

NAZIS RETREATING FROM SALERNO BRIDGEHEAD HUNS FLEE TO ESCAPE SOVIET STEAMROLLER

Naval Units, Standing Off Shore, Pound Nazi Forces With Big Guns

5th and 8th Armies Cast United Power Against Enemy With Explosive Fury—Village of Roccamadepide, Dozen Miles Inland, Captured—Whereabouts of Canadian Forces Still Matter for Conjecture.

London, Sept. 18.—(P)—German forces are withdrawing from both ends of the Salerno bridgehead in Italy although fighting strong rearguard actions, the United Nations radio at Algiers reported today in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

Allied Headquarters, North Africa, Sept. 18.—(P)—The Allied 5th and British 8th Armies cast their united and ever-growing power against the enemy with explosive fury in the battle of Salerno today and a communique said Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces had occupied the village of Roccamadepide, a dozen miles inland.

The announcement said reinforcements still are pouring into the landing beaches and British and American naval units, standing off shore, continue to pound the retreating enemy with their biggest guns.

For the first time, it was announced officially that captured airfields on the Italian mainland now are in use and that from these both fighters and fighter-bombers are going forth against the enemy.

The communique reported the 8th Army veterans led by Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery on their historic 200-mile dash up from the Calabrian toe have now effected a full junction with the 5th Army.

"Allied troops now have the initiative on the 5th Army front," the war bulletin added.

In a new Northwest blow by water, Allied forces captured the Island of Procida, off the tip of the peninsula on which the city of Naples stands. This brought the Allied troops virtually in sight of Naples itself.

Another landing force swept out to the West of Naples some 65 miles and captured the Island of Ponza.

Whereabouts of the Canadian forces in this swift maneuvering today remained a matter for conjecture. Officially all that is known is that Canadian units, presumed to be the 1st Division, crossed Messina Strait for Sicily with the 8th Army to launch the invasion.

However, it is generally believed that other Canadians are taking part in the fight. London reports earlier in the week had the 1st Canadian Tank Brigade in action in the Salerno area.

(Later a Stockholm dispatch by Associated Press correspondents told of a German spokesman claiming that a Canadian division, sent by sea from Calabria, had landed at Pegasus and Castellabate on the Gulf of Salerno. The Berlin radio also said motorized formations of the 8th Army, including Canadians, landed near Salerno Wednesday night. And the German-controlled Varsity radio spoke of "British and Canadian reinforcement troops" arriving in the Salerno area.)

The Northwest Africa Air Force smashed again at enemy concentra-

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—(P)—The National War Labor Board has scheduled several cases for hearing next week, one of the busiest agenda the Board has yet faced.

Tuesday, members of the Federation of International Printing Trades Unions of Quebec, seeking payment of the full bonus, are appealing a decision of the Quebec Regional Board.

On Wednesday, the Board is to hear an application by the Brotherhood and Railway and Steamship Clerks and Freight Handlers for wage increases for members of the union employed by the Eastern Canada Stevedoring Company Limited at Halifax.

17 KILLED AND 257 INJURED IN NORFOLK BLAST

Force of Explosion at Naval Air Station Felt in Town Ten Miles Distant.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 18.—(P)—An explosion of such force that it knocked pictures from walls in Norfolk, ten miles distant, today killed approximately seventeen persons and injured about 257 at the Norfolk Naval Air Station. The Navy said witnesses believed the blast originated in ammunition in transit.

