Galt students stay out of classes

LENNOXVILLE — A potentially explosive situation exists today at Alexander Galt Regional High School, the Students' Council President says.

According to Joanne Brown some 800 students stayed out of classes to express sympathy with teachers who are protesting a recent government wage offer. The students are also protesting the teachers' "work to rule" policy now in effect.

The "work to rule" policy, part of a teachers' protest movement, requires that a teacher work class hours only and not become involved with extra curricular activities such as clubs, students councils, sports, music, drama, field trips and special events. The teachers yesterday locked classroom doors during lunch hour and only opened them again when afternoon classes resumed, reported Tom Laming, chairman of the Eastern Townships Association of Teachers Action Committee.

According to Miss Brown, the student's council had called, with the approval of teachers and administration, a special meeting of students to explain the "work to rule" policy.

"A group of students were shouting and interrupting as I was trying to address the group on the microphone. Suddenly, several boys jumped up onto the stage and took the microphone away from me, and started yelling about the Student's Council. According to Mr. Laming and Miss Brown some 1,000 students milled around the school yesterday out of class and in some instances tried to prevent some students from entering classes.

"A spokesman from the group of student protesters indicated that they are going to walk out again today," Miss Brown said. "I am scared that there is going to be trouble and someone might get hurt. At any rate the Student's Council does not have any part in this walk out. We want things settled peacefully," she added.

According to Mr. Laming, the teachers want students to go back to classes. Miss Brown says that the students are frustrated by the "work to rule" policy and want the teachers and the government to resolve their differences soon.

"There will be an in-classroom referendum vote today to see whether or not the students will take further action in sit-ins or walk-outs. However, the tide seems to be 80 per cent in favor of protesting," Mr. Laming said last night.

This morning Wendell Sparkes, Director General of the Eastern Townships Regional School Board, urged all students to attend school today and report directly to their classes.

Uncivilized

LONDON (AFP) — Prince Charles disclosed in an interview published here Monday that women's liberationists annoy him because they tend to argue all the time.

It was rather uncivilized, he told the weekly Woman's Own, to call someone a male chauvinist pig.

The interview was the second in a series which began last week with the heir to the throne revealing that he has had lots of girl friends and does not intend to marry until he is 30.

Militant women's liberationists, he added, forget that their most important task is the education of children, though he said men and women should share this responsibility.

Prostitutes

LONDON (Reuters) — British prostitutes, at a champagne lunch, launched a group Monday to lobby the government to legalize prostitution.

They said their aim is to liberate prostitutes from police harassment and private blackmail.

They want streets and houses set aside for prostitution, compulsory venereal disease checks, and "a better deal" for customers and prostitutes.

Writer Jeremy Sandford, who launched his latest book—Prostitutes—an expose of prostitution in London, at the same lunch, said British laws need to be changed.

He said that under British law, police need only have reasonable belief that a woman is soliciting to arrest her.

Franco

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco suffered another massive abdominal hemorrhage early today. Ten hours later his doctors said the bleeding was being controlled but had not stopped.

Other medical sources said the doctors were pumping blood into the 82-year-old dictator. They said another operation was under consideration, but the hemorrhage had reduced Franco's blood pressure and temperature, making surgery inadvisable for the moment.

Franco has had three abdominal operations in the last two weeks, but each has checked the hemorrhaging only temporarily.

Franco's chief surgeon, Dr. Manuel Hidalgo Huertas, spent the night in the hospital. A heart specialist and another doctor were rushed to the general's side during the night.

The husband of Franco's granddaughter, Don Alfonso de Borbon y Dampierre, also was called to the La Paz Hospital during the night. Don Alfonso, a first cousin of Prince Juan Carlos, the acting chief of state, left after two hours, presumably to inform the family of Franco's latest setback.

Quebec pilots protest rule on unilingualism

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec Association of Airline Personnel strongly condemned Monday a directive from the federal transport department prohibiting unilingual French-speaking pilots from entering certain flight zones in the province.

The association said a federal directive sent last Friday to Quebec pilots prohibits unilingual French pilots from making instrument flights in zones supervised by air-traffic controllers.

The association charged the federal directive forbids visual flights in heavily-travelled air corridors except when the pilot can maintain continuous contact with ground controllers in English.

The regulation will limit unilingual French-speaking pilots to visual flights at altitudes below 9,500 feet, it said.

In a telegram to Prime Minister Trudeau, the association said "the injustice done to French-speaking people in aviation is intolerable."

It described the regulation as "the summit of racism by the high-level bureaucrats in the federal department of transport" and asked the prime minister to intervene.

Mackasey rejects mediator

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey Monday night rejected appointment of a special mediator in the national postal strike, telling strikers they are "dreaming in technicolor" if they expect the government to change its final wage offer.

"The trouble with this (union) negotiating team is that they don't know when they've got a good bargain," he said during a special Commons debate on the month-long nation-wide strike.

Negotiators for the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), headed by union vice-president Jean-Claude Parrot, watched intently from a Commons gallery as the minister spoke.

Under no circumstances will the government change its final wage offer of a $1.70-an-hour increase with a 40-hour work week over a 30-month contract, Mr. Mackasey said.

"If they think they can get more... they're dreaming in technicolor... if the strike lasts a day, a week, a month or a year."

Border sensors scrapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plan to plant seismic sensors along the Canadian border to detect persons illegally entering the United States from Canada has been scrapped by the U.S. Customs Service.

The service had asked for $25 million to erect the magnetic and seismic sensor fence, but the Office of Management and Budget has trimmed the amount to $2.7 million, a treasury department source said Monday.

The sensors were to have been placed along the border near Montreal next summer before heavy cross-border of traffic started for the Olympics and highpoints of the U.S. bicentennial observance.

The U.S. Immigration Service also is planning to place sensors along the border farther to the east in the New York, Vermont and Maine areas. It said Monday it will go ahead with those plans.

The treasury department source said the volume of border crossings is expected to reach 50,000 persons daily, with some attending the Olympics and others coming south for bicentennial events.

A customs service committee is working with Canadian authorities on ways to prevent a repetition of the terrorist attacks which took the lives of 11 Israeli athletes and two West German policemen during the 1972 Olympics in Munich.

Despite these precautions, the treasury department source observed that "it could happen anyway, but we were trying to head it off."

earlier in the debate for a special mediator with a three-day mandate to attempt to break the impasse between the government and the union.

SAID RIDICULOUS

Mr. Mackasey said it would be ridiculous to "introduce a mediator at this stage." A better idea would be to ask rank-and-file members whether they supported the union negotiating committee.

He suggested that the members would overrule their leaders and support a conciliation report made earlier in the dispute.

Applauded by Liberal and many Progressive Conservative MPs, Mr.

Mackasey said the public has adjusted remarkably well to the loss of postal service.

Mr. Mackasey said the union did not have a strike mandate but broke off negotiations and set up picket lines "in the dead of night" to frighten the majority of postal workers away from their jobs.

His allotted time in the debate ended before he had finished speaking. He was denied the unanimous consent required to continue.

NOT TELLING

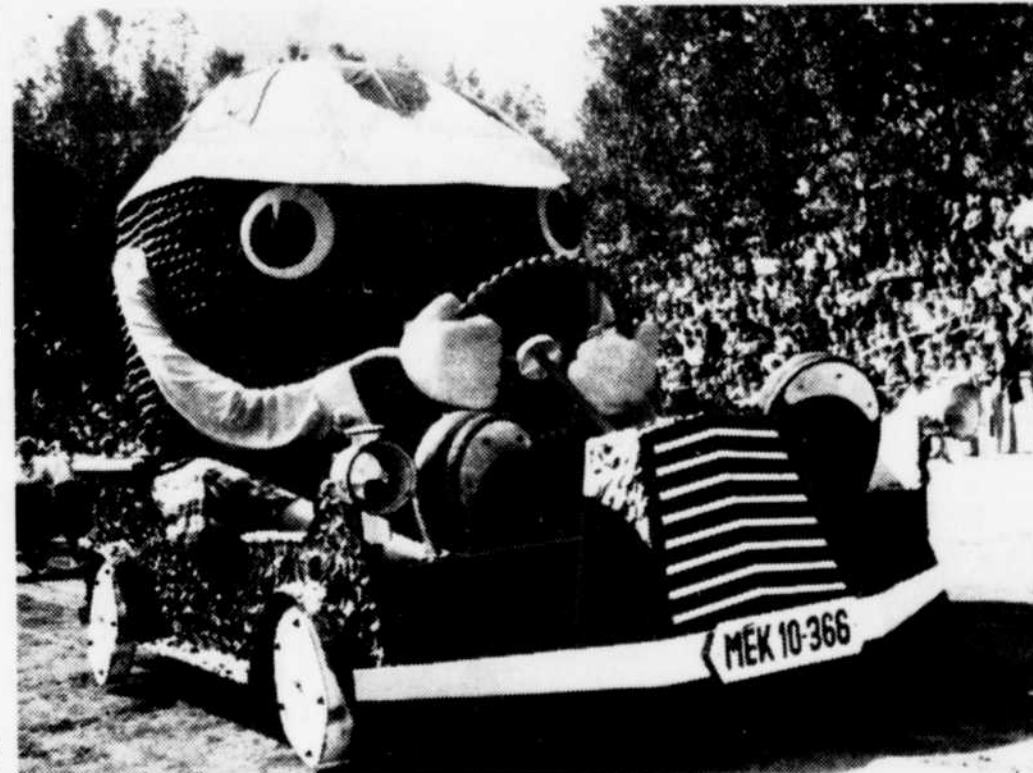

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, who followed, said he could see no point in helping the dispute grow. Mr. Mackasey was just thrashing over recent history and was not telling Parliament what he would do, he said.

Mr. Stanfield said the strike was continuing partly because of the government's wage-and-price control program.

"It is silly of the government to say it doesn't want to interfere with the collective bargaining process, because it has already done that," he said.

The government guides indicate a firm attempt to limit collective bargaining, he said. It is close to hypocrisy for the government to say that it will not force a return to work while also saying the union cannot get more, he added.

Hearst case being prepared

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lawyers for Patricia Hearst say they will be ready to present their case under the new Jan. 26 trial date and the prosecution says it expects to wind up its case against the newspaper heiress in two weeks' time.

"It's just impossible for us to know right now how many witnesses we will call," said Albert Johnson, one of Miss Hearst's lawyers, following U.S. District Judge Oliver Carter's postponement Monday of the trial from the original Dec. 15 date.

"Our investigation is just starting, for obvious reasons," Johnson said Monday following an hour-long meeting with Carter and the prosecution.

Lawyers said the judge based his decision to postpone on a recent ruling by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The appellate court held that a judge may, at his discretion, exclude psychiatric testing time from the 90-day arraignment-to-trial deadline imposed by the federal Speedy Trial Act. The interim provisions of the act now in effect make no provision for such exceptions.

