Rodeo At Ormstown Exhibition Arena Next Tuesday And Wednesday Evening

BROUGHT IN UNDER AUSPICES OFORMSTOWN EXHIBITION BOARD ESPECIALLY FOR THIS OCCASION

You won't need to go to the Calgary Stampede for the thrills and chills of a real western rodeo, one is being brought right here to you, by the Ormstown Exhibition Board. You won't have to wait long to see it either ,it will be staged at the Arena in the Exhibition Grounds at Ormstown, on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 27th and 28th, that's next week. It will start each evening at 8.15 and you can be assured of a first-class entertainment and plenty of excitement.

Only once in a while is there a chance to see a rodeo in these parts and at such a small outlay and this is one of those times and no one should miss the opportunity. There will be a number of sensational animal acts as well as the usual Bronco Busting, Trick and Fancy Riding, Roping, Calf Roping, etc., etc. Specialty acts will be "Major", the Wonder Horse and "Smoky", the largest trained Brahma Bull. To round out the entertainment will be clown and other vaudeville acts between the many contests. Thirty-seven people and eighty head of livestock are required to put on this show. It has been seen by members of the Ormstown Exhibition under actual show conditions, so they feel confident in recommending the show to the people of the Beauharnois district. This show is to be the feature attraction at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., this year, so it's got to be good.

See the advertisement in this issue for further particulars as to admission prices, etc., and plan to attend this event that can only be seen this once on the dates mentioned. The horse show always proves popular at Ormstown Exhibition, well here is a different kind of horse show and one that should draw equally well. It's the type of thing that every boy and girl dreams about and every man and woman hopes to be able to take part in — cowboys of the western range bringing you those roun' up scenes, ridin' and ropin' and get along little dogies — in real life.

Progress Is Reported Regarding New Skating Rink

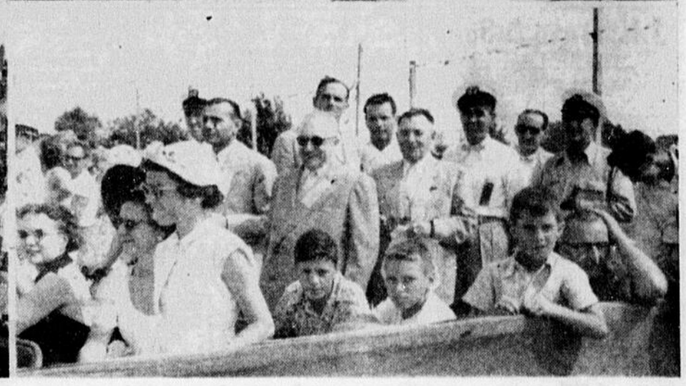
While nothing much has been reported as to the progress made with regard to the new skating rink during the past few weeks, nevertheless, work is being done on the project. Most of it is in the preliminary stage at the moment, that is plans are being studied with a view to deciding which will be best for Huntingdon. Meetings have been going on but there has been nothing of a definite nature to report other than that progress is being made.

Easier To Obtain U.S. Fishing and Hunting Licenses

The Legislature of N. Y. State has recently amended the Conservation Law, making it now possible for Canadians and others who are not citizens of the U.S.A. to purchase hunting or fishing licenses without being forced to get them through Albany.

Next year, every Town Clerk and some of the Village Clerks in Franklin County will have such licenses for issue, but for the present, due to the limited supply, the following Clerks have a few of each of Alien Hunting, Alien Fishing, and Alien 3-day Fishing licenses: Town Clerk, at Tupper Lake, Chateaugay, Malone, Moira, Saranac Lake, the Village Clerks in Tupper Lake and Malone, and the County Clerk's office in Malone.

Bob Schroeder Takes Feature Race in Valleyfield Regatta



The crowd that attended the fine international regatta which took place in Valleyfield during last weekend is believed to have been over 70,000. Visitors from all over the provinces of Quebec and Ontario as well as from the United States were present in Valleyfield for the occasion. The races were of interest for all the spectators. At the top left side of the picture, the outboards are starting the races with a two hours delay. At the middle left a few boats anchored near where the officials stand just in front of the home of Mr. Maurice Nicholson. At the bottom left, thousands of persons follow the races from Parc Sauvé. At the top right, Miss Louise Berthiaume (left) and Miss Renee Berthiaume (right) congratulate Bob Schroeder who won the honors in the Class 225 Sunday afternoon. For this victory he received from Mr. Clifford Foley, local manager of the Canadian Schenley, the golden cap, representing the championship of the regatta of the Canadian Boating Federation. At the bottom right, a few of the officials and guests, among whom can be recognized Mr. Edgar Hébert and Mrs. Hébert, Mr. Edouard Jeannotte M.L.A. for Vaudreuil-Soulanges, Mayor Louis Quevillon, Councillor Albert Marcil, Mr. Alphee Blanchard from Soulanges, Mr. Léo-Georges Perron, honorary commodore of the Boating Club, Mr. Emile Perron, Paul Chartrand and Edouard Quenneville, active members of the Boating Club of Valleyfield. Told to Stay In Bed He's Up, About at 99

An old-time Valleyfield citizen, now living in Montreal, has made a wonderful recovery from ill health recently and he is 99 years old. He was born 12 years before Confederation and just a few years ago was told he would never walk again.

He is George Wilson, who today makes his home in Montreal, but when he was a boy back in 1860 lived at the Wilson Home in Valleyfield. That was back in the time before electric lights and when candles were used for after dark. He started his schooling in Valleyfield, but later, he made the round trip to Huntingdon daily to attend the Academy here. When he was 15, he went to Montreal to work and in 1929, after 59 working years, he retired.

His story also brings to mind other past history, for his nephews were connected with the Shortis case at Valleyfield and here is something of what happened:

Valleyfield was shocked when on March 1, 1895, Cuthbert Shortis, son of an Irish millionaire, killed two men and wounded another in a robbery attempt at the Montreal Cotton factory. One of the dead was John Lowe, the company cashier and George Wilson's nephew. The wounded clerk, Hugh Wilson, was also a nephew.

"The inquest is going on in there," said a friend to George as they passed on the street. "Let's go in."

"I don't want to," George said.

But as the two men paused at the door of the courthouse, George heard Shortis say: "I haven't been allowed a lawyer and I am not getting justice."

"You'll get justice all right," thundered George, as he strode into the courtroom and let fly a haymaker.

The judge sentenced the raging uncle to three hours in jail for contempt.

"He gave me an awful lecture," George remembers.

Well now, at 99 years, George is once again able to be around. He had resigned himself to staying in a hospital bed to await the time when he would be called. About six months ago he felt an odd sensation in his legs and decided he would climb out of bed. He did just this and walked across the room and has been walking ever since. On Friday, George received a visit from his son George, who came from Winnipeg to see his father. Between them they have watched 173 years pass by. He now is enjoying the comforts of his home at 1205 Fort Street, where he has lived for the past 14 years.

Final Moves Made For Cease Fire In Indo-China

U.S. Soldiers Released By Czechoslovakia Communist Captors

The United States in a move to strengthen French-British efforts toward peace in Indo-China has sent Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith back to the Geneva conference.

The U.S. diplomat moved right in on East-West negotiations at the week-end by meeting Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain and French Premier Mendes-France.

Earlier meetings between Mendes-France and Eden with V. M. Molotov were apparently unproductive in reaching terms to break down the negotiation deadlock.

French, British and Soviet delegations met regularly but an authoritative source said there had been no progress at all on any of the real issues.

Arrival of Smith indicated a new phase in negotiations which might change the gloomy atmosphere.

Western diplomats thought the Communists might still come around. One suggested Molotov might be holding out to gain as much as possible.

One of the big stumbling blocks reported was disagreement on the partition line to be drawn through Viet Nam State; that Mendes-France wanted it at the 18th parallel and the Communists at the 14th, giving them control of most of the state.

Other key issues still to be settled were free elections and terms for neutralizing Indo-China's two other states, Laos and Cambodia.

French Gain

While the Geneva conference continued, French troops were reported to have recaptured Erulin camp, 45 miles northeast of Hanoi, in their drive on the northern sector of the Red River delta.

French forces also succeeded in dislodging the Communists from their advanced positions northwest of Hanoi and Vietminh regulars and guerrillas withdrew in most cases without offering any major resistance, reports said.

The twin thrusts northeast and northwest of Hanoi were launched by 10,000 French troops with tanks to fling back Vietminh regular troops menacing the city.

General Rene Cogny, French commander in northern Indo China said the Vietminh had four crack divisions lined up around Hanoi, two to the north of the city and two to the south.

The French general denied there was any plan to evacuate Hanoi but said, however, that prudence demanded that French women and children be removed from the city.

Erulin had been taken by the Communists after they had surrounded the camp four days.

Meanwhile, North Vietnam's new three-man governing committee said it would militarize Hanoi's city police thereby adding 3,000 to 4,000 more soldiers to the defence of the city.

The committee controls the Viet Namese army, national guard and volunteer militia units but operational command remains with the French.

Train Wreck

A Winnipeg woman and a Canadian Pacific Railway's brakeman were killed at the start of the week-end when a CPR "campers' special" travelling from Winnipeg to Kenora jumped the track 39 miles west of its destination.

Mrs. Isabel Maconnel, 65, was wedged in the doorway of one of the seven cars when it turned on its side and landed in a ditch at the side of the track-bed.

The brakeman, James Szabo, 25, of Norman, Ont., was severely scalded by steam escaping from the locomotive which plunged down an embankment. He attempted to leap to safety as the train left the track near Cross Lake.

Passengers, including a large number of children, were bound for holiday resorts around the Lake of the Woods. The five cars in which they were travelling tipped over and lay on their sides.

The track was cleared about seven hours afterward.

Bisley Champion

The Queen's Prize, championship of British Commonwealth shooting, was won at Bisley, England, by Maj. G. E. Twine of Britain. His score was 278 out of a possible 300.

Six Canadians qualified for the finals. Top marksman was Lt.-Col. Steve Johnson of Calgary on his sixth trip to Bisley. He finished 18th with a score of 264.

Maj. Twine received £250, a gold badge and a gold medal.

Lucky to Escape

Seven United States soldiers held for 12 days in communist Czechoslovakia said their captors threatened them with imprisonment if they did not reveal U.S. military secrets.

Capt. Jack Davis, 31, of Raytown, Mo. — one of the two captives — said Czech army officers told the men "after a year or so (in prison) you will probably give better answers."

Davis, speaking for the others, said they were never bodily harmed or threatened with physical violence.

Davis said the men went to the border "to take a look," and that they were captured by a roving Czech patrol of about 20 armed men.

The men were taken at Baernau, tiny west German border crossing point. They appeared nervous but otherwise fit following release.

Davis said the Czechs took them from Baernau region to an unknown destination inside Czechoslovakia.

Two Elected To R.C. School Board

Despite Size of Schools Capacity Being Taseed

Nominations for commissioners on the Roman Catholic School Board for St. Joseph's and Notre Dame Schools in Huntingdon, were held on July 5th. The retiring commissioners were Naphtalie Taillefer and Leo Duheme. Nominated were Naphtalie Taillefer and Edgar Leblanc, who replaces Leo Duheme. They were elected by acclamation as there were no other nominations.

The Board now comprises the following: A. Saumier, Naphtalie Taillefer, D. Murphy, Leo Cappiello and Edgar Leblanc. Leo Cappiello was named chairman of the board for another year.

The main problem which the board will have to consider is the many new pupils who are being enrolled for the new school year starting in September. Even though there are two schools and an addition has been made to St. Joseph's School, the enrollment is such as to place a strain upon the accommodation available.

NITROGEN IS NEEDED IN NEW FLOWER POT

Recent tests have brought this to light: The age of flowerpots has a lot to do with plant growth. New pots definitely retard the growth of plants put in them. But give plants in new pots an extra feeding with a high-nitrogen fertilizer, and they'll grow well.

Apparently, the pots themselves absorb enough nitrogen from soil to affect growth. As water evaporates from the porous new clay, the nitrogen in salt form is deposited outside, where roots can't get it.

Valleyfield Regatta Draws Record Crowd Saturday and Sunday

70,000 People Saw The Event Which Drew More Entries Than In Past Years

This year a crowd of 70,000 people saw the event of the year, the Valleyfield Regatta, which took place Saturday and Sunday, July 17 and 18. Over 78 outboard motorboats took part in the races Saturday afternoon, that is, besides the other classes which were entered. More entries were registered this year in all classes than in any other year in the past.

The chairman of the Boating Club this year, Mr. Gérald Meunier, assisted by a group of hard-working men, was mainly responsible for the success of the regatta. Everything was well organized to give the onlookers an enjoyable spectacle. One thing that could not be overcome was the bad wind which delayed the starting of the races until four o'clock Saturday afternoon. It then caused two accidents in the outboard class, however the pilots were not injured.

Mayor Louis Quevillon of Valleyfield, gave a few words of welcome to the visitors. He was accompanied to the Regatta by the members of his council.

This spectacular event was followed Saturday night by a dance held in the Valleyfield Arena. Sunday night, after a special reception at the Chalet of Parc Sauvé, the crowd enjoyed a concert given by the local band under the direction of Mr. Henri Dumouchel. A magnificent fireworks display brought to an end two days of a most successful regatta.

Sunday afternoon, in the class 225, Bob Schroeder of Niagara Falls, N. Y., won the Canadian Schenley Trophy by doing 5 miles at 65.55 miles per hour with "My Ambition IV". The trophy was presented to him by the local manager of the Canadian Schenley, Mr. Clifford Foley.

In the Inboard Runabout (not sanctionned), Guy Brodeur of Valleyfield came third. "Tony", driven by Mr. Antoine Poirier, of Coteau, came last. Also from this region, noted Saturday afternoon, were Walter Martin from Woodlands, Que., who came third in the class Outboard "Service Runabouts", class C omnium. The average speed in that class was 39.95 per hour.

Also Saturday afternoon, in the section Outboard "Hydros", class B omnium, was Mr. David Gorman, from Port Covington, N. Y., who came thirteenth. The average speed was 43.26 miles per hour.

Robert W. Schroeder of Niagara Falls, N. Y., won the Canadian Schenley Trophy, driving his "My Ambition IV" to victory in the 225-hydro class inboard event at the annual Valleyfield boat regatta.

Schroeder took the open event, racing over the three mile course on St. Francis Bay in the average time of four minutes,34.4 seconds at an average speed of 65.55 miles per hour for two laps.

J. P. Clermont of Montreal, last year's trophy winner, placed second with his "Jay Pee." Roland Leblond of Thetford Mines, Que., was third and Henry J. Vogel of Rochester, N.Y., fourth.

Seventy-four boats took part on Sunday in the eight inboard events of the two-day regatta, sanctioned by the Canadian Boating Federation.

The average time and average speed for two laps decided the winner of each race except the runabout class which went only one lap.

Saturday, Vic Scott of Bellmore, N.Y., won two of three outboard events, placing first in the Hydro Class C Open and the Hydro Class B Open.

Don Whitfield of Verona, N.J., won the Hydro Class M.

Other inboard winners were:

136-Hydro Open, Gene Fleming, Rochester; 135 cu-hydro open, Tommy Turner, Kenmore, N.Y.; 226 cu-hydro open, Gerard Patry, Montreal; F. Leclerc, Montreal; 135-hydro (Canadians only), Don Johnson, Smith Falls, Ont.; Canadian one design, Pete Birchell, Perth, Ont. and 48-inch class open, Bernie Pierson, Toronto.

