CHARGES FINANCIAL OPERATIONS OF CITY HIDDEN FROM ALDERMEN

Alderman Omer Blais Claims Finance Committee Gave Council Members No Details of Proposed Transfer of $87,939.31 from Special Funds to General Accounts—By-Law Given First Reading—To Tighten Inspection of Meat Sold within City Limits.

Another attack on the financial operations of the City Council, the details of which he declared were kept back from some members of the Council itself, was forthcoming from Alderman Omer Blais, of the West ward, at last night's Council meeting. A motion sponsored by the finance committee seeking authority to transfer the net sum of $87,939.31 from special accounts to the general account of the city provided the opening for this attack.

By-law No. 537, to authorize this transfer, explained that from time to time loans had been approved by the ratepayers of $1,416,000 for the completion of certain definite works. In six instances the cost had not come up to the estimates with the result that a surplus of $126,732.17 had been created in these funds. The Council had not been so fortunate in five other instances, however, and a deficit of $38,792.86 was recorded on these items. The by-law proposed that these shortages be made good from the $126,732.17 surplus and that the balance, amounting to $87,939.31, be transferred to the general funds of the city to partially reimburse the expenses on unemployment relief.

Alderman Lacombe, who moved the by-law for first reading in the absence of Alderman Langis, failed to state, however, whether these funds were actually in the hands of the city or whether they had already been used for other purposes and this formed merely a book-keeping entry.

Hardly had first reading been moved than Alderman Blais was on his feet objecting to the procedure. In the first place, he declared the proposal was illegal, as the Cities and Towns Act declared that any money borrowed for a specific purpose could only be used for that purpose, unless a new by-law authorizing the transfer from one fund to another had been approved by the ratepayers.

Ald. Blais turned to a general attack of the city's unemployment relief policy. As far back as 1928, he declared that sums as high as $37,888.23 had remained in certain accounts, but the city had refused to carry out an adequate relief policy on the grounds that the money was lacking and that the rate-payers would not approve the loans. Why, he asked, was not this money used?

The street-opening programme next came under fire. The opening of streets in newly-developed areas was up to the proprietors of the lots, claimed Alderman Blais. Owners of these sub-divisions were supposed to open sixty-foot wide streets, passable in all weather for wagons, after which the city takes over the maintenance and further improvement of the thoroughfares. This policy had not been carried out. Streets which only served to benefit land speculators had been opened by the unemployed while much-used thoroughfares in the centre of the city were rapidly going to ruin because the road department claimed no money was available for maintenance.

Certain of those street-opening projects were good, he admitted, such as Ontario and Macnaman streets, which were given to the city by institutions such as schools and churches, but he thought that the money spent on other streets could be better used elsewhere.

Alderman Sangster partially supported Alderman Blais' views, urging that further details be given to the Council members who were not on the finance committee. "He was content to allow the by-law to stand for first reading however when asked by Alderman Lacombe that full explanations would be given at a committee meeting of the whole council to be held before second reading was moved. Alderman Lacombe failed to state if the rate-payers would receive as much enlightenment as committee meetings are held in secret.

With Alderman Sangster's objection disposed of, the by-law passed first reading, with only Alderman Blais dissenting.

Tighter regulations over the meat sold for human consumption within the city limits were provided in Alderman Armitage's amendment to the Inspection by-law, which was given all three readings and approved. This provided that all meat sold within the city limits, except by bona-fide farmers selling their own animals, and slaughtered outside must pass through the city meat inspection depot and receive the approval of the city meat inspector.

In the past, all animals slaughtered within the city limits had to be inspected but outside traders, who purchased animals from farmers and did their own killing, could sell meat in almost any condition.

CANADIAN DOLLAR NEARS PAR IN U. S. FUNDS.

New York, Sept. 19.—Canadian dollars continued their steady rise toward par of one hundred cents in United States funds on the foreign exchange market here this morning.

Opening quotations on Dominion funds were at ninety-eight cents, a gain of three-sixteenths of one per cent. over Monday's close. American premium on Canadian money dropped to 2.04 per cent.

Found sterling advanced two cents to $4.78½, while French gold francs moved ahead to 6.02½ cents, a gain of 3½ points.

CURRENCY INFLATION MAY DECIDE WORKS PROGRAMME

Western Conservative Suggests Public Works Programme Unlikely Unless United States Inflates Dollar Further.

Saskatoon, Sept. 19.—Inflation of currency in the United States, now regarded as a possibility, may determine whether or not Canada will undertake a public works programme for relief purposes this winter.

This was suggested in a negative way here last night by F. R. MacMillan, M.P., who said he understood that "unless the United States inflates, a public works programme is not likely."

Preparedness by the United States for inflation was indicated by Mr. MacMillan, Conservative member for Saskatoon, who stated he had heard that the United States had $3,000,000,000 worth of money printed now for such an eventuality.

EPIDEMIC AND HUNGER FEARED IN CAROLINAS

With Fifteen Known Dead, a Thousand Homeless and Damage Estimated at $5,000,000, Relief Workers Rush into Storm Area.

New Bern, N.C., Sept. 19.—The dual menace of hunger and disease hovered over the North Carolina sound country today as relief workers pushed their way into the 100-mile stretch of lowlands ravaged by Saturday's tropical hurricane.

With fifteen known dead, many persons still unaccounted for, and communication with several small fishing villages still cut off, Red Cross workers pushed into the storm area, and came back with reports of desolation and suffering.

Conservative estimates place the damage wrought throughout the semi-resort country at between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. Here at New Bern, which was not hit as hard as some of the smaller communities, the damage stood well above $1,000,000.

Hunger and want prevailed in many communities and health officials guarded against the possible outbreak of epidemics. On Cedar Island, one of the many small bits of barrier reef along the coast, only fourteen of the eighty-four houses were left standing after the hurricane swept mountainous waves out of the sea.

The homeless were estimated at close to 1,000.

SMALL FORTUNE IS DESTROYED BY YOUNGSTERS

Burned About $5,000 in Gold Certificates Thinking It Was "Stage Money"—Found Money Under Rear Seat of Touring Car Body in a Junk Yard.

Jersey City, N.J., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Margaret Quirk walked into police headquarters today with one hundred dollars in gold certificates, and said if the paper was real money it was just too bad for words because her boys and some other boys had burned up a lot of the same kind, probably about five thousand dollars.

The money was real enough, said the instantly saddened desk sergeant.

Eddie Quirk, nine, and his brother, Tommy, ten, and the other boys found the money under the rear seat of a touring car body in a junk yard. They thought it was stage money, divided it and played with it. Tiring of this they decided to burn the money, Mrs. Quirk said.

A fifty dollar bill, half burned, blew away. A passing mechanic picked it up, became excited until the boys told him it was fake money. Then he tore it into strips and fitted it around a faulty washer.

Now the police are trying to find out who left it in the car.

CLAIM PRICE-RAISING AND DEBT-REDUCTION NEEDED FOR PROSPERITY.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—A substantial advance in price levels and a scaling down of debts are essential before there can be any hope of returning prosperity to the prairies or material improvement in Canadian industry. This is the view of western wheat pools submitted to the Royal Commission on Banking.

TWICE-CONVICTED GIRL SLAYER AGAIN ESCAPES

Homesickness Led Helen Spence Eaton to Run Away from Prison for Second Time within a Week.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 19.—Helen Spence Eaton, the girl who killed her father's accused slayer and then, after parole, confessed she killed another man, explaining that her conscience "hurt" her, has escaped again—the second time within a week.

