

ET militia units relocated, disbanded in mass shakeup

7/11 Hussars' origins pre-date Confederation

The 7/11 Hussars regiment was formed April 1, 1936 from an amalgamation of two Hussars regiments whose origins go back to pre-Confederation days.

The 7th Hussars regiment was originally the 58th Compton Battalion of Infantry, organized Oct. 1867.

The 11th Hussars regiment developed out of an 1867 grouping of three companies of the Sherbrooke Battalion of Infantry into the 53rd Melbourn Battalion of Infantry.

Missing export boat

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian exporters are missing the boat in the new, fast-growing Central American common market, the trade department reports.

One reason is that the boat is hard to find.

Lack of adequate shipping services on the Caribbean-Atlantic coast is "one serious difficulty in increasing Canadian sales" in the area, H. E. Lemieux, the commercial counselor in Guatemala City, writes in the department's Foreign Trade publication.

Various Canadian trade missions to Central and South America have reported the same difficulty.

The problem becomes even more acute during the winter when Canadian exports have to be routed, at greater cost, to ports such as New York.

However, Mr. Lemieux says this shipping handicap is not insuperable. Other countries have similar problems, and Canada has the advantage of the dollar discount.

NOT ALERT

"There is plenty of proof of the attractive business that can be obtained in this territory if Canadian firms are alert and persevering," he writes.

The Central American common market comprises Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama.

Last year total trade in the common market rose by 25 per cent. Imports went up 14 per cent. But imports from Canada actually declined to $18,103,000 from $18,209,000 in 1962.

The three companies from the Sherbrooke Battalion that were grouped in the 53rd Melbourn Battalion were: No. 3 rifle company, (organized July 17, 1861), Danville, No. 4 infantry company, Melbourn, (organized Mar. 16, 1866); and No. 5 infantry company, Richmond, (organized Mar. 16, 1866).

The 53rd Melbourn Battalion of Infantry was re-designated the 54th Richmond regiment in May, 1900. It was later converted and re-designated the 11th Hussars on Aug. 1, 1903. It was then disbanded and re-organized on April 1, 1921.

The 7th and the 11th Hussars amalgamated on April 1, 1936. The new regiment was converted and re-designated the 16th (Reserve) Armoured Regiment (7/11th Hussars) on April 1, 1941.

It was re-designated April 1, 1946 the 16th Reconnaissance Regiment (7/11 Hussars), R.C.A.C.

It was re-designated the 7/11 Hussars (16th Reconnaissance Regiment) on February 4, 1949, and was converted and re-designated to become the 7/11 Hussars (16th Armoured Regiment) on Sept. 1, 1954.

Says captain refused help

QUEBEC (CP) — Offers of help from a well-equipped United States naval vessel were refused at least twice by the captain of the 18,000-ton bulk carrier Lecliff Hall before it sank in the St. Lawrence River Sept. 5, a board of inquiry was told Tuesday.

Yvon Dufour, 34, pilot of the USS Desoto County, said his vessel, which had a rescue team aboard and diesel pumps ready, later heard a call for help from the sinking vessel when it was too late.

He was testifying at a formal inquiry into the collision of the Lecliff Hall and the 11,000-ton Greek freighter Apollonia off St. Joseph de la Rive, 57 miles northeast of here.

Three crew members were lost when the Lecliff Hall sank.

Another witness said the 236-ton harbor tug Foundation Viber was struggling unsuccessfully to get the Hall, loaded with 24,000 tons of iron ore, to shore.

HAD DOUBTS

Capt. Duncan Fiander, 43, of 39 Conroy Avenue, Fairview, N.S., the tug captain, told the commission he had doubts his vessel could do the job, though it managed to get the bulk carrier to within 200 yards of shore at one point.

The collision occurred at 5:15 p.m. EDT in rain and fog. The tug, about 12 miles away, went to the scene after hearing a distress call.

About 20 minutes after it got there, the locked Lecliff Hall and the Apollonia were parted. Capt. Fiander said the Apollonia didn't join with the tug in any concerted effort to get the Lecliff Hall ashore.

The Apollonia appeared to him to leave at once for Quebec City. The $6,000,000 vessel is still in drydock here for bow repairs.

Capt. Fiander testified that the Lecliff Hall was being towed off Cape Goose, 65 miles northeast of here, when it suddenly went down with a long, thunderous roar.

SAW MEN JUMPING

He said he could see men jumping from the stern and in the next 90 minutes rescued six of them from the dark, foggy waters.

A search for three others had to be given up to get a seriously injured man ashore for medical help.

Disbandment or relocation of several Eastern Townships Militia units will result from the most sweeping reorganization of the Canadian militia in the post-war years, details of which were announced by Defence Minister Paul Hellyer in Ottawa yesterday.

Under the streamlining plan, designed to abolish 58 major reserve units and 15 minor ones, all militia group headquarters dental units and manning depots will be eliminated.

Although not specifically mentioned in Mr. Hellyer's statement, it is apparent that 9 Militia Group Headquarters located at Sherbrooke, will disappear under the plan.

Merged into a single unit are the Sherbrooke Regiment and the 7/11 Hussars, whose headquarters are at Richmond with squadrons located at Asbestos, Windsor Mills and Bury. The merged group will be an armored reconnaissance unit located at Sherbrooke.

Some uncertainty exists as to the exact fate of B Squadron, 7/11 Hussars, located at Windsor. While the main statement issued by the Defence Minister announced the merging of the 7/11 with the Sherbrooke Regiment, a supplementary list of disbandments and transfers states that B Squadron will be moved to Sherbrooke.

Pending the receipt of detailed instructions from Ottawa, expected within a few days, it is assumed the specific mention of B Squadron on the supplementary list resulted from a clerical error.

Other Sherbrooke units placed on the inactive list are: 125 Company Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and 24 Technical Squadron, RCEME.

Other changes affecting Eastern Townships units are:

Asbestos: 58 Field Squadron, inactive.

Drummondville: 101 Provost Platoon, inactive.

Granby: C Company, 4th Battalion, Royal 22nd, to St. Jerome.

Magog: D Company, Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, to Sherbrooke.

Mr. Hellyer estimated that $8,700,000 will be saved annually as a result of the militia reorganization.

The changes reduced the number of major infantry units to 51 from 60; the number of armored regiments to 20 from 26; and the number of artillery formations to 26 from 44.

Manpower strength of the militia will be cut to 30,000 from 45,000.

All infantry regiments being disbanded have a strength of fewer than 200 personnel.

WEATHER

Sunny today; Thursday sunny becoming cloudy in the evening and a little milder; light winds. High today and low tonight at Sherbrooke 50 and 30. Summary for Thursday: Mainly sunny, a little milder.

USA goes LBJ all the way

THE LONG AFTERNOON — Casting an occasional upward glance, Sen. Hubert Humphrey puttered about the grounds surrounding his Waverly, Minnesota, residence while the American nation voted, eventually to elect him as vice president in a massive Lyndon B. Johnson landslide. (AP Wirephoto)

KENNEDY AND WIFE AT VICTORY RALLY — Robert F. Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, wove to crowd in a New York hotel last night as they arrived after he was elected U.S. senator from New York. Kennedy defeated incumbent Republican Kenneth B. Keating in his first try for elective office. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (AP) — American voters gave Lyndon Baines Johnson a massive vote of confidence in Tuesday's election, decisively rejecting the Republican right wing of Senator Barry Goldwater.

The 56-year-old president was sent back for a four-year term to the White House he inherited almost a year ago on the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

A Texan, he was the first southerner to be elected to the presidency since Zachary Taylor of Virginia 116 years ago.

The landslide victory that Johnson had pleaded and fought for apparently carried over into the congressional races to some extent, promising a smoother path for the president's legislative plans.

Victors re-unite Texas-style

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson planned a joyous Texas-style reunion with his election running-mate today, and asked all Americans to "bind up our wounds and to make this nation whole."

Vice-President Elect Hubert Humphrey and Mrs. Humphrey were to fly down from Minneapolis, where they spent Tuesday night, for a huge mid-day barbecue at the LBJ ranch on the banks of the Pedernales River.

Other than that relaxing feast the presidential plans were still unannounced.

Riding the wavecrest of votes that swamped Republican opponent Barry Goldwater, Johnson made an early morning appearance at the Municipal Auditorium in nearby Austin.

The main note he sounded, in a voice hoarse and soft, was that "there are many more things in America that unite us than divide us."

Win 'merited' Dief rejoices

OTTAWA (CP)—The sweeping victory of President Johnson in Tuesday's U.S. election is "well merited" and "the free world will rejoice," Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said in a prepared announcement issued by his office today.

"The re-election of President Johnson in the proportion of a sweeping victory reflects the deep instincts of the American people and is well merited. The American president has demonstrated his capacity in international affairs and the free world will rejoice in the renewal of his leadership."

"Canadians respect the free choice of the American people in their election, just as they expect the American people to respect and accept electoral verdicts in Canada."

"President Johnson's mandate is decisive. It inspires a confidence in him which I share along with a majority of the Canadian neighbors of the United States."

Early today, the Democrats seemed to be strengthening their control of the House of Representatives while at the same time holding on to their margin in the Senate.

REFUSED CHOICE

Goldwater had offered the voters a "choice, not an echo." They turned down the choice.

In effect, they turned down Goldwater's plan to reverse the Democratic administration's policy of seeking more avenues of contact with the Communist world.

They rejected his view that racial integration cannot be promoted through legislation, such as the Civil Rights Act passed earlier this year.

And they turned down his thesis that the federal government is getting too powerful and that some of that power should be turned back to the states.

The liberal tone of the victory was heightened by the fact that the new vice-president elect, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, is considered one of the country's leading liberals.

There were a few bright spots for the Republicans.

ROMNEY HELD ON

George Romney, a leader of the moderates who had refused to back Goldwater, retained the governorship of Michigan even as Johnson's landslide was rolling across the state.

Robert Taft, Jr., grandson of a president and son of a senator, ousted 75-year-old Democratic Senator Stephen M. Young in Ohio.

In California, former actor George Murphy defeated Democratic Senator Pierre Salinger, the former White House press secretary who was appointed to fill a vacant Senate seat earlier this year.

Romney, 57-year-old former head of American Motors, and Taft, 47-year-old veteran of Ohio politics and the U.S. House of Representatives, both emerged from the election with considerably stronger positions within the party. Both have been talked of as possible future presidential candidates.

But it was a different story in New York State where one of the leading Republican moderates, Kenneth B. Keating, 62, lost his Senate seat to 38-year-old Robert F. Kennedy.

Kennedy's victory made him the third brother of the family to sit in the Senate.

New Republican heroes emerge after rout of the Goldwater men

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the wake of Senator Barry Goldwater's stunning defeat, the battered ranks of Republicans yielded a new set of heroes today.

Each walked his own careful election campaign path and each won a personal victory against great odds in Tuesday's voting.

From their ranks could come the Republican presidential nominee for 1968.

In Michigan, Governor George Romney bucked the Democratic tide to win another term. He had accepted his party's choice of Goldwater as presidential candidate, but withheld endorsement.

In California, former Hollywood movie actor and dancer George Murphy, stepped lightly over Pierre Salinger to win a U.S. Senate seat. (Murphy backed Goldwater but reserved the right to differ with him on such issues as civil rights and once refused to be photographed with Goldwater.)

By contrast, the Republican fallen included some notable Goldwater supporters.

In Arizona, Republican Richard Kleindienst, strong Goldwater supporter, in his bid for governorship was beaten by Democrat Sam Gaddard.

In Maryland, incumbent Senator J. Glenn Beall had put off Goldwater endorsement — but late in the campaign, on a Goldwater visit to Maryland, the Arizona warmly endorsed Beall, and Beall reciprocated. Beall lost his Senate seat to the bid of Joseph Tydings.

Even Republicans lukewarm to Goldwater or opposed to him had to face the anti-Goldwater, pro-Johnson tide.

In New York, veteran Senator Kenneth B. Keating who refused to support Goldwater, failed before the challenge of Robert F. Kennedy.

Disunity aided GOP loss — Miller

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP)—William E. Miller said lack of party unity contributed to the crushing defeat he and his Republican party running-mate, Barry Goldwater, suffered in Tuesday's U.S. election.

He said the refusal of many state and local Republican candidates to support the national party ticket tended to "weaken the Republican position from top to bottom."

However, Miller, vice-presidential nominee, said he would make no official statement on President Johnson's landslide victory until after word from Goldwater, the presidential candidate.

Resembles early New Deal days

LBJ's Congress snugly Democratic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mighty Democratic Dixieland of Alabama and Mississippi. But, President Johnson a heavily Democratic Congress that seems so snug behind his program it may evoke memories of those early New Deal congresses that whisked through the proposals of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The new Congress also will feature names that come from the past but may augur power in the future—Democrat Robert F. Kennedy who took away a New York Senate seat from a Republican and Republican Robert Taft Jr. who took away an Ohio Senate seat from a Democrat.

The creation of a House of Representatives that seemed to shed most of its obstacles to a Johnson program came despite some spectacular Republican gains.

Joining Kennedy in the Senate was another young man who swept a Republican incumbent out of office—36-year-old Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland, a close friend of the Kennedy family and the stepson of former Maryland Senator Millard Tydings.

Kennedy, Tydings and Senator Edward M. Kennedy (Dem. Mass.), the 32-year-old youngest brother of the late president who easily won re-election, could form a new, powerful Kennedy wing both in the Senate and in the Democratic party.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Peggy Cass, the blonde on the To Tell the Truth panel show, was not in top guessing form Monday night. In three tries, she missed the non-lying contestants three times.