Results of other Saturday outboard events:

Service Class C open, Dave Robinson, Toronto; Utility class b-h, John Palmers, Wellington, Ont. and Hydro Class A open, Gaston Fecteau, Montreal.

Mr. Bob Finlayson, secretary of the Canadian Boating Federation was the official arbiter of the regatta. Before leaving Sunday night he offered congratulations to the president of the Boating Club for his excellent work — it takes a lot of work to make a success of such a gigantic organization.

Several newspaper reporters and television commentators were present and Mr. Jean St. Georges from CBFT promised the Valleyfield citizens they could see the results of his work on Tele-Sports, a CBFT programme, on Thursday night.

Valleyfield Woman Takes Own Life

Det. H. Ruiter of the Huntingdon Provincial Police, was called upon on Wednesday, July 14th, to investigate a case of suicide which occured in Valleyfield. A woman, Mrs Gaston Branchaud, of Mignon Street, left her home about 1 p.m., and went to the Park. She was noticed there by some girls looking out over the bay. When next they looked, she had disappeared and her coat was nearby. On looking into the water, the girls noticed the body floating. The City police called the Provincial officer and after investigation the woman was identified by her brother about 7 p.m. She leaves her husband and five children. It is understood the woman had been in ill health for sometime. Dr. O. E. Caza, Coroner, returned a verdict of death while of unsound mind.

Crazed Man Does Much Damage Near Ormstown

Threatened Persons, Damaged Passing Cars Tried to Take Own Life

Excitement ran high near Ormstown, on Thursday evening July 15, when a farm hand went out of his mind at the farm of Edward Bryson, on Highway No. 4, near Williams Garage. It was past midnight before Provincial police could risk closing in on the crazed man, but he was finally taken by the officers and sent into Montreal .

According to reports, the man had been working in the barn and had fallen, or jumped from the hayloft, and in so doing had injured his knee. He had only recently arrived in the country from Germany and also at the farm, being brought in under the Dept. of Immigration to work on the farm. The accident happened at about 5.30 p.m. and he went in to his supper and refused any medical aid for his injury. Having had his supper, he went out to the barn for milking chores and then took another jump from the hayloft and from that time on which would be about 6.30 p.m., excitement ran high around the neighborhood.

The man took a three-quarter h. p. electric motor from the milk house and began throwing this around. It is reported he dropped it on a truck nearby and caused considerable damage to it. He also threw it at passing cars on the highway and did damage to several of these. As another weapon, he used a large iron bar and succeeded in damaging fenders of cars as well as using it in a threatening manner to any who tried to stop him. As a precaution, the family of Mr. Bryson were taken from the farm house to a point of safety. Meanwhile neighbors gathered and tried to overpower the man, but were not successful. Mr. Williams, during this time had called the doctor and tried for a considerable time to get in touch with the police. Finally police from Montreal, Valleyfield and Huntingdon gathered at the farm and at about midnight succeeded in overpowering the man. Several times during the evening the man had thrown himself in front of cars and laid down on the road in the effort to have himself run over.

The man was Franz Degenhardt, age 25, a native of Germany and according to reports had Nazi tendencies for he was calling out "Heil Hitler" and such during the time of his escapade. It is understood he will probably be deported to his own land.

Notes From The Police Blotter

Thefts Being Investigated

Det. H. Ruiter of Huntingdon is investigating several cases of thefts of outboard motors. These are mostly of the 25 h.p. type and police say these are the ones preferred. Eight have been stolen in the Chateauguay area and two in the Valleyfield area since last Friday. Warning is given to owners of such motors that they should take greater precautions to prevent the theft of such. They should not be left on boats, but should be taken to a place of greater safety.

Drunken Driving

Two young men were arrested the past week for driving cars while under the influence of liquor. The men were Charles LaFrance of Cornwall, Ont. and Leo Leblanc of Valleyfield. The incident occurred on the highway between Ste. Barbe and Valleyfield with the arrests being made near Valleyfield, on July 13 and were fined $50. and costs and had the licenses cancelled for three months.

Provincial police officers here say they will strictly enforce the law with respect to drunken driving and recklessness with cars.

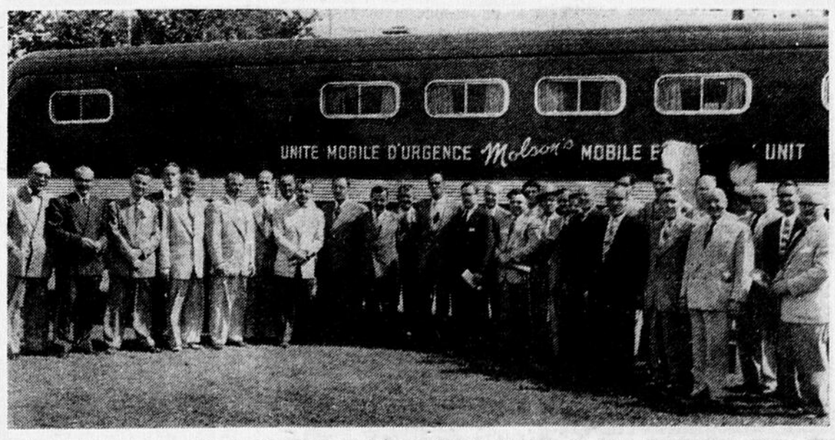
BRIGHT COLORS PEP UP BASEMENT

When turning a basement into a family recreation center, make full use of gay color and bright light.. Bright yellow walls put sunlight into a dark basement. Ivory or white cabinets and shelves with interiors painted in salmon tints add light and contrast.

An asphalt tile floor in gray and salmon red squares with pictorial insets can give such a room added distinction.

Bright draperies in bold, contrasting colors plus brilliant-hued chairs and comfortable furniture, contribute to enjoyment.

MOLSON'S EMERGENCY UNIT VISITS VALLEYFIELD



Thousands of people visited the Molson's Emergency Unit shown in Valleyfield during last week-end, during the occasion of the annual international regatta. Shown in this photograph are Dr. C.L. Roman, Dr. Aime Leduc, Councillor Antonin Caillhier, Georges-André Meloche, Albert "Battleship" Leduc, Eric Leduc, Médard Leboeuf, Edgar Hébert, M.L.A.; Arthur Caron from Beauharnois; Robert Cauchon, M.P.; Hector Bougie, Mayor Louis Quevillon, Mayor Armand Poupart of Beauharnois, Lawrence Lyons, Mayor Leo Cappiello from Huntingdon, Victor Tiny, Dr. Armand Clairmont, Alderman R. E. McWhinnie of Huntingdon, R. Fortier, Romuald Théoret, Gordon Kirby, Wilfrid Léger, Georges Leduc, Councillor; Hervé Brisebois, Dr. Claude St. Onge and others.

N. P. APRIL

Merit Agronomique

Congratulations are in order to Nolasque P. April, Principal of St. Martine Agricultural School (Ecole d'Agriculture de Ste-Martine). He is one of the first six members of the Corporation of Agronomes of the Province of Quebec to receive the award "L'Ordre du Mérite Agronomique" (Order of Merit Agronomique). An honour which was recently instituted by the Corporation of Agronomes to be awarded to its members who have given distinguished service. The other five who received that honour are Dr. Henri C. Bois, general manager of the Co-opérative Fédérée; Prof. Emil Lods, associate professor of agronomy, Macdonald College; Raphael Rousseau, now retired, one of the first graduates of Macdonald College and also one of the first four agronomes appointed in Quebec in 1913; Anthime Charbonneau, a veteran member of the Quebec Agronome Service; Walter M. Stewart, who has continued the great benefaction of the late Sir William Macdonald in the Province of Quebec, particularly Macdonald College.

Long Invaluable Service

Nolasque April graduated in Agriculture at the age of 17 and his employment by Quebec Department of Agriculture dates back to 1915. He was the popular agronome for the St. Martine area for a great many years, has long figured as one of the leading agronomes in the Province of Quebec. When the Ste. Martine Agricultural School was established he became its first Principal, still is. He was also Mayor of St. Martine for several years.

In private life, he is the owner of one of Huntingdon County's largest and most up-to-date apple orchards, near Franklin Centre. In addition, he and Fernand Dufour are owners of an up-to-date Champagne Cider plant.

The Journal

An item or two from the Holstein-Friesian Journal ("The Journal" to Holstein enthusiasts) of July. A 62 page, plus covers, issue packed full of material that should be most interesting to Holstein breeders, albeit some of it quite interesting to others. From a publisher's standpoint there is a most appreciable volume of breeders advertisements. However, in that respect the Holstein men are apparently more keenly aware of the value of advertising than are most of the others of contemporary breeds.

The sale of Raymondale Farms is featured. That sale was reported in "Round Byre and Ring" several weeks ago but one or two of the items in The Journal's report may still be of interest.

St. Laurent College, purchaser of the Raymondale farm and herd, is located at the northern outskirts of Montreal. It is operated by Fathers of the Sacred Cross, an order of outstanding educationalists among whose other institution is Notre Dame University in Indiana. Father L. Lapalme, well-known to many Holstein breeders for his interest in Holsteins, is the Provincial.

St. Laurent College has long owned a Holstein herd but they have recently sold their farm. Later on these Holsteins will be moved to Raymondale Farm. At present, Norman Goodhue, son of the late Clarence Goodhue, is carrying on as Manager of Raymondale Farm and W. A. Hodge (former co-owner of Raymondale) is carrying on in an advisory capacity.

Red Holsteins

An item in The Holstein-Friesian Journal has recalled to our memory that away back in the 1920's there was a sizeable Red and white Holstein herd in the United States. Also that the owner of that herd maintained a distinct Registration record of his own cattle as well as of a considerable number of others who owned Red and White Holsteins. As we recall it, that group also published a periodical pertaining to their "Sept" of the Holstein breed. Needless to say that group was not recognized by the Holstein-Friesian Association of the United States.

In recent years, however a number of Holstein breeders in both Canada and the United States have been seriously concerned over the number of Red (or red tinged) and White calves that have been dropped in their herds. In quite a few instances calves that were sired by outstanding bulls of both countries.

Recognized Inherited Characteristic

For a while the Red and White, freaks of nature, or throwbacks, were a sort of "hush-hush"" topic conversation and conjecture. But, some two years ago the cloak was lifted, so to speak, and, as we recall it, a prominent Official of the Holstein-Friesian Association of the United States discussed that problem quite openly and frankly at a meeting of the Canadian Association.

It would therefore now appear that the United States Association has been giving the matter considerable consideration. In the Holstein-Friesian Journal report of the annual meeting of the American Holstein-Friesian Association there is given the following item:

"A resolution which was approved by the meeting read as follows:

"Whereas it has been conclusively proven that the red factor in Holstein-Friesian cattle is an inherited characteristic, be it Resolved, that all bulls known to carry such red factor should be made known to all patrons contemplating use of such bulls either naturally or artificially".

It is not clear, however, whether any such Red and White "throwbacks" can be registered in the United States Herd Book. Anyway, Holstein breeders experiencing any such mishaps will now be relieved of any qualms that some mischievous rival might hint that their neighbours' Ayrshire cattle or bulls, may have influenced the production of freaks and throwbacks.

A White Holstein

According to the Holstein-Friesian Journal it would appear that the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada is still rigidly enforcing its rules with respect to the colour of animals for which application for registration is made. In a report of a meeting of the Executive Committee of that Association there appears the following item:

"The Executive refused the application for registration of a heifer calf that was entirely white except for a black spot on one teat which they ruled as not indicating black and white colour as required by the by-laws".

Recipe Suggestions For Zestful Living

TRIED AND TESTED FOR SATISFACTION

This Week -- Fowl

No one will deny that Canadians like poultry. Each year they seem to eat more and the farmers are raising much more than they used to. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture say that just now fowl is one of the best poultry buys. It is selling at bargain prices in most places and you will be making a big mistake not to buy it. Perhaps one of the reasons that many do not choose fowl more often is that they look on it as a rather second-rate meat and that is a very wrong attitude. A fowl is a mature bird so you can think of it as you do a less tender cut of meat. If you buy and cook it properly it will be just as tender as any young chicken.

Fowl is sold by grade and that is your guarantee of quality and wholesomeness. A Grade A fowl, which is the grade you are most likely to find in the shops, will be well shaped, will have a good proportion of meat to bone and the fat will be well distributed throughout the bird. You will probably find both dressed that is, undrawn, and eviscerated fowl in the shops. The eviscerated birds are drawn and cleaned and are often called "Ready to Cook". Remember, when you buy an undrawn bird you are paying for the waste which is discarded when the bird is eviscerated. For this reason the lower price per pound for the undrawn bird may not be as much of a bargain as it seems at first.

You will have noticed that fowl is only fowl until it is cooked then, it becomes chicken but though it is called chicken in soups, and so on, it is still fowl. However if it is properly cooked, no one will think it misnamed. When the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, cook fowl, they first cut it up, then cover it with cold, salted water and add a stalk or two of celery. It is then cooked slowly below the boiling point until it is tender, and that takes 2 or 3 hours. The liquid of course can be used for gravy. The home economists say that a sprinkling of nutmeg gives chicken soup a delightfully different flavour.

Pressure cooking takes less time and gives very tender fowl too. If this is the way you choose to cook it then use 2 cups of water and cook for 25 to 30 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

The home economists have a favourite recipe for a 4 or 5 pound fowl, it is called "Marengo" and it was adapted from an old Spanish recipe.

CHICKEN MARENGO

1 fowl (4 to 5 lb.), eviscerated
¼ cup fat
½ lb. mushrooms
6 tablespoons flour
½ cup water
1 cup canned tomatoes
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 cup apple juice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cut fowl into pieces, fry in hot fat until well browned and remove from pan. Fry mushrooms in fat left in pan until lightly browned then remove. Add flour to fat, blending until flour browns. Add water gradually, stirring until thickened. Add canned tomatoes, minced garlic, mushrooms, apple juice, chopped parsley and seasonings. Stir until well blended. Add fowl and simmer in sauce until tender, about 2 hours. Serve hot. Yield: six to eight servings.

Because fowl is selling so very reasonably just now, it should be on your shopping list often. Here are a few suggestions for different ways to serve it from the home economists, Canada Department of Agriculture. Since this is definitely sandwich and salad time their suggestion for fowl is that you use it in both these summer favourites. Small pieces of fowl mixed with chopped celery, bits of green pepper and a well seasoned mayonnaise make a very good sandwich filling. A larger quantity of the same mixture heaped in a mound on a lettuce leaf with small wedges of tomato and chunks of cucumber circling it makes a delicious salad. Jellied fowl is very good too but, even in the warmer main course, and chicken pot pie weather most families like a hot is welcome at any time of the year. It could be cooked in the cool part of the day then re-heated just before serving time. Chicken a la King, Creamed chicken and chicken with rice are other chicken favourites that are delicious when made from properly cooked fowl.

Oilcloth Durable And Inexpensive

Oilcloth is durable and cheap and easy to clean. Kitchen shades may be replaced by colorful tones made from a length of oilcloth. First remove the old shade roller, saving small tracks. Decide which side of oilcloth is to face inward —the flowered of colored side will go a long way toward brightening a dull kitchen, and cream backing will look precisely like an ordinary shade from outside.

