GOVERNMENT HAS FINALLY SETTLED WITH SIR CHARLES ROSS FOR TWO MILLIONS

Exclusive Story of The Chronicle Now Confirmed by Ottawa Despatch—One Million Dollars Waived in View of Quick Settlement—Cheque is Received

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 22.—The Government, acting on the advice of its counsel, Messrs. Tilley and Meredith of Toronto, has finally settled for two million dollars the claim of Sir Charles Ross for compensation for the expropriation of his rifle factory and plant at Quebec, under the War Measures Act, in March of 1917. The case was pending in the Exchequer Court and was to have come up for hearing this coming spring, the courts award being limited to a maximum of three million dollars according to the terms of the Order-in-Council granting the fiat. Sir Charles Ross, though advised by his counsel that the full amount allowed by the limitations of the Order-in-Council could be secured from the court, agreed to waive and accept the two million offered by the Government, in view of a quick and final settlement. The cheque was paid over to him today.

The valuation experts engaged by Sir Charles represented the actual value of the physical assets in plant, machinery, stock on hand, etc., taken over by the Government, to be upwards of six million dollars, exclusive of the value of his franchise, under the original agreement with the Government and exclusive also of business in sight at the time of expropriation. The factory then had an output of one thousand rifles per day. Large contracts were being negotiated for the manufacture of rifles for Allied nations and in view of the prospective business, the complete equipment of the factory going concern and franchise values, etc., Sir Charles' counsel filed two years ago a legal claim for some eighteen million dollars from the Government. The Government, however, in granting a fiat for reference to the exchequer court, placed a limitation of three millions as the amount of the ultimate award.

It is understood that the Government's own experts, who valued the physical assets, appropriated, reported an amount in substantial excess of the two millions which Sir Charles has now agreed to accept.

About one million dollars, it is stated, have been realized by the Government on the sale of rifles, machinery, raw materials, etc., taken over and a fully equipped plant now remains in the possession of the people of Canada to be used according to the terms of the expropriation Order-in-Council "for the manufacture as a permanent Government undertaking of the rifles and small arms required for the arming of the naval and military forces of Canada."

Sir Charles Ross retires from his post as a purveyor of rifles for Canada's military forces, with what, he says, only about half of the market value of the physical assets actually taken over by the Government. He declares that in time of emergency he more than lived up to the terms of his contract with the Government, enlarged the plant and his own financial risk and initiative in expectation of a long war, increased the output twenty fold in a remarkably short time and enabled the Canadian troops to proceed overseas without delay, in time to save the day for the Allies at St. Julien. As the first war contractor on the ground at the outbreak of the war with an exclusive contract for the manufacture of rifles for the whole Canadian army, he makes the claim that such conditions, after three years of waiting for a settlement, is more than he could have expected.

"I do venture to make the claim," said Sir Charles today, "that the full story of the so-called Ross rifle, when it all comes out, as I hope some day it will, will show that my factory was the only big war plant on this continent which did business at pre-war prices, voluntarily gave up the opportunity to extort increased profits in time of national necessity and was successfully financed during such conditions. After three years of waiting for a settlement, I have now accepted considerably less than half of what I think I am in-

WOOL MERCHANTS PAY CLAIMS

English and O'Brien Sentenced for Defrauding Government, Settle Up

Boston, Mass., Jan. 22.—William A. English and John H. O'Brien, who were members of the wool firm of English and O'Brien of this city, were sentenced on July 21, 1919, to eight months in the Greenfield jail for conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the payment of income taxes, have paid the Government $1,500,000, in settlement of the claims against them, it was announced today.

A civil suit which was brought against the two men for $3,000,000 in connection with their delinquency is to be withdrawn. Both made application for parole, to which they were eligible in another week, when they will have served one third of their sentences. The taxes due amounted to $1,375,000 and to this was added a fine of 100 per cent.

NAVAL INVESTIGATION.

Newport, R.I., January 22.—The Naval Board of Inquiry which was instituted by the Navy Department to investigate naval conditions here, convened at the training station today with Rear-Admiral Herbert O. Bunn, commandant of the first naval district, presiding. The sessions, it was announced, will be secret.

strict equity entitled to. The Government has a splendidly equipped factory which could not be duplicated today for anything like two million dollars. It has the opportunity of investing use of this, as well as the other Government plants at Lindsay and Quebec, representing a total investment of probably ten millions, for the manufacture at cost in time of peace of some of the general implements of agricultural production. The machinery that turned out steel for rifles might be easily adapted to turn out the parts for tractors or other agricultural implements. Our swords might thus be entirely turned into ploughshares, and if war again threatened, this peace-time plant and organization of skilled workmen might at once be turned again to the production of the implements of war. I throw out the suggestion for the consideration of the Government. Personally I drop out after a somewhat strenuous and at all times working session with the business of providing a total arm for Canada's military forces under circumstances and hamperings which perhaps need not now be discussed. The whole story of what I did and of what I tried to do will perhaps be made public some day. When it is told I'm inclined to think some of the criticisms which I have had to bear in patience and in silence for years past will be found to be quite unjustified. I care much more about that than I do about the money end of it."

The two millions paid to Sir Charles was paid out of the war appropriation vote of last session. The Government's plans as to the ultimate utilization of the factory at Quebec are as yet not fully developed. It will doubtless, however, be retained as a permanent plan for the manufacture by the Government of the instruments of national defence.

NEW MILLERAND CABINET MEETS MORAL DEFEAT

Given Vote of Confidence But Three Hundred Deputies Abstained

LOYALTY OF STEEG

Premier Must Replace the Minister of Interior So As to Avoid Overthrow

Paris, January 22.—Amid tumultuous scenes in the Chamber of Deputies today, the recently formed Cabinet of Premier Millerand received a vote of confidence, 272 to 23. The vote was considered a moral defeat for the Government, however, as more than 300 deputies abstained from voting. The reluctance of the deputies to vote on the question of confidence recalled a scene in the Chamber in the 90's when the Ministry of Alexandre Ribot was overthrown three hours after its formation.

The vote of confidence was taken on the demand of Premier Millerand, after a vague attack by Deputy Leon Daudet, editor of L'Action Francaise, on Jules Steeg, Minister of the Interior. M. Daudet demanded the right to interpellate the Government on M. Steeg's appointment to the Ministry. He declared that Steeg was an accomplice of Louis J. Malvy, former Minister of the Interior, who was banished following his conviction on charges of communication with the enemy, and of Joseph Caillaux, former Premier, who is soon to be brought to trial on the charge of attempting to promote a premature and dishonorable peace with Germany.

The vote was generally interpreted in the lobbies of the Chamber to mean that the Millerand Cabinet cannot last as now constituted and that the Premier will have to replace M. Steeg at the Ministry of the Interior, or the Cabinet will be overthrown on the first question involving the interior policy on a question of confidence.

Many of the Deputies who abstained from voting told the correspondent of The Associated Press that they had given the Premier fair warning, that the next time they would vote against him, should M. Steeg remain.

The charges of M. Daudet against M. Steeg were specific and emphatic. He claimed that M. Steeg was in complicity with Malvy and continued the latter's policy while he (Steeg) was Minister of the Interior in the Painlevé Cabinet.

M. Daudet refused to withdraw his charges and said that he was willing to produce facts to prove his assertions.

M. Steeg was absent at the Senate, while M. Daudet was speaking. Summoned in haste by telephone, he replied that he had always served France with all his heart and intelligence.

The opening speech of Premier Millerand was received with respectful indifference by the deputies, but with M. Daudet's bitter attack on M. Steeg, the Chamber became noisy and unruly. The Cabinet's initial hour to the House was made amidst conditions which caused many to predict that its life would be short. There even were moments when the question of the Cabinet's fall on the very day of its inauguration was seriously discussed.

Before the vote of confidence, orders of the day succeeded one another in such rapidity that at one time seven of them lay on the desk of the Speaker. About 10 o'clock Premier Millerand added the question of confidence in the Cabinet finally accepted the order of the day submitted by Deputy Duménil, reading:

"The Chamber, approving the Government's declarations relative to the choice of Minister of the Interior and rejecting an addition, reverts to the order of the day."

The Chamber was in an uproar and Speaker Peret threatened to suspend the session.

Prince Murat and M. Daudet exchanged caustic personal remarks across the floor of the Chamber with members of the Extreme Left amid pandemonium.

During the debate that preceded the vote a number of deputies had insisted upon voting on the order of the day, pure and simple, ignoring charges that had been made against Jules Steeg, the Minister of the Interior, by Deputy Leon Daudet in the course of the discussion. They argued that it would be better to vote on the question of confidence when the Government had fully stated its general policy, which they considered had been inadequately covered by a declaration which the Premier made of confidence.

M. Millerand insisted upon a vote of confidence, however, pointing out that it was the custom to take such a vote on the first appearance of a Cabinet before the Chamber.

JAPAN DECLARES FOR TREATY.
Tokyo Jan. 22.—Declaring that the success or failure of the peace treaty depended "altogether on the spirit and manner of its operation," Premier Hara, in an address at the opening of the Japanese Diet yesterday, at Tokyo, said Japan would "be one of those states which will strictly carry out every term of the treaty."

CONTEST WILL BE MOMENTOUS

Asquith's Return to Commons Would Be Welcomed By All Sections

London, Jan. 22.—(By Can. Press) —Now that Premier Asquith has been officially adopted as the Liberal candidate for Paisley common opinion it is agreed that the contest will be the most momentous since the general elections.

Asquith's return to the House of Commons would find a welcome amongst well nigh every section, particularly by those Liberals who are still persuaded that the expediencies of the moment require the maintenance of the Coalition Government.

Considering his eminence it is remarkable that Mr. Asquith has had to remain so long outside. When Balfour, for instance, was defeated at Manchester, a perfectly safe seat was found him almost at once in the City of London. That such a course was not adopted in Mr. Asquith's case can only be ascribed to Independent Liberalism possessing just now so few seats deemed absolutely secure.

Mr. Asquith's selection last night for Paisley, however, only became the unanimous choice of the local caucus after some hesitation. The caucus had also before them the name of J. C. Watson, advocate, of Edinburgh, and a native of Paisley. Asquith secured a majority of 18 on the first vote and the second vote gave him an unanimous adoption.

As already noted, Mr. Asquith will not be officially opposed by Coalition Headquarters in London, but local unionists are suspected of being strongly eager to bring out a candidate. J. M. Higgins, Co-operative and Labor candidate, has already opened his campaign, placing in the forefront of his programme a levy on capital. Although some Socialists oppose his candidature, he is certain of an almost solid labor vote.

