

Next week's weather

ERIC NEAL

March 29 to April 4

Mainly sunny, windy and cooling with occasional flurries or wet mists, then clearing. Temperature range 30-55° with 45 sunny hours this week.

Cool nights and warm days mid-week with morning mists or fog. Risk of thundershowers then floods.

Changeable but pleasant for the end of the week. Trees in leaf in the south, evening fishing best.

Radar trials end

282 warnings issued — real thing on Monday

As the result of trial runs of the newly-installed radar traffic control check on the city's streets, 282 caution tickets for speeding have been issued by Westmount police over a seven-day operating period.

And motorists all over the island, well warned by advance publicity, will start getting the real thing Monday when the usual court tickets will be issued.

Assistant City Manager N. T. Dawe said that, from the outcome of the large number of people visiting the scene of the trials runs, existence of the check will be widely known.

"We hope that from Monday on motorists will co-operate by observing Westmount's speed limits" he added.

Widespread interest in the scheme has been shown by police authorities, lawyers, judges and road safety officials.

OPINIONS

A member of the Westmount Municipal Association traffic committee who visited one of the locations said: "If I am caught out by this system, I have only myself to blame. I am for it completely."

Judge J. G. Nicholson, of the Social Welfare Court, and a prominent Westmount resident, expressed himself as completely in favor.

A letter from the Quebec Safety League, approving the scheme, referred to a resolution passed at last year's annual meeting of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference.

It stated that "in the opinion of the conference the use of unmarked cars radar and other speed timing devices as enforcement aids are fully justified and are specially approved."

And a United States police officer has said that "the idea there is some kind of chivalry... in apprehending speeding motorists is not true. This is not a game. Speed is dangerous and it kills."

Provincial police, Montreal police, the Royal Automobile Club of Canada, representatives of taxi organizations and Westmount's 151 lawyers have either been on the scene to see the equipment work for themselves or have acknowledged their approval by letter.

CO-OPERATION

Reaction of the motorist detected speeding by the device has also been favorable — under the circumstances.

Police reported that about 95% were willing to get out of their cars to look at the evidence. They were convinced of its accuracy and showed no resentment. The device was, and will be, kept out in the open and could have been spotted.

Though statistics have not yet been thoroughly studied they seem to indicate that excessive speeding occurs in 20 m.p.h. zones most frequently than in 30 m.p.h. zones.

Police expect more infractions in a 20 m.p.h. zone but it seems that motorists exceed the limit by 10 to 15 m.p.h. and not just three or four.

One citizen complained he couldn't drive his Cadillac at 20 m.p.h. or less.

As far as the police are concerned, he — and everyone else — will have to.

Three month sentence given local burglars

Two burglars who were caught red-handed last week by Westmount resident Dr. S. B. Conroy appeared before Judge Fontaine, Monday, and were sentenced to three months imprisonment. The men, German immigrants, were George Bauman, 24, and Dieter Rost, 21, both of Toronto.

'Russians thrive on Communism' Cavanaugh tells Rotary members

By RAY JACOBS

A two-time visitor to Russia, and just back from a trip to Stockholm, Canadian steelman P. E. Cavanaugh thinks Canadians — and the West — are barking up the wrong tree if they think the Russians are unhappy under the Communist system.

"It's easy to imagine that poor people don't enjoy themselves" the vice-president of the Premium Iron Ore Co. Ltd., told Westmount Rotarians at their meeting, Wednesday.

THEY LIKE IT

"I met Russians who had lived in Canada and are quite happy to live where they do. We can't go on fooling ourselves that they're miserable in their present situation. What we think about that doesn't matter. It's what they think that counts," he added.

In an effort to understand Russians, Mr. Cavanaugh thought anyone visiting the country had better be prepared to answer awkward questions if they asked the same kind themselves.

"The Russians don't think it's so strange when a U.S. plane is shot down over their territory because they wonder what would happen if a Russian plane flew over the States."

Political discussion, education and progress in his own industry made an impression on Mr. Cavanaugh — though it was not all favorable.

The Russians have comparative freedom to discuss political questions but the theme is not what should be done but how policy already laid down by Communist party chiefs should be carried out.

"It would probably still be unwise for a Russian to tell Khrushchev how he should run the country," he commented. A visit to a Russian home he described as a "sobering experience when you see the teenagers at their home-work for hours."

"They're at school eight hours a day, six days a week but they're under terrible pressure all the time because by the time they're ten they know they have to make a choice."

"Either work hard and get a college degree — or fail and become laborers. There's no in between job."

Competition is fierce for college places. At Leningrad Mining School, for example, only one out of sixteen eligible for entry qualified.

While he disapproved of the methods of Russian education, Mr. Cavanaugh thought it was useful to look at their system to see how far we had slipped here in examination standards and the ease with which high school graduates can enter college.

He noticed in the technical schools that half the students were foreigners, Canadians, Americans, Chinese, Indians and Africans.

He thought they were left alone as far as political indoctrination was concerned.

Although his last visit to Russia was two years ago, Mr. Cavanaugh found industrial conditions much improved since his previous visit.

"At that time plants were in a mess and they didn't want anyone to see them. Later, when they were worth seeing, the Russians were proud to invite foreigners to look them over."

Working conditions were not nearly as good as in Canada. Safety and cleanliness were below our standards. The men worked hard and if they didn't it was their workmates who objected, not the management.

Wages amounted to about $100 a month, not enough to provide for a man and his family, so the wife had to go out and work too.

"By keeping wages low," said Mr. Cavanaugh, "the Russians have found a simple solution to doubling the work force. It may be shattering to imagine the same thing happening here but it won't help us just to think they should change to our methods because they won't."

Senior Cagettes to Calgary today

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Unity's Senior Girls' Basketball Team, who last year won the City and Provincial Basketball Championship, have been selected to represent the Province of Quebec at a Canadian Basketball Tournament in Calgary, Alberta the week of March 30.

The team, with their Coach Morton Bain leave Montreal today. They play versus British Columbia on Monday night at 9 p.m. and versus Saskatchewan on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Other provinces represented include: Manitoba, Ontario and Alberta.

Unity's team roster includes Gwen Lord, who was one of the first members of the Club when the Unity Boys' Club was officially opened in 1950. Others are: Patricia McGlashan, Mae Ellefsen, Janet MacWha, Margaret Gilmore, Sheila O'Connor, Phyllis McGlashan, Lil DeAngelis, Tillie Jankowicz and Wally Woodward.

HAWKETTES

While the Senior Girls are in Calgary, Unity's Junior Girls' Team, will play host to Toronto's St. Cecilia on Friday and Saturday, April 3, and 4 at the Unity Boys' Club.

The Hawkettes won the City of Montreal and the Province of Quebec Championships and are now gunning for Dominion honors. This series marks the first time that the Unity Girls' team (Junior Section) have reached the Canadian finals.

Representing the Unity Boys' Club in the Canadian finals are the following: Peggy Birkett, Rosemary Anderson, Nickie Johnson, Gail Gollan, Florence Wynn, Dot Mariasine, Willa Smart, Sandra Thomas, Ellen Wynn and Marilyn Batten.

MIDGETS COP TITLE

Congratulations are in order for John McDonough's Unity Midget Basketball Team who won the City of Montreal Championship in two straight games in the finals against St. Jean de Matha. Unity won the first game at St. Jean de Matha 35-32 and the second at home 41-34.

Larry Dallas once again proved his worth to the team by counting for 11 points in the final game. Vic Carter scored 9; Donald Genois scored 8; John O'Driscoll was next in line with 7 points. Jim Crouch who had a good basketball season with Unity this year counted 4 points and Wayne Dallas collected 2 points. Bobby Brisson and Lionel Margolick were missing from one of the games, but nevertheless helped the team to achieve the championship.

Coach John McDonough who started his basketball career at the Unity Boys' Club at the age of 12 and who was a player with Unity's Junior Squad this year, was an inspiration to his players. Not given much of a chance at the beginning of the year, the Unity Midgets came through for their coach who stressed fundamentals, clean play and good sportsmanship throughout the playing season.

NATIONAL WEEK

The Unity Boys' Club will celebrate National Boys' Club Week, next week, with a series of special events. The Club is conducting an invitational basketball tournament and will also send a swimming team to the Eastern Area Swimming Championships which will be held at the Point St. Charles Boys' Club on Thursday.

All club members who wish to participate in the swimming meet are asked to register with sports director Pat Kearney. Entries must be in before tomorrow.

Other events are also scheduled for National Boys' Club Week. Club members are advised to watch the Bulletin Board.

MRS. J. E. DODDS

Funeral Services for Letitia Montgomery Harvey, 3122 Daulac road, widow of James Edmund Dodds, former manager and director of the T. Eaton Co., Montreal, was held Thursday at 2 p.m., at the chapel of Jos. Wray & Bros. on Mountain street. Mrs. Dodds died March 16 after a short illness.

She was born July 20, 1876, in Owen Sound, Ont., and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Harvey. She graduated from Teachers College in Ohio, where she taught school prior to her marriage in Cleveland in 1906.

She went as a bride to Paris, France, where her two daughters, Lileida and Margaret were born. Later she came to Montreal where she has since resided.

Mrs. Dodds was keenly interested in the work of the IOOE and at the time of her death was honorary chairman of the building fund. She was a life member of the Municipal Chapter of Montreal, a past vice-regent of the Lady Scott Chapter, the first regent of the Lord Kitchener Chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire in New Rochelle, New York and also a member of the Niagara Chapter in the same city.