CHARGED IN ROBBERY

The 21-year-old Miss Hearst, daughter of newspaper executive Randolph Hearst, was a fugitive for more than a year before she was captured in a San Francisco apartment Sept. 18. She was kidnapped Feb. 4, 1974, subsequently renounced her family and said she had joined the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA). She is charged with the robbery of a San Francisco bank on April 15, 1974.

Her defence team says she participated in the robbery under threat of death by the SLA.

Crime inquiry on

MONTREAL (CP) — Three witnesses—two of them given police protection—came forward Monday to testify about potential strong-arm practices as the Quebec police commission inquiry into organized crime resumed public hearings.

In the next five weeks, commission counsel said, the public will be given evidence of more than 350 incidents of intimidation, extortion, protection, conspiracy, drug trafficking, usury, underworld "settling of accounts," theft and reception of stolen goods, false passports and gambling.

The hearings, scheduled to last until Dec. 19, resumed Monday after a series of closed-door sessions to prepare evidence.

Among objectives fixed by the three-man commission is to inform the public of the "people who live from crime at the public's expense" and to bring to light connections between the Montreal underworld and organized crime in the United States and Italy.

Chief inquiry lawyer Rejean Paul said in opening remarks that the RCMP, the Quebec provincial police and the Montreal Urban Community (MUC) police had co-operated with law enforcement agencies in both foreign countries to prepare evidence for the hearings.

Olympic committee confident of funds

MONTREAL (CP) — The organizing committee of the 1976 Olympics still feels all the main financial and construction goals for the Games are attainable despite the Quebec government's prediction of a $600-million deficit and some trimming.

That was the word Monday from Gerry Snyder, the committee's vice-president of revenue, on the eve of government action to take over control of financing and construction of Olympic facilities.

Mr. Snyder, who is also a city councillor, said it may still be possible to complete the 70,000-seat Olympic stadium in accordance with original plans. Professional baseball and football teams have expressed interest in using the stadium after the Olympics.

Asked whether an announcement by Solicitor-General Fernand Lalonde in the Quebec national assembly last Friday spelled the end of hopes for a deficit-free Olympics, Mr. Snyder told a reporter:

REMAIN CONFIDENT

"Not as far as we are concerned. We feel that if the proposals we have made are implemented, the concept of self-financing can be effected."

Mr. Snyder said he could not divulge details of proposals now in the hands of the government but they involve changes in existing self-financing programs plus some new projects.

"As an example, there is the question whether the cost of the Games can be paid in a period of up to five or 10 years without going to the taxpayers for any money," Mr. Snyder said.

The government is scheduled to introduce legislation in Quebec City today, creating an Olympic installations board designed to take over the City of Montreal's responsibility for construction and financing.

Premier Robert Bourassa said in weekend radio interviews the provincial board will have final authority but will collaborate with the City of Montreal.

Estimating total cost at $1 billion with a deficit of $600 million, Mr. Lalonde said Friday in announcing the government action that the board would trim costs while ensuring completion of the stadium and other facilities in time for the games next July 17.

"Because the province guarantees with the city the expenditures for the Olympics, the province should have a more direct say in the expenditures," Mr. Snyder said.

But he was puzzled by the $1 billion figure because earlier statements by government officials had indicated an estimate in the $800-million range.

"It is up to the provincial government, the Olympic organizing committee and the City of Montreal to come up with additional programs and sources of revenue that will make it a self-financing project," Mr. Snyder said.

Underlining Mr. Lalonde's statement that revenues as well as costs are increasing, Mr. Snyder reported that revenue from present programs is expected to reach a minimum of $425 million compared with the original budget estimate of $310 million.

That included $225 million lotteries, $150 million from coins and $50 million from such sources as commercial licensing of Olympic products, corporate sponsorship and sales of tickets and supplies.

Lotteries had already brought in $150 million, far above early estimates. Mr. Snyder said sale of coins and stamps suffered because of federal government delay in passing enabling legislation but now stand at roughly $30 million.

Some observers say the need to maintain labor peace at the strike-plagued Olympic site in east-end Montreal was one factor prompting provincial government intervention.

Food prices will remain unstable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although United States food prices have slowed from their rapid climb of the last two years, consumers can expect them to gyrate widely for many years because of weather and Soviet Union grain imports, a U.S. agriculture department economist said today.

"The events of the last few years emphasize what we have tended to forget, that a major source of price instability is natural disaster—droughts, floods, too much rain, early frosts, insects and diseases," said Kenneth Farrell, deputy administrator of the department's economic-research service.

Retail food prices, which rose 4.5 per cent in 1972, soared 14.5 per cent in each of the following two years.

Department experts, including Farrell today, said

Assets offered government

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers say John Riccardo, chairman of Chrysler Corp., has offered the British government Chrysler's British assets, factories, orders and liabilities—for free.

Reports in The Sun and The Daily Mail say Riccardo made the offer to Prime Minister Wilson in telephone negotiations following his visit here two weeks ago.

The offer was one of three alternatives put forward by Riccardo to Wilson and Energy Secretary Eric Varley, the newspapers say. The others were a demand for virtually unlimited funds to give Chrysler U.K. a new start in Britain, or a decrease in the company's production here.

A Chrysler U.K. spokesman said: "We cannot comment on discussions with the government. Both sides have agreed not to reveal details of the talks going on at the present time."

In Detroit, a spokesman at those will average about nine per cent for all of 1975 and slow further to an annual rate of four to five per cent in the first half of next year.

Food-price instability will be "one of the major characteristics of the next decade" and much of the roller-coaster effect will be "tied to weather, both here and abroad," Farrell said in remarks prepared for the department's National Agricultural Outlook conference.

"The emergence of the U.S.S.R. as a participant in the world market means that the instabilities of grain production in that part of the world have become a part of our uncertainties," Farrell said.

Stricken by drought, the Soviet Union's grain harvest this year fell far short of needs. Consequently, the Soviets have bought heavily from other countries, including about 13.2 million metric tons of wheat and feed grains from the United States so far this season. A metric ton is 2,204.6 pounds.

A huge export flow the last three years, including large sales to other countries as well as to the Soviet Union, have drained once-large U.S. grain reserves. During the previous two decades, the U.S. stockpile and similar supplies in Canada and Australia served as a buffer against soaring food prices, Farrell said.

Chrysler Corp. told Reuters: "These stories sound new and different, but they are speculative."

Riccardo is expected in London this week for further talks with the government on the future of Chrysler U.K., which has been suffering heavy losses for some time.

An industry department spokesman said Sunday that the intention of forthcoming talks is a situation and progress report and we are not really expecting any final proposals.

"It is not really expected that anything major will come from this meeting," he added.

European business cycles are lower

GENEVA (Reuters) — Business indicators and order books suggest the economic recessions in most European countries have not yet bottomed out, the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (ECE) said today.

In a survey of recent changes in European trade, the ECE said Italy, Britain, Austria, Belgium, Denmark and Switzerland appeared to be still heading lower in their business cycles.

All West European countries except Norway and Sweden are likely to cut imports in 1975, and it is possible that no country will export as much as in 1974, the survey showed.

But West Germany should expect some recovery in the closing months of the year, and France is probably on the way to regaining ground, the ECE said.

It added that a fall in the prices of imported primary commodities is partly responsible for a slowdown of the increase in domestic prices.

SEE LITTLE PROGRESS — But the report said: "Hardly any progress has so far been achieved in reconciling a sustained growth rate of output with an only moderate rate of inflation."

Recovery programs announced in a number of countries should allow for an increase in gross national product—the total value of goods and services produced by a country—of about 4.5 per cent in France, four per cent in West Germany and 3.7 per cent in the Netherlands, the ECE said.

CP income drops in third quarter

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Ltd. reported Monday its net income for the first nine months of 1975 declined to $119,194,000 or $1.63 a share from $132,544,000 or $1.82 a share for the corresponding period last year.

Income in the third quarter was $1.6 million higher than in the corresponding quarter last year. During the first half of 1975, income had been lower than last year.

For the first nine months of 1975, CP Rail's earnings decreased to $12,032,000 from $18,317,000; CP Air lost $1,948,000 compared with earnings of $3,983,000 and CP Investments earnings increased to $90,535,000 from $87,252,000.

Although CP Rail noted decreased earnings for the nine-month period, its third-quarter income increased by $6.4 million.

A company statement credited this increase to the "effectiveness of programs for controlling expenses and improving efficiency of operations, notably in train and yard service." Hundreds of employees across Canada had been laid off since summer.

CP Investments' increased earnings occurred despite a $3.9-million drop in the third quarter. The decrease was blamed largely on strikes affecting steel and paper operations.

CP Air's loss was attributed to higher wages, fuel costs landing fees and navigation charges.

Text of his speech was released prior to delivery.

Federal cheques on their way

Some six million federal government cheques are expected by the Canadian public within the next few weeks.

While the current postal situation may complicate their distribution, arrangements are presently being made to assure their delivery.

Federal Family Allowance cheques which would normally fall due on November 20th will be delayed until the beginning of December, due to the unavailability of the usual distribution channels. These cheques, however, will include both the November and December Family Allowance payments.

Old Age Security and other pension cheques should be distributed either prior to or by the usual delivery date of November 26th.

An information programme has been planned by the Department of Supply and Services in order to reassure those expecting federal government cheques. Public interest announcements are presently being disseminated through daily newspapers and regional radio broadcasts.

Naturally, this distribution of cheques is based on the premise that normal post office channels will be used wherever possible.

In those areas where postal service is not in operation, or where the situation necessitates an alternative method of delivery, a network of 500 distribution centres will be ready to commence operations.

These centres will be located in existing government service buildings, church basements or schools. Specific details concerning the centre in your immediate area will be forthcoming.

SHERBROOKE (GA) — Municipal Police will be adding more police women to the force in the coming months, it was revealed during a meeting of the Quebec Police-Fire Chiefs Association this weekend at the Le Baron Motor Inn.

According to Sherbrooke Police Chief, Jean-Paul Pelletier, president of the association, women can play a very effective role in crime fighting. "Police Women are as effective as Policemen in most areas and possibly more effective in handling incidents of sex crimes or crimes involving juveniles. At present there are only 4 police women employed in the Province," Chief Pelletier said.

In matters of policy, the Association plan to contact the minister of Justice and the solicitor general in an attempt to have a study made of physical education in the schools with regard to reducing violence in sports. This is at the request of the Quebec minister of education. The association also will be looking into the creation of a general retirement plan for policemen, comparable to the one in effect for the Provincial Police and the Montreal urban Police.

The association intend to revise police budgets and recommend the removal of all responsibilities not directly related to Police work. Items to be considered for exclusion would be street lighting, road signs, ticketing of parked cars, collection of bicycle licence taxes, school patrols and dog catching.

During the two day meeting it was also decided to look into the possibility of establishing a Quebec Fire-Fighters Institution to train firemen in modern techniques of handling radioactive materials as well as the various types of nuclear energy hazards existing today.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawrence were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Jandron and Brent of Windsor, Que. and Steven and Rick Jandron of Montreal.

