Goodrich plant sale ends shutdown fears

WATERVILLE (JC) — Months of uncertainty end today as a group of Sherbrooke industrialists take official possession of the B.F. Goodrich plant, this area's largest employer.

The group has been negotiating the purchase since early summer when B.F. Goodrich announced they would close the Waterville operations if no buyer was found by Oct. 21. The 360 employees were told "changing economic conditions and priorities for investment" prompted the shutdown.

The new company - Waterville Cellular Products Limited will be headed by William McCoy, Roger Smith and Robert Calder.

William McCoy, president of the new company, was previously President and shareholder of J.S. Mitchell in Sherbrooke, and is currently president of Eastern Pottery in Cornwall, Ont.

Roger Smith, Assistant to the President was the General Manager of the Waterville plant until his retirement late last year.

Mr. Calder, vice-president of the new company, was President of General Plastics in Cookshire until 1975, and until recently, vice-president and General Manager of American Biltrite in Sherbrooke.

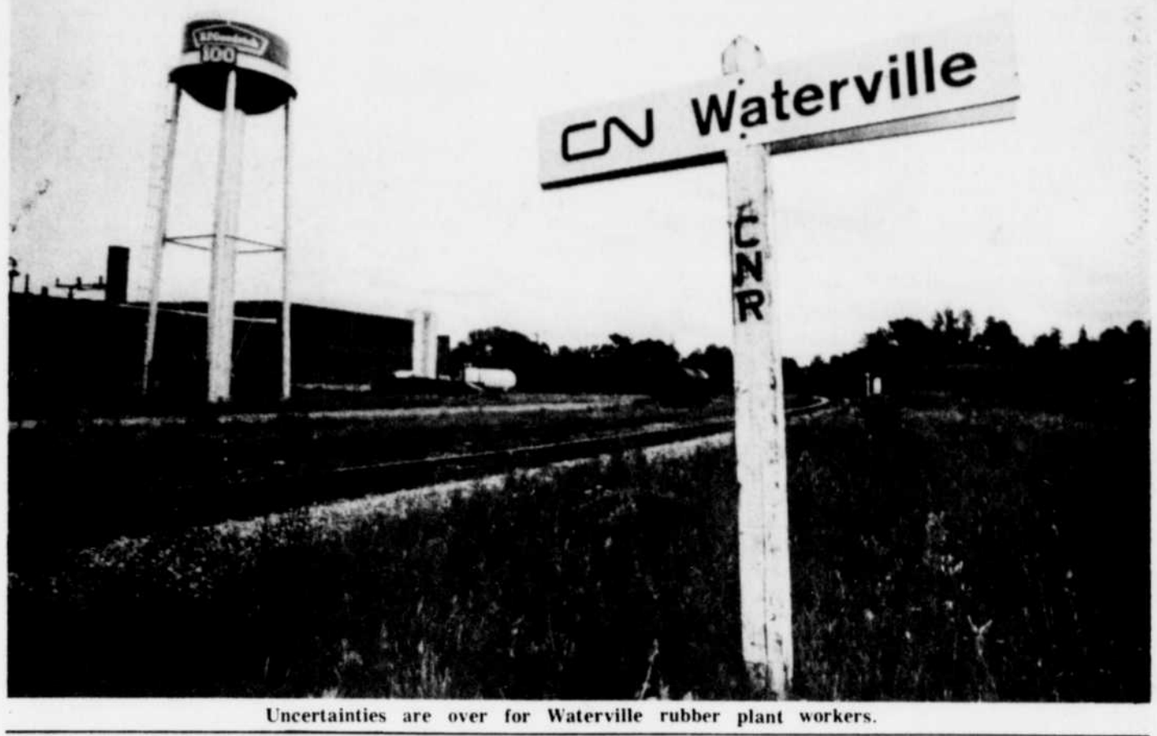

The new company will continue the same lines of production, manufacturing latex rubber pillows, mattresses, rug underlay, automotive armrests and weather stripping for automobiles.

Employees will continue to be represented by the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America. Union President, George St. Laurent, and his executive have met several times with the new management to discuss the company's future and begin negotiations of a new labour contract.

Goodrich Canada Ltd., has been trying to sell their Canadian cellular facilities since July of 1975. This year's announcement of closure stunned plant workers and residents of the area.

The Waterville plant was originally established in 1951 as the Canadian Sponge Rubber Co. Limited as a subsidiary of (Shelton) Sponge Rubber Co., of Shelton, Conn.

B.F. Goodrich purchased the plant in 1954.

Uncertainties are over for Waterville rubber plant workers.

Lazure plans compulsory civil service

DENIS LAZURE — planning civil-service draft

By JANET COTTON
(Record Reporter)

SHERBROOKE — The Parti Quebecois government will establish some form of compulsory public service for young people before the end of its current mandate, Social Affairs Minister Denis Lazure said yesterday.

Speaking to a press gathering at Auberge des Gouverneurs, Mr. Lazure said the service would be similar to military service, now required in many countries. The difference would be that young people would be required to take part in large-scale community projects such as reforestation or depollution of rivers.

In addition, the government will establish a fund from its next budget for the creation of permanent jobs through special programs and services to take people between 18 and 25 off unemployment.

Mr. Lazure refused to describe the programs in detail or estimate the cost of implicating the programs.

In Sherbrooke as part of a current tour of ridings by Parti Quebecois national assembly members, Mr. Lazure met with a group of young unemployed residents, students, representatives from Odyssee Placement job placement centre and representatives from sport and economic development associations.

After speaking with sport groups, Mr. Lazure said it was important that municipalities and school commissions work together to solve any problems. He said Minister Guy Charron's green paper on sport and recreation, to be released soon, calls for a campaign to obtain feedback on Quebec sports.

Meanwhile in Hull, Quebec Immigration Minister Jacques Couture said the provincial government plans to set up a community initiatives program, aimed at helping social groups respond to their own needs.

The program would be aimed at such things as daycare centres and home care services and would be an extension of services already offered by community centres, he said.

Contrary to the former federal local initiatives program, the Quebec plan would assure financing on a permanent basis to the social agencies involved, Mr. Couture said.

Mr. Couture, accompanied by Jocelyne Ouellette, public works minister and assembly member for Hull, visited several social groups, such as the Association for Cerebral Palsy, the Golden Age Federation and the Portuguese Association.

Mayors rap Quebec 'dictatorship'

QUEBEC (CP) — The president of the Quebec Union of Municipalities accused the provincial government of acting like a "dictatorship" Tuesday after three cabinet ministers decided to boycott the union's annual meeting to protest federal participation.

"The executive was unanimous that if the provincial government wants to stay home, well, let them," Mayor Philippe Bernier of Drummondville told a news conference on the eve of the convention's opening.

Quebec Municipal Affairs Minister Guy Tardif announced earlier in the day that Premier Rene Levesque and two other ministers had cancelled planned speeches at the convention, because federal Urban Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet had also been invited to speak.

Tardif said the Ouellet invitation amounted to "a provocation and an interference in (Quebec's) jurisdiction" over municipal affairs.

Tardif added that he had cancelled his own scheduled address to the meeting today, but would attend the closing banquet Thursday in place of Premier Levesque to explain the Quebec government's decision.

NOT ACCEPTABLE

However, Bernier told reporters the union of municipalities would not accept Tardif as a substitute for Levesque Thursday.

The Drummondville mayor also denied Tardif's claim that the union was creating a precedent by inviting a federal minister. Jeanne Sauve, then federal environment minister, spoke at the 1974 meeting of the association, which includes about 260 municipalities, Bernier said.

"We are still living in Canada and we still pay taxes to the federal government," Bernier said at a news conference.

Bernier said the provincial government had let it be known in the last week that it would be a good idea "if Mr. Ouellet got sick" and cancelled his planned speech Thursday.

As Bernier told reporters the union would stick with its decision to invite Ouellet, Hull Mayor Gilles Rocheleau echoed: "A good idea, a good idea."

Several mayors seemed particularly upset at the timing of the Quebec decision, which came the day before the convention's opening.

Convention officials said Ouellet had been invited on June 30 to give his speech, the same time invitations went out to the Quebec ministers.

WAITED UNTIL TUESDAY

In early July, the list of speakers was made known to all participants including the Quebec government, the officials added, but the final refusal from Levesque's office did not come until Tuesday.

In addition to Levesque, Labor Minister Pierre-Marc Johnson and Environment Minister Marcel Leger were scheduled to speak at the three-day conference.

Tardif said in his news release that the Union of Municipalities had recognized for years that Quebec and all the provinces have exclusive jurisdiction in municipal affairs.

Bernier said that the union had never played partisan politics and it was the first time that as many as four Quebec ministers had been invited to speak to the annual meeting.

Earlier Tuesday, an aide to Ouellet said that his speech would be "quite general" and would touch on federal housing policy. That was before Tardif's statement.

Trudeau response coming on language legislation

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau is expected to give his long-awaited response this week to Quebec's new language legislation, government sources indicated Tuesday.

However, Trudeau is not likely to include a constitutional challenge in the courts of the controversial law, said sources close to the prime minister.

The sources said he probably will outline his strategy towards the legislation at a news conference Thursday in Ottawa, or with reporters Friday in Montreal. Trudeau is to attend a ceremony Friday at Montreal's McGill University.

Although Trudeau has stated fierce opposition to the Quebec legislation, which makes French the only official language of the province, he has never outlined what will be the federal government's action to prevent erosion of the rights of English-Quebecers.

Trudeau has consistently said he would be loath to invoke disallowance of the provincial bill. Even if the federal government disallowed the bill, the Quebec government could soon pass a similar one.

The prime minister has suggested testing the constitutionality of the law in the courts. He has received requests from some Quebec school boards to take such action.

However, following a study by the federal justice department, a court challenge by the federal government seems highly unlikely, government sources said.

A decision by the federal government not to test the constitutionality would not necessarily rule out the possibility of it aiding another group challenging the legislation in court, as was done in a language dispute in Manitoba.

One of the more controversial sections of the legislation limits enrolment in Quebec's English schools to those already attending or to those who have one parent who attended an English school in the province.

Some Montreal area school boards have defied the legislation by enroling students considered ineligible.

Trudeau told a news conference earlier this month that Quebecers who defy the law are not unlike persons who refused to obey compulsory military service in the First and Second World Wars.

HAS RESPECT

He said he respected those who, because of conscience, would rather go to jail than obey laws they believed to be bad.

Trudeau recently tried to resolve the sticky question of education rights for minorities by proposing a constitutional amendment that would have guaranteed schools for each province's official language minority.

While some premiers from English-speaking provinces appeared to favor Trudeau's suggestion, Quebec Premier Rene Levesque rejected it as an encroachment on the provinces' jurisdictional rights over education as guaranteed by the British North America Act.

Trudeau's proposed amendment had followed by a month one by Levesque that Quebec sign reciprocal agreements with individual provinces guaranteeing schools for language minorities. The nine other premiers rejected the suggestion, but promised to work towards improvement of their minority school systems.

Soviets join West in test ban pact

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union, in a surprise move, offered Tuesday to join with the United States and Britain in a suspension of all underground nuclear weapons tests for an unspecified period.

"The prohibition of all nuclear weapon tests would be a major step conducive to lessening the threat of nuclear war and deepening detente," Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told the United Nations General Assembly.

Negotiations on a comprehensive test-ban agreement, including explosions for such peaceful purposes as river diversions, are scheduled for Geneva next week.

The Soviet Union did not condition its offer to reach an agreement on compliance by China and France, the two other major nuclear powers. In the past Moscow has said a testing agreement must have global application in order to be meaningful.

MIXES IN CRITICISM

While taking this conciliatory approach Gromyko sharply criticized the Carter administration.

He suggested with evident sarcasm that "those who clamor for 'human rights' could best apply their efforts" in southern Africa.

"But for some reason or other," Gromyko said, "they shut their eyes to the intolerable plight of millions of people."

He said the United Nations should demand a halt in the production of the neutron bomb and other systems of mass destruction.

Jet crash kills 17

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — A Japan Air Lines (JAL) plane crashed in a rubber plantation north of the Malaysian capital during a thunderstorm Tuesday, killing at least 17 of the 79 persons aboard, an airline spokesman said. At least 46 persons were seriously hurt.

A passenger list indicated a several of the 69 passengers aboard the jetliner, Flight 715, were foreigners. A JAL spokesman said 29 of the passengers were Japanese and at least 10 were Malaysians. Nationalities of the others were not immediately known.

The spokesman said rescuers have been unable to account for more than a dozen of those aboard and have listed them as missing.

The DC-8 had departed from Tokyo and was en route to the Malaysian capital after a stop in Hong Kong. It was scheduled to continue on to Singapore.

Toshiyuki Takeda, a Japanese survivor, told reporters the jet broke apart on impact. The two sections were flung about 30 feet apart and the front end caught fire, he said.

NO WARNING

Takeda, 25, said there was no advance warning of the crash.

"The captain told us to fasten our seat belts; we were not told about any dangers or emergency," he said.

"A few minutes later we were jolted in our seats ... then we hit something and there were sounds of things crashing and people crying and shrieking."

Chretien 'undecided' on economy-boosting budget

WASHINGTON (CP) — Finance Minister Jean Chretien said Tuesday he has not decided whether a special federal budget is needed this year to give the Canadian economy a boost.

He told a news conference: "I'm not for a budget, I'm not against a budget. If we need a budget, we'll have a budget."

Although the Canadian government has been following cautious economic policies, concerned about the possibility of touching off higher inflation, the new finance minister said he is reviewing the country's economic situation and a stimulus might be appropriate now.

He said that in his 11 days as finance minister he has been busy with many international meetings, including the joint annual meeting of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund that brought him to Washington.

Noting that there have been general calls at the Washington meeting for countries to contribute to world economic recovery through expansionary policies, the minister said he has developed no policy on what Canada could do for the international effort: "Is it possible for Canadians to contribute to that? I really don't know."

He said inflation remains a concern and the government cannot simply accept more inflation in order to temporarily lower unemployment.

Chretien added, however, that there are indications the pressures of inflation may ease, implying that the government might then be able to afford more expansionary policies.

He said his staff is reviewing the question of wage and price controls and he will soon announce the levels of wage increases and return on investment permissible in the third year of the controls program, which begins Oct. 14.

Mr. Chretien showed signs of impatience Tuesday when Canadian news correspondents suggested that he had acted improperly in giving a French-only speech.

"I don't see why you are uptight about it," he told a news conference. "I see nothing wrong with it."

Don Newman, correspondent for the CBC's English-language network, challenged the minister's initial explanation and asserted that Canadian cabinet ministers traditionally use both official languages in speeches to international gatherings.

The speech in question was one delivered by Chretien earlier Tuesday at the annual meeting here of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank.

When the issue, which took up the first series of questions at the news conference, was raised by Marjorie Nichols of the Vancouver Sun, Chretien said he spoke French because French is his native tongue, because French is an official Canadian language and because past Canadian speeches to such meetings have almost all been in English.

Rivalry keen between Great Lakes ships

ABOARD FREIGHTER HILDA MARJANNE (CP) — Captain Otto Hookey, 52, is a mild, unassuming man, a Newfoundlander who has sailed the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway system since he was 18.

Now, as his ship, the lake freighter Hilda Marjanne, plied a wide part of the Thousand Islands chain in the St. Lawrence River, she was overtaken by a sister ship, the Canadian Hunter. Both are owned by Upper Lakes Shipping Ltd. of Toronto.

The captain was not pleased.

One day earlier, the Hilda Marjanne had unloaded a half-cargo of coal, about 16,000 tons, at the docks of Dominion Foundries and Steel Ltd. She was running empty to Port Cartier, just below Sept-Iles, Que., in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, to take on iron ore.

Her Hamilton departure had been delayed six hours because of a malfunctioning boiler. Then, a half-hour out of Hamilton, a boiler gasket burst, causing another four-hour delay and slowing the ship screws to 40 RPMs - revolutions per minute - or a painfully slow five miles an hour across wide Lake Ontario, before the trouble was fixed.

On this trip, the Hilda Marjanne's top speed was about 10 knots, or 64 RPMs, because of damaged screws. Her normal top speed is about 70 RPMs. A converted tanker, built in Germany, the Hilda Marjanne is one of the oldest of the company's 22-ship fleet.

The Hunter, loaded with grain, would be slower going through the seven locks of the 124-mile seaway than the lighter, more manoeuvrable Hilda Marjanne.

Did the Hunter captain know this would happen if he passed the Hilda Marjanne?

"He knows," Hookey grunted as he sat in the wheelhouse guiding the helmsman with soft commands.

Adding to the frustration, a "salty" - a ship designed to operate in both salt or fresh water - took on a pilot and moved ahead to create a further delay. The big salties are slow going through the locks.

The next day, Hookey, after having to tie up his ship at all seven locks because of the long wait for clearance, grumbled that he had lost at least eight hours because the Hunter had not let him enter the locks first.

Hookey is one of a group of captains whose ships ply the world's largest and most important inland waterway, carrying cargo valued at $10 billion annually. One of these long, low bulk carriers can carry enough grain to fill a freight train five miles long.

There is keen rivalry among them, as the encounter with the Hunter shows. But once ashore, past rivalries are forgotten.

These are working ships, not luxury liners, and a guest is struck by the lack of hard rules, the casual, homey atmosphere that exists, even between officers and deckhands.

"It's a relaxed working atmosphere," said Roy Bourgeois, 20, of North Bay, Ont., a cadet who joined the ship July 2.

His only previous sea experience was the three weeks he spent on a Canadian destroyer out of Halifax when he was a navy cadet.

"There's always people on your back in the Armed Forces. If you put the onus on people - as is done here - they are going to act a lot more responsibly than if you keep telling them what to do."

Along the seaway, the ships operate in narrow lanes where rock shoals can create hazards, particularly in the Brockville, Ont., area and the American narrows through Ogdensburg and Massena in upper New York State.

As the Hilda Marjanne slipped into the Iroquois lock below Prescott, Ont., Hookey remained alert even though he has had years of experience navigating these systems.

"Here again, we are working in very confined areas where you have a cement wall on both sides of you entering a lock."

A group of tourists watched in the bright sun, prompting cadet Bourgeois to remark: "I feel like a monkey in a zoo."

"With a ship 75 feet wide and the locks 80 feet, you only have five-foot clearance to work with," Hookey continued.

"Again, it's no real problem as far as experienced masters are concerned. But there's lots of danger for a person first starting out as master of a ship."

At the St. Lambert lock in Montreal, Hookey left the bridge for the first time in 24 hours, turning his ship over to Marcel Couet, the pilot who had just been put aboard.

The Dominion Marine Association, which represents Great Lakes shipping firms, has been lobbying to have pilotage service provided as an option, not as a legal requirement. It costs about $15,000 in tolls and lockage charges to move a loaded ship one way through the Welland and St. Lawrence locks systems. Pilot charges add to that cost.

Later, as the Hilda Marjanne sailed past Trois-Rivieres, Paul Gignac, the third mate, stood alone on the deck in a light mist.

When the ship hove in sight of the village of Deschambault on the north shore of the river, he stood for long minutes and waved both hands.

Deschambault was his home town.

On the wide lawn on the river's edge, his family - wife and two children - waved back.

Faulkner pledges new concept to develop north

OTTAWA (CP) — Hugh Faulkner, the new northern development minister, said Wednesday he will try to introduce a different concept of development to the North.

It will involve putting environmental issues into the development planning process, rather than simply tagging them on at the end, he said in an interview.

"I have no particular objection to development..."

Faulkner, who was named to the Indian affairs and northern development portfolio last Friday, said in an interview.

But planning only for development and facing the consequences later was a disastrous approach.

