PULLMANS WERE SMASHED BUT LOSS OF LIFE WAS SMALL

White Mountain Express Derailed—Woman Killed and One Injured

New Haven, Conn., July 16.—The White Mountain express leaving the Grand Central station at 8.40 a.m. was derailed a short distance east of Greenwich. One lady passenger, Miss Armstrong, was killed and one other, Mrs. Gibbeason, seriously hurt. The cause of the derailment has not been definitely fixed. The tracks at that point will probably be blocked for four hours.

Miss Armstrong had attempted to get out of the window as the coach toppled over, and was crushed to death. The train was made up of nine coaches of which five were Pullmans. Outside of derailment the day coaches suffered practically no harm while the Pullmans were all turned over. The train was drawn by two electric locomotives and after the coaches were derailed the momentum was such that the locomotive's weight hauled them fully five hundred feet ahead before they could be stopped.

One of the passengers said he first noticed the bumping of the coaches on the ties, then a swaying to one side and then the other, finally the overturning of his own coach and other coaches. The speed at which the train was going is responsible for the distance which the cars ran before toppling over.

There was a wild scene as the cars became a mass of wreckage, the shrieks of the frightened passengers reaching the stores and residences on the nearby streets, and bringing almost instantly hundreds of townspeople to the rescue.

A scrutiny of the wreckage makes it seem miraculous that more persons were not killed outright as the Pullmans were smashed almost to pieces.

PRACTICAL JOKER TRIES TO DISTURB REHEARSAL PLANS

Troops From Montreal Arrived at the Ancient Capital To-day

Special Staff Correspondence.

Quebec, July 16.—Letters, anonymously signed, were received to-day by several of Quebec's leading merchants and commercial men, whose employes have been enrolled to take part in the pageants, instructing them not to allow these employes to leave their offices this afternoon for the purpose of attending the first dress rehearsals, as a change of plans had again necessitated their postponement.

Lady Eileen Roberts, daughter of Lord Roberts, who will witness the Tercentenary Celebration.

Most of the letters were immediately sent to Mr. Lascelles for confirmation, and it was soon found that a small-sized hoax had been added to the many trials and tribulations of the Pageant Committee.

The letters were all typewritten on plain paper, being carbon copies of one another. They said that owing to unforeseen circumstances it had been found necessary to postpone the rehearsals again, and that employes were warned that any excuses given by clerks to leave their offices early in the afternoon to attend the rehearsals should not be accepted.

The Duke of Norfolk, who arrives at Quebec to-night to witness Tercentenary Celebration.

In spite of this all arrangements have been completed for the first-dress rehearsal this afternoon, and Mr. Lascelles has caused word to be sent out contradicting the anonymous letter, and requesting a full attendance.

At the last moment it has been found that some of the most necessary articles of dress and equipment for the pageants are lacking. There is a scarcity of ladies' side-saddles, and the number of wigs is far smaller than the number of heads. It is hoped that there will be no difficulty in obtaining a supply of each from neighboring cities, and telegrams have been despatched to Montreal and Ottawa requesting that as many of both articles as possible be sent.

The Marchioness of Donegal, who is a passenger on the Empress of Ireland, which arrives in Quebec to-night. She was formerly Miss Twining, of Halifax.

General Lawrence Buchan, C. M. G., A. D. C., who will take command of the troops under canvas at Levis, and who is at present at the Chateau Frontenac, expresses his opinion most strongly in favor of a parade of all the troops assembled here, thus backing up Mayor Garneau and the Battlefields Commission. He says that a large percentage of the men have come a long way, and want to see and be seen. As far as he and his command are concerned they will parade several times, for they will have to march through the city to and from camp. But a large parade he thinks, would be beneficial to the soldiers, and most interesting to the public.

The 3rd and 21st Field Batteries, the Army Medical corps of Montreal and the 17th Hussars were added to the strength of the troops already under canvas at Savard Park to-day, having come down by boat last night. The 13th Scottish Light Dragoons and the 7th and 11th Hussars from the townships will be here some time during the afternoon.

ROAD CONTRACTORS MUST BE HELD TO THEIR AGREEMENTS

City's Inspection System Wholly at Fault Declares Mayor Payette

"If contractors were held strictly to their agreements the city of Montreal would have as finely paved streets as are to be found in any city abroad."

Such were the drastic words to-day of His Worship Mayor Payette, who has recently returned to Montreal from a trip to European cities.

Continuing his remarks, Mayor Payette discussed the question in the following outspoken strain: "If our pavements do not last, as pavements last abroad, it is because contractors are not compelled to keep to the letter of their agreements with the corporation. The specifications on which contractors tender to do corporation road-making are all that could be desired; but what is the good of carefully-drawn specifications if the system is such that contractors are able to shirk their duty? What is needed is a close supervision of everything that contractors do."

"But has not the Roads Committee inspectors whose duty it is to see that contractors carry out their agreements faithfully?" was asked.

"Yes," was the reply, "the corporation has inspectors, but the system which they work is not satisfactory. One inspector is employed to look after the mixing of the material, and also to go about seeing how pavement is being laid. Bless me! Such a system would not be tolerated in Europe. There special inspectors are employed, capable men, whose duty it is to stay the entire day on the spot where the cement, sand and stone are being mixed. By this method the inspector measures the cement, sand and stone and sees that the ingredients are as called for by the specifications. There can be no shirking of their duty by contractors with such a system as this. It is such a system of supervision and control that Montreal needs.

RIGID INSPECTION NEEDED.

"If the roads do not last, as they do in other countries, there must be some grave cause for it. The city calls for the very best of material, and I declare that, on the whole, it is not the material which is to blame. I make the declaration that I could take material, such as contractors are ordered to give, and I would put down pavements, just as good as they make in Paris or any other city, and I am sure that such pavement would last as long here as elsewhere. But if contractors are not closely watched, and if they are permitted to put three or four times as much stone and sand in cement as they ought to do, it stands to reason that no matter how nice a road may look at first, it will not last. The greatest of care should be given by inspectors to see that contractors put down proper concrete foundations when roads are being made. If it is a macadam road that is being made, the inspectors should know enough to see that the contractors hammer the foundation stones firmly into the earth, and that the macadam bed is strong in every way. It is well known that many inspectors, whose duty it is to watch contractors, are not practical men. It would pay the city to give big wages when inspectors are being employed, and these men should be thoroughly qualified. An inspector who has not had years of experience cannot, in the very nature of things, properly control contractors and ensure the city securing well made roads. I again say that I could take materials that contractors guarantee to supply, and I would put down model pavements with them."

In conclusion His Worship said that as soon as he had more time at his disposal, he would give attention to seeing about the many complaints made to the effect that paving now being laid down was unsatisfactory.

MUCH LOOSE WORK DONE

In regard to contractors not keeping their agreements with the city, it was openly stated, at a recent meeting of the Roads Committee that there were reasons to think contractors were using more sand and stone with cement than what they should do. No names were given, but it was made quite clear that there were members of this very committee who were irritated at the failure of inspectors to keep contractors to their written agreements. One alderman, who was present at the meeting in question stated that he had gone to look for an inspector on a certain work and had actually found him in a saloon drinking; while doing this there was, of course, no control of the contractor, and he could do just what he pleased.

Two weeks ago the Roads Committee inspected certain works in progress in the streets. Afterwards, Ald. L. A. Lapointe, Ald. Ward and other members of the Council complained that contractors were putting down stone in Colborne street in the most slipshod manner. Ald. Lapointe pried up one of the granite blocks and proved that it was not surrounded on all sides with tar, as called for by the specification.

PREMIER TO GO ON TOUR.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Will Stump Ontario and the West.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 16.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will make a tour of Ontario before he goes west. The Premier, who, it was announced, would spend a few weeks at Arthabaskaville after the Quebec fetes, will, it now turns out, return at once to Ottawa, wind up a number of outstanding matters, including the appointments to the railway commission and the re-organization of the Cabinet, and will start out on a tour of Ontario about August 20. Then he will probably go west, and should return to Ottawa about the end of September.

MURDERER OF ENRIGHT GAVE HIMSELF UP

Crooked Neck Smith Journeyed Back From Brooklyn of Own Accord.

Richard S. Prather, alias Frank, or "Crooked Neck" Smith, the murderer of Mike Malone, alias Jimmie Enright, practically placed himself under arrest last night and spent the night in the cells at the Central station.

The circumstances attending the arrest are of an interesting character and are further evidence of the truth of the old axiom: "The best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft agley."

Smith—he will likely be called Smith until his case is disposed of—had an arrangement by which he was to place himself in the hands of Detectives McLaughlin and Cowan, but a bell boy at the Russell Hotel upset all the plans.

When Smith fled down Cathedral street after his appearance before Mrs. St. Marie and an hour after the murder, he made his way to Lachine and then on to New York. Just how he managed he has not yet stated, but he has declared that he grew tired of the fight for freedom and accepted a suggestion which was made to him by friends acting on his behalf in Montreal.

Detectives McLaughlin and Cowan were in daily touch with these friends, and a message was sent to Smith, who was hiding in Brooklyn, N.Y., that if he would come back to Montreal and stand his trial that he would have fair play. It was pointed out that sooner or later he would be caught, and it would be better to face the music at once. In the meantime Smith was suffering much pain on account of his wounded left hand which was so badly cut by Malone in the opium joint on the night previous to the murder. The cuts are on the inside of the fingers and look as though they were the result of Smith grasping the knife with which Malone attempted to stab him. The wound required daily dressing and every time he went to the doctor Smith felt that he would be caught.

This was the condition of affairs when on Monday of this week he decided to accept the suggestion made by the detectives and return to Montreal. He wrote his friends here that he would start on Wednesday and go right to the Russell House on his arrival, and would get into communication with McLaughlin and Cowan, whose coming he would wait at the hotel.

The officers naturally thought that he would leave on Wednesday night and they made arrangements to meet Smith this morning. He, however, took the day trip and arrived last night. Going straight to the Russell he walked through the office towards a room where Mr. Perkins, the proprietor, was resting, and as he passed the desk a bell boy recognised him. It is but a few yards from the hotel to the Chaboillez street police station, and the distance was covered by the boy in record time. Breathlessly he shouted to Captain Bourgeois that Smith was at the Russell. The captain with three men hastened over and found their man in Mr. Perkins' room.

Smith had entered without knocking and said: "It's me, Smith." "What, Crooked Neck Smith's brother," replied Mr. Perkins. "No," he said. "Crooked Neck Smith himself. I'm tired and want to get a rest. I'm going to give myself up."

ADMITTED HIS IDENTITY.

As he said this the officers appeared and the captain asked him if he was Smith. "Yes," he answered, "I'm Frank Smith." "Crooked Neck Smith?" "Yes."

He then made a statement to the effect that he had just come from New York, and wanted to be tried as soon as possible. He said that had he lived up to his own desires he would not have gone away at all, but would, on the contrary, have surrendered to the police, and have shown that he acted in self-defence. Friends, however, persuaded him to get away and he did so.

He was warned by the officers that anything he said might be used against him, and was then taken to the police station.

At the St. James Hotel, next door to the Russell, the Police Benevolent Association were busy with their annual banquet, following the games, and when word of Smith's surrender was passed around it naturally became the chief topic. Many would not believe it, but Inspector McMahon went to the station, and had Smith removed to the Central. Then the diners believed.

This morning the murderer's heart was in a weak condition, and Dr. Benoit, the jail physician, had to be called. He also dressed the wound, which he says must be very painful.

Between Detectives McLaughlin and Cowan, Smith was taken from the City Hall to the Court House. On his way across the square an attempt was made to snapshot him, and he almost broke from the officers in his effort to get at the man with the kodak and shouted, "Take that guy away, or I'll kick that out of his hands." And he certainly looked as if he meant it.

The slayer of his erstwhile friend is 5 feet 5 1-2 inches high. He has a vicious appearance and is evidently a man who means what he says. He has a scar on the back of his left hand, two on the right forearm, one on the left ear, and another on the lower lip.

When arraigned before Judge Lafontaine he pleaded not guilty to the charge of having murdered Jimmie Enright. The preliminary hearing was set for Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

After the arraignment Smith spent some time assisting the detectives to gather information regarding a number of crooks who may visit the city in the near future.

CANADIANS IN THE OLYMPIC BICYCLE FINALS

Ralph Rose Won the Weight Putting Contest To-day

London, July 16.—That there is an apparent apathy towards the Olympic games is the theme of much newspaper comment this morning. The great Stadium holds over 70,000 persons, but never yet have there been more than 15,000 people present. This is regarded all the more disappointing as it is not unusual for a big football contest in the provinces to attract from 100,000 to 150,000 enthusiasts. It is suggested that the prices of the seats have been fixed too high, and also that the affair has not been sufficiently advertised.

One newspaper thinks it would have been well to give the big public schools holidays so as to enable the youths to see the world's athletes. No sufficient explanation of the neglect of the promoters is forthcoming, however, and great disappointment is expressed on all sides.

A drizzling rain fell all the morning and the attendance was less than on any previous day.

The eighth heat of the 1,000 metre cycling race was won by G. G. Cameron, Irish-American Athletic Club.

CANADIANS IN FINALS.

In the hundred kilometre, Andrews, of Canada, came fourth, and Young, 5th, qualifying for the final. Goulding was unplaced in the ten mile walk. Larner won in one hour, eighteen minutes and nineteen seconds.

In the second heat of the ten mile walk, G. E. Larner, Harrison, and Palmer, of England, and Kerr, of Australia, all qualified for the final. The time of the winner was one hour, 18 minutes and 19 seconds.

In the second heat of the 100 kilometre cycle race the following qualified:—

Meredith, Bartlett, Pett, and Cadenny, of the United Kingdom; Westberg, of Sweden; Lepize, of France; Andrews, of Canada, and Gosselerg, of Belgium. L. G. Weintz, of the N.Y.A. C. fell, when he had 89 laps to go. He collided with Meredith and Noon, of England. Noon was severely shaken and Weintz had to retire, but Meredith remounted and finally came in first.

The first heat of the semi-finals in the 200 metre breast stroke swimming match was won by Holman, England, Toldy, Hungarian, was second. Holman's time was 3 minutes and 10 seconds.

The second heat was won by Robinson, with Hanson, Sweden, second. The time of the winner was 3 minutes 11 1-4 seconds.

In the putting-the-weight contest, sections one and two were grouped. W. W. Coe, Jr., Boston Athletic Association was first, with 42 feet 10¾ inches. Sauli, of Finland, was second with 41 feet 3½ inches; and Lee J. Talbott, Irish-American A. C., was third with 38 feet 2 inches.

Sections three and four in putting-the-weight also were grouped. J. C. Garrels, Chicago Athletic Association, was first with 43 feet 3¼ inches and M. F. Horr, Irish-American Athletic Club, was second with 42 feet 1 inch.

Beattie, of Canada won the association handicap clay bird shooting, scoring 29 kills out of a possible 30. In the contest for the Dewar shield, the Ealing Club scored 45 kills, and the Parkdale Club, Toronto, 44 kills out of a possible 60. Ewing scored 9 out of a possible 10.

The final in the putting-the-weight contest was won by Ralph Rose, Olympic Club, of San Francisco. Horgan, United Kingdom, was second. J. C. Garrels, Chicago Athletic Association, was third.

Halifax, N.S., July 16.—For five hours, at intervals, yesterday, Halifax was in the grip of a furious thunderstorm. Twice it reached hurricane fierceness, with sheets of rain, accompanied by thunder and flash after flash of dazzling lightning. About 8.30 there was a heavy shower of hail. There was no serious damage. The storm was also severe at other parts of the province, and heavy rain fell.

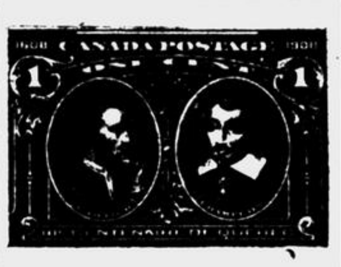
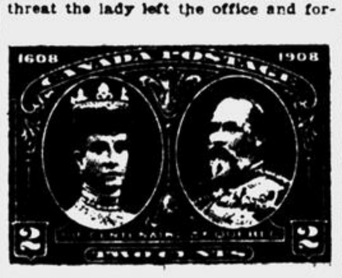
TERCENTENARY STAMPS ON SALE

Hundreds Crowd the General Post Office Anxious to Purchase.

The ticket booths to the various side shows at Dominion Park were put to shame in the popularity line this morning. The scene of the strife was the sedate General Post Office on the occasion of the first day's sale of the Tercentenary issue of Canadian stamps. Lines of men, women and children crowded the length of the corridor, and it required the efforts of two of the strongest men connected with the staff to maintain any kind of order. Ladies would rush in and take their places in front of the patiently waiting men, and these would have to grin and endure it. As one man remarked we are to be thankful that women do not take it into their heads to do the purchasing of the hockey tickets in the winter, or we would have no show whatsoever. A lady after enquiring what the excitement was hurriedly rushed up to the wicket, and when told to take her place in line she felt insulted, and the poor humble attendant is to be reported directly to the King himself because he dared say what had to be done. After this cruel threat the lady left the office and forgot all about her intended purchase. The young women in charge were very patient under the strain, and it was most interesting to notice the accuracy and promptness they exhibited in handling the money and giving the right change.





The stamps themselves are about twice the size of the ordinary ones, and represent appropriate personages and scenes connected with the coming celebrations. They are sold in sets, and there are enough on hand to supply everybody, notwithstanding the large purchases being made by local collectors and visitors.

ROOSEVELT PAYS HIS RESPECTS TO FEEBLE, SNARLING POLITICIANS

Special to the Montreal Star.

Bangor, Maine, July 16.—"Bill" Sewell, guide and friend of President Roosevelt has received a letter from the President, in which he says: "I hope Mrs. Roosevelt will be better, now that the strain of the Presidential nomination is off. As for me I thoroughly enjoy the job and never felt more vigorous as far as the work of office is concerned.

But it is somewhat different from work in the backwoods and plains that you and I have done together in the past. I had said I would'nt accept another term, and I believe the people think my word is good. I should be mighty sorry to have them think anything else. I believe in being a strong president, and making the most of office and using it without regard to the little, feeble, snarling men who yell about executive usurpation. I also believe it is not a good thing for any man to hold it too long. My ambition, is, no matter in however humble a manner, and no matter however far off, to travel in the footsteps of Washington and Lincoln."

The President promises to visit Sewell in Maine when his term concludes.

DETECTIVES REFUSED ADMISSION TO TORONTO BALL GROUNDS CAUSE ARRESTS

Royals Play in Buffalo To-day—Gardiner Will be Given a Trial by Casey This Afternoon

Summonses were issued last night against Thomas Slattery, cashier of the Toronto Baseball Club, and Reuben Goldstein, who was in charge of the gate at the ball grounds during the game of Tuesday. The charge against them is obstruction. The trouble arose in this way.

Provincial Detectives Miller and Greer had business at the ball grounds and sought admittance without going through the usual rules at the pay box, as common people have to do. The gatekeeper not only refused them admittance, but called the ground constable to order off the intruders, in spite of the fact that they showed their badges and pointed out that the law imposes a penalty of not more than $100 and not less than $50 on all persons who refuse to admit police officers to places of public amusement. The two officials therefore retired and the summonses are the result.

Yesterday was an open day for the Royals but they start work again to-day.

The team left last night for Buffalo, where starting to-day they will play a series of three games.

In one of these games Casey will give a trial to Gardiner, the young pitcher he ran across in Lyons, N.Y.

Gardiner attracted the Montreal manager-captain's attention there by winning eleven straight games in an independent league.

Starting Monday afternoon, Montreal will be at home for two whole weeks, starting with three games with Baltimore.

Mike Donlin, captain of the Giants, achieved the honor of being the first player in either league to secure one hundred base hits this season.

Donlin reached the century mark in the fifth inning of the second game Tuesday afternoon when he cracked out a three-bagger.

Shortly afterwards Donlin made another three-sacker, which makes his record to date 101.

Last year Wagner was the first player in the National League to reach the century mark. While in the American League the honor fell to Ty Cobb.

"Where have the phenomena flown to?" asks Tim Murname. During March and early April the two big leagues were crowded full of wonderful young ball players.

The reliable old players were booked for the brush. "We must have fast men," was the cry of the fan.

Time has shown the veteran to be the most valuable asset a ball club can control. Speed doesn't amount to much unless the player has all the other essentials that go to make up the winning combination.

Looking over the two major leagues one is actually surprised at the failure of the young recruits to make good.

About the only ones showing good form are those who have been in the big leagues before and went back to the minor for more experience.

NOT WORTH A TRIAL.

Tim O'Brien, the clever Cleveland scout, returned to Cleveland a few days ago, after touring the country, and said that he saw less than six men whom he considered worth a trial. And this is true of all scouts.

Gathering a small army of half-baked youngsters is a losing game, and will be cut out hereafter by most of the clubs and this will prove a blessing for the smaller clubs, as it will help to keep salaries down.

There hasn't been a time in 10 years where heady pitching is telling as it is to-day. The batsmen have found a way to meet the spit ball, in fact they step in and cut off most of the breaks a ball can be made to take by a pitcher, with the exception of the outcurve, and in this way have put the boxmen on the defensive.

The splendid showing that Bill Donovan, Jack Powell, Cy Young and other clever boxmen are making this season simply goes to show that headwork and command in the box is going to count, as it did in the days of Radbourne, Clarkson and other heady pitchers.

The death knell of the player who broke into the game as a thrower of the spit ball has sounded and ball clubs must look about for pitchers with command of a variety of curves and the head work to carry them through.

There were several men of this stamp three years ago but they lost faith in their ability to keep up with the moist ball, and, taking up the new fad later, were soon out of the running with lame arms.

I wouldn't be surprised in the near future to see the spit ball legislated against, and the boxman forced to pitch a clean, dry ball.

In time this would bring about a more interesting game, and the pitchers would be rated according to their real ability.

CANADIANS HAVE A CHANCE TO WIN IN FIVE MILE RACE

Zimmerman Out of it—McCarthy Made a Great Struggle

London, July 16.—The gold medals went to Great Britain, France and Sweden as the winners of the finals of yesterday's events of the Olympic games. Great Britain was a double winner and France and Sweden secured one first each. United States had to be satisfied with one silver medal, symbolic of second place in the three mile team race. It was announced from the offices of the British Olympic Association that the attendance at the Stadium was the largest since the opening. The stands certainly filled up during the afternoon as compared with yesterday, but still if the number of spectators is to be taken as an evidence, the public is evincing little interest at least in the preliminary events, in the great programme which has brought together upwards of two thousand athletes, representing almost every civilized country of the globe.

The weather gave no excuse for the non-attendance of the public and there were other reasons why the seats should be occupied, but the great crowd that had been expected did not come and only the cheaper stands contained spectators in any number. The programme, it is true, was not the most interesting from the view point of the men outside of the arena, but occasionally some good sport was witnessed.

YESTERDAY'S FINALS.

There were four finals assigned to the day and of these England won the 660 yards cycling race and the three mile team race, thus bringing the number of gold medals accredited to Great Britain to date up to four, as compared with two standing to the credit of the United States.

France captured her gold medal for a victory in the 2,000 metres tandem cycle race and Sweden for Lemmings record breaking javelin throw of 178 feet 7½ inches, which topped the best previous throw by more than three feet.

Greece, France and Great Britain each gathered in a silver medal for seconds in the Javelin throwing, 660 yards cycle race and the 2,000 metres event respectively, while Norway, Germany and Sweden took the bronze medals in the same events.

JAVELIN THROWING

In the Javelin throwing contest there were seventy entries, but the majority withdrew when they realized that they had no chance of beating Lemming and other cracks at this form of sport. While the throwing was going on the bicycle track was occupied by the competitors in the 100 kilometres cycle race, which brought out a big field. This contest resolved itself into a procession which lasted all morning. Hanson, of Sweden, was first in this heat and Lutz, of France, second, six others qualifying for the finals which will be run off on Saturday.

The closest finish of the day was in the first heat of the semi-finals of the 400 metres swimming event, O. Scheff, of Austria, winning by the smallest fraction from H. Taylor, of England. The second heat of the semi-finals also was a splendid contest, Beaurepaire, of Australia, having all he could do to keep ahead of Foster, of England. These four, Scheff, Taylor, Beaurepaire and Foster qualified for the final, which will be one of the big events of to-morrow. From Scheff's time in to-day's heat, 5 minutes 40 3-5 seconds, which is 3 2-5 seconds faster than that made in the second heat, it looks as though Austria might capture a gold medal.

THE FANCY DIVING

Another event in the tank which attracted much attention was the fancy diving, the third and fourth heats of which were decided. Behrens, of Germany, won the third heat with 82.5 points; Errington, of England, and Metzell, of Finland, tied for second with 70.83 points. Potts, of England, captured the fourth heat, his score being 82.5, while Nicolai, of Germany, was second with 65.1.

The tank was occupied for another hour by the contestants in the 200 metres breast stroke swim, seven heats being decided. The following men qualified for the final, which will be swum on Saturday: Holman, of England; Pearson, of London; Sidel of Germany; Toldy, of Hungary; Robinson, of England; Fabinyi, of Hungary, and Courbet, of Belgium. A. M. Goessling, of the Missouri Athletic Club, the only American entered, took third place in the second heat, and therefore did not qualify.

The five mile run, which is also down for Saturday, should prove a great race. The eliminating trials have left the following to fight it out for the championship: Svanberg and Landquist, of Sweden; Hefferen, of South Africa; Voight, Murphy, Robertson and Owen, of England; Bellars and Carr, of the United States, and Meadows, Fitzgerald and Galbraith, of Canada.

