Lapalme Stays On As Leader

MONTREAL (CP) — Georges Lapalme, reversing a decision to resign the leadership of the Quebec Liberal opposition, says he will lead the party at the second session of the 25th provincial legislature opening in Quebec City Wednesday.

He made the announcement Sunday night at a banquet closing the third annual meeting of the Quebec Liberal Federation. He called for Liberal unity at national and provincial levels.

Mr. Lapalme, who represents Montreal Outremont in the legislature, also said he hopes to announce soon the date and place of a general convention where delegates from all levels of the provincial party will decide the party leadership, revamping of policy if necessary, and relations between the federal and provincial organizations.

The decision to call the "plenary conference" within 12 months was taken Friday night at a caucus attended by the executive and the candidates who contested the 93 seats in the June 10, 1956, provincial election.

APPROVE AFFILIATION

Mr. Lapalme's plea for national and provincial unity followed adoption of a resolution by the more than 600 delegates calling for affiliation with the national Liberal organization.

The 50-year-old lawyer did not dwell on his change of mind about the leadership, but urged provincial Liberals to develop unity for a fight against the Union Nationale government of Premier Duplessis who he said was "public enemy No. 1."

He compared the 17-man Liberal representation in the legislature to a small army platoon heading into the line of fire. The Union Nationale party holds 73 seats.

His banquet address was much milder than the one he made at Saturday's opening session when he called on delegates to stop fighting among themselves and to concentrate on "exposing the failures" of Premier Duplessis.

RECEIVES OVATION

He announced plans to resign as party leader two weeks ago in Sherbrooke, Que., after membership of the Quebec Young Liberal Federation adopted a resolution calling for a party convention to select a new leader.

World News In Brief

EASTBROOK, Me. — (AP) — Two hunters died and two others escaped Sunday when fire swept their hunting cabin about three miles from here. Police said an oil burner exploded and enveloped the wooden cabin in flames.

NICOSIA, Cyprus — (Reuters) — The nationalist newspaper Ethnos quoted "reliable sources" Sunday as saying Archbishop Makarios will return to Cyprus before the end of December. He had been living in Athens since Britain released him from exile in the Seychelles Islands where he was confined on charges he was implicated in the anti-British terrorist movement on Cyprus.

MELBOURNE — (Reuters) — Supply Minister Howard Beale Sunday night announced a joint Australian-British project to launch long-range missiles hundreds of miles into the upper atmosphere at the Woomera rocket range. The 200,000-square-mile range in Central Australia had been used for short-range rocket projects and has been concentrating recently on intermediate range missiles.

ST. THOMAS, Ont. — (CP) — Fletcher S. Tommy Thomas, member of the Ontario legislature for Elgin and a former provincial agriculture minister, died Saturday night at his home here. He was 60.

LONDON — (Reuters) — Canadian Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness left by air Sunday night for Montreal on his way home from Rome, where he attended a meeting of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization. He said that although there had been a certain amount of alarm about the European free market, the general opinion seemed to be that it would not adversely affect Canadian exports.

C.C. Urges Highways Master Plan

GRANBY, Que. — (P) — Preparation and publication of a master plan for Quebec highways was urged by the Quebec Chamber of Commerce at the end of a two-day special meeting on the subject this weekend.

About 200 delegates met under Mayor Horace Boivin of Granby, chamber president to discuss roads.

The meeting unanimously passed resolutions calling for the master plan plus one urging that the highways minister be delegated authority to handle town planning along highways.

Another asked that bridges, now the responsibility of public works, come under the highways department and that a transport committee be formed to make suggestions on which the government would be able to base its highways master plan.

The meeting suggested regional recommendations be submitted to the transport committee.

44 People Missing

Three Flares Sighted In Airliner Search

HONOLULU (AP) — The U.S. coast guard late Sunday night reported three separate flares sighted on the dark Pacific—renewing hopes of finding some trace of the Pan American Strato-cruiser that vanished with 44 aboard.

Far-ranging navy radar-equipped Constellation reported seeing two flares at different points—one 540 miles west of the plane's position when it radioed routinely Friday night before disappearing. The other flare was slightly west of that.

A third flare was reported sighted by an air force plane about 340 miles west of the Pan American airliner's last reported position. It was described as a white flare.

Surface vessels—crossing a 150,000-square-mile checkerboard—were directed to the flare positions. The submarine Carbonero expected to reach the 540-mile position about daybreak.

Earlier, hope had flickered and faded with a report of the sighting of a yellow dye marker, "a flare and something red" at a spot 425 miles west of the airliner's last position.

Hours elapsed before two ships reported that nothing could be found at that spot. They redoubled their search the area several hours. A coast guard spokesman said re-evaluation of the sighting—reported by a lone airman—indicated it could have been a school of whales instead of a marker, or possibly other fish.

The airliner, "Romance of the Skies," carried 36 passengers and a crew of eight on its flight from San Francisco toward Honolulu Friday.

Bricklayers' Faces Red As Stone Too Big

LONG BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — Bricklayers' faces were as red as the brick in their new union hall.

Members of local 13 of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union gathered Sunday to lay the cornerstone and dedicate the building.

Secretary John J. Murphy placed the mortar in the hole prepared to receive the granite stone.

Brother bricklayers hoisted up the stone. It was too big for the hole.

So they carted it back to the old union hall and rescheduled the ceremonies for Nov. 20, by which time the hole will be enlarged.

Fire Guts Vimy Street Apartment

By GERALD McDUFF

Seven families were left homeless in a three alarm, $100,000 fire that gutted a three storey apartment building at 554 Vimy St. last night.

It was the second major fire of the weekend. Firemen were called on another general alarm Saturday night to fight a blaze that threatened the Parthenon at 175-195 Marquette St. (See page 3 for story and pictures).

No one was injured in last night's fire but some 20 people who were in the Vimy St. building when the fire broke out were evacuated. Occupants of the second and third galleries. The building was owned by Raoul Pare, of Thetford Mines.

The building and the tenants' belongings were a total loss. Tenants of the building are as follows:

Ground Floor—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Heilig, their son, Louis, 8, and their daughter, Robin, 2. Mrs. Heilig and her son who were alone in their apartment made their escape through the front door.

Second Floor—Mr. and Mrs. William Kershaw, a son and two daughters, were not in the apartment at the time of the fire.

Third Floor—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Portelance, their daughters, Helen, 12, and Rita, 10. All the Portelances were in the apartment entertaining guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Lavallier, of Farnham, and Virginia Fuller, 11, and were caring for Penina Lobel, 5, and her brother Abraham, 15 months. All left the building by firemen's ladder.

Third Floor—Rabbi and Mrs. Norman Lobel were in Montreal when the blaze occurred and had left their two children with Mrs. Portelance.

Occupants of a basement apartment, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Joubert, who have no children, were not in the building.

The initial fire alarm was turned in at 5:18 p. m. by Mr. Portelance who noticed smoke curling up from beneath the carpet in his apartment. He stumbled through smoke-filled hallways from his third-storey dwelling and made his way to the street.

"I got down the stairs somehow," he said, "but I don't know what happened. We didn't save anything."

Mrs. Portelance said they continued On Page 7

How Can The US Catch Up?

Copyright 1957 by The AP
Editor's note: Speaking for the first time since the Russians started shooting up satellites, a U.S. missile expert, director of the development operations division of the army's Redstone Arsenal, answers questions on the state of American space program.

How can the United States catch up with Russia's lead in the race into space?

In the opinion of Dr. Wenner Von Braun, neither a project like the Manhattan, which developed the A-bomb, nor the release of great sums of money will help much at this state.

The scientist headed up development of the German V-2 rocket which battered London during the war. In recent years, he has been in charge of army research which has led to the Jupiter-C, designated last week to carry an American satellite into space.

ENOUGH FACILITIES
Answering a question as to whether a Manhattan-type crash program would help overcome Russia's lead, Dr. von Braun said in a question and answer article for The Associated Press:

"In the missile field . . . we have practically all the facilities we can intelligently use. Several projects are handled by several teams, each of which is in a different geographical location. Any attempt to dislocate or combine these teams must necessarily lead to immediate interruption of the work, with resultant delays."

About more money:
"I believe that, by and large, our five key ballistic missile programs (Jupiter, Thor, Polaris, Atlas and Titan) could not be speeded up appreciably by increases in funds. . . ."

"This statement does not apply to many badly neglected fringe areas of our ballistic missile and satellite programs. First and foremost, there is a crying need for more money for basic and applied research in these areas."

"Secondly, while adequate funds are available for the clearly refined missile weapons systems, there is never enough to 'advance the art.' A typical example is that we don't have a real powerful rocket engine today simply because none of our present crash missile programs need it. But in order to beat the

Nearly 150 Homeless As Fire Sweeps Parthenon Building

SAVES VALUABLE GIFT

R. J. PORTELANCE RANG ALARM

VIMY ST. FIRE VICTIMS

No Serious Injuries In Centre Ward Fire

Fire, resulting from a cigarette tossed carelessly into a garbage disposal unit in the basement, swept through The Parthenon, a five-storey building of one and two-room apartments located on Marquette street adjacent to St. Charles Seminary, early Saturday night, leaving at least 130 persons homeless and causing damage estimated by fire department officials at $75,000.

Fortunately the fire, breaking out about 6.40 p.m., occurred while all occupants were up and about and all were evacuated without anyone suffering serious injury.

The fire, breaking out in a small lobby used to convey garbage from a chute to the incinerator in another part of the basement, spread rapidly up the garbage chute and a skylight well and within five minutes had reached the roof. By the time the alarm had been turned in it was raging through the walls and floors of the ancient structure.

Fifty firemen, including off-shift men summoned by radio and television appeals, fought the blaze for over three hours before it was brought under complete control. Every piece of fire-fighting equipment from the three city stations answered the three-alarm call and it was not until 9.30 p.m. that the fire had been controlled sufficiently to permit the first unit to return to its station. But it was not until 6.30 Sunday morning that the last truck and crew, under the direction of Lieut. L. P. Harton, left the scene, the all-night vigil was maintained because of the treacherous nature of the blaze, which lodged between the walls and the floors.

APARTMENTS GUTTED
 Although the walls and ceilings, from basement to roof, throughout the building were heavily damaged by smoke and water and gaping holes were cut in many places as firemen sought to extinguish the hidden blaze, the firefighters were able to confine the worst of the fire to a number of apartments on the third and fourth floors adjacent to the skylight well.

Heavy damage was also caused to the roof, which was opened in at least a dozen places to permit the entry of fire hose and spray equipment.

The occupants of at least half a dozen apartments lost all their belongings and furniture although a majority of the residents were able to salvage most of their smoke-and-water damaged property after the fire had been extinguished.

Returning to her apartment to rest, she smelled smoke and examined the closet in the room.

Finding no fire there, she opened the door into the hallway — the apartment being located next to the incinerator shaft — and saw burned paper flying about the corridor.

Shouting "Fire, fire fire," she left the building with a neighbor, Mrs. Paul Vaillancourt.

At the main entrance, she was met by Father Roger Pelletier, who offered them temporary haven in nearby St. Charles Seminary, where many more of the dispossessed also found overnight lodging.

Others were housed by friends and relatives throughout the city.

Neither Mrs. Lafontaine nor Mrs. Pelletier were able to save any of their belongings.

SOMETHING SAVED
 More fortunate was Miss Antoinette Letarte, whose apartment was located on the ground floor.