Homesickness led the pretty twice-convicted slayer to flee the prison farm at Jacksonville and head for the White River county last Thursday. Bloodhounds cornered her in a corn field and back she went to prison.

Last night she disappeared again and guards once more searched the White River on the theory the girl was homesick again. Superintendent Brockman ordered a guard to watch her back to Tucker prison farm for failing to obey orders.

EARLY ELECTIONS TO FILL VACANT SEATS IN LEGISLATURE FORECAST

Premier Taschereau's Declaration that Coming Session Will See All Seats Filled Leads to Belief Bye-Elections in Wolfe, Nicolet and Jacques Cartier Will Be Held This Fall—Political Interest Centres on Conservative Programme Choice.

Montreal, September 19.—By-elections in three counties—Nicolet, Wolfe and Jacques Cartier—are due in the near future, judging from the declaration of Premier Taschereau here yesterday. The Prime Minister stated that when the next session of the Legislature meets, all the vacancies will be filled. From this it is deduced that the elections will be held some time this fall.

The possibility of these three battles turns political interest to the Provincial Conservative convention to be held in Sherbrooke on October 3rd and 4th. The interest is not so much centered on the leadership, since Mr. Duplessis' selection is virtually assured, but on the party programme. It is admitted by varied shades of opinion in Conservative ranks that drawing up a party programme in times such as the present is necessarily a difficult task. The main trouble is that certain elements confuse temporary conditions with permanent conditions, and the traditions of the Conservative party. However, with the elimination of Camillien Houde from the party, the choice being Mr. Houde's own, there is now a greater freedom for the great mass of Conservative opinion to make itself known and consequently it may be expected that the principles of sanity for which the Conservative party are noted, for which it stands, will prevail.

The views of Mr. Duplessis on certain questions are known to be on Conservative party lines, and consequently it may be expected that with Mr. Houde and the Houde influence removed, the planks in the platform to be drawn up will be of a nature not to embarrass the party when normal times return.

Premier Taschereau made his weekly visit to Montreal a day earlier than usual in order to address the convention of the Kiwanis being held there yesterday. Speaking before the large gathering Mr. Taschereau declared that Quebec Province can boast of a happy and contented people where home-owners look on their homes as veritable citadels of existence. They are loyal to flag and King.

"We love Canada and our good Province of Quebec. There is no province in the federation of provinces in the Dominion where toleration, good feeling and bonhomie is better practised," Mr. Taschereau continued. "Our people feel that they did something really worthwhile in the upholding of the country and the establishment of the British constitution in Canada. The spirit of patriotism is as strong in '37 as it was in '17. The history of the country proves the loyalty of Quebec."

The Province of Quebec, Mr. Taschereau said, is a distinct asset to Confederation. One of the greatest assets in his opinion is the large number of children of the French people raised here. The province of Ontario, he pointed out, has a population of more than 3 1/2 million, yet Quebec, with less than three million souls, has 60,000 more children below the age of fifteen years. Ontario, he warned, will have to look out for its laurels in the near future as regards population.

In Quebec, the people take great pride in their social affairs, "because we feel that we are in the minority and to hold our own we have to give our children the chance of a broad education. In the province, there are four universities, 22 classical colleges, 85 secondary schools, 7,400 elementary schools and 27,100 kindergartens. I don't know how many children attend classes. In 1921, we spent 23 million dollars on education, with a total of $35,000,000 in 1932, showing that depression did not interfere with our growth."

"Health problems always receive sympathetic response by the provincial Government. We have health units in even far flung counties. We provided 9,800 beds for the poor sick. Actually $18,000,000 has been invested in hospital work, with a total of $5,200,000 spent last year. Our system of roads is worthy of the highest commendation. In this regard, we expended $150,000,000. With our present network, we could build four parallel roads from Vancouver to Halifax, and we consider this work a good investment for the farmers, city dwellers and tourists," the Premier concluded, emphasizing the fact that he enumerated these details in a sincere hope that they would encourage his hearers as to the important part that Quebec plays in Dominion affairs.

Quebec, Sept. 19.—Decision was to be rendered today by Mr. Justice Wilfrid Laliberte on motions for particulars filed by counsel for eleven coal companies standing trial before the Court of King's Bench here on charges of contravening the Criminal Code and violating the Dominion Coal Mines Act.

As legal argument continued yesterday prior to the empanelling of the jury which will hear the case, Judge Laliberte rejected motions advanced by defence counsel seeking to have the indictment preferred by the Attorney General Quashed.

He announced at that time that his decision for particulars would be made known today. It was expected the hearing of evidence before the jury would commence tomorrow.

Buckshot wounded a spectator when pickets and working miners clashed in North Scranton, Pa. A strike of 5,000 teamsters, which would hamper flour, grocery and furniture delivery, was threatened in New York unless employers shortened hours of work. Operators in Southeastern Pennsylvania refused to accede to the demands of strikers for shorter hours, 1929 pay and union recognition. The dispute brought truck service to a virtual standstill in some parts of the area.

Talk of a cotton growers strike "if we cannot get relief otherwise" was heard in Washington at a meeting of cotton men and members of Congress.

About seventy-five per cent. of the shoe workers in Brockton, Mass., stayed away from their jobs yesterday. New Jersey silk mills remained closed, but some in Pennsylvania opened. Pickets patrolled outside a roller bearing factory in Detroit, protesting what they called discrimination against the union.

The New York Situation was further complicated today when painters, decorators and paper hangers joined the thousands of textile millinery and other workers on strike. The former are demanding a six hour day, five days week and $1.65 an hour.

THREE KILLED IN CLASH WITH NAZIS. Linz, Austria, Sept. 19.—Three men were killed and twelve wounded today in a clash between Nazis and Heimwehr members at nearby Linz. The Nazis were attempting to force the Heimwehr to accept a "few machine" was the question that confronted specialists today.

They planned to use the machine despite a statement from the American Medical Association that the proposed cure had not proved successful in similar cases of "sleeping sickness."

DETROIT BANKS WERE SOLVENT WHEN CLOSED

One-Man Grand Jury in Judgment Declares No Evidence Found of Criminality on Part of Officers.

Detroit, Sept. 19.—Efforts to reorganize Detroit's two closed national banks were being made today following a grand jury report which said the banks were solvent when closed and no evidence had been found of criminality on the part of officers.

Judge Harry B. Keidan, who as a one-man grand jury conducted a three-month investigation into the causes of closing the two banks, unexpectedly terminated his inquiry last night and made public his findings. He cited no specific reason for the closing of the city's principal financial institutions.

He urged the federal government to "undertake to help the depositors of these closed institutions and the city of Detroit," adding that "reimbursements and recriminations are futile. Only the actual aid of the government will suffice to remedy the evil conditions that exist."

It was in the upper structure the fire raged ten hours before bursting through the roof. Walls of the big concrete pier weakened under the terrific heat and water and yellow smoke spouted from jagged cracks throughout the entire end of the building, located in the centre of Halifax's shipping and mercantile district. Long sheets of water poured from the numerous expansion joints, flooding the lower level which so far had escaped the blaze.