POLICE BANQUET A JOLLY AFFAIR LAST NIGHT.

St. James Hotel was the scene of a jolly gathering last evening, when the Montreal Police Athletic Association held their annual dinner. Representatives from sister athletic organizations, from the Legislature, and from the City Council, were present; and, under the able guidance of President Gorman, in the capacity of toast-master, the evening's programme passed off without a hitch. "The King" was proposed by Captain Gorman, and responded to by Chief Campeau. The latter, with Ald. Martin and Seguin, answered the toast to "the Police Committee"; while "Sister Associations" were looked after by Ald. Gadbois, Chas. Irwin and E. W. Sayer. Hon. P. E. Leblanc answered the toast to "Our Guests," in French and English, paying a tribute to the Montreal police. The toast to "The Press" was answered by Messrs. P. M. Bernard and G. F. Macnaughton. During the evening a handsome gold medal was presented to Mr. Victor Bluteau as individual champion at the afternoon's games.

BLUE BONNET'S NEW RACING MANAGER IN DANGER OF JAIL

Refused to Give Testimony in Regard to Betting at Race Tracks

New York, July 16.—On the theory that they control race track gambling, Christopher Fitzgerald, the racing manager of the Brighton Beach track, and John C. Cavanagh, the official stationer at the same track, may be indicted by the King's County Grand Jury. They were requested to atend before the Grand Jury yesterday, but sent letters of regret saying that other engagements prevented their accepting the opportunity to aid the investigation of the race tracks by the assistant district-attorney, Robert H. Elder.

Both officials were at the track, as usual, in the afternoon.

Their failure to appear, it was said, would make it necessary to indict them, as the prosecutor and the Grand Jury believed they were directly responsible for the gambling on the Brighton track.

Police Commissioner Bingham, First Deputy Baker, and Sheriff Hobley, of King's County, were important witnesses yesterday before the Grand Jury. They were examined by the assistant District-Attorney Elder, and jury, but they would not discuss their testimony. It is known that Bingham and Baker were questioned as to their efforts to suppress race-track gambling.

Controversy between Bingham and Elder as to the conduct of the police at the tracks was given a new touch when Bingham in talking to the reporters after he came out of the Grand Jury room, said: "When Elder says the police can stop betting on the track in five minutes if they want to, he is talking through is hat." Elder replied to this that Bingham's men had proved they could stop illegal betting by doing it in the third race on Tuesday. That, he said, was all the answer he had to make to the police commissioner. Bingham said it was no crime to make oral bets or to pass money on oral bets, but Elder did not agree with this interpretation. Elder expects the Grand Jury will find many more indictments for infraction of the anti-race track gambling law.

Olympic Notes.

Melvin W. Sheppard's application for a position on the New York police force was rejected because of physical disability. The police surgeons who examined the athlete reported that they found him suffering from enlargement of the heart and hardening of the arteries. His case has been taken up by the civil service commissioners, whose examination he has passed and another effort will be made to have him accepted as a wearer of the policemen's blue.

Meadows was second in his heat of five mile race, but will not show in the final.

Zimmerman, of Montreal, is out of the diving. Canada has no chance in the swims.

Keith and Elliott were beaten in the gymnastic competition, but not disgraced. Both were close to the winners in points. They will go to Frankfort, Germany, next week to see 40,000 gymnasts perform and get new ideas. The trip will be at their own expense.

The Marathon will be run on Friday, the 24th, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

James E. Sullivan must keep in the limelight. A New York yellow journal says he was kept off the field in the Stadium for some reason or other, probably because the Olympic Committee resented his impertinent and arbitrary manner.

It is worthy of note that the only objections at the Olympic games come from the United States. They're natural kickers.

The Toronto Star says:—No professionals in the American team, eh? What about Ralph Rose? and Martin Sheridan? and Melvin Sheppard? and John Flanagan? and about 50 others of the United States that can be named who make a living on their athletic skill?

Hamilton bookmakers have put up odds for the Marathon. Longboat is the 3 to 1 favorite, while Simpson, the Peterboro Indian, is at fives for first and even for third.

In the second round of the 660 yards cycle race, Andrews of Canada was fourth, beaten by two lengths. Johnson won in 59 1-5 seconds. In the first heat of the 100 kilometre race Anderson, of Canada, led for the first hour, covering 23 miles and 1,200 yards. He became exhausted ten laps from the finish, and McCarthy punctured his tire and remounted. He caught he leaders, but was quite exhausted. Sanson won in 2 hours and 50 minutes.

Bobby Kerr is the closest priced favorite of the bunch. The odds on him are only even for first in the hundred and two hundred metre sprints. The quotations are:—

	1st.	2nd.	3rd.
Burn	40	15	6
Caffery	15	6	3
Cotter	10	4	2
Goldsboro	12	5	2

NEW WESTMINSTER BOYS HOPE TO BRING BACK THE MINTO CUP TO PACIFIC COAST

Suggestions for a Referee for Saturday—McCormick Will Play Against Cornwall Before Practicing With Shamrocks

Perhaps the authorities in the cause of law and order would permit Crooked Neck Smith Esq. to be put temporarily at the disposal of President Thompson, of the National Lacrosse Union in case he should run short of Referees for Saturday. Mr. Smith would not wait for the Union to punish anyone who did not obey his authority.

McCormick of Quebec, will play against the Cornwalls on Saturday in the Citadel City, and on Monday will start practicing with the Shamrocks.

The New Westmister Lacrosse team challengers of the Minto Cup passed through the Capital yesterday en route for Montreal. The party has a special car on the C. P. R. and there are fourteen players, the manager and a trainer and three ladies making nineteen all told. On the side of the car is a huge banner bearing the inscription, "New Westmister, B. C., Lacrosse team."

Manager Welsh of the coast team said the trip had been a most trying one on the players as the heat was intense. Coming through the mountains the thermometer registered 102 in the shade. As a consequence all the windows in the cars were kept wide open and some of the players contracted colds.

Manager Welsh says the team was never in better shape than when it left the coast and thinks a few days rest will put the players in fine form again. When asked if the New Westmister club would protest against the Shamrocks playing National and Montreal men, Mr. Welsh said he did not think so, but could not say anything definite in regard to the matter at present. However, he remarked that he did not think the men mentioned to play would strengthen the Shamrocks very much and there was not likely to be a protest.

"We want it to be the best two out of three games," said Mr. Welsh, "and will see the cup trustees in regard to this. It is the finest way and we will put up a strong fight to have such arrangements made." Under the present plans only two games are to be played on July 21 and 28. The coast team will not go right on to Montreal according to manager Welsh until Monday next, that is providing the team can get a suitable place to practice and there should be no trouble about this.

The coast players do not look to be nearly as heavy a team as they are reported to be, but are a husky looking aggregation. Several of the players said they will have to hustle some to beat us, but they were not over confident. One remarked, "we have the best chance we ever had to lift the cup and if we do the Eastern teams will have to do some tall hustling to bring it back East again. That's a sure bet." The New Westminster team will play several exhibition games after the cup series and efforts will be made by the coast team to get in a game with the Capital's. The question of officials will be taken up at once by the two clubs.

If the Indians win the N.L.U. championship this season and New Westminster win the Minto Cup, the Indians will probably go to the coast this fall after the mug.

Charlie Querrie, of the Indians, says that the best man on the Indian line-up Saturday in Cornwall was Fred Graydon, the big cover-point. Fred is certainly playing the game of his life.

Last year the Tecumsehs won in Ottawa, and the Capitals came to the Island and played the Indians the closest game of the year. The Tecumsehs are taking no chances, and were all out on the Island yesterday afternoon.

The Caps have resurrected Johnny Powers for the Tecumsehs game here Saturday. Johnny is an artful dodger, but Harry Griffiths knows him like an open book, and if he gets by "the man in underwear" Fred Graydon will attend to the rest.

The Cornwall Lacrosse Club are going to Quebec to play an exhibition match with some unknown team and will leave for the ancient capital on Friday. The team will be Lalonde, Burns, Cameron, F. Degan, C. Degan, White, Degray, Fid Cummins, Donald Smith, Frank Cummins, R. Degan and Phalen.

Since Fred Taylor, the fleet little home player of the Capitals, was whitewashed by the National Lacrosse Union, he is the most talked about lacrosse man in the country. Much has been said, pro and con, of the justice of the decision, but if the sensational game played by Taylor, in Montreal, last Saturday, may be taken as a criterion, he has learned his lesson. His exhibition that day was referred to by the Montreal critics as the best ever seen in a lacrosse field in the Metropolis. While no officials have been chosen for the great Tecumseh-Capital battle here, Saturday, they will be instructed to watch Taylor's every move, and any attempt at rough tactics will probably result in his expulsion.

Jim Muir and Frankie Nolan made their first appearance at the Shamrock grounds last night. Muir, who appeared to be in fairly good form, was in the net. Nolan was a little stiff yet.

Munday was out to practice with the Shamrocks last night, and there is a possibility he may be on the team for the Minto Cup matches.

TROTTING RACES DECIDED IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Two Events at Delorimier Park Yesterday Won by Outsiders

The two events at Delorimier Park yesterday afternoon were the 2.10 pace and the 2.30 trot.

Three straight heats were raced in each event and the winners were Common Voter, owned by Dr. Wells, of Laconia, N.H., and Miss Paisley, owned by Mr. B. George Powell, of Ontario, respectively.

Both of these winners raced for the first time at Delorimier Park yesterday.

The time for the first heat of the 2.10 pace was not very fast, only 2.20 3-4 being made, but in the next two heats this time was bettered by six seconds and then six seconds and a quarter.

In the 2.30 trot the times of the first two heats was the same, 2.27 1-4, and in the third heat only 2.28 was made.

Miss Paisley, the Ontario mare, was never in danger at any time and had the race about all her own way.

In the 2.10 pace, Jerry Dillard finished second in each heat, and Tony Bars, owned by William Hodson, of Montreal, third. Tony Bars pressed Common Voter at the beginning of the second heat and headed her once towards the end of the first half, but on the final stretch dropped back to third position. There were only four starters in the race.

Three horses were distanced in the first heat of the 2.30 trot, partly owing to bad breaks in the first half. George Jordon's Royal Trust, with two seconds and one-third, won second money; H. Swift's Johnny Medium, third, and George Gregory's Morio, fourth.

Arrested on Charge of Murder.

Buffalo, N.Y., July 14.—Jos. W. Smith, 25 years old, was arrested at Niagara Falls yesterday on a charge of murder. The arrest was made at the request of Chief of Police Shippey, of Chicago. It is alleged that Smith shot and killed Valentine Huesler in Chicago on June 15. Smith was formerly a professional baseball player.

SHERIDAN OF NEW YORK WON OLYMPIC DISCUS THROWING

Three Canadians Entered in the 100 Kilometre Bicycle Race

London, July 16. — There was some heavy work for the athletes participating in the Olympic Games at the Stadium this morning. The programme included the second heat of the 100 kilometre bicycle race, which brought out a field of 32 starters, of which Weintz was the only American, while Canada had three entries, Morton, Young and Andrews. France and Germany each started five men, Italy three, the United Kingdom six, and Belgium, South Africa and Sweden one each.

At the same hour, the first heat of the ten mile walk was started with just as cosmopolitan an entry list, except that the United States was not represented, Bonhag, who had entered, withdrawing.

The second heat of this event was also run off. On the turf the athletes were busy all morning throwing the discus, free style.

Carrolls carried off the honors in the fourth section, with a throw of 133 feet 6½ inches. Griffin was a close second with 132 feet 8½ inches.

In the fifth section Horr made the best throw, 129 feet 9 inches.

No throw in the sixth section was allowed as all were below the previous throws, and only the three best in all sections qualify for the final.

Sections seven and eight were grouped with representatives of the United Kingdom, Norway, Greece, Finland, United States and Sweden competing.

Sheridan, American, won, covering 133 feet 1½ inches.

In the final of the discus throwing, Sheridan made 134 feet 2 inches, and Giffin 133 fet 6½ inches.

The first heat of the ten mile walk was won by Webb, with Carter second, Spencer third, E. E. Larner, fourth. All represent Great Britain. Time, 1 hour 20 minutes 18 4-5 seconds.

Judge of the Natal Supreme Court Sends a Remarkable

TESTIMONIAL TO CUTICURA

"I suffered a severe attack of eczema on the scalp, face, ears, and neck, and was for several months under professional treatment, but became worse. My face was dreadfully disfigured, and I lost nearly all my hair. My wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I did with most satisfactory results, the disease disappearing and my hair growing thicker and glossier than before my illness. My wife has purchased Cuticura for other sufferers, with good results in each case.—Robert Isaac Finnemore (Judge of the Natal Supreme Court), Pietermaritzburg, Natal."

THE POLICE GAMES WELL CONTESTED AT M.A.A.A. GROUNDS

Constable Bluteau, Gold Medalist for the Highest Number of Points

With the exception of a slight shower, which served only to lay the dust, the police games yesterday were favored by ideal weather conditions. About 2,500 filled the large stand at the M. A. A. A. grounds and testified to their appreciation of the programme by vociferous applause. Although the meet lacked the cosmopolitanism which has marked previous meets by the presence of athletes from sister cities, yet the several races open to local men helped to make things lively. The western cities were not represented owing to the latter's belonging to a rival athletic association.

Constable V. Bluteau won the gold medal for the highest number of points, showing up well in both sprints and jumps.

He had a close second in Z. Desmarteau, who annexed all the weight events.

The seven mile road race was the feature of the afternoon, bringing out twenty starters, including little Willie Regan, aged 12. Paddy Royal won by 600 yards, receiving a great ovation, which was second only to that which little Regan got when he finished in twelfth place.

Chief Campeau, Inspectors Legget, Lamouche, and McMahon and many of the aldermen were the guests of the association. The success of the day is due to President Gorman and his confreres, including Judges McAllister, H. A. Lacoste, Starter Moffitt and Timers Chas. Irwin, Herb. Brown, and Arthur Hersey.

50 yards dash, policemen with 20 years or more service—Constable Broulette, 1; Constable Lessard, 2; Constable Ray, 3. Time, 8 seconds.

Fat men's race, 240 lbs. and over—Constable Gravel, 1; Constable St. Denis, 2; Constable de Bellefeuille, 3. Time, 13 1-3.

One hundred yards dash—First heat—Constable Bluteau, 1; Constable Forget, 2. Time, 11 seconds. Second heat—Constable Caveny, 1; Captain Landriault, 2. Time, 12 1-5. Final—Constable Bluteau, 1; Constable Forget, 2; Constable Caveny, 3. Time, 11 1-5.

Half mile, open—W. Hay, M.A.A.A., 1; J. McKay, M.A.A.A., 2; H. Hebert, National, 3. Time, 2.01 1-4.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT ROYAL HENLEY REGATTA THIS YEAR

Best Day Saw Small Crowd of Spectators—English Swimming Contests

(From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star, Resident in London.)

London, Eng., July 8.—It would be impossible to have four days' weather more suitable for a regatta than we had and yet the attendance was a long way below the average, and even on Thursday, which is generally one of the best days, the river presented anything but its usual appearance. Near the finish the scene was as beautiful and as animated as on other occasions, but it did not extend beyond the private enclosure. The houseboats, which in the past have been one of the principal features of the Buckinghamshire side of the river, extending nearly down to Fawley some years, dwindled down to less than a dozen, and for hundreds of yards on the Berkshire side the river was bare of craft of any kind. Everyone was asking the reason for this. It could not be attributed to a poor entry or lack of interest so far as the Universities, Public Schools, and the great English Amateur Rowing Clubs are concerned. They were there in their usual numbers, and the rowing was quite up to the average. Many think the great regatta to be held in connection with the Olympic Games had a lot to do with the small attendance, but a private opinion is that the exclusion of foreign entries had more to do with it than anything else. The true British sportsman likes to meet the best in the world and to see everyone given a fair show, but the ruling out of foreigners at a time when the Belgians were the holders of the eight oared championship savoured of being un-British, and not only had the effect of keeping other nations from attending, but robbed the regatta of a lot of its interest for the English rowing public. The outstanding feature of the regatta was the grand form displayed by the four representing Magdalen College, Oxford. A finer crew it would be hard to find; they averaged 170 lbs. and their crew rowing was about perfect, and it seemed a great pity that they did not have the chance of measuring themselves against the best in the world. They rowed the course distance of one mile, 550 yards in 7 mins. 39 secs.—a record and a very fine performance.

The Grand Challenge Cup for eights was won by Christ Church, Oxford, Eton College being second. Time 7 mins. 10 secs.

The Stewards Challenge Cup (fours) resulted in a win for Magdalen College, Oxford, with London Rowing Club second. Time 7 mins. 40 secs.

Silver Goblets and Nickalls Challenge Cup (pairs)—Christ Church, Oxford, first; Thames Rowing Club, second. Time 8 mins. 26 secs.

Thames Challenge Cup (eigths)—Wadham College, Oxford, first; Christ Church, Oxford, second. Time 7 mins. 15 secs.

Visitors' Challenge Cup (fours)—Magdalen College, Oxford, first; Jesus College, Cambridge, second. Time 7 mins. 30 secs.

Wyfold Challenge Cup (fours)—Thames Rowing Club, first; London Rowing Club, second. Time 7 mins. 55 secs.

Diamond Challenge Sculls—A. McCulloch, Leander Boat Club, first; A. A. Sturt, Kingston Rowing Club, second. Time 8 mins. 25 secs.

Ladies' Challenge Cup (eights)—Jesus College, Cambridge, first; New College, Oxford, second. Time 7 mins. 5 secs.

SWIMMING

Great interest was manifested in the long distance swim on the Thames, over a course between Richmond Lock and Blackfriars, a distance of 14 miles 968 yards. The banks on each side of the river were lined with spectators as thick as they could stand, and it was a magnificent race for nearly five miles between last year's winner, J. A. Jarvis, of Leicester, and the Australian champion, E. F. Beaurepaire, the latter leading up to that point, when he was caught by the English Champion. A terrific struggle took place between the two for leadership, which resulted in the Australian being in such difficulties through cramps that his attendant had to dive in to his assistance, and he was taken out of the water. This left the man from Leicester with a long lead, which he maintained to the end, winning by nearly six minutes. F. Kearsley, of St Helens, was second and P. L. Ooms, of Holland, third. W. H. Harris, Westminster, fourth; A. Maas, Belgium, fifth, and E. Meijer, Amsterdam, sixth. There were thirty-seven starters, representing five nations. Six ladies competed, Miss T. B. Armstrong, of Kingston, finishing sixteenth, and Miss L. Smith, London, seventeenth. Winner's time, 3 hours, 36 mins., 24 secs.

The Universities of Oxford and Cambridge met at the Bath Club, Dover street, London, and the swimming events were keenly contested in the presence of a large and fashionable crowd. The teams finished up even in the swimming events, but Cambridge just scraped home in the team race by a yard, and as the water polo contest was a draw, the Cantabs may claim to have a little the best of the encounter.

Results of the other items:

50 yards race—1. Fiddian (Emmanuel, Cambridge); 2. L. Mavor (Sydney, Cambridge); 3. W. A. Bailey (St. John's, Oxford); 4. W. A. C. Goodchild (Balliol, Oxford). A fine race. Won by two feet. Time 29 secs.

Quarter mile race—1. J. T. Lattey (Christ Church, Oxford); 2. C. F. Verrall (Trinity, Cambridge); 3. K. G. Harper (Wadham, Oxford); 4. D. Pritchard (Caius, Cambridge). Lattey took the lead in the second length and won easily by 28 yards. Time, 6 minutes, 47 and 1 fifth secs.

100 yards race—1. J. V. Fiddian (Emmanuel, Cambridge); 2. P. H. Harper (Oriel, Oxford); 3. W. A. Bailey (St. John's, Oxford); 4. K. M. Ward (Emmanuel, Cambridge). Fiddian led from the start, but Harper made a strenuous attempt to catch him. The Cambridge man, however, held on to his lead and won by two yards. Time, 1 min., 8 and 4 fifths secs.

LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS IN ENGLAND

Semi-finals at Wimbledon—Noteworthy Performance of Bobbie Kerr

(From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star, Resident in London.)

London, Eng., July 8.—The most noteworthy performance on the cinder path in the United Kingdom was that of Robert Kerr, the Canadian sprinter, who won the hundred yards handicap at the London Athletic Club's sports, held at Stamford Bridge grounds, London. Kerr was the virtual scratch man, standing off one yard. He won his heat in 10 and 1-5 secs. and the final by a good yard in 10 flat. Considering that the track was slow, a slight wind against the runners, and that he had only been in this country a week, it was really a fine performance and will cause the other champions to do a lot of thinking. It was the fastest running that has been done here this season.

At Edinburgh Lieut. Halswell won the 220 yards Scottish championship in 23 secs., and the quarter in 51 secs. The 100 yards championship went to J. P. Stark, West of Scotland Harriers, in 10 1-4 secs. R. C. Duncan, of the same club was second and Halswell third.

Lieut. Patterson was only beaten by half a yard in the 600 yds. scratch race at the London Athletic Club's sports by E. H. Montague, quarter mile champion, in 1 min. 12 and 4-5 secs. A few more races and a little more experience, and he will be a top notcher.

LAWN TENNIS

The semi-finals of the Lawn Tennis singles championship were played off at Wimbledon. As mentioned in last week's article the Canadian, R. B. Powell, had worked his way through to the semi-finals by very good play. Here, however, he met a warm opponent in A. W. Gore, the ultimate winner, to whom he had to bow the knee. The abilities of the Canadian were considerably underestimated and Gore had to fight hard to win the first two sets. It took 18 games to settle the first set and 10 the second, both going to Gore (10-8, 6-4). Powell went off his game in the third set and was easily beaten 6-2.

The other semi-final was contested by H. Roper Barrett and M. J. G. Ritchie, the former winning by three sets to one. Roper Barrett reproduced his form against Wilding on the previous Friday and won by 21 games to 11 (6—3, 6—1, 3—6, 6—1).

The final tie was a great battle. Gore commenced with his usual hard drives, whilst Barrett played back instead of up to the nets, as he usually does and the penalty for his returns was not strong enough. The first two sets went to Gore, but in the third set Barrett settled down and won 6-4. This gave him much needed encouragement and he proceeded to win the fourth set. Five games off the reel went to him, but Gore got the next four, and the set went to Barrett by 6-4. The deciding set was a very fine one. Gore started well and led 3—1. Then Barrett responded gamely and turned the tables 4-3. His opponent made the score 4 all, then 5-4, and eventually won the championship by scoring 6-4.

The ladies' singles championship was won by Mrs. Sterry, who defeated Miss A. M. Morton by 12 games to 8 (6-4, 6-4). The American, Miss Sutton, who holds the title, did not defend her honor.

GREAT SWIMMING PERFORMANCE

One of the finest long distance swims ever put on record was accomplished by Montague Holbein, when he swam 50 miles in the River Thames in 13 hours 47 minutes.

At 3.30 Holbein and some friends left the steps in front of the Trafalgar Hotel, Greenwich, in a couple of rowing boats. A nasty easterly wind was blowing, which delayed the tide and start for half an hour, but at 3.49 Holbein commenced his task, the temperature of the water at this time being 65 degrees, but the wind made the water choppy. Rough water was met at Barking, after which it improved until Erith was reached, where it was very much worse. Holbein kept plodding along and at 8.45 a.m. reached Gravesend Reach, a distance of 19 1-2 miles. Here the tide began to turn and after trying to swim against it Holbein also turned and swam back to the starting point, and on to Deptford. At this point the tide again began to fail and when it turned the swimmer turned with it. He went off at a great pace and proved that he was anything but a slow swimmer, and a hundred yards below Woolwich Arsenal completed the 50 miles. Holbein managed to get on the deck of the tug without help and appeared to be very fit. He says he has picked up a lot of wrinkles lately that are very useful and he is confident of swimming the channel.

M.A.A.A. LAWN BOWLING CLUB COMPETITIONS.

The club competitions of the M.A.A.A. Lawn Bowling Club are progressing very successfully on the greens adjoining the club house on Peel street.

The competitions started about ten days ago, and it is expected that the first round will be finished about Saturday.

Players are out about every afternoon and evening, and the competitions are singles, doubles, and rinks.

Just as soon as the first round is finished the draws will be made for round number two.

The competitions are to be continued right through the season.

CONDENSED SPORTING ITEMS FROM ALL OVER AMERICA.

The Glidden tour car owned by G. L. Kull and driven by Chris White, Detroit, with Bert Correy, Brooklyn, mechanician, was wrecked at Sandt's Eddy. The steering knuckle broke and the machine plunged over a 25 foot embankment. Mechanic Correy jumped and landed in a clover field unharmed. Driver White was held by the steering wheel. The machine struck a tree and threw White out unhurt. The car was wrecked.

The car driven by R. Lockwood, used as the pilot car, broke an axle near Nazareth. It was the path-finder of the route. Car No. 101 arrived at the checking-out station late and was penalized 12 points. This leaves only five cars with perfect scores in the power contest.

That Ottawa will have flat racing and join the circuit composed of Woodbine, Blue Bonnets, Hamilton and Windsor looks an assured fact within the next 12 months.

There is a proposition on foot by which outside capitalists will take over and run the Ottawa Racing Association, shareholders in that organization transferring their stock to the new association.

There are two properties across the river within a couple of miles of Hull, on which options have already been secured. The purpose is to build a mile track, with grand stand, stabling and other accommodation incident to a race course.

RACING RESULTS AT BRIGHTON BEACH.

