Fifty-Fourth Year

World News In Brief

Rio De Janeiro, May 31.—(Reuters)—Ten persons were believed killed and three injured when a passenger plane owned by Aerovias Brasil crashed on its way to Bahia province yesterday.

First reports were that the aircraft had collided with another plane near Itacare, South Bahia.

Quebec, May 31.—(CP)—Quebec forest protection service announced today re-opening of woodlands from the Ontario border to Saguenay district after imposition last week of a travel ban because of fire danger. Forested districts north of the St. Lawrence river have been drenched with rain and fire danger has vanished.

Florence, Italy, May 31.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia and Hungary finally withdrew yesterday from the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization conference, when nationalist China was officially seated. They made it clear, however, that they have not withdrawn from the 59-member world organization itself.

New York, May 31.—(AP)—For the first time in 10 years no light burned last night in the torch of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. N. H. Foster, superintendent of the monument, said a power failure in an electric cable was the cause.

London, May 31.—(Reuters)—The King died last night with his household troops, the first time a British sovereign has done so since the days of William III (1689-1702). The monarch ate at the Dorchester hotel with the Coldstream Guards.

Auckland, N.Z., May 31.—(AP)—Gasoline rationing ends in New Zealand tomorrow, the government announced today after a cabinet meeting. Gasoline has been the last commodity rationed in New Zealand. The decision follows the example of Britain and Australia.

Johannesburg, May 31.—(AP)—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts was reported making satisfactory progress last night after pneumonia. He is 80 years old.

An official bulletin said South Africa's wartime leader is responding to treatment.

Copenhagen, May 31.—(Reuters)—A number of Russian trawlers were reported today lying off Skagen, at the extreme northern section of Denmark.

Fishermen's reports said the vessels were not fishing and were not under way.

Acheson Says Strengthening Of Western Partnerships Is Needed To Meet Red Threat

Montrealers Maltreated By Mexicans

Montreal, May 31.—(AP)—A young Montreal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Tremewen, were reported by friends today to be in Brownsville, Texas, recovering from maltreatment suffered while in custody of Mexican immigration authorities at Matamoros, Mex.

(In Ottawa a spokesman for the external affairs department said the story as related in Montreal was substantially correct. There were no more details available in Ottawa.)

News of the incident reached Montreal through a long-distance telephone call from friends who went to Brownsville to "pay a ransom" for release of the couple.

The Tremewens are said to have been separated Saturday in the little Mexican town across the Rio Grande River from Brownsville and jailed after a dispute with immigration officials for overstaying their six-month tourist permit.

"After being thrown into a cell—an undecorated filthy cell as Mrs. Tremewen described it—with 28 other prisoners, all of whom were Mexicans," the friends here said, "Mr. Tremewen was brutally beaten—almost to death—by four cellmates."

Mrs. Tremewen telephoned friends in Montreal Sunday from a Matamoros hotel where she was under armed police escort and ordered to call friends for money or her husband would be beaten to death.

Her friends said she was hysterical and in a frantic state. She begged them to take the first plane out with $4,000 in order to ransom her husband.

The friends saw Mexican and British officials Monday because they were unable to raise the money.

Officials at the United Kingdom high commissioner's office in Ottawa took immediate action, according to information here, and the Tremewens were released from custody and allowed to proceed into the United States.

Petition For Vice Probe Is Granted

Montreal, May 31.—(AP)—Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale today granted a petition asking for a probe into vice conditions in Montreal.

The Chief Justice set Sept. 1 as opening date of the probe sought by the Montreal citizens' public morality committee. It will be conducted by Mr. Justice Francois Caron of Superior Court.

The petition, presented by two Montreal lawyers, Pacific (Pax) Plante and Jean Drapeau, alleges "malfeasance and corruption" on the part of certain members of the Montreal city council and police department.

Commons Declines To Name Commission On Expenditure

Ottawa, May 31.—(AP)—The Commons decided yesterday that Parliament and not a royal commission should recommend ways to reduce federal expenditures and to eliminate over-lapping services.

By a vote of 140 to 31, members rejected a Progressive Conservative proposal for appointment of a royal commission to seek ways to:

1. Reduce public expenditure to the lowest point consistent with efficiency.
2. Eliminate duplication of overlapping services.
3. Consolidate all public services and departmental activities of a similar nature.

4. Improve the general efficiency of government and assuring civil servants full recognition of their responsibilities.

The C.C.F. and Social Credit parties voted with the Liberals against the motion after Finance Minister Abbott said acceptance would mean an abrogation of the rights of Parliament.

Earlier by a count of 121 to 49, the Chamber defeated a Social Credit amendment which would have substituted "control" of expenditures for the "reduction" of expenditures proposed in the Progressive Conservative motion.

After conclusion of the debate, carried on intermittently since April 28, members turned again to the study of legislation. Third and final reading was given to a bill making a series of minor amendments to the criminal code and to a measure providing a small change in the coal storage act.

Appeals To U.S. Congress To Support Organization Of West's Military Might Into "Balanced Collective Forces."

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson told Congress today that the growing power of Russia can only be met by organizing the military might of the west into balanced collective forces. He appealed to Congress to support such a course.

Reporting on his recent cold war strategy talks in London, Acheson said the western powers have reached "another time of decision" in which they must either strengthen their North Atlantic treaty and western European partnerships or risk falling backward into "total failure."

The 12 Atlantic treaty foreign ministers, including himself, Acheson disclosed, did not say anything at London which indicated "any immediate threat of war." They were concerned rather to meet a Russian threat which "will exist unless we act now to prepare our defences against aggression."

Acheson spoke in the library of Congress at a meeting to which all House of Representatives and Senate members were invited. Three radio networks and one television hookup carried his speech to the country. It was the first time he had made such a public report on a foreign minister session or North Atlantic treaty meeting.

The creation of "balanced collective forces" meant that each of the 12 Atlantic treaty powers would build up troops and arms according to the needs of its own defensive needs. Under this system the United States, officials said, would spend relatively more on air force and navy than on army development.

"The President has authorized me to say," Acheson declared, "that he supports (defence) secretary Johnson and me in our view that we must make this principle work, for we can see no other way to accomplish the job of defence and at the same time to get ahead with the constructive task of building a successfully functioning economy in the free world."

Discussing costs, Acheson said that "a very large economic and financial effort" is needed to meet what he called "a dangerous situation."

"The work of the North Atlantic treaty organization in the first year of its existence has shown that the task of defence is so large, its cost in labor and material resources so high, and the problem of security so indivisible, that only a combined effort will be adequate," he added.

"The job can not be done unless we do our full part which includes the provision of mutual defence assistance."

This was viewed as a plea for Congressional approval of a $1,225,000,000 second-year American arms aid program which President Truman is expected to submit to Congress this week.

The program, approved by the state department and the budget bureau, proposes spending an additional $1,000,000,000 for arms in nine Atlantic-pact countries and the balance in other states in the path of possible communist aggression. The funds would be available for use during the fiscal year starting July 1st.

Acheson reported he had found at the London meeting "a new vigor in European life and European leadership."

"The Atlantic community is on the right road," he said. "We have gone some distance down it, and we know where we are going."

In noting that none of the 12 foreign ministers said anything which "indicated that there is an immediate threat of war," Acheson said:

"It was our unanimous view that this is not the problem. The problem is to meet a threat which, in view of the known program of the Kremlin, will exist unless we act now to prepare our defences against aggression."

"We hope never to need them. But so long as any dictatorship builds powerful armed forces, so long must democracies, if they are to be left in peace, evidence their determination to defend themselves by maintaining adequate forces in being and an adequate state of preparedness."

Reporting on his talks with Foreign Minister Schuman, of France, and Foreign Secretary Bevin, of Britain, Acheson termed the French proposal for a French-German coalition and steel combine "a momentous and courageous act" which will open the door to a "new era" if perfected and used to strengthen and expand the European economy.

He said Germany's re-entrance should be greatly helped by the into the free western community "new climate." He expressed hope that Germany will soon join the Council of Europe.

Acheson observed that the big-three statement of intent to stay in Berlin, and recent western actions there, may have influenced the relative quiet during the communist demonstrations of the past week-end.

Large Scale Gambling In Toronto

Toronto, May 31.—(AP)—Full co-operation of the public in curbing illegal gambling in Toronto is asked by Mayor Hiram McCallum, who disclosed last night that at least six professional gambling syndicates are operating in the Greater Toronto area.

Mayor McCallum said the syndicates have at least 2,000 "outlets" meaning places where bets can be taken or where bets are recorded and registered.

The syndicates are composed of local men with no United States connections, as far as he knows, Mayor McCallum said. They are on the lookout for every possibly unlicensed place which could be used as a front for taking bets.

The turn-over involved in operations of these syndicates in Toronto amounts to several million dollars a year, the mayor said. Most Toronto crime—even murder—stems from operation of these syndicates, he added.

What brought the gambling situation into the limelight was action of city council in passing a by-law which gives the police commission power to license all shoe-repair and shoe-shine shops. The license is a nominal $1 a year, but the by-law gives power to close an establishment used for illegal purposes.

Mayor McCallum said that the biggest offenders seem to be tobacco stores, already under city license.

Police Chief John Chisholm, whose report provided the mayor with his information on the extensive gambling operations in the city, said in an interview that besides shoe repair shops, shoe-shine shops and tobacco shops, the syndicates also used poolrooms, barber shops, cleaning and pressing establishments, some restaurants and even newsboys on street corners.

At Lubeck police were stoned as 7,000 blue-shirted members of the communist-led Free German Youth refused to take medical examination ordered by western frontier guards.

Two thousand more of their fellow-travellers from Berlin continued home shirtless from Helmstedt, far to the southwest, where irate west Germans last night pummeled them and stripped them of their blue uniform shirts after the youths started singing the communist international.

Another 2,000 of the Whitsun demonstrators were massed just across the Russian border from Helmstedt, awaiting transportation. West German police were alert lest they attempted to seek revenge for the beating given their comrades.

At the border outside Helmstedt today 600 more youths defied police attempts to inspect their luggage and pushed their way into the town, but submitted to baggage inspection by strengthened police forces at the railway station. Communist pamphlets were confiscated.

Club-swinging police saved one of the youths from about 10 townspeople who grabbed him and ripped off his communist medals before police dispersed them. Civilians booed lustily as the fresh batch of blue shirts entered the town.

Air Force Is Building Pilots Pool

Ottawa, May 31.—(AP)—Canada's air force today launched a drive to fill its reserve ranks with 600 trained pilots a year to be used as flying instructors or staff pilots in the event of a national emergency.

In its drive for manpower, the R.C.A.F. offered to give a bonus of $100 to each air force veteran chosen to undertake the training and completing 20 hours of ground-school work and 20 hours in the air.

To get the scheme under way, the air force said it was purchasing 12 new long-wing, two-seater Chipmunk aircraft, four of which will be placed in reserve and the remainder distributed to Canadian flying clubs on a loan basis.

These clubs, located across the country, will be the key factors in the training scheme, which it is hoped will be continued year after year as long as there is manpower available to take the course.

"Those who successfully complete one-year's training may repeat the program in following years as long as they continue to meet age and medical requirements," the R.C.A.F. said.

The training plan will be open to selected R.C.A.F. veterans who hold pilot's wings and are fit for general flying duties. The R.C.A.F. said it expected that the age ceiling will be about 30 years.

The R.C.A.F. said that while most of these trained in the reserve may be over-age for operations, it is expected that some of them "might fly operationally in the event of war."

But for the most part, these reserve pilots—expected to grow at the rate of 600 a year if planes can be made available—will "serve as a nucleus for training."

Staggering Holiday Toll In US

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—The United States today counted a staggering record death toll—far above the 500 mark—from violent deaths over the four-day Memorial Day week-end.

Millions turned to the highways for the season's first outing and traffic fatalities set a record for the holiday.

A country-wide survey showed 547 violent deaths. There were 350 persons killed in traffic accidents; 92 persons drowned and 125 others lost their lives in a variety of violent accidents. These included airplane crashes, fires, falls, explosions and other mishaps.

Said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council: "The nation has by a long way the most serious record of indifference to the living while paying respects to the dead, turned this Memorial Day holiday into a Memorial Day massacre."

The four-day total compared to last year's three-day Memorial Day unofficial figure of 413 violent deaths. Last year's total included 263 traffic fatalities; 87 drownings and 73 killed in miscellaneous accidents.

The Council said the traffic toll was a record for Memorial Day but the previous high was not disclosed. The violent death toll for the three-day Memorial Day holiday in 1948 was 404 and 504 for a similar period in 1947.

The Council had predicted traffic deaths would total 290 over the four-day period—from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Tuesday.

New Hampshire was the only state not reporting at least one violent death.

California led all states in traffic deaths with 26. Illinois was second with 22 followed by Texas with 21 and Michigan with 20.

Assistance For Asia Is Requested

Ottawa, May 31.—(AP)—Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan, leader of Pakistan's 77,000,000 people, said yesterday that there is no hope for peace in the world "unless the western powers are ready to assist the people of Asia."

On a five-day visit to Canada, accompanied by the Begum of Pakistan and a large retinue, the Prime Minister told a press conference that poverty, disease and ignorance in Asia constitute a "serious threat" to peace, freedom and democracy.

In answer to a question, he said "there are some communists in Pakistan, but I cannot tell you how many. I do not know the names of any of them."

In a reference to Russia, he said: "Pakistan is the one country which is defending the most important Commonwealth frontier."

When asked if the Russians were massing forces along that frontier, he replied: "They have not sent me any intimation that they intend doing so."

Liaquat Ali declared Pakistan was prepared to defend its way of life and added that the country had a "competent" air force, a small navy and an army "which has some of the finest soldiers in the world."

Last night the Prime Minister and the Begum were entertained at dinner by Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander.

Liaquat Ali will address members of the Senate and Commons in the House of Commons Chamber today in addition to a busy round of engagements in other parts of the capital.

The Prime Minister will also interview Prime Minister St. Laurent and members of the Cabinet in the Prime Minister's office on Parliament Hill.

Further Expansion In Asia Is Said To Be Reds' Aim

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Warsaw, May 31.—(AP)—Some Poles within earshot of Moscow said today that this is the Russian planning for the next decade:

1. Defensive consolidation in eastern Europe.
2. Dynamic expansion of influence in Asia.

Except for the fog of cold war, in which feints are confused with real centres of attack, the Kremlin's purposes would be in plain view, sources here claim.

They say the Russians have more to fear than the western powers from a shooting scrape in Europe. It is Asia that's a soft touch, not the Rhine—with others to do the fighting, not the Soviet army.

They make this comparison of power: American guns face Soviet frontiers in Germany and Austria. But where are they on the Asia mainland?

A hard-boiled communist is his own boss in Yugoslavia. Where is another like him in the Far East? Marshall plan dollars continue to pour into western Europe, stronger industrially than ever in history. Where is the effective help for weak Saigon or Bangkok or Rangoon?

The following is the substance of what I heard in a week in Poland on a visa granted by the foreign ministry to encourage interest in a trade fair:

"You westerners don't see further than the end of your nose. You seem oblivious to the inner stresses and strains in our eastern bloc. There are nationalistic tendencies in anybody for his own country. Instead of adjusting to this human fact, the Kremlin treats it as the most criminal heresy."

"The rigid attitude makes the Soviet bloc very brittle. The way Yugoslavia broke off is an example. Rajek was hanged in Hungary. The Czech communist party is in for a big purge. We've had no Polish heads rolling, but it is not yet nightfall."

"You're afraid the Soviet army will embarrass you by withdrawing soon from east Germany. Foolishness. It's there to stay—as long, or longer than the last American soldier in the west."

"You let the Russians hoax you with talk of German unity. They fear it."

"What would Poland be like if we were not completely encircled by Soviet military forces?"

"Try to find the war industrial potential in the bloc. Another five years, all these countries combined may barely equal west Germany's artificially limited steel output today."