Mrs. T.J. Lawrence spent a few days visiting Mrs. Eunice Goodenough in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rowell were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Rowell at East Clifton.

MOTHER NATURE WAS FOOLED — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bench of Gordon Street, Lennoxville couldn't believe their eyes last Wednesday when they discovered clumps of pussy-willows growing beside the road in St. Elie d'Orford. The fluffy little buds were apparently fooled by the unseasonably warm weather last week. This weekend, however, proved to be no time for pussy-willows or any other kind of spring flower, as an alternating cold and wet snow blanketed the region.

TB carrier is isolated

ADAMSVILLE (JM) — A school age tuberculosis carrier has been isolated and is being treated here at her home. Dr. Gustave Gerin-Lajoie, a Missisquoi health officer, said there is no danger of an epidemic.

"We have isolated the carrier and two members of her family," he said. "So thirty students and teachers at the St. Vincent Ferrier elementary school here who were in contact with her are being kept under observation."

A student in the French sector of Massey-Vanier Regional High School Cansville said she and between 125 and 150 students and teachers have been given patch tests with the results due Dec. 1.

Dr. Gerin-Lajoie concurred with the stand taken by authorities of the District of Bedford Regional School Board who refused to allow their pupils to undergo patch testing. "They are almost useless today. Tuberculosis is caused through intake of unpasteurized milk or contaminated food. Both are rarities in this day and age," he said.

Figures on the number of pupils being tested by the Davignon Regional School Board are not available. Dr. Gerin-Lajoie explained the tests are being conducted by a health unit nurse and her work is not completed.

Massey-Vanier's student population of approximately 4,000 can be broken down to 2,200 English and 1,800 French.

"Sanatoria are a thing of the past in the treatment of TB," Dr. Gerin-Lajoie said. "Today we use modern medication which is much more effective and I must add it is provided at no cost by the provincial government. The situation here is well in hand and there is no room for panic."

Birthday Party

DANVILLE — Mr. Graydon Heath was most pleasantly surprised to have his brothers and sisters join in a surprise birthday party on the occasion of his 70th birthday.

All enjoyed a social evening and did ample justice to the buffet supper served by Mrs. Heath, and included a beautifully decorated birthday cake, a gift to Mr. Heath from his sister-in-law, Mrs. Germain Cote.

Those present for the celebration included Mr. Heath's daughter, Mrs. Ross Sells, Mr. Sells and family of Kingston, Ont., his daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Heath and son Steven of Valcartier, Mrs. Elsie Reed, Brampton, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Healy, Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thompson, Lennoxville and Mr. and Mrs. Harold

Third Political Party

Jerome Choquette's bid to form a new political party in Quebec will appeal to a great number of electors who are either fed up with the machinations of the Bourassa regime, or deterred by the potential separation of Quebec from Canada should the Parti Quebecois assume power.

The former justice and education minister apparently feels the grists and the PQ are gradually polarizing their positions.

The aims he expressed when he addressed the Chamber of Commerce in Montreal recently closely resemble those expressed some three decades ago by the late Maurice Duplessis.

He advocated a desire to remain within Confederation with special privileges aimed at protecting the culture of the French-Canadians within Quebec.

This quasi-conservative policy is sure to attract a great number of voters — former members of the Union Nationale, dissident Creditistes, as well as Liberals who are unhappy with the performance of Robert Bourassa.

Assuming the marriage of convenience is consummated later this month, the next move would be to introduce a fiscal plank which would urge restraint on unnecessary government spending and the creation of fiscal watchdogs to supervise such actions.

The next plum probably being considered would be a promise of proper and prompt labor negotiations by the provincial government with all segments of the civil service. The government is Quebec's largest single employer and the dissidence evinced these days through the lack of action in vital sectors of the public service has placed the present government in an unenviable position with a fast tarnishing image.

At the moment Mr. Choquette has shown little interest in cultivating the Anglophone and New Canadian electorate. This must be an oversight as he has to attract those votes to attain any degree of success on the Island of Montreal, the Eastern and Southern Townships.

The formation of a middle of the road party will certainly attract a great number of the electorate. Assuming Mr. Choquette emerges as the dynamic force in the creation of the party he will lend it a great impetus through his reputation as a man of integrity and impartiality.

Should the new party assure minority rights according to the formula specified in the British North American Act, it would be a true and valid force in Quebec.

Without minority guarantees it will likely wind up as yet another splinter group with little or no viability. Should that happen both established parties have little to fear.

The liberals stand to lose a few seats; however, probably not enough to upset their superior majority. We can only assume a middle of the road party is welcomed by the Parti Quebecois as it would cull votes from the grists without affecting the solid cadre of PQ voters who are primarily located in the lower income ridings of Montreal.

Angola's agony not letting up

LUANDA (AP) — The slogan "A Luta Armada Continua" — The Armed Struggle Continues — is written on walls, windows, trees and even auto windshields throughout Luanda. It is a grim reminder that Angola's agony shows no sign of ending.

Portugal gave her last African colony independence Nov. 10 after 13 years of bloody guerrilla struggle. The nation was wracked by a civil war between three rival nationalist movements before it was even born.

Usually reliable sources estimate more than 20,000 persons have been killed in the last eight months. Some diplomats believe the carnage may be worse than that in The Congo after Belgium pulled out in 1960.

"The war of resistance could last for many years," said Lopo da Nacimento, the 35-year-old premier of the People's Republic of Angola (MPLA) when the Portuguese quit.

"Our cities could be destroyed. Many of our comrades will die. But we will never let ourselves be intimidated."

CONTROLS CAPITAL.

The leftist MPLA is led by Agostinho Neto, a poet-philosopher jailed for several years by the Portuguese. It controls Luanda, the capital, the centre, and the diamond-rich northeast.

Ranged against it are the Liberation Front (FNLA) backed by the United States, China and Zaire, and the Union for Total Independence of Angola (UNITA), supported by South Africa and considered the most moderate politically.

The FNLA and UNITA, joined in an uneasy alliance of military expediency, hold the northwest and the south and are trying to crush the MPLA between them.

The MPLA's northern front is only about 15 miles from Luanda along the Dange river. Heavy fighting is reported around a key road junction at Caxito, 35 miles northeast of the capital. But the MPLA issues only sporadic communiques on the military situation.

The MPLA is drafting thousands of young men. Columns of youngsters training in mottled combat gear jog daily along roads east of the city. After hasty training they are armed with Soviet automatic rifles and shipped to the front.

VILLAGES RETAKEN

The MPLA appears to be holding its own in the north. Officials here said that several strategic villages have been recaptured from the FNLA in the last 10 days.

There is also fighting east of Luanda around Carmona, 150 miles northeast. MPLA officers said they still hold the town despite fierce FNLA assaults.

Luanda itself is quiet. Occasionally the sound of mortar fire drifts across the palm-fringed bay from the battlefield across the water.

In the south, the MPLA is under increasing pressure from FNLA and UNITA forces spearheaded by a column of white and black mercenaries.

US crime up
18% in 1974

WASHINGTON (AP) — Criminals killed more than 20,000 people and stole property worth $2.6 billion as crime in the United States increased 18 per cent last year, the FBI said today in its report on crime in 1974.

Thieves made off with loot valued at more than the justice department's annual budget and more than twice what it takes to run the city of Chicago for a year.

Teen-agers were arrested for nearly one-third of the 10 million crimes reported to police, although persons from 10 to 17 account for only 16 per cent of the U.S. population.

About half of all those arrested for burglaries, motor vehicle thefts and larcenies were teen-agers, the report said.

Firearms were used in 68 per cent of all murders, 44 per cent of the robberies, and 25 per cent of the serious assaults, the report said.

MANY NOT REPORTED
The statistics emerged from the FBI's annual report and analysis of the number of offences and arrests reported to almost all state and local law-enforcement agencies. The FBI and other experts say many more crimes are never reported to police.

The crime rate is the number of offences per 100,000 citizens.

The report said there were 4,821 crimes per 100,000 citizens in 1974.

Increases were recorded for all sections of the country and for all seven crime categories measured — murder, rape, robbery, assault, burglary, larceny and vehicle theft.

The violent crimes of murder, rape and assault account for hardly more than a half-million of all reported offences.

The far more numerous cases of robbery, burglary, larceny and vehicle theft cost the U.S. an estimated $2.6 billion. The report said police recovered loot valued at $821 million, about 31 per cent of the total.

Parti Acadien considers socialism and separation

BUCTOUCHE, N.B. (CP) — New Brunswick's Parti Acadien decided Sunday to study the possibility of gaining an autonomous territory for Acadians and declared its aims to be "openly socialistic."

Seventy-five delegates attending the party's annual meeting voted to authorize their executive to appoint a committee to study the autonomy issue in depth.

Delegates recommended that the committee, to be appointed later, base their study on a document entitled A Pays a Construire—A Country to Build, which traces the historical background of Acadia.

The document maintains that the borders of the early French colony are undefined but still exist.

"We have taken a great step forward today in agreeing to discuss this publicly, but the question is too complex to be decided quickly," one delegate said.

FEWER DOUBTS

Other delegates had fewer reservations, coming out categorically in favor of the idea.

"We must have a given territory to apply reforms," one said.

The party agreed, however, that its objectives as a socialist, nationalist and internationalist party would have to come before Acadian nationalism.

Delegates emphasized that the open declaration of socialist aims meant no change in existing policy.

One delegate said that Acadians generally accept the concept of a nationalist party but may be wary of the socialist label.

"We must define it, explain it and accomplish it. We must eliminate the fear of this word," he said.

Parti Acadien ran a handful of candidates in heavily French-speaking ridings in the last New Brunswick election, gaining no legislative seats and drawing only a fraction of the vote.

Law and Order Fleeces Taxpayers

WASHINGTON — Of the millions that ex-President Nixon distributed to make good his campaign cry "law and order," a staggering amount was spent to maintain order for his own well-being.

Through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration $3.5 million of the taxpayers' money was given to Florida to help keep the peace during the 1972 conventions.

Another $558,924 was bequeathed to the San Clemente, Calif., police to make the area safer for Richard Nixon.

The grants to Florida, of course, benefited Republicans and Democrats alike, since both parties held their conventions in Miami Beach in 1972. Internal documents, intended for official eyes only, tell how the money was spent.

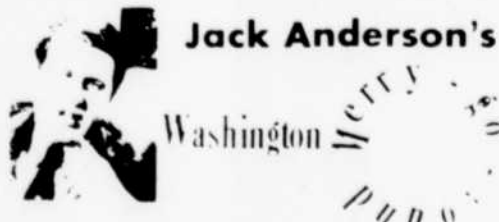

The police departments of Miami and Miami Beach received more than $2 million. It was spent for overtime police pay, portable radios, closed circuit TV monitoring systems, mobile communication vans, night vision devices, high-intensity lights, photographic and protective equipment.