New York, July 16.—In a terrific drive Falcade won the handicap at 1 mile at Brighton Beach yesterday. The track was not in the best condition owing to the heavy rain of the previous night, and under the circumstances the time, 1.40, was considered very good. Falcada ran the best race he has shown this year.

First race, 2-year-olds, 5½ furlongs—Ethereal, won; Watervliet, second; Dandy Dixon, third. Time, 1.06 4-5.

Second race, 3-year-olds and up, selling, 1½ miles—Beauclerc, won; Trash, second; Red Friar, third. Time, [illegible]

Third race, 3-year-olds and up, selling, 6 furlongs—Jacobite, won; Live Wire, second; Imitator, third. Time, 1.13 3-5.

Fourth race, handicap, 1 mile—Falcada, won; Bouquet, second; Spooner, third. Time, 1.40.

THE ANTI-CIGARETTE BILL.

The House of Commons has accepted the Senate amendment to the anti-cigarette bill, restoring sixteen as the age under which it becomes an offence to smoke tobacco. This should mean the enforcement of the law when it finally passes. Boys under sixteen may fairly be treated as children by the State, and receive paternal police care when on the streets in such a matter as the precocious acquirement of the tobacco habit. Eighteen was stretching the age limit a trifle too far, and making it very improbable that the police authorities would attempt to put the law rigidly in force.

So far, anti-cigarette bills have been noted chiefly for their humiliating collapse as practical laws. An effort ought to be made to see if this bill cannot be raised into an exception to the rule. It is worse than useless to encumber our statute books with laws which might as well be sent at once to the legal morgue; for it dilutes popular regard for law which is almost as bad a thing in its way as cigarette-smoking. Now anti-cigarette sentiment has induced Parliament to pass this law; and consequently a responsibility rests upon its shoulders to get the law enforced. It is never enough for a moral movement to prod the politicians into adopting a bill. That is only a first step; and yet moral movements too often regard it as the crowning triumph of their efforts and leave the rest to fate— and the police.

When Parliament gives a moral movement a bill, it merely arms it for the fray. The movement will be the better equipped for the battle by reason of its possession of this law; but it must still fight the battle. The forces which endeavored to prevent its capture of Parliament, will endeavor just as vigorously—and just as insidiously—to prevent its capture of the police. As the moral reformers had to keep awake to see that the politicians did their duty, so they must afterward keep doubly awake to see that the police and other officials of justice do their duty; for the popular control of such officials is far less direct than the impact of public opinion upon the popularity-hunting politicians.

Then a moral reform measure usually has another peculiarity which is seldom enough recognized. These measures are passed, as a rule, over the heads of a strong and active minority who continue to oppose them. Now most laws, if we will stop to think of it, enjoy practically a unanimous support of the whole people. No one is opposed to the various enactments against theft, against violence, against drunkenness, against disorder. The country is a unit behind them; and the police simply must look to their reasonable enforcement or lose their positions. A police officer who did not catch a thief when he could, would not be a police officer at all.

But a moral reform law will often have something very like a half of the community in doubt about it, and there will be places where the police would lose their positions if they did enforce it. Now the moral reformers ought to recognize this condition of affairs, and keep up their efforts after the adoption of a law with a view to enlivening the enforcing machinery and seeing that malign influences do not succeed in inserting obstructions in the cogs. The same activity and earnestness which drove the politicians along the right road, will keep the executive officials moving in the same direction; but there is need for just this activity and earnestness. In the case of this anti-cigarette bill, the bulk of the people will be with the moral reformers, and thus their task will be comparatively easy. Still the fact that most such measures have broken down just at this point, should serve as a hint to them that the battle is not entirely over when the politicians have fallen into line.

The Quebec Pageants.

The tableau which illustrates the story of Madeleine de Vercheres is one which will appeal especially to the boys and girls of Canada to-day. It would be hard to find in any history a braver deed or one better fitted to send the blood bounding through youthful veins than that of this fourteen-year-old girl. It was at a time when the Iroquois were pressing harder and harder on the little colonies along the St. Lawrence and plundering, ravaging and murdering up to the very gates of Montreal that Madeleine de Vercheres, commanding a little garrison composed of her young brothers, three women and two cowardly servants, fought back attack after attack of an Iroquois war-party directed against her rudely-barricaded home. And when assistance finally came from Montreal and the Indians retired, it was a powder-stained child who flung herself into the arms of her rescuers instead of the stout warrior they had expected to find. Of such stuff were the children of early Canada.

THE MONDAY THANKSGIVING.

The Premier's announcement that Thanksgiving Day will be fixed for a Monday, instead of Thursday as has been the custom from time immemorial, will be welcome news to the thousands of Canadians who will thus be enabled to make the thanksgiving a home festival. The change has been made at the request of the Commercial Travellers' Association, backed by a section of the press; and it is not difficult to believe that the army of commercial travellers would prefer to eat their Thanksgiving dinners at home rather than amidst the chill gloom of a strange hotel on a holiday.

But the benefit will not be confined to the commercial travellers by any means. There are thousands of students who will be able to get home for a Monday Thanksgiving who could not break in on the week for a Thursday festival. Then there are a great number of other young people—young men, young women and young married couples—who are making their fight in the town or city; and who will now feel free to spend this extended week-end at home with the old folks and eat their Thanksgiving turkey once more under the familiar roof-tree. Nor will the religious feature of the day be less observed, for many of these home-flying birds will feel it a rare delight to attend service again in the old church—possibly on the Sunday—and sit with their own people in the accustomed pew.

This is the second reform which has been worked in the date of the Thanksgiving Festival which we have had the gratification of pressing on the Government. The first was the change from the cold, grey days of late November to the bright weather of October, thus making of Thanksgiving a real harvest home and a joyous holiday which could be spent in the fields for whose yield we were to give thanks. There were many influences which opposed the change — notably the stock brokers who wanted the "off-day" on 'Change to coincide with that of the New York Exchange—and it was some time before the reform could be regarded as safely accomplished. But finally October weather and common sense carried the day.

Now the holiday is to be made even more available for the people by linking it up with the two free days of Saturday and Sunday, and affording those who are away from home an opportunity to celebrate this essentially home festival by the home fire-side. Thanksgiving, fixed for an October Monday, will now become one of the most delightful breaks in the year's work. The associations with it will appeal to the highest sentiments, especially now that that appeal can be made amidst the surroundings of home; and the visit to the loved homestead after the harvest of the year has been garnered, and for the purpose of giving thanks for its bounty, will be one of peculiar tenderness that must make against the hardening influences which play so constantly upon our lives. Then the weather is likely to be of the best of the twelvemonth; and the three days relief from business will make the journey home worth while—an advantage that even Christmas does not always boast.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

Apparently the agitation for the removal of the stupid and dishonest embargo on Canadian cattle at British ports, is making way again. The high price of beef in England may have something to do with it, just as the high prices for food in Germany are beginning to undermine the power of the Agrarians there. Naturally the British people treat it as a British question. There is no Imperialistic sentiment mixed up with the matter. Neither the Unionist Government nor the Liberal have treated it as having any relation with the policy of Colonial preferences. It is simply a measure of protection for the British cattle raisers, which the British Government has quite as much right to impose as the Canadian Government has a right to protect any Canadian industry.

What Canadians chiefly object to is the excuse which was given, to begin with, for the embargo. It was alleged that our cattle were diseased. Now we have time and again offered convincing proof that this was a libel on our herds; and yet the embargo remains. Latterly this pretence has been pretty well dropped; and for this we have reason to be grateful to recent Ministers. But with meat high in Britain, and with Colonial herds ready to march in and relieve the market, it looks to us like a stupid point for the application of protection. It is a food tax; and it is a food tax which does not have the advantage of helping to build up a trade with any part of the Empire.

Premier Asquith, with his customary astuteness, seems to be inclined to lessen the strain on the British meat-eater. The first proposal is to remove the embargo on live cattle from Scandinavia; but it is not likely that the Canadian embargo could long survive the disappearance of this bar against the foreigner. There are those who argue that Canada is better off with the embargo, for it compels us to fatten our cattle at home and ship our meat dead to the British market. But, other things being equal, it is usually best to permit trade to find its own best channel; and there will be better feeling all round when the obstruction is removed.

THE INJURED AIRSHIP.

It is quite easy to believe the sorrow which we are told afflicts Germany at the accident to Count Zeppelin's airship. But it is only an accident. It was a collision; and one might as well infer that an ironclad is a useless hulk because it can be disabled by running on a rock. If the Count's airship had once got free of the earth and found itself sailing through its natural element—the unresisting air—it is altogether probable that we would have seen no accident, but another and a most striking proof of its mastery over that unstable medium.

Still it must always be remembered that Count Zeppelin's airship is not a flying machine. It is not the instrument for which the inventors of the world are striving. It is only a steerable balloon. It is lighter than air, and would stay up if its machinery were to cease moving. What the aeronauts are seeking is a machine heavier than air—as is a bird—which will be kept up by the action of its machinery. When the conquest of the air comes, the balloon airships will be the barges of the upper sea, while the flying machines will be the cruisers, the yachts and the ocean liners.

As a French critic pointed out the other day, the mission of the airship in war will not be to carry soldiers for a long time. It will be rather to carry and drop explosives, and to destroy instead of conveying armies. The weight of a company of soldiers would discourage the aerial fleet until the inventors have made much more progress than that already attained. Still the race for the possession of the air is easily the most interesting spectacle in the world to-day. It is the matter which will bulk largest in history. It is the enterprise which will affect most seriously the course of coming events.

PASADENA, CAL.—Frederick Lewis Otter Roehrig, A.H., Ph.D., M.D., a noted Orientalist, philologist, educator and composer, died here, aged 69 years. He was a graduate of Halle College, Leipzig and was at one time Ambassador from Prussia at Constantinople.

Our idea of a romantic girl is one who sends out invitations to her elopement.

When a girl is not sure whether she loves a fellow or not it means that there is another one hovering near.

Astonishing how even a plump girl can be cute enough to act so as to make the man believe who has succeeded in kissing her that he is the greatest conqueror in the world.

Sometimes even when a man is in love with his wife he has moments when he feels as if he would like to see if he could be as successful as usual with a love affair.

Real happiness is when you are pretty near certain you are going to miss a train and don't.

John and Mary had been sharing one chair all the evening. John sat on the chair, and Mary sat on John. After about three hours of this Mary suddenly exclaimed:

"Oh, John, aren't you tired?"

John smiled a brave, patient smile.

"Not now," he said, gently. "No; not now. I was about an hour ago, but now I'm only paralyzed."

Funny that a girl's folks hate to have her sit up late with a man before she is engaged to him and positively forbid it after she is engaged to him.

Whether a woman trusts to luck or judgment when she bets on a horse race, she loses the money just the same.

A man's idea of being good is not being found out.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Are Considering Charges for Trackage Against Canadian Pacific.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 16.—The Railway Commission met on Wednesday to consider several cases and to hear arguments on the evidence submitted some time ago in connection with the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway for an order settling the amount of its payment for use of trackage and station facilities at the Central Depot, Ottawa.

It was made clear that the Canadian Pacific desired an order of the board on the questions as to whether its rental should be based on the capital expenditure and whether through traffic should be estimated on a basis of double or single use of trackage facilities.

Mr. Biggar contended that rental should not be determined in relation to capital expenditure, but on the value of the property and the loss of business through the rights exercised by the C.P.R. He also argued that the through trains should be dealt with on a different basis than that applied to the locals.

TRYING TO FIND CARLETON.

Norwegian Windjammer Out of Her Course Pretty Badly.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. John, N.B., July 16. — An incident, probably unique, occurred yesterday, when the Norwegian barque Atlantic sailed up the bay and anchored at Partridge Island. The Atlantic was several hundred miles out of her course, as she is bound to Carleton, Que. This latter port is situated in the county of Bonaventure, on the north shore of Chaleur Bay. A tug spoke the Atlantic, and, upon exchange of the customary questions, Captain Livingston, of the tug, surmised that there was some mistake. The captain of the barque was dumbfounded to learn of the predicament into which he had blundered. He explained that the mistake was due to lack of knowledge on the part of his brokers in New York, upon whom he had depended for information, and who had told him that the only place named Carleton in these parts was situated at the mouth of the St. John. With his course laid out according to their instructions, the Atlantic steered for this port.

MORE THE MERRIER.

Fare on the Ferry.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

Sir,—I want to ask through the Star if the Militia Department have made arrangements with the Levis Ferry Companies to pass all soldiers free into Quebec. As the Government are not paying the volunteers for their time, they surely will give the men permission to get into Quebec after 4 p.m., or when they produce passes to leave camp, without having to pay their fare on the ferry. This is a concession which certainly should be granted the soldiers. I refer to those who will be camped in Levis during the Tercentenary.

PACE.

Asks Government to Pay Third.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. John, N.B. July 16.—A civic delegation will go to Fredericton to-morrow to ask the provincial government to pay one-third of the cost of the proposed borings at Courtney Bay, this city, and the federal government each to pay a third. The borings are to test that part of the harbor as a possible site for Grand Trunk Pacific terminal facilities.

THIS DATE 30 YEARS AGO.

July 16, 1878.

Our attention has been called to an item in a morning contemporary headed "Judge Coursol." His Honor does not wish it to go abroad that he deems the special constables who, together with the city police, were stationed at the corner of Place d'Armes square and St. James street, to be either "cowards" or "blackguards." He denies that he saw them breaking open boxes of crackers. He thought they did their duty satisfactorily.

The Late Judge Coursol.

THE late Judge Coursol was Judge of the Sessions at the time, and it was strongly believed and expected that he at least would take upon himself the responsibility of calling for the support of the militia. He declined, observing that the mayor was responsible for the safety and peace of the city. He believed in employing every civil means for putting down rioters before calling for military assistance.

The Deputy Minister of Marine, having in his late visits to Montreal noticed the insecurity of the Water Police station, recently gave instructions to have the whole of the lower windows protected by iron bars. This has just been completed. The Government have added twenty new constables, all veteran soldiers of the British army, to the harbor police.

THE Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries at the time was the late Mr. Wm. Smith, who was appointed in 1867 from the Imperial and New Brunswick service. He was a gentleman of excellent attainments and a most faithful and efficient civil servant.

The Late Mr. George Winks.

The visiting governors at the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge for the week are Messrs. George Winks and John Duncan, beginning Monday.

BOTH the governors have long since passed away. They were prominent in business circles, and were generous benefactors to all charitable objects.

At the Canning street fire last night Mr. Jas. Howley had a narrow escape from death while watching his factory and other buildings going up in smoke. He approached close to the composite building, when the side walls were seen to sway, and in another moment he would have been under the ruins of one of the collapsed walls but for the presence of mind of Mr. J. McGauvran, who rushed across the street in time and pulled him clear of the falling structure. It was a narrow escape for both men. Mr. Howley estimated his loss on buildings and material at forty thousand dollars, with about twenty-five thousand of insurance.

THE late Mr. Howley was a contractor and lumber manufacturer of doors, sashes, etc. The factory was one of the kind constructed of wood and cased with a single row of bricks, which the flames quickly demolished. Mr. Howley, besides being a shrewd contractor, was also a smart politician, and a capital stump orator, full of apt Shakespearean quotations, which he launched forth on his adversaries like a whirlwind. He died in the eighties.

Cobalt Express Wrecked.

Lefroy, Ont., July 16. —The Cobalt express was ditched near here yesterday. The engineer, Arthur Meeking, and the fireman, A. S. Garrett, were scalded. None of the passengers were seriously injured. The entire train left the rails.

The mail car dashed into the tender and the engine turned completely on its back. The mail and baggage cars are badly broken up, but the others are in fairly good shape.

The Franco-Canadian Situation.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, Eng., July 16.—A Paris journal says the remedy of the situation in the Franco-Canadian treaty lies in a revision of the French tariff by defining each category with such detail that the Swiss and German article could not profit by the exception intended to apply only to the Canadian article.

Magi Caledonia Water
STILL AND CARBONATED

We take pleasure in drawing attention to the famous "Magi Caledonia Water," and would like all our customers and the public generally to try the "Old Water" put up in the "New Way."

BEWARE OF SUBSTITUTES.

There are many so-called Caledonia Waters on the market, but only one "MAGI," the original and genuine, which is bottled right at the Springs.

PURITY AND CLEANLINESS

are the two principal features that strike one by a visit to the plant of the Company at Caledonia Springs. Nothing but Silver, Glass or Glazed Tile come in contact with the water from the time it bubbles out of the Spring till you have it on your table.

"THE MEDICAL PROFESSION"

are enthusiastic over the virtues of this famous water.
Here is what Dr. R. F. Ruttan, Professor of Chemistry at McGill University, says:

MAGI WATER.

"From the analysis alone, were there no other clinical proof of their value, this water seems ideal for the relief of rheumatic and gouty tendencies, as well as many forms of dyspepsia, such as gastric catarrh, etc."

This refers to MAGI only, from the one ORIGINAL SPRING.

PRICE CARD OF CALEDONIA WATER.

The Half Gallon Bottles are "Natural" and the Pints and Splits are "Aerated."
"MAGI" CALEDONIA WATER, "Aerated," $1.00 per dozen splits, $4.00 per case of 50 splits.
"MAGI" CALEDONIA WATER, "Aerated," $1.20 per dozen pints, $5.00 per case of 50 pints.
"MAGI" CALEDONIA WATER, "Natural," half-gallon bottles, 35c each, $4.00 per case of 12 half gallons, $7.50 per case of 24 half gallons.

"ALL BOTTLED AT THE SPRINGS."

Visitors to the Springs this year are delighted with the way that Magi Caledonia is now handled, and every visitor means a regular customer.

BILL TO PROHIBIT OPIUM TRAFFIC BEFORE SENATE

Three Months Notice will be Given to the Manufacturers.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 16.—The bill authorizing the granting of a site in Major Hill Park for the Grand Trunk Hotel was adopted without amendment and read a third time in the Senate.

The bill to restrict the sale of patent medicines was given a second reading. Hon R. W. Scott said the bill had been modified beyond his wishes, but it was a step in the right direction.

In committee on the bill an amendment by Senator Roy was carried. It forbids the sale of preparations containing opium or its derivatives. On the suggestion of Senator Lougheed, the provision that samples of drugs shall not be distributed from door to door was embodied by forbidding the distribution of samples of drugs through the mails except in the case of samples sent by the manufacturers or wholesalers to the trade.

Senator Sullivan said that some patent medicine manufacturers used wood alcohol. If any alcohol was used it should be pure. On his motion it was made unlawful to use wood alcohol in the preparation of any patent medicines intended for internal use. Progress was reported on the bill.

On the report of the Banking and Commerce Committee against the Co-Operative Societies Bill, Senator Scott stated that the labor interests of Canada were in hearty favor of the bill. The retail interests had approved it. Senator Scott said he need not have sent the bill to the Banking Committee, but could have had it dealt with in the committee of the whole Senate. However, he had sent it to the Banking Committee to get all possible light on the measure.

Senator G. W. Ross pointed out that the objects and operations of co-operative companies were bound to be local, and as such were placed under provincial jurisdiction by the B. N. A. Act.

The bill to enable directors of the Canadian Patriotic Fund Committee to vote by mail and to authorize the granting of aid to Trooper Mulloy to complete his course at Oxford, was given a third reading.

Senator Ferguson resumed the debate on the motion of Senator Scott to reject the report of the Banking Committee against the Co-Operative Society Bill and to refer the bill to the committee of the whole. He protested against the action of the Banking Committee, and said that a committee had no right to pass upon the principle of a bill of which the Senate had adopted the principle by giving it a second reading.

On division the motion of Senator Scott was defeated by 19 to 18.

The report of the committee was then adopted.

On motion for the second reading of the bill to prohibit the opium traffic, Sir Mackenzie Bowell said that while he had sympathy with the movement to stamp out the traffic, it hardly seemed just to declare illegal a business which had been built up at heavy cost without opportunity to getting rid of stocks on hand or not granting any compensation for loss.

Senator Scott said he proposed to amend the bill so that the people in the business would have three months in which to get their opium out of the country.

William Perrim is Remanded.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Halifax, N.S., July 16.—William Perrim was arraigned to-day on a charge of the murder of Frank Burke, of the Intercolonial. Burke, who was a native of South Africa, went through the Boer war for three years, and was one of the men who rode into Ladysmith when that place was relieved. He also served for six months during the native rebellion in Natal.

OPPOSITION CALLS FOR DIVISION ON ELECTION BILL

Mr. Boyce's Amendment Regarding the New Ontario Lists Defeated

Special Staff Correspondence.

Press Gallery, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ont., July 16.—The third reading of the Aylesworth Election Bill was the first order in the House this morning. Mr. David Henderson, of Halton, lodged a protest against the idea that the New Ontario lists would be judge-made. The judges would have nothing to do with the lists except to appoint enumerators (who must be Grits or Tories), and to hear appeals in certain cases. He added: "I generally find that judges in Ontario have politics in Ontario as in other parts of the country."

Mr. A. C. Boyce moved an amendment providing that the provincial lists of Ontario should be given equal validity with those of other provinces, thus avoiding discrimination against Ontario.

Mr. A. E. Kemp followed up by citing Sir Wilfrid's earlier declarations in favor of the provincial lists.

Sir Wilfrid, in reply, maintained that there was no discrimination against Ontario. (Conservative laughter.) There was no interference with the organized territory, but only with the unorganized district, where the Dominion Government was at the mercy of the Ontario Government. In 1904, he said, the lists in these districts were four years old. He could trust the good sense of the people of Ontario, they would not be "gulled" in this way.

The people of Ontario would not be "gulled" by Sir Wilfrid's defence, retorted Mr. Borden. The Prime Minister said there was no discrimination. On what ground then was the law based? Was it that there were no municipal tests in this part of Ontario? Why then was British Columbia, and why were parts of Quebec left alone? Was it that the Ontario Government could prevent lists being made for a period of the four years? There was already provision in the Dominion law to meet this. The fact was that this provision of the bill was framed at the demand of two partisans. Was not that discrimination? The Manitoba Government had been consulted, why not the Ontario Government which had offered to have new lists made where any serious irregularities occurred?

The Minister of Justice in emphatic tones, denied the right of the Conservatives to speak for the whole of Ontario. He had as good a right as any other member to speak for that province, and the Liberals represented 45 per cent. of the people of Ontario. And as speaking for that 45 per cent. he resented the charge that there was any discrimination.

Dr. Sproule, in a speech on Liberal campaign methods, indicated that Mr. James Conmee, of Rainy River, was habitually elected by improper means. Mr. Conmee appealed to the Speaker and Mr. Speaker demanded a withdrawal. Dr. Sproule hesitated, there were frequent interruptions from both sides until the Speaker was almost compelled to "name" members.

On division Mr. Boyce's amendment was defeated by 99 to 60. Mr. Lorenzo Robitaille voted with the Opposition. The House then rose for luncheon.

By adopting a report of the Debates Committee the House voted to increase the salary of Hansard men from $2,000 to $2,500 a year.

Four Government bills were passed by the House at the early morning session before adjournment at 2.30 a.m. They were the Act to authorize a bounty to South African veterans, Mr. Fielding's bill to amend the Canada shipping act regarding the coasting trade, the two bills regarding the Manitoba Grain act and the inspection and sale of grain.

The South African veterans act was amended to include all Canadians who served in South Africa wherever they enlisted, provided they were then "domiciled" in Canada. It also includes nurses.

TWENTY DOLLARS FOR FAILING TO REPORT DIPHTHERIA CASE.

An important judgment was rendered this morning, when Recorder Dupuis held that a doctor must suffer for not reporting any case of contagious disease at the Health Department. The offender was Dr. Benoni Therien, of 1311 St. Denis street, who had attended a case of diphtheria without making a proper report at headquarters. The Recorder censured him strongly and fined him $20 and costs or two months in jail.

THE BENNET BURLEIGH MATCH IS ABANDONED—THE MACKINNOR TEAM

Canadian Associated Press.

Bisley Camp, July 16.—The match between teams of twelve men from Canada, the United States and England, which was to have been fired to-day, has been abandoned.

The Canadian team selected for the "Mackinnon" competition, to be shot for to-morrow, are:—Crowe, Elmitt, Freeborn, McInnes, Jones, Leash, Martin, Morris, Rowe, Smith, Steele and Williams. The distances in this competition are 800, 900 and 1,000 yards (aggregate). The Canadian team has shown that its strength lies in the long range shooting and should make a good showing in this contest.

BADE GOOD-BYE TO WIFE, THEN FELL, VICTIM OF BULLET

Alfred Guevremont, Local Electrotyper, Dies by Suicide or Accident

Alfred Guevremont, foreman of the electrotyping department of the Standard Photo Engraving company shot and almost instantly killed himself this morning at his home, Park Laval near Back River.

Guevremont appeared to be in a normal mood both last night and early this morning. Before his time for starting to the city for work, he kissed his wife, and said pleasantly that he hoped the weather would be fine.

A moment later his wife started to call on one of the neighbors.

Twenty-five yards from the house, she heard the crack of a rifle from the direction of her own home. Hastening back she found her husband lying on the floor fatally wounded. The rifle was lying by his side. Blood was oozing from the man's wound. She hastily summoned Dr. Ranger, but it was too late. Coroner McMahon was then notified and this afternoon will investigate the tragedy.

The officials of the Standard Photo Engraving Company, interviewed by the Star, said the deceased had been a thoroughly reliable workman. They had not received any details and were inclined to believe that the shooting was accidental. They knew of no reason why Guevremont should kill himself wilfully. He appeared to be very happy and had never made any complaints.

