Quebec to buy Dosco?

SYDNEY (CP) — The Cape Breton Post says a syndicate of French-Canadian businessmen has made a $50,000,000 offer to purchase control of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

The newspaper says the offer was made about a month ago to the London office of Dosco's parent company, the Hawker Siddeley group.

It quotes an unidentified source as saying it was apparent the offer was made on behalf of the Quebec government, which has been pressing for a steel complex for that province.

Dosco President Ted Emmert said he was unaware of the offer.

"There's always somebody looking for a bargain but I have no information on the Quebec deal," Mr. Emmert was quoted as saying.

The newspaper reported that the syndicate was prepared to offer in the vicinity of $22 a share for Dosco common stock, which closed on the Montreal Exchange Wednesday at $16.25.

"There's no indication whatsoever that Hawker Siddeley is prepared to make a deal but negotiations still are under way," the unidentified source said.

"There will be denial from every quarter until the negotiations are broken off or a deal is made."

Hawker Siddeley bought 76 per cent of Dosco in 1957 for $67,421,000. The market value of the 2,228,817 shares now stands at just below $44,000,000.

The newspaper says its source contends that Premier Lesage's ambition for a fully-integrated steel mill in Quebec can be realized only by purchase of an established company.

"And what more logical company than Dosco exists in Eastern Canada?"

Big outlay planned on new plants

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Claude Lessard, president of Hydro-Quebec, announced Wednesday the provincial Crown corporation plans to spend $280,000,000 in 1965 on the Manicouagan-Aux Outardes hydro project.

Work will start on two dams on the Outardes River, which flows into the St. Lawrence River near Baie-Comeau, 225 miles northwest of Quebec City.

One project, destined for service in November, 1968, will have total installed capacity of about 811,000 horsepower and the second, scheduled to be completed at the same time, will have capacity of about 1,020,000 horsepower.

First Malaysian soldier killed in battling Indonesian raiders

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) — The defence ministry today said that another Indonesian guerrilla and the first Malaysian soldier were killed in a clash in southwest Malaya Wednesday night.

The ministry said 30-to-40 Indonesian infiltrators who landed on the peninsula Monday night have lost three men killed and more than 16 captured. Besides the one Malaysian killed two were wounded.

The latest fighting took place in the Pontian Swamps about 50 miles from Singapore.

Meanwhile, Premier Tunku Abdul Rahman told reporters he believed the objective of the infiltrators was "to stir up trouble, to kill people and assassinate government leaders."

He added the situation was "now very much under control." In general Rahman said he did not think the situation was too serious. "There may be further landings. We never know what desperate people will do, and the Indonesians are desperate."

He added Malaysia and its "friends" could defend the country. The defence ministry said quantities of arms and equipment belonging to the guerrillas were still being recovered. The Malaysian government said the infiltrators were sailors of the Indonesian navy, and Indonesian-trained Malaysian Chinese and Malays.

VILLAGERS HELP TROOPS — Villagers in the Pontian region were said to be giving security forces full support in tracking down the guerrillas.

Favors treaty — GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union said today it is prepared to sign a general treaty banning the use of nuclear weapons.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference such a treaty "would put an end to all nuclear aggression."

He expressed strong support for a proposal by Ethiopian delegate Mikael Imru that the next UN General Assembly should convene a world conference to draft a treaty outlawing the use of nuclear weapons in war.

Western delegates immediately described the proposal as impractical and likely to create a false and dangerous sense of security.

Transport Minister Dato Sardon Bin Maji Jubir, who comes from the Pontian area, said Wednesday night the guerrillas had been misled by their superiors.

"The raiders were told by their superiors they were landing in Malaya to liberate the people from the British colonialists."

"They were shocked to find themselves fighting the Malaysians after they landed," he said.

Western-backed Malaysia has been consistently denounced by Indonesia's President Sukarno as a "neo-colonialist plot" and he has repeatedly vowed to "crush" Malaysia.

Indonesian officials in Jakarta Wednesday tended to discount reports of the Pontian landings. But the Malaysian government reacted by proclaiming mobilization of the territorial army throughout the country.

In addition, the government declared the South Malaysian states of Johore, Negri Sembilan and Malacca a security area.

Vigilante groups were also being formed throughout the country.

Threat of NATO split eased

Greeks, Turks return forces

NICOSIA (AP) — The threat of a serious split in the Atlantic alliance's eastern flank eased today as Greece followed Turkey's decision to return its military units to the command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It reduced at least for the moment the chance that the two NATO nations would go to war over the explosive Cyprus dispute, which prompted both countries to withdraw units from NATO.

But the Greek government warned that its action Wednesday makes the NATO command responsible for preventing further Turkish air strikes against Cyprus.

"Since Turkey returned her forces to NATO control, we will also return them," said Premier George Papandreu. His office issued a statement that the decision "creates a clear obligation in the future that NATO forbid further air attacks or other intervention on Cyprus by Turkey."

In Washington, a U.S. state department spokesman commented that "Atlantic solidarity and peace and security of the eastern Mediterranean can only be enhanced by such action."

TURKS RESTORE AIR UNITS — Earlier, Turkey announced that air units withdrawn from NATO during last week's Turkish air raids over northwest Cyprus would be restored to the alliance. A factor in Turkey's decision was the Greek-Cypriot government's agreement to lift an economic blockade against Turkish-Cypriots.

Fuel oil was still scarce in this capital city where barricades are manned, but UN observers said Wednesday that water, vegetables, fruit and bottled gas began moving into Nicosia. Some 35,000 Turkish-Cypriots had been cut off from supplies here.

Supplies were also reported entering the southwestern community of Kitima where 3,000 Turkish-Cypriots had been isolated by a blockade.

Greece's actual withdrawal of units from NATO apparently was limited to a contingent of 150 officers at southeast command headquarters, Ismir, Turkey. A government spokesman said the unit might return to Ismir pending Cyprus developments while other sources said the men might return in four or five days.

Tension had been mounting on the island in the wake of warning statements over the possibility of another Turkish attack. Turkey had said its assault was prompted by Greek-Cypriot advances against Turkish-Cypriot communities.

The attacks resulted in the heaviest engagement on the island since fighting erupted last December after President Makarios, a Greek-Cypriot, moved to amend the constitution that preserves a legislative veto by the minority Turkish-Cypriots.

Premier Ismet Inonu of Turkey has warned that if the Greek-Cypriots resumed advances against the Turkish-Cypriots, Turkey would again attack Cyprus. Makarios, with a pledge from the Soviet Union that it would support Cyprus in the event of a Turkish attack, sent Premier Khrushchev a telegram in response.

"Your unequivocal warning to the aggressor (Turkey) is the most valuable contribution to the cause of international peace which is being undermined by forces acting in their own narrow and selfish interests," it read.

VERY EMOTIONAL — "But I felt very emotional and very carried away from Mrs. Kennedy, that with all the strife she had gone through—I had been following it pretty well—that someone owed it to our beloved president that she shouldn't be expected to come back to face trial of this heinous crime. And I have never had a chance to tell that, to back it up, to prove it. Consequently I am being victimized as part of a plot in the world's worst tragedy and crime at this moment."