URSCHEL WILL RELATE STORY OF KIDNAPPING

Oil Millionaire to Give Details of How Kidnappers Took Nine Days of His Life and $200,000 from His Purse.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 19.—A dozen jurors and a dozen defendants were to hear today Charles F. Urschel's story of how kidnappers took nine days out of his life and $200,000 from his purse.

The stalwart oil millionaire told the whole story to federal agents as soon as his abductors freed him last July 31st, and it led quickly to the capture of Harvey Bailey, reckless outlaw, and eleven other persons now on trial on federal charges of conspiracy to kidnap. The public, however, has heard but fragments of the tale.

Preceded by five attorneys making opening statements, Urschel was expected to reach the stand by early afternoon.

A jury of small town business men and farmers was selected in an all-day session yesterday.

The charges, brought under the new "Lindbergh" law, carry a maximum sentence of life imprisonment upon conviction.

HALIFAX PIER WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE TODAY

Firemen Experienced Difficult Time Checking Flames—Damage Will Amount to at Least Three-Quarters of a Million

Halifax, Sept. 19.—Sweeping flames discovered early this morning, raked the 1200 foot pier. No. Two of the Halifax Harbour Commission, caused damages roughly estimated at more than $750,000, sent three firemen to the hospital, destroyed the bulk of Halifax's seasonal shipment of new flour, and threw more than seven hundred longshoremen out of employment.

Every available piece of fire-fighting equipment was pumping water into the seething structure from where nearly all Canadian troops embarked for overseas during the Great War. Even old "King Edward," a horse-drawn pumper, was towed to the scene and pressed into play.

It was in the upper structure the fire raged ten hours before bursting through the roof. Walls of the big concrete pier weakened under the terrific heat and water and yellow smoke spouted from jagged cracks throughout the entire end of the building, located in the centre of Halifax's shipping and mercantile district. U.S. NOT LIKELY TO ABANDON ITS PLANS FOR NAVY

Despite British Suggestions, Naval Circles Believe that $238,000,000 Cruiser Building Programme Will Be Left Intact.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Confident assertions that the United States will maintain intact its $238,000,000 naval building programme were heard today. Naval circles today in reply to reports that Great Britain has suggested abandonment of the plan.

Seeking to reconcile known British views on naval construction with a State Department denial that abandonment of the entire thirty-two-ships programme had been proposed, naval experts agreed that any British suggestion almost certainly would deal with vessels in the 10,000 ton cruiser category.

England repeatedly has urged a limitation to around the 7,000 ton figure for vessels of this class.

But so positive was the navy of completing the building programme made it possible by public works funds, that it planned to ask Congress for a fifty per cent. increase in its fighting air strength, or a boost in numbers from 1,000 to 1,500 serviceable airplanes to help equip the additional ships.

COAST TO COAST HIGHWAY WILL BE COMPLETED SOON

Expected that by Next Year Gap of Only Three Hundred Miles Will Remain.

Port Arthur, Sept. 19.—Canada will likely have a coast to coast motor highway by this time next year if the present plans of the Ontario Government work out. It will involve the use of lake steamers to bridge one gap of some 300 miles, but while the long-mooted trans-Canada highway will not be an actual fact, it will be possible for a motorist to travel from Halifax to Vancouver without leaving Canadian territory.

ALTHOUGH, N.Y., Sept. 19.—Mayor John P. O'Brien of New York City, and a number of the Empire State's veteran political stalwarts faced the test of party confidence in the New York primaries today.

Besides O'Brien, the brightly colored primary ballots spelled the strength or weakness of mayoralty candidates of several smaller cities, or the leaders back of them.

TWO MORE STATES VOTING ON REPEAL MEASURE TODAY

Drys Hope to Stem Advancing Repeal Wave in Idaho, Long Home of Prohibition—Repeal Victory Seen in New Mexico.

Washington, Sept. 19.—New Mexico and Idaho were having their say about U. S. prohibition today—the former very quietly and the latter with a wider display of interest.

Clear skies, calling the rural vote to the polls, encouraged the dries of Idaho, home state of that long time friend of prohibition, Senator Borah. Allied dries predicted a vote of more than 100,000 with "well over 50,000" opposing repeal. William Healey, a repeal candidate, envisioned a 15,000 repeal majority out of a total vote of 75,000.

These two states, the only ones to vote on repeal this week, are the thirtieth and thirty-first to ballot on the question. The other twenty-nine all have approved wiping the Eighteenth Amendment from the constitution.

Repealists hope for final success by November 7th, when at least 39 states will have made their decision. Dries are striving to hold their lines. Approval of thirty-six states is necessary to amend the constitution.

QUEBEC SCENE OF A FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLAR BLAZE

It Was Four Hours Before Firemen from Ten Stations Were Able to Place Outbreak Under Control.

Quebec, Sept. 19.—Fire breaking out on the top floor of a four-story building on St. John street last night resisted the efforts of firemen from ten stations for nearly four hours before it was under control.

The building housed the Montmagny photographic establishment and H. J. Willis and company, pharmacists, two of the oldest firms of their kind in the city, and the stocks of both are a complete loss through fire, smoke and water.

A three-story brick building adjoining it, in which was located the Dundas Tailors in the bottom and the home of the Honespun firm on the second floor, was threatened for a time when the flames attacked its roof. The fire is thought to have resulted from the ignition of film in the Montmagny plant, and the quantity of chemicals and acids stored in the place is believed responsible for the stubborn nature of the blaze.

The flames were first noticed by a fireman at No 1 station, only a stone's throw away on the opposite side of the street.

Damage is estimated at between $35,000 and $50,000.

FOREIGN GOODS SHIPPED VIA DOMINION EXEMPTED

Belgian Sales Tax Instituted a Year Ago Has Been Removed.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—The Belgian sales tax instituted a year ago against semi-manufactured goods and manufactured goods from Canada, whether produced and shipped to foreign goods shipped through Canadian ports now has been altered so that foreign goods shipped through Canadian ports will not be taxed, it was announced by the Department of Trade and Commerce yesterday.

Goods produced in Canada, however, will still have to meet this import.

The concession will mean much to Canadian transportation companies, it is claimed, as goods from the middle west of the United States may be transported to Canadian eastern ports and shipped to Belgium, entering that country on the same basis as if shipped through a U. S. port. The tax is 2 1/2 per cent. on semi-manufactured goods and five per cent. on manufactured goods.

TOT KNEW HOW TO LOOK DEATH IN THE FACE

Hardy Natives of North Carolina Coast Deeply Moved by Death of Little Hurricane Victim.

New Bern, N. C., Sept. 19.—Hardy natives of the north Carolina coast, accustomed as they are to tragic episodes of the sea, and heroic rescues—indeed, the Hatteras shoals are known as the graveyard of the Atlantic—were deeply moved by the death of a little girl, Frieda Mae Garraway, who knew how to look death in the face during the hurricane of last Saturday.

Frieda, living in the bachelor community of this county, was planned to the floor when the Carraway home, its foundation weakened by a pounding tide, began to crumble. While water crept into the wreckage inch by inch, her father and neighbors tried in vain to extricate her.

Wind tore through gaps in the wall, making it impossible for one to stand up. The men worked frantically as the mad waves swirled through the house, but the water rose higher. Then the roof fell and they had to flee.

The girl looked stoically upon the frantic faces of her father and friends.

The brave little heroine of heroism coming out of many parts of the storm area, but the death of little Frieda Mae Garraway has already reached the proportions of an epic that will long be recounted around firesides in the fishing villages.