STORM DOES DAMAGE TO ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

As a result of one of the pinnacles on the steeple of St. Paul's Church, Dorchester street, being blown down during the heavy wind storm of Tuesday night of last week, and damaging the outer porch, the church will likely have to meet a bill of about $200 for repairs.

The pinnacle, of solid granite, measured about 20 inches at the base while in height, including the cross at the top, it must have stood nearly eight feet. This was torn from its foundation at the top of the steeple during the heavy wind storm, with the result that it crashed down through the roof of the outer porch lodging partly above the floor and going partly through the ceiling of the basement.

The fall must have been all of sixty or seventy feet, and fortunately happened at the time when nobody was about.

The roof of the porch was smashed like so much cardboard, and with it one of the beams supporting the structure. The floor stood the strain a little better, and with the assistance of the beams of the basement ceiling, managed to stop the stone when partly through the wood.

The accident was not discovered until the Thursday morning following when the sexton went into the porch and found things as described.

The work of repairing the damage is being attended to and the costs are expected to total some $200.

The stone is badly broken and could never be used for the same purpose again. In the event of a new stone being procured and placed on the vacant position on the pinnacle the cost would be greatly increased.

It was during the same storm that the two trees on the street in front of the church were struck by lightning. These have now been cut down.

STREET CARS BALKED AND PEOPLE WALKED

Thousands of Montrealers were compelled to walk to business early to-day. Just how many there were no one took the trouble to count, but they were a testy lot, even in the face of a pleasant morning and the opportunity to secure nice easy exercise after breakfast.

The reason for the enforced pedestrianism of the workers was the interruption of the downward service of the Montreal Street Railway Company on two lines, St. Lawrence and St. Denis streets. Southbound traffic was suspended on each of these lines for half an hour, and as these interruptions happened when the clock was moving around to check off the eighth hour, they inconvenienced many persons.

On St. Lawrence street the rails spread and prevented a movement of cars, while on St. Denis street a brake shoe dropped off a car and tied it up until an emergency crew hauled it off to the shops for repairs.

The roadway on St. Lawrence street hill, near Ontario street intersection, has been growing from bad to worse, and last night's rain established a few soft spots that moved the rails "out of true." A gang of repair men had a half-hour of rush work before there was any through traffic. As the roadway between Ontario and Sherbrooke streets is to be replaced, gangs of men now being at work there, the rails will be replaced by new and heavy steel ones.

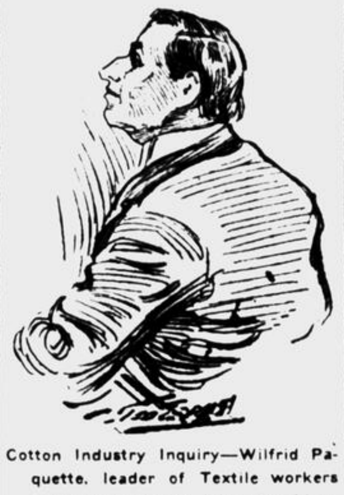
RIVAL UNIONS AND DISSENSIONS AMONG OPERATIVES

Mr. Paquette Examined Respecting the Big Cotton Strike

Wilfrid Paquette, former president of the Federation of Textile Workers, and presently combining the duties of clerk of the Police Court and general secretary of the Federation, was the witness on the stand in the enquiry into the cotton business before Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King to-day. Mr. C. B. Gordon, managing director of the Dominion Textile Company, was heard for a few minutes and produced a statement showing the number of operatives now employed by the company to be over 5,500, and giving details as to the number of men and women employed.

Mr. George H. Montgomery, of Brown, Montgomery and McMichael, appeared for the Dominion Textile Co. and the Montreal Cotton Company. Mr King asked him to obtain from the Montreal Cotton Company a statement similar to that to be produced by Mr. Gordon with respect to the Dominion Textile Company, and also a statement of the amounts paid out and the rates of wages paid for some time back, as well as a list of the disputes which had taken place in recent years.



Cotton Industry Inquiry—Wilfrid Paquette, leader of Textile workers during the recent labor troubles.

DOCUMENTS PRODUCED.

Mr. Wilfrid Paquette was recalled and produced several documents asked for. Among these was a list of members of the Federation, showing a total membership of 5,815. He asked that the detail of the list should not be made public, as he did not wish the operations of the Federation to be hampered by such publication.

When asked by Commissioner King whether he objected to letting the companies see the statement, Mr. Paquette remarked that since the Federation wanted to find out about the affairs of the companies he supposed they had a right to know of the operations of the Federation. He also produced the file of the paper "Le Fileur" which was published for a time by the Federation and other newspaper articles showing the scope of the Federation and of the Union Amicale. He also produced correspondence covering the negotiations of the Federation as a body with Mr. A. B. Mole, general manager, and Mr. John Taylor, superintendent of the Hochelaga mills of the Dominion Textile Company, as well as Mr. Mole's reply to a letter asking for the Federation the right to recruit members in the mills, as did the Union Amicale.

Other documents produced were the constitution and by-laws of the United Textile Workers of America, and of the International Mule Spinners' Union, which latter had branches in Hochelaga and St. Henri.

The constitution of the Textile Workers' of America contains a clause giving the executive the power to call out members in all sections when trouble arises in any of the mills in which members are at work. This clause, declared Mr. Paquette, had been the determining influence which had caused the Canadian operatives to organize their own Federation.

THE RIVAL UNIONS.

Mr. George H. Montgomery, on behalf of the companies, then took up the examination of the witness, who stated that he could not say definitely what effect L'Union Amicale had on the Federation, as he did not know how many members that organization had. He did know that it recruited its members among the overseers and foremen, who, not being producers, were not eligible to membership in the Federation. For the past five or six weeks, no meetings had been held by the Federation in the locals, because they did not want to sacrifice any more of their members. At the time of the strike, some of the members of the Federation had gone over to L'Union Amicale, which was organized in the early days of April. The members of the Federation were afraid to hold meetings, because there were always "spotters" there, and these might report to the managers, with the result that more of their members would be discharged from the mills.

"Then you have no data that allows you to say how many members you count to-day?" insinuated Mr. Montgomery.

"Oh, yes, we have," replied the witness. "We have the list of members since May last."

"But do you know how many of those have remained loyal to your union?"

"Well, I do not know exactly, but the Union Amicale did not get many."

Mr. Paquette admitted, however, that the rival organization had got some of the Federation's members. The last per capita tax had been fixed for May, but as there was a strike on at the time it had not been imposed.

CONCERNING THE STRIKE.

Mr. Paquette further admitted that the general president of the organization, Mr. Gignac, of Magog, had been opposed to the strike, and had favored accepting the reduction. He also admitted that the executive council had adopted, on May 3rd, a resolution against the strike and in favor of Mr. Gignac's view, but declared that at a previous meeting on April 28th, the executive had voted to call out the operatives.

Mr. Gignac was deposed at a special meeting towards the end of May, but still claimed that he was the president of the organization. He had been elected on April 4th or 5th. Mr. Gignac and Mr. Arthur Parent were the members appointed at a meeting of the executive to interview the officials of the company. At that meeting it was decided that unless the company made concessions a strike would ensue. On May 3rd, however, another meeting was held. Mr. Gignac reported that he had discussed the situation with the officials, and that in view of the business depression and the prevailing hard times, he advised accepting the reduction. There was a warm discussion, and the vote stood 4 to 4, when President Gignac decided against a strike. The mule spinners had decided to go out, and they carried out their decision, and this involved the closing down of the mills.

HE BLAMED THE COMPANY.

In reply to Mr. Montgomery's question, whether in view of the conditions revealed to Mr. Gignac by the examination of the company's books, the executive should not have acted as they did, Mr. Paquette replied that when a company was paying eight per cent. dividends and making repairs to the extent of a quarter of a million, he thought they should pay a living wage to their operatives.

"Then you favored the strike, whether the committee found reasons for the strike or against them?"

Mr. Paquette entered into an explanation. The committee was appointed to obtain some concession, either that the cut should be only five per cent., or that the hours should be longer, as they were working only four days a week.

When asked whether the fact that the company was operating only four days a week was not a sign that the times were hard, and there was not much work, Mr. Paquette hotly replied that this was "the same old trick." In the United States the same thing happened every election year for the past twenty-five years. The mills closed down to try and get more tariff favors. He knew of men who wanted cotton from the Montreal Cotton Company and could not get it. He considered the times in the cotton industry as good now as they were two years ago, and quoted an interview of Mr. C. B. Gordon, managing director of the Dominion Textile Company, to the effect that the prospects for the industry this year were excellent.

TURNPIKE TRUST CANNOT TAKE TOLL ON A CITY ROAD

An Important Decision Rendered by Judge Piche To-day

That the Montreal Turnpike Trust does not possess the right to collect tolls at barriers within the limits of the city of Montreal was the effect of a judgment rendered to-day by Judge Piche in the Magistrates' Court. The Trust took action against Alfred Tellis, a milkman of Back River; and Benoni Verdon, of the parish of St. Laurent, because they had refused to pay toll at a gate situated on the Back River Road, which at that particular point is within the limits of the city of Montreal.

Judge Piche decided that the Turnpike Trust cannot collect on a city road and dismissed the two actions which the organization had taken.

The location was formerly within the limits of the parish of St. Laurent. On the annexation of that part of the parish and portion of the parish of Sault au Recollet to Montreal, the gate was removed from a spot just north of the Shamrock field to a point where it could serve to tax traffic from the St. Laurent cross road and also a private road which leads from Back River. By the agreement with the city, no tolls are to be charged to residents of the city, and such residents may pass the barrier at the cross road to the city limits without toll. In return the city takes care of the road and pays the company interest on the capital represented. Meanwhile, the company is responsible for accident and damages on the property. The purpose of the gate at the particular point is to prevent farmers and those who have passed out of the city limits and desire to return, from passing into the city again without paying for their use of the Trust's roads. A similar condition exists in the municipality of Outremont, where there is a gate in the middle of the town, but residents pass it without paying and are taxed only when they pass beyond the limits of the municipality.

The Montreal Turnpike Trust will appeal from the decision and will take further action. It is said that collections at the particular gate amount to $4,000 a year.

OPPONENTS WANT TO UPSET BY-LAWS.

Though the two by-laws submitted to the proprietors of the Town of St. Louis for a $625,000 loan and for annexation to Montreal at the end of December, 1909, obtained a majority of the votes, both in number and valuation, in the polling on Monday and Tuesday, there is considerable discussion upon the possibility of their being rendered effective. Many of the opponents of the by-laws declare that the loan is in direct contradiction to the provisions of the charter, which decrees that when the interest absorbs more than half the ordinary revenue, no further loan can be contracted, unless with the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, and furthermore without having obtained the consent of the majority in number and valuation of the proprietors who are electors. The latter clause is the one on which the opponents of the by-law rely, as they say that, while the by-laws obtained a majority, not half the proprietors voted at all.

Mr. F. J. Bisaillon, K.C., attorney for the town, declares that the opposition to the by-law has no ground to stand on, as the judgment rendered by Mr. Justice Davidson, while it settled only one point, clearly intimated that on all other points the by-law was valid.

RAIN DRENCHED SPECTATORS AT OLYMPIC GAMES

Neck and Neck Race for Supremacy Between U.S. and Great Britain.

London, July 16.—The United Kingdom and the United States are running a neck and neck race for supremacy at the Olympiad. The United Kingdom started to-day with four first places to America's two, but the latter picked up in the earlier events, and won all three prizes in the discus throwing, and first and third prizes in the weight throwing.

Horgan, of the United Kingdom, took second place in the latter event. This evened the score of the two countries, but England got another lead when Taylor made his sensational win in the 400 metre swimming contest, beating Beaurepaire, the Australian crack by a handsome margin. Scheff, of Austria, of whom great things had been expected, was third in this event.

The rain of the morning continued throughout the afternoon, and everybody was drenched. The inclement weather kept away spectators, and the attendance was meagre.

Rose's distance was 46 feet 7 1-2 inches. This does not equal the olympic record for this event 48 feet 7 inches, made by Rose in St. Louis in 1904.

In the final of the 400 metres swimming races, Taylor, United Kingdom, won. Beaurepaire, Australia, was second, and Schff, of Austria, third. Taylor's time was 5 minutes 36 1-5 seconds.

In the hundred metre back stroke, Zimmerman came third. Lewis won by 1 min. 31 sec.

In the hundred metre, fourth heat, McCarthy was third, and Flynn won in 1 min. 30 3-5 sec.

In the Heptalion gymnastic competition Keith came in fifty-nine with 170 points; Elliot eighty with 132 1-2 points; Braglia first with 317 points; 96 competitors are mentioned.

CATTLE EMBARGO LIKELY TO REMAIN

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., July 16.—In the House this morning Mr. R. L. Borden asked if the Government in view of the statement made by Mr. Asquith intended to enter into communication with the British Government with the object of demonstrating the absolute safety of the admission of the live cattle of Canada to Great Britain.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: "I do not believe anything could be done which has not been done long ago. When Sir Charles Tupper was High Commissioner for Canada we demonstrated that there was absolutely no danger in admitting Canadian cattle, that our cattle were free from infectious disease. We do not admit that there is anything of that character existing in Canadian cattle and simply stand on the ground we have always maintained. As far as I know the difficulty does not lie in that direction, but if the Prime Minister of England expressed himself in that way we will take note of what he said. If anything can be done it will be done."

Mr. Borden remarked that Mr. Asquith's statement points to new conditions which possibly call for further action.

WILL NOT REMOVE EMBARGO.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, Eng., July 16.—According to the Westminster Gazette, Mr. Asquith, during yesterday's interview, refused to consider the removal of the embargo from Canadian cattle, under present circumstances.

TYPHOON SINKS LAUNCH NEAR MANILA AND MANY PASSENGERS DROWNED.

Manila, July 16.—A pleasure launch bound from Manila to Corregidor Island, carrying about 75 passengers, was caught in a typhoon to-day, and foundered. It is believed 25 of the passengers, including three Americans, were drowned. The others, numbering about fifty, were picked up by the British steamer Suveric, which was passing close to the launch when it foundered. The Suveric lowered boats immediately, and those, together with boats from other craft that came to the rescue, with much difficulty aided those struggling in the water.

Details of the disaster have not yet reached Manila. Corregidor Island is at the entrance of the Manila Bay, 30 miles distant from the city.

REPRESENTATIVES OF NEW WESTMINSTER IN TOWN

Messrs. C. A. Welsh and C. D. Peele, business manager and team manager of the New Westminster Lacrosse Club are in the city from Caledonia Springs. A meeting will take place this afternoon with some of the Shamrock men to make some arrangements for the cup games, and to discuss other matters.

Mr. Welsh does not boast in the least of what his players are going to do to the Irishmen but just says, and very modestly too, that they have come East to win the Minto Cup, and that they are going to put up a hard fight.

The players after their long ride on the train are pretty stiff, and are now making good use of their time at springs to work it off.

Mr. Welsh said that they were planning on bringing the whole party into the city on Saturday to witness the Toronto-National game at Maisonneuve.

"Soo" is Up Again--Big Bank Shareholders--Montreal is Buying U. S. Steel

"SOO" UP AGAIN, 168 WAS THE TOP FIGURE FOR C.P.R.

U. S. Steel is Still Attracting Attention on the Local Market.

Although there was a halt to the upward movement in Canadian Pacific to-day, the rise in "Soo" Railway was not checked, and that issue moved up to 115⅝. It broke very suddenly to 115, but on the next transaction was 115⅝.

C. P. R. opened lower at 167¾, moved off to 167½ and then rallied to 168⅛.

Both issues were in fair demand again, but they are being moved on comparatively insignificant transactions. The sales of C. P. R. yesterday were only 5930 shares, while 2600 shares represented the trading in "Soo" common.

The issues are being worked on the fine crop news from the west, and the promise of a big revival in earnings just as soon as the wheat begins to move.

The United States Steel issues again attracted a good deal of attention to-day, the common selling at 42⅞, the preferred at 108⅛, and the bonds at 99¼. The usual batch of bull tips on the common were in circulation.

Mexican 58

One of the local features was the continued strength in Mexican, which sold at 57⅞, then 58. The statement of earnings for this month is expected to justify the upward movement in the issue.

OGILVIES FIRM.

The Ogilvie issues are firm and in investment demand around 105 for the common and 118 for the preferred.

WOODS HIGHER.

Brokers who had buying orders for Lake of the Woods said the stock looked rather scarce. There were sales at 87 and 87¼.

Detroit again sold at 38.

Power was a little firmer at 94¼.

Twin City

Twin City has long been neglected in the local market, but has shown firmness during the past few days. The earnings for the first week of July showed a decrease of $2,780. From January 1st the increase of $121,452.

In Wall Street

Stocks were pretty strong in Wall Street, and the list showed a fair amount of life. A wire said:

"London was reported a smaller seller of stocks this morning. There was no special explanation. Arbitrage houses did most of the work. There is direct foreign investment here.

"It is reported from a good source to-day that not half the shorts in Missouri Pacific have covered, and that a manipulation is now on against them."

HAVANA ELECTRIC.

Havana Electric for the week ending July 12th showed an increase of $7,759. From January 1st the increase is $90,821.

Copper, the metal in London was steady for spot at £57 15s; futures, up 2s at £58 10s.

Mining Deals Of Law & Co.

Suits Over the Highland Mary, Silver Bird, Blue Bell and Lucky Boys Properties in Cobalt.

It is understood that determined efforts will be made by the Ontario Attorney-General's Department to extradite Wm. Lockhart Russell, the mining broker, who was at one time a member of the firm of Law & Co.

Russell has been wanted for some time past in connection with the floating of certain mining properties. The papers in the extradition proceedings undertaken against Russell indicate that the Crown has dropped the prosecution of W. H. Law, who was jointly charged with Russell with conspiracy to defraud.

Law has taken the position in the case that he is anxious to see Russell brought back to stand his trial, and he has even offered to stand the expense of the extradition proceedings and assist the police officers to locate the man who was traced to Lima, Ohio, and more recently to New York, where Frank Law met him and talked over the developments in the case.

Russell, in company with Mr. Frank Law, formed the company of Law & Co., from whose offices there then began to flow a stream of alluring prospectuses of mining ventures.

Among the companies thus floated were the Highland Mary, Blue Bell, Lucky Boys and Silver Bird. It was the Highland Mary flotation which came under the searchlight and resulted in the information alleging a conspiracy to defraud the public on the part of both Law and Russell.

MONTREAL HOLDS 60,000 SHARES OF U. S. STEEL STOCK

Very Heavy Buying of the Common Within the Past Month.

Montreal people, it was said to-day, hold over 60,000 shares of United States Steel common.

The stock has long been a favorite among some of the big financiers, and within the last month there has been heavy purchases by the smaller people, who have been carried away by the steady stream of bull tips on the stock coming from brokers' offices.

One local brokerage house the other day sent out a large number of copies of Munsey's Magazine containing an article on the Steel Corporation by Frank A. Munsey, who concluded with the following summary:

Total assets of the United States Steel Corporation on Jan. 1, 1908, as per the inventory		$1,782,157,383
Outstanding securities of the corporation at the same date
Bonds	$602,320,511
Preferred stock	360,281,100
Common stock	508,302,500
		$1,470,904,111
Excess of assets		$311,283,272

A local broker said to-day that most people were buying outright for a "long pull."

Optimistic

Mr. Clarence J. McCuaig, who has just returned from Toronto, says that there is a feeling there that the bumper harvest, which is now practically assured in the North-West, should favorably affect the prices of the milling stocks, such as Ogilvie and Lake of the Woods, as well as the C. P. R.

OPINIONS ON THE MARKET

J. S. Bache — The crop reports from Canada and the North-West are very good. Steel and iron reports from Pittsburgh again very favorable. Confidence in return of better times growing hourly. Look for strong market to-day.

E. & C. Randolph — The safest and most conservative speculative purchases in the market are Union Pacific convertible 4's, Atchison convertible 5's, or American Tel. and Tel. convertible 4's, which are well worth intrinsically all they are selling for on an investment basis, and at the same time have the privilege of conversion into stock, which, with the return of normal conditions, would, in all probability, become of considerable value.

English Bank Now Stronger

Small Increase in Proportion of Reserve to Liability This Week.

The Associated Press made the Bank of England's proportion of reserve to liability [illegible]3 per cent. to-day, or nearly 10 per cent. higher than last week. A private cable, however, placed it at 50 per cent., and this is probably the correct figure.

The bank's comparative statement was as follows:

	Last week.	This week.
Circulation	£29,470,000	£29,751,000
Public deposits	5,324,000	4,883,000
Private deposits	47,802,000	48,831,000
Govt. securities	16,227,000	15,227,000
Other securities	29,111,000	29,398,000
Reserve	26,803,000	26,466,000
Proportion of reserve	50.38	49.23
Bullion	37,646,000	37,590,000

TOPICS OF THE STREET

Many stocks have shown big advances since the panic, but the most conspicuous rise of all has been scored by Standard Oil.

This was the best purchase during the dark days of bargains last October.

Standard Oil stock sold this week at 615, and last October at 390, a clean rise of 225 points.

The profit on 100 shares would have been $22,500.

The Bank of Montreal and Imperial Bank are at loggerheads—nothing serious—over the branches recently established at Hosmer, B.C.

As Hosmer is a C.P.R. town, and the Bank of Montreal has the C.P.R. account, the town of Hosmer was, it thought, within its preserves.

One day, however, the Imperial Bank announced that it had opened a branch there, and the Montreal looked upon this as a case of "butting in."

A few days later the Montreal opened its branch, and, if the town is big enough to hold both branches, all will be well.

Mr. William Whyte, second vice-president of the C.P.R., is a director of the Imperial.

The bull markets this week have stirred up the optimists.

The big "inevitable" boom, they say, is due within two years' time, perhaps a year and a half. These are the fancy prices they say will be reached when the lid blows off, as it did in 1901 and 1906:

	Now.	Prospective.
C.P.R.	168	250
Union Pacific	150	230
Great Northern	132	225
Northern Pacific	139	230
U.S. Steel	42	80
Smelters	83	125

And so on and so forth.

According to this, all a man has to do is to buy stocks now, wake up two years hence and find himself rich.

No stock responds more quickly to buying orders than Dominion Coal. This week it was bid up over 5 points, and less than 100 shares came out.

Coal is now very closely held, and the insiders have no trouble taking care of it. What would happen if the insiders wanted to get out is another story.

The price of seats on the Philadelphia Stock Exchange has fallen to $7,500, a drop of $6,000 compared with the high prices of 1905.

In 1904 seats sold at $5,500 and in 1905 at $15,500, since which time there has been a gradual decline.

Cobalt is not in it.

Two of the richest gold strikes ever made in New Mexico have been discovered in the Hachita gold fields, where gold has been struck that will run $60,000 to the ton.

Four Stocks Top the List

Big Favorites in Trading are Union, Reading, Copper and U. S. Steel Common.

From figures giving the daily sales of the New York Stock Exchange since the beginning of July it appears that between 30 and 60 per cent. of the total sales were of four securities, including Union Pacific, Reading, Copper and Steel common.

These four on Monday comprised 58.3 per cent. of the entire sales, of which 20.9 per cent. were Union Pacific, 30.7 per cent. Steel, 13.4 per cent. Reading, and 3.3 per cent. Amalgamated Copper.

The record of all four stocks for the first thirteen days of July has been as follows:

	Shares sold.
Union Pacific	748,264	19.9
Reading	647,253	17.2
Amalgamated	167,220	4.5
Steel common	454,800	12.1
Totals, four	2,017,617	53.7
Totals, all stocks	3,759,468	100.0

The Union Tank Line Co., a Standard Oil subsidiary, has increased its capital stock from $3,500,000 to $12,000,000.

Centre Star Ore About $40 a Ton

During the month of June, says the Rossland Miner, the Centre Star made a new record in the way of shipments and profits. The ore has been of a very high grade, a large proportion of it running as high as $40 to the ton, and a very large quantity has been shipped. In fact, all of the mines of the Consolidated Company are looking exceedingly well, and give promise of yielding good-sized profits for a considerable period to come.

SOVEREIGN BANK DIRECTOR SAYS HE WAS IN THE DARK

And That Directors Were Not to Blame for the Bank's Troubles.

At the meeting of Sovereign Bank shareholders Canon Downie said:

"What are we going to do about the expenses of this bank? I am sure we could get a man to run this thing for half the money now being paid. We must keep down expenses."

President Jarvis stated in reply that salaries were being reduced, and there would be reductions right along.

The Monetary Times quotes Senator Campbell, a director, who made a spirited reply to the criticism of Senator Baird:

"We are resigning now, but I do not think we deserve the censure and blame which Senator Baird has given us in his report. You must remember that all these things now being talked about, happened within a few months' time. The bank was all right, and in a first-class position until it received $2,000,000 and new capital from the Dresdener Bank. Then we had two or three millions to invest and the trouble happened in the next few months. We trusted our general manager entirely. We had to trust him just as you are trusting Mr. Jemmett now. All we could do was to accept our general manager's statement as presented to us. When he gave us no information on any particular subject, we naturally knew nothing about it. What else could we do? We could not go around auditing all the books of the bank trying to get information behind the back of the general manager. I do not think the directors deserve the censure they have received in Senator Baird's report."

BIG GAIN.

The trust companies of New York show an increase of $205,000,000 in resources since March 25th.

An Estimate By Mr. Whyte

Second Vice-President of C. P. R. Puts Wheat Crop at 125,000,000 Bushels.

