RACE FOR POSITIONS IN SYRIA NOW UNDERWAY

London Clearing Path For Attack On Mandate Area

Qualified Observers Predict that War Cabinet Will Declare Syria an Enemy-Occupied Territory, Opening Country to Full-Scale Attack—Turkish Reports Tell of Nazi Troop Landings at Syrian Ports.

London, June 3.—(P)—Qualified observers predicted today the War Cabinet soon would declare Syria an enemy-occupied territory, opening the French-mandated wedge between Turkey and Palestine for full-scale British attack.

Reports from Turkey that the Nazis already had landed sea-borne infantry with motorized equipment at the Syrian port of Latakia, just East of Britain's Island of Cyprus, were interpreted in some quarters as indicating the race for positions on a new front already is on.

There were indications that British official circles would not be surprised if the Vichy Government soon requested Nazi "protection" of all French colonial possessions, including Syria and Lebanon in the Middle East.

The Brenner Pass meeting of Hitler and Mussolini yesterday in a war-strategy session prompted all sorts of unlimited speculation as to where the Axis would strike next.

Most guesses, however, involved the Suez Canal.

Many observers declared they were convinced the Axis leaders had decided on a drive across Cyprus and Syria to Iraq and Palestine in an effort to split Britain's Middle East forces before touching off the actual Libyan thrust toward the canal.

British forces also are known to be watching closely for a Nazi move into French Africa in an effort to seize South Atlantic bases and to attack British and Free French African colonies.

Some sources said such a drive probably would start with a push through Spain and Portugal and an attack on Gibraltar.

"If Hitler can occupy Syria," one source declared, "it is very doubtful whether we shall find Cyprus defensible."

"And once the Nazis were firmly in control (in Syria) there would be no stopping the inflow of German material. Turkey then might grant a right of way. And how long after that could we possibly hope to hold Iraq and her oil?"

With Axis troops in Greece, Thrace, on the Aegean Islands, Crete and the Dodecanese, and reported in Northern Syria, Hitler already has Turkey partly cut off from British aid.

MONTREAL STEEL WORKERS STRIKE FOR BETTER CONDITIONS

Montreal, June 3.—(P)—Approximately 650 of the 800 workers at Canadian Tube and Steel Products Limited plant here remained away from work last night as they sought higher wages, improvement in working conditions and union recognition.

Majority of the workers are members of Local 2423 of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

FRANCE PLANS TO AID REICH SHORT OF WAR

Spokesman for Laval Declares that France Will Adopt Same Attitude to Germany as Washington Does to London.

Vichy, France, June 3.—(P)—The Vichy Government held an unusually long meeting of two hours today.

The fact Gen. Maxime Weygand, who is not a member of the Government, was present was considered in diplomatic circles to give the conference added significance.

Weygand, commander of France's North African army, arrived yesterday, saw Marshal Petain and was expected to confer with Vice-Premier Jean Darlan today.

The cabinet was meeting it was reported in Vichy that Pierre Laval, former Vice Premier, is likely to visit his Chateau de la Vierge here this week-end, with a possibility he might be called to the Parc Hotel for a conference with Petain.

Laval has been in Paris and the Occupied zone since he was ousted from the cabinet December 13. He crossed the demarcation line only once — to confer with Petain at a small village last winter.

One of the exponents of Laval's policies, Jean Luchaire, writing in the Paris evening paper Les Nouveaux Temps, declared "The neutrality painted by Anglophiles which was the leitmotif of a large portion of French Government circles, is already being succeeded by a military neutrality colored by Europeanism."

"But from the economy point of view as well as morale, France is ranging herself at the side of Germany," Vichy and Paris intend to conduct themselves, as far as Berlin is concerned, as Washington conducts itself where London is concerned.

BRITISH LABOR DEMANDS TOTAL REICH DEFEAT

National Convention of Labor Party Gives Overwhelming Approval to Demand for Complete British Victory.

London, June 3.—(P)—The Labor party, using a block-voting system under which delegates cast ballots for all the members they represent, adopted 2,430,000 to 19,000 today at its annual conference a memorandum from its National Executive declaring there could be no peace with Germany without "total victory."

"We declare we can have no part in a policy of accommodation and that the necessary prelude to a just peace is total victory," the memorandum said. "It would be folly and betrayal of those for whom we speak to pursue any truce in a peace with Hitler and Mussolini are parties."

Clement Attlee, leader of the party in the House of Commons and Lord Privy Seal in the Churchill war cabinet, opened a discussion of the war, declaring that lasting peace can be established only by adoption of the principle of collective security. Free and social justice, he said, must be the watchword of the post-war world.

Mr. Attlee added that for years labor stood for collective security and its stand had been fully justified. Europe's trouble had been disunity of peoples in the face of a common enemy. If labor's policy had been followed, he contended, this would never have happened.

He warned that hard times are ahead, but declared "we have growing strength and assurance of victory, because forces are coming up behind us today greater than the forces opposed to us."

GERMANS SEEK TO INCREASE SUPPLIES FROM FAR EAST

Berlin, June 3.—(P)—German spokesmen said today that Dr. Helmut Wohltat, economic expert, is in Tokyo negotiating a far-reaching extension of German-Japanese economic relations.

(Reliable circles in Tokyo said today that one of Dr. Wohltat's chief objectives has been the speeding up of the flow of food stuffs from Japan and Japanese-occupied China across the Trans-Siberian Railroad and into Germany.)

The spokesman said that "on account of the vastness of projects under discussion," Wohltat's negotiations will take time, but "there has been progressive and positive development."

Washington, June 3.—(P)—The House of Representatives yesterday passed and sent to the Senate a bill providing for creation of an unlimited number of Vice-Admirals to head "task forces" of war vessels which might be detached from the fleet and sent on secret missions.

Federal House Awaits Next Ontario Move In Tax Fight

Order of Business in House of Commons Altered to Admit Reply by Hepburn on Dominion Proposals to Reduce Bond Interest Tax in Return for Province Vacating Income Tax Field—Western Members Vexed.

By C. R. BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, June 3.—(P)—Business of the House of Commons has been altered to await the next move of Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario in his controversy with Prime Minister Mackenzie King over taxation methods.

Last night Finance Minister Isley told the House that consideration of some income tax amendments would be delayed pending a decision from Mr. Hepburn on the Prime Minister's offer to restore to its former level the tax on interest payable to non-resident holders of Canadian securities if the Ontario Government agreed to a Federal proposal that it withdraw from the income tax field.

The announcement and an accompanying statement by Mr. Isley created a brief debate in which Ralph Maybank (Lib., Winnipeg South Centre) said he thought Canadians generally are "somewhat sick of continually playing to the Premier of Ontario and endeavoring to smooth him down."

Conservative House Leader Hanson and Mr. J. Caldwell, acting C.C.F. House leader, both expressed regret at the lack of unity between Ontario and the Federal Government but said they were not going to get into the controversy.

The House was giving second reading to the bill to amend the Income Tax Act. This contains the clauses increasing to fifteen per cent the former five-per-cent tax on interest paid non-resident holders of Canadian securities.

This tax, in effect since 1933, applies to provincial bonds but not to Dominion bonds. Mr. Hepburn has described this to be a discrimination which his Government will fight in the Courts.

Last Friday Mr. King, after an exchange of telegrams with Mr. Hepburn, wired an offer to put the tax back to the five per cent level if Mr. Hepburn would accept the budget proposal that Provinces vacate the income tax field and accept compensation from the Federal Treasury.

No reply had been received, Mr. Isley said, and he asked the House, after the income tax bill had been given second reading, to hold up discussion in committee of its clauses until Mr. Hepburn had communicated his decision.

Mr. Hanson said he believed the income tax proposal to the provinces "generous," and he asked a number of questions on the attitude of the Dominion in the event the provinces refused to co-operate. Mr. Isley said he would answer them when the bill is again in committee.

"No stone should be left unturned to get Ontario's agreement," Mr. Hanson said, even if it involved giving up the non-resident tax proposal.

He recommended that the Government call all the Premiers to a conference on taxation methods, and Mr. Caldwell endorsed the suggestion.

Mr. Maybank scouted the suggestion. He recalled the Dominion Provincial Conference last January when Premier Hepburn, Abernethy of Alberta and Pattullo of British Columbia had refused to discuss taxation changes envisaged in the Rowell-Sirois Commission report.