Oswald, formally accused of the Nov. 22 assassination of President Kennedy, was slain two days later during a routine jail transfer. Ruby stepped from a crowd of reporters and onlookers at the Dallas police headquarters and fired a single, fatal bullet into him.

In a trial that ended March 14, Ruby was condemned to death for Oswald's murder. His lawyers pleaded insanity and Ruby did not testify.

The Warren interview took place in the Dallas jail where Ruby is being held during an appeal of his conviction.

By-elections force truce

Johnson, Gabias smiling

By CUTHBERT JONES (Record staff writer)

Faced with the problem of fighting four by-elections called for October 5 by Premier Jean Lesage yesterday, rival factions of the strife-torn Union Nationale apparently agreed to a truce at a party caucus held in Quebec City Wednesday.

Following the lengthy gathering at which the dispute between Opposition leader Daniel Johnson and Yves Gabias, suspended UN MLA for Trois-Rivieres, is understood to have been gone over thoroughly behind closed doors, the two men put on a display of smiles and handshakes for the benefit of newsmen.

Mr. Gabias, who described himself as being firmly in the Union Nationale party, said he will continue to fight against Liberal Government in all the constituencies.

Addressing a rally of 4,000 Buddhist youths, the leader, Tich Tan Chau, sharply criticized Khanh's assumption of additional power last Sunday, when he ousted Maj-Gen. Duong Van Minh as president and installed himself.

press conference in Trois-Rivieres Friday night.

In announcing the four by-elections to fill seats in the Legislative Assembly, Premier Lesage predicted victories for his Liberal Government in all the constituencies.

The Premier said Oct. 5 was chosen because the by-elections should be held before the Queen's visit to Quebec City scheduled for Oct. 10-11.

A meeting of the Liberal party's strategy committee was scheduled Wednesday night to map election plans.

Mr. Lesage told reporters: "We will carry the four seats without exception and without difficulty. The Union Nationale is a party that has killed itself."

Three of the seats were won by Liberals in the 1962 general election and the fourth went to the Union Nationale.

The government now has 80 seats against 30 for the Union Nationale, led by Daniel Johnson. An independent occupies the remaining place in the 95-seat lower House.

At stake in the by-elections will be the constituencies of Montreal - Verdun, Matane, and Saguenay, all won by Liberals in 1962, and Dorchester, taken by the opposition.

The vacancies were caused by the death of three of the members and the appointment of George O'Reilly, the Verdun representative, to the legislative council.

Assails Khanh

SAIGON (AP) — A top Buddhist leader publicly assailed President Nguyen Khanh today as the South Viet Nam government sought to avert an explosion on the first anniversary of the bloody pagoda raids.

Mass deportation planned

Tshombe to oust Red supporters

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe moved today to oust thousands of citizens of countries accused of undercutting his regime, as fighting raged in the east Congo city of Bukavu invaded by rebel forces.

As the spreading Communist-backed rebellion seemed to take a turn for the worse, Tshombe said he believed a report that Peking-trained rebel leader Pierre Mulele, 33, was dead. Diplomatic sources, however, believe the former Congolese education minister is alive in Brazzaville, the former French Congo.

Government forces in Bukavu were reported pushed back to the city's European quarter, but Col. Leonard Mulamba said he believed he could retake the rebel-held part of the city if reinforcements were available. U.S. cargo planes airlifted two loads of troops and supplies to the besieged city during the night.

The U.S. embassy said that its seven or eight-man staff in Bukavu fled to neighboring Rwanda, after a heavy street fighting erupted Wednesday. A plane load of 40 refugees, mostly composed of UN personnel, arrived in Leopoldville Wednesday night.

A government garrison of some 800 troops was fighting to salvage the city, capital of central Kivu province and the only important city in the turbulent northeastern Congo still under government control.

The rebels, who hold an estimated 25 per cent of this vast and mineral-rich nation, captured the key city of Stanleyville two weeks ago.

UPRISING FOLLOWS ORDER — The Bukavu uprising came after a government order in Leopoldville to deport citizens of Brazzaville, Burundi and Mali whose governments are accused of backing the revolt.

Denouncing the governments as accomplices of Communist China, Tshombe told a press conference Wednesday night that his order would be lifted only if their support of the rebellion ends. Saying there could be no negotiation with outlaws, he accused China of moving to use The Congo as a base to take over all of Africa.

It was not known how many persons would be deported but some estimates were as high as 50,000. Authorities began a mass roundup for the 20-minute ferry-boat ride across The Congo river to Brazzaville.

Commenting on the Mulele death report, Tshombe said he was satisfied with evidence that the rebel leader had been killed. He said news had reached him that a decomposed body had been found in the western province of Kwilu.

Tshombe said an American radio receiver and a passport made out in Mulele's name had been found beside the body. Leopoldville Radio carried a brief announcement of the reported death.

Public reaction worries MPs

Leaders seek end to stalemate

OTTAWA (CP) — The maple leaf flag debate ground forward in the Commons for the 11th day Wednesday, with MPs showing as much concern for the public reaction as for the issue itself.

At noon EDT today the party leaders were to meet again to attempt to break the deadlock. But in an atmosphere charged with accusations of filibuster and ultimatum there was little hope of agreement.

The debate tally so far: 85 speeches. The breakdown shows 50 Progressive Conservatives, 21 Liberals, five New Democrats, five Social Crediters and four Creditists.

This is a sample of the kind of soul-searching the House heard Wednesday: Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood): "Once the main issues have been made clear, continuation of debate on such an emotional subject can only serve to cause bitterness, and what is perhaps equally bad, boredom and irritation about the whole subject."

Steve Otto (L—York East): "We have turned this great debate into an internal palace, dialogue which only we can understand. We have left the people of Canada completely on the outside and they have now lost patience with us. They do not understand the tempo of this debate. We are going to lose their respect, as they have lost respect for this House."

SAYS PEARSON 'PETULANT' — Edward Nasserden (PC—Rosethorn): "This ill-fated Parliament, borne of minorities and intrigues, is witnessing another of those acts of carelessness which so vividly portray the petulance of the present prime minister. . . . This (is) one of the most unproductive Parliaments in Canadian history."

None of the three speeches gave any inkling of a change in party positions on the issue itself. The Liberals stand behind the flag with three maple leaves. The Conservatives want a plebiscite. The NDP favors a single maple leaf.

In a flareup during the question period, before the flag debate itself began Wednesday, Prime Minister Pearson said the government wants a parliamentary recess after the flag issue is settled, then it would proceed with the Canada Pension Plan.

However, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker sought assurance that the pension legislation will be dealt with immediately after the flag resolution is "disposed off."

"If he does, we will be behind him on the pension legislation 100 per cent," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Mr. Pearson said he would be happy to give that assurance if Mr. Diefenbaker, in turn, would "give me an assurance that we will be finished with the flag resolution in time to deal with the pension legislation."

WANTS LIMIT SET — Mr. Pearson added that the government would be ready to go ahead with the pension legislation if the Conservatives "will only agree to some reasonable time limit" on the flag debate.

Still later, with tempers rising, Mr. Pearson said the pension legislation is being drafted and will be ready for the Commons "as soon as my right-hand friend (Mr. Diefenbaker) will agree to put an end to the filibuster on the flag resolution."