A problem with all development is that each sector pushes its own interests without anyone looking at the total picture, he said. As an example he cited urban areas, where transport, housing, industry and other sectors often developed separately.

"We have to start looking at the total community."

Faulkner, a 44-year-old former Peterborough, Ont. teacher, takes over his new job under difficult circumstances.

His predecessor, Warren Allmand, was widely liked and respected by Indian groups, but was not admired by developers who felt he was too tough on development. Allmand's shift to another department has left some Indian groups suspicious that Faulkner has been appointed to put more emphasis on development than on Indian affairs.

Faulkner indicated that is not the case.

"I think my attitude towards the Indians is best reflected by the work I did at the secretary of state. I'm very sympathetic to their cause. . . ."

Elected to the Commons in 1965, Faulkner served as secretary of state from 1972 until 1976, when he was appointed minister of science and technology. As secretary of state he was responsible for many of the core financing programs Indian groups receive today.

"A lot of my thinking has been developed in consultations with them."

WILLING TO LISTEN

He said he never has been excited by the idea of "ethnic clusters" but is willing to listen to northern native demands for creating their own nations within Canada.

Prime Minister Trudeau already has told Indians and Inuit in the North that he cannot accept their idea of separate native states.

A priority, said Faulkner, is to settle native land claims justly.

"I think the prime challenge I face in the Yukon is trying to ensure that the pipeline becomes a positive factor for Indians and non-Indians alike."

Meanwhile, officials in the department say they expect the new minister will do less travelling than Allmand. Faulkner has a wife and two children and the word has gone out that he will not let the new job damage his family life.

CMHC Appointment

Mr. Pierre Brien

Mr. Raymond V. Hession, President of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, announces the appointment of Mr. Pierre Brien, as Director of CMHC's Quebec Region. Mr. Brien joined CMHC in September 1975 as Director of Personnel at National Office in Ottawa and was appointed Director of the Montreal Real Estate Office in October 1976. Before coming to CMHC, Mr. Brien held various senior positions within the federal government in the area of human resources management, particularly with the Treasury Board and the Department of External Affairs. Mr. Brien completed studies at Montreal's Jean-de-Brébeuf College, and industrial relations studies at Quebec's Laval University. The regional director is responsible for the activities of all CMHC offices throughout the Province of Quebec, involving direct National Housing Act lending totalling about $500 million annually and the administration of a mortgage portfolio exceeding $2 billion. The offices also manage real estate valued at approximately $200 million.

Vague fears, not problems at root of current depression

Vague fears, not concrete problems, are the cause of the current stock market depression, says the Canadian Business Service division of Toronto-based Marpep Investment Reports Ltd.

And it predicts the worst that can happen in coming months is that "the market will keep going sideways; that the mass of investors will keep latching on to new vague fears and unlikely possibilities."

The company uses the Dow Jones industrial index on the New York market to illustrate its view in a recent Investment Reporter.

The Dow, which is now trading within a few percentage points of its book value, "has only gone below book value four times since 1910, and in each instance it had good economic and-or political reasons for doing so, not vague fears and apprehensions like today's."

The prospects for Canadian markets appear more promising.

"We see certain clear beacons amid the shadowy doubts," the newsletter says.

"There is the pipeline, for one thing. It seems to us that its beneficial effects have yet to really dawn on people.

"Then there is the coming end to the anti-inflation board and the backlog of dividend increases that its burial is going to turn loose."

The Investment Reporter recommends the choice of solid, established issues for the investor's portfolio at this time.

"In our view, the best combination of security and value lies in big, high-quality firms with good current yields."

The three stocks recommended in the newsletter are Moore Corp. Ltd., Inco Ltd. and Bell Canada.

It describes as good timing Moore's recent acquisition of all outstanding ordinary shares of Lamson Industries (U.K.) since the pound has strengthened and British share-prices have soared in the interim.

"We recommend Moore shares as a buy for recovery and long-term appreciation."

Inco, the world's largest nickel producer and among the world's biggest copper producers, "has taken steps to centralize its operations under one organization."

For this reason, as well as others, "we consider the shares a buy for long-term appreciation by investors who are in the market for a cyclical investment."

As for Bell Canada, the newsletter says that some investors are uncomfortable with the stock at today's prices. But shareholder-equity has also climbed and per-share earnings have been higher every year with few exceptions since 1968.

Bell's earnings next year "should begin to benefit from the full year's impact of the rate increases as well as an improving economy in Ontario and Quebec."

"Buy for income and appreciation," the newsletter advises.

Museumobiles move history sea to sea

OTTAWA (CP) — Since the first museum caravan made its debut in 1973, nearly a million Canadians in remote communities have had the opportunity to see history on the move.

Now three museumobiles, built into 45-foot highway shipping trailers, criss-cross the country separately for 45 weeks a year touring places from Buctouche, N.B., to the James Smith Indian Reserve in Saskatchewan.

"We want to show Westerners, for example, that Atlantic Canada is not just made of herring-chokers and cod-jiggers," says Gerry Potoczny, museumobile program chief. "They have a chance to see eastern industrial development, land pattern settlements and how fishermen affect what goes on in the rest of the country."

The three caravans, Canada North, Canada West and Atlantic Canada, are assembled into U-shaped museums with compact exhibits showing the natural resources, life-styles early exploration and environment of the respective regions.

"Canadian historians, archeologists and scientific writers who have grown up, lived and studied in those areas put the displays together," Potoczny said.

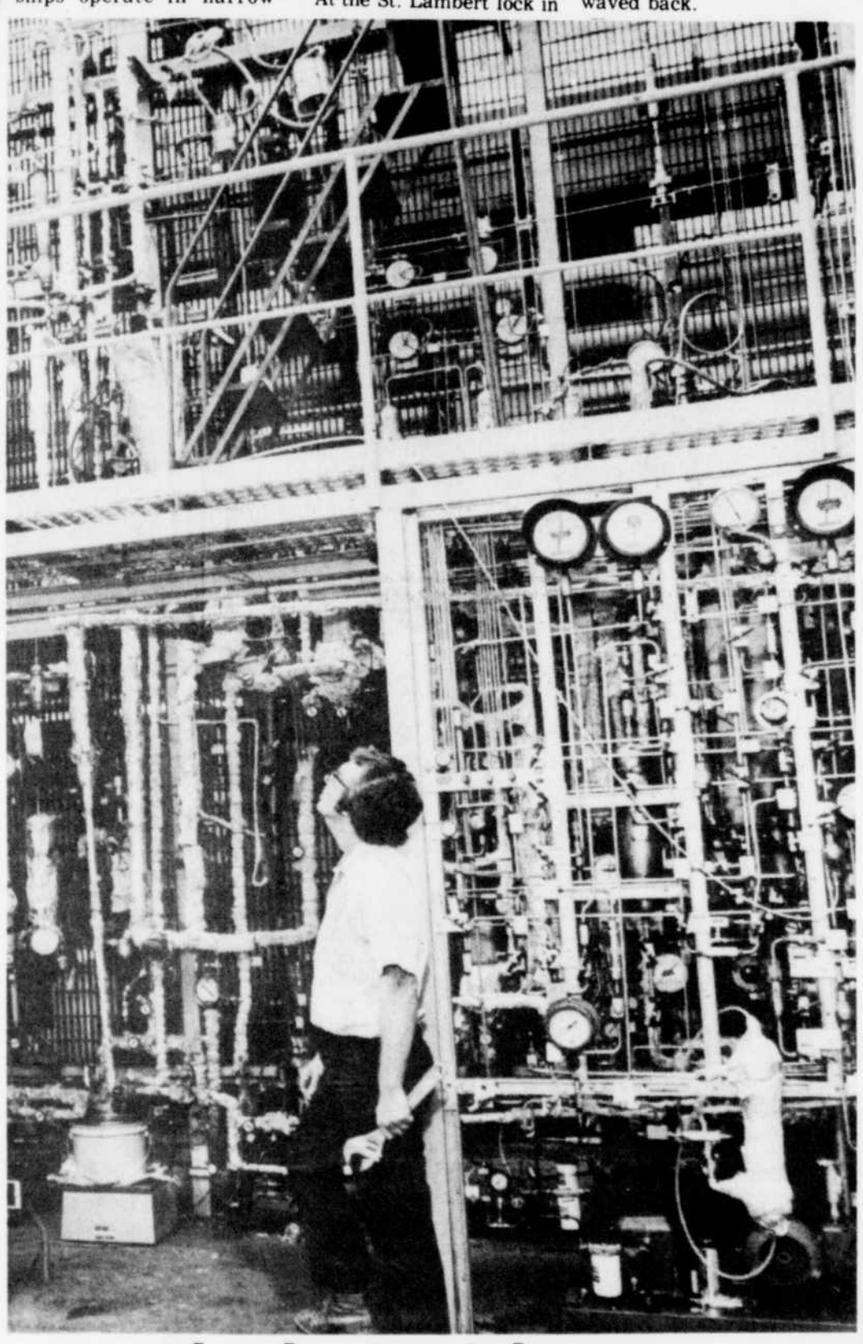

Along with photographs and historic artifacts, the displays make use of sound and lighting effects to give the feel of the region.

For example, the first sounds on entering the Atlantic Canada caravan are those of the sea— the rush of waves and the shrieks of gulls—and lighted panels show the formation of the Atlantic Ocean nearly 200 million years ago.

An audio-visual presentation shows the hardships faced by earlier Eastern settlers, along with copies of old sailing vessels and the tools used to build them.

"We hope we are making a serious contribution to national unity. It gives Canadians a chance to see how different ethnic groups in regions across the country have worked together to develop an area by crossing over the language and cultural barrier—as in the West with the Ukrainians and Mennonites."

The museumobiles, which cost $500,000 to $1 million each, tour communities not served by museums or galleries. They also visit correctional institutions and schools for retarded children.

Plumber's nightmare

This plumber's nightmare is a lubricating oil pilot plant at a Gulf Oil research centre near Toronto. Chemical technologist Jim Reid checks the system, which has a capacity of just one seven-thousandth of the full-scale plant to be built at the company's Clarkson refinery. The pilot plant duplicates each operation in the full-size plant and gives research data on the company's roster of products.

Halifax store owner misses Russian rummagers

HALIFAX (CP) — Chester Grimm hadn't seen a Russian for three weeks.

No tight little knot of serge-garbed, briefcase-toting seamen haggling over the price of a new pair of jeans, nobody offering to swap a bottle of vodka for a pair of cutoffs, no self-conscious rummaging in the jockey shorts bin.

Grimm's tiny downtown clothing store did about $25,000 worth of business, mostly in jeans, with the 18,000 or so Russian seamen who passed through the post last year.

But Canada's 200-mile limit has put new restraints on Soviet trawlers off the east coast and the number of Russian fishing vessels visiting Halifax this year is expected to be half the 176 that called in 1976.

And people like Chester Grimm are beginning to feel the pinch.

"We've had as many as 20 or 30 Russians in the store at once," he said. "We've done as much as $1,100 business a day with them. Some days they are all the business we do, but we haven't seen any for three weeks now."

Nineteen Soviet fishing vessels and about 1,710 Russian fishermen visited Halifax in both July and August but as new fishery quotas took hold, only one ship with a crew of 90 called in the first two weeks of September.

Alexei Volkov, Soviet fisheries attache based here, said quotas for squid, silver hake and argentine were met by the end of August and the fleet moved on to waters off northern Newfoundland for capelin.

The fishing fleet will not call in Halifax again until January when retailers and ship chandlers will once again try to match or exceed the more than $2 million spent here by Russian fishing vessels in 1976.

The 25 Soviet flour freighters that visited the port last year left an additional $2.4 million or so in the port, not including crew spending, fuel and repairs.

The Russian presence in Halifax has not gone unnoticed by the RCMP either.

A member of the RCMP security unit here says the Russian vessels are under close scrutiny while in port.

The Russian KGB agent, whether he exists here or not, has become almost as much a part of local folklore as Angus MacAskill, the Cape Breton Giant.

Salesgirls say Russians always travel in groups of three or more and one of the group - the one, for instance, who looks in horror when the seamen seem overly interested in copies of Penthouse - is always a member of the secret police.

It's always the same, says a salesgirl. First women will enter a store, look around awkwardly and then head for the cosmetics, novelties and women's accessories. Then the third man arrives, looks furtively about and takes a position behind the other two.

That story gets a laugh from Volkov.

"They travel in groups for the same reason that Canadians travel in groups in Moscow," he says.

"There's an obsessive notion that some people are watching them in order to prevent them from staying in Canada."

"If someone wants to stay, all he has to do is go to a policeman and say, 'I want to stay in Canada.' Nobody can prevent that. And that's not my propaganda. It's quite logical."

Volkov says Canadians tend to underestimate the "spirit of collectivism" felt by Soviet citizens.

In fact, immigration department figures show no defections in 1977 and only one in each of the previous five years.

Of more concern is what store operators describe as the growing problem of Russians engaging in a bit of free enterprise in the form of shoplifting.

"I wouldn't have dreamed a year ago that the Russians were involved in shoplifting," says Grimm. "But we know now we have to watch them."

Jack Irvine, Atlantic supervisor for Retail Security Agencies Ltd., says his firm deals with Russian shoplifters at the downtown Woolco department store "at least two or three times a week".

"And for every one we catch it can be assumed that at least one gets away with it. They're so blatant about it. There's no scheming or planning involved."

"They walk around with those little black briefcases and that is where the merchandise is usually concealed."

The Russians buy fabrics, cosmetics, dime store jewelry, ladies wigs, panty hose and nylons, chewing gum, ballpoint pens. And jeans.

"I was once told by a Russian that a pair of jeans can be sold for as much as $85 in the Soviet Union," says Grimm. "A lot of what we sell must go on the black market. Some of them come in here and just point to a pile of jeans. They don't care about size or anything."

Jack Dowell, manager of the Downtown Halifax Business Association, says shop operators are reluctant to press charges "because of all the red tape."

Four Russians were taken into custody for shoplifting in 1976 and three have been held in 1977. There were no convictions because most of those involved hauled anchor before court appearances were arranged.

Solange Chaput-Rolland: Greed stifling BNA Act revamp

By JAMES DUFF
(Record Editor)

Solange Chaput-Rolland's voice of Canadian unity was only slightly hoarsened by a bad cold as she arrived in Sherbrooke yesterday.

But the Halifax grippe did nothing to mute her opinion of a Canada that can't come to terms with itself.

"...the only thing holding Canada together is greed, people shouting 'I want this, I want that.' Everybody wants his part of the federal cake. Nobody wants to give up anything."

Sipping Scotch in her motel suite with local reporters, the lady whose acrid assessments of Canada once graced editorial pages from coast to coast seemed at home in her latest role, as one of nine commissioners comprising the federal government's Task Force on Canadian Unity.

"I would like to see an emotional outcry. I would like to hear English Canada saying 'we love Quebec, we would like Quebec to stay in Confederation, and at the other end of the spectrum, Quebecers who wish to remain Canadians.

"But we are a greedy people. I've never seen such a country which lacked a sense of vision. I've never seen such pygmies ... the Canadian flag should have a dollar sign on it rather than a maple leaf."

The task force, as she puts it, isn't just another Royal commission, to spend taxpayers' money touring the nation and nine months later producing a massive document to be read by lawyers.

The commissioners were drawn from across Canada, chosen for their abilities to communicate well in their own milieus.

There's John Robarts, the former Ontario premier who now co-chairs the task force with ex Anti inflation Board chief Jean-Luc Pepin. From Newfoundland is labor lawyer Richard Cashin; from Quebec, Mme. Chaput Rolland and Gerald Beaudoin, Dean of Civil Law at the University of Ottawa.

The west is represented by University of Calgary Chancellor Muriel Kovitz and Ross Marks, the colorful mayor of Hundred-Mile House, B.C.

What emerged from yesterday's rambling discussion of the task force's mission was the clear message that the main battle would be fought here in Quebec.

"Georges Etienne Cartier and John A. MacDonald came together, had a drink and settled their differences long enough to have a vision. The fact that they had the courage to create a constitution doesn't mean their constitution was perfect."

She sees the task force walking an invisible tightrope in its search for the new Canadian constitution, but that it's not her job to worry about the effects of their report.

"As Mr. Robarts said, there have been a lot of Royal commissions, but this one is different - it's the urgency."

"As commissioners, I don't believe our goal is to wonder or to worry about the results of our efforts. I can't speak for the others - obviously - but I feel our job is to do our recommending after the listening."

According to her, the task force has a three-part job ahead of it. First, discussing with all Canadians a new constitution which would be neither the status quo nor the independence option.

Second, the task force would declare the government's position on various options, whether they could fall into the sphere of a new constitution and whether they are viable arguments.

The third aspect of the job, proposal of a new constitution, is where Mme. Chaput-Rolland emphasizes her independence from any government influence.

"We report to the Prime Minister, not to Mr. Lalonde. (Marc Lalonde, former Health Minister, was created Minister of Inter-governmental Affairs in the recent cabinet shuffle.)"

"If Mr. Lalonde wants to involve himself in this, that's his business. I don't even have to live with the PM in this; I can go as far as I want with the commission."

What she feels the task force is looking for is a "bold third option" drafted in recommendations which would be understood by all, "not just jurists". She also feels there must be a redistribution of powers in such a new constitution, but that it should not be drafted for Quebec alone: "If you make one only to placate Quebec, it'll blow up in our faces in 10 years.

Her other observations:

- In the Eastern Townships, she senses that the two linguistic groups get along very well by not trying to kiss one another all the time - "you don't have to love the Vancouverite to be a Canadian."

- She joined the task force with the understanding that she and Mr. Beaudoin would spend most of their time in Quebec "breaking out on our own without the trappings."

- Prime Minister Trudeau, whom she knew well before he came to power, knew the world well, but he didn't know Canada. Now, she says, he has a cartesian concept of the nation; a well-ordered system following certain basic rules.

Solange Chaput-Rolland - The Maple Leaf should be replaced with the dollar sign.

New BNA act should be for everybody to read.

Township talk...

Consultation committee formed

Representatives from several Townships communities have joined together to form an intermunicipal consultation committee.

The Metropolitan Sherbrooke Inter-municipal Committee, whose members represent Sherbrooke, Deauville, Fleurimont, Ascot Township, Rock Forest and Saint-Elie d'Orford, will discuss community problems, and present recommendations for their solutions.

The committee executive, elected at a meeting held last week, is composed of Mrs. Paulette Alberts, Saint-Elie d'Orford councillor, as president, and Mr. Walter Camden, Fleurimont councillor, as vice-president.

The secretary will be a representative of the Eastern Townships Regional Development Council.

Crash sends 5 to hospital

Two senior citizens were among five people injured in a two-car collision at the Cherry River exit of the Eastern Townships Autoroute late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Byron Leney, 72, his wife Elenor, 69, and a passenger, Jean Camber, 40, all of Georgeville, and Kevin Hall, 27, and Valerie Moore, 25, both of Beebe were taken to La Providence Hospital in Magog.

QPF spokesman Jean Pelland said the accident was caused when one of the cars did not yield at the right of way.

Church anniversary service

Minton United Church will hold its 83rd Anniversary service on Sunday, Oct. 2, 1977, at 2 p.m. Rev. Douglas Warren of Lennoxville United Church, will be the guest speaker. There will be special music for the occasion, as well as decorations in keeping with the fall festival.

This annual pre-Thanksgiving service gives old friends and former residents a chance to meet, to give thanks for seed-time and harvest and pay tribute to those whose foresight and labor built the church.

Butterfield workers await answer

Butterfield strike negotiations remain at a standstill, as union members await a response from Labor Minister, Pierre-Marc Johnson.

Earlier this week,the union sent a telegram requesting a personal audience with the minister in hopes of regulating the five-month old strike.