Regina, Sask., July 16.—Second Vice-President Whyte, of the C. P. R., with his party of Winnipeg newspaper and grain men, reached here this morning, from Moose Jaw, in the course of their tour of inspection of western crops. Mr. Whyte stated that well-advised as his company is kept with regard to the western crop conditions, he was agreeably surprised at the prospects, and from what he had seen of the country in the course of his trip, he had no hesitation in estimating this year's crop at 125,000,000 bushels. In the Souris district there was every indication that harvesting operations would commence in a fortnight's time, while he believed cutting would be fairly general throughout the west by August 15th.

CHATS ON CHANGE

The Canadian West is getting "made to order" weather.

The foreign trade of Japan for the first three months of 1908 was as follows. Imports amounted to $69,476,231, and exports to $47,248,696. As compared with the first three months of 1907 this was an increase of $8,892,587 in the imports, but a decrease of $8,327,596 in the exports.

Reliable people say there has been considerable crop damage in North Dakota.

Judge Gary, of the U.S. Steel Trust, has given out a very optimistic interview in Paris.

Lemons are much stronger in New York.

Introduced on 'Change: Mr. C. Denham Grier, Denver, Colorado, by Mr. A. J. Williams, Mr. W. H. Bothwell, Belfast, Ireland, by Mr. James Croil, Mr. Jas. R. Pearson, Danville, Que., by T. R. McCarthy.

Rain Opportune For Grain Crop

Winnipeg, July 16.— The general rains throughout the North-West recorded in yesterday's Star proved a most valuable asset to the prairie provinces. From Edmonton on the north-west, to Kenora, Ont., on the east, showers were general, and in many portions, especially in Manitoba, the downfall was steady. The rain came after a week of the finest grain growing weather the West has ever experienced. Hot days weer succeeded by hot nights in many sections, and grain men assert that if they had ordered the distribution of the moisture it could not have been more opportunely arranged. At the Agricultural College it was said that the rains could not have come at a better time.

EASIER TONE IN PROVISIONS.

A weaker feeling has developed in the market for live hogs owing to increased receipts, and prices declined 15 to 25c per 100 lbs. At this reduction the demand was good and sales of western stock were made at $7 and nearby at $6.85 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. In sympathy with the above the market for abattoir fresh killed dressed hogs was also weaker, and prices were reduced 25c per 100 lbs. to $10 to $10.25, at which figure the demand was fair. In hams and bacon an active trade continues to be done, there being a good demand from local and country buyers.

COUNTRY CHEESE BOARDS.

Woodstock.—2,122 boxes cheese boarded, of which 1,135 boxes were white, and 987 boxes colored. Bidding was brisk, and rose from 11c to 11⅜c on the board, without any sales being made. On the curb the bulk of the offerings of colored sold at 11½c and 11 9-16c, and the white at 11⅜c.

Stirling.—Eight hundred and twenty boxes of cheese were boarded; 385 sold at 11⅝c, and the balance at 11 9-16c.

ACTIVITY IN OATS.

There has been a good demand from local and outside buyers for oats, and sales of fully 100,000 bushels have taken place to arrive. There continues to be a fairly good demand from American buyers also for Manitoba oats. We quote: Eastern Canada No. 3, 46c; No. 4, 45c; rejected, 43 to 43½c; Manitoba No. 2 white, 46c; No. 3, 45c, and rejected, 44c per bushel, in car lots ex-store.

FARMERS WANT MONEY, WILL SELL GRAIN QUICKLY

Feature of this Year's Bumper Crop Will be Prompt Marketing

Special to the Montreal Star.

Chicago, July 16.—Wheat declined ¾c this morning, and when the facts surrounding the market are considered the undertone may be called quite strong.

There were heavy rains where most needed in North Dakota which, under ordinary circumstances, would have sent prices down sharply. Receipts of new crop were heavy here at 143 cars and the grading could not have been improved upon.

North-Western receipts, 206 cars, a week ago, 110 cars, a year ago, 296 cars.

George M. Lecount, of Finlay Barrell, wires from Carrington, N. D.: "Wheat examined shows 25 per cent. permanent damage, high south wind, crop deteriorating rapidly, no sign of rain."

Rains in Dakota.

A Postal Telegraph bulletin from North Dakota reports from one to three hours of heavy rains in several sections.

July wheat sold from 90 to 89⅞, and September from 90⅝ to 89⅝. They closed yesterday at 89⅞ and 90⅛, respectively.

Export business in new crop wheat was the largest yesterday of any day thus far on the crop and sales included both new red winter and hard winter, as well as several loads of old No. 2 red. Total sales of wheat reported in all positions by the seaboard were 400,000 bushels, but it was stated this did not include 50,000 bushels of old No. 2 red winter and [illegible],000 hard winter sold from here.

Farmers Need Cash.

Canadian farmers are beginning to fear railways will be unable to furnish transportation for the wheat crop this year. The largest crop on record is expected, and it is claimed by a Winnipeg party that the prairie farmers are in need of money, and will market the crop at the earliest possible moment.

A Winnipeg despatch said: "The assurance of a marvellous harvest is fast becoming a certainty. In the face of this the railways have made the deplorable mistake of underestimating the crop. Though the railways now are working over time to catch up and get their rolling stock in shape for the rush, farmers, merchants and jobbers are desperately hard up. There is not enough money in free circulation to carry on ordinary business, and heavy payments have been carried along over last year and all through the summer, but will have to be made in part, at least, after this year's harvest. The West must have money, and, consequently, there will be no talk this fall of holding back grain for a better market. Every one with any wheat will want to sell at once and the international elevators will be swamped."

Broomhall's agent at Buenos Ayres says wheat shipments for this week are only 1,600,000 bushels, and Corn at 2,000,000.

J. F. PRITCHARD.

J. Rattray & Sons, Ltd.'s, cable on the London beet market reads as follows: "Steady at advance. July, 11s 3d; Aug., 11s 3d; Oct.-Dec., 10s 11½d; Jan.-Mar., 10s 2¼d."

SHORTHAND SUCCESS—We call Shorthand a success when students are capable of writing from 100 to 150 words per minute, after only 30 days' tuition. Six months to learn shorthand is an imposition on innocence and a promise to teach any of the old systems in 30 days is an insult to intelligence. If you are interested in Stenography, call and see us to-day, get a free lesson in Boyd's Shorthand and ask to see a list of Boyd writers whom we placed in positions in less than 30 days' time. Day and evening classes open all summer. Students may enter at any time, reduced Summer rates now being offered in Shorthand, Bookkeeping and Telegraphy. Office open until late every evening. WESTERN FIRE INSURANCE RATES DECLARED TOO HIGH

Municipal Union Will Approach Federal Government on the Subject

That the ways of fire insurance companies in the west, and especially in Manitoba, are not regarded favorably by business men of that part of the Dominion is evident from the stand taken by ex-Mayor Menlove, of Virden, Manitoba, one of the delegates to the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, now being held in the Montreal City Hall.

At this morning's session Mr. Menlove asked that his motion of last year relative to fire insurance be again adopted for the coming year, and that the executive to be appointed take up the matter with some vigor. He said that the insurance companies in Manitoba were charging much higher rates than was fair, and they took no notice whatever of fire protection. Mr. Menlove said he had been fighting the insurance companies for fifteen years. His campaign had been conducted at his own expense, and now he urged the Canadian Union of Municipalities to take up the fight. As instance of the methods pursued by some of these companies, Mr. Menlove said that in towns where there was no fire protection, the same rate of insurance was charged as in the larger towns having an efficient fire-fighting corps and proper equipment. In many cases complaint would be made by the authorities of the town. To them, the insurance company would reply that there would be no cutting of rates until the risk of fire was reduced. Complying with these demands, a high water pressure would be instituted, hose and other apparatus purchased, and while the work was going on the insurance company would raise its rates. Then when the improvements were concluded, said Mr. Menlove the fire underwriters would obligingly decrease their rates to where they had been in the first place. No satisfaction could be obtained from them, went on the speaker, and it was high time that pressure was brought to bear on the right quarter. Ex-Mayor Menlove asked that a commission be appointed by the union to interview the Government for the purpose of asking for a delegation of the necessary power of insurance control to the provincial authorities.

There were many opinions aired on this subject. Ald. McGhie, of Toronto, saying that he did not think the power asked could be granted to the provincial authorities.

Ex-Mayor Dyke, of Fort William, Ont., said that before action should be taken in the way of seeing the authorities, sufficient facts on the subject should be collected and then the problem could be handled methodically. He said Fort William suffered from the high rates of insurance.

Ald. McGhie, again speaking, thought that the Railway Commission would be a good body to take up the insurance matter. It was moving about from place to place, and could gather much information on the matter.

Finally it was agreed that the motion of Reeve Cochrane, of Blanshard, Man., and Ex-Mayor Menlove, which was adopted last year be reiterated, and that they assist the executive of the union in carrying out the scheme of obtaining the necessary power from the Government, to secure a fair reduction in the fire insurance rates.

At the invitation of the Harbor Commissioners the delegates left at noon for a tour of the harbor in the steamer Montreal. They had luncheon on board, and several impromptu speeches were made.

AN UP-TO-DATE FIRE BOAT FOR PORT OF MONTREAL

Civic Authorities Decide to Confer with Harbor Commissioners

The Fire Committee met to-day and discussed the question of making arrangements with the Harbor Commissioners for the placing of an up-to-date fire boat on the river for the protection of the shipping.

It was explained that other great ports were protected with such vessels, and that in the interest of the city itself a thoroughly equipped fire-boat should be placed on the river.

Ald. Gallery pointed out that there was considerable trouble between the city and the Harbor Commissioners in regard to the ownership of part of Commissioners street, and that this and other vexed problems in regard to the harbor and the city ought to be settled at the same time as the fire-boat question was discussed.

Ald. Yates: "We must do all we can to protect the harbor shipping."

Ald. Gallery: "I admit what you say; at the same time it must be remembered that the Harbor Commissioners give nothing to the city for fire protection; this is not the case in other countries."

Ald. Yates: "It is the duty of the city to protect the harbor in case fire should break out."

Ald. Gallery: "But the city should have a business arrangement in regard to this matter. It seems that the city has no control whatever over the wharves. If this is the case, it is hard to see why we should be responsible for fires on the wharves."

Ald. Mercier: "It is in the interests of the city itself that fires should be promptly stamped out on the wharves. A big fire there would be a serious thing for us."

It was finally decided that a sub-committee of the Fire Committee should meet the Finance Committee and then arrange for a meeting with the Harbor Commissioners. At this latter meeting it will be decided whether or not the city will bear part cost of a new fire boat.

Before the committee adjourned it appointed John O'Hearn, an engineer of the department, to replace Engineer McMahon, who resigned and who is entitled to his pension.

Pickle Factory Closing Down.

The Ozo Company, of which Mr. John Carsley is president, has decided to close down its pickling and preserving plant, which is one of the largest of its kind in Canada. When in full operation the Ozo Company's factory gave employment to three hundred hands, but at present scarcely fifty are employed at the works, and these will be out of work when the material on hand is disposed of. The factory while in operation used about five thousand tons of vegetables each year, as well as about two thousand tons of fruit.

Mr. Lawrence Longmore.

An enquiry has reached the Star Office asking the address of Mr. Laurence Longmore, the "dean of 'sound' telegraphers in America." Mr. Longmore would have the identity of the enquirer disclosed to him by communicating with the editor.

MAN RUN DOWN AND KILLED BY A TRAIN AT MONTREAL WEST.

At 6.20 last evening another unknown man was struck and killed by a Canadian Pacific Railway train, near the Montreal West station, making five persons killed by the railways around Montreal within three days. There were no papers about the latest victim's clothing to indicate his name, but a railway ticket found in his pocket may lead to his identification. It was from St. Eugene, Ont., to Beaconsfield. The ticket had been purchased at St. Eugene on Tuesday. The reverse side was stamped "St. Eugene, July 14." It was good for one second-class passage.

At the inquest to-day the evidence showed that the victim, who was walking on the track, going towards Montreal West, stepped out of the way of an eastbound train when he was struck and killed by the Rigaud express running at a speed of thirty miles an hour. The jury exonerated the engineer, and recommended that steps should be taken to prevent people from walking on the railway tracks.

DESPOILER OF TOMATOES IN STRANGE VENDETTA FACES COURT CHARGE

Fired with a desire for deep and lasting vengeance, Ovila Leblanc, a farmer of Ste. Genevieve, in the dead of night, arose and pulled up by the roots row after row of his neighbor's tomato plants, leaving 600 feet of desolation behind him. Such was the melancholy story revealed in the Arraignment Court this morning where the alleged tomato spoiler appeared. The prisoner was represented by Mr. R. Maillet; he pleaded not guilty and was remanded for enquete.

THREE YEARS IN PENITENTIARY FOR STEALING FIREWOOD

Joseph Langlois pleaded guilty this morning before Magistrate Lafontaine to the charge of stealing firewood from Mr. Victor Lefebvre last year. He was sentenced by Magistrate Lafontaine to three years' penitentiary.

FIRST FULL DRESS OF REHEARSAL SET FOR THIS EVENING

Troops Are Gathering at Quebec—Earl Grey Visits Warships

Special to the Montreal Star.

Quebec, July 16.—His Excellency Earl Grey attended by Lord Cecil and aide-de-camp paid an official call on Admiral Curzon-Howe and Rear-Admiral Jellicoe yesterday at 3.30 o'clock. Sir Louis Jette and Mayor Garneau visited the warships later.

There is considerable uncertainty as to how nationalities will be represented in the harbor next week. So far the only applications to the harbor master for berths come from British, United States and French vessels, but it has been expected all along that Italy, Germany, Japan and the Argentine Republic will also be represented.

A private rehearsal of the pageants took place last evening. Among the few spectators present was Earl Grey. The performers were all in mufti, the final distribution of the delayed wigs not being made until last evening. The movements were carried off fairly smoothly, but with some 4,000 persons engaged in the eight spectacles it will require considerable energy to avoid the confusion or delays that would certainly result in failure. One of the most striking of the eight pageants is that depicting two scenes at the Court of Francis I., and even under the limitations of last evening's rehearsal, the beauty and impressiveness of the picture was not lost. There are upwards of eighty mounted performers, men and women, in one scene, about the same number of courtiers on foot and then a band of forty Indians. The grouping is very effective. The incidental music is beautiful and well rendered by an orchestra of some sixty pieces.

The first of the full dress rehearsals will be held this evening, this, with the arrival of Lord Roberts, being the principal event for the day. Lord Roberts and the Duke of Norfolk are expected to land from the Empress of Ireland at 7 o'clock.

TROOPS ARE ARRIVING.

The artillerymen from Kingston, Ont., 160 strong, crossed from Levis yesterday afternoon. They presented a fine appearance. The Kingston Cadets are expected on Saturday, and the permanent force, 1500 strong, and then be complete. Advance parties of the militia force will begin to report in the morning and from Saturday to Monday the 10,000 Canadian volunteers who are to take part in the celebration will pour into the city by river and rail.

The city is already taking on the air of a garrison town on the British seaboard. The khaki and the red of the soldier and the blue and white of the sailor, catch the eye at every turn of the streets.

On Monday, July 27, the Prince of Wales will pay a visit to Petite Cap, a French-Canadian village just this side of Cape Tourmente. A small party will take the trip down by special train and return by automobile. The visit will be made without any ceremony, the object being to give the Prince a chance to see a typical French-Canadian village as it is in everyday life. The gentlemen of the seminary have a large summer institution there, and the Prince will be their guest. It was the original intention to keep the visit secret in order that there would be no gathering of visitors in Quebec at the village.

At a meeting of the reception committee Sir Francois Langelier was elected chairman.

TERCENTENARY STAMPS.

The first issue of the postage stamps specially designed to celebrate the tercentenary of the founding of Quebec was placed on sale yesterday. Crowds packed the approaches to the wickets in the post office throughout the day. There are eight denominations in the series, all are in size double that of the ordinary two-cent stamp. The half-cent brown has pictures of the Prince and Princess of Wales, the one-cent green Cartier and Champlain, the two-cent red the King and Queen; the five-cent steel gray Champlain's house; the seven-cent, olive, Montcalm and Wolfe, the ten-cent, light purple, Quebec in 1700, the fifteen-cent, orange, the start of the early discoverers for the West, the twenty-cent, brown, the arrival of Cartier at Quebec in 1535. Locally the ten, fifteen and twenty are greatly admired.

CABINET WELL REPRESENTED.

Ottawa, Ont., July 16.—Practically every member of the Government will be in Quebec next week, and will remain there during the stay of the Prince of Wales. Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier are to be the guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Jette at Spencerwood, and other Ministers are going with friends. The majority, however, will live on some of the Government steamers, the Montcalm, Minto and Stanley having been placed at their disposal for that purpose. The three vessels will leave Montreal at daylight on Tuesday arriving at Quebec on Tuesday evening, so that they will be in their assigned positions before the arrival of the Indomitable with the Prince of Wales. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Borden will be the guests of Mr. Wm. Price.

MONTREAL'S CONTRIBUTION.

The secretary of the Dominion Central Committee, Quebec Battlefields Association, has received a message from Mr. F. S. Meighen, honorary treasurer of the Montreal fund, announcing that a supplementary amount of $10,000 has been sent to the treasurer, Mr. J. M. Courtney, C.M.G. This makes a total cash contribution from Montreal to date of $50,000. The treasurer has also received $100 from sixty members of the May Court Club, Ottawa, and $100 from the Township of York.

MAYOR SCOTT WILL ATTEND.

Mayor Scott has received an invitation from the Mayor of Quebec to the luncheon to be given to the Prince of Wales on July 24, and His Worship has signified his acceptance. Mayor Scott has also been officially invited to represent Ottawa throughout the Tercentenary celebrations, and he will leave for the Ancient Capital on Tuesday morning.

GRANT FROM WINNIPEG

Western Associated Press.

Winnipeg, Man., July 16.—The Board of Control has decided to recommend a grant of $1,000 to the Quebec Battlefields Fund.

LONDON SOLDIERS EN ROUTE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, Ont., July 16.—An advance party of eight men from the 7th Regiment left yesterday for Quebec, having charge of a quantity of baggage, belonging to the corps. It is rumored that a number of changes in the personnel of the officers of the regiment will be made early in the new year. Lieut.-Col. Reid, will be able to retire in February and retain his present rank.

FAIRBANKS TO ARRIVE JULY 21.

Washington, D.C., July 16.—Vice-President Fairbanks, who is to represent the United States in the welcome to be accorded to the Prince of Wales at the coming Quebec celebration, has telegraphed the State Department from Indianapolis that he expects to reach the Canadian city July 21. He will be accompanied by his private secretary, and by Major Mott, of the army.

A NEW YORK VIEW OF THE CELEBRATION

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, July 16—The Tribune, in a leader on the Quebec Tercentenary, says: "It is eminently fitting that the Tercentenary celebration should be held and that the United States should share interest in it with Great Britain and France. If it had not been for what happened at Quebec there might never have been a United States. Also, had it not been for the active participation of the colonies which afterwards grew into the United States, the epoch-making achievements at Quebec might not have occurred. Next week's celebration will primarily commemorate the heroism and enterprise of French pioneers on the St. Lawrence, but inevitably there will arise remembrances of the titanic struggle which gave the Anglo-Saxon race the enduring dominance of the whole continent, and also of that other struggle in which for a time the fate of Canada wavered between British and American connection. There have not been many anniversary celebrations more richly laden with historical suggestion than that at Quebec."

ZAM-BUK SAVED THIS BABY

Mrs. M. Barrett, 600 Moreau St., Montreal, says:

"A horrid rash came out all over my baby's face and spread until it had totally covered his scalp. It was irritating and painful, and caused the little one hours of suffering. We tried soaps and powders and salves, but he got no better. He refused his food, got quite thin and worn, and was reduced to a very serious condition. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. It was wonderful how it seemed to cool and ease the child's burning, painful skin. Zam-Buk from the very commencement seemed to go right to the spot, and the pimples and sores and the irritation grew less and less. Within a few weeks my baby's skin was healed completely. He has now not a trace of rash, or eruption, or eczema, or burning sore. Not only so, but cured of the tormenting skin trouble, he has improved in general health."

Zam-Buk is sold at all stores and medicine vendors, 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50. A certain cure for all skin diseases, cuts, burns, etc., and for piles.

RELATIONS OF TEXTILE WORKERS AND EMPLOYERS

Conspiracy to Destroy Operatives' Federation Charged

Mr. Wilfrid Paquette, general secretary and former general president of the Federation of Textile Workers' of Canada, was on the witness stand during the whole afternoon yesterday, in the enquiry conducted by Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King into the difficulties arising between employers and employes in the cotton industry in the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Paquette claimed that the reduction of wages on the part of the cotton companies was due to two causes—a desire to increase their profits on the one hand, and to smash the union on the other. Up to last spring, the heads of both companies had shown themselves well disposed towards the union, but the subordinate officers had always shown themselves opposed to the workingmen's association. Mr. Paquette intimated that this attitude on the part of the subordinates was inspired from the directorate.

In reply to a question by Commissioner King as to the attitude of Mr. C. B. Gordon, the managing director, towards the Federation Mr. Paquette replied:—

"I don't want to say anything against Mr. Gordon. Personally, he always acted and spoke like a gentleman, but in an industry like this one there is always somebody to do the dirty work, and in the present instance they did it well."

COLLUSION IS ALLEGED

In support of his theory that the companies sought to smash the union by working in common, the general secretary pointed out that the notices of the reduction in wages had been published in the mills of both companies on the same day, April 25th. The notices were made out in the same way, and looked as if they had been written on the same typewriting machine. So far as the Hochelaga Mills were concerned, the Dominion Textile Company had allowed Mr. L. A. Girard, the former general secretary of the Federation, to go into the mills and recruit members for the new society he had formed under the name of the "Union Amicale," whereas such a privilege would never have been granted the Federation. He had been informed, moreover, that the foremen in the mills had told the workers that they would lose their jobs unless they joined the "Union Amicale."

"It was a conspiracy between the companies to break up the Federation," reiterated Mr. Paquette, "and they have attained their purpose."

The object of the companies was clear, said Mr. Paquette, and their reason for action was that wages were always lower when there was no organization among the workers.

WORKERS' ORGANIZATIONS.

Mr. Paquette detailed the processes of organization through which the cotton operatives had passed. In 1905, they had joined an organization established by John Mee, head of the Waiters' Union, and affiliated with the National Trades and Labor Congress. The Hochelaga Mule Spinners had been the first to join, but it could hardly be called a representative body, as only thirty-one members had formed part of the union. No sooner had the organization been formed, however, than the president, as well as the members of his family were discharged from the mills as a result of their activity in the organization. The union had not proved satisfactory, as those in charge had not been acquainted with the details of the industry, as had been demonstrated by their inability to settle the trouble which arose at the Hochelaga Mills in March, 1905. The National Union was dropped, and the operatives remained without organization until the following June. In the meantime the mule spinners at Hochelaga and St. Ann's mills went out on strike for higher wages, and the other operatives went out in sympathy and for the same reason. The mule spinners, when they made their application for an increase of wages, had been told to go elsewhere if they were not satisfied. As a result of the strike, they secured a general increase of ten per cent., the first general increase in twenty-five years. In June, 1906, after some discussion, the operatives joined the United Textile Workers of America, an organization with headquarters in Fall River, Mass. An admission fee of fifty cents was charged, in some local unions, while in others admission was free, and a weekly contribution of five cents was levied. The United Textile Workers guaranteed a slight benefit. Later, the charges of this organization were found too heavy, and a new organization was perfected, known as the Federation of Textile Workers of Canada.

The enquiry is still going on at the Court House.

JOHN GLYNN

A Story of Social Work in the Slums of London.

By ARTHUR PATERSON,

(Copyright by The Macmillan Company of Canada, Ltd., Toronto.)

"I never argue with you, Alfred. But let me say, you had better keep on the right side of Halkin this winter. He is likely to have my job in a week."

Giles gritted his teeth.

"You were not to be pensioned till spring, I thought."

"It's not 'pension,'" was the reply. "It's gout." He gave a slight stumble even as he spoke, and limped for some twenty paces with a twisted face—just, as it happened, that a constable went by them on beat, and they passed another on point, and a sergeant.

Giles whispered imprecations to himself, earnest and deep, though he was a man who seldom swore. It would now be all over the division in a few hours that the superintendent was going to be laid up.

"Where do you feel it, man?" he said anxiously. "The leg?"

"All over," was the doleful answer. "I'll be in bed for a month," and he limped again. Yet it was a curious coincidence, which would have struck Giles if he had not been so much preoccupied, that when they turned down a side street and found their way into a certain public-house which contained a private parlor always at the disposal of the superintendent, the twinges seemed to cease automatically, and he was not troubled again.

But Giles was too anxious about other matters to notice this. Over a quiet glass he discussed the situation in the Nile.

"Things will go on, you understand," he said, "and go well; I'll be fair. The young'un is a rare one to organize and make friends with folk; and he is a man and a worker, and not one of them young gentlemen we see sometimes whose opinion of themselves is so wonderful good that they fears to do any work lest they might hurt somebody. Then everyone will hold to Miss Grey, for his sake as well as her own, and you know what she is by now, Samuel.

Smith sighed mournfully.

"So much the worse for the young-'un, Alfred."

"You means best, I thinks," Giles said drily. "It has all been laid out for him, I can plainly see, from the beginning. Mr. Glynn knew what his friend could do; and has set him to do it with Miss Grey. And now they'll be at it hand in hand, in a manner of speaking. There was only one slip fo Mr. Glynn through the whole piece: her turning to him, and I had hoped—but I were wrong, Sam. It took him long to see she even liked him, but that afternoon at the warren settled it. Then, in one minute, as you may say, he pulls up, turns around, and goes. He ain't been to the office since, except once to meet the committee. He will never come again."