It is not, however, a statistic that worries her. Almost from the beginning of the program, Boston-born Peggy has been a regular on the show which for several seasons has started CBS' powerful Monday night television comedy line-up. Her long weevy is based on the sparkle she injects into the panel and for the enormous fund of ex-traneous information she has stored away — locations of obscure Irish pubs, names of German castles and champions in obscure sports.

A lot of viewers have forgotten that Peggy, a serious actress, got her TV start as one of Jack Paar's favorite Tonight guests.

She would prefer that they forget that she once co-starred with a family of trained chimpanzees in a short-lived comedy series called The Hathaways.

"I haven't been able to force myself to go to a zoo since wevity is based on the sparkle she injects into the panel and for the enormous fund of ex-traneous information she has stored away — locations of obscure Irish pubs, names of Ger-

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Samuel Goldwyn has sent this department a volume which contains facts and photographs of the 56 major films of his post-talkie period.

Goldwyn seldom does anything without a purpose, and the book is aimed at merchandizing his movies to television. Commercialism aside, the book offers a pleasant occasion for the veteran and inveterate movie-goer to stroll down Nostalgia Alley.

Ah, what movies they were! And what a rich and diverse product was gifted with the Goldwyn touch over the years. Personally, I preferred the more serious Goldwyn. His best achievement seemed to be in the dramas, often in collaboration with William Wyler.

The prime attraction was The Best Years of Our Lives, which somehow captured what most former soldiers and sailors were feeling after the war. And there were other Goldwyn-Wyler classics, too—Wuthering Heights, The Little Foxes, Deadend, These Three.

Others of my favorites included The Hurricane, directed by John Ford; My Foolish Heart, Mark Robson; The Pride of the Yankees, Sam Wood; Stella Dallas, King Vidor.

PICKED TOP DIRECTORS

Sam always picked — and sometimes fought with — good directors.

The Goldwyn musical comedies always seemed to have a Ziegfeldian touch — gorgeously mounted, employing the best talent, but lacking in the rare breath of spontaneity that makes such entertainments complete delights.

Most of the Goldwyn entertainments employed three towering talents: Eddie Cantor in the early talkies of 1930s, Bob Hope and Danny Kaye in the 1940s.

Goldwyn has bravely included his biggest mistake in the 50. In 1934 he was convinced that Anna Sten would become a brilliant "star." He gave her the glamor treatment in Nana with Phillips Holmes and the Wedding Night with Gary Cooper.

The public reacted to Miss Sten with overwhelming apathy. "That's when I learned," the producer said later, "that a producer does not create a star; the public does."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Who was the greatest star of western movies?

It's like asking who was the best all-time boxing champion. It can stir up a storm of argument among advocates of Bronco Billy Anderson, Bill Hart, Tim McCoy, Buck Jones, Hoot Gibson, and others.

There remains a hard core of Bob Steele fans who claim their hero was the best rider, actor, fighter and the fastest draw of them all. They will be pleased to know that after 40 years in films, Bob is just as hard-muscled and flint-eyed as ever.

He has never really left the movie business, though sometimes it has left him. Right now he is appearing in a pair of westerns for producer Alex Gordon, doing a brief role in he-

To have crossing guard

West Ward Alderman Antonio Pinaud said last night that he will recommend that a crossing guard be delegated to the McManamy-Fairmount intersection, near Lawrence School.

At Monday night's council meeting the city had decided to delegate guards to four other city intersections but had ruled against putting one at the McManamy-Fairmount Corner.

In this decision the location of the corner had been confused with another, said Alderman Pinaud.

The crossing guard at the corner had been recommended by the West Ward safety representative of the Sherbrooke Home and School Association.

Sherbrooke to set up permanent tourism committee

ET LEGION BRANCHES PREPARE FOR ANNUAL POPPY CAMPAIGN

TO SELL POPPIES — The East Angus branch No. 25 of the Canadian Legion will be selling poppies Thursday,

Friday and Saturday. Above, R. Dolbec, left, chairman of the branch's poppy committee, pins the first poppy on East deau's lapel while Henri Mailhot, left, president of the Sherbrooke Legion branch, looks on yesterday. The Legion's campaign to sell poppies in Sherbrooke will start tomorrow. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Mayor Armand Nadeau yesterday outlined plans to set up a permanent tourism committee for Sherbrooke. The committee will discuss ways of publicizing and promoting tourist, industrial and commercial development of the city, he said.

It will study ways of taking advantage of the soon-to-be-completed Eastern Township Autoroute and the 1967 Montreal world's fair.

The committee, is to be regional in character, said Mayor Nadeau. Its work will be to promote not only Sherbrooke, but the Eastern Townships at large.

A meeting will be held next week to discuss the setting up of the committee, he said.

Business and industrial groups that are active in the promotion of the city will be invited to send representatives.

The organizations Mayor Nadeau named are the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Businessmen's Association, and the retail merchants, hotel operators and manufacturer's associations.

These groups are each being asked to send one representative to this meeting in order to draw up a constitution for the permanent committee.

The city will be represented by Mayor Nadeau and Alderman Robert Gauthier, chairman of the tourism committee.

Specifically the permanent committee will amplify the tourism study made this year by the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber presented a tourism brief to city council in September, in which it recommended the expansion of tourist bureau facilities.

The brief suggested that tourist development should be planned by experienced men. The staff of the city tourism department should thus be increased by the hiring of experts in the field.

The Chamber's report foresaw an increase in tourism for two reasons: the influx of tourists for the 1967 Montreal World's Fair and, more generally, the increase of leisure time in society.

The brief said that the effects of Expo 67 on Sherbrooke will be increased by the autoroute.

Recreation drive opens

RICHMOND — (Special) — Dr. Jean Smith, chairman of the Board of Recreation, Inc. of Richmond announces the annual subscription campaign for funds has begun. Accompanied by Andre Giguere, Secretary and Stanley Bushey, vice-president, Dr. Smith accepted a contribution from Mayor George Savoie to officially open the campaign.

Dr. Smith said that local industrialists, merchants and other businessmen will receive letters about this campaign and what its goal is. The Board of Recreation, Inc. members alone will do the campaigning.

Armistice celebrations are being observed mainly on Sunday, November 8th this year, and in Sherbrooke, the Canadian Legion Branch No. 10 directed service will follow the same pattern as in past years.

Scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. with a memorial service in the William Street Armoury, memorial service at the King Street cenotaph is slated to commence at 3:15 p.m.

Duty unit this year is Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke RCIC, who alternate annually with the Sherbrooke Regiment RCAC.

Training has begun for the new training year by Bishop's University C.O.T.C. Contingent, headed by Major C. H. Barlow, assisted by Capt. Grant Garneau, who was formerly with the 7th Hussars, RCAC, and before that with The Sherbrooke Regiment, RCAC. Capt. Garneau replaces Capt. Gerry Vallée, who is now with the University of Ottawa.

Capt. Gerry Arnold, RCOC, is serving again this year as resident staff. Training this year will again be on the tri-service basis.

Two of last year's C.O.T.C. graduates, Lieutenants C. Aspin and A. Butler are being transferred to The Sherbrooke Regiment, while 2/Lt. R. Curry has been placed on supplementary reserve.

Three new ROPT cadets have joined the Bishop's Contingent this season. Third year cadets are to be given lecturing opportunities for experience.

Persons wishing to have reservations for the 4th Annual Gathering of the Clans party on November 14th at the William Street Armoury, should apply for them early. The 24 Technical Squadron organized event will undoubtedly be its usual success.

The streets paved are as follows: Speid, Vaudry, Deacon, Hunting, Meade, Glendale, Maple and Downs. The work was done by Goyette et Fils. The total estimate of the cost of the project was $76,028.36.

A truck will be provided for removal of garbage from the property of Dr. Marcel A. Pellerin, Medical Veterinarian, of Lennoxville, it was learned at the meeting of the council last Monday. He was assured that the truck would be made available to him once a month by the town for the service.

Says 40% of Canada's blindness is caused by ignorance, neglect

"Forty per cent of the blind in Canada are blind because of ignorance, neglect, and want of proper medical care, said Lloyd McClintock, of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Montreal, who last night addressed the weekly meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

"We use all our natural resources, but we are wasting a vast human resource, the most important resource of all. It is up to you, gentlemen, to see if you can place any blind or handicapped persons on your staff."

"Five people go blind in Canada every day. That is about 2,000 a year. If you figure it out mathematically, that means 800 hundred people go blind, needlessly, every year," said Mr. McClintock.

He said, "these figures are impressive, and the welfare of fellow citizens is part of everyone's responsibility. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is very effective, but we need the capable, energetic assistance of every man, woman and child in this country."

"For years much has been done to help the blind, but more must be done to prevent blindness," he pointed out.

"The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is not a charitable organization as such, but is a rehabilitation service, business to send that person to the CNIB," Mr. McClintock said.

He ended his speech on an optimistic note, saying, "Although the prime aim of the CNIB is not research, we are starting on a research program."

He added that new developments are always going on and that a synthetic cornea was being perfected in Los Angeles. This artificial cornea will also contain crystals which will replace the need for contact lenses.

"While someone's blindness is not your business, it is your business to send that person to the CNIB," Mr. McClintock said.

Gerin-Lajoie to visit the region

As part of his campaign in support of Operation 55, which envisages the establishment of 55 regional school boards throughout the province, Education Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie will visit a number of Eastern Townships centres over the coming week-end.

Michel Marengo, chairman of the provisional committee for the establishment of a regional board in the Sherbrooke area, announced yesterday that Mr. Gerin-Lajoie will address a meeting at Richmond Friday night and at Sherbrooke Saturday night.

The minister also plans a rally at Lake Mégantic although the time for this meeting has not been set.

Representatives of the school boards and of other organizations are invited to attend the discussions which will deal with education, schools, the system of instruction, regionalization and other related problems.

The time and place of the meetings will be announced later in the week, Mr. Marengo said.

Members of district school boards, both Roman Catholic and Protestant, of the Richmond area, parents and all others interested in educational problems, have been invited to a meeting to be held in Notre Dame School, Adam Street, Richmond, on Friday evening at 8:30 at which Mr. Paul Gerin-Lajoie will speak.

Canada welcomes Johnson victory

Canada, linked so closely with the United States by human and economic ties, had a vital interest in yesterday's presidential election which saw Lyndon B. Johnson returned to the White House for the next four years. And there will be general satisfaction that the administration of the Great Republic will be in the hands of Mr. Johnson rather than Senator Barry Goldwater.

During his eleven months as head of the administration in Washington, President Johnson has displayed a sympathetic understanding of the problems involved in United States-Canada relations.

This was evidenced in his rejection of a number of bills designed to restrict Canadian exports to the United States, measures which would have had a devastating effect on important segments of the Dominion's economy.

He is pledged to continue the late President Kennedy's program of expanding world trade through the easing of tariff restrictions.

Although Senator Goldwater personally said little or nothing of his intentions concerning future trade between Canada and the United States, important elements within the Republican party declared they were strongly in favor of restricting any imports that threatened the jobs of American workers or the profits of its industries.

With negotiations ahead on such critical issues as the Canadian automotive parts plan, petroleum imports and power development it will be reassuring to the people of this country that the affairs of the United States will be in the hands of a man pledged to the principle of co-operation in freeing the shackles on international trade.

And like the other nations of the free world, Canada will be relieved that the United States will be guided by a spirit of moderation in search of world peace, rather than be directed by a man whose own speeches indicated an irresponsibility as to the possible results of his ill-considered actions.

More Canadian politicians red-faced

Announcement that the British and French governments plan to "review" the Concorde project, whereby the two governments would co-operate in the development of a supersonic plane as a competitor for speedy aircraft now being promoted in the United States, recalls a political near-crisis in this country only two short years ago over the failure of Air Canada to commit itself to the purchase of a number of these aircraft.

Certain super-nationalist elements in this province read into the refusal of Air Canada officials to adopt the plane an indication of their dislike of the people of Quebec. The fury rose to the fever point when Air Canada president declared the decision to go along with the United States aircraft had nothing to do with language problems but rather that his engineers had grave misgivings about some of the mechanical features of the Concorde.

Some of his critics went as far as to demand his replacement as head of the state-owned air lines.

But now it appears that the British and French governments have lost a lot of their enthusiasm for their pet project.

Preliminary development costs have so exceeded original estimates that it is apparent the Concorde is an economic impossibility and can be justified only on political grounds. And even the politicians are becoming convinced the price is too high.

Canadian politicians have a tendency to transfer outside problems to this country — and often end up with decidedly red faces.

The Concorde affair joins the argument over British entry into the European Common Market as a warning to party leaders to confine their arguments to matters directly concerning Canada.

Device helps telephone privacy

A Vancouver man, who describes himself as an amateur gadgeteer rather than a professional inventor, has come up with a device that may bring him a small fortune and universal acclaim.

He claims to have developed a device that will prevent eavesdropping on telephone conversations. Using high frequency waves, the gadget neutralizes those induction systems by which telephone calls can be overheard at a distance of five hundred feet from the phone circuit. But it will not interfere with recording devices attached to the telephone instruments themselves.

Electronic eavesdroppers which have been appearing with increased frequency during the past few years are a distinct threat to the privacy of the individual and may be used by unscrupulous persons as a means of blackmail.

Any device designed to assure the citizen of his inherent rights to keep his business to himself deserves encouragement.

Which brings up another subject. What about those portable transistor radios which plague transport vehicles and other public places?