"Emigres live in a dream world. Some Poles in London, we hear, are still taking up each other's old mistakes. Some others imagine riding into Warsaw on white horses with a death list of collaborators in their gloved hands. 'You underestimate your strength in Europe. You are purblind to your weaknesses in Asia. Russia is winning there without having to fire a shot. It is bad enough to peg our living standard to the Russian's. Wait until it is equalized with Chinese coolies.'"

RHONDA FLEMING 'KICKS BACK' FOR RELEASE FROM SELZNICK

Hollywood — Exclusively Yours: Rhonda Fleming is about to join John Ireland and Evelyn Keyes in Hollywood's "Kick Back" Club to win her release from David O. Selznick.

Selznick has agreed to her freedom from a contract which has five years to go if she'll pay him a percentage of her earnings, as John and Evelyn are doing with Columbia. Greg Bautzer is working out the deal and Rhonda should have her release before she completes "Beyond the Sunset" at Paramount.

Norma Shearer and MGM are talking about a comeback movie. . . . Ronald Reagan and Republic are in the midst of hush-hush huddles. If it works out, Reagan will star in a big cactus opera. . . . Joan Blondell is the latest to pop up in the casting for the mother role in "Mother of a Champion."

Priscilla Lane and Joe Howard just welcomed their second child, a daughter. They have a four-year-old son. Priscilla has given up plans for a film comeback and is moving with her husband and family to Lawrence, Mass.

There was a lot of grim head-shaking before Mae Murray's dance act opened at the Mocambo. But she's proving that a great star never loses voltage. Mack Sennett was in a shoulder-shrugging mood about plans for his film biography, "The Keystone Girl," at a birthday party tossed by Charlie Morrison. He whispered: "I try to keep my nose out of it. The world I get is that Betty Hutton is finding it tough to play Mack Sennett."

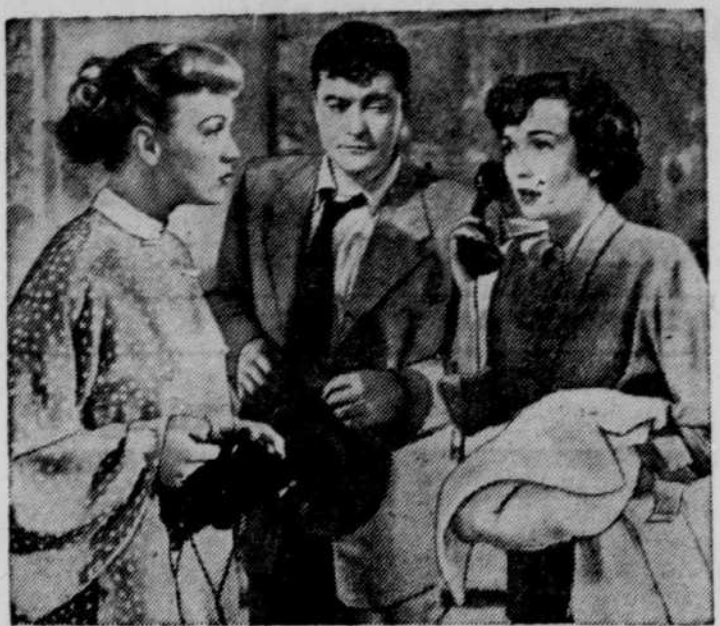

Call For Thomas
Comic Danny Thomas will head the star list for Zanuck's film version of "Call Me Mister." . . . Big casting switch for Susan Hayward in "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain." She plays a minister's wife, complete with prim mannerisms and high-necked gowns.

Elsa Lanchester is confused. Every Sunday evening she listens to husband Charles Laughton read from the Bible. All week she's a madam in a gambling joint and saloon in "Frenchie." Fox is talking to Kathleen Winsor about the film rights to her new novel for Gene Tierney.

Wrestling's grunt and groaners will be blushing when "Abbott and Costello in the Foreign Legion" hits the nation's movie screens. One sequence will show Abbott—script in hand—rehearsing Lou and an opponent for a wrestling match.

There's a new Howard Hughes rule for RKO's future product—40 per cent dialog, 60 per cent action.

AT THE GRANADA

Jane Wyman, Dennis Morgan and Eve Arden are cast in the latest amusing story of an undersea romance "The Lady Takes A Sailor," which opens today at the Granada Theatre.

BIRCHTON
Miss Grace Mitchell, Sunday visitor of her mother, Mrs. W. G. Whitaker and Mr. Whitcher and Mr. and Mrs. N. Gill attended the graduation exercises which were held at Plymouth Church, Sherbrooke, on Wednesday evening. Miss Hope Gill, their daughter being among the graduates.

Mr. Lomer Hodge, Miss Joyce Kees also Miss Joyce Maskell, of Cookshire, motored to Newport, Vt., Sunday last.

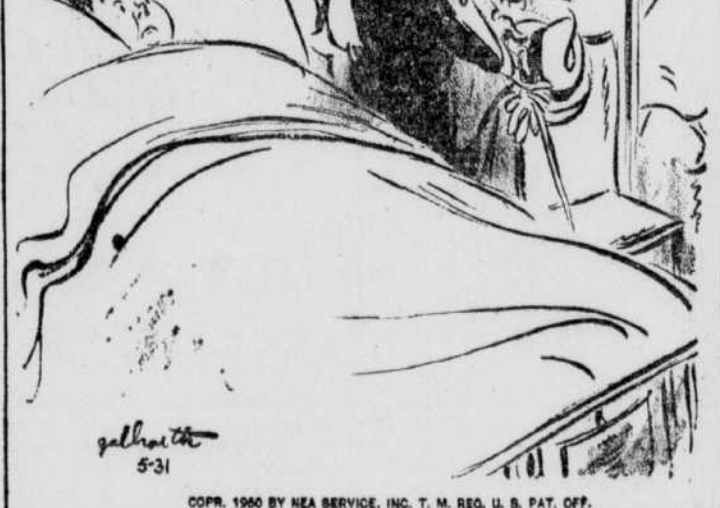

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Desruisseau and Mabel A. Hodge attended a shower held for Miss Parnell a bride-to-be of the month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anson Rowe at Ascot, on Saturday evening.

The many friends of E. Comeau will be glad to know that he has returned home after being a patient in the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newport, of Cookshire, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hemmings, of Lennoxville, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coates.

office nixed the script. Now John Garfield has writers working on the yarn in hopes they can avoid the blue pencil.

It's a new six-year contract, at one picture a year, for Ray Milland at Paramount. He gets the right to freelance on two pictures annually. . . . Gloria de Haven will follow John Payne on the stage for New York's Paramount theater next month. . . . Elyse Knox is having a new screen personality custom-built by coach Edda Edson.

New White House Pavilion Will Have Top Bands

Sherbrooke and district dance fans, hep-cats and snuggle-bunnies included, will be glad to hear that the New White House Pavilion has re-opened.

This popular rendez-vous, for both young and old, is situated on the Montreal highway only a few minutes drive from the heart of the City of Sherbrooke.

The spacious dance floor, large parking lot and the tasty food served just the way you like it, all contribute to make the "New White House Pavilion" an ideal dance spot.

Several big name bands have played at the White House during its three years of operation. Among the bands who have attracted hundreds are: Don Messer and his Islanders, Vic Lombardo, Lou Metcalfe, The Rhythm Makers and Al Hill.

This year the management has made arrangements to bring Don Messer and the Royal Canadian Airforce Command Band here in June. Other top bands will be contacted and dance fans can be assured of top entertainment at reasonable rates.

The sound system at the White House Pavilion is one of the best. Whether it is a cool night in May or a warm night in August, the temperature is always right.

CLARENCEVILLE

Eddie Mosher and R. Davis, of Hartford, Conn., spent the weekend at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Jack Mosher.

Miss Edith Hastings, principal of the local academy, is confined to her home with measles. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mosher, of Noyan, Mrs. Jack Mosher, Mrs. Harry Padden and Mrs. Leon G. Derrick motored to Stanbridge East one Saturday evening to attend the meeting of Maple Leaf Chapters O.E.S. when the Wor. G. Matron, Mrs. Myrtle Vincent made her annual visit.

Mrs. D. Macfie and aunt, Mrs. Alberta Rowe accompanied friends to Virginia and other points in the U.S.A. where they will enjoy a couple weeks holiday. Miss May Aiken will stay with Mrs. H. Fadden during Mrs. Rowe's absence.

Mrs. Leo Coussins and children who have spent some time at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mabel McClay, have returned to their home in Swanton, Vt.

Cards have been received from Miss Caroline Fisher, sister of the Rev. C. Winch, saying she is enjoying a real holiday in St. Louis Missouri, where she is visiting a brother and other relatives.

The many friends of Mrs. P. Curtis and Mr. H. Chilton will be pleased to know they are reported to be recovering nicely from their recent illness. Both have been under the doctors care.

Mrs. Naomi Toolan and Mrs. F. Mahoney have returned to their homes after spending several days at the home of their mother, Mrs. Edyth McKee.

Mrs. McInnes has returned to the city after spending some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Boychuck and Mr. Boychuck.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Millard, of Sutton, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arley Hauver.

Classification Talk Heard At Rotary

Members of the Rotary Club last night heard an interesting classification talk by Rotarian George Marshall, of the Philip Carey Company of Canada, whose subject was "Asbestos Manufacturing."

Introduced by K. B. Jenckes and thanked by R. L. Curphey, Mr. Marshall outlined the growth of his company, which was founded in Dayton, Ohio, in 1873, when it concentrated on the production of asbestos pipe coverings, to the present time when it has plants in practically every city in the United States, as well as branches in Canada, and produces roofing, siding and insulation materials.

"The roofing industry is grappling for something new to meet the color demand of the day," Mr. Marshall said, and produced samples of his product to show the modern trend in roofing as compared with the dull basic colors of the past.

He said that thermoplastic asphalt is the oldest plastic known, that it existed some 25000 years ago and under proper conditions is the best preservative in existence.

In conclusion Mr. Marshall stated that his company is striving to combine artistic beauty with durable quality, and that the asphalt-asbestos and asbestos-plastic shingle with their high fire protective rating will last practically forever if given the proper care.

President B. D. Lyon was in the chair for the meeting and welcomed one visiting Rotarian, Ted Bliss, of the Montreal Club and three guests, Andy Anderson, Lennoxville, Rev. Dr. H. G. Watt, D.D., secretary of the Missionary Society for Canada, Church of England, and Bill Seeley, of Montreal.

Miss Margaret Doherty addressed the meeting briefly, reminding the members that this is the week of the annual Community Concert campaign, and explaining the efficient community service in the cultural line, which is given by the Concerts Association, to Sherbrooke and district. She urged the Rotarians to give the campaign their wholehearted support.

President Lyon announced that Past President Douglas Stevenson and Rev. R. C. Tait would represent the club at the Charter night of the Brattleboro, Vt., club this evening and Milford, N. H., tomorrow. The Brattleboro club will receive a Union Jack from the Sherbrooke Club, to place alongside their Stars and Stripes.

Seated at the head table were S. Bachelier, G. Pouliot, K. B. Jenckes, Mr. Marshall, President Lyon, R. L. Curphey, J. J. Bell, Norton Baldwin and George Morgan.

Old Boys Of St. Pat's Meet Next Saturday

The annual banquet of the St. Pat's Old Boys' Association which was to have been held on Thursday evening last, will be held on Saturday, June 3rd, at the New Sherbrooke Hotel. The banquet was postponed due to the death of Rev. Canon McGee, former Chaplain of the Association.

This year the banquet is open to members of the Association and their wives, also to those interested in the Association.

The guest speaker for the occasion will be Henry Crochere. Mr. Crochere has recently returned from a two month trip to Europe.

Among those who have been invited to attend the banquet are: His Worship Mayor Charles B. Howard, Hon. J. S. Bourque, Maurice Gingues, M.P., Rev. Father Moisan, Rev. Father Clark, Rev. Canon J. N. Codere, the Reverend Brothers of St. Patrick's Academy, Rev. Brother O'Keefe of Verdun, Honorary President of the Old Boys' Association, J. R. Simms, Chairman of the St. Patrick's School Board, M. L. Ryan, A. Gauthier, manager of La Tribune, and Doug Amaron, managing editor of the Sherbrooke Record.

Sher-Lenn Choir's Performance Climaxes Fine Musical Season

By MARGARET DOHERTY

The performance given by the Sher-Lenn choir last night was a fitting climax to the excellent musical season enjoyed in Sherbrooke during the past eight months and much credit is due the director and members for the tremendous work accomplished since the founding of the group but a short while ago.

Presented under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Library Ladies Committee, the concert in the Sherbrooke High School Auditorium featured as soloists Jean Seath, soprano, and Malcolm Brown, tenor. Mr. Brown is also the capable director of the choir.

Anyone who attended last evening's recital could not help but realize the hours of practice which must have gone into the making of such presentable group singing.

The four parts were well balanced and there was no tendency for any one voice to dominate, as is sometimes the case with amateur groups. The director had his choir under control at all times and the ensemble, as well as the pleasing tone quality, augurs well for the future of this young choir, composed mainly of teachers from Sherbrooke and Lennoxville.

Their sacred numbers were good, although if one had any criticism to make it would be that there was perhaps a little too much sameness. The ever popular Negro spirituals, Steal Away, Deep River, and Let My People Go, were very well sung, with all the haunting, deeply religious intensity and abiding faith of the Negro people, but it was in the first two groups that the choir excelled.

It would be difficult to improve upon their beautiful interpretation of the Scottish Air "Turn Ye to Me," as well as Brahms' immortal Lullaby and the charming French song, "Madame Jeannette." As for the song cycle of Five English Pastoral—this was simply delightful.

Miss Margaret Doherty addressed the members that this is the week of the annual Community Concert campaign, and explaining the efficient community service in the cultural line, which is given by the Concerts Association, to Sherbrooke and district. She urged the Rotarians to give the campaign their wholehearted support.

President Lyon announced that Past President Douglas Stevenson and Rev. R. C. Tait would represent the club at the Charter night of the Brattleboro, Vt., club this evening and Milford, N. H., tomorrow. The Brattleboro club will receive a Union Jack from the Sherbrooke Club, to place alongside their Stars and Stripes.

Seated at the head table were S. Bachelier, G. Pouliot, K. B. Jenckes, Mr. Marshall, President Lyon, R. L. Curphey, J. J. Bell, Norton Baldwin and George Morgan.

No word was lost in the French numbers, Fourdrain's stirring Chanson Norwegienne and the amusing Villanelle des Petits Canards.

On her program last evening Miss Seath included a beautiful song "For Canada" composed by Mrs. L. E. Codere, to words written by Sgt. Hector MacKnight, a veteran of the first World War. This selection was enthusiastically received and was enhanced by the fact that the author was also at the piano.

A tremendous ovation was accorded Miss Seath at the conclusion of her groups, and she finally returned with a delightful interpretation of "Coming Thro' the Rye."

Sharing the honors with the young soprano, Malcolm Brown's clear tenor voice was heard to advantage in a group of English songs, "Where'er You Walk" (Handel), "My Thoughts Are as the Mighty Hills" (Grieg), and "The Time For Making Songs Has Come" (Rogers). Mr. Brown, a comparative newcomer to Sherbrooke, is certainly an asset to the musical circles of the community, and one wonders how he can produce such good results with a choir and yet find time to sing so acceptably himself.

His diction is excellent and he had a good, artistic interpretation. Also very enjoyable were his duets with Miss Seath, the two voices blending nicely. Mrs. L. E. Codere acted as accompanist for the two soloists.

At the close of the program, Miss Seath was presented with a beautiful bouquet, and during the informal social hour which followed, Mrs. Codere and Mrs. Trenholme were also the recipients of appropriate gifts, in appreciation of their services, while a traveling bag was offered to Mr. Brown with the gratitude of the choir members.