She noticed fire coming through the shaft and was able to remove her furniture before smoke filled the room.

Guy Lapointe, a second-floor resident, arrived home at 7.30, shortly before water started to enter his apartment, also managed to save all his furniture.

To Miss Royer, living in apartment 24, the greatest worry was a gift that had been prepared for presentation to Mr. Georges Cambron, who is leaving shortly for Brazil.

Once this had been saved by a fireman, she went away content.

The only casualty appeared to be an unidentified woman who fell over a fire hose while removing some of her possessions.

Rushing towards a waiting taxi, she tripped on the hose, suffering slight injuries to the right shoulder and leg.

NEW EQUIPMENT USED
 This fire saw the aerial ladder acquired by the department some time ago in use for the first time.

Lest We Forget...

Each year when Armistice Day services are held in communities across Canada, the number of men and women with buttons and decorations denoting service in the two world wars of our time is smaller. At the same time, the number of onlookers to whom 1914-18 is only a date in the history books and who have only a hazy recollection of World War II grows larger.

It is important, therefore, to keep in mind the significance of November 11. It is more than just an occasion for old buddies to get together to recall the days of their glory. It is more than just another excuse for a parade.

November 11 is the day when Canadians give thanks that this country, with its allies, emerged triumphant from two bloody and costly wars that shook our Western civilization to its foundations. It is also the day when we remember that thousands of our fellow Canadians gave their lives fighting to preserve the way of life they knew and to help create a better world out of the chaos of war.

If a better world has not been created, it is the fault of those who survived those wars. November 11 is the day on which all Canadians should dedicate themselves to the tremendous job of seeing that those who gave their lives did not do so in vain.

"Lest we forget..."

One-Man Rule

Not since the death of Stalin in 1953 has any serious student of Soviet communism doubted that sooner or later the struggle for power among his successors would lead again to one-man rule. The only question was who the man would be.

Recent developments in Russia make it unmistakably clear that Nikita Khrushchev is trying to be that man. But, though he has given Marshal Zhukov a cynical shove toward the abyss, Khrushchev is not yet triumphant.

Indications from Moscow suggest that Zhukov still has important support in the Red Army hierarchy. Khrushchev must effectively snuff out that support before he can truly be said to have consolidated his hold upon the powerful military.

As a matter of fact, Khrushchev even before the Zhukov ouster as defense minister was still busy completing his purge of the supporters of Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich, whom he sent into limbo last spring.

The business of making oneself a dictator is no overnight affair. Stalin was occupied with it from the mid-1920's until 1938. Khrushchev still may have a considerable distance to go.

But it is revealing of the ugly, unstable nature of Soviet communism that in his effort to get there he had to cast into political, if not total disgrace, the Soviet war hero, Zhukov.

The charges lodged against the marshal add up to one thing: He was guilty of putting the Red Army above the Communist party, and above the party boss, Khrushchev.

In the latter's book, this is a double sin. To the extent that he fought party influence in the army, Zhukov placed himself directly athwart Khrushchev's personal quest for the dictator's scepter.

But even if the party boss had no such goal, the marshal could still be faulted. For in a Communist government there is no room for divided allegiances of any sort. There can be but one authority, and all others — army, church, rival parties — must be either crushed or held subservient.

In Russia the party is that authority. It has and will accept army help toward its goal of power. But it will not share the spoils, nor allow its supremacy to be challenged.

Nevertheless, the way of the would-be dictator is never easy. Rivals may be crushed but new ones rise in their place. Menace lurks behind every pillar in the Kremlin. Brother Khrushchev has his work cut out for him.

Behind Zhukov's Ouster

A Ghost Haunts The Kremlin Bosses

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Much of the mystery of the Zhukov affair is a ghost story.

For years the Soviet Communist party has been haunted by the spectre of some latter-day Napoleon rising from within the armed forces to impose a military rule above the party dictatorship.

While other factors probably were involved, the basic cause of the latest Kremlin blow-up probably lay in the long history of conflict bred by the structure of the Soviet military system itself.

The humiliation of Marshal George K. Zhukov, toppled as defense minister in a Kremlin crisis, demonstrated there is always a possibility the Russian revolution — like the French a century and a half ago — might have its Bonaparte.

Why did Khrushchev act just in advance of the Nov. 7 celebration of the Bolshevik revolution's 40th anniversary?

The only answer which seems to have any logic is that the party and its leader, Nikita Khrushchev, felt sudden fear. Perhaps they suspected Zhukov was ready to assert his authority.

With thousands of troops on the march in Red Square, and with the party leadership concentrated in one place atop the Lenin mausoleum, Nov. 7 could have been a propitious moment.

With the destruction of the separate secret police army after the 1953 purge of its chief, Lavrenty Beria, a balance of power accrued to the regular army. It made the rise of a Bonaparte more a possibility than ever before.

To understand the background of the Zhukov case, one must go back almost 40 years. On April 2, 1918, during the civil war following the revolution, Leon Trot-sky persuaded Lenin to issue a decree creating political commissars.

Trotsky, as chairman of the revolutionary military committee, feared czarist officers and men he had to use as a nucleus for the Red Army. The commissar's job would be to watch them.

After Lenin died and Stalin ousted Trotsky in a power duel, Mikhail V. Frunze became armed forces chief.

Frunze became a nuisance to Stalin. At the dictator's insistence Frunze had to undergo a medical operation against his doctors' advice. He died.

Klementi Voroshilov became armed forces chief. But the real army brains were Marshal Mikhail Tukachevsky and Marshal Vassili Blucher. In 1937 Tukachevsky and Blucher fell in the great bloodbath purge which sent thousands of army officers to their deaths.

Stalin perfected a new system of commissars. A political general would match the commander of each army, each corps, each division. A political colonel would match a regimental commander. In the Second World War, Stalin assumed supreme command of the armed forces. In effect, Zhukov was the top soldier and co-ordinator, as first deputy defense minister and chief of the general staff.

Zhukov protested the political commissar system, insisting on "unity of command." By 1941, with German victories raising doubts and discontent, regular general officers joined Zhukov in protest. Stalin relaxed the system and the commissar became a political aide and watchdog.

But when the tide started to turn against the Nazis, Stalin reinstated the old system.

Zhukov, back from exile to an Odessa command to which Stalin had banished him because of his popularity, continued to protest the dual command. By this time, all general officers and high-rank-

TAKE-OUT LEADS TO SLAUGHTER

East looked at his collection of trash and held his breath when his partner made a business double of the two-heart contract. Fortunately, he held his breath long enough to pass.

West opened the king of trumps and continued with the queen. Declarer took that trick with the ace, cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs and led a spade to his jack. West grabbed the ace, played another trump and then led a low diamond. East played the queen and returned the suit, so that eventually South was down four tricks plus the hundred honors.

North and South blamed each other for the tragedy and have asked me to assess the blame.

South contended that his one-heart response to the double was all right and that North should not have raised him with only three hearts. He also contended that North should have run to two spades.

North's contention was that South should have bid two clubs in response to the take-out double and should have run to three clubs after the double of two hearts.

ing commanders were Communist party members. Why, then, was it necessary to continue to separate line of party command, since party control was already assured?

But Communist leaders always have been suspicious of the professional soldier.

There are many millions of war veterans in the U.S.S.R. Zhukov has been their vastly popular hero. As defense minister — head of all the forces — was in a post more powerful than any other Khrushchev could have offered him. Probably from Khrushchev's standpoint, the break had to come. Zhukov had become too big.

I must assess the major blame to South. His partner had made a take-out double and South had a perfectly satisfactory two-club response. The weaker your hand the more it is your duty to make your normal response to a take-out double.

However, I must also give North a little blame. North really did not have a heart raise and he should definitely have gotten off the hook when West doubled. Things would be just as bad at two hearts if South held a fourth baby heart, but two spades could not be slaughtered.

Inco Research helps Canada grow

In Inco's new matte separation process, the molten matte comes from huge Bessemer converters to the casting and cooling building in 14-ton ladles. There, it is poured into brick-lined cooling moulds and covered with insulated steel hoods. During the cooling period, while the matte solidifies, nature works her magic. At the end of the controlled cooling cycle, the nickel and copper sulphides have each formed into separate crystals.

Inco Research solves the "riddle of the rock"

New method developed for separating nickel and copper in Sudbury ores

The "riddle of the rock"—how to separate nickel and copper when they are both present in the same ore—had plagued mankind for centuries. It confounded early attempts to produce copper from the ores mined near Sudbury, Ontario.

The Orford process of separating nickel and copper helped put the Canadian nickel industry on its feet and served it well for many years.

Recently Inco developed a new and better method of separating the nickel and copper present in the Sudbury ores. After careful study, involving hundreds of laboratory experiments and a long period of pilot plant operation, Inco research found a way to put nature to work solving the "riddle of the rock".

Inco metallurgists discovered how to cool molten matte under carefully controlled conditions so that the copper and nickel sulphides form into independent crystals which can be separated by conventional means.

The new matte separation process is another example of the way Inco research is finding better ways to find, mine, smelt and refine Canada's great store of mineral wealth.

Future Cars Longer, Wider But Not Lower

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT (AP) — Passenger cars of the future may vary some more in length and width but they are not likely to be much lower.

Some of the 1958 cars have been cut down to as little as 54 inches in over-all height. Most others do not exceed 57 inches. Road clearance ranges from 5 1/4 inches to 8 1/4 inches. By contrast the famed Model T stood 80 inches high and had a road clearance of slightly more than 10 inches.

Generally the lower silhouette has been achieved without sacrificing interior headroom, principally by lowering the seat and flattening out the roof. In some instances, too, the floors have been lowered.

One of the effects of the lower silhouette and the means by which it has been achieved is that passengers sit closer to the floor. In some makes lowering of the floor brings a higher and broader hump through the middle of the floor to accommodate part of the transmission and the propeller shaft.

NO GOOD FOR THREE
This has brought the criticism among some industry analysts that three adults cannot ride comfortably in the front seat. The hump, the critics say, forces the knees of an average adult above normal sitting position. It cannot be straddled without interfering with the driver's essential footwork.

Actual road clearance at the rear axle has not been materially altered. There has been some criticism, however, that some models with longer rear overhang present problems moving up sharp inclines. This could bring a need for levelling or lifting devices such as are part of most of the newly-developed air suspension systems.

The lowered silhouette has the effect of making the cars appear longer without actual increase in bumper-to-bumper dimension. However, some of the 1958 models have been increased as much as eight inches in length.

LACK OF HEAD ROOM

Many models were criticized last year for their lack of headroom, both in front and rear compartments. Lowering of the seat level has corrected this in most instances in the 1958 cars. In other instances tops have been widened slightly so that the passenger at either side of the rear seat has as much headroom as the one sitting in the centre.

In any event the over-all effect has been pleasing to the eyes of most industry chroniclers.

There never has been a time in auto industry history when the stylist has been more important than now. The industry's merchandising managers agree eye appeal is a major sales factor. They do not underestimate the importance of engineering advances but they say styling attracts many buyers.

It also is fairly well agreed in trade circles that much of the Ford and Chrysler success during the 1957 model year was due to their advanced styling.