Giles's voice broke, and without concealment he took out the bandana handkerchief and wiped his eyes.

"It fair breaks my heart, Samuel. They was made for one another if any two was. There's no other hand but his could curb her spirit and strength, but he would, just as she, in a woman's way, would hold him. If he did not know in her heart, as I believe he do," the old man continued sadly, "that she really leans to him, it would come right, for she don't care that," snapping his fingers, "for the young 'un now. But Mr. Glynn knowing, or suspicioning something knocks it. He will never show his face in the Nile after this. He tol' me so only last night."

There was a long silence, and then Mr. Smith yawned palpably, obviously—yawned in Giles's face.

"Alfred," he said in a very sleepy tone, "if that is all you have to say, I'm off home."

There was something in his tone and in the blink of his drowsy eyes which brought Giles up to an attitude of keen attention.

"I have tired you, Samuel."

"You have, Alf."

"In what particular way now, and just when did I do it?"

He spoke softly and coaxingly with a wary, watchful eye.

Mr. Smith rose and shook himself as if to rid himself of the old man's scrutiny, and marched away into the private bar, where he paid the score, and so into the street. But Giles followed at his side, watching and waiting, and Mr. Smith could resist no longer.

"I am as tired of your talk, Alfred," he said, gazing at the stars, "as a bloke watching Hamlet being played, as they say, with Hamlet left out."

"And who is Hamlet, then, in this, Samuel?"

Mr. Smith gave a contemptuous snort.

"There could be only one in the Nile—the guv'nor."

CHAPTER XXXVI.
NO TURNING BACK.

It was committee day, and Evelyn, having a heavy day's work before her, together with the accounts, which ought to have balanced on Monday, but would not, and moreover, having received a summons to Villiers Place, to see Mr. Brooke, reached the office at half-past nine.

She ran rapidly through her letters, got out the cases which had to come up for decision that afternoon, and made notes in her diary of all the work that must be done before four o'clock. The amount of it looked appalling; and she pressed her hand against her forehead more than once to ease a dull pain there. It was unaccountable, but a fact, that during the last week she had contracted a headache which began with her work and scarcely left her until bed-time. This morning she felt more stupid than usual, and only by a great effort of self-control forced herself to give her mind to the hundred and one important details needing attention. But she did it, and when Giles came in at ten all was in order, and she was drawing on her gloves, ready to start for the central office.

"Mr. Glynn is coming to committee to-day, Giles," she said, after they had arranged for the morning. "It is his farewell visit. I expect we shall have a good attendance."

Giles gave a cheerful chuckle.

"There is no doubt of it, miss. And if people in Relton knew he was coming, you'd have half the Nile at the gate."

Evelyn smiled.

"I should like that," she exclaimed, a brightness in her face Giles had not seen for many days. "Not one of the committee, except Mr. Merwell, really know what Mr. Glynn is to the Nile."

"That is true," Giles answered, with a grim nod; "but mark my words, miss, they will, one of these fine days."

Evelyn made no answer, and was presently on her way to Villiers Place, while Giles sat down to his work. But he did not work for some time.

"I wonder, how I do wonder," he said aloud, being alone, with both doors closed, "what is in her mind exact. I would give mostly all I have to put her under cross-examination, poor young lady, so that I could find out."

But Giles, for one, was wrong. All the cross-examination in the world would have failed to elicit the inner secrets of Evelyn's heart. They were securely locked, and she had not the key herself.

A SOCIALIST KICK.

They Begrudge Expense of American Fleet's Visit to Antipodes.

Wellington, N.Z., July 16. — The Socialists in Auckland are threatening to hold a demonstration of the unemployed as a protest against the public expenditure incidental to the reception of the American fleet.

In the House of Assembly last night, Mr. Holcomb, one of the members, said that there was danger that the visit of the American fleet might cause the colonies to place dependence on the United States rather than on the Mother Country. He, therefore, regretted that the invitation had been given.

AMERICAN BEEF COMBINE.

Winston Churchill Says Their Operations are Being Watched.

London, July 16.—Pressed to take some action to prevent the American beef combine from obtaining control of the retail beef trade in Great Britain, President of the Board of Trade Winston Churchill yesterday informed Lord Robert Cecil, in the House of Commons, that the operations of the six firms constituting the beef combine were receiving the careful attention of the Government.

Mr. Churchill said that his investigations thus far had not yet convinced him of the necessity of appointing a House of Commons committee of enquiry.

SEVEN MINERS WERE KILLED AND MANY INJURED

The Williamston Colliery was Wrecked by an Explosion

Pottsville, Pa., July 16.—Seven mine workers were killed and ten others injured by a terrific explosion of gas in the Williamston colliery of the Summit Branch Mining Company in the lower part of the anthracite coal fields. The mine was wrecked and set on fire.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by one of the men lifting the gauze of his safety lamp just after an explosion of a shot which brought down a large body of coal. Near the foot of the shaft rescuers found the injured, they having crawled toward the exit only to fall over unconscious. All of the dead were found a short distance from the shaft battered and burned into an unrecognizable mass. The fire in the mine probably will be extinguished before much damage is done.

The Williamston colliery is operated by one of the Pennsylvania railroad companies.

CALEB POWERS TO LECTURE.

He Will Stump Indiana in Taft's Interest.

Frankfort, Ky., July 16.—Caleb Powers will on August 8th begin lecturing, his first engagement being at the Madison, Ind., Chautauqua. Powers will remain in Indiana until after the election, and most of his lectures will be devoted to politics. His subject is "Right Upon the Scaffold and Wrong Upon the Throne."

As Indiana is going to be the battleground this fall between the Democratic and Republican parties, those who have heard of Powers' programme says that it is for the purpose of getting votes for Taft.

While on this tour he will be accompanied by ex-Governor Taylor, who has yet to be tried for complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel.

RAIN IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

Forest Fires Somewhat Abated—Wild Animals Flee to Open.

St. John, N.B., July 16.—The forest fires in New Brunswick, except one burning in King's County, are reported less threatening. A little rain, the first in many days, has improved conditions, not only as regards the forest fires, but in moistening the parched ground. Farmers in some sections were becoming anxious about the crops, and more rain is needed.

A message from Millstream, King's Co., says no rain had fallen there, and the fire burning nearby is undiminished.

A St. George despatch says deer were driven from the woods on l'Etang road by the fire, and rabbits and other small animals have come out in large numbers.

Sydney, N.S., July 16.—Mr. W. F. Jennison, C.E., who has been in communication with the Federal Government regarding the gypsum deposits of the Maritime Provinces, has been instructed to prepare a monograph on the subject, which he will proceed with at once. The gypsum deposits of the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are said to exceed anything known to the world in quantity and variety of quality, but are only developed in their primary stage.

Serious Charge Against Singer.

London, July 16.—The Milan correspondent of the Chronicle says that Venturini, the well-known bass singer, who has just returned to Milan from the London season, has been arrested on the charge of assaulting the 11-year-old daughter of one of his friends. Venturini is very popular with the Milanese public, whose applause he has often enjoyed at La Scala Theatre.

Careless Handling of Money.

Winnipeg, July 16.—Twenty thousand dollars in greenbacks, loosely tied up in brown paper, was found on a truck in the train shed of the Canadian Pacific station yesterday morning. Hundreds of people passed by the package disdainfully, no one giving it a second look. Eventually the contents of the package were discovered, and the precious consignment was hurried to its destination.

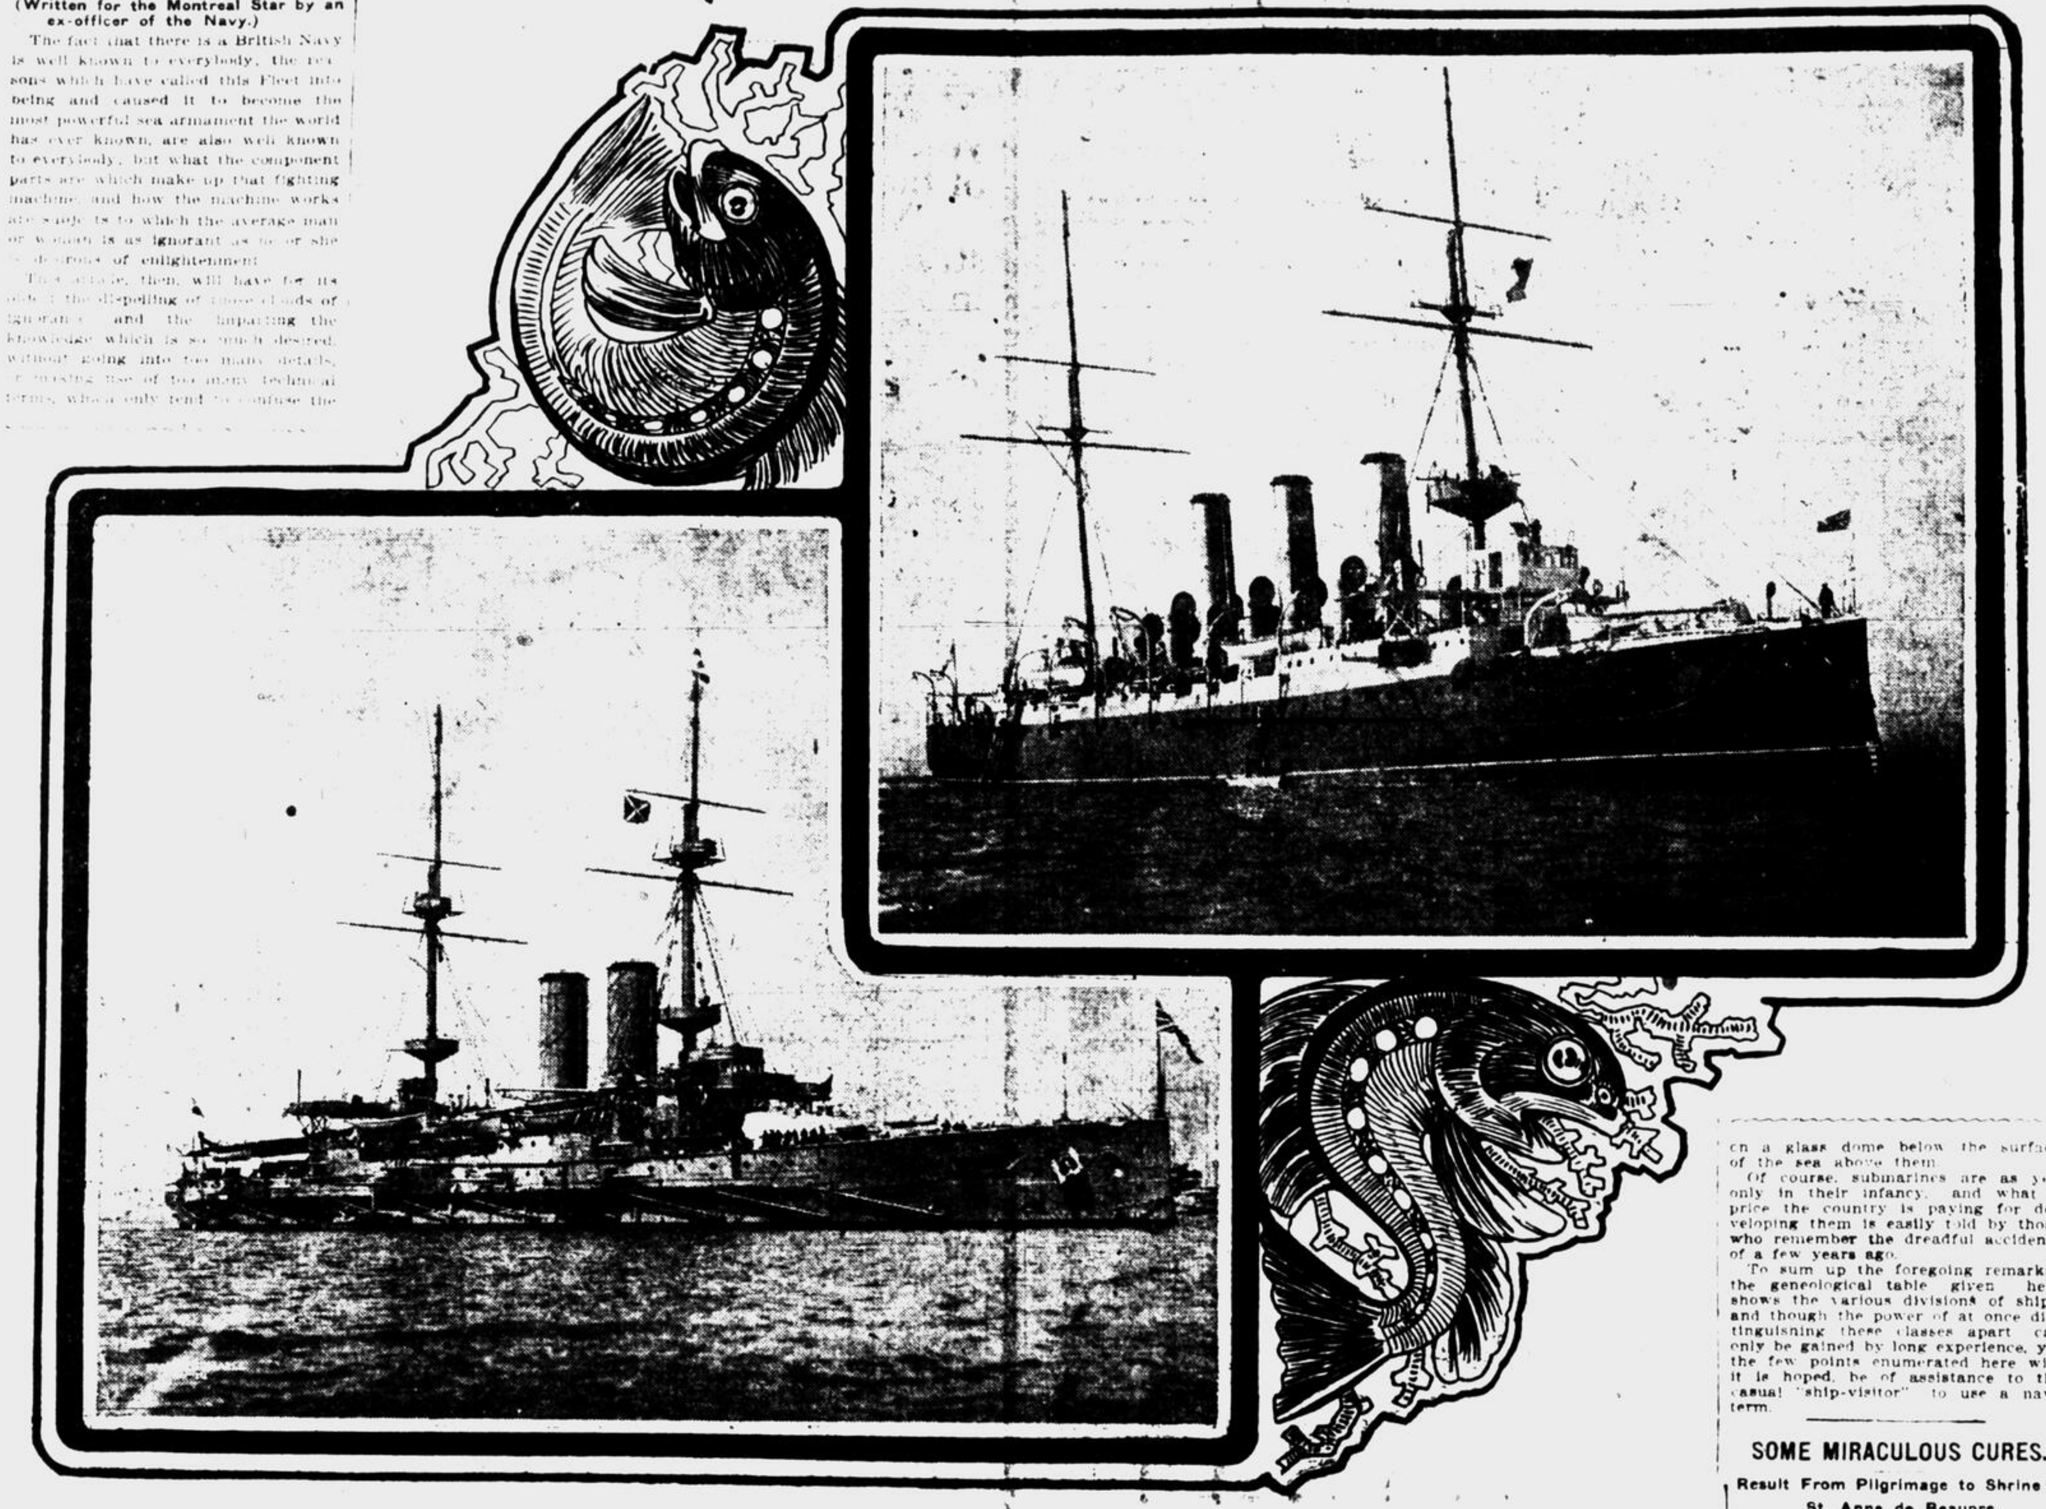
TYPES OF SHIPS WHICH GO TO FORM THE BRITISH NAVY

(Written for the Montreal Star by an ex-officer of the Navy.)

The fact that there is a British Navy is well known to everybody, the reasons which have called this Fleet into being and caused it to become the most powerful sea armament the world has ever known, are also well known to everybody, but what the component parts are which make up that fighting machine and how the machine works are subjects to which the average man or woman is as ignorant as he or she is desirous of enlightenment.

This article, then, will have for its object the dispelling of those clouds of ignorance and the imparting the knowledge which is so much desired, without going into too many details, or making use of too many technical terms, which only tend to confuse the reader and leave him more in the dark about the subject than he was at first. We all know Pope's famous line "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing" and in nothing is this truth more clearly exemplified than in dealing with "things of the Navy, Naval," and many people who pose as authorities on the subject make mistakes which no one quite ignorant of the subject could make.



GREAT BRITAIN'S INVINCIBLE NAVY—H.M.S. FURIOUS AND H.M.S. ALBEMARLE.

THE TYPES OF SHIPS.

Let me, then, try to explain to you as clearly as possible the various types of ships, and outline their duties as briefly as possible, finishing up with a few hints as to the best way of seeing over the ships and becoming acquainted with the officers, in the hopes that this latter advice will be useful during the great Tercentenary Celebration.

To begin with the ships, then. For all practical purposes we may divide the ships of the Royal Navy into three types—Battleships, Cruisers and smaller vessels (comprising Torpedo Boat Destroyers, Torpedo Boats and Submarines). Let us take them in that order.

"LINE OF BATTLESHIPS."

The name "Battleships" is only a shortened form of the name "Line of Battle Ships" as used in the Navy of Nelson's time, and the duties of this particular class may be readily inferred from their name. They are used for fighting in "Line of Battle" and so are provided with very thick and heavy armour and very powerful guns. The building of a Battleship nowadays has resolved itself into a race between guns and projectiles on the one side and armour on the other.

As soon as a very powerful and penetrating projectile has been invented by one person, some one else invents or discovers armour that will resist this projectile, which leads to still more powerful and penetrating projectiles, which in their turn require thicker or more invulnerable armour to withstand it, and so on, ad infinitum.

At the present moment "armour" is ahead in the race, but how long it will be before it gives way and takes second place, no one — not even the projectile experts themselves—can tell.

Also, battleships being intended for solid fighting in line of battle, they are not provided with any great speed, though of course speed is not despised when it can be attained without sacrificing any of the defensive or offensive qualities of the ship as is shown by the latest triumph of the naval architect's brain, in the new vessel of the Dreadnought class.

It follows, too, that battleships, having more and heavier guns than a cruiser, must have more beam, or breadth to support them, and prevent the ship from becoming top-heavy. When such a thing happens, the result is only too certain, as witness the fate of H.M.S. "Captain," many years ago, whose width was not correctly proportioned to her size.

We see then, that battleships are heavier all round, have more guns and armour and have a much greater beam than a cruiser, so that in trying to distinguish them by merely looking at them we must remember these points.

Again, the masts of a battleship are usually absolutely perpendicular and, as a rule, not very high, whereas, a cruiser's masts slope aft (towards the stern) which gives one the impression of speed.

TEN CLASSES.

There are ten classes of first class battleships in the Navy to-day, viz. Dreadnought, King Edward VII., Swiftsure, Lord Nelson, Duncan, Formidable, Majestic, Canopus and Renown; any other battleships which are now in commission being rated second class battleships.

Let me here digress for a moment and explain what the expression "in commission" means. Ships like everything else in this workaday world, need repairing at times, no matter how carefully they are kept, and so the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have ordained that when a crew of officers and men has been appointed to a ship, they shall only remain in her for two years, and then shall be "paid off." The origin of this term is found in the fact that in the olden days the men were only paid on the expiration of a voyage, receiving all their wages then in a lump sum, and drawing no more pay until they were again afloat. Now, however, things are different.

When the men are paid off, they go first of all on a couple of weeks' leave, and then straight off to another ship, perhaps on the same station, perhaps on the other side of the globe; or else they go to the Royal Naval Barracks at the port at which they pay off, there to learn something fresh in the way of gun-drill, etc., or to be made more perfect in what they have learned. The officers do the same as the men; first of all they get their hardly earned leave—given at the rate of two weeks for every year of Foreign Service—and then join another ship for another two years, etc.

Meanwhile the ship, having been paid off, goes into the dockyard to have a thorough overhauling, and to be fittd with the very latest of everything, should that have changed since she was commissioned—as is nearly always the case in these days when harnessed electricity is being brought to play such a part in the armament of the Navy: and when she has been thoroughly refitted and cleaned up, off she goes again, for another two years' commission, and so on until her career is ended, and she guards the shores of the Motherbank, or helps to disfigure the Kyles of Bute, or, most inglorious end of all, is sold as scrap iron by public auction. So much for ships' commissions. Now to return to our muttons, or in this case, our ships themselves.

THE CRUISERS.

Having finished with the Battleship part of the Navy, we now take to Cruisers. All sorts of names have been applied to these ships. I have heard them called the "Tentacles of the Fleet," the "Feelers of the Navy," the "Eyes of the Battleships," etc., and I think this last name best describes them. In the olden days there were no ships called "Cruisers," but "Frigates" was the name used. We all know, at least those of us who have a taste for reading know, that a frigate was a moderately small ship with a few not very heavy or powerful guns, and gifted with a very excellent turn of speed.

So it is to-day. Cruisers are smaller and more delicately built, and less heavily armed and armored than the battleship, but they can steam much faster, so that their usefulness in the following sphere can readily be appreciated: Their general use is (1) to go on ahead of the main or battle fleet, and search out the enemy's fleet, and then let their battleships know their position. This is easily done nowadays, as ships can steam along at five miles apart, or more, and when an enemy is sighted, wireless telegraphy comes into action, and informs the battle fleet perhaps a couple of hundred miles away how things really are.

(2) Their second use is to destroy an enemy's commerce in time of war. Great Britain enlarged greatly on this policy a couple of years ago, even going as far as building a special class of ships, which were called cruisers, but which really were commerce destroyers; I refer to the "County class," which is known to many of our readers, as several of the old County class—the Essex, Berwick, Cornwall, Cumberland and Kent came over here with Prince Louis of Battenburg three years ago. While only last year, three of the new, or improved County class came over under Admiral Neville.

These were a particularly inoffensive type of ship, and the country soon ceased to build them.

Thus we see that cruisers are lighter, smaller (in breadth, not length), have fewer guns and less armor, than battleships, and the great distinguishing feature of them nowadays is the fact that many of them have more than two funnels. Their masts, too, slope aft pretty considerably, which very materially aids the impression of speed given by their general appearance.

CLASSES OF CRUISERS.

There are eleven classes of cruisers (first class), now consisting of Invincible, Minotaur, Duke of Edinburgh, Devonshire, Monmouth, Drake, Cressy, Powerful, Diadem, Edgar and Blake.

The remaining and smaller classes of cruisers we will not bother with now, as their use is quickly dying out, according to experts, who even go so far as to say that the only large warship of the future will be one that combines in itself the qualities and characteristics of both the battleship and the cruiser, and point to the very ship which is bringing over H. R. H. the Prince of Wales—H. M. S. Indomitable—as a proof of their theory, for, she being armed with ten twelve-inch guns, and being very heavily armored, possesses all the offensive and defensive power of the battleship, while her immense speed—28 knots—gives her a right to the title of cruiser.

They also affirm that these battleship cruisers will be equipped with neither masts nor funnels, for wireless telegraphy will have rendered the former—which are really only useful as props to suspend signals from—unnecessary, while the use of electricity, as a motive power, will have done away with the need for the funnels, which, however much they may add to the appearance of a ship, greatly increase the portion presented as a target to the enemy; it is a well known fact in the service that were it not for the funnels, many a ship would remain undiscovered by another, so that, if they can be done away with, another stride forward will have been made in naval architecture.

Another good point and a more pertinent one about them—when they come into being—will be that they will probably save endless time, money and temper to the amateur photographer, for these mastless, funnelless steel structures will not appeal to the eye as do the men-of-war of to-day.

THE SMALLER SHIPS.

However, we are wandering. Taking the smaller ships now. These are divided into five classes, viz.: Gunboats, scouts, torpedo boat destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines.

These classes can not be distinguished by means of an explanation on paper, but we may characterize them briefly as follows:

(1) Gunboats are small cruisers, of shallow draught, and not very heavily armed; they are used principally for inshore fighting, as in the case of the Takin forts in China. They partake more of the shape of a small cruiser, then does the next class.