Refreshments were then served by the Ladies Committee of the Sherbrooke Library, to the artists and their guests.

Optimists Will Again Sponsor Boys' Town

The Sherbrooke Optimist Club will again sponsor Boys' Town at Victoria Park this year, according to an announcement made this morning by Paul Lefebvre, President of the Club. This will be the third year that the Club has operated Boys' Town.

Last year an average of sixty youngsters a day attended the Town. Two baseball teams were organized, bantam and midget, and both teams finished the season in first place.

Boys' Town will be open from nine in the morning until five in the evening every day except Sunday. All kinds of games are at the disposal of the youngsters and a supervisor is in attendance at all times. Last year the club purchased 100 baseball tickets each week and distributed these to the members of Boys' Town. Excursions to the lake during the hot season were regular occurrences last year and these will be continued this year. Last year the club sent fourteen members of the Town to the Montreal Optimist Boys' camp at Brome Lake, for a ten day camp period.

The Town is scheduled to open the latter part of June and will close the beginning of September. It is open to all the youngsters of the city.

Proceeds from the Optimist Club's annual Peanut Day, which will be held this year on June 10th, are used to carry on Boys' Town.

Rimouski Mayor Acknowledges City Donation

Formal acknowledgment of the donation of $1,000 made to the Rimouski Relief Fund by the City of Sherbrooke was received by City Treasurer Maurice Cormier this morning. The letter, signed by Dr. Victor Lepage, Mayor of Rimouski, also referred to the generous assistance which had come from other centres following the disastrous blaze which destroyed the greater part of the town and left thousands of persons homeless.

The City of Sherbrooke was one of the first contributors to the Rimouski relief fund, the grant being voted at a special session of the City Council two days after the outbreak of the fire which raged for thirty-six hours.

Supplementing the practical assistance given by the City, business firms and individuals in this district, the Sher Silk Hosiery Mills, Ltd., through its president, Dallas Grant, has despatched ten dozen pairs of ladies' nylon hosiery to Mayor Lepage for distribution among the residents of the town, many of whom lost all their personal possessions. The value of this shipment is approximately $100.

Sherbrooke Library and Art Union Elects George A. Sirois As President

At a recent meeting of the Sherbrooke Library and Art Union, George A. Sirois was elected president and D. F. Watson, vice-president. Mr. Sirois succeeds F. J. Sangster.

At the same time Mrs. R. I. McCabe was elected secretary and Fred Hovey, the treasurer.

Elected trustees were: Miss E. Bradley, Wright Gibson, Mrs. Gordon LeBaron, Mrs. F. Hovey, Miss W. Farmer (librarian), Mrs. E. Bayley, D. G. Amaron, Howard Kennedy, R. A. Wheeler, F. J. Sangster, Mrs. A. H. Cross, Paul E. Fortier, L. P. Robidoux, Dean R. Bishop, John A. Hovey, F. Lemoy, Wilson, Mrs. C. B. Howard and K. C. P. Mills.

In his annual report, retiring president Sangster said that the past year had not been one of great activity and that, together with the discontinuance of the library campaign, had resulted in fewer meetings.

"It is essential," he said, "that members of the board stay with the library even though they feel that they are contributing nothing. In a given year there are not enough jobs for all, but the time will come when everyone having the library at heart will have an opportunity to serve."

Referring to the Community Chest Campaign, Mr. Sangster said that it had been delayed due to the illness of its president, Mr. Scott, and finally postponed because of the numerous conflicting campaigns occurring at the only time it could have been held. The realization that it would be possible to tie in with the Red Feather Campaign, he said, made the postponement more plausible. In belonging to the Red Feather organization the local organization will have the advantage of local, national and international advertising in newspaper, magazines, and on the radio.

This postponement, however, meant a hardship on all organizations concerned inasmuch as it has been necessary to finance an additional six months' operation without sufficient funds. In this respect the library has been fortunate as the city grant should enable us to continue without too much difficulty."

In closing Mr. Sangster thanked the members of the board with whom he served and paid special tribute to former vice-president, Harry Grundy, retiring treasurer, D. F. Watson, Mrs. R. I. McCabe, Wright Gibson and Miss W. Farmer for their excellent work throughout the year.

A statement of receipts and disbursements for the year ending April 30th, 1950, showed an excess of receipts over disbursements for the year amounting to $290.79.

The year's receipts totalled $4,493.81 as compared to expenditures of $4,203.02 for the same period.

The cash-in-bank balance as of April 30th, 1950, showed an increase over last year amounting to $279.79 and stood at $1,721.78. Public donations, library collections and a grant from the city of Sherbrooke provided most of the Library and Art Union's $4,493.81 income last year. The heaviest expenditures were $1,250.14 for books, $1,200.00 for printing and stationery, and $1,340.00 paid out in salaries.

CARE NEEDED IN SAVING THE FORESTS

Although the forest fire situation in this Province has not as yet assumed proportions as grave as in many previous years, the conditions generally throughout Quebec are such that without the display of the greatest care by all concerned a disaster of major proportions may be expected. Only the timely arrival of moderate rains limited the outbreaks in many sectors while in others, where rains have so far been lacking, the forests are tinder dry and might well be turned into flaming infernos by the slightest act of carelessness. As it is, damage in many areas has been of serious proportions.

Pointing out the extent to which human carelessness is the cause of the majority of the fires and the manner in which many could be prevented, Gordon Godwin, first vice-president of the Canadian Forestry Association declared:

"All of us—each and every Canadian—can help reduce the appalling loss from forest fires. Each year fire consumes timber equivalent to forty per cent of all the wood used by the pulp and paper industry. Nor is this all the loss. In addition, each year fire destroys tens of thousands of acres of young forests on which we depend for our future supplies. Land is laid bare to erosion. With no trees to intercept, water pours off bare hillsides swelling streams into angry floods. The greatest single benefit to forestry would be for every Canadian to adopt the fire prevention pledge and mean it."

Elaborating on this, Mr. Godwin declares that while industry and government have been constantly improving their records in fire prevention, the more or less casual visitor to the bush has been paying scant heed to his potentiality as a hazard. Through carelessness he causes two-thirds of all our forest fires. What he does not seem to realize is that he is burning up his own money.

With ninety-five per cent of the timberland in Canada being part of the public domain, Mr. Godwin stresses the grim fact that ninety-five cents out of every dollar's worth of forest value lost through fire belongs to the man in the street. Furthermore, the greater part of the cost of fighting the fires must be financed by the taxpayer.

The inferences from this statement are obvious and the need for protection of Canada's greatest national asset from needless destruction is urgent. If people do not soon heed such warnings laws inevitably will come to force responsibility and possibly drastically to restrict forest travel at certain times of the year.

COLD WAR CHEAPER THAN A HOT ONE

Can the world afford a cold war?

A great many people say the "world cannot," that the Marshall Plan, heavy defense outlays, help to the Far East and Point Four aid to backward countries are just too much for the United States to bear as its part of the cost.

Paul Hoffman, able head of the Economic Co-operation Administration has a different answer however. He says the United States, and the rest of the democracies cannot afford not to fight the cold war.

In a recent Washington speech packed with common sense, Hoffman laid the issue out plainly. As they emerge from his comment, the choices before the United States are these: To knuckle under to Russia, to reach a fair agreement with her, to continue the cold war or to undertake a shooting war.

Of the first prospect, Hoffman probably voices the general United States view when he says Russia has a "perfectly stinking" system that men will not live under if they can somehow escape it.

And Hoffman seems to share the widespread official pessimism in America over chances of a sound agreement with the Kremlin. He stresses that Russia decided to fight the cold war even while World War II still raged and she was our comrade in arms. He sees Soviet leaders thoroughly committed to the idea that communism and capitalism must battle until one or the other goes down.

Hoffman is at his most forceful in pointing out that continuing the cold war is preferable by far to the one remaining alternative—shooting war.

"Shooting war is the ultimate stupidity," he declares. "This time we have got to win a victory with these new cold war techniques. And we will win it."

The cold war is expensive, yes. The four-year cost of the Marshall Plan will hit close to $15,000,000,000. Defense outlays for the U.S. and its allies are running around $13,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 a year. Add to this the mounting aid to other lands.

But what of a hot war's cost? Hoffman quotes former Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray as estimating the final cost of World War II—when the last pension is paid—at one trillion, three hundred billion dollars. Another war almost inevitably would cost much more. Hoffman believes they could extend the Marshall Plan to Asia and perhaps Africa for a cost that would come to less in a year than a hot war would cost in a week.

"What are people talking about when they say we can't afford this $15,000,000,000, or $20,000,000,000?" he asks.

The economy-minded will be hard put to make a sensible reply. For the fact is that, grim as it is, the cold war is the most cheerful prospect we can contemplate until Russian communism somehow crumbles under the weight of a determined free world.

DIRECTION OF CONTROL

Superior Telegram

What is the decisive difference between a democracy and other forms of government? Other kinds often have a general form which, put down on paper in a block chart, appears quite similar to the form of democracy. There is a head of the nation, who may in either case be there by election or by inheritance; he is surrounded by an official retinue usually called a cabinet, and the members oversee the machinery of administration; next comes a legislative body, and both legislature and administration have lines of contact to the people and to the lesser governments of states or districts; these in turn have lines of contact to the people both directly and through municipal governments. So far the two systems look much the same.

Most non-democratic governments today even run some form of election, but here the difference can be detected immediately. For in the non-democratic election the people place a rubber stamp of acquiescence on decisions which in fact have already been made, while in a democracy the people make their own free decisions at the polls, and their decisions are final. Here is a clue to the whole matter.

The lines of contact between the people and the various levels of governments are lines of influence and control. In the non-democratic government these lines of control always point downward; the head of the nation dictates to the legislature, and to the lesser governments, and to the people, and each in turn exerts direction over the units below. In a democratic government the lines of control always point upward: the people give direction to their local and state governments, to their national legislature and even to the head of the nation, and none interferes with lesser units except by invitation or on the basis of the specific and express wish of the people. Here is the difference between the two broad groupings of government. One controls the people; the other is controlled by the people.

WOMEN AS BRIDGE PLAYERS

Toronto Star

Who is this New Yorker, Oswald Jacoby, who has the audacity to say that men are better card players than women? Thousands of women in these parts are happy in the belief that they are better bridge players than their husbands.

Women will have to admit that Jacoby qualifies as a bridge authority. Nineteen years ago, when he was an athletic six-footer and 28 years old, he ranked as the seventh best player in America. Sydney Lenz chose him to be his partner against the Culbertsons in a 150-rubber match that continued for weeks.

Jacoby has come a long way since that time. In 1935 he was rated the No. 1 bridge player on this continent. About that time Russell Baldwin, treasurer of the American Bridge League, said husbands and wives were too critical of one another to make good partners, a view that Jacoby did not share. Mr. Baldwin said: "The best bridge players in the country train for tournaments like boxers. I know of one team of four in Cincinnati that lived together in a club for six weeks before an important tournament. They played ten hours of bridge every day. They did not take a drink of liquor during the entire six weeks, and were in bed by nine o'clock every night. They won the championship."

The reasons given by Jacoby for women being inferior to men as bridge players are that men have more endurance and greater power of concentration.

NEED OF CHURCHES

Brandon Sun

One of the odd things about public thought, if people do think, is that they are content to assume that our churches are not subject to the cold laws of economics. Rising and basic costs are felt by all churches just as is the cost of living everywhere. Increased income is a necessity for the home, and business overhead has increased alarmingly. Thus there are continuous demands for higher income and more pay for services on every hand. Yet few think of the same increased cost of church services, without which this would be a hopeless and sordid world. Of course, the value of church services cannot be marked up like meat and groceries, or as the industrialist may add to the price lists. It should be more largely considered now that the churches have been faced with all of our boosts in overhead and have no means of forcing up their incomes in proportion.

Churches must find the money to pay the salaries of organists, to buy fuel, to pay the wages of janitors, to maintain upkeep and repair buildings, and to provide the minister, priest or clergyman with a suitable living. In all cases these costs and expenses have risen, and many churches today find themselves in a financial straits as they are unable to have not kept pace with increased expenditures. The strange thing about all this is that few church-goers recognize the necessity of giving more—and excuse themselves from doing just that—by parading the high cost of living to themselves.

HARD LUCK JOE FAILS TO TRY TWO FINESSES

"Why don't you take off those rose-colored glasses?" demanded Hard Luck Joe. "You bid that hand as though you really had something."

"You're right," North admitted sadly. "I should have remembered that you'd manoeuvre the hand like a clumsy fool. I always ought to bid a trick or two less than a hand is worth when you have to play it."

North was right in his analysis of Joe's method of playing the hand. Joe should have made the contract.

As the play actually went, West opened the queen of clubs, and East took the ace at once. After dropping the king of clubs at the first trick, East returned a low club, and South ruffed.

Joe then cashed his three top trumps, followed by the king of spades. He next led a spade to dummy, discarded a diamond on dummy's extra top spade, and finessed the jack of diamonds. West won with the king of diamonds, cashed his high trump, and used a club for a safe exit.

At this point, Joe had already lost three tricks and also had to lose a diamond to East's queen. He was therefore set one trick. Have you seen Joe's mistake? Or would you also be guilty of bungling a hand that could have been made. Decide for yourself, before reading on, how you would play it.

It was quite all right for Joe to ruff the second round of clubs and London, May 31.—(C)—The warm blush of London's spring has been furthered by the Victoria Embankment's annual outburst of inanimate color.

Amid strictly-marshalled tulips, and infinitely more varied in types, are the "hangings" of the Embankment's third annual outdoor exhibition of painting.

More than 130 artists are participating, workers in oils, water-colors, gouache, pencil and woodcut. Several hundred yards of wire fencing have been used by London County Council's parks branch as "wall" on which to hang the canvases and drawings, whose prices range from £150 ($465) to £15. Canvas hangings are on hand, ready to be rigged up into shelter in case of rain—which it did on the opening day.

It is probably the best show in London, and all for free. To quote The Times: "All the attractions of the street market, an unprecedented display of talent by a whole company of workaday artists, and the chance of gazing at that irresistible attraction, the painter himself."

London, May 31.—(C)—How to be lonely and popular at the same time is no trick at all for Britain's nine Liberal members of Parliament.

Everybody wants to be their friend. Conservatives woo them with winning speeches and socialists go out of their way to be kind. Even the National Liberals, a small group which votes with the Conservatives, have invited orthodox Liberals to join them.

But the once-powerful party now headed by Clement Davies, feels strangely insecure. It didn't even reply to the National Liberals, whom Davies has described as the "liquorice all-sorts" because of their diverse labels.

Davies has been similarly curried by the socialists. In the case of the Conservatives, the Liberal tendency is to listen carefully, but to refuse—so far at least—any commitments.

All signs are that they will continue to do so. But there is some ground for believing that after a time a limited understanding may be reached.

WESTMINSTER REPORT

London, May 31.—(C)—How to be lonely and popular at the same time is no trick at all for Britain's nine Liberal members of Parliament.

Everybody wants to be their friend. Conservatives woo them with winning speeches and socialists go out of their way to be kind. Even the National Liberals, a small group which votes with the Conservatives, have invited orthodox Liberals to join them.

But the once-powerful party now headed by Clement Davies, feels strangely insecure. It didn't even reply to the National Liberals, whom Davies has described as the "liquorice all-sorts" because of their diverse labels.

Davies has been similarly curried by the socialists. In the case of the Conservatives, the Liberal tendency is to listen carefully, but to refuse—so far at least—any commitments.

All signs are that they will continue to do so. But there is some ground for believing that after a time a limited understanding may be reached.

As if that were not enough, Davies and company have been seriously advised to pack up as a party and become a political society.

Frank Byers, former Liberal chief whip recently succeeded Lord Moynihan as chairman of the Liberal party executive. Some feel that Byers is more likely to heed the Tory siren songs than Lord Moynihan.