In the ensuing flag debate, Mr. Brewin questioned the wisdom of a plebiscite.

Supposing, he said, that 30 per cent of Canadians favored the Red Ensign, 10 per cent liked the idea of a Red Ensign "plus embellishments," 30 per cent favored a flag with a single maple leaf, and 30 per cent supported the three maple leaves.

"Supposing we were faced with that situation? Would the referendum solve anything, or would we have to renew this interminable debate all over again?"

Mr. Nasserden said the prime minister has thrust the flag resolution into a "divisive atmosphere" in Canada.

The prime minister was "contemptuously seeking to drive the wedge of division even to the point of an election, if necessary," Mr. Nasserden added.

"This is one of the most shameful manoeuvres ever undertaken by a Canadian prime minister. It is also the single most irresponsible action in Canadian history ever given priority over urgent domestic issues."

Mr. Pearson said the government would be ready to go ahead with the pension legislation if the Conservatives "will only agree to some reasonable time limit" on the flag debate.

Still later, with tempers rising, Mr. Pearson said the pension legislation is being drafted and will be ready for the Commons "as soon as my right-hand friend (Mr. Diefenbaker) will agree to put an end to the filibuster on the flag resolution."

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is a lot more to television than meets the eye, and in the case of actor Herschel Bernardi it adds up to an annual income of around $100,000.

Bernardi, who has been the guest star in television series ranging from Bonanza to Dr. Kildare, is particularly well remembered for his portrait of the weary, cynical and soft-hearted Lieut. Jacoby of 114 Peter Gunn adventures.

His semi-secret career, so profitable, started about eight years ago when he learned there was a demand for "character voices" to be used in television commercials.

"I made a tape recording of some material I'd developed for a comedy routine that used 22 different voices," he recalled. "Then I jumped on my motor scooter and went from agency to agency selling myself."

The "gag voices," as Bernardi calls them, started a whole new sideline. His face never is used. He has produced the voices of a rejected tuna, a service station, a candy bar, a sick automobile and a squirrel, among others.

"This turned into my freedom crusade," said Bernardi. "I realized that it made me free to do the things I really wanted to do as an actor."

But after a time, fashions in commercials changed — gag voices, even 22 of them, were no longer in such great demand. And Bernardi's voice was caught in that deadly theatrical trap: Type-casting.

"I invested about $300 in another tape, still a comedy sketch, and did a lot of other voices with a 'soft sexsell,' the new big thing," he said.

That worked, too: "It's a joy to go to the mailbox and see it stuffed with those lovely residual cheques."

Meanwhile, he has been working steadily in featured movie roles (including Irma La Douce and Love With the Proper Stranger), had many television assignments and has even found time for summer stock.

Raymond Burr's infected tooth (now removed) and swollen jaw caused the Perry Mason producers almost as much discomfort as it did him. Instead of falling too far behind schedule by shutting down production for still another week, the producers have signed Mike Connors, once the hero of Tightrope, to replace Burr in one program.

Burr's absence will be explained as an emergency business trip to Europe. The next program will have Perry Mason working against a European background. Television scripts, obviously, are nothing if not flexible.

WAYS' MILLS —

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Andrews of Keene, N.H., were visitors of Mrs. Andrew's aunt, Miss Agnes Oliver. Mr. and Mrs. Hector Channell and son Peter, of Stanstead, have been recent guests at the same home. Mr. Leslie Irwin has returned to his work in Rock Island, visiting points of interest in Ontario during his holidays.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The East and West hands are not shown today because you don't need to see them in order to play the hand properly. All you need to know is that East follows to the first trick with the three of hearts.

You start by counting your winners, both sure and potential. If you take the first trick you are sure of eight tricks and can make 11 if you pick up the queen of diamonds. Now you analyze the lead and review the bidding and note that if you lose to the queen of diamonds and if West has led the queen from a five-card suit the defense will cash four heart tricks and set you. You also note that West has over-called and probably has that five-card suit.

Could he have a six-card suit? Yes! In that case, you can afford to win that first heart trick and finesse against West for that diamond queen. If East gets in he won't have a heart to lead to his partner. How about a four-card heart suit? In that case, you can lose to the diamond queen and still make the hand.

Now about that likely five-card suit? How can you make the hand? Suppose you let the queen of hearts hold? West may continue. In that case, you win with the king and finesse against West. East can make the queen of diamonds if he has it but your contract will be safe. Suppose West shifts? Now you finesse against East for the queen of diamonds. If West holds it he will take a trick with it but you will still have the hearts stopped and will wind up with four diamonds, three spades and two clubs.

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Dia.	Pass	1 Hrt.	Pass
1 N.T.	Pass	3 Clbs.	Pass
4 Clbs.	Pass	4 Dia.	Pass
4 Hrts.	Pass	5 Clbs.	Pass

You, South, hold: Spades, K-4; Hearts, K-4; Diamonds, A-10-8-7-6, Clubs, K-7-5-4. What do you do? A—Pass. Your partner has bid very strongly but this has not changed one card in your hand.

Today's Question
Instead of bidding five clubs your partner bids four spades over your four hearts. What do you do now?

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new movie Behold a Pale Horse falls short of being a masterpiece by Fred Zinnemann, but any film by the Vienna-born creator is an important event.

This is Zinnemann's first movie in four years, the last one being the poignant study of family survival, The Sundowners. He then tried to adapt James Michener's massive Hawaii for the screen. He wanted to make two movies from the novel; United Artists wanted one. Impasse.

The director interested himself in the Emeric Pressburger Novel, Killing a Mouse on Sunday, a story of the aftermath of the Spanish Civil War.

The project brought trouble from the start. The Spanish government placed a ban on all activities of Columbia Pictures, which was sponsoring the film. The Spaniards didn't like the book, and now Zinnemann reports they don't like the movie. Columbia is still banned.

CLAIMS NOT POLITICAL

The director claims Behold a Pale Horse is no more political than movies that show U.S. police in a bad light. But the division of good and evil is plainly evident.

The good guy is Gregory Peck, an aging (50), irreverent guerrilla who has continued the war long after his side has lost, making forays from his exile home in France.

The bad guy is Anthony Quinn, a corrupt, adulterous commandant of the Spanish national police force. For years he has been bedevilled by Peck's raids. Now, with the guerrilla's dying mother as bait, he sets a trap.

The confluence of opposing forces was materially portrayed by Zinnemann in High Noon, perhaps the perfect western. He uses the same technique in Behold a Pale Horse with excellent results.

The pace in the beginning is deceptively slow and filled with seemingly extraneous incident. But then the incidents fall into a pattern, and the buildup comes to a violent, shattering climax.

FAILS IN CLIMAX

It is in the climax that Behold a Pale Horse fails to achieve greatness. Peck's final show of defiance appears a pointless waste of life, including his own. It is an ending more suited for an existential European movie than a U.S.-made one.

Peck creates one of his finest characterizations since The Gunfighter, in which he had a parallel role. Quinn is his blustery self, and Omar Sharif is sympathetic though passive as a priest caught in the crossfire. The movie was shot in the Pyrenees — the French side, of course. The title? It's from the Book of Revelation: "And I looked, and behold a pale horse: And his name that sat on him was death, and hell following with him."