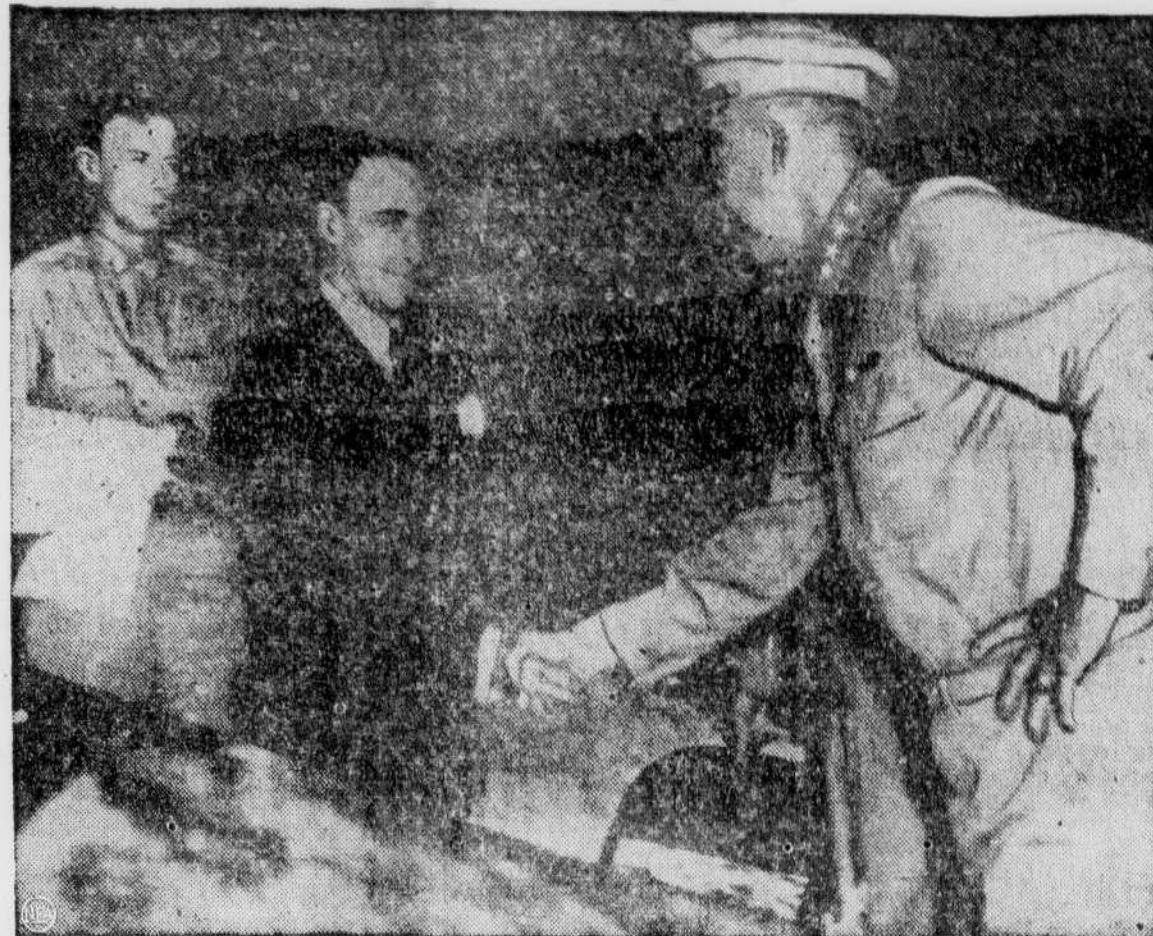

A huge hangar and several other buildings were badly damaged by the explosion which hurled steel and planking several hundred yards.

The explosion, described as the worst in the history of the air station, tore away huge sections of the hangar, and sent sheets of flames and billowing smoke high into the sky. Windows in buildings at the air station and on the base near the hangar were shattered. The electric light system over the entire naval operating base was knocked out.

EIGHT INDICTED ON ESPIONAGE CHARGES IN U.S.

Conviction of Offence Charged Could Result in Death Penalty or Up to Thirty Years' Imprisonment.

Detroit, Sept. 17.—(P)—A Federal Grand Jury today named four women and four men on charges of conspiring under the Wartime Espionage Act to supply the German Government with information regarding defense and war moves of the United States.

Conviction of the offence charged could result in the death penalty or up to thirty years' imprisonment.

A few hours before the Grand Jury reported its indictment to Judge Edward J. Moineau, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have arrested Carl John Wilhelm Leonard and Walter Joseph Abbott, two of those indicted. Both pleaded guilty late today and were held under $25,000 bond each.