Whatever happens, the Liberals are bound to be sought after by persons who may perhaps be less interested in Liberal theories than in the 2,600,000 votes cast for Liberals at the February general election.

This is one of the party's principal causes of frustration. Its spokesmen claim that 2,600,000 electors should have more than nine members to represent them. The Conservatives, with only about five times as many votes, won more than 80 times as many seats.

The Liberals inherit a great tradition and are convinced that they still represent the ideals of a great proportion of the people. So they find it galling to be reduced to what even their own supporters acknowledge to be a ragged Celtic fringe in Parliament.

The Record Short Story

Father Elect

By CHRISTOPHER KING

Frank Ward entered the kitchen slowly, and reluctantly accepted the dish towel his wife proffered. He began to dry the silver, while she continued to scrub the pans in the sink. "What did they want?" she asked, as she placed the frying pan on the rack.

"Bob wanted a drink, Dick had to go to the bathroom and Bill said there were too many fire engines in his room. The hardest job was getting rid of the fire engines, they had wings, and flew away from me."

His wife laughed as she emptied the dishpan.

"It isn't fair," Frank said. "What do you mean? Because I ask you to go up to them? They run me ragged all day, while you roll around at the office."

"No, I don't mean that, Nancy," Frank said as he folded the dish towel and hung it up. "I mean about your sister and Bill. Poor guy, doesn't have any possible idea what he's letting himself in for."

"Don't start that in front of him again," his wife warned. "If you had your way, not another man on the face of the earth would get married. Telling everyone how much trouble the boys are."

"Oh, you know I don't mean it like it sounds. I just feel that most men don't have any idea what a family is like, or how life will change when they get a mess of a poor guy, single, happy, not a care, and then what happens. He falls in love with a girl, and thinks life will be nothing but a long honeymoon. Wait till he finds out how it feels to change diapers at two in the morning, every morning."

"Women, now, they have a different attitude. They foresee some of those things before they get the guy. They know what they're getting into. The poor chump doesn't."

"That's a fine thing to say," Nancy said, "after five years."

"I didn't mean it about us. We love each other and the kids. But Bill, I don't know about him. I think a man ought to take a course on fatherhood, so he'd get some idea of what it's all about. I'm the guy who could teach that kind of a course." He put his arm around her as they left the kitchen, and walked through the dining room into the living room.

"I'll tell you what I've done," he continued as they sat down. "I've invited Bill over tomorrow night. While you are at the shower for Jane, Bill will get his first lesson in baby sitting. I'll show him that life can be beautiful."

Nancy protested, but Frank insisted that Bill come over. "I've got to let him see how horrible it can be," he said. Nancy, knowing the three boys had been at their worst recently when it came time for bed, tried to dissuade her husband, but without avail and the next evening, Bill arrived as they finished supper.

He showed Nancy his new suit. Frank laughed as she groaned. She left them in the living room reading the story books to the boys, while she went to change. When she came down her worst fears had been realized. Bill was dabbing at the labels of his coat with a handkerchief.

"Bobby had a little dessert on his face," he said weakly.

Frank winced at her, as they said good-by. He and Bill returned to the room, and surveyed the toys as "wall" on which to hang the canvases and drawings, whose prices range from £150 ($465) to £15. Canvas hangings are on hand, ready to be rigged up into shelter in case of rain—which it did on the opening day.

Clark Griffith Says Six-Player Trade Between Washington And White Sox Gives Them Top Infield

Washington, May 31.—(P)—Clark Griffith wants to keep his Washington Senators in or near the American League's first division and he thinks "a young infield combination" will do the trick.

"Bucky Harris wanted Cass Michaels for second base and I went out and got him," was Griffith's explanation of the six-player trade with Chicago White Sox announced last night.

The deal sent first baseman Eddie Robinson, pitcher Ray Scarborough and second baseman Al Kozar to Chicago White Sox for Michaels, pitcher Bob Kuzava and outfielder Johnny Ostrowski.

The 30-year-old Washington president gave full credit for the swap to his manager, "Bucky came to me with the idea in the first place," he said. "He wanted Michaels and we made the best deal we could."

In St. Louis, Frank Lane, general manager of the White Sox, called it a "600,000 deal—$300,000 on each side based on current player values."

The Senators infield will line up tomorrow with Irv Noren at first base, Michaels at second, Sam Dente at shortstop and Eddie Yost at third.

Noren, whom the Senators bought from Brooklyn's Hollywood Farm Club in the Pacific Coast League last winter for $70,000, had been the regular centerfielder until he entered hospital earlier this month for an appendicitis operation. But he was a first baseman before he became an outfielder and should have no trouble.

This new alignment adds up to one of the youngest infields in the majors. Noren is 24, Dente 27 and Yost 23.

"Bucky and I both hated to lose Eddie Robinson," Griffith said.

But he pointed out that the 29-year-old first baseman has been off his spring and has been hitting close to the 200 mark. Last season he hit .294 and walloped 18 home runs.

Griffith feels that Michaels with a .308 average last year and .309 so far this season, will offset Robinson's power at the plate.

"Kuzava and Scarborough are about even," he continued. "Kuzava with a 10-6 record last year was almost as good as Scarborough who won 13 and lost 11."

Kuzava, a left-hander, is 27 and has 1-3 record this season while Scarborough, who will be 32 next month, has won three and lost five.

As for Ostrowski, who figured in the later-abandoned Chicago-New York Dick Wakefield swap, Griffith figures that a long-ball hitting right-hander will help because most of the team's power now hits from the left side of the plate.

Memorial Day A Nightmare For Major League Pitchers, Given Worst Pounding In History Of Baseball

United States Memorial Day, 1950, will long be remembered by 83 punch drunk pitchers who were pounded for 191 runs yesterday as the hitters went on the biggest single day batting rampage in baseball history.

An aggregate paid attendance of 284,326 who sat in on the double-header massacres at the eight big league ball parks saw the following records smashed:

1. Most home runs in both leagues on the same day—40.
2. Most runs scored in both leagues on the same day—191.
3. Most hits made in both leagues on the same day—333.
4. Most pitchers used in both leagues on the same day—83.
5. Most home runs hit in the National League in one day—24.

When the smoke cleared away it was found the New York Yankees whipped Boston Red Sox twice 11-7 and 5-3 to increase their American League lead to three games over Detroit Tigers. Detroit divided a paid with Cleveland, winning the second game 5-2 after the Indians had won the first 4-0.

Brooklyn replaced Philadelphia at the top in the National League, thrashing the Phils twice, 7-6 in 10 innings and 6-4. St. Louis Cardinals also swept past the Phils, moving into second place a game behind Brooklyn by trouncing Pittsburgh twice 17-13 and 8-5.

Chicago's White Sox pounded out a double victory over St. Louis Browns 14-2 and 12-9. Philadelphia's Athletics defeated Washington 5-1 after the Senators won the opener 4-3. In the National League Boston beat New York 7-3 in the opener, but the Giants came back to win the nightcap 10-3. Cincinnati and Chicago also split. The Reds won the first 4-1 and the Cubs took the second 7-4.

Pity the poor pitchers. When they weren't throwing home run balls or ducking line drives past their ears, they were handing out free tickets to first base. In all they walked 160 batters, an average of 10 per game.

In all, only eight of the 82 starters were still around at the finish. Cleveland's Bob Lemon hurled the only shutout, a seven-inning affair.

Thirty-five players slammed the 40 homers which topped the previous high of 32 set in 15 games June 13, 1937. Duke Snider slugged three successive round-trippers for the Dodgers. All came in the second game. The outfielder missed by four feet hitting four homers in a row. He got a single on a line drive just below the top of the right field screen.

Every team had at least one home-run hitter. Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski hit two as did Pittsburgh's Nanny Fernandez and the White Sox's Gus Zernial. Stan Musial of the Cards got only one hit in 10 times at bat but it was a homer.

A thirty-hit double barreled attack by the Cards enabled pitcher Gerry Staley to gain the unusual distinction of winning two games in one day. Both games in relief roles. A seven-run rally in the eighth of the opener and another six-run assault in the same inning of the nightcap, gave Staley his fourth and fifth triumphs. The Pirates collected 34 hits yet lost both games.

The busiest batters belonged to the White Sox. They clubbed eight Brownie hurlers for 38 hits and 26 runs.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 31.—(P)—Since the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission has refused to bring along with the National Boxing Association and Jake LaMotta, it appears that the middleweight boxing class is back to normal.

Ever since Bob Fitzsimmons claimed the title while fighting awayweights, there has been one argument after another as to the championship of that division. Tony Zale finally got it down to Tony Zale in 1941, but now Pennsylvania insists on calling next week's Ray Robinson-Robert Villamain scrap a middleweight title bout while the N.B.A. wants to give LaMotta one more chance.

Apparently the N.B.A. is a governing body only as long as it doesn't touch anyone's pocketbook. Dr. David Tracy, the psychologist, has quit the Browns because of lack of co-operation.

We thought they were co-operating well in playing as if they were hypnotized. And Clyde Goodnight is quitting professional football to finish his medical studies. Gosh, who'd take a chance on a savanones with that name?

Rioting started last night at Helmsford when lack of transport temporarily stranded the pro-Red youths there and sent them toward restaurants and taverns, singing their communist marching song.

Townpeople out in droves responded with Germany's old anti-communist slogan, "Deutschland ueber alles."

Jeering, then fistbuffs followed. The anti-Reds won.

The pro-communists begged for a truce and surrendered their blue shirts and blue flags. These went on bonfires.

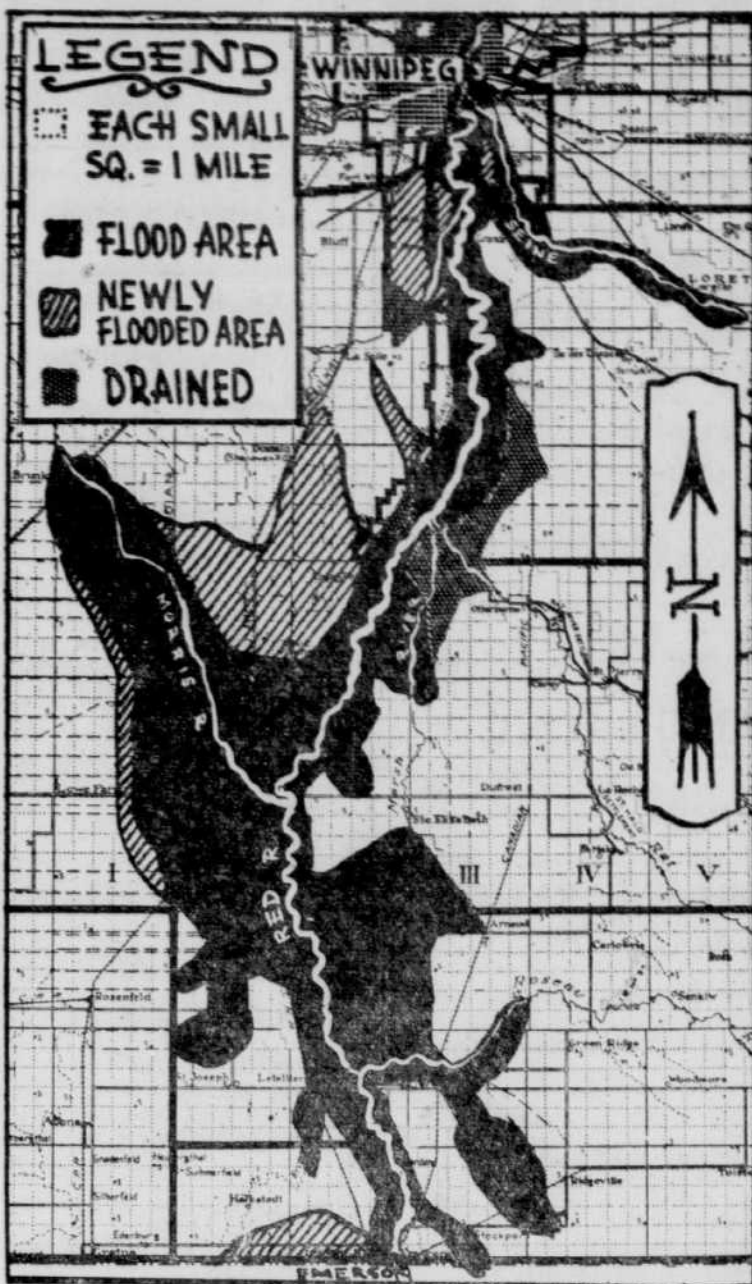

No serious injuries were reported.

South African War Veterans Get Together

A merry and yet rather wistful group of veterans gathered to dine and sing in the Masonic chambers last Saturday evening. All seven were members of the Sherbrooke Laager and District attending their 24th annual meeting and this was the 50th anniversary of the Boer War, 1899-1902.

President Tom Keedy proposed the toast to the King, while Vice-President Howcroft proposed the toast to the departed veterans. Honorary-Secretary Alfred Walker read correspondence from overseas and other points, while a guest, Jack Scores, presided at the piano.

Veterans Becker, Begbie, Hatley, and Martyn were unable to attend. An excellent dinner was arranged for and served by Mrs. Albert Foy.

Guilty Plea Made At Czech Trial

Prague, May 31.—(P)—The top-ranking defendant among 13 accused of plotting with westerners against the Czechoslovakian government pleaded guilty at the opening session of the trial today.

The defendant, a woman named Dr. Milada Horakova, testified that "the national socialist party's functionaries were receiving their directives from the American, British and French diplomats."

Dr. Horakova, a former deputy of the now outlawed national socialist party, told the court she considered herself guilty of sabotage and spying.

With the others, Dr. Horakova is accused of organizing the biggest underground group discovered in Czechoslovakia since the communist party came to power early in 1948.

The indictment stated that "the illegal leadership had 1,400,000 crowns ($28,000) at its disposal for its illegal activities. The amount was stolen from the funds of the national socialist party by Hubert Ripka (former minister of foreign trade) before he escaped abroad, and given by him for illegal purposes."

Tea Held For Stanstead County Teachers' Board

North Hatley, May 31.—K. R. Willis, Supervisor of Schools in Stanstead County, and Mrs. Willis were at home on Sunday afternoon, May 28, to the teachers in Stanstead County and members of the Stanstead Central School Board.

The tea table, centered with a blend of daffodils and tulips, was covered with an open work croch cloth with a silver service at either end. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. C. S. Harris, Mrs. John MacKay, and Mrs. Charles Coleman.

Assisting in serving the large number of guests were Miss Ruth Coleman, Miss Thelma Gilbert, Miss Muriel Ripley, Miss Rosemond Smith, Miss Katherine Stewart, and Mrs. William Cyr of Montreal.

Father And Son Are Injured In Accident

A father and his son are patients in Hotel Dieu Hospital today suffering from injuries received when they were struck by a truck on the highway in front of their home at Garthby yesterday.

The victims, Robert Lapointe, 33, and his 18-month-old son, Michel, were resting comfortably this morning. The father is suffering from a fractured thigh and lacerations to the body while the child is suffering from head injuries and multiple bruises to the body.

The child, playing in his yard, ran out on the highway and his father, noticing his son on the road, ran after him. Both were struck by a truck.

Allan Cup Fund Tickets Drawing Is Tomorrow

The drawing for the two box seats at the Arena, donated by the E.T.A.A. to help in the recent Allan Cup Fund campaign will be made Thursday night at the regular meeting of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce.

This was decided upon last night at a meeting of directors of the Chamber at which Leonce Cote, chairman of the Allan Cup Fund committee presented his report showing that the objective of $4,500, reduced from $15,000 after Sherbrooke Saints were defeated by Toronto, had been reached.

The two seats donated by the E.T.A.A. will be good for all regular senior league hockey games for the next 10 years. A number of tickets for this drawing have not yet been turned in to the Chamber of Commerce and all holders of books are advised that these must be returned before the drawing.