Company officials last week rejected certain clauses of a government mediator's report which would have ended the strike. Union members voted 62 per cent in favor of accepting the report.

Jean workers walk out

More than 60 employees of Entreprises Jacques remain off the job today, after walking out Monday to protest the dismissal of two fellow employees. Workers say there was no reason for the firing of Mrs. Cecile Beaulieu and her husband, and they won't return to work until the couple is rehired. Production has come to a standstill at the factory on Wellington Street which manufactures jeans.

The striking employees are non-unionized.

Correction

Bernard not Renaud

In Monday's Record, a photo of Premier Levesue identified the gentleman next to him as Pierre Renaud. In fact, the government has informed us the gentleman seated next to the Premier was Treasurer Philippe Bernard. The Record apologizes for any embarrassment caused the two gentlemen.

Centraide hopes high for '77 campaign

By JANET COTTON
(Record Reporter)

SHERBROOKE — The Townships' largest public fund-raising organ, Centraide Estrie, officially launches its 1977 campaign this afternoon.

Now in its third year, Centraide will be soliciting funds to subsidize community projects with a total objective of $135,000.

Centraide volunteers will be soliciting door to door throughout the Sherbrooke area, calling on industries, professionals, public institutions, and religious communities from Oct. 2-16 to meet this objective.

Close to $114,000 was donated to more than 40 local projects through Centraide's 1976 campaign. Among those helped by last year's projects are unwed mothers, senior citizens' groups, cerebral palsy victims, single-parent families, and needy families.

Centraide has set an objective of $85,000 for the city of Sherbrooke, compared to $66,856 collected during last year's campaign. Close to $40,000 was solicited door-to-door, $12,000 through industrial and professional donations, $7,892 from the University of Sherbrooke, $2,375 from clergy, and $5,642 through salary deductions.

Volunteers will be seeking $25,000 through urban-area donations. Last year's campaign netted Centraide $14,267 in this area.

Rural residents will also be called on for donations to meet Centraide's $25,000 objective in that sector. Rural contributions totalled more than $18,000 in last year's campaign.

Centraide, founded to meet the financial needs of volunteer organizations which the government does not fill, does not finance groups or individuals; but projects which respond to the needs of the population.

Although Centraide Estrie was officially established in 1975, its origins date much further back.

centraide estrie

In the early 1930s, the Soeurs Grises began organized bazaars to support charitable institutions. In 1957, Caritas-Sherbrooke began soliciting funds for the survival of non-government subsidized welfare organizations Caritas held annual campaigns through to 1967, which saw the beginning of the Sherbrooke Regional Welfare Bureau (CRBES). That same year, Caritas gave the bureau responsibility of the annual campaign, which was called Campagne Unifiee.

As Campagne Unifiee became an increasingly important fund-raising organ, involving 30 groups from Sherbrooke, Coaticook, Magog, Stanstead, Valcourt, Windsor, East Angus, Lake Megantic, Asbestos, and surrounding areas, it was officially recognized in 1975, and its name changed to Centraide Estrie.

To present a Centraide project grant request, a group:

Must be legally incorporated or registered with a municipality, or affiliated with a legally registered group.

- Must be non-profit.
- Must not have sufficient funds to realize their own project, and must be prepared to provide time, money and material through their own means.
- Must provide a financial report and an activities project report if subsidized by Centraide.
- Must provide proof that they possess the necessary management and control of funds allotted them by Centraide.

To be acceptable for a Centraide subsidy, a project:

- Must be signed by at least three people directly involved in its implication.
- Must be described in a clear and precise manner ... the Centraide selection committee may contact an organization for any further information concerning the project.
- Must register within the established limits of money available for grants.
- Must relate to the population of Sherbrooke or surrounding area.

Application forms are available at the Centraide Estrie office, 1150 Belvedere Street South, Sherbrooke. Deadline for project applications is Nov. 4. Further information may be obtained by calling 569-9281.

Police remain silent on fate of Charles Marion

SHERBROOKE (JC) — Charles Marion may soon replace James Cross as Canada's longest kidnap victim. The Caisse Populaire employee was kidnapped from his Stoke cottage 53 days ago, and authorities show no signs of believing his drama is near an end.

Mr. Marion's abductors have been silent since an unsuccessful ransom drop-off attempt Friday night. Authorities received their last communique, which directed the two couriers to a dead-end road in Weedon that night.

Police fear the kidnappers were driven underground by two unsuspecting game wardens waiting for poachers on the road chosen for the drop-off.

When the ransom couriers, Normand Maltais and Claude Poirier arrived with the money, they spotted the wardens' partially hidden vehicle. Thinking the wardens were in fact the kidnappers, they dropped the money, but Mr. Marion's abductors never showed. The ransom was returned to the Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke Est two hours later.

Prior to the Friday night, mix-up, Caisse officials and Mr. Marion's kidnappers had been carrying on regular negotiations through written communiques and broadcast messages on local television.

Quebec Provincial Police have refused comment on the case. They fear a repeat of the August situation when the kidnappers remained silent for 22 days after Caisse Populaire officials refused to pay more than $300,000 for Mr. Marion's release. The kidnappers originally demanded $1 million but it is now believed to be anywhere from $250,000 to $600,000.

Earlier this week, police denied Radio-Canada reports that the kidnapping drama was a hoax. A police spokesman called the reports "unfair" and "irresponsible", and Mr. Marion's son Pierre, said the thought was "disgusting". Officer Ronald Brunet said most QPF members were sent home over the weekend "because there were no new developments in the case and they needed a break". They are expected back on the job this week.

It has been some time since broadcaster Maltais appeared on television station CKSH to air the cryptic messages, which credit union oficials have used to communicate with the kidnappers.

The coded messages were largely incomprehensible to regular viewers, making obscure references to the ransom money, to drop-off plans and to acceptance of various terms set by the kidnappers.

The last broadcast, aired five days ago, indicated that officials at the Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke Est were willing to pay for the safe release of Marion, 57, who is a loans manager with the credit union.

Nothing has been heard from Marion's abductors since the failed ransom delivery.

Judge suspends sentence

Rehabilitation earns sympathy

SWEETSBURG WARD (JM) — Rodolphe Gendron, Granby, who earlier pleaded guilty to two counts of breaking and entering commercial establishments in Granby during 1975 benefited from the clemency of the court when he was handed a suspended sentence and placed on one year's probation.

Defense lawyer Pierre Gibeau reminded the court his young client had rehabilitated himself by attending adult education courses and had obtained full employment. He noted Gendron had repaid his victims and had no further brushes with the law since his arrest. Crown attorney Claude Noiseux said it was true the accused had helped himself and said it was one of the very rare instances when he would not demand a jail term. He then suggested Gendron be required to report to the Granby Municipal Police each month during the probation period imposed by the court.

Judge Bernard Legare ordered Gendron to report to Sgt.-Det. Jean Paul Gaucher the first Monday of each month for one year.

Hymie Ellmer and Shepard Mitchell, both of Montreal, who earlier pleaded guilty to a charge of willful property damage in Brigham during 1976, were handed suspended sentences and placed on one year's probation.

Defense lawyer Pierre Gibeau told the court the original damages to equipment owned by Lague Enterprises had been estimated at $1,400. "My clients indemnified Lague $448 for damages not covered by insurance and have provided me with the funds to complete indemnification to the insurer. They have been diligent in amassing the funds and have never failed to appear for a court appearance. I feel they should benefit from a suspended sentence as it is highly unlikely they will ever appear before the courts again."

The crown agreed the young men had been diligent and added he had no objection to having the firearm which had been confiscated by the QPF returned to them.

Good luck, Solange

Madame Solange Chaput-Rolland, a member of the Task Force on Canadian Unity has arrived in the townships, the second of many stops she intends to make in Quebec and the rest of Canada during the next few months.

Solange, as she is known to her many friends and acquaintances, in politics and the media, does not take herself very seriously. She does, however, take her role as commissioner very seriously indeed.

In fact one is struck by the passionate dismay with which this energetic lady views the possible break-up of Canada. In a world grown cynical one responds to a person who so obviously cares.

Let no one be misled, however, Commissioner Chaput-Rolland does not intend either to defend the policies of the Trudeau government nor endorse the constitutional status quo. She feels the majority of the people of Canada in all regions are searching for a third option. She feels it is the duty of the Task Force to present to the government and the people such an option in the form of a new constitution.

The pettiness of Canadians tends to dismay her. She longs to see reborn the vision which inspired the Fathers of Confederation without feeling in any way bound to the B.N.A. Act. We live in different times and must adapt our new constitution to the needs of these times.

She promises that she will not allow any government to pigeon-hole the Task Force's report. She does not intend to be used by any politician or politicians for their own purposes.

She intends, in consulation with the people of Canada (as opposed to the jurists of Canada) and in conjunction with her fellow commissioners, to propose the basis of a new constitution for our troubled country.

We wish her well.

Carter struggling to halt nuclear spread

WASHINGTON (CP) — Although hampered by historical inconsistencies in U.S. nuclear policy and opposed by strong economic forces, President Carter is still struggling to halt the spread of sophisticated nuclear technology.

His objective is to severely limit the availability of weapons-grade nuclear material, reducing opportunities for other countries and terrorist groups to acquire nuclear weapons.

But he is starting late—perhaps too late. His task would have been far easier had he become president five or 10 years earlier. Carter's chief concern is plutonium, which can be extracted from used uranium fuel rods and is well suited for nuclear weapons as well as for generating more power.

In recent years, several countries have built plants to obtain plutonium and the problem has been complicated by the development of "breeder reactors" that use plutonium and produce more fuel than they consume.

The spread of nuclear reprocessing plants is partially a result of U.S. action three yers ago in halting export of enriched uranium fuel. Foreign orders for the enriched uranium used in nuclear power plants had reached the limit of U.S. enrichment capacity.

Now, Carter is proposing that the United States guarantee supplies of enriched uranium to foreign countries in return for their pledge not to reprocess the uranium into plutonium. As part of his effort to stop the spread of plutonium, he has also announced that the United States will not use plutonium as fuel for its nuclear reactors, a policy that has already produced conflict with Congress over the proposed Clinch River breeder reactor.

Other domestic political problems are stirred by Carter's policy since guaranteeing enriched uranium to other nations would push the United States further into nuclear development than it needs to go for its own needs.

During the 1976 presidential election campaign, Carter criticized the concept of reliance on nuclear plans for electricity and since taking office has sought to maintain the support of environmentalist groups.

While going too far down the nuclear road for the liking of many domestic groups, Carter is too anti-nuclear for many foreign countries, who say reprocessing and breeder reactors are virtually essential in an energy-starved world.

He has also run into diplomatic problems with some countries objecting to his nonproliferation efforts as being discriminatory or an infringement on their sovereignty.

Carter was unsuccessful in trying to stop West Germany and France from selling uranium processing plants to Brazil and Pakistan, although he did win their agreement to limit future sales.

Mixed results also emerged from negotiations with Japan, which is developing a plutonium production capability. After a period of strained relations, when Japanese officials complained that Japan should have the same rights as European countries, the United States and Japan reached general agreement on the principles for safeguards to be placed on Japanese use of U.S. uranium.

CONSIDER BILL

Other problems are presented in a bill, now before Congress, that would ban U.S. nuclear cooperation with countries that use the PUREX process to separate plutonium.

Because of political realities, the administration has had to approve a "grandfather clause" exempting Britain, France and Japan from the provisions of the bill. Britain and France already have plants in operation using the process and soon Japn will too.

The U.S. state department, however, has trouble making up its mind on how specific and restrictive the bill should be.

It originally endorsed language that would have allowed U.S. nuclear cooperation with countries using PUREX if the United States or the International Atomic Energy Agency could be guaranteed "timely warning" of any diversion of plutonium. The advance notice would enable the United States to use diplomatic pressure.

But recently the state department reversed itself and advised Congress that the proposed language would be too restrictive and a specific ban on PUREX should await international studies on alternative plutonium-separation processes.

Meanwhile, the U.S. nuclear industry vigorously opposed nuclear-export restrictions, arguing that they would be placed at an unnecessary disadvantage compared with foreign suppliers of enriched uranium.

Despite all the difficulties involved in winning congressional and international support and in grappling with the seemingly inevitable inconsistencies, Carter appears determined to press on.

If he needed fresh motivation, he got it recently when reports spread that South Africa might be developing nuclear weapons. South Africa denied the reports.

Social services ministers united against federal proposals

EDMONTON (CP) — Provincial social services ministers were united against a federal social services funding proposal when they emerged last week from a two-day meeting.

"All provincial ministers are united in their rejection of the tactics used by the former federal minister of health and welfare Marc Lalonde in making a unilateral proposal regarding funding arrangements for social services in Canada without consultation with the provinces," conference chairman Helen Hunley said.

Miss Hunley, Alberta minister of social services and community health, was reading the communique issued at the end of the conference.

"We urgently request an immediate meeting with the federal minister to discuss the implications of the recent proposal for funding of the Social Services Act."

The federal government has proposed cost-sharing provisions of the social service bill be replaced by a formula to fund social services through a per capital grant based on the national average expenditure on social services.

AGREED TO PRINCIPLES

Negotiations between federal and provincial officials regarding cost-sharing have been proceeding since the provincial ministers agreed to the principles of the bill in June, 1976.

The ministers also discussed other topices, including Ontario's amalgamation of children's services, the abduction of children by their parents, and the development of integrated home-care programs.

Laurent Desjardins, Manitoba minister of health and social development, and Denis Lazure, Quebec minister of social affairs, issued separate statements.

The statement read by Miss Hunley outlined the problems the federal proposal could create for the provinces.

"After great expectations for new programs were raised across the nation by the federal minister when he introduced the new Social Services Act, it now appears even some of the existing programs are in jeopardy," Miss Hunley said.

PROGRAMS VARY

She said the programs in jeopardy vary from province to province, but since those in Alberta were not developed to depend on cost-sharing with the federal government, they will not be affected.

William MacEachern, Nova Scotia minister of social services, said the poorer provinces only have basic social services programs. The new federal proposal would not allow them to implement more programs.

Lazure said the Quebec government disagrees with the federal proposal and will submit its own plan to the federal government. It was unfair for the federal government to insist the same system should apply to the whole country.

Keith Norton, Ontario minister of community and social services, said his province would choose the transfer of taxing power proposed by Quebec. Ontario realized the problems the federal funding proposal would create for other provinces.

Desjardins said the federal proposal would scrap 2½ years of federal-provincial collaboration and negate the important principle of federal cost-sharing of actual provincial expenditures on social services.

Gas suppliers influenced US government supply study

by Jack Anderson and Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — It looks as if the White House may base the future price of natural gas on a study that was strongly influenced by the friendly folks who sell natural gas.

The new Energy Department, which will take jurisdiction over the energy muddle next month, will have the power to set interstate gas rates. The Energy Research and Development Administration, meanwhile, came up with a study that would undercut the White House's pricing policies. The report has been forwarded to the White House.

Now a confidential Senate investigation has found the study was tainted. An alarmed Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, has written to energy czar James Schlesinger about the findings.

"Disturbing information regarding influence exerted by the natural gas industry upon the development and conclusions of the natural gas supply study ...," he wrote, "has been brought to my attention."

He informed Schlesinger that the ERDA task force had relied heavily on an earlier study by the Stanford Research Institute. Declared Metzenbaum: "Natural gas industry representatives had the final say on the cost-of-production estimates which were incorporated into the Stanford Research Institute study."

The Stanford group, he said, had engaged in some mysterious sleight of hand. At the beginning of the study in 1975, the group estimated the available gas supplies were 25 per cent higher than the figure it is now using.

This strange shrinkage in the supply estimates caused an equivalent rise in the cost-of-production estimates. Now the natural gas industry can cite the higher cost estimates to justify higher prices. Metzenbaum referred to this juggling as a "manipulation of cost figures" affecting "about one-fifth of the total gas supply projected."

Apparently, the industry influence went even beyond the Stanford study. The ERDA task force's Christian Knudsen was compelled to discard his own gas supply curve, he told Metzenbaum, because it "conflicted with the industry's supply estimates." As a result, Knudsen was removed from the task force.

The director of the ERDA team, Philip White, admitted that Knudsen's findings were ignored in favor of the industry's estimates. Or to put it in the words of White's aide, Hugh Guthrie, Knudsen's curve was "inconsistent with current industry experience."

Significantly, both White and Guthrie came to the government from the oil and gas industry. White was on the payroll of Standard Oil of Indiana for 37 years and still draws a $43,000 annual pension from a company trust. And Guthrie collects $15,000 a year from Shell Oil after 33 years with the company.

Footnote: White admitted the ERDA report drew information and suggestions from the industry. But he insisted: "We deal in technical not political decisions." Knudsen's curve, he said, was "somewhat naive." Guthrie agreed with White and stressed that their personal integrity should not be questioned.

CIA View: A fascinating CIA report, intended for official eyes only, illustrates ironically that publicity is more effective than secrecy in combatting the international drug dealers.

We have warned repeatedly that the United States is losing the war against drugs. The rising tide of incoming heroin and cocaine has swamped law enforcement agencies.

In a May 9 column, we identified Thailand's two top narcotics traffickers, Chang Kai-cheng and Chang Chin-cheng, who were directing illegal shipments to the United States. We reported that both men not only posed as legitimate businessmen but had close ties to Thait officials.

One week later, House Narcotics Chairman Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., named six more drug kingpins in Thailand. The effect of this double-barrelled publicity blast, according to the CIA report, was to blow the top off the multi-billion-dollar Thai opium trade, at least temporarily.

Of course, the CIA doesn't concede the press played any role in breaking up the narcotics ring. Yet the CIA report lists five pages of names, dates and details that stem from our May 9 story.

All "eight major narcotics traffickers...," reports the CIA, "have gone into hiding." Four have fled into the hinterland and joined the remnants of the Chinese Nationalist armies carrying on the opium trade in the Burma-Laos-Thailand "golden triangle."

The CIA reports that Chang Kaicheng "asked for Shan (guerrilla) protection and was sent to a Shan camp in Mae Hong Son province." Chang Chin-cheng, according to the CIA, "was making plans to leave Thailand, (and) it is believed he left the country."

One of the drug dealers fingered by the congressman, Ma Yao-tung, "has recently been under considerable mental strain," says the CIA. Following Rep. Wolff's revelations, "Ma Yao-tung was unusually abrupt and curt in his dealing with narcotics buyers ... (He) arranged for the destruction of his personal papers before abandoning his residence."

Assessing the effects of the publicity, the CIA estimates: "The probable result is that the flow of narcotics will continue under new sponsorship but at a reduced rate ... Not only have the well-known traffickers fled but also a number of the not-so-well-known."

At the same time, the CIA warned that new narcotics groups are now organizing in Indonesia, Singapore, Malaysia, Hong Kong and Macao to take the place of the panicky Thai smugglers.

Protest raised against monument move

Editor:

Let me raise my voice in protest against the moving of the Bishop Monument.

That monument was bought and paid for by our ancestors, many of whom lie in Lakeside Cemetery. It was with much pride and joy that they erected and dedicated it to the brave pioneer who founded the settlement. At the turn of the century that road led to quite a little hub of activity - churches, school, stage coach stop and such - Dudswell Center.

The money that paid for the monument came hard in those days - a dollar bought a lot - but they gave with generous hearts, and on that day August 30, 1900 the deed was accomplished! They chose that spot for it to rest - and by the Grace of God let it stay there!

My dad, Lambert Bishop Westman and his father, John Franklin Westman laid the solid foundation on which it sits and did a good job. As a child many is the time I've gone by it in "horse and buggy." My dad taught me to honor that monument - it really meant something.