Maybe the gadgeteer can develop something to eliminate these annoyances.

Youthful outlook, political winner

In 1957 and 1958 the Conservatives were younger in their outlook than the Liberals. It helped them win. By 1962 the Liberals, full of lavish promises and the reports of their Kingston Conference in 1960, had again put on the white raiment of youth and virtue and in 1963 they were back in power in Ottawa.

These experiences support the theme that the party which depends on traditional policies is lost. The 1964 Fredericton Conference on

(The Ottawa Journal)

Canadian goals, organized by the Conservatives, heard the opinion of experts on communications that the politicians, whatever their party, are totally out of touch with the generation which will have votes in the next few years.

The Conservatives benefit from their meeting with intellectuals and scientists at Fredericton. They prove they are not sunk in blind self-esteem. What they benefit from just as much is the evidence of independent thought among young men in the party such as Mr. G. Hogan, the Toronto car dealer who has written a book, and Mr. Gowan Guest, the Toronto lawyer who led a tough study-group inquiry into the way Canadians want to live and their views on government.

What the Liberals will put up to match these young Conservatives' work is awaited with interest. Certainly Mr. Paul Martin's soothing balm and Mr. Walter Gordon's waffling will win few votes among the restless, inquiring youngsters who think the old leaders have made Canada miss the boat.

The Gunpowder Plot, an attempt to blow up the British Houses of Parliament and kill King James I failed, 359 years ago today — in 1605. A number of Roman Catholics planned to destroy the seat of British government and the legislators in protest against repressive measures instituted against their faith at Parliament's opening on Nov. 5. But the day before, Guy Fawkes was found in the cellars with 36 barrels of gunpowder which he planned to ignite. Food payments for loans

US business gets food for thought with Food for Peace Program

By TOM NOLAN

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Many American businessmen view the newly approved, two-year extension of the massive Food for Peace Program as a green light for expansion abroad.

The bill—part of President Johnson's "must" list of legislation—authorizes $3.5 billion in sales and grants of U.S. farm surpluses to more than 100 underdeveloped free countries.

Originally conceived 10 years ago as a method of disposing of the rapidly increasing American farm surpluses and for feeding the world's hungry, the Food for Peace Program in some cases is now substituting food for dollar foreign aid.

Many legislators call it a major foreign policy tool. How it works:

Needy and dollar short countries pay for the commodities in foreign currencies. This money is then turned around to:

- Finance expenses of U.S. agencies, such as Agency for International Development (AID) and U.S. Information Agency (USIA), operating in the recipient country.
- Develop new markets for American agricultural products.
- Speed economic growth in the recipient country through loans to the foreign governments.
- Encourage development by private means through loans to U.S. businesses operating abroad and to expansion-minded foreign firms.

To facilitate the accomplishment of this last objective, Congress has broadened the provisions of the so-called "Cooley" amendment—named for its sponsor, Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C.

The Cooley amendment originally set aside up to 25 per cent of the foreign currencies received for the purpose of making loans to U.S. and foreign businesses. These loans are administered by AID.

But since 1957, only 7 per cent—not 25—of the revenue from farm surplus sales has been authorized for Cooley loans. And less than half of this amount has actually been loaned out.

In contrast, 63 per cent has been loaned or granted to foreign governments during this time — 18 per cent in grants and 45 per cent in loans.

In some countries, notably Brazil, no funds have been reserved for Cooley loans.

In other countries, such as Turkey and India, AID in the past ruled that Cooley loans would be made available only for fixed investments and not for working capital arrangements. For example, they could be used to streamline production techniques, but not to pay salaries.

"This is not what Congress intended," says Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., ranking minority member of the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee.

"It does no good to make a loan to a private operator to construct a plant and lend the money to him at 6 per cent if he must then go out and pay 30 to 40 per cent for the capital required to operate the plant."

An AID spokesman claimed that it was necessary to apply the restriction because the demands on available funds in some countries were much greater than the supply. Only by eliminating their use as working capital he says, could a reasonable number of loan applications be approved.

Yet in Turkey, as of June 30, 1964, Congress learned that some $9.2 million worth of Turkish currency was on hand to supply loan applications of $2.1 million.

Scoring the "making of loans on a restricted basis," both the House and Senate voted to eliminate the 25 per cent ceiling on Cooley funds. The law now reads: "Current currencies shall also be available to the maximum usable extent" for Cooley loans.

It flatly orders AID to take whatever steps are necessary to provide the funds needed to satisfy all loans requests which are likely to bring about "business development and trade expansion." The agency, however, must have reasonable assurance the loan will be repaid.

Elsewhere, the law specifically requires AID to establish an adequate reserve of funds to meet anticipated requirements — both for fixed investments and for working capital.

Quarrel shifting alliances

NEW DELHI (AP) — Foreign policy alignments are shifting in this part of the world because of the quarrel between Malaysia and Indonesia.

Prime Minister Shastri's Indian government, usually reluctant to enter someone's arguments, has made strong statements of support for Malaysia. Neighboring Pakistan, though avoiding a firm public stand, appears to be anxiously courting friends among the Indonesians.

Shastri made his first move by raising the Malaysian-Indonesian quarrel in a speech to Parliament. Obviously referring to the landing of Indonesian paratroops in Malaysia, Shastri told the House:

"It would be unfortunate if the sovereignty of Malaysia were disturbed by the use of force."

Later he said: "We want that the independence and sovereignty of Malaysia should be preserved."

Meanwhile, President Ayub Khan of Pakistan was receiving Indonesian President Sukarno—once a frequent visitor to India—who stopped off in Karachi en route to Europe.

Sukarno informed reporters that Ayub told him he wants the conflict with Malaysia resolved peacefully through an African-Asian conciliation commission. Ayub did not go that far in his talks with reporters, saying merely it is too early to say anything about Pakistan mediation.

advises the distributor of its decision. He almost invariably volunteers to take the offending book from the shelves.

Although this method may be convenient for distributors with warehouses full of books and not enough time to read them, Mr. Coon is concerned that they may think of the committee as the absolute authority.

"They should always read the book themselves and make up their own minds," he says.

The committee only once came close to banning a recognized novel — William Burroughs' "Naked Lunch."

"We finally came to a split decision that even this book is not obscene," says Mr. Coon. "It's probably one of the most shocking, revolting and disgusting of books for a reason: not to unduly exploit sex but to put across an issue which is justified in the author's mind and which he felt had to be written. It simply is not obscene."

The most important part of the panel's duties is, in fact, to deal with books by recognized authors that come under fire—The Carpetbaggers, The One Hundred Dollar Misunderstanding, Tropic of Cancer, Tropic of Capricorn—they're all there and not one has been found obscene, not even the bawdy and ribald "memoirs" of the 17th century harlot Fanny Hill.

MEET FEW OBJECTIONS

The standard definition for obscenity is section 150, subsection 8 of the Criminal Code which states, "For the purpose of this section any publication of the dominant characteristic of which is the undue exploitation of sex or of sex and any other of the following: crime, horror, cruelty and violence, shall be deemed to be obscene."

The committee decides what is undue exploitation and then

Career threatened

Diplomat is dad Sarah says

By AARON R. EINFRAK

UNITED NATIONS — (TNS) — The leading candidate for the presidency of the U.N. General Assembly is being dubbed by diplomatic pundits as "U.N. Father of the Year" because of a paternity suit brought against him by an attractive New York redhead.

The candidate is Ambassador Omar Adeel of the Sudan whom 28 year old concert singer Sarah Lake says is the father of her seven pound baby boy born here recently.

According to Miss Lake, Adeel lived up to his name until she got pregnant which made him no longer willing to share a jug of wine and loaf of bread with her.

Adeel, says Miss Lake, then fled behind a cloak of diplomatic immunity which apparently was not in vogue when poet Omar Khayyam was writing his love poetry.

So far bachelor Adeel has successfully used the diplomatic immunity gimmick to avoid paying the $250.00 in weekly support charges that Miss Lake is asking for her child.

In the initial court confrontation last month, Family Court Judge Louis Pagnucco ruled that Adeel's diplomatic immunity could not be broached because such immunity was important due to the "national and international need to avoid impediments to effective diplomatic intercourse."

Miss Lake is appealing Judge Pagnucco's decision. The dapper, baby-faced Adeel is the front-runner in the race for the Assembly presidency, the highest elective office in the UN hierarchy, which was held by Canada's Lester Pearson.

Miss Lake, who bore her child as a charity patient in a New York hospital, says she is penniless. She claims she had been intimate with the woolly-haired Sudanese Ambassador between December 7 and April 16.

In an interview in the hospital, Miss Lake said: "While I am lying here with the whole future looking dim and uncertain, the father of my baby lives in a penthouse in Washington Square Village (a posh housing development in Greenwich Village). And to think I didn't even have the price of baby clothes!"

Miss Lake, who is white, added: "When I came to the hospital here, I had four dollars in my pocket, all the money I had in this world. 'Meantime Omar is hiding behind a legal wall that protects him and makes him immune from his responsibilities. The 41 year old Adeel has had a meteoric career at the UN where he headed several important committees. He became Ambassador in 1959, at the unusually young age of 35.

The fun loving Afro-Asian delegates, who are noted for their "wine women and song" tendencies, have had their scandals before. But this is the first time that one of them has been involved in legal trouble while shooting for an important UN position.

Adeel's nearest competitors for the top UN job are Liberia's Nathan Barnes and Ghana's Alex Gausson-Sackey. All three men are negroes because this is the year for the Assembly to choose a black African.

Barnes has been regarded as too pro-West while Gausson-Sackey has been thought to be too leftist. Adeel seemed to be the ideal happy medium.

Mr Coon originally had seven copies of Fanny Hill in his possession. He sent three to his colleagues and gave two to "high officials" in the government. Then a county court judge asked for one and finally the then attorney-general, Fred Cass, felt he should perhaps read the book.

"I don't know what ever happened to all those books," he said, "but I'm probably the only person in the country who hasn't got one."

One of the great advantages of the committee, says Mr. Coon, is that it helps keep down the growth of citizens' groups which have the habit of trampling over other peoples' rights in their scramble to do good. "I'm one of those people who is very afraid of the vigilantes," says Mr. Coon. "When a group like that finds that they've got any power it's surprising what they'll start to do away with. They'll start off with Playboy and end up with Plato's Republic because in their eyes it's all dirt and it's all the sort of stuff children shouldn't be allowed to read."

"If the day ever comes along when our libraries and book stores are designed around what is fit for children, then I don't think many of us would want to live in the province."

Curlers holding Open House at Cowansville

COWANSVILLE — The Curling Club is opening the fall season by holding Open House until Nov. 7. The club house, opened on Nov. 1, from 2 p.m. is also open each evening from 7 to 11 p.m., and today and tomorrow in the afternoons from 2 to 5 p.m.

The members extend an invitation to anyone interested in seeing how the game is played, also to participate if they so desire. There will be experienced players on hand to show the fundamentals of the game.

This is an opportunity for the town's people and outsiders to visit the beautiful club house and the officials hope as many as possible will take advantage of the offer.

Caouette attacks the CBC

By RONALD LABEL

OTTAWA (CP)—The French network of the CBC was accused of spreading subversive ideas and of indecency in the Commons Tuesday by two Quebec MPs.

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette said the government should purge Radio-Canada of supervisory personnel who fill the airwaves with Communist, socialist, separatist and terrorist ideas.

Theogene Ricard (PC—St. Hyacinthe-Bagot) said some Radio-Canada dramas are "absolutely indecent... an invitation to misbehave."

They spoke as debate on a $740,000,000 interim supply measure rolled on for the eighth straight day. The resolution preceding the bill was passed just before adjournment and today debate continues on second reading stage.

Unless the bill is passed within a week, the government will be unable to pay ordinary expenses and a general election would become virtually inevitable.

Most of Tuesday's speakers were Conservatives, who ranged over such issues as the flag, federal-provincial relations, biculturalism and broadcasting.

Called Subversive

Mr. Caouette said Radio-Canada should reflect Canada as it really is, but instead disproportionate time was given to subversive elements in news and public affairs programs.

Administrative positions in Montreal had been infiltrated by socialists, Communists and separatists, he charged. A "clean sweep" was imperative to protect the interests of Canadians.

Mr. Ricard said pro-Liberal slanting of news and commentaries and political patronage are rampant at Radio-Canada. Conservative speakers attacked the whole 18-month record of the Pearson government.

Robert C. Coates (PC—Cumberland) said it is difficult to say how the country would vote if an election were held tomorrow.

There were too many parties in the Commons and the provincial governments were extracting too much power from the Liberals.

"This government has been accident-prone since the day it took office," he said.

Dr. J. A. Scott discusses child care at Magog and Dist. H and S meeting

MAGOG — The Magog and District Home and School Association, now well into its new season of activities, held its second meeting of the new term at the Princess Elizabeth High School Oct. 20, when the guest speaker was Dr. J. A. Scott. His topic child care, covered attention to common colds; sleep and its importance; pin worms and their detection; eye sight; the effects of smoking and consumption of alcohol; foot care and isolation due to contagious diseases. Dr. Scott's talk was followed by a question - answer period.

An important feature of the address, was the stress placed on need for immunization, oral vaccine, tuberculosis tests and other precautionary steps recommended for safeguarding children's health.

Harry Donaldson thanked the speaker, and the meeting adjourned for refreshments.

1ST MEETING

In the first meeting of the season, held Sept. 22 at the same location, the Magog teaching staff was introduced to the association members by principal, Bertrand Hodge.

