased at the cost of the lives of many Canadian soldiers in the Great War. It is Canadian by rights which are consecrated not only by the blood of Canadian soldiers but by legal documents and a bill recently ratified by the French Deputies and Senators.

Vimy Ridge, the "new Canada," stretching bare and brown and bleak between Arras and Lens, will soon be planted with Canadian trees, will soon blossom under the beautiful blue French skies. The Paris correspondent of the London Times, writing about the French Government's gift of 250 acres of this land on which will be erected the memorial designed by Walter S. Allward, the Toronto sculptor, who is now in France in connection with the proposed magnificent monument, says: "There have been many war memorials, but there has never been a war memorial which has a more striking appeal than that which will presently be designed to look forth from these heights over the scene of a hundred fights."

Describing the present scene, the Times' correspondent says: "Great tracts of land plowed by shells, desolated by battle, scorched and upheaved and flung into unrecognizable confusion, will be reclaimed, laid out artistically, and transformed into a lovely and eternal monument of human heroism."

There are to be four Canadian monuments in France and three in Belgium, the sites of which have been secured from the respective governments, and arrangements for which were furthered very much during the recent visit of H. R. H. the Duke of York, Governor General, to the Canadian House of Commons, a member of the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission.

With reference to the great monument that is to be placed on Vimy Ridge the Paris correspondent of the Times says: "It was comparatively easy for Mr. Allward, the sculptor, to select the fitting spot on which to erect his simple, noble and imposing monument, its great pylons standing up against the sky and dominating the lower countryside. It will be a sign and a symbol set on a hill, where it can be observed from many miles around."

The conditions under which the 250 acres have been given to Canada are simple. No taxation is to be levied. The property is to be under control of the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission in perpetuity, provided the terms of the contract are fulfilled. On Canada's side she undertakes to beautify the land which will be turned into a large park; with stately avenues leading to the monument on the topmost plateau.

The details of the Canadian plans have not yet been announced, but they are in the hands of competent landscape artists. It will require careful study to execute the designs with the perfection that it is hoped to achieve, and that no pains will be spared to attain. Brindley-General H. C. Hughes is the engineer for the Commission.

ALL DANGER OF
COAL STRIKE GONE

Bituminous Men Not To Quit Work In The Fields After April 1

Washington, Jan. 6.—Practically all danger of another coal strike in the unionized bituminous fields after April 1, of this year, has now passed, in the opinion of the Federal Coal Commission, as expressed today by Chairman John Hays Hammond and other members.

Though representatives of operators and miners announced yesterday at Chicago they came to a deadlock as to methods of negotiating a wage scale, the Commission, from its investigations during the last two months in contact with the spokesmen for both employees and employers is confident that satisfactory working arrangements will be agreed upon.

No Strike Next Spring

SHIPPING CROWDS
BOSTON HARBOR

Greatest Boom Since Days Of World War Now At Its Height

Boston, Jan. 7.—The greatest shipping boom since the days of the world war is now at its height at this port. Work for 2,000 longshoremen can be had at the transatlantic terminals, it is said. At the rate of 70 cents an hour for day work and $1.05 for night work, the pay envelopes of those now on the job are well filled.

The boom started when coal laden vessels from England and Wales arrived last summer. Coal has arrived by millions of tons since the miners' strike in this country.

A score of ships laden with woodpulp, mostly from the Scandinavian countries, have arrived in the past few weeks, and the army base and the Commonwealth piers, where much of the freight is handled, are filled to overflowing, according to vessel owners.

British coal steamers have been forced to wait a week or 10 days in the harbor before obtaining docking facilities and many of them, rather than delay that long, have gone to other ports.

Since the closing of the St. Lawrence river there has been an increasing flow of grain through this port. More than a million and a half tons were shipped in one week in December.

At the Commonwealth pier more than 1,000 men have been employed and nearly 30 vessels were unloaded during the past month. Passenger space has been taken over for freight.

COLLEGE CLUB HOUSE
PLANNED IN BOSTON

Expected Ultimately To Have A Membership Of 5,000—28,000 Eligible

Boston, Jan. 7.—College men and women of Greater Boston have in prospect a club home, to be built at an estimated cost of $1,600,000 under plans of a committee of the present University Club, the sponsor of the project. With the existing organization as a nucleus, the University Club is expected ultimately to have a membership of 5,000.

There are known to be 28,000 persons, alumni of 237 colleges and universities, resident within 30 miles of the city, who are eligible to membership. Separate organizations are now maintained by graduates of 71 of these institutions. The present University Club was organized in 1892 at the suggestion of Amherst men, whose idea was to form a luncheon club.

Specifications of the new structure for a building in the Renaissance style, of limestone and brick. The basement will contain squash courts, swimming tank, billiard and pool room, barber shop and locker room. The two floors next above will include dining and grill rooms for both men and women, reception rooms, library lounge and guest rooms. The third floor will be given over to women's use and the fourth and fifth floors will consist of sleeping quarters.

FRENCH INVESTORS
Paris, Dec. 18.—(By Mail)—The abundance of capital in France was demonstrated recently when credit facilities to the amount of 60,000,000 francs were over-subscribed in 24 hours. It was originally intended to continue the sales over a fortnight. The bonds bear interest at six per cent, and were priced at 980.

Although the Great War is more than four years past, the claims and grievances accruing from Canada's participation in the conflict continue to flow in to Ottawa in surprisingly large numbers. A survey of the adjustment work undertaken by National Headquarters of the Great War Veterans' Association during 1922 shows that more than 34,000 individual claims were dealt with, of which the high average of 37 percent were satisfactorily adjusted. The claims covered every conceivable phase of war activity, both with Government departments, private firms and individuals. They ranged from the routine claims for pay balances, pensions, treatment, etc., to one veteran's claim for damages because of the loss of his wife's "love and affection" while he was overseas—a loss which he ascribed to his long absence from home. Humor and pathos daily find places in the never-ending stream of requests and demands.

The magnitude of this work is revealed by the fact that six men were continuously employed by the Dominion Command on adjustment work. During 1922 they wrote more than 79,000 letters and conducted over 12,000 interviews with Government departments and individuals. While the volume of claims slackened somewhat towards the end of the year, some 14,000 "active" files—cases in the process of adjustment—were still in hand. Without a single additional claim being presented this alone would require the energies of the present adjustment staff for several months to come. New claims, however, continue to arrive at the average rate of 240 per week.

A considerable part of the adjustment work has had to do with the Militia and Naval Departments, one man devoting his entire time to that work. The principal claims are for pay balances, war service gratuity, separation allowance and assigned pay, working pay, officers' lost kit claims, discharge badges, discharge certificates, medals, decorations, etc.

Pension matters form another out-standing feature of the adjustment work. The entire time of one man and the part time of another is devoted to this work, besides co-operation with the Dominion Secretary of the Tuberculous Veterans' Association who attends principally to pension and treatment matters for tuberculous ex-service men and dependents. Under the heading of pensions is included disability pensions, widows' and dependents' pensions, treatment and hospitalization, D.S.C.R. pay and allowances, vocational training, orthopaedic equipment, etc. Pension claims as a general rule require a greater amount of time in interviews and correspondence than militia claims. There are instances in which pension claims have been established after four years of constant activity.