Four of the others already had been detained under $50,000 bonds on presidential warrants, and two have been in custody as dangerous enemy aliens. Their arraignment is planned for next week.

The eight indicted, and activity attributed to them by Federal authorities, are:

Miss Grace Buchanan-Dineen, native of Toronto, self-styled "countess" and central figure in the group; recruited by the Nazis in Hungary for spy work, she entered the United States late in 1941, and after the F. B. I. began its investigation of her activities she operated under their surveillance, clearing information through the F. B. I. army and navy intelligence services before forwarding it to her Nazi superiors.

Mrs. Theresa Behrens, native of Yugoslavia, former German-American Secretary of the International Centre, Y.W.C.A. here, promoter of musicals to raise funds for German prisoners of war.

Leonhardt, native of Dusseldorf and former German army officer; an organizer of the group in the United States known as the Hitler elements and recently employed here as a car-penter.

NAVY ACQUIRES SIXTH ADMIRAL AS FLEET GROWS

Number of Promotions and Transfers Announced by Naval Service Headquarters.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—(P)—The Royal Canadian Navy acquired a sixth Admiral today with the promotion to Rear-Admiral's rank of Commodore H. E. Reid, flag officer, Newfoundland force.

The promotion was one of a number of promotions and transfers among senior officers announced today by naval service headquarters which, together with other recent developments, reflect the growing power of Canada on the seas.

The Navy has one Vice-Admiral, Percy W. Nelles, Chief of the Naval Staff, and four other Rear Admirals, G. C. Jones, Vice Chief of the Naval Staff at Ottawa; G. L. Stephens, Chief Engineer at Ottawa; L. W. Murray, Commander in Chief, Canadian Northwest Atlantic on the East Coast; and Victor Brodeur, Commander in Chief Pacific Coast, on the West.

Today's announcement shifted Commodore C. R. H. Taylor from Commodore at Halifax to flag officer, Newfoundland force, and elevated him from the rank of Commodore (2nd class) to commodore (1st class).

Commodore W. J. R. Beech, recently succeeded as Commanding Officer Pacific Coast by Rear Admiral Brodeur, is appointed to Command H.M.C.S. Stadacona, the navy's important shore establishment at Halifax.

Capt. G. M. Hibbard, Chief of Naval Equipment and Supply, East Coast repair at Halifax, is given the rank of Commodore (2nd class). Capt. F. L. Houghton, formerly chief of Staff to the flag officer, Newfoundland force, becomes Senior Canadian Naval Officer, London.

Replacing Capt. Houghton in Newfoundland will be Cmdr. A. M. V. Harrison, who is promoted to the rank of Acting Captain. He is a Royal Naval Officer who has been serving with the Canadian Navy in Newfoundland.

Three other shifts affect West coast establishments. Acting Capt. F. G. Hart steps from Commanding

Moscow, Sept. 18.—(P)—Hitler's battered German legions, hurled back on every sector of the Eastern front and smarting from loss of the key central fortress of Bryansk, were reported piling new defences today before their Dnieper river bases of Kiev and Smolensk.

hammer blows of the hard-slugging Russians, the Nazi lines before the Dnieper barrier were said to be curling up everywhere.

From North of Bryansk down through the Central and Southern Ukraine to the shores of the Sea of Azov and the Crimean gateway, the Germans were in retreat, leaving behind great stores of war gear in their desperate haste to escape the Red army steamroller.

The Dnieper line was in immediate danger at two main points. Before Kiev, Red Army advance columns had driven a wedge to within 50 miles of the river, while far to the South another Soviet spearhead captured the Azov port of Ossiipenko and smashed to a point 35 miles from the lower reaches of the river, the daily Soviet communique reported.

The Russians admittedly were throwing prodigious strength against the war-weary enemy. For two months they have been blasting the Germans from key strongholds. Today they were racing ahead to beat the autumn rains which would turn the Ukrainian plains into a morass.

Capture of Bryansk, junction point for six major Russian railways and its sister city of Brestsk to the North, was announced by Premier Joseph Stalin himself, and another salute from 124 guns hailed the victory in the Russian capital. It brought the Red army forces to within 70 miles of White Russia, rich grain country held by the Germans more than two years. Bryansk fell to the Nazi drive on October 13, 1941.