Paisley has great Liberal traditions. Sir John MacCallum whose death caused the vacancy there, was elected a year ago by only 108 majority. MacCallum did not hold a coalition coupon but consistently supported the Government.

The polling day has not yet been fixed. In the meantime, the Ashton by-election caused by the elevation of Sir Albert Stanley to the peerage, pursues a rather lively progress, but mainly owing to the sprightliness with which Lady Defreze, better known as Vesta Lily, noted vaudeville artiste, is canvassing for her husband, Sir Walter Defreze, coalition candidate. The National Federation of Discharged Soldiers have declined to support W. C. Robinson, Laborite, because certain trade unionists, notably the engineers, are alleged to have declined to allow employment of disabled men. The soldiers' vote here may turn the election. It is expected the women's vote which is pretty heavy, will be divided among all three candidates.

polling is fixed for January 31.

Local Unionists have selected James A. MacKinnon as the Coalition candidate in the forthcoming Paisley bye-election.

It is said that the extreme socialist section of Labor is dissatisfied with the selection of the Laborite candidate and a split is threatened.

THE POSITION OF GEN. DENIKINE SEEMS BETTER

Inevitable Pause Has Followed Long and Rapid Bolshevik Offensive

REORGANIZATION EASIER

Is Nearer Their Base and Resources Than the Advancing Enemy

London, January 22.—(By The Associated Press). —The position of General Denikine, anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, to all appearances, is somewhat better, according to the War Office summary of the situation. The inevitable pause has occurred which must follow any long and rapid offensive such as has been conducted by the Bolsheviks in South Russia. The further course of the operations will probably favor the side able to make the best use of the time at its disposal for reorganization.

This naturally will be easier for General Denikine, who is nearer his base and resources than the Bolsheviks, who have gone deep into enemy country and depend for supplies and equipment on partially destroyed railways.

Much depends upon the support afforded Denikine by the population in the rear. Latest reports seem to indicate that he still commands their full confidence and loyalty. However, his losses of material in the recent retreat are bound to have a grave effect on future operations.

Meanwhile the River Don is so swollen by heavy rains as to render it difficult of passage and the Don and Caucasus armies have thus gained a valuable respite, which will be used fully in reorganizing and raising further reinforcements that should shortly be available to replace the casualties of retreat.

Moreover the imminent danger to their country has caused both the Don and Kuban Cossacks to rally wholeheartedly around the Government and afford full support to Denikine.

The Bolshevik advance in Siberia appears to have slowed down. The Allied High Commissioner has received a message from Admiral Kolchak at Nijni-Udinsk, stating that he is remaining there with the Ministers of his suite, whose fate he intends to share. In West Russia, the Letts, since the opening of their offensive on January 17th, have taken a stretch of their own country about forty miles in depth and captured 13,000 prisoners and considerable material. Sixty miles of Lettish territory still remains in the Bolshevik hands.

The Bolsheviks have concentrated strong forces of troops, for the defence of the important junction of Rostov and are also counter-attacking the Lettish left along the Pskov railway, where they have been repulsed with heavy losses. The Reds have not succeeded in checking the Lettish advance in the centre. The tension between the Poles and Lithuanians continues, but only small armed encounters between partisan bodies have occurred. In the Caucasus the Bolshevik advance down the western shore of the Caspian appears to threaten Petrovsk, the base of the volunteer fleet. In Trans-Caspian the Bolsheviks have not yet captured Krasnovodsk, as reported. As they have penetrated as far as Yagman, but are held up by volunteers who occupy strong positions while the Bolshevik flanks are exposed to fire from the sea.

A Polish anti-air force is reported to have arrived at Kabul, Afghanistan, and to have been received with great ceremony. Two emissaries from Constantinople are also said to be at Kabul. Ramadan Shaishah, the Mesopotamian leader, has adopted an attitude of defiance towards both the British and Arab Governments. He is calling on loans advanced by the Mesopotamian administration to the people and sending agents far within the frontier to stir up trouble. A band of tribesmen attacked Albu Kemal on January 11th, but was beaten off by the British airplanes and caused heavy casualties.

One plane picked up a wounded British officer and carried him 240 miles to a hospital.

IMPERIAL FORCES SERVICE GRATUITIES

Claims Are Coming In Very Slowly—Only About Five Thousand to Date

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 22.—(By Canadian Press)—It is stated by the Militia Department that applications for war service gratuities by ex-members of the Imperial forces who come within the provisions of the Order-in-Council passed on December 1, 1919, following the report of the special committee of the House of Commons, are coming in very slowly. Only 5,098 applications have been received, whereas it is estimated that there must be approximately forty thousand men entitled to the gratuity.

ROWELL REPLIED TO OBJECTIONS

Canada Free As Any Other Nation in the World To Voice Views

Montreal, Que., Jan. 22.—(By Canadian Press)—Hon. N. W. Rowell speaking tonight before the McGill University Club, gave an emphatic reply to the objections of certain United States Senators to representation of Canada and other British Dominions on the League of Nations. He pointed out that Canada had won a position as practically an independent nation although still part of the commonwealth of nations that made up the British Empire. Hence Canada was as free as any other nation to voice its views at the Council of the League of Nations and would even disagree with Great Britain if such a course seemed proper to her.

Mr. Rowell concluded his address by saying: "No nation will finally put itself on record as denying to Canada the right to a voice in the preservation of the peace which her soldiers did so much to win while such nation claims a vote for other nations of much less intrinsic importance which may have done little or nothing in the war. Canada has won her right to a place in the assembly of nations by the blood of her sons and this right, thus won, the Canadian people will never surrender."

The chair at the meeting was taken by L. G. Adair, President of the McGill Canadian Club and Hon. Mr. Rowell was accompanied by Dean Moyses of McGill.

AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN SOLDIERS IN CLASH

Detachment Under General Graves Attacked by Semenov Forces

Washington, D.C., Jan. 22.—As a result of the clash between a detachment of United States soldiers and Semenov forces on January 10, near Posolsakaya, one general, six officers and forty eight men of the Russian forces were captured and still are held. The War Department was advised today by Major General Graves, commander of the Siberian Expedition.

General Graves described the attack as entirely unprovoked. The United States casualties were one killed, one man died of wounds and one severely wounded, while five Russians were killed and one severely wounded.

The opposing forces were manning armored trains, General Graves said, the Russians attacked 38 Americans, who fought off the Russians and then in turn attacked. The Russian car and its crew was captured.

General Graves expressed the opinion that the matter could be adjusted peacefully with Semenov, who could not have been responsible.

Two United States soldiers were killed and one severely wounded in the clash with a Russian detachment of General Semenov's forces on January 10, near Posolsakaya, while five Russians were killed, one wounded and 55 captured, including one general and six other officers who still are held.

In reporting the clash to the War Department today Major-General Graves, commanding the United States expedition in Siberia said the Russians, in an armed car, made an unprovoked attack on the Americans who were in a similar car. The Russian attack was repulsed and the Americans then captured the car and its occupants.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.

ALL PASSENGERS TRANSFERRED FROM DISABLED POWHATTAN TO STR. NORTHERN PACIFIC

Striking Sea Drama Which Opened Last Sunday is Thus Brought To a Close—Rescue Effected Under Good Weather Conditions and Without Accident

New York, Jan. 22.—All the 271 passengers on board the disabled Army Transport Powhattan have been transferred to the transport Northern Pacific, and are on their way to New York. This news was received here tonight in wireless messages confirming previous reports from Halifax. The transfer of the passengers was effected today under good weather conditions and without any accident occurring.

The safe transfer of the Powhattan's passengers brings to a close a striking sea drama which opened last Sunday when the first message was received from the transport that the ship was leaking, the first room flooded, north-east gale blowing and immediate assistance needed. The wireless calls for help were quickly responded to by half a score of vessels which put out from Canadian and American ports or rushed to the scene from mid-ocean. The first ship to arrive was the White Star liner Cedric, on her way from England to New York. She was quickly followed by the Western Comet, a United States Shipping Board steamer.

The Cedric and the Western Comet found the disabled transport rolling heavily in a stormy sea without lights or heat, but were helpless to render any aid in the face of the persistent gale. The transport Northern Pacific, which was bound for New York with the last details of the American Expeditionary Forces from France, reached its distressed sister ship on Monday and replaced the Cedric which resumed its voyage to New York. For four days more the Powhattan lay helpless in the face of the unrelenting storm while a growing fleet of would-be rescuers made vain efforts to take her in tow or effect a transfer of her passengers.

On repeated occasions two lines were passed, only to snap like thread under the terrific strain of the derelict's downwind, the surging sea and the wind. Grave fears were felt for the outcome of the battle up to last night when the welcome news was received that the weather was moderating and that a fresh and apparently successful effort to take the Powhattan in tow had been made by the Lady Laurier and the Western Comet. It was not, however, until twenty-four hours later that it was possible to rescue the passengers from the cheerless sea prison in which they had been immured for five days. The Northern Pacific expected to reach New York on Saturday.

Halifax Report.
Halifax, N.S., Jan. 22.—(By Canadian Press.)—The transfer of the three hundred passengers aboard the disabled army transport Powhattan to the steamer Northern Pacific is proceeding tonight.

Taking advantage of the more favorable weather conditions, Captain Randall, of the Powhattan, signalled to the steamer Lady Laurier that he thought it was advisable to transfer the passengers to the steamer Northern Pacific. The tow was immediately halted and preparations were made at once to transfer the passengers. The Powhattan's boats were swung out and the United States destroyers were signalled to come in closer to the transport and play their gunpowder searchlights on the gangways and the ship's boats. It was after seven o'clock before the first boatload left the side of the Powhattan for the Northern Pacific, which was standing off some distance from the disabled ship.

While the weather was milder and the sea calmer, the transfer of the passengers was not effected without great difficulty. The passengers on the Powhattan have come through a trying experience. The ship has been without heat or light for over five days and in her helpless condition has been tossed and buffeted by the seas. The passengers must have suffered from the cold and exposure and the improvement in the weather conditions prompted the captain to undertake the risk of effecting their transfer by night, for as the ships neared the coast the cold was becoming more intense. The transfer of 300 people from ship to ship at night is an immense undertaking involving risk, but if the weather held it is hoped that by daybreak all will be safe on board the Northern Pacific.

It was nearly midnight before the last of the passengers were safe on board the Northern Pacific, which soon started out for New York. The military authorities here are making preparations for the reception of the passengers and crew of the ship.