Civil Service adjustments occupy an important place in the adjustment work. At the conclusion of the war the G.W.V.A. was instrumental in having the returned soldiers' preferential clause inserted in the Civil Service Act, and this has been the means of placing some 20,000 veterans in the Government service. In all positions thrown open to competition the Civil Service Commission establishes an advisory board which receives the applications, chooses the most likely candidates, and, where necessary, arranges to personally interview them. A recommendation for the appointment is then made to the Commission, which usually accepts the judgment of the advisory board. These boards are chosen with a view to the technical requirements of the position, and including one representative of the returned men. The Civil Service adjustment officer of the Dominion Command—a man of liberal education and broad experience—acts upon these boards and sees that the returned soldier candidates receive every possible consideration. This work alone would merit a complete article in the telling.

The civil service adjustment officer also receives and acts upon all complaints of irregularities, discrimination, etc., as affecting veterans in the civil service or applying for positions. This requires a large amount of direct interview work with the officials of the Civil Service Commission and departments of the Government.

Soldier settlement matters also comprise another important branch of the Dominion Command adjustment services. This has been particularly the case during the past two years when indifferent crops have created tremendous difficulties for the man on the land. The Dominion Command officer in charge of S. S. B. adjustments has the advantage of a complete knowledge of the entire organization of the Board. He also deals with the claims concerning homesteads located by veterans prior to service in the C. E. F., land patents, etc. This also involves continuous contact with the Department of the Interior. Other matters coming under the supervision of the adjustment department include immigration, repatriation, transportation, employment, investigations, pleas for clemency and remission of sentences for veterans, housing and domestic difficulties.

MANUFACTURERS OPTIMISTIC.

The Chronicle is in receipt of a decidedly optimistic forecast for 1923 from the Toronto headquarters of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association according to which, in contrasting the reports received by the Association from manufacturers in all lines of industry during the closing days of 1922 with similar reports received at the end of 1921, it is evident that a better tone pervades Canadian industry at the opening of 1923 than was to be found a year ago. The 1921 reports told of a year of depression with few bright spots to lighten the darkness. They were in the main hopeful, but, in many cases, it was admitted that the turn for the better could not be expected until the autumn. The 1922 reports, on the other hand, record certain substantial accomplishments and while some industries have not yet experienced improvement in business, there is no doubt that the majority of them have made progress towards more normal conditions.

Surveying the situation as a whole, certain features appear to have been fairly common to all industries. The raw materials markets, for instance, have nearly all moved through the same phases. Roughly speaking, the first half of the year, following the worst of the deflation period, found them easy, with plentiful supplies and a distinctly lower price tendency. Then during the second half of the year, as demand increased, prices tended to advance, and at the end of the year there was marked firmness all along the line. Some materials were still in good supply, but others were giving evidence of scarcity. The probable explanation is that during the depression, with large stocks accumulated, production was greatly reduced. Stocks were gradually worked off and production was not resumed until the margin had been lowered to a point at which the market reacted quickly to the increasing demand.

A feature of the year in the raw material market was the shortage of coal, resulting from the protracted strike in the United States, and the delay in deliveries occasioned by the railway strike. Canadian manufacturers do not appear to have suffered seriously from either condition, though there is no doubt that considerable inconvenience was caused and abnormal prices were paid for coal.

During the winter of 1920 and throughout the year of 1921, many thousands of industrial workers were out of employment, because other countries, undergoing trade depression, dumped immense quantities of goods, regardless of production cost, into Canada. As conditions improved in these countries, dumping began to diminish, and employment in Canada simultaneously increased. More people were taken on the factory pay rolls, and during the last half of the year the unemployment situation improved greatly, although dumping in certain lines is still going on and causing unemployment of the workers engaged in these industries.

The reports indicate that on the whole wage scales remain practically unchanged from 1921. As regards the efficiency of labor, manufacturers are almost a unit in reporting improvement, though it would appear that efficiency is not back to the pre-war level yet. Unskilled labor, except in certain districts and at certain seasons, was in good supply, but there is no large surplus of labor, and some reports express fear that if business improves rapidly in 1923, there may be a shortage, particularly in the building trades.

In reporting on operating conditions, some industries say that orders have been insufficient to permit of economical operation of plants. It is also the case that the practice on the part of merchants of buying only in small lots and for immediate requirements has meant added expense in production and handling, which does not permit manufacturers to take advantage of the economies of mass production, and thus reduce costs. The latter condition is righting itself, though slowly. Firmness in the raw material markets, the stabilization of wages and the gradual increase in consumer demand is reacting on industry and is restoring confidence among merchants, so that more and larger placing orders are being given.

The reports complain of the very heavy taxation imposed on manufacturers by the Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments, which raises costs of production and discourages the investment of capital in manufacturing. There is a strong demand for economy in public expenditures. The reports also stress the importance of urging for a more aggressive immigration policy, which will bring more people to Canada.

In the first half of the year the market for manufactured goods remained dull and uncertain. It began to show signs of life following the revival of business in the United States and the indication that crops in Canada would be plentiful. During the fall, in many lines of industry, substantial business was done, and as the year closed, orders were being received in fair volume for spring delivery. Notwithstanding low prices, the big crop put much money into circulation and brought funds into Canada, exerting a beneficial influence on business in general, which will be felt more fully later.

Exports, though the total value has declined with deflation in prices, have been well maintained in volume, and this situation reflects very favorably on the energy of exporters and the quality of their products. This is the general export situation, although the export market of some industries has been temporarily restricted.

The consensus of opinion expressed in these reports from manufacturers throughout Canada is that the worst of the depression is over, that a definite recovery of industry has already begun and will continue in spite of temporary reverses, and that conditions in all departments of national activity are showing a steady improvement.

WORK VS. BOLSHEVISM.

If it is true, as man has often been told, that "Satan finds some mischief for idle hands to do," then we must conclude that the surest manner of exorcising the Powers of Darkness is to keep our hands from being idle. Such a remedy may be recommended to Europe in general and Soviet Russia in particular; were there sufficient work to go round and sufficient money to pay for it, there is no exaggeration in saying that the reparations problem and every other anxious problem of the moment would automatically be solved.

Interesting details, in this connection, of the work of the "Tractor Squad" organized by the Society of Friends of Soviet Russia in America, are given in the Russian Supplement of Industrial and Labour Information, the weekly publication of the International Labour Office of the League of Nations. The "Squad" consists of 29 men, provided with 21 agricultural tractors, in addition to a complete outfit of agricultural machinery and implements, states Ekonomicheskaya Zhizn (Economic Life), an official Soviet publication, from which the information is quoted. They arrived in Russia in midsummer, and were dispatched to the Government of Perm, where land was allotted to them.