(2) Scout, which may be described as a torpedo boat destroyer, only very much larger, being intended for use at sea, whereas destroyers are more for harbor work. The easiest way for a landsman to distinguish a scout from a destroyer will be to notice the color, a scout is always painted gray, while destroyers and torpedo boats are black. To distinguish a scout from a gunboat the masts are a useful help, as the latter has two masts, while a scout only has one.

(3) Torpedo boat destroyers, as their name implies, are meant for destroying torpedo boats. Thus they are provided with exceptional armament in the matter of torpedo tubes, and exceptional speed, the latest recruit to the navy, H. M. S. Tartar, having obtained a speed of 40 knots, and achieving the proud distinction of being the fastest ship in the world. There is no means by which the ordinary civilian can distinguish these ships from their smaller rivals.

(4) Torpedo boats, as the former, are indeed, merely enlarged models of the latter. These two classes are being gradually merged one into the other, and the T. B. pure and simple is only used now for training stokers, etc., in the tricks and ways of the various kinds of boilers; or for small despatch boats, etc. The great way to distinguish a T. B. from a T. B. D. is that the former never has a name, but merely a number, while the latter always possesses a name.

The last class, submarines, of course are quite different from any of the foregoing classes, and probably many of our readers have never seen one.

They are not much to look at, either inside or out, being when viewed from the extremity, merely like huge fat cigars, with propellers and rudders at one end; while their interior looks just like the interior of an engine-room, or workshop, with places edged in here and there for people to "live and move and have their being." When they are submerged, the steering of them, of course, is done by means of a periscope, a sort of looking glass arrangement, which reflects on a glass dome below the surface of the sea above them.

Of course, submarines are as yet, only in their infancy, and what a price the country is paying for developing them is easily told by those who remember the dreadful accidents of a few years ago.

To sum up the foregoing remarks: the geneological table given here shows the various divisions of ships, and though the power of at once distinguisning these classes apart can only be gained by long experience, yet the few points enumerated here will, it is hoped, be of assistance to the casual "ship-visitor" to use a navy term.

SOME MIRACULOUS CURES.

Result From Pilgrimage to Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Moncton, N.B., July 16.—Some stories of miraculous cures are related by the pilgrims who left here last week for Ste. Anne de Beaupre.

Robert Peters, of Matepedia, who had not walked without crutches for 11 years, left his crutches at the shrine and walked without their aid.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons, of Alberton, P.E.I., who was paralyzed and unable to walk for three years, was completely cured.

A man named McBride, of Kentville, N.S., who was almost blind, claims that he can now read the finest print.

Another miraculous cure is that of a man named Guthro, of Antigonish, N.S., who had an injured back and had been unable to sit up for three years. On the train on his way back he was able to be about with the other passengers.

The cures are vouched for by a number of persons who accompanied the pilgrimage.

GIFT TO OTTAWA CHURCH.

Carnegie Gives $1,250 Toward Cost of New Pipe Organ.

Ottawa, July 16. — Andrew Carnegie, the millionaire philanthropist, has decided to deal, as an experiment, in church pipe organs, and an Ottawa church, St. Matthew's, it is said, is to be the first to receive a Carnegie organ. St. Anna's Guild, an association of the church ladies, began to plan for realizing a sufficient amount to acquire a new organ. Some one made the suggestion that Mr. Carnegie should be asked for a subscription. Mr. Carnegie is said to have replied that he would give $1,250 on condition that the remainder of the amount required were immediately raised. The organ must be free of debt when installed.

TWO LIVES LOST IN BOAT ACCIDENT IN BEDFORD BASIN

Miss Una Roy and Young William Muir Both Perished

Halifax, N.S., July 16.—Two well-known young people lost their lives yesterday while sailing on Bedford Basin. They are Miss Una Roy, the 17-year-old daughter of J. E. Roy, a wealthy real estate owner, and Wm. Muir, the 16-year-old son of Andrew Muir, commission merchant. Roy's 12-year-old daughter, Margaret, who was with them, was rescued after being in the water for an hour.

The three young people had been in a sailboat about an hour when a terrific squall came up. They tried to run for a place of safety, but the boat became unmanageable. Gust after gust struck their boat, and at last it capsized. All three were good swimmers, but they had put on heavy rubber clothing on account of the rain. This entangled them, and the two who perished went down almost immediately. Margaret Roy clung to an oar and was nearly unconscious when rescued.

A LIST OF ACCIDENTS.

Boiler Explodes on Norwegian Barque Ragna Killing Two of Crew.

Carleton Place, Ont., July 16.—On Monday Joseph Devlin, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Devlin, of the sixth line of Drummond Township, fell from a hay waggon, the wheels of which passed over his body, inflicting injuries from which he died a short time afterwards.

Halifax, N.S., July 16.—Two men were killed and two injured on board the Norwegian barque Ragna, at Tusket Wedge, Yarmouth. The barque arrived at that port from Antwerp on Monday. The boiler connected with the donkey engine exploded, killing instantly the carpenter and one seaman, blowing one of the mate's legs from his body and severely scalding another seaman. The names of the dead and injured are not available. All are natives of Norway.

Winnipeg, July 16.—Wafylhor Horsek, a Galician, 45 years of age, was killed by the moonlight excursion train to the beach last night, north of Selkirk Junction. The engineer of the moonlight special noticed the body lying on the track as the engine passed and stopped the train. It was found that the man had been run over.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 16.—An unfortunate accident befell one of the Brantford grocers' excursionists. Mr. William Preston, business manager of the Brantford Expositor, visited the Ontario Power Company's power house below the cliff at the Falls. After seeing the large generators the party descended to the turbine room, and, while walking along the cement floor, Mr. Preston stepped into the opening and fell about six feet to the cement floor below, striking on his head. Mr. Preston was found to be seriously injured on the head, with two ugly scalp wounds, and was unconscious. He is suffering from concussion of the brain.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, Ont., July 16.—Anthony Kaae, a Danish school teacher, tried to commit suicide by severing an artery in his arm with a razor. He will likely recover. He has been placed under arrest on a charge of attempting to take his own life.

Willie, the 4-year-old son of Hiram Wilson, was caught in a hayloader and had his leg terribly mangled.

MRS. HORNER'S STATEMENT.

Says She and Her Daughter Were Threatened by Simpson.

Northport, L.I., July 16.—Mrs. Ella S. Horner, the aged and wealthy woman who is charged with shooting her son-in-law, Dr. James W. Simpson, at her home here last Monday, said yesterday that she and her daughter had lived in mortal fear of the man for a long time. Until very recently, she said, they did not dare to remain in their home over night, but went to the neighbors for shelter. Mrs. Horner asserted that her daughter, Mrs. Simpson, had received from the doctor several threatening letters of recent date, in which he had demanded money.

Even if Dr. Simpson, who now lies in a dangerous condition in Roosevelt Hospital, does not press the shooting charge against Mrs. Horner, District Attorney Furman, in charge of the case, said that he would prosecute it vigorously.

TO DESTROY DESTROYERS.

London, July 16.—There has just left Cammell & Laird's shipyard at Birkenhead for a speed test on the Clyde what is believed to be the fastest craft in the world. It is officially described as an ocean-going torpedo boat destroyer, but its real function is to destroy destroyers. To enable her to overhaul these speedy vessels, the Swift is equipped with the most powerful engines ever put into a small vessel, they being turbines developing 30,000 horse power. The fuel she uses is oil, of which she carries 180 tons. The vessel has already had a preliminary trial, regarding which there is extreme secrecy, but it is believed she made 38 knots. It is predicted that in her forthcoming trial she is likely to make 39.

BIG REVOLUTION BEING PLANNED AGAINST CASTRO

Enemies of Venezuelan President Believe They Can Oust Him

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, July 16.—The Herald's Paris correspondent says:—I am informed from reliable sources that another revolution is about to take place in Venezuela for the enemies of President Castro believe this a most opportune moment for carrying out their plans. The leader of the movement is said to be General Nicolas Rolando, who is at present in New York and is expecting from friends of his cause 10,000 rifles and 500,000,000 cartridges to arm an expedition and land on the Venezuelan coast.

The situation is considered much more favorable for the success of a revolution than the one prevailing in 1902, when General Matos landed an expedition which Castro easily crushed.

Senor Pedro Cesar Dominici, the Venezuelan revolutionary leader here, says Castro's unpopularity is double that of 1902 and having been compelled of late to suspend payment of salaries to government employes, he will not count on the same loyal support against the revolutionists which he had before.

FRANCO-CANADIAN TREATY.

There is Opposition From the Protectionists and Government Hesitates.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, July 16.—A despatch from Paris says the following explanation is being made of the delay in the approval of the Franco-Canadian convention.

When the Canadian Parliament passed the new tariff law in 1906 it omitted to mention in the schedule of the most favored nations, and used as a basis in the negotiations the name of Switzerland, which enjoys such treatment under the treaty with Great Britain of 1865. The slip was not discovered until the convention had passed the chamber when Switzerland brought her claim to the notice of England. The French deputies, being too late to do anything in their own house, worked upon the Senators for the departments of Centre Jura, where the silk and watch-making interests are strong, and thus the opposition began. It is argued that these trades were among those for which concession had been most boasted of, and now that Switzerland was to share the benefits the value of the concessions fell to the ground. Thereupon the powerful agricultural protectionist party arose in turn to reproach the Government, saying if they had been silent against the large favors given to Canadian agriculture, it was because other French industries were said to be benefited in return, but if there was to be no just equivalent elsewhere, they also objected to the concessions.

The Government is as anxious as ever to conclude the treaty with Canada, but it will hesitate to commit itself to conditions framed under a misconception, for which France is not responsible.

The Times' Paris correspondent believes it is possible to overcome the opposition of the protectionists and that the Franco-Canadian treaty will be ratified in October.

ANNUAL RIFLE MEETING.

Good Programme is Being Prepared for Rockliffe.

Ottawa, July 16.—The officials of the Dominion Rifle Association are preparing for this year's meet, to be held on the Rockliffe ranges from Monday, August 31st, to Friday, September 4th, inclusive. Ten new targets have been added to the line, and the new water system will be ready in two weeks' time. Water will be supplied at both ranges and butts. A large attendance of marksmen is expected. The Canadian team now at Bisley will likely sail for home on July 30th, arriving in Canada about August 9. The team will come to Ottawa to take part in the Dominion Rifle Association matches. The programme for this year's meeting has been issued. Two new matches and a new quick-firing competition appear on the schedule. The president's match, value $500, is to be shot at 200 yards, from any position, with head to target. The special targets used will appear seven times, for three seconds each time, followed by an interval of four seconds between appearances. The Burland match takes the place of the Henshaw match, ten rounds at 1,000 yards. Prize money includes $100 presented by Lieut.-Col. J. H. Burland, Montreal.

RETURNS TO PENITENTIARY.

Convict After Breaking Parole Gets Converted and Goes Back.

Chicago, July 16.—William McCarty is going back to the Indiana State penitentiary at Michigan City. Unless his sentence is commuted by legislative action or a pardon, fourteen years will pass before he is again a free man. Yet no officer of the law accompanied him on his trip across the State line, and the railroad ticket on which he came from North Yakima, Wash., to serve out his sentence was bought out of his own earnings.

McCarty has never heard of Jean Valjean. He does not even know of William January, the Kansas City man, who escaped from the federal prison at Leavenworth and was sent back while a petition with 37,250 signatures went to Washington asking for his pardon. He knows simply that he was "converted" recently at a Salvation Army meeting in North Yakima, became convinced that it was his duty to return to the prison from which he had escaped when on parole, and set to work earning money for his passage.

"Booze did the work for me," he said. "I was drunk when I committed larceny, and I was drunk when I broke my parole."

STEVE ADAMS ACQUITTED.

His Confession of Collins' Murder Ruled Out of Evidence.

Grand Junction, Col., July 16.—Steve Adams, member of the Western Federation of Miners, was acquitted of the murder of Arthur Collins. Adams's alleged confession of the crime was excluded as evidence by Judge Shackelford, and eight witnesses testified to an alibi for the accused man.

Collins, who was manager of the Smuggler Union Mine at Telluride, was shot on the night of November 19, 1902, while playing cards in his office.

ZEPPELIN IS DEPRESSED.

Double Accident to Airship is Almost Too Much.

Berlin, July 16.—Sorrow and disappointment, almost comparable to that felt at a national defeat, has overtaken Germany at the news that Count Zeppelin has been compelled indefinitely to postpone his projected 24 hours' flight in his airship. Popular interest was greatly excited by his recent magnificent 12-hour voyage. And in the south-western part of the Empire it had reached enthusiasm that was not far behind that which prevailed at the time of the Franco-Prussian war. Thousands of persons had flocked to the towns and cities along the projected route, and the whole nation was convinced that the wonderful aerostat, which has been hailed as inaugurating Germany's supremacy in the air, would come triumphantly out of the test which was to decide whether the Government would buy it.

Count Zeppelin, whose unfaltering optimism has carried him through so many disappointments, is said to be greatly depressed. He had seen the possibility of failure in his earlier attempts, but now believed success to be within his grasp.

MAN ACCUSED OF TRAIN THEFTS ON CANADIAN PACIFIC UNDER ARREST

Negro Gave Detectives Long Chase Before Being Nabbed at North Bay.

Western Associated Press.

North Bay, Ont., July 16.—The many mysterious robberies of passengers on Canadian Pacific trains west of North Bay during the last month, which caused the company great annoyance and seemed destined to baffle the best detective skill, appears to have been solved in the arrest of a negro giving his name as Lamont. Pinkerton Detective Murray, of Boston, has been working on the case for several weeks and chased Lamont to Moosejaw, his quarry doubling back from that point and managing to elude the detective until yesterday, when Constable Williams nabbed him at North Bay. Murray arrived and identified the prisoner as the man wanted.

Lamont has been traveling back and forth on night trains, sometimes displaying large sums of money and at other times broke. When asked his reason for travelling so extensively Lamont said that he was just fishing. Several articles found on the prisoner indicate his connection with train robberies, including a ladies' purse.

Lamont was remanded to-day for 8 days in order that his record could be looked up. He has been under arrest at London and Toronto at various times.

MANY VESSELS TIED UP IN NEW YORK HARBOR UNABLE TO GET CARGO

Many Crews Have Been Paid Off and a Watchman Remains in Charge.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, July 16.—The big trans-Atlantic steamship companies are not the only ones suffering from lightness of cargoes. The shipping firms of New York engaged in general freight transportation to the West Indies, Porto Rico and various ports of the world, ship owners whose vessels are employed in domestic coasting trade and firms whose business it is to charter vessels for American exports, complain of dullness of trade.

To the ordinary summer slackness is added the depression which has already lasted some weeks and shows little sign of lifting immediately.

Many ships are laid up idle in port. Crews have been paid off and a watchman only left in charge of the vessel. To the shipper the docks are anything but a cheerful sight for the ships now moored there represent fully 100,000 tons' capacity and a large sum of unremunerative invested capital.

THE FORMER RECORDER OF METUCHEN IS SHOT DEAD IN THE STREET

Archie Herron, Who Fired Fatal Shot, Defied Arrest.

Metuchen, N. J., July 16.—F. B. D. Prickett, a retired minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and former recorder of the Borough of Metuchen, was shot down and killed in the street near his home yesterday. Archie Herron, charged with the shooting, stood at the head of the stairs in his home with a drawn revolver to defy arrest, but finally surrendered when the officers told him he would be taken dead or alive no matter how many he killed. Two years ago, while Prickett was recorder, Herron was frequently arraigned before him for disorderly conduct, and was once sentenced to 10 days in jail. After the shooting Herron went to his home, a couple of blocks away, and on the way met Mrs. Charles Pickett, who ran out of her house on hearing the shot. She asked Herron what he had done, and he replied that she would find out soon enough. Mr. Prickett was 68 years old. He was editor of the Metuchen Record, a weekly paper. Two years ago he was recorder of the borough.

Herron has made no statement of the affair to the authorities.

ACCIDENT AT LEAMINGTON.

Street Car Smashes Store and Rig and Injures Several.

Leamington, Ont., July 16.—A very serious accident happened on the Windsor, Essex & Lake Shore Railway here. While a car was crossing over the switch on Erie avenue, just opposite the Erie House, the rear truck jumped the track. The front truck of the car held to the track, swinging the rear end of the car into a brick building, tearing up the pavement and smashing in the side of the building. A rig occupied by Cal. Foster and his two daughters was hit by the swinging car. The horse was badly injured and had to be killed on the spot. Mr. Foster received some bad cuts and bruises. His daughters received some cuts and were badly shaken up. The rig was completely demolished. A passenger on the wrecked car named W. W. Bowington was standing on the steps of the car when it struck the building. He was jammed between the car and wall, and was covered with bricks and mortar. He is badly injured. All the injured are doing as well as can be expected, and no serious results are expected.

WANT CANADIAN FACULTY.

President University of New Brunswick Says No More Englishmen.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Fredericton, N. B., July 16.—Professor Samuel W. Perrott, Dean of the Engineering School at the University of New Brunswick, has resigned. He is now on vacation in England, and sent a cable to Chancellor Jones, stating that he had an appointment on the faculty of University College at Liverpool, and he will remain there. The Chancellor is corresponding with colleges, relative to securing a successor. Dr. J. R. Inch, president of University Senate, says the University has had enough to do with professors from the Old Country, who have been largely in the majority for some years, and will now endeavor to secure Canadians for the faculty.

To Raise Wrecked Vessels.

Sarnia, Ont., July 16.—Captain James Reid, wrecker, has been engaged by the underwriters to go to the Atlantic Coast, where he will attempt to recover the ships which have been wrecked and abandoned by their owners to the underwriters. A complete wrecking outfit is being placed on the powerful wrecking tug James Reid, and she is expected to leave for the coast this week. The vessels to be recovered are the steamer Turret Bell and the steamer Lady Eileen, both steel ships. The Lady Eileen is near Newport, P.E.I., and the Turret Bell is at Charlottetown.

Mr. Chamberlain's Birthday.

The following telegram was received from Aix-les-Bains by the London Observer in response to a message offering to Mr. Chamberlain felicitations on the approaching anniversary of his birthday: "I am sorry to be out of it, but Tariff Reform is making quicker progress than I anticipated. Its victory is certain, and it will come very soon. — J. Chamberlain."

Mr. Chamberlain has completed his 72nd year.

Mr. Chamberlain's health has improved steadily since his arrival at Aix-les-Bains. The right hon. gentleman takes a drive along the lake for a couple of hours every day, returning to the Hotel Bernascon for dinner, which is always taken in his private apartments. Although the hotel is crowded with well-known English visitors, Mr. Chamberlain's desire to enjoy rest and quiet is being scrupulously respected.

Indications Point to Murder.

Dover, Del., July 16.—The finding of the body of William Williams, a well-to-do farmer, aged 60 years, hanging to a tree, has excited the suspicions of the villagers of Marydel and Templeville. There was a severe wound on the head and also bruises on the body. In a pocket was found a marriage license for himself and Elizabeth Walls, who is only 13 years of age.

An Art Gallery Enriched.

London, July 16.—Martin Colnaghi, a well-known art dealer, who died recently, bequeathed to the British National Art Gallery Lotto's "Madonna and Child," Wouverman's "The Bohemians," Gainsborough's "A Landscape," and Vandermer's "Dawn." He also bequeathed, subject to his widow's life interest, his whole fortune to the trustees of the gallery to buy pictures.

THOUGHT HE'D SELL HIS MASTER'S HORSE, BUT LAW INTERFERED

Patrick Connell, aged 35, who for some months has been employed as stableman for Mr. Perron, the well known lawyer, in Beaconsfield, was arrested yesterday in the city, with his employers' horse and best carriage, which he was attempting to sell. That he was a novice in the ways of crime, was seen in the methods he used in disposing of his prize, with the result that the wouldbe purchaser became alarmed. A telephone message summoned the officials of the law, who landed him in the cells.

Narrowly Escaped Death.

As the result of a collision between a street car and a waggon yesterday at the corner of Prince Arthur and St. Lawrence streets, John McAllister was thrown from his seat to the pavement and narrowly escaped being killed. The waggon was smashed but the horse escaped. The car was running at a good rate of speed and just as McAllister attempted to cross the tracks the car smashed into his waggon.

MRS. LONGWORTH WAS SNUBBED BY FAIR KENTUCKIANS

Will Not Invite Her to Convention Because She Smokes

Special to the Montreal Star.

Columbus, Ohio, July 16.—Uncomplimentary things about Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Jr., daughter of the President, were spoken at a meeting of the Kentucky delegation to the National Prohibition Convention, after which the delegation laid on the table a resolution to indorse the action of three members of the delegation inviting Mrs. Longworth to attend the national convention as the guest of the Kentucky delegation.

In spirited debate, it was charged that Mrs. Longworth has been known to use a cigarette, and that she has attended the Latonia horse races. It was asserted that she is not the type of woman that should be invited to a Prohibition convention.

Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, of Lexington, Ky., the only woman member of the National Committee, said that Mrs. Longworth does not stand for the best womanhood and those things which Kentucky women especially hold dear. The self-appointed committee which invited Mrs. Longworth was composed of H. W. Davis, of Louisville, Colonel T. P. Demaree, of Wilmore, and H. S. D. Wright, of Louisville, and it was Mr. Demaree who moved that the invitation be made that of the whole delegation. Others asserted that the remarks about Mrs. Longworth were an affront to the President.

The invitation now stands as the result of the delegation's action, merely as the invitation of the three delegates named, and if Mrs. Longworth attends the convention she will be the guest of these three men who came to her defence.

$5.50 A FOOT FOR ST. DENIS ST. LAND

Sum of $20,000 Paid for Property Near Polytechnic School and Once Owned by Papineau.

St. Denis street land sold at the rate of five dollars and a half a foot in a transaction completed yesterday by which a parcel, located near the Polytechnic School, changed hands.

Putnam & McCrory sold for the Estate James Cooper to the Estate Victor Beaudry, the lot situated on the west side of St. Denis street, north of St. Catherine street, and fronted on its longest side by the square, on which the big "Poly" faces. The lot has a frontage in St. Denis street of 42 feet, while on the open space its length is 82 feet. This is a total of 3548 square feet, and as the price paid was $20,000, it figures out a shade better than $5.50 a foot. The buildings are small and old, and are not of sufficient consequence to be taken into consideration in the price paid.

The purchase was made for investment purposes, and plans are under way for prompt use of the property. Its situation, and its two frontages and in a busy section make the lot a valuable one for business purposes.

The property once formed part of the seignorial land of the Papineau family. The deeds show that in 1818, the father of the late James Cooper purchased the property from Hon. Louis Joseph Papineau then Speaker of the Legislature of Lower Canada. The property remained in possession of the Cooper family for ninety years without any change. Mr. Cooper paid a very moderate price for the land, and, based upon values of that time and this, the investment was a profitable one.

ENGINEERS EXONERATED FOR RAILWAY ACCIDENTS AT LACHINE

Inquests were held yesterday in connection with the two railway victims who were killed at Lachine Tuesday. The first case dealt with was that of Judas Jershowitz, who was killed while walking on the tracks of the Grand Trunk Railway, a short distance from his home. The evidence was to the effect that Jershowitz was attempting to dodge a westbound train, when he was struck by the Vaudreuil express. The engineer, Samuel Berkley was excused from any criminal responsibility.

In the case of the old man who was killed on the bridge by a C. P. R. train, Engineer J. A. Johnston was excused. Evidence showed that the victim was noticed sitting on the side of the bridge and had he remained in that position he would not have been killed.

Prisoner's Futile Dash for Liberty.

A Montreal prisoner by the name of Ernest Hotte made a daring attempt to recover his liberty yesterday. While he was being taken through the corridor leading to the Court House cells, he suddenly broke away from his guards and made a dash for the door leading to the square. Before he could reach there, however, he was caught by Detective Laberge, who had arrested him shortly before on a charge of vagrancy.

Irish Title Registration.

This bill came formally before Standing Committee A, Sir F. A. Channing presiding, and was ordered to be reported without amendments to the House. It provides that omission by a rural district council to register title of land acquired under the powers of the Laborers' (Ireland) Acts may be rectified in certain cases.

HARSHER MEASURES USED TO BREAK UP DOUKHOBOR BAND

Twelve of the Pilgrims Sent to Jail for Six Months

Western Associated Press.

Yorkton, Sask., July 16.—Acting under instructions from the Provincial Government to have the ringleaders of the Doukhobors who made pilgrimage to Fort William and who are now in Camp Arcadia under police supervision, committed to jail, Inspector Junget decided to make a raid last night, detailing Sergeant Vickery and ten R. N. W. M. policemen with warrants for the arrest of six men and six women. The constables proceeded to execute these at midnight. The Doukhobors fiercely resisted arrest and the entire band, sixty in number, turned to the assistance of the twelve.

A pitched battle then ensued between the police and Doukhobors, during which the latter used rafters, cord-wood and any weapon that came handy. Only after three hours' fierce struggling did the police effect arrests and, leaving a strong guard over Camp Arcadia, returned at five this morning to Yorkton with twelve prisoners.

These were promptly arraigned before Inspector Junget and each sentenced to six months. Immediately after sentence, the women were quietly dispatched to Canora in waggons en route to Prince Albert jail. The men will be distributed throughout different jails within the province.

This is part of an experiment to see the effect on the rest of the irreconcilables, and it is thought to be the beginning of the breaking up of the entire band.

LINDSAY, Ont.—James Richard Swanton, only son of Mrs. Swanton, of Swanton's Corners, was drowned. He was 16 years old.