A life member of the Victoria Home for aged British men and women, she also found time for church and charitable work, and was a past president of the Dorcas Guild of Erskine & American United Church and a faithful member of that Church.

She belonged to the Royal Montreal Club, the Laval Club and the Themis Club and acted on the board of the Girls Counselling Centre, Weredale House, Social Service Centre and Family Welfare.

DR. S. H. FELDMAN

Dr. S. H. Feldman, 4190 Girouard avenue, a well-known dentist who took an active part in community affairs, died suddenly Thursday in his 66th year. A funeral service was held Sunday.

A native of Montreal, Dr. Feldman studied at Laval University, and was a member of the Mount Royal Dental Society and the Alpha Omega Dental Fraternity.

He was active in the Men's Association of the Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, a past member of St. George's Masonic Lodge no. 10, and a past member of the board of the Montreal Hebrew Old People's Home.

He is survived by his wife, the former Matie Schaffer, a son, Marvin, and three sisters, Mrs. Annie Cohen, of Miami, Fla., Mrs. Rose Weisman, of Montreal, and Mrs. Libbie Winston of New York. Another son, Brahm, predeceased him.

T. W. GLOVER

Thomas Glover, 5520 Rosedale avenue, head of the English department of Lower Canada College, died suddenly on Thursday at the age of 48. A requiem service was held Friday in St. Columba Church for students of the college, and funeral services took place Saturday at D. A. Collins Chapel.

Born 1910 in Sydney, N.S., Mr. Glover received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Mount Allison University. He attended the Sorbonne in Paris on a two-year scholarship, after which he studied at the Harvard School of Education. He later received an MA degree in French from McGill University, French summer school.

At the time of his death he was working on his PhD in English for the University of Montreal, having completed his thesis. He was to have undergone oral examination April 18.

Before coming to Lower Canada College in 1946, Mr. Glover taught at Sydney High School.

Well known as a scholar, he took a great interest in young people's books, and was a member of the library committee of the N.D.G. Community Council. He was staff advisor of the Quintilian Club, an LCC debating society, and attended St. Luke's United Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Jessie Paterson; and two sisters, Gladys (Mrs. Herman Bearse), and Louise (Mrs. James McIntyre), both of Nova Scotia.

B. E. GAMBLE

Burton E. Gamble, 598 Victoria avenue, manufacturer's agent, died suddenly Thursday night at his home. He was in his 65th year.

Mr. Gamble was a native of Toronto, where he received his education. He later moved to Ottawa, and had been a resident of Montreal for 20 years.

A member of the Scottish Rite, he was a charter member and past master of Sydney Albert Luke, A. F. and A. M., Ottawa.

He is survived by his wife, the former Nina Martha Bailey; a son, Alderson, of Toronto; and two daughters, Joan (Mrs. Pierre Landry) and Naneen (Mrs. Basil Brewer), both of Montreal.

Student is critical of graduate migration

By VALENTINA RAHR

"Considering the opportunities that are open, I find it difficult to see why there is such a great flood of Canadian university graduates to the United States. If all the possibilities that Canada offers to today's students were to be realized, I think that my children in 25 years time will feel that the vanishing frontier is still a long way off."

So says Paul Laurence Murphy, Sherbrooke street west, a second year student of Sir George Williams College, who won a University regional award of $500 from the New York Life Insurance Company. To deserve this award he wrote an essay of 1,000 words about his future as a lawyer in Canada, entitled "My Career in Canada During the Next 25 Years."

"Most students who are presently attending college allow which guarantees the realization of that dream in the years ahead. I trust that I am one of this number," wrote Paul Murphy in his winning essay. "It is difficult to be other than enthusiastic in one's future when Canada's progress in so many fields is considered. Our national progress added to our emerging distinctiveness as a people serves to beckon us to make our place in this great flowering of Canadian culture."

"The emerging national character of unity without uniformity can be aided by closer social and cultural contacts between towns and cities across Canada," Murphy feels. "We think at the present time that the so-called culture exchange between the Soviet Bloc and the West will help to ease world tension. In a vast country like ours with diverse ethnic groups, I think that similar exchanges could be of immense value in promoting the understanding that is sometimes lacking in our national life. A program I would like to see initiated would be to promote such an institution."

Having selected law as his chosen field, not only because it is in keeping with his interests, but also because it is suited to his natural abilities, he feels legal training will enable him to take an active part in that work which is so important to a growing community.

Some of the activities outlined as subject matter by the essay board included the ever challenging field of management relations in the age of automation; opening up the now barren wasteland of Canada's north; working in the provincial Labor Department to gain practical experience in conciliation and arbitration; town planning; community development; and training the population in civil defense. Contestants, aged 18 to 35, came from different parts of the country.

The judges made up an imposing panel: A. A. Grauer, chancellor of the University of British Columbia; N. J. McKinnon, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; Bruce Hutchison, author (Canada — Tomorrow's Giant); Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University, and past president of Canadian Chamber of Commerce; Hon. Muriel Ferguson, senator; J. C. Falardeau, chairman of the Department of Sociology, Laval University.

Paul Laurence Murphy was born 27 years ago in Shawinigan Falls, Que. His early education was obtained there, and later he attended St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, Nova Scotia. His resolution to become a lawyer came about after he had spent five years in the employment of the Dupont Company at Shawinigan Falls.

Mallory places in SPCA contest

A St. George's School pupil, Charles Mallory, 632 Grosvenor avenue, has placed second in the 11-year-old division of the SPCA poster contest. He was presented with a prize at a ceremony Wednesday evening at the SPCA Shelter on Namur street.

Charles, 11½, was one of 1,420 students from 158 schools on the island and in the province to enter the second annual competition.

Mrs. C. T. Dupont, 766 Upper Lansdowne avenue, organizer of the competition, said that some of the posters may be used in future SPCA campaigns.

Myriad blooms greet Eastertide

A splendid array of 16,193 blooms formed the Westmount Conservatory Easter Show, officially opened by Mayor J. C. Cushing Wednesday evening.

Spring flowers dominated the show, with snow flowers, crocuses, and daffodils to be seen in abundance. Outstanding too were some less common varieties such as Japanese Red Maple shrubs, polyantha roses, Daphne and Spiraea.

The centerpiece of the display was a large cross at the south end of the main greenhouse, fashioned from the waxy white Bermuda lilies commonly known as Easter lilies.

Among the special guests of Council were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jacobs, and Dr. J. Rousseau, nationally renowned botanist, and his wife.

WE SAY

'Our daily bread' denied us by folly

NO bread delivery. Wednesdays.

Pompous "Bakers of Montreal" say provincial law forbids it.

It's their own cartel-like decision, abetted by provincial "parity" decree. Court upholding doesn't bless it.

"The Bakers of Montreal" is high-sounding, cloaking several larger firms who have dragged smaller fellows into this preposterous, public-bet-damned fiat.

They claim cutting mid-week delivery the only way to meet costs.

Well, here's another. Reduce the multiplicity of wagons and trucks cluttering local streets. Pool vehicles, drivers, and dully-same products. Improve instead of worsen service.

Otherwise we may have the revived joys of corner bake shop aromas and palate-tingling home-made bread — gains for all but the big bakers in their folly.

MTC appointment raises questions

REPLACEMENT of the late Charles C. Brown on the Montreal Transportation Commission brings up two points.

The Montreal Star has renewed a plea for a competent selection.

Mr. Brown was a conscientious and competent commissioner. He had an enviable wartime record as a transport officer.

There is mention from another source, too, that the replacement may be French-speaking.

We see no reason for cancelling English-speaking and West End representation on such an important body.

YOU SAY

Red Cross thanks for our support

Sir,
On behalf of the officers of the Quebec Division and of the Montreal Branch, I take great pleasure in thanking you for the magnificent support you have given our financial campaign this year. We read with great interest the feature articles and we were very pleased also by the use you made of the small drop-ins. They were very effective and of course the red ink helped a lot.

Thanking you again, I am,
Yours sincerely,

Marguerite Wilson,
Director of Public Relations.

She says thanks for the article

Dear Sir,

I would like to thank you very much for publishing an article about St. John of Jerusalem Day Nursery and Kindergarten sponsored by the Sovereign & Military Order of Malta in Canada.

It is wonderful to know that your popular paper takes such an interest in all activities of our community.

As I understand how important it is to satisfy public interest I will be only too happy to send you now and again news about our school.

I remain truly yours,

Mrs. Irene Smolilowski,
Principal.

GOOD NEWS

TODAY hippopotamuses are grinning from ear to ear. Designers of floors for aircraft have confessed that women who wear razor-edge heels on their shoes, to give them poise and self-confidence do more damage to the floors than even the clumsiest hippopotamuses. A wide hoof takes the strain of the weight more evenly than a stiletto. Women who fly should wear enormous, wide shoes, designed like the hoof of the hippopotamus.

A NEW ANGLE

SOL HOGWASCH once said: "In a really mammoth musical spectacle there's room for everything." He made good his words by using 41 treble-sized pianos, with five players to each piano, in the gigantic ballet-scene in "The Siege of Sebastopol." The siege was mimed by whole armies. He now proposes to go one better, and is introducing into a new film an elephant on a huge cart drawn by 2,143,000 snails.

'The last Victorian'

By CYNTHIA JONES

MAYOR Edward Wilson of Verdun, widely known as the "fighting" mayor, prefers to be called the people's mayor.

The 77 year-old, blue-eyed mayor, jaunty wearer of a natty mustache and bow tie, has fought for the interests of citizens of Verdun vised and administered by commissioners," Mayor Wilson stated firmly.

At the moment Mayor Wilson is irate about the garbage disposal contract, saying it represents an unjust increase of $120,000 to the taxpayers over the next five years, and garbage disposal should be a civic service, not a private one.