New education leaders 'young and energetic'

Several major problems of education and training in Quebec today were presented to participants in the annual principals' workshop of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Administrators at Bishop's University yesterday by the man who holds the highest office occupied by a Protestant in the province's present education ministry.

By DOUGLAS WHATLEY (Record staff reporter)

Protestant and Catholic administrators in the new ministry find themselves doing work outside their own religion, he explained; "for the first time, Protestants and Catholics are directly concerned with each other".

The new machinery for education created by the bill is now manned by "young and energetic" experts in many cases, he added, and significant changes might be expected in traditional methods of controlling educational facilities.

QPP arrest suspect within hour

Armed, hooded trio rob bank of $3,000

HE'S NOT SURE — With hands on hip and a puzzled scowl this man isn't quite sure whether he likes the topless dress in a downtown Sherbrooke store. The topless has proven to be quite popular here and several men have purchased the bare and dare dresses for their wives. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

NOTRE DAME DE HAM — were armed, police said.

The two men told Mrs. Pelletier to sit down and then held her at bay with their weapons while a third entered by the front door of the caisse, police said.

The hold-up was carried out in a matter of minutes, police said, and the hold-up car was reported seen heading in the direction of North Ham.

The three men made their getaway in a large car which had been stolen early yesterday morning from Weedon. The vehicle was the property of Jean-Claude Goulet, Mayor of Weedon.

The car was found at about 3 p.m. yesterday afternoon by the QPP on Range 15 of St. Adrien de Ham.

Police from Sherbrooke, Richmond, Cookshire, Victoriaville and Thetford within a short time had thrown a wide net around the area.

Sherbrooke QPP arrested a man in the region of Stoke on Route 32 about an hour later.

Corporal Rene Simard of the Sherbrooke detachment of the QPP is heading the investigation into the hold-up. Notre Dame de Ham which is in Wolfe County comes under his jurisdiction.

The exact amount stolen is not known as yet.

Within about one hour after the holdup Sherbrooke provincial police had arrested a suspect.

A 21-year-old man from Montreal was being detained and interrogated this morning at the Sherbrooke QPP station, Sgt. Ralph Allen reported this morning at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Noel Pellerin, manager of the Caisse Populaire de Notre Dame de Ham was alone in the building at the moment of the hold-up.

She has just locked the door of the Caisse, which is located next to the kitchen of her home, and was busy washing her clothes when two persons forced their way into the kitchen.

They entered by breaking the door glass with a rifle, police said.

Escapee is caught same day

A 35-year-old Sherbrooke man who escaped from a guard at the Social Welfare Court late yesterday morning was picked up in Magog at 4:30 p.m. in the afternoon by Magog Municipal Police.

The man escaped as he was about to be placed in a detention cell at the court. He is to appear before Judge Roger Bouchard again tomorrow it was learned this morning.

The man, who had been ordered by Judge Roger Bouchard to be placed in the Winter Street jail to "cool off and to sober up" escaped from guard J. Aldei Morin as Morin was unlocking the detention cell door, and fled down the nearby stairs. The court and cell are on the third floor of the building.

The escapee, a family man, was to have appeared today in court for sentencing on a charge of drunkenness and contributing to juvenile delinquency, said a court official shortly after the escape.

Most of the purchases have been made by women in the 30's. Men who have bought the topless dresses have been middle aged.

"One man who came into the store with his wife when she bought the dress, insisted that the dicky be taken out," said Mr. Steinman.

Mr. Steinman has no idea where the dresses will be worn and he hasn't seen any of them worn anywhere.

"It will be fun to see who dares wear it on the street first," said a customer.

"It's comical to hear people's comments when they see the dresses," Mr. Steinman said. "They always laugh and joke and no one has ever called them disgusting."

"It's just one of those new things they are showing," he heard one customer explain to another.

Lots of drop-top shock frocks sell in city, storekeeper says

No matter how contrary public opinion may be, men in Sherbrooke are actually buying topless dresses for their wives.

Some Sherbrooke men, too, have gone so far as to accompany their wives on the big buy and have encouraged them to remove the dicky — a flimsy piece of lace which can be snapped into place for those who don't quite dare to bare.

Topless dresses made their debut this month in Sherbrooke, and two downtown stores, Fabien and Lizette, both owned by Sonny Steinman, have shown the dresses on mannequins in store windows.

And it's the men who are doing a good share of the buying.

The $45.95 black topless import from Italy in the window of Lizette on King Street was put on display Monday night and, since then, customers of Louis Morin's adjacent barber shop never had it so good.

By SANDRA PICKFORD (Record Staff Reporter)

"They have come in with towels on their head to ask color and sizes," said Eileen Cillis of Sherbrooke, in charge of the store.

STOPPED TRAFFIC

The dress has stopped traffic.

Motorists look and then look again to see if they saw right. They are embarrassed to look at first but they look again after, said Miss Cillis.

Bus drivers, for Lizette's is right in front of the Wellington - King Street east - bound bus stop, chuckle. Policemen have stopped, looked and smiled, said Miss Cillis.

Lizette's has received orders from men wanting dresses for their wives, and those who were a bit more discreet, have placed orders by telephone.

LACE FRONT POPULAR

There are several styles, but the most popular has been the dress with the lace dicky in front.

Placed in the window, more or less for publicity, the dresses weren't expected to sell as well as they did, Mr. Steinman said. So well have they sold, in fact, that re-orders have been made.

Contempt fines

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A federal court found guilty Wednesday the first two defendants cited for contempt under the civil rights act and backed the convictions with assessments of lawyers' fees.

William Chew, manager of Palms Congress Inn at St. Augustine, along with his corporation was ordered to pay $400 toward the costs of lawyers for the integrationists who brought the complaints.

Charles M. Lance Jr., a St. Augustine timber dealer and volunteer deputy sheriff, was ordered to resign as a deputy and pay $200 of the plaintiffs costs.

Judge Bryan Simpson ruled that Chew and Lance violated injunctions that ordered operators of 17 restaurants to serve Negroes and prohibited other persons from interfering.

The case involved civil contempt and was heard by the judge without a jury.

Verdict is accidental in auto death

A coroner's jury yesterday afternoon brought in a verdict of accidental death at an inquest into the death of Arsene Scalabrini of Martinville. Scalabrini was instantly killed June 20 in a head-on collision with another car on a secondary road between Milby and Johnville.

The inquest was held at 2 p.m. at the Sherbrooke court house under the direction of Coroner Dr. Louis Gagnon.

The five-man jury deliberated but minutes following the inquest which lasted approximately one hour and a quarter.

Scalabrini, 45, died as the result of a collision between his car and one driven by Raoul Alison 42, of Lincoln Avenue, Montreal. Jean-Nil Scalabrini, his son was injured.

BOYS STOLE

Two brothers from Coaticook aged 15 and 17, appeared in Sherbrooke Social Welfare court yesterday morning and pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and theft.

The youths were arrested following a break-in at the Shurtleffe Park restaurant August 8.

The 17-year-old was ordered placed in the Centre D'Acueil, a juvenile detention centre in Montreal, until a place can be found for him in a Montreal protection school, a court official said.

The younger brother was returned home in custody of his parents pending an investigation of his family environment by an officer of the court.

