Hope mounts for Welfare Court in Bedford area

By JAMES McALLISTER
(Record staff reporter)

SWEETSBURG WARD — Establishment of a Social Welfare Court for the judicial district of Bedford may be accomplished in the near future according to a letter received by Jean-Jacques Bertrand, Union Nationale MLA for Missisquoi, from Provincial Attorney-General Claude Wagner.

The letter states that the government intends to establish more Social Welfare Courts in the Province and that the District of Bedford will not be forgotten.

Mr. Bertrand, a resident of Sweetburg Ward, has been one of the leaders in the campaign for the establishment of a Social Welfare Court in this district.

Major centres in the judicial district are Granby, Cowansville and Bedford.

The letter by Mr. Wagner reads:

"I acknowledge receipt of your recent letter concerning the creation of a Social Welfare Court in the District of Bedford, and as I previously announced last December, it is the intention of the government to establish more Social Welfare Courts in the province, and you can be assured that the District of Bedford will not be forgotten.

Mediation offered in race strike

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Negro leaders studied today a surprise offer by a Louisiana labor leader and two prominent political figures to mediate this paper mill town's racial troubles.

Mayor Jesse Cutrer promptly accepted the offer on behalf of Bogalusa whites. Negro leaders promised their answer later today. There were indications they, too, would go along.

Biracial talks in this town of 14,000 whites and 8,000 Negroes stalled two weeks ago. Negotiators were unable to agree on who spoke for the Negro community.

The all-Negro Civic and Voters League has continued almost daily demonstrations protesting racial segregation. Although the Ku Klux Klan is strong here, city officials have managed to prevent serious racial incidents.

Nearly the entire Louisiana state police force—375 troopers in all—guarded the streets Thursday night as civil rights leaders James Farmer of New York addressed a Negro rally. The show of force was ordered by Governor John McKeithen, who said he was determined to prevent any incidents.

Mississippi rampaging

New disaster areas proclaimed

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—Mississippi River floodwaters covered much of Dubuque today as the pounding current increased pressure on sections of western Illinois and eastern Iowa.

The tide was scheduled to peak at swamped Prairie du Chien, Wis., where nearly one-third of the city of 5,649 population is under water.

The river stopped its steady rise at Quincy, Ill., giving workers some leeway to prepare defence against a predicted April 30 crest that could run eight feet above flood stage.

The river was running eight feet over its 17-foot flood stage in Dubuque as some 1,000 volunteers sandbagged levees. Reinforcements streamed in from as far as New Hampton, 115 miles northwest, to relieve weary workers who have hauled almost 300,000 bags of sand.

Officials say the river will crest Saturday night at 26.5 feet in Dubuque, a city of 37,000 at the Wisconsin-Illinois-Iowa junction.

SETS DISASTER AREAS

The Red Cross estimated that floods have damaged 1,094 homes in Iowa and injured 42 persons. President Johnson declared the state a disaster area, as he had done in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Floods have evicted an estimated 3,000 Iowans and caused $15,000,000 damage.

Red Cross officials said the floods destroyed 48 homes and damaged 3,240 in Wisconsin. Three persons have died and damage is estimated at $18,700,000.

In Illinois, the flood caused at least as much havoc in East Dubuque as it did in Dubuque across the river.

INSPECT FIRE BOMBED ALTAR RAIL — Firemen inspect the burned out altar rail area in New York's St. Patrick's Cathedral last night after a home-made fire bomb exploded. Mrs. Emma Reyes was badly burned when the gasoline-filled bottle exploded while she was kneeling at the altar. Early this morning a man identified as David L. Malone, 25, was charged with arson, desecrating a house of worship and felonious assault in connection with the bombing. (AP Wirephoto)

Woman hurt in bombing of New York RC cathedral

NEW YORK (AP) — A man hurled a fire bomb at the main altar of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral Thursday night and less than nine hours later police arrested a 25-year-old drifter.

The man, described as having no professed religion, was identified by police as David L. Malone, a Negro who formerly lived in Houston, Tex. He was charged today with arson, desecrating a church and felonious assault.

Mrs. Emma Gomez Reyes, 47, of Elmhurst, Queens, suffered serious burns when the bottled-gas bomb, known as a Molotov cocktail, exploded in flames.

A Molotov cocktail is a bottle filled with gasoline or other inflammable liquid, with a rag wick. It is ignited at the moment it is thrown and explodes upon impact.

There were about 100 persons inside the famed Gothic church on Fifth Avenue, across from Rockefeller Plaza.

A half-dozen worshippers, including Mrs. Reyes, were kneeling at the altar rail.

Suddenly, the man hurled the bomb, which exploded after falling 20 feet short of the altar. Damage was confined to the cushioning of the kneeling bench at the rail.

The man dashed out a side door with a sexton in pursuit. Worshippers used their coats to beat out the flames enveloping Mrs. Reyes' clothing. She was listed in fair condition later in hospital.

The building was closed after the bombing, the second incident of violence at St. Patrick's in less than a week.

Good Friday, a former mental patient hurled a chunk of concrete through a glass case containing a life-sized statue of Pope Pius XII. The statue was not damaged and police seized the man.

Lesage backs Lajoie

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage, back Thursday night from a Florida vacation, endorsed his education minister's declaration of Quebec's wish to negotiate with foreign governments in fields under provincial jurisdiction.

He was commenting to reporters at Quebec's Ancienne Lorette Airport. Earlier, at Montreal airport, he told reporters that he intends to discuss the Churchill (formerly Hamilton) Falls hydro project with Robert Winters of British Newfoundland Corporation in Toronto Saturday.

At both press conferences he said the forthcoming federal-provincial conference will see tough bargaining between Quebec and the federal government. Mr. Lesage's government regards some of the measures announced in Prime Minister Pearson's throne speech as cutting into provincial fields.

Asked here about the resignation of Maurice Leroux, public relations adviser to the Quebec Liberals and producer of the premier's telecasts, Mr. Lesage called it "a routine news item."

Mr. Leroux said he was stepping down because the Lesage government had ceased progressing and was going backwards, but Mr. Lesage said he had told the premier he intended to leave for a higher-paying job.

Premier Lesage is to preside at a provincial cabinet meeting today.

Quebec intends to negotiate directly with foreign countries on matters the province will be called on to apply, Paul Gerin-Lajoie, Quebec education minister, said Thursday night.

Record-making air raid

Blast Viet Cong lines

SAIGON (CP) — About 200 U.S. Air Force and Navy planes destroyed six vital bridges and a river ferry in North Viet Nam today, a U.S. spokesman reported. It was the most destructive operation mounted to date against North Vietnamese transportation lines.

The spokesman said all the planes returned safely. But on the ground four Americans were killed today, and one Thursday.

The South Vietnamese Air Force said two of its squadrons levelled a "major military position" about six miles southwest of Quang Khe, in North Viet Nam, and destroyed the only ferryboat at Xuan Son, the Gianh River.

The South Vietnamese said the Gianh River ferry had been used to move Communist reinforcements to such southern bases as Dong Hoi.

Several bridges were reported destroyed. In addition to bombs and rockets, the planes made extensive use of Bullpup guided air-to-ground missiles.

Several of the bridges are key spans across wide rivers. All the planes returned safely.

South Vietnamese Skyraider fighter-bombers also were active over North Viet Nam during the day. They bombed and strafed military buildings about 30 miles north of the border. They attacked targets near Quang Khe, then patrolled Highway 1 looking for military traffic. None was sighted.

BLOW UP TRAIN

In the ground war, marauding bands of Viet Cong were active in the Da Nang area. One group mined a train about seven miles to the northwest while another poured small arms fire into a South Vietnamese Army radio station about five miles northeast of Da Nang.

Red River rises

EMERSON, Minn. (CP) — The Red River is continuing its sinister rise in this community of 930 about 60 miles south of Winnipeg.