Duncan of Bedford will be the speaker and the choir of Stanbridge East United Church will provide the music. The morning service in the United Church at Stanbridge East will be cancelled and the congregation and all friends are invited to attend this anniversary service in memory of the pioneers who established the chapel in 1842. Lennoxville High School

For the last two weeks Lennoxville High School has been buzzing with activity. Sports have been in the limelight as our four basketball teams copped a full slate of games from Bury and Sherbrooke High School over the past weekend. Our intermural sports programme is now in full swing with every one of the High School grades sporting a basketball team. All the intermural sports are played at noon so as to provide some sports activity for those pupils who stay for lunch.

The Curtis Magazine Plan proved to be a most successful one this year as the Students' Council netted approximately $340 during their ten day campaign. The Student Body wish to take this opportunity to express to all those who subscribed to magazines during the drive, their most sincere thanks.

Last Thursday evening a full program of parties was on tap for the event - Hallowe'en. Festivities got under way early in the evening as the Junior grades gathered to play games and compete for Hallowe'en favors. The Intermediate grades then met for a short while after which a dance for the High School was held in the cafeteria.

November 4th to November 8th, has been set aside as Sadie Hawkins week - the week that the boys live for from year to year. Throughout the remainder of the week the girls are expected to perform all the menial little tasks sometimes performed by the boys. The occasion also calls for most ridiculous dress on the part of the girls. The Festivities will be culminated Friday evening with the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance to be held in the High School Gym.

FOOTNOTES FROM L.H.S.
No further news on a High School play-looks like another spring play. Not too much from the "Lyre" either-let's keep the yearbook rolling. Students' Council President, Martha Hurley and Grade Eleven representative Bill McElrea are off to Students' Council Convention in Montreal this weekend. Let's see everyone buckle down during the next couple of weeks and pass those exams.

Australians Step Up War On Dingoes

By COLIN SINCLAIR
MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Australia is stepping up the war against dingoes, the wild dogs which cost the country millions of dollars a year in livestock losses.

Aircraft are being used in the latest phase of the battle to spread poison baits over thousands of acres of dingo-breeding land.

Aircraft chartered by the New South Wales government dropped 20,000 strychnine-loaded baits over a state forest 80 miles from Newcastle in one recent drive. Graziers say that the forests owned by the government shelter the dingoes.

RAAF HELPS
The Australian Air Force is co-operating by spreading poison baits in areas of Victoria inaccessible from the ground because of the rugged terrain and therefore ideal for dingo breeding.

With myxomatosis, Australia has exterminated uncounted millions of rabbits, a far more serious economic menace than any other imported pest. But this reduced the dingoes' food resources so that they now are making greater inroads into domestic stock.

Dingoes are cropping up in numbers in places where previously they were almost unknown. Last year, several were trapped at Healesville, only 40 miles from Melbourne, where there is a population of more than 1,500,000.

HUGE LOSS
In Queensland, the estimated value of stock lost each year is $3,000,000 Australian ($6,720,000). To keep the menace in check, the government has closed in nearly half of Queensland's 670,000 square miles of grazing land inside what is believed to be the world's longest wire fence to protect 18,000,000 sheep and 700,000 head of cattle.

There are 3,500 miles of this six-foot-high wiremesh fence. It links up with a similar fence which extends across the top of South Australia. The two fences have been erected in such a way that it is hoped they will prevent the dingoes from working south and east.

But fences do not kill, and inside them as well as beyond the barriers the fight must go on against a beast which kills for lust as much as for food. The vicious, courageous "yellow dog" runs true to wolf form. Some aborigines can use him as a hunting dog, but there is never complete domestication.

Just as an enormous oil pipeline carries petroleum from producer to consumer, so does a giant medium carry goods from advertiser to consumer. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The newspaper pipeline is the shortest distance between advertiser and buyer. It functions without setup, carrying sales messages to an average 100,000,000 people daily.

The complete and constant coverage that newspapers guarantee every advertiser is one of the reasons that prompt advertisers to place an overwhelming emphasis on newspapers. Last year all advertisers spent $3,235,600,000 in newspaper advertising—more than they spent in television, radio, magazines and outdoor combined!

If you want a steady flow of your products to your consumers, use steady advertising in the daily newspaper. It's the most efficient and direct pipeline.

CNS Transfers Fleet To Trinidad Registry

MONTREAL (CP)—The eight-vessel fleet of Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships was transferred out of Canadian registry during the weekend, thwarting a four-month seamen's strike.

The move practically wiped out Canadian flag deep-sea shipping and raised the possibility Canadian longshoremen would refuse to handle cargo carried by the federal government fleet.

General manager J. A. Sauve announced Saturday CNS had taken the strike-bound ships out of Canadian registry and will register them in Port of Spain, Trinidad. All have been used on West Indies runs.

The move means the striking Seafarers' International Union (CLC) no longer has jurisdiction over men hired by CNS.

REJECT OFFER

Mr. Sauve said the move was rejected by SIU vice-president Hal C. Banks of a new CNS offer to settle a contract dispute. Wage terms were said to be 50 per cent higher than those suggested earlier by an arbitration board whose majority report was accepted by CNS but rejected by the union.

In Saint John, N.B., district vice-president John Galbraith of the International Longshoremen's Association said ILA locals will have to decide by member-vote whether to work the CNS ships. He said if any one of the ILA ports voted against handling the ships, all others would be bound by the union constitution to do the same.

The ILA holds contracts on ports in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Quebec.

"As far as I'm concerned," Mr. Banks said, "everything is status quo. We don't know of any trans-

Tie-Up Of Lake Ships Threatened

MONTREAL (CP)—A wholesale tie-up of Great Lakes shipping was threatened Sunday night by President Guy Chartier of a striking St. Lawrence river pilots union.

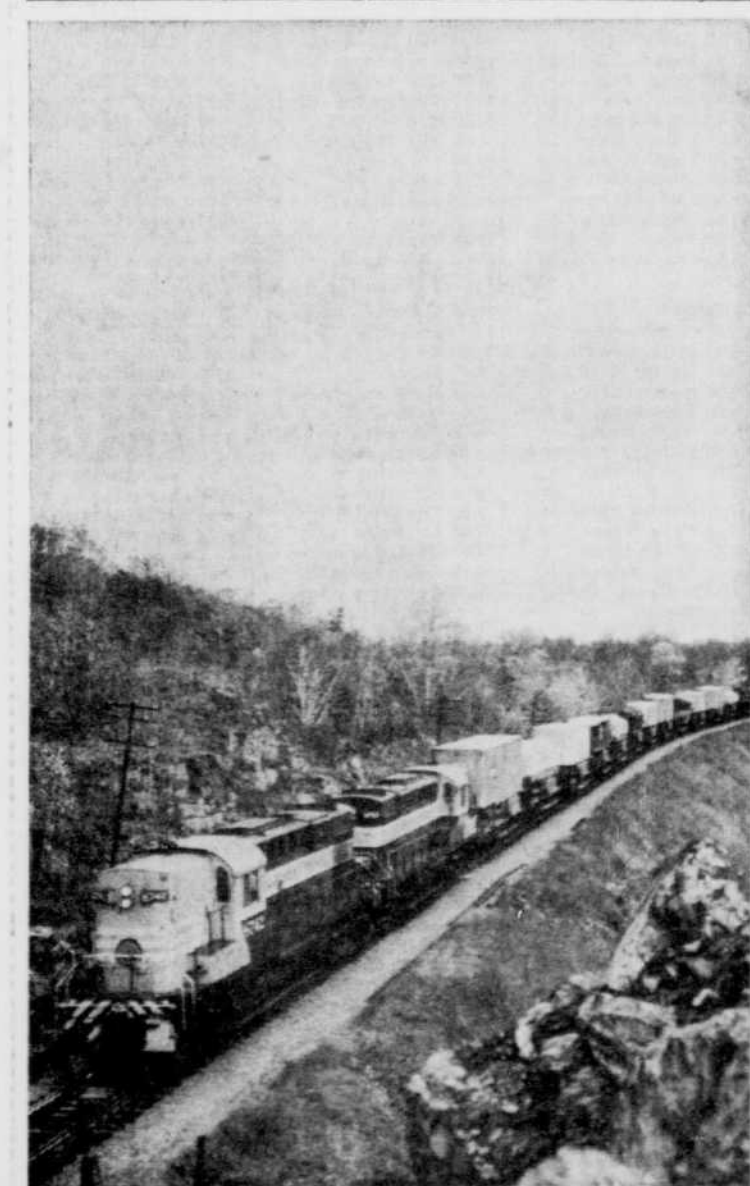

Chartier said longshoremen and pilots in the United States would back up the strike of 52 members of the St. Lawrence - Kingston - Ottawa Pilots Corporation for job security and better working conditions.

Shipping so far has been moving fairly regularly with experienced ocean skippers piloting their own way while talks go on between the corporation, the Canadian government and the Canadian Shipping Federation.

Capt. Rolla Johnston of Cleveland, president of the Masters and Pilots International Organization was scheduled to meet the Canadian pilots today to discuss the proposed strike.

"We will start with ocean shipping only," Chartier said. Domestic vessels would be affected later unless the pilots demands are met. If both ocean and domestic vessels are struck and longshoremen co-operate, almost all inland shipping would be halted.

The pilots main demands are: compulsory use of pilots when the opening of the St. Lawrence seaway makes inland navigation easier, and more pilots in the pool to avoid seasonal overwork.

ON THE PIGGYBACK TRAIL — Canadian transportation's recent marriage of rail and highway finds the Canadian Pacific Railway operating solid piggyback trains in both directions between Montreal and Toronto, carrying the trailers of a number of well known trucking firms and from their destinations in Canada's two largest cities. Fast, overnight services permit pick-up of trailers after close of business and guarantees their delivery in the other city before the start of next day's business. Specially-designed roller-bearing flatcars carry the trailers.

McGill Principal To Speak Before Graduates Group

The St. Francis Valley Branch of the McGill Graduates Society will hold its Annual Meeting in the New Sherbrooke Hotel on Saturday evening, Nov. 23. The guest of honour and speaker will be Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University. Dr. James has just returned from an extensive tour of the Far East and it is expected he will give a review of his experiences in these far removed countries. Because of world conditions as they are today, Dr. James' address should be of extreme interest to all who attend.

The meeting will take the form of a dinner preceded by a reception where all members and friends will have an opportunity of meeting Dr. James and his party.

Reports of Branch activities during this year will be presented and election of officers for 1958 will take place.

leader was greeted with a standing ovation from banquet guests among whom were federal Liberals, including former transport minister Marler and former St. Lawrence seaway head, Lionel Chevrier.

Because of illness, Mr. Lapalme did not lead the party at the last session of the legislature. His place was taken by Rene Lapalme, Liberal member for St. Maurice.

Mr. Chevrier, who represents Montreal Laurier in the Commons, addressed the banquet before Mr. Lapalme and congratulated the federation on its decision to join the national body. He spoke at length against Canada's Progressive Conservative government and urged Liberals "never to cease exposing the fraudulent tactics, the dishonest promises and the ill will" of the Progressive Conservatives.

NATO MPs Discuss Defence

PARIS (Reuters)—Legislators of the 15 North Atlantic pact nations met here today to discuss building up the Western defence alliance against the threat of a new war.

Delegates to the six-day annual conference of NATO parliamentarians — an advisory group — opened a week of debate on reports drawn up by committees appointed by the body at last year's session.

The political committee report, presented today, urged the Western powers to meet with leaders of uncommitted nations of Africa and Asia in a bid to seize from the Soviet Union leadership in world affairs.