On arrival at this destination early in July, they began work at once by putting together their machinery and making habitable the dwellings placed at their disposal. By July 24th, seven tractors were working on the land which had lain fallow for several years; by August 15th, fifteen tractors were working and by September 25th, the number had increased to nineteen. Not only was land ploughed on the area allotted to the group, but also for local agricultural societies. In addition, a large area of land was ploughed for individual peasants, who repaid this service by supplying wood and aiding in construction work.

"There is no doubt," says Economic Life, "that the energy and initiative of the Americans is doing much to remove the apathy of the Russians who come in contact with them, and it is from this standpoint that their activities are most favorably considered by the Soviet authorities who are doing their utmost to aid the Americans."

A Verse Or Two

MY FORESTS.

My Forests march from sea to sea
Eternal in their pagantry;
The white-leaved poplars sue for rains,
The birch a maiden-ghost remains,
The maple flames in a lone hour,
Ever the pine's a secret tower:
Bird and beast do so abound,
My lonely land seems holy ground;
Edens at evening where God stood
And saw His works that all were good.

WASTEFUL CHRISTMAS TREES.

The practice of annually setting up the evergreen tree is responsible for the destruction of thousands of acres of young forest which in later years would prove of enormous value to this country.

POPULATING THE EMPIRE

Rich Resources Awaiting Development — Problems For British Empire Exhibition

No one of us can be very cheerful today when he sees the masses of honest men seeking work and unable to find it; and the endless misfits, where men capable of higher things are forced into hack-work by the need of bread. It is a season of stock-taking, and we go carefully over our assets, weighing each of them and labouring to discover some means of using it to better purpose. There is one asset which we are inclined to rule out of that category altogether and set down as a bad debt—the human asset, the superfluity of men.

Is this wise? The War has left us a poor people, yet the natural resources of the British Empire include, with one exception, everything necessary to wealth and prosperity. That exception is men. It is of little use that we possess iron and coal and every kind of mineral and vast fertile areas if there is not the labour to develop them. At present our resources of manpower have not been called out. They are still congested in Britain. Take the case of Australia, where, of all the Dominions, the need of immigrants is greatest. Parts of the tropical territory no doubt present special difficulties, though far fewer difficulties than are generally assumed; but in the large temperate tracts ideal conditions for settlement exist and yet men are there only in the scantiest numbers. She is nearly twenty-five times the size of the United Kingdom and her whole population is little more than two-thirds of Greater London. In England and Wales the population average 626 to the square mile; in Australia the average is less than two. The whole continent is a vast treasure-house waiting to be opened.

The Stoppage of Emigration.

The value of emigration is generally admitted—too generally admitted—for it tends thereby to become a pious opinion and not an active policy. But it has always had its critics and recently I have heard it urged that Britain would be foolish now to deplete herself of her best citizens. Since, naturally, the Dominions only want those who are fit and willing to work, it is argued that in sending such men overseas we are lowering our own national standard, and raising the proportion of the unemployed among our own people. But there is one very striking fact which such critics overlook. Our normal yearly stream of emigrants, to which in the past they made no objection, was entirely arrested by the War. Up to 1914 some 300,000 persons, mostly young and healthy, left Britain every year, the majority settling in the Dominions. For five years emigration was at a standstill, and even now it has not been restored to anything like its normal proportion. Even deducting the three-quarters of a million who were lost in the war, the net increase of our population due to this five years' stoppage of migration, amounts to 1,250,000. That is a fact to be weighed. It means an enormous increase in the number of persons seeking employment here, and creates a more serious situation in view of our depressed industries and restricted trade. We have not enough jobs for even the fittest of our young men, and unemployment naturally tends to lower their health and efficiency.

The War And The Homeland.

Emigration since the War has therefore acquired a new urgency. It is not only desirable, but essential. It interests Britain and her Dominions alike. An attempt, it may be remembered, was made shortly after the war to settle Service men overseas. The Overseas Settlement Committee, under the chairmanship of the new First Lord of the Admiralty, granted free passages to all approved ex-service men and women who wished to settle in any part of the Empire, and nearly 80,000 persons availed themselves of the scheme, most of whom, it may be hoped, are now successful settlers. But 80,000 is too small a number to do more than touch the fringe of the problem.

There have been special difficulties. It has been found that the ordinary pre-war desire to emigrate has largely disappeared. For most of those who fought in the War, and for many who did not, the glamour of Overseas has gone and the instinct for adventure is dormant. The War, too, I think, revived in most men an appreciation of the charms of their own land, and they are loth to leave it. But the home country is not much of a home to the workless, and cruel necessity will revive the impulse to emigrate. Again, since the War, even when that impulse existed, the lack of shipping facilities and the huge rise in passenger rates put any considerable movement out of the question.

New Plans.

In July, 1921, an important step was taken when the Conference of Empire Prime Ministers urged the introduction of legislation for promoting migration in co-operation with the Dominion Governments. The Empire Settlement Act of this year, which was the consequence, holds out the first hope of a practical scheme. This Act authorizes the British Government to spend £1,150,000 during the financial year 1922-23 and up to £3,000,000 in each subsequent year for a total period of fifteen years, upon co-operation, to an extent of not more than half their total expenditure, with Dominion Governments or approved public or private organizations in scheme for migration and settlement. Under this Act suitable settlers may receive a free grant of one-third the cost of their passages to Australia, and in the case of need a loan of the remainder. Meanwhile, settlement schemes in New South Wales, Victoria, and Western Australia are being pushed forward.

This Act is undoubtedly one of the most hopeful measures of our day, but its existence at present is far too little known. An Act of Parliament is a remote thing to the ordinary man, and usually only the visit of the tax-collector or the Government Inspector informs him of it. What this Act needs in order that the right sort of emigrants should be attracted and helped is widespread publication and explanation. Above all, it needs to be supplemented by some practical education in the conditions and chances of overseas life.

The British Empire Exhibition.

Now—and here I come to the main point of these observations—the British Empire Exhibition has been undertaken largely to bring these points home to the British public. In 1924 Wembley Park will be the scene of the largest exhibition that has ever been held in this country. Its exhibits will be confined to the British Empire, but they will comprise every known variety of manufactured goods and raw materials; it will be a concrete demonstration of the immense resources that are awaiting development. So far it will follow the lines of other exhibitions, though on a far greater scale. But, apart from exhibits in the usual meaning of the word, this exhibition will provide the widest possible information on all Imperial matters. Lectures and cinematographs will demonstrate the conditions and opportunities awaiting settlers overseas, and a special Intelligence Bureau will give detailed information on the subject of all inquiries.

Special attention will be paid to the migration of women through the co-operation of the Society for the Overseas Settlement of British Women. In Australia men are in an altogether disproportionate majority, and the Commonwealth Government are much exercised over the problem of attracting suitable young women.

He was driving a four-mule team hitched to a ration wagon and he lost his way in the night and mist, and drove right through the American trench line which was not continuous at that point and started rumbling along an old road which led across No Man's Land. He had gone only a few yards when an artilleryman jumped out of a listening post and began signalling him with both hands.