The crest is due to hit Saturday, and the river late Thursday was about 1 1/2 feet over the permanent dike capacity. Bulldozers have pushed up a mud wall to protect a motel and about 30 low-lying homes.

Boycott ends

REGINA (CP) — A school boycott started by 15 French-speaking parents who withdrew 45 children from separate schools in Saskatchewan two days before the Easter recess appeared Thursday to be over after a meeting was held between a parents group and the provincial education department.

Ernest Bourgault, spokesman for the parents, said at a press conference after the meeting he was satisfied the government would take action at "the very base of the problem and I will be sending my children back to school Monday."

He said he would talk to the other parents on returning to the parents protested the province's 60-year-old law which states classroom instruction must be given in the English language.

Red satellite

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet Union announced today that it had put its first communications satellite into orbit and had successfully carried out television transmissions between Moscow and Vladivostok, 5,700 miles east of the Soviet capital on the Sea of Japan.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the satellite Molniya I went into a "high elliptical orbit" today.

Molniya — the name means lightning — is Russia's first attempt at orbiting an artificial space-earth communications station.

Tass said all equipment on board was operating normally following launching this morning.

Parted good friends

PM tells of row with President

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Thursday he and President Johnson "had an argument" when they met earlier this month at Camp David, Md., but insisted they had parted friends.

The prime minister, holding a press conference on the second anniversary of his minority government's taking power, said: "When I left him he certainly wasn't mad."

Mr. Pearson gave no details on what the argument was about, but there have been reports that the U.S. president was annoyed about the prime minister's speech suggesting a "measured pause" in U.S. bombing against North Viet Nam "at the appropriate time."

The Pearson-Johnson meeting at Camp David, Md., was held the day following Mr. Pearson's speech in Philadelphia.

To newspaper men Mr. Pearson again emphasized that he had advocated a pause "at the right time."

"I didn't say stop fighting and hope the other people stop tomorrow," he added.

The prime minister celebrated the second anniversary by attending a small reception given by his staff. The party also marked his 68th birthday today and he was presented with a red and green fishing cap.

REVIEWS AFFAIRS

He also told the press conference: —A federal-provincial conference to discuss the federal government's war on poverty proposals and other measures will probably begin May 31.

—Indian Prime Minister Shastri, whose visit to the United States has been postponed, will visit Canada as planned. Shastri is expected in early June.

—He will carry on "as long as I'm fit and healthy of mind, body and spirit."

—Discussions are under way with France for a possible sale of Canadian uranium, and he hopes the "delicate problem" of inspection to ensure its peaceful use can be solved.

—There is no particular time set for any cabinet changes and "there is no truth" to a report that Privy Council President McRith might become justice minister, succeeding Guy Favreau.

The prime minister agreed with questioners that the situation in Viet Nam is deteriorating, but only because the fighting was continuing and not because of any change in U.S. bombing policies.

He said the United States was continuing to bomb only strategic locations and not communities.

STILL HOPEFUL

Mr. Pearson said although both Moscow and Peking have rejected President Johnson's offer to negotiate, they had rejected it "in a form I would like to think is not final."

Mr. Pearson was in a jovial mood for the twin celebrations. It was also the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Ypres, and for the prime minister it brought back a humorous recollection of London.

He and a friend, both newly-arrived soldiers in London, had unsuccessfully tried to obtain a table at a posh restaurant. Finally a Briton intervened to help by telling the proprietor "these are two of the men who held the line at Ypres."

Provincial secretary as historian

QUEBEC (CP) — A two-volume history of the Acadians was unveiled Wednesday night by its author, Bona Arsenault, Quebec provincial secretary.

The books, entitled Histoire de Genealogie des Acadiens (History and Genealogy of the Acadians), is to be released in three United States cities during the weekend.

A high proportion of the residents of the three cities, all in Louisiana, are of Acadian descent. Mr. Arsenault said he will be at New Orleans for a ceremony Friday, and at Baton Rouge and Lafayette Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Arsenault, himself of Acadian descent, has worked on the 1,126-page history since 1949.

He described his book as the first "objective history of the Acadians" and said secondary schools in the Maritime provinces already are considering adopting it as a school text.

The work is a synthesis of Acadian history and traces the family trees of all Acadian families since the founding of Port Royal, Mr. Arsenault said.

The book preface was written by Louis Robichaud, premier of New Brunswick.

The work, published in Canada, is now on sale in Quebec City at $20 for the two volumes.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

WEST'S DOUBLE HELPS SOUTH

By JACOBY & SON

1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Some misguided bridge player invented the term "free double" to cover the double of an adverse game or slam contract.

The theory is that the double is free because it costs little if declarer makes his contract but such doubles are far from free when they tell declarer how to play a hand.

North's jump to four spades was in the nature of a slight overbid but he certainly did not need much in his partner's hand to produce a game. West really liked the four spade contract and there was nothing doubtful about his double. That is there was nothing doubtful about it in his own mind.

South ruffed the king of clubs in dummy and decided the double meant that West would hold four trumps. Hence, South decided to go very slow at leading the trump suit. He led a diamond to his king, returned to diamonds and ruffed a third diamond in his own hand.

Canadians seek entry in US mart

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal trade department and 29 Canadian fashion manufacturers have teamed up for a full-scale assault on the mammoth United States clothing market.

In its first major attempt to promote Canadian fashions in the U.S., the trade department is sponsoring a five-day fashion showing in Chicago, starting Sunday.

The huge display, occupying 24 rooms in a Chicago hotel, is made up of women's and children's clothing from manufacturers in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

All manufacturers in the show will be displaying Canada-made leaf hangtags, and many have said they plan to use the trade department tags on all future exports to the U.S.

A highlight of the Chicago trade promotion will be a fashion show Monday night in which Canadian designers will present their predictions for fashions of the future.

Trade department officials said Wednesday the Chicago show was organized following a highly-successful display of Canadian high-style clothing in Philadelphia last fall.

About a dozen firms who specialize in expensive high-fashion designs took part in the Philadelphia venture. The department says the firms gleaned a large number of American orders.

Next week's display will be made up of a wider range of clothing at popular prices.

The emphasis will be on sportswear, including suede and seakskin coats, suits and hats, knitted suits, dresses, sweaters, and a large group of ski and after-ski clothes. One Toronto firm will show its newly-designed maple leaf tartan.

Many of the clothes to be shown to American buyers are distinctly Canadian in style. Some examples are red fox fur ski jackets, hand-knit woolen hats from Quebec, and moccasins, slippers and after-ski boots in designs inspired by traditional patterns of the Huron Indians.

A Montreal firm which produces fur hats will show a wide range of styles in lambskin, fox, racoon, muskrat and lynx.

Ookpik, the Canadian trade department's symbol, will be at the show. The furry arctic owl will be in the display of a Montreal handicraft manufacturer who specializes in northern products. Ookpik will share the limelight with seakskin parkas, fur hats, and seal and fur mittens.

A long-distance telephone call will be made on Friday night to a missionary in Nepal, Korea, or Japan. The Bell Telephone Company is setting up facilities whereby any person can speak and the audience can hear both conversations.

Saturday morning there will be entertainment for children in the form of games and songs. Saturday night is to be an international night and will feature foods, games, and songs of far away places.

Sunday night there will be films, a male quartet, and some group singing.

Displays will be open to the public on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The festival is in the public interest, and there will be no admission charge.

About Television

NEW YORK (AP) — "If you don't get the character right in a one-hour dramatic show, you've blown it forever," says Tom Doovay.

"The big plus in working with actors in a serial is that you get another chance to make things right."

Donovan, producer-director with a string of more than 250 television and stage credits, is preparing a twice-weekly evening serial for CBS' daytime As the World Turns.

The new soap opera, called Our Private World, will debut on CBS May 5, a Wednesday, with a second show the next Friday. Some of the problems involved launching one of the established characters of the old show on a new life. It is being accompanied by having Lisa, played by Eileen Fulton, leave the As the World Turns locale, Oakdale, to start a new life with new friends in Chicago.