Information of the cafeteria's operation was described, Mrs. Neil Buzzell to again have charge of this department, with the assistance of a helper.

The committee heading up the school's cafeteria noted that due to increased cost of food, including milk, it was necessary to raise charges for meals this year, from 25 to 30 cents. Last year's expenses in the cafeteria were $6,000. The committee asked for donations of fruit and vegetables from anyone wishing to help in the cafeteria's operation. They also thank all who contributed in the past.

The committee noted that free meals are regularly given to needy children. However, the number of meals that can be donated depends on the amount of funds available.

Mrs. J. Cochrane, chairman of the cafeteria committee, told the meeting that 23,000 meals were served in the cafeteria last year.

Archie Juby, chairman of the programming committee, addressed the meeting, and promised most entertaining and interesting programs for this season.

Miss C. Cote, of Sherbrooke, will be guest speaker at the association's next meeting, scheduled for Nov. 17. Her subject will be interior decorating.

ISLAND BROOK

The United Church Women held a supper meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kerr, on Oct. 17 with a good number attending. Proceeds were gratifying. Donations to the birthday box were made. It was decided to hold another supper meeting next month.

Team Teaching is topic of guest speaker at Waterville H. and S.

WATERVILLE — J. Angrave, assistant professor of education at Bishop's University, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Compton — Waterville Home and School Association, held at the school on Oct. 26.

His topic was Team Teaching, a radical and complete change in teaching, in which two or more teachers work as a team.

Committee meets to outline plans for Visitation

STANSTEAD — The executive of Christ Church Partnership Executive committee was held on Oct. 30 at the home of the rector, Rev. R. W. Peirce, when plans were outlined for the forth coming Visitation to the congregation of Christ Anglican Church in November.

U. E. Cargill is general chairman.

The five basic goals are: that Every Person Visitation may develop a better understanding of Christian stewardship; to create a deeper concern for the whole work of the church; to encourage greater service on part of the members; to study the Scriptural teachings on the meaning of Christian stewardship; and to develop an active stewardship committee in every congregation.

With emphasis on, What does the church mean to us? names of people were suggested, to be approached by the executive committee to act on a general committee.

The tentative date of Nov. 22 was set for the Visitation, which will be preceded by a parish supper, served under convenship of the church Guild in the parish hall on Nov. 18. Two meetings are scheduled for the general committee, Nov. 9 and 16, both in the parish hall at 7:30 p.m.

Happy Gang meets at Border

STANSTEAD — Mrs. Goff Probyn was hostess for the Oct. 28, party of the Happy Gang, a guest, Mrs. Maynard Rollins, attending, to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Archie Mosher, who was presented with a gift of money.

The evening was spent in playing games, prize winners being Mrs. Bert Chamberlain, Mrs. Archie Mosher and Mrs. Tom Lees, a door prize going to Mrs. Pearl Williamson.

Names were drawn for the Christmas gift exchange, to be held at a party in early December at the home of Mrs. Mabel Crawford. Mrs. M. Chamberlain will be hostess for the Nov. 25 party.

Decorations were carried out in Halloween motif and the hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Arlene Probyn, in serving lunch, which included an attractively decorated birthday cake, made by Mrs. Probyn, and presented to Mrs. Mosher as the gang sang the Birthday song. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Mosher.

rather than the present system of one teacher being responsible for a class.

Independent study is emphasized with large and small group discussions. The method is being used this year in Grades eight and nine at Compton — Waterville. Compared to previous years, the interest and enthusiasm of pupils in these grades has increased 400 per cent, Mr. Angrave estimated. He also stated that the team teaching methods will be used in some elementary schools within two years.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. E. Vachon and thanked by Mrs. V. Packard.

At the business meeting school prizes were discussed. It was decided to give less for first and second proficiency prizes, the difference to be used for a class effort prize in each grade.

It was unanimously agreed that the membership fee be raised, the difference to be added to local funds.

Announcement was made of a food sale to be held at the S. C. P. Store on Nov. 20.

Arrangements were made for a trophy showcase to be made by B. Bailey, for the William Stiles Memorial Trophy for citizenship.

A report on the regional council meeting was heard. Plans were discussed for local pupils to attend a earlier night, sponsored by the Sherbrooke Regional Council on Nov. 22.

The judges for costumes of the U. N. I. C. E. F. parties are Mrs. Wm. Howes, D. Halchak and Rev. D. Buxton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Hyatt and Mr. and Mrs. N. Bessant will be the chaperones for a hootenanny, being held at the school on Nov. 6.

It was reported that pupils will be able to use the college rink, as in previous years. A rink for skating will be made at the school.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ben Smith and Mrs. M. Barter.

The Doctor Says

VACCINATION SCHEDULE CAN BEGIN AT TWO MONTHS

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

When should your child be vaccinated? The American Academy of Pediatrics makes the following recommendations:

Give the first dose of combined diphtheria-tetanus-whooping cough vaccine (triple vaccine) at about 2 months of age.

At 3 months give the second dose and the Sabin oral polio myelitis vaccine type I.

At 4 months give the third dose of the triple vaccine. At 4½ months give oral polio vaccine type III.

At 6 months give type II. At 8 months give smallpox vaccine.

At 9 months give measles, using the live vaccine with or without gamma globulin. Give typhoid-paratyphoid vaccine to a child only if an epidemic threatens.

At 1 year give a booster dose of the triple vaccine and boosters of this and other vaccines after that as advised by your doctor.

Some authorities believe that all the dates quoted above are too early in the life of the infant and that there is a better chance of giving your child a strong immunity if the schedule is not started until the child is 5 or 6 months old. Thus there is no single correct timetable for stimulating an effective immunity in your baby. The main thing is that once a plan has been agreed upon it should be adhered to faithfully.

The only restriction on grouping a number of shots at one sitting is that you should allow an interval of at least 6 weeks between the different types of oral polio vaccine and between oral polio and smallpox vaccines.

Q—Our 16-month-old daughter was given measles vaccine in her right hip. Six days later she developed a staph infection in her left hip. Could a contaminated vaccine needle have caused this? If not, what can I do to prevent this type of infection from occurring again?

A—Infection from a contaminated needle would occur first at the place where the injection was made. Under certain conditions it could spread from there to other parts of the body. It is sometimes difficult to prevent these infections because staphylococci are everywhere. Since every superficial break in the skin or mucous membrane offers these germs a chance to gain a foothold, all such breaks should be treated promptly. They should be cleaned with a soap containing hexachlorophene then a sterile bandage should be applied. If the wound is deep or infection sets in despite these precautions, you should call your doctor.

THANK YOU

Citizens of Magog's Ward 4

Winning Monday's municipal election, and the Ward 4 aldermanic seat was indeed a great honor. In accepting my new office and the related responsibilities that belong to a councillor, I assure you that I am ready and anxious to meet the responsibilities that face me, and in fulfilling my duties, hope I shall benefit Magog and its people.

I also offer best wishes to my worthy opponent, former alderman Armand Pouliot, who served the City of Magog for twelve consecutive years as councillor. I appreciate the hard work he exerted for our community's good, and shall see that his efforts are continued and when possible extended on.

Gaston Huot

Councillor,
Ward Four, Magog

Thank You electors of MAGOG's Ward No. 2

ERNEST ST. JACQUES

Councillor for Magog Ward 2

Citizens of Magog's Ward Three...

I am using the medium of this newspaper to extend my message of appreciation to the English-speaking of MAGOG'S WARD THREE for the hearty support I gained in Monday's municipal election. The overwhelming majority I gained in this contest clearly indicates the trust that you have in me. Be assured, I shall make every endeavour to do justice to my office and uphold the confidence you have placed in me.

Friends honor Border lady at birthday party

ROCK ISLAND — On the occasion of her birthday Mrs. Adelaide Laberee, of Rock Island, was guest of honor at a delightfully arranged party held on Oct. 25, at the home of Mrs. James French.

The group spent a pleasant afternoon playing games and chatting and Mrs. Laberee was presented with gifts.

Afternoon tea included a birthday cake made and decorated by Mrs. Leslie Ellis, in white trimmed in red, with lighted candles.

Among those attending were Mrs. Charles Young and daughter, Debra, Mrs. Elmir Laplante, Newport, Mrs. Leslie Ellis, Graniteville, Mrs. Douglas Wing, Beebe, and others from the Boundary Villages.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice-President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey said today President Johnson had "truly touched the hearts of Americans."

In a televised appearance as the U.S. election returns showed Humphrey and Johnson winning the biggest plurality in American history, Humphrey said: "I want you to know that this is his (Johnson's) night... and also your victory, because he worked for you."

"This is a victory for the American people. And may I add this is a victory that has been participated in not just by Democrats..."

"There have literally been millions of people who were ordinarily of Republican persuasion... who saw fit to leave a party and to support the standard-bearer of another party who is the president of the United States. I want to thank those people."

Humphrey will visit Johnson at the president's ranch later today for a victory barbecue.

"We're going to board that plane, the Happy Warrior, and fly down to Texas to see that victorious warrior, President Johnson," he said.

Humphrey got in a shot at Johnson's opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential candidate.

"I realize this is not just a great victory of a party," he said. "And I really do regard it as a victory. I don't want to disturb anyone's sleep, but I do think it is a victory."

Goldwater retired Tuesday night, saying he would have no comment on the election returns until 10 a.m. MST today.

Taft turns the tide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — But he found his 75-year-old opponent a tough one who bucked a heavy tide of votes against Barry Goldwater in Ohio's election Tuesday and unseated Democratic Senator Stephen M. Young.

With nearly three-fourths of the returns in, Taft led 1,432,063 to 1,330,903.

For Taft it would be considered a personal victory. He had supported the Republican ticket from Goldwater down even though it had been a difficult and at times a delicate course for him.

Helping the big, 47-year-old Taft was the political magic of his own name in Ohio. The son of the late U.S. senator Robert A. Taft, known as Mr. Republican, had resorted to a curbstone campaigning in traditional midwest style.

Young tried this, too, but he moved with less speed than Taft, who generally shook hands, grinned and moved on. While he supported Goldwater, Taft made it clear where he differed with him. He stood firmly behind his 1964 vote for the Civil Rights Act which Goldwater voted against.

Taft, while he shot for Senate this year, had political observers early in the campaign spotting him as the Republican most likely to succeed in tying together the party's conservatives and moderates in a Goldwater defeat.

But Johnson's heavy Ohio vote failed to carry over to Young, who had accused Taft of riding on his father's name and that of his grandfather, one-time president William Howard Taft. Young even coined the phrase "Taft juniorism."

Taft used some of the methods his father followed except he has an easier, relaxed style. He worked the main streets, the stores, the factories and the steel mills.

Young tried this, too, but he moved with less speed than Taft, who generally shook hands, grinned and moved on. While he supported Goldwater, Taft made it clear where he differed with him. He stood firmly behind his 1964 vote for the Civil Rights Act which Goldwater voted against.

Taft, while he shot for Senate this year, had political observers early in the campaign spotting him as the Republican most likely to succeed in tying together the party's conservatives and moderates in a Goldwater defeat.

Anti-discrimination law erased in Calif.

WASHINGTON (AP) — California's fight against discrimination and segregation in housing is being erased by a new law.

The state constitutional amendment that wipes out California's present fair housing law and forbids any further legislation on the subject held a firm three to two margin in mounting returns.

It gives property owners the absolute right to accept or reject any buyers or renters.

In another vote involving the racial issue, Maryland extended a public accommodations law to require equal service for Negroes in motels, hotels and restaurants throughout the state. It previously applied only to the city of Baltimore and half of the state's 23 counties.

Proposals to legalize gambling were slapped down by voters in three states—California, Arkansas and Washington.

California voters in a busy day also approved a proposal to outlaw pay television and repealed a state law requiring railways to fill certain jobs on trains.

The railway train crew issue in California and other states is the centre of a bitter dispute between management, seeking to slash manpower, and unions trying to preserve jobs.

North Dakota and Arizona also repealed train crew laws.

New Hampshire voters apparently approved amendments to reappoint the state legislature, giving more weight to votes of urban residents.

But Florida voters thumbed down a reappointment amendment which had already been ruled inadequate by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Guest speaker explains Cuisenaire method at Waterville UCW meeting

WATERVILLE — Mrs. M. Knapp, of the Lennoxville High School staff, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the U.C.W. held in the church hall on Oct. 21.

The address was on the cuisenaire method of teaching arithmetic.

Guild sponsors successful event in Hatley hall

HATLEY — The Ladies' Guild of St. James Anglican Church held a successful meat pie dinner in the Guild Hall on Oct. 28, with a good attendance of school children and town people, several coming from Ayer's Cliff and Waterville.

Following the dinner a business meeting was held, when plans were made to sponsor a bean and casserole dinner at noon on Nov. 11, and to hold the Christmas sale of fancy articles, mystery packages and candy and a supper on Nov. 28, in the Guild Hall.

The men of the church are planning a 500 card party in the Guild Hall on Nov. 29 at 8 p.m.

metic, which Mrs. Knapp uses in her Grade one classroom.

A set of colored wooden blocks called rods, is used, each set comprising 240 pieces. These are cut from lengths of wood, one square centimeter in cross section and range in length from one to 10 centimeters, each different length being a certain color.

By free and directed play a child learns that a certain color represents a certain number and discovers and understands more than ever thought possible for such an age.

Though this system is used only in a few schools presently, it will soon be in use every where, Mrs. Knapp said.

Interesting color slides were shown of the pupils working with the rods.

Mrs. Knapp was thanked by Mrs. E. Fidler, Jr.