THE COMPOSITION OF A DAY.

George Gordon Payne.

The day is made of light and night
Joy and sorrow, love and hate,
Strength and courage, fear and fright,
Commanded by a thing called fate.
Troubles and woes block the way
From beginning of the day,
Then joy makes its presence known
And lightens the stringent tone.
But time's relentless swing around
Brings to all peace at the end,
And when darkness shadows all the ground
In content our way will wend.
The silence of the restful night,
On soft wings it makes its flight,
While we pass on in sweet repose,
Oblivious to those daily blows.

IT HAS BECOME A HABIT TO IGNORE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS.

Sherbrooke was not made an airport, nor did it get a single appropriation under the broad meaning of Harbours and Rivers—no, not even a public building. We muse and are amused as we ponder the why.

Even a vacant judgeship or an unused seat in the Senate goes elsewhere, but does not come here. Four years ago we served notice on a previous administration that it did not politically pay to ignore Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships. Ignoring ignorance, too dense to be relieved, cost the then government seven seats considered safe and competent.

This gentle return to the same problem we now serve as a writ or a replevin, or as a seizure. We do not ask for "doles" to build a canal from Memphremagog to the St. Lawrence, but we do aim to get as much from the Public Pork Barrel as does Little Anse or Big Mouth River, or even as much as Jean Poliot would like to pry for Rimouski, or wherever he lives.

Why should Anse Tadoussac get a $44,000 wharf when neither Sherbrooke nor Magog are given even a scow?

Of $1,112,309 for dredging and wharfs in Quebec, what did the Eastern Townships get in 1932? Not a stiver; not even a diaphanous rayon silk Bennett promise. No, sir, not even a Westbury dam! Nor any other expensive kind of expensive.

Poor old Shigawake P.O., she got $7,700. We do not know where Shig is, but at least $7,700 out of a million is more dole than Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Magog, Hatley and Lake St. Francis got from the pork barrel. Both Three Pistols and Vercheres got more than that, whilst the lobbying firm of Farley and Grant wangled $22,702 "on account" of wharves down by Carleton on the Gaspé-Perron highway.

Heartily, yes, wholeheartedly, in politics for political economy, and not easily influenced even by "doles," still we think Sherbrooke et al should have its share.

To be sure—yes, to be mighty sure—Sherbrooke elected an M.P. who is on the wrong side of the political fence, but as cheerfully we admit that we elected seven members who cuddle in, and are in good standing at the huddles, which are called caucus—plural, cauci.

All the attention the Eastern Townships has had is the closing up of the District Postal center, and that without even proof of any economy.

We do not believe in any policy of reprisal, but when an old Liberal stronghold goes over to a new administration, the while some pinheads in Montreal, claimed they organized the change, and, therefore, accepted the reward, then do we look for another change of heart.

Why should Louisburg get a new $51,000 wharf, upon which a few remaining fishermen can whistle and cut bait, and use it as a summer loafing place, whilst the Eastern Townships do not get even a new wharf? We had even to pay for our own look-out on the Langis Canal. Have you ever seen it?

Sherbrooke and its environs have been overlooked by Ottawa, and it galls us in the tenderest place. Perhaps the coming Conservative convention will develop some stirring Tory, who is a good beseecher for prog and pork. Single-handed, we may be able to stir Canada to concerted action, as we have done on the railway situation and on the need for public economy. But to get any share of the pap, to await in the corridors to see some smaller man than ourselves—why, that is worse to us than talking to a lawyer over the telephone. We have no stomach for asking for favours—but we can demand fair play.

CLAUDE NINETY-EIGHT ON FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

Inserted in the Criminal Code of Canada there is the oft-discussed Clause 98, which is so strongly objected to by the C.C.F. and its few thousand adherents, chiefly those of Communist instincts.

Freedom of speech and free discussion of public and social questions is inherent to the tradition of the British people throughout the world.

But Clause 98 expressly forbids the appeal to violence and bloodshed, which is not a British habit. Mob psychology is like an open tank of gasoline. We had only one outstanding instance of it in Canada, in Winnipeg, when the underworld politicians swarmed out from the slums and for a fortnight upset the good sense of many a sane man. Even the trade unions joined up with it, inspired to do so by the jealousy and envy of the excitable orators, who believed in revolution and bloodshed as their only opportunity to spring from beggars, and be men on horseback and rulers of the people. The good sense of the Canadians in Winnipeg was prompt to quell the disturbance, and nip the disturbers.

We have in Canada full freedom for religious, economic and political discussion, but Clause 98 applies only to the wild-eyed agitator whose brain is too small, and who suffers from raging fever by reason of thought indigestion. There is always the type of man who knows it all, because he knows too little.

Even the legal mind adopts the subterfuge that the Crown should show an actual deed of violence before conviction can be recorded against any person who incites to violence and disturbance.

But the people prefer that such violence should be nipped in the bud, for they realize how quickly disastrous is the appeal to the mob by men who understand the psychology of the ignorant and idle when their prejudices against work and thrift are appealed to by incendiary speech.

Free speech means freedom. It does not mean the thrall of the sane. As well place the inmates of an asylum in charge of the attendants, or allow the prisoners of the penitentiary to be the guards of the warden and his staff.

There are otherwise sane people who believe the stories of the prisoners in preference to the denials of their guards.

There are people in Toronto who encourage Communism and roydism by abusing their police force in the public print.

Clause 98 will be upheld by all people who are really and truly exponents of the freedom of speech until it becomes unlicensed and licentious speech. When the latter occurs then should the idle and vicious be choked off. That is the law; and we should watch the men, who, with the political fear of the man who thinks he can please everybody, would delete that clause.

Government by the mob would lead us into the slave market.

FROM AN AUTHORITY.

Thomas Bradshaw, who is a Torontonian of broad experience in finance and in business, voiced a dozen rules on municipal and public financing before a meeting a fortnight ago.

The tenets which he laid down are those which we have been strongly advocating for several years, and we reprint them to show that our policies are permeating and percolating in a wide circle.

Within a month some two hundred publishers reprinted and credited articles, which originated in the Sherbrooke Record, duly crediting the origin, and we are encouraged to continue our expose of waste and extravagance by the endorsement of such authorities as Mr. Bradshaw. Here are the points which he emphasizes:

- Halt municipal debt increases.
- Sound, 100 per cent. revenue producing assessments.
- Budget ready by January 31st.
- Keep expenditures within cash receipts.
- Never fund current deficits.
- First instalment of taxes should be payable as early in the year as possible, say May 1st.
- The aim should be to collect taxes in the year in which they fall due.
- Bank borrowings and bank interest should be kept down to a minimum.
- Relief debentures, if justified, should not be for more than five years and for only 25 to 50 per cent. of the net cost of the year's relief.
- Educational costs must be reduced—"and they can be."
- Local improvement debt should be incurred only when absolutely essential and well within the benefited ratepayers' ability to pay.
- Public utilities operations should yield a profit after all operating charges, depreciation, interest and principal.
- Guarantee of bonds should not be countenanced.
- Subsidized bonds are not a sound method of financing.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.
September 19th, 1903.

Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Rt. Hon. C. T. Ritchie and Lord George Hamilton resigned from the British cabinet, the government refusing to accept their views on Imperial Preference.

Two local talent plays were presented at Cook, Cowling, G. Charnock, Messrs. J. Wilson, P. R. Roy, C. Pennoyer and C. Barlow.