"All the others will stay in the day-time show," Donovan said, "but there may be visits back and forth within the plot lines of the two shows."

A large congregation was in attendance and listened to an appropriate and inspiring sermon.

The choir rendered the anthem "He Is Risen", followed by communion, with the attending elders G.P.R. Fortier and Roland Perron.

The altar of the church was decorated with Easter lilies and other flowers. Mr. Canepel thanked those who had brought them to the church.

After the service, Mrs. F. Canepel was presented with an Easter lily plant, for her devoted services, by Mrs. Real Larochelle, president of the W.M.S., and Mrs. G. O. Malboeuf, with a mauve pom-pom plant, by Mrs. L. Vidal, in recognition of her faithful services to the choir.

Appropriate hymns were sung and the choir, with Mrs. H. Frazer as organist, rendered two anthems: Resurrection Morn, with Mrs. E. McNally taking the solo part, and All Hail The Power, for the second.

The church was decorated with Easter lilies and plants. One of the chrysanthum plants was in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnston from their family.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From private eye to the FBI with only a season between: The story of Efram Zimbalist Jr.

A season ago, the actor finished a long run as star of 77 Sunset Strip. He declared himself weary of the television grind and anxious to test his wings in feature films.

Recently he was announced to head one of next season's formidable entries, The FBI Story, for which the government agency promised aid and support. What happened to Zimbalist during the interim?

"I became disillusioned with the rat race that working in features entails," he said. "To get roles in features you have to play the social bit—copy up to these oldtime producers who think the movie business is just what it used to be."

"Well, if that's what working in pictures entails, I say to hell with it. I would much rather be working in television, where you don't have to put up with that nonsense."

WORK HARD
"Sure, you work hard. But that never bothered me, as long as the material was good. I was bugged by the tripe we had to do on 77 Sunset Strip. But I think it will be different this time."

The reason for his faith is the creator of the series, Quinn Martin, mastermind of such vehicles as Fugitive and 12 O'Clock High. The producer sold the series to ABC and sponsors without a pilot, unusual in these times, when buyers like to see what they're getting.

Zimbalist's part in The Reward contributed to his disillusionment with movies. It was directed by the French director, Serge Bourguignon, and members of the cast and crew still are shaking their heads over the experience.

"Picture this," Zimbalist said. "We were in the middle of Death Valley in the heat of Summer—120 degrees—and he took one scene 55 times. That's right: 55 times! We were all going nuts."

RC school commissioners want out of region board

The Sherbrooke Catholic School Commission wants to withdraw from the Estrie Regional School Board.

A commission delegation met with department of education deputy minister, Arthur Tremblay, in Quebec City Wednesday to discuss the question.

A full list of reasons for the withdrawal request will be given out next Tuesday at the commission meeting, Sherbrooke commission secretary Yvon Lanctot said today.

The delegation members were Sherbrooke board chairman, Francois Thibault; Roger Robert, director of Sherbrooke Catholic secondary school teaching; board treasurer Roland Quintal, and Mr. Lanctot.

The Estrie Regional School Board covers much of the Eastern Townships, taking in the area from Asbestos to Rock Island and Magog to Scotstown.

The region has a population of about 200,000. The Estrie board has nine members, three of them (including the chairman) chosen from Sherbrooke and the other six from districts within the region.

If the Sherbrooke commission should withdraw, the whole regional board would have to be reconstituted since Sherbrooke is its present nucleus.

The Sherbrooke commissioners would like to form a new regional board taking in only the immediate Sherbrooke area.

The Estrie region has several English-Catholic schools, mainly at Sherbrooke and Richmond.

MAGOG (Staff) — A public meeting to approve a $195,000 loan bylaw to buy land for a new city hall will be held next Thursday, April 29, says city secretary - treasurer Jean-Paul Lange.

ST. JACQUES DE LEEDS (Staff) — Two young sisters were burned to death yesterday morning when a flash fire swept through their farm home located in this village 20 miles from Thetford Mines. Dead are the three and four year old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adrien Gosselin. Another daughter, two months old, was rescued from the burning house by her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Gosselin were in the stable when the fire broke out, and when they returned to the house at about 8 a.m., they were unable to rescue the little girls because of smoke and flames, Thetford Mines QPP said this morning.

The fire was apparently started by the kitchen stove, Sgt. Maurice Lecours, officer-in-charge of the Thetford QPP told the Record.

He said Mrs. Gosselin lit the stove about 6 a.m., then joined her husband in the barn at 7 a.m. until 8 a.m. An inquest is to be held today in Thetford Mines by the district coroner Dr. J. M. Cote.

Then Again Maybe Those Signals Aren't From Outer Space

French Canada says:

Bilingualism concerns MPs, too; Quebec surprises hospital MDs

Montreal La Presse... Last month two members of Ottawa city council showed much bad grace in meeting a request from the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism. The commission wanted information on the place given French in the municipal administration. Now members of Parliament have reacted in the same way to requests for information submitted to them by the commission. So bad humor seems to be contagious in the capital. It was not really surprising that Mr. Diefenbaker should see fit to object to the commission's methods since he didn't show much warmth in the first place to the setting up of the commission. But it was both unexpected in the extreme and rather disquieting that Prime Minister Pearson—father and friend of the commission—should turn up among those dissatisfied with its methods. He announced he would not fill out the questionnaire as it was presented to him and the other parliamentarians by the commission. The fussy reservations of Mr. Pearson about the commission's methods endanger the promise of further advances. The commission has sought to avoid this danger by announcing it will continue to gather information among the MPs as long as they respond. This has been the case with about 60 of the members up to now. Everyone knows the commission is getting help from experts. Are the MPs fearful that non-elected officials are receiving, through the good graces of the commission, a mass of information about the elected representatives which, confidential as it is, would give the bureaucrats the upper hand over Parliament? If that were the case, and if there were any grounds for fearing the elimination of parliamentary privileges as a result of the commission's operations, then there could be only one thing to do—make Parliament better. The problem of bilingualism is not only a problem for the man-in-the-street, it also is primarily a problem to be handled by the Canadians who sit in Parliament. It's a problem to be dealt with by Messrs. Pearson, Diefenbaker and company. — Guy Cormier (April 15)

Editorial viewpoints from the French-language press, prepared by The Canadian Press.

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste—A few years ago, under pressure from the big labor organizations, the Ontario government adopted a law against racial discrimination (in public accommodations). The representations of the unions were based on numerous cases of discrimination which had become almost regular practice in the Windsor area. The effect was hardly better than mediocre. Legal proceedings undertaken by the attorney-general of the province very largely failed. The law does not appear very strong. One is entitled to wonder: Has the legislator not left some gaps in the net—and perhaps deliberately? The racial discrimination question has just come up again in the Ontario legislature. The bill was to ban racial discrimination in the renting of apartments in the province. It made discrimination illegal in apartment houses containing more than three dwellings. A Liberal amendment called for the banning of racial discrimination in all apartment blocks, no matter their size. The government rejected this amendment and voted it down 63 to 23. This racial discrimination remains legal in Ontario—but cannot, according to the law, be practised in large apartment buildings. The Roberts government will not be able to produce any principles on which to justify its refusal to accept the Opposition's amendment. And furthermore what good do these anti-discrimination laws do? Perhaps Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia has the right idea when he says the desire to be just is infinitely more valuable than the legal texts to work against racial discrimination and establish equality for all. Those old English blue laws: What do you do on a rainy Sunday?

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA) — You don't have to be a Philadelphia lawyer to know how to spend Sunday in Britain, but it helps. Otherwise you may find yourself tangling with the law. The British Sabbath is hedged around by a trick undergrowth of laws, some of them 500 years old, and all of them designed to promote gloom. Not even a Philadelphia lawyer could make sense of many of them.

For example, you can go to the movies in Britain on Sunday, but you cannot see a play — not unless you are a member of a theater club giving the play.