Big error

Have the commissioners, in his opinion, made a glaring when the boy was seven. His widowed mother brought up Ted and his younger brother Walter, and two sisters. (Walter now lives, a retired painter and decorator, in Vancouver. One surviving sister lives, a widow, in Burnley).

Worked at 10

"I guess you would call me one of the last Victorians," Mayor Wilson said. "I started work at the age of 10 and went half-time to school. I went to work in a cotton mill as a weaver's helper. One week I would go to school in the mornings, the next in the afternoons. At 13 I started working full time, a 56-hour week, in the same mill. I went to school at nights taking shorthand and bookkeeping and a variety of subjects until I was 20."

The next step in Mayor Wilson's career was a job as a cost clerk in a bedstead factory at Wigan. From this he graduated at 22 to a salesman's position for the same factory, touring England, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

At 24 he married a girl from his own hometown, brown-eyed, heart-shaped Elizabeth Collinge, who has been his constant helpmate and firmest supporter in 50 years of married life. Mrs. Wilson is the president of the Verdun Red Cross and has been since 1939, the year her husband was first elected mayor.

Retired at 66

In 1910 the couple came to Canada. For a few years Mayor Wilson was a salesman for the Harris Abattoir and later set up shop as a wholesale poultry and egg merchant in Bonsecours Market. Twelve years ago at the age of 66 he retired to devote his time to being Mayor of Verdun.

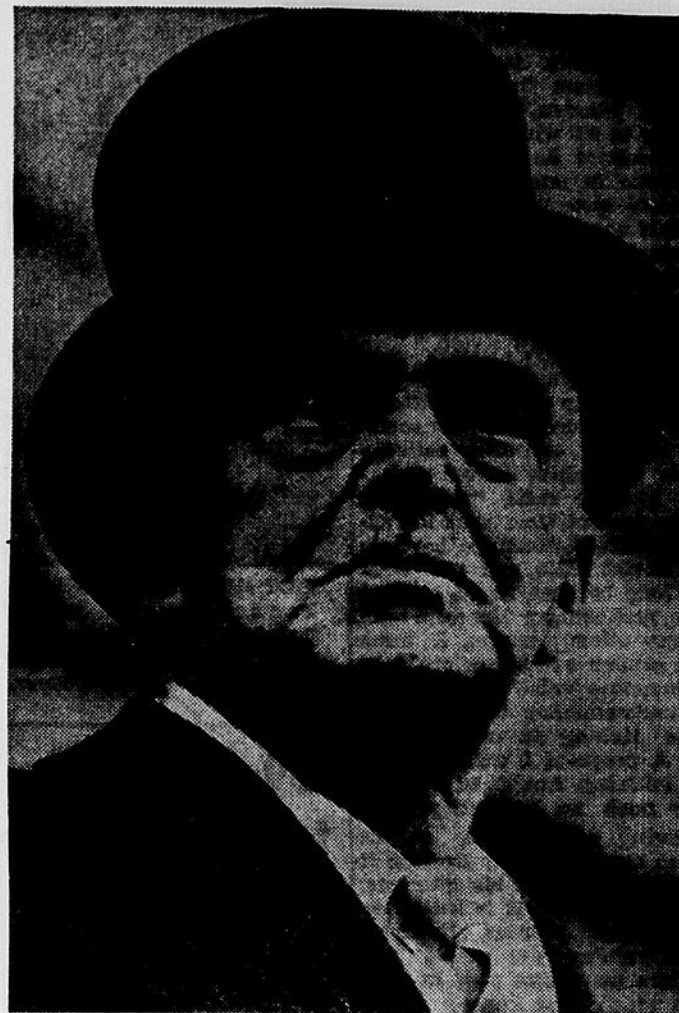

"We have lived in this house for 41 years," said Mayor Wilson. "We have brought up our two children here."

The couple's son, John, is married and in the insurance business in Toronto. Their married daughter, Mary Elizabeth, is Mrs. Alex Stevenson, of Ottawa. Their grandchildren are Susan Stephenson, 16, who is a talented artist, and Robert Edward Stephenson, 12.

Mayor Wilson is a former chairman of the Verdun Protestant School Board on which he served 25 years. For 20 years he has been a member of the Metropolitan Commission. He is a Mason and an Anglican, a member of the Church of St. John The Divine.

In excellent health, the Mayor said he hasn't missed 27 council meetings in the 27 years he has held office. He was first elected as an alderman in 1931, defeated in 1933, and returned in 1935. He has been mayor since '39.

Is Mayor Wilson popular with the people? "It is for the people to say, but the fact that they elected me for three two-year terms and five three-year terms, the last in 1957 with a 7,000 majority, must attest to some confidence," he said. "I have in the past, and will continue in the future, to put before the public any contentious question which affects the City of Verdun."

throughout his 20 year-old mayoralty.

"I haven't looked for a fight but I am not averse to playing rough if the necessity arises, and it frequently does," he said, with his head cocked, his eyes squinting, during an interview in his comfortable Woodland Avenue home.

"I have seen this city of Verdun grow from penury to riches," he said. "In 1939 when I first became mayor we were poor and now we are the third richest municipality on the island, next to Westmount and Outremont," Mayor Wilson said. "In 1939 the population was 64,000; today it is 85,000."

Fiery, forthright and honest, Mayor Wilson is not reticent about discussing the present bloc against him in the Verdun council. "They (opposing aldermen) put me in cold storage but not in deep freeze and the situation is changing," he said.

Mayor Wilson has been erupting since the Verdun Council adopted the commission form of government shortly after the election of 1957. He claims this type of government does not work in the best interests of Verdun and the people, if given the opportunity, would have voted against it just as he did. "The city should be administered by representatives of the people for the people and not super-mistake? Mayor Wilson jumped at this question. "Yes, indeed they have," he said. "It was in September, 1957. A special meeting of the council was held on the eve of my return from a trip to the Old Country. Its purpose was to ratify an agreement with the Quebec Homes and Mortgage Corporation regarding a development on Nun's Island. There was a lengthy document all signed which proclaimed that the City of Verdun would build a dyke around Nun's Island."

Mayor Wilson threw up his hands at the thought.

He said he had solicited the help of his cohorts, Aldermen George O'Reilly and Archie Wilcox, and the provincial government in seeing that the citizens of Verdun did not pay for any $3,000,000 dyke which to date has not been built.

But the Nun's Island bridge is going to be and Mayor Wilson has just returned from Ottawa with the news that tenders are to be called within the next 10 days.

While Mayor Wilson is not diffident about speaking of the past and present, he will not forecast the future. "I do not know whether I will run in the next election in April, 1960," he said. "Providence has been kind to me so far but tomorrow does not belong to me."

Mayor Wilson was born in Burnley, Lancashire, the first son of a weaver who died

An Easter story by an 8-year-old

Dear Editor,

I have written a little Easter story (all by myself, my mother only did the typing). Maybe you can use my story for your paper. Many of my articles have been printed by our school paper.

I am in grade 3 in St. George's school.

Please let me know if you can use my story.

Thank you,

Your sincerely,
JANE RELDAN

There was once a hen who was sitting on her eggs and talking to another hen. They were both very excited because Easter was coming close and they wanted their chickens to be chosen as pets by the farmer's children.

Now one little chicken inside its egg was very impatient when it heard its mother talking about all these wonderful things. It wished it could become pretty and fuzzy, so the children would pick it as a pet. After a while it just couldn't wait any longer and it began to peck on the shell until the egg broke and it came out. When its mother saw it, she was horrified, because as you know, a chicken that comes out too early, is neither fuzzy, nor pretty, but looks rather ugly and skinny. The mother hen said: "Oh, dear me, what has happened this time? I always had cute, yellow chickens which came out at the right time. I am known as the best hen not only on this farm but in the whole village. How could I ever hatch such a devilish creature?"

When the poor little chicken heard this speech, it was very sad. After a while, it jumped over to its mother and said: "Mother, do you think there is any chance that I will turn into a normal chicken?" But the mother wasn't moved and turned the baby chicken away.

So the little chicken decided to go up the Mont Tremblant and to hide before the world.

It was very hard going up because the mountain was still covered with ice and snow. Suddenly it heard a noise. It turned around and saw a little bunny. The rabbit said: "Hey there, what are you doing here?" So the chicken told him its story. The rabbit nodded: "My story is quite similar. I also wanted to become an Easter pet but since I am gray and all the children seem to like only white rabbits with pink noses, my mother didn't like me and I ran away."

On Easter morning, when they heard the Easter bells ringing, the two animals were huddled together and were talking sorrowfully about their hopes and dreams, while they were shivering on the frozen mountain. All of a sudden, they heard a noise and as they turned around, they saw a little boy on skis. The bunny said: "I never saw such big shoes before." "Me neither," said the chicken.

When the boy saw the animals, he stopped and said: "Come here, come here". So the rabbit and the chicken went closer because they saw that he meant no harm.

The little boy was very happy when he saw that the animals were so tame. He lifted them up and put the chicken in his pocket and the rabbit in his coat. Then he zoomed down on his skis and went straight home.

You have to know that the boy was very poor and that his family could not buy him anything for Easter.

When he stepped into the house, he called his mother: "Mother, look here, after all I did get an Easter present." And he showed her the rabbit and the chicken and the mother said: "Yes, you may keep the two and if we feed and treat them right, they will soon look nice and healthy."

As the time went on, the rabbit grew fatter and wasn't scrawny anymore and the chicken grew fuzzy and pretty and laid a lot of eggs.