Because the 250 state highway patrolmen assigned to the Democratic convention complained about the communications problem, LEAA allotted $79,795 to purchase 325 "helmet type portable radios" in time for the Republican convention.

Another $50,385 was granted to provide Florida police with sophisticated equipment to make radio broadcasting more secure for "highly confidential communications."

The thinkers got $46,259 to evaluate the police handling of the conventions. But the findings, which were supposed to be made available to LEAA to share with other communities, haven't yet been delivered.

To control the rowdies, a $24,786 grant was awarded to replenish stocks "after the present supply of tear gas is exhausted."

Jack Anderson's

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Major record companies hire outside promoters to push records. No questions are asked about how they spend money.

There were other cash grants for miscellaneous purposes, including $2,112 for Dr. Robert P. Johnson to handle "such things as stress and strain, minor lacerations and wounds possibly occurring and treatment of common disorders such as colds, fevers and influenza."

The San Clemente police, meanwhile, spent their money on riot gear and police vehicles, including a Ford Bronco pick-up truck suitable for bouncing along the California beach below Nixon's seaside estate.

Footnote: Our associate Bob Owens, who has been conducting a three-month investigation of LEAA, reports that no federal funds will be offered Kansas City or New York City for the 1976 conventions. Nor will the equipment from Florida be transferred to the new convention sites.

Payola Scandal: The record companies promote their hits with a bag of dirty tricks that would shame the CIA.

We first began exposing the payola racket in March, 1972. We charged that the industry offers free vacations, furnishes prostitutes, provides automobiles and pays cash under the table to disc jockeys and other radio officials to get records played.

Our exposes goaded the Federal Communications Commission into an investigation. Four grand juries have now returned indictments against 19 record industry officials.

One of our sources, Mike Viner of Pride Records, has agreed to shed his anonymity and speak for the record. Here are more of the disclosures he has made in a written statement.

Some of it, said Viner, is paid directly to radio program directors in exchange for airing records.

— Fred Rector, one of those who has been indicted, received thousands of dollars from MGM Records to "sew up" radio stations, swore Viner.

Various methods are used to pay off broadcasters. Record pushers sometimes contribute to "Christmas funds" for disc jockeys. One imaginative program director asked for money, saying he needed it to pay off a Mafia loan.

Viner identified one renowned record promoter as Jim Benci, who gets up to $3,000 for a single job. We spoke to Benci, who denied any wrongdoing.

While working for MGM Records, Viner was once ordered to obtain reservations at an Elvis Presley appearance in Las Vegas for 24 broadcasting and record officials. He paid the hotel's maître d' a $500 "tip," then listed the sum on his expense account as "bribery." Viner's honesty, of course, got him into hot water with MGM Records.

MGM has since sold its record division, and the recording company is under new ownership and management.

Footnote: Bill Gavin, whose respected "Gavin Report" is read throughout the record industry, attacked Viner and called his charges "unsubstantiated."

On the contrary, Viner's statements have been backed up not only by confidential sources high in the record industry but by some of the men Viner accused.

Several broadcasters, who are named by Viner in his statements to us and to the Federal Communications Commission, have confessed they got money from record firms. We have printed their admissions.

Thus it appears that Gavin, in his hurry to protect the record industry, neglected to check the facts.

'I didn't want a cup and pencils'

Arvella Gray's rosy blues

By Ira Berkow

Arvella Gray is a black sidewalk troubadour who favors bright suspenders. His black shoes are glossy and his sport jacket is shiny, though not threadbare. In winter he thrusts his all-weather metal guitar wearing gloves. He has cut one album, called, "The Singing Drifter: Blind Arvella Gray."

When not playing on a favorite street corner in Chicago the husky, 60-year-old Gray may be heard performing at some local coffee house or traveling to university campuses where he is often invited. His voice is throaty but mellow, a lift may be heard even in his most low-down blues. He wears no glasses, and his eyes have a white, far-away, mystic quality.

Arvella Gray began playing guitar in 1930, shortly after he had been shot by a man in a dispute over a woman. He was blinded for life and lost also two fingers of his right hand. He learned to pick strings with what remained of his left hand. Eventually he learned to play right-handed, too. He found that it increased his range.

"After I was shot up," said Gray recently, "I spent a bunch of months in a combination old folks' home and insane asylum, all mixed up together. That's where they put me. So I knew I had a problem."

"Well, I runs away from there. It was in Peoria. And I gets a hitch-hike to Chicago. And I get a hoe stick with one of them long handles. And I'd make a step and I'd feel over there, and I'd feel all around. Make another step."

"In town I'm sittin' flat-down, Indian-style on the sidewalk and this other blind fella bumped into me and tripped over me. Well, we started talkin'."

"He tried to help me and he showed me how to hustle. He got me pencils and a cup. Well, I didn't want to just stand on the street corner with just a cup and pencils. 'Cause it was slow hustlin' and then I was — by bein' young, 24 years old, I was embarrassed, too. So then I got this guitar at a pawn shop. Now I loved music since I was a boy in Texas, singing in cotton fields. I go to another blind fella I met and he teaches me how to tune the guitar up. Been at this gig ever since."

"But the street hustle, it ain't been easy. When I first started I'd be goin' down to the Loop. But I kept gettin' dragged off to jail. Say the reason they didn't want me down there is because then these institutions would bring people out there in wheelchairs and clutter up the street with all kind of handicap."

"But now the police, they don't chase me much no more. A lot of these policeman used to be children what used to gather 'round me. And they're wantin' to keep people from rippin' me off."

"I had people attempt to steal, that go in my pocket. Like one time they come along and hit my cup under the bottom and knocked my money out. But now by me pretty well keepin' the cup clean they can't pull that trick."

"Once, I knew the two boys that robbed me. Put a arm around my neck and a knee in my back. They was both needle pushers. They took fifteen cents. I run into 'em a couple days later and I told 'em, 'Hey, you bums you, I'm goin' to beat the devil outta you if you ever try that again. I'm gonna cut your ears off.'"

"And I can do it, too. You don't have to see to know where things are."

"I would never want to change my ways now. I know where everything is. I wouldn't want to have to relearn everything. I know how many steps down from my apartment to the street, how the streets go to the bus. And I do everything at home for myself. I cook, I clean. I take home movies, too. I take the moving pictures even if I do cut the heads off."

"I take 'em in the house. I take 'em swimmin'. I take 'em when I'm out on the streets. I can do all this by myself because of my old auntie."

"When I was in the institution they asked if I had any relatives. I had only one. In Miami. She was the only one they'd sign me out to. So I wrote her. And I love her to this day. 'Course, she dead now, but I really loved her 'cause she wrote back."

"And in her letter, when they read it to me, my bones and everything else turned to jelly. They had to sit me down because it was such a shock to me. And the letter said: 'Due to the fact I got five kids of my own and my nephew, he's blind, keep the boy in there 'cause I ain't goin' to be leading him around to the bathroom and feedin' him and waitin' on him hand and foot 'cause I got my own five kids.'"

He had no reason to try a finesse for the jack of that suit. When it failed to drop, it was all up to the heart suit.

Lancelot stopped to analyze the opening lead and decided that if West had been dealt a five-card major suit he would have led it. Hence, his distribution would be 4-4-2-3.

Thus hearts were going to break 4-2. After that analysis it was no problem to finesse against the jack of hearts and score the notrump game.

Polly's Pointers

Easy pattern for crocheted boot

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I am beginning to plan Christmas projects and would like a pattern for crocheting a boot or stocking for a child to hang by the fireplace. I have several knitted patterns but have been unable to find a crocheted one. I would certainly appreciate some help.

— MRS. E.J.

DEAR MRS. E.J. — I do not have such a pattern but the solution seems fairly simple. Draw or cut out a stocking the size you want, start crocheting, either single or double crochet stitches, until you have the width across the top. Continue your work using the paper pattern as a guide. Measure after each row and decrease or increase as necessary to follow its outline. After both sides are worked the desired decorations could be crocheted or made separately and then be stitched to the front side before front and back sections are crocheted together.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with your column since I can never get the paper until my wife has read Polly's Pointers. — P.J.M.

DEAR P.J.M. — Sorry I cannot sympathize with you. You have a wife after my own heart. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — I have always disliked getting down to scrub out the bathtub (Polly's note: Who does like this?) so I was delighted to find a simple solution for this dreaded task. I bought a new regular size cotton mop. I sprinkle cleanser in the tub, wet the mop under the faucet and clean the tub thoroughly from a standing position. I then use the mop to rinse the tub. After carefully rinsing the mop I hang it on a towel rack and keep it there just to be ready for tub cleaning.

— NADINE.

DEAR POLLY — Those vegetable sprays used to prevent pans from sticking are great to use on windows that are hard to open, especially in muggy weather. Such sprays are also good to put on the leaves of dining tables, and on the center edges of the table where it opens to admit the leaves. — MRS. W.B.

DEAR POLLY — I have two big healthy dogs with nice shiny fur. I think this is because they get as many vitamins as we do or perhaps even more. I save all liquids left from cooking vegetables and even liquid that drips to the bottom of the broiler pan (if I do not make gravy) and pour these on dry dog food. This also varies the flavor of the food and our dogs get those vitamins that would otherwise be poured down the drain. — GLADYS.

The Ommerlis honored at farewell party

DUNKIN (MB) — Due to changes over the years and other life factors, Marguerite and Hermann Ommerli regrettably closed the Dunkin, Que., Canadian Youth Hostel, after giving of themselves as House Parents for 30 years.

This very nice couple was honored by hostellers at a farewell party held in the Old Notch Hostel on Sutton Mountain at the end of the season.

In his farewell speech on behalf of he and his wife, the following are notes of interest that Mr. Ommerli mentioned.

"The old beloved passenger train between Boston and Montreal being discontinued, was a big drawback for everybody including the hostellers."

"Two well-known hostellers from Montreal cycled without a stop, all the way from Martha's Vineyard to Dunkin, well over 200 miles, arriving before 5 a.m. They were exhausted upon arrival. One of them has written us every Christmas for more than 20 years. Another hardy hosteller made it all the way from Springfield, Mass. with a pack on his back weighing 60 pounds. This same hosteller made it to Los Angeles in 29 days. He was 60 years old."

Mr. Ommerli goes on to mention that a group of cyclists came for dinner, one from Australia, one from New Zealand, one Pakistani from Lahore, one from Paris and one from England."

"A truly international group of the United Nations enjoying a real Turkey Dinner with all the trimmings, as you will find only on a farm."

"Hostelling is one of the finest institutions in the world, practicing good will among men and respect for one another. We may have had drastic changes in the way of hostelling, but the main ideas still remain the same — Know your people, your country, and the World Hostelling Good Fellowship; helpfulness and good will are the greatest assets in bringing understanding of each other to the people of all nations; Youth Hostelling is interdenominational and has no colour barrier. May the future be a bright one for the youth hostel movement."