"What's the matter?" shouted the driver.

"Hush!" said the artilleryman in a low and agonized whisper. "You're headed straight for the German lines. For God's sake man, turn around and don't speak above a whisper."

"Whisper, hell!" boomed the driver. "I've got to turn four mules around."

PRECAUTIONS TO BE TAKEN AGAINST FIRE.

Some Timely Advice Which Will Prove Profitable During Holiday Season.

Chief L. Donnelly of the Quebec Fire Brigade makes the following recommendations to the public in regard to fire and how to avoid them, especially at this season:

It is incontestable that large fires and terrible calamities occur which are often caused by lack of precautions and negligence. Following are suggestions which Chief Donnelly makes to the public and which should be carefully heeded and put into practice in all private residences, stores, manufacturing and public establishments.

Negligence and lack of attention are the principal causes of fire.

Be careful when using matches. Keep matches in metal receptacles and do not leave them within reach of children.

Do not permit rubbish to accumulate in your cellars, and keep the passages clear in order to facilitate the work of the firemen, in case of fire.

Keep all inflammable materials outside of your stores and away from lighted gas jets.

Never use matches or candles to locate a gas leak or to go into wardrobes.

Do not open doors or windows when a fire breaks out.

Do not hesitate to sound the alarm, in case of fire, for your promptness to notify the brigade will result in good service.

Find out the location of the nearest fire station and your office or home.

Never use gasoline for cleaning purposes in your home. Use it in open air only, for a large number of fires have resulted from the friction of silk or other materials in apartment where gasoline is used for cleaning.

During the Christmas and New Year's Holidays many stores and homes are decorated with inflammable materials and the fires which break out in such places generally entail serious results.

A match discarded without precaution, a short circuit, or a gas flame, suffice to start a conflagration.

Do not permit the lighting of cigars in your establishment, store.

Do not place decorations near gas jets.

For Christmas Tree decorations, employ metallic tinsel, rather than cotton paper or other inflammable materials.

Make the Christmas Tree solid, so that the children may not topple them over while attempting to snatch articles which are suspended from these trees.

Do not permit children to light the candles, they may set fire to their clothing.

Do not employ cotton as an imitation of snow for such decorations use asbestos fibre.

Do not neglect to turn off the electric power when you are leaving your homes for the night, it is also important to turn off electric power during heavy snow, rain or thunder storms.

Do not obstruct the doors and windows of buildings so that in case of fire the firemen may be able to gain entrance.

Never use petroleum oil to light your stove, and lamps should always be filled in day time and well removed from fire. If you let your lamps burn all night place them in a metal receptacle and see that they contain plenty of oil. Lamps which are dirty and contain but little oil are dangerous. Never leave lighted lamps in stables, they may be upset by the animals.

Every year fires are caused by electric smoothing irons which are left on tables with the current turned on. When you have finished ironing turn off the current.

A new danger has arisen of late in the increase of the sale of toys and amateur moving picture machines, designed to be used in the home. Many of these are furnished with inflammable films and are handled by inexperienced people and even children.

The liability of fire and serious accidents under the circumstances is quite apparent, especially at this time, when these machines will, no doubt, be given as Christmas presents to hundreds throughout the City.

CHIEF DONNELLY INVESTIGATING

Public Buildings To Familiarize Himself With Their Construction

The Chief of the Fire Department, Mr. L. Donnelly, is engaged these days in making an inspection of all buildings, as well as large warehouses with a view to familiarizing with their construction in case of fire. During his investigations Chief Donnelly has made many discoveries that will greatly aid the municipal authorities in enforcing the by-law respecting building, should he send in an official report. He mentioned the absence of a fire escape in one schoolhouse and suggested that the omission be remedied, pointing out that in the event of fire breaking out in building there would be little chance of escape for the inmates by means of the stairways.

GEORGE DUFRANNE AT AUDITORIUM

French Canadian Operatic Tenor Will Be Heard This Week—Special Attraction

An extraordinary attraction that will prove extremely popular with lovers of opera selections and music has been secured by the management of the Auditorium in the person of George Dufranne, the French Canadian operatic tenor, who will give selections twice daily for the whole of the week, starting this afternoon.

Dufranne appeared last week at the Princess Theater, Montreal, and Manager Wright of that theatre wanted to keep him for a second week, but he was under contract to appear at the Auditorium and thus had to refuse the offer.

ALL ABOUT THE STARS
January 4th, 1923.
Editor of the Quebec Chronicle:
Dear Sir,—When our own sun has set, and the gloaming is over, then we again behold, if the firmament is cloudless, the suns of night and the satellites of our solar system. The former are the sparkling stars, the latter are the planets. The former radiate their own light into space, the latter merely reflect light, possessing no illuminative radiance. The sparkling stars are trillions and trillions of miles remote from our world, the shining planets are only millions or billions of miles distant. The nearest known sun of night is about 25 trillions of miles away, the farthest known solar satellite—Neptune—about 2 8-10ths billions of miles. Like the planets, the suns of night vary in brilliance. Some of the brightest first-magnitude stars may be seen tonight from the city of Quebec.

We may see these sky-gems around the hour of nine. Then, the most brilliant sun of night to be seen anywhere from our earth's surface is scintillating above the southeastern horizon. It is named Sirius. After observing and admiring incomparable Sirius for a while, we may behold the fifth most brilliant sun of night, sparkling not far from the zenith. It is Capella. Moreover, Rigel, the seventh most brilliant sun, glitters not far from the horizon (westward) from Sirius, and we see the eighth brightest sun, Procyon, sparkling northeastward from Sirius of Canis Major. Of these four suns, Sirius is nearest, and Rigel most remote. That is, Rigel approximates 84 times the distance of Sirius from our earth.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES NEVENS HOLMES.

TWO ARRESTED ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Admit Having Broken Into Gilbert Tobacco Shop New Year's Morning

Caron, alias Belleau of Montreal and Parent alias Pellerin, of Lewiston, Me., were placed under arrest by Detective Laureat Lacasse on Saturday on the charge of having burglarized the tobacco store of H. E. Gilbert, in the Auditorium building early New Year's morning.

Although the arrests were made on Saturday, Chief Detective Thomas Walsh when he was communicated with over the telephone by the Chronicle last night, said that there was no news to communicate.

When the Gilbert store was burglarized a quantity of cigarettes, chocolates and other goods were taken valued at about $140, while $60 in cash was taken from the cash register which was forced open by the burglars, who entered the store by breaking a window over the side door.

The first arrested was Belleau, who aroused suspicion on Saturday afternoon when he was seen trying to sell cigarettes to the patrons in St. Roch's restaurant. He was offering two packages of cigarettes, which would cost about 80 cents in a store, for 50 cents. When he was arrested he was questioned closely and admitted that he had participated in the burglary of the Gilbert store and also said that his accomplice was Parent alias Pellerin, of Lewiston, Me., who was arrested late on Saturday night at the Salvation Army.