The beautiful old willow tree that grew from John Bishop's walking stick, which was across the road from the monument, was destroyed without a thought given - let's not repeat that act. Can you see our neighbors to the south of us doing such a thing? They preserve and protect these shrines of history, and it adds interest when travelling through the countryside.

Have that corner declared an historical site and take pride in it. If, for some reason in the future, it does have to be moved, make a place for it in Lakeside Cemetery amongst those to whom it really belongs.

Grant you, it might look nice in front of your Town Hall - but it would be sadly out of place and wouldn't mean a thing to anyone, and I know I express the sentiments of my dear dad and grandfather.

Christening

ABERCORN — On Sunday, Sept. 11, Pamela Janice, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hawley (nee Janice Burnett) was christened at Calvary United Church by Rev. Jean Barkley.

The baby wore a white lace dress lined with yellow.

Pamela's godparents were her aunt and uncle, Barbara Frame and Grant Burnett.

After the service, the immediate family gathered at the baby's home for dinner. The heart shaped christening cake was made and decorated in pink and white by Pamela's great-aunt, Olive Ingalls.

Lester and Janice also served the top layer of their wedding cake from five years ago.

Taylor-Picard wed

MR. AND MRS. LESLIE PICARD

LENNOXVILLE — A very pretty summer wedding was held in the Lennoxville United Church on August 27 at 1 p.m. Miss Margaret Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Lennoxville, became the bride of Mr. Les Picard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Picard, Birchton.

The bride was piped into the church by her brother, David. Rev. Gordon Simons, Sawyerville, assisted by Rev. Ray Lewis of Ottawa, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a long-sleeved white gown with lace trim and a train-length veil, edged with matching lace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and green ivy.

The maid of honour, Miss Wendy Cowan, wore a long pink dress. The three bridesmaids, Miss Wendy Paulette, Miss Maryvonne Sallenave, and Miss Carol Taylor, wore blue print dresses of the same style. They all carried bouquets of white, pink and blue daisies.

The best man was Mr. Glen McDowell of Beaverton, Ont., and the ushers were Mr. George Picard, Mr. Leslie Taylor, and Mr. Dave Lonsbury.

The reception was in the form of a garden party, held at the home of the bride's parents.

Afterwards, the bride and groom left for a two week honeymoon to New England, Pennsylvania and Ontario.

Ottawa sets curfew for kids

OTTAWA (CP) — City police are putting more pressure on parents to keep their children off the streets at night by stricter enforcement of the century-old Ontario Child Welfare Act.

The act says children under 16 must not loiter on city streets between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Until recently, when children were found loitering late at night, police simply made a phone call to their parents.

"We found when calling the parents a second time, however, that a mother would say the police had spoken with the father and she didn't know anything about the call," said Sgt. Bob Taylor of the Ottawa police department's youth liaison section.

Now a youth's parents will be warned by letter of the first encounter.

A 1975 amendment says parents who let their children violate the curfew may be charged. A first conviction carries a $25 fine; the second, a $100 fine.

"We're using common sense in this," Taylor said. "The youth force is not here to harass kids but we work as a team with the parents and youth."

The first Child Welfare Act, written in the 1890s, provided the curfew to protect young children who would dance for pennies late into the night in the streets and taverns of old York, now Toronto.

Police say their motives are not much different today.

Staff St. Golden Leeson of the youth liaison branch said the curfew is being enforced to keep children from falling prey to unsavory characters and crime.

Taylor said publicity by the local media has emphasized the parents' responsibility for their children's actions.

"We still phone the parents if we see a child is only two blocks from home late at night and find he is supposed to be staying elsewhere," he said.

Joyce Turnbull of the Ottawa Children's Aid Society said police are giving parents a logical and lawful reason to keep their kids in the house.

CAN BREAK PATTERN

"The curfew is especially good for parents who feel rather helpless when confronted by their children who say so-and-so is allowed out at night.

"The police have given the parents an excuse to break that pattern and even if it doesn't work for the older teens around 15 and 16, it will be helpful for the children a shade younger and that's what the police are aiming at, I think."

Taylor said it is too early to assess results of the new system of warning letters, but that youth-beat men report the parents have shown excellent response, and the youngsters are co-operating.

"We're fortunate that we have a good rapport with the young people here," Taylor added. "We have our share of problems but it is not as bad as in other cities. Ottawa is one of the lowest in the number of youth offences being committed."

GIVE SAFETY TRAINING

In 1976, 2,300 juvenile offences were committed in Ottawa. Only 319 juveniles were taken to court.

Taylor says the youth squad has grown in 12 years from three officers to 14 constables, a superintendent, an inspector, a staff sergeant and two sergeants.

Officers trained more than 20,000 Ottawa children from kindergarten to Grade 6 last year in their safety village.

"Officers give safety lectures, then take the kids through a minature village where they ride their tricycles and bikes. We also provide courses for boy scouts and local groups. When you reach that many children on such a positive note, they never forget the policeman is their friend."

Ann Landers says

Bodies are personal property

Dear Ann:

What do I do when I see a sexually precocious boy of six embrace and rub himself up against a five-year-old girl, trying to satisfy his sexual curiosity? He was doing it in the yard where he thought no one could see him. Should I mind my own business or tell the girl's parents?

I have a 3½ year old daughter and I would want to be told of this kind of behavior before it went any further. Please answer. — Mother In A Dilemma

Dear Mother

Such behavior is not abnormal - however, you should alert the little girl's mother, also the boy's. Young children of the opposite sex ought not to be left to play unsupervised for long periods of time. They should also be told not to touch each other's private parts, NOT because it's bad, but because bodies are personal property and not playthings.

Most children manage to "play doctor" and experiment (this is normal curiosity), but they should be checked on periodically to make sure they don't become unduly preoccupied with such goings-on.

Dear Ann

Over the years I've put up with some rather inconsiderate people, but someone just left my home who made me furious. It was a cigar smoker, one of those terrible stinky ones. Now my house smells like cigars. I have an allergy headache that will last for hours. I would have kicked him out the door but he is my husband's business associate so I couldn't say a word.

How can we get it through the thick skulls of cigar smokers that they are infringing on other people's rights? Are they too gross to care, or don't they know what they are doing?

We read and hear a lot about the evils of cigaret smoking, but how can we get through to the cigar freaks? Cigars are not labeled "hazardous to your health," but they really can foul up a place and are a definite infringement on the rights of others. Please print this and comment. — Where's A Clothespin?

Dear Pin:

More and more we are seeing signs that say "No Smoking". This means cigars and pipes as well as cigarets.

I share your disgust in regard to cigars, but I'm not allergic to them. Since you ARE, your husband should ask his business associate not to smoke them in your home. Doctor's orders!

Dear Ann Landers: I heard again today that teenagers are very rude and inconsiderate especially when they are driving. This is not true and I wish you'd disabuse the public of the falsehood.

Yesterday, on my way to work, I saw a car in a parking lane trying to get into the flow of traffic. I slowed down and let him in ahead of me. The car pulled away without a nod or a wave of thanks. The driver was about 50 years of age.

For the last three months I've been doing a private survey. My findings were completed this moring. Here are the results. The middle-aged and older drivers are about six times as unlikely to show appreciation for any small courtesy. Younger drivers (especially teenagers) are much more courteous and friendly. — Test From The Midwest

Dear Test: Thanks for the clue-in. Let's hear it for those considerate and friendly drivers, folks. Statistics also show they live longer.

Dear Ann:

Miss Solicitor doesn't like to have a telephone receiver slammed in her ear? Well, I've tried to be polite and all I get is more non-stop talk. When I say, "Thank you, I'm not interested," they go right on - and on - and on. I've never seen such guts in my life. The only way to get rid of the slobs is to hang up on 'em.

No Aplogies From Abilene

Dear Ann:

You're going to get clobbered plenty for not giving that phone solicitor a clop in the chops (to use your phrase). I'll bet my eyeteeth you have an unlisted number and don't know what it's like to be pestered by these unbelievably persistent people. As one who has been driven up the wall, I can tell you they should be outlawed.

Pierrot makes it big in fashion

NEW YORK (NEA) — Poor Pierrot. We're all fastening his collar around our necks and no one gives a thought about how the man got a collar named after him.

Well, the story isn't all that clear.

"Pierrot — double ruffle or ruff collar derived from costume of comedy character in French pantomime called Pierrot; especially the clown in opera Pagliacci who wore a clown suit with the collar." That's one dictionary's opinion.

But somewhere, somehow, you've got to include the Italian commedia dell'arte which was very big in the 17th century and which was what everyone went to see because there was nothing else to see.

Actually, the commedia dell'arte came to them. Little troops of acrobats, mountebanks (literally those who got up on benches to sell things) and singers who went from hamlet to village hoping to draw a crowd with their sketches, tumbling and mime shows.

Afterwards, they hoped to interest the throng in a bottle or two of sure-fire, guaranteed to fight unrequited love potions. But that stopped after awhile. You can imagine why.

In any case, Pierrot — known as Pedrolino or Piero in Italy — became one of the characters the crowd liked to watch. He always wore a white gown, pompoms, a black mask and a flat, ruffled collar so's people would know it was him.

And what he did was act the lazy, bumbling servant who worked for Pantaloon who was either the father, guardian or husband of Columbine, who was running around with, or trying to, a character named Harlequin who wore, well, a Harlequin suit, which also had frills.

Somewhere along the line, Piero became Pierrot (Little Peter) in France, and Clown in England, but Harlequin, Columbine and Pantaloon kept their names, which shows you how ineffectual Pierrot was.

Not only that. He never got the girl.

In the final analysis, no one seems to know why a ruffled collar is called Pierrot and not a Harlequin or a Henry II of France, for that fact, who is said to have invented ruffs to hide a bump on his neck.

The thing to do, in this case, is simply fasten your Pierrot collar, forget that the originator was never lucky in love and a clutz who couldn't hold on to his own name, and go about your business as if we hadn't brought it up at all.

Canadians 'overreacting'

TORONTO (CP) — Christopher Plummer, a Toronto-born actor raised in Montreal and now living in Connecticut, says he does not object to Quebec separating from Canada.

"In a very uncertain time, Canadians are over-reacting," Plummer said in an interview Monday. "I don't object to Quebec separating.

"I only hope it will happen in a non-violent way. French should come first but two languages exist to make Quebec unique."

Plummer, in Toronto for the filming of the movie The Silent Partner, a thriller about a bank-robber co-starring Elliot Gould and Susannah York, says he takes for granted what many English-speaking Montrealers cannot—the inevitability of Quebec as a separate entity.

His background is strongly English—his great grandfather was Sir John Abbott, a chairman of the board of the Hudson's Bay Company and a former prime minister of Canada.

FRIENDS ARE FRENCH

Plummer said he considers Quebec "more my country than Ontario," because most of his friends are French-Canadians.

"The whole world is separating. I notice it particularly in my profession.

"The financing of films is now a national matter. I lost a very good part recently to a German actor because he was bringing in German money."

He said the present stand taken by the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists was brought home only when he was confronted by a spokesman for the British Equity Association who asked him why Canadians were barring English actors.

Make purse from plastic tub

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I have seen little girls' purses made from small margarine tubs. The ones I have seen were crocheted from the opening to form a bag and there was a drawstring to open and close them. Do you or any of the readers know how to make such a bag or do you have any other ideas for small things that could be crocheted for a church bazaar? I would appreciate any information. —B.W.

DEAR B.W. — I have never seen such a bag but I am sure some reader will be good enough to tell us how this is done. It seems it would be rather simple for anyone who knows how to crochet to improvise a pattern. I would punch holes close together around the top of the tub. An ice pick or heavy yarn needle should do it, and heating the instrument used should help. Next, single crochet in these holes and then continue in any desired stitch until the bag is the desired size leaving holes near the top for the drawstring to run through. This "string" could be made of a chain of single crochet or a twisted rope of the crochet thread. Good luck. —POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns the fact that food products are not labeled with the time and method for cooking in a microwave oven. Although those of us lucky enough to have such ovens do have a special cookbook, it is often difficult to ascertain the length of time and way to prepare certain foods. Included in the list should be frozen and canned foods. This would take only a small space on the package label and would surely help a busy housewife. —DELIA.

DEAR POLLY — Wilma should put a few mothballs under her sofa cushions. It should rid the sofa of the cigarette odor in a few days. I have done this with many things. (Keep the balls out of the way of small children and pets.) —ABBIE.

DEAR POLLY — After we come home from a camping trip I roll the sleeping bags up and then put them in big garbage bags and tie them. They are then clean and ready for the next trip. —MRS. A.

DEAR POLLY — I have just finished preparing green beans for the freezer. I thought other readers might be interested in the way I worked out so as to save the time spent dipping beans out of the water. I bought one-half yard of nylon net which is double, cut it in two pieces to make two bags and sewed across the top to keep it together. I then doubled this and turned the edges over to make it stronger and stitched down the sides and across the bottom. I blanch beans one quart at a time and while one quart is cooling another is blanching and they can be poured from a bag into the freezer container. I also save my coffee cans and fill them with food in plastic bags that go in the freezer. —MRS. W.L.M.

Around the Eastern Townships

DANVILLE
Margaret E. Frost
839-2185

Mrs. Gordon McNie, Miss Clara Smith and Mr. W. Connors of Hawkesbury, Ont., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stevens.

Miss Wendy Williams of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, and Miss Judy Williams of McGill University, Montreal were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manville Williams. Mrs. Martha McVetty of Lennoxville, was an overnight guest at the same home.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Rolland Mercier of the other members of the Mercier family at the death of Mr. Mercier which occurred recently. Mr. Mercier has been in poor health for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McMorine have returned from a week of vacation in Ontario. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cotterell in Singhampton for several days and enjoyed a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Don Neff, Mr. Neff and son, Greg, of Fort Saskatchewan, Alta., who were also guests at the Cotterell home. From there they motored to Niagara Falls for a visit with Mr. McMorine's sister, Mrs. Ralph Aceti and Mr. Aceti, and then had a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Dawn Wanless on the way home.

Mrs. Annette Malboeuf and Mrs. Lucille Taylor of Richmond were Sunday guests of Mrs. J.W. Beliveau.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stevens of Cambridge-Galt, Ont., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stevens. On Sunday evening they, their hosts and Mrs. Stella Barlow were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Barlow. While here Mr. and Mrs. Stevens also visited friends and relatives in Black Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert McCoy of London, Ont., were recent guests of the former's sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown. While here they and their hosts, accompanied by Mrs. Everett McCoy of Richmond motored through the New England States; visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCoy in Putney, Vt. They enjoyed their trip through the White Mountains with its beautiful Fall foliage and also toured the Rock of Ages Granite Quarries and Hope Cemetery in Barre, Vt.

In a telephone conversation with his mother on Sunday, Barry Horan, now residing in Edmonton, Alta., told of his recent holiday. He and Daphne motored to the West Coast where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Batstone and also visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Marshall. From there they journeyed on to Seattle, Wash., and then turned homeward for a short camping trip in the mountains. This was even shorter than they had anticipated as a sudden snowstorm forced them to pack up and they had to drive home in a rather bad blizzard for mid-Sept. Guess Barry finds weather is as unpredictable out there as it ever was here in the good old E.T.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Stubbs in Sherbrooke.

A.C.W. MEETING

On Tues., September 13, St. Augustine's A.C.W. held its regular meeting and also said a reluctant good-bye to two of its faithful members; Mrs. Nellie Lockwood and Mrs. Maida Philbrick, who will be leaving Danville.

At the end of the meeting, the President, Mrs. Marjorie Barlow presented each of these ladies with a corsage and a gift of a year's subscription to the "Living Message" on behalf of all the members of the Danville A.C.W.

A tea followed, to which the A.C.W. members and a few friends and relatives of the two ladies were invited. There was much conversation and a happy feeling of friendship as each enjoyed the other's company at tables decorated with late summer flowers.

BRIGHAM
Doris Dougall
263-0989

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Patterson of Richford, Vt., and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gervin of St. Albans, Vt., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson.

Mr. Kenneth Patterson of Beaconsfield was also a guest at the same home.

Miss D. Dougall, accompanied by Mrs. Merlin Lewis of Sutton, motored to Worcester, Mass., Sept. 5, to attend the funeral of their cousin, Mr. Charles Dougall who passed away after being hospitalized for a short time, due to a fractured hip. They returned the following day.

The first meeting of the United Church Women for the fall season was held at the home of Mrs. Borden Ingalls with a small attendance. The Pres., Mrs. Norma Sherrer opened the meeting by leading the devotional period. During the business session plans were made to hold a card party and sale of garden produce in the United Church Hall on Sat., Oct. 15 at 2 p.m. The Christmas tea, Food sale and Variety sale which is to be held on Sat., Nov. 5, at 2 p.m. was also discussed. Mrs. George Patterson then read a poem, "What Makes a Family". Mrs. Sherrer closed the meeting by a short reading which was very appropriate. Delicious refreshments, provided by Mrs. Cedric Dougall, were served by Mrs. Ingalls, assisted by Mrs. Sherrer.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Stowe and family were Mrs. Bill Rothon, Fort Erie, Ont. Mrs. Malcolm Riddell, Vaudreuil Terrace, Miss Julie Beaucage, Colchester, Vt., Mr. Bob Kelly, Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Vergelyn and daughter, Tara, of Shawbridge.

Mrs. George Watts has returned to her home in Town of Mount Royal after spending some time at her summer home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Champagne of Montreal with their son and daughter-in-law of California were callers one day of Mrs. Fred Thomas.

Mrs. Clare Goodhue and Miss D. Dougall spent a few days the past week with Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Blue of Ingleside, Ont.

Mrs. Clare Goodhue was a recent overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGrath of Abercorn, and was also a supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Goodhue and family of East Pinnacle.

Several from here attended the Fall Fair at the Heroes' Memorial Elementary School on Fri., Sept. 9, which consisted of a showing of vegetables and flowers grown from seeds provided by the school and cared for and exhibited by the children. Congratulations are extended to all the children who worked so hard to provide such an excellent display. Those from here who entered exhibits and won prizes were Kevin Bennett, Derek and Timothy Madden, Heather and David Sherrer.

Mr. Henry Neil and Misses Lillian, Erma and Elsie Neil of Granby were Sunday afternoon visitors of Miss D. Dougall and Mrs. Goodhue.

LAWRENCE
Mrs. P. Heegsma

Friends of W-O.R.G. Cooper, formerly of this place, will be pleased to know he has recovered from his accident, while parachuting. He suffered a broken ankle. He will be confined to crutches for a three month period. Mr. Cooper is stationed in Winnipeg, Man.

Mrs. Donald Cooper was an overnight guest of her sister, Mrs. Alice Price in Lennoxville. Mrs. Cooper accompanied Mrs. Price to attend the funeral of Mrs. Pearl Bullard in Adderley.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Henderson, were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Patton from Kinnear's Mills and Mr. Charlie Moore of Birchton.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Heegsma in Island Brook were Mr. N.G. Godbout and Mr. H. Westgate from East Angus and Mrs. Antony Rossi of Montreal.

ACW meeting

SCOTSTOWN — Mrs. George MacDonald was hostess at her home for the Anglican Church Women on Sept. 14. The president, Mrs. Basil Woolley opened the meeting with prayers, with seven members answering the roll call.

Mrs. Bea Atkin read the minutes of the June meeting and Mrs. Fred Buck gave the treasurer's report which was very satifactory, both the minutes and treasurer's report were accepted.

Plans were made to hold a food sale at the Scotstown Cultural Center on Oct. 8, first day of the Exhibition of Handicrafts which will be on Oct. 8 and 9.

A card party will be held in the Cultural Center on Thursday evening Sept. 29, which will be the first of the card parties held on the last Thursday nights of each month, during the fall and winter.