These words were perpetuated in beautiful old English handwriting, framed, and later given to Hermann and Marguerite as a memento of the occasion. One of the founders of the Dunkin hostel, Kurt Jonassohn, Professor at Sir George Williams University, attended the occasion. Bill Glen, Bank Manager at Montreal, was unable to attend; he was second in the trio who first went to the Dunkin Hostel, and mention was made of the third person in the trio, Victor Roth, who passed away 15 years ago.

The first hosteller registered in the Ommerli home on July 21, 1945, which brought 21 more hostellers that year; in 1946 a total of 116 had registered and by July, 1975, a grand total of 8801 overnight guests had been registered in spite of the fact that two other hostels had come into existence in recent years, one at Bolton Glen and another at Richmond, Vt. Mr. Ommerli said that due to the tremendous popularity of skiing, membership had increased four-fold.

Houseparents, Marguerite and Hermann Ommerli, in their 70s now, will most likely receive visitors of the past from time to time, and Hermann will most likely bring out his favorite pastime, the accordion, for his visitors to sing to or dance to as he had done so many times for his beloved hostellers.

Richmond Brownies enrolled

RICHMOND — The ceremony for the enrollment of the Brownie Sixers and Secondaries of the 1st Richmond Brownie Pack was held on Tuesday, October 14. The sixers for 1975-76 are Brenda Blake, LeAnn Lancaster, Frances Banfill, Mia Fortier and Patricia Bergeron. Twelve Holiday Badges were awarded that night to the Brownies who had earned them at summer camp.

Saturday, October 25, found scores of shoppers in the gym of the St. Francis Elementary School, making purchases at the Brownie-Guide-Ranger Garage Sale. Mrs. K. Ingimundson and her Committee had worked long and hard to make a success of this sale. Donations of articles from people who had no connection with the organization were particularly appreciated. A profit of over $600.00 was realized to buy necessary things for the efficient operation of the three groups. Articles not sold were donated to the Richmond Branch of the Lions' Club for distribution to the needy and to the Vietnamese Relief Fund in Sherbrooke.

During and since this event, tickets have been on sale for a crocheted afghan, handmade by Ranger Joyce Fowler. Joyce is donating part of the proceeds of this venture to the groups and the drawing will be held on Tuesday, November 18.

The regular Brownie and Guide meetings for Tuesday, October 28 were turned into Halloween parties. Instead of Brownies, there were Christmas presents, clowns, and, etc. Even the leaders got into the act. Following the fun and games, refreshments were served. The cookies and candy apples had been made by the new Brownie leader, Mrs. Janet Banfill.

Meanwhile at the Guide meeting, many of the Guides came in costume and spent their time working on a Halloween handicraft and performing skits. The refreshments were supplied by the Guides working on their Baker's Badge.

School planning days on October 30 and 31 were put to good use by the Richmond Ranger Group. The Rangers spent that Thursday baking necessary foods for the food sale the following afternoon, held in Dyson and Armstrong's Showroom. The girls purchased all the basic requirements from their funds and although their profit was small, they learned that all good cooks have failures, graham cracker crumbs go a long way and everyone forgets something sometimes but they all had a great time together, anyhow.

On Sunday, November 9, the Brownies, Guides and Rangers were invited to march with the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 15, in their annual Armistice Day Parade. 23 Brownies, 23 Guides, 8 Rangers and their Leaders attended.

On Tuesday, November 11, guests attended the Guide meeting for the enrollment of 11 Tenderfoot Guides into the 1st Richmond Guide Company. After being welcomed by Guide Heather Dewar, acting as Mistress of Ceremonies, a press hat, made by Guide Lieutenant Wanda Tylor, was presented to the Publicity Chairman.

Mrs. M. Rick, Division Commissioner, enrolled the following girls: Claudia Desmarais, Brigitte Benoit, Joanne Pearson, Dorothy Vaitekunas, Josee Desmarais, Frances Champagne, Sarah Quig, Marie-Lynne Vachon, Lina Girardin, Johanne Clement and Nancy Pearson.

Mrs. Ann Clark, Captain, gave stripes, pins and whistles to the new Patrol

Congratulations

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. J.A. Currier of Bishopton on the occasion of her 80th birthday Nov. 19.

Leaders and Seconds and badges were awarded to other Guides.

Entertainment was supplied by the Guides working on their Campfire Leader and Public Speaking Badges.

An original poem, written and read by Crystal Dobson, seemed timely —

As I wonder in pain
Are we all insane?
The kings on the mountains,
Peasants by fountains.

Taxes being billed,
People getting killed,
People having hunger pains,
Others praying for rains.

The political fights,
Violence during the nights,
Yet, the world is still nice.

Refreshments were made by Guides working on their Baker's Badges and served by those who were trying for their Hostess Badges. Those Guides working in the kitchen were supervised by Guider A. Apps and Donna Farant, a new Guider.

Ann Landers says: You're as helpless as you want to be

Dear Ann Landers: Our 27-year-old son is a drug addict. He lives at home and refuses to work. The rugs and furniture are full of cigarette holes and his father and I are afraid he'll burn the house down one of these nights — us with it.

This boy has been on and off methadone for several months and can't remember his own name. The doctors have given him prescriptions for Valium plus a lot of other stuff. The expense is breaking us. Our son has money on his person but keeps asking us to pay for everything.

My husband is sick and wants to retire. Where are the laws in the country anyway? Why must aged parents be forced to keep a son who is in such terrible shape and makes their life a living hell? Lord knows we deserve some peace in our old age. How can we get it?

— Helpless and Miserable
Dear Friends: Let's start with the laws in this country. Nowhere does it say parents must keep a 27-year-old son in their home. You could have kicked him out legally six years ago. Maybe that's where you made your first mistake.

There are many drug abuse clinics in the U.S. and Canada and your son should be in one of them. I urge you to call the County Mental Health Society and ask for specific instructions. You are only as "Helpless" as you want to be.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young reader of your column. I even learn something from it once in a while. What I would like to ask you is this: When we traveled all over the country this summer we bought newspapers in every city. The same column appeared in several different papers. Would it be possible for you to write a different column for each of your papers? You must get a lot of mail and I'll bet you could do it if you worked a little harder. — 12-year-old son

Dear Fan: My column now appears in 812 papers. Multiply that by three letters per column — then take THAT number and multiply it by seven days per week. What do you get? My figure is 17,052.

All you want me to do is prepare 17,052 answers a week for publication. Thanks a heap. Where should I send the body?

VERSATILE pumpkin appears in pie, buns and bread.

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Cooks in Colonial days made inventive uses of all fruits and vegetables when they were in season. Thus there always was a variety of breads and pastries served with each meal showing the versatility of the item. For example, pumpkin and squash might appear in their season in four or five versions at one meal. Here are three tasty ways in which to serve pumpkin today.

PUMPKIN BREAD
2 cups unbleached whole wheat flour
2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 envelope active dry yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup cooked mashed pumpkin
2 teaspoons anise seed
Grated rind of 1 orange

Sieve flours with salt into a large bowl. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Add this mixture and remaining ingredients to flour. Mix to a soft dough, adding more water if necessary. Turn dough out onto a heavily floured surface and knead for 5 minutes or until smooth and elastic. Let rise covered in a greased bowl until double in bulk, about one to one and one-half hours. Knead dough again a few times and pat out to a 9-inch square. Roll up dough tightly into a 9-inch roll. Place roll, seam side down, into a greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Let rise until double in bulk, about 30 minutes. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until loaf when thumped sounds hollow. Cool thoroughly on a rack before cutting into slices. Serve spread with butter, cream cheese, honey or other favorite spread. Makes 1 loaf.

Vellum to video in one big deal

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Read any good TV shows lately?

That's not an idle question. More and more, TV movies, and even series, are based on books. In television's early days, the baby medium couldn't compete with movies in purchasing books, but now that's all changed.

It used to be that if an author wanted to sell his book to Hollywood, it was a movie or nothing. Today, many books are sold to TV and that's probably become a better market for book sales than features.

The TV market seems to go for two different types of books, books which the feature area seldom touches. The first is non-fiction. The second is long novels, too big to be turned into an ordinary-sized movie.

The non-fiction area is typified by the recent "Fear On Trial," the story of John Henry Faulk's trouble with blacklisting. There was no way Hollywood's feature film makers would touch that. It was too small, too intimate, perhaps too touchy, certainly not commercial enough for the big screen. But it made an effective two-hour TV movie.

Similarly, NBC's recent movie, "The UFO Incident," was the kind of project the feature film area wouldn't touch with a ten-foot screen. James Earl Jones, who starred in it, learned that the hard way.

Jones read it when it first came out, nearly a decade ago, and liked it. He saw it then as a feature film vehicle for himself and tried in vain to get it made. But he eventually interested Universal and NBC in making it for TV.

And there are other non-fiction books headed for the home screen, books like Vincent Bugliosi's "Helter Skelter," the story of the Manson mob's murders; "Johnny, We Hardly Knew Ye," a look at John F. Kennedy by two men who knew him intimately; and Jim Bishop's study of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, "F.D.R."

Rarer even are the movies based on novels. Only the small novel which the big screen feels is beneath it — "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" is a good example of that sort — and the big novel which is too big for movie theaters interest TV producers.

That type of project began when Universal made a six-hour movie, shown in two three-hour segments, out of Fletcher Knebel's

"Vanished" three or four years ago.

The property had been owned by several feature film studios, but they could find no way of compressing the vast scope of the book into the proper length. The TV industry found, with "Vanished," that it could handle long projects by playing them over several nights.

That trend continued with Leon Uris' best-seller, "QB VII," which again was shown over several nights.

Some feel, however, that the length is not really necessary, that TV merely extends it when they pay a large amount for a book to make the whole deal economically sound.

"If you pay a lot," says Lee Rich, whose Lorimar Productions is big in the books-to-TV area, "there is a tendency to over-extend it to make it pay off. That was true, I think, of 'QB VII' — that could have been easily made in a two-hour form."

Still, the trend to long movies-from-books is continuing. This spring, ABC will air Irwin Shaw's 1970 best-seller, "Rich Man, Poor Man" in a whopping 12-hour version. It has not yet been decided whether to air it in six two-hour chunks or four three-hour chunks.

ABC acquired that project, says executive producer Harvey Bennett, back in '71. It's taken that long to figure out how to do it.

"Making TV movies out of novels is rare," Bennett says.

"The problem is one of budget. Compared to a feature film, a TV movie budget is very small. There's no way we can compete with the features for a best-seller like 'The Exorcist' or 'Jaws'."

It's the story of the first black president. That theme turned movie makers off and the book languished on the agent's shelf for years. Then it was bought for TV — and the film turned out so well it was, ultimately, released first as a feature.