At the regular business meeting it was decided that the group will cater for the Jersey growers Club dinner on Nov. 7, with Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. H. S. Ball convening the event.

Letters of thanks were read for a gift sent for home missionary work and for a carton of clothing plus mailing funds, sent for overseas relief.

Mrs. K. Spafford conducted a devotional period, with Mrs. C. Burton at the piano for the hymn.

The time for talent money returns has been extended until December.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. William Ayer and Mrs. Ball, assisted by Miss Margaret Swanson and Mrs. Sam Hopper, who poured tea.

Rev. J. D. McCord guest speaker of Cowansville UCW

COWANSVILLE — The regular meeting of Unit F. of U.C.W. was held in the church parlors on Oct. 26, the worship service conducted by Mrs. Joan McClatchie.

After a short business meeting Rev. J. D. McCord, the guest speaker, was welcomed, his topic being the new study book for U.C.W., God and His Purpose. Several passages were read, followed by a discussion period.

A food sale between the members of Unit F. and their guests will take place at the next regular meeting to be held Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Rene Hauser and Mrs. Fred Royea.

Jim MacKinnon elected president at annual meeting of E.T.A.B.A., five teams enter basketball loop

A new slate of officers was elected at the annual meeting of the Eastern Townships Amateur Basketball Association held Monday evening. Jim MacKinnon, vice-president for the past two years, was named president, heading the 1964-1965 executive.

Other officers elected included, Dick Bean, moving into the vice-presidency from the position as secretary, with Bob Brown being elected to the position of secretary - treasurer. Referee-in-Chief is Roland Dewar, also nominated at this meeting.

Five teams have filed their entry with the league, seeking competition in the E.T.A.B.A. for the upcoming season. They include Bishop's Seconds, Moir's Independents, Dow, Loisirs Magog and Bean Clippers.

Gauls topple Pirates 6-4, second home win

ST. HYACINTHE — The Gauls, paced by Rene Beauregard with two goals, romped to a 6-4 win over the Verdun Pirates here last evening before 1,500 fans. It was St. Hyacinthe's second straight win on their home ice and moved them into a tie with Drummondville for third place in the standing.

Tomorrow evening the Gauls will square off against the Rockets in St. Hyacinthe while the Granby Vics will move into Sherbrooke to tangle with the up-and-coming Beavers. The outcome of these games could cause a shakeup in the standing. The Pirates are idle but play at home Friday when Drummondville pays them a visit.

The Gauls were out to make amends for the setback they received from the Pirates last Friday 3-1. They opened with a drive and potted two goals with three in the middle session before Verdun tallied their first two goals. In the final session Verdun got two while holding the Gauls to one.

Claude Vinet registered the first goal of the evening when he banged the disc by Donald Monette just after the half way mark in the initial period. Nelson Tremblay extended the lead towards the end of the frame to give the Gauls a 2-0 lead.

The Pirates held a slight edge in the firing department but Andre Binette held them off. In the second frame the Gauls kept up their drive and within three and half minutes of play had registered three goals for comfortable 5-0 lead. Beauregard potted two with Gosselin the other.

The Pirates kept battling and their efforts were finally rewarded when B. Doyle tallied and three minutes later Andy Bessette notched the other. This put the Pirates in a better position with the score 5-2. It completed the scoring for the period.

Colts' Lenny Moore has one record to credit already and seems well on way to another in NFL this year

NEW YORK (AP) — Lenny Moore isn't the strongest or the swiftest runner in the National Football League. The Baltimore Colts halfback averages an unspectacular four yards each time he carries the ball. He's not among the leading pass receivers, either.

But show him the end zone just ahead and he's a hard man to stop. "His legs are always pumping," says teammate Bob Boyd. "The deception he shows you is why so many tacklers miss him."

So far he has scored 13 touchdowns for 78 points, 10 more than Jim Bakken of St. Louis Cardinals. He has scored at least one touchdown by running in his last 10 games. That's the record he set. One more by a means against the Chicago Bears Sunday will equal the record of scoring in 11 consecutive games held by Elroy Hirsch of Los Angeles Rams and Buddy Dial of Pittsburgh Steelers, both star pass catchers.

The NFL's other record-breaker, Jimmy Brown of Cleveland Browns, is the other standout in the weekly individual statistics released by the league today. Brown became the first NFL player to gain more than 10,000 yards by rushing when he made 149 last Sunday against Pittsburgh. He has run 813 yards on 161 carries this year, a five-yard average, and 10,135 in his career.

Johnny Unitas of Baltimore continues as the No. 1 passer with 87 completions on 169 attempts for 51.5 per cent and a 9.16-yard average gain. Johnny Morris and Mike Ditka of Chicago Bears are one-two in pass receiving with 58 catches for Morris and 53 for Ditka.

St. Catharines dump Marlies in rough tilt

Hamilton Red Wings battled to a 2-2 tie with Oshawa Generals Tuesday night while St. Catharines Black Hawks literally fought their way to a 5-3 win over Toronto Marlboros in a game marred by 65 minutes in penalties.

The tie hoisted the Generals into a two-way tie with Toronto for second place at 12 points in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series while the Hawks' victory moved them into a three-way tie for fourth with Peterborough Petes and Montreal Junior Canadiens at seven points apiece.

Nick Libett gave Hamilton the tie-half way through the third period while captain Jimmy Peters got the other Red Wing goal. Bill Bannerman and Danny O'Shea scored for Generals in their fourth tie of the season.

Ken Laidlaw and Ken Hodge paced the St. Catharines attack with two goals apiece while Wayne Maki, brother of Chicago Black Hawks rightwinger, Chico Maki, fired the other.

Carl Winterstein, Barry Watson and Brit Selby scored for the Marlboros.

Aces back on winning streak, dump Hornets 8-2

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Aces scored five goals in six minutes midway through the third period Tuesday night to swamp Pittsburgh Hornets 8-2 in an American Hockey League game watched by 7,545 fans.

Quebec's attack was led by Cleland Mortonson with two goals and singles by Cecil Hoekstra, Jim Morrison, Red Berenson, Jean-Guy Gendron, John Hanna and Wayne Hicks.

Both Pittsburgh goals were scored by Claude Laforge, keeping the Hornets in the game for the first two periods before Aces went on a scoring spree.

Rookie Esposito fires winner as Hawks win

PUCK CHASERS — Chicago Black Hawks right winger Eric Nesterenko (15) has the edge on New York Rangers forward Dick Duff (9) as they vie for puck rebounding off boards in first period last night at Stadium in Chicago. (AP Wirephoto)

Three goals and two assists Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., now is showing that his value to the club has improved.

He triggered the winning goal Tuesday night as Chicago edged New York Rangers 2-1 before a slim gathering of 9,722 Hawks fans in the only game played. The victory moved Chicago into a fourth-place tie with the Blue-shirts.

Esposito fired what proved to be the margin of victory 15 seconds after Bobby Hull's eighth goal of the season broke a scoreless duel at 12:31 of the second period. Vic Hadfield scored for the Rangers in the third.

SENT HAWKS AHEAD

Hull blasted a 20-foot shot through a screen of players to beat Marcel Paille and Esposito quickly followed up, taking the puck with his back to the net and sending Chicago ahead 2-0 with a quick backhand.

Hawks goalie Glenn Hall, who made 32 saves as New York outshot Chicago 33-27, lost his bid for a shutout at 12:14 of the final period when Hadfield fired his third of the year.

Esposito now has four points on two goals and two assists, just one point short of his production last season when he was possibly a little awestruck upon reaching the NHL from St. Louis of the Central Pro League.

Little Leaguers receive trophies, event staged as part of club's Youth Movement being held now

Lennoxville Optimist Club were hosts last evening to the Yankees, their sponsored team in the Sher-Lenn Little League. The event was held at the Rolling Hills Motel and presided over by President Max Salvas.

Ted Anderson, president of the Sher-Lenn Little League was the guest speaker and used as his theme "Team Work and Sportsmanship".

The event was held as a part of the Club's Youth Movement Week and other features on the program include a visit to the Bell Telephone offices in Sherbrooke by the Lennoxville High School students Nov. 13, and a dance will be held the same evening at St. George's Church hall at which Mayor A. Mitchell will attend.

The Minor League, also sponsored by the club, will hold their closing banquet for the players on the evening of November 13th at 5:30. Trophies won by the players during the past season will be presented.

President Max Salvas welcomed the players, members of the club and guests. In his remarks he paid special tribute to Manager John Nichol and Coach Roger Lacasse for their splendid work with the players during the season. The thanks of all members were extended to those who had done so much in the Youth Movement of the club. Gifts of appreciation were presented to the manager and coach by President Salvas.

Trophies winners last evening were, Art Chamberlain, who won the Unity Lodge Trophy donated by No. 88, I.O.O.F., for the Most Valuable Player. The Trophy was presented by Thorn Cleveland. The Sid Hart Trophy for Rookie of the Year was won by Larry Dewing. Sid Hart made the presentation. Highest Batting Average Award was won by Robert Richardson. Art Lockley, secretary-treasurer of the Sher-Lenn Little League, made the presentation.

The Lindsay Majoury Award to the Most Aggressive Player was won by David Garard and was presented by Tony Disorio.

The Tom Hanson Trophy won by Peter Hartie and was presented by George Garard.

Players attending included, David Garard, Peter Ives, Bill Dorio, Larry Dewing, Jim Sayre, P. Smith, M. Clark, G. Smith, Steve Mitchell, Art Chamberlain, Jeff Hartie, Bill Zillman, Robert Richardson and M. Daly.

Seated at the head table with President Salvas were Art Lockley, John Nichol, Ted Anderson, George Garard and Thorn Cleveland.

Coach Jim Trimble reveals some of his strategy for Saturday's sudden-death game with Ottawa

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Jim Trimble has thrown down a challenge to Ottawa Rough Riders by revealing what strategy his Montreal Alouettes will use when the teams meet Saturday in their Eastern Football Conference sudden-death playoff at the capital.

Trimble said he will use only a few offensive plays—the ones that worked best during the season—and will have his backfield in perpetual motion.

"All four backs are going to be all over the place, and I don't care if Ottawa moves about it or not," he said Tuesday night. "They're going to have a tough time defending them."

The backs are George Dixon, Nat (Crash) Craddock, Jerry Fieles and Rene Riopelle.

Alouettes are conducting light drills this week as several players are still sporting aches and pains from the final EFC game last Sunday against Hamilton.

"All the team is hurting pretty badly," Trimble said. "But I'm confident they'll all be fine Saturday."

D-XON ON THE BALL

George Dixon, last year's leading rusher in the East but stalled this season by injuries, was doing a lot of ball carrying at Tuesday night's scrimmage. Asked about this, Trimble said he is preparing Dixon to do a lot of running in the Ottawa playoff.

Former Danville couple feted on 25th anniversary

BROWNLEIGH PLACE — Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Frost, R. R. 2, Brampton, Ont., formerly of Danville, were guests of honor at a surprise party on Oct. 10 in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary, in the Bolton Legion Hall, Bolton, Ont. Fifty guests enjoyed a turkey dinner, catered to by the Legion Auxiliary.

The guests of honor were joined at the head table by Mrs. Frost's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cleveland, of Danville.

Twenty-five American Beauty roses, with the leaves tipped in silver, were arranged on the head table. A cake with the numerals 25, decorated in white and red, centered the table, flanked by white candles in silver holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost received beautiful gifts and cards, including telegrams from the Rt. Hon. Lester Pearson and Bruce Beer, M.P., for Peel County.

Edmund Earl Frost and Miriam Harriet Ann Cleveland were married in Sydenham Place, Oct. 11, 1939, by Rev. F. B. Clark. They resided in Danville for five years before moving to Brampton.

Mr. Frost is a stationary engineer for W. E. Calvert, Ltd. Following the dinner friends and neighbors joined in the festivities for an evening of dancing.

Guests were from Danville, Montreal, Windsor, London, Ingersoll, Embarras and Tottenham, Ont.

GENERAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cleveland have returned home, after spending two weeks in Brampton, and other points of Ontario, as guests of their three daughters and families. They attended the silver wedding anniversary of their eldest daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Frost. Mr. Cleveland also spent a week with friends in New York State.

Sutton couple feted on golden wedding day

SUTTON — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Owens, of Sutton, were pleasantly entertained at the Lord Fox Inn, Foxboro, Mass., on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, Oct. 17, by Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Foster, of Plainfield, Mass. Many friends and relatives assembled at the Inn in honor of the couple.

Upon entering the Inn Mrs. Foster presented her mother with a corsage of cymbidium orchids and her father, a yellow tea rose boutonniere, a gift from Mrs. Owens' sister, Mrs. E. H. Parker, of Seattle, Wash.

The table was attractively arranged with yellow and bronze mums and candelabra with yellow tapers.

Mr. Foster introduced Mrs. Haig Hoesopian, who composed and recited a poem, as a toast to the bride and groom of 50 years.

Following a turkey dinner, the guests gathered at the home of Mrs. Owens' niece, Mrs. Willard Roots, and Mr. Roots, of Mansfield, Mass., where a pleasant evening was spent and many lovely gifts of gold and flowers were presented to the happy couple.

During the evening, telegrams were received from friends in Sutton and Seattle, Wash.

Guests were present from Knowlton, Montreal, Plainfield, N.J., Attleboro, Taunton, Foxboro and Mansfield, Mass.

Lady curlers of Cowansville plan opening tea

COWANSVILLE—The first semi-annual meeting of the Ladies' Curling section of the County Club was held Oct. 27, at 8:00 p.m., at the County Club.