Shelf oilcloth can be purchased to match, but it is not easy to make some from ordinary kind Scallops may be marked with any round object, cup, spool, etc. Allow plenty of width so that the oilcloth extends entire width of shelf. Spills are nothing when shelf is protected with oilcloth.

Chair pads are gay and easy to make using oilcloth that matches other kitchen accessories. Cut tops from oilcloth, bottoms from a strong cotton. Make thin pad to fit between, finish edges with bias tape. Attach tapes for tying pads in place.

MAIL BOX CLUSTERS

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The post office is installing group mail boxes to place long strings of individual boxes for residents on suburban traffic arteries. The group boxes, placed away from heavily-travelled roads, cut traffic hazards and provide better protection for mail.

Dundee

W.I.

DUNDEE — The July meeting of the Dundee W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Earl Gardiner.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Miss Reed, County Nurse for Huntingdon, Chateauguay and Beauharnois. She spoke about Mental Illness and One's Attitude toward it. First of all, it is a mental disorder. It is nothing to be ashamed of, for it is a disease the same as heart trouble is a disease and anyone can be afflicted with it. Also, like heart disease, there are many types and there is a need for early diagnosis as the earlier mental illness is cared for, the better chance there is for complete recovery. It is not always dangerous and with today's special knowledge of such cases, a large percentage of patients get well. People who are mentally ill do not realize they are sick and they are afraid of hospitals. Miss Reed stressed the need for a better general attitude toward mental illness. There are several mental hospitals — the modern name for the old-fashioned asylum — in Montreal. These are very up-to-date buildings with modern equipment, facilities for entertainment, occupational therapy, churches. There are different reasons for mental illness some of which are accidents, emotional strain, etc. Miss Reed said one should read as much as possible about mental illness and its causes.

Mrs. Gardiner was one of several ladies from the Dundee branch who attended the Provincial Convention at Macdonald College in June. At the meeting she gave a very detailed account of the part of the convention which they attended. She spoke in particular about the talk given by Mr. R. Flood, President of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers in Quebec.

Mrs. Lester Fraser received a prize for her hint of using aluminum foil to cover a burn.

Convenors' reports were as follows:

Mrs. C. Smallman told about Dr. Neatby's article in the July 15 issue of MacLean's Magazine about education. She said she hoped to have a discussion in September on this same article.

Mrs. Lyle Currie told about a Walk-In Freezer that could be built in anyone's house and showed pictures and diagrams of one.

Mrs. A. H. Fraser read some exerpts from the Federated News concerning Mrs. Burry, President of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. N. D. MacPhee are planning a card party in the near future.

Light refreshments brought the afternoon's meeting to a close.

Personals

Mrs. Eleanor McNicol spent a few days with Mrs. Mayfred Colquhoun at Massena Centre, N.Y.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNicol recently were Mr. and Mrs. Fred White, Miss Elizabeth Raeburn, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hanna and daughter Marilyn, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McNicol and two sons, also Miss Gail McDonald, all of McMasterville. The latter and Mrs. Hannah and Mrs. Cora Fraser, Mr. Harold Fraser, Mrs. Basil Hewson and son Fraser were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maither.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McIntyre of Athelstan are rejoicing over the birth of a baby daughter. Mrs. McIntyre is the former Miss Esther McNicol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McNicol.

Miss Florence Ferguson of Montreal spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson, recently. Marilyn remained to spend the week.

Miss Mabel MacMillan of Huntingdon spent a few days at the MacMillan home recently.

Mrs. Basil Hewson and son Fraser of Buckingham, Que., are spending three weeks with Mrs. Cora Fraser and Mr. Harold Fraser.

Obituary

THE LATE MR. SIMON GLEESON

Mr. Simon Gleeson, of Fort Covington, N.Y., passed away at his home in Fort Covington on Friday, July 9, after several months illness during which he suffered several heart attacks. Mr. Gleeson was 68 years of age.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, the former Grace Smith, sister of Mrs. Earl Gardiner of Dundee Lines; one brother, Leslie, of Remington, Idiana; and one sister, Mrs. Smith, of Bardenton, Florida. Two sisters and two brothers predeceased him: Mrs. Fred Ashley and Miss Bessie Gleeson, and Thomas and Levi Gleeson.

Funeral services were in charge of

Hemmingford

HEMMINGFORD — Mr. and Mrs. John Kingsbury of Waitsfield, Vt., were one-night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peacock.

Rev. Stanley E. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Church, and were conducted in the Presbyterian Church, Fort Covington, N.Y., on Monday afternoon, July 12.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fraser and two children, Barbara and Billy, motored to Farnham on Saturday, July 10, where they spent the week-end visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barber and Mr. and Mrs. John Fox and family. Mrs. Donald Fraser and children remained to spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barber.

Miss Doris Fraser, Principal of the Girls' Cottage School at Mount Bruno, Quebec, is taking a teacher's summer course at Bishop's University, Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McNinch and son Cecil left for their home in Mervin, Sask., after spending several weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fraser and family.

Mr. Kenneth Fraser is at present harvesting a good crop of Reed Canary grass on his farm. A self-propelled combine from the Cazaville Farm is cutting and threshing the heads for seed, and later the grass itself will be cut and stored for feed. This is the first time in this locality that Reed Canary Grass has been sown and grown in any quantity. The soil on Mr. Fraser's farm is slightly marshy in nature and this type is supposed to be especially adaptable to the growing of Reed Canary. There is a considerable acreage and an excellent stand this year. This should yield a large quantity of seed which is not plentiful on the market and should command a good price. The grass itself provides good top quality forage feed for dairy cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Germain and little son spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. Germain.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kavanagh of Montreal were recent guests at the Leahy-Kavanagh home and of Mrs. V. McAleer.

Dr. and Mrs. D. Clairmont are rejoicing over the birth of a baby girl.

Mrs. H. Rutherford and Miss Cora Sellars motored to Cohoes, N.Y., where they spent a few days with their nieces, Mrs. Edward and Mrs. Kenneth Bryant.

Mrs. Rutherford returned home with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Brown, Miss Sellars remaining for a longer visit.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. J. P. Simpson were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Grey, Canaan, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parker, Beach Ridge, Montana. Miss Jones, Calgary, Alta., is spending an indefinite time; Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacDonald, Sorel, Que., were week-end guests. They also visited Miss Margaret Simpson at Champlain, N.Y.

Friends and neighbors extend best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. Fred Pelletier, who is a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital.

Editorial Notes...

Huntingdon Fair is Early

IN the past few years many innovations have been made with regard to Huntingdon Fair. They have been made with a view to improvement both as to attractions for the fair and to bringing about increased attendance. To a great extent this has been accomplished and in consequence the fair has made quite a revival.

First of all the dates for the fair were pushed ahead by several weeks from early in September to the latter part of August. This was done in the hope that the usual rainy period at that time would be avoided and better weather guaranteed. This has worked out much better and generally fine weather has prevailed for the past few fairs. This year the dates have again been pushed ahead by at least a week and the days of the fair have been changed also. In the past the latter part of the week has been used for Fair Days, but with this last change, the forepart of the week is to be used. This year's fair will start out on Monday, August 16th and continue until Wednesday night, August 18th. It is developing from a two-day fair into a three-day event. It has been felt that with the new shopping nights now being at the week-end, that the fair would probably be better attended in the early part of the week and with the evenings free from other attractions, or detractions. It is an experiment and several have been tried during the past few years and all with good results.

In addition to the above changes, the fair board has not been idle in other matters. The grounds and the buildings have been receiving attention and with regard to this, aid has been sought in the way of grants from the various municipalities. The municipalities have responded well and as a result much renovation has already been carried out. The buildings and the grounds were allowed to get into a very run-down condition and it has taken considerable time to bring them back into shape. There is still much to be done and it will take more expenditure to complete the job. But with a little being done each year, it is gradually presenting a much more attractive appearance. More attention has been paid to attractions for the fair and evening performances have been provided to increase the gate and for evening entertainment for those who cannot attend during the day. Now this year, an entirely new midway has been contracted with and it is hoped that considerable improvement will result in the entertainment this will provide.

The crucial part of the experiment this year will be the holding of the fair on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, rather than Thursday and Friday as formerly and with Saturday thrown in as an extra. The Saturday part did not seem to work out too well as the exhibits had mostly all been removed and only the midway was left. Most people go away for week-ends these days and thus the attendance was not so good.

No fair can be a success without an excellent attendance, there must be sufficient attraction to call for attendance and other events should be avoided during the fair period in order that concentration may be made on this annual event that could be of great importance to this community. The week-ends are all crowded with events of one kind and another, so perhaps the early part of the week will provide a time when all may find it in their plans to attend their annual fair. It may also be a better time for the exhibitors and should allow them more time for the removal of the exhibits than at a busy week-end. There is no doubt that the present management is doing everything possible to improve the fair and its equipment and we think they are deserving of the utmost support from the general public. That support can come from increased interest in the entering of exhibits and by attending during fair days and evenings in larger number.

Conditions Having Effect

DESPITE anything that may be said to the contrary, conditions in many lines of industry are having their effects throughout many communities in Canada. While there has been an easing in the employment situation, due to seasonal requirements, there is never-the-less a large number of persons unemployed and seeking new jobs.

For a few weeks, or while payments from the Unemployment Insurance lasts, the situation is not acute. When these payments stop and only a person's own resources come to be relied upon, the change is more serious.

In order to secure jobs it has become necessary for a number to move to other parts. This has resulted in there being many an uninhabited dwelling or apartment. Such a thing has not been heard of for a number of years. Right in our own community we have a large number of vacant premises, true some of them have been caused by the death of their sole owners, but there are some left because of the owner needing to seek employment elsewhere.

The conditions are also having effect through indirect means on other industries. Word comes from Oshawa, for instance, that layoffs in automobile plants there are causing serious conditions in that city. Indirectly, the lay-offs in other industries such as the Textile industry, could be cited as the cause. Cars are not being sold as readily as they were a short time ago and as this shows up more from day to day, it is bound to have its effect at the manufacturing end. Excuse is made in Oshawa that retooling is taking place in readiness for new model designs. The lay-offs however, affect not only the actual car plants, but factories where supplies are made for the cars. As it goes on down the line, it has effect on other contributary manufacturers and will finally end up back at the main source of supply, the raw material, steel, etc. This same thing has happened in connection with the textile industry and thus makes the lay-offs even more widespread.

There has, however, been a slight pick-up in the textile industry in the past few weeks, but this may be only seasonal. It certainly seems that more concern should be shown in government circles before the summer passes us once again. If conditions have not been remedied before then, the winter could bring bad news indeed.

Indo-China Cease Fire?

FOR the past months the war in Indo-China has been a bone of contention to many of the world nations. Conferences have been called and one is still in progress at Geneva with the idea of bringing about an armistice and stop the fighting in Indo-China. France has been particularly immersed in this war and has suffered much of late as a result of Red influenced interference. So badly has this war turned out that France is slowly being pushed out of Indo-China and the Reds are taking over. The new Premier of France, Mendes-France, has declared he will obtain a settlement by July 20th, or resign. When this was written, the time was running out and there was no sign of a settlement being reached. In fact one of the negotiators had walked out of the conference. Russia was showing a tougher attitude and hopes of a settlement were fading. Last minute overtures may make all the difference, but we are inclined to believe that Mendes-France will fail in his mission and have to carry out his pledge to resign. This may not be known until we go to press with this edition, but indications are that only failure can be reported. If anything else happens, it will be the first time that Russia has ever agreed at any negotiation to anything that would bring about a peaceful solution.

A leading Soviet scientist predicts that within ten years the Russians will create an artificial satelite of the earth. World domination has been the aim of Russia for years, not just since the end of World War II. It goes back to the end of the Russian revolution and the creation of the Bolshevik State through the period of the creation of the Soviet Republic. It has been based on five year periods of accomplishment and at the outbreak of World War II was in the period of World Industrial Revolution. World War II embroiled Russia in its folds and thus upset plans for the time being. Whether these periods have been continued since, is not certain, but at least we have had plenty of evidence that Russia is still trying to dominate the world and the cold war may be a change in its plans for this purpose.

What then can we hope to accomplish against such a determination? Will we be able to avoid conflict? Without military measures will we be able to win this cold war and set Russia back in her place and avoid the constant fear of new outbreaks? No one can answer these questions. The nations of the Western World as they are known can only keep in constant state of preparedness against the incidence of an attack from we know not where. The more success that meets the Russian plans through the domination of pieces of the earth by the various means which she has tried so far, the greater will be the urge to go forward with her plans for world domination. From Napoleon times there have been men with such ideas, in earlier days even Spain had such a notion until she met up with Drake. But each succeeding time has had a greater measure of success. We have not really recovered from Hitler's try. Russia is emulating many of his moves, but arranged according to a plan of her own. It is a wearing down process on nations much similar to the brain washing procedure used on individuals. As we see it, France is fast losing endurance powers and unless aid is given to her that will bolster her faith in other nations, she may succumb to her own weariness. On the day that Mendes-France fails in his mission, if he does, the United States and Great Britain and other interested powers, must be prepared to step into the breach with more than assurances that Indo-China will not fall into Red hands, without at least a resolute stand to prevent it. Conferences with Russia and Red followers are an utter waste of time and only a means to helping the Reds to gain a stronger foothold in their quest for world domination.

Hemmingford — By serving dinner at the auction sale of Ayrshires and the amount realized by the sale of two calves that were presented, the Red Cross ladies added over $200.00 to their funds. The calves were presented by Morrison McCrea and S. A. Cleland.

Huntingdon — On Thurday evening, in St. Andrew's annex, a missionary on furlough told of China and its people. The speaker is one of ourselves, Dr. J. A. MacDonald, of Valleyfield, and we are proud of him, as the man who laid aside a profession, and denying himself the social advantages of home, went to a far country to aid in the conversion of its people. The Doctor is stationed at Kangmoon, near Canton, and aided by a series of finely coloured lantern slides, gave his hearers an idea of what China is like, how its people live, their character and customs, and what is being done to win them from their heathen ways. He also touched on his experience as a medical missionary, indicating what effective work can be done where the healing of the body is combined with the healing of the sin-sick soul.

Judge Mercier of Valleyfield has appointed W.F. Stephen the commissioner of the Supreme Court for the taking of affadavits,etc.

Eddie Boyle is in New York, helping with his fiddle to sell Liberty Bonds and get recruits at the large meetings held daily there.

May 16

Howick — A carload of cement has been purchased for the village sidewalks, which will cost about 70 cents per bag, 10 cents being allowed for the returned bag.

Huntingdon — Robert Jack M. Reid, son of Mr. Peter Reid, Chateauguay Basin, has graduated at Macdonald College, having completed the four year course and obtained the degree of B. Sc. He was one of the three prizemen, winning the Minister af Agriculture's prize. We understand Mr. Reid has secured the position of manager of the largest fruit farm in the Province

Mr. Sparrow, Manager of the Merchants' Bank, has received acknowledgement from the Halifax Relief Department, for the sum of $2250.45 sent from the Western part of Huntingdon County towards the relief last winter.

May 23

Huntingdon — Stores are paying 38 for eggs and selling creamery butter for 46c.

Saturday night the striking thing in the village was the number of soldiers. Altogether, sixteen were home visiting over the week-end.

May 30

Howick — The entertainment by local talent, given Friday night, filled the hall to overflowing, and was a success in every respect, the proceeds being $113.00, for Y.M.C.A. purposes at the front. The play, 'Ici On Parle Francais', which was proceeded by a short program of vocal and instrumental music, kept the audience highly amused from start to finish.