Another classic story is that of Joseph Wambaugh's "The Blue Knight." This was a true best-seller and would ordinarily have sold to movies for a whopping sum. But, for some reason, it found no buyer, so Lee Rich and Lorimar bought it, for a six-figure sum. It was made into a TV movie with William Holden and now will become a series with George Kennedy.

It's still a moot point whether ratings are affected by a property having been a best-seller.

"I don't know if it does affect ratings," says Lee Rich. "When you think about it, a best-seller means maybe 60,000 copies have been sold. That's a pin-drop measured against the total TV audience."

Still, Lorimar has acquired a best-seller — "Sybil" — for TV. And Rich says its sales should help its ratings, because this one was on the best-seller list for six months and has subsequently sold millions of paperbacks.

Of course, the decline in the number of movies made has given TV an edge in the marketplace for books. Today, many agents take their properties directly to TV and by-pass movies entirely. There has not yet been a bidding war between movies and TV for a book, although that could happen.

Three Degrees warm up S. Africa

By Stephen Ford

NEW YORK — (NEA) — They temporarily pulled the plug on Apartheid, South Africa's government-endorsed policy of racism, then the all-ebony Three Degrees singing group from America hosted a benefit tennis tournament in Johannesburg.

Praise is certainly due the vocal trio which is currently negotiating to establish another precedent in South Africa with the first performance ever before a racially mixed audience.

But the victory is not without its price.

Native Bantu tribesmen baking in their tin and cardboard ghettos may find it difficult to muster enthusiasm for a tennis tourney open exclusively to bon vivants and beautiful people. Participating in the event were Liz and Dick Burton (it's reported that out of reverence, she wore her shoddiest diamonds), Peter Lawford, Ringo Starr, Jill St. John, Dino Martin, Davy Jones and Mickey Dolenz of the Monkees, Miss World and that nation's Prime Minister.

If those elite tennis matches were considered the pastime of middle class Babbitts, Gladys Knight & the Pips have proven they can out-bourgeois anyone. Not only are they currently seeded with a bullet in the celebrity tennis circuit, but Bubba Knight is joining sister Gladys as a contestant on one of those afternoon quiz shows.

Will "O the Wisp Wunderkind: Since we're feeling sorta cynical these days, here's a bit of doggerel aimed at that bard of existential compromise, Bob Dylan. With thousands of fans slaving over a chance to see him just once in their lives, they may get their chance during his current swing of New England bistros, called "The Rolling Thunder" tour with Bobby Newirth, Joan Baez and Ramblin' Jack Elliott.

But the tour's premier attraction has specified his performances, presented on any given evening at whim, cannot be publicized beforehand.

A less-charitable observer might say that El Exigente is toying with his adoring fans' emotions in order to ameliorate his ego. . . .

Ramshackle Shelter: Using his legal name of Claude Russell Bridges, Leon Russell has asked a Los Angeles court to dissolve his recording company, Shelter Records. Tulsa's darlin' says Shelter is losing $25,000 a month and wants an end to the red menace despite other stockholders' insistence the label continue. . . . "A Dream for the Longest Night," a track on Hub's debut LP, has been chosen by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference as the theme song for the civil rights' organization. Royalties from the song, written by former Rare Earth member Tom Baird, will go to the SCLC. . . . And Now For The Good News: Dave Brubeck couples with quartet alumni Paul Desmond, Joe Morello and Eugene Wright to procreate the brilliance they first unleashed back in 1951 when they embark on their first personal tour in nearly a decade.

Their extraordinary contributions, perhaps now vintage but still grand cru even next to this generation's array of arresting jazz futurists, will whet cerebrums up and down the Northeast throughout February.

If it is your rotten luck to show the night Prima Dylan opts out of his east coast tour, assuage yourself by attending a performance of the seven-eights genius of Brubeck.

Charlie Daniels is one of those good natured, folksy types that reminds one of Hoss Cartwright, the sweet-tempered bear on TV's old Bonanza series.

Charlie, whose down home country rock albums exert a kind of rustic charm and power matched only by his presence, comes from that coterie of Dixie rockers changing a lot of urban cowboys' opinions of music that, in the hands of others, previously never traveled well above the Mason Dixon line: Willie Nelson, Marshall Tucker, Greg Allman and the Ozark Mountain Daredevils.

Belying his relatively new arrival on the music scene, Charlie is certainly no new discovery. Established musicians sought him out years ago when they needed a top notch session man. He handled guitar on three Dylan albums as well as Ringo Starr's "Beaucoup Blues" and has recorded with Leonard Cohen, Flatt & Scruggs and even produced an album by The Youngbloods.

"I always knew I'd be a musician," he says, "I started playing guitar 23 years ago and could never picture myself being anything but a musician."

After graduating from high school in North Carolina, he went through the motions as a factory worker just to exist until he could polish his musical talents. Another short stint in the lumber business convinced him he had to get a recording contract — fast — or settle for a career as a frustrated drifter.

Far from that these days, Charlie escapes from the burden of too much success — grueling one-nighters around the country — by moseying about his 800-acre horse farm where he lives with his wife and 10-year-old son.

Strictly a music band with small appreciation for glitter bands simulating beheadings or catching bullets in their teeth, Daniels says the flashiest thing about his band's stage performance is "my belt buckle."

"I don't see why you have to wear pantyhose on stage in order to make good music," he growls. But the Charlie Daniels band sparkles plenty for a live show. "Those are my people out there," he says, "Beer drinkers and street people. I'll take a warm audience over a recording studio's cold mike any day."

But judging by sales of his two recent Kama Sutra albums, his fans aren't showing any preference — they lust for him as much on vinyl as they do in person.

Perhaps the only sour note in Charlie's usually docile nature is when he talks about contemporary Nashville-style C&W. "Country music came from poor folk. Today, Nashville's big names stand around in tuxedos and cummerbunds playing in celebrity golf tournaments. That ain't country. Maybe Nashville is exploiting the whole Country market, losing its roots. They're awarding a lot of people who may be good performers but they just ain't country, people like John Denver, Olivia Newton-John."

Alexandra Rebekah Lodge

BURY (LM) — On Oct. 21st, the regular meeting was held in the lodge room with seventeen members attending.

Sister Betty Patry acted as Noble Grand in the absence of Sister Myrtle Jackin.

Sister Clara Atkins introduced the President, Sister Irene Williams, after which the members sang her song, "Let the Sunshine In", and given the honours, she was seated and presented with a lovely corsage of yellow mums.

Sister Patry extended a welcome to Sister Madeline Perry P.N.G. of Sutton who accompanied Sister Irene to Bury. It was reported that Sister Ella Burgess had broken her wrist and would be remembered by the lodge and cards were signed by the members for those who were ill.

At the next meeting Sister Grace requested the officers be installed into office who were not present at Installation previous.

A donation was given the Children's Hospital.

At every meeting the members will spend a period of time studying the lodge rules and work.

The meeting was then turned over to the Pres. Irene Williams who gave an inspiring address and extended greetings from the Rebekah Assembly of Que. She urged us to Study-practise on the many items of our work and of ways to make our meetings more meaningful. She is offering a prize to the lodge who has the most members perfect the Unwritten Work.

At the close of her address, which was enjoyed by all, Sister Patry presented Sister Irene with a gift from the lodge and she expressed her gracious thanks.

The meeting closed in ritual form and all retired to the hall downstairs where a buffet lunch of sweetbreads, cheese, coffee and tea was enjoyed. The table was centered with a bowl of asters, with yellow and green tapers in glass holders.

After lunch, the Rebekah jewellery was displayed and found ready sale among the members.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

On Nov. 4 the first meeting of the month was held in the lodge room with the N.G. Sister Myrtle Jackin in the chair and fifteen members present.

Sister Lottie acted as V.G. Sister Lyla acted as Warden.

Sister Margaret acted as Conductor.

Sister Betty acted as P.N.G. in the absence of these Sisters.

There being very little business, the meeting was turned over to the acting D.D.P. Sister Grace MacLeod and her Acting Marshall Sister Lyla MacLeod who installed the following officers.

Sister Annie Morrison to J.P.N.G. Sister Grace presented Sister Annie with her jewel and she was seated at her station. Sister Christeen Matheson as Seet with Sister Elvira Cathcart giving the Obligation; Sister Winifred Buchanan as Treas. and Sister Helen Groom as Vice Grand with Sister Lottie Matheson giving the Obligation.

Following the Installation, Sister Myrtle Jackin N.G. closed the lodge in ritual form.

St. Paul's Guild

St. Paul's Ladies Guild, McManamy St., held their regular meeting in the Church Hall on Nov. 11 with an attendance of 10. The roll call and minutes were read by Mrs. Mabel Peck; they were approved as read.

Mrs. Hazel Flanders gave her report on the Christmas Sale and Tea, which was held on Nov. 8. The proceeds were very gratifying, the bake table consisted of breads of all kinds, pies, cakes, cookies, tarts, doughnuts and lots of pickles and jellies. It surely was a lovely sight and was soon all sold out. The work table had some very nice articles. For young and old alike, it proved very successful.

The white elephant table was well patronized. The many guests enjoyed the home cooking with tea and coffee. The President, Mrs. Florence Lord, thanked everyone for helping in any way, making the tea a big success.

Thanks goes to the donor for the gift of a fridge for the hall.

There will be a card party Nov. 27, also a rummage sale, Dec. 4 at 10 a.m. The next meeting will be held on Nov. 25 at 2 p.m. in the church hall. Mrs. A. Oakley was unable to help at the tea, but was replaced by Mrs. Reta Ross. Being no more business to discuss, a card was passed around for everyone to sign for Mrs. Peck as she will be observing a birthday in the near future. The ladies served tea. Rev. Harold Brazel closed the meeting with prayers.

UCW executive meets

MANSONVILLE — The Executive of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian U.C.W. met in Mansonville on Oct. 9th at the United Church. The meeting, chaired by Mrs. Laura Gaudine, the president opened at 10 a.m. with a Bible Study based on Acts 13: 1-3, with the 21 ladies present divided into small groups and using conversation starters and a questionnaire prepared by Dorothy Harrowing.

Nominations Chairman Mrs. Marion Mayhew introduced Mrs. Jane Mallory, of Asbestos, who will be the Leadership Development Chairman. The meeting continued with the minutes of the July 10th sub-executive meeting, correspondence, and the Treasurer's report.

It was decided to send $100 to the Harriet Christie Memorial Fund. This fund will be used for the education of women in the Third World Countries and honors Miss Christie's lifelong dedication to the church and to the education of women.

Final reports on the Summer Event in Ottawa in August reveal that this was a memorable occasion, attended by some 40 women from this Presbyterian. Representatives were named to the Planning Committee for Summer Event 1976.

After the lunch break the meeting heard reports of the five Fall Rallies held in the different areas during September. There was a total attendance of 276, and participation in the various programs brought people together at a time of renewal.