CHINA TO BE UNITED.
Honolulu, Jan. 22.—(By The Associated Press.)—Unification of the North and South factions in China is imminent, according to cable advice received here today from Canton via Shanghai, by the Hon. Mon Bo, a Chinese language newspaper.

The American Army Transport Powhattan. Later this afternoon military orders and nurses were ordered to prepare Camp Hill Military Hospital. Four hundred beds are being made up and everything put in shape in case that the passengers are landed here. The military authorities received no word from the transport, but they are making the preparations in case the accommodation is requested ashore for those on the Powhattan.

SIX ACCUSED OF MELTING COINS

Organized Remarkable System for Securing Gold and Selling It

London, January 22.—The taking of testimony was resumed today in the case of the six persons, including Harry Lewis, a barrister, and Shure & Chamberlain, diamond merchants, who are charged with having broken up and melted gold coin. They were arrested on Thursday under a provision of Defence of the Realm Act.

The testimony today tended to show that no less than 110,000 sovereigns in gold were withdrawn from the Bank of England in the course of the year by the accused. The total weight of the metal was ten hundredweight. The lawyers on behalf of the Crown asserted that the defendants had organized a remarkable system for securing coins, which were melted down and the gold sold. During the month of December alone it was charged, they disposed of bar gold worth £9,400, while in the course of the month they succeeded in getting 26,000 sovereigns from the Bank.

RETURN OF WAR DEAD

NOT APPROVED OF
Mortuary Association Have Not the Permission Of the Governments

Ottawa, January 22.—The plan of the overseas mortuary association, a Toronto organization of undertakers, which is advertising for commissions to bring back and reinter in Canada the bodies of the Canadian war dead, is not received in official circles here as being either feasible or desirable. No permission it was pointed out, as the Militia Department today, has ever been granted for the removal of bodies from the theatre of war. It has been sought in a number of cases, but not allowed. Not the Canadian or British Governments, but only the Governments of France and Belgium could permit it and having refused so far, it is believed they will not reverse their decision.

The War Graves Commission has had all scattered graves re-opened and the dead placed to rest in very large cemeteries, with each grave identified and a headstone provided. As to the bodies interred in Great Britain, the situation is different. Where the relatives are prepared to pay the expense, removal for reinterment will be permitted.

THREE WINNIPEG PAPERS

WILL RESUME SERVICE.
Winnipeg, January 22.—The three daily newspapers have decided to resume publication tomorrow afternoon in order to relieve public anxiety for news of a reliable nature. What supplies of newspaper arrived today have been pooled by the papers and each paper will issue a sheet large enough to give a fair resume of the events of the past and today, for the first time since last Friday afternoon.

REMINGTON PLANT SOLD.
Bridgeport Conn., Jan. 22.—Sale of the plant of the Remington Arms Company here, built at a cost of nearly $10,000,000 and "Remington City" with its six hundred homes for workers, was announced today. Three holding corporations, formed in New York, are the purchasers.

The Germanicus was originally a German ship, and was taken over by the British Shipping Controller.

PAYS COMPLIMENT TO THE PREMIER

Mr. A. Monet Said Gouin Delivered the Best Speech of His Career

The debate on the motion of Mr. Monet of Napierville, relative to the increase of salary or the granting of a bonus to the civil servants in the employ of the government, was concluded yesterday afternoon by the reply of Mr. Monet, to the sixteen speeches that had been made on the subject.

Mr. Monet said that he had no regrets for having proposed the motion which had aroused the debate, and which had been exceedingly interesting. Many of the members had freely expressed their feelings on the question, which had led the Prime Minister to remark that the debate on the motion of the modest member for Napierville was very interesting. The majority of the members who had spoken were in accord on one point, that the salaries now paid were too low and that an increase was urgent. He had wanted to know the opinion of the House on the question, and he had seen that if all were not in favor of an increase of salary, all admitted however that the present salaries paid to the smaller salaried employees were not in keeping with the high cost of living.

If the Prime Minister did not entirely share his views on the question he would no doubt be grateful for the motion since it gave him an opportunity of delivering one of the best Parliamentary speeches of his political career. The Prime Minister had consented to adjournment of the debate the previous day to permit him to prepare his reply. He contended that in doing so he had not insulted the Prime Minister as some had maintained yesterday as he had the right to move the adjournment of the debate and was acting entirely in conformity with the rules of the House.

He did not intend to reply to the Prime Minister as he admitted, without false modesty that he did not feel capable of doing so. The Prime Minister had declared that he was sympathetic to the civil employees. He did not deny the statistics regarding the high cost of living, nor that a family of five persons needed at least $1,200 to live on. The Prime Minister had intimated that the request for increased salaries was inspired by those who received the higher salaries in the service, to the detriment of the smaller salaried officials. He (Mr. Monet) had nothing whatever to do with the Association of Civil Servants or their request, he had simply pleaded for the small salaried men and evidently not for those who were already well paid. There had been increases granted since 1912 but there were also individual increases granted which in the majority of cases went to high salaried men. There had also been bonuses granted within the past two years, and there again the higher paid officials had received the greater benefit. He did not wish to create the impression that he was the advocate of the higher salaried men when he had formally declared in opening the debate that it was the small salaried men he was concerned with and he was glad that the Prime Minister had intimated that the present government would do something to increase the small salaries. He had once asked for a civil service commission, agreeing with the Prime Minister on this point and was opposed to a reclassification of employees by such a body. He had not asked for the discharge of any employees but suggested that there was a gradual elimination it was in the sense suggested by the member for Rouville. He had indicated that by resignations and death this could be brought about, and the employees who remained could get the benefit of this saving of salary. He was convinced that the members of the cabinet would do something to improve the lot of the small salaried employees.

CASSANDRA DAMAGED

IN COLLISION
Halifax, N.S., Jan. 22.—(By Canadian Press.)—The Anchor-Donaldson liner Cassandra, was damaged in collision with the tug F. W. Roebing in Halifax harbor this afternoon. The tug was about to assist the liner in docking, the captain of the tug ordered full speed astern, which was mistaken in the engine-room for full speed ahead. The tug rammed the port bow of the Cassandra, smashing a hole above the waterline. The impact was so heavy the crew of the tug was thrown off their feet. Several of the seams on the deck of the tug were opened.

CARRANZA BACK OF BORDER RAIDS

Documents Show High Mexican Officials Behind San Diego Plan

San Antonio, Texas, Jan. 22.—Documents laid before the Senate sub-committee now investigating the Mexican situation here tend to show that President Carranza and some of his principal lieutenants engineered the many raids on American properties along the Rio Grande that began in 1915.

As late as June 1915, these documents show high Mexican officials were backing the so-called "plan of San Diego." The plan is thus summarized: "The States of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California are to be invaded simultaneously with uprisings of Mexican and negro citizens on the Mexican side. A separate government is to be established and re-annexation to Mexico requested. Six other states contiguous to this territory are to be carved out of the United States to be formed into a negro republic, for the protection of Mexico. This is to be accomplished in a ruthless manner. All male Americans more than 16 years of age are to be killed."

T. B. Altendorf, a Pole who served in the Intelligence Branch of the United States Army, during the war, identified Mario Mendez, Mexican director of telegraphs, as one of those whom German Minister von Eckhardt kept on his payroll during the war. Mendez was to see that copies of all military messages from the United States reached the German Legation.

LITTLE DOUBT THAT

HOLLAND WILL REFUSE

The Hague, Jan. 22.—The reply of the Dutch Government to the demand of the Allies for the former German Emperor was sent this morning to the Dutch Minister at Paris. It probably will be delivered to M. Clemenceau tomorrow. So far as can be learned there is no doubt that Holland will be refused with an explanation of the position of the Netherlands.

LABOR MATTERS IN THE ASSEMBLY

Amendments To the Workmen's Compensation Act Are Urged by Members

The question of the Workmen's Compensation Act of the Province of Quebec was the subject of a debate in the Legislative Assembly yesterday afternoon.

The debate arose on a motion of Mr. Aurele Lacombe labor member for Dorion-Montreal who remarked that the high cost of living had affected the compensation act as the law provided that the man temporarily incapacitated should receive half of his salary if his wages did not exceed $800, and a quarter if his wages exceeded that amount but were less than $1,200. The law would not apply to those earning $1,200 or more. Conditions had changed and workers now earned the amount they did a few years ago. He asked the House if the time had not come to amend the law to enable these workers to benefit by a more equitable allowance based on the higher scale of wages. He favored a higher indemnity in case of death resulting from accidents and suggested that funeral expenses allowed by law should be increased. As to further amendments which might be made to the law, he would leave it in the hands of a special meeting which would be held in Ottawa in the near future to study the question of the unification of the compensation laws throughout the Dominion.

Mr. J. H. Lemay member for Sherbrooke held that the law worked in the interests of employers and workmen alike. It had been enacted to protect small wage-earners who could not afford insurance and it was in the interests of all concerned that its scope should be extended for it would satisfy the workmen and would be a guarantee against dereliction and revolution.

Mr. L. Lapierre, member for Megantic suggested that the maximum salary which brought a workman under the provisions of the act should be raised to $1,500 and also favored doubling the amount allowed for funeral expenses. He further suggested a permanent medical board to avoid disputes.

Mr. W. R. McDonald, member for Pontiac asked that the law be amended so that it would apply to lumbermen and workers engaged in driving logs.

Hon. A. Gailpeult, Minister of Public Works and Labor, replied to the members delivering his first speech in the House, since his elevation to the cabinet. He said that the maximum nothing had been $1,000 had been increased to $1,200. He reminded the House that the intention of the Legislature in passing the Act was to protect small wage-earners and not all classes of workers.

He informed the House that the Government had been requested to include in the law elevator operators in large buildings, and said that the Government was considering the matter.

He said, to take inspiration from the Ontario law. After having studied both laws, he preferred the law of the Province of Quebec. The Government however, was studying the question of a permanent medical board as existed in Ontario, and he thanked the members for their suggestions which, he said would be helpful to the Government in studying legislation in the interests of workmen.

PRICE REDUCTION IS RECOMMENDED

Would Cheapen Seed Wheat To the Farmers in Drought Area

Calgary, Alta., Jan. 22.—(By Canadian Press.)—Reduction of the price of seed wheat from $2.80 to $2.40 to farmers in the drought area, meaning a saving of a quarter of a million dollars, was recommended to the Federal Government today by E. Wilson, Dominion Seed Grain Commissioner, he told the United Farmers of Alberta convention today. The convention agreed with him that the cost should be borne by those farmers with good crops. Practically unanimous re-election of H. W. Wood over Archie Muir, caused much enthusiasm. This is the climax of a bitter political controversy, Mr. Muir being Vice-President of the Political Executive.