You can listen to Sir Laurence Olivier recite Hamlet's soliloquies on Sunday, providing he is wearing ordinary street clothes. But if he is in costume or wears stage make-up while reciting, he can be had up for breaking the law.

A concert singer can entertain his audience by singing "Annie Laurie" on a Sunday, but he may not wear a kilt while doing so unless he is a Scotsman and the kilt is his ordinary dress. Otherwise it is classified as a theatrical costume.

Many of the laws under which Britons groan on the Sabbath date back to the Protestant Reformation when kill-joys delighted in spreading the gloom.

But now sweeping changes in Britain's Sunday observance laws have been recommended by a government committee headed by Lord Crathorne, the former minister of agriculture.

After studying the problem for three years, the Crathorne committee recommends that theaters, variety shows, dance halls, circuses and fun fairs, be allowed to open on Sundays, and that all restrictions on cinemas and musical entertainment be lifted.

The thorny problem of Sunday trading was also examined by the Crathorne committee. Some of the restrictions here date back to 1448, when a Sunday Fairs Act prohibited the showing of goods on Sundays.

Under the present tangled web of Sunday Trading laws, restaurants can serve meals on Sundays, but not fish-and-chips shops. You can buy frozen peas on Sunday, but not canned peas, fresh milk, but not canned or dried milk.

A drugstore can sell you razor blades on Sunday for trimming your bunions (the blade then becomes a surgical instrument), but not for shaving.

The Crathorne committee would alter these laws, particularly as they relate to food and drink.

In a recently unearthed letter which Victoria wrote to her eldest daughter in 1859 the sovereign declared, "You know I am not at all an admirer or approver of our very dull Sundays, for I think the absence of innocent amusement for the poor people a misfortune and an encouragement of vice."

No retirement age for state leaders

Two notable Canadians — Governor General Georges Vanier and Prime Minister Lester Pearson — today are celebrating birthday anniversaries. The Governor General becomes seventy-seven and the Prime Minister sixty-eight. Both men will receive sincere congratulations from the people of Canada to whom they have given valuable service in the past and are prepared to carry on their important work in the future.

The story of these two men raises some serious questions as to the pressure being exercised in many quarters for compulsory retirement now effective in many lines of industry — and in the civil service itself — of employees at the age of sixty-five. There is even talk of lowering the general retirement age to sixty.

Both men were past the retirement age when they assumed the most important position of their lives. The Governor General was seventy-one when called upon to become the Queen's personal representative in Canada.

No one can argue that he has not filled his high office with honor and dignity, that there has been any decline in its efficiency because the incumbent was well beyond the age a man supposedly should be put on the shelf.

Prime Minister Pearson had already passed the sixty-five-year limit when he took over the reins of office two years ago.

Despite two turbulent sessions of parliament he seems none the worse and reportedly intends to stick on to office for several years to come.

Had the compulsory retirement rule applied to government and political leaders Canada would have been deprived of the services of some of its ablest citizens.

The two immediate predecessors to Mr. Pearson as Prime Minister, John Diefenbaker and Louis St. Laurent were both at the retirement age or slightly over when they were first named to this high office.

Those Rhinoceros boys at it again

The Rhinoceros party, a Montreal-based group which has the advantage of enjoying a sense of humor, is back in the news again with the announcement by its president, Dr. Paul Ferron, that it plans to field a candidate against Justice Minister Favreau in the next federal election.

The exact man to carry the party banner has not been selected as yet. In fact he may be anyone of a number of individuals whose names appear in the telephone directory, as long as the name is Lucien Rivard.

Canadian politics certainly need an infusion of humor. Few of the men and women representing the various parties in the parliamentary field seem to realize that the average Canadian voter is looking for something else from his elected representative than gloomy epistles of doom or polemics of superior knowledge.

But herein lies the danger. Perhaps the Rhinoceros party may meet with more success than it expects.

Voters, thoroughly disgusted with the actions of the present parties at Ottawa, might throw their support in substantial numbers to Rhinoceroses, with the result these oddballs might find themselves elected.

Of course, there is one relieving thought.

Somewhere in the rather unique party platform there may be a provision that if a Rhinocerosite does manage to get elected he must pledge himself to resign his office without delay.

Then again if elected he may begin to take himself seriously and decide the $18,000 indemnity is something to be treasured rather than discarded.

Bride we know says that when she makes cake she always bakes three of each kind. One of them might turn out right.

Quebec may prevent federal tax cut

Pre-guessing the contents of the federal budget to be presented Monday night by Finance Minister Gordon is a thankless and perhaps useless task.

The Finance Minister remains close-mouthed as to his intentions. And when he does make any comment his words are couched in such a way as to leave the impression that tax cuts are desirable but cannot be carried out or they are undesirable but will be accomplished.

This is in the tradition of all finance ministers who supposedly are the most secretive of men.

Thus there is every indication that Monday night's document may provide for a reduction in individual and corporation income taxes in order to aid the general economy.

But there is one complication — the opting-out formula whereby Quebec province collects its own taxes in lieu of having some of them, including the income tax, collected by Ottawa.

Under the existing setup, the Quebec income tax payer is on virtually the same footing as his compatriots in the other provinces.

However, should Ottawa reduce its tax rates, the Quebec taxpayer would be facing a heavier levy than elsewhere — in other words double taxation — because the reduction would apply only to the 56 per cent taken by Ottawa of the Quebec income tax.

Ottawa, of course, could make the reductions and let Premier Jean Lesage face the indignant citizens himself. But the Quebec Premier could cause considerable trouble for his federal colleagues next election time.

Other papers say:

Grandiose farm plan of Harry Hays

Hon. Harry Hays appears to have some rather fancy goals in mind for Canada's agricultural industry. If they are to be achieved, it will only be through federal farm aid and planning on a greater scale than this country has ever known in the past, and could represent a sharp break with the free-enterprise tradition which has governed farming operations up until now.

Mr. Hays, in his capacity as minister of agriculture, reviewed his aims in a recent House of Commons speech. Since assumption of his cabinet post two years ago, he has made wide-ranging visits to the several farming regions of Canada and trips to ten foreign countries, in order to study farm problems at first hand and evolve policies which the Liberal government might adopt. Canada undoubtedly has agricultural problems which lend themselves legitimately to governmental interest. Whether as many of them require governmental intervention, or whether these need as much intervention as Mr. Hays proposes, are debatable questions, to say the least.

Mr. Hays says Canadian agriculture as a whole is healthier and more productive than ever before yet there are thousands of individual farmers who still have serious problems which can be summed up in two words — low income. The same probably can be said of other industries. There are business ventures which survive and those which go broke, some which pay off handsomely and some which yield marginal returns. While this is not a happy situation for the failures, it does keep business on a realistic rather than an artificial basis, the distinguishing mark of a healthier economy.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room.

He that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you (Romans 8:11). PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we rejoice and praise Thee that Jesus has taken away the sting of death and the victory of the grave. We thank Thee for giving us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ, in His name we offer thanksgiving and praise. Amen.

Sherbrooke Daily Record HOUSE PLAN OF THE WEEK

NEW HOUSE DESIGN—This three bedroom bungalow by architect B. L. Peterson of Victoria is designed to take advantage of a sloping site so that a proposed playroom with a fireplace, a washroom, as well as utility and storage facilities can be used to greatest advantage in the basement. An access directly from the outside adds to the convenience of the lower floor level arrangement. The arrangement of carport and covered walks adds greatly to the exterior appearance of the house. Within, there is excellent separation of the living, working and bedroom areas. The living room faces the rear of the lot and a balcony is situated next to the kitchen and combination dining-family room. For best sitting this house should face east. The floor area is 1,235 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 46 feet four inches by 47 feet four inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 2324, can be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Swiss delegates tour Cowansville

COWANSVILLE (Staff) — A delegation of 47, largely members of the Swiss Master Carpenters (Contractors) Furniture Dealers Association on a tour of Canada and the United States, paid a visit Wednesday to the Vilas Industries Limited plant in Cowansville and Waterloo.

