Bill Clinton

The Survivor

The book to read this summer is the biography of Bill Clinton, entitled: The Survivor Bill Clinton in the White House. It is a true glance at the former President of the United States of America. What readers will come to conclude from this book is that he never gives up. We also learn that he had blundered quite a few times and that he was often poorly skilled in his first decisions. The book displays the importance of not giving up and that it is possible to correct a losing situation. One can only wonder what is the most significant attribute to succeed in life: the talent itself or the spirit of perseverance? Published with the Editions Random House by John F. Harris.

Karla Homolka

The Canadian journalists are in full swing for any information relating to Karla Homolka, who has now changed her name to Karla Leanne Teale. The journalist Joyce Napier won the first race to talk to Homolka, without being responsible for it herself since it is Karla herself who chose Radio-Canada to explain herself only a few hours after her exit from prison. The interest of the public for this kind of story is difficult to understand but it exists. The public loves rare unknown facts and bizarres stories . The question remains: who will write the book of Karla Homolka? A description of the crimes have been written in 2004 by the author Stephen William. Marlon Brando

Marlon Brando

The family of Marlon Brando, well known for his role of Don Carleone in The Godfather, decided to sell the actor's memories to the highest bidder. In all, the auction held by the Auction House Christie's of New York piled up a amazing sum of more than 2,4 million $ for a total of 328 lots. The manuscript of the actor for the film The Godfather (1972) with the personal notes handwritten by Brando was sold for a staggering amount of 312,800$. A collection of hats carried by Brando obtained a price of 4,800$ while a series of 138 books of poetry which the actor had in his possession was sold for 13,000$. Marlon Brando passed away on July 1, 2004. He was 80 years old. <http://www.imdb.com/name/nm0000008>

Sofia Coppola

Francis and Sofia Coppola

Such a father... such a daughter! It is the case with Sofia Coppola the daughter of the famous film Director Francis Ford Coppola, who created the series "The Godfather". Sofia is presently finishing a film on the life of Marie-Antoinette, a huge production film which should come out in May 2006. This film will draw the attention of the watching world to France and particularly to it's cinema since all the photography have been done there. Where as movie theaters are losing gross sales worldwide, the international productions companies must call upon prestigious producers and actors to attract the fans. There is not any doubt that Sofia Coppola is a winning name. Her father, who still participate in the cinema industry (researching and producing), also devotes himself to his famous winery Niebaum-Coppola, which he operates in Rutherford, California.

Stéphane Rousseau

The humorist from Quebec, Stéphane Rousseau, presented to the media his new spectacle. The reaction of the public was very cordial and the artist is classified definitively among the best humorists of Quebec. His last number, where he sings like Tom Jones and Frank Sinatra, is particularly impressive and it shows that several humorists like him, or another like Claudine Mercier, could also make a career in song so much their voice is powerful. Stéphane Rousseau will present his spectacle with the Festival Just for laughs and he will go then to Paris in January 2006 at the Bataclan.