Official figures today show 1,388 delegates present with twice that number of visitors. Political action again came up this morning, candidates for the directorate mostly urging that no officers of the association be political candidates. They also asked that the majority of the farmers be placed on the Canada Wheat Board.

Peace River delegates are still marooned on the Edmonton Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway and sent resolutions opposing public ownership of this railroad. Twelve delegates are affected and cannot reach here before the convention closes.

FERGUSON DEFENDS

COLONY SCHEME

Former Minister of Lands Explains Proposed Soldier Settlement at Kaspuskasing

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 22.—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, in the House of Commons today defended the late Government's scheme of establishing a soldier colony of Kaspuskasing and replied to the adverse report on the conditions at Kaspuskasing which was presented yesterday to the Drury Government by Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon. D. Carmichael, Minister without portfolio. Hon. Mr. Ferguson said Colonel Carmichael obviously did not know anything about pioneer conditions, and Kaspuskasing, which Colonel Carmichael seemed to regard as a frozen, barren waste, was no insignificant factor in the total of the province's farm product. The finest potatoes grown anywhere on the North American continent were grown in Northern Ontario, Mr. Ferguson said.

He informed the House that the Government had been requested to include in the law elevator operators in large buildings, and said that the Government was considering the matter.

He said, to take inspiration from the Ontario law. After having studied both laws, he preferred the law of the Province of Quebec. The Government however, was studying the question of a permanent medical board as existed in Ontario, and he thanked the members for their suggestions which, he said would be helpful to the Government in studying legislation in the interests of workmen.

NO STEP TAKEN TO INTERFERE

Death Sentence Will Be Carried Out On the Montreal Murderers

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 22.—(By Canadian Press.)—After the close of the this afternoon's meeting of the Cabinet Council, the Minister of Justice, Hon. C. J. Doherty, stated that there had been no step taken to interfere with the carrying out of the death sentence in the cases of Delorme, Allen and Lacoste, who are to be hanged at Montreal tomorrow. The Minister of Justice stated that the Cabinet had given every consideration to the latest appeal for clemency submitted that it was not in the interests of Justice for them to interfere with the carrying out of the sentence of the court.

Asked if it would not be possible, even at the eleventh hour, for a judge to order a postponement of the hangings the Minister stated that while there were only certain things for which a judge could grant a new trial, any competent judge could, if he considered a prima facie case had been made out, order a stay of execution and grant the men a new trial.

Mr. Doherty said that he understood certain Montreal judges said they could not grant new trial, but he thought that what they really meant was that the facts placed before them had not been sufficient to warrant them taking such action as undoubtedly lay within their power, and they had therefore declined to move for further trial of the cases.

STORMY WEATHER

REDUCES CATCH

The Prevailing High Winds Interfere With Fishermen's Business

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 22.—(By the Can. Press.)—Total value of sea-fish at the point of landing on both the coasts of Canada during the past month was $1,282,203, as compared with a total value of $1,176,288 in December 1918. This is shown by the monthly statement issued today from the Naval Department, which states the fishing conditions during December on the Atlantic coast were difficult owing to severe storms. The stormy weather resulted in somewhat reduced landings of cod, haddock, hake and pollock. The aggregate total of these fish during the past month was 68,000 cwt. and for December 1918 it was 84,000 cwt. The catch of smelts, however, was greater than in the previous year, as was also the lobster catch.

ARE YOU SUPERSTITIOUS?

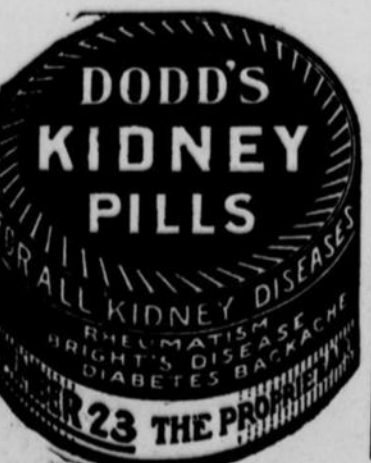

Of course you are. All of us are. Every one has a pet superstition. To observe it, brings either good or bad luck. Perhaps you shiver when a black cat crosses your path. Or when you meet a cross-eyed man. Why do you try to see the new moon over your left shoulder? Why does the farmer plant his potatoes in the dark of the moon? Would you sit down with thirteen at the table? We all know that Friday, the thirteenth is terrible unlucky. Do you believe in signs? Of course you do. Listen. We want to tell you something.

QUEBEC, JANUARY 23, 1920.

A TIMELY WARNING.

Mr. Frank J. D. Barnum of Annapolis Royal, N.S., has done a real service to Canada in general and the Province of Quebec not least of all in directing public attention to some startling facts about our national forests in an article which appeared in the January issue of the Pulp and Paper Magazine. Even the ordinary layman can see that this gentleman knows what he is talking about nor can there be any question but that he has uncovered a very serious condition as regards the raw material for wood using industries, demanding prompt and effective remedy.

Mr. Barnum asserts that the time has now fully arrived when an embargo or export duty should be placed on the large amount of fee land wood that is at present being shipped across the line from the principal pulpwood producing Provinces of Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick.

These provinces now have enormous investments in pulp and paper mills which are increasing in number every year, and it seems incomprehensible that the owners and security holders of these splendid monuments to Canadian industry and brains should longer sit idly by and allow this steady stream of raw material to slip away from their very mill doors. The consumption of pulpwood in Canada has reached such enormous proportions that a halt should be called in such suicidal policy.

Surely Mr. Phillip T. Dodge, President of the International Paper Company, who is in a position to know better than any other authority, sounded a sufficient warning to Canada when he made the statement that the pulpwood supply of the Eastern States was practically exhausted and that they must look to Canada for their future supply.

There are two ways that the shipment of this wood can be prevented, one is by an embargo or export duty created by the Provincial governments, and the other is by a combination of the Canadian mills purchasing at this fee land wood year by year and making a division of the same on a basis of the shortest rail haul to the various mills.

The million or more cords of wood that is being annually shipped to the United States, returning only about fifteen million dollars if made into pulp and paper here would not only enrich this country to the extent of more than eight million dollars per year, but would prolong the lives of all our pulp and paper mills a period of at least five or six years beyond their present expectancy.

This large additional income is doubly important in view of the unfavorable trade balance between the two countries, and would to a large extent correct the present deplorable condition of exchange.

Canada is in a very independent position as the United States simply must have our paper—they have no alternative. Newsprint cannot now be landed in New York from Scandinavia for less than $170 per ton, or 8½ cents per pound, and even then only in limited quantities.

On the other hand our production has increased to such an extent that we are now producing a total of 800,000 tons of paper per year, which is very nearly half the consumption of the United States, and we shall very soon be producing much more than half, owing to the fact that many of the American mills will be forced out of business from lack of wood supply. Strange as it may seem many of their mills do not own an acre of timberland.

In fact, if some of these mills had not gone so far afield for their wood last year by invading the more remote sections of Ontario and Quebec, where the freight alone amounted to $18 or more per cord, they would be short of raw material today.

"The wood resources of Canada have been so grossly exaggerated," declares Mr. Barnum, "that very few are aware how meagre our supply of available wood really is. I have seen a large portion of the past few years in a personal investigation of the Canadian situation, the results of which are so alarming that I have refrained from publishing my findings."

"The theory of an annual growth that has been indulged in so freely in the past has simply become a popular delusion. There is, of course, a gross growth, and a net growth under some conditions, but to offset this the annual wastage by fire, wind, insects and fungi, taking the country as a whole, far over-comes the gross growth. Consequently we are simply consuming our capital year after year."

"All anyone needs to know is that in the United States more than 5,500,000 cords of wood are used annually for pulp alone, in order to realize that this appalling shrinkage in our capital stock of standing timber must necessarily all too soon wipe out the remaining supply."

HOLLAND'S CHOICE.

The eyes of the world at the present time are on Holland, whose Government is engaged in drafting a reply to the demand of the Allied Powers for the extradition of the ex-German Kaiser Wilhelm, in order that he may stand trial as to his responsibility for the great war.

No official indication has been given as to the nature of this reply but it is significant that a representative newspaper such as the Tyl should demand that Holland protect her right of legal authority, even at the risk of causing unfriendly feeling on the part of the Allies. "The Entente's demands may be justly rejected on grounds recognized by all cultured states," says this newspaper in the course of an argument that renders the use of the word "culture" singularly appropriate.

From the first indeed it was reported in Paris that there was a general expectation of a Dutch refusal to deliver the former monarch, Count Hohenzollern, on the ground that the offenses named in the treaty—"crimes against international morality and the sacredness of treaties"—are not provided for in Dutch laws nor in the treaties between Holland and the Allied Powers regarding extradition.

Should these anticipations become realized, the Dutch stand can be very easily understood. In the first place the Court element has been suspected of Pro-German feelings all along and there is less doubt of its personal sympathy with the fallen Kaiser. In the next place the little country has been in close proximity to its over-shadowing neighbor for too long to have altogether lost a sense of caution as regards offending the latter. Finally the two countries are closely bound together by economic arrangements and German propaganda has never ceased its activities in Holland.

It may be interesting as bearing on the point at issue to recall the fact that extradition means the surrender of a criminal by one government to another for a crime committed in and against the laws of one of the two. Hence the matter is one between two governments only and it is suggested that the demand made upon Holland goes beyond the ordinary scope of extradition. It is for the surrender of the fugitive ruler for trial, not by one nation, but by a combination of nations. In the same way the crimes charged are not against the laws of one government but against international morality; while the second count is not on the violation of one treaty but that of the sacredness of treaties.

Here is the context of the official note sent to Holland by the Supreme Council:

"The Powers cannot conceive that the Netherlands would regard with less reprobation than themselves the immense responsibility weighing upon the ex-Emperor. Holland would not be fulfilling her international duty if she refused to associate herself with other nations, so far as she is able, to prosecute, or at least not impede, the punishment of crimes committed. It is not a question of public accusation, having throughout a legal character, but an act of high international policy imposed by the universal conscience in which legal forms are employed solely to insure the accused body guarantees such as have hitherto been unknown in public law."

The note then concludes by expressing the conviction that "Holland will not desire to cover by moral authority, violation of the essential principles of the solidarity of nations."