No new rabies

SUTTON — No new reports of rabies cases have been reported in this area, Dr. Pierre Cabot, department of Agriculture here, told The Record yesterday.

Earlier this month a total of seven cases were reported at Valcourt, South Stukely and Foster.

All cases were reported were cows which died from rabies. They were believed to have been bitten by foxes.

Dr. Cabot, however, urged area residents not to go near any animal that might be acting strangely.

"It has quietened down during the past week, but it is good to be cautious," Dr. Cabot stressed.

No party-splitting fight is seen over civil rights plank

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Democratic platform drafters were optimistic today that a party-splitting fight over a civil rights plank can be avoided.

As the platform committee moved here to wind up hearings begun in Washington, members from both the U.S. North and South spoke hopefully of reaching agreement on a generally acceptable plank.

But the same issue, civil rights, may spark a sharp fight in another area—the seating of delegates from Mississippi and Alabama.

The platform drafters' optimism was due in large part to testimony by Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy that he saw no need for a platform promise to seek new civil rights laws.

He said he felt the 1964 Civil Rights Act was broad enough to cover the party's 1960 pledges in this field.

Civil rights leaders in their testimony emphasized enforcement of the 1964 act and legislation to provide more and better job opportunities for Negroes rather than new civil rights measures.

However, Frederick G. Dutton, the White House aide who is executive director of the platform committee, still tagged the writing of a civil rights plank as the most difficult task ahead for the group.

The committee completed three days of hearings in Washington Wednesday and were to start taking additional testimony here this afternoon.

The hearings are to be concluded Friday, and the committee hopes to finish its drafting work late Saturday or early Sunday.

NEED TO GENERATE SPIRIT

Kennedy testified Wednesday that what is needed in the platform is "not so much a promise to seek new civil rights laws as a promise to generate the spirit of determination in which our country can and will solve its racial problems."

Pierre Pelham, an Alabama delegate, asked if he meant that no new civil rights legislation is necessary now. "That is correct," Kennedy replied.

The attorney-general also stressed respect for law, calling for "a clear reaffirmation of our belief that lawless disregard for the rights of others is wrong when it is used to deny civil rights and that it is wrong when it is used to obtain civil rights."

At the same time, he said outbursts of racial violence often have deep causes and "the causes will not go away simply because we may put more policemen on the street or write a platform affirming respect for the law."

"We must continue to work, as we have worked, to eliminate the frustrations that create the outbursts," Kennedy said.

This theme was threaded through the statements of Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Martin Luther King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Top forces officers directed to retire

OTTAWA (CP) — There are 143 officers in the four top ranks of the armed forces and they draw salaries of between $15,800 and $25,000 a year.

About one-third of them will be retired during the next couple of months as integration of the defence department's command structure takes hold, informants said Wednesday.

Defence Minister Hellyer says there now is enough manpower at defence headquarters to administer a defence force of 500,000 men. The Canadian armed forces number about 120,000.

He told the Commons Monday that a substantial number of officers will be retired, not because they aren't of high calibre but because there simply won't be jobs for them when the command structure is integrated. Some will be retired compulsorily before normal retirement age.

Mr. Hellyer has been a bit taken aback by the fuss over the announced retirement of Rear-Admiral Jeffrey Brock, flag officer Atlantic Coast, four years before normal retirement age of 55.

He said the public applauded the government's decision to reduce the armed forces by some 10,000 in the next year to two.

Some health recommendations dangerous

HALIFAX (CP) — Harry D. Cook of Toronto, president of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, Mr. Cook said the recommendations that foreign drugs be allowed into Canada "would place the health of Canadians in jeopardy... and do harm to the economy."

He said "to open wide the national gates to foreign-made drugs would be to run unnecessary risks of unimaginable proportions at a time when the growing complexity of drug therapy demands the utmost vigilance."

The commission report recommended that drugs be imported into Canada with government inspection to ensure their quality.

Mr. Cook said "continuous inspection is the only way to ensure the quality of a drug."

CALLS REPORT NONSENSE

"The writer of the report envisages a state of affairs where cheap drugs from abroad will flood into Canada, their quality guaranteed by government inspection... this is plain nonsense," he said.

Dr. H. C. Harley, chairman of the Commons special committee on pesticides, food and drugs said the committee has recommended that federal grants be made available to study "effects on humans and wildlife relating to the daily intake of pesticides."

Dr. Harley, Commons member for Halifax, said the committee also had recommended that the Pest Control Act be amended to close a legal loophole which now permits unregistered importation of pesticides from the United States for use on farms.

Prof. Finlay A. Morrison, assistant dean of pharmacy at University of British Columbia, said earlier in the day that pharmacy requires a continuing education program.

Prof. Finlay said scientific knowledge is doubling every 10 years and it was necessary for pharmacists to continue learning to maintain their working knowledge and keep abreast of developments.

GROUP HAS RESERVATIONS

In a general policy statement, the association said it was prepared to accept in principle a government-sponsored comprehensive health plan with certain reservations.

The statement said a health plan would be acceptable if it proved impractical to provide an adequate standard of health

Red Sox wins Little League championships

Cop playoff title with double win over Indians, fifth-inning rally gives Sox 14-4 second game victory

By RICHARD WILSON

Red Sox made a clean sweep of the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Little League championships for the 1964 season as they dumped the Indians 14-4 last night to take their second playoff title in the past three years.

The new champions dropped two straight tilts last year in the finals, giving the Senators the title, after beating out the Indians in the semi-finals.

Constant encouragement and tactical coaching on the part of Amedee Roy resulted in the Red Sox copping the two crowns this year. Well over 200 Little League fans turned out at the Parade Grounds yesterday evening to support their teams.

Errors once again played havoc with the Indians as five miscues, committed in the last five innings of the tilt, shook the Red Sox opponents. The Red Sox came through in the second with one run, on an infield error at third base, edging up on the Indians.

The top of the third saw the defeated squad broke through 2-1 lead as the Sox broke through with two tallies on hits by Richard Blais, with a triple, and Real Daigneault, with a single. It was in the bottom of this inning when Coach Roy received the thumb from plate umpire George Wooley after a dispute was made a decision at first base.

Indians' shortstop Paul Doyon came across the plate at this time bringing with him an objection from Amedee Roy. The 1964 champions finished the game in orderly fashion, even without the guidance of Coach Roy on the bench.

No scores were registered in the fourth inning for either side as Mario Simard completed his sixth inning of pitching for the week and Richard Blais came in with an impressive relief for Yvan Poirier.

THREE PITCHERS USED
Trouble came in the fifth as Indians ran out of regular pitchers after Simard hurled his sixth inning of the week, the full amount allowed by Little League rules. Camille Pomearieu followed Simard on the mound and was tagged with the loss as he set up the bases for three runs that came as part of the Red Sox rally, deciding the new champs.

Guy Dube was the final choice of Coach Bob Morin after Daniel Leblanc gave a repeat performance, getting an early return to the bench. Eight runs on hits by Yvan Poirier, Richard Bergamin, Yvon Blais and Pierre Roberge made up the big inning.

Another spurge by the Sox in the sixth sent the Indians down to know defeat with three more runs compiling the final score 14-4, giving the playoff title back to the Sherbrooke Optimist squad.