The delegation also attended a noon hour reception at the Cowansville Town Hall where they were received by Mayor Roland Desourdy, Alderman Arthur J. Knight of the department of Publicity and Public Relations and Alderman Norman E. Browning.

"I am honored and pleased that these people chose Cowansville to visit out of such a big country as ours," said Mayor Desourdy.

"I have been to their country which has developed a lot more than ours. Things are so clean everywhere! Their land is well taken care of. What ever can be produced on their land is being produced. The country, Switzerland, is well a reflection of the people who live there," said Mayor Desourdy.

"The people are highly educated, with most of its people able to speak at least three or four languages. We think we are good because we are able to talk two. Today we are heading in that direction, and the sooner we learn more languages of the people who live in our country, the sooner we will be able to enjoy the many nationalities around us and those who come here to visit," he said.

The group arrived in Montreal Tuesday afternoon and visited Vilas Industries furniture manufacturing plant from 9 to

The group began their Canadian tour at Montreal Tuesday by visiting the St. Lawrence Seaway, the Caughnawaga Indian Reservation and sightseeing in Montreal. They will also on their 16 day tour of manufacturing plants visit Toronto, Ottawa, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, Pittsburg, New York, Washington and Pennsylvania.

Seven receive tax charges

SWEETSBURG WARD (Staff) — Seven persons appeared before Judge Patrick Delaney in Court of Sessions Tuesday on charges involving sales tax and Provincial income tax charges. Fines of $25 and $50 were levied by the court.

Normand Tessier, of Granby, was sentenced to a fine of $50 and court costs when he pleaded guilty to failing to report his sales tax for January, 1965. He was given one month delay to pay the fine.

Vivien Bienville was also fined $50 and costs on a sales tax charge.

Yves Morin was sentenced to a fine of $25 and costs and was given three weeks to pay when he pleaded guilty to an income tax charge.

George Racicot was sentenced to a fine of $50 and costs on a Provincial Income Tax charge. In default of payment he is liable to one month in jail.

The charge involved a delay of two days following notice by the tax department that he would be fined $25 per day for failure to pay on a definite date.

Lino Morzalioli was sentenced to a $50 fine on the same charge.

Larocque Enterprises, of Cowansville, was sentenced to a fine of $50 and costs on a sales tax charge.

Alain Boucher of Pike River, was sentenced to a fine of $50 and costs for failure to file a sales tax report, and was also ordered by the court to pay the outstanding amount of $43.32.

Studebaker's profits soar

HAMILTON — Byers A. Burlingame, president of Studebaker Corporation, has announced first quarter operating profits were up 74 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Operating income for the first quarter of 1965 was $2,013,363, equal to 14 cents a share on sales of $49,072,996. In addition, the corporation had a non-recurring profit of $3,027,326 in February, resulting in total net income for the quarter of $5,040,689, equal to 35 cents a share.

These results compare with operating net income for the same period in 1964 of $1,156,180, equal to eight cents a share on sales of $67,322,765.

The French boycott followed by three days an announcement that France would not send its foreign minister to the annual meeting of SEATO foreign ministers in London May 3-5. Instead, the French are sending an observer.

French aloofness from the Southeast Asia pact is a demonstration of President de Gaulle's disapproval of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, which is backed by the other members of the alliance. They are Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Speculation mounted that de Gaulle intends to withdraw France entirely from SEATO, but there still is no official indication of that.

A Handley Page spokesman said the repairs will not involve the grounding of the aircraft. It will probably take one to two weeks to repair each plane. Total cost of the repairs is estimated at $200,000 ($800,000).

Two days ago the company said in a statement that operators of Heralds over a certain working age had been asked to fly them at reduced pressure, following the discovery of "small areas of skin corrosion in the lower part of the fuselage."

The aircraft to be repaired are being called in from airlines as far apart as Brazil and Switzerland.

Investigations are still going on into two Herald crashes—one in eastern Nova Scotia this winter in which eight persons died, and one in Syria in which 54 persons were killed.

PARIS (Reuters) — The French navy will not take part in the coming SEATO naval exercise in the South China Sea May 1-24, an authoritative French source said here today.

Fashion Tips

Lined dresses are more expensive than those which are not lined. But if your clothes must last a long time you will find the additional expense a worth-while economy. When a dress is lined it looks better, wears better and holds its shape.

Under FWI, Ceylonese woman tours Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—A Ceylonese woman will tour Canada this summer under the sponsorship of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, the FWIC national executive announced Wednesday.

Miss Lilamini Perera of Colombo, Ceylon, is to study the work of Canadian women's institutes for 2½ months from July 1.

Miss Perera, who will travel on a UNESCO travel grant, is an extension worker for the Ceylon women's institutes (Mahilli Samiti).

Arriving in Vancouver, she will visit Saskatoon, Antigonish, N.S., Charlottetown and Ottawa. While in Antigonish, Miss Perera will take a course in extension work at St. Francis Xavier University.

Miss Perera's visit is part of the federation's increasing interest in international exchanges and affairs. Reporting for the committee on United Nations and international affairs at Wednesday's executive meeting, Mrs. Ray Tozer of Red Deer, Alta., said Canadian WI members are participating in eight different programs through international organizations.

WORKS WITH UN

Through the Lady Aberdeen scholarship fund, the FWIC works closely with the United Nations World Health Organization and Food and Agriculture Organization "to eliminate hunger, disease, ignorance through the teaching of hygiene, child care, nutrition, sanitation, community living, etc. at the grassroots level."

Institutes have adopted foster children in Korea, Greece, France, Jamaica, Germany, Austria, Hong Kong, Italy, Turkey, India, Manila and British Honduras.

Books are being collected and sent overseas to various needy areas. Many institutes correspond with sister groups in other countries. These include England, Scotland, Ireland, U.S.A., New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, Switzerland, Holland and Denmark. Countries which have a growing correspondence link with Canada are British Guiana and the islands of the British West Indies and the Caribbean area.

Another international project supported by the institutes is the Unitarian Service Committee. "Some provinces have supported all of Dr. Lotta Hitchmanova's (USC executive director) projects. Members have donated clothing for overseas distribution, and many layettes have been made available."

About 200 Canadian women are expected to attend the triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World in Dublin, Ireland, in September.

The five official delegates to the conference include Mrs. Philip Matheson, Oyster Bed Bridge, P.E.I. (national president) and Mrs. George Clarke, St. John's.

DEAR POLLY - When eating chicken or other food eaten with the fingers, we use clean sponges instead of paper napkins that stick to the fingers. Wet the sponges and put one at each place at the table. After the meal I wash the sponges, let them dry and put them back in a plastic bag for another time. This is really great for the kids who keep wanting to wash their hands all through the meal.

Nursing Assistants Alumnae sponsors successful tea, sale

Easter colors predominated the attractively decorated hall at the Norton Residence for the Spring Salad Tea, sponsored by the Nursing Assistants Alumnae, on Wednesday, April 21.

The guests were received by Miss C. Aitkenhead, Director of Nursing, and Mrs. W. Coupland, immediate past president.

At the tea table, covered with a lace cloth and centered with yellow candles and an attractive arrangement of yellow and mauve mums, donated by Mrs. T. J. Quintin, the pourers were Mrs. D. Gerrish, Mrs. MacMillan, Mrs. John Rose and Miss Beverly Harrison. Added to the colorful decorations were striped parasols in Easter colors, one at each end of the table.

Nursing assistants served the guests at individual tables, which were centered each with an Easter bunny and cart.

Sales tables of food and miscellaneous articles added much to the very successful tea.

Abandoned practice of infant feeding revived

EDMONTON (CP) — Modern women are beginning to do with knowledge and understanding what their grandmothers did naturally, says Mrs. Ronald Leblanc, leader of the Edmonton branch of La Leche League International.

She was referring in an interview to breast-feeding of infants, a practice that has been revived to some extent after being abandoned by most North American women in recent years.