The report, given by British Labor MP Geoffrey de Freitas, also called for closer unity among European members of NATO. NATO cannot emerge as a "community," the report said, if the United States "is repeatedly confronted with differences of policy between the 13 Western European members."

A-BOMBS NOT ENOUGH

The military committee warned in an explosive report circulated during the weekend that NATO's reliance on atomic weapons open to conquest by Soviet ground forces.

The report of the committee, headed by M. Z. Gilson of Belgium and Lt.-Gen. H. M. Calmeyer of The Netherlands, will not be debated by the full conference until Friday, but committee members met today to discuss it.

The de Freitas report said that if NATO countries want to transform the alliance into a community, "then closer unity between the countries of Western Europe is essential."

Divisions of opinion among European members since the war has made it inevitable that the United States is forced to support the viewpoint of some members against that of others, it said.

Such a situation was bad for NATO as a defence organization or as an emerging community. The report ruled out the theory that Western Europe could form a strong community to act as "an independent third force" between the United States and Russia.

as the half-ton Sputnik sped around the earth at altitudes running up to more than 1,000 miles.

The Tass report said Sputnik II's two radio transmitters now are dead and that direct reports no longer are being received. It said nothing about Laika.

Sputnik II was launched Nov. 3. The newspaper Evening Moscow said Sputnik I and its carrier rocket had finished more than 550 circuits since their launching Oct. 4. The radio on Sputnik I has been dead for some time.

In Cambridge, England, Dr. Alan Nunn May, who was convicted in 1946 of giving British atomic secrets to the Russians, said he was ready to volunteer to go aloft in a space satellite in the interests of science.

May, who was released after six years in prison, waved aside any suggestion that he helped give the Soviets the lead in space technology. May worked in Montreal in Canada's early atom effort. He was convicted as a result of Canada's royal commission investigation into espionage in 1946.

NEW LEADER FOR ONTARIO LIBS?

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver is to put his post at stake so "those who feel the policy of the Ontario party needs a jacking-up" can have their say.

He told the Eastern Ontario Liberal Federation Saturday he will open his post to bids at the annual party convention in Toronto next April 18 and 19.

IGA Spends $10 Million On Expansion

TORONTO — Nearly $10 million has been spent so far this year for new construction and modernization by members of the Independent Grocers' Alliance organization throughout Canada, according to J. F. Damore, vice-president and Canadian general manager.

"In addition to this, new stores to be constructed between now and the end of the year together with the complete modernization of other existing IGA retail outlets and certain supply depots will mean a further expenditure of nearly $2 million more," Mr. Damore asserted.

The construction and modernization program has included all of the eight provinces in which IGA operates. The first nine months of 1957 have seen one of the biggest expansion of IGA facilities of any year since the organization first came to Canada in 1953.

NO SERIOUS INJURIES

At the height of the blaze, the 50 fire-fighters under Director Percy Donahue had 2,400 feet of 2½-inch and 1,000 feet of 1½-inch hose in use, with at least one line and sometimes two being assigned to each floor and the roof. Several spray jet and fog nozzles, boosted by the 850-gallon pump, were also in service.

HISTORIC BUILDING

The Parthenon has been one of the landmarks of Sherbrooke, sections of it dating back to the late 1870's, although the main section which suffered the heaviest damage was built in 1907 as the mother house for the Sisters of the Holy Family, an order founded by Very Rev. Mother Marie Leone, who came to Sherbrooke from New Brunswick in 1895 to establish the congregation.

The case for the beatification of Mother Marie Leone is now being studied by the ecclesiastical authorities.

About 1930, the Sisters of the Holy Family moved to their new mother house situated on Galt street west and since then the building has been operated as a private enterprise by Rev. Father Maurice Fortier.

Father Fortier said that he intends to rebuild the structure and hopes to have some sections of it habitable within the next three days.

Russians in the race for outer space we absolutely need it—and the development of such an engine requires several years."

Dr. von Braun made it clear that if the U.S. is to overtake Russia in the satellite and missile fields, there are several things which must be done:

"... In the ballistic missile field the United States, about two years ago, embarked into an all-out crash program which will be difficult to substantially accelerate beyond its present pace.

In the satellite field, we need a well-planned, long-range national spaceflight program which makes maximum use of rocket hardware (propulsion systems, guidance systems and airframes) emerging from our ballistic missile programs.

STEADY POLICY

"This program must be backed up by a firm budget which permits its steady prosecution over a period of several years. Even with no holds barred, I think it would still be well over five years before we could catch up with the Soviets again, because they are not likely to idly sit by in the meantime."

Dr. von Braun was asked about the training program for scientists in Russia and the United States.

He said he is "convinced that the Sputniks will give Russia's science education program an additional, most powerful boost. I can only hope that it will give the United States' science education program an even greater boost, because we need such a boost badly."

RETURN FROM SPACE

Dr. von Braun said development of "a suitable heat-protecting envelope... for the re-entry into the atmosphere of warheads of ballistic long range missiles" has importance in future military thinking.

He explained that this envelope — President Eisenhower displayed a nose cone in a televised address Thursday night which he said had been into space and back and is still intact — makes it possible "to restore the satellite with sufficient accuracy to land within an area the size of European Russia."

"Mastery of this recovery technique in itself does not constitute a threat to the United States. It should rather be considered as an important detail achievement within the framework of an obvious all-out effort by the Soviets to establish themselves as masters of the space around us.

Herein lies the real threat to our security, and only the immediate enactment of a well-planned, determined U.S. space flight program can neutralize it."

POST-WAR LULL

Explaining why the U.S. trails Russia, Dr. von Braun said: "There was no ballistic missile development program in the United States between 1945 and 1951 because there was no obvious need for it, no interest for it, and no money for it. And it will be hard to catch up now on those lost six years."

Von Braun worked on U.S. missile research from 1949 on. He and 400 colleagues had fled to Bavaria to escape from Russian capture and had given themselves up to U.S. forces.

He now heads 130 former German missile scientists at the Redstone Arsenal.

Von Braun said he thought it would be possible for the United States to launch a satellite with the military rocket power now available, but that it would be two to three years before a U.S. missile would hit the moon.

He said it would be four to five years before there was a U.S. manned flight to an orbit in space and back to earth again.

FIRE GUTS VIMY

main concern was to get the children out.

"We got all the people on the back gallery and we came down the firemen's ladders." Evacuees were quickly lodged with neighbors.

SECOND ALARM

The second alarm was rung at 5:25. However a few minutes later an explosion ripped the front of the building scattering glass, brick and debris across the street and behind the apartment.

Two firemen standing in front of garage doors at the back were hurled some ten feet by the impact of the explosion but were unhurt.

Ald. Everett Nicol, chairman of the Protection Committee, and Jacques Lemieux, P. Eng., were standing in front of the building when the blast occurred. Ald. Nicol was thrown to the street but neither he nor Mr. Lemieux was injured.

With the third alarm at 5:32, all available firemen and equipment were mobilized except for a small crew that remained at Station No. 1.

CAUSE UNCERTAIN

The Fire Department has not ascertained the cause of the fire but it is believed by well informed sources to have been started in the heating system.

Firemen reported that the blaze began in the basement and spread to the upper floors through the chimney encasement. They said the explosion was caused by an accumulation of smoke and water condensation. The building janitor, Arsene Morissette, who lives at 1212 Russell St., told firemen he checked the furnace at 5 o'clock but did not know what could have caused the blaze.

HEAVY SMOKE

Heavy smoke billowed from the building as firefighters smashed windows and doors to prevent a second explosion. Flames were mostly contained inside the apartments as firemen poured water on the walls and interior to stop the fire from spreading to a nearby house.

Crowds ignored the cold wind and light snow to watch firemen at work.

In an interview, Laurent Blais said that he became aware of the fire when his neighbor, Mrs. Heilig, knocked on his apartment door. He said he opened the door and smoked poured in. He then went to the closet but the fire was there also.

He said he, his family and a guest from Montreal, Clement Martineau made their way to the back gallery and escaped.

WEST SUTTON

Mr. and Mrs. Colin Macey of Loxton, were recent guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sturgeon, prior to leaving from Dorval for England where Mr. Macey has a business assignment in London. Canadian Legion Has 63,000 New Members

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Legion has gained 63,000 new paid up members so far this year.
The reason, in two words: community service.
As it prepares to make another Remembrance Day Nov. 11, the Legion has 215,000 paid-up members and approximately 35,000 more who are late with dues which, across Canada, average $5.50 annually for each veteran. Three years ago, Legion membership was little more than 100,000.

Says David Luther Burgess, MC, 67-year-old Legion president: "There used to be a time when Legion branches confined themselves to providing amusements for themselves, such as darts and bowling and snooker and the like."

WIDENED ACTIVITIES

"There have been some branches, of course, that have been doing community service work for a long time.
"The Legion's real community effort, though, began only a couple of years ago.
"After the Second World War, most veterans had to get settled. They got married. They had to find jobs. They've raised children. Now they're members of a community and finding they can play a part in community service."

Mr. Burgess, a First World War airman who flew his first mission after only 15 minutes' air training, has continued to hammer at the theme of community service.

Since he became president last year for a two-year term, he has travelled nearly 60,000 miles in Legion work.

"Our work isn't front-page news, you know. One branch will sponsor a scout troop or a hockey or baseball team. Another will start a school for retarded children. We tell about these things in our magazine (The Legionary, circulation 215,000) and they give ideas to other branches."

INTEREST IN YOUTH

"Today our 2,000 branches are doing all sorts of community work, mainly with youth. Even where a branch hasn't the resources for a project, it gets other service clubs interested."

"Take the branch at Winchester, Ont., with only 60 members. It gave $1,000 for a new rink. Then it gave a $1,050 piece of equipment to the new hospital there. Then it contributed to Hungarian relief."

Only one-fifth of Legion branches have beer or liquor licences.
"Once in a while a branch gets into the hands of poor managers, the authorities close it up and we get one hell of a lot of bad publicity," said Mr. Burgess. "But usually a new executive takes

OVER AND OVER UP THE BUSINESS

LEGION'S MAIN WORK

The Legion doesn't confine its activities to helping veterans and veterans' dependents.

Last year, for instance, more than 70 per cent of the thousands using the Legion's service bureau were not Legionnaires. The bureau's main work is establishing claims for government pensions and allowances.

Mr. Burgess, who receives no salary, was born near Toronto and enlisted in the 188th Battalion at Prince Albert, Sask., in the First World War. He won the Military Cross as an observer in the war with the rank of captain and became a soldier-settler 20 miles from Prince Albert.

In 1930, he came to Ottawa as private secretary to Hon. Robert Weir, then minister of agriculture. He retired recently as the department's chief supply officer.

For seven years, he was on the board of trustees of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, the last two years as chairman.

WARM AREA

Average yearly temperature range at Brisbane, Australia, is between 37 and 98 degrees.

Prior to the giving of reports, Miss Hand expressed congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Walsh, of Montreal, on the occasion of the ordination to the priesthood of their son, Rev. Thomas Deegan Walsh, C. S. C., which took place in Rome, on the Feast of Christ the King.

And to Miss Ave Walsh and family, aunts and uncle of the newly ordained priest.

Mrs. E. J. Wolfe, convener of spiritual activities, announced that several reservations had been made for the closed retreat, which took place at the Villa of the Blessed Sacrament, over the weekend.