Its capture by the Russians paved the way for a thrust at Smolensk to the Northwest, fall of which would give the Soviets a base for twin thrusts at Vitebsk and Minsk. White Russian gateways to Poland. The Russian advance was reported to be pouring guns and men into the Smolensk defence system to meet an expected Red army drive in this direction.

The relentless thrust toward Kiev netted Red army forces 130 towns

Vital Japanese Air Base At Lae New Guinea, Is Seized By Allies

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Sept. 18.—(P)—The Allies have captured the big Japanese air base of Lae, New Guinea, to which they laid siege September 4. Allied headquarters announced today.

Australians entered the town at 11 a.m. Thursday.

The capture of Lae, constituting one of the biggest victories to be scored against the Japanese who had held it since January 25, 1942, was achieved by a pincer movement sprung September 4 by Australians landing East of it from the sea and American and Australian paratroopers landing West of it September 5. Remnants of the Japanese garrison which managed to escape annihilation in the final stages of the bitter struggle are being pursued into nearby jungles where their destruction is certain, headquarters said.

Lae's garrison, trapped not only by the pincer forces East and West but also by forces which moved up from the South after capturing Salamaua, was forced to fight its way out. The 5th Air force, which provided cover throughout the siege, made a final destructive raid which obliterated enemy installations.

Seizure of Lae, which has two air-dromes, and Salamaua which has one as well as a good sea anchorage, gave the Allies virtual control of the Huon Gulf and affords Gen. Douglas Mac-Arthur a springboard from which to strike at still more important enemy bases, including the stronghold of Rabaul, on nearby New Britain. Today's communique reported a continued stepup of action in the Solomons.

Sixteen Japanese fighters have been downed in an Allied raid on the Buin-Paisi sector on Southern Bougainville.

Nearly 100 enemy fighters intercepted the Bougainville bombers. Adjacent to American-won New Georgia, the Japanese have contested occupation of Arundel Island, which poses a menace to the enemy's garrison at Vila, Kolombangara. They have reinforced their forces on Arundel.

In New Georgia, the Munda airfield, captured August 15, has been raided by 90 Japanese planes whose bombs caused minor damage and casualties.

Previously heavy Allied air raids had been reported in the two main theatres of the South Pacific war.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—(P)—A gift of $1,000 has been made the Faculty of Law of McGill University by Mrs. R. A. E. Greenshields to establish a prize in criminal law in memory of her husband, former Chief Justice of Quebec, it was announced today.

WAR BULLETINS

London.—The French Equatorial Africa Radio at Brazzaville said last night in a broadcast recorded by Reuters news agency that Allied command troops had landed on the Italian Island of Rhodes in the Eastern Mediterranean.

"Groups of Italian soldiers are taking part in the fight there against German forces," the broadcast added.

Washington.—The Office of War Information said today that announced casualties of the United States armed forces since it entered the war to date total 105,205.

Based on War and Navy Department reports, the total includes 20,104 dead, 28,226 wounded, 32,905 missing and 23,970 prisoners of war.

London.—A German broadcast claimed today that German motor torpedo boats operating in the Adriatic overtook a small Italian fleet, capturing four steamships and sinking a torpedo boat, two minesweepers and a patrol boat. One of the captured ships was the 4,800-ton transport, Leopardi, which was carrying 1,000 Italian soldiers on its maiden voyage, the broadcast said.

The tanker being launched is the H.M.C.S. Dundurn, built at Windsor, Ont. Two tugs will be launched at Owen Sound, Ont., and one at Trenton, Ont.

Cargo ships are to go down the ways at Montreal and Sorel, Que. In line with a policy of naming these cargo ships after historic forts, the one built at Montreal has been named S.S. Fort Esperance, and the Sorel ship the S.S. Fort Lennox.