Money was voted to Mrs. Woolley to purchase material for the fancy work and quilts. Two quilts have been completed recently.

Bills were voted paid and cards would be sent to sick members and friends.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. MacDonald served delicious refreshments at the dining room table and all enjoyed a social time.

Mrs. Fred Buck will be hostess for the October meeting.

(A modern version instead of the "Ten Little Indians".)

TEN LITTLE INUIT

Ten little Inuit working on the DEW Line,
One broke his leg and then there were nine.

Nine little Inuit with dog team hauling freight,
One fell into James Bay and then there were eight.

Eight little Inuit making a batch of leaven,
One got sick on some of it and then there were seven.

Seven little Inuit helping to clean up Oil Slicks,
One got messed up and then there were six.

Six little Inuit just trying to survive,
But Bill 101 took care of that and left only five.

Five little Inuit started out to explore,
One got caught by a Polar Bear which left only four.

Four little Inuit got tired of worshipping the Fleur-de-Lis,
One tore it down so now there are only three.

Three little Inuit were hunting Caribou,
One got gored and then there were only two.

Two little Inuit playing with a gun,
One got shot which left only one.

One little Inuit tried to pick up a penny,
He got run over so now there ain't any!

LOST HAVEN

Buttercups and cow-bells
And mooing, milky smells,
Summer seemed to cast a spell
On the scenes all knew so well.

The whippoorwill called, far off there;
- But then he seemed quite near!
The eerie owls would sit and stare
- No one need have a fear,
For when the morning sun came up,
They all would disappear!

The meadow larks would have the day
And happiness prevail -
As children freely ran away,
Down on the intervale!

As other days this one would pass,
With work and pleasure, too.
Great riches they would not amass,
But to themselves be true!

The Jo'Anne and Jerry Show

Sherbrooke's Jerry Robitaille and Jo'Anne Moreault, better known to country and western fans as Jerry and Jo'Anne, are on Channel 7 tonight in the third show of their TV debut series. Shown here at the taping of their first show Sept. 14 are from left, Jo'Anne, Louis Levesque, Ivan Lemay, Bob Boisclair, Jerry, Bruno Hamel and Michel Fortier. They're on at 6:30 and well worth watching.

Across Canada

Czechs distrust amnesty plan

TORONTO (CP) — Several members of the local Czechoslovakian community say an offer by the Czechoslovakian government to grant amnesty to refugees is actually a blackmail scheme.

The citizens, who would not allow their names to be used, said Tuesday they fear reprisals against friends and relatives in Czechoslovakia if they refuse to co-operate with regulations passed last March.

They were commenting on a report published in July that said the amnesty offer gives refugees the options of returning to Czechoslovakia, renouncing Czechoslovakian citizenship or applying for permanent residence abroad by obtaining an emigration permit retroactive to the date they left the country.

Francophones rap CBC programming

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Three francophone groups told the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) Tuesday that the CBC's French-language network, Radio Canada, provides inadequate coverage to the Maritime provinces and concentrates too much on Quebec events.

Fernand Landry of Bathurst, N.B., president of the National Society of Acadians, said in a brief to the CRTC that a recent sampling of Radio Canada programming showed that only three per cent of French news on the network dealt with regions outside Quebec.

Levesque to speak to anglos

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Rene Levesque is to have his first direct contact with English-speaking constituents since his election at a public meeting in his Montreal-area riding of Taillon next week.

The meeting at Lester Pearson School in St. Hubert Monday night is part of a week-long visit by Levesque to the riding. Members of the PQ cabinet have been visiting ridings across Quebec in an attempt to remain "close to the population."

In the dozens of day-long trips so far, there have been none by ministers to predominantly English-speaking ridings in Montreal.

Questeel mill sold

MONTREAL (CP) — Sidbec-Dosco, the Quebec-owned steel company, bought the facilities of Questeel on Tuesday for $27.1 million at a sheriff's sale in suburban Longueuil.

Olivier Prat, Sidbec's lawyer, said the company intends to operate the acquisition as a steel producer.

Questeel, the raw metal division of QSP Ltd., operated a small mill at Longueuil, capable of producing 300,000 tons a year. It never produced more than 160,000 tons annually because of start-up problems and dwindling world demand for its product.

Construction costs of the plant soared to $80 million from the projected $30 million by the time it went into operation in 1975.

Mayors object to rail plans

MONTREAL (CP) — A group of suburban mayors expressed opposition Tuesday to a proposal by a Quebec government study committee to expand commuter rail service to their areas.

The proposed rail service improvement north and south of Montreal island might induce urban sprawl when urban growth should be concentrated to already developed areas, the 28-member Conference of Suburban Mayors said at a news conference.

Group backs Telesat rejection

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Cable Television Association and a private cable company, Cablesat Ltd., urged the cabinet Tuesday to uphold rejection of a Telesat Canada bid to become a member of the consortium of major telephone companies.

Telesat's bid to join the Trans-Canada Telephone System (TCTS) was rejected by the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) on the grounds that it would reduce competition and would not be in the public's interest.

In a letter to the cabinet, Cablesat said its allegations that the proposed merger would breach federal competition law was still before the courts.

CA raps 'racist' legislation

CALGARY (CP) — Quebec's language legislation is racist in many respects and the province's ministers are intolerant, Donald Huggett, a Montreal chartered accountant, said Tuesday.

He told a private businessmen's luncheon there is no doubt the language bill, recently passed by the Quebec national assembly, would do irreparable harm to Quebec and Canada.

The bill also indicates "quite conclusively that the Parti Quebecois has no intention of being moderate, of considering the economic implications, nor of attempting to accommodate their culture to the North American concept," he said.

Pulp producers didn't reinvest

QUEBEC (CP) — The failure of pulp and paper producers in the province to reinvest their profits in the industry has caused the woes it now faces, a Quebec labor federation said Tuesday.

The Confederation of National Trade Unions (CNTU) told the opening session of a Quebec national assembly committee studying Quebec's ailing pulp and paper industry that the planned closure of Domtar Ltd.'s mill in East Angus, Que., resulted from this failure to reinvest.

Closure of the mill, proposed for Oct. 15, would mean the loss of the 540 jobs in the East Angus plant, said Jean-Guy Morin, secretary general of the CNTU.

Brokers study auto insurance

QUEBEC (CP) — About 400 of the province's estimated 4,500 brokers Insurance brokers turned out in the red room of the national assembly Tuesday for the first day of legislature committee hearings on proposed car insurance reforms.

The brokers gave a standing ovation to their representatives from the Quebec Federation of Insurance Brokers, who expressed concern at the fate in store for brokers in the government's plans.

The government plans to introduce a state-run, no-fault scheme for bodily injuries by next March 1. Coverage of material damages resulting from car accidents would remain in the hands of private insurance firms.

Bill 67, the legislation setting up the new system, stipulates that the government-run scheme will be financed by premiums paid in purchasing driver's permits and licence plates.

Canada, Sweden sign atomic pact

OTTAWA (CP) — A nuclear co-operation agreement between Canada and Sweden has cleared the way for a "significant piece of business" in Canadian uranium sales to the Scandinavian country, an Atomic Energy Control Board official said Tuesday.

J.G. McManus, chief of the board's safeguards section, said in an interview that some uranium sales agreements were completed with Sweden but held up until the two countries signed a nuclear safeguards accord.

The safeguards agreement was signed in New York Tuesday between External Affairs Minister Don Jamieson and Swedish Foreign Affairs Minister Karin Soder.

Squabbles plagued Bernier crew

MONTREAL (CP) — The biggest problem the four crew members of the J.E. Bernier II faced during their 2½-month trip through the Northwest Passage last summer was simply trying to live together in the 35-foot sailboat.

"Disagreements were inevitable," Skipper Real Bouvier told reporters Tuesday at a news conference to mark the end of the trip.

However he said the disagreements were only a minor part of the voyage that made the steel-hulled sailboat the smallest pleasure craft to negotiate the Northwest Passage.

The four crew members— skipper Real Bouvier, 31, photographer Marie-Eve Thibault, 28, cinematographer Jacques Pettigrew, 28, and ecologist Pierre Bedard, 30, left Greenland late in June.

Mill guards 'dared strikers'

MONTREAL (CP) — A shooting incident at a Robin Hood Multifoods Ltd. flour mill in which eight pickets were wounded last July was, in part, provoked by private security guards who dared workers to enter the factory grounds, workers told a court hearing Tuesday.

The guards started shooting after a group of about 10 to 15 workers forced open the factory gate and grabbed a nearby fire hose with the intention of spraying the guards, the workers testified.

Four workers testified that a heavy-set guard, who was wearing an undershirt, shorts and riot helmet, had fired one or two shots into the air seconds after the workers started advancing with the hose.

But Georges Plouffe, 54, testified that the guard fired a shot from the hip at the ground, while another witness said he saw the guard aiming his shotgun directly at the strikers.

Charters won't land here

LONDON (Reuter) — Airline chief Freddie Laker says he doubts whether his cut-rate nofrills Skytrain transatlantic air service would ever operate to Canada.

"Legally, under present regulations, it would not appear possible for me to apply for a licence to operate to Canada," he said in an interview Tuesday.

Current regulations restrict the number of British carriers on the lucrative North Atlantic route.

Laker said the Canadian government has adopted a protective attitude toward its own national carriers.

The 55-year-old executive was approached after completing the London-New York round trip on the inaugural flight of his Laker Airlines transatlantic service.

Obituaries

MRS. LAWRENCE BAILEY
of Verdun, Que.

The death occurred on Sept. 6, 1977 at the Montreal General Hospital of Isabella (Fletcher) Bailey, wife of the late Lawrence Bailey, in her 84th year, following a long period of poor health.

Mrs. Bailey was born August 11, 1894, daughter of the late William Fletcher and his wife, Mary Gymer, of Richmond, Que.

Following the death of her father, the family moved to Montreal, and there, Bella, as she was known to her many friends, was employed in the office of the Bell Telephone Company, for several years.

On Dec. 31, 1932, she was united in marriage to Lawrence Bailey of Windsor, Que., and went to reside in Temiskaming, Que., where they remained until her husband's retirement, at which time they returned to Montreal. Mr. Bailey predeceased her in June, 1970.

Left to mourn the loss of a dear sister, are Flora of Richmond, Que. Mary and Fred of the City of Verdun; a sister-in-law, Miss Ethel Bailey, Brossard, Que., and a brother-in-law, George Edwards of Richmond, California, U.S.A. as well as several nieces and nephews.

Funeral service was held at the Chapel of J.F. Wilson and Sons, 5784 Verdun Ave., on Sept. 9 with Rev. James Bryson of Chalmers United Church, Verdun, officiating.

Interment took place in Montreal Memorial Park, beside her husband.

She was predeceased by two sisters and a brother.

ETHEL DANFORTH
(DUBOIS)
of Waterville

A great loss was felt by family and friends when the news of the death of Ethel Mina Danforth reached us, on September 10, 1977. She passed away at the Sherbrooke Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Ethel was born on September 4, 1925, in North Hatley, the youngest daughter of 11 children, to the late Frank Danforth and his late wife, the former Lena Meigs.

At an early age, she started her working life.

On September 18, 1943, she married Noe Dubois. Ethel gave birth to six children. Her first, Violet, died at the age of 2, Roland and his wife Donna of Massachusetts, Denis of Waterville, Lorraine of Lennoxville, Victoria of Lennoxville, and Brenda of Waterville.

Ethel kept a rest home for the elderly for many years in Lennoxville, and for awhile in Waterville. Due to a heart attack she had to give up her rest home in Lennoxville, then she resumed one in Waterville, but with only a few. But finally she had to give up completely, due to her illness.

Ethel Danforth was a wonderful mother, grandmother, sister and friend. She was a great help and comfort to many.

Left to mourn her loss are five children, two grandchildren, Kimberley and Tracey, four brothers and seven sisters. She had 2 half-brothers and three half-sisters: the late Ida S. of Springfield, Mass., the late Mable Willard of Bishopton, the late Irwin Danforth of St. Johnsbury, Vt., the late Eva Grey of Bishopton, the late Ed Danforth of Lennoxville. She also had four sisters and two brothers: Liza Lowell of North Hatley, Stella Cunningham of Perth, Ont., Victoria (Beland) Bostrom of Sudbury, Ont., the late Emeline Cormier of Waterville and Richard and Maurice Danforth, both of Waterville.

Her remains rested at Monfette's Funeral Home in Sherbrooke, where a service was held on the evening of September 13.

Cremation took place in Montreal and committal of her ashes in the Greenwood Waterville Cemetery on September 17.

The floral pieces, cards, donations and other kindnesses were a silent tribute to a great lady.

She will always be remembered in our hearts with the sweetest and kindest thoughts. May she rest in peace.

CHARLES N. JOHNSON of Huntingville

Charles Nelson Johnson, who had resided at the Grace Christian Home, Huntingville, Que., for the last five years, quietly passed away the morning of Sept. 2nd, 1977, after a short illness. He was in his 93rd year at the time of his death.

The funeral service was held in the Waterville United Church on Monday, Sept. 5.

Rev. Max Surjadinata officiated and the Waterville United Church choir assisted in the service. Mrs. Ebba McGovern sang a solo, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," in Swedish.

The bearers were Dr. Stanley Teale, Nelson Johnson, Dale Scott, Carson Hatfield, Dale Miller and Charlie Smith, all nephews of the deceased.

Interment took place in Greenwood Cemetery, Waterville.

Relatives and friends who attended the funeral were from Waterville, Hatley, Huntingville, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Georgeville and Chateauguay, Que., Belleville and Walkerton, Ont., Kennebunkport, Maine and Springfield,. Mass.

Uncle Charlie, as he was affectionately known to many of his relatives and friends, was born in Waterville, Que., March 21st, 1885, a beloved son of the late Nils Johnson and his wife Christina Bodin.

Also to mourn the passing on of Uncle Charlie are several nieces, nephews, grand-nieces and grand-nephews.

Mr. Johnson spent most of his working years in various parts of the United States. Some time after his retirement, he moved back to Canada, first to Toronto, then Sherbrooke and finally to end his days in Huntingville, Que.

The deceased was a Director and a staunch supporter of the Sherbrooke Hospital. He will also be fondly remembered for his generosity to a number of charitable organizations.

URBAN C. MASSEY
of Brampton, Ont.,
(formerly of Ulverton, Que.)

The death of Urban Charles Massey occurred on Sept. 2, 1977 in his 88th year, at his residence in Brampton, Ont., after a brief illness.

Born in South Durham, Que., the youngest son of George and Martha (Pound) Massey, he was predeceased by his parents, four brothers and one sister.

He lived on the family farm in South Durham until 1955 when he moved to Ulverton and lived there for twenty years. The past year and a half was spent in Brampton.

He is survived by his wife, Rose May (Patrick) Massey and six children: daughter, Mrs. Vera Lowen of Brampton; a son, Harvey of Port Credit; daughters Helen, Mrs. Ernest Carson, South Durham; Gwenith, Mrs. Leslie Booth, Chomedey, Que., Gladys, Mrs. Ralph Baker, Montreal and Marjorie, Mrs. Elwin Coote, Nobleton, Ont., four sons-in-law, one daughter-in-law, eighteen grandchildren, six great-grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

A short service, conducted by Rev. Hilda Johnson of St. Paul's United Church was held in the chapel of McKillop-Coates Funeral Home at 10 o'clock on September 6.

Interment was in Brampton cemetery.

Bearers were eight grandsons, Elton, Lloyd and Ronnie Massey, George and Donald Carson, James Baker, Keith and Scott Cotte.

Following the funeral service, relatives and friends gathered at his home for light refreshments.

Gaiters primed and proud for Homecoming

By BILL ANDERSON

This weekend is Homecoming at Bishop's and undoubtedly the focus of the celebrations will be the Gaiters' football game against the Universite de Quebec Patriotes. There is a great deal of pride at stake for the Gaiters in their upcoming encounter. Tradition, the Gaiters have lost only one Homecoming game in the years that I have been associated with Bishop's, demands the Gaiters play outstanding football on Homecoming weekend. They will be playing in front of, and for, their usual enthusiastic crowd of loyal supporters, but also a throng of former Gaiter standouts who know all too well what the game meant to them when it was their turn to shine!

Also, as Captain Marty Edwards pointed out, "This game gives us the chance to get back on the winning track." The Gaiters dropped their last outing to Queen's University, 44-25. They have had two weeks to lick their wounds, two weeks to prepare for a team which might just provide them with a few surprises.

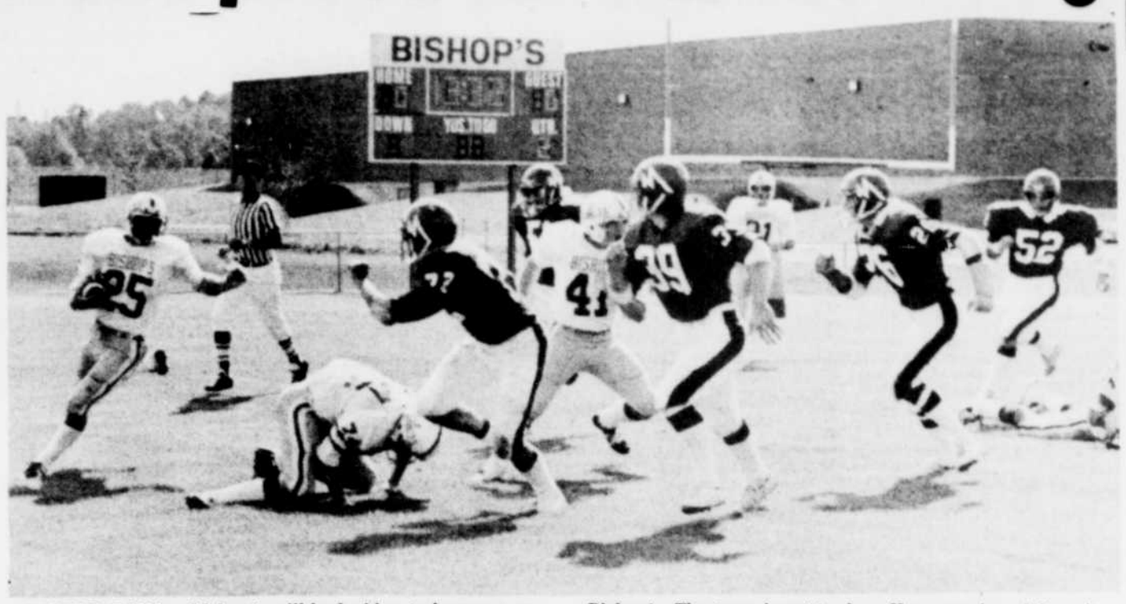

The University de Quebec, Trois Rivieres, can no longer be viewed as the pigeons they appeared to be at the pre-season Football Festival. They will be coming to Lennoxville fresh from two impressive starts against McGill and Carleton respectively. Although they have yet to win a game in their conference, their narrow defeats at the hands of vastly superior clubs will undoubtedly provide them with the needed confidence to face the Gaiters.

The Gaiters' defensive secondary were literally shredded by Queen's quarterback, Jim Rutka, two weeks ago, but I have been assured that the "Big D" is primed for the Patriotes.

The Gaiters' offensive unit will be led again this week by quarterback, Jim Etcheverry.

"Etch" will probably get his fullback, Bruce Wilkins, a good deal on Saturday. Wilkins has amassed 248 yards rushing on 31 carries in two games for the Gaiters, and scored four touchdowns along the way. Returning to the lineup this weekend will be Joey Digiantomasso, a superior runningback who has been sidelined with a broken finger in recent weeks.