EVIDENCE OF SABOTAGE IN PLANE CRASH

Four Killed as Giant Bomber, Designed for Great Britain, Crashes Near California Factory.

San Diego, Calif., June 3.—(P)—The unexplained performance of a $250,000 British Liberator bomber that sideslipped into San Diego Bay and killed four aviation experts aroused suspicion today of sabotage.

FBI and Company agents, investigating the crash, awaited salvaging of additional pieces of wreckage for examination.

Failure of the controls apparently caused the crash yesterday of the great camouflaged ship, of the type used by the British to bomb Berlin.

A crash boat rescued Lewis M. McCann, twenty-five, of Woodstock, Ill., one of the five men aboard. Seriously injured he was taken to the naval air station sick bay.

The body of Mechanic William H. Rieser, twenty-three, Cambridge, Mass., was recovered.

Still unaccounted for and believed pinned in the sunken nose section of the ship were the bodies of Consolidated Aircraft's chief test pilot, William Wheatley, twenty-eight; Alan T. Austen, twenty-eight, assistant test pilot; and Bruce Craig, twenty-seven, aviation engineer.

A spokesman for the Consolidated Aircraft Company said "evidence of sabotage" had been discovered, but neither he nor FBI men would discuss the matter further.

British Purchasing Agent F. C. Cooper said sabotage was a possibility as the craft was about ready to be turned over to the British.

COLONISTS FORCED FROM PROPERTIES

Chicoutimi, Que., June 3.—(P)—Forest fires sweeping through the Lake St. John District last night were reported to have destroyed a number of farm houses and farm buildings and to have forced several colonists to abandon their homes.

Boundaries of Price Brothers, Consolidated Paper, Quebec Pulp and Brown Consolidated Paper camps were said to be blazing as all available men were being rushed to fire areas in an effort to stem the flames.

SPANISH WORKERS FOR REICH

New York, June 3.—(P)—An agreement has been worked out between Germany and Spain by which 100,000 Spanish workers will be sent to Germany to alleviate labor shortages in the Reich, the German radio said last night in a broadcast heard by NBC.

WOULD DONATE THE NEWEST UNITED STATES SHIP TO GREAT BRITAIN

Harrisburg, Pa., June 3.—(P)—Two Pennsylvania Republican representatives have suggested that the United States give the 35,000-ton battleship North Carolina outright to Britain without reservations.

Herbert G. Gates and Arthur P. Bretherick introduced a resolution yesterday asking that the Legislature memorialize Congress to enact legislation, if need be, to permit President Roosevelt to take this action.

LABOR POLICY OF ROOSEVELT NEAR SHOWDOWN

Attempt to Force Lumber Workers of Northwest to Return to Work May Bring Crisis in Mediation Board Affairs.

Washington, June 3.—(P)—The Defence Mediation Board made a new effort today for a settlement in the twenty-five-day old strike of 12,000 C. I. O. lumberworkers in the Pacific Northwest, which has curtailed supplies needed for the United States defence programme.

The Board already has recommended that the strikers resume work pending a settlement and has reminded the Union of President Roosevelt's assertion in his address a week ago that the American people expect the impartial recommendation of the Board to be accepted.

Thus, some Washington circles thought, the lumber strike might bring a show-down on the administration's determination to end work stoppages hampering defence production.

There was speculation, too, on whether a potential weapon against strike shenanigans was in the proposal by the War Department yesterday that Congress grant Mr. Roosevelt power to requisition property necessary in the defence effort.

Some legislators thought it would permit the Government to take over strikebound plants.

President O. M. Orton of the International Woodworkers of America came from Seattle to Washington today to confer with board officials.

The I.W.A. rejected a board-drawn peace formula Sunday, declaring it would stand on its request a 75-cent an hour wage boost to seventy-five cents, paid vacations, and a union hiring hall.

Ottawa, June 3.—(P)—Canadians subscribed $38,531,250 to Canada's $600,000,000 1941 Victory Loan, according to returns tabulated as of 7 p.m. Monday, loan headquarters announced today.

Mr. Spinney said that delays are inevitable when such a large army of non-professional canvassers and workers are engaged in the task of selling and reporting.

"With so vast a machine it is unavoidable that many canvassers and many units have not transmitted their reports in time to be included in the Federal total as of 7 p.m. last night," said Mr. Spinney. "Within the next few days it is expected that the organization will be in its stride and functioning more smoothly."

Meanwhile, he added, the Committee regards these first day's figures, though incomplete, as "very satisfactory" and as indicating widespread patriotic enthusiasm for the loan throughout all sections of the population.

"Indeed, there is every active evidence that the whole country is thoroughly aroused and everybody determined that this loan will be successfully finalized well within the allotted days," he said.

Among the first cities to report were Saint John, with thirteen per cent of its objective reached; Moncton with twenty per cent; Calgary, with twenty-seven per cent; Montreal 6.44 per cent.

New Brunswick Government has invested $250,000 in Victory Bonds, and the Workmen's Compensation Board has subscribed for $200,000 worth of bonds. In Ottawa, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen invested $300,000.

New Brunswick was the fourth

Provincial Government to check in for bond purchases.

Three provincial governments by last night had signified their intention to subscribe to the loan. Quebec topped the Government list with $3,000,000, British Columbia subscribed for $1,000,000, and Prince Edward Island $110,000.

By nightfall a score or more districts had reached their loan quotas to qualify for "honor pennants." The pennants—white naval ensigns with a Victory Loan torch superimposed on the white section—go to villages, towns, cities and districts which meet the quotas officially allocated to them. Another pennant is awarded for each additional twenty-five per cent of quota filled.

Last night, hundreds of thousands of Canadians listened to Victory Loan speeches, either by radio or at public gatherings.

One program arranged by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation brought together addresses by Sir Lyman P. Duff, Chief Justice of the

Crete Methods Impractical For Attempted Invasion Of Britain

By LARRY ALLEN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Alexandria, June 3.—(P)—Some of the British Navy officers who directed the removal of more than 15,000 Imperial and Greek troops from Crete expressed the opinion today that Germany must, on the basis of what happened on the Greek island, devise other means of invasion before attempting to invade Britain.

Nazi efforts to land sea-borne troops failed, the officers said, in spite of the fact that Britain's nearest naval base was more than 400 miles from Eastern Crete.

British warships broke up every large-scale effort by the Nazis to send transports and countless fishing boats loaded with soldiers from the Greek mainland to the island. Even with complete mastery of the air, the Germans failed to provide the protection necessary to land men and supplies, the officers said.

It was estimated reliably here that about 20,000 Nazis drowned when the ships carrying them were smashed.

I saw most of the evacuated dead-enders on their arrival in Egypt. A steady stream of men poured into this country aboard cruisers and destroyers. One squadron landed 4,000 men; another, including the Australian cruiser Perth brought nearly 6,000.

All the men told the same story: "The whole battle would have been different if we had had air fighter protection."

The Royal Air Force withdrew early in the fight. It said the few airports on Crete made operations by fighter units impossible.

When I went aboard the Perth, which embarked 1,200 soldiers in Southern Crete the night of May 29, the Captain told me this story: "We moved in after nightfall and put three gangways down and got 800 aboard in the first hour."

"These dead-enders, many of them wounded and bleeding, reached the embarkation point after long, hard trekking across Cretan mountains."

"These men went through complete hell day and night. The Germans bombed everything that moved."

"Many of these soldiers told us they hadn't seen a single British plane for days. They just were bombed constantly as the Germans turned all Crete into hell on earth."

"Nearly every soldier, once he reached this creper, simply fell flat out upon the deck."

Berlin Suffers Heavy Damage In Renewal Of British Aerial Raids

London, June 3.—(P)—Large fires were started in Berlin last night by a small force of Royal Air Force bombers, the Air Ministry announced today.

Attacks also were made, a communique said, on the cities of Dusseldorf, Duisburg-Ruhrort and other targets in the industrial Ruhr, and on docks at Ostend and St. Nazaire.

Four aircraft were lost in these raids, and three in daylight attacks on Nazi objectives yesterday.

The Air Ministry News Service said British bombers covered the whole length of the Kiel Canal "in search of enemy shipping" yesterday.

One bomber dropped half its load on a 1,200-ton ship in the canal and then dived from 1500 feet on a 3,500-ton ship, "firing his front guns all the time," and unloaded the rest of his bombs.

The British planes found ships of various sizes up to 10,000 tons spaced along the canal, the News Service said. After each attack the planes went back into the protection of clouds before their crews could see the effect of their bombs.