She reported that $20 had been spent for flowers for the altar on the feast of Christ the King and the Forty Hours and she thanked the members for maintaining the guard of honor in St. Patrick's Church, on both occasions.

Reports of visits to ill in hospitals and homes were: St. Vincent de Paul, 26; Sherbrooke Hospital, 80; homes, 11; Sacred Heart Home and d'Youville, weekly numbering 78, with distribution of oranges and other treats. Six rosaries and 40 magazines, to hospitals.

Education - 2 meetings of Book Club were reported by Miss V. Campbell, who passed on suggestion made at national convention, that more study groups be started to keep all informed on doctrine; and the reading of the Pope's encyclical and Catholic papers and magazines.

Work done by 9 members, giving 87 hours, at Cancer Dressings Service, from Oct. 8, to Nov. 5, comprised: 2654 dressings 4 X 4; 1006 - 6 X 8; 1004 - 8 X 12; 1000 - 6 X 6; gauze, 600 yds.; cotton cut - 31 pcs., 17 X 24; 64 pads - 17 X 24; swabs - 30 bags. Mrs. E. Morin reported an additional worker, Mrs. O. C. Smith.

Mrs. O. Levesque reported the very successful salad tea and announced the Christmas tea will take place, Saturday November 30, with a food table, gift table and Parcel Post, and a fish pond for children.

Mrs. T. Wdowiak requested helpers for packing boxes of clothing, candy and treats for various Missions in Western Canada and Sisters of Service.

The amount of $5 was voted to Can. Legion for purchase of C. W. L. wreath which was placed on cenotaph on Sunday, by Mrs. D. H. Patton. $15 for supplies for ditty bags for sailors; and $10 for gift table, were voted.

Following the business session Rev. Julian Clark inaugurated a series of talks on the Holy Eucharist, in preparation for the Archdiocesan Eucharistic Congress to take place in Sherbrooke, in 1959.

Father Clark was welcomed back from his trip to Europe, by Miss Hand, who also expressed the thanks of the members for his very inspiring lecture.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Earl Wiles and Mrs. L. Dion, assisted by members.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

If one couple has invited another couple to their home to watch a sports event on TV, the women shouldn't chatter so much the men can't hear what is going on. If the women are more interested in talking than in the program, they should go to another room.

That way both the men and the women can enjoy themselves.

Four Regents Reign Over Dior Kingdom

PARIS (Reuters) — Four regents have succeeded the late Christian Dior on the throne of haute couture.

The Dior fashion house said Friday that for the time being it will continue under the collective leadership of this team:

Yves Mathieu St. Laurent, 21, Dior's successor as chief designer; fabric specialist Raymond Zenerack, "soul" of the house; technical specialist Marguerite Carre, and glamor expert Madame Bricard.

The Dior house spokesman said the new team reflects the last wish of Dior, who died Oct. 23 while vacationing in Italy.

The quartet already is running the Dior kingdom — the fashion house and the 28 workshops on the Avenue Montaigne off the Champs Elysees.

GALA EVENT — Under a false ceiling of camouflage nets with balloons and branches depicting a forest, the Sherbrooke Regiment (12th Armored) RCAC were hosts to a glittering gathering at the annual Armistice Ball held in the William St. Armoury on Saturday night. With the regimental colors forming a backdrop, the regiment's orchestra under the direction of bandmaster, WO1 J. O. Lewis CD, provided music for dancing. Seen above in the receiving line are Lt.-Col. and Mrs. E. P. Hall, CD., Col. and Mrs. J. N. Wood, MBE, ED, and Capt. and Mrs. J. H. Blue, CD. Mrs. Hall wore a deep green satin gown, the low neckline accented with a band of soft pleats. Mrs. Wood was in a floor length gown of printed black silk having a square neckline and Mrs. Blue wore a strapless gown of Dior blue taffeta. (Record Photo by Gerry Lemay)

Marriages

JOHNSTON-ROUTER

COWANSVILLE — The marriage of Murray-Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Router of Cowansville, to Mr. George Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Johnston of Brome, Que., took place on Saturday afternoon, at three o'clock in Trinity Anglican Church, Rev. J. O. Peacock officiating. Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums arranged with oak leaves were used to adorn the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of Dior blue lace over taffeta. Her short veil of tulle illusion was held by a matching coronet and she carried a cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Wallace Holden, as matron of honor, wore a frock of champagne satin faced with crystal and matching hat and accessories, and she carried a bouquet of yellow shasta mums.

Mr. William Johnston acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. William Doe of Drummondville and Mr. Wallace Holden of Sutton.

Mrs. Router, the bride's mother, was in a gown of sapphire blue peau de soie, with which she wore a matching hat and a corsage bouquet of bronze mums.

Mrs. Johnston, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of grey crepe, with a black hat and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

Following the reception, held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left by motor for the Southern States, the bride travelling in a charcoal grey suit with a soufflé hat and wearing a corsage of deep pink carnations.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Buchanan, and Mrs. M. Myles of Toronto.

Fashion Expert Deplores Current Men's Styles

NEW YORK (AP) — Men who complain about their wives' new gowns and dresses might well take a look at themselves, says John Cobb, a young man who has violent ideas about current men's styles.

"The man in the grey flannel suit with the ivy league shoulders should grow up," says Cobb, whose shoulders are more the football type. "The limp look is all right for college boys, but after graduation men should get out of the ivy league and into the big league. They should take their clothes problems on their own shoulders—and if they haven't any shoulders, they'd better get some."

Cobb, a former actor, producer and director of stage and screen plays, has been creating a minor uproar in men's sporting circles

Quadruplegic Conducts Thriving Business

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charming Katharine Cook conducts a thriving office service business here, handling her share of the work from a wheelchair.

Five days a week she arrives at her downtown office and gets down to business after cheery greetings to her small staff of typists and secretaries.

President of Katharine Cook Ltd. since it was formed in 1954, she is a quadruplegic, her legs paralysed and her arms partly crippled. Her partner is Beverley Thomas, vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the firm—a quadruplegic since she suffered a broken neck some years ago.

Their staff of two full-time and three part-time employees who are not handicapped, have to step lively to keep up with the output of the "management."

Born in Stratford, Ont., Miss Cook grew up in Vancouver. In university here she tackled a double major in English and history, and graduated with a BA degree in 1948. Three months later she was stricken with polio.

recently with his new approach to sports clothes, which, he says, should be designed for the purpose they are supposed to fulfil. He believes in the he-man look in sports shirts, with plenty of room for hoisting a rifle or swinging a golf club.

"Men who go around in sports shirts printed with passion flowers and sunsets ought to be restrained by law," he said.

She was placed in an iron lung, and her weight went down to 60 pounds, but her morale remained high.

She spent three years in hospital and was treated for three months in a rehabilitation centre "where I learned new ways to do things with the muscles I had left, and they weren't much."

For the next three years she marked grade eight correspondence papers for the B.C. education department, getting around in the wheelchair which now had become a permanent fixture.

Her company was the outgrowth of a protest. Roy C. Douglas, Vancouver businessman whose son had broken his neck in a fall, felt it was necessary that handicapped persons, especially those in wheelchairs, should be able to get employment.

He helped to establish a holding company which was designed to develop other companies in which handicapped persons could get consideration. The Katharine Cook company was its first act.

Katharine has trained her hands to fly accurately across the keyboard of an electric typewriter, and she can operate most kinds of office equipment.

"I had to prove I could do it," she said. "That's why business firms can find good, productive employees among paraplegics. They must prove they can do it."

Help Daughter Redecorate Her Room

If your growing daughter's room is not the example of shining order and femininity it might be, encourage her to apply some of her high-school home economics lessons to transforming it.

It's good practice for a future homemaker to plan a color scheme, shop for furnishings within a predetermined budget and do at least some of the painting and sewing that may be necessary.

To get her started, you may need to offer suggestions for specific color schemes, for finished effects that will look pretty but not take forever to complete nor be too elaborate for simple care. Here are some concrete suggestions that sparked the attention of high school girls I know.

Because the bedspread is the largest item in the room, it often sets the color scheme. The variety of lovely, inexpensive, ready-made bedspreads is immense.

In an "example" room we did, we settled on a feminine pink-and-white color scheme. From the array of new spreads we picked a tufted pink-and-white check with a slender silver thread brightening its surface. White cotton fringe trims the hemline.

It's washable, of course, and fluff-dries without ironing. The snowy white tufts are of crimped rayon, which doesn't lint or mat.

MATCHING cafe curtains for the window were ensembled with a new skirt for an old vanity, made from an extra pair of the curtains. In this case, several inches were clipped from the curtain to make it the right height for the vanity. The skirt, threaded onto a flexible curtain rod at tached to the vanity top, is trimmed across the top with a strip of white cotton fringe.

From the scraps, it's easy to fashion a simple drawing bag—a wide tube of fabric stitched to a circular base with a heading at the top for a cord—to serve as a decorative laundry bag for lingerie.

The top of our vanity is stained and scratched. But this can't be seen under its pretty new pink-and-white marbled covering of self-adhesive plastic.

PAINT is one of the most useful disguisers of age and wear in old furniture. And it's considerably easier to work with than strippers and refinishers. I don't suggest slapping a coat of paint on a fine old piece. But the still-serviceable, not-so-fine and somewhat battered table or chest can be freshened and brought into the color scheme with paint.

Where there are moldings, carvings or irregular surfaces, paint in spray cans gives a professional-looking finish. A second-hand mahogany-stained end table, spray-painted white, was an easy and inexpensive answer for a bedside table.

Other candidates for the paint spray besides furniture are framed mirrors, picture frames and lamp bases. If a vanity mirror needs touching up, mask the mirrored surface and spray on white, gold or the desired color.

Not much floor shows in a small room, so a dash of vivid color in a small rug can be used to lend sparkle to the setting. In our "example" room, we added an oval crimped-rayon scatter rug in a clear raspberry shade. Such rayon scatter rugs range the spectrum, coupling a luxurious pile with a modest price tag.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL redecorates her room in pink and white. Old vanity gets new fringe-trimmed skirt, marbled top of self-adhesive plastic. Spray paint converts mirror in gold, table in white. Spread and vanity skirt are lintless and washable.

Discrimination Exists But On Lesser Scale

MONTREAL (CP)—As racial discord flares at Little Rock, Ark., a Montreal labor official conducted a coincidentally-timed survey among some of Canada's oldest Negro communities.

Little Rock is not likely in this country, Sid Blum said on returning from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. A main reason, he concludes, is that Canada's population of about 24,000 Negroes is too small.

Discrimination against them exists in varying degree and most Canadians are unaware of it, he said in an interview. Housing, employment and such commercial services, as barbering and restaurants are the chief areas.

DIRECTS PROGRAM

Mr. Blum, 32, is director of the human rights committee of the Canadian Labor Congress and director of the Jewish labor committee.

Born in New York and a veteran of Second World War United States Army action he came to Canada 10 years ago. He graduated from the University of Toronto with a master's degree in sociology.

He spent 14 days visiting Halifax, Truro, New Glasgow and Sydney in Nova Scotia and Fredericton and Saint John in New Brunswick. He regards Nova Scotia as especially significant.

"Nova Scotia has special Negro discrimination problems because it has most of the Maritimes' estimated 9,000 Negroes," he said. "There are about 5,000 in Montreal, 5,000 in Toronto and Nova Scotia has the highest percentage of long-established communities."