Noe Desorcy, of Barford, presented the Record editor with a Hebron variety potato that weighed 3 pounds 7 ounces. A mark for modern farmers to shoot at.

President Diaz of Mexico opposed that country entering on a wholesale railway construction programme, arguing that the cost would outweigh the benefits.

The operating expenses for the Compton County Council were fixed at $2,000 for the coming year. The valuation of the county was placed at $3,400,000.

C. Walker, of Lower Windsor, lost a valuable horse which was badly injured in an all-night fight with another equine.

Rev. M. O. Therrien, Grande Ligne Baptist minister, resigned from active work to make his home at Roxton Pond.

The rapid growth of the British Passive Resistance Movement led to the arrest of 4,000 Free Churchmen who refused to pay their rates under the Education Act.

Reading Railway officials were searching for a lost passenger train. It later turned up, having been stranded by floods for several days.

PRESS COMMENT

THE RAILWAYS' FUTURE.

The Toronto Globe.

In an outburst on the calamitous financial position of the country, the Montreal Star says: "How long can we keep up a $80,000,000 deficit on the C.N.R.? Mr. Beatty says his plan would work a railway economy of $64,000,000 a year. If his plan will do this, some similar plan of amalgamation under other auspices will at least take us out of the red."

And the Montreal paper picks from Mr. S. J. Hungerford's paper, read on Transportation Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, "a very curious statement," to the effect that "he does not share the pessimism 'felt in some quarters about Canada having more railway mileage than can be economically supported at present. This, expresses fairly well the attitude of some politicians in Canada, who, for their own profit, have endeavored, and endeavor, to tell the taxpayer into a false sense of security by a calculated misrepresentation of actual conditions in the transportation industry."

"The whole story, which is to be found between the covers of the Commission's report," it concludes, "is that the country has no pressing sense that Canada can go on trying the present railway burden."

Mr. Hungerford's incidental reference to railway mileage has to be considered in relation to the rest of his address. He admits that the country has a surplus of 649 miles, while the Canadian Pacific constructed 2,265 miles and acquired 207 miles, the outlay of the former being $92,000,000 and the latter $70,000,000. Witnesses for both systems admitted that the future had been anticipated each fearing that the other would get in on the ground floor first; but the benefit of this policy over the years—apart from the mistake—is not given its proper valuation when railway waste is condemned.

In speaking hopefully of the future transportation systems, the Acting President of the Canadian National assumes that the recommendations of the Royal Commission will be observed. And if one looks for the whole story between the covers of the Commission's report it will be found that amalgamation is condemned as something impossible, and that the solution is found in such measures of co-operation as are outlined and accepted by Mr. Hungerford in his speech.

What, then, is to be gained by bringing up the rejected policy of amalgamation as the only one to meet the situation? A correspondent has written to inquire if the delay in appointing C.N.R. trustees is due to the desire of St. James Street to overrule some of the recommendations. Apparently the interim is being employed with this end in view.

The Commission's plan was evolved with two points in view: To "correct evils which admittedly exist in the operations of the railways," and to "provide machinery for co-operation between the two railways with a view to improving their financial position."

Let us get on with this, and cease harping on other aspects of the problem to suit the wishes of special interests. The railways are a bigger and more important asset to the country in their present state, than the ambitions of St. James Street.

IMMENSE OBSTACLES.

Halifax Herald.

Hon. J. L. Ralston discussed the long series of world conferences held since the Great War, observing that "until this year's London Conference nations had gathered with a view to 'provide machinery for co-operation between the two railways with a view to improving their financial position.'"

Let us get on with this, and cease harping on other aspects of the problem to suit the wishes of special interests. The railways are a bigger and more important asset to the country in their present state, than the ambitions of St. James Street.

Speaking at the same meeting, Professor Raymond Moley, former head of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, admitted that what he described as the necessity of the United States maintaining its freedom in tariffs and monetary affairs was an unfortunate contributory cause of the Conference failure.

In short, while Colonel Ralston was deploring the "emergence of nationalist self-sufficiency," Professor Moley was admitting that sort of "necessity that knows no law" in tariffs and monetary affairs.

If a "nationalist self-sufficiency" is a necessity with such a great nation as the United States, then it is difficult to understand how world economic conferences are to succeed. But perhaps at some date in the future this "nationalist self-sufficiency" will cease to be a "necessity" with the great American Republic—and then the nations may again gather in conference with some prospects of success.

THE NEWSPAPER OF TODAY.

Boston Globe Star.

It is not many years ago that every paper, or nearly so, was the mouthpiece of one of the major parties and the presentation of its news was colored by this fact. Today, happily, there is a change. Every party newspaper has deserted the old methods and the presentation of strictly independent publications is very large.

Independence, of course, does not mean that a newspaper should refrain from expressing opinions on political and other topics, though some persons seem to think so. Independence means a fair approach to every subject, with a frank expression of either praise or criticism.

HARVEST THANKSGIVING CELEBRATED AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

"Come Ye Thankful People, Come!" The words of this grand old harvest hymn were splendidly answered by the people of St. Paul's mission last evening when they turned out en masse for the annual Thanksgiving supper sponsored by the Ladies' Guild in the parish hall. Welcomed by the acting president, Mrs. J. W. Cotterell, and by their Rector, Rev. W. H. Cheverton, the guests arrived in a constant stream between the hours of five-thirty and eight o'clock, during which supper was served.

The hall was attractively decorated with the "fruits of the harvest," grain, fruit, vegetables and flowers, the latter adding their touch of beauty to the tempting looking supper tables, which were laden with many delicacies, of which there seemingly was an endless store, for some of the guests were served with all the good things contained in the well planned menu. Mrs. T. V. Oak acted as treasurer, and the tables were in charge of Mrs. S. Odell, Mrs. A. Taylor, Mrs. B. Thorne, Mrs. S. Farmer, Mrs. F. Payne and Mrs. D. Mancigo, who were ably assisted by other members of the Guild.

The Harvest Thanksgiving services took place on Sunday, when large congregations attended all the services, which were conducted by the Rector. Special hymns and music were appropriately marked the harvest season, while the interior of the beautiful little church was artistically decorated with grain, fruit, vegetables and flowers, the gifts of a thankful people for the blessings of harvest.

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S. ELECTED OFFICERS

The election of officers and an address on the Oxford group movement by Rev. Cecil King, of Montreal, were outstanding features of the opening fall meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church, convened last night in the church hall.

Following the customary devotional exercises and routine business, the election of officers was proceeded with, resulting as follows: President, George Mennie; vice-president, Miss Katherine McDougall; treasurer, Don Watson; and secretary, Miss Muriel Gibson.

The retiring president, Miss Edith Hill, thanked the members for their splendid support and co-operation during her term in office. She then invited Rev. Cecil King, of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, to address the meeting. The subject of the Oxford group movement, which is attracting much attention at present, was ably and forcefully put before the members, who listened attentively to Mr. King's message about this revivifying religious organization. On behalf of the Y. P. S., St. Andrew's Church, the pastor, Rev. J. R. Graham, extended a vote of thanks and appreciation to the guest speaker.

ALLEGED TO HAVE CONFESSED TO BROMPTONVILLE ROBBERY

Onesiphore Michelin, twenty-three years old, of Montreal, who was arrested on the charge of having broken into the C. N. R. depot at Bromptonville, has admitted his guilt, according to Constable Noel, of the Canadian National Railway, who arrested the young man following the robbery on Thursday last.