Leche is Spanish for milk and the organization, founded by a group of Chicago women in 1956, offers information on breast-feeding.

The league has 150 branches around the world, including four in Canada, and it strives to overcome misconceptions about the practice.

Mrs. Leblanc, formerly a social worker, says the branch is ready to provide a series of four instructional meetings, whenever there is a demand.

She says breast-feeding can be problem-free for most women, is easier than bottle-feeding, helps keep the figure trim.

She concedes, however, that it may not be right for all women. "Every woman has to make up her own mind. If she's not happy about breast-feeding, even after knowing the facts, then she shouldn't do it."

Today's recipes

BAKED PORK CHOPS WITH ORANGE SAUCE
½ cup fresh orange juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
½ teaspoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons finely chopped onion
¼ teaspoon grated orange peel
6 loin or shoulder pork chops, 1-inch thick
1½ tablespoons oil
2 oranges, sliced ½-inch thick

Combine first 8 ingredients and pour over chops. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Remove chops from marinade and saute in oil until browned on both sides. Arrange chops in heat-proof casserole. Pour over remaining marinade. Bake, covered, in a preheated moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 hour or until pork is tender. Garnish with sliced oranges.

Yield: 6 servings.

LE GRAND SUCCES RESERVE CHOCOLATE CUPS
Heat 6 squares semisweet chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter, stirring until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth. Using a flexible spatula, swirl mixture around bottom and sides of 6 large paper baking cups, covering the entire inner surface with a thin layer. Place cups in muffin pans and chill. Peel off paper and keep in refrigerator until ready to fill.

FRESH FRUIT
Dice or slice any combination of fresh fruit to measure 1 cup. Use berries, pineapple, melon, banana or orange. Sprinkle fruit with 2 tablespoons sugar and 2 tablespoons Grand Marnier.

PRESENTATION
Cut a thin slice Genoise or sponge cake into 6 rounds, 2 inches in diameter. Dip each piece into Grand Marnier and place one in bottom of each chocolate cup. (To keep cake from crumbling, you may instead place a round in each cup, then sprinkle with the liqueur.)

Put a large spoonful of vanilla ice cream on each cake round and cover with a spoonful of the fresh fruit. Garnish each with a dab of whipped cream and top with a whole strawberry. Serves 6.

Cajun rice cakes
5 slices bacon
¼ cup minced green pepper
½ medium onion, minced
3 cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 eggs, well-beaten
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon Angostura aromatic bitters

Fry bacon until crisp. Remove bacon from fat and add green pepper and onion. Saute until tender. To rice in large bowl, add pepper, onions and bacon drippings. Crumble bacon and add. Stir in baking powder, flour, eggs, tomato sauce, salt, pepper and Angostura bitters. Beat until well blended. Fry like griddle cakes on a lightly-greased griddle. Yield: 12 to 14 five-inch cakes, using ½ cup batter for each cake.

Reflect on This
Since a bathing suit shows off the figure more than any other sportswear item, it is a big fashion mistake to buy one without first trying it on in front of a full-length mirror.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Sandy Koufax tosses four-hitter to prove his arm is OK, posts second win, Cubs edge Cincinnati 3-2

Sandy Koufax showed Thursday night that he's not just a Sunday pitcher. Koufax, the arthritic-elbowed southpaw, pitched a four-hitter and gained his second complete game victory in as many starts in Los Angeles Dodgers' 2-1 triumph over New York Mets.

His performance came with only four days rest, marking the first time Koufax has tried to pitch in regular rotation with damaged elbow.

When it was discovered earlier this month that the 29-year-old left hander had an arthritic condition, Dodger officials believed he might be able to pitch only once a week—simply a Sunday pitcher.

He started out that way last Sunday in beating Philadelphia Phillies 6-2. In less than 48 hours, though, Koufax had decided he could pitch before the week was up.

Following his trial against the Mets, it appeared he was ready to continue in rotation. But it depended on how the elbow reacted today.

"It's the day after I pitch that it locks," Koufax explained.

WERE ALL SINGLES
All of the hits the Mets got were singles, two by Billy Cowan. Koufax walked only one batter—Roy McMillan in the seventh inning—while striking out nine. The lone run off him was unearned, a result of Maury Wills' seventh-inning error, leaving him with a 1.00 earned run average.

In the only other National League game Thursday, Chicago Cubs nipped Cincinnati Reds 3-2.

Despite Koufax' stinging pitching, the Dodgers had to go into there were two out in the ninth to defeat Jack Fisher.

Wes Parker led off the inning with a double but was out trying for third on Willie Davis' bunt. Willie then moved to second as Tommy Davis grounded out and scooted home with the winning run on John Roseboro's single to right field.

Ron Swoboda singled across the Mets' run with two out after McMillan walked and raced to third as Wills let Joe Christopher's grounder get by him.

The Cubs edged the Reds on Billy Williams' run-scoring single in the eighth inning. Glenn Beckert, who scored Chicago's first run in the first inning, opened the eighth with an infield single, was sacrificed to second and came in on Williams' hit.

John Edwards had tied the game 2-2 with a solo homer in Cincinnati's half of the eighth.

Bunny Ahearne is willing to bet that East Germany will get full recognition by Olympic Committee

LONDON (CP) — John F. (Bunny) Ahearne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, says he's willing to bet the International Olympic Committee will grant "full recognition to East Germany this year."

Such a turn of events could bring havoc to plans for the 1968 Winter Olympics scheduled for Grenoble, France, and could conceivably force the IOC to find a new site for the games.

Ahearne, who attended last week's IOC meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland, said in an interview Thursday that the matter will come up again at the Olympic meeting in Madrid in October and "I have a very strong feeling" East Germany will get the nod.

In recent Olympics, East and West Germany have been represented by a combined team, thus getting around the ban on travel by East German teams to NATO countries.

In the past, France, a NATO member, has admitted only those East Germans given travel permission by the allied travel bureau in West Berlin.

This office usually grants visas to individual athletes—such as the two East German skaters who competed in the world championships in the United States this year—but not to teams.

This practice was one of the factors upsetting Canada's bid for the 1967 world hockey championships, since the IIHF already recognizes both East and West Germany and there was the possibility that as a host, Canada, would have to bar the East Germans.

Canada proposed to solve the problem by splitting the tournament—holding the championships in Canada and the "B" round in Europe—but the IIHF voted to give the games to Austria, where there would be no such problem.

Ahearne said he did not want to speculate on what possible alternative arrangements might be made until after a decision is taken at the Madrid meeting.

But if France refused to guarantee entry to the East German hockey team, or it was decided to hold the games somewhere other than France, then the IIHF would have to reconsider its position at the next congress meeting in September.

Of the four countries bidding against France for the 1968 games—Canada, U.S., Norway and Japan—only Japan is a non-NATO country.

Sal Burrini finally gets crack at Pone Kingpetch's crown in Rome tonight, sellout crowd expected

ROME (AP)—Salvatore Burrini, a slick Sardinian who has won 56 straight fights, gets his long-sought title shot at world flyweight champion Pone Kingpetch of Thailand tonight. Newspapers made the challenger a slight favorite.

"I'm going to beat him," said the 32-year-old Italian when the last obstacle to the three-times postponed 15-round title fight finally was cleared late Thursday.

A sellout crowd of 16,000 was assured. The champion has been guaranteed $50,000 while Burrini, the No. 1 contender, will get only $2,000.

"I would have fought him for nothing," said Burrini. "The title is what I am after."

Burrini gave up his European crown to concentrate on the world title fight. In eight years as a pro, he has racked up a 76-3-1 won-lost-draw record, including 23 knockouts. He never has been stopped.

Woodstock and Beavers clash tonight

BEAVERS GIVEN "ROYAL WELCOME" BY SHERBROOKE FANS

Key game for Athletics when they take on Beavers, both teams ready for battle, rugged tilt expected

By LEN O'DONNELL

Sherbrooke Beavers return to home ice this evening to play hosts to the Athletics of Woodstock, Ont., in the third game of the best-of-seven Eastern Canada Allan Cup playoffs. The fourth is slated Sunday afternoon while the fifth is booked Monday evening, all in Sherbrooke.