CORN EXCHANGE PASSES RESOLUTION

Expresses Satisfaction at the Way Cornwall Canal Repairs Have Been Hastened.

The speedy repairs to the Cornwall Canal formed a topic of discussion at a special general meeting of the Montreal Corn Exchange Association, held yesterday, in the Board of Trade. The president, Mr. Joseph Quintal, was in the chair, and there was a large attendance of members.

It was moved by Mr. James Cuttle and seconded by Mr. James S. Norris, and unanimously resolved, that "the Montreal Corn Exchange Association, which, on the 24th ult., declared by resolution that the action already taken by the Department of Railways and Canals showed that the Government recognized the urgent need for the speedy repair of the break in the Cornwall Canal, now in special general meeting assembled, heartily thanks the Hon. Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, for his energetic action in this connection, which has resulted in the extensive repair works necessitated by the disaster on the 23rd ult. being undertaken and completed so that the canal was again open for traffic on the 10th inst., and thus the waterborne grain business was interrupted for a much shorter period than at first anticipated; and the meeting further gratefully recognizes the fact that the quickness with which the work has been accomplished is largely due to Mr. J. L. Weller, chief engineer of the Welland Canal, to whom the Honorable the Minister very wisely entrusted it."

BIG WALL PAPER CONCERN TO LOCATE IN MONTREAL

Owing to the heavy import tax on wall paper coming into Canada the Imperial Wall Paper Company of Glens Falls, N.Y., has decided to open a plant here. There has been a representative of the company in the city for some time past trying to secure a location, but the size of the site required has made it very difficult to procure a suitable spot. This will be a new industry in the city, and it will afford employment to many hundreds. As soon as a suitable place has been decided upon, the work will be rushed to completion, as it is to the advantage of the company to start manufacturing the paper before the winter sets in.

British Settlers for Canada.

Mr. F. W. Frier, managing editor of the Colonizer, a London, Eng., publication, devoted entirely to promoting emigration to British colonies, is at present in Montreal. Mr. Frier has been in western Canada recently, and he will point out in his paper that in this country there are any amount of opportunities for men who have some knowledge of agriculture and a little capital. He says there are many thousands of men in the old land who have drifted from the farms to the big cities and who are now anxiously looking for the opportunity of getting back to the plough. Mr. Frier does not urge mechanics who have no capital to come out to Canada.

Mr. Abraham LeHuquet Dead.

Word has been received in the city of the death of Mr. Abraham LeHuquet, of Cape Ozo, one of the best known and most widely respected residents of that section. The intelligence of his death was conveyed briefly by telegram. Only a few days ago he wrote to his son, Detective LeHuquet, of the city detective force, and at that time he was apparently in good health. The news of his demise therefore came as a shock to Detective LeHuquet, as well as to Mr. Allan LeHuquet, of the Bank of Montreal staff, as well as to two daughters, Mrs. Richardson, of St. Gabriel de Brandon, and Mrs. Harris, who was married in Montreal some ten days ago. Five sons and four daughters survive. Mr. LeHuquet was 67 years of age.

Derailed Car Blocked Traffic.

Last night a south-bound street car, after coming down the hill on St. Lawrence street, jumped the track near the corner of Ontario street. The rear truck only was off the rails, but it took a considerable time to shift it back into position, the accident having occurred at 7.30.

MARINE NEWS

Business Along the River Front.

Matters were fairly quiet along the water front to-day. There were no arrivals from the sea, except the daily colliers from Sydney. There were two sailings—SS. Athenia, Donaldson line, Captain McNeil, left for Glasgow with passengers and general cargo; Bellona, Thomson line, Captain Ross, steamed for Leith and Dundee with general cargo.

SS. Inishowen Head, from Belfast, is due to make port to-night.

Catholic Sailors' Club.

Last night's concert at the Catholic Sailors' Club was under the auspices of St. Anthony's Branch, No. 50, C.M.B.A. of Canada. Past President Patrick Doyle occupied the chair. A very entertaining programme was proceeded with, the following taking part: Miss Gertie Malone, Miss Rosie Geary, Master Johnny Drum, Messrs. Charles Mallon, Victor Mortimer, and H. Murray. The following sailors ably assisted: J. Hume, Wm. Jones, of steamship Ottawa; J. Duddy, the Victorian, and P. Walsh, the Lake Champlain.

Miss Geary and Mrs. Bennett accompanied.

May Save the Arcola.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Sydney, N.S., July 16.—Mr. H. B. Saunders, Lloyd's representative, states that many of the reports concerning the steamship Arcola, stranded at St. Paul's, are incorrect and calculated to prejudice the coast in the eyes of the underwriters. The most misleading statement, he says, is that which refers to the steamer being submerged. The steamer, far from being submerged, is almost wholly out of water. There is every expectation of saving her.

Hard Pressed for Trade.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Halifax, N.S., July 16.—One hundred and thirty days out from Chili, the Norwegian ship Oddersjaa is in port, and will go to Jeddore in a day or so to load lumber for Chili. A striking example of the extreme dulness in the shipping trade, particularly in sailing charters, is shown by the fact that within the past three months sailing ships have come here from Rio Janeiro, East London, South Africa, and Chili in ballast, seeking charters.

Seek to Recover Ships.

Sarnia, Ont., July 16.—Captain James Reid has been engaged by the underwriters to go to the Atlantic coast where he will attempt to recover two ships which have been wrecked and abandoned by their owners to the underwriters. The vessels to be recovered are the steamer Turret Bell and the steamer Lady Aileen, both steel vessels. The latter is near Newport, P.E.I., and the Turret Bell is at Charlottetown.

Liners on the Way to Quebec.

The Canadian Pacific liner, the Empress of Ireland, and the Allan liner Corsican, both from Liverpool for Quebec (the latter steamer is also bound for Montreal), were reported inward at 7 a.m. to-day, the former at Cape Chatte and the latter at Martin River. Both will make Quebec to-night and the Corsican will reach Montreal Friday afternoon.

Portsmouth Is Afloat.

The British collier, Portsmouth, which went ashore off Cape Chatte, 233 miles below Quebec, is afloat, and was towed out of her position to-day by the wrecking steamer Strathcona. She proceeded to Quebec in tow. The Portsmouth carried 3500 tons of Wesh coal for the British squadron now at Quebec.

Roller Boat Held Blameless.

IN LABOR CIRCLES.

International President J. M. Webber, of the American Federation of Musicians, may visit Montreal in the near future.

At the last meeting of the National Labor Union, Mr. T. J. Griffiths was elected delegate to the coming convention of the National Trades and Labor Congress in Quebec.

The secretary of the Trades and Labor Council has been advised that the District Council of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners will parade on Labor Day. The members of the craft will turn out about 2,000 strong. The 'Longshoremen also promise a fine show.

The question of organizing an amateur athletic association among the building trades will likely be considered at the next meeting of the Montreal Building Trades Council. Teams will be picked to play ball at the Labor Day picnic, and the ball game is expected to be the feature of the outing. It is understood that the man who knocks the ball outside of the diamond is to be fined $5.

Messrs. George Marois, president of the National Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and T. J. Griffiths, secretary, were present at the last meeting of the Coopers' Union. Both spoke of the growth of Canadian unions, and referred to the fact that a National Bricklayers' Union had been formed at Ottawa. The coopers decided to send a delegate to the convention of the National Trades and Labor Congress at Quebec.

WORKING OF THE BOARD OF CONTROL SYSTEM DESCRIBED

Paper Read Before Municipal Convention by Mayor Scott of Ottawa

Bearing on the subject of municipal government, Mayor Scott, of Ottawa, opened discussion among the delegates of the Union of Canadian Municipalities last evening, by reading a paper on "City Government by Board of Control." Mayors, aldermen, councillors and civic officials from all over Canada are in convention here for three days, and during that time many views on the application of legislation will be heard.

Mayor Scott said that a board of control existed in the Capital. Explaining the relationship between the board of control, and the city council, the speaker said that Ottawa aldermen are elected annually. The controllers, who number four, exclusive of the mayor, are also chosen once a year, but they are voted for by the general electorate of the city. They are unlike the aldermen in this respect, who are elected for their several wards. The controllers also hold office as aldermen, and take part in the council meetings. The function of the board of control, said Mayor Scott, is practically the administrative work of the city, while the council takes in hand all the legislative work of the municipality.

One of the duties of the board of control is to prepare an estimate of moneys to be spent by the city. This estimate must be certified, however, before the council. The controllers also prepare specifications, call for tenders, and award contracts. All the duties of this body follow similar lines to this, though all their proceedings must have the sanction of the city council. The board of control and the city council act as a balance to each other in the respect that the council cannot appropriate money without the sanction of the board of control, except in the event of a two-thirds vote.

In the event of the controllers not recommending an appointment, nor the award of a tender, a two-thirds vote is also required by the council to carry a motion relative to this. Thus in many cases, the board of control is overruled by a two-thirds vote from council.

There had been no movement to overrule the decision of the board in Ottawa up to now, said Mayor Scott, except over the subject of committees. It is usual for the standing committees to undertake all the administrative work, but since the adoption of the board of control system, there has been little for the committees to do. The board then recommended that the committees be abolished, but the move was voted down in council. The finance committee, however, was abolished.

Mayor Scott said it must be understood that sound and clear thinkers were always required for a controlling board, and he strongly advocated the adoption of similar boards throughout the country. The members were always careful of their decisions, knowing that they would be criticised by the city council, and usually their recommendations could not be improved on.

THE SYSTEM DISCUSSED.

Mayor Scott's paper was favorably received, to judge from the general expression, and Montreal representatives were greatly interested in the details of the working of Ottawa's board of control.

Mayor Galbraith, of Westmount, thought that there was no advantage to be gained in having a board of control, inasmuch as the members were elected in the same way as aldermen. Ex-Mayor Judd, of London, Ont., spoke to the effect that government by commission had advantages over the board of control system.

Speaking of the working of the board of control, Mayor Ashdown, of Winnipeg, said that the board ruled in Winnipeg in practically and substantially the same way as is done in Ottawa. There was a difference in detail, however.

Then followed some comparing of merits of a board of control with standing committees branching from a city council. Ald. McGhie, of Toronto, and Controller Ward, of the same city, in a general outline of the advantages issuing from both, showed that committees were necessary in the larger cities. The members of them were often better fitted for their special work than a board of control.

Mayor Galbraith, of Westmount, said it was possible that the people could elect controllers of doubtful virtue, just as they might elect dishonest aldermen. In reply, Mayor Scott said that the people must be relied on to choose the upright man, owing to the fact that commissioners are not elected.

Ex-Mayor Judd, of London, gave it as his opinion that government by commission had the advantage over all.

Before taking a trip to view Westmount, the delegates spoke on the subject of bill board advertising. The subject was down for discussion today, but as there was a little time to spare, ex-Mayor Lighthall, of Westmoun, read a paper by Mayor Chestnut, of Fredericton, N.B.

The practice was pronounced a nuisance, generally speaking, doing much to paint out the beautiful spots in many cities. There was a little discussion on the subject, and the matter will be taken up again before the close of the convention.

TRIP TO WESTMOUNT.

The trip to Westmount was thoroughly enjoyed. The visitors looked well over the incinerator, and gave their several opinions on the establishment, which generally fell in its favor.

At the invitation of the delegates, Chief Benoit inspected the Westmount fire brigade, with the performance of which he expressed himself well pleased. The exhibition took place in front of Victoria Hall, from which place the fire alarm was sent in. In exactly two minutes and twenty seconds, the first engine came on the scene at a rare clip. The inhabitants of Westmount were out in numbers, and it was at first thought that the municipal building had taken fire. A number of manoeuvres were gone through, and Councillor Featherston, of the Westmount Fire Committee, received the congratulations of all.

Lunch was taken in the St. George's Club, after which the delegates returned to town.

AIRED GRIEVANCES AND THEN RUSHED VOTING OF SUPPLY

Another Western Land Deal Discussed—Motion of Censure Defeated

Special Staff Correspondence.

Press Gallery, House of Commons, Ottawa, July 16.—The better part of the day, up till nine o'clock in the evening, was spent in discussion of "grievances," and the balance of the sitting was characterized by the rushing of supply. So anxious was the Opposition to see the estimates voted, that time and again a Minister was stopped on the threshold of explanations by calls of "carried."

The main "grievance" was an Indian lands transaction, in which Mr. A. C. Boyce traced the hand of Hon. Clifford Sifton.

The story told by Mr. Boyce was this:—

The Indian Department sold to W. F. Wilson A. E. Philp and D. Anson Reesor, 29,301 acres of Indian lumber lands in Fisher, Hairland and Tilley townships, Algoma, for $9,017.50. W. F. Wilson hailed from Brandon, D. A. Reesor was "a prominent Liberal worker" in Brandon, and A. E. Philp was "a former law partner of Hon. Clifford Sifton," at the time of application Minister of the Interior and Superintendent-General of Indian affairs.

The lands when bought were valued for the Government by a valuator named McAulay, suggested by the applicants; the valued set was $9,987; the lands were actually sold to the patentees for $9,017; and they were subsequently sold to American capitalists for $101,830, the same McArthur acting as valuator for the Americans. Thus a profit was made of $91,813.

The original application for the lands was made July 25th, 1899 by A. H. Yale, Oxford, England, letter being dated from Toronto, Ont. W. F. Wilson applied on March 19th, 1900, and on April 20th, Wilson advises the Deputy Minister "that Mr. Sifton wished the application put in the name of Gale."

The sale was made on April 24th, 1900, but the patent did not issue till September 11th, 1906. The re-sale to the Americans was made as regards two townships on August 28th, 1906, and of the third on November 8th, 1906. Thus two of the sales were made previous of the grant of the patents.

Mr. Boyce claimed that the Department was aware of the negotiations with American capitalists before the patents issued, and yet granted the patents free of all conditions.

It will be noted that the transaction began during Hon. Clifford Sifton's regime, but was not concluded till after Hon. Frank Oliver assumed office.

Mr. Boyce concluded a two hours' speech by moving a resolution declaring that the transaction he had described was "a grave breach of trust," and that it "deserves the condemnation of this House."

MR. OLIVER'S DEFENCE.

Hon. Frank Oliver began his defence by calling Mr. Boyce's campaign speech "shrieked into Hansard," at this late date in the session, "an outrage on parliamentary propriety." Then he ran across the trail of Mr. H. B. Ames, whom he called "scandal-monger-in-chief" of the Opposition. Mr. Ames was absent, but fellow Oppositionists promptly called Mr. Oliver to order.

"I withdraw it," said Mr. Oliver at once, "I said so because I was convinced of the truth of it."

Again cries of "Withdraw."

Mr. Oliver—"I withdraw it unreservedly."

Hon. G. E. Foster—"There was too much of the wild and woolly West there."

Mr. Ames, went on Mr. Oliver, had, as a result of his charges, made when there was opportunity for investigation, "retreated from the House" "with his limelight, his card-index and his microscope." Mr. Boyce, however, had been careful to "emit his scandal" at a time when investigation was an impossibility.

Again he was called to order by the Speaker for using the word "scandal."

"I withdraw it," he replied, "and will say 'unfounded and improper allegation'."

Mr. Boyce—"You daren't investigate."

Mr. Oliver—"The hon. member knows there is no danger of investigation."

Mr. Boyce—"There is no danger of this Government investigating any corruption."

Mr. Oliver—"There is no opportunity."

He then went on to deal with the charges specifically. What were they? he asked. That the patentees of the lands were residents of Brandon? That the lands were sold in accord with the practice of the last twenty or twenty-five years? That the price was 30 cents an acre? The mineral rights had been reserved when lands in the same region, including mineral rights, were now open to anyone at 50 cents an acre.

Or was the charge that the lands had been resold before the patent issued? The patentees had the right to sell if they fulfilled the conditions, and who ever bought lands commercially except to sell it at a higher price? Mr. Oliver cited a parallel case. The member for West Toronto (E. B. Osler), "of high repute personally and financially," as agent for a railway company, had sold 225,000 acres of land at $1.62 per acre, which was now worth from $5 to $20 per acre.

In closing a half hour's speech, Mr. Oliver admitted that the charges were serious, "if proved," but reiterated that Mr. Boyce had made them because he knew they could not be investigated.

Mr. J. E. Armstrong asked if Mr. Oliver approved of the private character of the sale to Messrs. Wilson, Philp and Reeson. Should the lands not have been sold by public auction?

NO ANSWER, SAYS MR. BORDEN.

The fact that the latter policy has been since adopted, replied Mr. Oliver, did not mean that there was anything crooked in the earlier practice.

Mr. R. L. Borden came to the defence of Mr. Ames. Mr. Oliver had good reason to use strong language regarding Mr. Ames. That gentleman had brought to light a number of matters that "the Minister had desired to conceal."

Mr. Oliver appealed to the Speaker and Mr. Borden withdrew his statement, but went on to point out that it was Mr. Oliver who had refused to bring down the "original documents." Mr. Oliver, he said, would hear more of Mr. Ames in the West.

The Opposition leader declared that the Minister's answer had been no answer at all. The parallel he had cited regarding Mr. Osler was not parallel. In that transaction years had intervened between the sale at $1.62 and the subsequent rise in price. The patentees of the Indian lands had got their high profits in two cases before the patents were issued. The Minister had admitted that the charges were grave but Mr. Borden repeated, he had given no justification or explanation of the transaction.

A division was called and Mr. Boyce's motion was defeated by 100 to 51 on a straight party vote.

ST. LAWRENCE POWER SCHEME.

Mr. Andrew Broder, of Dundas, brought up the project to dam the St. Lawrence at Cornwall by the St. Lawrence Power Company. The only interests to suffer, he argued, were the works carried out, would be Canadian interests. No expert could predict the effect, and this was sufficient reason why the project should be vetoed. At all events nothing should be done without the consent of the people's representatives in Parliament.

Mr. Broder pointed out that for the past 37 years Canadians have not been allowed to use the New York State canals.

This question, he added, should not be decided by one or two men.

Mr. R. A. Pringle took an entirely different view of the matter. No engineer of repute, he said, had reported that the scheme would interfere with navigation. Many had reported that it would assist rather than interfere with it. Neither would the proposed dam destroy the scenic beauty of the St. Lawrence. Mr. Pringle admitted that tourist steamers could not go down the rapids when the work was completed. There were other rapids which they could go down. He argued in conclusion that it was the duty of the Government to get full information and submit it to Parliament before any agreement is entered into.

Dr. Reid, of Grenville, opposed the power scheme. He thought the Premier should give a promise that no action would be taken, and no agreement signed before it had been submitted to Parliament.

Hon. Geo. P. Graham said that he was so familiar with the territory affected by the proposal that he was tempted to make a speech, but he would resist the temptation. The Minister then assured the House that he regarded the proposal to dam the St. Lawrence as being a very important matter. There were doubtless two sides to the question which would have to be given the most careful consideration, and the best expert advice would have to be taken. The Government had no idea of taking any steps in the direction of entering into an agreement before submitting the matter to Parliament.

THE HOUSE IN SUPPLY.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the House got into committee of supply, where a discussion arose over the Cotton situation in Quebec. It arose in connection with an item of $2,000 for the Royal Commission which opened in Montreal yesterday.

Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron maintained that the real secret of all the trouble was lack of sufficient protection. If the industry had had sufficient protection, the manufacturers would have been able to pay larger salaries and the recent labor troubles would not have occurred. Mr. Bergeron also condemned the Minister of Labor for his delay in appointing a commission. The workingmen had become discouraged waiting for the inquiry, had gone on strike and had been starved into yielding to their employers. The delay, he said, had sickened the men of the Conciliation Act and of unionism.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux maintained that there had been no undue delay in the appointment of the commission. Had he chosen, as had been charged, to get political capital for the recent Quebec elections, he could have appointed another commission, but he chose to wait till Mr. Mackenzie King was free. The question of protection he declined to discuss but he pointed out that the workmen claimed that, though wages were cut, yet the same dividends were paid.

The Finance Minister made a brief statement, in which he called attention to conditions in the United States. They had the "blessing" of high protection, but the industry was in a state of paralysis.

This closed the incident.

MONEY FOR SPORTS.

Two items of $15,000 for the Olympic games and $3,000 for a grant to the National Gymnastic Society caused some amusing and amused discussion.

Dr. Sproule made a general protest. "This is the height of absurdity," he said. "The country is running too much in the direction of games and sports and too little in the direction of profitable labor."

Mr. Bergeron asked what the National Gymnastic Society was, and Mr. Fielding explained that it was a French-Canadian Montreal Athletic Club, which was sending athletes to compete in games, similar to the Olympic games, at Rome.

Mr. W. H. Bennett—"Are they political acrobats."

Col. Hughes—"I am an old sport, but I do not know this society."

Mr. Fielding—"Oh, well you don't know much about Rome."

Mr. Bergeron (laughingly)—"I don't think our farmers will approve of this."

Mr. Fielding—"Oh, yes they will."

The items passed.

On a vote of $15,000 for the memorable Civil Service Commission, Mr. Fielding explained that no accounts had yet been received, but that the estimates were made on a basis of $30 a day to the commissioners, including expenses.

Mr. G. W. Fowler asked if the Government was going to appoint another Commission to inquire into the departments not investigated by the last.

"Leave something for another year," laughed Mr. Fielding.

One item was challenged to a vote. It was $400 for the salary of an inspector of Catholic Indian schools in New Brunswick. Mr. G. W. Fowler elicited the information that Father Ryan, of St. Mary's, N.B., was the appointee.

"Ah, Ah," said Col. Sam Hughes and moved to strike it out. Mr. G. W. Fowler and Mr. O. S. Crocket did not see why the motion should be pressed, but if it was they would vote for it as they considered the office unnecessary. Col. Hughes stuck to his motion and was supported by a few Oppositionists, but the Government sustained the item and it carried.

STEVENSON HOUSE SOLD.

Home in San Francisco Contained Most of Writer's Manuscripts.

New York, July 16.—A special from San Francisco says that Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson has sold the house which she built on Lombard Street hill, overlooking the Golden Gate, and will remove to Santa Barbara, where she has purchased a country house.

The house was filled with South Sea curios, and the library contained Stevenson's books, as well as many manuscripts of his stories and novels. It was saved during the great fire by members of the Bohemian Club, old friends of Stevenson, who carried water for the purpose in buckets.

A Peculiar Accident.

Ottawa, July 16.—Jack Alymer, eldest son of Lord Aylmer and heir to the barony, met with a peculiar accident yesterday. In raising his hand to his head suddenly to catch his hat, which had been blown off, by a gust of wind, he broke his collar bone.

SUMMER COMPLAINT.

One of the Commonest and Most Dangerous of Diseases.

Everyone Should be Prepared for it with a Bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight, or it may be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it.

You cannot tell, when it seizes on you, how it may end.

Let it go for a day or two only, and see how weak and prostrated it will leave you.

There is only one safe way to cure it and that is by DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. It has been on the market for sixty-three years and has been proved and tried so you are not experimenting when you buy it.

Do not accept a substitute or imitation, as many of these are positively dangerous to life and health. Insist on having DR. FOWLER'S.

Mrs. Norman H. Elsau, Ship Harbor, N.S., writes: "Last summer my baby was very bad with Summer Complaint. I tried most everything for him, but nothing seemed to help. One day a neighbor called in and told me to try DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY, so I got a bottle and after a few doses my baby was cured. I shall always keep it in the house."

CHRISTMAS IS COMING.

THE SHERBROOKE FAIR.

Active Preparations are Now Being Made.

Sherbrooke, Que., July 16.—The advent of July has brought about renewed activity in the office of Canada's great Eastern Exhibition, which will take place from the 29th of August to the 5th of September. While the number of buildings put up last year will not necessitate much work on the grounds, this does not indicate that the preparations are not in full swing for the 24th annual exhibition.

The attractions, which have been secured in New York, are of a high-class order, and the list promises to be on as large a scale as any offered heretofore by the management.

The race track, which was entirely renovated last year, proved on May [illegible]th and again on June 24th, to be in first-class condition, and every precaution will be taken to keep it in this condition for the races during the exhibition week. The large number of entries in the early closing vents guarantees one of the largest race meetings ever held in Eastern Canada.

Applications for space in the industrial buildings are already coming in, which would indicate a larger and more varied exhibition of exhibits than in previous years.

Special attention has been given to the judging competition for farmers' sons, and the butter making competition in the dairy building.

In addition to the specials mentioned in the prize list, Mr. A. C. Despris, of Hull, sends a handsome special for the poultry department, and the St. Francis Poultry Association also offers six handsome ribbons as follows: For best Wyandotte pullet, light Brahma cockerel, barred Rock cockerel, white Rock cockerel, buff Orpington pullet, Leghorn cockerel and blue Andalusian. The association is also offering four silver medals in connection with the grand parade. They will be donated to the best turn-out of light horses, heavy horses, thoroughbred beef breeds, and thoroughbred dairy breeds, respectively.

A TIP FOR FAT WOMEN

In a few years that excess fat yours will become a bad habit——in possible to break. Better take tim by the forelock and reduce now in natural way if you would keep inta the youthful symmetry of 20 throu the trying years of middle age. Go the druggist and ask him for ½ oun Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Ca cara Aromatic, and 4½ ounces Syru Simplex. Take a teaspoonful aft meals and at bedtime. Mix them home if you wish, but see that t Marmola comes to you in a seal package.

This mixture makes firm fleshe well-formed women out of flabb shapeless ones. It animates their st maches to burn up the food fats in stead of allowing them to gather the waist line. Without disturbing t diet or requiring exercise to help out it dissolves the fat away ju where needed the most. It has be known to melt away harmlessly much as 16 ounces a day witho causing a single wrinkle.