False alarmist imperils public

Westmount and Montreal firemen would like to get their hoses on the impractical joker who phones in false alarms during the 5 p.m. traffic rush.

At 5:13 p.m. Monday the Westmount Fire Department received an anonymous phone call reporting a fire in the Red Feather Building "1036 Atwater avenue". Montreal fire reels were called to a number, also non-existent, on the east side of Atwater.

Fire chief Harper calls the joker "a threat to pedestrians and firemen alike," as there is the possibility of injury to the public, to firemen, and vehicles in the congested traffic.

He stated that though they had received similar calls in the past, this was the first in about four months. The caller is presumably in the Atwater area where he has a front seat for his dangerous game.

ESCAPE FROM OBLIVION

'ESCAPE From Oblivion' — that might well be the title-theme of the gallant effort by devoted and at times distraught parents, who by their courage and toil have written a new and important chapter in the fight to open a worth-while world for the retarded.

Their story is one of accomplishment.

Their call for aid currently takes the form of a financial drive, to be conducted from April 11 to 18.

One of the founding members is Mrs. Harvey Sarkin of Melrose avenue, Notre Dame de Grace.

Speaking of the Association's beginnings, she relates that none of the members knew what to do the first year but slowly found out through experience and instruction.

ONE PROBLEM

She speaks of the trouble with parents who would not acknowledge they had a retarded child and didn't want the school bus seen in front of their houses. There are still some who feel that way, she says. "When it first hits you that you have a retarded child, there is a terrible sense of shock," she explains. At the beginning, it was hard to get people to come to meetings, to work for the Association, to have their names mentioned, but now, she says, people do come forward.

Mrs. Sarkin mentioned how important the school for retarded children on Cote Saint Luc is to her. "I didn't think there'd be a place for my boy in my lifetime," she said. "Parents used to be told to put their children in an institution or to keep them at home. But there weren't even enough institutions."

Her son, who is now 23, attends the class for adults at the school. She fervently told of the difference this class has made to her son. He can't wait to get to school in the morning. This group has made life more interesting for him. He now has a social life. Members of the class are interested in each other — they are alike, do the same things.

Mrs. Sarkin and her husband have worked very hard for the association, but they have finally seen results they once thought impossible. Their hopes now are for the formation of a sheltered workshop on which the school is working. It would mean that some day, some of the children will be able to do work and receive remuneration.

The association was launched at a meeting in January, 1950, held through the efforts of Mrs. M. L. (Hannah) Wollock of Decarie blvd., Saint Laurent. Members of a social agency gave Mrs. Wollock information and speakers on retardation and contacts in the newspaper field who publicized the event.

IRONY

Ironically for Mrs. Wollock, she found out, two years later that her child, who she thought was retarded and on whose account she worked toward starting this Association, was not mentally retarded but emotionally disturbed and, therefore, not eligible for admission to the school on Cote Saint Luc road. Help for the emotionally disturbed has not yet reached the stage of help for retarded children, and Mrs. Wollock's boy is still at home and hasn't had any help yet.

At the first meeting, one of the parents present was L. H. Hall of Percival avenue in Montreal West. Mr. Hall is now president of the national association. The Canadian Association for Retarded Children, and honorary president of the Quebec group.

He reports that after that meeting six parents formed a steering committee. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Wollock and Mr. and Mrs.

THEY'RE EAGER TO LEARN, and their progress makes the extra effort worth while.

Workshop leads to $$$

THE sheltered workshop will make it possible for the retarded child to earn money some day. It will give him employment and a sense of doing something constructive. There are sheltered workshops in many parts of the world — where the mentally retarded work in a controlled environment under the right supervision, under sheltered conditions.

But much preliminary training is necessary before the mentally retarded can benefit from a sheltered workshop. This preliminary work is going on now at the school in Cote Saint Luc road. The preliminary work takes the form of vocational training and psychiatric help.

Miss Ainee Leduc, the psychiatrist at the school, John Frederick Tanner, the vocational instructor, and the class teachers combine efforts in working toward a sheltered workshop.

The children's span of attention and ability to con-

Director cites facts of case

ALAN STEVENSON, executive director of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children (Quebec) Inc., explains retardation, the care and training necessary for the retarded child, the accomplishments of the Quebec association in this regard, its present needs and hopes for the near future.

Mental retardation is not a disease, Mr. Stevenson stresses but a condition of impaired or incomplete mental development. Medical authorities estimate at least 70 known or suspected diseases or mishaps, occurring either before or during birth or in early childhood, that can give rise to mental retardation. Three children out of every 100 are mentally retarded.

CLASSIFICATIONS

Mental retardation falls into 3 primary classifications. The first and largest — educable retarded — comprised of children with an I. Q. of 50 - 75. Their learning handicap is usually most evident in academic subjects. However, given the opportunity they can usually progress enough in reading, arithmetic, social and vocational skills to become partially or even completely self-supporting. These children should be educated in "special" or "auxiliary" classes in the regular schools, and in Montreal both school systems provide such classes. However, they also need special training and vocational guidance beyond school, together with an employer advisory service, to enable them to become economically self-supporting, as well as recreational and social facilities for their spare time.

These are not being provided in adequate measure at the present time, and the provision of these services remains one of the objectives of the Association.

"Trained retarded" is the second classification and this group is primarily helped by the Association for the Help of Retarded Children (Quebec) Inc. These children have an I.Q. of 25-50 and develop at less than half the rate of the normal child. They respond to limited training which, in most cases, can enable them to become partially self-supporting in sheltered conditions of employment. However, the great majority of children in this group are denied any schooling whatsoever. Based on birth rate figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, there were over 5000 such children born in the last ten years in the Province of Quebec. The Association is endeavoring to increase the number of classes for these children throughout the province.

The third classification is known as the "custodial" group with an I.Q. of 0 - 25. Most of these children require whole time institutional care for the rest of their lives. Fortunately, only 1 out of every 1000 population falls into this category, but their numbers are nevertheless significant. In addition to the custodial children, some of the educable and trainable retarded require

REV. ANGUS DE MILLE CAMERON, Grosvenor avenue, has publicly announced his decision to resign from the pulpit. He has been minister at the Church of the Messiah for the last 18 years. The resignation is effective May 1. "I am not leaving for another Church" he said in a letter to the members of the church. "We have no long range plans." Mr. Cameron and his family will move to the Maritimes in the near future.

BELL MAPPIN (Mrs. Kenneth Mappin) Metcalfe avenue, has translated into French "My First Days in Vermont—by a Little Fawn" written by Mildred White Preston, Burlington, Vermont. "Mes Premières Journées Dans le Vermont—par Petit Copin" is the story of a little fawn taken away from its mother by a game warden and brought up in a foster home. It will be on sale in its English and French versions at holiday resorts in the Laurentians at $1.00 per copy shortly. Translated the "Histoire authentique en forme de journal-par petit copin" is a true story for children ages 6 to 10. Mrs. Mappin is a member of the Canadian Authors Association.

MRS. A. E. MOLL, Strathcona avenue, has been elected to serve as vice-president of the Follow Up Service of the Girls' Cottage School. A survey shows that graduates of the school who have made good use of the service, are holding jobs for longer than the average teenager who leaves school to go to work. "When you consider the degree of deprivation which most of our girls have experienced before coming to us we feel justified in considering the service worthwhile," Miss Emily Hickey declared during a report at the annual meeting of the Red Feather Agency. A city apartment under care of a housemother for girls working in the city will be established as part of the program. It has become possible as a result of several generous donations, including one from Mrs. Peter Bronfman.

DOUGLAS BURNS CLARKE, Saint Catherine street, west, vice-principal of Sir George Williams College, has been elected director of the Spring Valley Country Club, St. Sauveur des Monts. Many interesting items are on the agenda for the summer months. Members with green thumbs may like to know that there will be small lots for gardening, available at no charge. An art school has expressed interest in opening a summer school in Spring Valley. Riding will begin early in May. The following sports activities are being prepared: swimming, volley ball, badminton, ping pong, archery, etc.

Red Shoes drive opens Wednesday

By VALENTINA RAHR

A present and former resident of the West End are spearheading the Red Shoes Campaign which opens Wednesday with a target of $50,000—and the hope that with the money raised, Les Grands Ballets Canadiens will be able to continue and extend its work.

The aims of the campaign, which runs until April 15, were announced at a recent luncheon at the Cercle Universitaire Club by the Ballet's president, Mrs. Ludmilla Chiriaeff, 4351 Harvard avenue.

She introduced campaign chairman Robert Pare, who was born on Prud'homme avenue and lived in N.D.G. for twenty-five years.

The additional funds will enable the company to present first-rate performances; continue the granting of scholarships to talented young Canadians; provoke interest in ballet for Canadian artists in all fields to create for the art.

Mrs. Chiriaeff said the additional funds would make the company's shows available at reduced prices. As things are now, with tickets issued to students at special rates and a general lack of interest in ballet in Canada, the company incurred constant deficits.

"Grants from the Arts Council are not enough to answer the company's needs" she said.

"Annual public subscriptions are absolutely indispensable if the Grands Ballets Canadiens are to consolidate their work and enlarge their field of activity."

The campaign will be followed by five performances at the Comedie Canadienne on the evenings of April 17, 18 and 19 with afternoon performances on the second and third days.

Three new ballets are to be presented, most important of which is an adaptation from 'Sea Gulls', an original composition by Michel Perrault.

Also on the program will be 'Invitation to the Dance', well received last year and to be repeated in the afternoon performances this year.

In the fall, the company is scheduled to make a trans-Canada tour, embracing all the provinces.