The severe winter has not completely destroyed fruit trees in this section, for there are many blossoming abundantly.

Petty thefts have been taking place here lately. A can of milk was carried off at the station belonging to H. Carson, and a boy's bicycle stolen the other night. Forty dollars worth of muskrat skins suddantly disappeared which Clifford Watson had collected this spring.

Of Many Things

By AMBROSE HILLS

Express Yourself

I picked up a neighbor's son in my car the other day and drove him downtown to his first job. I could tell that he was quite nervous, and since we had a good deal of time I took him into a restaurant for a cup of coffee and a chat. He has no father of his own, and I knew that he needed a word or two of reassurance. I knew absolutely nothing about being an architect, while he knew plenty. He had a degree to prove it. But there was something that I could tell him.

When I was a young fellow graduating from school (I never did get to college) a large proportion of the population was self-employed. Today things are different. Most young fellows today will be employees. I remember some information on the art of being an employee that I had picked up a couple of years ago in a Fortune Magazine article. The article said that the most important ability of an employee of any importance was to learn to express ideas in writing and in speaking. Perhaps a soda jerker doesn't need much skill in expressing himself, but the moment you move up the ladder to where you are required to work through other people — your effectiveness depends on your ability to speak or to write.

"Gee, I'm glad to know that," the young man said. "But how am I going to learn how to do these things?"

This question wasn't quite so easy to answer. In fact, I couldn't give him an answer just out of my hat. I promised him that I'd think about it and then write him some instructions. This is what I wrote:

"Dear Bill: I am attaching three items. The first is a political speech. The second is a small Bible. The third is a country weekly newspaper. Please read the front page of the weekly newspaper and underline all the nouns. You will find a lot of them. Then read the Bible, particularly The Sermon on the Mount. Again, underline all the nouns. Again, too, you will find a lot of them. Now read the political speech. Underline the nouns if you can find any! They are pretty scattered. This fellow did not get elected. I know him well. He lives in my own constituency. He was opposed, on the hustings, by a man with about half as much education as you have. The uneducated fellow licked him to a frazzle. You will notice that the defeated candidate, whose speech you have before you, didn't use very many nouns. He didn't talk about real things. He was full of windiness, and short on facts. His opponent talked about the price of wheat, eggs, cream, and stated clearly what he thought about them. Our windy friend talked a lot of fancy theories that weren't tied down to facts.

"Now, Bill, doing these three things will not make you a fancy speaker or writer. But it will make you effective and will keep you from being gassy and mysterious! Good luck!"

Athelstan

ATHELSTAN—Mrs. Wilfrid Kelly and daughters, Misses Thelma and Helen Kelly and Mrs. Wm. French returned home on Saturday night after spending a very enjoyable week motoring and sightseeing. They visited relatives at Teeswater, Ont., and were dinner guest of Rev. A. Nimmo and Mrs. Nimmo, Wingham, on Thursday. Returning by New York State, they visited Niagara, Buffalo, Rochester, etc. While in Wingham they visited the Broadcasting Station there.

Misses Betty Hampson and Margaret Sweet, Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hampson.

Mr. Evan Watson, Verdun, spent the week-end with his parents.

Miss Rita Steele spent the past week in Westville, N. Y. guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McGibbon.

Personals

Mr. William Andrews and Mr. J. R. Edwards accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith of Montreal, left on Friday, to visit friends in Indiana. Upon their return journey they will stop off at Stratford, Ont., where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Buxton and attend the Shakesperian Festival.

Master Ivan Desrosiers spent the past week at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Omer Richer, at North Bangor.

Guests, the past week, of Miss Wilson and Mrs. Reese were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnston and four sons, Ronald, Dicky, Billie and Terry, of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., and Mrs. John French and daughter Joyce, of Syracuse, N.Y.

The Week At Ottawa...

The federal government once again set the initial price of wheat at $1.40 a bushel — in the face of heavy stocks and lagging markets. It's been the same the last three years.

Initial prices set for oats and barley — 65 cents and 95 cents respectively — were also unchanged, following the three-year trend.

The initial price is that paid by the Canadian Wheat Board for farmers' deliveries at the opening of the crop year, Aug. 1. About the middle of the year — when the board has made sufficient sales to indicate profits — an interim payment of about 20 cents a bushel is usually made, covering all deliveries since the start of the crop year.

However, there has been no interim payment on the 1953 wheat crop beyond the initial price.

Grain Deliveries Upped

Western grain growers' deliveries will reach the seven-bushel-per-acre quota by July 31, the end of the current crop year.

The trade department said space is being made available at all Prairie delivery points to accept the quota shipments from producers. The quota will be the maximum general delivery quota from the current crop year.

The department said producers' marketings now exceed 525,000,000 bushels and will range between 575,000,000 and 600,000,000 bushels by the end of the month. The marketings, while short of last year's record of more than 800,000,000 bushels, would be one of the largest in history.

Banks Can Stay

An issue that flared up several times during the session of Parliament that prorogued last month seems to have been settled. Harold C. Banks, Canadian director of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL-TLC), can remain in Canada.

Tis appeal against a deportation order issued by an immigration department board of inquiry in Montreal has been allowed.

Mr. Banks' right to live in Canada was questioned several times in the Commons on the grounds he had a court record in the United States before he came to this country.

Last March in the Commons, the Opposition labor critic, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC — Hamilton West) questioned the appointment of Mr. Banks as a Canadian labor delegate to an International Labor Organization meeting on the ground he had a number of court convictions in the United States.

Mr. Banks, who lives in Montreal, was nominated by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada as its representative at a meeting of the ILO industrial committee on inland transport, held in Geneva, Switzerland, last February.

Replying to Mrs. Fairclough, the government said then it was considering whether to review the permanent residence granted Mr. Banks. It said the immigration department learned of Mr. Banks' U.S. convictions after he was granted admission as a permanent resident.

Unmitigated Pests

Sparrows are not native to Canada. They were introduced to North America from Europe near the end of the last century. Like starlings they are considered unmitigated pests and are not protected by law.

But some of them live in fireproof nests paid for by the federal government.

The RCAF, to fireproof some hangars on the Prairies, selected an insulation of asbestos and cement, made soft by water, which can be sprayed on walls.

The insulation sticks out from hangar walls in little tufts, like matted hair. The same material was used to fireproof the boiler plant of the Collins Bay federal penitentiary near Kingston, Ont.

Passer Domesticus — the English, or house sparrow — nipped into the hangars and the boiler plant and made for the insulation's loose fibres.

Soon, the sparrows were roosting in fireproof nests high in hangar walls or were making off with the insulation to build elsewhere.

Bad Situation

Group Capt. C. V. Trites, director of construction engineering administration at RCAF headquarters, says:

"I know the whole thing sounds silly. But it's a bad situation. We've got to do something about it."

The sparrows' pecking also crumbles chunks of insulation to the floor where it can get into machinery such as aircraft engines. Every time the hangar doors swing wide, the sparrows whir in.

At Saskatoon the air force without avail painted walls grey.

D. A. Munro, chief ornithologist in the Canadian Wildlife Service, says the manufacturer of the insulation came to his department for help. The service went to the National Research Council and to ornithologists in Britain, who said they'd never heard of such a thing.

NRC suggested that some fibreglass be incorporated in the insulation as an irritant or that the sparrows be scared away from the buildings by tape recordings of their own alarm cry, as has been done elsewhere with starlings.

A third suggestion was that firecrackers be attached to a slow-burning rope so that they go off at intervals — a little difficult in a hangar full of aircraft.

The solution hasn't been found yet.

Wage Boost

Four top-ranking civil servants will receive $20,000 a year as the result of a general salary increase to 27 federal government officials.

Top pay goes to Deputy Finance Minister Kenneth Taylor, Deputy Justice Minister F. P. Varcoe, Deputy Defence Minister C. M. Drury and Auditor General Watson Sellar.

Church Notes

STE. AGNES — The Bible Study Class held their Sunday evening meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming.

Next Sunday evening, July 25th, the first old-fashioned hymn-sing of the season will take place. A film, "The Bible on Your Table", will also be shown. This film, released through the Bible Society, has won wide acclaim wherever shown, and the hymn-sing, along with the film, should prove a very fine way to spend a Sunday evening.

Wolves Again Much in Evidence

Just recently, Messrs. Jean Jules Poirier and Fernand Leblanc shot a total of 8 wolves just back of Mr. Damase Leger's farm. The morning that the men went back, there was a large pack of wolves grazing in the field just on the border of Mr. Leger's bush, but they certainly did well to get 8 wolves with a 16-gauge and a 30-30.

Whenever the farmers along the wooded area are working in their fields, they are almost completely surrounded by these animals, and at night they make an awful din with their howling. Even with the good Government bounty given for each wolf killed, the population of these carnivorous animals is certainly not decreasing.

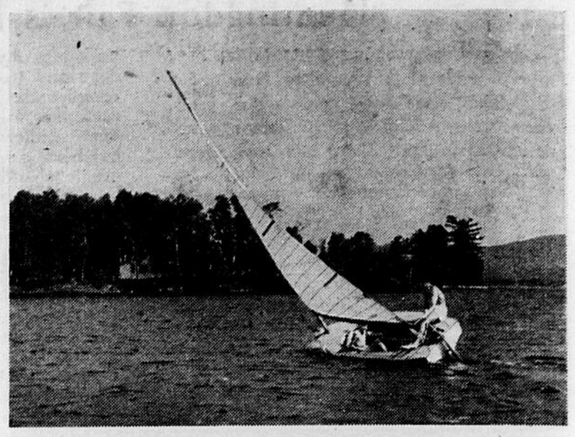
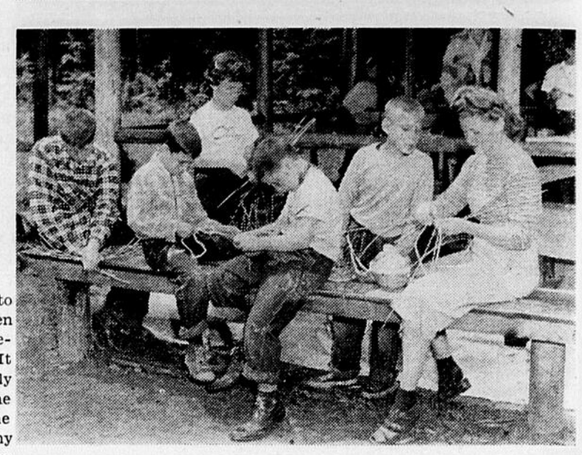
TOTEM POLES SALVAGED

Mr. Aaron Rose Addresses Rotary on Summer Camping





The above photographs show some of the activities engaged in by the boys and girls who stay at the camp at Chateaugay Lake, N. Y., It is easy to see that an enjoyable time is spent, for instance the boys with the sail boat can have a very exciting and thrilling time while at the same time learning to handle this type of craft. While those engaged in basket weaving as shown, are deeply interested in this craft that the counsellor is teaching them to do. There is no doubt the children go to their homes with many a memento of their stay at the camp. It seems that the fawn has a really choice piece of news to tell the good looking youngster and from the smile on his face, it is quite funny too. There is no doubt that children and animals do become great pals.

Mr. Aaron Rose, Chateaugay Lake, N.Y., who owns and operates a very large summer camp for boys and girls, addressed the Huntingdon Rotary Club on Monday. Mr. Rose stated that this season there were 114 boys and girls enrolled and that they came from far away places such as California, New Orleans, Louisiana, Timmins, Ont., and eastern United States. In order to direct the activities of the camp, 42 counsellors are employed on the staff.

Mr. Rose pointed out some of the highlights of such a camp and how it contributed so much toward the building of good citizens. Baseball, tennis and such sports are played, but they are not the sports to be stressed for the actual development of boys and girls into alert adults. It is very desirable that the boys and girls do creative things, learning at the same time the importance of group living and gaining an appreciation of the beauties of nature.

In the matter of training to do things for themselves, Mr. Rose instanced a case where color and race was being debated by the youths and how it was that the boys and girls from southern states had quite pointed views on this subject. After much deliberation amongst themselves, and the guidance of an able counsellor, the degree of tolerance come to the fore.

Evidently the conducting of religious services plays an important part in life at the camp. The campers built an out-of-door chapel and conducted the first service themselves. The subject of the address at this first service was most fitting, being: "Dignity of Labour".

Mountain climbing, cycling, boating, woodworking, and many other crafts are taught the campers. The camp has a small zoo and the boys and girls make great pets out of the animals. The campers are given a good training, and now after having had this Chateaugay Camp for ten seasons, they are really beginning to see how this training which has been extended to the boys and girls for two months each summer, and for 24 hours a day, shows really worthwhile results. The campers have proved themselves to be first-rate citizens and appreciative of the good things that go so far toward making a really worthwhile life.

Towels Now Absorb A Decorative Role

If you'd like to add a bright new note to your bathroom, devise a clever new way to hang your towels. After all, there's no law that says towels must always be "wall flowers," hung limply over the old familiar towel bar. And today's towels are so attractive that they really deserve special display.

Robson

ROBSON — Mrs. Timmerman of Montreal is occupying her summer home here.

At the Sunday morning service in Knox Church, Rev. Wm. In Memoriam

HAMILTON — In ever loving memory of Mother who passed away July 19, 1950 —

"Though the tears in our eyes do not glisten,
And our faces are not always sad,
There is never a night or a morning
We don't think of our wonderful Mother.
Not a day do we forget you,
In our hearts you are always here,
We loved you and we miss you
As it dawns another year."

Lovingly remembered by

Her Family.

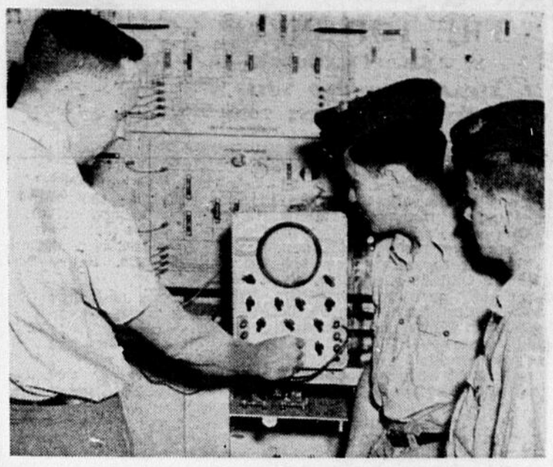
Chateauguay Air Cadets at Summer Camp



Eighteen Royal Canadian Air Cadets from Chateauguay arrived at RCAF Station Clinton recently to attend annual summer camp. The young men, all members of 576 (Salaberry de Chateauguay) Squadron, are among some 400 Air Cadets from all parts of Quebec and Ontario presently at Station Clinton.

While at camp these young men receive instruction in drill, armament, water safety, rifle firing and leadership. A good amount of their time is also devoted to sports. Sometime during their two weeks at camp each squadron gets the chance to visit the RCAF's No. 1 Radar and Communications School as well as RCAF Station Centralia.

The highlight of the camp for each cadet is his 1½ hrs flying time in an RCAF "Expeditor" aircraft. During the flight each cadet gets the opportunity to sit in the co-pilot's seat and man the control of the aircraft under the careful supervision of the pilot.