In his report, Mr. Cote referred to the good publicity that Sherbrooke received from its hockey team, which bowed out in six games in the eastern Canada final to the Marlboroughs who went on to win the Allan Cup. He said that the Chamber had received many letters from different parts of Canada enquiring about the city of Sherbrooke.

Thursday's dinner meeting of the Chamber will take place at 6:30 p.m. and the drawing will be at about 7:30. The drawing will be open to the public but persons wishing to attend the dinner are asked to obtain their tickets in advance. The meeting will be at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Fire At Bury Destroys Home Of J. Savard

Special to the Record

Bury, May 31.—Fire of unknown origin breaking out about 10:30 o'clock Monday morning completely destroyed the two-tenement house owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Savard in the lower village and occupied by themselves and their son, Gilles Savard, and his wife.

The Bury volunteer fire brigade had considerable difficulty in preventing the spread of the flame and an unoccupied house next door, owned by Marc Benoit, caught on several occasions, but aside from scorching no serious damage was caused. A barn in the rear also caught fire but the flames were checked by the volunteer firemen.

The John Savards saved a few articles of furniture but their son lost everything he possessed. The house is located near the sawmill between Olson's gas station and Lapointe's garage.

The damage is estimated at over $10,000.

World's Y.W.C.A. Member To Visit Sherbrooke

Miss Alice Arnold, a Swiss member of the World's Y.W.C.A. staff, is to be in Canada for a very short visit and the Sherbrooke Y.W.C.A. will be one of the few associations privileged to have her as a guest.

Miss Arnold is French-speaking, has travelled widely in Europe and has had particular experience with the Y.M.-Y.W. service to displaced persons in Austria. She has attended the commission on the status of women in Beirut and will come to Sherbrooke directly she has attended the meeting of the same commission at Lake Success.

She will have much to say to those interested in world affairs.

Miss Arnold will speak in French to members and guests at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, June 7, in the MacKinnon Memorial, 40 Montreal Street, and there will be an open meeting in English at 8:30.

Montreal, May 31.—(CP)—The government has not yet adopted any policy relative to sending a Canadian envoy to the Vatican, Prime Minister St. Laurent said in a letter sent to the Montreal Presbyterian Church.

The letter was in reply to a resolution passed at a recent meeting dealing with civil liberties and also asking that no envoy be sent to the Vatican.

SPORT SHORTS FROM BRITAIN

A man put the bottom set of his false teeth in his jacket before playing golf at the Addington Court public course. He left the jacket in the clubhouse, and on his return, it was missing—with the teeth.

After reporting the theft to the police, he applied to the local dental services committee of Britain's Public Health Service for a new, free set of ivory.

The committee rejected the application, ruling: "There would not appear to be any reason why dentures should be removed while playing golf."

Some sort of medal appears in order for Winnipeg defenceman McLean who played hockey this season for Wembley Lions.

OBITUARIES

MR. H. W. FOWLER
OF MELBOURNE RIDGE
Melbourne Ridge, May 31.-On Friday evening, May 19, at the home of his son O. A. Fowler, the death occurred of one of the oldest residents of this community,
H. W. Fowler.

Henry Wheeler Fowler was born at Melbourne, Sept. 17, 1863, youngest son of the late J. Henry
Fowler and his wife, Kezia Lewis.
His early boyhood was spent in Melbourne and he attended St.
Francis College. In the spring of 1876 the family moved to Dalling,
North Ely, where they farmed
many years. On January 29, 1889,
Mr. Fowler married Ada Matilda
Armstrong, of Trenholmville, and in a few weeks they moved to Melbourne Ridge where they lived a long and useful life on the farm where he died.

He leaves a very large circle of relatives and friends who will ever cherish the memory of a kind neighbor and friend. He was a life-long member of the Methodist Church, later of the United Church and he was an Elder at the time of his death. He was very devoted to his church and performed kind acts that will ever be remembered.

Mr. Fowler is survived by his five sons, namely: Henry, of Kingsbury; Wilbur, of Iroquois,
Ont.; Dwight, of Granby; Otis, with whom he lived; Welton, of Orillia, Ont.; and one daughter,
Ruth, Mrs. Leonard Driver, of Kingsbury; five daughters-in-law,
Mrs. H. A. Fowler, Mrs. W. H.
Fowler, Mrs. D. L. Fowler, Mrs.
O. A. Fowler, Mrs. W. W. Fowler
and one son-in-law, Leonard Driver;
24 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Mr. Fowler was the last surviving member of his family. He leaves one brother-in-law, Porter
Armstrong, of Langham, Sask.,
besides a large number of nephews and nieces, many of whom attended the funeral.

The funeral which was held at the United Church on Sunday,
May 21 was conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Wilfong. The impressive service was attended by a very large congregation of friends from far and near. Rev. Wilfong in his address referred very feelingly to the life of the deceased and the good example he had been to his family. Mrs. G. I. Blake acted as organist and the hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and
"Sun of My Soul."

Mrs. C. R. Boast sang as a solo
"Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown?" The many floral tributes bore silent testimony of respect to the departed.

Among the relatives and friends attending the funeral from out of town were Mr. W. H. Fowler, of Iroquois, Ont.; Mr. W. W. Fowler, of Orillia, Ont.; Mr. E. M. Beers,
of Barrie, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. J.
Nichols and son of Fairfield, Vt., and a very large number of friends from Granby and numbers from Montreal, Sherbrooke, Waterloo,
Danville, Richmond, Melbourne,
South Durham, Kingsbury, Windsor Mills and St. Marys.

The bearers were six grandsons, namely: Lloyd, Gerald, Roderick, Royce, and Evan Fowler and Galen Driver. They carried their loving grandfather to his last resting place in the family lot in the United cemetery beside his wife who predeceased him fifteen years.

Without Colic! - And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.
It takes these mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flow-

Ayer's Cliff I.O.O.F. Lodge Holds Service

Ayer's Cliff, May 31.—The annual church parade Memorial service and decoration of graves of Alexandria Lodge, No. 59, I.O.O.F., was held on Sunday morning. Led by the Ayer's Cliff Silver Band they marched to Beulah United Church, where the Rev. Harold Boomhour gave a very inspiring address to 75 brothers and sisters, who augmented the usual congregation.

Immediately following the service the group marched to the cemetery, with the band playing the

The Doctor Says:
FEET SHOULD BE KEPT DRY TO WARD OFF ATHLETE'S FOOT
By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
The hands, feet (especially between the toes), groin and scalp, are favorite locations for ringworm (athlete's foot). The first sign of trouble is likely to be blistering, scaling, lumps, cracking or callosities-like lesions of the skin. In the groin it usually begins as a flattened red-dish and slightly raised area of the skin. Itching is common. It is caused by a fungus of which there are several varieties.

A great many people have mild fungus infections which they do not recognize as such. This often consists of slight scaling and sometimes mild itching between the toes. Moist areas favor the growth of these fungi.

For the prevention of dermatophytosis, the following has been recommended by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association.

1. Keep the feet clean and dry, with special attention to places between the toes. Dry these carefully but not so hard as to irritate the skin.

2. Air shoes and socks when not in use.

3. Under special conditions, keep the feet elevated when at rest (where the conditions predispose to intertrigo (between the toes), as with marching soldiers.

4. Shoes should be selected that are as light and well aerated as is compatible with working conditions.

5. A dusting powder consisting of 10 per cent boric acid in powdered talc should be dusted on the feet and between the toes every night and morning.

The value of foot baths as a preventative seems to be slight. Contrary to what was formerly believed, sodium hyposulphite foot baths in swimming pools, locker rooms and the like, has not proved of much value.

Cure Outlined
For treatment, the following has been suggested as the policy to follow:

1. Only the mild lesions that occur between the toes should be treated by the patient himself;

2. For more extensive lesions, the patient should consult a physician.

3. Such mild cases can be treated as follows:

(a) Observe regulations just laid down for prophylaxis (prevention).

(b) Nothing is safe as a local application except the boric acid foot powder mentioned under prophylaxis. If there is not any improvement within two weeks, consult a physician.

that is, where the lesions exhibit only redness and perhaps mild redness and fissuring. Considerable redness, moisture, pustule formation or pain call for the attention of the physician and the physician only. The patient must err on the safe side.

Richmond And Melbourne Organize Relief

Richmond, May 31.—A group of citizens from Richmond and Melbourne gathered yesterday evening to rally different benefit organizations for the relief of stricken people of Rimouski, Cabano and Manitoba.

A special committee was formed yesterday under the chairmanship of Mr. Denzil R. McLaughlin, and a new campaign was launched to try and obtain all clothing and other effects possible, as well as money donations. The lot will then be packed and forwarded directly to Rimouski, Cabano and to Manitoba, on behalf of the citizens of Richmond and Melbourne.

The people are being asked to prepare their parcels of clothing and to place them in front of their homes next Thursday evening. A truck will pass through the streets between 7 and 9 o'clock and collect all offerings.

Money donations will be received daily at the Richmond branches of the Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Bank of Commerce. An official receipt will be given to all donors.

Mr. Denzil R. McLaughlin, head of the Campaign, has established his headquarters at the Dyson and Armstrong show room, on Main Street, in Richmond. Citizens wishing more information may reach him there by ringing 329.

didates for the six-week trade courses to be held at the same camp. The staff instructors, Capt. K. Annett, Lt. A. Roy and Mr. D. Hill will participate in the training program at Valcartier through the summer while Mr. Somerville and Cadet Capt. D. Morey have been accepted as candidates for the Grade A instructors course of four weeks duration.

It is with regret that the Corps says farewell to Lt. A. Roy at the close of this training year. Lt. Roy, associated with the cadet training from 1948-50, contributed greatly to the success of the Corps. All wish success for him in his teaching appointment at Strathcona Academy, Outremont.

Cafe Sitting Doesn't Rate Paree "Sports Certificate"

TOURISTS' IDEA of favorite French sport is sitting at a sidewalk cafe like this. For Frenchman's idea, see below.

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

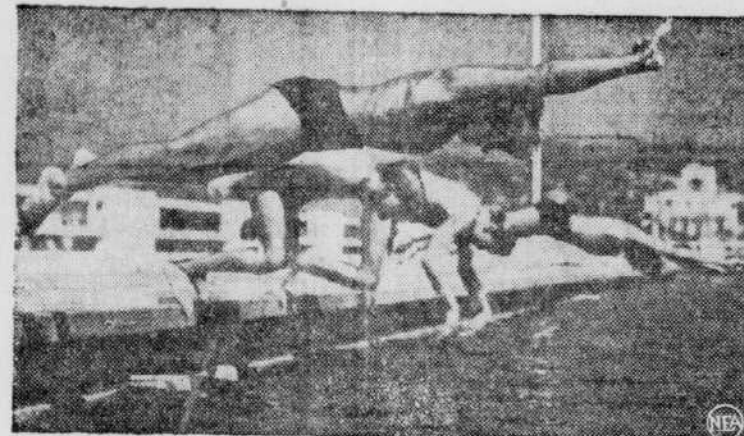

Paris (NEA)—Many Americans still cherish the idea that the average Frenchman's favorite sport is sitting at a sidewalk cafe, sipping aperitifs while he watches the world go by.

Those may be the French the tourists have seen—and will see again this summer and fall. Hundreds of thousands they don't see, however, will be flocking to football games, watching the yearly six-day bike race, leaving work to cheer competitors in the bicycling "Tour de France," most gruelling endurance test in the world, or taking part in sports themselves.

Off the boulevards where the tourists walk, open-air swimming "beaches" dot the quays of the Seine in the heart of Paris. They'll be doing a roaring business all who devote their lunch hour, on nice days, to swimming.

Last year the government voted a budget of about $7,000,000 for the country's sports program, which comes under the department of physical training in the Ministry of Education.

Among the things such a budget has made possible is the establishment of 220 "physical re-education" centres to combat the harm suffered by children in the years of undernourishment during and after the occupation.

FRENCHMAN'S IDEA of sport is far cry from a cafe table. Swimming is popular; football's tops with 8,500 amateur clubs.

guests of Mr. L. Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Jones.

Mrs. Percy Fraser, of Richmond, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Patrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Elynn Ames and daughter, of Melbourne, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bothwell Skillen.

Mrs. Charles Taylor and children, Sandra, Bobbie and Donna, of St. Lambert, spent a week-end with her father, Mr. James Duffy and her brother, Mr. Elmer Duffy and Mrs. Duffy.

Mrs. Clayton Cornish and son, Ross, spent a week-end in Granby.

Miss Mildred Duffy and friend, Miss Cathy O'Donnell, of Montreal, spent a week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Duffy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Nixon and family, of Gore, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Johnston.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Mountain was christened at the afternoon service in the United Church. The two new elders, Messrs. Alan Mountain and Bothwell Skillen, were inducted at the same service.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Montague and family spent a week-end in Montreal. Mr. Montague's brother of These centers put more than 15,000 physically deficient youngsters back on the road to health during the 1948-49 school year.

This year the requirement that a "sports certificate" be produced before elementary school graduation has been extended to the equivalent of American high school graduates, too. This has built up sports enthusiasm among young women, as well as men. In 1949 there were more than 600,000 French girls holding sports certificates and 100,000 of them took part in organized competitions.

Sports clubs in commercial and industrial organizations are not required by law, but since liberation more than 1270 such groups with 110,000 members have been formed.

Football holds first place in French sports interest. There are something like 8000 amateur football clubs, plus 781 professional groups, and the football federation counts 425,000 members. Basketball accounts for another 82,000.

Biggest handicap to the national sports program is the lack of sufficient instructors. The government's 1450 coaches and 1720 male and female instructors aren't enough to go around, and budget restrictions have limited new appointments.

DENISON'S MILLS

Several young people participated in the annual track meet held in Danville this year. Asbestos, Danville and St. Francis College, Richmond, took part.

The annual laymen's meeting of the Anglican churches was held in St. Anne's Church, Richmond. Following an interesting afternoon service, a dinner was served to those present. The evening service was also in celebration of St. Anne's 120th anniversary and the special speakers were Archdeacon C. G. Hepburn, of Ottawa, and Rev. W. Belford, Ashbury College. Those attending from this parish were Mr. Elton Carson, Mr. Charles Taylor, Mr. Albert Hughes and Mr. W. J. Denison.

Many friends and neighbors rushed to the aid of Mr. Rupert Carson when his large barn was completely destroyed in a late Sunday night blaze. Though many valuable pigs and two calves were burned with all the barn equipment the Jersey herd and both horses and other calves were rescued.

Miss Sylvia Carson, who recently graduated from the Sherbrooke Hospital, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Stewart, Mr. Stewart and children at Megantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brock were recent visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Allan Goodfellow, and Mr. Goodfellow, in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. T. Wm. Armstrong has been at home a few days but after a visit to Drummondville, Montreal and later Richmond, she again expects to be at home for an interval.

Miss Beverley Carson was one of four Grade VIII pupils ranking high in history tests, to accompany other high school students as teachers on a tour of Quebec City for a day.

A bee was held to erect a barn for Mr. Ira Patrick. Mr. Patrick recently purchased an old barn and two days of work with the assist-

New York City met them in the metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Woolfrey motored to Cap de Madeline. Mrs. Woolfrey remained with her daughter, Mrs. L. Frechette, who is recovering from an appendectomy.

Mrs. Galen Coote and Mrs. J. S. Adams entertained the St. James' Anglican Church Guild. After the devotional period and routine business members and friends enjoyed refreshments. The next guild meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Duffy.

Successful Term Completed By Student Choir

Richmond, May 31.—A male voice choir of twenty voices, composed to students from Presbyterian College, Montreal, and Knox College, Toronto, have just completed a tour of twenty-one south, western Ontario cities. Under the direction of Carmen H. Milligan, Mus. Bac. organist and choir director of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, the choir sang before large and appreciative audiences in churches, colleges, and radio broadcasting stations. The object of the tour was to declare the need of the Christian message and to call upon young men and women to accept the challenge of all time service in the church. At each gathering two members of the choir spoke to this effect.