CHRISTMAS TREE ENTERTAINMENT

Given By The Oddfellows To Children Of Members Was Great Success

The members of the committee in charge of the Christmas Tree held by Albion Lodge No. 2 and Britannia No. 4 are elated with the success of the entertainment which was held on Saturday evening in the Masonic Hall, Garden street, and the children of these lodges treated to a right royal time.

After the children had partaken of the good things at the refreshment tables Santa Claus was announced and escorted to the foot of the fifteen foot high Christmas tree which was loaded with all kinds of presents, dear to a child's heart, which he proceeded to distribute to the children as they came forward on being called upon. On taking his departure for his far away home for another year Santa Claus was followed by the cheers and good wishes of the twenty-five excited and delighted children. The entertainment was then brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

The thanks of the Committee are heartily tendered to all who helped, to the success of the entertainment, especially the ladies, who looked after the welfare of the children at the refreshment tables.

The following are the names of the acting committee: James Norton P.G.R., Arthur Goodwin, P.D.D.G.M., M. Thos. Lane, P.D.D.G.M., H. H. Doddridge, G.S.W., William Jewell, Veteran P.G., and George A. West, P.D.D.G.M. The above mentioned ladies are enthusiastic over the success attained and hope to treat the children in a like manner yearly in the future.

CHIMNEY FIRE AND FALSE ALARM

The firemen were called out yesterday for a chimney fire for which an alarm was sounded from Box 421. A call from box 91 proved to be a false alarm. The boiler in the Desaulniers tannery on Ste. Helene street was lighted with leather clippings and as the burning leather caused a heavy smoke, some boys playing on the street believed the place was afire and sounded the alarm.

Even a musical alarm clock is seldom appreciated in the early morning.

SEVERAL FIRES OVER WEEK-END

St Roch's Garage Completely Wrecked—Hen Coop Damaged—Chimney Trouble

The St. Roch's division of the Fire Department was summoned on Saturday by an alarm sounded in from box 131 to fight a fire that had broken out in a garage of wood structure on St. Francis street west, owned by Mr. Fleury, which was completely wrecked by the flames, as well as an automobile in the garage.

The same afternoon, an alarm was sounded in from box 86, and when the firemen from the St. Roch's station had arrived on the scene, they discovered that a carter passing the corner of St. Joseph and Crown streets had seen sparks coming from the chimney of the Myrand and Pouliot dry goods building which he thought might have been caused by a fire on the premises. Investigation showed that the sparks from the chimney were caused by the furnace men attending to the furnace. The sending in of the alarm was commended, however, instead of being censured, owing to the importance of the locality.

Another alarm from box 28, yesterday brought the firemen of the Upper Town Division to the corner of St. Eustache and Richelieu streets, where it was found that a fire that had been discovered in the hen-coop adjoining the stables, on the property of Mr. Frank O'Byrne, No. 33 St. Michael St. The blaze was subdued before much damage was occurred and this was fully covered by insurance.

QUEBEC LOST TO MOUNT ROYAL BY SCORE OF SIX TO FOUR IN MATCH THAT WENT OVERTIME

Visitors Tallied Three Times And Locals One During Extra Play—"Bulldogs" Had Better Of Play—Sensational Work Of Montreal Net-Minder Saved His Team

The Mount Royal team of Montreal broke into the win column at the expense of the Quebec sextette whom they defeated by a score of 6-4 in a scheduled Province of Quebec Hockey League fixture which required ten minutes of overtime before victory was finally decided. The match was played yesterday afternoon at the Arena and was witnessed by about 1,500 spectators.

The teams left the ice for a ten minutes rest at the expiration of the third twenty with the score tied at two all. In the first five minutes of overtime the visitors tallied three times while holding the locals scoreless. Quebec scored their only goal of the overtime in the second five minutes.

The locals had the better of the play for fully three quarters of the regulation periods and it was only the spectacular net minding of Morin in the nets for the visitors that separated Quebec from victory. Time and again the locals would break through the Mount Royal defence only to have their shots blocked, caught, kicked or batted away from the danger zone by the Montreal goalkeeper.

The visitors swept the locals off their feet in the first five minutes of overtime and two pretty combination plays in which H. Lepine and Kent figured and a lone shot by A. Lepine resulted in three tallies. In the second five minutes of overtime the locals scored once as the result of a rush and long shot by Kelly McDonald who has secured his release from the Three Rivers club of the Provincial League.

The game was played at a fast pace and some good hockey was witnessed. The locals played at a fast clip for the first two twenties but tired in the third and in the overtime were unable to cope with the fast skating and combination of the visitors. The Montreals put up a strong game and never let up for a moment.

The teams set out at a fast pace at the outset and for the first five minutes of play the puck was kept travelling from end to end. The Lepine brothers were playing a pretty combination game together and soon Levesque was called upon to show his wares. Kane broke through the visitors' defence but his shot from close range struck the goalie's pads. H. Lepine missed a chance to score when he fumbled a pass in front of the net while almost immediately afterwards Piche threw away another opportunity when he shot wild with only the net minder to beat.

Mount Royal was the first to score as the result of a combination rush and a pass to H. Lepine in front of the net after ten minutes of play. This lead was short lived, however, as fifty seconds later Morrison rushed up left wing and passed to Morris who evened the count. A few minutes later Morris tallied again though it was called back for an off-side. The locals played harder than ever at this stage of the game and Morin in the nets for the visitors were kept busy turning shots aside.

Morrison went in on top of the Mount Royal goalkeeper and the latter was well applauded for making a brilliant save. Morrison repeated the stunt about a minute later and once again the visitors net guardian saved what looked like a sure goal.

With less than a minute to play in this twenty, the locals went into the lead as the result of a shot by Morrison from left wing. The locals had much the better of the play in the opening minutes of the second twenty and it was only sensational work on the part of the Montreal goalkeeper that prevented them from increasing their lead. Piche was given the first penalty of the match and was followed immediately after by Gaudette. The teams were now playing five a side. Kane nearly scored when he eluded the defence but once again Morin proved the stumbling block Mount Royal evened the score after a close to fourteen minutes had elapsed as the result of a three man combination. Mallett doing the trick.

The Montreals went into the lead after a little over a minute's play in the third twenty as the result of an individual end to end rush by H. Lepine. McDonald was struck on the knee with the puck but resumed play. Chamallard replaced Long. Thirteen minutes later Morris evened the score for Quebec on a back hand shot. With the score tied and only a few minutes to play, both teams tried hard though the game wound up with neither sextette having succeeded in bulging the twine. In the first five minutes of overtime the Montreals swept the locals off their feet and netted three goals while holding Quebec scoreless. Billy McDonald tallied the fourth and last goal for Quebec in the second five minutes of extra play.

HAMILTON TIGERS SPRUNG SURPRISE

Defeated Canadiens 3-2 In Overtime — Arbour Scored The Deciding Goal

Montreal, January 7.—(By Canadian Press).—By defeating Canadiens 3 to 2 after eight minutes of overtime in their N.H.L. fixture at Mount Royal Arena here Saturday, Hamilton furnished a considerable surprise. To Arbour who substituted for Bouchard in the extra period goes the credit of winning the game. He scored the deciding goal.