Accordingly it is clear, as the New York Herald contends, that this takes the entire matter out of the realm of ordinary extradition. The charges are the commission of crimes against civilization, international morality and the sanctity of international relations. Is Holland in a position to set up her local laws against such international demands? If the fugitive Kaiser is innocent he will be set free; if guilty he should be punished. Can Holland afford to stand on a technicality and block the course of international justice? The world which has suffered much demands the truth, notwithstanding Dutch sympathies or Dutch hair-splitting, and can carry its point if it is only pressed with sufficient firmness.

AGRICULTURE AND FREE TRADE.

By a majority of one, the Royal Commission on Agriculture, which was appointed in July to inquire into the economic prospects of the industry in Great Britain, has presented an interim report in favor of guaranteed prices for wheat and oats. An interesting feature of the majority report is its revelation of the decline of agriculture under free trade. The report reads:

"To enable the present agricultural position to be clearly understood it is necessary to refer shortly to certain important circumstances in the history of agriculture since 1870.

"In the years immediately preceding the war, the agricultural industry was emerging from the period of intense depression which set in with the inclement and disastrous season of 1879, and which was intensified by the period of low prices due to increasing foreign competition which followed. This may be said to have culminated in 1894, when the average Gazette price of wheat for the year was only 22s. 10d. per Imperial quarter. The period of depression continued well into the present century, but about 1906, owing in the main to gradually improving prices and to the new generation of farmers having adapted themselves to the changed conditions, a more favorable prospect seemed to be opening out.

"By 1919 the arable area in the United Kingdom had declined by 4½ million acres as compared with the arable area in 1870; the number of persons engaged in agriculture had fallen from 2,762,012 in the Census year of 1871 to 2,077,756 in 1911; and the total wheat produced had dropped from 13,419,496 quarters in 1870 to 7,894,041 quarters in 1914. Farmers had been compelled to make these changes owing to the growth of foreign competition and to the accompanying reduction in world prices. A system of grass farming had thus been developed which required the employment of a minimum of capital and labor."

"There is no passion," as Bacon says, "so weak that it will not mate and master the fear of death," and the idea that our government of Ireland could ever be rendered more reputable in the world by a more strictly Prussian readiness to shoot, stab or hang at sight betrays some ignorance of psychology. These foolish over-estimates of the possibility of changing people's minds by force are common among elderly and—fortunately—unemployed denizens of comfortable club smoking-rooms, but they are not business, not statesmanship. The only means by which we can defeat all the mischief-makers alike is to keep our heads and consider the Government's new Irish proposals in the spirit of conciliation and reason which converted a rebellious Canada into the Dominion which gave us the great Canadian Corps in the war. It is better than the Russian governing spirit to which, during the war, we owed the arrival in our lines of Albatian deserters, laden with useful news, on the nights before more than one German advance.

DOMINION NAVY.

(London Daily News)

The navy of the future is to be more and more a police force, we hope, and in that view it seems pure gain that the Dominions should raise and control their own. The Admiralty is to be congratulated on the substitution of Lord Jellicoe's tour for a policy which they have tried to push for ten vain years. The daughter nations are of age and conscious of it. Those who know the Colonial troops' blend of jealousy of their individuality with devotion to the common cause will realize what a hard row the statesman has to hoe who wants to control navies raised and manned by Canadians or Australians through the wireless installation in Whitehall.

EXPLAINS A DIPLOMATIC MYSTERY.

(London Morning Post)

A discussion had been in progress about our difficulties with America and the return of Viscount Grey. All had put forward theories, and then turned to the quiet man in the big armchair near the smoking-room fire. "Why are you worrying?" he asked. "I knew he would not stay out there long; he misses his squirrels." "Squirrels!" exclaimed everyone. "Yes," was the response; "you see he has a wood in Northumberland full of wild squirrels. They find out when he is at home and make their way to the house, scale the walls, and invade the library; then, jumping upon his writing-table, are fed with nuts from his hand." This is a curious explanation of a diplomatic mystery.

QUEBEC CENTRAL TO ENTER CITY

Are Negotiating with National Railway and Federal Authorities for Privileges

Pending the building of a line of railway from Scotts Junction to connect with the Quebec Bridge, it is said that the management of the Quebec Central Railway is negotiating with the management of the Canadian National Railways to make a connection with the latter at St. Anselme, Levis County, and be accorded a right-of-way over the Transcontinental Railway to cross the Quebec Bridge to this city. The management of the Quebec Central Railway is also negotiating with the Federal Railway Department to establish a terminus for their passengers and freight service on the Champlain Market Square. The extensive tourist as well as general passenger traffic during the summer season makes desirable that the Quebec Central should run their trains into the city, and if possible secure the right of having a terminus at the Champlain Market Square, the property of the Federal Government. The Transcontinental Railway crosses the Quebec Central at St. Anselme and if the Canadian National Railways management accords to the request of the Quebec Central, it will be an easy matter to build a short spur that will allow the latter to connect and run over the Transcontinental tracks to the bridge. The Quebec Central Railway is under lease from the English Bond Holders to the Canadian Pacific for ninety-nine years and is therefore a section of the latter railway system, which might stand in the way of an agreement. The management is however altogether separate and independent, and this might influence a satisfactory agreement.

CANNON RESIGNS FROM EXHIBITION

Even Urgent Requests Fail to Change President of the Commission

A meeting of the Quebec Provincial Exhibition Commission was held at the City Hall last night for the election of officers and general business in connection with the holding of the exhibition in 1920. The President, Mr. L. A. Cannon, K.C., M.P.P., presided, and there were present His Worship Mayor Lavigne, Aldermen Bedard, Collier, Martin, M.D., Mercier, Bouchard (Lamouille), Lesage, Bertrand, Seguin, Hon. Cyrille Delage, Messrs. George Van Felsion, J. Savard, N. E. Papillon, A. J. Picard.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the Auditor's Report was submitted. The President, Mr. Cannon, announced his intention of resigning his office as president of the Commission, and said that before resigning he would submit the suggestion that the City assume the full responsibility for the maintenance of the Exhibition Grounds. This he said would obviate the annual grant of $10,000 to the Commission for the carrying on of this work, and also submitted that his recommendation would be in the best interests of the City. Should the City consent to do so, it would in his opinion lead to a better organization for the holding of the exhibition next summer.

Mayor Lavigne expressed a similar opinion, and said the City by assuming the maintenance of the grounds would be following the principle of Toronto and elsewhere where exhibitions are held.

He expressed his regret at the resignation of Mr. Cannon as President, and at the same time wished to congratulate him on the excellent executive work he had performed during his term of office, especially in the trying times of the war and harvest conditions, and notwithstanding these difficult times had brought the exhibition to a success. The prospects for the future are now very encouraging, said His Worship, and in view of this fact he wished that Mr. Cannon would continue in office, at least for another year.

Mr. Cannon said he had seriously considered all phases of the question, and had made up his mind to retire, which was unchangeable. He would however be pleased to remain a member of the Commission as a willing worker, but not as president, and suggested that Mr. Joseph Picard as his successor.

Mr. George Van Felsion paid a high tribute to Mr. Cannon and the work he had done in the interest of the Commission, and expressed his regret at his retirement.

The election of officers was then proceeded with when Mr. Picard was elected President of the Commission. Mr. W. H. Wiggs, first Vice-President and Alderman Martin, M.D., second Vice-President.

The personnel of the Committee was re-elected.

Mr. George Morissette, Secretary, was re-elected, as was also Mr. J. O. R. de Cheigny, as Superintendent of privileges and concessions.

Mr. J. R. Gaudin, Accountant, was re-elected. Miss Fortune, Miss Amyot and Miss Marcoux, members of the Committee, were also re-elected.

A request made by the Curé of Stadacona, for the privilege of holding a bazaar in the Exhibition Industrial Building next summer was granted.

After business matters were disposed of, the Committee adjourned at 11.30 o'clock.

TRAGEDY AT ST. RAYMOND

Fire Spread to the Mortuary Chamber—Four Children Burned to Death

A terrible tragedy occurred at St. Raymond in the county of Portneuf, on Wednesday morning at 1:00 o'clock, when four persons lost their lives in a fire that occurred in the house occupied by Mr. Leger Page, of that town.

Mrs. Page had previously died and was waking in one of the rooms of the building converted into a mortuary chamber, and it would appear from the information received in this city yesterday, that a fire broke out in another part of the house and spread with great rapidity to the mortuary chamber, where several of the neighbors were keeping vigil. The three grown-up daughters of Mrs. Page were asleep in the rooms at the time, also a young brother, aged 9 years, who perished in the flames.

The people in the mortuary chamber only had time to escape into the street with their lives, when the whole structure was in flames, and made it impossible for the sleeping inmates to escape or the neighbors to effect a rescue.

The house was completely destroyed and besides the perishing of the Misses Page and their young brother in the flames, the body of the deceased Mrs. Page was cremated.

ACCOUNTANTS' MEET

Local Accountants Discuss Request for Incorporation—Bill Seventy-Eight

A question which interests all the accountants is before the House at the present time which is studying the request for the incorporation of "Association generale des Comptables de la Province de Quebec." Everybody is following with interest the debates on this measure, which seems to meet with general approval. The promoters of the bill have a serious object in view, and in view of those who have a sufficient knowledge of accounting, after an examination, to open public accountants' offices.

At a recent meeting of the Cercle des Comptables de Quebec this bill was the subject of particular attention as it will raise to a new level, both moral and intellectual, the members of the Cercle by the studies of commercial and industrial questions and all that leads to success.

A resolution was taken as follows: That the bill asking for the incorporation of "Association generale des Comptables de la Province de Quebec" contains nothing contrary to our interests, nor to the detriment of a legitimate ambition.

That the aim of this association is identical with that of promotion of education, to develop accounting knowledge by practical means. That this law has nothing that will hurt the public interest, but will, on the contrary, give trade to competent men in as large numbers as possible.

It is proposed by Mr. J. P. Gallbois, and J. H. Clavel, and unanimously seconded, that the Cercle adhere to the project actually being studied by the Legislative Assembly, and support with all their power the request of "Association generale des Comptables de la Province de Quebec," in the public interest, and in the sphere where the said association is called upon to perform its duties.

That the Cercle wish the passage of the bill, which it believes, is of vital importance nowadays in the realm of accountancy.