He talked confidentially with more than 40 persons — Negro community residents and leaders, union officials, academic and government representatives. His reports reflect views ranging from apathy to anger, resignation or frustration. But a majority said they feel things are better now than they were.

Mr. Blum calls the Negro an "obvious discrimination." Automatically stamped by his color, he faces barriers far more readily raised in his case than they would be in discrimination based on religious, cultural or non-colored racial grounds.

ACCEPT BARRIERS

Most Negroes have come to accept these barriers, living usually in a community where the church generally is the focal point and the residents are reluctant to risk unnecessary humiliation or hardship outside. Most he said, are preconditioned to behavior least likely to rub against discrimination bounds.

In most Nova Scotia centres visited, Negroes lived exclusively apart or in poorer sections shared with whites to varying degrees. Few moved. His reports indicated that real estate agents either discouraged Negro business or rejected it.

Employment discrimination struck chiefly in the white-collar zone, Mr. Blum was told. Most of Nova Scotia's Negroes are laborers or low-skilled employees in steel mills, railways or dockyards. Some farmed.

Government offices provide certain clerical employment if there are vacancies and the Negro applicant is qualified. Negroes tend to rely on these to save time and trouble.

Government and school placement officials summed up efforts to find spots for Negro clerks, secretaries and similarly-trained personnel with these sample attitudes from private firms:

"The staff wouldn't work with them." "How do I know how the customers will react?" "I sympathize but why ask me to pioneer?"

HOSPITALS CO-OPERATE

Hospitals had shown willingness to take on Negro nurses in training when qualified applicants are available. But well-qualified Negro graduates of business schools might find advertised vacancies suddenly filled when they appeared in person.

New Glasgow, Halifax and Sydney seemed the most severe areas of white-collar discrimination. Truro Negroes tended to emigrate if they wanted to branch outside the usual Negro occupations.

Barber shops constituted a sharply drawn discrimination area, Negroes agreed generally. Some had worked out private deals with white barbers, others had hair cut in their homes or in Negro shops if they existed. A minister recalled being refused service in a new town and the barber apologized the next day when he found the minister was a fellow lodge member.

Restaurant discrimination seemed reduced but there were the usual reports of resorts suddenly full up when race became evident and of dance hall bans.

The Narcotic Addict And Problem We Face

By BERNARD GAVIER

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph X is a narcotics addict. He began his journey into this special world at the age of 16.

"I tried pot," he said. "Most of the guys in my class smoked it."

A year later, in 1951, Joseph in one big step moved from smoking marijuana to taking heroin. That's like switching from milk to wood alcohol.

"There was no more bump in pot," he explained. "So I tried horse."

Once he was hooked, Joseph became a full-fledged member of the narcotic addict's world.

In that world, he found that cold turkey wasn't something left over from dinner, but meant undergoing the horrible illness suffered when suddenly cut off from dope supply.

He found that as well as being prayed upon, he must prey. Heroin dreams don't come cheaply. So like many another addict, Joseph sank into crime.

To get $10 for cash a man must steal $40 worth of goods. That's the usual rate of payment in underworld trade. Caught on this grim treadmill to satisfy their craving, addicts cause a staggering amount of crime. In the case of women, they frequently resort to prostitution.

HOOKED FOR LIFE

And having realized the bitter price of addiction, Joseph X discovered an equally bitter truth—being hooked, he was hooked for life.

"Maybe I'm dying standin' up, but I can't kick it. With the junk, everything is great, real great."

Such words could come from the mouth of any addict. Multiply them by 50,000 and you have the number of known addicts in the U.S. Chicago, one of the main wholesale centres, has more than 7,000.

The going price for heroin in Chicago is $3 a deck or bag. This is the adulterated product.

Because of extensive cutting with milk sugar and quinine all along the line from the importer to the pusher the actual heroin content of one grain is about 1.5 milligrams. By medical standards, the proper dosage for analgesic action (pain-killer) is from two to five milligrams. So the addict really doesn't get much heroin.

POINT OF CONTROVERSY

How to tackle the narcotics problem is a point of controversy

Ti-Cats Pull Surprise Play To Catch Riders Off Balance And Win 13-12

Bombers And Calgary Play To 13-13 Tie, Clash Today In Second Fixture Of Two-Game Total-Point Playoff

WINNIPEG — "It was almost as good as a win," said tackle Floyd Harwood of Calgary, summing up Stampede 13-13 tie with Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night in the first game of their two-game, total-point Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final.

"When a club can go into its own park no worse than even, then they're in pretty good shape," Harwood said outside the dressing room after the game.

Stampede and Bombers moved into Mewata Stadium at 2 p.m. MST today for the second game of the series. The winner will meet the league champion Edmonton Eskimos in the best-of-three final starting at the home of the triumphant semi-finalist next Saturday.

Bombers had to come from behind to gain the deadlock with the Stampede, who were 16-point underdogs. Down 13-4 at three-quarter time, Winnipeg scored nine points in the last 15 minutes.

LINE SPARKLES

While Calgary outstruck and outpassed Winnipeg, it was the big Stampede line which emerged the heroes of the rugged battle before 12,392 fans at Winnipeg Stadium.

If any individual star was to be picked, it was end Bryan Enggram, who time and again put the rush on Bomber quarterback Kenny Ploen and scored Stampede's first touchdown when he blocked a kick and fell on the ball in the Winnipeg end zone.

Lynn Bottoms scored Calgary's other touchdown on a pass from Ron Clinkscales—a play that carried 48 yards. Bud Korchak booted one convert.

Bombers, ahead 4-0 at the first quarter but down 7-4 at the half, got their lone touchdown in the fourth quarter when end Frank Gilliam took a 12-yard pass in the end zone from Ploen. Ploen also converted. Gerry James scored five points on a field goal and two singles—both on missed field-goal attempts. Charlie Shepard booted a single.

St. Pat's College Of Ottawa Came Up With Final Quarter Drive To Dump Bishop's 40-12 To Clinch Title

OTTAWA — (Special to the Record) — Scoring 20 points in the final quarter, St. Pat's College walloped the Bishop's Gaitsers 40-12 in an Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Conference game, played Saturday in Ottawa.

The victory, their fourth in a row, clinched the conference title for the Irish who have piled up an amazing record of 121 points scored, while having 13 scored against them.

The game was played on a wet muddy field, with snow threatening to fall, and a bitter wind making passing almost impossible. For three quarters it looked as though the Gaitsers might score an upset, but in the final period their defenses collapsed, and the Capital City squad notched three touchdowns.

Nevertheless, this was the Gaitsers best performance of the year, and until the final quarter had piled up more yardage than their opponents. Unfortunately several key injuries, early in the game, weakened their defensive unit which tired badly in the closing minutes of the game. Tackle Bill Carsley and defensive end Malcolm Hughes were the injured players, and will probably sit out next Saturday's game.

St. Pat's fielded a strong heavy team who did everything with a vengeance. Their blocking and tackling were vicious, and they had several backfielders who could run over tacklers, without bothering with deception. Their highly touted halfback Gord Ventura piled up 10 points, on a touchdown, three converts, and a single. However, he was not their most effective threat. A 220 pound fullback, Mike Doucette, played havoc with the Bishop's line, as he ripped up the centre for several first downs.

For Bishop's Pratt played his best game of the season, and more than once threatened to break loose for a touchdown. Halfback Andy Davis took a severe pounding running through the line, as did Henderson, whose 60 yard run paved the way for the Gaitsers' first touchdown. McMoran called a steady game from the quarter slot, but the wind and cold affected his passing attack.

St. Pat's struck hard and early. A poor punt by Bishop's gave them the ball on the Gaitsers' 25 yard line, minutes after the kickoff. From there Ventura drifted out of the huddle on a sleeper play, caught a beautiful pass on the 15, and romped over unopposed. He converted his own touchdown, and the Irish led 7-0.

They added another major score soon after, when Pratt missed another punt. Two line bucks moved the ball inside the Gaitsers' 20 yard line, and from there, with several Bishop's tacklers chasing him, quarterback Roydon Kealey tossed a perfect strike to Tom Ray in the end zone. The convert attempt was wide, leaving the score 13-0.

Bishop's offense got underway at the end of the quarter, with Henderson breaking away for a long run, carrying the ball to the Irish 30. An end run with Pratt carrying failed, but after the teams had changed ends, Pratt threw to Jim Fullerton in the end zone for a touchdown, which was unconverted.

St. Pat's got their third driving 80 yards along the ground in eight plays. It was a play which misfired which actually set up the major, as Ventura, who was heaved in behind his line, twisted away from several tacklers and scampered down the sidelines to the 5 yard line. From there Kealey crashed over centre for the touchdown which Ventura converted, leaving the score 20-6 at the half.

The third quarter was all Bishop's, but they were only able to score once. Several times they drove down the field only to be stopped just short of pay dirt. Finally a combination of two pass plays, and a nice run by Davis, moved the ball to the 10, and Pratt carried over for the touchdown, also unconverted, as the ball hit the uprights.

Bishop's collapse began soon after the final quarter began. The first touchdown was scored on a wide pitchout to John Chiarrelli, who ran behind beautiful blocking to score. Ventura converted, making it 27-12.

A recovered fumble on Ventura's 55 yard punt led to another major, with Gillespie plunging over from two yards out. Ventura missed the convert, but on the kickoff, with the wind, he drove the ball deep into the end zone, and Andy Davis was stopped before he could get across the goal-line. Doucette notched the final major, on a short run through centre. Ventura converted and the final score was 40-12 for St. Pat's.

Highlights

The wind was blowing right up the field, making it very difficult to judge the flight of the ball on punts and kickoffs, with several fumbles resulting, mostly by Bishop's. The wind also tended to carry passes over the heads of the receivers.

The number of offside mistakes has been a sort of record, with St. Pat's jumping the gun 11 times, and Bishop's 9. Apart from this there were several other penalties called, mostly against the Irish.

With only two or three exceptions the St. Pat's team will be back next year, and should be favoured to repeat this year's winning performance.

University Of Western Mustangs Cop Intercollegiate Title With 8-1 Victory Over McGill Redmen

University of Western Ontario Mustangs displayed a powerful ground attack and a tight pass defence Saturday to defeat McGill Redmen 8-1 and win the senior intercollegiate football championship in the final game of the season.

The title is the first in four years for Western but the 10th since the school entered senior competition and the eighth in the last 13 years under coach Johnny Metres.

The Mustangs swept through the season undefeated — six league victories and two exhibition wins—scoring 215 points while allowing only 42.

University of Toronto Blues, behind the power of halfback Pete Maik, defeated Queen's Golden Gaels 18-3 at Toronto in Saturday's other fixture. Maik scored a touchdown, kicked a field goal and convert and threw a pass for another convert as the Blues evened their record at three wins and as many losses while the Gaels absorbed their sixth straight loss.

Western relied on fullbacks Bill Britton and Dale Creighton at London and threw only three passes, completing one for two yards. McGill quarterback Dick Carr went to the air in the final half but completed only nine of 22 attempts.

Art Turner's punt and Britton's second-quarter touchdown accounted for the Western points. Jan Sandzelius kicked a single in the third quarter to McGill in the scoring column.

Browns Crush Steelers To Retain Top Spot In Eastern Conference; Los Angeles Trip San Francisco

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland Browns dealt a crushing blow to Pittsburgh Steelers' hopes for the National Football League eastern conference leadership Sunday, defeating them 24-0.