Both teams showed a reversal of form from their mid-week game at Hamilton. Canadiens were overconfident and in the first two periods they lacked the snap shown in previous games, while the Tigers played with a determination that would not be denied.

In the closing moments of the third period Canadiens came into their own and completely outplayed Hamilton. The Tiger goalie Forbes was the only obstacle that the Frenchmen could not overcome. He stopped shots from all angles.

The overtime period was opened with aggressive play by Canadiens who again outplayed Tigers. But the latter scored following a rush by Producers and an offside play which brought about the face-off from which Arbour tallied. An attendance of about 4,100 watched the game.

SONS OF IRELAND DEFEATED UNIVERSITY OF MONTREAL IN EXHIBITION MATCH BY 6-1

Locals Took Ice Minus Services Of Laroche, Richardson And Neville—Lamirande Netted Five Goals For Wearers Of Green And White—Sons Had All Of Play

Sons of Ireland added another victory to their credit on Saturday afternoon in defeating the University of Montreal sextette of Montreal by a score of 6-1 in an exhibition hockey match played at the Arena. The locals were without the services of Hammy Laroche who is confined to his bed with a bad cold, Richardson and Neville who were both out of town over the week-end. Lamirande and Morrissette replaced Laroche and Richardson and the pair turned in excellent games, Lamirande netting five of the six goals.

Sons had the better of the play throughout and had it not been for the splendid work of Richardson in the nets for the visitors, the score would have been much larger. The visiting goalkeeper was bombarded from all angles during the three periods but managed to get some part of his paraphernalia in front of the puck on all but six occasions. Turgeon in the nets for Sons also put up a good game though he had not half the shots to handle as Richardson. The one shot that beat him was one from close in and gave him no chance to save.

Though the game was only an exhibition one it was productive of some flashy hockey though at other times it grew listless, especially in the final twenty. The feature of the game was the showing of Lamirande and Morrissette two substitutes who replaced Laroche and Richardson respectively on the line-up of the Sons of Ireland. Lamirande showed some nice stick handling and shooting ability and scored five of the six goals secured by his team. Morrissette blocked and engineered some dangerous rushes and though he failed to score he nevertheless gave the Montreal goal keeper many anxious moments. In the final twenty one of his shots struck Richardson in the mouth and the visiting goalie went down like a log and had to be assisted off the ice. He returned to the game after a rest of about ten minutes with a badly cut and swollen lip.

The first period opened at a fast clip and soon both goalers were called upon to clear some wicked shots. Sons were breaking away fast and Richardson was called upon to clear from Loneragan. McNaughton and Lamirande in quick succession, Desbiens and the Lamarre brothers made some nice rushes though they generally came to grief on reaching the Sons' defence. A little over ten minutes had elapsed when Lamirande tallied for the locals as the result of a pretty goal-to-goal combination rush with McNaughton. Just before the period ended Richardson made a brilliant save when he slid out to block McNaughton's shot after the latter had eluded the outer defence.

The second period had just started when Loneragan secured and rushing the length of the ice passed to Lamirande who bulged the twine behind Richardson for the second counter of the match. Sons were having much the better of the play and it was only the clever net-minding of the Montreal net-guardian that prevented them from adding to their total. Dinan and P. Lamirande came to blows and both were sent to the cooler by Referee Dave Power. While playing five to five McNaughton staged an end-to-end rush and scored, the puck going in through Richardson's legs. Poirier who had replaced A. Lamirande nearly scored for the visitors, his shot striking the goal post. Just before the period ended Lamirande scored the fourth goal for the locals on an individual effort.

A little over fifteen minutes had gone by in the final twenty when Lamirande fooled Richardson with a shot from left wing. With only a few minutes more to play A. Lamirande tallied for the University when he broke through the Sons' defence and flipped the puck into the net behind Turgeon. Lamirande had the count 6-1 one minute later as the result of a melee in front of the "Students" net.

HEAVY SELLING OF STOCKS FOR BOTH ACCOUNTS

FEARED THAT ATTITUDE OF FRANCE MAY LEAD TO SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES

One Or Two Point Declines Quite Common—French And Belgian Bonds Weakened, Also Foreign Exchanges—Selling Conducted In Orderly Fashion

New York, January 7.—Fears that France's determination to exact penalties from Germany for the latter's inability to meet the January 15 reparations payment may lead to serious consequences induced heavy selling of stock for both accounts in today's brief session of the market, declines of one or two points being quite common. French and Belgian bonds also weakened, as did the foreign exchanges. The selling was conducted, however, in an orderly fashion although it was apparent that the buying support which had been furnished by professional interests to stem yesterday's short selling was considerably less effective today. News that the Turkish delegation had walked out of the sub-committee meeting of the near east conference at Lausanne also was a disquieting factor.

Industrials, particularly the speculative features were the hardest hit in the reaction. Baldwin which only recently had sold above the 140 mark closed at 133 1/4 for a net loss of 3 1/4 points. Studebaker closed at 114 1/2 for a net loss of 1 1/2 points.

Losses of 2 points or more also were recorded by American Can, American Car, Consolidated Gas, Woolworth, United Fruit, Postum Cereal, Dupont and Delaware and Hudson.

Steel and oil shares also showed material recessions. United States Steel fell back to 106 1/4 for a net loss of 3 1/4; Gulf States Steel dropped two points; Crucible 1 1/4 and Republic 1 1/8. Pan-American A and B, Standard Oil of California, California Petroleum and Houston all showed losses of one to nearly two points.

Producers and Refiners gained a point on overnight announcement of the payment of an initial quarterly dividend of $1, but fell back with the other oils later for a small fractional loss on the day.

Foreign exchanges sold off slightly. Demand sterling dropped about half a cent to $4.64 1/2. French francs slumped from 7.08c. to 6.96 and Belgian francs from 6.55 to 6.41 1/2. The German mark was down to 1 1/16 a hundred against the new low record of 1.15c a hundred, established yesterday.

A clearing house statement showed decreases of $31,072,000 in loans, discounts and investments, $27,227,000 in the reserve of member banks in the Federal Reserve Bank, $37,746,000 in net demand deposits and $10,567,000 in time deposits.

Aggregate reserve totalled $497,742,000, making a deficit in reserve of $37,012,940 as against an excess reserve of $24,943,130 last week.

The day's total sales were 524,000 shares. Extensive selling of foreign bonds, particularly the French and Belgian issues caused considerable irregularity in today's bond dealings with United States government issues showing moderate improvement and the rest of the list developing a reactionary tone. Losses of one to one and a half points were registered by the French 7 1/2 and 8s, and the Belgian 7 1/2s with fractional recessions in the other active issues. United States government bonds showed gains of 2 to 8 cents on $100 at the close.

Principal weakness in the railroad list was noted in St. Paul debenture 4s, Kansas City Southern 3s, International and Great Northern adjustment 6s, and Denver and Rio Grande refunding 3s. Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s, and Grand Trunk Railway 7s, closed nearly a point higher.