Rev. Finlay Gordon Stewart, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Kitchener, Ont., who arranged the itinerary, travelled with the choir as chaplain. The success of this tour, which covered the following places, Kitchener, Toronto, Midland, Peterborough, Orillia, Owen Sound, Wingham, Hamilton, Sarnia, Wallaceburg, Chatham, London, Ingersoll, Stratford, Goderich, Harpersburg, Brantford, St. Catharines, Brantford, Galt and Guelph, assures the organizing of a similar tour at the close of the college term next year, with Eastern Ontario and Southern Quebec as the possible location.

Beauty and the Bride

The smart bride shuns artificial make-up effects. Vaseline brushed on lashes (top left) gives eyes a glamorous silky fringe without risking smudges. To play up the natural glow of her skin, she uses a transparent lotion as powder foundation (bottom left). At last minute, she fluffs extra powder on nose and chin to keep down shine.

or burgundy tones. A smart precaution is to brush on a clear fixative over lipstick so that color won't rub off on linen or the cheeks of well-wishing guests who want to kiss the bride.

Unless you have actually tested your mascara and know it is absolutely waterproof, better not take a chance on streaks and smudges should you shed a happy tear. You can give lashes a silky and luxuriant look by brushing on vaseline with a small mascara brush. Give brows the same glossy treatment.

You'll want to have your hair done one or two days before the big occasion so that it won't look too set. As a rule, it's prettier not to have lots of little curls and ringlets clustering around your face, particularly if your head-dress is elaborate. To keep fly-away wisps in line, moisten a cotton pad with hair lacquer and smooth it lightly around the hair line.

At the last minute, after you are dressed and your veil is anchored in place, take two seconds to fluff an extra bit of powder on nose and chin.

Probably on no other occasion is it more important to a girl to look her loveliest than on her wedding day.

If wedding bells will be ringing for you soon, a few tips from make-up experts experienced in helping brides look their prettiest may prove helpful. The day of the wedding is no time to be experimenting with new or unusual make-up effects. Keep your make-up simple, urge the experts. Same advice goes for the hair-do.

The bride's blush is no myth—happy excitement usually does heighten natural coloring. So go easy on rouge and deep-toned foundations. The experts suggest using a transparent foundation for powder which keeps down shine without covering up a flattering natural glow.

Light, clear reds for lipstick—either in coral or pink tones—are a better choice with delicate white veils and gowns than deep fuchsia

Hand-Knit Woollens Hit Of Fashion Show

By MURIEL NARROWAY

London. — Hand-knitted and handwoven woollens made a striking contribution to a recent London fashion show.

A hand-knitted suit with white, kilts skirt has hand-knitted jacket of dress Stewart tartan. With high, single-breasted buttoning, small roll collar and fitted waist, the suit looks perfectly tailored and is combined with a hand-knitted boater hat in white with matching tartan ribbon.

Tailored simplicity is created in the slim-fitting, hand-knitted navy boucle suit with pleated skirt, sailor collar and traditional piping. One of the highlights of the show was the hand-knitted, white lace evening dress. Made with 4,000,000 stitches, the dress has an

Mrs. W. Williams, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Stanley Pearson, mother of the prospective groom, poured. Miss Wilhemina Porter and Mrs. Henry Lemay assisted the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Miller, of Richmond, Que., wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Jessie Rose, to Mr. Clarence Hawley, of Timmins, Ont. The marriage will take place quietly in June.

St. Paul's Ladies' Guild met in the church hall with the president, Mrs. G. Dawson, in the chair. The meeting was opened with prayer. The treasurer, Mrs. F. Staniford, gave reports on the rummage sale and card party. The proceeds of both were very satisfactory. Plans were made for a salad tea to be held on June 6. Mrs. J. Halliday, a past president of the Guild, now residing in Hamilton, Ont., was welcomed to the meeting by Mrs. Dawson. After the meeting, the hostess, Mrs. M. Mandigo, served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. M. Johnson.

On Sunday, May 28, 1950, at half-past three o'clock, at St. George's Church, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, the Rev. Canon Whitley, rector, officiating, the christening took place of Ronald Newell, and Ronald Nancy, twin son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald N. Barrett, of Baie d'Urfe. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parker and Mr. Allan Ross, for the boy; and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Erie, of Rutherford, N.J., and Mrs. I. M. Quigley, for the girl.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for relatives and friends at the home of the babies' parents, where the decorations on the tea table were pink and white snapdragons, and pink and blue candles flanked the white christening cake, decorated in pink and blue. Mrs. M. Barrett and Mrs. A. L. Parker poured. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Donald, Miss Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bray and Miss Margaret Wherry, all of Montreal; Mr. W. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett, Sr., of Lacine; Mr. and Mrs. R. Rowley, of Senneville. Mrs. Helen Rowley and Miss Donald Barbeau, of Baie d'Urfe, assisted in serving.

BISHOPTON

Mr. and Mrs. A. Elliot of New Brunswick and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Joyce of Springfield, Mass., are spending a vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Gilbert.

Friends of Mr. S. N. Bishop are pleased to see him home after he spent some time in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Rev. C. O. and Mrs. Gustafson of Beebe were visiting old friends in town recently.

Miss Marian MacAulay of Sherbrooke spent the week-end with her father, Mr. E. D. MacAulay.

Mrs. George Hawes has returned home from the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. Friends are pleased to know that she is gaining in health.

Mrs. Clarke Powers of Brigham, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Gilbert.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Arthur G. Westman whose death occurred in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Willard were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Willard at Dunsdell Junction. Mr. and Mrs. Crammer Kendrick who are on furlough from missionary duties and are visiting relatives in Sherbrooke spent a day in town renewing acquaintances. Mrs. Kendrick who was the former Muriel Liddell of Sherbrooke spent several years in the office of the S. N. Bishop Casket Company, and made many friends. All were pleased to have a short call from her and join in wishing her success in her new field of work.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Nesbitt of Wakefield, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Stevenson.

Among those who attended the Rebekah Assembly held at Granby, were Mrs. W. Edwards, Mrs. F. A. Leonard, Mrs. G. D. MacAulay, Miss Marian Westman and Mrs. Cecil Ainsworth.

Drive-In Theatre Has Been Opened At Derby, Vermont

Accommodation For 400 Cars; Drive-In Will Cater To Family Trade

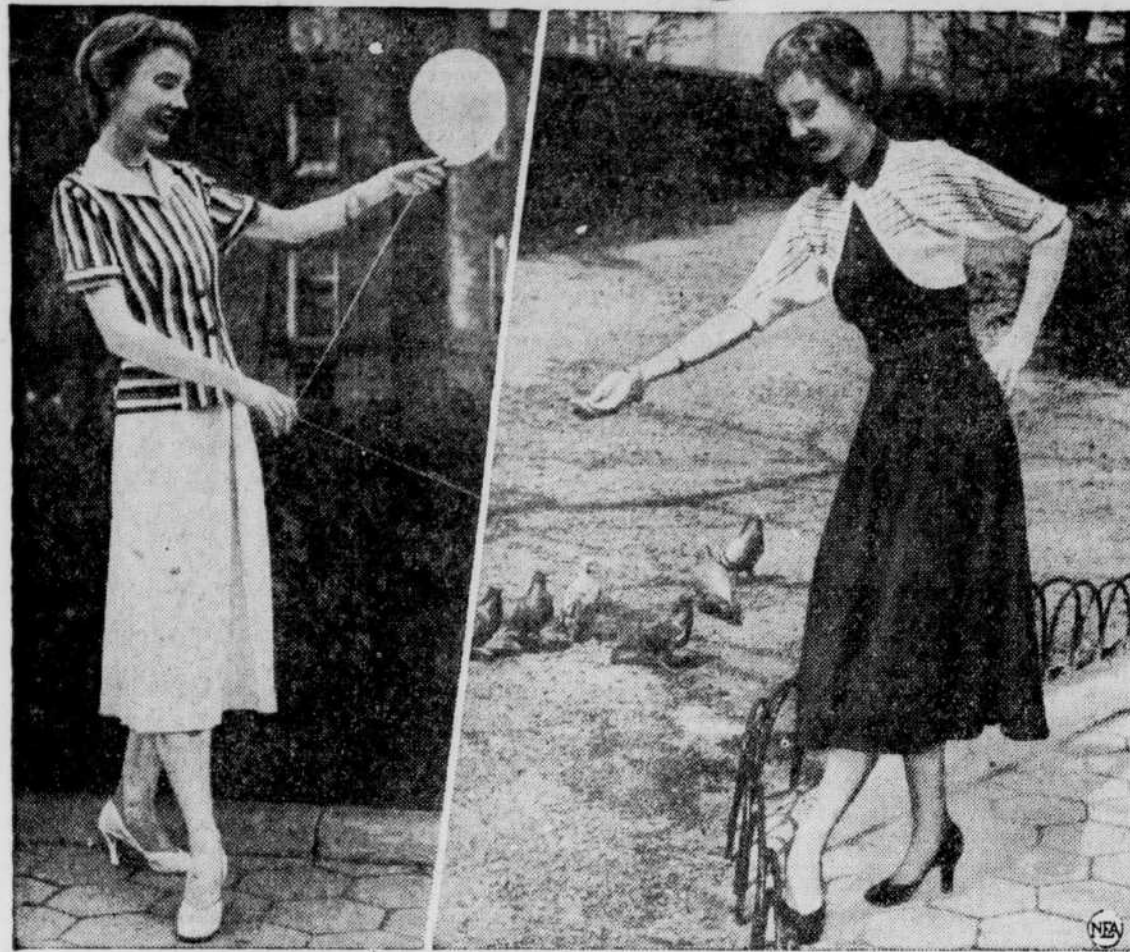

The new Derby-Port Drive In surrounding district. There will be an especial appeal for Canadians to attend this theatre, as children under sixteen are not admitted to movies in Quebec. With no charge for boys and girls under twelve, a whole family can attend for a very small sum, and there will be no need of baby sitters. (For the benefit of those with babies, bottles can be warmed at the refreshment stand without charge.)

The projection equipment is supplied by the Ace Camera Supply of Florence, South Carolina, with the latest and best possible projection equipment, a speaker for each car, room for children to play, a refreshment booth, and a 48x48 foot screen, the Drive-In theatre is expected to draw large audiences from the

New York, — (NEA) — Red, white and blue jackets flag attention to ultra-simple classic summer styles.

The blazer-stripped cardigan makes a snappy topper for the white spun rayon dress (left) of Jules Furst design. The blazer is of a crisp washable rayon. Shiny gold buttons fasten the front. Dress has a halter neckline and a deep inverted front pleat.

Pepping up the navy blue pique dress (right) is a tiny shoulder sweater of striped knitted cotton. Dolman sleeves are elbow length. One button fastens the sweater under the Peter Pan collar of the dress.

and consists of the latest and finest in Holmes sound projectors. The booth is completely fire-proof, and besides the projectors have rewind machines, apparatus for repairing films, phonographs for music, and microphones in case announcements have to be made. The Derby-Port Drive-In Theatre will operate seven nights a week, with two shows each evening. The first showing will be at dusk, the time changing with the time of year. There will be one feature and good short subjects each show. All films will be carefully selected, with family trade in mind.

Ever since construction started the thousands of people who travel on Route 5 have been watching the progress of the theatre, and there is no doubt that there will be many from Canada attending the various shows. The refreshment booth will be complete and able to supply soft drinks, pop corn, candy, etc. The playground in front of the large screen has teeter boards, sand boxes and swings to entertain the youngest set if they tire of watching the movies. For the benefit of those who walk in, seats are provided so that they, too, can watch and hear the movies.

The largest neon sign in the vicinity is being installed now, and no one passing along this route can possibly miss this newest addition to entertainment facilities. Within a few weeks a new dance hall will be opened across the road from the theatre, Kenettes Cabins and restaurant are beside the theatre making this location a true amusement center.

The Derby-Port Drive-In Theatre will feature second run films of fine quality, and every effort will be made to make it a favorite place for families.

New Pram Rocks Baby To Sleep

Kimberley, South Africa. — © — Carl van Wyk, a 23-year-old crippled draughtsman, has invented a pram that automatically rocks a baby to sleep and heats its bottle for it when it wakes up. Carl spends most of his time pottering around a home laboratory he has built and his latest invention is a simple angle measuring device, thought up and perfected in a week, which builders, surveyors and even farmers doing contour plowing, will find useful.

Miss E. B. Sharp Address W.B.P. At Rock Island

Rock Island, May 31. — Mrs. Alfred Aldrich was hostess at a special meeting of the Women's Business and Professional Club on Monday evening, May 22, attended by eighteen members and their guest, Miss E. B. Sharp, O.B.E., deputy director of the British Institute of Personnel Management.

Following the serving of a buffet supper, Miss Sharp gave an address, saying that she had completed six weeks of an eighteen months tour. Miss Sharp told them this was the first time she had set foot in Canada. Having spent the last few weeks in New York,

Washington, and Boston, she was now en route to Montreal, thence she will cross Canada and journey south again into the United States. By the end of October she expects to leave San Francisco for New Zealand. From there her travels will take her to Australia, India and Africa before returning to Britain.

Throughout she is studying personnel trends in these countries with special reference to training techniques used. Feeling that she had reached the critical halfway mark in her professional life, she felt that a complete change was needed to obtain fresh ideas in order to make a useful contribution in her field of work. For the past ten years she has been secretary and then deputy director of the Institute of Personnel Management with headquarters in London. Before that she had been for seven years, personnel officer

57,000 "Letters Abroad"

Philadelphia — (NEA) — When a friendly American woman suggested to a few acquaintances in Europe that they drop her a line, she received about 11,000 replies. From this beginning, more than 57,000 persons in 14 major countries and many small ones now correspond with each other, exchanging ideas, interests and information in a world-wide movement toward friendship and understanding.

Miss G. Alison Raymond, who had the happy inspiration for international letter writing, is the director of the resulting service, "Letters Abroad." She said she became convinced, about a year and a half ago, that international relations, if they are to be neighborly and peaceful, would have to be brought down to a cozy, personal level.

With this in mind she wrote the mayors of several towns in Europe suggesting they designate a few private citizens to write letters to her. She in turn would pass the letters on to Americans who would cultivate a friendly correspondence.

Ever since then "Letters Abroad," which is now a part of the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia, has been winning friends and influencing people to be good neighbors all around the world.

Correspondence is on a purely personal, friendly basis, aimed at getting to know each other and to learn about each other's countries. Nothing of the character of a propaganda drive is suggested.

"After a few letters, you forget that the correspondent is German, Dutch, Swiss or whatever," one American letter-writer said. "They're just people, my friends."

Discussions of world affairs often occupy the writers, however, Miss Raymond pointed out.

When the matter of Indonesian independence was before the Dutch, letters were full of it.

taking the middle course between the two dominant powers to her east and west.

Miss Sharp was introduced by Mrs. John Sanction and thanked by Miss Pat Brown.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED
Friends and neighbors have been extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ames of Caswell Ave., who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Tuesday, May 23.

Mr. Ames and Elizabeth Demick were married May 23, 1900 at the Adventist Parsonage in Newport, Vt. Rev. Charles McClure officiated at the ceremony.

A family dinner party was given the honored couple at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Taylor, in Derby, with the immediate family attending. In commemoration of the occasion Mr. and Mrs. Ames received many messages of congratulations, as well as many nice gifts, including money and flowers from their relatives and friends.

Since their marriage fifty years ago they have resided in Holland, Vt., Brownville Jet, Maine, Derby and Derby Line, Vt. This

MISS G. ALISON RAYMOND: International relations on a cozy level, with the matrimonially-minded weeded out.

Other subjects which have been in lively discussion included international monetary matters, the Atlantic Pact, the Marshall Plan and prospects for an Austrian treaty.