ESPERANTO AND PHILATELY

One hundred years ago, Louis Lazarus Zamenhof founder of the world's most successful international languages was born.

It was in 1887 that Zamenhof, a Polish Jew, published a pamphlet in which he described his new language, the Lingvo Internacia de la Doktoro Esperanto, or the International Language of Doctor Hopeful. Under the name Esperanto meaning Hopeful the new language made its debut.

As a former student of Esperanto I can say that it is because its spelling is entirely phonetic, students may learn to speak it with facility in a comparatively short time. The English sentence, "The international language should be comprehensible to the whole educated world," appears as follows in Esperanto: "La lingvo internacia estas komprenebla de la tutamondo edukita."

Esperanto is coming into use on the radio more and more. Thirty stations including Berne, Rome, Vienna, Rio de Janeiro, Valencia, Montevideo, and Guatemala regularly broadcast in Esperanto.

By the Resolution of December 10, 1951, the General Conference of UNESCO recognized the results achieved by Esperanto in intellectual exchanges and bringing the peoples together are in accordance with the aims and ideals of UNESCO; that is, they contribute to international co-operation in the fields of education, science, and culture.

To date about twenty stamps have been issued commemorating Zamenhof and its Congresses and Conferences. These stamps have been issued by: Austria, Brazil, Bulgaria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Russia, and Trieste (Zone B). These are catalogued by Scott's at just over fifteen dollars and so could be purchased in Canada for about five to ten dollars.

In June, the Center of Esperanto in Montreal (C.E.M.) will play host to the Canadian Esperanto Association.

EASTER AND LENT

Certainly this department's operator isn't qualified, nor in a position to offer editorially and spiritually, anything profound on the occasion of the coming Easter weekend.

But, we do feel that each of us, Protestant, and Roman Catholic, will either — subjectively or objectively — render sincere, respectful and grateful homage to a Concept and Belief that has supported and carried, actually and vicariously, our civilization to this year 1959.

For persons compulsively in a hurry one way or another, the smallest participation in Easter and Lenten observance through the centuries has proved worthwhile.

In a very secondary relationship, the corollary long weekend from Friday to Monday — just as if Our Lord planned it that way — brings sweet respite and ease from humdrum everyday duties and obligations.

And, it also unbinds any self imposed restrictions made during the 40-day period. The restrictions, of course, were ever unselfish. We hope.

During a recent junket to the Laurentians, we caught up with a few pages of Will Durant's "History of Greece" (at the same time Montreal's insurance expert Don Miller and his pretty frau, Anne, were giving ancient Roman doings a fast workout in another five-pound tome) and one reference caught our attention.

This had to do with over-indulgence in those times and a contemporary oracle's much sought after secret formula.

It was described thusly: "To cure obesity, without disturbing gluttony".

This revelation definitely swayed us to a commercial frame of mind, and we conjured up a fast research trip, sponsored by a slenderizing company, to a fast buck.

Uncle Beauregard, with whom we consulted, put us straight.

"I don't know whether such a panacea exists in the gormandizing department", advised old Ironsides, "but I'll go along humbly with the Book."

So will we!

The valley of decision

By

The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,

Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

We come to the end of Our Lord's earthly Life, as we come to the end of Lent, and we recount day by day the clash between two ways of life — Our Lord's way and the way of the religious and secular world of His time. For at this time the old traditional enemies buried their enmity to one another to protect themselves against a new Leader who challenged them all.

This new Leader — a Prophet of Nazareth — offered a strange way of life in which the first shall be last, and the last first; a life which requires childlikeness on the part of those who would enter, a life in which greatness is marked by service.

It was no wonder that the Prophet met with enmity.

For a time the enmity could be veiled because the Prophet was in Galilee and the religious and secular rulers were in Jerusalem. But at the end of the Ministry Jesus forced the issue by riding from Bethany into Jerusalem by way of the Valley of the Kedron, often known as the Valley of Jehosaphat. He had taken a step similar to that taken a century before by Julius Caesar when he crossed the Rubicon and thereby declared war on the Roman Senate. Now Jesus went down into His Valley of Decision and declared war on the ruling powers of Palestine.

When Joel used that expression "the valley of decision" centuries before he did not apply it to one man's act, but to the acts of many. "Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision: for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of decision." And when Our Lord took that step He forced multitudes to do the same thing, the multitudes who went with Him, and equally, the multitudes who did not. They made their choice that day; they made it without previous warning but they made it on the basis of their previous lives. If those lives had been spent in the selfish pursuit of power their decision was against Jesus; if their lives had been spent in the simple unselfish service of God then instinctively they threw in their lot with the young Carpenter whose whole life had been an outstanding example of such service.

They had little time to make the choice. An unexpected crisis came upon them and they met it according to their nature.

At some time or another most of us find ourselves in the Valley of Decision with little time to argue which is the right choice to make. The choice is made by our previous lives, and we accept it.

Our Lord's decision earned Him the Cross. Those who decided with Him earned the bitter hostility of the rulers, but in both cases their decision was justified. In the one case it led through the Cross to the Resurrection; in the other it led through obedience to Pentecost.

Dieppe House campaign opens

A campaign for $75,000 in aid of Dieppe House for Epileptics at St. Hilaire, the haven and rehabilitation centre for epileptics in the province, will open March 31.

John Savoy, campaign chairman, said that with the assistance from the public this year, and through previous appeals, construction of a new wing is slated to start next month. It will provide space for an additional 48 patients. Dieppe House now has 122 patients and the waiting list is growing.

The home, built on the hillside of St. Hilaire following the Second World War as a memorial to the Canadians killed in the Dieppe Raid of 1942, is a unique institution devoted exclusively to the care and rehabilitation of epileptics.

It is a home without any inside doors or stairs (a safety measure for the epileptics.) The men at the home come from all parts of the province, without any restriction as to race or religion.

vice concluding with Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus".

Westmount Baptist Church

Easter is a season of triumph in the Christian Church when messages of victory over sin and death are proclaimed with word and music. The song of triumph is heralded by the trumpet and on Easter Sunday morning the Minister, the Rev. E. J. Bailey, will speak on "With Trumpet Sound" and the choir brings the music of "Handel's Messiah." At the evening service the Easter music will continue and the Minister will speak on "Resurrection Conviction."

A Men's Fellowship Supper will be held on Thursday, April 9th at 6:15 p.m., when Mr. E. A. Collard, Editor of the Gazette, will be the Speaker.

The midweek service in the Church on Wednesday at 8:00 p.m., and Young Peoples on Friday at 8:00 p.m.

Edmonton pastor named successor to A. Lloyd Smith

Rev. R. Douglas Smith, BA, BD, DD, has been appointed minister of Dominion-Douglas Church, it was announced recently. He will succeed Dr. A. Lloyd Smith who is retiring June 30.

Dr. Douglas Smith, 51, a graduate of McGill University and the United Theological College, is at present minister of Robertson United Church, Edmonton, Alta. He has been twice nominated for the moderatorship of the United Church of Canada, and has served in Morrisburg, Brockville and Hamilton, Ontario.

He is a brother of Dr. Clifford B. Smith, Montreal, and Mr. Justice Arthur I. Smith of the Superior Court of Montreal. He is married to the former Margaret Smyth of Montreal, and has four children.

Dr. A. Lloyd Smith, who completed his 28th years at Dominion-Douglas this month, received his MA and BD degrees from Victoria College, Toronto, where he lectured for two years. Prior to coming to Montreal in 1931, he served in pastorates in Toronto and Brampton.

He is vice-president of the board of governors of the United Theological College, a member of the board of governors of Divinity Hall, has served as president of the Greater Montreal Council of Churches, and is a former chairman of the Home Missions Board of the United Church of Canada.

Golden Age Club is second home for many old people

The 300 members of Montreal's largest Golden Age Club believe that old people are much better off living on their own than with their children. Some would choose institutions rather than living with their children and trying to get along in a close family unit.

Sixty percent of the members of the Golden Age Centre sponsored by the Council of Jewish Women and the YMHA on Mount Royal avenue are living on their own, either boarding or living in rooms. The remainder live with their children. Only seven or eight live in the Old People's Home. Sixty-five percent manage on their old age pensions.

"This club constitutes an important part of their lives," said Mrs. A. Kirshner, the club social worker. "It serves as a second home for the old people and we have had many testimonials to this effect from their children."

At the moment many are working at their hobbies to get exhibits ready for the Golden Age Hobby Show, the only one of its kind in Canada which is being held in the Sun Life Auditorium on April 9, 10 and 11 under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. B. Powell. Mrs. W. Hanstein, representative of the National Council of Jewish Women on the Hobby Show working committee, is in attendance at Centre meetings, giving advice and helping the old people with their creative ideas.

One member is Isaac Handsman, 76, a bearded Polish tailor. He embroidered a large table cloth for the Hobby Show. Mr. Handsman was released from a German concentration camp at the end of World War II. He spent two years in Israel and came to Canada two years ago. He lives alone at 5426 Esplanade. "I feel that I am doing something for the group," he replied when asked why he joined the Golden Age Centre.

The four-day weekly program consists of a mass social program on Monday afternoons; a choir and dramatics group led by Mrs. Dora Wasserman on Tuesdays; handicrafts instructed by Mrs. Sam Colle on Wednesdays; and classes in reading and writing in English taken by Mrs. B. Alons on Thursdays.

"Most of our members were born in Europe and came here 40 years ago," said Mrs. Kirshner. "Many of them are illiterate because they have been too busy earning a living to learn to read and write."