The C. N. R. constable informed the Record this morning that Michelin had confessed to breaking into the Bromptonville station and stealing about fifteen dollars. The young man, according to Constable Noel, stated that he broke a window leading into the station house, and in this manner gained admittance. He forced open a drawer with an ice-pick and removed about fifteen dollars.

Constable Noel was assigned to the case as soon as the theft was discovered and his investigation led to Michelin's arrest in this city.

Michelin appeared before a Justice of the Peace yesterday at the local Court House and was remanded to next week, when he will face the District Magistrate.

WILD SCENE IN THETFORD WHEN MAN FIRES GUN

Bullet Struck High Voltage Wire, Caused Short Circuit in Q.C.R. Station and Set Building on Fire—City Plunged in Darkness.

The time was 2 a. m. Monday, September 18th.

The scene was Main street in Thetford Mines.

A shot rang out. Another. Then a third and a fourth.

The city of Thetford Mines was plunged in darkness. Somebody screamed, it may have been a woman. The inebriated gentleman started to run down the dark street.

A policeman fumbled for his revolver and gave chase.

The city of Thetford Mines had been slumbering, but now it was awake. Wide awake, although in darkness.

Somebody said: "They've cut the electric wires. They must be holding up the bank."

The inebriated gentleman continued to run, and the policeman continued to give chase. They had retraced their tracks and were passing the Quebec Central Railway station when the policeman noticed flames inside the building. He forgot about the culprit and forced his way into the station.

He sounded the alarm and the Thetford Mines fire brigade came to his assistance. The flames were extinguished.

But the man who had fired the shots had gone.

In Sherbrooke news of the disturbance soon led to the fabrication of wild rumors. Some local citizens heard that all lines of communication leading in and out of Thetford Mines had been cut and that the two banks had been robbed.

The thieves, they also heard, had the presence of mind to disorganize the city's electric power.

Q. C. R. officials attempted to communicate with Thetford Mines, but the telephone lines were down.

"Do you think," said a skeptical individual to a friend who was discussing the affair, "that bandits would have had the presence of mind to do that—cut the wires all over the city?"

"Sure," the friend agreed. "Bandits can do anything."

The Record communicated with the Thetford Mines Chief of Police this morning.

The Chief of Police was pleasantly loquacious. There had been no hold up of any bank, however—but some individual had run wild. "He had a big revolver," the Chief told the Record representative. "He shot down the Shawinigan Power cable which threw the city in darkness."

It also caused a fire in the station house and the place caught on fire.

Police are today searching for the man with tendencies of the "old and golden west." He is not believed to be a Thetford Mines resident.

Quebec Central Railway officials told the Record that the damage from the fire had been light. Severed by a bullet from the gun in the hands of the presumably inebriated gentleman, a 15,000 volt cable of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company fell across the telephone wires near the station house and caused a short circuit. Flames broke out inside the building, and according to the station house, a fire in the woodwork near the apparatus.

The window frames were also scorched by the blaze.

The telephone and electric wires have been repaired and the excitement has died down.

But the city is still trembling when they go to bed at night—for the "bad man" will return.

IRISH ALUMNI PREPARES FOR ACTIVE SEASON

Austin Workman Elected President of St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association at Annual Meeting Last Evening as Successor to Kenny Flaherty.

Plans for the continuation of the revived interest which the St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association experienced last year were outlined at the annual meeting of the organization held last evening in the Academy gymnasium under the chairmanship of the retiring president, Kenny Flaherty. Reports of the activities of the past year by the retiring board and the election of a new slate comprised the principal items on the evening's agenda.

Austin Workman, vice-president of the Irish alumni last year, was named president by acclamation, as also were the remaining officers, namely, Jack Powers, vice-president; Hugh Macdonald, elected secretary; and Francis Kennedy, treasurer. The executive committee for the coming year includes Charles Stenson, Pat Slattery, Laurent Savage and Kenny Flaherty, while the chairman of the various committees are: J. D. Joslin and J. H. Walsh and Ernest Sylvester, secretary; and Francis Kennedy, treasurer. Desmond McKee, and sergeant-at-arms, Eddie McGinty.

The honorary officers are: Rev. Father J. C. McGee, patron and chaplain; Rev. Father A. Linahan, chairman of the board of directors; and Rev. Brother Benedict, honorary president.

In the report submitted by the retiring president, mention was made of the loss suffered by the Association in the deaths of its revered patron, Rev. Canon E. G. Fiset, and one of its members, Desmond Mulvena. A minute's silence was observed by the meeting in respect to their memories before the evening's business was started.

After expressing his gratitude for the co-operation afforded him by the Academy's teaching staff and the support tendered him by his fellow officers, Mr. Flaherty pleaded for the same measure of co-operation for the officers assuming their duties this evening.

In his inaugural address, the new president commented on the success which the St. Patrick's junior hockey team, a project sponsored by the Association, had realized, and mentioned the formation of a social club in St. Patrick's Church.

Although no definite plans have yet been made in regard to sport activities, the chairman of this committee pointed out, efforts would be made to continue the annual Old Boys vs. Academy game.

Other discussions of social activities, and these matters were left in abeyance until the next meeting which, it is expected, will assume the form of a "smoker" at which the honorary officers will be introduced to the Association.

A resolution which was unanimously adopted was the forwarding of a hearty vote of thanks to the Sherbrooke Record for the splendid support which had been given to the Association during the past year. The secretary was instructed to write a letter of thanks to the Record's president and editor, Alfred Wood.

Before the meeting adjourned, it was decided to hold regular meetings on the first and third Wednesdays of every month until the hockey season started, and Wednesday, October 4, was selected as the evening for the first regular meeting under the new regime.

AUTUMN SEASON AT "Y" OPENED WITH BANQUET

Large Number of Members of Local Association Attended Impromptu Dinner which Ushered in 1933-34 Season Last Evening

"The Young Men's Christian Association is a company in which you are the shareholders," William Wolter, successor to W. P. McVie as general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., told the large gathering of members who attended the banquet which ushered in the autumn's activities last evening. "It is principally your duty to maintain interest in our organization and assist in every possible manner to foster its development," he continued.

The informal dinner, which served the dual purpose of inaugurating the 1933-34 season and of introducing the physically-appointed general secretary, brought a splendid response from the members. Seated at the head table with Mr. Wolter were J. R. Sangster, president of the Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors, Bob Richardson and Walter Murray, chairman of the physical department, and Jack Chamberlain, physical director.

Mr. Wolter drew the attention of his audience to the membership campaign which will be attempted shortly. Outlining the responsibilities in this connection which rested on the shoulders of the members, the general secretary pointed out that the Y. M. C. A. movement had its objective primarily aimed at the development of young men and boys. Such a campaign was vital to the growth and progress of the Association, the speaker stated, as he asked the full co-operation of all the members.

A comparison of present advantages with the meagre facilities afforded when the local branch was established here in the nineties was made by Mr. Sangster. The Association's first headquarters were in the

MAJOR PENNANT FLAGS MAY BE HOISTED TODAY

New York Giants Need Lone Victory to Clinch National League Banner, while Washington Senators Are but Two Victories Away from World Series.