Cleveland remains on top of the eastern conference with six wins and one loss. Pittsburgh fell from a chance to tie for the leadership to third place.

Defending champion New York Giants held on to second place in the conference, defeating Chicago Cardinals 27-14 on the play of two 10-year veterans, quarterback Chuck Conerley and field-goal kicker Ben Agajanian.

In the western conference, Los Angeles Rams tripped the leading San Francisco 49ers 37-24. Baltimore Colts and Detroit Lions kept the race tight by winning their respective games to tie for second place, two points behind San Francisco.

The Colts stopped Washington Redskins 21-17 on a touchdown by quarterback Johnny Unitas with 50 seconds to play, and the Lions, led by veteran quarterback Bobby Layne, who threw three touchdown passes, defeated Philadelphia Eagles 27-16.

In the other league game, Chicago Bears defeated Green Bay Packers 21-14.

Eskimos Cop Little Big Four Title

The Little Big Four Football League completed their 1957 season Saturday morning and Mike Leprohon's Eskimos walked off with the championship by virtue of their unbeaten skein of victories.

It was the first season the Eskis competed in the league and Coach Leprohon did a fine job with his crew of youngsters. They marched through the schedule without tasting a single defeat. The league was enlarged this year when the demand by the youngsters increased compared to last season and President Evans and his executive decided to add one more club.

The Eskis won their final game Saturday 6-0 on a touchdown by Steve Edwards. The Ticats failed to put in an appearance and after the kickoff half Edwards picked up the ball to gallop over with the game-winning touch.

In the second tilt, of the usual Saturday morning twinnish, the Rough Riders posted a 12-3 victory over the hapless Argos before a small crowd of spectators and a few parents.

Harry Mathews tallied the first touchdown when he snared a fumble. The convert failed. A little later Ernest Hurley rouged a Rider half behind his own line and the score was 6-1 at the end of the first half.

In the second half David Covey got out around the end and streaked 40-yards to put Riders further ahead 12-1 after the convert failed. They never looked back from there. Wayne Colburn pulled in a nice toss and went 40-yards on the pass-and-run play.

At this point the Argos' line stiffened and help to gain the ball. Covey got away again but failed to accomplish anything. Jone intercepted a forward and went 20-yards to the Riders' twenty-yard stripe but they failed to go over. On the next exchange Mathews broke through to tackle the Riders' quarterback for a safety-rough just before the final whistle sounded to end the season and give the Rough Riders a 12-3 victory.

Minor Ball Shows Drop In Attendance

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—Minor league baseball attendance declined slightly this year from the 1956 figures, president George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs said Saturday.

The 1957 games, including playoffs and all-star attractions, drew 15,498,684, an average of 80,294 for the 193 clubs. A year ago 212 teams drew 17,031,069, an average of 80,335. That's a drop of 41 persons a club on the average.

"Considering the frightful weather that plagues so many of our clubs during the early season, I think the attendance was not at all discouraging," Trautman said.

The International League, which drew 1,981,887, led the minors in attendance, the greatest since 1952 when the Pacific Coast loop attracted 2,164,195.

Third Down Pass At Centre Field By Cam Fraser Paves Way For Victory; Argos Blank Als 27-0 In Dull Tilt

Toronto Argonauts may claim some credit for Hamilton Tiger-Cats' first-place finish in the Big Four Football Union this year, that is apart from lying down and playing dead whenever the teams met during the regular schedule. It concerns a play Argonauts used while beating Montreal a week ago.

It was a third-down situation with punter Reg Meserve passing complete to quarterback Gerry Doucette, a play that caught the Als flat-footed. Ticat coach Jim Trimble, probably filed it for future reference when he heard of it.

Trimble didn't have to jog his memory Saturday when a similar situation arose in Ticats' schedule-ending game with the second-place Ottawa Rough Riders. It worked and Tiger-Cats went on to win a story-book 13-12 thriller over the Riders as the clock was ticking off the final seconds of the game.

Meanwhile, Argonauts met Montreal in a nothing game at Montreal and won 27-0, the first time the Alouettes have been shut out since 1952. The Als were assured of third place and Argonauts, out of the playoffs a long time ago, were playing for next year's contracts.

At Waterloo, Ont., the best-of-three Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union final opened with Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen defeating London Lords 14-8. London coach Indian Jack Jacobs said he will protest the game because he believes the Dutchmen used an ineligible player—tackle Roger Seisal. Jacobs claims Seisal is ineligible because he hadn't played a previous league game this season.

They had five yards to go on third down and Cam Fraser, who trots on to the field for punting duties, took his accustomed position. Rough Riders spread out and played deep. Fraser took the snap and passed to Billy Graham for a 27-yard gain.

Riders, and probably no one in the park, smelled the play. Fraser hadn't thrown a forward all year.

The fired-up Tigers got to the three-yard stripe on five line plays and Gerry McDougall went over for his eighth touchdown in the 14-game schedule. Fraser had kicked a single in the second quarter and Steve Oneschuk two field goals in the third for the other Ticat points.

TOUGH LOSS

The loss was a heart-breaker to Riders who had notions of receiving the bye into the finals.

They were about 40 seconds from it on a first-quarter touchdown by Tom Dimitroff, three singles by Ron Quillian, also in the opening 15 minutes, and a field goal by Gary Schneider in the last quarter.

Alouettes rested or played infrequently several of their top performers in the season's finale before 20,300 fans at Montreal.

Argonauts were in control throughout and touchdowns by Bobby Kuntz, Dick Shatto and Bart Moll, with two field goals and three converts by Vic Kristopaitis, accounted for the scoring.

Montreal's Notre Dame De Grace Wallops Halifax St. Mary's 37-0 To Advance Into Eastern Finals

MONTREAL — Montreal's Notre Dame de Grace Maple Leafs picked up Sunday where they left off last year, thumping Halifax St. Mary's University 37-0 in the semifinal round of the eastern Canada junior football championship.

The same Leaf squad last year clobbered the Maritime champions 56-0 and lost 65-0 to Toronto Parkdales in the final.

Montreal scoring honors were divided among end Ray Thompson, quarterback Bob Anderson and backs Ray Milley, Milan Zippy, Eddie Rubin and Walter Lenz.

Leafs could only complete one of six attempted converts. Halifax blocked four and one was wide.

St. Mary's didn't reach Montreal territory until the start of the second half and weren't close to the goal line until the dying minutes. The gun sounded as fullback Bob Shea was stopped inches from a touchdown.

SAINTS' LINE WEAK

Leafs, Quebec champs for seven of the last nine years, rolled through St. Mary's line at will. They preferred the ground, attempting only 12 passes and completing four, one a 36-yard touchdown toss from Anderson to Rubin in the end zone.

Halifax, relying on the arm of quarterback Pete Young, completed 12 of 34 attempts, most for short gains. The long pass didn't click against a combination of Leaf defence and frigid fingers.

Temperatures were in the 20's, the field soggy. There was little wind.

Leafs travel to Toronto Saturday to meet Parkdales in the eastern final. The winner plays the still unknown western champs the weekend of Nov. 23 for the Canadian title.

Oklahoma Tops Missouri To Remain Unbeaten And Win Bowl Spot; Ohio Tops Purdue; Notre Dame Battered

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten Oklahoma defeated Missouri 39-14 Saturday and became the first U.S. college football team to ensure a spot in a bowl game.

The win was No. 47 in a row for the Sooners. They will represent the Big Eight conference in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1 against an Atlantic coast conference team.

Ohio State moved a step closer to the Rose Bowl by defeating Purdue 20-7 for a 5-0 Big 10 conference record.

Defending champion Iowa crushed Minnesota 44-20 and Illinois scored a squeeze upset by defeating Michigan 20-19.

Michigan State battered Notre Dame 44-6 in a non-league game.

In the Ivy League, Princeton whipped Harvard 28-20 with two touchdowns in the final quarter and Dartmouth stopped Columbia 7-0.

Penn won its first game of the season by embarrassing Yale 33-20 and Virginia Military Institute, one of the strong teams of the southern conference, dropped Lehigh from the undefeated list 12-7.

It was there that the crowd of 39,077 which jammed Garden State Park expected to see the big son of Nasrullah fade. It watched the two other great champions, Travis Kerr's Round Table and Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, begin to make their move.

But Bold Ruler, winner of the Preakness and 10 of 15 races this year, was not a quitter, distance or no distance. His head was cut to 3½ lengths by Gallant Man with a quarter of a mile to go. Arcaro, who never laid a whip on his mount, called on him to meet the challenge and he did, holding his ground as Gallant Man, ridden by Willie Shoemaker,

Asbestos Meteors Down Sherbrooke Beavers 8-4 Before 3,427 Fans

Richard Champagne Paces Champs To Victory In Closely Fought Battle; Miss Y. Renaud Wins Car

Asbestos Meteors, 1956-57 Provincial Intermediate "B" champions, picked up just where they left off last year and rallying with their usual third-period blast drove home five goals to emerge winners over Gilles Dube and his Sherbrooke Beavers 8-4 at the Arena yesterday afternoon before 3,427 spectators in an exhibition tilt.

The game was the first of the current season for both clubs and the players looked as though they were in mid-season form. The conditioning was lacking but the passing and blocking were good.

The 1957 Ford sedan which was drawn as part of the game was won by Miss Yolande Renaud of 1462 Dunham Street Sherbrooke. The car was drawn at the end of the first period but it was only announced after the second as Miss Renaud had to produce the winning ticket from her large amount of ducats.

Richard Champagne, the Meteors' husky forward, led the way in the scoring department with two markers. The rest were all singletons with Perron, Tessier, Bisson, Allard, Moore and Drouin notching the others. For Sherbrooke it was Bob Bedard, Gilles Dube, Guy Proteau and Real Rousseau who accounted for the Beavers' tallies.

Coach Dube presented a new setup in comparison to last year's outfit. Maurice Parr, Ray St. Cyr, Remi Bais, Jacques Emond, Guy Roby, Claude Ricard and Real Rousseau were newcomers to the team. The holdovers were Guy Courchesne, Jean Dumas, Jonel Robidas, Bob Bedard, Langlois, Beaudoin, Gagnon, Ricard and Jack Dubois.

The Meteors picked up three new players Leo Allard, Rejean Arguin and E. Bisson, of which two were junior players last year, in addition to the team which went to the Provincial championship.

Guy Courchesne did the goal tending for the Beavers for the first two periods and when he left in the third the score was 3-1. Roch Labbe took over and in the final frame the Meteors found him to their liking and batted home five goals. The shots on goal were pretty evenly divided with Claude Bergeron stopping 29 compared to 28 for the two local netminders.

Paul Perron put the Meteors out in front in the first frame when he batted home a passout from Allard. He was uncovered in the front of the nets. Champagne extended the lead when he was away with three of his mates and only one defenseman back. He made no mistake from close range.

In the middle session Yves Tessier drove home a hard shot to beat Courchesne. Bob Bedard teamed up with Ray St. Cyr for the Beavers' first tally. It was a nice passing play and Canada's number one tennis player lifted the disc into the net.

The final session saw both teams go all out with some fine fast skating and passing. Sherbrooke was beginning to show signs of the fast pace and the Meteors were breaking fast to catch them off balance.

The goalies were hard tested on several occasions but they came up with some nice saves on both sides. For the initial tilt the boys were rolling along in grand style and the fans witnessed some fine hockey.