Players that gave good performances in both tilts were Bernard Raymond, Pierre Roberge, Pierre Longpre and Richard Blais for the winners while Paul Doyon, Mario Simard and Luc Fleury showed up well for the Indians.

Als and Argos clash in first 'crucial' tilt

MONTREAL (CP)—Although the football season is barely under way, the first "crucial" label has been removed from winter storage and attached to tonight's Eastern Football Conference encounter between the Montreal Alouettes and Toronto Argonauts.

It's only the fifth contest played in the east this year, but both coaches, Montreal's Jim Trimble and Toronto's Nobby Wirkowski, are aware of the significance it will carry when the standings are tabulated at the close of warfare in November.

The outcome, to be decided before an expected capacity crowd at McGill Stadium, could have a bearing on the positions of the two clubs at the end of the season. It works this way: Montreal won the opener of the three-game series with Toronto, 21-13 last Saturday, and if they can score a victory tonight they'll have the season edge decided. If the two teams are tied at the end of the schedule, the Alouettes will get the nod.

If Toronto wins, the third meeting between the teams will decide a tie.

"I don't need to tell my players this," Wirkowski said Wednesday night. "I think they've been able to figure this out by themselves. They know what happened last weekend and they know it better not happen again."

Both teams will be short on manpower, although the Als disabled players are definitely out while Toronto's injured likely

PROBABLY DRESS PARKER

Toronto quarterback Jackie Parker likely will dress, although Wirkowski said a decision won't be made until just before game time.

"Even if he does play he won't be 100 per cent effective," he explained. "He was kicked in the ankle in the Montreal game. He missed two workouts but he practised Tuesday and Wednesday."

Don Fuell and Karl Sweetan are standing in reserve and the Toronto coach was confident either could carry the club in Parker's absence. Both, he said, would share the duties if Parker was unable to play.

Two Argos, linemen Butch Larue and Gerry Wilson, definitely are out and Walt Radzick and halfback Ron Howell remain doubtful.

"One of them will sit out," said Wirkowski. It'll be Parker or Radzick or Howell."

The Alouettes, the only unbeaten, untied team in the country, also will be limping. Tackle Bob Minihane and Jim Andreotti already have missed one game and were ruled out for this contest, and rookie end Al Irwin was sidelined Wednesday.

The lanky freshman from McMaster University received a broken nose in Toronto and infection developed. Trimble said young quarterback Jim McKean would start in Irwin's place.

"We might even throw him some passes," said Trimble. "Those quarterbacks sometimes know the passing patterns better than the ends."

Giants and Reds stage beanball battle

Philadelphia Phillies are nursing a six-game lead in the National League pennant race today while San Francisco Giants and Cincinnati Reds are nursing their bruises.

The Phillies built their lead over second-place San Francisco by whipping Chicago Cubs 9-5 Wednesday after the Reds handed the Giants their fourth straight loss 7-1 in the biggest beanball battle of the season.

The Reds-Giants game was still in the first inning when Cincinnati's Frank Robinson was hit on the left arm by a Ron Herbel pitch. Robinson started toward the San Francisco pitcher but was restrained by umpire Chris Peleokoudas while Giant shortstop Jim Davenport grabbed Herbel as both benches emptied.

The umpires had to step in again a few minutes later when Robinson started from first base toward Herbel. And, later, when Robinson was retired at second base on a double play, he and Davenport had a few words.

Reds' starter Bob Purkey was hit by a John Pregoner pitch in the fourth inning, bringing a warning from Peleokoudas and an automatic fine. Purkey, meanwhile, evened the struggle by hitting Jim Hart twice.

ROBINSON HOMERS TWICE

In between, Robinson hit two homer and Chico Ruiz collected four hits in support of Purkey's six-hit pitching, pulling the Reds to within one game of the Giants in the standings.

Elsewhere, Jim Hickman's grand slam homer gave New York Mets a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates, Houston Colts edged St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 on a run-producing single by Nellie Fox in the 10th inning and Los Angeles Dodgers outslugged Milwaukee Braves 7-6.

The Phillies got the job done in the eighth inning, overcoming a 5-4 deficit with a five-run explosion. Clay Dalrymple and Tony Taylor triggered the rally with singles before Wes Covington drove in the tying and winning runs with a pinch double.

The Cubs' Ron Santo had earlier hit his 24th homer. The Mets won their fourth straight, their longest winning streak of the season, when Hickman blasted a Vern Law pitch into the parking area beyond left field with the bases loaded in the sixth inning.

That was more than enough for Tracy Stallard, who had a shutout until Bill Virdon hit a two-run homer in the ninth.

The Colts won in the 10th when Al Spangler singled, continued to second on Curt Flood's error and rode home on Fox' single.

Frank Howard hit his first homer in 25 days and drove in three runs for the Dodgers, who blew most of a five-run lead but held on behind Ron Perranoski's relief pitching. Perranoski struck out Lee Maye with the bases loaded and two runs in, cutting off the Braves' final threat in the eighth inning.

Henry Setlakwe wins, meets Cowan today

SASKATOON (CP)—The attrition rate on big name competitors in the 1964 Canadian Amateur Golf Championship was expected to soar today as 32 players entered the second round of the chase for a championship captured last year by Nick Westlock of Toronto.

Henry Setlakwe, of Thetford Mines, defeated Ron Hingle from Nanaimo, B.C. 1 up to win the right to meet Gary Cowan, of Kitchener, Ontario, in continued play of the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship today.

Westlock, a 46-year-old representative of 16 Ontario Willingdon Cup teams, was one of those facing tough tests in the second round this morning.

He was drawn against Frank Bostock of Scottsdale, Ariz., a part-time movie actor who dumped Quebec team player Bob Stimpson of Ottawa 4 and 3 Wednesday. Westlock rebounded from a siege of muscle trouble in his back to batter Bob Esdale of Edmonton 7 and 6 for the biggest margin of the day.

Only Ernie Greenley of Regina, among well-regarded entrants, was shunted to the sidelines Wednesday. Greenley was a member of the Saskatchewan team that captured its first Willingdon Cup title in the 37-year-history of the competition but he took a 4 and 3 whipping from Jack Tait of Saskatoon.

Tait was drawn against Ron Folk of Saskatoon in the second round. Ed Ross of Saskatoon, 6 and 5 conqueror of Jules Swick, also of Saskatoon, was drawn against Lane Bickel of Calgary today.

Perhaps the most attractive matches of the day featured three Alberta team members—Bob Wylie, Len Brayton and Keith Alexander of Calgary. Wylie whipped Neil Murray of Vancouver 4 and 3 for the right to meet Manitoba Willingdon Copper Bill Pidlaski of Winnipeg, who tripped Ray Tuh of Calgary 3 and 2.

Brayton, forced to the 18th green to nip Bill Parkes of Woodstock, Ont., 1 up when he made a brilliant chip shot from over the back of the green, was drawn against Bunky Henry from Valdosta, Ga. Henry recovered from an early deficit to topple Wally Goodwin of Sheridan, Wyo., 4 and 3.

Yankee errors hurt as White Sox post 4-2 win on four unearned runs, Orioles lose to Red Sox 4-3 in 10

While Chicago White Sox are rushing rapidly toward the top of the American League, New York Yankees are having trouble.