Perhaps he can take the chronic "stall" out of the offence's vocabulary. As always, the Gaiters' primary receivers, Steve Etcheverry, Bruce Gair, and Kevin Bennett will be ready to show their heels to the opposition's defense.

GAITER GAIN — Bishop's will be looking to improve on their 1 and 1 record when they take on the Patriotes from the University of Quebec at Three Rivers Saturday at Bishop's. The team is out to show Homecoming visitors it has the stuff that has kept the school a football powerhouse. (Record photo by Bruce Porter) short notes...

Habs poor exhibition start

OTTAWA (CP) — If a poor dress rehearsal means a great performance, the National Hockey League could have trouble again with Montreal Canadiens.

The defending Stanley Cup champions went through their fourth pre-season exhibition without a victory Tuesday, dropping a 6-4 decision to Chicago Black Hawks before a standing-room crowd in the 9,500-seat Civic Centre.

Darcy Rota scored twice for the Hawks as they moved from a 1-1 first period to a 4-1 second-period lead.

Bob Kelly, Jean Savard, Alain Daigle and Ted Bulley scored their single goals.

Jacques Lemaire scored twice for the Canadiens with Pierre Mondou and Peter Lee, two years ago the star of the Ottawa 67s junior team, scoring once each.

The Hawks now have a win and two ties in the exhibition series while the Canadiens have two ties and two losses.

N.Y. Mayor declares Babe Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Friday, Sept. 30, has been declared Babe Ruth Day in an official proclamation by Mayor Abe Beame. The ceremony was conducted Tuesday in the Blue Room at city hall, commemorating the 50th anniversary of Babe Ruth's 60th home run, a season record until topped by another New York Yankees outfielder, Roger Maris, over a longer season in 1961.

No change in top money winners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mike Hill, winner of the Ohio Kings Island Open and its $30,000 first prize last weekend, moved from 97th place to 58th, but there was no change in the top five, according to figures released Tuesday by the Professional Golfers Association. Tom Watson, who did not play in Ohio, still leads golf's money winners with $305,428, followed by Jack Nicklaus, $284,509; Lanny Wadkins, $243,795; Tom Weiskopf, $197,639, and Bruce Lietzke, $194,597 is fifth.

Pan-Am games moved up

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The 1979 Pan-American Games at San Juan, P.R., have been moved up one month. Ollan Cassell, executive director of the the U.S. AAU, said Tuesday he has received a telegram from Amadel Francis, a member of the Pan-Am Games Organizing Committee, advising him of the change. The Games will be moved up to July 8-22, 1979, instead of the previously announced Aug. 4-18. No reason was given in the telegram for the change.

Rhode Island Reds sold

BOSTON (AP) — The American Hockey League board of governors voted Tuesday to approve the sale of Rhode Island Reds to a Binghampton, N.Y., man who will move the team to that city for the 1977-78 season.

League vice-president Gordon Anziano said the Reds, which operated in Rhode Island for 53 years, was sold by Thomas O'Halloran and Robert Tiernan to James Matthews of Binghampton.

Matthews, co-owner is Andre Vielleux of Sillery, Que. No sale price was announced.

Anziano said the AHL will decide today whether to approve application for league membership from operators of Philadelphia Firebirds of the defunct North American Hockey League, which announced its demise Saturday.

OPERATED IN NAHL

Matthews, a car dealer, operated Binghampton Broome Dusters in the NAHL last season. The new team will carry the same name.

Anziano said the new Binghampton team will continue the Reds' working agreement with Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League. The AHL team will open its season Oct. 15.

The Reds' owners, O'Halloran and Tirnan, cited declining local interest in the Rhode Island franchise, despite competitive teams. Attendance in recent years has averaged less than 3,000 a game.

Anziano said the Reds' coach, Larry Kisk, will coach the Binghampton entry. The vice-president and general manager will be Jacques Caron, a former professional goalie.

The AHL's approval of the Reds move leaves the league's team roster at eight. If Philadelphia is admitted, the 1977-78 schedule will be revised.

Firehorse McGraw an inspiration

Phillies clinch crown East

CHICAGO — In 1973 it was "You gotta believe."

Four years later, Tug McGraw was on hand again to sound the inspirational call to arms for the champions of the National League Eastern Division.

"Westward ho!" he roared yesterday as he propped one leg up on a drenched clubhouse table and hoisted a bottle of champagne in his right hand.

Moments earlier, with McGraw starting a game-ending double play, the Philadelphia Phillies had clinched the division crown for the second year in a row with a 13-6 victory over Chicago Cubs.

The Phillies begin the league's best-of-five playoff series on Tuesday against the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

McGraw leaped, punched the air and embraced his teammates. It was reminiscent of his enthusiasm with the 1973 New York Mets, who, with McGraw's "You gotta believe" slogan ringing in their ears, won the division and league titles before losing the World Series to Oakland A's in seven games.

"I thought if I got in there today, look out, because I feel great. I struck out two men and then they started eating me up," said McGraw. "Then, when Manny Trillo got that hit, I woke up and I said that I'm not going out of this game."

He had relieved Larry Christenson with runners on second and third and no outs in the eighth. He struck out two men before allowing five singles that scored five runs. Trillo led off the ninth with a single before Mike Gordon flied out and Dave Rosello hit into a double play.

Tim McCarver, a veteran who has played in three World Series, wore one of the biggest grins during the champagne-spraying festivities.

"You never get tired of this," he said. "This is like getting tired of something else I like to do."

Christenson, who won his sixth straight start and belted a grand slam homer, said: "I knew when I went to the plate that there were three men on base. But when I hit it, I had to look again, and I said, 'Wow, I hit a grand slam.' "

Bob Boone helped out with three runs batted in and some smart base running.

"I've been ripped a lot in the past few years about baserunning. I think I'm a good baserunner. I just don't have great speed," he said.

Christenson boosted his record to 18-6 with his fourth victory in as many decisions against the Cubs this year. He has won 14 of his last 15 decisions.

Ferrari hires Villeneuve

MODENA, Italy (AP) — Ferrari has hired Gilles Villeneuve of Berthierville, Que., as its driver to replace Austrian star Niki Lauda, a team spokesman announced last night.

Villeneuve, the Canadian driving champion in 1976 and 1977, will make his debut with the Italian Formula I racers at the Grand Prix of Canada at Mosport, Ont., on Sunday, Oct. 9, the spokesman said.

Lauda, current leader of the world driving championship, has announced he will drive a Brabham-Alfa Romeo next year.

The 25-year-old Villeneuve raced in his first Grand Prix at Silvestone, England, earlier this year while driving a McLaren.

Villeneuve had a meeting with Enzo Ferrari at the end of August — the day Lauda announced his decision to leave the team. Ferrari had been reported looking for a more experienced driver for 1978.

Blues fold to Boston

Red Sox hangin' on

BOSTON — Veteran Luis Tiant pitched seven scoreless innings as Boston Red Sox defeated Toronto 5-1 Tuesday night, completing a sweep of a doubleheader and keeping alive their slim pennant hopes in baseball's American League East Division.

The Red Sox won the first game 6-5, scoring five runs in the first inning. Ace reliever Bill Campbell earned his 30th and 31st saves of the season in the doubleheader as Boston raised its September record to 20-7.

Tiant, 12-8, blanked the Blue Jays on four hits before giving way to Bob Stanley in the eighth. Stanley was tagged for a homer by Roy Howell, his ninth, a single by Sam Ewing and a double by Ron Fairly.

Campbell then made his 68th appearance of the season. The $1 million right-hander walked Otto Velez, filling the bases, then struck out pinch-batter Doug Ault and got Rick Cerone to ground into a fielder's choice, ending the inning.

Toronto starter Dave Lemanczyk, 12-16, was tagged for 11 hits and five runs in less than six innings.

Carl Yastrzemski became the third Red Sox player to drive in 100 runs this year, while George Scott had one RBI and scored twice.

In the first game, the Red Sox put together five singles, including bloop hits by George Scott and Butch Hobson, for five runs in the opening inning off Toronto starter Jeff Byrd, who suffered his ninth consecutive loss and his 13th in 15 decisions.

Ewing drove in four Toronto runs with a double in the first inning and his fourth homer in the eighth. After Ewing's homer, Campbell came in and protected rookie Don Aase's sixth victory in eighth decisions.

Leaf rookie Campbell training camp surpise

TORONTO (CP) — Professional hockey training camps aren't suppose to spring too many surprises on coaches and management.

Toronto Maple Leafs have already had their share of surprising developments at the National Hockey League team's pre-season camp, not all healthy ones.

For example, with only four goaltenders in camp, Leafs were expected to have an easy choice with incumbents Wayne Thomas and Mike Palmateer returning. But darkhorses Gord McRae and Pierre Hamel have been the exhibition stars.

When rookie defenceman Kevin Campbell showed up, he was expected to be earmarked for the farm clubs in Saginaw, Mich., (International League) or Dallas (Central League).

But the 22-year-old New Glasgow, N.S., native has survived the early cuts and all rookie coach Roger Neilson can do is shake his head.

"I just can't believe it," Neilson said. "He is without doubt the biggest surprise of the camp. He genuinely has a chance to make the team and he'll play himself on or off in the remaining eight exhibition games."

Canada takes France in soccer action

MONTREAL (CP) — Ike Mackay scored two goals Tuesday night to lead Canada's national soccer team to a 3-2 victory over the French side Paris-St. Germain in an international exhibition match before 18,656 fans at Olympic Stadium.

The Canadians dominated play in the first half but some of their effectiveness seemed to disappear in the final 45 minutes after coach Eckhard Krautzen substituted Tino Lettieri for starting goaltender Zelkjo Bilecki.

Mackay scored his second goal of the game to put Canada ahead 3-0 in the 58th minute. Bob Lenarduzzi did most of the work as he outplayed the French defenders and set Mackay up with a heel pass in front of a struggling French goalie.

Krautzen substituted for Mackay in the 63rd minute.

Ramon Heredia took a free kick for Paris-St. Germain in the 65th minute and Eric Renaut kicked the high pass into the net to the right of Lettieri.

In the 77th minute, Robert Larusci defended poorly for Canada and left the ball at the feet of Carlos Bianchi who beat Lettieri with a quick, low shot to the goalies left.

Mackay gave Canada a 1-0 lead in the 15th minute when he beat Paris-St Germain goaltender Daniel Bernard with a goal from a corner kick.

Bruce Wilson took the kick for Canada with Mackay heading the ball into the crossbar on his first try. When the rebound fell at Mackay's feet, he kicked it into the upper left side of the goal.

Brian Budd scored for Canada in the 31st minute on a three-way passing play, but the goal was disallowed by the referee. Many of the fans whistled and booed their disapproval of the referee's decision.

The best opportunity for Paris came in the 40th minute when Francois M'Pele had faked Bilecki out of position but Lenarduzzi stopped the shot for Canada.

Lenarduzzi proved his offensive worth in the last minute of the half when he took a long pass and beat Bernard with a knee-high shot to the goalie's left.

WI meetings

SAWYERVILLE — The September meeting of the W.I. was held in the Community Center and opened in regular form with the 1st vice-president Mrs. Alvin Nugent presiding.

Motto for the month was Health is God's gift - your part is to claim it.

Roll call - bring a stamped envelope with a get well card for a shut-in.

The minutes of the June meeting were read by Mrs. A. Robinson in absence of Mrs. F. Robinson and approved.

Several notes of thanks were read and for a basket of fruit to a member who has been in hospital.

The semi-annual County meeting is to be held in East Clifton on Oct. 17.

Convenors' reports - Education - announced Adult Education Courses being held.

Home Ec. - Gave a reading on Home Canning, The Safe Way, taken from Sept. issue of Readers Digest.

Citizenship - Announced coming events and held a questionnaire, 'Do you really know your Canadian History' to which members gave answers.

Cheer and Courtesy - Eight cards sent and two baskets of fruit given.

Our share towards the Compton County card party to be held in Bury Sept. 24th, was discussed and accepted.

12 dozen cookies are to be donated for the Tea, white elephant and food sales to be held at the Community Center on Sept. 24 in aid of Second Mile Senior Center.

Mrs. Lois Callan thanked the members for embroidering quilt blocks for the Eaton Museum.

The meeting was adjourned by Mrs. A. McLeod.

In absence of the Welfare Committee, due to illness, a quizz was in charge of Mrs. A. Robinson - What's Your Nutrion I.Q.? Prizes went to Mrs. D. Mackay and Mrs. A. Nugent.

The drawing for Cheer and Courtesy was won by Miss Geraldine Gaulin.

A delicious lunch of home-made breads and cheese was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Lois Callan and Mrs. Leon Desruisseaux and a social hours was enjoyed.

ASCOT — The first meeting after the summer break was held in the Town Hall, Lennoxville, Sept. 15 with Mrs. R. Bentzen and Mrs. S. McVety as hostesses.

President, Mrs. E. Marlin, welcomed members and one visitor, and opened the meeting with the singing of O Canada, followed by the Collect and the Salute to the Flag.

Roll call: Twenty members answered the roll call by the payment of two dollars for the Phantom Food Sale.

Minutes were read and accepted as read and Treasurer's report showed a satisfactory balance.

Correspondence included a letter from the Leprosy Mission thanking the Ascot Branch for the used stamps sent in. Money received from these stamps adds an appreciable amount to their funds.

Secretary, Mrs. Ingham, read a very interesting item from a newspaper telling of the first W.I. meeting organized by Erland Lee at Stoney Creek, Ont. One hundred women attended, now Institute members number well in the thousands.

Secretary read a full report of the Board meeting at Convention.

Convenors are reminded to send in their Interim reports June, October and March.

Report of Convention was next given. Sherbrooke County did very well in the J & P Coats competition.

Letter was read from the Grace Christian Home thanking Ascot W.I. for the musical entertainment and supper in June.

This month with the Q.W.I. in the Macdonald Journal has an interesting write-up about Kenya where the ACWW Conference will be held in Nairobi in October. The writer, Mrs. Jas. G. Robertson, Hemmingford W.I. was born in East Africa and lived there for many years.

Social Service: Several cards were signed to be sent to sick and shut-in members.

Vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Sims for the picnic held in their maple grove in July. Members and others enjoyed this to the full. Report of County meeting was read by Mrs. A. Hatcher.

Would like to mention here that one of our members, Mrs. D. McElrea, was honored by receiving a Certificate of Achievement, signed by Marc Lalonde in recognition of her work with the Golden Age Group.

Meeting adjourned after which slides were shown by Miss Esther Farnsworth of her trip to Scandinavia (Ron Smith Tour). Mrs. R. Bentzen thanked Miss Farnsworth for sharing her trip with us.

Next came the judging of vegetable entries and auctioning of vegetables, flowers, etc. First prize for best arrangement of 5 vegetables was won by Mrs. E. Marlin, second, by Mrs. F. Ingham. Mrs. D. McElrea was auctioneer and a tidy sum was realized.

Refreshments were next in order with Grace being said by Mrs. F. Ingham. A most enjoyable time was had over the delicious sweet bread, cheese and tea.

Next meeting to be Oct. 20 under Home Economics with hostesses Mrs. A. Crawford, Mrs. T. Devany and Mrs. D. Annesley.

Mission Circle meets

SUTTON — On September 15, Olivet Baptist Mission Circle met at the home of Mrs. Roland Gibson, the President, Mrs. H.H. Woodard presided at the meeting. The opening hymn was, "What a Friend we have in Jesus".

The devotional period was given by Mrs. H. Surtees who read an article written by Rev. Alan Cameron of Pointe Claire, entitled "Three things that do not change". God does not change, neither does his Word nor the Christian faith. Malachi 3: verse 6, "For I am the Lord, I change not". There are some things that do not change and we ought to be thankful for that.

A hymn of trustfulness was then read in unison. The refrain is "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow, they toil not, neither do they spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

The topic was given by Mrs. G.F. Knights and the subject was India. India is the world's second most populous nation with a population about 630 million people. The government is limited in funds and personnel for health institutions, therefore help is welcomed in categories such as care for the disabled, crippled, blind and deaf and aid for TB and leprosy sufferers. Baptist Hospitals are in Serango, Sompeta, Pithapuram, Akividu and Vuyyuru.

An article was also read by Mrs. Knights concerning the Kodaikanal School which is an International School for Missionary children and is located in southern India. The Canadian Baptist Overseas Mission Board is one of the sponsoring bodies supporting Kodaikanal School.

Nine members and three visitors answered the roll call by reading clippings prepared by the President.

Mrs. R.C. Gibson for the Newscast read articles from the World Vision Actionews, and also reported on Jung Seung Hae who is under World Vision of Korea. Mrs. Gibson read Jung Seung Hae's School Report card, this foster child is sponsored by Olivet Baptist Church. Mrs. Gibson concluded the newscast by reading a prayer entitled, "Little Things" by Edgar Guest. One line was, "Let me not fail in little things".

The prayer requests were read by Mrs. O.H. Baker. Prayers were asked for Miss Sandra Ricketts, a Canadian Missionary and for Overseas Missionaries in Kenya, Zaire and India.

Mrs. C.W. Stearn of Baie d'Urfe is the Director of Quebec Associations for Mission Circles; she will visit the Sutton Circle next month and will be reporting on the B.W.M.S. Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

The meeting closed by all the members reading a prayer:

Ere we part, O God our Father
To each heart thy blessing give
And may we, thy grace possessing
Ever to thy glory live.

Philathea Unit UCW

LENNOXVILLE — Members of the Philathea Unit of the Lennoxville United Church Women were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Ray Frizzell, Wilson Street, with Mrs. Herman Edgecombe and Miss Florence McCurdy as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Hugh L. Wallace, leader, opened the meeting with prayer and welcomed all, after the summer recess.

All summer plans had been carried out and visits to the Grace Christian Home in July and August were made by members, and Mrs. Dorothy Geddes, flower convenor, extended thanks to Mrs. Roy Suitor and Miss Edna Davidson for their assistance.

The usual white elephant auction was planned for October and notice given of the general U.C.W. meeting, September 27 and the Fall Rally at Coaticook on September 29. Members requested to bring a box lunch for noon, tea and coffee to be served.

Mrs. Gail Brown acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Harold Worster and read a most interesting letter of thanks from the administrator of the Phebe Hospital and school of nursing in Monrovia, Liberia, for knitted bandages received from Lennoxville and also a personal call had been received by Mrs. George Rothney from the Medical Director who was attending a conference in Montreal, expressing deep appreciation for the concern and efforts shown and asked for continued support in rolled or knitted bandages and adhesive tape.

This concluded the business and Mrs. Frizzell, fancy work convenor, held a sale of work on hand, after which the hostesses served delicious refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed in the home atmosphere.

Dead leaves score a sadhappy song

photoprose

Every year it happens, so slowly at first, one hardly notices. One leaf, then another. And another blanket is laid on the bed.

In the morning, the sun is hardly up. The birds stop singing you awake. Time for sweaters and hot drinks, hard work getting the home ready for winter.

Autumn is a time for reflection, for contemplating the hardships of winter, the windy isolation to come. Also the good times around the fire, the windburnt cheeks, a frozen nose, frosty hands.

It's long walks along paths buried in dried, faded leaves, when dogs, horses and even people are friskiest, when a child's nose always needs wiping, when exhaustion never seems to come.

A three-month calm before the storm, when a cool wind feels good against the scalp, airing the hair, invigorating the soul.

There's something about fall that rekindles old love affairs, reminds us of tender long-ago smiles, enforcing our mortality while ensuring our longevity.

It is an annual ritual of climbing down to the cellar to drag out semi-retired winter clothes, wooly underwear, rusty ice skates. Of realizing how the children have grown and how those old clothes just don't fit anymore.

It is also a time of recuperation from summer's excesses, when pledges of moderation are remembered and new vows are made.