DOUBLE BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

"Danderine" creates mass of thick, gleamy waves

In a few moments you can transform your plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get at any drug store a small bottle of "Danderine" for a few cents. Then wash your hair with "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed. Let Danderine put more life, color, vigor, and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

AWARD MADE OF A GOLD MEDAL

American Fashion House won Board of Trade Trophy at Exhibition

A regular general meeting of the Quebec Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon at the Board Rooms presided over by the President Mr. J. T. Ross.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting and a report from the Council, the President called on Mr. J. E. Langlois, Manager of the Quebec branch of the American Fashion House, and in a brief speech presented him the Quebec Board of Trade gold medal, awarded to the American Fashion House by the Judges at the Provincial Quebec Exhibition, held in the City of Quebec last year, for having on exhibition in the Industrial Palace the richest and most artistic exhibit.

Mr. Langlois on receiving the gold medal award, thanked the President and members of the Quebec Board of Trade on behalf of the American Fashion Company, and said that the coveted award was appreciated by the Directors of the Company, and gave them encouragement in their business relations with the city of Quebec. He hoped that before long, the Provincial Government would recognize the value and help the Quebec interest, and aid in the building of a new industrial hall, worthy of the importance of the exhibitions, and also hoped that the Exhibition would grow Dominion wide in importance, in which case the commission in contact could rely upon the American Fashion House company to be represented in a remarkable way.

Mr. W. H. Wiggs, in complimenting the American Fashion House on winning the Quebec Board of Trade gold medal award said it was a good thing for the Board to award such a medal and complimented the judges at the exhibition and had chosen wisely and impartially.

NOTICES TABLED

Two Notice of Motions that were to have been acted upon at the meeting, one by Mr. Romeo Langlois, K.C., that representatives of the Press be admitted to all Council and Committee meetings of the Board; the other by Hon. Frank Carrel, that the list of members nominated for the office and Council of the Board, be posted in the Board Rooms, at least one month prior to the date of election.

As the movers of said motions were not present at the meeting, the motions were laid on the table.

The usual annual auction of magazines, trade journals, periodicals and newspapers did not take place. Mr. Ellis Turcotte seconded by Mr. L. J. A. Demers, moved and it was agreed, that instead of auctioning off the same, they be given to educational clubs, including the Old Pupils Club of the Commercial Academy.

Mr. P. Nelson Verge President of the Old Pupils Club of the Commercial Academy, who was present, thanked the members of the Board in behalf of the club, and said the donation would be appreciated as a valuable acquisition to their reading room.

A resolution of condolence on the death of Mr. Antoine Fiset, an old and valued member of the Board, was read, and carried by a silent standing vote.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JULES LARUE

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jules Larue took place yesterday morning from her late residence to St. Coeur de Marie Church and was attended by an exceedingly large cortege of relations and friends of the deceased lady, who was very highly and deservedly esteemed amongst all sections of the community.

The solemn requiem mass was chanted by the Rev. Father Dagnaud, assisted by the Rev. Father Gauthier as deacon, and the Rev. Father LeDore as sub-deacon. During the service masses were celebrated at side altars by Abbé Desjardins, formerly Chaplain of the 22nd Battalion, and the Rev. Father Chausse.

Seated in the sanctuary were Canon Lafamme, Curé of Quebec, and Abbé Genest and Gagnon, representing the Seminary, and other members of the clergy.

The musical portion of the service was rendered by the choir of the church, under the direction of Mr. Petrus Pamondon.

At the close of the church service the remains of the deceased lady were conveyed to Belmont Cemetery, where interment took place.

The chief mourners were: Mr. Jules Larue, N.P. husband; Mr. Philippe Gauvreau and Mr. Paul Gauvreau, brothers; Mr. W. Richard LaRue, N.P., Mr. J. Arthur LaRue, and Mr. Win. LaRue, brothers-in-law. Mr. Deschambault and Mr. Antoine Desnais, uncles; Messrs. Eugene Desjardins, Ernest Gauvreau, Jules Gauvreau and J. P. Lemieux, cousins.

Quebec Studio Club

The exhibition held last week by the Quebec Studio Club was taken advantage of by many of our art loving citizens. In past years the Club gave evidence of what it has today attained. The pictures are all good, we would specially mention Mount St. Anne, The Road to the Lake, several charming views of Quebec, and the far famed Peter Rock, and a most interesting collection of cartoons and book illustrations.

As many were prevented by the inclemency of the weather from attending, we would recommend them to take advantage of the fact that by special request this exhibition will be opened again on the afternoons of Friday and Saturday, Jan. 23rd and 24th, from 2 till 6 P.M.

SPORTING NEWS

SINGLE REFEREE SYSTEM WILL BE ADHERED TO BY N.H.L. FOR THE REMAINDER OF SEASON

Meeting of Officials Held in Montreal Yesterday—Carpenter Remains with Quebec, Producers with St. Patrick's, and Cameron with Canadiens—Neutral Referees in Future

Montreal, Que., Jan. 22.—(By Canadian Press)—At the National Hockey League meeting held today at the Windsor Hotel here a decision was reached to the effect that neutral referees would be used in all games for the balance of the season. The single referee system will be adhered to and it is understood that the Board of Referees will consist of Harvey Pulford, Cooper Smeaton, Art. Ross, Steve Vair, Lou Marsh, Charlie McKinley and Harry Hyland.

It was finally agreed at the meeting that "Goldie" Producers should remain with Toronto, Cameron with Canadiens and Carpenter with Quebec for the balance of this season, but that the other clubs benefitting should help out Quebec. As to this, settlement was left with President Frank Calder. It was announced that Quebec would start the second half of the season with an all-star team. They expect to secure Rusty Crawford in a day or two and are out after others.

The League will make a substantial grant to the Joe Hall benefit fund and if possible an exhibition game will be played.

President Calder was in the chair at the meeting and those present were: Harvey Producers, Toronto; T. P. Gorman, Ottawa; Mike Quinn, Quebec, and George Kennedy, Canadiens.

The local fans arrived home yesterday evening in a battered shape, due to their rough treatment at the hands of the Ottawa players. Carpenter is nursing a cut about two inches long on his face, where he was checked by Boucher. Joe Malone has his leg in bandages, George Carey has a lump on his knee about the size of a hen's egg, Frank Brophy has his arms black and blue from being cut across them, and the rest of the players are suffering from various bruises. It is easy to see that the Ottawa players did not treat them any too gently.

The crowd of fans that go to root for the "gentlemen" Capital team still have their playful little habits. At the game on Wednesday night, quite a number of lead pellets hit the Quebec team, being fired from the spectators, while various other little things led to a whole lot of discomfort being endured. The Ottawa fans tried the lead pellet stunt on the Canadiens when they first paid a visit to the Capital this season, but it was thought that the "rooters" that followed the fortunes of the team that is in the lead in the N. H. L. race would get tired of their horseplay.

There may be some new faces on the Quebec line-up for the start of the second half of the flag race, which will start a week from Wednesday. Manager Mike Quinn is making every effort to get Rusty Crawford to join the locals, while Reggie Noble, the star left wing man of the Toronto St. Pats, and who was the best man on the ice when the Toronto team played here, wants to play with Quebec, and it is possible he will be given the opportunity to join the locals.

The next game here will be played tomorrow night, when the Canadiens will be the visitors. The Flying Frenchmen will be at their strongest, and will place their best team on the ice as they need the game badly in order to stay in the running for the N. H. L. first half title. If they lose tomorrow, and the Senators win at Toronto, the Capital bunch will be the practical champs for the first half of the series, but if both the Canadiens and Senators lose, well then the two teams will be in the same position as they are today.

The local team will practice this afternoon at five o'clock, and will work the stiffness out of their joints, in order to make a desperate effort to trim the Canadiens here tomorrow night.

The plan for the sale of seats opens this morning at the usual places. West side, Hebert's Cigar Store, Auditorium Building, and East side, C. P. R. Telegraph Co., Q. R. L. & P. Co. Building, corner Crown and Joseph Streets.

The probable line up will be as follows, while Cooper Smeaton will be the probable choice to handle the game.

Quebec	Goal.	Canadiens
Brophy		Vezina
Mummary		McNamara
Carpenter		C. Point
Malone		Corbeau
Carey		Lalonde
McDonald		Pitre

JOHN KELLY ENTERS FOR DIAMOND SCULS

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 22.—John Kelly, of the Vesper Boat Club, and National sculling champion, will try to win the Diamond sculs at the Henley regatta in England this summer, and expects to enter the Olympic rowing races later in Belgium. He said today he would not row in four and eights for the Vesper's this year but would confine himself to sculling. If he wins the diamond sculs and is picked among others to represent the United States at the Olympic regatta he said, he expects to pair up with Paul Costello, of this city, for the double sculling event.

CHALLENGERS UNSUCCESSFUL

Champion's Rink Retained Boswell Shield in Victoria Match Last Evening

The Defenders, W. S. Champion's rink are proving to be a strong aggregation in holding the coveted shield.

Defenders, Col. J. T. Clarke, C. V. Norris, T. G. Leonard, R. Quirouet, A. E. Scott, W. S. Champion, A. W. Colley.

Skip—7-13 Skip—5-7

The play was excellent on the part of both rinks but the team play of the Defenders was telling to the end, this rink has a hard road to travel to win in the series as they have strong rinks to meet before the close of the season, yet the more they play together the stronger their team work, who will defeat them rests to be seen, but the interest shall be greater for future matches, and if they win all honor to them.

The Jubilee Trophy. Semi-finals tonight at Quebec and Victoria. The matches to be played last night were by agreement held over to this evening.

Sporting Notes

The next attraction on the local card will be Canadiens, who play here tomorrow night.

The High School Girls will play the Advanced Class Girls of the Y. W. C. A. this evening at basketball. The following are the teams. High School: Forwards, P. Muney, E. Petrie, M. Pennington, and F. Stocking; defence, J. Amaron and M. McKinnon. Y. W. C. A.: Forwards, R. Woods, R. Jacques; P. Dale, and B. Thorne; defence, I. Morton and D. Seifert.

Johnny Dundee and Benny Leonard are still going to have their little scrap, but this time it will not be twenty rounds, but eight, that they are going to fight. The mill is going to take place at Jersey City on February 9th. The two men were supposed to meet last Friday in a twenty round battle for the lightweight title, but the Chief of Police of New Haven, where the fight was to take place, revoked the license suddenly.

Quebec expects to start out the second half with a greatly strengthened team. If they can land Rusty Crawford, and get in addition Reggie Noble, we will still have a chance for the flag.

Poor old "Dug". Since he left the R. A. F. he does not seem to have as much pep as before.

The sooner Charlie McKinley is taken off the board of referees for the N. H. L. matches the better. He even had the Ottawa fans asking to have him taken off the ice the other night.