Canada is launching fifteen to twenty cargo ships a month with roughly one-half of the Dominion's total commitment of $1,000,000,000 for shipbuilding being spent on cargo ships. More than 50,000 workers are employed in the twelve yards engaged in this programme and thousands more are working in the 300 plants making component parts.

CHURCH NOTICES

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST

SCIENTIST

Montreal and Island Sts.

Sunday School, 9:45 a.m.

Subject: "Matter."

Testimonial meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Reading room open daily from 3 to 5 except Saturdays, Sunday and Holidays: Fridays 7:30 to 9 p.m., at His Majesty's Building.

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson—Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 19th.

The Golden Text is from Isaiah

42:3. "I am the Lord: that is my name; and my glory I will not give to another, neither my praise to graven images."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions." (Psalms 107: 15, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "What was first, Mind or medicine? If Mind was first, and self-existent, then

Mind, not matter, must have been the first medicine. God being All-in-all, He made medicine; but that medicine was Mind. It could not have been matter, which departs from the nature and character of Mind, God." (Page 142).

trations along and behind the flamm- ing battleline and ranged Northward to a few miles South of Rome to at- tack enemy air fields at Campino and Pratetice Mare. At both points, many aircraft were reported de- stroyed on the ground.

In the air, "once again no enemy aircraft were encountered," the com- munique said.

Other objectives bombed yesterday by Allied aircraft included Caserta, 25 miles Northeast of Naples, and Benevento, 30 miles to the North- east.

Across the peninsula around Tar- anto, where British elements last were reported plunging into the cen- tral mountain area, the commu- nique said "there is nothing fresh to report."

Far-ranging Allied heavy bombers based in the Middle East again rang- ed across the Mediterranean into the battleground of Italy and bombed freight yards and road and rail junc- tions were put out of action. One hit started a large oil fire.

Potenza, important enemy com- munications point back of the Saler- no battleground, was blasted once more on Thursday night, this time by R.A.F. Liberators and Halifaxes from the Middle East.

Disparates from the front yester- day the 5th Army, which had regained all the ground lost dur- ing the enemy counter-attacks early in the week and in some sectors had driven into fresh territory.

In one district, the Allies captured 150 German prisoners, the largest single haul to date.

(The United Nations radio at Al- giers, in a broadcast heard last night in London by The Associated Press, said that prisoners captured in the Salerno fighting were all young and tough, including "a thick sprinkling of veterans from the Rus- sian front.")

(A British officer just back from the front was quoted as saying that "all declare the effect of the Italian armistice on the German troops was terrific and think it will be an even harder blow at home.")

The United Textile Workers of America (A.F.L.) will present an appeal Thursday afternoon against a ruling by the Quebec Regional War Labor Board. The union is asking for establishment of a basic rate of thirty-five cents an hour, wage increases of ten cents an hour, full cost-of-living bonus and vacations with pay of employees of Montreal Cottons Limited and the Dominion Textile Company.

Friday, the Board will hear an application by the Rothwell (N.B.) Mine Workers Union for wage in- creases.

MEN OF CALL-UP AGE MUST GIVE ADDRESS CHANGE

Warning is given by the National Selective Service that men of military call-up age who have failed to notify authorities of change of address and liable to be picked up immediately and inducted into one of the branches of the armed services.

This will be enforced regardless of the fact that such men might have been eligible for deferment, it was stressed.

It was also pointed out at the same time that those who failed to notify change of address are liable to severe penalties under the Mobilization Act.

DECLARE WOOD FUEL SHORTAGE HERE CRITICAL

A survey conducted by the Record today showed that shortage of fuel wood is critical in Sherbrooke. Although a small portion of city homes depend solely on wood for heating in winter, many do use it in the early fall and towards the end of the cold weather. With coal already in short supply, it will be a question of perfecting furnace technique and tightening home insulation, for many house owners.

A canvass of local fuel wood dealers today told the same story. However, some dealers appear to be more optimistic than others. One dealer said that he expected some wood this month, while another pointed out he would be glad to take a customer's order now though he could not make delivery, for "at least another three weeks."