The White Sox moved to within a half game of first place Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night, taking advantage of three Yankee errors for four unearned runs and a 4-2 victory. The Orioles lost to Boston Red Sox 4-3 in 10 innings.

Pitcher Jim Bouton and third baseman Clete Boyer were the Yankees who had the trickles. The malady first appeared in the third inning after the White Sox loaded the bases with two out. Pete Ward grounded to first base on a Joe Peptone, who tossed the ball to Bouton at first. The throw was in time but Bouton missed the base, allowing Ray Herbert to score.

His error upset Bouton so much that he threw the ball down in disgust. As it trickled near the first base coaching box, Jim Landis, who had reached third on the first miscue, dashed home with the run that gave Chicago a 2-1 lead.

The trickles mushroomed into catastrophe again in the seventh inning when Chicago scored two runs, breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

With runners at first and second and none out, J. C. Martin bunted along the third base line. Bouton grabbed the ball but his throw to third for the force was too late. But wait. Mike Hershberger slid past the base.

Boyer pounced on the runner, tagging him for an apparent out. Wait again. The ball trickled out of Boyer's glove and the White Sox had the bases loaded. The loss kept the Yankees four games behind Baltimore. In other games, Detroit Tigers defeated Los Angeles Angels 5-2, Minnesota Twins downed Washington Senators 3-1 and Cleveland Indians outlasted Kansas City Athletics 6-4.

The Orioles also experienced difficulty with a tricking baseball. In their case it was a couple of bunts that rolled foul. They came off the bat of Boston rookie Tony Horton in the 10th inning with Carl Yastrzemski at first. After he failed to sacrifice, Horton slammed a double into the left field corner, scoring Yastrzemski with the winning run.

Detroit grabbed sole possession of fourth place behind Don Demeter and Norm Cash. Demeter's pinch single drove in the tie-breaking run against the Angels in the seventh inning while Cash added a two-run homer in the eighth. Jim Fregosi had tied the game 2-2 with a homer in the Angels' seventh.

Jim Kaat and Al Worthington pitched the Twins past the Senators. Kaat had a shutout until the ninth when Worthington replaced him.

Vic Davalillo drove in three runs and Joe Azcue two for the Indians. All of Davalillo's runs batted in came on a third-inning single with the bases loaded and two out. The hit broke a 2-2 tie, putting the Indians ahead to stay. Jim Gentile socked his 22nd homer for the Athletics in the fourth.

With runners at first and second and none out, J. C. Martin bunted along the third base line. Bouton grabbed the ball but his throw to third for the force was too late. But wait. Mike Hershberger slid past the base.

Boyer pounced on the runner, tagging him for an apparent out. Wait again. The ball trickled out of Boyer's glove and the White Sox had the bases loaded. The loss kept the Yankees four games behind Baltimore. In other games, Detroit Tigers defeated Los Angeles Angels 5-2, Minnesota Twins downed Washington Senators 3-1 and Cleveland Indians outlasted Kansas City Athletics 6-4.

Dan Pesant wins junior golf title over Asbestos' Skip Dion on hazard rule at fourteenth hole of finals

Dan Pesant, of Islemere made use of golfing regulations to win the Quebec Junior Match Play Championship at Rosemere Golf Club yesterday.

Pesant called Skip Dion, of Asbestos, on a rule grounding his club in a hazard, and disqualified Dion on the fourteenth hole, taking a one up lead over his opponent.

The violation of the local rule came on this hole as Dion hooked his tee shot which landed in a ditch, parallel to the fairway. Before taking his second shot, he removed an impediment, thus grounding his club and violating the rule. In semi-final play yesterday morning Pesant gained a berth in the finals with a 3 and 1 win over Duke Doucet, of Windsor Mills, winning the first three holes, having a first score of 75.

Skip Dion defeated Steve Smith, 15-year-old competitor from Valleyfield, after trailing by one hole after the eleventh. His excellent shots for two pars and a birdie brought him five over for the win.

Dion had a chance to recover on the last hole as Pesant pushed his shot into a trap on the par-three 15th. His bid however, was fouled as he sent his tee shot more severely into the trees opposite the green. Pesant and Dion came out even in the ninth, after which they halved the first four holes on the back nine, followed by the ruling which gave Pesant the championship.

The Doctor Says

REPAIR TO HERNIA IS NOW USUALLY SAFE PROCEDURE
BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Q—Are injection treatments for hernia of the groin successful?

A—The injection of an irritant chemical into hernias was tried about 25 years ago and abandoned by all top flight surgeons as an unsafe procedure. In order to repair what is essentially a defect in your abdominal wall, the surgeon must be able to see what he is doing. The injection treatment, still practiced by very few surgeons, is truly a shot in the dark. With the modern choice of effective anesthetics, increased surgical know-how and precautions for avoiding infection, hernial repair can now be safely performed on persons who used to be considered poor risks because of their age or other adverse factors.

Q—What causes a ruptured diaphragm? Will an operation correct this condition?

A—A diaphragmatic or hiatus hernia is a protrusion of part of the stomach through a weakened diaphragm. Many persons have a mild form of hiatus hernia that causes them little or no discomfort. In others, persistent pain makes it necessary to seek relief. The operation to repair this type of hernia has been greatly improved in recent years. Another form of treatment, the gastric freezing that has been used to treat peptic ulcers, has been used to correct these hernias with excellent results. But this treatment is still considered experimental.

Q—My daughter, 29, has multiple sclerosis and can't move her hands or feet. Her doctor is giving her Doriden pills to relax her so she can sleep. Do these pills contain any narcotic? Is it dangerous for her to take them?

A—Doriden, a brand of glutethimide, is a habit-forming drug that should be used only under close medical supervision.

Q—Is the daily use of a sun lamp harmful? What if it is used for an hour or longer at a time? What effect would it have on the eyes if they are not shielded?

A—Daily exposure to the sun or a lamp that emits ultra-violet light can be beneficial if the exposure is not too great. Eight or 10 minutes a day is enough to satisfy your body's needs. Exposures of an hour or more can be tolerated only by persons who have developed a deep tan. The eyes should be shielded at all times because this type of light will irritate the retina and over-exposure can cause blindness.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Most horrible book

Gathers charge-sheet for Auschwitz trial

FRANKFURT (CP) — Prosecutor Joachim Kuegler, 38, is author of the "most horrible book ever written"—the story of Auschwitz.

His 700-page volume is the legal charge-sheet against 21 men on trial here as officials and guards at Auschwitz, the indescribable Nazi death camp that exterminated millions of Jews, Poles, Russians and Gypsies.

The young prosecutor takes a flat, unsensational approach to his job—"sensation is a by-product"—but he spoke with grim finality when he gave this analysis to a Canadian reporter:

"History has many examples of slaughters and atrocities, but for me two things emerge about Auschwitz.

"Auschwitz was a death factory with at the same time a successful attempt to make use of the victims' belongings—rings, watches, silk and woolen underwear, gold teeth, women's hair, anything. This was new.

"The second thing is that from studying the personal files of the men who worked at Auschwitz — their religious, family and personal background — I'm convinced they represented a cross-section of the German population at the time. And not one of them rebelled."

CAN'T EXPLAIN

Why did they do it?