Chile Copper 7s, dropped a point or more, while Fisk Rubber 8s, and Consolidated Coal of Maryland 8s, improved a point.

Total sales, par value, aggregated 7,005,000.

Closing Letters By Local Brokers

(By L. G. Beaubien & Co.)

New York, Jan. 6.—Two factors of importance are receiving most consideration in the market, the first of them is the disagreement between France and England over the German problem and the other is the possibility of a revision of tax schedules, a program to which the radical leaders in the House and Senate appear committed. Despite these threatening developments, the market continues in very good shape. It is still professional to a large degree, but holds a firm undertone at most times, despite this. Yesterday's advance in the call money rate to 5 percent represented a 1 1/4 percent increase during the day. It did little more than slow up trading and provide a signal for profit taking, since it is a well understood fact that the increased rate is more or less of a hurry.

DOONACONA PAPER TO DOUBLE OUTPUT

Arrangements Made For Financing New Construction—Bonds Are Sold

Within the last few days statements emanating from Montreal have indicated that plans are in contemplation by The Doonacona Paper Company, for doubling its present production capacity. It has been stated that this increase in annual capacity from 30,000 tons to 60,000 would be effected by addition of necessary wood grinders and a paper machine which in size would rival even the largest operating in Canadian mills today.

Confirmation of this report is now available, together with information as to the form which financing of the extension will take.

Estimated cost of new construction is placed at close to $300,000, construction to be started immediately and completed as soon as possible.

The company, with its timber limits situated adjacent to the Jacques Cartier and St. Lawrence rivers in the Province of Quebec, controls 555,440 acres, said to contain approximately 4,525,000 cords of spruce pulpwood. It is evident, therefore, that the company can over a long period comfortably supply the requirements of its increased capacity.

It is understood that the bonds to be issued for this new construction have already been sold to Royal Securities Corporation, Limited, and that they will be placed on the market in the near future, both in Canada and the United States, where the company and its securities, on account of past financing and a highly satisfactory operating record, are well and favourably known.

Doonacona Paper has an authorized bond issue of $3,000,000 first (closed) mortgage 6s, dated June 1st, 1915, maturing June 1st, 1940, of which about $750,000 remains unissued; and it is assumed that these bonds, which have been sold to take care of present requirements, while the issue price has not yet been announced, it is probable that the bonds will be offered at par.

Daily Gossip On Leading Stocks

(Special to The Chronicle)

New York issues in 1922, recorded in the Monetary Times annual, show the Bell Telephone Company to have been the heaviest borrower, having issued nearly $12,000,000 common.

It is understood that the Doonacona Paper Company, which presently operates a 30,000 ton newspaper mill at Doonacona, Que., plans to immediately increase capacity to 60,000 tons annually by the installation of additional groundwood and machine capacity which will be in operation by January 1924.

The paper machines which will be installed to increase the company's capacity will, it is said, be among the largest in the world, rivaling the machines recently installed by the Walmsley Company, at the Abitibi mill.

Brompton led the market in activity and closed up 3-4 at 49 3-4. Spanish common came second and closed down 1-4 at 98 1-4; the preferred was third and was up 1-4 at 106. Of the other issues in the paper, Abitibi was up 3-8 to 69 1-4; Laurentide declined 1-8 at 94 1-2 and Price Brothers was unchanged at 45 1-2.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

There is an old saying we all used to hear when we were children that you can't eat your cake and have it. If each individual in this nation would learn the profound truth of this homely old maxim and put its teachings into effect in his own life, many of the social and economic troubles of the present time would disappear.

You can't squander all that you earn in days of prosperity and have a competency for the periods of adversity. You can't waste your time in idleness or ill-advised pursuits and hold your own in the race for success. You can't keep late hours, dissipate, over-indulge your appetite, or over-work to an unreasonable degree, and retain the blessings of good health. You can't associate with evil companions and retain the honor and respect of your worthy acquaintances. You can't be a miser in your practices and still have the vision, courage and good judgment to keep up in the procession of progress.

You can't waste your dollar and have it; but you can spend it prudently and have its equivalent. You can't waste your years and have them; but you can employ them usefully and have priceless possessions of your own creation.

Many of the ills of life are due to the mistaken attempts of those who try to eat their cake and have it. If you would develop in your work and achieve the ambitions of your life, remember this simple truth. Today's sacrifice is very often tomorrow's prosperity.

Hard knocks are frequently blessings in disguise.

But following the line of least resistance; yielding to small and ill-advised impulses; making things easy or pleasant for the time being without thought of the future, inevitably lead to hardship and trouble.

Guard your resources; conserve your strength; improve your opportunities. You can't eat your cake and have it. These are the truths of thrift.

Parents should look after their children and prohibit them from siddling on the city streets, especially those that cross the tracks of the Electric Railway and along which the railway runs. About four o'clock yesterday afternoon, as a representative of the Chronicle was walking along St. John Street within, he saw several children coasting down St. Stanislas Hill and across St. John street. One of them was sitting on a sleigh crossed the track but a short distance in front of a down going car. Had the child been struck by the car and killed there would have been no one to blame but itself and its parents.

A Sad Story.
A sad story comes to us from Nicolet of a small boy having been frozen to death. The poor little fellow died while he was on his way to Church. The telegraphic report states that Pierre Legare a ten-year-old boy, residing at St. Perpetue, left his home on Sunday en route to Church. His body was found on Tuesday in a field about one mile from the Church. He had been frozen to death.CURIOUS POSSIBILITY.
The three children came and stood in a row in front of their mother. "Mamma," they asked, "what would you like for your birthday?" "My dears, mamma was nothing for her birthday but three good children. She would like that." "But then, mamma," cried the eldest, "we'd be six."Fashion's Forecast

Millions Getting Out Of Turkey—Hungry, Half Clothed And Destitute

New York, Jan. 7.—The vast proportions of the exodus of Christians from the lands now dominated by the Turkish National government are becoming daily more evident to American relief workers engaged in the task of succoring the hapless army of homeless, hungry, half clothed and generally destitute people which has been rushing blindly for safety since the Turk gave them "permission" to leave Turkey.

It is difficult to arrive even at an accurate estimate of the total number of persons involved in the migration, owing to the frantic haste of the refugees, the suddenness of their movement and the chaotic conditions resulting from inability to provide them with transportation and the necessities of life during their flight for shelter anywhere except on Turkish soil.

The latest estimates by relief workers place the total number involved at 2,250,000. Nearly 1,000,000 of these are believed already to have reached safety in Greece, and another 1,250,000 are supposed to be trying to get out of Turkey before the time limit set by the Turkish government.

A great burden has been thrown upon the Greek government relief workers here declare and the American relief agencies by the movement of these hordes of fear-ridden people, the majority of whom are Greeks and Armenians.