The raid on Berlin was the forty-sixth since the war began.

First reports indicated that last night's assault was on a small scale.

(The Nazis said several apartment buildings in Berlin were damaged by bombs and that a number of civilians were killed and injured. Points in Northern and Western Germany also were attacked.)

German nocturnal aerial activity over England was described officially as on a small scale, although the Government acknowledged there had been a number of casualties.

Bombs fell at points in North and Northeast England and the Midlands.

British fighters shot down one German plane over the Channel last evening and another off the North-east coast, a communique said.

British bombers during daylight yesterday attacked Kiel Canal shipping and land objectives in Schleswig-Holstein.

In a raid off the coast of German-occupied Norway, an "enemy" ship was reported sunk.

A direct hit also was scored on a vessel in the Kiel Canal.

6,485 Articles Were Shipped By Local Red Cross And Affiliated Groups During Past Four Months

The Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society and its affiliated groups despatched 6,485 finished articles to Montreal headquarters during the past four months, it was reported yesterday afternoon at the quarterly meeting held under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. G. Sangster, the joint-President.

According to the report tabled by Mrs. F. A. Briggs, Chairman of the Supplies Committee, the kits for girls and boys have been completed and forwarded to headquarters and the Women's Auxiliary quota of 525 articles will soon be finished.

In connection with the collection of tin foil, it was stated that twenty-five cartons and two bags of tubes have been sent to Montreal. The help of the school children in cleaning the foil has been greatly appreciated.

Mrs. A. C. Stevens, Chairman of the Wool Committee, stated that the quota of 100 kits for girls, comprising 400 knitted articles, has been reached, and from the wool which was left over seventy-one articles, consisting of sweaters, socks and mitts, were sent in. The kits for boys, comprising 500 knitted articles, have also been completed and eighty-five extra articles shipped. Eighty women's kits consisting of 160 articles have also been made up.

Mrs. Stevens asked that the twenty sweaters still out for the women's kits be sent in as soon as possible, and stated that the kits for boys of twelve years are still being made, with nine of these already shipped.

The quota for the infants' layettes is twenty, and three have been completed.

Among articles finished by the members were 150 sweaters, 144 pairs of ankle socks, sixty-five pairs of gloves and eighty-eight pairs of knee-length stockings. The 2,227 articles for the soldiers, sailors and airmen, coupled with the 1,414 articles included in the kits, brought to 3,641 the number of knitted garments.

It was reported that there is wool on hand for summer knitting. The Brompton Road Women's Institute, reported upon by Miss V. Hatch, has completed 33 articles, has sent five pounds of maple sugar to the Navy, donated $5 to the Queen's Fund and $22.08 to the War Fund, and sent four boxes overseas.

Mrs. R. Tate, Work Convener, thanked the various groups for their splendid work during the past four months, and asked the members to continue their splendid effort during the summer months as hospital supplies are needed, refugee clothing required, and kits still to be completed.

Represented at the meeting were the following groups: Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Williams; Catholic Women's League, Mrs. A. Vallee; St. Peter's Dorcas Society, Mrs. Jackson; Business and Professional Women's Club, Miss Eva Hall; Plymouth Church, Mrs. W. Cross; Trinity Church, Mrs. W. DISCUSSION OF FARM PROBLEMS AT LENNOXVILLE

Quebec Farmers Apparently Awakened to Need for Organized Action if Im- provement in Agriculture Is to Be Effected.

The community meeting to be held at the Dominion Experimental Farm in Lennoxville on Wednesday is part of a step forward in bettering the farmers' position. The study and discussion carried on in the Farm Forums this winter has awakened the farmers of Quebec to the need for organized action if improvements in agriculture are to be effected. This meeting is one of a number being held in Quebec prior to a provincial conference of farmers at Macdonald College on June 9th.

Well-documented meetings have been held at Downsview and Ormstown, and a large meeting is expected at the Town Hall in Richmond tonight. In each case, these gatherings were sponsored by local committees of the farmers themselves and the manner in which the problems were tackled gave every indication that something is going to be done about them. The necessity of united action towards the development of co-operatives both for marketing farm produce and purchasing of supplies has been stressed along with the strengthening of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. The programme for Wednesday opens with movies at 11.00 a.m., followed by a picnic lunch—coffee being provided free—and a visit to the pasture demonstration. Speakers at the afternoon session will include Professor L. H. Hamilton, of Macdonald College; Henri Bois, of the Co-operative Federation, and P. D. McArthur, a well-known farmer of Howick. There will be ample time provided for full discussion and an opportunity to lay plans for practical forms of action.

Windsor Mills: Mrs. W. T. Dear- den, Mrs. C. H. Reid, Mrs. C. E. Force, Mrs. A. P. Porrell, Mrs. P. Davis, Mrs. Mrs. Archer Belanger. Brompton Road Women's Institute: Mrs. J. Clark, Mrs. H. McLeod, Mrs. S. Clark.

U-Turn To Be Prohibited At Big Forks-Wellington Intersection

Members of Sherbrooke's City Council will get a first-hand view of the traffic congestion on Wellington Street on Friday, market day. At the suggestion of Ald. Alfred Cinq-Mars, speaking at a Council meeting last night, it was decided to have the Council go to the intersection of Wellington and King Streets Friday night so that they could see for themselves that some steps would have to be taken to relieve the situation.

Ald. Cinq-Mars said that a recent survey by the Police Department showed that between noon and ten o'clock 19,000 pedestrians and 4,500 automobiles crossed the intersection of Wellington and King Streets. One reason for the traffic congestion, said Ald. Cinq-Mars, was the lack of adequate parking space and he expressed the belief that if additional parking grounds were provided it would help to relieve the situation.

The Council approved of the suggestion that the Police Department be authorized to enforce a U-turn to the effect that U-turns be prohibited at the intersection of Wellington and Big Forks Streets. Ald. Cinq-Mars pointed out that many motorists made U-turns there half a dozen times a night and he believed that if these turns were forbidden it would help to keep traffic flowing in a greater volume.

The Council also approved of a suggestion that proper signs be placed on Wellington Street directing the motorists to the parking space available during the greater part of the week at LaSalle Avenue.

The question of acquiring another public parking lot will be discussed at a committee meeting.

210 HOURS OF SUNSHINE FOR MONTH OF MAY

Well Above Last Year's Figure of 182.3 Hours and an Average of 204.5 for Period of Twenty-Seven Years—

Ol' Sol was good to the people of this section of the Eastern Townships during the month of May, for he was with them for a total of 210 hours, well above last year's visit of 182.3 hours and the average monthly sunshine over a twenty-seven-year period of 204.5.

This is according to meteorological data issued today by the Dominion Experimental Station at Lennoxville, which also points out that the highest monthly sunshine in twenty-seven years was in 1934, 265.6 hours, and the lowest in 1927, 123.9.

The average temperature for the month was 52.59 degrees, compared with 54.08 last year and 51.46 twenty-seven-year average. The highest temperature was on the 21st, when the mercury touched 86, being only three degrees below the record high of 89, chalked up in 1932. Lowest the mercury went was 23 degrees on May 3rd, comparing with a record low of 19 established in 1924.

During the month 2.56 inches of rain were measured, as against 3.06 inches last year. Average monthly rainfall for twenty-seven years is reported at 2.84 inches and the highest over that same period 6.22 inches in 1930. The 17th was the wettest day of the month, with precipitation recorded at .91 of an inch.

STABLES CAUSE OF PROTEST TO CITY COUNCIL

Mechanization of City Services Urged by Ald. Fisetle as One Means of Eliminat- ing Nuisance.

Citizens residing on Camirand, Bale, Alexander and Minto Streets last night filed a protest with the City Council against the municipally-owned stables on Camirand Street and urged the authorities to have the refuse removed from the stable at the earliest possible date. The question will be studied in committee.

Mechanization of the city services was urged by Ald. Armand Fisetle as one means of eliminating the nuisance, but it was pointed out that horses were essential in some of the city departments.

Ald. Eugene Thibault said that he resided in that district and under the circumstances he did not think it would be proper for him to bring the matter before the Council, but now that it had been brought up he said he was entirely in accord with the protest and urged that some action be taken to remove the stables or eliminate the bad odor which they caused.

INSURANCE MEN ARE URGED TO SUPPORT DRIVE

Quebec Superintendent of Insurance Confident this Province Will Set Example for Others to Follow in Vic- tory Loan Appeal.