Rev. J. W. Patterson is speaker at Orange Hall anniversary meet

On Saturday, March 21, the second anniversary of the opening and dedication of the Orange Hall, 1081 Greene avenue, Westmount, was marked with a supper served in the gaily decorated hall by a committee under the joint chairmanship of Mrs. Jennie Coveduck and Mrs. Adrian.

Mr. Albert Sheppard was MC and prior to the supper Mr. Ferguson McKen rendered a solo "Bless this House". Miss Ethel McDermott was accompanist, for the complete program.

Rev. J. W. Patterson, of St. Andrew's United Church, Lachine, and past grand master of the Loyal Orange Association of Quebec, was guest speaker. Rev. E. Emard, also past grand master of the LOA of Quebec, Mrs. Glenna Holt, Grand Mistress of the LOBA of Quebec, and Mrs. Mary Walker, past Grand Mistress of the LOBA of Quebec, also spoke briefly, as did Jas. Rock, chairman of the Orange Hall Building Fund.

Presentation of a framed picture depicting Orange symbols was made in memory of the late Bro. Chas Lavolette on behalf of his wife.

An appropriately decorated huge cake centred the guests' table, which was cut by Mrs. Edna Royston, past mistress of Queen Victoria Lodge No. 823 LOBA.

Mr. Alex Lough presented an excellent program of dance numbers by the pupils of Miss Ann Burke, interspersed with a lively singsong by the audience.

STAR PUPILS in the millinery courses given by the art workshop department of the YWCA are Mrs. Allan Stevens, 522 Lansdowne avenue, left, and Mrs. Adrien Tasse, 4240 Marcell avenue. Mrs. Stevens has been hat making at the Red Feather agency for three years and estimates her output at 30 hats including one of patent leather. Mrs. Tasse, a beginner in the courses last autumn, has made 15 hats.

Hat-making classes popular at YWCA

With not too many shopping days left till the Easter Parade, spring headgear is an item that gets top priority in lots of budgets.

Down at the Young Women's Christian Association, however, a considerable group of women are attending to this important matter with great practicality. With professional skill, they're making their own. And not too practical either, are the hats they are turning out!

This spring, as in most springs past, says Parisian teacher Mlle. Therese Commire, Easter millinery tends to be frivolous and flowery. With this maxim in mind the YWCA's millinery classes yearly switch their basic material for the spring term from felt to straw. The hat-making classes are some of the most popular courses given by the artwork shop and education department of the Red Feather agency.

Seated around large tables on which rest steaming equipment and heavy wooden hat moulds, the tyro hat makers use some of the most exotic of working materials—silks, satins, flowers and feathers. From these ingredients fashionable wigs, half wigs, cloches and sailors are turned out with alacrity.

A single hat making course was started at the YWCA some seven years ago. Now two teachers are kept busy giving 5 classes a week. "It's very vogueish now to make your own hats," said one busy milliner.

A star pupil is Mrs. Allan Stevens, 522 Lansdowne avenue, who enrolled in her first hat-making course three years ago. She estimates she has made at least 30 hats including one of patent leather. Mrs. Stevens refuses to consider herself a graduate—she still comes back to take courses.

Another remarkable pupil is Mrs. Adrien Tasse, 4240 Marcell avenue, who started hat making only this year. Total production to date she estimates as between 10 and 15 hats "not including repairs!"

Popularity of the hat making courses makes it difficult for beginners to join. Members of the classes don't like to graduate. They stay on for post-graduate studies.

However, Lorraine Cuddy, director of the art workshop and educational classes department, says the Y keeps a record of persons who want to join the different classes. "As soon as we have enough interested persons we add another class," she says.

Easter Day

O lovely day, we greet you
With hearts both glad and true,
Since from the death of winter
Once more, the world's made new.

Spring's magic wand, now waving
Brings hope, replacing woe,
For griefs are all forgotten,
Now melted with the snow.

And to the soul in darkness
The Christ appears today,
He leads the springtime glory,
His splendor lights the way.

Emotional, health and economic areas to be discussed at Women's Conference

How will your children be taken care of, if you are hospitalized? How can you cope with the crippling costs of illness and drugs, if your husband is out of work? Will you be affected by the Social Security Act?

These are among the problems that will be discussed at the day-long Women's Community Conference, taking place at the Windsor Hotel, on Wednesday, April 8. Entitled "Spotlight on Security", the Conference will deal with security in the emotional, health and economic areas, with the individual, family and the community being related in each one. Mrs. M. E. Coshof, chairman of program, announces that three outstanding speakers will be dealing with these security problems:

Dr. Nathan B. Epstein, Psychiatrist at the Montreal Jewish General Hospital, will discuss the emotional area; Dr. George Silver, Chief of the Division of Social Medicine, at the Montefiore

MRS. MORRIE E. COSHOF

Hospital, New York City, will handle security in the health and medical areas; Miss Phyllis Burns, Director of Welfare Services, Canadian Welfare Council of Ottawa, will handle the economic area. Each of these is a well-known expert in his own field.

The program for the Conference will run along the following general lines: there will be three workshops running concurrently, in the morning, each dealing with its own phase of security.

Following the address by the guest speaker, each workshop will break up into buzz sessions, which will be led by resource people. After a break, to allow delegates to view the exhibits, lunch will be served. The three speakers will then give a short summary of their workshop and will answer questions from the floor. A panel interchange, on the style of "Fighting Words", will conclude the day's program.

The chairman of the overall Conference is Mrs. Sydney Buckman.

45 Elderly ladies enjoy life in two United Church Homes

At the United Church Homes annual meeting held recently Mrs. Gordon McKay said, it was once said by an ancient philosopher that "old age is an incurable disease". While this still remains essentially true, there is a growing sentiment on the part of the modern and progressive communities to give greater regard to the value of life in old age and the responsibilities of society for its senior citizens.

For those who are not familiar with operation within the United Church Homes structure, the primary needs of the aged are considered, economic security which entails food, shelter and gracious peaceful living. "This also should, but does not include some degree of medical care!"

"For our part," Mrs. McKay said, "we accept them into the care of the Homes until these disabilities become apparent and then, because we are not geared or equipped to carry on from there, force them to another staggering adjustment in their lives, with transfer either to nursing homes or hospitals."

Mrs. McKay said the Homes have a long waiting list "but many hundreds could be added if we were able to consider the day by day pleas for nursing care."

DUN'EDIN HOME

Dun'Edin Home in Montreal West is now filled to capacity with 30 ladies from 68 to 92 years of age. During the year of 1958 there were one hundred requests for accommodation, many of whom did not fill in application forms, because there was no hope in the near future of their acceptance.

Several rooms in the home were redecorated during the year and other improvements included the building of two new cupboards, painting and reupholstering of furniture and painting the outside of the house.

The ladies in the Home work for the Red Cross, knitting little garments and amuse themselves in various ways, some of them doing little tasks about the house and watching TV, their favorite program being "Perry Como." Parties were enjoyed throughout the year, given by the United Churches, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts, also musical groups and the showing of films.

At Christmas Dr. G. C. Wadsworth and two of his elders came to the house and dispense Holy Communion.

PINE AVENUE HOME

Filled to capacity as the other Home, there are fifteen residents ranging from 69 to 89 years of age in this Home.

During the past year, a clergyman from one of the churches has organized regular services for the Home every second Sunday afternoon. These services are conducted by different ministers or students, and are much appreciated by the ladies, who join in heartily in the singing and responses.

Working for the Red Cross these ladies made 1,069 dressings as well as 740 diapers during the year, a slight decrease from the previous year, but due, in a large measure, to failing eyesight.

Instead of large parties, several of the women's associations send in members in twos or threes to spend an afternoon visiting the residents. The ladies enjoy this and have come to know the visitors better, and find some common interests with them.

OPERATING COSTS

The Dun'Edin Home, which had 30 guests, had operating costs of $21,525, and the Pine Avenue Home operating costs amounted to $11,663, with 15 guests. In both cases the operating costs were just under the amounts of money received through monthly church grants, donations and other sources of revenue.

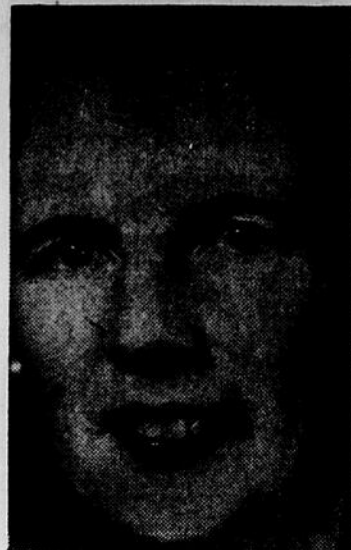

According to the secretary's report Christmas was the biggest occasion in each of the Homes. Gaily decorated throughout, Christmas dinners were served with all the trimmings and Santa gave to each lady a bag filled to the top with stamps, soap, gloves, handkerchiefs, jewellery, stockings, etc., and one lady of 92 was overheard saying "they are just out of this world."

Entire proceeds of Ball in aid of two hospitals

The St. Justine and Montreal Children's Hospitals, in cooperation with the Queen Elizabeth Hotel of Montreal, will feature a Carousel Ball on April 17, aimed at aiding the "outdoor" clinics and dispensaries in the two hospitals, it was disclosed at a meeting Thursday in the hotel's Royal Suite.

Stewart Finlayson, president of the board of administrators of the Montreal Children's Hospital stated that unlike any other charity ball the entire proceeds will go to two hospitals. "On behalf of the Montreal Children's Hospital, I gratefully thank the Queen Elizabeth Hotel and the CNR for their magnificent gesture in providing all their services—food, beverages and entertainment—at no cost whatever."