New York, Sept. 19.—Baseball prosperity, represented by the National and American League pennants, was just around the corner today for the New York Giants and the Washington Senators. All the Giants needed to clinch the National League flag for the first time since 1924 was one victory for themselves or a defeat for their only rival, Pittsburgh. Washington was just half as well off. The Senators needed two victories, two New York defeats or a combination of one triumph and one Yankee reverse.

It was possible neither flag would be clinched today, but the Giants, slated to play their final game at St. Louis while the Pirates landed with the Phillies in a double-header, expected to end the National League race by tonight. They let just such an opportunity slip through their fingers yesterday, but the four to three decision they dropped to the St. Louis Cardinals worried them less than the narrow escape "Fat Fred" Fitzsimmons had from serious injury.

The veteran right-hander held a two to one lead with two men out in the second inning when a line drive from Bob O'Farrell's bat cracked him on the neck. "Fitz" went down and lay gasping. A club house examination revealed he had suffered no serious hurt. Despite the defeat, the Giants moved closer to the pennant, for Pittsburgh got no better than an even break in a twin bill with the Phils. Paul Waner's homer in the eighth inning gave the Corsairs the first game by two to one, but Ed Hollett came back with a four-hit shutout in the nightcap and the Phillies won by six to nothing. The Boston Braves pounded out fourteen hits to wallop the Cincinnati Reds by eight to two, while Brooklyn beat the Chicago Cubs by six to four.

Following the Giants' lead, Washington also picked up ground although beaten. They bowed to the St. Louis Browns by four to two but moved one game closer to the flag when the Yankees split a double-header with the Chicago White Sox.

Sam Gray, who some weeks ago confessed to a sore arm and injured a transaction by which he was to wear a Washington uniform and thus would have been eligible for a slice of world series money, held the Senators well in hand all the way although touched for ten hits. Bob Burke pitched well for seven innings but a double by Bruce Campbell, a walk to Oscar Melillo and a triple by Tom Gullic gave the Browns two runs and the game in the eighth frame. Johnny Allen held the White Sox to two hits as the Yankees won the first game by six to two, but the Pale Hose came back to take the nightcap by four to three behind the steady pitching of the Dallas recruit, Leslie Tietje. Lou Gehrig hit a homer in each game to bring his season's total to twenty-nine.

Oral Hildebrand also pitched two-hit ball as Cleveland blanked the Boston Red Sox by nine to nothing. Homer by Crane, Johnson and Higgins helped the Philadelphia Athletics nose out Detroit by nine to eight.

MINOR LEAGUE PLAY-OFF SERIES DEADLOCKED

Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 19.—Rochester and Buffalo are primed for their third tilt this afternoon at Red Wing Stadium in the final play-off series for the International League championship. Each has won a contest, the Wings by one to nothing on Sunday to break a five-game victory streak of the Bisons and the Herd by seven to two last night to break a four-game streak of the Wings.

Two of Buffalo's wins were in the regular season and three in the play-off series with Baltimore. Rochester had lost the first play-off to Newark and then had won three straight from the club and added another win over Buffalo. Buffalo's victory last night before 9,000 was etched on the hitting of Len Koencke, who smashed out two home runs, and the pitching of Charley Perkins, who left-pawed the Wings to a six-hit defeat. While Koencke was driving home five runs with two blows over the right-field fence, Perkins was handing the Wings goose eggs in all but the sixth frame when three hits were bunched by Carey, Toporcer and Pepper for the two Wing tal-

LENNOXVILLE CROWNED THREE NEW CHAMPIONS

Miss Eileen McMurray, Ladies' Champion, Only One of Four 1932 Title Holders to Successfully Defend Golf Laurels This Summer.

In every branch of sport, 1933 has been a bad year for title-holders. The 1932 champions who successfully defended their laurels this year are about as numerous as Chinese laundrymen in a nudist camp. Golf, tennis, boxing, baseball and horse racing have all bid adieu to the 1932 idols to pay tribute to the new crop of champions.

The same conditions have existed at the Lennoxville Golf Club this season. Of the four 1932 cup holders, only Miss Eileen McMurray retained her title. Harry Marinsine, club champion, Henry Downs, holder of the Stewart handicap trophy, and Bob McMurray, winner of the Downs "B" Class handicap award, "have been defeated by new names appear on all three cups.

Lawrence A. Brooks, former Eastern Townships junior champion, is Marinsine's successor as the Lennoxville monarch. By a margin of four and two, Brooks defeated Stan Walker in the final round to capture the Rosenbloom trophy.

John Parker's seven and two triumph over Fred Pattison entitled him to the Stewart handicap cup while Henry Downs relinquished, while Basil Baker nosed out the victor in the final round. Baker's margin was one up in the final round, and his name today occupies a plaque next to that of Bob McMurray, deposited holder.

Miss McMurray, who made a profound impression in the qualifying round and the match play of the Eastern Townships ladies' championship tournament at the Sherbrooke Country Club this year, won her third straight Lennoxville ladies' title. Miss Carolyn Taylor attempted to disrupt Miss McMurray's bid for a third consecutive championship, but failed by the narrow margin of one down.

Russell Johnson, noted for his exploits on the ice surface, won the junior competition inaugurated in Lennoxville this year, the junior handicap championship. Johnson achieved a three and two conquest of Ed. Parker in the final round of this event.

KAYSER SOFTBALL TEAM DEFEATED SHERBROOKE COTTONS

Acton Vale, Sept. 19.—Playing an exhibition game here on Sunday, the Sherbrooke Cottons team, runners-up in the Sherbrooke Ladies' Softball League, defeated the champion Julius Kayser aggregation by eleven to six. Connecting freely with Lucille Begin's offerings, the Cottons aggregation had registered six counters in the first three innings before Kayser was able to cross the plate. Three tallies in the third frame put Kayser again in the running, but Cottons replied with a trio of markers in the following chukker to put the game on ice.

Kayser concluded their scoring in the final frame with a brace of tallies in the fifth and added two in the sixth.

The score by innings was as follows:

Cottons 402 302-11
Kayser 003 012-6

The teams lined up as follows:

Cottons: Houie's, Tronlay, Rita Roy, Margie Tessier, Lilian Voisine, Florence Drapeau, Georgianna Bilodeau, Beryl Mandigo, Paulette Cabana, Gilberte Gagne and Jeanne Marie.

SHARKEY ELIMINATED AS LEADING THREAT

Chicago, Sept. 19.—King Levinsky, Chicago West Side battler, today had his eye on Primo Carnera's world heavyweight boxing title following his defeat of Jack Sharkey, former champion, in a rough and tumble battle at Comiskey Park. Carnera has met and defeated Levinsky twice.

The defeat practically eliminated the ex-gob as a heavyweight threat, although he has another bout booked with Tommy Loughran at Philadelphia on September 27. However, his share in both fights is $25,000.

Sharkey entered the ring a favorite, but the money of his backers were glimmering in the first round. Levinsky rocked Jack with a hard right and followed with another that floored the ex-champion for a seven count. Later in his dressing room Sharkey admitted that he never recovered from that first blow. "King" had Sharkey staggering in the second round when he again scored with rights. When the bell ended the third round the Boston fighter was so dazed from the constant hammering of Levinsky's fists that he walked to a neutral corner and had to be helped to his seat. Sharkey was unable to use any boxing science against the bull-like charging Levinsky and hit low in the fifth round. The seventh was the only round that Jack won. King came near scoring a knock-out in the next round with his wild swings and won the last two by wide margins. The attendance was 20,317 and the gross receipts $52,996.40. Sharkey received $25,000 and Levinsky about $8,000.