An appeal to life insurance agents of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships to give their support to the Victory Loan Drive "to keep alive that liberty which we cherish in the Province of Quebec" was voiced by Georges Lafrance, Quebec Superintendent of Insurance, speaking at a meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association of Sherbrooke at a luncheon at the New Wellington Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Lafrance said that the Victory Loan Campaign was an opportunity for the Canadian people to show that democracy can accomplish freely what people in dictator countries are forced to do and he was confident that Quebec would set an example for the rest of Canada to follow.

The speaker declared that Great Britain was today fighting for the "liberty and tolerance" which was enjoyed by English and French Canadians in Quebec and "I am sure there is not one Canadian who will refuse to contribute to this cause."

Dealing briefly with insurance matters, Mr. Lafrance said that the Government was taking all necessary precautions to supervise the sale of insurance and that any agents who were operating without the required permits were being prosecuted.

He pointed out that in 1937 there were about 5,500 agents in the province and that in 1941 this number had been reduced to 3,700. In this connection, he added, the department had received the co-operation of insurance companies.

Mr. Lafrance said that the insurance agent played an important role in the life of any community as in many cases he acted as a friend, counsellor and financial advisor.

The Insurance Superintendent said that one problem which the department had to contend with was the practice which was followed by some agents who urged clients to "switch" policies from one company to another. He deplored this method of doing business and said that one action would have to be taken to curtail it.

Concluding, Mr. Lafrance promised that the department would co-operate with the agents and the insurance companies to further their aims.

An appeal for support of the Victory Loan was made by President J. A. Rouleau who also paid a tribute to the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment which left the city last week.

Jean Valenti, Chairman of the Membership Committee, reported on the activities of his board and said that progress had been made in recruiting new members.

OFFICERS WERE RE-APPOINTED BY LIONS CLUB

Philippe Juneau Will Continue as President for Ensuing Year—Appeal to Be Made on Behalf of Club's Milk Fund.

The re-election of officers for the ensuing year, with Philippe Juneau as President, featured the regular weekly meeting of the Lions Club held at the New Sherbrooke House last night.

Re-elected to office with Mr. Juneau were Cecil W. Dunn, George Carr and Dalma Landry as Vice-President; Edith Carr, Secretary; Narcisse Amirault, Treasurer; Jack Latraverse, Dr. Julien Groux, Noel Cloutier and Alfred Cinq-Mars, Directors; Francois Labrecque, Lion Tamer, and Charles Jacques, Tail Twister.

During the business session it was decided, upon Cecil Dunn's suggestion, to hold a tag day some time this month for the Lions Club Milk Fund, with any surplus revenue to be handed over to the Vacation Colony.

A classification talk was given by Jack Latraverse, of the Shell Oil Company, and brief addresses by Pierre Planche and Edgar Bernier, of Montreal, were also given. Among the guests were Aurelien Noel and C. C. Boardner.

SALE OF PROPERTY OPPOSED

An opposition to the sale of a property for debt by the Corporation of the Township of Bury, entered against the Corporation by Dame Dolly Theresa Grey and her husband, Garnet Hole, of Windsor, Ont., was taken on deliberation in Superior Court today by Mr. Justice Charles D. White.

The oppositors alleged that, far from owing taxes on the property, they are entitled to a refund from the Corporation because of being assessed for more than they rightfully owed, while the Corporation denied this charge and declared that the tax had not been paid.

Impressive Parade Held To Aid Victory Loan Campaign

Active Service Men, Scouts, Girl Guides, Seminary Cadets and Troops from Lord Sherbrooke Training Camp Partici- pate in Demonstration.

Citizens of Sherbrooke turned out last night in large numbers to view one of the longest parades seen in this city since the beginning of the war move through the streets with a view to encouraging subscriptions to the 1941 Victory Loan campaign which was inaugurated across the Dominion yesterday.

Heading the parade were the reinforcements of the 1st and 8th Reconnaissance Battalions of Canada's Active Army Overseas, who are stationed at the Exhibition Grounds. Then came the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, who were followed by the cadet corps of St. Charles Seminary. Troops from Lord Sherbrooke Training Camp on the Drummond Road were the last in the line of march.

The parade got off the mark a little behind schedule, but as the crowds along the streets and at the principal intersections waited patiently for the soldiers, the cadets and the Scouts and Guides formed up at Dufresne Park, and marched to Wellington Street South via Galt, Alexander and Aberdeen Streets.

The Active Service troops, commanded by Major W. E. Dunbar, were drawn up in column of route, just South of King Street awaiting the arrival of the other units.

As the husky, tanned Active Service lads marched past the saluting base at the entrance to Albert Street they drew a round of applause from the crowds on both sides of Wellington Street, and each unit in turn was greeted with spontaneous hand-clapping. Placards encouraging support of the Victory Loan drive were carried by the Scouts and cadets. There were large gatherings at the principal corners passed by the parade, particularly the intersections of King and Wellington, Montreal and Queen and Belvidere and King West.

Col. Leopold Cavalier, Officer Commanding the 10th Infantry Brigade, took the salute. He was accompanied at the saluting base by Col. E. B. Worthington, Lt.-Col. T. R. Mackenzie, Officer Commanding the 2nd Battalion, Sherbrooke Regiment, Lt.-Col. A. Munster, Joint-Chairman of the local Victory Loan Committee and Honorary Lt.-Col. of the Sherbrooke Regiment, Major Charles del. Mignault, J. S. Bourque, M.L.A., Rev. Canon Napoleon Codere, Capt. the Rev. H. D. Neault, chaplain of Lord Sherbrooke Camp, Ald. Eugene Thibault, Ald. P. A. Cinq-Mars, Ald. Armand Fisetle, A. Gauthier, City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers and J. Leo Foley.

Music was provided by the brass and bugle bands of the St. Charles Seminary Cadet Corps. It was regrettable that another band could not be secured because of the length of the parade. The troops from Lord Sherbrooke Camp were under the command of Lt.-Col. Roland Pothier, and Cadet Captain Hermyle Shea had charge of the cadets.

MOVING TOWARD A SHOWDOWN

The determination of President Roosevelt to sign the Congress-approved legislation authorizing the seizure of Axis shipping is likely to develop a showdown in relations between the United States and the German-Italian combination, as it will provide the first test of whether the Axis powers are bluffing at the present moment, or whether they are prepared to take retributive action which would involve the outbreak of hostilities.

The belief exists in many quarters that aside from offering loud and long complaints against the United States action, the Axis powers are not prepared to involve that country in the war at the present time. The mechanical position of the British army is rapidly improving, thanks to the co-ordinated effort of the British, Dominion and United States industrial machine, and it is doubtful if Germany and its satellites would care to challenge the tremendous manpower that would be made available by the active entry of the United States into the conflict.

This caution has been shown several times in the past, with the bellicose speeches of German leaders against this or that move by the United States failing to bring any follow-up action. Furthermore the striking power of the German fleet has been substantially reduced by the loss of the super-battleship Bismarck, which was obviously designed to carry on as a commerce raider on the sea lanes leading from the New World to the Old over which much of the aid-to-Britain supplies are being conveyed. Germany has openly assumed the role of the suffering pacifist in these disputes, but in the minds of many its protestations for peace with the United States are based more on good judgment than good-will.

Despite its superiority in manpower, the German war machine is finding it a difficult task to progress against Great Britain and it has no desire to take on the United States army which is being rapidly whipped into shape through the operation of the Selective Service Act, which will ensure that there will not be the lag in troop movements if the country is drawn into the war as there was in 1917.

THE HOOVER SCHEME

Although the supporters of the Hoover scheme for feeding the people of the occupied countries of Europe are making a determined drive to gain United States Senate endorsement for their proposals, it is unlikely that anything definite will result from their efforts, the State Department having signified its disapproval of the plan, which they view as aiding, directly or indirectly, the German war effort.

Some of the very basic arguments they use for their idea are the very grounds on which both Great Britain and the United States oppose the policy. In one propaganda article put out by the committee, the tragic picture of Belgium is painted. The author, who undoubtedly knows what he is talking about first tells of the enormous quantities of food which the Germans have removed from the country and then declares that the people are barely subsisting on the starvation level through small quantities which are being returned by the Nazis.