Mme R. O. Castonguay, treasurer of St. Justine, echoed Mr. Finlayson's gratitude and disclosed that no more than 600 persons will be able to attend the ball. "Last year we raised $15,000 for each of the hospitals with an attendance of 300. We hope to double it this year," she stated.

The Ballrooms will be decorated in carnival manner and will include hurdy-gurdies playing, carousels, carnival games and clowns in costume. Special acts will be included as well as the dance music of Denny Vaughan and his orchestra. Tickets will be $100 per couple, limited to 600 persons. Dress will be white tie.

Dr. Edmond Dubé, medical director at St. Justine explained that the outdoor patients are those who make use of the public clinics and dispensaries at the hospitals. "Of these, one out of every three or four patients can afford to pay, and the Quebec Public Charities Act provides no support for outdoor patients," he added.

Said Dr. John de Belle, consultant administrator of the Montreal Children's Hospital: "Our major problem is finance. People come to the dispensaries for examinations, investigations, treatments and follow-ups. Last year over 425,000 persons came to the hospital for consultations, emergencies and the like. We cannot continue to give our aid without financial assistance. As a result, the donations will be directed for use by the public dispensary."

"We ran a deficit at St. Justine alone of $990,000 for 1958. If a loss such as this continues, it would be almost impossible to continue the work of our clinics and dispensaries," added Madame Castonguay.

The Carousel Ball is intended to become an annual event in Montreal. Funds secured from this formal ball will be used to carry on essential services of the two hospitals and will be divided equally between them.

How to shape hairlines permanently in styles most becoming to you

You've been reading in magazines and newspapers about our fast, new short-wave method for eliminating superfluous hair.

And you can see at once what a blessing it is for women with long or stiff facial hair.

But have you thought how much it can improve your appearance . . . by shaping your hair-lines permanently in the styles that do most for you?

Think of the time you'll save! Imagine never having to pluck your eyebrows again . . . or to worry about straggling hair on your neck, cheek, forehead!

Such improvements are within the reach of almost any woman now.

Costs But Little

They're made possible by this fast new short-wave technique used in the Gregory System Clinics here in Montreal. It's permanent and perfectly safe—recommended by physicians the world over.

Doesn't hurt, either. In fact, plucking hair causes as much or more discomfort than having them removed permanently the Gregory System way.

You'll know our method is practically painless from the fact that so many fastidious women are having all their conspicuous leg and arm hair removed in the Gregory System Clinics. That also gives you an idea of the low cost of our short-wave method.

Actually, you can have 100 or more hair removed permanently for about the cost of a tube of standard depilatory.

Come in and talk with us today, won't you? To serve you better, our two most fashionable clinics in Montreal are located: DOWNTOWN: Suite 807—Dominion Sq. Bldg., 1010 St. Catherine St. West—Tel. UN. 1-6023, and IN SNOWDON: Suite 303, Royal Bank of Canada Bldg., 5292 Queen Mary Rd. at Decarie Blvd.—Tel. HU. 1-3522.

Call us right away and make an appointment for today or tomorrow. Clinic hours are 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. weekdays, 10 to 3 Saturdays. Free parking for our patrons.

We'll be glad to remove a few of your most troublesome hair without charge, to show you what Gregory System treatment is like.

Hall, this group included Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sarkin of Melrose avenue, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Dupuis and Mr. and Mrs. H. Collins.

More meetings followed in a classroom in the Montreal High School. Parents discussed their problems, the program to adopt, what to do and how fast they could do it.

In November, 1951, they got a provincial charter for the incorporation of The Association For the Help of Retarded Children.

In June, 1952, they started a school and hired a teacher. The parents guaranteed to pay the teacher's salary out of their own pockets but as it turned out, the women of the organization raised the money through raffles, card parties, etc.

In September, 1952, St. Mathew's Anglican Church in Hampstead offered a room in the basement for the school, which had only 6 pupils at the time.

When the class increased to 12, a move was made to the basement of Queen Mary road United Church.

At that time, they also started a class in Lachine, in the basement of St. Andrews United Church. The next year, another class was opened in the Chalmers United Church basement in Verdun and one in the St. Lambert elementary school.

Their next move was to the school hall in Rosedale United Church. They brought all the children from Verdun and Lachine to Rosedale United Church, because the children are best taught in groupings of similar emotional disturbances and abilities.

In the summer of 1958, the building on Cote Saint Luc road was acquired. In addition, other schools are operated in the province.

$200,000 spent on winter road maintenance

Principal activities of the Public Works Department in February was maintenance of winter roads. Snow fell on 17 days and there were 4 major storms and 5 minor snow storms. The total snow fall amounted to 24" which is equal to the 85-year average.

General sanding of sidewalks was necessary on 12 days and general salting of roads on 16 days. 55,000 cu. yds. of snow was disposed of at the melting pond and at dumps. A similar amount was blown back of public sidewalks.

Overtime was a major cost factor, as it was necessary to work at night 6 times, once on Saturday and twice on Sundays.

The expenditure on the maintenance of winter roads amounted to $71,300. The total expenditure for winter roads to date amounted to $200,000, $14,000 less than for the same period in 1958.

Four building permits, all taxable, were issued with an estimated value of $104,450. Seven construction jobs were completed, 51 projects are still under construction.

A considerable amount of temporary road repairs was necessary, principally on older streets and in the maintenance of cuts made by various public utility corporations. 45 tons of cold mix asphalt were used in making repairs.

Unity Hawkettes set for Dominion April 3

Westmount's Unity Hawkettes will host Toronto's St. Cecilia's junior basketball club April 3 and 4 with the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association Dominion ladies' cage crown at stake. The two day series will take place at Unity Boys' Club, 1090 Greene avenue in Westmount.

Spectator space is limited to 75 and cage fans are advised to secure tickets for both games in advance from members of the Unity team.

Tickets will also be available at the door, depending on the advance sale. Reservations can also be made by calling Maurice Mariasine, UBC director, WE 2-5506.

The visiting Toronto squad earned the right to represent Ontario by capturing the Ontario Ladies' Basketball Association junior title. Hawkettes are Montreal Ladies' Basketball League and PQABA champions this season.

Unity officials also announced that the visitors will be guests of honor at a luncheon to be given at UBC noon hour April 4. The MBL through its president announced at a recent meeting that Dot Mariasine of Unity copped the junior scoring crown this year. Mariasine tallied a total of 173 points.

Sandra Thomas picked up the Ruth Carnell Trophy to give Hawkettes a real stranglehold on MBL awards this season. The trophy is presented to the player with the best free-throw average in league play.

Bisons capture termite crown

The Westmount municipal termite championship went to the Bisons in two straight wins over the Dukes.

The Bisons won their second game by a 5-2 count. Philip Thom led the winners counting four times and earning an assist on the other goal by Stephen Kerrigan. Bruce Lerner and Paul Ono scored for the Dukes, both goals coming in the final period.

Bisons led 1-0 at the end of the first and added three more in the second. The Bisons went undefeated throughout the regular season while winning eight and earning one draw.

Brian Hoffman, Stephen Kerrigan and Philip Thom were the pick of the winners, along with steady Don McCowan in nets. Paul Ono, Don Campbell and Dick McLernon were the best for the Dukes.

Westmount loses curling title to Lachine school

Lachine won the high school curling championship, winning the final game by default over Westmount.

The forfeited contest gave Stanley Jones' Lachine team an 8-2 record for the season.

John Rennie and Montreal West wound up in second place with seven wins and three losses apiece. Next came Mount Royal with a 6-3 finish.

Montreal High completed the season at 3-7, while Lower Canada College was 2-8 and Westmount was 0-10.

Unity captures juvenile title

Unity Boys' Club captured its second consecutive city juvenile basketball championship with a 64-17 win over Snowdon YMHA.

Coach Bob Neal's cagers had little trouble in disposing of Snowdon, scoring from almost every angle.

Ken Annabelle and Keith Gavin led the winners with 20 and 15 points each. John Westlake added another 11 points to the total.

Snowdon Varsity Blues tied their best-of-three Montreal City and District Juvenile Basketball League series by defeating Unity Boys' Club 52-42 at Snowdon YMHA.

Coach Gerry Levenson's Blues trailed by 10 points at the end of opening period but rallied to grab a 30-25 lead at halftime.

Irving Myers potted 17 points for the winners with Marty Wright contributing 13 points for the Snowdon team.

RMR toppled by Maisies 22-21

The pennant winning Fusiliers Mont Royal and Regiment de Maisonneuve got off on the right foot in the start of the Officers Military Fastball League semi-final playoffs.

Fusiliers toppled Black Watch 17-14 while Maisonneuve pulled a 22-21 win over Royal Montreal Regiment.

Second games of the series will be played April 3.

In the Fusiliers - Black Watch game Gaston Proulx was the winning pitcher in the free hitting game. He struck out 11 batters and gave up 19 hits while his teammates pounded Alistair Pryde of the Highlanders for a like number of hits.

Paul Collette and Gaston Nicole shared the hitting for FMR with four safeties each while Ian MacAuley picked up five for the Highlanders.

At Maisonneuve Armand Lalonde drove home the deciding run for Maisonneuve and also sparked the team at the plate with five hits. The Maisies collected a total of 28 bingles while RMR picked up 26. Don McCullough homered for RMR.

Local pitcher Raymond Daviault who after starting the 1958 season with Montreal was optioned to Des Moines for further seasoning. Daviault won three and lost four games with last place Des Moines club.

Joan Allan re-elected as Quebec section swim head

Joan Allan was re-elected president of the Quebec Section of the Canadian Synchronized Swimming Association at its annual meeting.