"BLUEBOTTLES" GET REVENGE ON "WASPS"

After their defeat last Saturday night at the hands, or rather, the stones of the "Wasps" the "Bluebottles" imported a curlier from the wild and woolly West, who skipped them to a 7 to 6 victory yesterday evening.

At one time, the Bluebottles were four up, but Chief Saracene introduced his famous "sweep" stroke, which consisted of firing the stone while sitting on the stone, and riding to the button, with legs and arms outstretched, thus sweeping away all opponents' stones.

The Bluebottles, in their excitement, at one time swept up W. Smeaton, but no damage was done. Chief Tribe wore a pair of new non-skid rubbers, which greatly aided his play.

Mr. Coffey replaced T. Courtneir on the Wasp rink, and proved that he has quite a sting. H. Knight and C. Elliot actually got stone on the button, much to their surprise and gratification, while the excitement was so intense that the Bluebottles' famous skip was forced to don his overcoat to avoid catching a chill.

The deciding game will probably be played in the near future, as soon as the teams have got over the effects of last night's match.

TREES OF RIGHTEOUSNESS

The State of Pennsylvania planted more than 3,000,000 trees in 1919 and by so much had helped the nation. The State has a long record in this respect as Pennsylvania's history shows that in 1728 John Bartram set out many forest trees in his botanical garden on the banks of the Schuylkill near Philadelphia, and among these were Norway spruce, bald cypress, and white pine. Since his day, population needs, and methods have multiplied almost geometrical progression until what America can do shows what America must do. Palestine, Armenia, and

Flour of Potatoes

A patent has recently been obtained at Paris, a gold medal bestowed, and other honors and distinctions for the discovery and manufacture on a large scale of preparing from potatoes a fine flour, a sugar, or flour equal to ground rice, and semolina or paste, of which 1 lb. is equal to 1 1/2 lbs of rice 1-4 lbs. Vermicelli, or as it is asserted 5 lbs. of raw potatoes.

These preparations are found valuable to mix with wheaten flour for bread, to make biscuits, pastry pie-crusts and other all soup and soups, and panada.

The physicians and surgeons in the hospitals in cases of great debility of the stomach have employed these preparations with advantage. The point of the discovery is, the cheapness of preparation and the conversion of a surplus growth of potatoes into a reserve stock in an elegant and salubrious form. Our crops of the present growth will want some novel means of consumption.

The Federal Elections

L'Electeur is responsible for the statement that several members of the local Legislature are likely to resign their seats to run for the House of Commons at the forthcoming election mentioning amongst others in this connection Messrs Jules Tessier, August Tessier, Fitzpatrick, Turgeon and Pinault. It admits that the Liberals have so far no candidate in Quebec West.

In Mr. Doherty's Honor

Last Saturday, the carters occupying the St. Louis street stand, paid a graceful compliment to Mr. Doherty to whom they are indebted for the telephone in their shelter. When the Tandem drive passed the shelter, Mr. Doherty, was recognized in the procession, and the flag was hoisted in his honor.

The Florence Hotel

At the instance of the City Corporation the Florence Hotel was sold at auction by the Sheriff on Saturday for taxes. It was adjudged to Mr. C. Tessier M.P., for $3,125, and reported that it was purchased by Mr. B. Trudel, who permitted the sale in order to obtain a perfect title.

Ice in the River

There was such a block of ice in the River yesterday afternoon owing to high winds that the ferry boats were unable to cross with the Grand Trunk mails.

Municipal Affairs

Some seventy-five men are now at work upon the excavations for the new City Hall, and as soon as the weather will permit of it, the work of construction will be proceeded with. DEMPSEY ASKS INVESTIGATION

Heavyweight Champ Wants Official Probe in Connection with Slacker Charges

New York, N.Y., Jan. 22.—J. J. Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, has asked that an official investigation be made of the informal charges that he was a draft-dodger during the war. The request was made in a telegram received today by Major A. J. Drexel Biddle, President of the Army, Navy and Civilian Exposing Board which it is understood, will conduct the inquiry as asked, in the near future.

Dempsey points out in his telegram, that the A.N.C.B.E. issued a professional's boxer's license to him just prior to the match with Jess Willard which certified that he had a clean and honorable record as a professional boxer and that he had the full sanction and approval of the Board. Dempsey received license number two the first card going to Willard, who then was champion.

The A.N.C.B.E. has announced that Dempsey's request will be referred to the Arbitration Committee of that organization for decision as to whether such inquiry should be taken.

NEEDED SPEEDING UP!
He had come up to London for a few days to see the sights, and chanced to stroll into a quiet little restaurant for a meal.

After waiting for some time, a languid lady brought a basin of sugar and placed it on his table. He waited again, and then she came along with a jug of milk.

The wait after that became longer than ever, and the country visitor grew restive.

"I say, miss!" he called at last.

"Yes," said the lady, as she patted her hair.

"I don't want to worry you," the man apologized, "but I'm only staying in London for another two days, and I'd like to get my meal finished in time to catch the train."

BELFAST CITY

A City in Ireland That Has Always Prospered—Proud Of its City Hall

The man who approaches Belfast from the point of view of just another town will as surely be mistaken as the man who approaches Dublin from that standpoint. Dublin is Dublin, and Belfast is Belfast, it is impossible to describe either in terms of history, or streets, or buildings, or by any of the ordinary accepted means. Thus Belfast, quite justly, prides itself on its City Hall, and claims not without reason, that it is one of the most beautiful, if not the most beautiful in the world. The real Belfast, however, is not to be seen in the great building which looks down the length of Royal Avenue, but rather in a not very pretentious building in a not very pretentious street, a building known to every Orangeman the world over as the Ulster Hall.

In the Ulster Hall, on the occasion of a great Orange demonstration, decked with flags, and "red hands of Ulster," and emblazoned with the Orange watchwords "Derry, Aughrim and the Boyne," one sees the real Belfast, as one does, too, along the Shank Hill road any evening, especially any Sunday evening in July. The Irishmen of Belfast take himself very seriously. The Irishman of Dublin, will, it is true, yield nothing to him in the matter of "demonstration," but the Irishman of Dublin is always perilously near to laughing at himself when the curtain rings down, or even before it is rung down. "Sure it's the tank—the grand tank there is to it, an' the life there be around, an' the boys up an' about an' behavin' outrageous." "Tank is it," retorts the man from Belfast, "Aye, tank and plenty, but it's the actin' and doin' that'll do anny man thing. Sure, there wasn't much tank to it on Boyne Day."

And so at the hundreds of street corner meetings in July, working up to the "day of blessed memory," and stretching on beyond it, there is a terrible earnestness. There is earnestness in the man who beats the drum and heads the procession, and earnestness in the men, women and children who follow his lead. July drummin', indeed, is a religious ceremonial of that strange political flavor which is to be found perhaps only in Ulster. To relieve such stern exercises in a burst of laughter round the corner of some side street would be as impossible in Belfast as it would be inevitable in Dublin.

Then Belfast is nothing if not orderly. The Irishman of Belfast prides himself on his processions. He joys in concerted movement. Long before the days of the Ulster Volunteers he revealed in the "swing there is to it." He rejoices in self-imposed discipline and, on the occasion of his demonstration, "rules and regulations" are made to be obeyed. "There're be no passin' across until the precision is over, an' that's the law av it." So says the Belfast policeman to the most urgent request. Says the Dublin "Metropolitan," with even more emphasis, "Not wan of yeh goes over till the last av them's turned the corner!" Then, maybe, after an impatient pause, there will come the inevitable relaxation. "But, sure, I haven't got eyes in the back of me head and I'll be takin' a walk to the east."

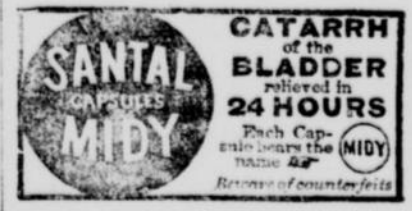

Finally there is another way to see the real Belfast. It is in the early morning when the tram cars from all points of the compass are coming in from the outlying districts into the city, crowded with men for the shipyards and linen mills. Never, surely, in any city in the world was there such reading of papers, such politics, such theological disputation. But then, after all, this is what has made Belfast, Belfast—its earnestness and concentration.

D'ANNUNZIO'S HOME.

"I am an Azzurrese of Pescara," wrote Gabriel d'Annunzio at the age of 16 to the literary critic Chiari when sending him the first volume of his poems. Today Pescara is little more than a fishing village, though at the time of the Romans, under the name Aterno, on the Vallerian Way, it was a place of no small military importance. Renamed Pescara by the conquering Lombards, it retained its huge fortress and heavy ramparts and here as late as the nineteenth century were herded the political prisoners of the Bourbonnais, weighted with chains, because they had dared to think for themselves. Though today empty of galleys, the fortress still towers over the little village clustering about the water's edge. The traveller reaches Pescara from the busy town of Chieti, which commands the whole of the central Apennines, revealing the great Maela group and the Gran Sasso Range. From Chieti there rolls away to the distant blue of the Adriatic a wide plain intersected by a slim silver ribbon; it is the Pescara river, on its way to the little wooden houses which cluster about the tiny bay, the boyhood home of d'Annunzio. Here at sunset out of the golden haze of the horizon, rise what appear in the distance to be huge birds with brilliant colored wings, blue and amber, red and green. They are the fishing boats of the village with their widespread sails, coming home laden with silver cargo. Pescara, "fra la montagna e il mare" (twixt mountain and sea), in the words of its famous son, has recently collected what is for it a very large sum, to send across the water, to the poet turned soldier at Fiume.

WINNIPEG MAN GAINS 15 POUNDS

JOHN PATRICK FEELS FINE ALL THE TIME SINCE TANLAC ENDED TROUBLES.

