SCUTTLE COLFAX, the popular Vice-President of the United States, announces his retirement from public life at the end of his term of office.

Victor Hugo has lived to see his desire upon his enemies. The Little Napoleon has been driven from Paris, and the great exile has returned to be greeted by thousands, and to have conferred upon him an honorable trust in the service of the Republic.

A correspondent suggests the propriety of the Mayor declaring next Thursday a half holiday, as all the clerks and workmen will want to see the race, and there will be but little business doing.

Whatever indignation the conduct of Napoleon creates, for his wife there can be but one feeling. We say "Poor Caroline!" as we used to say "Poor Carlotta!" Only a month ago the gay queen of a butterfly world.

The morning's news is of considerable importance. Gen. URSICH at Strasbourg has offered to capitulate on terms which the Prussian commandant would not accept, inasmuch as they would guarantee Strasbourg to France.

Our review of the crews and anticipations of the race will appear in the STAR of Monday. Yesterday morning the St. John crew were out for a trial and rowed in splendid form.

The official Journal of the Republic publishes the reply of Jules Favre to Minister Washburne. He says he considers it a happy augury for the French Republic to have obtained her first recognition from the United States.

War Looming in the East—Austria and Russia to Divide Turkey.

Extreme agitation reigns in Constantinople, where it is alleged to have been ascertained that Russia and Austria are negotiating with a view to partition Eastern Europe and the Turkish Empire.

Interview between Favre and Lord Lyons—England Declines Interference—French for War—Prussian Advance—Fortifications of Paris.

The World's correspondent telegraphs—In an interview yesterday held at the Ministry of foreign affairs, Jules Favre asked His Lordship if the English Cabinet would interfere and suggest the terms of peace to be offered by France, and such as he could be assured that France would accept.

Lord Lyons replied that though England would be delighted to help to bring the war to an end, he had no authority to say that the world undertake to suggest terms of peace to either of the combatants.

Favre then said it would be impossible for France to make any such suggestions, and the interview was brought to a close.

There is not one sentiment apparently reigning supreme in the provinces of France. From all quarters the cry of war comes up, and throughout France people are organizing for a protracted defence.

The preparations for a general Trochu for a siege go on with most unremitting activity. Enormous supplies of ammunition have been received and distributed to various fortresses.

Within the past week the forts at St. Denis, Edmonville and Aubervilliers are thoroughly equipped, and it is said the fortifications of the capital are entirely ready for a three months defence.

We have no accurate information as to the German advance; reports are hourly brought in, but most of them are obviously based on the appearance of mere scouting parties, foragers or cavalry scouts along the lines of the great railways.

There is no authentic reason for believing that the enemy in France have even reached Rheims, up to this time, still the impression here is even among the soldiers, that the Prussians will be in sight of Paris Sunday morning next.