Tonight's game will get underway at 9:00 p.m. This has been set in order to allow local fans an opportunity of completing their shopping before journeying up to the Arena. Sunday's will be at 2:30 p.m. and Monday's at 8:30 p.m.

Tonight's fixture is a "key" match as far as the Athletics are concerned and they will be gunning for a victory to get back in the picture. If they drop tonight's game they will be facing elimination Sunday afternoon in the fourth tilt.

The Athletics possess a rugged aggregation with plenty of experience and they seem to know what to do with it. They have such former NHL players as Gus Morison, Jack MacIntyre, Ted Power and others who have seen plenty of minor pro hockey.

It was the first time for quite a time that the Athletics dropped two straight games. They had rolled over their opposition dropping Collingwood and Rouyn-Noranda in easy fashion but against the Beavers they ran into an unknown aggregation.

The Athletics playing good position hockey making good use of their experience but lack the speed compared to Sherbrooke. If the Beavers continue to skate, as they did in the first two games, the A's will have plenty of trouble.

Their first line is made up of Gerry Stringle at centre, Dino Leggio on left and Jack MacIntyre on right. This is their best unit but Coach Ted Power has two others to toss into the fray. The A's carry high sticks, a trademark of the pros, but this failed to stop the Beavers.

The Beavers stuck to good, sound, hard-hitting hockey and backed by a strong performance in the nets by Serge Aubrey they were tough. In the second tilt the A's predicted they were going to run the Beavers out of the rink but they got a big surprise as the locals started belting the A's in their style.

In the first game the A's came back strong in the third

Sacrifice fly gives Leafs win over Jets

Bill Spanswick, a 26-year-old lefthander, won his own game for Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League Thursday night with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly to lead the Leafs to a 3-2 win over Columbus Jets.

Spanswick's fly ball came in the fourth inning off relief pitcher Ed Hobaugh after a single and two walks had loaded the bases.

In other games Thursday, Rochester Red Wings pounded Jacksonville Suns 11-1, Toledo Mudhens blanked Buffalo Bisons 6-0 and Syracuse Chiefs defeated Atlanta Crackers 6-2.

The Leafs, seemingly masters of the thrilling finish, built up a 2-0 lead in the first inning on three walks and catcher Earl Averill's two-run single.

They held a 3-0 lead when Columbus scored a run in the seventh and another in the eighth. The Leafs needed double plays in each of these innings to avert further damage.

POUND SUNS PITCHERS

The Red Wings pounded four Jacksonville pitchers for 18 hits for their win. Steve Demeter and Merv Breeding each contributed three-run homers.

Jackie Cullen of Toledo pitched a four-hitter to lead the Mudhens to their second consecutive win over the Bisons. Archie Moore's two-run triple was the big blow in the fourth inning.

Jack Hamilton gave up only five hits as his Chiefs handed the International League leader their first loss of the season. Hamilton's win was his second of the year. He has lost none.

Zoilo Versalles belts homer to down Yanks, 7-2

Baltimore Orioles' Luis Aparicio remains undisputed president of the Latin American shortstop's association today despite a short revolution staged by Minnesota Twin insurgent Zoilo Versalles.

Versalles, the fiery Cuban whose spring training squabble with manager Sam Mele resulted in a $300 fine, had challenged for the top spot with three hits including an inside-the-park home run, and three runs batted in as the Twins thumped New York Yankees 7-2 Thursday.

It fell to Aparicio to match the performance in the only other American League game played Thursday and Luis went one better.

Aparicio ripped four hits including a homer, drove in four runs and scored three as the Orioles walloped Washington Senators 18-4.

Luis, who celebrates his 31st birthday next Thursday, even topped Versalles' speed, swiping two bases to Zoilo's one.

HAD HELP

Both shortstops had plenty of help. Tony Oliva slugging two home runs for the Twins and Curt Blefary and Brooks Robinson tagging two-run shots for the Orioles.

Pilote, Wharram return, Hawks stop Habs

CHICAGO (CP) — If there was a turning point in Thursday night's Stanley Cup final game it had to be before the opening whistle when coach Pierre Pilote and Ken Wharram.

Both players figured prominently as Chicago Black Hawks defeated Montreal Canadiens 3-1 in the third game of the best-of-seven series to leave the Canadiens with a 2-1 lead going into the fourth match here Sunday night.

Pilote, the veteran defenceman and team captain who missed the first two games of the series in Montreal because of a shoulder separation, started the play that led to the Hawks' first goal by Phil Esposito.

He passed down the right side from just inside the blueline to Chico Maki, who fed a long pass to Esposito standing unguarded at the goal mouth.

Wharram, making his first appearance of the series as right winger on Chicago's scouter line, scored the winning goal, beating Montreal goaltender Gump Worsley on a picture play.

Wharram had missed the opening two games with bruised knees and was a doubtful starter even as late as Thursday afternoon.

Maki got the other Chicago goal, his third of the playoffs.

Remember when...

Nick Metz, great utility man with the Toronto Maple Leafs, announced his retirement from National League hockey 17 years ago today—in 1948. The wheat farmer from Wilcox, Sask., then 34 years old, had been a potent factor in Toronto's Stanley Cup victory that year. He played on four NHL champion teams in 12 seasons.

Missed too many chances - Blake, Wharram and Pilote gave club a big lift, says Coach Billy Reay

CHICAGO (CP) — A picture goal, a disputed goal and missed scoring opportunities were the topics expounded by opposing coaches at opposite ends of the Chicago Stadium Thursday night.

Coach Billy Reay of Chicago Black Hawks gave rave notices to right-winger Ken Wharram. In Montreal Canadiens' quarters netminder Gump Worsley claimed a Chicago goal had been kicked in and coach Ted Blake said his club missed too many scoring chances.

"The Black Hawks had just completed a 3-1 win for their first victory against two losses in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final.

Wharram, who sat out the first two games with injured knees scored from a dead-end pass by Stan Mikita early in the final period to break a 1-1 stalemate.

"BEST I'VE SEEN"
"Wharram always gives a tremendous effort," Reay said. "But his deciding goal was one of the best I've seen all year. His movements were near perfect... it was a picture goal."

Reay said Pierre Pilote, who is suffering from a shoulder separation, and received treatment overnight at a local hospital, had appeared at game time sufficiently fit to take his turn on the ice.

"I didn't know until game time Pilote would be able to play," Reay said. "He reinjured his shoulder in the first period, but special medication will bring it around and I expect him back for our game here Sunday."

Blake was not in an expansive mood.
"We missed too many chances... that's it... that's all I want to say about it," Blake told reporters.

Know what steps to take if power failures strike

Power failures can come at any time of the year, but they are most likely during bad weather. Lines can be blown down by high winds and rain, can sag and snap under the weight of ice and snow. Low temperatures make power lines brittle, more susceptible to breaking. There are things you can do about the resulting discomfort and problems a power failure brings on, but nothing you can do about the failure itself. Stay away from downed power lines. Notify the police of the location of downed wires and they'll set up barricades. Indoors there is the problem of getting along without electricity. This means no lights, no appliances, often no heat since automatic furnaces need electricity for controls and forced air systems require it for blowers. If you have an electric stove you lack a means to cook. An emergency supply of candles and several flashlights belong in every home. Disconnect all appliances immediately—those that run continuously on electricity. These include refrigerators, freezers, furnace blowers and electric pumps. Often power is restored at only partial voltage. Motors will work harder trying to make up for less power and will cause damage to windings and contacts. Observe Lamp Keep a lamp plugged in where you can see it easily. When power is restored, observe the lamp. If it glows feebly, then you have only partial voltage. Once the light starts glowing brightly you can start connecting appliances, one at a time. Even if power were restored at full voltage, it is wise to have appliances disconnected. Everything going on at once could cause an overload if the wiring in your house is just barely adequate. Avoid opening and closing refrigerators and freezers as much as possible. If you keep the freezer closed its contents will keep for 36 to 48 hours. Food in a refrigerator will not last quite as long. If you use electricity for cooking, then some emergency means of cooking should be provided. Small camp stoves can be used to prepare hot food. Propane stoves are efficient. Small, folding stoves using canned heat are less efficient, but are cheaper. Use these in a well ventilated room. You also can use the portable grill you normally use in summer. But do so in an open garage or open porch. Aside from smoke, the fumes from the charcoal can be dangerous in a confined area. Use Fireplace If you have a fireplace that's usable you have a source of heat until power is restored. It's a source of heat, that is, if you have remembered to have a stock of dry wood handy. Keep the family in your room with the fireplace if your room is so equipped, or in the room in which you are cooking. Open and close outside doors as little as possible. Try to use outdoor entrances that do not open directly into a room but into a hall or foyer that can be closed off. Close off unused rooms and sit tight.