These are the very grounds on which the military leaders are fighting the plan. No one denies the terrible plight of the people of Belgium and other occupied countries which have been denuded of their reserves to fatten the German larder to the point where, with the exception of fats, the Reich citizen is comparatively well fed. The plan offers no guarantee, except worthless German promises, that any supplies allowed through the British blockade will not be taken in a similar manner by the Nazis.

The scheme is based on the Nazi premise that it is not the duty of the conqueror to maintain his subjugated people. If this responsibility does not exist it is difficult to see just why a nation engaged in a life-and-death struggle with the oppressor should do anything to make the aggressor's path easier. At the present time the British Isles are finding it difficult to maintain their own food supplies, with drastic rationing being ordered in imported commodities and certainly no reason exists why the British should allow a diversion of valued shipping to carry on a task it is the duty of the Germans to perform.

This war is being waged as much upon the economic as the military front and it would be the height of folly for the British to weaken one flank and thus expose the other to increased pressure. Germany boasts of its substantial food reserves, and it is the one who should care for the people of the various countries it has overrun.

EIRE NEUTRALITY AGAIN VIOLATED

Once again the German air force has given Eire a brilliant example of how little it regards the protestations of neutrality made by the de Valera administration and once again the Government of that country has indicated that it intends to limit its action to the traditional official, formal protests, which mean exactly nothing to a power like the Nazis and will have no effect whatsoever on future German policy.

The repeated bombings of Eire more and more emphasize the fact, apparent to the entire world but the short-sighted group now in control of Irish policy, that the time has come for the country to take a definite stand alongside the remainder of the British Isles and the other parts of the Commonwealth in the fight for the preservation of democracy. The adherence of Eire to the war would be of inestimable benefit to the democratic cause and would bring many economic gains to the country itself. The use of the Western Irish naval bases would ease the tremendous burden now being carried on by the Royal Navy in conveying supplies to the Old Country and at the same time would permit the diversion of a portion of these supplies to Eire to relieve a serious shortage of essential materials in the Emerald Isles.

De Valera has but to take off his darkened glasses and look at the other small nations of Europe to appreciate how little Hitler values past friendships and past favors. Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium did nothing to antagonize Der Fuehrer and they were spared invasion until such time as it best suited the German cause to sweep through them. Similarly, Eire will remain free until the German high command decides upon some suitable reason for attacking it. Then its much-vaunted neutrality will become a myth, as de Valera himself admits that the country is woefully lacking in either offensive or defensive armaments.

For its own good, and for the benefit of the world at large, the time has come for Eire to throw its lot in with the side of democracy and decency.

JAPAN FEELS THE PINCH

The attitude adopted by the Japanese Government in its trade negotiations with The Netherlands East Indies indicates that the Nipponese Empire is feeling acutely the pinch of the economic warfare being carried on against it by the Allied countries and the United States. For some time, Japanese industry has been reported seriously hampered by the shortage of raw materials, with stocks becoming rapidly depleted as the result of embargoes. Now The Netherlands officials in the East Indies are refusing to ship certain vital raw materials, which is further interfering with the Japanese military and industrial set-up.

This critical condition in its production system may to a large extent account for the noise of the Japanese military leaders, accompanied by a singular lack of desire to take any definite armed action.

PRESS COMMENTS

ATLANTIC PERIL

(New York Times)
A dispatch from Ottawa intimates that German submarines are now operating much nearer to the North Atlantic coast. Apparently closer British patrol of the eastern side of the ocean has made submarine attack so dangerous that the U-boats have been compelled to work at greater distances from home. In mid-ocean and farther west they are able to encounter convoys under protection of a single armed merchantman. The Canadian escort has dropped the convoy and returned to its base—perhaps picking up another convoy westward bound—and the British destroyers that guard the eastward-bound merchantmen in home waters do not meet them until some days later. It has been abundantly demonstrated that the one armed merchantman relied upon for escort duty in this interval is not enough for safety. German submarines have adopted the practice of working in groups of three or four. A single armed ship cannot meet such a combined attack.

The percentage of American and Canadian war material now being sent to the bottom of the ocean is high enough to have set Canadian naval authorities calling for a change in the convoy system. The only change possible without direct American participation would imply further reinforcements from the already overburdened destroyers and light cruisers of the British Navy. It is doubtful if there are any available. What that means is sufficiently obvious to make the Canadian warning significant to us.

MORE AND YET MORE

Glasgow Herald
The day cannot be long delayed when there will be virtually no registered unemployed in Britain. The total at March 17 last was well under the half-million, a sharp and pleasing contrast to the figure of a year ago, when the total stood at well over a million, having been a million and a half four weeks before. The improvement in the past year has been steady. The intake to the armed forces combining with the quickening pace of our industrial drive to absorb the large labor surplus which encumbered our limping war efforts in the first six months of the struggle. The labor surplus is no longer large. It is, on the contrary, very small indeed, and the stage will soon be reached when there will be no substantial surplus of any useful kind. It is not surprising, therefore, that efforts are being made by the Minister of Labor and the Board of Trade to adjust the requirements and capacity of industry as to release men and women for essential work. No one will choose to claim that our industrial output, especially of modern war weapons and equipment, is commensurate with our present or potential needs. More workers must be put into the war industries, while at the same time more men and women are needed for the armed forces. These are the nation's paramount requirements, which can be left unsatisfied only at the nation's peril.

TANKS FOR THE HOME GUARD

Daily Herald, London
What defence has the Home Guard against invasion such as that practised in Yugoslavia? We will accept that the British Navy is paramount on its own seas, without question. We will accept that our Air Force has shown an immeasurable superiority over Goering's busted flush, the Luftwaffe. But is the third line, the home defence, equipped to meet the loopholes which must inevitably arise in a long and costly line as ours to defend? You can beat the tank by many ways—but the quickest is the anti-tank gun, or some weapon which can destroy it. If our units of home defence are not equipped with these means, then the time to equip them is now. Here is not a policy of defeatism. Here is not ignorance of Napoleon's thesis that "you must always be first to attack." Here is a wise insurance against trouble that may come. Here is a task for the workers in the factories. Here once more the genius of this island race can prove itself.

MR. AVERAGE MAN

Vancouver Sun
The average Canadian family, confused by the deluge of large figures from Ottawa, probably wants to know just what the word "average" means. Mr. Norman MacLeod, an able Ottawa correspondent, tries to answer this question in The Victoria Times. He finds that the average Canadian family must pay $91 a year in taxes if it does not own an automobile, and $124 if it does.

To a average Canadian family, it seems, consists of three members and has an annual income of $1,432. This family escapes the income tax, but the five per cent defense tax will cost it $51.60. Going to a movie once a week, the family will pay $7.98 a year in amusement taxes, $3 a year in the sugar tax, $19.20 in sales taxes, and $10 in tobacco taxes. This makes up $91.08, a positive minimum, since it includes no taxes on liquor, cosmetics and other luxuries.

Every third average family in Canada owns an automobile. If it buys a new low-priced car this year, the family will be $250, or $25 a year on the basis of 10 years of use. The average family will buy 218 gallons of gasoline in the year, paying the Federal Government $6.54 apart from provincial taxes. Thus they figure the tax on a car brings the average car-owning family's total contribution up to $123.62 a year. Before the war such a family would have paid about $30.

These are plain facts which the head of the average family will have to budget for, not forgetting, in addition, his provincial and municipal taxes. The facts are not pleasant, but they represent the best investment he could possibly make. What they help to buy is cheap at the price.

QUEBEC PASSES AWKWARD LIQUOR LAW

To the Editor of the Record.
Dear Sir:—The new Quebec liquor law requires considerable elucidation as it has rendered possible the development of some very awkward situations.

There are many who still believe in gracious living, and it is customary for such individuals to begin their meals with an aperitif of some kind. This, of course, is taken before they eat and must as a consequence, be served on the presumption that the customer is going to take food subsequently.

Suppose then, that the customer decides that he is not hungry and refuses to order any food, the question naturally arises, what is the proprietor to do in these circumstances? The law provides no expedient by which we may be expected to cope with such a situation; therefore, the proprietor must first subdue the customer and then use a stomach pump in which instance, everyone loses. The customer has been deprived of the glow, which the alleged antepandrial beverage was expected to provide, and the proprietor is confronted with the total loss of a drink, which the customer no doubt would refuse to pay for since he has been forcibly deprived of it. While it must be admitted that such a situation as this may be improbable, it falls nevertheless well within the orbit of possibility.

The point to be emphasized is that wise lawmakers do not take into account the possibility of the development of absurdities in the true measure of the capacity of lawmakers.