The cost of providing food, clothing, shelter, medicines, nursing, and transportation for these multitudes is not yet known. Even the relief officials can only guess at it, for much depends upon the number yet to come out of Turkey. One estimate has placed the cost at $12,000,000. One of the most extraordinary phases of the flight is that the millions of refugees are composed only of women, children and aged men, a huge army without able-bodied men, for men of military age, between 19 and 55 years, were not included within the terms of the Turkish "permission" to go. Relief workers in the field say this fact has intensified the helplessness of the fugitives and enormously increased the task of caring for them. In addition thousands of the women and children are reported to have suffered so severely from the exposures attendant upon their flight, as to require medical attention far beyond the slender resources available for that purpose.

American observers and workers have characterized the scenes enacted at the shores of the eastern Mediterranean as "a great human tragedy." "The situation is so stupendous that 1,000,000 Good Samaritans are needed," cabled one competent American woman relief worker who had exceptional opportunities to observe some of the most startling phases of the movement.

The lion's share of the burden of helping aid to these distressed peoples has fallen upon the shoulders of an American relief agency the Near East Relief. That organization had a little army of perhaps 300 workers in the Near East caring for more than 100,000 Christian orphans scattered from Azerbaijan through Turkey into Syria, the Caucasus, Persia, Constantinople and Thrace. It was the only relief body on the spot in force sufficient to be of really important service.

Near East warehouses in Constantinople were soon emptied of their supplies of food and clothing, held for the use of orphans, but diverted to the new emergency. Then ensued efforts to find more food, clothes, medicines and medical service. Two ships of the American Relief Administration bound for Odessa, with cargoes of flour, cocoa, milk, and other necessities were diverted to Greece. The publisher of a New York periodical borrowed $178,500 and gave it to the relief agency to pay for the cargo of one of these vessels. Wherever flour could be found available for quick delivery, it was brought and heaped to the refugee centers in Greece, to ports of East Thrace on the Aegean sea, to Greek islands in the Aegean where hundreds of thousands had found temporary asylum, and to the ports of Anatolia and Syria.

At a moment when the need was most urgent a vessel landed at Constantinople 150 tons of flour from Australia, the first gift of an Australia committee which promised monthly shipments of food. Word came that thirty committees to aid in Near East relief work had been organized in Japan, Korea, China, the Philippines, Australia, and New Zealand.

Meanwhile the fugitives were moving out of the interior of Anatolia, Asia Minor, in large numbers. They massed at border points and in the ports. In almost none of these places could effective aid be given to them except from American or other foreign sources.

Greece sent what ships she could to bring the refugees to her home ports, but soon found herself overwhelmed by them.

Extraordinary steps were taken to shelter the refugees, as well as to find homes for the thousands of orphans. More than 3,000 Armenian boys were moved into the palace once owned by the former German Emperor on the island of Corfu, off the western coast of Greece.

The Greek government regulated twelve summer hotels at Loutraki, on the Corinth Canal, as shelters for the refugees. Gordon Berry, a Near East director, visited the celebrated monastery at Mt. Athos, in eastern Greece and induced the monks to receive and shelter 3000 boys for whom beds and supplies are to be provided by the Near East Relief.

Despite the energetic efforts of the relief agency, its workers have reported that the situation has not improved, that on the contrary the need is increasing.

HOW M. PASTEUR
WON WIFE'S HAND

Prosaic Proposal To Wed Was Followed By Happy Married Life

Paris, Jan. 7.—Louis Pasteur the famous scientist, the centenary of whose birth was celebrated throughout the world on Dec. 27, was very happy in his married life. Mme. Pasteur was devoted to him and acted as his secretary, his collaborator, his associate in his never-ending task of experimentation and research.

Pasteur, in truth, was a model husband, but he cannot be described as a romantic lover. There have surely been few proposals of marriage so prosaic as that which he made to Mlle. Laurent, daughter of the Rector of Lille University. "All I ask of you, Mademoiselle," Pasteur wrote, "is not to judge me hastily for if you do you may be deceiving yourself. My own recollections tell me that when I have become well known to people they have liked me. Time will reveal to you that under this cold and timid exterior, which may well be repugnant to you, there is a heart full of affection."

And this was not a letter of mild middle age, but of youth. Pasteur was only twenty-seven when he married Mlle. Laurent.

POSTWAR EXPENSESHEAVY IN FRANCE.
Paris, Dec. 20.—(By Mail)—The French budget for 1923, now undergoing discussion in the Chamber of Deputies, shows that it costs a great deal of money not only to be at war, but also to wind up a war.

Of the total appropriations of 23 billion francs asked for by the government, eight hundred millions are to defray expenses due to hostilities. This amount includes no pensions or outlay for reconstruction. The biggest item is 350 million francs for the maintenance of French troops in the Near East. It costs France 56 million francs a year to share in the occupation of Constantinople, and the troops located in the Sarre district cost 24 million a year.

Futile odds and ends of expenditure such as decorations of persons and towns for valor during the war; the expenses of missions sent abroad, etc., reach the respectable figure of 146 million francs.

Did you ever meet a man who didn't talk shop more than was necessary?

The bride wore a dress of navy blue beaded canton crepe, with a grey duvetyne hat with Chinese red ostrich feathers trimming, and a real coat. On their return they will take up their residence in Quebec. Among the out of town guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ramsey and Mr. Gordon Moore, of Quebec; Mrs. J. M. Thorn of Quebec, sister of the groom and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Black, of Toronto.

SKYSCRAPER TO BEERECTED IN WARSAW
The first skyscraper in Poland will be erected by the Polish Industrial Bank in Warsaw, says the Kurjer Warszawski. In describing the plans for the new structure, which are now nearing completion, the Kurjer Warszawski says that building laws will not permit of the erection of a building similar to American skyscrapers, but that the new building will be terraced from the fifth floor upwards. The decision as to the exact number of stories will be reached only after consultation with the Warsaw municipal building supervisors. The Kurjer Warszawski, however, says that though "it will not almost touch the sky as do the American skyscrapers" it will be very high.

Aside from housing the Polish Industrial Bank, there will be offices for many industrial and commercial establishments. The upper floors will be reserved for restaurants and tea rooms. Emphasis is placed on the fact that there will be eight elevators in the new building, which will be one of the largest in eastern Europe. The cost of the building is estimated at eight billion marks.

The Soviet Army is being cut down to 600,000 men. Maybe that is all that Germany is willing to train.

The French colonies in Africa and Asia are slightly larger than the United States, with a total of 56 million inhabitants. Through protectorates and otherwise, France controls above forty percent of the continent of Africa. According to M. Sarraut, the richest of all French colonies is Indo-China, with a population of 1 million people and an area six times that of the state of Alabama.

M. Sarraut has a bill before parliament to bring about the development of France's colonies, their mines, forests, and agriculture, a program which would require three billion francs. If France could arrange matters with Germany so she would be sure of no further invasions, this money would be forthcoming by reductions in the national budget, M. Sarraut declares.

The native populations of French colonies are described as well disposed toward their rulers, so much so that President Miller and recently made a trip through the African possessions of the Republic in perfect safety.