The section also completed plans for hosting the Dominion championships here April 3 and 4 and named the judges who will mark the various phases of the title meet.

Heading the officials is Peggy Sellers as chief referee. Judges named were Miss W. Baxter, Toronto, A. W. Grant, Winnipeg, Gerry Dubrule, McGill University, Joan Orser, and Ebba Tolson, Montreal.

Entries in the championships have been received from Peterborough, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina, Montreal and Quebec City.

The Canada-wide competition is being held in the natatorium of NDG-YMCA on Friday afternoon and in the evening at the Notre Dame College pool on Queen Mary Road. The same format will be in effect for Saturday.

Mrs. Allan announced that Quebec City's YWCA fancy swimmers had accepted an invitation to perform in Bermuda early in May. Coach Suzanne Ion will take Barbara Malenfant, Barbara Monaghan, Barbara Lamontagne, Denyse Couteur, and Sandra Marks to the island.

The following is a full slate of officers elected to the Quebec Section: President, Mrs. Vic Allan; vice-president, Miss Lucy Williams; correspondence secretary, Mrs. Fred Harris; treasurer, Miss Helen Odette; recording secretary, Miss Joan Orser; executive, Misses Gisele Poulin, Carol Shetler and Mrs. J. L. McGowan.

Mt. Royal lady curlers score tourney victory

A convincing victory was scored by Mount Royal Curling Club's ladies in the Printanier bonspiel at Chateclerc Curling Club.

"A" division honors were taken by Mrs. A. G. Cruickshank when her rink posted 224.1 for highest percentage mark.

Mrs. D. J. Falconer's rink, also from Mount Royal, held second place with 222.9.

The unique La Canadienne Trophy was the prize for Mrs. Cruickshank and her associates, Mrs. R. Giffard, Mrs. T. Doran and Mrs. G. A. Leux.

Stars, Bombers leading intermediate semi-finals

The semi-final round of the Westmount municipal intermediate league got underway on Tuesday night with two games being played.

The first saw the Avenue Stars knock off first place Wanderers 4-2. Ross Murray scored for the Stars in the first period and Paul Hamilton tied it up for the Wanderers early in the second. Hughie MacDonald made it 2-1 for the Stars at the end of the second.

Mike O'Donnell put Stars in front 3-1 and John Roche added one for the Wanderers. O'Donnell scored his second goal for the winners late in the game to wrap it up for Avenue. Jim Beasant picked up two assists for the winners.

The second game saw Bombers edge Royals 3-2. Jock Guilbault gave the Royals a 1-0 first period lead on a pass from Peters. Bombers scored twice in the second with Morty Kay and Wayne Hibberd the marksmen. Al McKinney tied it up for Royals on a play with Campbell and Guilbault, but Joe Lauzier scored what proved to be the winner, with Morty Kay assisting.

Tom Grant and Mike Lunny played well for the winners while Bob Anderson and Bob Lunny were best for Royals. The series are a best-of-three.

T. LEO'S SPORTS

By Peter Johnson

St. Leo's Bantam Lions climaxed an unbeaten season when they polished off Westmount Junior High entry 7-1 to defend their City of Westmount bantam municipal crown.

Lions ran roughshod over the opposition throughout the schedule and left no doubt that they were the top team in their section. Bob Choquett in goal was given solid protection all year from the defence pair of Allan Keith and Jacques Lemieux but when called upon Bob was equal to the occasion between the pipes. Derek Johnson, the other defenceman, finished strong after a slow start.

Team captain George Spare was the payoff man up front and came through with many timely goals from his center ice spot. He led the league in scoring. Linemates Connie Nucci and Maurice Cusson kept in step with George and found the scoring range quite consistently themselves.

Fred Fisher, Dave Kelleher were not far behind the first line in ability and more than held their own when in action. To round out the team was a well balanced third line with Tony Tyrrell at center flanked by Jacques Leblanc and Claude Servant.

A good St. Leo's team, our bantams with a record of 17 straight victories, including league play and exhibition games.

Another Academy team forced their way into the sport light during the past week, was Dave Kelleher's spirited pee wee "B" Indians, who captured the Westmount municipal pee wee "B" title. They defeated Dalhousie 6-2 in the deciding game of a best two out of three series.

A lot of credit to the team's showing must go to coach Kelleher who instilled a fine spirit on the team and kept them out in front all year. Dougie Muncie, Danny McCormick and Colin Adams, notched two goals each to insure victory.

Academy Briefs:

Allan Keith stalwart defenceman on the senior "B" club, was voted by his teammates and coach as the most improved hockey player in the school and winner of the Catholic Mothers club trophy for this award. Allan a well conditioned solid built athlete drew many raves for his fine play and shattering body checks. A few coaches in the senior "B" section rated him all star defence material. Only 15 years of age, he is rated a fine prospect. Co-captain of the senior "B" team, Allan is a moving spirit behind all Academy athletic activities...

Thistle Club captures Elgin trophy crown

Dr. Russell Ward of Thistle Curling Club, became new holder of the Elgin Trophy Title, when he skipped his rink of Glenn Anderson, Herb Mitchell and Ken Delameter to victory at Town of Mount Royal Curling Club.

The Fort Street rink toppled S. Rooney of Valleyfield 7-4 over the 12-end distance, with both sides producing some fine curling.

In the consolation series, John Welch's Hudson team toppled J. W. Bedbrooke of Montreal West, 13-9 for the Grand National Trophy, while the Past President's Trophy went to Jim Lavery's quartet of Town of Mount Royal which set back M. Eaton of Shawinigan 16-5.

institutional care because of emotional problems. The aim for these children should be to cure their emotional instability and rehabilitate them. Unfortunately, this is not being done on an adequate scale.

FACILITIES

Mr. Stevenson listed the facilities for retarded children.

The parent school on Cote Saint Luc, Montreal, now has a total enrollment of 75 trainable children. This includes 5 classes in the morning and a teenage class and a young adult class who attend all day.

There is a summer camp near Hudson, called the Kinsmen Camp for Retarded Children. When funds become available, they plan to start a sheltered workshop which they hope will develop into eventually producing products for industry on a contractual basis.

The association has an experienced teaching staff, all under the general direction of a full-time psychologist. The classes are limited to 10 pupils for each child requires individual attention and great patience and understanding. All the above are salaried personnel.

There is a very large waiting list for all these schools; and for parents of these children a special guidance service is operated and as many visits as possible are made to their homes.

All children admitted to the Cote Saint Luc school are evaluated at the Mental Assessment and Evaluation Clinic of the Montreal Children's Hospital. Research in mental retardation is also carried on there and at the Mental Hygiene Institute. Both of these centres of research are financially supported by the Association. Advice and counsel of a technical nature is given to the Association by a professional advisory board whose members are eminent in the fields of medicine, medical research, psychiatry, psychology and education.

NO GRANTS

All this has been accomplished in this province without as yet, any financial aid from the Provincial or Federal governments. The school receives a grant from the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal of $250 annually for each Protestant child within its jurisdiction attending the Montreal school. However, due to the various creeds and residential areas involved, this only affects 59 per cent of the pupils. Apart from this grant, all the required funds have come from parents' contributions (many are not in a position to contribute at all), members' fund raising activities, including the annual campaign and tag day, and the generosity of interested service clubs, social clubs, friends and the general public.

NEED FOR $$$

As an example of their financial burdens, it is necessary to transport the pupils to and from school. In Montreal alone this means a fleet of four buses and four taxis, which daily pick up and deliver the children in Montreal West, Westmount, Outremont, Ville Saint Laurent, Verdun, Saint Lambert and Lachine. Four hundred miles daily are covered by these vehicles at an annual cost to the association of $10,000.

concentrate is limited at present to about twenty minutes, and must be lengthened so they can eventually work as much as a full day without their attention wandering. Length of concentration is now 25 minutes. Ability to concentrate for longer periods is developed through games at present, so the children are not aware that they are being urged to concentrate.

Their emotional behavior must be adapted to work situations. Each child acts as an individual and must be adapted to the group. That is accomplished through recreation where the children must act as a group.

There is a group of adult retardates at the school being taught domestic skills such as sewing and cooking and such practical things as shopping and following traffic lights.

To build up their span of attention, they make hooked rugs which they will sell to parents and friends.

The vocational training program will lead to the sheltered workshop. Then the group hopes to take on a few small contracts, starting by working for their own association. From that, the group will go on to working on sub-contracts from outside firms. At first, the group will have to do the work in as much time as they need; there must be no deadlines until they are completely adapted to work.

HANDLE BULLETINS

The adult group has learned to work as a team by putting out bulletins for the association. They have done it on a production line basis. Some stapled the bulletins, others sealed the envelopes, others still put the stamps on with a stamp meter.

This class was taken on a shopping expedition by their teacher. At first, the class was given newspaper ads of products in the store. At the store, the pupils had to find the articles advertised. Later, the parents were asked to give each child fifty cents and a shopping list, so the child could do some actual purchasing.

Their next project will be more difficult and a slower process. The school hopes to teach this group to travel alone.

Mr. Tanner, the vocational instructor, got his experience during seven years work for the Special Care Service of the Northern Ireland Hospital Authorities, that deals with all problems of retardation.

Library work delayed

The work on the Library extension progressed satisfactorily in February. It is estimated that construction is one week behind schedule. By the end of the month construction of the foundation walls and most of the basement floor and beams and the concrete columns up to the first floor had been completed. On the existing Library building good progress was made on the plumbing and heating part of the contract.

The trouble with a chronic borrower is that he always keeps everything but his word.