"I don't know," said Kuegler with a helpless gesture. "I'm only a lawyer."

The case, which began last Dec. 20 and is expected to run until early next year, is the biggest in a new wave of war crime trials now being heard in West Germany. Its significance is great.

Unlike the post-war Nuremberg trials, where Allied judges tried Germans for war crimes under international law, the German prosecutors accuse the defendants of violations of German criminal law ranging from murder to assault and battery.

Wide newspaper coverage has caused spasms of shock among Germans, and some of the older generation are said to believe the exercise is pointless nearly 20 years after the war. But Kuegler draws satisfaction from the impact on young people.

"They are asking a lot of questions—questions that have no answers," he said.

Blue Suede shoes hurt in '57, but now it's Yeah, yeah, yeah in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Seven years ago Elvis Presley turned this city on its ear.

When the gyrating singer from Memphis, Tenn., stormed into town Aug. 31, 1957, in a white convertible, thousands of teen-agers went wild.

Shouting and screaming, they stormed his car and tore off bits of his clothing before police rescued him.

After it was over, officials of the Pacific National Exhibition, which brought Presley here, were heard to say "never again."

But memories are short and the PNE is taking the plunge again, this time with the Beatles.

The swinging quartet from Liverpool who have played to squealing teen-age audiences from England to Australia, open the exhibition Aug. 22.

It's expected to be the biggest single performance of their careers, say PNE officials who are expecting a sell-out crowd of 27,000 for the one-night stand.

Six weeks ago tickets went on sale and the box offices were flooded. Many teen-agers queued up two days in advance. Thousands of tickets went within hours but at the end of the day 15,000 remained unsold.

DIDN'T ADVERTISE

"We had been led to believe there would be a deluge so we didn't advertise," says Ed Moyer, PNE publicity man. Apparently what happened is that many who wanted tickets didn't bother to try, figuring they'd all be sold the first day anyway.

Moyer isn't worried, however. "If necessary we will sell tickets the night of the performance, but we don't expect them to last that long."

Three busloads of Beatles fans are coming from Victoria for the show, another from Nanaimo. Individual ticket requests have come from Seattle, Portland, Ore., Calgary and Edmonton, and as far away as Alaska. Radio stations as far east as Winnipeg have asked for tickets to be given as prizes in radio contests.

PNE officials say they are taking precautions to ensure that the Beatles aren't involved in the riotous scenes that greeted Presley. About 200 regular and special police and PNE ushers will be employed to keep crowds under control.

The entire 12th floor of Hotel Georgia has been booked for the group and all entrances to the hotel will be guarded by police. E. W. Hudson, hotel manager, says he has been in correspondence with a hotel in Australia where the Beatles stayed and has received some advice on how to handle the situation here.

The Beatles will perform at the north end of Empire Stadium on the PNE grounds. Seats will be placed on the field near the stage and only a portion of the 32,000 grandstand seats will be sold. Beetle managers say the remaining seats are too far away from the stage.

Visitors join residents for annual reception at Wales Home, Richmond

RICHMOND — A large number of visitors from Richmond and other parts of the Township joined the residents of the Wales Home for the annual Reception Day on Aug. 12.

Guests were greeted at the door by the president, F. J. Sangster, Mrs. M. Armstrong, Matron of the Home, and R. S. Butler, secretary, then gathered in the living-room, which was decorated with baskets of summer flowers.

The invocation was given by Rev. Graham Barr, after which Mrs. Sangster welcomed the guests. He referred to the recent death of A. C. Skinner, a past president of the Home and an ardent supporter. Institutions such as the Home, which has its roots in the Eastern Township, still need financial help, and also those who give generously of their time.

Mr. Sangster made particular mention of the Granby-Abbotsford and Sherbrooke Auxiliaries, as well as the Richmond Auxiliary, and all local members of committees, who do so much for the Home.

PROGRAM

The musical program, arranged by Mrs. C. N. Stevens, commenced with violin solos by Mrs. Lois Blanchette, who was accompanied by Mrs. Irene Leveque.

Vocal solos given by Douglas Kerr and Mrs. Normand Marcotte. Both vocalists were accompanied by Mrs. C. N. Stevens.

Mrs. Jeannine Lachance, of Montreal, gave a piano rendition of a Chopin waltz.

Mr. J. R. Sangster thanked Mrs. Stevens and all those who had contributed to the fine musical programme.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker Rev. Graham Barr was introduced by the immediate past-president, A. C. Stevens. Dr. Barr centred his address on some thoughts brought to mind by the word Satiety, interspersing his more serious remarks with some humorous anecdotes.

He pointed out that in this separate case, involving two henchmen of Adolf Eichmann, was being tried.

The Auschwitz accused, a routine-looking group, range from Boger, the dreaded head of the camp's political section, to former guards. Each could pass for an ordinary burgher or citizen—did just that, in fact, for many years. Many sought to put blame on the dead Eichmann, who tried to implement the "final solution" of the Jewish problem.

Apart from one defendant who killed a pedestrian while drunk-driving, the accused apparently have lived within the law since the war, sometimes under assumed names. Kuegler estimates about 20 Auschwitz "big fish" are still free.

Why has retribution waited so long?

Kuegler indicated the West

German authorities have been slow—"this sounds like an accusation and in a way it is"—but there were difficulties.

DOCTOR IN GHANA

For one thing, Auschwitz was in Poland, behind the Iron Curtain. Several wanted men took refuge on the South American "chessboard." Eichmann was grabbed by Israeli agents but Dr. Joseph Mengele, Auschwitz doctor, is still there. Another doctor, Schumann, is safely ensconced in Ghana as President Nkrumah's personal physician.

After the war the Allies, assuming the main responsibility for dealing with war criminals, sentenced about 5,000 persons. The Russians sentenced an estimated 10,000.

German courts, limited until 1955 to dealing with war and racial offences against fellow-Germans and stateless persons, sentenced a total of 5,445 until the end of 1963.

An important development came in 1956 when, with legal activity dragging, thousands of German prisoners, including war criminals and witnesses, were released by the Soviet Union. New trials brought out horrors similar to those now being recounted at Frankfurt.

Ordinary Germans had suspected that Allied tribunals were tinged with vengeance but now their own courts were proving that, for instance, the SS Elite Guard was a sort of "Murder Incorporated."

HAS 150 WITNESSES

Another significant event came in 1958 when legal authorities of West Germany's 11 states formed at Ludwigsburg a central agency to deal with foreign countries and clear away tangles among themselves.

The agency has opened nearly 700 preliminary inquiries and handed over 480 cases to prosecutors. It was in this way that Kuegler and his co-prosecutor, Fritz Vogel, also 38, came into the picture at Frankfurt, once the home of Germany's biggest Jewish community.

"We investigated 1,500 people," said Kuegler, who began the job in 1959. "Many Auschwitz victims were broken physically and mentally. They forget, or they imagine things. We have 150 witnesses now."

Much has been said about the Communist countries refusing to divulge information to West Germany, but Kuegler said that recently Russia, Poland and East Germany have given documents and co-operation "without trying to make political capital—perhaps it is symbolic."

Some 800 cases now are pending, and Kuegler said this represents a determination among responsible Germans to face up to and root out the evils of the past.