It is a realization that nature is eternal and forgiving, that there will always be another year, another chance, another summer. A time to shrug at the failure of the past and prepare for the future. Most of all, autumn is beauty. And nature the true master.

IODE Stanstead Chapter

STANSTEAD (IH) — When the Stanstead Chapter IODE met at Stanstead College LeBaron Hall reception room on Monday afternoon, September 12, plans were finalized for the annual bazaar and tea to be held on September 24 at Sunnyside school in Rock Island.

The Regent, Miss Barbara Lax opened the meeting and welcomed the large attendance of 36 members to the first gathering after the summer holidays. A special welcome was given to Mrs. Bice of Connecticut who later in the afternoon spoke to the group.

Routine reports were heard. Mrs. Olga Audet offered to write the September letter to the foster child, Josef. It was announced that the IODE Provincial semi-annual meeting will be held on October 26 in Quebec City. Miss Lax asked the members to think about this and as many as possible plan to attend.

Mrs. Simone DuBois, co-chairman with Mrs. George Carruthers for the bazaar spoke of a committee meeting held the end of August at her home. Her remarks were supplemented with remarks from each sale table chairman.

The Bazaar will be held from 2:00 - 5:00 p.m. at Sunnyside school. Decorations are in charge of Mrs. Margo Skelton and Mrs. Isabel Day and will be in the autumn theme.

Mrs. H.M. Cass and Mrs. Hugh McClary will sell kitchen aids and aprons and they report a lovely collection already for sale.

Mrs. J.S. McCannel, Mrs. Olive Carter and Mrs. A.E. Curtis will be looking after the Attic Treasures table where many items will be sold, some possible antiques.

The ever popular used book table and toys for youngsters will be in charge of Mrs. Frances Finlayson, Mrs. Ada Curtis and Mrs. Mollie Eberth.

It was noted many lovely items, such as needlecraft, hand knits and such things will be on the Handicraft boutique table and will be sold by Mrs. Dorcas Pocock, Mrs. K.E. Baldwin, Mrs. Ellen Wallbridge and Mrs. H. Skelton.

The candies in the Sweet Shoppe will include a variety of home-made fudge and other goodies. This is in charge of Miss Dorian Slessor and Mrs. Agnes Myers.

The Christmas Boutique, a colorful table, will have many lovely things as the committee have come up with new ideas which are in charge of Mrs. C.R. MacLean, Mrs. Louise Shaw, Mrs. C. Scarth, Mrs. Howard Majury, Mrs. M. Van Sickle, Mrs. Jean Beasse and Mrs. M.W. MacDonald.

The bakery and gourmet shop will include home made foods, also a special section with food that may be frozen. This is in charge of Mrs. Howard Aikman, Mrs. Betty Hall, Mrs. John (Helen) Smith and Mrs. Olga Audet, and is always a sell-out-quick table.

The Garden Thumb Garden corner will offer many garden vegetables and flowers, plants and other items associated with the green thumb.

Mrs. Lorne Ogilvie is convener with a full committee for the tea while Mrs. W.B. Dustin and Mrs. Douglas Jackson are in charge of the tea room which will be in the recreation room of the school.

Mrs. DuBois listed some very valuable gifts to be given away as door prizes. A beautiful ceramic Christmas tree has been donated by Mrs. Molly Eberth and will be sold by tickets in charge of Mrs. Mabel Wallace.

All the monies raised from the bazaar are used towards help for other people. A sum of $100. was voted towards the Senior Citizens trip to Rawdon on September 27, and upon recommendation of Mrs. Louise Shaw, a student bursary of $100. will go to James Brock of Stanstead, attending the University of New Brunswick. Mrs. Shaw also recommended other student assistance, but as the IODE treasury is very low, these were tabled for the present.

Mrs. Merton Davis, treasurer, said she has paid Stanstead College $100. as a third of the $300. voted for a local boy attending the College.

Mrs. Jackson, Services secretary, said she had made several trips to the Butters Memorial Center and Dixville Home with good clothing and other items to include a quantity of snow wear that was a donation to the Chapter for this purpose and is much appreciated by the IODE and the recipients at the Homes.

Mrs. Cole chose to speak about the Daughters of the British Empire in the United States of America conference held in Washington, D.C., about the sessions and visits to the White House, British Embassy, the D.A.R. building and other sights in the Capitol City, that was most interesting.

The conference speaker was Mrs. Cole, the Canadian National President. The American President elected was a Canadian from the Western Province, she said.

After the adjournment of the very busy session, tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. Skelton and Mrs. Ivy Hatch. The tea table was appointed with a lace cover and centered with an arrangement of late summer flowers. Mrs. Douglas Jackson poured.

Honored on 92nd birthday

WINDSOR — On Saturday, Sept. 17, the Wheeler family gathered in the 4th Floor reception room of the Wales Home to honor the 92nd birthday, that day, of Mr. Lawrence Wheeler.

Following greetings of best wishes and a time of reminiscing, the family sat down to supper together, with Mr. Wheeler asking the blessing before the meal.

As the day previous was the birth date of another family member, Mrs. Lillian Robinson, the lovely birthday cake which centered the table was suitably inscribed for both celebrants and topped with lighted candles. Mrs. Henry Dubuc had made and decorated the cake for the occasion.

Mr. Wheeler voiced his thanks for the cards and gifts received and his deep pleasure of having the family together once again this year for this memorable occasion. The cards received from friends were read to him and were much appreciated also.

Attending the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wheeler, Picton, Ont., Mrs. Lillian Robinson, Ottawa; Mrs. W.H. Wheeler, Miss Margaret Wheeler and Miss Ann Peverly of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wheeler and Mrs. Henry Dubuc from Windsor and Miss Kathleen Wheeler of Richmond.

Mr. Raymond Wheeler of Sutton was unable to be present but phoned greetings of best wishes to his dad, on that day.

Mr. Wheeler remains fairly well for his advanced years and is always pleased to have his family and friends drop by to see him at the Home. His daughter, Kathleen, also a resident at the Wales Home, keeps him informed of the daily happenings of interest to him.

Opening lead — 4♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

When today's hand was played in a recent tournament a fourth-best spade was opened at all tables, irrespective of who was declarer or whether the contract was three notrump by North or four hearts or five clubs by South.

As you can see the lead beat three notrump since spades were set up before hearts. It was the only lead to give South five clubs since he could get two immediate diamond discards.

At the one table where the contract was four hearts the contract would probably have been set by a club or diamond lead and the play after the spade lead was quite interesting.

South discarded one diamond on the queen of spades and promptly led dummy's jack of hearts. He could not afford the luxury of a second discard at that time.

West was in with the king and led a diamond. South won, entered dummy with a club, discarded his last diamond on the ace of spades, led a second trump and scored an overtrick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Louisiana reader asks if we have ever heard of a 5-3-2-1 point count.

No, we have never heard of it, but if anyone used it, he would really be overvaluing his aces.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Sept. 29, 1977

Business situations built around conventional practices and methods are fortunate for you this coming year. When you depart from the norm, you risk failure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Situations and joint ventures that don't cost you dough could be very worthwhile today. If you're asked to dip into your purse, then you should haul out the microscope. Having trouble selecting a career? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Go that one step extra for those who contribute to your well-being today. Lack of reciprocation could turn off a very valuable ally.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Doubts should not be allowed to creep into matters affecting your career today. Adopt an optimistic attitude and there'll be no problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Overlook the minor faults of those you love today. A harsh word, said even in jest, will spoil what should be a pleasant day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The statements of an outsider should not influence your opinion of someone you love. You're right. The other party is irrevocably wrong.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be yourself today. Avoid affectations in speech or manner. When you put on airs you create a person who really doesn't measure up to you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Where your potential profit picture looks good, don't make any sudden changes. They could work against you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Things that you can control will be generally lucky for you today. Interference by an erratic associate could change all that.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Possibilities for gain are extremely strong today, but you must strike while the iron is hot. A reversal could occur if you tarry too long.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This will be a fun day today if you mingle with persons you're friendly with. A strange crowd could get you off-kilter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Let nature run its course today. Events should turn out as you'd wish. If you try to readjust matters, more harm than good is probable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't try to improve upon things that you know to be truly worthwhile. Innovations you might have in mind could diminish what exists now.

WEST BROME

May F. Coughtry
263-1938

Stanstead County W.I. School Fair Results

AYER'S CLIFF (IH) — The 61st annual Stanstead County School Fair was held for two days, September 14 and 15 at the Fair grounds in Ayer's Cliff in co-operation with the Quebec Department of Agriculture, the Lennoxville District School Board, and the County Women's Institute.

This year four County schools participated, they were Sunnyside, Rock Island; Princess Elizabeth, Magog; Ayer's Cliff and North Hatley Elementary.

Winners and runners up for highest aggregate in the exhibits to be presented with trophies by W.G. MacDougall were Dana McVittie, North Hatley, Dale Little, North Hatley, each of whom received the perpetual silver bowl trophies and a smaller trophy to keep. Runners up were Paula McLellan, North Hatley and Freddy Mosher, Ayer's Cliff, each receiving a miniature trophy to keep.

September 14 was the day the many exhibits were brought to the fair buildings and arranged by W.I. members, then judged. September 15 was the day for the student activities that started off with a parade. With banners, costumes and other objects, Ayer's Cliff represented Market Gardening; Magog, Dairy; North Hatley, Lumbering; and Sunnyside, Planting. In this way they paraded on the grounds to the grandstand.

The program from the grandstand included a talent show and public speaking, but not in competition. In Public Speaking, Ricky Rousseau, Magog, spoke on the topic of "Friends"; Susie Cunnington, North Hatley, chose to speak on "Helping the Handicapped"; A Trip to Outer Space was the talk by Scott Smith from Sunnyside, all very well delivered.

Then came the talent show. In the 8 - and under age group, Grade 2, North Hatley sang a French song and a group of four from Sunnyside presented the skit "Goldilocks". They were David Carruthers, Johnny Lees, Nancy Leitch and Danny Fauteux.

In the 10 and 11-year groups, Debbie Mosher, Christina Voggenreiter, Donna Mosher and Michelle Holmes, Ayer's Cliff, played the recorder and sang "Kum-Ba-Ya". Susie Wintle played on her violin, "Morning Has Broken". A skit, "Our Kid goes to Ayer's Cliff", was presented by Beverly Ackhurst, Joyce and Gary Boucher.

Magog school talent included a piano solo by Donna Kingdom and from North Hatley, Alison Cheal and Ginette Bachand sang a French song, "Dans La Vie". Riddles were great by Grant Morse and Randy Kent, then Christine Gagne sang in French, "Dites-Moi".

Sunnyside's students presented a dance by Cindy Boyd, "The Blue Jean Gals", Bonnie Davis, Donna Simpson, Lori Reynolds, Tara Robertson, Tammy Simoneau, Debbie Parent, Bonnie Jean Gibson, Lisa Davis, Lucy Bilodeau and Jennifer Joyce, presented a Gymnastic Dance.

In the 11 years and over class, Susie Cunnington, Sue-Lane Drew and Toni Morse sang "The Night Chicago Died". Kevin Smith from Magog played a piano solo and from the same school, Lisa Simard presented a dance.

Sunnyside's Judy Rever and Cathy Dustin presented a delightful modern dance.

The day included sports such as broad jump, dash, softball, soccer, shot, and each class at a time went to the buildings to view the exhibits and to see "if I won a prize". Then there was time out for lunch. The Institute operated a snack bar on the grounds and many made purchases to supplement their picnic lunches.

The schools were represented to dance the Virginia Reel, and the youngsters were delighted when a group of teachers joined them to dance.

The day ended when Mr. MacDougall presented the trophies. Mrs. Stanley Whitcomb, Agriculture Convenor for the County Institute, and Mrs. Nelson Pierce, W.I. County President, each thanked all the students and the teachers for their assistance to make the fair possible, for as Mrs. Whitcomb said, "Without your help we could never have the fair."

It was in 1916 that Mr. MacDougall, then a young agronome in Stanstead County along with the Institute, started the school fair.

The following announcement was made of the points in sports, North Hatley - 1.95; Sunnyside - 1.92; Ayer's Cliff and Magog - 1.91 each.

Individual winners in sports: Magog, Grade 1 - Timothy Woodard and Philip Richard, each 14; 2 - Mark Irvine and Danny Lavoie, each 13; 3 - Marc Boutin, Kim Labrecque and Eric Turcotte, each 12; 4 - Sylvain Patient, 14; 5- Tommy Lyonnais, Eddie Whitehead, Eric Buzzell, Clifford Kay and Edward Kay; 6 - Daniel Bider, Trevor Bryant, Jamie Darbyson, Bobby Kingdom and Barrie Phaneuf.

North Hatley: 1 - Gregory McVittie and David Powell, each 14; 2 - Andrea Rittenhouse, 14; 3 - Iah Matthews; 4 - Johnny Boland; 5 - Kevin Patterson, Jeff Powell and Scott Stevenson, each 14; 6 - Kevin Burnham.

Sunnyside: 1 - Mark Walker and Scott Archer, each 14; 2 - Nathan Archer and Michael Brock, each 14; 3 - Rodney Jones, 12; 4 - Darryl Brown, 14; 5 - Scott Smith, 14; 6 - Shane Audet, Brad Crawford and Gary Zisselberger, each 13.

Ayer's Cliff: 1 - Lea-Anne Des Ruisseaux, 14; 2 - Scott Maurice and Scott Schoolcraft, each 13; 3 - Jimmy Bolton, Douglas Goyette and Jeff Voggenreiter, each 11; 4 - Trevor Costello; 5 - Marcel Giguere and Matty Smith, each 14; 6 - Steve Cote and Chris Smith, each 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCormick and daughter, Valene, and friend, Sharon, Ingersoll, Ont., Mrs. Doris Laroche, Miss Evelyn Lake, Barrie, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Gari Webster, St. Bruno, Que., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keating, Toronto, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Irving and family, Farnham, Que., and Mr. George Diamond, Trenton, Ont., and many from the Eastern Townships.

On Sunday, Sept. 11, at the regular morning service in the East Angus United Church, Rev. Gordon Simons christened the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tincarre. The child received the name of John Allen. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Charleau, Coaticook, Que., grandparents of the child, attended the christening.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Learned were Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKelvie and children of Pointe Claire, Que. The children stayed with their grandparents while Mr. and Mrs. McKelvie were on holidays.

Several from here attended the Turkey Supper at the United Church in Waterville on Saturday.

KNOWLTON
Kay Taylor

Kenneth Battley left Thursday, September 8 for Haileyburg, Ont., where he will be attending Haileyburg College of Mining Technology. Best wishes from all, Kenny!

The little waif cat of Davignon Avenue has now been given a comfortable home and in return will catch many a mouse in her new family's barn. Have a good life, "Stubby."

Mrs. Muriel McInnis, who has been spending the summer with her son and daughter-in-law, Frank and Maureen Johnston-Main, has also been a guest on several occasions of her friend, Mrs. Lillian Levoy at Waterloo, most recently the weekend of September 9. She also spent an afternoon and evening earlier in the week with the Dennis Taylors.

BIRCHTON

It was a sad homecoming for the Roys when they found their new home, at the corner of the Halsall farm, had been broken into and many treasures taken away including a TV, antique clock and others. The Community feels for them in their loss.

Several attended the Fall Rally at the Sawyerville United Church, and found the day rewarding in every way. It was under the direction of the Scotstown Area - Vice President, Mrs. Basil Prescott, who is to be commended, along with her assistants, on the Rally.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Jackson were dinner and supper guests at the Lowd home in Bulwer on Sunday, September 18.

Mrs. Jessie Colby of Lennoxville recently spent a day with Mrs. Jack Murray.

A former North Shore student at Alexander Galt, Elliott Smith, with two friends, was a recent caller at the Halsall home.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Richards have returned from a holiday at Old Orchard Me., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Richards and Jennifer were guests of Carol during her parents' absence. While in the Old Orchard area, they dropped in to see Mr. and Mrs. Nick Turchyn who were spending a week's holiday there, and they ended by all four staying at the same motel.

On Sunday, September 18, the Turchyns visited his parents in Montreal.

The Neil Taylors spent several days in Toronto, with relatives. Dean Taylor spent a weekend with friends in the Sawyerville area.

Mrs. Jack Murray passed another tenth of her lifespan. However long that lifespan may be, on September 17, and was deeply moved by and appreciative of, the many forms of greetings given and sent to her and everyone is tucked away in her treasury of memories. She had thought her Day was known to very few, except her immediage family, but as one Birchtonian said: "Oh! news does get around!" True it is! "Friends are the most precious of God's gifts to man!"

Deepest sympathy is extended to the family of the late Mac Picken, Lennoxville Rd., whose death occurred at his home on Aug. 29, after a lengthy illness. He had been in and out of hospital for several months. Several called at the Funeral Home and attended the funeral in Lennoxville. The Bulwer U.C.W. members served lunch at the Community Centre, following the service.

Mrs. W.S. Laberee spent a few days with Sgt. and Mrs. E.F. Davis and family in Petawawa, Ont., and was an overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Laberee and baby John, in Ottawa.

Sunday School began at the Bulwer United Church on Sunday, Sept. 11th, at 9:30 a.m. All children of the area are welcome.

Miss Gareth Forgrave, R.N., of Ottawa, accompanied by Miss Jean Crawford-Smith of Toronto, were weekend guests of Mrs. K. Johnston. They and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Merrill were Saturday evening guests of Mrs. Charles Robinson and her Montreal guests, in Birchton.

Friends of Mrs. Ralph Todd regret to learn that it was necessary for her to spend a few days in hospital, but everyone hopes she is gaining nicely, now.

On Sunday evening, Mrs. Melville Page, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Nutbrown, Mrs. Kenneth Johnston, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Robinson of Birchton, and Mr. James Robinson of Montreal, attended the anniversary services at the North Hatley Baptist Church, where their former pastor, Rev. Frank Bailey of Quyon was the guest speaker. Mrs. Bailey was also the guest soloist. Mr. and Mrs. George Pinchin of Eaton and Mr. Ronald Rothney of Sand Hill also represented the Bulwer United Church congregation.

On Sept. 15, Mrs. W.S. Laberee, Mrs. Melville Page and Mrs. R. Rothney of Sand Hill, Mrs. W.G. Pinchin of Eaton represented the Bulwer U.C.W. at the Scotstown Area Fall Rally in Sawyerville.

Miss Melvina Buckle has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Grapes, after working in Nacwic, N.B., this past summer. She has employment in the Montreal General Hospital. She is now an R.N.A. Congratulations, Melvina.

Mrs. Wilma Rivers, Post Mills, Vt., and Mrs. D. Philbrooke, Concord, N.H., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bullard and family.

Your heart works hard for you; maybe you could do something to help it out a little.

Fifty Plus Club enjoys tour

AYER'S CLIFF — On Tuesday, September 6, a chartered bus sponsored by the Fifty Plus Club motored to the Stanbridge East Missisquoi Museum. All enjoyed visiting this most interesting spot and picnic lunches under the trees on the spacious grounds surrounding the site. Then on down the street to Hodge's General store which has been renovated as an Old Country Store, as it was many years ago, with 90 per cent of the display having been found in the building.

The bus then journeyed on to Hemmingford with several interesting things along the way being described. At Hemmingford everyone stayed in the bus and motored slowly through Parc Safari Africain to view all the beautiful animals that roam free in the Park.

Many thanks are due Lysle Thompson and Bill Roddick who organized the trip with the help of several of the members. The bus driver was very efficient and most pleasant and co-operative.

The Club is presently planning a trip to view the autumn colors.