"I have gained fifteen pounds since I commenced taking Tanlac a short time ago, and never felt better in every way in my life than I do now," said John Patrick, who for several years has been employed as a motor-man for the Winnipeg Electric Co., and who lives at 103 Berry Street, Winnipeg, the other day. "Eighteen months ago," continued Mr. Patrick, "I returned from overseas where I spent three years as a member of the Eighth Canadian Battalion. While over there I was wounded severely, and was in the hospital for about twelve weeks. When I got back home my stomach was in such awful conditions, and had caused me so much suffering that I was just about down and out. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I would be perfectly miserable for hours after every meal on account of gas forming and bloating me up. I suffered from headaches nearly all the time, and would have such awful pains in the small of my back that I could hardly get on and off my car. Then my nerves went back on me, and I got to where I couldn't sleep very much, and after rolling and tossing all night long I was hardly able to get out of bed in the morning. I tried many different kinds of medicine and treatments, but my condition just seemed to get worse all the time instead of better. "Finally I decided to give Tanlac a trial, and let me say right here that it is the first and only medicine that has done me a particle of good since my health failed me. Why, I never have a sign of indigestion now, and am never bothered with gas forming after meals. I have a fine appetite and eat three hearty meals every day. The pain has gone from my back, and my kidneys seem to be in perfect condition. The headaches are gone too, and, in fact, my troubles have been completely overcome and I feel fine and dandy all the time. I sleep like a log every night now, and feel so well every morning that it is a pleasure to jump out of bed and eat a hearty breakfast and get off to my work. I just feel so good over what Tanlac has done for me that I want the whole world to know about it, and I never lose an opportunity to say a good word for this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Quebec by Jolicoeur's Pharmacies, 233 St. John and 21 Buade streets, and Martel & Dion, Druggists, 105 and 109 St. Joseph St.; and in Lewis by Maurice Dion, Druggist; under the personal direction of a Special Tanlac representative. (Advt.)

Shipping News U. S. STEAMER WEST CARNIFAX

Reported By Wireless In Sinking Condition With All Her Pumps Choked

Halifax N.S., Jan. 22.—The United States Shipping Board steamer West Carnifax, advised by wireless this afternoon, from a position 240 miles southeast of Halifax, that she had five feet of water in Number One hold, that her pumps were choked and that the water was gaining at the rate of five inches daily. The Carnifax added that she hoped to reach New York, her destination, without assistance, providing more moderate weather conditions prevailed. The West Carnifax is reported as having arrived at La Pallice, December 10.

SHIPPING NOTES. The Cunard Liner Carmania, arrived at the port of Halifax shortly after noon from Liverpool yesterday.

The Cunard Liner Royal George arrived at Halifax on Tuesday night last from Southampton, and the Captain reports having experienced an exceptional rough passage, with heavy westerly gales and high seas.

The C.P.O.S. steamer Scandinavian sailed from Liverpool at midnight on the 20th for St. John, N.B. An Anchor-Donaldson Liner, Robert Reford & Co., agents, from Glasgow, arrived at Halifax yesterday.

IN OLD JAPAN.

Inscriptions on a workman's cap or back, stating the occupation and name of employer, are said to be customary in many parts of Japan. The Japanese are very much alike physically. Recent measurements taken of an infantry regiment showed no variation, except a couple of inches in height, or twenty pounds in weight.

The Japanese are expert gardeners. They give such individual attention to each blossom that wonderful results are obtained. Native gardeners have been known to help the buds of delicate and choice flowers to open by gently fanning them.

Seven pounds a year is said to be sufficient to enable a man to live in Japan—that is, pay for board and lodging—and many have been known to manage on three pounds a year.

A Japanese auction is a most solemn affair. The purchaser does not call out his bids or nod, but they write their names, together with the amounts they are willing to pay, on slips of paper. Then the slips, having been placed in a box, are looked through, and the articles awarded to the persons who had made the highest offer.

The Japanese festivals number five each year. They are easily remembered: 1st of first month, Feast of Year; 3rd of third month, Feast of Dolls; 5th of fifth month, the Day for the God and Goddess of Love; 9th of ninth month, Feast of Chrysanthemums.

MUCH ACTIVITY SEEN IN COTTON

Production of Manufactured Articles Being Lessened by Concerns Buying Up Plants

(Christian Science Monitor)

Although there have been repeated warnings from banking circles that from this time on it would be absolutely impossible for financial institutions to extend the liberal credit accommodation that was the rule during the war and for 12 months afterward, business in the primary cotton goods market continued active.

"I don't care what the bankers say or think or do about the present situation," said one very large cotton goods merchant. "Tell me whether the public is buying goods freely or not. That is the big factor in the present outlook. If the ultimate consumers are continuing to buy freely and are demanding their usual quantity of goods and paying the price for them without protest, then I for one, am willing to plunge, no matter what the bankers' advice may be."

This somewhat reckless line of talk is typical of a great number of the cotton goods merchants and distributors, and the reports they have been getting from retail circles in the South, the northwest, and the middle west have been so favorable that a great many of them have discarded all their former doubts about the holding power of the present market levels and are devoting their efforts to getting as early as possible the maximum quantity of goods that they can persuade producers to sell them.

Prices Bounding Upward.

Prices have taken a tremendous bound upward. Each week new high levels are reached. Although buyers have no thought of a collapse during the season ahead, many do not feel so confined of the period beyond that and consequently the scramble has been to get their goods delivered as early as possible in order to allow for an opportunity to pass them on before the season begins.

"My customers are buying deliveries, not goods," said one large selling agent. "They are easy to satisfy on the fabric itself, but the prices they are paying would probably be out of the question if it were the goods themselves that they were considering. They figure they can get almost anything they want to ask for the goods if they can get them on the market in time." This condition can be applied to nearly the whole market.

Main fabrics made of combed yarns have advanced from one to three cents a yard in the last week, while the fancy constructions have risen much more. Already there is an eager demand for yarn-dyed fabrics in anticipation of the easing of the dye situation.

Print Cloth Market.

Print cloth yarn fabrics are up a cent to a cent and a half a yard over the best figure of a week ago, but it should be noted that distant deliveries may be had for fully half a cent a yard, and sometimes more, below the prices that are being offered for spot and early goods. This is due to the well-sold position of the mills and their inability to take any more early volume.

Yarns are very scarce and very high, especially the combed variety. The scarcity has extended not only to the finer yarns, but also to the medium sized numbers, and it is extremely difficult to place large orders for either, though some few small-sized deals were put through in this territory. Carded yarns are not plentiful and prices are very firm. Tire fabric makers are having a very difficult time in getting their wants filled, and many are already seeking to buy plants of their own in order to insure a sufficient supply of yarn for their use.

The cotton manufacturing industry has stood still during the last five or six years in the matter of expansion and it is now called upon to supply a greater demand for cotton goods, owing to the war and also finds in progress a movement for building up what might be called an entirely new industry the tire yarn industry. Every mill that is bought by a tire yarn concern takes just so much from the already short supply for the regular trade. Under such conditions it is hard to see how there can come about any serious break in the market for some time.

HOW LAUNDERING AFFECTS CLOTHES

After thirty washings with hard soap, soda, sodium silicate and perborate, respectively, linen and cotton textiles showed higher strength values with hard water than with soft water. With soft water sodium silicate showed a distinct injurious action on cotton and perborate was still more harmful. Goods washed with soap improve in luster and show a brilliant white color by reflected light; goods washed in soda show a strong yellow in transmitted light with a slight shade of pink; by reflected light they appear slightly gray. After washing with silicate the goods are white but quite without luster, being dull and chalky.

At The Theatres
"The Broken Butterfly" Is a Deeply Emotional Play.
MAURICE TOURNEUR'S MASTERPIECE SHOWING AT THE AUDITORIUM TODAY IS GIVEN HEARTY WELCOME YESTERDAY.
"Your sin has found you out! I will tell the whole village that you are a scoundrel woman—the mother of a base-born child!" Marcene shrank from the avenging Nemesis, the woman who gloated over her shame. A sensitive soul, thirsting for happiness, she had sinned because she had loved too much. "You will live a maid—and die a mother!"—the old gypsy fortune-teller had prophesied, and now it seemed that the dire prophecy was to come true. Taking her child in her arms, Marcene ran from the house through the blinding storm, and plunged into the black water of the raging river. But sinister fate decreed that she should live and see her lover, the husband of her own sister, for they thought she had perished. What did they do when they learned Marcene still lived?
See "The Broken Butterfly", a masterpiece of love and pathos, adapted from the great story by Penelope Knapp, produced under the direction of the great master of screen drama, Maurice Tourneur, and showing at the Auditorium today and tomorrow.
There is a comedy and other attractions on the bill.
Monday: Florence Reed in "Her Game."

The Allen Bill Drew Big Houses
At All Performances Yesterday
There were record attendances at all performances yesterday, at the Allen, for the big special bill offered.
First, there was a big feature with Stuart Holmes in "Love, Honor and ? ? ?". It is a wonderful social drama of human passions, love and atonement.
The fifth episode of the big serial "The Invisible Hand" was by no means a small item on the programme, for it is thrilling to the extreme and full of sensations.
Then there is a comedy, a graphic and other attractions. The same bill is repeated today and tomorrow. If you miss it, you deprive yourself of a wonderful attraction.

"Heart O' The Hills"
Is a Great Picture.
"Heart O' The Hills," featuring Mary Pickford is conceded to be her finest production yet shown in Quebec. For real humor and comedy, minus the slap-stick; real pathos and heart throbs, see Mary Pickford in "Heart O' The Hills." You will fall in love with little Mary all over again. The time is growing short.
The 3rd episode of "The Lion Man" certainly lived up to advance notices. Kathleen O'Connor and Jack Perrin, in their respective roles could not be improved upon and the supporting cast is excellent. The serial as a whole gives promise of being the best ever produced. It is not too late to start following it up. See it at the Empire today. A screamingly funny comedy and Pictorial are also shown.
CONSTANCE TALMADGE
in "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots" will be presented Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week

Theda Bara at the Victoria;
Fine Comedy on Same Bill,
And End of "Bound and Gagged"
"The Lure of Ambition" starring Theda Bara attracted tremendous crowds to the Victoria Theatre yesterday and the picture proved to be a pleasing one in every respect. The comedy on the bill is a dandy one and the end of the serial "Bound and Gagged" is very interesting and unusual.
Tomorrow morning for children "Ali Baba."

TEACHERS ORGANIZE.
Ten thousand men and women Public School teachers of the Province of Ontario are to become organized shortly. They are to be formed into the Federation of Male and Women Teachers of Ontario respectively, but will co-operate whenever their mutual interests become affected. Headquarters for the time being have been established in Peterboro.
The Male Teachers' Club of Ottawa is the latest organization to join up with the new Federation of Men. A substantial donation has just been forwarded by the secretary to the executive, to be devoted to the organization fund. The women teachers are also going to join and will shortly undertake a financial grant.
Both the men's and women's organization in many Ontario towns are already part of the federations. Brant County, Brantford, Hamilton Woodstock, Ottawa and other places are now represented, and it is anticipated locally that within a very short time fully ten thousand teachers will have been enrolled.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff
There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