Plans were completed for the opening tea, to be held at the club at 2:00 p.m., Nov. 5, and a cordial invitation is extended to all members and friends.

The president, Mrs. E. Jones, announced that a Ladies' Friendly Bonspiel is to be held on Nov. 30 and invitations have been sent to 18 outside rinks. On the day it is hoped that all members will participate. Luncheon will be served at 1:00 p.m. and tea at 4:00 p.m.

A program was discussed for the coming curling season and the meeting was then adjourned.

Thankoffering service held by Ulverton UCW

ULVERTON—Ulverton U.C.W. held its October Thankoffering service in the United Church on the 26th.

Taking part in the service were Mrs. E. Coote and Mrs. O. Cinnamon, with Mrs. Wm. Cripps at the organ for the hymns.

The guest speaker was Rev. A. B. Lovelace, of Lennoxville. Mr. J. Stokoe closed the service, which was followed by lunch served in the church hall by the hostess, Mrs. E. McManis, assisted by several other ladies.

During the lunch hour Mr. Lovelace was thanked by the president, Mrs. A. Mace, Jr.

GENERAL NOTES
Mr. Roy Cummings attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. B. Jenkins, at Lachute.

Mrs. Gault Husk and Mr. Grant Husk, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Husk.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Lovelace, of Lennoxville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stokoe, at the manse.

The C.G.I.T. held the regular meeting, Oct. 26, conducted by the leader, Mrs. O. Cinnamon, in the church vestry. Jane Simpson gave a report on the recent rally held at Magog.

Elect officers at OES meeting in Cookshire

COOKSHIRE — The monthly meeting of Chapter No. 46, O. E. S., was held in the Masonic Chambers, with Sister Mary Ashe in the East.

A memorial service was held for the late Sister Georgie Coates.

The proceeds from the recent banquet were very gratifying. A number of cards of thanks were read for favors received, and letters of thanks from two students, one from Scotts-town, and one from Cookshire High School (a boy from Maple-mount Home) for Scripture prizes.

The election of officers resulted as follows: — Worthy Matron, Sister Hilda Dougherty; Worthy Patron, Bro. Egbert Waldron; associate Matron, Sis. Elizabeth Graham; Associate Patron, Bro. Kenneth Currier; secretary, Sis. Ruby Davies; associate conductress, Sis. Gertrude Raymond; new trustee, Bro. Arthur Graham. The new matron will name her various appointive officers and committee members at a later date.

A number of other chapters will be invited to attend the installation of officers on Nov. 25.

The Worthy Matron who expressed thanks to the chapter members for sending her to Grand Chapter Sessions, gave a full report of Grand Chapter proceedings, and stated that $1460 had been given by the chapters for E. S. T. A. R. L. (Eastern Star Training Awards for Religious Leadership), and $1,034 for the Cancer Fund.

A number of members from White Heather Chapter were welcomed; the Star Points and the organist will assist their chapter on Nov. 7.

Sis. Mary Ashe and Hilda Dougherty served refreshments in the lower hall at the close of the evening.

Ayer's Cliff lady feted at shower

AYER'S CLIFF — On Oct. 22, Mrs. Clayton Turner and Mrs. Alden Dezan were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower, held in honor of Mrs. David Dezan, at her new home on Tyler Street. Miss Linda Turner and Miss Ina Dezan accompanied her to a restaurant until the guests could assemble at her home.

Upon her return the guest of honor was taken by complete surprise to find friends and relatives assembled to shower her with gifts. A novelty corsage was the presented to her by Mrs. Clayton Turner.

Mrs. Dezan was the recipient of many useful and attractive gifts.

Games were played, with prizes going to the winners. Lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Keith Kennedy.

GENERAL NOTES
Miss Mary McHarg spent the weekend with Miss Jane Pierce. Miss Judy Taylor was in Eaton Corner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Taylor, for the weekend.

Quebec financier wants Tory leaders, Whig ideas

By CY FOX

MONTREAL (CP) — "We need Tory leaders with Whig ideas," said the stocky financier, giving his swivel-seat a no-nonsense whirl as he learnedly paraphrased Disraeli.

Marcel Faribault sat in the deserted office of the trust company he heads and spoke with bilingual gusto about Canada's future and the future of his native Quebec.

His staff had long since left for the day but the 56-year-old Mr. Faribault talked on tirelessly to a reporter in the manner that won him the attention of Progressive Conservatives at their recent Fredericton conference on national goals.

A Conservative himself, he has never sought political office. He may still take the plunge, however, and the party would have in its Quebec camp a forceful sophisticate who wants a decentralized federal system for Canada and less reliance on government in the tackling of economic problems.

While he thinks Quebec, and the other provinces, should have greater constitutional powers, Mr. Faribault has no time for separatism, which he considers economically unfeasible.

Of the young separatists in Quebec, he says: "Put them to work and they'd soon get to know hard, dollar realities."

At Fredericton he presented a sample preamble for a draft constitution for Canada that would grant each province "all the powers, rights and prerogatives of a state" except for "matters and powers hereby conferred exclusively in the federal government."

Marcel Faribault would claim for his draft that it derives its inspiration from the "hard, dollar" facts of life. For him, a grasp of these realities is the hallmark of a true Tory, while the term Whig signifies a taste for new ideas and a will to implement them.

But whether he enters active politics depends on how it will affect his wife and seven children, he says. "Their welfare comes first."

And then there are the prospects for the Conservatives in Quebec right now.

"Things look rather bad for them here at the moment, but one must think in terms of years. Maybe later things will be different."

The Faribaults have been lawyers since 1754 when the first of them came to Quebec from France. But Mr. Faribault's great-great-uncle, Georges-Barthelemy, won a place of honor outside law for compiling a pioneer list of works on North American history.

This scholarly bent also appears in the character of Marcel Faribault, trained though he was to be a practising notary. So talk of Disraeli, the 19th-century British prime minister, comes easily to the voluble man of affairs.

It was in 1946 that he joined Trust General du Canada as a director, becoming the Montreal firm's president in 1953.

General Trust, with a preponderance of French-speaking personnel, listed total assets under its control at the end of 1963 as $367,748,000. Its net profit for the year was $487,829—15 per cent higher than in 1962.

Mr. Faribault is also a director from 1950 to 1955. Mr. Faribault says it is business that has taught him an intolerance for what he calls unreal and obsolete elements in the present constitution of Canada. And he believes most Quebecers are similarly "hard-headed" about the constitution as about most other things, including separatism.

He has emerged a strong supporter of a strictly Canadian constitution not dependent on the Queen as a source of executive authority.

The place given the Queen in the current system is obsolete, he says, while the letter of the constitution vests more power in the federal government than circumstances now permit that government to exercise.

"The system doesn't work well, that's the important thing," he says, adding that purely practical considerations of efficiency have dictated his constitutional views.

Other provinces want changes too, he declares, but whenever Quebec voices such a wish, "prejudice" leads to hostile reactions among some English-speaking Canadians.

"Look here, governing a huge country like Canada is no job for pygmies. You can't rely on prejudices in ruling Canada."

"What's more, to me, democracy is simply people locked together in discussion."

If one side demands too much of another—a surrendering of provincial rights, the death of a language—discussion becomes impossible and democracy collapses, he said, his voice echoing through the empty corridors of the 10-storey Trust General building.

He traced Quebec's current demands for constitutional changes back to the government of Maurice Duplessis, who died in 1959.

But, his eyes fired up behind unrimmed glasses, the versatile financier ranged much further afield in tracing the theoretical roots of what he called "true federalism."

Quoting chapter and verse, he cited the political readings of a lifetime—Locke, Burke, de Tocqueville, Montesquieu and a variety of other idea-makers, British and French.

Then there was Aristotle, ancient prophet of the "realism" Mr. Faribault says he prefers to the "idealism" of another Greek, Plato.

Thoughts of Aristotle brought on a paean to private property and this in turn brought up the question of young separatists.

"Aristotle says that under a dreaming" system based on private property things get cared for better and people are kept busy with development, he said, but education by itself is not enough not to be able to indulge in excessive discussions and can sometimes drift away from life's realities.

Then Mr. Faribault voiced other opinions, just as strong as of the Cross and Cervantes was and thinkers are as much grist to a mill as the businessman's mill as literature, for example, and Jacques Maritain followed, with the added comment that artists of the Cross and Cervantes was and thinkers are as much grist to a mill as the businessman's mill as the French poet Paul they are food for academic speculation.

IRONS IN FIRE — Marcel Faribault is a lawyer in a long line of lawyers since 1754 when the first of his family came to Quebec from France. But he has not remained only in law. He is also president of a Montreal trust company, and a director of 13 businesses including Bell Telephone of Canada and Banque Canadienne Nationale. In 1960, former Prime Minister Diefenbaker appointed him to the Canada Council. Mr. Faribault is married and has seven children.

tor of Dupuis Freres department store in Montreal, Banque Canadienne Nationale, Bell Telephone Company of Canada and 10 other firms.

In 1960, John Diefenbaker appointed him to the Canada Council, and membership in several Quebec learned societies is further reflection of his intellectual interests.

He has written a book on notarial law and taught the subject at his alma mater, the French-language University of Montreal, also serving as a university's secretary-general.

Twenty candidates presented to Bishop at Christ church

STANSTEAD — The Rt. Rev. Russel F. Brown, Bishop of the Diocese of Quebec, confirmed 20 candidates at Christ Church on Oct. 25. He also officiated at the morning service at Christ Church and at All Saints, in Beebe.

The confirmation service took place in the church at 7:30 p.m. Rev. R. W. Peirce, parish rector, officiating for the Evensong service, with the second Lesson read by Rev. H. C. Denton, of Aver's Cliff, chaplain to the Bishop.

Confirmed were the Misses

The Bishop's address was on the Holy Sacraments and the promises made, which often mark a turning point in a person's life.

Richard Middleton was crucifer, with Wayne Barnes and Steven Grady, the servers. The choir led in the singing of hymns.

At the morning service the Bishop's sermon was on discipleship, using the text from St. Paul's, Test Thy Faith.

Servers at this service were Anthony Peirce and Keith Grady. Richard Middleton was

Hallowe'en tea and sale a success

Lennoxville Women's Institute held a most successful Hallowe'en tea and sale in the club room which was appropriately decorated with pumpkins, black cats, witches and ghostly creatures.

Mrs. Lillian Stewart welcomed the many tea guests and Mrs. E. Louise Atto and Mrs. Louis B. Pierce presided at the head tea table arranged with a lace cloth centered with a pumpkin bowl filled with pumpkins and yellow mums, maple leaves and grasses.

The small tea tables had Hallowe'en covers and candy filled miniature pumpkin centers. Mrs. Raymond Pariseau was in charge of the tea room as well as decorations. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Harrison C. Wright, Miss Kathleen Atto, Mrs. Philip Walton and Mrs. Rupert Porter.

Those in charge of food arrangements were Mrs. Francis Smith, Mrs. Neil Tracy, Mrs. Sterling Parker and Mrs. Cecil Skinner.

The sales tables which were well patronized were home cooked foods, jams, jellies and pickles with Mrs. Gilbert Patrick and Mrs. Wilson Beattie in charge. The handicraft tables where many gift suggestions were offered had aprons of all types. Teen and Barbie dolls with complete outfits and extras to choose from as well as knitting, painting, candles, novelties and weaving. Here Mrs. Grant Taylor and Mrs. Hugh L. Wallace were in charge.

Mrs. Lawrence Parker, treasurer, was in charge of the tea tickets.

Tea and bazaar a success

The Tea and Bazaar held in St. George's Church Hall under the auspices of the Lennoxville Auxiliary to the Sherbrooke County School for Retarded Children was undoubtedly a success.

The Auxiliary wishes to thank its patrons, donors, and all the workers who so willingly gave of their time.

A special thanks is due to Miss Sandra Beattie and her co-workers from Bishop's University who waited on table.

Thanks is extended also to the Record, La Tribune, C.K.T.S., and C.H.L.T., for publicity coverage.

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. R. Forbes on Oct. 29. In the absence of the president, Mrs. H. Blachford, Mrs. Neil Tracy chaired the meeting.

A new member, Mrs. L. Moore was welcomed by Mrs. Tracy.

All matters pertaining to the Tea and Bazaar were cleared up.

It was decided not to hold another meeting till January 26. Mrs. H. Simons then offered her home for this meeting.

The meeting was closed with refreshments being served by the hostess, Mrs. R. Forbes, assisted by several members.

Questions readers ask

Q — Is it true that my feeling of weakness and confusion is caused by not drinking enough water?

A — It could be. Drinking too little water causes some form of dehydration. The result can be a feeling of weakness, also fatigue and dryness of the mouth. Extreme dehydration can result in confusion, too.

For and about Women

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY — In today's world too few of us take enough time for the really important things in life. We are too busy getting here and there and doing this and that. I keep a list of 10 things to take time for taped to my bedroom mirror so I see them each morning as I dress. I do want to share them with you and the readers.

1. Take time to work — It is the price of success.

2. Take time to think — It is the source of power.

3. Take time to play — It is the secret of youth.

4. Take time to read — It is the foundation of knowledge.

5. Take time to worship — It is the highway of reverence.

6. Take time to laugh — It helps with life's load.

7. Take time to love — It is the one sacrament of life.

8. Take time to dream — It hitches the soul to the stars.

9. Take time to sing — It is the singing that lightens life's burdens.

10. Take time to plan — It is the secret of being able to have time for the first nine things.

CAROLE

DEAR POLLY — I have a lot of old woolen coats, suits and dresses that I would like to cut up to make braided rugs. Unfortunately, the colors are all wrong and I don't know how to dye dark and medium browns, grays and blacks any other color. Surely someone among your readers can tell me how I would be so appreciated.