One American letter-writer (Miss Gaynelle Bennett, a nurse in Grafton, Mass.) got so interested in her German correspondent that she flew to Germany to spend the Christmas holidays with her. Other visits have grown out of the letter friendships.

The operation of "Letters Abroad" is simple. Since Miss Raymond's initial suggestion, the organization has told schools, clubs, civic groups, churches and professional organizations both here and abroad, about the idea.

Letters stacked up in the little office where Miss Raymond and a crew of volunteers (the enterprise cannot afford adequate paid help) sort them out and pair them off. Two correspondents are introduced to each other and from then on are largely on their own.

For the most part correspondents are paired on the basis of occupation—architects writing to architects, policemen to policemen and farmers' wives to farmers' wives. So far as possible correspondents are also matched as to age, general educational background and hobbies.

Wherever the idea is known it has taken hold immediately. A brief announcement on the Dutch radio brought 900 letters by air and many more by ship. Another mention on the BBC brought thousands of replies.

Much of the correspondence is in English both ways, although by on means all of it. One letter from Japan was beautifully written on rice paper.

Effort is made to weed out package seekers, who are remarkably few, and the matrimonially-minded. Complaints have been extremely rare, although one young American woman did ask for a new correspondent, saying rather wistfully about her activities as a jewelry thief.

marks the third anniversary celebration in their family; first, the maternal grandparents of Mrs. Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel R. Tabor; the second, Mr. Ames' parents, Rev. and Mrs. Marshall Ames who celebrated their sixtieth anniversary at Holland Pond in 1929; and on May 23 Mr. and Mrs. Ames.

U-NEED-ES BANQUET

The U-Need-Us Club of Derby Line Universalist Church held the last meeting of the season with a banquet at "Kelly's" Derby Line, and it was attended by 15 members. The table was centered with yellow jongsuils in a cut glass bowl flanked by white tapers in crystal holders. At each place were individual pastel shades and plastic baskets filled with candy.

The management served a roast turkey dinner at 6:30 p.m. This was followed by a brief business meeting, presided by Mrs. Cyril Cargill. The ladies then adjourned to the home of Mrs. Cargill where a pleasant evening was spent playing canasta.

LADIES' AID MEETING
The Ladies Aid of Stanstead South Church met at the church social rooms on Thursday afternoon, May 25. The meeting opened with Miss Mirabel Robinson reading the scriptures from the twenty-first chapter of Revelations. The business session was presided by the president, Mrs. R. E. Grow, and the secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. There were twenty-three ladies present. The sum of $75. was voted to be paid towards the Church budget. There was considerable discussion given to remodeling the church rooms, kitchen, and furnace rooms. The meeting was followed by a social.

The hostesses, Mrs. Henry Demick, Mrs. T. W. Tyson and Mrs. H. A. Rice served a delicious repast at the dining room tables, attractively decorated with vases of spring flowers with pink candies in crystal holders.

HELPING CIRCLE MEETS
The Helping Circle of Stanstead South Church met Tuesday evening, May 23, at the home of Mrs. T. W. Tyson. Mrs. Hill Ames presided over the business session. A substantial sum of money was voted to be given to the Women's Missionary Society and donations of money were voted to the American Cancer Fund, the Canadian Cancer Fund, and the Rock Island Holmes Memorial Park. Plans were made to have the last meeting of the season at the summer home of Mrs. Ernest Nason at Lake Seymour on Tuesday evening, June 6. Those going are asked to notify Mrs. Ames for transportation arrangements, and all are to meet at Ames Garage at 6:30 p.m.

Following the adjourning of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Earl Jacobs and Mrs. Byron Ellis.

Many Changes At Crystal Brook Farm

Lots of people think of Kelly's Crystal Brook Farm, located on the Newport road, one mile from Derby Line, as a grand stopping place for tourists, and it certainly is that, but more and more local people are finding out that there is a lot more than that to this popular resort. The number of meals and lunches served to local people is increasing each week, and every attempt is made to give the best possible service, fine food and comfortable surroundings to everyone who stops. It doesn't matter whether you desire an ice cream soda or a full meal, your wants can be taken care of promptly and pleasantly by the efficient help.

This spring an addition was built that contains a modern soda fountain, booths for those desiring lunches or meals, and all the necessary modern equipment for fine fast service. There are stools at the fountain for those who just want a bite; you can get ice cream, sandwiches or drinks to take out to your car; candy and cigarettes are available, and the whole place is attractive, clean and new. The dining room has more tables this summer, and the meals there are always delicious and well served, with plenty to eat for the hungriest people. Prices are kept as low as possible and still give first class food and services. More and more local families plan to get their Sunday dinners at Kelly's, and the business there rivalled summer trade just last week.

Very few people think of Crystal Brook Farm in connection with the economy of the community, but this year the payroll will total 30 persons. It isn't all profit, by any means, and cost of keeping all the cabins and equipment in perfect condition means spending a lot of money each and every year.

There are now 18 cabins at Crystal Brook Farm, with three new ones under construction. All are equipped with fine comfortable beds, private bath and showers, there is heat for the cool evenings, and each building is kept in tip-top condition. Not only are the cabins comfortable, but they are attractive, clean and homelike. The cabins are automatically heated by steam from a central plant; the hot water equipment is always working and available the moment a faucet is turned on. There are three automatic washing machines and a large dryer to take care of the linen needed each day, and there are always plenty of towels in the cabins, clean little extras not always found in roadside cabins.

One of the features of Kelly's that brings city people there is undoubtedly the farm itself. Not only are most of the vegetables used raised on the place, but young people especially like to go through the barns and see the cattle. For many of them, it is their first experience of real farm life. There are a number of people who plan their trips so as to spend a few days at Kelly's each summer, and another even larger group who stop there because the place was recommended to them by friends.

A new, completely up-to-date Gulf Station is now under construction, so that the cars can receive the latest and best in service. The station will be neat, attractive and pleasant, in keeping with the rest of the place. Gasoline, oil, greasing, tire-repairing and other service station facilities will be available to all motorists.

Every service that is available for the tourist at Kelly's Crystal Brook Farm is just as available for local people. If you want a treat, whether you are just starting on a trip or on your way home, stop at Kelly's; look the place over, try some of their fine food, ice cream or other treats; you will enjoy it. Some of the finest maple syrup in Northern Vermont is made right there, and cans are available at the stand; it makes a grand gift to some friend.

season was a picnic held at Baxter Park Derby Line on Monday afternoon, May 22. It was attended by 20 boys and girls from 6 to 11 years of age. Races were run and games were played under the supervision of two M. B. Leaders. A picnic lunch was enjoyed under the old pine tree, then the children played for an hour on the park amusements before returning to their respective homes in Rock Island and Derby Line.

Destructive Baboon Killed By Watchdog

Chipinga, Northern Rhodesia.—An audacious old male baboon, well-known in this district for his bold attacks on the corn fields, led his last foray when he met his match in a watchdog.

The corn was ready to be picked, and the farmer had to get assistance from neighbors. He set his dog, Koo, to guard the field while he went for help. The baboons' look-outs barked the signal that the farmer had left the house, and soon the dog saw the bush part, to reveal a troop led by the giant baboon.

Children who saw the incident say the dog ran to the edge of the field and barked a challenge to the big baboon. The baboon accepted the challenge and, with the troop of monkeys as spectators, the two animals fought a savage battle.

Farmer Phillipus du Plessis, returning with help, found Koo and the baboon locked in a deadly struggle, and ran to the house for his gun. When he returned the giant baboon lay dead, and the dog was limping away to lick his wounds. The troop dispersed on seeing their leader killed.

FULFORD

The Women's Association of the United Church met with Mrs. Garnet Hayes on May 25. The attendance was smaller than usual owing to sickness and sorrow in some homes so only seven members were present.

Mrs. Fessenden received news that her son, J. Frederick Kemp, died in a hospital in Vancouver, B.C., from pneumonia following an accident a few days previous.

The death occurred May 22 and the funeral was held at 1:30 p.m., Friday, May 26, at Herald Edwards Heather Chapel, 705 West Broadway and Heather Street, Vancouver. Mrs. Fessenden was unable to go to B.C. and at the funeral hour a comforting service was held in her home by Elder M. Fisher, of Waterloo, and Mrs. Fisher sweetly sang three hymns, "Some Day We'll Understand," "Some Sweet Day" and "In the Hour of Trial."

Only the immediate family were present. After the service the family took the flowers to the cemetery and placed them on the grave of their father and stepfather, the late Luke E. Fessenden.

J. Frederick Kemp was born in Bedford, Que., on January 10, 1904, son of the late Frederick A. Kemp and his wife, Lucia H. Beard.

After the death of his father, his boyhood was spent in this neighborhood with his mother and stepfather, Mr. Fessenden, and he received his education in the Waterloo High School and later was employed in the Canadian Bank of Commerce in East Angus and Calgary, Alberta and in 1926 went to Vancouver where he owned and operated a General Business Exchange on Robson Street, until the fall of 1949.

Besides his mother, Mrs. Lucia Fessenden he is survived by his wife, Emma Jacques and two sons, Dwight Kemp, of Regina, Sask., and Evan Kemp, of B.C.; two daughters, the Misses Pauline and Darlene Kemp, of Vancouver; one grandson, Victor Frederick Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Kemp, of Regina. He also leaves two sisters, Laura A. R. Kemp, Mrs. Elton Webb, of Asbestos; and Thelma Fessenden, Mrs. R. D. Hutchison, of Quebec City and one brother, Mr. L. Eben Fessenden, of Fulford, Que.

Mrs. Emily Jones, of West Shefford, and aged mother, Mrs. Naylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Naylor, of Montreal, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sparke.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Webb, of Asbestos, came on Tuesday to be with Mrs. Fessenden for a few days. Mr. Webb returned home but Mrs. Webb remained with her mother.

A very severe electric hail storm swept over this district on May 24, in the late afternoon. In some sections the hail stones were quite large and came in such quantities that they were still in evidence the following morning. Several radios were burned out and some crops were washed out as a result.

Velvet And Jewels Accent Prints

By KAY SHERWOOD
New York—(NEA)—Touches of velvet and jewelled buttons highlight this season's handsomest prints. Typical example is the use of black velvet on cuffs and bodice to accent the finely-etched black and white abstract print of the two-piece dress (left). Designed by Eisenberg, the skirt has an easy-fitting swing and the jacket is buttoned from waistline to the modified shawl collar.
Big, jewelled buttons accentuate the deep V-neckline of the polka-dotted navy and white print crepe dress (right). Vertical tucks which give the slim line from waist to knee release fullness in a wide flounce around the bottom of the skirt. Soft belt is bow-tied in front.

Communities At Border Form Home And School

Rock Island, May 31.—The Border Communities Home and School Association for the parents of all children attending Stanstead Wesleyan College has been organized, and a meeting was held Monday evening at Pierce hall.

The meeting was called to order by Maurice Moore, acting chairman, who called upon Mr. Harry Grundy, president of Sherbrooke Home and School Association, and Mr. R. Loveland, past president, to give an outline of the aims of the Association, and to answer any question regarding its activities.

Mr. Peter Lackie-Ewing gave a preliminary review of the meetings held in forming this organization, stating one was held May 10 at the home of Mrs. Frank Abbott, Stanstead, where an organization committee was appointed.

A meeting was held at the same home on May 15, at which time the nominating committee was appointed to prepare a slate of officers. It is: Mrs. Frank Abbott, convenor; Gordon Petri, chairman; Mrs. Clarence Hill, Alden Peasley and Mrs. Raymond Wheelock. Their report was given at the meeting of May 22 and the following officers elected: Honorary president, Mrs. Frank Abbott; president, Harold Cass; first vice-president, Samuel Abbott; second vice-president, Mrs. Ivan Lemon; recording-secretary, Mrs. J. W. Sancton; Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harold Wells; treasurer, Leonard McGilton.

A motion was made that the constitution be accepted. Mr. Cass then taking the chair thanked the speakers of the evening, Mr. Grundy, and Mr. Loveland. Dr. Amason spoke briefly stating that the association had the approval and good wishes of himself and the college staff in general. He spoke especially of the splendid preliminary work done by the convenor, Mrs. Abbott, and the organizing committee, who were Peter Lackie-Ewing, chairman, Lawrence Tilton, Mrs. Byron Jenkins, Mrs. William Greer, Mrs. Howard Wells and Mrs. Ivan Lin-

There is to be a $1.00 per family membership fee. Mrs. Abbott stated Dr. E. C. Powell, president of Montreal Association, would like to come to the next meeting. Mr. Teakle, French Supervisor of the Dept. of Education, was introduced to the group. It was decided to have a get acquainted meeting on Monday, June 12, at 8 p.m. at Centenary Church hall, Stanstead, and it is hoped more families will be represented. There will be a business meeting, followed by a program, and refreshments will be served.

R. Bourque Addresses Lions Club

Cowansville, May 31. — Many noted guest speakers have appeared before the Lions Club in Cowansville but none more forceful or to the point than Mr. Romuald Bourque, Mayor of the City of Outremont, when he spoke on "Why Pays The Bills."

Prior to the meeting, Mr. Bourque was received at a civic reception by Mayor L. B. Brault, of Cowansville, and his aldermen, Messrs. Julian Beaudry, Ernest Dion, Charles Buchanan, W. Beauregard, Wm. Parry, C. H. Brock, and Lawyer Claude Noisneau. This was a most friendly gesture and got the meeting off to an excellent start. Mr. Bourque brought with him, as guests, Messrs. J. Keith Christie, J. H. Morrison, and Geo. Thémus, and added to this Lions H. Frank Villeneuve, John Hannabury, Albert Cogan and Z. Zukowski of Terryville, Conn., dropped in for a friendly visit.

Mr. Bourque opened his remarks by paying high tribute to Lion Guy, and Lioness Emily Cousins for the important part they play in living up to the meetings with their group singing, which he said was far superior to what he has heard while attending many other service club meetings.

The speaker's topic was based primarily on the cost of war, leading from there to the cost of pensions, a subject which today is given much space in our daily papers. Mr. Bourque stated that "War of any kind is an expensive proposition. We tax payers are still paying for World War I, carrying a heavy load from World War II, and already sharing the military cost of a potential World War III." The speaker continued by saying that "It's foolish, it's costly but sometimes we think it is inevitable. After all we can't stop paying for wars that are over, and if we don't want to lose the next one and pay for it with our freedom as well as with our money we had better be ready to start paying for it now."

But, the speaker continued, there are other kinds of war—the continual bickering between Capital and Labor. Admitting that many employers have in the past exploited labor, today the pendulum seems to have swung the other way and labor wants too much for doing too little. With increased wages, and demands for large pensions, costs of goods to consumers rise and those who are consuming the goods are paying the bills.

"We no longer believe that the proper destination for a good and faithful servant should be the county poor house," stated Mr. Bourque. "There is not any other way of getting a pension than by having some one else pay it to you, and that someone else doesn't mean the employer only—it means the man on the street, the woman in the house, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer who finally pay all the bills as part of the purchase price of everything they buy."

Mr. Bourque concluded his remarks by saying, "I have never hesitated to pay any legitimate bill and I am sure that no one here has either. As members of the Lions Club you are willing to pay more than your share. You do it willingly in a multitude of good causes. But you like to know that your contribution advances the cause of humanity. You like to know what you are paying and what is being done with your money. That is a legitimate requirement by those who pay the bills."

The speaker was introduced by Lion Carl Brock, and was thanked by L. B. Brault, Mayor of Cowansville. The meeting was under the direction of President "Opie" Olpinski.

LIONS ELECT OFFICERS

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club held May 23, the following officers and directors were elected for 1950-51:

Honorary Presidents, re-elected, Charles Robinson, president, Vilas Furniture Co. Ltd., and Gerald Bruck, President, Bruck Mills Ltd., President, Howard Hastings, first, second, and third Vice Presidents, Claude Noisneau, John McKeown, and Andre Gauthier, Lion Tamer, Paul Cote, Tail Twister, Reg. Spargo, Secretary-Treasurer, re-elected, Garnett Lechasseur, Directors for two years, Clare Buzzell, and Frank Daigle.