MISS KIRKHAM MEDALLIST IN CLOSE TOURNAY

Brilliant Montreal Player, Who Lost Her Canadian Women's Open Title to Ada Mackenzie Last Week, Led Qualifying Round in Winnipeg Yesterday.

St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—All eyes were on Margery Kirkham, of Montreal, as she drove off in the first round of match play for the Canadian women's close golf championship here today.

After Ada Mackenzie, Toronto defender of the close title, took the open title from her last Saturday, Miss Kirkham forced her way back into the limelight with spectacular golf to win the close qualifying medal with a brilliant eighty-one here yesterday. She carded two amazing birdies at the end of the second nine to return a sub-par of thirty-seven for the second half and score her total of eighty-one, one less than the eighty-two posted by Miss Mackenzie in taking the open medal last Monday.

Miss Mackenzie was not playing her usual form and just managed to keep pace with her partner, Mrs. E. K. Bearst, Manitoba champion.

They carded identical scores for the two rounds and total of eighty-four to tie for second place in the medal standing. Both players had forty-three on the first nine and forty-one for the second. Miss Mackenzie's first round opponent is Mrs. C. E. Wilson, of Victoria, who had 100 in the qualifying round, and Mrs. Bearst meets Alice Macdonald, of Winnipeg.

Isobel Peppall, Ontario junior champion from Toronto, carded an eighty-eight and Marjory Murphy, a ninety. The qualifiers start match play today, with the eighteen-hole final Friday afternoon.

Miss Kirkham played a poor first nine yesterday for a total of forty-four at the turn. But from then on she improved steadily, stroking deadly iron shots and averaging short putts.

The cards turned in by Miss Kirkham and Miss Mackenzie were:

Miss Kirkham: 535 673 546-44
In 443 653 624-47-51
Miss Mackenzie: 635 554 546-43
In 444 455 638-41-54

SOMERVILLE HAS NO ALIBIS OVER LOSS OF TITLE

London, Ont., Sept. 19.—C. K. "Sandy" Somerville, star Canadian golfer, was back at his desk today, smiling and unperturbed, after losing the amateur golf championship in the United States in the quarter-finals last week.

"Sandy" slipped quietly into the city on Sunday with no excuses. He said it was a well-contested competition and he was satisfied. Wet weather on Thursday was a handicap, but all the players were subject to the same conditions, he pointed out.

Pressed as to whether the strain of his previous hard-fought matches had affected his play in the quarter-final on Thursday, when he was eliminated two and one by Lawson Little, of San Francisco, "Sandy" admitted that such hard points, while he had Wednesday would undoubtedly have had some effect. But it was possible for a man to reach the height of his game after being stimulated by such contests and he said he had a good night's sleep after winning in forty-one holes in Wednesday's matches.

In "Sandy's" opinion the outstanding feature of the competition was the low scoring. "They were lower than I expected," he said. Somerville used the same club that he has been using all this season, with the addition of a new sort of niblick which he said was very handy in traps.

"Sandy" said there were no new styles of play introduced as far as he could see.

MADE HIS FOURTH HOLE IN ONE

Sarnia, Ont., Sept. 19.—W. D. MacMillan, Sarnia bank manager, was credited today with making golf history in this city. Friends of Mr. MacMillan revealed yesterday he had made a hole in one on Saturday, bringing his total of "aces" to four in three years. Two were made on the Sarnia course, while the others were recorded at Saint John and Chicago.

HOCKEY

MAY CHANGE HOCKEY PENALTY RULE

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Saturday, September 30, will see club owners of the National Hockey League in session at Toronto for the semi-annual meeting. The schedule for 1933-34 will, it is expected, be adopted at that meeting and a number of player deals completed and announced.

Present indications are the league again will operate on a nine-club basis, with each club playing twenty-four games at home and a similar number away.

Much interest at the meeting, it is learned, will probably centre around the proposed change in the deferred penalty rule. It has been suggested that a team may have only one player on the penalty bench at a time, instead of a maximum of two under the present rules.

"So you use three pairs of glasses, Professor?"

"Yes, one pair for long sight, one pair for short sight, and the third to look for the other two."

AGE BOWED TO YOUTH IN AMATEUR GOLF FINAL

MONTREAL INTERMEDIATES DEFEATED MOUNT-SUTTON TEAM

Sutton, Sept. 19.—By a margin of four victories to two, a squad of intermediate tennis players from Montreal captured the honors in an exhibition match on Saturday against the Mount-Sutton Club. The local players were victorious in a singles and a doubles encounter, but lost the three remaining singles duels and doubles game.

Willard O'Donnell, 6-2, 6-3 conquest of Bill Childs of the C. P. R. Club, marked Sutton's lone triumph in the singles ranks.

"Sonny" Taylor tied rapidly in the third set of his long match with Erson Miller, Brooklyn Park star and Montreal South Shore champion, and lost by scores of 6-3, 5-7, 7-5 while "Ray" Boright gave Ed. Lanthier, 1932 junior champion, a hard fight before succumbing by 6-3, 9-7.

"Chuck" Myhill gave Paul Bennett straight opposition, but lost out in straight sets to the tune of 7-5, 6-4.

The doubles team of O'Donnell and Willard, Crocker teamed with Boright to turn back Lanthier and Jim Faulconbridge by 6-3, 6-4, but Bennett and Miller proved too smooth-functioning a pair for Taylor and N. Whitford and the Montreal combination won by scores of 6-2, 6-3.

Following the match, the visitors were entertained at dinner and later at a dance organized by the Mount-Sutton Club.

ANNUAL TOURNEY AT ST. PATRICK'S ACADEMY

An established item on the St. Patrick's Academy sport curriculum is the annual tennis tournament now in progress on the Irish school's well-conditioned courts. The first round has already been completed and, under the careful tutelage of the teaching staff, several of the boys are showing considerable promise.

There are fourteen aspirants seeking the senior title. Young players who have created quite an impression in both the City and Eastern Townships tournaments advanced at the expense of experienced opponents. John Hibbard eliminating Emery Jones by scores of 6-0, 6-4, and Harold Mooney taking the measure of Kevin Doherty to the tune of 6-2, 6-2. Paul McMahon gained the second round with a hard earned 6-2, 6-7 conquest of Norrey Davesy, while Gordon Dunn triumphed over Don Johnston by 6-4, 6-4. Vernon Murphy disposed of Claire Mayotte in straight sets by 6-0, 6-2 and Austin Conway moved ahead when Billie Veilleux defaulted.

The intermediate section, which drew eight contestants, is in its semi-final stage with Brendan Veilleux, Bill Johnson, Maurice Grigby and Harry Allen still in the running. Veilleux accounted for Lorne Murphy by 6-3, Johnson nosed out Willis Brooks by 6-4, Grigby conquered Leonard McManis by 6-3 and Allen subdued Bobbie Unsworth by 6-0.

In the junior division victories by default were recorded by Gerald Meagher and George Irwin against Dan Veasey and Ken Fraser, respectively, while the best previous mark for two hours was 20 miles and 1,150 yards made by Dave Komonen, of Toronto, in July.

The listed world record for a two-hour run is 20 miles and 952 yards by H. Green, of Great Britain, at London on May 12, 1913.