The Chateauguay Squadron, just formed last October, is headed by Flying Officer Rene Provencher, of Chateauguay Station. Officer Commanding the Air Cadet Summer Camp is Wing Commander C. E. Burns, of Minico, Ont., with Flight Lieutenant S. J. Cairns, of Trenton and Toronto as Chief Instructor.

✣ Huntingdon Locals ✣

The Huntingdon Rotarians are to meet at the Chateau at 12 o'clock on Monday and then leave for the Ormstown Hotel where they will hold their regular meeting. At the same time a number of Ormstown men are to be present and hear Mr. Francois Cleyn report on some of the many accomplishments achieved in past years by the Huntingdon Rotary Club. It is hoped that as an aftermath of this meeting, a Rotary Club will be created in Ormstown and that a Charter Night will take place in Ormstown some time in the early fall. Some fifteen men have already been interviewed regarding the formation of a Club for Ormstown. When the Huntingdon Club was formed, the charter membership numbered 17. Ormstown can materially benefit through having a Rotary Club and from past experiences, the Huntingdon and Valleyfield Rotarians all will be willing to say they have personally reaped benefit through good fellowship and meeting regularly once a week.

Noel Foisy and Hector Provost are to act as a committee to select a group of young ladies to help promote the sales of "Duck Sweepstake" tickets, the net proceeds of the Sweepstake being used to aid girls who may enter a Montreal hospital to become a Registered Nurse. To help stimulate interest for the girls who may enter the sales campaign, a number of special prizes will be accorded them. The committee to look after the obtaining of prizes consists of: Adam Sellar, Nat. Roskies, Ivan Heath, Alphonse Carisse and George Dixon.

An Ice Cream Social, under the auspices of the Evening Auxiliary of Huntingdon United Church, will be held on Saturday evening in the Church Hall. A variety of tasty toppings will be served on the ice cream. Tea and coffee will also be served. For the children, there will be a special fruit punch. Added attractions include a home-made candy booth and a fish pond for the boys and girls.

Electric Outlets

Electric outlets that children can't stick hairpins into and get the shock of their young lives have been designed by an electric company in Chicago. They feature rotary caps which close automatically when the outlets are not in use. When you want to connect a lamp or appliance you insert the prongs into the rotary cap, turn the plug to the right and push it in. When the plug is withdrawn, the rotary cap springs back to its original position and the outlet is closed.

HOW AND WHY

A Column for Boys and Girls
By Harold Don Allen

VI: NORTH AND SOUTH

Aunt Hilda was back from her long trip, and what a story she had to tell! She had travelled through Canada and the lands to the South. She had journeyed the length of the United States to regions where cotton grows on bushes and alligators swim lazily about in warm streams. Jackie listened for hours to what Aunt Hilda had to tell, and asked Father questions about it that night.

"Why was it so much warmed in the South when it had been only Springtime here in Canada?

"Why were animals and plants so different: we never see cotton or alligators here?

"Does it keep getting hotter and hotter, no matter how far you go South? And what if Aunt Hilda had gone North: would it have gotten colder and colder the farther she went?"

Father said they were good questions indeed, and he answered each one in turn. How many could you have answered for Jackie? Read the remainder of your HOW AND WHY column, and try to answer Jackie's questions again.

Father pointed to the globe — the round ball with a map on it that Father always said was a special kind of picture of the world. He showed Jackie where Canada was, and together they discovered on the globe many places where Aunt Hilda had travelled. Father pointed further South on the globe, to a line that seemed to Jackie like a narrow belt around the middle of the Earth. Father explained that the line was called the "equator", and on maps divided the world into a northern and a southern half. Warmest lands are near this equator. Cooler lands are farther away. Since the equator is south of the land in which Canadians live, as we go South we are getting nearer to the equator and the weather becomes more and more warm.

The so-called North and South Pole, coldest regions on Earth, are really as far North and as far South as you can go, and therefore are the two districts farthest from the equator. As you go South from Canada, it becomes more and more warm until the hottest regions are reached ,near the equator. As you continue South, it then starts becoming cooler again. Coldest sections of the world have ice and snow throughout the year. In the hottest areas it is warmer than a Canadian "heat wave" every day.

Father told Jackie to try an experiment and to see if he could understand how this could be. He told Jackie that most of our heat comes from the sun, which is very large (millions of times bigger than Earth!), very hot, and very far away in the sky. He said the sun's heat warms the earth, sea and air, just as the sun's light brings day to the world. He said that not all parts of the world receive the same amount of heat and light.

This is how Jackie learned how this could be. Father held a flashlight on the same level as the globe and several feet away. Jackie saw how the light hits most brightly at the middle part of the globe (the equator) and seemed duller on the parts of the globe that were curved away. Father said that it was much the same with the world and with light and heat from the sun. The parts where the sun was shining straight down received the most heat, and were warmest. These were lands about the equator. Other lands were cooler. Regions near the Poles received little light and heat at all, and were cold.

Father explained that the world did not always keep the same section directed toward the sun: sometimes the northern half got more heat, and had summer. This happened every year, and was why most regions had seasons. The equator shows us those lands that are warm or hot throughout the whole year.

That, Father said, was why Aunt Hilda found it warmer as she went along on her journey to the South. Where she travelled the sunlight was stronger ,and the sun gave the land more heat. Weather changes from day to day, for many reasons, but the seasons are brought about by the warmth from the sun.

Father said that the only cool lands near the equator were on high mountains, where the air is thinner and cooler. All really high mountains in the world are capped with snow throughout the year.

Animals and plants, he told Jackie, grow best in certain kinds of weather, and that is why we have different animals and plants in different lands.

Jackie agreed, and don't you, that the world can be an interesting place indeed if only we are willing to take time and learn!

Mrs. Alfred Brown returned to Montreal after spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Omar Harvey.

Mr. George Harvey left Monday, July 12, for a few weeks' visit at Danville, Que., his old home, before returning to St. Catherines, Ont.

Master Jimmie Goldie received the bicycle which he won in the Robin Hood Contest. It is an English Racer and of excellent quality.

Mrs. Catherine Moneypenny and two grandsons' Eddie and Robert Sieban of Long Island N.Y. are spending the summer at the home of Mrs. John Goldie.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerrald, Mrs. John Ness and the Misses Emy Enright and Denyse, Daly and Mr. Colin Barron of Montreal were recent guests of Mrs. Willard Vaincourt.

Mrs. Floyd Ellis, Patricia and Beverly Ann of Picton, Ont. spent a week at Mrs. Frank Greenway's home.

Miss Patricia Oliver returned to Mrs. Frank Greenway after spending two weeks in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNiece have returned to the city after spending their vacation at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moneypenny, Sr., received a very pleasant surprise on their 47th wedding anniversary, when their sons, Josie, Stewart, Harry and Stanley and their families gathered at their home to celebrate the occasion and presented them with a purse of money.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamill were Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCoy of Malone, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Martin Beattie Huntingdon, and Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Moore, and family of Covey Hill. Miss Winona Brooks is spending her vacation at the same home.

Hemmingford

Around one hundred persons left here on a pilgrimage to Cap de la Madeleine on Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. Sterling O. Dowling and son Michael, Winnipeg, Man., spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. L. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pelletier.

Sympathy is extended to the families of Mr. Jos. Hebert, whose funeral was held on Friday, July 16, and Mr. Longtin, whose funeral was on Saturday, July 17.

For You Madam

Hemmingford W.I.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hemmingford Women's Institute was held in the United Church Hall on Wednesday, July 7, with an attendance of 21 members. Mrs. J. L'Esperence, first vice-president, was in the chair in the absence of Mrs. H. Palmer, president. Mrs. J. L'Esperence thanked Mrs. B. Warner, Miss Kyle, Mrs. Walter Keddy and Mrs. W. Beaudin for the paintings and Mrs. A. Lukas for weaving, which were sent to the Provincial Convention held at Macdonald College.

Mrs. H. McAdam reported that Mrs. Walter Keddy and Mrs. Wilfred Beaudin and herself attended the Art Exhibition in Huntingdon recently. Mrs. Walter Keddy and Mrs. W. Beaudin had paintings exhibited. It was also reported that Miss Campbell was no longer on the staff of the Women's Institute — members were sorry to hear of the loss.

Mrs. W. Keddy reported that the Minstrel Show to be presented this Fall was now planned and hoped that members would soon be practicing.

A letter was read from the Cancer Society thanking the Institute for the $10.00 donation to help further their work against Cancer. Mrs. C. Petch reported that she had spoken to Miss Taylor of the Cancer Society and she stated that the Women's Institute was the chief source of the linen they received.

Eleven Q.W.I. Cookbooks were distributed and orders for another 7 books were taken.

Mrs. M. Keddy read an article entitled "Duties of a Member" which expressed the things that are expected of each person who belongs to the Institute.

Mrs. C. Petch told of her trip to the Provincial Convention for the Reunion of the Past Provincial Presidents to celebrate the 35th Anniversary of the Institute of Quebec. Quite a few of the Past Presidents were unable to attend, so that only two were present, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Petch. The minutes of the first meeting were read and both Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Petch spoke a few words. Mrs. Petch went on to tell of the Hemmingford Branch, which held its first meeting on November 27, 1923. Mrs. Petch was the first President and she has kept this branch open for almost 31 years.

Mrs. Tom Cleland had two games for Fun Time which all the ladies enjoyed.

Plans were made for the August meeting at Mrs. Walter Keddy's place at Fraser's Point. Members should contact the secretary, Mrs. Tom Cleland, if they are interested in going.

The roll call, "Something I read about another W.I.", was answered by 21 members.

The meeting was adjourned after which delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. P. Barr, Miss D. Upton, Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. D. Laurie.

BEING INTERESTING NOTES OF NEWS IN COMMENT FORM

It will no doubt be surprising to many people who are spending their summer vacations basking on beaches, fishing or climbing mountains, to learn that during these lazy days the people of Canada—and probably people all over America—are reading more than they do in the winter. While television and hockey games occupy a great many people during the cold evenings, there is hardly a hammock or a train seat these days that does not have a book (probably a soft cover edition) or a magazine within easy reach.

Almost everyone who attends the drama festival in Stratford this summer will have done some brushing up on Shakespeare, and at least one Canadian newspaper publisher I know has selected the Bible for his holiday reading. I can offer no better book than the Bible, but there are a few things that might be said in recommending further reading.

There have been more than 300 editions of "The Compleat Angler" since Izaak Walton wrote it back in the 17th century, and probably some sportsmen who are fishing for rainbow trout in Alberta or hunting tuna in Nova Scotia have a copy of the latest edition along with them. But there is no book on sea game—unless it is Melville's "Moby Dick"—that provides better reading currently than R.B. Robertson's exciting story of the Antarctic, "Of Whales and Men".

Published by Knopf and written by a Scottish medical doctor who signed on one of the most curious expeditions since Fawcett's last trip up the Amazon, "Of Whales and Men" is an account to stir the souls of the few adventurers who remain on this earth. To all others it will cause acute inflamation of the imagination.

The whaling industry has changed a good deal since Moby Dick's day, but the whales are just the same and so are the men who hunt them. It is practically the mainstay of life for the Norwegians, and in Europe the vast margarine business is largely dependent on the whale. Although it is not so important to Scotsmen as it once was, there were still many good men from Scotland who were with Robertson when he landed at South Georgia a small British island in the South Atlantic Ocean which is used as a whaling base.

There were 17 ships in the expedition, most of them manned by men (700 of them in this case) who had spent their lives hunting the sea monsters at the bottom of the earth. A factory ship forms the nucleus of such an operation, and on this tremendous processing centre the whales are transformed from bloated carcasses (the whales are filled with air to keep them afloat until they can be gathered up) into the essential ingredients of a thousand products, such as oil for margarine, of course, and oil for precision instruments, glands for medical preparations, flesh for food, fertilizer and perfume. I have eaten whale meat myself, but did not find it quite so palatable as Dr. Robertson says is can be if properly prepared.

In an eight-month season thousands of whales are killed by harpoon guns and consumed in the great ovens of the factory ship. A single blue whale might weigh 120 tons and consists of 80 barrels of blubber oil, 40 barrels of meat oil and 42 barrels of bone oil. It is in length about 89 feet, with a tongue weighing three tons, a heart weighing half a ton. Eight tons of blood flow through its great hulk. What excitement and danger in such a life! And what courageous men who live it!

I had almost forgotten that Dr. Valdmanis, the Latvian who has been giving Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland such a difficult time, was once a professor of economics at Carleton College in Ottawa. But learning that Wilf Kesterton (of Regina) who is a professor at that school, has completed his book on the history of journalism in Canada reminds me also that I had the privilege of suggesting a name for Carleton when it was being organized in 1941. Although my suggestion was not accepted, I cannot but hope that some of the integrity rubbed off on me from that great Canadian who was the first president of Carleton College — Dr. Henry Marshall Tory.

Destiny has a magnificent faculty for providing men with the proper associates, but it is rather unique that the two men who formed the entire staff of Carleton in its first days were both Nova Scotians. Dr. Tory of Guysborough county, was the president, and Lloyd R. Shaw of Halifax, was the registrar. And it is another Nova Scotian, Dr. E. A. Corbett, who has written the much-needed biography called "Henry Marshall Tory" (Ryerson).

But Dr. Tory was only born in Nova Scotia. He went out into the world to find his mark. He was in his time—he died in 1947 at the age of 83—a professor at McGill, the president of the University of Alberta, the president of the National Research Council, a member of numerous royal commissions, and, perhaps, most important of all, he was the man who organized the famous Khaki University which estabilished in the Canadian Army in 1917 an entirely new concept of the soldier's needs and rights, which has now become a common attitude throughout the world.

Dr. Corbett is himself something of a great Canadian, having come from Truro and, like Dr. Tory, having served on the staff of the University of Alberta. He recently wrote a delightful book called "Father, God Bless Him", which I gave a favourable review. Now I feel that his "Henry Marshall Tory" is a book which demands the attention of all those who are proud of the people who have made this Canada of ours great.

High Voltage

ALUMINUM CABLE from Canada was used in a Peruvian high-voltage power line, installed at altitudes of from 13,000 to 15,000 feet—the world's highest. Canada supplied not only the cable but also the technical assistance required on this record job. We imagine that aluminum's light weight was particularly appreciated by the llamas or whatever other beasts of burden were used to get the cable to the top.

In the rugged mountain country of British Columbia where Alcan's own huge Kitimat development is going on, the aluminum transmission lines used represent another record: they are the largest-diameter overhead power lines in the world. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Mobile Emergency Unit Attracts Much Attention At Valleyfield Latter part Of Past Week

Friday afternoon the "Mobile Emergency Unit" was on display in Sauve Park, Valleyfield. This emergency mobile hospital is what Doctors C. L. Roman and O. E. Caza in Valleyfield, termed to the press as being real outstanding front line equipment that would contribute a great deal toward meeting with problems confronting at the time of a disaster. The doctors who viewed the "Mobile Emergency Unit" on Friday and over the week-end, were many; and all spoke glowingly of what the Molson Brewery had accomplished in having this unit, the first of its kind in North America, created for emergency uses in this part of Canada.

The Mobile Emergency Unit is to have its headquarters at the Molson Brewery plant in Montreal and whenever its services are required a phone call will bring it to the scene of disaster with the least possible delay.

Albert "Battleship" Leduc, the Molson representative in Valleyfield, officiated as host at Sauve Park, on Friday afternoon, when the Mobile Emergency Unit was on display. Mr. Leduc made certain that a number of the municipal councillors were present, representatives of the medical profession, clergy, community service organizations as well as a representative number of business men.