Brief reports were heard from committees and secretaries. The Church in Society Committee was chiefly concerned about the many children in rural areas who are living below the poverty line, and what can be done to help them. Names of forgotten patients and children in institutions can be obtained and these people can be befriended in many ways. Friendship and visiting chairman reported that this is being done in some groups, and urged that one not forget newcomers in our midst too.

Mrs. W.S. Laberee's report on Stewardship was read. She had attended a workshop on this subject in Sherbrooke and felt that Christian Stewardship should be man's grateful and obedient response to God's redeeming love expressed by the use of all resources for the fulfillment of Christ's Mission in the world. We should share our three T's — Time, Talents and Treasure, she said.

The Literature Secretary, Sara Surjadinata, thanked her rally helpers and reported that $475 worth of books were sold. Executive members should watch for a new book written by Dorothy Henderson, "Look to This Day for Tomorrow", a compilation of Devotional readings.

January Training Event is expected to be held at Lennoxville United Church on Jan. 15. A committee was appointed to look after preparations.

Conference U.C.W. Fall Meeting was held at Valois United Church on Nov. 12th. The theme of the day was "Most Effective Use of Women in the Church". Ten delegates had planned to attend from Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian.

Two delegate-observers to Presbytery Fall Meeting on Oct. 28, 29, 30th in Sherbrooke were Mrs. J. Williams and Mrs. E. Fuller.

The next Presbyterian Executive Meeting will be held in Magog on Feb. 2nd or Feb. 9th in case of bad weather. Bring box lunches.

Obituary

JOHN EDGAR NUGENT

of Kinnear's Mills
Death came very suddenly to John Edgar Nugent of Kinnear's Mills on October 22, 1975.

He was the eldest son of the late Andrew Nugent and Isabella Murray of this area and was born on October 10, 1910.

Edgar was united in marriage to Gladys Christina McKell of Howick on December 21, 1935.

Of this union, five children were born: Rilla (Mrs. Paul Montgomery), Otterburn Heights, Arnold of Rock Island, Allison (Mrs. Sydney White), Pointe Claire, Ontario, and Patsy (Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald), New Carlisle.

Edgar's life work was farming; he had an interest in good cattle, and an ardent love of horses. He took an active interest in the community, especially in activities connected with farming. He served as director of the Megantic County Agricultural Society, and later, as president of the same for ten years. He had been a member of L.O.L. No. 559 since 1927, also a member of the Masonic Lodge of Thetford No. 88 AF and AM, and in good standing in the Rose Croix Chapter. He also served as elder in Candlish United Church.

Besides his wife, Gladys, and children, he leaves to mourn his loss three sons-in-law, Paul Montgomery, Sydney White, and Malcolm MacDonald; two daughters-in-law, Lynda and Doreen and fifteen grandchildren who will miss the steadfast love of a kind grandfather.

Other bereaved family members are brothers Murray and Ronald of Kinnear's Mills, Kenneth of Lennoxville, and Clarke of Scarborough, Ont., and sister Viola (Mrs. Gerald Patterson) of Caistor Centre. Another sister, Effie, died in infancy.

A Masonic service was held at the home on October 24, and on the following day, prayers were held when family and friends proceeded to Candlish United Church where Mr. D. Scott, lay minister of United Church, Thetford Mines, and Archdeacon Marston, Anglican Church, Thetford Mines, conducted the service.

The organist and choir from the United Church, Thetford Mines, assisted and rendered the anthem "Amazing Grace".

The pall bearers were Alfred Bouffard, Clifford Wright, Eric Allan, Willie Payer, Dale Nugent, and Rodney McKell.

Interment was in Riverside Memorial Cemetery.

Edgar was a loving husband, a proud, kind father, a wonderful grandfather, and a good neighbor.

Besides the beautiful flowers, money was given in his memory to The Canadian Bible Society, Canadian Save the Children Fund, Senior Citizens Home at Kinnear's Mills, Orange and Protestant Children's Home in Montreal, and Canadian Heart Foundation.

Cosgrove, S.J., who has such a thing about subway trains that he became a qualified motorman and considers the entire system his special parish. Associate pastor of St. Ignatius Loyola Church in Manhattan, Father Cosgrove also serves as chaplain for Roman Catholic groups in the New York Transit Authority.

snowmobile by Moto-Ski has multitude of new features for 1976.

'76 Moto-Ski Snowmobile has new look

There's virtually no comparison between the Moto-Ski snowmobile line for 1976 and previous Moto-Ski snowmobiles from Bombardier Limited.

Numerically, the new '76 Moto-Ski line has been streamlined to accentuate the positive... featuring machines that have proven most popular among snowmobilers... and includes four basic series: the Spirit, Nuvik, Futura and Sonic, with a total of eight models. Appearance-wise, the '76 Moto-Ski snowmobiles have sleek new cab configurations with electric orange, deep blue, and white colors. Internally, the machines have undergone major changes that give them a dependable mix of quietness and efficiency within the new 78 dba noise level.

Added to the 1976 Moto-Ski line, as a result of the splash made by last season's Sonic 340 racing sled in stock and mod stock events, is a new Sonic 250. This pair of high-performance snowmobiles gives Moto-Ski enthusiasts more solid competition equipment than they've had in some time — and there'll be no missing the gleaming orange cabs as they cross the finish line.

The Nuvik 300 introduced by Moto-Ski last year has been distinctly improved over the sled that received top performance ratings the past winter. A step up the ladder in size and function are manual and electric start versions of the Nuvik 340. And the long-look, go-on-all-snow Futura is back with a bundle of advancements in 440 and 440E models to complete the '76 Moto-Ski lineup with a touch of class.

"There are new looks throughout these 1976 snowmobiles," said Mike Rochette, Moto-Ski marketing director. "New cabs, colors and striping, dash-boards, seats, tracks, plus changes in the other things that make the machines go performance-wise."

By concentrating on selective models, customers like yet giving the range of styles needed for different snowmobiler needs and tastes, Bombardier engineers have put together what we consider the best Moto-Ski line ever offered."

$1 billion deficit expected

MONTREAL (CP) — Michel Labrosse, director of press services for the 1976 Olympics, said Monday the organizing committee is studying seven alternative sites should plans to locate the main press centre in the main Olympic stadium be discarded.

The change could come following statements last week by Solicitor-General Fernand Lalonde that several features of the 70,000-seat stadium will not be completed on time for the scheduled opening ceremony next July 17, but it would be sufficiently ready to stage the Games.

That statement was followed by a government decision Friday to assume control of financing and construction of the main stadium from the City of Montreal.

Legislation will be introduced today in the national assembly to establish an Olympic Installations Board, empowered to manage construction of the main stadium and borrow on a short-term basis to enable its completion. Lalonde said the board will function as a government body under the municipal affairs department.

In announcing the takeover, Lalonde said the official cost estimate for staging the Games now is $1 billion, up from the last estimate of $740 million. He said a deficit of $600 million is expected.

Labrosse said he was still waiting for word from Quebec whether the main press centre will be completed in time for use by an expected 6,500 journalists.

"The press centre would have been the last part of the stadium to be erected," Labrosse said. "I wouldn't venture to say if it would be ready."

Raymond Belanger, public relations assistant to Lalonde, said there will be changes in press facilities, "but it's too early to give details."

Specific mention of the press centre would not be included in the bill when it is tabled today.

"We are already looking into seven possibilities and we are in a position to negotiate," Labrosse said, when asked what alternatives were being considered.

"Whatever happens, it does not jeopardize the press operation. The track and field press centre will operate at the stadium as will the centres at the other venues."

"The main press centre... is not dedicated to one sport, but we felt it would be ideal located in the Olympic park."

The press will be housed at several locations—including hotels and university dormitories—for the Games. And Labrosse, while declining to speculate where any alternate working centres could be established, said hypothetically it could prove advantageous if the press centre were centrally located in the downtown area.

"Transmission facilities and transportation are two of the main concerns in seeking an alternate. But the press should not be concerned."

"If they had told me there would be no press centre at all, then I'd be worried. But if we relocate near living quarters, it would be the same as we saw in Munich."

Munich, site of the 1972 Games, located its main press centre adjacent to living quarters occupied by journalists and away from all venues.

Soviets to play NHL teams here

OTTAWA (CP) — Many familiar Soviet hockey players are coming to North America for an eight-game series against National Hockey League teams in December and January.

But most of them are on the wings of Moscow squad including forwards Vyacheslav Anisin, Alexander Bodunov, Sergei Kotov and Sergei Kapustin, defencemen Yuri Shatalov, Viktor Kuznetsov, and Yuri Tyurin and goaltender Alexander Sidelnikov.

In articles written by Vladimir Pakhomov of the Novosti Press Agency, Boris Kulagin, coach of the Soviet Union national team coach and the Wings, said both his team and the Red Army club would be reinforced for the series.

The Wings will get four players from the Spartak team, all veterans of the two Soviet series with the National Hockey League in 1972 and the World Hockey Association last year.

They are the towering left-winger Alexander Yakushev, Vladimir Shadrin, Viktor Shalimov and Yuri Lyapkin. Also on the Wings will be Alexander Maltsev of Dynamo, another international veteran.

EACH PLAY FOUR
The Wings will meet Pittsburgh Penguins Dec. 29, Buffalo Sabres Jan. 4, Chicago Black Hawks Jan. 7 and New York Islanders Jan. 10.

The Soviet Red Army team, bolstered by defencemen Vasilyev of Dynamo, play New York Rangers Dec. 28, Montreal Canadiens Jan. 31, Boston Bruins Jan. 8 and Philadelphia Flyers, the defending Stanley Cup champions Jan. 11.

The Red Army team features brothers Alexander and Vladimir Golikov and eight-year veteran Viktor Zhuchok, the team's top scorer.

Army coach Nikolai Epshtein rates Canadians as wonderful skaters and strong on the power play. To meet them is "a sort of test of the character, courage and fighting traits of any hockey player."

Kulagin says both the Wings and the Red Army team have been disappointing in Soviet league play this year.

He said the series with the NHL teams will provide Soviet coaches with an excellent opportunity to evaluate their players prior to selection of the Soviet National team for the 1976 world championships.

Michel Plasse's former mates have no pity for him as they win 6-1

Hershey Goalie Michel Plasse received a warm welcome from his former Nova Scotia Voyageur teammates Sunday night. Plasse, who played for the Voyageurs three seasons ago, faced 41 Nova Scotia shots in the Bears' 6-1 American Hockey League defeat at Halifax.

In other games, New Haven Nighthawks trounced Springfield Indians 11-1, Richmond Robins downed Baltimore Clippers 4-2 and Richmond Robins defeated Providence Reds 6-3.

In AHL games played Saturday, Providence defeated Hershey 5-3 and Nova Scotia beat Springfield 6-1.

Ron Andruff scored two goals for Nova Scotia and Kelly Greenbank, Glen Goldup, Don Howse and Guy

Chouinard added one goal each.

Steve Cardwell scored Hershey's only goal.

At Richmond, the Robins jumped off to a 3-0 lead as they snapped a three-game losing streak.