The above mentioned men are representative of Cowansville's public spirited citizens, and a continuation of the club's activities is looked for with confidence.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beaudry, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary presently in Trinity Church hall, Cowansville. Cards and dancing were enjoyed during the evening.

The table, covered with a banquet cloth, was centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom with streamers caught to the ceiling and the four corners of the table. American Beauty roses formed the table decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaudry were presented with a beautiful tri-lamp, a table lamp, an easy chair, and many other gifts from family, friends, and neighbors.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Crowe and Mrs. George Penfold, of Montreal; Mrs. Alice Derby, of Sutton; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lampman, of Dunham; Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Tait, of Freighsburg; Mr. and Mrs. S. Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. L. Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Strange, East Farnham; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moynan, Mrs. Jean Labrecque, Mrs. Ethel Hall, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mr. Claude Jones, Mr. Leveyn and Miss Isabella Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carter, Mr. and Mrs. George Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jones, and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McCorkil, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mahannah, Mr. and Mrs. W. Barrette, Mrs. Perrott, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Strange, Miss Betty Strange and Mr. Albert Strange.

General Notes

A meeting of the girl guides and brownies was held in Trinity Church hall on Tuesday evening, May 23. There were twenty mothers present. The president, Mrs. E. Roberts, explained the work of the organizations. Election of officers took place, resulting as follows: President, Mrs. Frank Reid; vice-president, Mrs. R. Jarvis; secretary, Mrs. Stanley Patterson; treasurer, Mrs. E. Persons. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Messrs. John Seale, and W. H. Smith attended the I.O.O.F.

Food Collection Organized By Fred Dawson

Sweetsburg, May 31.—Over 2500 cans of food have been collected by pupils of the Cowansville High School for the people of Rimouski at the suggestion of Mr. Fred Dawson, whose home at East Farnham burned, on March 2, and whose entire family received great assistance from local citizens. In appreciation of the help received since March, where the Dawson family became domiciled in one of the new houses on Veterans Boulevard, near Fordyce.

Mr. Dawson suggested this idea to Principal John N. Wood, B.A., M.B.E., wishing to pass on help to others in dire need. He offered a treat of ice cream to the class collecting the largest amount of canned goods.

Grade VIII succeeded, but Grade II did such excellent work in collecting goods, that Mr. Dawson extended the treat to them also.

On May 22, the birthday of the Dawson twins, Jean and Joyce, Mr. Dawson motored them to Montreal, also his eldest daughter, Clara, where they assisted in unloading the canned goods, which he and Mr. Gordon Deschamps had brought in with car and truck to the Legion Hall, from whence it was trucked to Rimouski early Tuesday morning, May 23.

Thanks are due Mr. Deschamps, for the use of his truck and driver. The response was most appreciated by Mr. Dawson, who originated the idea. He thinks all local citizens are very generous.

"Sport Shots
and Pot Shots"

By LEN. O'DONNELL

The local baseball club took a sudden jump last night when they trotted out two new hurlers in Bob Colette and Lou Knerr and if we can judge from their performance then their addition should turn out to be a very valuable investment.

Still with the objective in mind of building a strong team to fight it out for honors in the Provincial Baseball League the executive is on the look out for players who can help the local cause. In acquiring these two hurlers it would appear to be a wise move on their part.

Bob Colette, who appears to be on the young side of life, turned in a good job in his first performance before the local wolves. In the initial inning he walked the first three men to face him, and the old cry "Take him out Glady" could be heard all over the stand. Glady our stocky hard-hitting manager, who has a mind of his own, left him in and the kid paid off. Once he got by that inning he settled down and whiffed nine at the plate and gave up seven free passes and only once did the Red Sox appear dangerous. That was in the sixth when they counted three times, when they bunched the same amount of hits coupled with a walk and an error. From then on he was right at home and had Bob Latschaw's boys breaking their backs swinging.

Lou Knerr, the husky boy who toiled here part time last season, did a very good job considering he hadn't pitched a game for over fifteen days. The first four innings he didn't give a single hit and retired seven at the plate. In the fifth he tired and gave up a hit with four bases on balls, coupled with an error, which ended up with the Red Sox tallying five runs. Roche took over at this stage, and after getting the side out, went the rest of the way holding the Sox hitless. He seemed well rested and did a good job.

The tilt developed into a pitcher's duel between Roche and Bob Malone and the boys did a good job. The Granby hurler went the whole route and was charged with the loss, but it was no discredit to him. He hurled a good game. The pay off came in the lower half of the tenth when Mike Rollins delivered the blow which resulted in the victory. Manager Latschaw balled Gene Nance to get to Mike and this back-fired when the big center fielder banged out a clean single to give the locals the victory.

The double win put the locals back on top of the heap with Steve Mizerak's surprising St. Johns aggregation and sent everybody home satisfied. The funny thing about it all was the boys who appeared headed for the role of the bum turned out to be the real hero. Who says sporting fans aren't a little fickle minded?

Last week seemed to be the big time for track and field meets. On Wednesday, May 24, 325 contestants took part in the Brome County Annual Track and Field Meet while on Saturday, at the Parade Grounds, 582 entries battled it out for honors in the Y's Men's annual event.

Records fell by the wayside in both events, in both field and track meets. Sam Abbott's and his crew from Stantead College copped the Skinner trophy for the team showing while the majority of the other trophies, with the exception of the Don Williams reports that salmon fishing is pretty good out around Magog and that quite a few, weighing around two to five pounds, have been yanked out by the fishermen. Pretty good fishing although a little late, but the run was that way this year.

John Cunningham was re-elected president of the Magog Curling and Social Club and it would seem that the club had a very good and profitable season. They finished with a fair surplus in the bank and are already laying plans for the coming season.

The official opening of the Waterville Golf Club will take place Saturday when the president's squad will take on the vice-president's team. At the same time it will mark the official opening of the Circo Golf Club, which holds forth at Waterville.

Received a little note from Ken McKenzie, Publicity Director of the N.H.L., that any fan desiring of obtaining a Statistical Card for the past season can do so by writing to the Information Bureau, National Hockey League, Sun Life Building, Montreal, and a copy will be sent to them free. How is that for service, Ken really gives, so if you desire one drop him a line and you will receive your booklet.

Three games are slated tonight in the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League at the Parade Grounds. Railroads and Fairbanks come together while Machinery and Regiment will meet and Superheater will try their luck against Bruck Mills.

Monday evening three good games were played at the different teams held it out for the honors. This evening's title should be just as good. Some very good fixtures are being played this season, especially so early in the season and President Ted Anderson is looking forward to a very good year.

Proximity Sets New Record For Trotters

Arcadia, Calif., May 31.—(AP)—Proximity, eight-year-old queen of the trotters, yesterday cracked a second world record within 10 days by winning the $5,000 Los Angeles Trot. The mare, guided by veteran reinsman Clint Hodgins of Clandeby, Ont., covered the 1 1/4 miles in 2:14.3/5.

A crowd of 18,334, the largest harness draw in three years at Santa Anita Park, saw Ralph and Gordon Verhurst's great mare add the 1 1/4 miles mark to the 11/16 miles standard she set May 20. The former 1 1/4 miles mark record was 2:15.4/5, set by Egan Hanover, who ran sixth in a field of six today.

Proximity beat Chris Spencer by 1 1/4 lengths. Proximity was backed down to odds-on and paid $3.30, $2.20 and $2.10. Chris Spencer returned $2.40 and $2.30. Dutch Harbor showed for $2.80.

B.C. All-Stars Hold England To 4-4 Draw

Vancouver, May 31.—(AP)—British Columbia All-Stars made Canadian soccer history last night when they held the touring England Football Association team to a 4-4 draw.

It was the first time a United Kingdom club had ever played a Canadian squad without scoring a victory.

The tourist had to come from behind twice to avert defeat, scoring two of their goals on penalty kicks. Little Johnny Hancock, the best player on the field, scored all four for England.

Win 8-5 And Ten-Inning Duel 6-5;
New Pitchers Turn In Good Jobs;
Mike Rollins Clouts Pay-Off Blow

Combining good pitching and timely hitting, the Sherbrooke Athletics last night made a clean sweep of their doubleheader with Granby Red Sox to move back to the top of the Provincial Baseball League and stalemated the surging St. Johns aggregation in the pace-setting position of Albert Molini's circuit.

The Athletics capped the curtain-raiser 8-5 behind the five-hit hurling of young Bob Colette and in the second they managed to edge out the Red Sox 6-5 in a 10-inning duel. Lou Knerr toiled for four and two-thirds innings, giving up only one hit but faltered and required help from Armando Roche, who in his turn allowed only one single in finishing the tilt and was credited with the win.

FARNHAM HERE TOMORROW EVENING
The Pirates of Farnham will be in town tomorrow evening to keep a scheduled engagement with the local aggregation. The game will commence at 8.30. Tonight the A's travel to Granby to tangle with the Red Sox on their home grounds.

Colette and Knerr turned in good performance, and their addition to the local staff should turn out to be a valuable asset. In the opener Bob Colette was a little shaky, but after the first inning, when he gave up four bases on balls, he settled down and gave up only five safeties for the rest of the route. He struck out nine and issued seven bases on balls. The Red Sox pushed two runs across in the opening frame, but then they failed to do anything until the sixth when they chalked up three more, but that was as far as they were concerned.

In the second tilt Big Lou Knerr had Latschaw's squad eating out of his hand for the first four frames and he only faced twelve hitters. He sent seven down via the swinging method and gave up four free tickets to first, all in the fifth. He weakened at this point with Armando Roche, and he gave up only one hit for the balance of the tilt.

The first three men to face Colette, in the opening frame, were given free passes to the initial slate. Kimball was retired at the plate, and when Debish tried to steal second, with the third sack occupied, he was tossed out. Latschaw drew another free ticket, but Joe Monteiro fled out to end things.

In the lower half of the inning the Athletics bunched right back to six hits, coupled with a walk, shoved five runs across the plate to move out in front 5-2. Canizares, Martin, Garcia, Rolins and Pascual singled while McMacdon drew the walk. Bentley let Rollins' single get away from him and everybody moved around a peg.

In the fourth inning the locals continued their heavy-hitting attack and chalked up three tallies. Canizares went out, Martin walked and Glady then drove out a connected scoring him. Garcia connected for a single and Glady came racing home. Nance singled in his turn and the fleet-footed Garcia was across the plate with the locals' eighth tally. Rollins went out short to end the rally.

In the sixth inning the Red Sox staged their rally and came up with three runs. Latschaw was given a walk. Monteiro then forced him with a fielder's choice. Coitnoir singled, and when Martin committed a misplay Monteiro came home, while he pulled up at second. Zambon then drove out a double. Duperron, who had taken over from Rogers in the opening frame, struck out, but Cabana singled and one more run crossed the plate. Bentley was retired swinging and that was the end of the whole affair.

Lou Knerr started off with a bang in the second game and faced only twelve men in the first four innings. Sherbrooke in the meantime got to Bob Malone and pushed home a run in the first inning and piled up two more for a 3-0 lead in the third.

In the fifth, after two men were away, Knerr weakened and gave up four bases on balls before Roche took over. He had allowed only one hit, by Zambon in the famous fifth, which counted one run, but before the Red Sox were retired they had tallied five runs.

In the lower half the A's knotted the score when on a walk, an error, and a single by Rolins Glady, knotted the count 5-5. Neither team managed to come up with any hits until the tenth. Roche retired seven men during that period, while Malone four in the closely played tilt.

MIKE ROLLINS DELIVERS
In the lower half of the tenth frame the locals went to town. Paul Martin doubled to start things. Glady was given an intentional walk, but Garcia hit a fielder's choice forcing him. Manager Latschaw ordered another free pass to Gene Nance, but his plan backfired as Mike Rollins came through with the pay-off blow to send Martin racing home with the winning run. Knerr then drove out a double. Duperron, who had taken over from Rogers in the opening frame, struck out, but Cabana singled and one more run crossed the plate. Bentley was retired swinging and that was the end of the whole affair.

Lou Knerr started off with a bang in the second game and faced only twelve men in the first four innings. Sherbrooke in the meantime got to Bob Malone and pushed home a run in the first inning and piled up two more for a 3-0 lead in the third.

In the fifth, after two men were away, Knerr weakened and gave up four bases on balls before Roche took over. He had allowed only one hit, by Zambon in the famous fifth, which counted one run, but before the Red Sox were retired they had tallied five runs.

In the lower half the A's knotted the score when on a walk, an error, and a single by Rolins Glady, knotted the count 5-5. Neither team managed to come up with any hits until the tenth. Roche retired seven men during that period, while Malone four in the closely played tilt.

Royals Split Double
With Buffalo Bisons

"Lookit them Birds go!"
You heard that phrase everywhere you went in Baltimore today—the bus, the street corner, the favorite pub and even sandwiched in between the usual gossip over the back fence.

The reason? Baltimore's Orioles have won eight of their last 10 games and are in third place, 3 1/2 games behind first-place Rochester.

Last night a capacity crowd converged on Memorial Stadium to welcome the Orioles home and see them take a two-night doubleheader with Syracuse Chiefs.

The Stadium is being rebuilt from the ground up and in its present condition seats slightly less than 20,000. That limit was reached before the first inning of the first game was over, while many thousands milled outside.

Old-timers around the park estimated the attendance would have been about 35,000 if there were seats enough.

The first game started out as a slugfest, with the Chief's Ben Zientara banking out a homer and his mates piling on two more runs in the first inning. But Baltimore came back in the last half of the inning with a wad of singles and a base-clearing triple by Babe Barna to score six runs.

After that outburst, it settled down to a more conservative match before winding up, 7-6.

In the second game Syracuse opened up with a two-run lead in the first frame and held it behind left-handed Jim Flanders' four five innings. Then Baltimore's George Biam, Butch Woyt and Al Unser connected for home runs in the next three innings to clinch it, 6-2.

Right-hander Steve Ridzik, making his first start for Toronto Maple Leafs, snapped Rochester Red Wings' 11-game winning streak, 8-3, in the second game of five innings. Then Baltimore's George Biam, Butch Woyt and Al Unser connected for home runs in the next three innings to clinch it, 6-2.

Right-hander Steve Ridzik, making his first start for Toronto Maple Leafs, snapped Rochester Red Wings' 11-game winning streak, 8-3, in the second game of five innings. Then Baltimore's George Biam, Butch Woyt and Al Unser connected for home runs in the next three innings to clinch it, 6-2.

Johnny Parsons, Ex-Child Vaudeville
Star, Tops Auto Racing With Win
In 500-Mile Memorial Day Classic

Indianapolis, May 31.—(AP)—It was top billing for Johnny Parsons in the automobile racing world today.

The one-time child vaudeville star added the 500-mile Memorial Day race victory yesterday to his 1949 national driving championship.

The blue-eyed, slender pilot from Van Nuys, Calif., got an assist from a rainstorm that stopped the contest at 345 miles before a crowd of 150,000. But he had driven that far faster than any car had travelled in 33 previous "500s."

Drivers and owners will get their winnings at the annual victory tonight.

They will split about $185,000. Parsons is expected to pull down about $50,000.

The speedway management guarantees $75,000 and adds to that on the basis of attendance.

Parsons of Maui Rose of South Bend, Ind., a three-time winner, swapped the lead four times in the first 275 miles. The third time Rose zipped past Parsons on the main straightaway, Parsons whooshed around Rose about 100 feet down the track—driving with one hand and waving to the crowd.

It was only the second Indianapolis race for Parsons, who rain second last year to Bill Holland of Reading, Pa. Parsons' speed was 124.002 miles an hour for the distance.