The First of its Kind in North America

Molson's Mobile Emergency Unit incorporates in a single, self-contained vehicle all the latest power, communications, medical and kitchen equipment normally found in three or four separate relief or rescue vehicles. Sponsored by Molson's Brewery Limited as a public service, it is capable of proceeding to the scene of disaster to aid local doctors and rescue workers in providing all essential relief services.

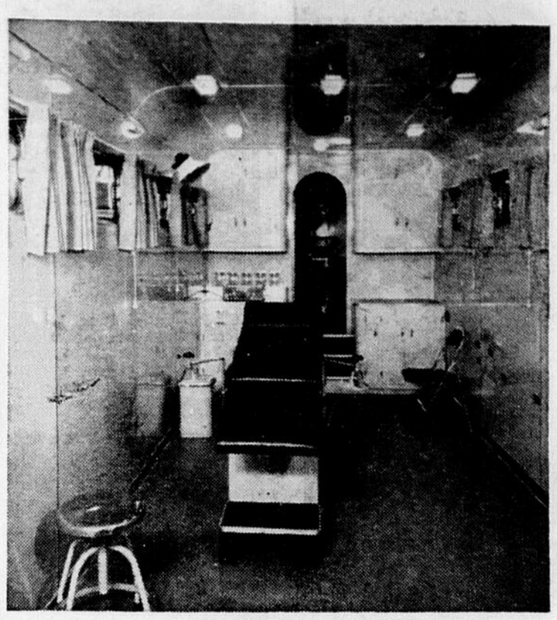
The unit is divided into three sections, housed in a 42½-foot trailer powered by a tilt cab tractor.

The main equipment in the front, or electrical section, is: a two-way radio; a public address system for use as an aid in preventing panics, directing relief workers, or guiding people lost in the bush; two 1000-watt searchlights; an Aldis signalling lamp; a 5000-watt generator; a 1000-watt portable generator, and an auxiliary heater. The unit also carries a Bell Mobile Telephone system installed in the tractor.

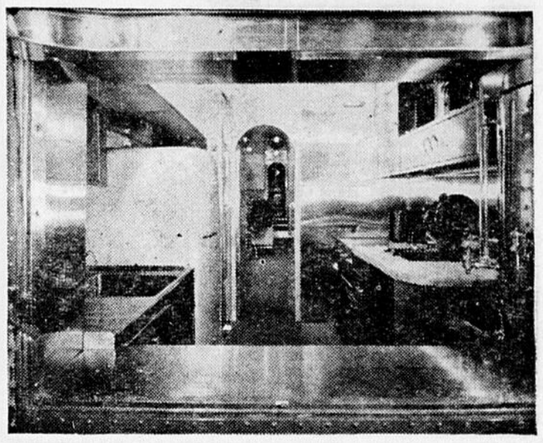
The centre, or hospital section, 25 feet long, contains: complete emergency first aid supplies, an operating table, a complete set of standard surgical instruments, 10 folding-type aluminum stretchers, 3 dozen blankets, complete resuscitation equipment, 2 folding beds, 2 folding tables, a supply of drugs and intravenous anaesthetics, and other necessary medical equipment.

The stainless steel galley, at the rear, is equipped with complete refrigeration and cooking facilities and a 200-gallon water tank, giving an adequate reserve supply of water.

Molson's Mobile Emergency Unit also carries other necessary rescue work equipment such as fire extinguishers, axes, shovels, crowbars, rope, wire, flashlights, flares and portable radio sets.



HOSPITAL This section was designed and equipped after consultations with Civil Defence authorities. It will be made available at the scene of a disaster to doctors, who, with the medical supplies provided, will be able to administer relief to at least 100 casualties.



GALLEY Two hundred cups of coffee per hour can be dispensed from this section. In addition, hot and cold full-course meals or snacks can be prepared and served.

Letter to the Editor

Huntingdon, Que. July 19, 1954

The Editor,
The Huntingdon Gleaner,
Town.

Dear Sir:

In view of the fact that the Board of Management of The Huntingdon County Hospital finds it necessary to be more exacting in the matter of collecting patient's accounts, it is deemed advisable to acquaint the public with the following regulations which are now in effect, viz:

1. A deposit of $30.00 for Public and Semi-Private patients and $40.00 for Private patients is required on entry of the patient into Hospital.
2. Bills are rendered each Friday for the patient's account to date and are payable as rendered.
3. Accounts must be settled in full when the patient leaves the Hospital.
4. On the day of discharge, patients must leave the Hospital by 4 p.m., otherwise a charge for another day is made.

The idea seems to persist that the Operating Grants paid by the Provincial Government will enable the Hospital to carry on whether patients' bills are paid or not. Such is not the case. These Grants are made so that the Public Room Rates can be kept down to a point that people in average circumstances can pay. The Public Room Rate is $6.00 per day which includes patient's food. This is very little more than a medium Hotel rate. In addition to this, the Hospital furnishes nursing and laundry service which in wages alone amounts to well over $2,000 per month.

A change has been made in the Quebec Public Charities Act which removes the loss on indigent patients when the Quebec Public Charities Act card is signed by the Municipality involved. The Provincial Department of Health now pays $6.00 per day and collects 15% or 90 cents per day from the Municipality. In view of the smallness of the Municipalities' contribution, it is felt that a more liberal attitude should be displayed by Municipal Councils. They have a responsibility for the human as well as the material resources of the Municipality. In some cases, during the past year, deaths would almost certainly have resulted if Hospital care had not been given to people who it was known could not pay personally.

It is with regret that the Board of Management has to enforce the above-mentioned Regulations, but the first duty of Boards of Management is to keep institutions solvent, otherwise they will cease to function.

Yours very truly,
Gilbert MacMillan,
Chairman,
Board of Management,
The Huntingdon County Hospital

Aubrey - Riverfield

W. I. Meeting

AUBREY - RIVERFIELD — The July meeting of the Aubrey-Riverfield W. I. branch was held on the evening of July 8, at the home of Mrs. Finlay Milne. Twenty members and six visitors were present. The Roll-call was answered by each member giving a historical happening in her community. This proved both interesting and amusing.

It was moved that the branch send $10.00 to the Quebec Service Fund. Mrs. Janet Reddick and Mrs. Everett Orr were appointed to look after material that might be purchased from Macdonald College.

The next meeting will be held in the form of a picnic at the home of Mrs. Robert Templeton. A committee was appointed to look after refreshments and entertainment.

Current events were given by each convenor. The report of the Provincial Convention was given by Mrs. Janet Reddick and a poem read by Mrs. Gordon Easton. The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

A rummage sale which was held previously realized $20.40.

Dainty refreshment were served by the hostess in charge.

Social Notes

Miss Barbara Peterkin and Mr. Howard Easton were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Easton where Mr. and Mrs. Bill Easton of Valois have spent the past week.

HAPPY BOY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two days after newspaper carrier Eddie Macdonald lost $70. in bills and silver — his month's collections — the money arrived at his home in the self-addressed envelope in which it was being carried by the lad.

Personal Expenditures of Canadians

Personal expenditures on food by Canadians during 1953 were greater by $90 millions as compared with 1952 expenditures, according to the latest government reports on national accounts.

Expenditures for tobacco and alcoholic beverages in 1953 rose by $36 millions over 1952, and expenditures for shelter rose by $174 millions.

Expenditures for the various items during the four years from 1950 to 1953 inclusive, were as follows:

	1950	1951	1952	1953

Ladies' Aid

COVEY HILL — The regular monthly meeting of the Wesley-Knox Ladies' Aid was entertained at the home of Mrs. John Wilson, St. Chrysostome, Que., on Wednesday afternoon, July 14, 1954.

Ten members answered the roll call guessing the age of their right hand neighbors. Five visitors were present and one new member joined. Rev. W. Holmes took charge of the devotional period which opened by singing a hymn, scripture and prayer.

The president, Mrs. H. K. Curran, presided over the business period when several items of business were discussed.

A pleasing item on the afternoon's programme was a talk and demonstration on "home decorating" by Mrs. W. Holmes. This was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. At the conclusion, Mrs. Holmes was thanked by Mrs. R. C. Whyte.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Sample on Wednesday afternoon, August 11, and the members are requested to bring their mite boxes.

The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. W. Holmes. A delectable lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Indell Waddell and Mrs. R. C. Whyte, after which everyone departed thanking Mrs. Wilson for her kind hospitality.

What's Good About Newspapers?

By Laurence R. Campbell
Dean, School of Journalism,
Florida State University

What's good about newspapers

This is a fair question. It is a question which deserves a simple, plain, straight-forward answer. I shall try to give one — an honest statement of fact, not an appeal to emotion.

Ask the ordinary Russian this question, and you will get no answer. Neither he nor any of the slaves in the shadow states knows what a real newspaper is. Obviously, his masters in the Kremlin don't want the truth to get in or to get out.

Here readers take the newspaper for granted. Once they feared the Day of Judgment. Now they speculate about the desolation and disaster that we shall face if atomic bombs or H-bombs rain from the skies.

Grim prophets of despair—some of them newspapermen—have told us that man is obsolete. They have forecast the suicide of civilization and the exit of mankind. Fearing fear, some of us have been on the verge of panic and hysteria.

Yet we could face a far greater catastrophe. If all our newspapers were shut down tomorrow, the collapse of government and paralysis of industry would be a matter of days. We would plunge into anarchy and chaos.

Let's make a list of what's good about newspapers. First, the newspaper is an economic asset to the community. It rents property for which it pays a good rent, or it owns property on which it pays taxes. It also pays for water, fuel and electricity, and it contributes to community drives.

Second, the newspaper provides a steady market for newspaper, metal, ink, and other supplies. It buys costly and complex equipment. In 1950 newspapers consumed 6 million tons of newsprint, about one sixth of which was produced in the United States and most of the rest in Canada.

Third, the newspaper is good because it provides steady employment for about a quarter of a million men and women. Many of the employees are highly skilled. Many are men and women with high professional standards in editorial and business affairs.

Though the newspaper is a 2 billion dollar industry, few newspapers are big business. Only 38 on this continent employ more than 1,000 men. More than three-fifths hire only one to nine employees. Moreover, month - to - month employment is stable, although government and business frequently turn to newspapers to recruit men of ability.

The successful newspaper reporter for example, often has the characteristics and attitudes which employers prize. The newsman at work usually is an applied psychologist, resourceful researcher, facile writer, and responsible analyst. His initiative, curiosity, and independence are important assets

Fourth, the newspaper is good because it produces a product which people want. The customers do not deny that the newspaper is a necessity. They do not apologize for buying. Nobody challenges a man's normal standards or spiritual values because he reads a newspaper. Few commodities have won such widespread social approval.

Consider the circulation of dailies in the United States. Daily circulation totals 54 million; Sunday circulation, 46 million.

Weekly newspapers are in as much demand or more. Probably no printed medium of mass communication is read so thoroughly as the small-town newspaper. The aggregate circulation of newspapers — weekly and daily — is in the neighborhood of 120 million copies per issue.

After all, where can you get more for the money? You can buy a single copy for the price of a Coke, a package of gum, a few safety pins, or a short telephone call. For the price of a movie, you can have a month's subscription. A year's subscription won't begin to pay for the radio or television set you want.

Fifth, the newspaper is good because it is the best medium for marketing the goods and services the public wants. The newspaper usually is the number one national advertising medium, often setting a new record volume each year.

All business, of course, is local. No matter where goods are made, they are consumed in some community served by weekly or daily newspapers which are effective for national and local display and classified advertising. Without the newspaper, our system of free enterprise would deteriorate rapidly.

The newspaper does not sell its soul along with the space it sells to the advertiser. The use of improper influence by advertisers is rare. Most of them don't want to exert improper influence. The few who try usually find that they hurt themselves, not the customers or the newspapers.

Sixth, the newspaper is good because it helps the public to relax. And a lot of us need to relax if we are going to stay normal—or get that way. If we don't, the income tax, assassinations in Iran, McCarthy in Washington, or Hollywood hussies will drive us to the booby-hatch.

Yes, the newspaper helps us to relax. The comics, varied features, human interest stories, and photographs amuse and entertain, providing a few minutes' escape. Sometimes they provide recreational reading for the leisure time which is a problem so many of us have yet to face.

Seventh, the newspaper is good because it provides a program of continuing adult education.

The newspaper is a guidance booklet with counsel on legal, medical, and business matters. It has lessons in geography and history. It is a textbook in political science, economics, sociology, and public administration in action.

What's good about newspapers? So far we have seven items. Yet even if you disregard all these values of the newspaper, it still is indispensable. And why Eighth: It is indispensable because one news medium; because it is the nation's number one news medium; there are other news media, but none equals the newspaper.

Every intelligent man wants to know what's going on — the current ideas, events, and conflicts that may alter his way of life and his way of living The newspaper publisher prints this news so that the reader can read it wherever he is whenever he wants it — and the news is accurate and as nearly complete as possible.

Yes, if all the newspaper did was to present the news, it would be wholly indispensable. It is largely upon the basis of the news that the citizen makes his decisions at election time. Without the newspaper, the average citizen would be politically illiterate, a liability in a free society.

To be sure, the newspapers tell the news as they find it — not as they might wish it or will it to be They seldom suggest that Utopia is here. They report much that shows how ugly, insane, vicious, perverted, and treacherous some human beings can be. But newspapers don't make the bad news or the bad weather, they just report it.

Ninth, the newspaper is good because its editorial leadership and community service can be duplicated by no other institution. It promotes every good cause except one — its own. It champions the right and challenges the wrong, often helping the public to make up its mind on vital issues.

Every newspaper, of course, is against sin. It can detect local sin as well as global sin. It can oppose and expose sin in city and county government as well as in the United Nations. And when it smites the sinners, it can be constructive, not sensational.

The best newspapers, of course, are those with guts and gumption. Their crusade involves more than the tirades of personal journalism. They are interested in campaigns for civic betterment.

It's easy to tell you what is good about the newspaper because there is so much good the newspaper does. True, as this is, there is a surprising number of persons who prefer to discuss what's bad about the newspaper. It may be well to take time to identify accurately some of these habitual critics.

First, there's the common scold. He always has a mad on — a pet peeve to publicize. He's always grumbling, whining, and complaining about the newspaper. He is sure that civilization stinks, but he does not think the newspaper should be so sensational about sin — and yet he demands the truth.

Second, there's the stuck pig. He's sore because a newspaper some time or other stepped on his toes. Perhaps it published a story about him — and mispelled his name. Perhaps it didn't, and he's wrathy about that. If the newspaper has found that he's a hypocrite, a shabby citizen, or a candidate for a gravy train, he doesn't want his privacy invaded.

Third, there's the space grabber. Often he's a build-up boy who seeks the spotlight. He gobbles up publicity the way a Russian delegate chants a veto. If he can get public attention by assailing the press, he'll stoop to anything not worrying about the truth of what he says.

Fourth, there's the communist. He hates the newspaper because he knows that a free press and free people are inseparable. He lies about the newspaper because he knows that where the newspaper is in chains the people are in chains. He knows that communism cannot succeed unless the newspaper is muffled and manacled. He would handcuff the mind and shackle the soul of every free man.

Fifth, there's the ivory tower agitator. He shouts that all newspapers all the time are guilty of any sin any newspaper committed any time. His evidence may be inaccurate, incomplete and insubstantial, yet he continues to make sweeping generalizations.