When a regulation is productive of a set of ridiculous situations, it is a sure sign that those who framed the law are the rankest kind of amateurs and know little or nothing about the fine art of law-making.

Yours truly,

"IS THIS OUR WAR?"

Christian Science Monitor, Boston.
Adolf Hitler says it is. He declares Nazism can never be reconciled with that world of which the United States is so important a part. "These are two worlds," he insists, "and I believe one of these worlds must crack and the other must survive."

It is, then, against a "world" of which Americans as men are no less a part than are Frenchmen and Englishmen.

America's choice is not, therefore, whether to make this war "our war." America's only choice is between acting on Herr Hitler's estimate of this war or waiting until he is ready to act on it, as he has in numerous other countries that were once part of the democratic world.

"Is this our war?" Americans may differ. But the Axis Powers agree: It Duce states that Fascism long ago hoisted the flag of our revolution against the Masonic, democratic, capitalist world. The Japanese press sees the situation clearly enough to say: "It is no longer a crazy dream to expect a great war with Japan, Germany, Italy and Soviet Russia on one side, and the United States, Britain and China on the other."

The avowed enemies of America's world know the answer. Americans ought to.

Americans may suppose that their homes will still be as secure, that their jobs will still be much the same, that they can still go to the movies as often talk politics as freely and send their children to the same schools as they do now, whether the Nazis or the British win this war.

The Norwegians and others thought their peaceful life would never be disturbed because they were apparently out of harm's way and were offending nobody.

OHIO CHAMPION GAINS 1,100 POINTS ON SMART DOUBLE

I look for Clevelanders to make a record showing at the summer session of the National Tournament, which will be held at Asbury Park, N.J., the week of August 4. A large number of representative players of Cleveland will attend the nationals.

Mrs. H. J. White and Mrs. Hugh Fullerton, if they happen to pair up for the Women's Pair game, should give a fine account of themselves. They recently won the Ohio State Women's Pair event and Mrs. White and Willis Fulton won my trophy for the Ohio State Mixed Pair championship for the second time.

Mrs. White is quick on the trigger when it comes to doubling, but she can defend a hand as shown in the following example.

It is easy to say that East's heart bid was rash, but certainly many weaker overcalls are made without running into such disaster.

After taking the ace of clubs, Mrs. White led the seven, and North cashed two more clubs, South discarding a diamond. North then led a spade and Mrs. White gathered two spade tricks.

The diamond return gave North two tricks in that suit, and when North led the third diamond East desperately played the jack of hearts. But South over-ruffed with the king, exited with a spade, and

RECORD SHARP EXPANSION OF EMPIRE STUDY

Substantial Sums Raised by I.O.D.E. to Assist Empire War Effort. Annual Convention Told.

Toronto, June 3.—World conditions have made chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire "more than ever acutely alive to the value of Empire Study," Mrs. Velyien E. Henderson of Toronto, Convener of the National Empire Study Committee, told the annual convention of the Order today.

Mrs. Henderson noted an increase of seventy chapters undertaking Empire Study, including a number of junior chapters.

Expenditure of $40,970 on educational work last year demonstrated "most emphatically" the emphasis placed on that part of the services carried out by the Order, Mrs. J. D. Detwiler of London, Ont., said in her report as Educational Secretary.

A growing interest in the Order's 873 "adopted" schools was reported with New Brunswick placed at the head of the list in this respect. The appreciation of pupils and parents in the districts helped was made apparent in their effort to co-operate with the Order in war service, Mrs. Detwiler said.

Various chapters conserved their funds and used their resources for war work, freely contributing to outstanding war needs, Mrs. R. H. Brotherhood of Toronto, the organization's National Treasurer, said in her report.

In the War Services Fund alone, receipts were $520,920 and disbursements were $438,531. In addition to the amounts expended on war work, $18,261 was taken from the general fund. Expenditures totalled $456,793.

The various chapters also raised $21,171 on behalf of war funds for other organizations.

General fund receipts were $388,088 and disbursements $373,209.

Mrs. Brotherhood recommended that the Order purchase $15,000 worth of the present Victory Bonds issue.

New funds established by the I.O.D.E. last year included the Bomber and Aircraft Fund, the War Chest Fund, and various funds for soldiers, sailors and airmen, and for war sufferers in Britain. The Order had contributed $102,707 to the Lord Beaverbrook Aircraft Fund.

TESTED RECIPES

ICED BEVERAGES WILL HELP YOU BEAT THE HEAT

Iced coffee and iced tea season is here. Fruit beverages become popular, too, with hot weather.

To get the best results, make strong hot coffee. Fill tall glasses with ice, place a silver spoon in each glass, and pour hot fresh coffee over the ice. Another method is to make very strong coffee. Pour at once into glass container, cover, cool, and place in refrigerator to chill. Serve with cracked ice. Keep covered, and make only with freshly brewed coffee.

Follow these same rules for iced tea. Always use very strong tea or coffee for iced drinks.

ICED COFFEE JULEP
(Makes 6 Servings)

Twelve sprigs fresh mint, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 cups extra-strength freshly-made coffee, finely crushed ice.

Crush 6 sprigs of mint, add sugar and coffee and stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill. Fill 6 tall glasses with crushed ice. Pour the chilled coffee over the ice and garnish with a sprig of mint.

To frost the glasses, dip edges in egg white, then in powdered sugar.

For a wedding party or a porch picnic in June, this grape juice punch is a good choice.

TOMORROW'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas, dry wheat cereal, toast, coffee, milk.

"THIS IS WHY I AM BUYING VICTORY BONDS"

WHEN I WAS A BOY I learned that, "Where a man's treasure is, there will his heart be also."

Today, as never before, I know my greatest treasure in all the world and where it lies. It's right within the circle of my own family.

And tomorrow I would go out into the fields or woods, armed with a shotgun and willingly fight and die for my family's sake.

But I am not asked for that, yet. Instead, I am urged to buy Victory Bonds to defend my home — Bonds to guarantee the safety of wives and families and children.

How little to ask of me when others are doing so much. Every uniform, every war headline, every news broadcast from Europe, reminds me of what I should do.

Yes! I'll buy until I can buy no more. I may not be in the front line myself, but my dollars are certainly going to be.

HOW TO BUY—Give your order to the canvasser who calls on you. Or place it in the hands of any branch of any bank, or give it to any trust company. Or send it to your local Victory Loan Headquarters. Bonds may be bought in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and larger. Canvasser, bank, trust company or your local Victory Loan Headquarters will be glad to give you every assistance in making out your order form.

Capt. and Mrs. K. S. Ritchie and

1. You are free to speak your mind, to have your voice heard and your opinion counted, to say how you shall be governed and by whom.
2. You are free to choose your way of personal life, your job, your clothes, the style of your house, the community in which you live.

In short, you have both political freedom and economic freedom!

And they BOTH depend on the FACTS which only a free press can assure!

"But certainly," you say, "of course, of course! Only why the fuss? We've got a free press!"

And so you have! Be grateful for it. But don't be smug about it. Because COMPLACENCY is the gravest danger you and I and all of us face...

Let some vain loud-mouth stride out on a balcony and shout: "From now on you do what I say, or else..." and you'd run him out soon enough!

But that is rarely what happens first! The first surrenders of liberty under pressure of emergency are often voluntary. Each small restriction seems so necessary. Most people pay little attention. But these things add up! Others have suddenly found they no longer had the FACTS to keep them free...

So we repeat, don't take the freedom of the press for granted!

We publishers, reporters, editors will stick by what is our plain duty. But your own future... and ours along with it, is really YOURS to guard!

Where can you begin? With equally easy, simple things... As we've said, ask your neighbour! Show him these advertisements. Make sure he's awake, too... Keep tabs on how we do our job. Above all, don't be lulled into a voluntary surrender of your children's future!

RAGE IN HEAVEN

ADOPTED FROM THE
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PICTURE
by BEATRICE FABER

"How sweet you are to me, Stella."

Dr. Rameau has called the British Consul to his private insane asylum outside Paris to help identify a mysterious English paranoiac. But while they consult, the patient, unseen, escapes.

In London, a few days later, Philip Monrell meets his brilliant friend Ward Andrews at a bar. The men go to Philip's home for a few days and there find Stella Bergen, a beautiful refugee who is now companion to Mrs. Monrell.

Stella is drawn to Ward but turns from him, afraid of his strong character and dominating manner.