Country notebook

Macdonald College

It was a beautiful day we chose to make our spring pilgrimage to the ancestral farm. There was no snow left around Montreal, but as we drove west up through the Ottawa Valley and through the height of land that is Algonquin Park, we felt that we were moving backward into winter. But the snow, two feet deep in places was disappearing quickly in the strong April sun. Farm buildings were islands in flooded fields; in many places, water was across the highway. In the owns on the way, every roadside torrent seemed to have its youthful pilot, guiding the ships of bark or orange peel safely through the hazards. And there were an unusual number of shovels in use, but mostly to serve as props or ease the conscience of the middle generation. But the senior generation, with no twinge of conscience, were sitting happily on their door steps soaking up the sun.

In the Park, several deer were out at the roadside, obviously anticipating the tourist season. We distinctly heard them call "Cheapskate" when we failed to stop with the expected aplomb. We found our old farm had wintered well. True, there were a few broken windows in the stable, the gutter was full of ice and at the house, the clothesline was broken, but nothing serious. The pump wouldn't work this time, and after a day carrying water from the creek, I am convinced our pioneer ancestors washed in thimbles and bathed in saucers. But it was good to stand on the old familiar "stop" at dusk to hear the muskrats plopping off the ice into the rushing waters of the creek, to hear the falls roaring in the distance, and to listen for the first frog of the season and to smell the swampy air of spring.

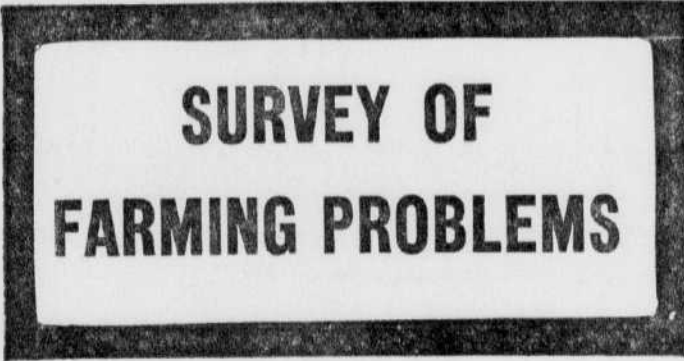

As we drove up through the good farm land of the Ottawa Valley, we had seen daylight through the cracks of a good many haybarns. If anyone had hay to spare, it had been sold. Every bale left now will be rationed until the cows go out to pasture next month. If it's another short hay crop again this summer, we will be in trouble. There is simply no reserve anywhere in the country. And it is said, to be comfortable, there should be half a year's extra feed in the barn in the fall. Here are four or five forage insurance ideas to help you get the most out of the coming season; as well, all these suggestions should give quick returns for any extra investment. You can crack the fertilizer to the hayfields as soon as you can get on them. You can seed down directly without a nurse crop and look for two tons hay the first year. You can plan a pasture program to make an acre go twice as far. You can cut hay earlier when it is worth most, with extra aftermath thrown in for a bonus. And you can cut the oats green for hay or silage; they are worth more that way, anyway. Or, instead of seeding last year's cornfield down, you grow corn on it for another year; it won't hurt the land a bit if you are careful. There is no better place to put the winter's manure pile than in the hay fields, unless it is the corn land. And if it has been re-enforced with superphosphate, so much the better. Spread it thin to cover as many acres as possible. Last year's new seeding will profit from a top dressing of phosphorous and potash, if it didn't get in last fall, perhaps 200-400 lbs 0-20-20. Or if it is an older stand with the legumes thinning out, include nitrogen with it. Fifty lbs — that's 150 lbs ammonium nitrate or 100 lbs urea — can be very effective. Of course, all this should be done with a soil test, but it's almost too late for that now. The new herbicides have made the so-called nurse crop obsolete. New seedings of grasses and legumes establish much more quickly when not shadowed by a cereal crop. The idea that they need shade is not valid. Hay yields well over two tons per acre have been reported in the year of seeding. But weed competition must be controlled. The chemical 2,4-DB (e.g., Embutox) does a good job. Spray 15-20 oz. in 15-20 gallons water per acre when the young alfalfa or trefoil has two or three true leaves. Any form of rotational grazing will stretch the pastures and pay well for time spent moving electric fences and chasing cows. The ultimate is zero grazing if you have the patience to hitch up the equipment once or twice a day. There are indications now that we will move right through this system into stored feeding the year round as the means to get the most out of our acres. At "Corn Day", Murray Templeton told us how he fed 35 cows green - chopped corn from 25 acres during last summer's dry spell, and still had enough to fill his silo for the winter. A few extra acres of corn is always prime insurance; it can be fed green, ensiled, or cobbed for the crib.

I know of nothing that will add more beauty, charm and distinctiveness to any garden, large or small, than a flowering tree. Many of them seem to be especially designed for the small garden, because they do not grow too tall or cover a large area at maturity. A beautiful display of bloom in early or late spring is closely followed by fine foliage which gives these trees a big advantage over the non-flowering kind. Most of the flowering shade trees are excellent lawn specimen trees. One or more of them should be among the first things set out in the garden. One of the trees that I like very much is commonly called the serviceberry, shad-bush or juneberry. You probably will see it listed in the nursery catalogue botanically as amelanchier grandiflora. We grow it in our garden because it produces a spectacular show of pure white flowers in early May, followed by red berry-like fruits. You probably have seen a serviceberry tree in bloom in the woods long before the rest of the trees start producing green leaves. The flowering crab apple tree in full bloom is a joy to behold in any garden. One or more of these delightful trees is a must for even the smallest garden. Another point in their favor is that they can either be grown as a comparatively low flowering tree or a tall shrub. When placing your order with the nursery be sure to specify whether you want the tree or the shrub form. Used as shrubs they can be kept to a low height to fit the ranch style home. Crab apples can be safely planted under or close to hydro and telephone lines because of their low height at maturity. They do not require any special type of soil and will grow well in any ordinary garden earth that will produce good vegetables. The method of planting is exactly the same as for any shade tree. One of the choicest and most beautiful of all the flowering crab apples is the almey variety which has been chosen as Canada's Centennial tree. It will enrich your garden with masses of huge flowers which are a brilliant fiery crimson in color. White markings at the base of each petal give the effect of a five-sided star. In the fall, brilliantly colored scarlet fruits are developed which hang on to the branches long after the leaves have fallen. They provide a splash of fall color for the garden. Geneva is a dual purpose variety which bears large dark red bloom followed by delightful large dark red apples measuring about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. The fruit also has dark red flesh and is most suitable for canning or making jelly. One of our most elegant flowering trees is the magnolia. Before the leaves appear, the trees are covered with a mass of fragrant, huge tulip-shaped flowers.

These are colored a rosy white on the inside and a lively pink on the outside. They usually start to bloom the first year after planting and do well in any soil having good drainage. They are not reliably hardy in the coldest areas, so check with your local nurseryman before you plant.