Few communities are without some of these habitual critics of the newspaper. Sometimes they attack the family, the church, the school, but the newspaper is their favorite whipping boy.

To be sure, in this imperfect world, few newspapers are perfect. The newspapers have no more infallible employees than any other institution or business. Newspapermen welcome searching criticism from those who are willing to understand the limitations of the press in this crisis-crowded epoch.

One fact is certain: when we read the obituary of the free press, we shall read the epitaph of democracy.
— American Press

A handful of pennies plus a headful of ingenuity can go a long way toward transforming your towels from the aforementioned "wall flowers" to glamorous decoration.

For instance, if the man of the house is handy with a hammer, you might urge him to have a fling at the few hours carpentry it takes to make an attractive lattice-work towel ladder.

This is a natural for towel-hanging. It provides all the bar space you need, is highly decorative, and serves as a good separator between bath and lavatory areas in your bathroom.

THEY GAMBLE WITH DEATH

Going swimming? Then do it the safe way! Water sports are fun on hot summer days, but play without caution spells danger. Be alert when you go swimming or boating, warns Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in a summer safety message to all swimmers, experienced or beginner.

Always use the buddy system — never swim alone. Rest an hour or more after eating before going into the water. If you're a long distance swimmer, have someone go along with you in a boat in case you get tired. Children love boating and floating. See that they have seaworthy boats and durable rubber foam water floats. Teach them to stay near shore when not accompanied by an adult.

Every year thousands of persons lose their lives by drowning or are injured in water accidents. This summer you can help keep the death and accident rate low by swimming and playing safely.

GLENGARRY LOU

First pirze cow four years old or over, senior and grand champion Ayrshire female 1953 Royal Winter Fair. (Also senior and grand champion at the 1951 Royal Winter Fair). Owner, Lindwood Farms (Col. S. C. Oland) Bedford, N.S. of which Alex. Lamond is manager.

Home Hazards

Accidents around the home can cause injury, death and expense unless adequate safety measures are taken.

Insurance experts report that carelessness is the chief cause of accidents in the area right around the home. Whether the injury is to family, visitors, or a passerby, the property owner is legally liable for the damages.

A general home cleanup as the best safeguard against accidents is recommended with the following suggestions:

1 Have rotten or broken porches, steps and railings fixed.

2 Never leave toys, garden tools, or snow shovels where people might fall over them.

3 Broken sidewalks and cement work should be fixed.

4 Old, broken garden furniture should be discarded, or properly fixed.

5 Clear away broken glass, brick, nails, and other dangerous debris.

6 See that ladders are safely propped.

7 Holes in lawns are dangerous and should be filled in or adequately marked.

Observations

Written specially for The Huntingdon Gleaner by Robert G. Sellar, Grenoble, France

The Vatican City

The Vatican City is the capital of the Roman Catholic World. It is a complete city within the city of Rome, though there are no gates making the Vatican City a fortress. Naturally there are high stone walls surrounding the Vatican Museum, the appartments and the offices.

To enter the Vatican City, I had to cross one of two bridges spanning the Tiber River — the Bridge of St Angelo which is in front of the old castle of St. Angelo (now a museum) or the bridge of Vittor Emmanuel 11. A block from the bridges is the beginning of Via della Concitagime, the beautiful avenue (almost what one can call the Mall) which leads into St. Peter's Square. The avenue is wide and has two white stone boulevards containing white stone benches and lighted obelisks. The boulevards actually divide the avenue into three roads similar to a Catholic church with St. Peter's square being the altar and the Cathedral in the background as the Arpe. The buildings lining the avenue are white stone or plaster.

St. Peter's square is vast, about 200 yards by 220 yards. From the two sides of the entrance of the square to the Bacilica there are two colonnades which are partly cylindrical in shape, with four rows of columns (Baroque style). There are approximately 280 columns and 140 statues of saints on the roofs of the two colonnades. In front of each of the colonnades, is a large fountain 45 feet high. In the centre of the square there is an 80 foot Egyptian Obelisk with hieroglyphics written at the base.

Above the right colonnade is the Palace of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, who is able at certain times of the week, to look down on the many thousand parishioners who have come to see their father. Swiss guards in their picturesque uniforms mount guard on the Palace's entrance of the Bronze Door and other gateways to the Vatican City.

There are five entrances to the Bacilica. The first door on the right is The Holy Door or Jubilee Door which is walled up now and is only opened once every 25 years. The last time it was open was in 1950, the next time it will open, 1975. The large centre door which belonged to the old Cathedral of St. Peter is only opened on feast days. The door to the left of the centre door is the door of Judgment. At one end of the Portico there is a statue of Charlemagne on horseback. At the other end is the statue of Constantine the Great who established the freedom of the Christian religion in Rome during the fourth Century. On the ceiling there are beautiful stuccos while above the cornice there are statues of thirty-two popes.

The giant dome of the Cathedral cannot be seen unless one is a mile or more away from the entrance of the Cathedral. It is so high that a visitor is able to see the dome from towns 20 and 30 miles from Rome.

The Cathedral is 608 feet long. The height of the great nave is 145 feet with a width of 92 feet. The area is 48,500 square feet. In the middle of the pavement of the nave are the numbers relating to the lengths of other great churches as calculated from the arpe.

The present Cathedral was built on top of the old Cathedral of St. Peter and partly on the old circus of Nero in 1507 by Pope Julius II. The confession rail before the high altar is actually facing the old Bacilica of St. Peter — the crypt where the body of St. Peter, many other Popes and emperors lie in everlasting peace. The two floors of the erypt come from the old Bacilica.

The Cathedral's design was partly taken from the designs of the Bacilica of Constantine in the Forum and from the halls of the Thermal Baths. There are twelve cupolas representing the twelve apostles and thirty-two altars representing the age of Jesus Christ. The two hundred columns are from the different Roman temples. One of the columns is from King Solomon's Temple of Jerusalem. The Cathedral is built entirely of marble and thus is quite damp and cold. The many pictures in the Cathedral are mosaic copies as the dampness would destroy the original oil paintings in a very few years. The originals are in different museums around Rome.

In many of the chapels there are the tombs of different Popes and famous men of religion.

The cupola of the Cathedral is the architectural feat of Michaelangelo. It is 405 feet in height and 138 feet wide. There are four very heavy pillars supporting the cupola, each 75 yards in circumference and 48 yards high. On the floor below the cupola is the exact size of the dome. The dome is illustrated with mosaics of Jesus, Mary, St. John the Baptist, and the apostles and evangelists. On each of the pillars there is a large medallion about 11 yards wide. The pen in St. Luke's hand is one of the medallions approximately 7 feet long.

Below the cupola is the Papal high altar where only the Pope or the Cardinal appointed by the Pope are permitted to celebrate High Mass. Over the papal high altar is a canepy supported by four twisted bronze columns (the metal is from the Pantheon). Each column weighs 17 tons and is 95 feet high — it was created by the great artist Bernini who did much of the other work on the Cathedral such as the tomb of Alex. VII which was completed when the artist was 82. It is a statue containing some 5000 pieces of red and white marble glued together and afterwards carved. The marble was brought to Rome during the time of the Carthegian Wars.

Off to one side of the Cathedral are the treasure rooms. Here, the ceremonial robes and ornaments of the high altar are kept with some of the treasures and robes of the Popes of world history. Near the treasure rooms is a marble plaque with the lists of all the Popes — some 173 of these are buried in the Cathedral.

A ten-minute walk from the Cathedral brought me to the priceless art collections and treasures of the Vatican City.

The rooms of the museum are accessible by an elevator or by a large spiral staircase. The museum contains the works of great artists such as Filippo Leppi, Bellini, Raphael, and Leonardo da Vinci. There are hundreds of examples of antique sculpture dating from the Greek and Roman Empires. I saw such masterpieces as The Sleeping Aristidne, The Dance of the Greek Warriors, and Hercules in bronze. Within the museum are many large rooms housing one of the largest library collections in the world. At the moment, there are over 50,000 manuscripts, 7000 incunabia, and 500,000 printed volumes and it is increasing in size all the time. There are many glass cases and cupboards displaying the gifts to the Popes made by emperors and courtiers. In one room there are a number of glass cases containing very old books such as some Gutenburg Bibles, old navigation charts of Armenia and such articles as the ornamented hammer used to open the holy or jubilee doors every 25 years.

At one end of the museum is one of the most famous chapels in the world, the beautiful Sistine Chapel. The chapel is 130 feet long by 40 feet wide and 80 feet high The walls and settings are completely covered by frescoes. The best known frescoes are those of Michaelangelo on the ceiling and the altar wall. The centre group of paintings on the ceiling pertains to the creation of the world, the original sin and the Flood. There are also such frascoes as Isaiah, David and Goliath, Daniel, Esther and Haman, etc.

The other wall represents the Last Judgment — of the blessed rising to heaven and the damned being dragged into fiery deaths of Hell by the demons. Up to a few years ago, the smoke from the altar candles blackened the paintings, badly but fortunately, the paintings have been restored.

The frescoes on the side walls are of the Florencian and Umbrian schools. Each of the twelve scenes deal with the Bible. The first six are about the family of Moses — from Moses and his wife Sephora in Egypt to the death of Moses — on the left wall; and on the right wall, the life of Christ from the Baptism to the Last Supper.

All in all it is a beautiful chapel. Unfortunately, I spent only two hours in the chapel. I could easily spend a week there looking at the beautiful frescoes. It is definitely one 'must' that every person should see, no matter what faith, for essentially, it is a piece of art and not a place of worship.

Weep No Longer Over Damp Rooms

Dry those tears. No need to add more moisture over the condition of damp basements or other rooms, during muggy weather. Electric dehumidifiers are now available. They draw the moisture-laden room air over refrigerated coils, which condense the moisture. The machines can be directly attached to a drain.

Calcium chloride and silica gel devices are also available, and utilize the great absorptive qualities of these chemical preparations to soak up excess moisture in the air.

And containers are available for the chemically actuated devices which, equipped with a motor-driven fan, draw the moist air in, force dried air out, and hasten dehumidification of the room.

Planning Ventilation For Attic Louvres

Ventillating louvre in attics often are screened to keep out squirrels and insects. This screening can greatly reduce the ventilating efficiency of the opening.

Insect screen with 16 meshes to the inch cut the ventilating capacity of any opening by one-half.

If you are planning attic louvres or other ventilating openings and intend to cover them with screens, figure on making the openings twice as big as needed, if you intend to use insect screen.. For coarse mesh ,eight to the inch, make the opening one and one-fourth the size of an unscreened vent. Quarter-inch hardware mesh, adequate against squirrels and birds, makes virtually no difference in the size of the opening.

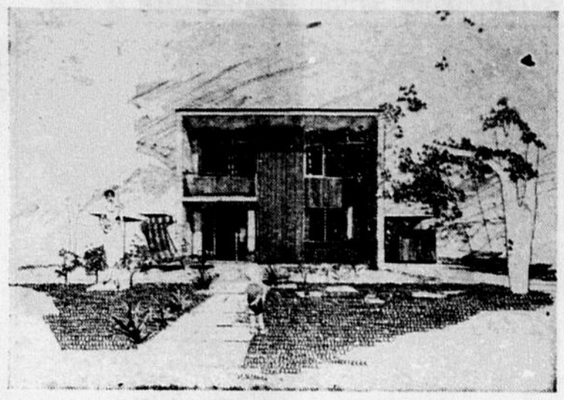
An Englishman Looks at Canada



This is an English architect's idea of what a Canadian home should look like. Submitted as one of the 650 designs entered in the McGill University International Calvert House Competition, this home by architect Thomas Barron Gounlay of Chelsea, England, was one of the very few two-story dwellings entered in the competition. It was awarded an honorable mention and a $200 prize and is recommended by the Calvert House jury as suitable either for a single dwelling plan or as part of a housing unit. Extremely compact, the home allows for ample garden space. While it was designed to be built without a basement, Canadian architects think most home builders here would prefer to add a heating and general utility room below ground. This English look at a Canadian Home of Tomorrow is also one of the few submitted that is more suitable for big city or suburban districts than for rural areas.

Lacolle Is Improving Its Fire Protection

Improved Fire Protection

After much deliberation, the Town Council has decided what is to be done to ensure adequate fire protection for this so-expanding town. A location for the fire engine has been secured and work on the building is in progress. It is at a point where the river almost touches the road, so the back of the building has to be largely built up with earth, stones and cement. Four cisterns are also being built, one toward the end of each road leading from the town. Beside each of these an artesian well is to be made and then Lacolle people will feel more secure against fire. There are some people still living in Lacolle who remember the disastrous fire of the early 1890's, when almost the entire village from the stone house on the east side and the garage on the west side, went up in flames. Only the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Derick was saved.

LACOLLE — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bourdon, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley O'Connor, Mr. Fred Bourdon and Mrs. Bill Fewster motored to Ottawa on Saturday to see the softball game between Lacolle and Ottawa Civil Servants.

Misses Mary VanVliet and Jay Geymonat motored to Montreal on Tuesday afternoon to spend a few hours visiting with Jay's sister, Miss Anne Geymonat, who had returned a few days before from a holiday spent in the homeland of the Geymonat family, Bobbio Pellice Turin, in Italy.

Callers on Tuesday afternoon at the homes of Miss Daggett and Mrs. M. A. VanVliet, were Mrs. Bradley and Miss Mattie Woodworth, of St. Armand, Que.; Mrs. and Miss Barbara Stockbridge of Maynard, Mass. Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Stockbridge were formerly Misses Margaret and Lottie Canfield, who were natives of Lacolle as was also Miss Woodworth. They find Lacolle greatly changed and enlarged. The home of the Canfields was the fine old stone house now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brooks, while that of Miss Woodworth was in Odelltown.

Miss Gertie Healey, of Montreal, was a guest for a few days with Misses Myrta and Ethel Fosburgh. She left on Thursday to visit her sister, Florence, in Plattsburgh. Her brother Albert, of Montreal, was a dinner guest at the Fosburgh home.

Rev. and Mrs. M. J. MacLeod and their two little daughters arrived home on Friday night after motoring from Hespeler, Ont. A large congregation on Sunday morning testified to the pleasure with which Mr. MacLeod's return was welcomed.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Fair, Montreal, came on Friday to their home in Lacolle for the summer, spending a week with Mrs. Fair are Judy VanVliet and Renate Kiefer of Montreal.

Miss Jeannette Geymonat, B.A., left by train on Thursday night for New York City where she will visit a friend and look over the Universities to find one which will be most suitable in which to enrol as a student in Fine Arts during the summer school of next year.

On Friday evening Capt. and Mrs. Davenport, Joanne, Lynn and Geoffrey motored from Ottawa and will spend their two weeks' vacation at the home of Mrs. Davenport's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David VanVliet.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan MacMillan, Huntingdon; Mrs. H. R. Wilson, Charles and Margaret, of Glenelm, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McClenaghan. Kenneth McClenaghan returned to his home after spending the past three weeks with his grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cairns of Montreal spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson VanVliet.

Annual Picnic

On Wednesday the Canadian Customs Association, Lacolle and Blackpool, held their annual picnic at the State Beach at Plattsburgh, N.Y. Although the day was cool and threatened rain there was a large attendance. Prizes for best sand castles were awarded to Misses Janet Dugal, Irene Robert and Margie McGill. Races were also enjoyed by young and old. The tug-o'-war was won by the Long Room staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rogers returned to their home in Brookline, P.Q., on Sunday, after spending several days at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Daigneault and Sandra Jane of Sherbrooke arrived on Sunday to spend a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rogers.