CHAPTER TWO
That evening Ward left, to return to his engineering work in Scotland and Philip was strangely glad. He had taken it almost for granted that Stella would be attracted to Ward. Why not? The man had a wonderful positive charm. But now he'd have her all to himself.

He was just a bit irritated over one thing. Ward had given her a kitten. It would be a living reminder of him. Too bad. Best thing to do was forget it, though.

Stella was totally unprepared when Mrs. Monrell sent for her a week later and said that she had turned the direction of the steel works in Chassington over to Philip with faithful old Mr. Higgins as chief supervisor. It was all because she was going away for a long, long rest and she wanted everything to be in proper apple order.

Stella was deeply distressed. "You're going to leave us? I—I just can't believe it."

Mrs. Monrell smiled faintly. "Doctor MacTernan says if I don't leave England before the winter, well, he can't answer for the consequences." Then she took Stella's hand. "My dear, you and Philip have really become friends now haven't you?"

Stella nodded. "Oh yes. Great friends. He's so gay. When we're together, we laugh all the time."

"I'm so very glad." The older woman's eyes clouded. "You see Philip is my greatest worry. What will he do without me? Ever since my husband died he has relied on me, on my will—absolutely. A boy like Philip is only half a man when he has no woman to lean on."

She went on now with less agitation more gently. "Life has taught me one thing Stella. Women should care for the men who need them. At heart, we women are all mothers."

In a barely audible whisper Stella said, "Yes, Mrs. Monrell."

"Now," Mrs. Monrell went on "my darling child, don't misunderstand. I should never allow you to do anything out of a mistaken sense of gratitude to me."

Impulsively, Stella bent down and kissed her. Then slowly, she went to the door. Mrs. Monrell had said it as plainly as if it were in words. "Take care of my son."

And so they were married, just a week later.

Stella was quite happy, in a peaceful contented sort of fashion. Philip was dear and sweet, always bringing her flowers, gifts or an amusing story that he would relate at dinner hour. The only blot was his obvious reluctance to attend to his work at the Foundry. But perhaps as he learned more, he would become more interested.

It was after breakfast one morning and Stella had Ward's kitten on her lap. She fondled it with one hand while she read aloud a letter from Mrs. Monrell. She had just arrived in Capetown. She was a bit tired but feeling better. The doctors were quite satisfied.

Suddenly, Stella glanced at the clock. "My goodness, you're late already. I'll go and tell Eric to bring the car." She jumped up and as Philip stepped forward, the kitten ran in front of him. "Be careful. You'll hurt him."

Philip looked at her with a curious smile. "Oh I wouldn't hurt Ward's kitten?"

"At the office all that day, he was amused and depressed by you. The kitten had followed him into the car and it was fun for a while to keep it here, to stroke it and think of how upset Stella must be at missing it. But by lunch-time he was bored. He and the kitten went out into the back lane. When he returned he was alone."

Now the walls seemed to be crowding in on him. The trouble was, he didn't feel important enough. Old Higgins never really gave him anything to do. They knew he worked out cross word puzzles all day and they were perfectly satisfied to leave it that way.

An intense fury began to rise within him. And why hadn't Stella telephoned? She must have missed the kitten by this time.

The door opened and she burst in. She was terribly distracted. "Philip! I'm so upset darling. I can't find the kitten. I don't know why I came here to bother you about it."

He patted her arm. "Now don't worry dear. I'm sure he'll come back. I know how much you love him."

And now, an idea that had been in the back of his mind suddenly sprang into full bloom. He had been thinking of it ever since Higgins had brought him that report to sign. "Structural improvements."

Telling Stella to sit down and wait he immediately sent for his whole Executive Board. Then, with tremendous excitement he began to talk to his men. He had been considering the item marked "Twenty thousand pounds" for improvement of the workers' cottages. Well, it would have to go. He wouldn't even consider such a project.

At that, a heated argument rose between Philip and Mr. Black, the chief engineer. "Those cottages will have to be fixed up," Mr. Black insisted. "They're just stinking rat holes. Our operatives will never stand for it."

Now Philip's voice became shrill. But all at once he stood there frozen as Mr. Black tendered his resignation. He felt lost, helpless. Which way should he turn? Naturally, he hadn't read the report of the silly old report. But what of it? His word would have to be final.

He bowed mockingly to Mr. Black. "Very well, Mr. Black. Your resignation is accepted as from today."

They all filed out in silence. "Philip," Stella protested, "this is serious, isn't it?"

He flared up. "I can't have those old men contradict me when I give orders." His tone was bitter. "You're always saying you want people to respect me." He was trembling a little. "I've made my decision Stella. Let's go."

(Philip's erratic way of thinking has caused trouble in the factory. Will the matter end there or will there be worse consequences than he realizes? Read tomorrow's exciting installment.)

BOISSONEAULT AND KAYSER IN VICTORIES

Flyers And La Tribune Absorb Second Setback

Boissoneault Routs St. Francois Xavier de Brompton Boys 15-6 and Kayser Shades Newspapersmen 8-7—Melancon Records 13 Strikeouts in Five Innings—Stage Set for Kayser-Boissoneault Battle Tomorrow Night.

The stage is set for the first meeting of the season between Boissoneault and Kayser in the City Softball League. In the season's second doubleheader last night Boissoneault registered a 15-6 victory over the Windsor Mills Flying Training School and Kayser nosed out La Tribune 8-7. Both the winners are undefeated in two games and share first position, so tomorrow night's scrap shapes up as a battle of giants.

George Melancon, the Boissoneault pitching ace, breezed through four innings against the Flyers and then was replaced by Collin, who hurled last year for Textile. Collin did all right in the fifth, but got into difficulties in the sixth, and Melancon was rushed back into the game to choke off a rally by the boys from St. Francois Xavier de Brompton in time to save the bacon.

After a scoreless opening inning, Boissoneault went wild to pile up eight runs in the second and practically put the game on ice. They got only two hits in this frame, but were helped by six zases on balls served up by Turp, the Flyers' hurler. The Boissoneault parade continued in the third stanza as three hits and a error accounted for four more tallies, and then was concluded in the fifth with a three-run spurge accounted for by a hit, a walk and a pair of misuses.

A free ticket to Marco and a hit by Lewis gave the Airman one run in the second, and Guinard homered with the lanes clear in the fifth. In the sixth the Flyers pounded Collin for four singles and a home run, the big clout by Legere, and collected four runs before Melancon stepped into the box again and stopped them cold with three strikeouts in succession.

Melancon sent 13 men in all down swinging, issued four walks and allowed one hit and one run, while Collin gave up six hits and two walks for five runs. Turp gave only eight hits, but his wildness produced no less than nine bases on balls. The game only last six innings.

Kayser had a 3-0 advantage in the other game, before La Tribune broke into the scoring in the third inning. The newspapersmen turned out a revamped team, with Blinco, Dugre, Kouri and Humphrey being added to the line-up which was routed last week by Boissoneault. La Tribune gave Henry Klein's veterans a good fight after settling down to business.

The Kleinmen counted twice in the first frame and once in the second.

PHILIP CAREY TOPS "Y" 11-9 IN FIRST GAME

Lennoxville Outfit Makes Successful Home Debut in Industrial Softball League—"Y" Outfielders at Cross Purposes.

With Philip Carey batting in the last of the seventh, three men on base and two men out, Proulx lifted a long fly into the outfield. Lipin and Jodel of the "Y" had a battle over who was going to catch the ball and neither did, so three runs scored and the Carey crew chalked up an 11-9 victory on their home diamond to make a successful start in the Industrial Softball League.

The "Y" led 9-7 going into the last half of the seventh, but the Carey contingent chalked up four runs and walked off with the decision. Both teams collected eight hits and committed six errors in the loosely-played engagement.

In the opening inning each team scored three times, then in the fourth the "Y" assumed a 7-4 advantage which was short-lived as the homesters collected four markers in the last of the fifth. The "Y" got their last two tallies in the sixth.

J. Laramee and Ben Lynn, the rival pitchers, each chalked up six strikeouts. As a matter of fact, the pitching was good, but neither hurler got any kind of support. R. Maurice, with a double and two singles, led the Lennoxville squad, and Proulx collected two singles, Adams, with a triple and single, and Rudning, with a pair of singles, were the best hitters for the visitors.