Serenity, simplicity keynotes in New York fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — Gaily printed light pants worn under a navy blue suit are just the thing for gadding about town, according to Vera Maxwell. Her collection of spring and cruise wear was shown here recently. Otherwise serenity and simplicity were the keynotes. Ruffles were rare and frills, far between in the series of uncluttered and wearable fashions suggested for 1965.

But there was nothing simple about the fabrics and prints.

The textured look of wild silk—a natural silk weave imported from India—was predominant in both vivid color and a neutral shade called Indian kasha grain. Often the two were combined to become a tricolor costume. An example a puffed suit with dark tan lapels and bright slashes of shocking pink on the collar and down the side of the jacket.

And brilliant red braid that Turkish farmers wrap around their legs for protection when working in the fields became the focal point of a simple, pale beige skimmer.

As basic, everyday colors, navy and gray were in; but for fun and excitement brilliant jewel tones stole the spotlight. Crushed wild silk in sharp pink was cut into a smooth rajah coat and matching pants. And of the same material, a full length gown and matching coat in turquoise—just the sort of thing that looks good on real women as well as graceful mannequins.

Also from France came the inspiration for the French apron, a puffy, full wrap-around affair with the look of a skirt. Worn over black leotards, it ties in front and boasts pockets that look big enough to carry saucers in.

Mrs. Maxwell feels that after so many bulky wools and mohairs, women may be longing for the slim graceful look again. So she devised a series of coats, suit and dresses in what she terms naked wool, a wispy light figure-flattering fabric.

From a retrospective showing at the Chaillot Palace in Paris came a bright pink and green print on white silk that was swirled into slimming wrap-around blouse under a shocking pink suit. Take off the blouse and you have a sleeveless shocking pink dress that will go just about anywhere.

Also from France came the inspiration for the French apron, a puffy, full wrap-around affair with the look of a skirt. Worn over black leotards, it ties in front and boasts pockets that look big enough to carry saucers in.

Mrs. Maxwell feels that after so many bulky wools and mohairs, women may be longing for the slim graceful look again. So she devised a series of coats, suit and dresses in what she terms naked wool, a wispy light figure-flattering fabric.

As basic, everyday colors, navy and gray were in; but for fun and excitement brilliant jewel tones stole the spotlight. Crushed wild silk in sharp pink was cut into a smooth rajah coat and matching pants. And of the same material, a full length gown and matching coat in turquoise—just the sort of thing that looks good on real women as well as graceful mannequins.

Your club planning a fashion show?

Organization key to success

TORONTO (CP)—If your club is sponsoring a fashion show, organization is the key to success, whether you are using professionals or club members as models and commentators.

And the key to organization is to give yourself lots of time.

says Catherine Smyth, Toronto public relations counsellor.

"If you are working with a store, give them at least three weeks' notice. Their part in it may sound easy but it's a lot of work."

Advise your local newspaper well in advance, and get invitations out early enough to assure a good audience.

"Make sure the models know the physical aspects of the show. If they are professionals they won't need a complete run-through, but let them know exactly what to expect. If the models are amateurs, they should have a rehearsal."

Miss Smyth says that if using amateurs "they should be people who are enthusiastic about clothes so they make it look as if modelling is fun." And the models should suit the clothes and vice-versa. For example, don't use high school girls to show sophisticated evening wear.

The models will also have to be willing to take time to have a fitting before the show.

COMMENTATOR IS KEY — "Be sure a good commentator is used. This is really very important. Make sure she is fully aware of the clothes, well prepared before the show."

Miss Smyth says the commentator should know the number for each item, its fabric, color, price, and be able to say who provided the accessories.

"In her commentary she should say a little more than that it is black and lined. She should be someone who is fashion-conscious. She can work ahead of time, read fashion magazines for tips. She should allow no awkward silences, and should be good enough so that a mix-up in order of appearances, for instance, won't floor her."

Music is important, says Miss Smyth. "Have a piano or quartet, or use canned music you can control. If you are going to serve food, serve it after the show unless it's very informal."

An idea is to do the show around a theme. My Fair Lady is one current possibility. And there should be decorations to fit the theme.

Backstage there should be a dresser, a room large enough to change in, a rack on which the clothes can be hung in order of appearance, and another rack for the models' own clothes.

The clothes should arrive ahead of time, be pressed if necessary, checked and numbered. The commentator should be present while this is being done.

Miss Smyth says about 35 to 40 garments make a good show. About five to seven models should be enough.

The models should come equipped with white and black gloves and good black shoes unless these are being loaned for the occasion. They should also have some jewelry, but the dresser might be prepared to offer tactful advice on how to dress up or dress down a garment with jewelry.

"If you have amateur models, have them be natural. Don't try strange new hairdos or makeup on the night of a show."

"They should walk slowly, know how to handle a skirt, and turn slowly to show it. And they should smile."

"Tell them to talk to the audience if it's that kind of show. All they need say is, 'Yes, isn't it lovely? It's from Smith's.'"

"They won't be nervous if they are sure of what they're doing. That's why a rehearsal is important."

"Have a good ending. Bring all the models out, or have a wedding scene."

"Have a program with a list of the clothes if it is possible, and be sure everyone is given credit—the store, the printer, someone who has donated flowers or tablecloths—everyone."

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

When your baby begins to creep he may rebel a bit at the playpen but there will still be times when you'll want baby to stay put. How to keep your scot-free happy after he's had a taste of freedom? These tips may be helpful:

• Time element. If you reserve pen times for baby's most contented times, he probably won't resent it.

• Toy trickery. A few different toys for each session help keep baby's "housing development" an interesting place to come home to. A covered saucer with a Gerber Teething Biscuit inside adds a nice surprise.

• Position counts. By placing the pen where baby can watch your comings and goings, he won't feel neglected.

Meet of the matter. A baby with crawl privileges needs protein to help develop those muscles he's using more and more. Gerber Strained Meats are excellent sources of protein in the smoothest form that ever summoned up a baby's smile. Made from government-inspected cuts they're low in fat for easy digestibility... great on true-meat flavours for ready acceptability. Like all Gerber Baby Foods, they're now in glass jars with re-closable Twist-Pop caps for safe refrigeration of unused portions.

• Safely measures for fourwalkers. Creepers make a beeline for bright objects so be sure to scan the floor for pins, buttons, etc. Iron and toaster cords should not be left a-dangle. Floortype fans or heaters are a hazard.

• Sunny-side up for creepers. lap-sitters or the high-chair set. Gerber Strained Egg Yolks are bright as a splash of sunshine... have a delicate, fresh egg flavour and a creamy, custard-like texture that's hard to beat for downright delightful eating. As for nourishment, Gerber Egg Yolks are excellent sources of vitamin A and iron and a good source of protein. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Annual school opening and prize awarding held at North Hatley High NORTH HATLEY — The well-attended annual school opening program and prize giving was held at the High School on Oct. 22, when parents and friends were welcomed by the principal, Mr. Walter Scott.

The pupils presented an interesting variety program, beginning with Grades 1, 2 and 3, in a series of drills, dances and songs, under the direction of Mrs. Nelson Pike. Grades 4 and 5, presented square dancing and the choir, trained by Mrs. R. Vaughan and Mrs. A. Cruickshank. Grade 6, trained by Miss Zinn, put on a program of pantomime and a tumbling display.

While a silver collection for the benefit of the students council was being taken up, Faye Wilson, a Grade 10 pupil, played a piano solo. At the prize giving, Miss Wilson received a certificate from McGill Conservatory of music.

The guest speaker, Dr. R. Sutherland, Professor of English at the University of Sherbrooke, gave the message to the graduates. His challenging talk stressed the difficult world to-day's graduates face. He pointed up the difficulties of fighting against intellectual laziness, group conformity, high pressure advertising, and low moral standards.

Dr. Sutherland was introduced by Mr. Dunn, a member of the teaching staff, and thanked on behalf of the pupils by Nancy Guild, a Grade 11 scholar.

Mr. Aubrey Greer, chairman of the local school board, spoke to the parents about their responsibilities, and about regional schools. At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Greer presided at the awarding of the prizes.

Mrs. Mildred Moore, on behalf of the High School Memorial Scholarship, presented Lewis Vaughan with the $200 scholarship, and Jill Sims with the $50 scholarship.

The prizes in each grade, donated by the townspeople, and the general proficiency and improvement prizes, given by the local school board, were won as follows:

Grade 1: 1st, Randal Taylor; 2nd, Carol McLeod, improvement, Nancy Wheeler.
Grade 2: 1st, Brant LeBaron; 2nd, Laurie Smith, improvement, David Dustin.
Grade 3A 1st, Ginette Gelinas; 2nd, Richard McComb, improvement, Malcolm Mosher.
Grade 3B 1st, Darcy Bean.

Armistice Day plans debated by Legion Ladies

COWANSVILLE — The general meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary was held on Oct. 28, in the Legion Hall.

Armistice Day plans were discussed and some members volunteered to sell poppies on Nov. 7 and 8. The Annual Armistice Day banquet will be held in the Legion Hall on Nov. 7 at 6:30 p.m., for which tickets are now on sale. The parade will take place on Nov. 8 at 2 p.m.

The president, Mrs. Keith Scott, expressed thanks to all helpers at the rummage sale, where the sum $51.40 was realized; also thanking those who sent food or helped at the buffet supper held on Oct. 24, for the district meeting.

An inspection was made of the newly decorated kitchen, and the ladies were shown the stainless steel flatware that was purchased to be used in the hall.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. T. Rundle, assisted by Mrs. Olson, in the absence of Mrs. Grant Green and Mrs. Les Jordan.

Cards were played at three tables, prizes going to Mrs. Dempsey Forster, in cribbage, and Mrs. Nick Hautanen, in 500. Mrs. T. Cook won the surprise raffle.

2nd, Kristine Knutson, improvement, Milton Chute.
Grade 4: 1st, Alan Gerrish; 2nd, Patricia Gilbert, improvement, Peter Keeble.

Grade 6: 1st, Wendy Wilson; 2nd, Stephen Krichew, improvement, Shirley Keeble.

Grade 8: 1st, Elizabeth Crease, 2nd, Debby Martin, improvement, Barbara Whyte.

Grade 7: 1st, Beryl Greer and Carole Clark, improvement, Verena McKiven.

Grade 8: 1st, general proficiency, David Gagnon, 2nd, general proficiency, John Crease, improvement, Jonathan Crease.

Grade 9: 1st, general proficiency, Peter Vaughan, 2nd, general proficiency, Karen Olson, improvement, Laura Ditchburn.

Grade 10, Nancy Guild received the Birks' bronze medal for highest proficiency, 2nd, general proficiency, Mavis Kezar. Sylvia Ditchburn also received a Grade 10 certificate from the Department of Education.

Grade 11, Lewis Vaughan received the Birks' silver medal for highest proficiency, 2nd, Jill Sims.

High School Leaving certificate were received by William Johnson, Gloria Knapp, Christopher Bean, Annie Mosher and Mary St. Dizier.

50th anniversary is celebrated at Duboyce Corner

DUBOYCE CORNER — Mr. and Mrs. H. Lenz, of Knowlton, formerly of Duboyce Corner, were pleasantly surprised on Oct. 24, when on arriving at the town hall, they were greeted by 50 guests, who had gathered there to honor them on their 50th wedding anniversary.

The celebrants accompanied by their son, Gordon, and Mrs. Lenz, and their daughter Kay, Mrs. W. Bell, and Mr. Bell, had earlier dined at the Steak House, in Knowlton, later arriving at the town hall here.

After a pleasant evening of playing cards and chatting with old friends, lunch, which included a wedding cake made and decorated by Mrs. G. Lenz, was served by Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Lenz, and the guests of honor were escorted to a table laden with gifts from their assembled friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenz were married 50 years ago in Albany, N.Y. They have since made their home in this vicinity, except for a few years spent in Beebe, after their son Gordon, took over the farm here. Two years ago they moved back to Knowlton. Their daughter, Mrs. Bell, resides in Milton, Ont.

STANBRIDGE RIDGE

Mrs. Fred Cook spent the weekend in Montreal, the guest of Miss Catherine Gardner.

Mrs. Edwin Lampman and Mrs. Mervin Corey were in Irasburg, Vt., where they visited Mrs. Eva Darling and Mrs. Mabel Doyle.

Miss Winnie Douglas and Mrs. Frank Corey were in Foster, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas were in West Berkshire, Vt., the guests of Mrs. Blanche Catchpugh.

Mrs. Fred Cook and Miss Irene Corey were in St. Johns, recently.

Mrs. M. A. Cornell is now with Mr. and Mrs. Austin Campbell, in Bedford. Mrs. Cornell, who spent some weeks in Montreal General Hospital, where she underwent major surgery, was later in Julius Richardson Home, Montreal, for some time.

Mrs. Don Hadley, East Berkshire, Vt., was a visitor of Mrs. Frank Corey and Miss Jeanne Corey.