Mrs. G. Trueman Betts returned to Montreal on Sunday after having spent the past two weeks at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. A. VanVliet.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Doyle and Susan, of Hanover, Conn., are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John VanVliet and family.

Mesdames W. L. Bernhardt and J. A. Warden spent the week-end with relatives in Huntingdon.

Lacolle Downs Ottawa Team

On Saturday, July 17, a picked team from the Lacolle Town Softball League journeyed to Ottawa to play the Canadian Customs Team of Ottawa. Transportation was furnished by the Canadian Customs Brokers of Lacolle and Blackpool. The game was won by Lacolle 7-2 in a closely contested game. The team was entertained by Ottawa Customs at the summer home of Mr. R. C. Laberge, General Executive Assistant, Customs and Excise Division, Dept. of National Revenue, Ottawa, where delicious refreshments were served.

This is the first of a series of games to be played with various Civil Service Teams from other places — as the Lacolle Team is mainly composed of Customs and Immigration officers. A return game has been tentatively scheduled between Ottawa Customs and Lacolle at Lacolle on August 14. So keep this date in mind and plan to see softball played in a sportsmanship way.

The outstanding feature of the Saturday game was the only home-run scored by Lacolle's pitcher, Charles (Bud) French.

The players of the Lacolle team to start are as follows:

Pitcher, C. French; catcher, W. Fewster; 1st, W. Bernhardt; 2nd, R. Cyr; 3rd, W. Stein; short-stop, M. Guerin; left-field, J. Brennan; sentre-field, S. Fartaish; right-field, J. Gordon.

After four innings of play the line-up was as follows:

Catcher, R. Grimard; pitcher, C. French; 1st, W. Bernhardt; 2nd, R. Cyr; 3rd, J. A. Warden; s.s., M. Guerin; l.f., J. Joli; c.f., J. Gordon; r.f., A. Corbeil.

The Customs Brokers assure you of a much better game on Saturday, August 14, so come and support your team.

Questions And Answers

Q. How can I blanch nuts?

A. By immersing them in boiling water for two minutes the incold water Drain and remove the skins; then spread thinly in pans and put in a warm oven for a few hours. The crispness of the nuts will depend upon their dryness.

Q. How can I iron slips so that they will not stretch?

A. Remember to iron slips crosswise instead of up and down. This tends to prevent the slip from showing below the skirtline

Q. How can I prevent rubber overshoes from slipping on wet pavements?

A. Fasten a strip of adhesive tape lengthwise down the sole.

Q. How can I make a hand lotion?

A. Take one-half cup of vinegar, one-half cup of water, four tablespoonsfuls of starch; put these ingredients into a jar and shake well. You will then have a very effective and inexpensive hand lotion.

Q. How large a lemon should be used if a recipe calls for the juice of one lemon?

A. It is far safer to use three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. The size of lemons and the amount of juice yielded vary so much, that a measured amount is often profitable.

Q. How can I prevent stretching of woollen scarfs when laundering?

A. Dry woollen scarfs and shawls between towels. Never hang them on the line or they will stretch out of shape.

Q. How can I remove burnt food from aluminum cooking vessels?

A. By placing dry over the fire. As soon as the food is charred it will loosen and should be removed immediately. Acids, such as tomato or lemon juice, will brighten aluminum.

Q. How can I obtain relief when always troubled with cold feet?

A. Relief is often obtained by cutting a piece of paper the shape of the sole of the shoe, and placing it in the stocking.

Q. How can I make good coffee?

A. To make good coffee always use fresh water, and measure both the coffee and the water to obtain the same strength each time.

Q. How can I remove soot from a carpet without smearing?

A. Do not attempt to sweep up soot from a carpet, or a smear is liable to result. Instead, cover it quickly with salt. Then sweep this up carefully and no smear will be left.

Q. How can I remove the marks left on the skin by adhesive tape?

A. Try wiping with benzine or any cleaner of benzine type.

Franklin Centre

FRANKLIN CENTRE — Mrs. Ross Dunn entertained the W.M.S. and the W.A. on Thursday at her home. A good attendance of members was present. EAST WINS ALL-STAR GAME — DEFEATS WESTERN DIV. 9 TO 1

In the ninth annual St. Lawrence Valley League All-Star game held on Sunday, July 18, the Eastern Division pitching proved to be too good for the Western Division batters. Clifton Legacy of Burke pitched hitless ball for the first three innings and George Hinerth of Chateaugay Ponies allowed 2 hits and 1 run in his three-inning stint. Chief St. Denis of Huntingdon pitched two-hit ball in the last three innings without giving up a run.

The Western Division team made ten errors during the game and six of the East's 9 runs were unearned because of the poor fielding by the Western players.

Huntingdon players in the game were: Bill Bernhardt who played first base and had two singles. Gerry MacDonald who was used by Manager Spencer Gavin to pinch hit in the 5th inning. Gerry sacrificed a runner from first to second. Jon. Proudfoot who went in as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning singled to right field. Rene Senecal and Baldy Poupore did not get into the game because of injuries.

HUNTINGDON WINS THRILLER BEATS CONSTABLE 8-7

Chalking up their seventh straight win in St. Lawrence Valley League play, the Merchants had to come from behind to break a fighting Constable team on Saturday. Jon. Proudfoot, Gerry MacDonald and Rene Senecal were the Huntingdon heroes. With Constable leading 7-6 in the last of the eighth, Senecal, the first man up, singled and then stole second base. Gerry MacDonald singled off the pitcher's glove and Senecal scored the tieing run. MacDonald also stole second base, then Proudfoot looped a Texas League single into centre field to score MacDonald with the winning run. At this point, the umpires called the game on account of darkness.

Rene Senecal had two doubles and two singles in five times at bat to lead the team at the plate. Proudfoot had two singles and batted in three runs. MacDonald, Watson, Poupore and Lacompte eached picked up two hits. Sonny Villeneuve hit his first home run of the season with a man on in the seventh inning.

Rosie Lecompte only allowed Constable eight hits, but five errors by Huntingdon gave Constable four unearned runs. Lacompte has now won four and lost none.

Pete Fleury and Plumadore each had two hits to lead the Constable batters.

This Sunday the Merchants will play St. Regis Falls at Cluff's Field in Huntingdon. Game time will be 2 p.m.

High Windows Can Be Cold Over Bed

High windows in bedrooms can have drawbacks as well as advantages.

They are designed to increase wall space — to make it possible to place the heads of beds against any wall except those broken by doors and closets.

Being shoulder high, they insure privacy requiring no blinds at all.

On the other hand, they may let in too much moonlight for your taste, and provide an excess of ventilation over your head.

'Apartment' for Working Girl Offers Privacy and 'Independence'

A one-room "apartment" under the family roof has practical as well as psychological advantages for the young working girl who lives at home.

If she had her sights set on a future career as homemaker, she can develop her housekeeping skills and create a nucleus of furnishings for a future home.

Such an "apartment" also affords her the privacy to entertain her friends and some independence from family routine. This is a privilege which most young women feel they're entitled to when they are grown-up enough to hold down a full-time job.

Probably the simplest way to create an "apartment" is to revamp the bedroom to serve a dual purpose. Ready to aid and promote the idea is new ,light-scaled furniture which is modestly priced to fit modest pay checks and well designed to give years of pleasure.

Young homemakers-to-be are most interested in contemporary designs in the mellow-toned wood finishes that blend well in many backgrounds.

Although combination sofabeds are available in a great variety of styles and prices, one particularly well suited for the purpose is a tailored studio couch covered in charcoal-and-white tweed flecked with bright colors.

The base is of medium-toned walnut set on high, slender, brass-topped legs which avoids a bulky-look in a small room. The tweed cavers an excellent mattress. Bolsters braced by the frame's back are deep enough to make the couch equally comfortable, for sitting.

The mellow tones of the walnut finish team well with other wood finishes. New tables in a selection of styles have been created to match the couch. Slender walnut legs tipped with brass support the square, rectangular or round tops, some with glass inserts.

Flecks of color in the cover suggest accent colors for a room. Turquoise ,for example, or terra cotta, can be repeated in small toss pillows, in a slip cover for an old boudoir chair and in cafe curtains which a girl can stitch herself. To shield the view of dressing table clutter, an inexpensive folding screen is invaluable.

You may prefer to streamline existing bedroom furniture to conform to the more tailored appearance of a sitting room. The old reliable mattress on a box-spring base can be spruced up with a new slip-cover spread and chunky bolsters and pillows used to build up the back.

Old tables are quickly rejuvenated with paint, or if the wood is worth the effort, strip the old scarred finish and refinish to play up the natural tones of the wood.

Replace the old Teddy bears and the accumulated mementoes of childhood years with inexpensive prints, one or two figurines or a tea set. Be on the lookout for table lamps which will fit the new decor and give you good light for reading, knitting or conversation.

All of your purchases should be made with an eye to the future. If the pay check permits ,the addition of a telephone in your bailliwick will be a pleasure for you and for your family.

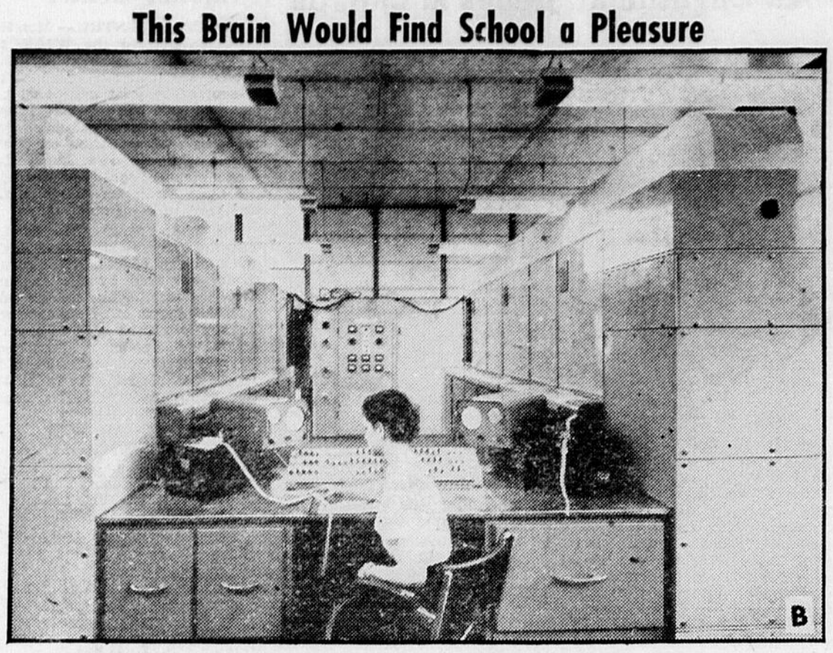
Shonnahan and Miss Sheila Mary Shonnahan of Montreal West; the Misses McMorrow of Outremont; Miss Aileen Kelly, Town of Mount Royal; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Murray, Montreal; and little Miss Nancy Amos of Verdun who is spending a week on the Gore.

The Umbrella

Rub the ribs of the umbrella with vaseline jelly occasionally, and it will prevent rust from loosening and forcing out the small wires.

To make green vegetables more tender add a small pinch of bicarbonate. Only a small amount should be used as too much soda tends to destroy the flavour.

This Brain Would Find School a Pleasure



CHILDREN struggling with sums would find life much easier if schools could be equipped with this electronic brain, but unfortunately for them it is to be installed in a British aircraft plant where it will lighten the burden of designers and technicians. Mathematical problems it will automatically tackle will deal with such matters as vibration, wings and stability.

Expert Cooks Test Tempting Recipes In Ottawa Kitchen

OTTAWA (CP) — How should a huge, raw beef tongue be cooked into a delectable dish for the family dinner? What is the best way to prepare asparagus — stack in a saucepan like cordwood or tie in a sheaf and stand upright in the pot? Does iodized salt really turn pickles into a soggy mass?

These are the type of questions home economists in the consumer section of the agriculture department try to answer in their test kitchens.

Purpose of "Canada's Kitchen", as it is called, is to encourage the use of Canadian food products. The economists concoct and test new and tempting recipes aimed at encouraging the housewife to use more homegrown products.

They also issue helpful hints on the best way to cook various foods and at the moment are working on the asparagus and iodized salt problems.

The Last Word

The test kitchens are the last word in streamlined convenience and the array of equipment would turn any housewife green with envy. They have big refrigerators, deep freeze, electric stoves and vast quantities of cupboard space.

Since 1950 the consumer section's kitchen has grown from a small one to three, thus permitting a variety of tests to be made. The main projects are meats and vegetable cookery. The idea is to collect as many recipes as possible and try them out.

A taste panel rates the food for color, flavortexture and decide which is the best. This is a pleasant job when the kitchens, for instance, are working on rhubarb sherbet, a cool, summer dessert.

But there are disadvantages. At one time the kitchens engaged in prolonged research into potatoes. For three weeks the tasters swallowed potatoes in innumerable different forms and without salt or butter.

Painting Gives Individuality

Homes that have that "peas in a pod" appearances are facing objections in many communities. Throughout the country, an increasing number of towns are adopting zoning regulations to prohibit them in the future.

Exterior color schemes that look alike have their drawbacks, too. One frequently sees the versatile Cape Cod style home minimized in appeal and beauty by having its color scheme repeated next door, across the street and a block away.

To make a home the show place of the street may be difficult. A step in that direction can be achieved, however, with some ingenuity—and some paint. Here are some suggestions:

Window And Door Trim

A colonial clapboard house painted light gray can have a sparkling white window and door can be painted a delicate Sandringham green. This is a deeper shade than turquoise.

A Cape Cod style home could be painted barn red, using a light beige for the window trim and shutters. The door can be painted a dull black — which could be a rather handsome background for a jumbo brass knocker and engraved nameplate.

Safety Factors In The Kitchen

The busiest room in your home — the kitchen — can also be the least safe.

One of six fatalities from exposure to fire, one of seven fatal falls and one of every 10 deaths from all types of accidents in the home occur in the kitchen, surveys show. Often the condition which caused the accident existed for years unnoticed, before it caused a serious mishap or even death.

Safety engineers recommend that every family make careful, periodic checks to eliminate kitchen hazards. A few minutes, or a few dollars, spent eliminating an unsafe condition can save discomfort and grief in any household.

A cluttered kitchen is nearly always an unsafe one. Install extra base and wall cabinets at the spots they are needed, and be sure that things are stored where first used. Only items that are seldom used should be stored in hard to reach places.

Watch out for surfaces that collect grease. The area back of and over the range can be made safer by installing an easily cleaned material such as clay tile, which withstands heat and can be cleaned in a jiffy with a damp cloth.

Wall cabinets too high from the floor cause strain, for the homemaker must stand on tiptoe or use a stepladder to reach a top shelf. A space of 15 inches between base and wall cabinets is considered sufficient.

Electric appliances should be beyond reach of the sink to prevent shocks. A serious accident may result when someone makes contact with an electrical circuit under wet conditions.

Finish Inside of Hampers

Metal laundry hampers should be carefully finished on the inside to protect the surface against the dampness in clothes which might cause rust.

Oil Paintings

Wash oil paintings very gently with warm milk and water. Then dry them without rinsing.

Baby's Bibs

A Turkish towel cut into quarters makes four nice bibs for the baby.