Cards And Indians Back On Top Of Respective Leagues

Same Old Story as Feller Comes Through with 7-5 Win Over Yanks to Shove Tribe Back to American Loop Pinnacle—Cards Break Tie with Brooklyn by Beating Dodgers 5-4—White Sox End Short-Lived Stay on Top by Bowing 8-3 to Senators.

It was the talk of the major leagues last year that Cincinnati Reds won forty-two games by one-run margins and in doing it won the National League pennant and the World Series.

But the way things are going this season, that record may look puny before the finish. It took a total of three runs to return St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland Indians to first place in their respective leagues yesterday and that's just a sample of what's been going on.

To date, twenty-one of the Cardinals' forty-four games have been decided by single runs with the Reds winning fifteen of them, mostly in the late innings. The Indians have found two runs a more comfortable margin, either winning or losing, but they've had seven one-run decisions in their favor and six against them in forty-nine games.

The Cards broke their tie with Brooklyn yesterday by beating the Dodgers 5-4 and at least made sure they won't lose the lead during the series that ends today. The Indians, after losing two games to the Yankees, bounced back the way they usually do when Bobby Feller is pitching, whipped the Yanks 7-5 and moved back to the top after spending a day behind Chicago White Sox.

Some distance behind these leaders, the Reds and Boston Red Sox also moved up. The world champions turned back New York Giants 4-3 and took fourth place in the National League by a few percentage points, although they're virtually tied with Chicago Cubs. The Red Sox, taking advantage of Philadelphia's rain-enforced idleness in St. Louis, moved a half-game ahead of the A's into fourth with a 3-1 triumph over Detroit.

It was a typical Cardinal finish that put Billy Southworth's boys back on top and ended Brooklyn's nine-game winning streak. After the Dodgers recovered from an attack of jitters that cost them three runs in the fifth and tied the score with a pair in the eighth, the Cards needed a run to win and they got it. The Yankees didn't show much respect for Feller's shutout record, breaking it off at thirty innings in the second when they scored twice to knot the count. But from there on, only one more came on two homers by Tommy Henrich. Meanwhile, southpaw Marius Russo walked two runs across in the fifth and Ken Keltner's triple and Tommy Heath's homer finished the job in the next inning.

The White Sox, after reaching the top for the first time since 1921, succumbed 8-3 to Steve Suro and the seventh-place Washington Senators.

The Phillies aided the Reds' advance when they knocked off the Cubs for the first time this season, 3-2, on Johnny Podgajny's seventh-inning hurling. Dick Erickson gave Boston Braves their first shutout triumph of the campaign, stopping Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0, with five hits.

Of turning the proceeds of week-end matches over to the Queen's Canadian Fund a very busy sum will be realized. The Sherbrooke Curling Club proved of great assistance to various organizations and campaigns last winter by holding these tournaments, and it is hoped they will be carried on by the golfers. A total of $20 for Saturday's tourney set a high standard, and the golfers will have to dig deep to maintain this record in following weeks.

Boissoneault had better keep Melancon in the box if they want to keep winning in the City Softball League. They took him out and batted Collin in to start the fifth. Johnny had all right in that stanza but was battered from pillar to post in the sixth and Melancon was rushed to the rescue. "Patate" breezed to thirteen strikeouts in five innings, and now has twenty-eight for two games. Classy chucking in any league.

La Tribune's revamped team made things hot for the Kayser, who this year have to get along on their hitting and their fielding as well as pitching. In Emile Houde the Kleinmen have a steady, dependable man but he is no speed artist.

The Kayser-Boissoneault clash to-morrow night should be a crowd-pleaser, and it will be interesting to see what Klein's lads will be able to do with Melancon.

One of the sporting world's most popular figures has been lost through the death at his home in the Bronx, N.Y., of Lou Gehrig, the "Iron Horse," who was twice chosen as the most valuable player in the American League, who clouted home runs with the corners crammed twenty-three times, who played 2,130 consecutive American League games during his fourteen seasons with the Yankees and who established many other records that have never been threatened, was perhaps baseball's finest advertisement. He was a clean-living, quiet, gentlemanly figure who never sought the spotlight, but who gained great attention both before and after his playing days. His death at an unexpectable age is just one of those unexplainable things. Millions who saw him play, and millions more who read about his exploits learned of his passing with deep regret.

HOME RUNS AND GOOD PITCHING WIN FOR BIRDS

Baltimore Nips Buffalo 4-3 for Ninth Win in Eleven Starts—Little Giants Stop Red Wings by Same Score.

It's been said for years that all Baltimore Orioles needed was some good pitching and they'd be practically unbeatable in the International Baseball League. They've always had the kind of long-range hitting that wins plenty of games even when the pitchers don't deliver.

For the past week or so they've been getting the pitching and have done a pretty fair job of carrying out the rest of the prediction. The Orioles have won nine of their last eleven games and have come from a week seventh in the league standing to a brisk sixth, only two contests behind Jersey City.

It was Floyd Strome's hurling and the well-known habit of hitting home runs that produced a 4-3 victory over the fourth-place Buffalo Bisons yesterday. Strome, a Bison cast-off, stopped all the Buffalo hitters except Dutch Meyer, who hit two home runs, while Bob Seeds homered with a hit on base in the eighth and Tom Hefey hit another with the score tied and none out in the ninth.

The only other game scheduled yesterday was almost a duplicate, except that it was singles instead of homers that turned the trick. Jersey Giants, held to six hits by Max Surkont and John Berly, conquered Rochester Red Wings 4-3 when Johnny McCarthy singled with the bases full and two out in the ninth.

Baseball World Shocked At Death Of Great Lou Gehrig

Former Star First Baseman of New York Yankees, "Iron Horse" Died Last Night After Illness of Two Years—Set Record of Playing in 2,130 Consecutive Games—Never Missed Game with Yanks in Fourteen Years.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Lou Gehrig, the great "Iron Horse" of baseball, died last night.

The big, handsome fellow who was a marvel of power and endurance for fourteen years as the first baseman of the New York Yankees died at his home in the Bronx after an illness of two years from a rare and apparently incurable disease described as hardening of the spinal cord which caused his muscles to shrivel.

The end came seventeen days before Lou would have been thirty-eight years old and wrote "30" to a fight with disease that was as dramatic and courageous as any of his exploits on the diamond.

Right up until the time he fell into a coma yesterday Gehrig never acknowledged he was beaten.

Gehrig's place among baseball's immortals was assured a year ago when he was voted into the sport's Hall of Fame. Before he voluntarily withdrew from the Yankee lineup May 2, 1939, at Detroit, he set a never-before record of playing in 2,130 consecutive championship games, thirty-four World Series contests and countless exhibitions.

He started his streak as a pinch hitter June 1, 1925. The next day he replaced Wally Pipp at first base and never missed a game for fourteen years.

He twice was named the most valuable player in the American League, led it in batting with .333 in 1934, set a major league record for batting in more than 100 runs a year for thirteen years, set the American League mark of 184 runs batted in in 1931, hit a home run with the bases loaded on twenty-three different times, and once hit four homers in one game, feats never equaled.

It was not until Gehrig went to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., two years ago this month that he knew anything was wrong physically. There he was told he never could play baseball again and that he would have to have an injection in his back every day.

After the World Series that fall, Mayor LaGuardia offered him a ten-year post on the New York City Police Commission at a salary of $5,700, a modest stipend for a man who made in the neighborhood of $400,000 in his years on the diamond and reached a peak of $40,000, exclusive of World Series and other extras, in 1938.

His health grew worse by degrees, even though he gave each bit of ground grudgingly. About a month ago his physician, Dr. C. B. Esselstyn, prevailed upon him to remain home and conserve his strength.

As soon as the news of his death was known, expressions of sorrow came from the great and small of baseball throughout the country.

Babe Ruth, Gehrig's teammate for many years, visited the home and said:

"I feel very sorry for him. I never knew a fellow who lived a clean life. He was a clean living boy, a good baseball player, a great hustler. He was just a grand guy."

Members of the Yankees, by coincidence arriving in Detroit where Gehrig had first been taken from him, were shocked to learn of his death.

Manager Joe McCarthy said: "What can I say? I am at a loss for words. He was my personal friend, one of baseball's greatest figures, and a grand fellow."

Hard to believe, but Buck Newsom has failed to last nine innings in ten of his eleven starts this year.

Today's guest star: John Kieran, New York Times: "The noted pitching staff of the Indians took a hammering over a recent stretch, but Manager Peckinpaugh still has a Feller when he needs a friend."