The shortage of fuel wood is due principally to the lack of manpower and difficulty of transportation, according to one dealer. Orders for men to cut wood in the bush have been flooding selective service offices since the war began. Farmers and their sons, who ordinarily cut wood after harvest, either on their own or with fuel wood cutting companies, have not done so this year for fear of endangering their status as farmers, doing essential work. Losing this status meant to many the prospect of being drafted into the army or other "essential" industries.

Transportation troubles also have been rampant. Cutting the wood is one thing, but dragging it perhaps a mile upon mile through the bush to the highway and then many more miles to the city with tires and gasoline at a premium, has been another serious handicap.

AMALGAMATION OF INSURANCE AGENCIES HERE

Palmer, Belanger, McManamy and Belec Combine Agencies for Better Customer Service.

Boostered by the addition of an insurance inspector of many years' experience, three well-known and long-established local insurance agencies announce their amalgamation into a group to be known hereafter as the Sherbrooke Insurance Agencies, in which the familiar names of C. O. Palmer, T. Belanger, G. D. McManamy and Mederic Belec appear as principals.

Stressing the important fact that this does not mean a new firm, but merely a consolidation of agencies to assure better service and a more efficient means of operation, the principals indicate their desire to attract larger clientele through the medium of their increased facilities.

Sherbrooke Insurance Agencies will combine two of the oldest insurance firms in the city, headed by the two deans of underwriting in Sherbrooke, C. O. Palmer and T. Belanger, with that of a younger and well-known underwriter, G. D. McManamy, Hall and McManamy, to which is added the basic training and technical experience of some twenty-seven years' standing brought into the firm by Mederic Belec, of Montreal, formerly provincial inspector for Atlas Assurance Company.

Mr. Belanger, head of the old-established firm of Belanger and Belec, came to Sherbrooke from Ile aux Noix in September, 1888, just 55 years ago this month. Formerly in retail business, operating a leading dry goods store on Wellington Street, Mr. Belanger launched himself in the insurance business in 1907, and has a successful thirty-six-year-old record behind him.

Mr. Palmer, who was born in England, came to Canada at the age of 11, and has been in the insurance business here in Sherbrooke for over 42 years. Possessing a thorough understanding of all phases of underwriting, he brings to the combined Sherbrooke Insurance Agencies a valuable asset in the extensive knowledge of world affairs which he possesses.

Gerard D. McManamy, who controls the youthful firm of Hall and McManamy, is a Sherbrooke boy who has gained wide popularity in the brief span of ten years that he has been catering to the insurance wants of local citizens. Member of a prominent Sherbrooke family, grandson of a former Mayor, the late D. McManamy, he is a former President of the St. Pat's Old Boys' Association.

Not a stranger to this district, though a newcomer to Sherbrooke, Mr. Belec brings to the organization twenty-seven years of experience in underwriting. Basic training and technical experience gained from his position as provincial fire, casualty and inland marine inspector for the Atlas Assurance Company gives Mr. Belec a knowledge of the entire field of insurance seldom found in an agency office outside the larger cities.

Combining all these factors together, the amalgamation of these well known local firms will provide citizens of Sherbrooke with a service second to none in the city. The offices of the new firm will be combined into a single suite, conveniently located in the Canadian Bank of Commerce Building, at the corner of King and Wellington Streets.

RAND BAND TO GIVE CONCERT SUNDAY NIGHT

Music lovers in Sherbrooke and district, who have not had the opportunity of hearing an open air band concert this month will be able to enjoy one more at least before the weather becomes too cold for the bands in this district to play in the open. The Canadian Ingersoll Rand Band will give another concert on Portland Square on Sunday night. This is only the second which this band has given this year, but their first appearance at the Parade Grounds was well attended and appreciated. Since the local Harmony Band decided to close their season at the beginning of the month, no music has been heard at either Dufréne Park or at Portland Square and weather permitting a large crowd is expected to be on hand on Sunday night.