St. Paul's church notes

KNOWLTON (KT) — Some events this Fall which may be of interest. The Reverend Allen Goodings, dean, formerly of the Montreal Diocese, has recently been elected bishop of Quebec diocese. His Consecration took place at St. Peter's Church, Montreal Street, Sherbrooke, on Sept. 18.

The Reverend Wilmur Davidson, R.D., has been re-elected as Rural Dean of Brome-Shefford for another 3-year term. A deanery service was held at Iron Hill at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 25 and Archdeacon John Peacock was present to induct Mr. Davidson as Rural Dean.

The popular Annual Day of Prayer and Renewal will be held at the Cathedral in Montreal, on Sat., October 1st. The main speaker will be Bishop Cuthbert Bardoley, former Bishop of Coventry, England and builder of the new cathedral there. To attend - please call the rector for an application form.

Also from St. Paul's - please note the Harvest supper in the church hall on October 13, beginning at 5 p.m.

On October 4, a special Vestry Meeting will be held at St. Patrick's Church, South Bolton for the entire congregation of that Church, in order to elect a new people's warden to replace the late Ian Louson.

It is noted that the Right Reverend Russell Brown, Assistant Bishop of Montreal, will pay his first visit to the parish on October 23. He will participate in the services that morning at both Bolton Centre and Knowlton. It is hoped that many people will turn out to hear this man who has had a fascinating career in the Christian ministry. He is the former Bishop of Quebec and a former teacher of Commerce in Papua, New Guinea.

Also from St. Paul's - there will be, as usual, two appeals this fall. The Harvest Thanksgiving offering is to go to the Primate's World Relief and Development Fund, with special emphasis on helping Christian refugees from Uganda. Then, in November, there will be the Anglican Appeal for the church in the North and overseas missions.

Sunday School classes at St. Paul's will follow the same pattern as last year with two 7-week terms. The first commences November 6 and will be 2 hours (10 a.m. till noon) each Sunday. Registration at 10 a.m. Sunday, November 6.

Many will remember the fine pipe organ, lost in the fire of 1941. This will finally be replaced. A wonderful second-hand Cassavant organ has been purchased and will be installed at St. Paul's Church this fall and it is hoped to have it dedicated in December. The entire project is being paid for out of special and anonymous gifts for this purpose, and it will be entirely without cost; not a penny will come from Church funds.

St. Paul's is especially grateful to the Fisher family who have provided the electric organs during the intervening 36 years. The years when the church had a pipe organ (1920-1941) were a high point for choral music at St. Paul's, and it is hoped that this will be repeated.

Thought for the Week: (St. Paul's bulletin) - One hot day when there were guests for dinner, a mother asked her four-year-old son to say grace before the meal. "But I don't know what to say," the boy exclaimed. "Oh, just say what you heard me say," replied the mother. Obediently the boy bowed his head and murmured, "O Lord, why did I invite these people here on a hot day like this!"

UCW meetings

BEEBE — The first meeting of Unit Two U.C.W. of Wesley United Church, Beebe, following the summer recess was held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Archer with co-hostess Miss Leona Shepard, with a small attendance of members and one guest.

Mrs. Lynn Drew presided, opening with the repeating of the Purpose and Function, also the Lord's Prayer.

Routine reports were read and approved.

Donations were made to the Memorial Fund of the church in memory of Mr. Ralph Roger's brother-in-law, in St. Stephen, N.B. and Miss Rachel Shelden.

Sunshine convenor, Mrs. Arlene Ewan, reported she had sent five birthday, five get-well, three sympathy and one baby congratulation cards during the recess.

Correspondence included thank-you notes from persons who had been remembered with rose bowls, while patients in hospital, for a donation given to the Memorial Fund, the International Rotary Club for donation toward expenses of a delegate to Quebec City and the Frontier swim project.

Dates were set for the series of card parties to be held in the dining room of the church on October 21, November 4 and November 25.

The fall rally is to be held on Sept. 29 in Coaticook. Those attending are asked to bring their own lunch.

The drawing for the quilt will take place at the bazaar on Nov. 19, in the Church diningroom.

A sympathy card was signed to be sent to Mrs. Harold Taylor in the loss of her sister, Miss R. Shelden and Mrs. H.S. Beane who will be observing a birthday on September 28, at the Rolling Hills Residence, Lennoxville.

Round robin was won by Mrs. Gladys Chartier.

The October 11th meeting will be held in the church parlor with hostess Mrs. Shirley Fountain and co-hostess Mrs. Alice Rediker.

Following adjournment of the business meeting, delicious refreshments were served and a time of fellowship enjoyed.

KINNEAR'S MILLS — The United Church Women held their September meeting in the Church parlor.

The meeting opened with a devotional period led by Mrs. Sadie Jamieson who read an article "There is no unanswered Prayer". The hymn "O God, give Ear Unto my Cry," was sung with Mrs. Joy Nugent as organist.

The President, Mrs. Alma Reid, chaired the meeting and a considerable amount of business was dealt with.

It was announced the Fall Rally will be held at Chalmers Wesley United Church, Quebec City, on Sept. 21.

Correspondence was read and contained a letter from Marie and Leonard Stuart, Phoebe Hospital; a thank-you note from Roger Lowry and family, for sympathy expressed at the time of Mrs. Lowry's death, and verbal thanks was expressed for a gift given a sick friend.

There was a discussion on purchasing new shades for the church windows but it was left until a later meeting.

The next meeting will be held on the regular date in the Church parlor.

Serving of refreshments brought the afternoon to a close.

WINDSOR — St. Andrew's U.C.W. met at the home of Mrs. Donna Doyle on Wednesday evening, Sept. 7, following their summer recess, with seven members present and Mrs. Pauline Morey as hostess.

The president, Mrs. Madeline Thomas called the meeting to order by all repeating the Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer gave her report following the summer's expenditures.

It was decided to have the church cleaned by a professional firm before the winter months.

Plans were begun for the Christmas tea and sales table to be held on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 3rd. That sounds like a long time from now, but perhaps we should circle our calendars as a reminder later.

Tickets are to be made up and distributed, to be sold on a drawing for a floral blanket and a pair of crocheted cushions, the latter donated by Mrs. Muriel MacMorine. The drawing will take place at the tea in December.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Morey with Mrs. R. MacDonald as hostess.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Doyle and Mrs. C. Morey.

SOUTH STUKELY

Mrs. Roland Blampin, Maniwiki, spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Bockus and Miss Sandra Bockus of Toronto have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. K. Bockus.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Ashton and Miss Ann Ashton, Ozusa, Cal., called on Mrs. Mildred Bowering and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McElroy.

Mrs. Winnie MacIntosh and Mr. Dennis MacIntosh spent their holidays in Philadelphia, Penn., with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Delisle, Zinna and Monik and in Scarborough, Ont., with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willey, Brandon and Tricia.

Masters Robin and Ricky McLellan of Sherbrooke, have been visiting their grandmother Mrs. Myrtle McLellan and uncle, Mr. Leslie McLellan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bullard spent a day at the home of Mr. Jeffrey Whitehead, St. Cesaire, and called on Mrs. Whitehead and infant son in the Hopital General d'Shefford, Granby.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bowen and Miss Lee Ann Bowen of Almonte, Ont., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bullard.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Moore, Willowdale, Ont., have been calling on Mrs. Blanche Martin and Mrs. Mildred Bowering and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Savage.

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving service was held in St. Matthew's Anglican Church on Sunday, Sept. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cunningham, East Angus, attended the Harvest Thanksgiving Service in St. Matthew's Church.

Mrs. Gertrude McGovern has been calling on Mr. and Mrs. A. Hilliker in Knowlton.

GUILD MEETS

St. Matthew's Anglican Church Ladies' Guild was held at the home of Mrs. O. Gamache in Waterloo with a large attendance.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. N. Tucker.

The secretary, Mrs. Myrtle McLellan, read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. The treasurer, Mrs. Gamache, gave the financial report.

Card parties were planned for Sept. 28 and Oct. 12 to be held in the Church Hall.

Following a social period, refreshments were served with several of the ladies assisting Mrs. Gamache.

UCW meeting

COOKSHIRE — Mrs. Hazel Patton, with her co-hostess, Mrs. Malcolm Learned, entertained the U.C.W. of Trinity United Church at the home of the former. There were 13 in attendance.

Mrs. Pauline McVetty presided, and welcomed all. Mrs. Barbara Vogell read the scripture lesson from Revelations, and Mrs. Jean Stevenson gave the meditation on the "Divine Alphabet", emphasizing the fact that Christ is our Past, our Future and our Present. She read a poem, entitled 'Can You Honestly Judge', and gave a prayer, and the members repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. C. Cruickshank read the minutes which were approved as read. She also read the correspondence, which included thanks for a wedding present and for some other gifts to the sick.

The treasurer, Mrs. Earl Parker, gave a detailed account of the expenditures for the summer months.

Some church calendars for 1978 were on hand, and a number were sold. Mrs. McVetty had some copies of Mandate, and distributed them to the ladies, with the idea in mind that after reading them, some of the ladies would become subscribers to the church's mission magazine.

Plans were made for the tea and sale to be held in the Sawyerville Community Centre on Sat., Sept. 24, the proceeds to be used for the Senior Citizens' Home.

The ladies were reminded of the U.C.W. Rally which was to be held the next day in the Sawyerville United Church.

Mrs. Malcolm Learned reported on the card sale orders, and stated that if more items were wanted, she would be willing to send in another order.

Mrs. McVetty gave a full report of the "summer event" of the United Church, which she had attended at Bishop's University, Mrs. Heatherington also added a few remarks.

Mrs. Raymond Stevenson read an interesting article on the Pallative Care Unit at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal.

The ladies were reminded to send a card to a sick member in hospital.

Mrs. D. Parsons offered to act as president for the month of October.

The next meeting will be held on Oct. 5 at the home of Mrs. Thorneloe, with Mrs. Connor as joint hostess.

At the close of the evening, the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

UCW meeting

BIRCHTON — The evening of September 7, the first fall meeting of the Birchton U.C.W. was opened by the President, Mrs. Nick Turchyn, with repeating of the Purpose by the group, followed by devotions in charge of Mrs. Howard Picard, who read Psalm 95, beginning with "O come, let us sing". She took as a supplement, the article in the Observer, "How great is your God?" This ended with an impressive prayer.

The minutes of the June meeting were adopted as read by the Secretary, Mrs. Stanley Logan. Fifteen dollars were voted to the Mentally Retarded Children, whose appeal had been laid over at the June meeting, until funds were reviewed.

For Community Friendship and Visiting, Mrs. W.O. Todd reported a quiet summer, and a comfortable balance on hand. For Welfare, Mrs. Logan said that four boxes had been taken to the Salvation Army, and appealed to the group to tell her if there were other places in need.

The President received the proceeds of the talent campaign and was very pleased with the generous response, a good addition to the Treasury. She also reminded the members that new catalogues had been received by the novelty and cards committee, that new Christmas cards and other things were on display; that the Fall Rally in Sawyerville was on September 15; and that the Happenings were in circulation and worth reading.

Mention was made of the changeover to the Mission Magazine, and of the Exchange, a magazine with interesting ideas and articles.

After a member wondered if the group could sponsor some get-together occasion, and after considerable discussion, it was decided to have a Sunday Brunch, at 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on October 16. There will be more publicity given this later.

In reference to the Cancer Cupboard, Mrs. Logan said that the Cancer Group could carry on their gift work better if more donations were in the form of cash.

The October meeting will be in the Birchton Hall on October 5 at 7:30 p.m.

The President read a poem by Kay Wilson, on "Understanding Prayer," and Mrs. Gilbert Nutbrown, in the absence of the area vice-president, gave a very interesting and stimulating account of the Summer Event held at Bishop's University in Lennoxville.

Mrs. R. Harbinson, Sr., who had been a hard-working member of the Group many years ago, as long as she was able, was among the visitors, as was Mae Weston, who spent the first years of her married life on the farm on the Hollie Smith Road, across from the Lipinski home. What changes they have seen since those early days in Canada!

Family Gathering

SAWYERVILLE — The old Johnston homestead, now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnston, their son Bruce and daughter, Helen, was the scene of a very happy family gathering on Labor Day weekend.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston and son Bill of Melbourne Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald French, Sawyerville, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Brazel, Richard and Laurie Ann, Eaton Corner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, South Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Pike, Verdun, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cote, Tracy and Mark of Melbourne and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Johnston, Brossard. Bruce was unable to be present during the day.

Other guests to attend were Mrs. Ivan Johnston's mother, Mrs. Hazel Mitchell of Richmond, and Mr. Norman Kinnon, who makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston.

A delicious salad and cold meat dinner, with a good variety of squares, cookies and a fruit punch was served buffet style at the noon hour.

The afternoon being very warm, was spent outdoors visiting and picture-taking. The teenagers enjoyed strolling about the farm and listening to the stereo. The younger members barbecued hot dogs and hamburgers, with all the trimmings at the supper hour, and a delicious cup of coffee was enjoyed. The weather being so nice, this was held on the lawn.

All enjoyed the day very much and agreed it was a pleasant get-together.

Wilhelmina Rebekah Lodge

SAWYERVILLE — A regular meeting of Wilhelmina Rebekah Lodge No. 23 was held in the Lodge room with thirteen Sisters and one Brother in attendance.

Lodge opened in regular form with Sister Marjorie Hurley N.G. in the chair.

The minutes were approved and communications read, with several invitations to attend District meetings. Business from the communications were dealt with and bills ordered paid.

The members extended their thanks to Sister Abbie French for washing the Lodge room floor and to Brother Douglas Twyman for varnishing it. All agreed it looked very nice.

Lodge closed in ritual form.

This being the last meeting that Sister Evelyn French would be with us, a social hour followed.

Sisters Mabel Mackay and Mayotta Taylor served a variety of delicious cookies and a cup of tea. Sister Taylor presented Sister French with a lovely necklace with the Rebekah Crest and said Sister French could think of us when she wears it.

Sister French spoke a few words of thanks and said she would proudly wear the necklace and would remember all the Sisters without any reminder. She invited any of us who were in the vicinity where she and Lloyd would be living, to call and see them.

Pinnacle Chapter No. 11

SUTTON — A stated meeting of Pinnacle Chapter No. 11, Order of the Eastern Star, was held in the Sutton Memorial Fraternal Hall on Wednesday evening, September 14, with the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Alyce Farnam, presiding.

After the formal opening, Mrs. Helen Ramsay, General Grand Chapter Committee Member for Estarl, Mrs. Myrtle Vincent, Past Grand Matron, and Mrs. Helene Lengacher, Grand Instructor, District No. 2, Grand Chapter of Quebec, were officially welcomed. Visitors were welcomed from Beaver Chapter No. 7, Waterloo, Cowansville Chapter No. 17, and Victory Chapter No. 34, Hemmingford. The Worthy Matron gave a special welcome to Mrs. Muriel McInnis, Mount Currie, B.C., a member of Pinnacle Chapter, who is unable to attend regularly, due to distance.

Chapter correspondence was dealt with in the usual manner, as was ordinary Chapter business. At a previous meeting there was discussion concerning the need to protect the new front door of the Hall with a coat of paint, the paint being available from a donation. Mrs. Natalie Patton informed the meeting that free labor for painting, etc., is available from the Cowansville Penitentiary.

At the request of the Worthy Matron, Mrs. May George presented a 50-year pin to Mrs. Muriel Holden on behalf of the Chapter. Mrs. Holden was initiated into Pinnacle Chapter exactly fifty years ago on September 14, 1927. Mrs. Holden thanked the Chapter and expressed her appreciation for the friendship and happiness she has enjoyed during her membership.

After the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Hilda Wilson and her committee of Mrs. Nellie Bell, Mrs. Helen Hastings, Mrs. Helen Ramsay and Mrs. Natalie Patton.

The next meeting will be held on the third Wednesday in October.

Jolly Twelve Club

AYER'S CLIFF — The Jolly Twelve Card Club was pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Mable Cooper for their September meeting. Mrs. Cooper was hostess for Mrs. Gwen True of Lennoxville.

Cards were played at three tables and prize winners were: 1st, Mrs. Elsie Whitcomb; 2nd, Mary Davies and consolation, Opal Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Voggenreiter were guests for the evening and Mrs. Voggenreiter won the 9 no-trump prize.

A basket lunch was served and a pleasant social period enjoyed. Friends of Gwen were sorry to learn that she had a fall and injured a finger. All hope she will be fine very soon.

COOKSHIRE

Mrs. E.S. Heatherington

Mrs. Sarah Bewick, Lennoxville, was a recent guest of Mrs. Ida Currier.

Mrs. Thelma McGuire, Nashua, N.H., Mrs. Hilda Paquette, Newport, N.H., and Mrs. Pearl Robins, Claremont, N.H., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Stanley of Gaspe were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lebourveau, and with the Lebourveaus, attended the Geary-Stanley wedding in Bulwer.

Mr. Donald Richardson, Bramalea, Ont., was a recent guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDermott have returned home after spending two weeks in Collingwood, Ont., guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Page and Mrs. F.B. Cooke.

UCW Fall Rally held

SAWYERVILLE — The Scotstown area U.C.W. Fall Rally was held in the United Church here on Sept. 15 with 55 ladies attending. Registration was looked after by East Clifton.

Coffee and doughnuts were served in the Sunday School room by the Sawyerville ladies.

The meeting opened at ten o'clock with a welcome from the area vice-president, Mrs. Muriel Prescott, by Mrs. Rena Lassenba, Pres. of our U.C.W. and from the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterial Pres., Mrs. Muriel Archer.

The hymn, Rise Up O Men of God, was sung and a get-acquainted game was in charge of Birchton.

A report was given of the Summer Event by Mrs. Marie Nutbrown and Mrs. Marjorie Pinchin.

A Reading was given by Mrs. Alphia Lowry on Ministry after which discussion groups were formed when members listed their talents, which were many, and showed so many ways of helping others, the sick and shut-ins, elderly, blind or anyone who suffers misfortune.

After lunch a sing-song was held with Mrs. Claris Phillips and Mrs. Mary Scholes leading, when many favorite hymns were sung.

A play, the Minister's Coming, was put on by the Bishopton ladies.

Reports were heard from the different church committees and told of the many things done to help the sick and elderly.

Books and literature were on display with many sales. Miss Lane gave her report and told of the many things carried by the Book store in Lennoxville.

Mrs. Ladd of Scotstown extended thanks to all who had made the day so pleasant.

The Worship Service was in charge of Bury and consisted of scripture readings, prayer and several readings pertaining to the Theme of the day, Ministers All.

The collection was taken by Bulwer ladies.

The meeting closed and tea and cookies were enjoyed, before leaving for home.

UCW meeting

SOUTH DURHAM — The U.C.W. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. Jackson with 11 members present. The Board of Sessions meeting was also held.

Muriel Watt, President, opened the meeting by all repeating the U.C.W. Purpose in unison, followed by Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Jackson gave the devotional theme, "Unhurried," followed by reading a poem entitled, "Why God Made Little Girls."

Roll call and minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Correspondence, letter of thanks from Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Clark. Also letter from Mrs. Corrine Winget with a donation of $10.00 towards our supper.

Mrs. Reg Webster gave the treasurer's report.

The afghan, made by Mrs. Ivy Picken, was on display and tickets are to be sold on same. This is to be raffled on Oct. 22 at our fall tea and bazaar.

Presbyterial Rally took place on Sept. 19 at Chalmers United Church, Richmond.

Final plans were made for Harvest Supper, being held on Sept. 28.

Thanksgiving and Communion Service to be held on Oct. 9, at which time the Church is to be decorated for Thanksgiving.

Lunch was served by the hostess and a social hour was spent.

Next meeting will be at Mrs. Lloyd Millar's on Oct. 12.