Celebration marks double anniversaries

RICHMOND — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grainger and Mr. and Mrs. George Grainger, of Upper Melbourne were honored by their families on the occasion of their 25th double wedding anniversaries, which were celebrated on Oct. 24, in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, where about 200 relatives and friends had assembled.
On the arrival of the celebrants Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grainger were greeted, and given a corsage and boutonniere by their daughter, Mrs. Gordon Irwin, and son, Daryl Grainger. Mr. and Mrs. George Grainger were met by their daughter, Miss Sylvia Grainger, and son Lynn Grainger. Miss Grainger presenting her parents with a corsage and boutonniere.
The evening was spent in dancing, with the music supplied by friends.
The head table, was decorated with silver 25th motifs; white candles in crystal holders flanking the three-tier wedding cake, made by Mrs. Gordon Crack and decorated by Mrs. John Hawker, Jr.
The two guest books were in charge of Ronald Jones and Lynn Grainger, who presented each guest with a 25th motif, as a remembrance of the occasion.
The family was assisted at the refreshment hour by Mrs. Arthur Fowler with Mrs. Robert Wright, Mrs. Beverley Skillen, Mrs. Dale Hughes and Mrs. Wayne Griffith helping to serve.
Harold Guntter, brother of the brides, presented each couple with a gift of money on behalf of their friends and relatives, extending best wishes for many more years of happiness.
Out of town guests were from New York, Sherbrooke, Chateaugay, Windsor, Montreal, Danville, Ulverton, Drummondville, Kingsbury, South Durham, Melbourne Ridge, Melbourne and Richmond.

Last of the Beothuks died lone Chippewa carries on ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Bill Shilling says he likes to be an individualist and he should have no difficulty fulfilling his desire here. As far as he knows, he's the only Indian on the Avalon Peninsula.

A sinewy six-foot-four Chippewa, he was born in 1931 on a reservation at Rama, 100 miles north of Toronto, but left home at 17 and hasn't looked back. He arrived here in June and is working as art director for a television station.

The last known of Newfoundland's native Beothuk Indians died in 1829, and although there are Micmacs living in several west coast settlements, Bill Shilling is the only Indian known to be living in this part of the island.

The distinction sometimes results in good-natured ribbing from friends and fellow employees but his sense of humor helps him slough it off. And he just smiled when an impish announcer introduced him as the last of the Beothuks.

Mr. Shilling says he has never encountered any form of discrimination and as a result sometimes forgets he's an Indian. He recalls a visit to a Toronto night spot where he heard someone whisper, "Look, there's an Indian." He found himself looking around, too. "I never realized they were talking about me."

DROVE TRUCK

His 15 years since leaving the reservation have been dedicated to developing his non-conformist personality. He is a talented artist but has also worked at such jobs as driving a truck, picking tobacco and strawberries, selling magazines and instructing in a YMCA camp.

He says he doesn't know his family's correct name, explaining that his grandfather adopted the name Shilling because that was the amount of money he was paid by the British for some furs.

"It was the only English word he knew so they began calling him Shilling. It stuck."

Bill Shilling feigns seriousness when he tries to recall the name of one of those little huts made of crossed sticks and hides that he says his great-grandfather lived in as a child.

Although he feels free-lancing is the ideal mode of employment, he has grudgingly stuck to steady work for the last few years. Before coming here Mr. Shilling worked as a junior artist for a Toronto firm and then as a designer for a film company. He considers himself a graphic artist but finds most of his work here involves pure art for advertisements.

When not drawing ads for the station or working out plans for a tricky little gadget to be used as a Christmas decoration, he does bit parts in TV commercials for a local brewery.

"Life is meant to be lived as we see fit," he says, "and I don't intend to miss a minute of it."

GRIN AND BEAR IT — Bill Shilling has the distinction of being the only Indian known to be living in Newfoundland's Avalon Peninsula. The 33-year-old Chippewa says he has never been confronted with any form of discrimination and he brushes off good-natured ribbing with his sense of humor. Shilling was born on a reservation

100 miles north of Toronto. He arrived in St. John's in June where he now works as art director for a television station. (CP Photo)

Canadian runs state's films

RALEIGH, N.C. (CP) — Two years ago, North Carolina, looking about for means to publicize itself and so attract industry, decided to set up its own film-making organization.

It took Canada's National Film Board as its model and, going a step further, decided to hire a Canadian to run it.

Since then, James Beveridge, a native of Vancouver who spent some time working for the film board in Ottawa, has turned out a variety of films for the state.

One shows how the state legislature works, another recalls North Carolina's days as a British colony and still another deals with poverty in the Appalachian Mountains.

"In time we will have a first-class film library of North Carolina life," says Beveridge, now working on a film called Negro Experience.

From fame to US jail and back up

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—In 1950, Dick Contino was one of the most popular 20-year-olds in North America, entertaining with his accordion act at $4,000 a week or better. He couldn't fill all the engagements offered him.

A year later he came out of prison, his earnings zero and counting his friends "on one hand, from the middle finger back," and was drafted by the U.S. Army.

The young Californian, who had risen to national prominence on a popular radio show in 1947, was convicted of draft evasion in August of 1950 and sentenced to six months imprisonment.

Now 34, Richard Joseph Contino is married to singer Leigh Snowden, who performs with him on night club dates around the country. They have five children.

"Without my wife I would have gone to the bughouse a long time ago," he says.

Reflecting during an engagement here on his return to show business in 1954, he says:

"When I first went back after the army, people would come once, and on return engagements they stayed away. I guess they just wanted to see me, and once was enough, sort of like wanting to see some kind of freak."

"Somebody once told me I could never make it big again in show business because people don't want to see a coward on stage. I don't know if I'm a coward, and I don't think any man really does until there's some kind of a test."

Contino is bitter about the publicity over the draft evasion charge as contrasted with what he feels was a lack of publicity for the 16 months he later served in the army in Korea. Although he has pondered much over what made him try to escape the army, he is only a little closer to the answer now than he was in 1950.

"Everybody said the reason I didn't go into the army was I didn't want to give up all the money I was making for soldier's pay. Well, who would? But that wasn't the reason."

"It was mainly the idea of being all alone I didn't like. People say everybody feels alone in or out of the army, but I don't think they're talking about how I felt."

"From the time I was a kid, I wouldn't even go to the store alone. I wouldn't say I was scared to go alone, but I would always manage to get a cousin or somebody to go with me wherever I went."

He says now he has overcome most of his fears about being alone, of relying too much on his music for companionship.

"Now, I've got a little better perspective on things. I enjoy the accordion, but it's not the only thing in my life. I've got my family and some other outside interests to keep me going."

Contino now enjoys a steadily increasing demand for his talent, although he has not regained the pay or popularity he enjoyed in his heyday.

The Power Women Have Over Men.

Is it simply the power to say "NO!"—as one man claims? Is giving praise the secret of women's power?...Or is it solely a matter of sex? Here's a symposium of letters from Digest readers, provoked by a previous article which considered "The Power MEN Have Over Women." Don't miss the November issue of Reader's Digest.

Net income for Bell increases

MONTREAL — Net income of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada for the nine months ended September 30 was $56,364,738, or $1.98 a share, for the corresponding period in 1963, it was announced today.

shareholders said operating revenues increased by 7.7 per cent, to $402,157,019 from $373,314,723, while operating expenses rose by six per cent, to $255,911,119 from $241,414,900.

In a message to shareholders, Marcel Vincent, Bell president, said the demand for long distance service continued strong with the number of long distance calls 9.7 per cent higher than in the first nine months of 1963.

"The corresponding increase in the first three quarters of 1963 was 7.7 per cent, calculated on a comparable basis," he said.

In the first nine months of this year 159,672 telephones were added to those in service, compared to 143,481 for the same period in 1963.

Mr. Vincent said that in the third quarter of this year Bell arranged for $50,000,000 of new capital through the issue of 25-year, first mortgage bonds at 4.8 per cent in U.S. funds. The proceeds became available on October 1.

He said the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada will hold public hearings, early in 1965, to re-examine the permissive level of Bell's earnings and the basis upon which such levels should be established.

"This initiative of the Board affords the company a further opportunity to express its views on these matters," said Mr. Vincent.

Total other income rose to $6,603,383 from $6,064,268 for the first three quarters of 1963.

Total operating taxes increased by $6,879,000 to $70,488,000. Interest charges rose by $2,191,968 to $25,996,545. Dividends paid were $46,856,231, an increase of $3,302,232 over the first nine months of 1963. Retained earnings transferred to surplus totalled $9,508,507 compared with $6,996,425.

OBITUARIES

G. WALTER ROLLESTON, OF BEEBE.

BEEBE — The funeral of Gardiner Walter Rolleston, who died suddenly at his home on October 22, was held on October 24 at 4.30 o'clock at Wesley United Church, with Rev. Ralph Rogers officiating.

Miss Viola Moranville was at the organ, playing favorite hymns before and after the service.

The church was filled to capacity with relatives, friends, neighbors and fellow-workers. Burial took place in the Marlinton, Cemetery, beside his parents and brother.

The bearers were Harold Gustin, Harold Smith, William Young, Charles Brewer, Reginald Eryou and Thomas Parker.

Gardiner Walter Rolleston was born on February 16, 1898, at Marlinton, the son of L. H. A. Rolleston and his wife, Nellie (Ferrin) Rolleston.

On November 3, 1920, he married Christina Barratt at Cookshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolleston settled on the home farm in Marlinton until 1944, when they sold the farm and moved to Beebe, where he was employed in the granite industry.

The deceased was a member of the Masonic lodge A.F. and A.M. at Georgeville.

Survivors include his widow; son, Elwood, of Lake Megantic; a granddaughter; a sister, Mrs. E. E. Shepard, of Beebe; and many other relatives. A brother, Harry, predeceased him several years ago.

Among those from a distance attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Rolleston, Lake Megantic; Mr. and Mrs. John Barratt, son Jack, Miss Dorothy McClintock, of North Hatley, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barratt, son Elwin, Mrs. Clifford Barratt, of East Angus, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barratt, of Racine, Mr. and Mrs. Paton, of Sherbrooke, Mr. and Mrs. Harry French, of Sawyerville, Mr. and Mrs. John Choiniere, Miss Leona Shepard, David Hibbard, of Port Hope, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grant and children, of St. Albans, Vt., Mr. Gerald Bennett, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tucker and Mrs. Pearl Tucker, of Hill, N.H., as well as old neighbors from White River, N.H., and the surrounding community, including the Three Villages.

p.m. with Rev. Scudder Parker officiating.

The bearers were Walter Rolleston, Elwin Shepard, Elwin Jones and William Swift.

Burial was in the family lot at Griffin Corner Cemetery.

Mrs. Gustin was born in Liverpool, England, on June 10, 1892. Orphaned at an early age, she came to Canada to reside with the Wools family, in Marlowe, for several years.

In her early teens she moved to Beebe and made her home with Austin and May Bodwell, remaining with them until her marriage to Harold R. Gustin, on April 28, 1917, the marriage taking place at Newport, Vt. Their family consisted of two children, a daughter, Helene, and son, Lynas.

Chrissie, as she was familiarly known to her friends, was interested in her home, gardening and feeding the wild birds being her two hobbies.

Left to mourn her loss are her husband; daughter, Mrs. William (Helene) Swift, of Newport, Vt.; son Lynas, Van Buren, Ark.; a brother; and sister, and many other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynas Gustin, of Van Buren, were among those from a distance, who attended the funeral.

MRS. HARRY ROBBINS, OF AUBURN, N.Y.

Formerly Of St. Mary's. AUBURN — Mrs. Harry Robbins, the former Veronica Morrissey, died on October 7, 1964, at the Auburn Memorial Hospital at the age of 55 years.

The funeral took place on October 10, at the St. Mary's Church, in Auburn, Rev. F. Doyle said the requiem Mass, assisted by a deacon and sub-deacon.

Interment took place in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Auburn, N.Y.

The deceased was the eldest daughter of the late Joseph Morrissey and his wife, Elizabeth Carroll, of St. Mary's Ely.

She is survived by her husband; one son, Barry, of Auburn; one brother, Joseph, of St. Mary's; two sisters, Mrs. George Morin, Anne, of Richmond; and Mrs. William Hunter, Imelda, of Montreal; and many other relatives.

JOHN FRASER, OF COATICOOK

COATICOOK — The death of John Fraser, a resident of this town for the past 50 years, occurred on September 9, after a long illness.

Born January 29, 1885, in Leitrim, Ireland, son of John Fraser and his wife Jane Musgrove, Mr. Fraser came to Canada at the age of 18 to make his home with his sister, Mrs. ing friends.

William Musgrove, in Barnston.

In 1908 he married Gertrude Dresser, of Barnston, and six years later they moved to Coaticook. Mr. Fraser was employed as a machinist with the Belding Corticelli Company for 28 years, retiring in 1950. Increasingly poor health gradually forced him to discontinue his hobbies of carpentry and gardening and during many months of invalidism he was confined to the house, where he was cared for by his wife.

The deceased is survived by his wife; two sons, Roland, of Etobicoke, Ont., formerly of Sherbrooke; H. John, officer in charge, Canadian Immigration, Stanhope, presently residing in Coaticook; and two grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Musgrove, of Derby, Vt.; Miss Mary Fraser and Mrs. Albert Snell of Toronto; and a brother Richard, also of Toronto. A grand-daughter, Janice, predeceased him in 1949, at the age of five years.

Funeral services were held on September 11, with prayers at the house followed by the service, conducted by Rev. Walter Shell, at the Baptist Church, Coaticook.

Bearers were Winston Adams, Lyman Armitage, Ernest LaFaille and John Donaldson and interment was in the Barnston Cemetery.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral were his son and family and two sisters from Toronto, and other relatives and friends from Toronto, Derby and Springfield, Vt., Sherbrooke, Rock Island, Dixville, Stanhope, Barnston and Bromptonville.

East Angus