Centre Andre Peloffy scored what proved the game-winning goal midway through the second period.

FULLAN SCORES

But the Clippers cut the Richmond margin to one with a pair of goals in the final 3:21 of the second period. Larry Fullan scored the insurance goal with 3:58 remaining.

Wayne Schaab and Larry Bright accounted for the other Richmond goals while Vic Mercredi and Dick Sarrazin scored for the Clippers.

Bengals over Bills 33-24

CINCINNATI (AP) — Quarterback Ken Anderson, overcoming O. J. Simpson's 197 yards rushing, riddled Buffalo's pass defense for 47 yards and two touchdowns Monday night to lead Cincinnati Bengals to a 33-24 victory over the Bills.

Simpson's performance fell just three yards shy of breaking the National Football League record of four career 200-yard games, set by the great Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns.

Still, it was the seventh time this year and the 31st time in his career that Simpson has gained over 100 yards in a game. It gave him 1,325 yards for the season, well ahead of his 1973 pace when he crashed through another of Brown's records, amassing 2,003 yards in one season.

But in the long run it was Anderson's incredible passing accuracy that enabled the Bengals to raise their record to 8-1 and boosted them back into a first-place tie with Pittsburgh in the American Conference Central.

Anderson completed 30 of 46 passes including touchdowns of five yards to Lenvil Elliott and 20 to Charlie Joiner. His passing also set up two short touchdown bursts by rookie running-back Stan Fritts and a pair of Dave Green field goals.

The Bills, suffering their fourth loss in the last five games, fell to 5-4 and remained two games back of first-place Miami in the AFC East.

In the early going, Simpson seemed within easy reach of shattering the record of four 200-yard games which he holds with Brown. He had 154 yards in the first half—but with the Bills forced to play catch-up the rest of the way, he was limited in his second-half rushing and wound up carrying the ball only 17 times in the game.

His 197 yards was the most ever allowed by the Bengals on the ground. He easily broke the mark of 166 yards set by Denver's Floyd Little in 1969.

Except for Simpson, the Bills had virtually nothing going for them on offence. Jim Braxton was the only other Buffalo ground-gainer of note, picking up 40 yards on 10 carries. And Bills' quarterback Joe Ferguson was no match for Anderson. He completed only nine of 18 passes for 106 yards.

Anderson's 447-yard explosion shattered his personal single-game high of 352 yards set a year ago against Houston Oilers. His favorite targets were Isaac Curtis, who caught seven passes for 139 yards before leaving with an injury in the third quarter, and Chip Myers, who hauled in seven for 108 yards.

Anderson's aerial show helped Cincinnati to a 549-335 edge over Buffalo in total yardage.

BENGALS BRILLIANT

With Anderson finding every seam available in the Bills' secondary, the Bengals displayed brilliant ball-control from the outset and marched 90 yards to score the first time they got the ball.

Anderson hit Myers for 13 yards and the Bengals got 14 more when Buffalo cornerback Dwight Harrison was called for pass interference on Curtis.

Then Anderson connected for 18 yards to Bob Trumpy along the right sideline, 14 yards to Myers along the left sideline and nine to Joiner on the right side, putting the ball on the Buffalo 10.

After Boobie Clark, the Bengals' leading rusher with 15 carries for 56 yards, bulled his way to the five, Anderson rolled to the right and, barely a step from the sideline, fired a touchdown bullet to Elliott. Green's extra-point kick was wide to the right.

On the first play after the ensuing kickoff, Simpson exploded for his biggest gain of the game. He swept around left end, burst through a wave of potential tacklers, angled back toward the right side, slipped and fell at the Cincinnati 23, bounced to his feet again and scrambled to the 17 to complete a 59-yard dash. But the Bills' attack stalled and they had to settle for John Leybold's 28-yard field goal.

In the second period, Simpson erupted for 44 more yards in a charge that moved Buffalo to the Cincinnati 29-yard line. But Braxton fumbled, Bob Brown recovered and the Bengals capitalized on the turnover for a touchdown that made it 13-3.

Curtis' catches of 14 and 47 yards and another pass interference call on Harrison against Curtis put the ball on the Buffalo one-yard line. On the next play, Fritts dove over for the touchdown.

Lafleur top spot

MONTREAL (CP) — Right winger Guy Lafleur of Montreal Canadiens, ably abetted by his centre Pete Mahovich, has moved into first place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race today.

Lafleur, a 53-goal man for the Canadiens last season, scored four goals and added four assists in play last week to bring his points total to 35, two more than centre Bobby Clarke of Philadelphia Flyers.

Mahovich, with two goals and six assists, now has 30 points, placing him third, one ahead of centre Gilbert Perreault of Buffalo Sabres. Lafleur is the goal-scoring leader with 15 and shares the assist lead with Clarke, each with 20.

The Buffalo goaltending combination of Gerry Desjardins and Roger Crozier took over the lead in the department with a combined goals-against average of 2.12, but Ken Dryden of the Canadiens still leads individuals with a 1.95 goal-against average.

Tony Esposito of Chicago Black Hawks is the shutout leader with three.

Charlie George pots winner to give Derby County 2-1 over West Ham and top spot

LONDON (Reuter) — If Derby County, English soccer champion, feared it was buying trouble when it signed up Charlie George earlier this year, it need not have worried.

George came to Derby from Arsenal with a reputation for being something of a troublemaker but he has behaved himself perfectly with the Midland team and Saturday scored the goal that put his new team on top of the First Division.

With a more mature approach than he sometimes showed in his younger days, George is proving to be one of the most dangerous strikers in the English League and must soon come under the scrutiny of England team manager Don Revie.

In the recent European Cup tie against Real Madrid, George scored brilliant goals in each of the two legs and was Derby's outstanding player.

He is a player with natural skills who is as clever at creating goals as he is at taking them. He can carve open defences with long accurate passes, while in the penalty area he is a lethal finisher with a hard shot in either foot.

SCORES ON HEADER

His goal Saturday was on a header, firmly struck to the 64th minute to earn Derby a 2-1 win over West Ham United. West Ham had led the First Division before the match, but with so little separating the top teams, the losers dropped to fifth place.

Derby is on top with 24 points. Liverpool and Manchester United have 23, and Queen's Park Rangers and West Ham have 22. Rangers' goal record is a fraction better than West Ham's.

Liverpool scored a spirited 2-1 win at Newcastle. It was a goal down midway through the first half, but Brian Hall tied the score just before the interval. In the closing minutes, Ray Kennedy, live play the game at Shawinigan, scheduled three days after Dynamos player Benoit Plouffe was paralysed when checked into the boards in a game at Sherbrooke. The Beavers said they received threats from Shawinigan fans and feared incidents if they appeared in Shawinigan so soon after the mishap.

Sherbrooke forfeited the game and two points in the standings for not appearing. The Beavers bombed the Dynamos 20-2 Sunday, their only appearance in Shawinigan since the Plouffe accident, without incident.

The Beavers refused to George a former Arsenal player, scored Liverpool's winner.

Manchester United had little difficulty in denying Aston Villa its first away points of the season, goals from Steve Coppell and Sammy Mellroy clinching a 2-0 win. Queen's Park Rangers came back to tie Ipswich 1-1.

It was a measure of Manchester United's popularity that although all buses in the city were cancelled because of soccer hooliganism, a crowd of more than 50,000 packed their Old Trafford ground.

Wolverhampton Wanderers, surprisingly, were the day's top scorers in the First Division.

Wanderers had not won away from home for a year and so their hosts, Burnley, must have looked forward to their game with confidence. Instead, Wolverhampton romped to a 5-1 win, sparked by two goals by centre-forward John Richards.

National team wins again

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Jamie Russell of Burlington, Ont., scored 22 points to lead the Canadian national basketball team to its third consecutive win on its seven-game tour of the United States, a 77-68 conquest of Hofstra University on Monday night.

Two free throws with seven seconds left in the first half by Russell enabled the Canadians to open a 39-32 lead at the intermission.

Canada took the lead for good at 25-23 with 6:45 left in the half on a jump shot by John Cassidy of Halifax. The Canadian team's biggest margin was 17 points when a pair of free throws by Russell with 5:22 left in the game built the lead to 68-51.

Bob Town of Winnipeg added 19 points for Canada, Martin Riley of Winnipeg had 14, Cassidy finished with 12 and Bill Robinson of Chemainus, B.C. had 10.

Richie Laurel was high for Hofstra with 23 points.

In earlier games, Canada defeated Siena University 80-79 and Niagara University 65-63.

Braggins won't play

MONTREAL (CP) — Offensive guard Dave Braggins was placed on the injury reserve list by Montreal Alouettes Monday and the Canadian Football League club replaced him on their 32-man roster with Frank Pomarico.

Braggins, voted the top offensive lineman in the East this season, suffered a broken jaw in Montreal's 20-10 win over Ottawa Rough Riders in the Eastern Conference final last Saturday.

Pomarico has been on the Montreal injury list with a bruised chest. He has not played since Aug. 27 when Montreal downed Toronto Argonauts 33-17.

The Alouettes are due to leave today for Calgary where they meet Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup championship game Sunday afternoon.

Don't take the elevator today, walk up the stairs.

You can go economy first-class. Dodge proves it.

Economy class used to be pretty dull. No frills. No extras. No fun. True, unless you were talking about Dodge Dart, Coronet and Charger.

Dart is the compact Dodge. Coronet and Charger are the mid-size Dodge cars. And all three can be very classy, even though they're very good at minding the budget.

For instance, they give you a choice of either a 318 CID V8 or the famous 225 CID Slant Six as standard economical power.

They also give you a handsome model choice. Dart is available in coupes, hardtops and sedans; Coronet offers 4-door sedans and wagons; and Charger comes in a sleek 2-door hardtop.

For the sake of class, you can order your Dart sport coupe or Charger hardtop with a sunroof. And for a real touch of class and comfort, ask about the cool air conditioning option.

For the sake of economy, Dodge Dart models equipped with either of the standard engines can be yours with the new overdrive-4 transmission option. When you're cruising on the highway, the overdrive reduces engine speed by 27% while maintaining highway speed, so understandably you get better fuel economy. There's also the optional Electric Fuel Pacer which helps you drive with optimum economy.

And inside these fine Dodge cars, there are first-class accommodations. Deep, comfortable bench seats. Wood grain instrument panels. Smart interior appointments.

If you're the kind of person who wants to add a few extras, Dart, Coronet and Charger let you have your way with things.

Things like Torqueflite automatic, speed control, vinyl roof, special interior and exterior trim packages—are some of the options you'll like to consider. So, you can be just as classy as you like.

But underneath it all, they still maintain their economy personalities.

The body is welded into a solid, rigid unit. We call it Unibody construction. It'll stay tight and strong for years.

Every Dodge car gets a special seven-stage rustproofing treatment to help keep it looking new.

All covered by the Chrysler Warranty: the first year's on us.