Champagne beat Labbe on a hard drive after some nice passing with his mates. The Beavers bounced right back and coach Dube fooled Bergeron from a faceoff with a hard shot. Dube helped to set up Sherbrooke's third tally with Langlois with Rousseau the marksman.

Bisson picked up a loose rubber uncovered in the front of the net and the Meteors were ahead 5-3. The other Asbestos markers were registered on breakaways with the Beavers trying to force the play. Guy Proteau got the last Sherbrooke goal on a beautiful backhand shot which fooled Bergeron completely just before the final whistle.

Asbestos: Bergeron, Claude, Grenier, Lussier, Forques, Illick.

Sags Blank Aces As Lions Knock Over Royals

Chicoutimi Saguenéens, beginning to show their heels in the Quebec Hockey League, shut out Quebec Aces 4-0 Sunday while Trois-Rivières Lions downed Montreal Royals 4-2 in a cellar battle.

The Saguenéens collected their ninth win against three losses and a tie to bring their total points to 19. The Aces and the idle Shawinigan Falls Cataracts have identical records of six wins, six losses, one tie and 13 points.

Star of the game at Quebec City was Chicoutimi netminder Gilles Biquart. Scorers were Guy Rousseau, Gary Blaine, Jacques Deslauriers and Jean Jacques Pichette.

At Montreal, Trois-Rivières exploded for three second-period goals within five minutes and added a fourth goal early in the last period. Rene Pepin scored twice for the Lions. Dan Belisle and Al Cleary backed him up with singles.

Montreal scorers were Bob Duncan and Kelly Burnett. Last-place Trois-Rivières now has 10 points, one less than the Royals.

REMEMBER WHEN...

Edmonton Eskimos, sparked by the forward-passing of quarterback Claude Arnold, beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers 22-11 in the third and deciding game of the western rugby final five years ago today. Edmonton had entered the final by beating Calgary Stampeders in a total-points semi-final. But in the Grey Cup that year, Edmonton lost to Toronto Argonauts by 22-11.

Professor Farina's Comments Bring Considerable Reaction From Various Sports' Heads From All Over Country

TORONTO (CP)—Professor John Farina—who critics claim is frustrated, silly and should be thrown out of his job—says organized sport is losing its value because of promoters.

The 38-year-old professor at the University of Toronto's School of Social Works says promoters control and direct the sports to their own ends.

He elaborated Sunday night on earlier statements that sports can breed "cheating, larceny, fighting and downright sadism," made Friday at a meeting of the boys' Clubs of Canada.

Reports of his address and later interviews brought sharp retorts from persons in amateur and professional organized sport. Ken Yost of Winnipeg, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, said Prof. Farina must be a "frustrated person who apparently has never got out . . . to see what well-organized sport can do for the ordinary person—physically, mentally and socially."

Called silly, Kenneth P. Farmer of Montreal, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, said Prof. Farina was "just silly. Maybe he doesn't understand the difference between sport and professional entertainment."

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said: "Social workers for 150 years have been saying that sports, including hockey, develop a give-and-take attitude, co-operation and courage. I suggest Prof. Farina's credentials be examined and he be thrown out of his job."

Prof. Farina is a Vancouver native who quarterbacked the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds for four years and coached six straight high school football champions. He originally labelled hockey as "the most degenerate sport in the world," but Sunday amended this to "Canadian hockey."

Shearwater Flyers Dump Mt. Allison 40-18 To Advance Against Brantford In Eastern Canadian Final Saturday

MONCTON (CP)—Shearwater Flyers clipped Mount Allison University Mounties 40-18 here Saturday in pouring rain to win the Maritime intermediate football championship and the right to meet Brantford Tiger Cats in the Eastern Canada finals at Halifax Nov. 16.

The rain turned the field into a muddy river and drenched about 500 die-hard fans.

The Navy's "aquatic" manoeuvres kept them ahead through the game with quarter leads of 20-6, 20-12 and 34-18.

While Mounties were watching Shearwater aces Bob Hayes and Bruce Walker, Buck Taylor swept the right end for three Flyer touchdowns. Full back Walker added two more and halfback Hayes another.

Spook MacLeod converted four of Flyers' six touchdowns. Quarterback Georges Tsomos plunged for two Mount A. with halfback Walker (Bubbles) Peters getting the other.

FUMBLES OPEN DOOR

Both teams made good on opposition fumbles for two touchdowns. Taylor's 20-yard plunge that opened the scoring came after the Flyers recovered Tsomos' fumble.

Seven minutes later Hayes scored from near the goal line on a recovered Mount A. fumble on the nine-yard line.

Tsomos threw a 20-yard pass in the first quarter to set up Peters after Mount A. recovered a Flyer fumble on the 25-yard line.

Again in the third, halfback Doug Pryde recovered on a Flyer miscue and two plays later Tsomos converted it into a touchdown.

THIRD STRAIGHT TITLE Shearwater, first team to win the Nova Scotia title three years straight, had a 22-10 margin in first downs and outscored the collegians 465 to 212. The Mounties, New Brunswick champions two years running, completed three of five passes, one a 32-yard throw by Tsomos to mate Bob Windsor.

Mounties' coach Gus MacFarlane praised the Shearwater drive. "They had real, college spirit which I had not anticipated."

Black Hawks Are Putting On Real Show For Home Town Fans, Win Two; Canadiens Take Back Top Position

Chicago's surging Black Hawks are putting on quite a show for the home fans.

They scored two victories this weekend to move into undisputed possession of third place in the National Hockey League, marking Chicago's fourth and fifth wins in seven games at home. One game was tied.

The Hawks won 5-0 Saturday over New York Rangers and 3-1 Sunday over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Montreal Canadiens moved back into sole possession of first place, defeating Boston Bruins 4-2 Saturday. Boston bounced back for a 4-2 decision Sunday over Detroit Red Wings, who had tied Toronto Maple Leafs 3-3 Saturday.

League action resumes Wednesday, when Montreal plays at Toronto and New York hosts Chicago.

GOOD DEFENCE Hawks found their firing power well-distributed in the two games and the defence along with goalie Glenn Hall almost was flawless.

Glenn Skov, Eric Nesterenko, Ed Litzenberger, Ted Lindsay and Bobby Hull all scored Saturday as Hall scored his fourth shutout—the same number he had in all of last season while with Detroit.

Sunday Chicago's Ron Murphy and Toronto's Tod Sloan swapped goals before Nick Mickoski scored what proved the winner. Hull added a second-period goal for insurance.

Boston's win over Detroit Sunday was their second in 10 games but it marked six straight without a victory for the badly-slumped Leafs.

Montreal built up an early three-goal lead Saturday, then held off a Boston rally to win. Jean Beliveau, Dick Moore and Claude Provost all tallied before Jerry Toppazzini and Mackell put Bruins back in contention.

Canadiens recovered and Don Marshall's goal midway through the final period added to the Montreal edge.

Amateur Athletic Union Of Canada Having Trouble With Newfoundland

WINNIPEG (CP)—Confederation is on shaky ground as far as Newfoundland and the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada are concerned, AAU officials indicated Saturday.

Delegates said there are hard and bitter feelings in the Newfoundland branch because their star marathoner, George Hillier, was not considered for a berth on the 1956 Olympic team.

The national body has not been able to get answers to communications sent to Newfoundland.

Secretary E. K. (Ken) Yost of Winnipeg was instructed to try again to communicate with the branch. If he is not able to do so by Jan. 15, he is to advise it by registered mail that it is in default and may lose a chance to take part in trials for next year's British Empire Games.

The AAU was unable to reach a final decision during its three-day annual meeting that ended Saturday on an offer of assistance for track and field from an unidentified company. The firm proposed putting up $60,000 to $70,000 a year to help promote track and field for young athletes across the country.

The AAU approved formation of an eight-man committee headed by new president Jack Histed of Hamilton to investigate the question. The committee will see what advertising strings would be attached to the offer and what would be the best type of program to carry out and will report by Jan. 3.

The meeting approved reports of several committees, ratifying the hall of fame committee's naming of marksman Gerry Ouellette of Windsor, Ont., to the hall. Ouellette won a gold medal at last year's Olympics.

Several decisions were made regarding the Canadian Olympic Training Plan, financed by the Canadian Legion. The name of the plan under which athletes attend an annual clinic will be changed at the request of the legion. When a new name is decided on it will have to be ratified by the AAU executive.

The Canadian National Exhibition track in Toronto will be resurveyed and the AAU will confirm the survey before any future meets there, to make sure any records set will be valid.

Pope Memorial High School Of Bury And St. Pat's Academy Split Cage Fixture; Wins Senior Loses Junior

St. Pat's Academy split a twin-bill basketball fixture with the Pope Memorial High School of Bury in a regular scheduled game of the St. Francis Inter-scholastic Basketball League. The visitors ran off with the Senior fixture with a 85-34 verdict while in the Junior tilt the green and white squad came through with a 35-26 victory. Both games were played at the Belvidere Street gym.

In the Senior game the visitors took the lead from the start and at half time were out in front 34-16. In the second half the Pope aggregation continued their march and had little trouble in hitting the hoop.

In the Junior tilt St. Pat's jumped to the fore from the opening whistle and from then on set the pace. At the end of the first half the Irish were out in front 16-13. In the second half they continued their merry pace and ran out the tilt 35-26.

M. Levesque was the top marksman for the Irish squad with a total of 13 points while G. Parsons registered 10 for the Pope quintet.

The lineups and scoring follow:

Dutchmen Top London 14-8 In Playoffs

KITCHENER, Ont. — A fourth-quarter pass that bounced off two defenders and into the arms of Syl O'Hara made all the difference as Dutchmen defeated London Lords 14-8 in the opener of a three Ontario Rugby Football Union playoffs.

O'Hara went on to score a touchdown that broke an 8-8 deadlock and gave the Dutchmen, ORFU champions the last three years, a game lead when the clubs resume the series at London next Saturday.

It was a come-from-behind victory for the Dutchmen who scored two unconverted touchdowns in the final 15 minutes to wipe out an 8-2 London lead. The game, watched by about 700 fans, was played in a driving blizzard.

West Bromwich Posts Win In First Division

LONDON (Reuters) — An "explosive" goal by Ronnie Allen gave West Bromwich Albion a 3-2 victory over Aston Villa Saturday and pulled the team closer to the top of the English Soccer League's first division.

The ball exploded under the force of Allen's penalty kick in the second half after crashing into the Aston Villa goal for the deciding marker. The victory pulled Albion to within two points of the league-leading Wolverhampton Wanderers, held to a 1-1 tie at Portsmouth.

Luton Town pulled into a three-way tie for third place by downing Chelsea 3-1. Manchester United, league champions for the last two years, continued to have trouble and was held to a 1-1 tie by Preston North End. These teams are tied with Luton Town six points off the pace.

Burnley went on the biggest scoring spree of the day, swamping hapless Leicester City 4-3.

In the Scottish League's first division, Hearts easily downed lowly Queen of the South 4-1 to retain its league lead over Raith.

Penalty Minutes Up Slightly

The penalty minutes incurred by six National Hockey League teams after the first 23 games of the 1957-58 season shows an increase of 83 minutes over the corresponding period a year ago. The six N.H.L. clubs racked up a total of 569 minutes this year in comparison to 486 minutes a year ago.