The concert should get started at about eight o'clock and will include the following selections: "O Canada"; March, "Independence"; R. B. Hall; Overture, "The Veteran"; C. E. Thiele; Fox Trot, "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet"; Percy Wenrich; Clarinet Solo by J. Marcoux, "Long Ago"; March, "S.I.B.A."; R. B. Hall; Selection, "Land O' the Heather"; arr. C. E. Thiele; Fox Trot, "Chinatown My Chinatown"; J. Schwartz; "Dear Little Boy of Mine"; E. R. Ball; March, "Smiles"; Leo S. Roberts; Overture, "Golden Gate"; Southwell; "Song of the Bombardiers"; Jerome; March, "Land of the Maple"; L. P. Laurendeau; March, "The Thinderer"; Sousa; "Why Don't You Fall In Love With Me"; Mabel Wayne; "God Save the King."

Christmas Boxes For Troops To Lack Old-Time Delicacies

Unless exception is made in food restrictions for parcels to Canadian forces overseas, Christmas parcels this year will be a disappointment instead of a joy, judging from prevailing shortages in prominent local stores, a survey conducted by the Record indicated today.

Fruit juices and jams in these parcels are a thing of the past. Chicken is something about which the boys still reminisce and meat and lobster make an infrequent appearance. But the boys like their cheese and crackers and that is something they can still get.

Mailing time to Africa, Sicily and Italy is right now. Due to the intense heat packages should contain only tinned goods and dehydrated foods, such as anything else would spoil. Soup, sardines, herrings, milk are some of the tinned goods being sent. Other foods are cocoa, chocolate powder, lemon crystals and dehydrated soups. There are also limited supplies of tinned meat.

Four weeks before Christmas is when packages to the Canadian boys in England are shipped. The stores

SALVAGE BOARD PREPARING FOR FALL CAMPAIGN

The Sherbrooke Salvage Board is calling upon citizens to collect and contribute all the waste paper they can lay their hands on. It is urgently needed in the production of war material, especially to take the place of burlap, tin and steel, which are scarce.

The first fall campaign for the collection of paper and scrap will be held next month in Sherbrooke. Everyone is urged to start looking for waste paper now and to have it bundled properly for the trucks to pick up when the collection date is announced.

The following types of paper are needed: Cereal boxes, cartons, old magazines, newspapers, cardboard, corrugated boxes and brown wrapping paper. These can be turned into containers for ammunition, they can be used in the manufacture of airplane parts, camouflage, parachutes and plastics, out of which many articles are made. Parachutes made out of paper are used for dropping supplies to stranded servicemen.

A minimum of 12,000 tons of waste paper is needed at once by the war industries in this sector of the Dominion. It will help those conducting the paper drive and its handling at the reprocessing end if the following instructions are followed:

Separate the waste paper into four piles—newspapers, magazines and books, cardboard and corrugated paper, paper bags and brown wrapping paper. The cartons should be broken down before wrapping and each pile flattened before it is tied. It should be tied securely with cord, rope or wire. Thin string is troublesome because it breaks when piles are lifted and shifted around.

FORBID PARCELS FOR PRISONERS HELD BY JAPS

Relatives of prisoners of war in the hands of the Japs in the Far East should continue sending letters or post-cards once a month even if they receive no acknowledgment, officials of the Prisoners of War Relatives Association said today. There are indications that large percentage of the mail is getting through, according to word received by the local association from headquarters in Montreal.

It was therefore considered to continue sending letters and post-cards in accordance with regulations which specify that messages must be only of a purely personal nature. Meantime, parcels and other kinds of mail cannot be forwarded, the Japanese having prohibited all parcels, even those from next-of-kin, containing food of any kind. Some next-of-kin parcels mailed in Canada a year ago were held up and then sent on the exchange steamer Gripsholm when she sailed recently.

Duck, Partridge Hunters Feel Shell Shortage

Although the partridge season in Quebec opens officially today and continues until November 22, local sportsmen said they will have to use a salt shaker instead of their trusty 16-gauge "Queen Anne" this season, as a result of a scarcity of ammunition.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has clamped down on the sale of rifle and shotgun shells to anyone but farmers and trappers, or other persons who need them to keep down animal and bird pests, or as a means of gaining their living from the bush. A permit must be obtained to buy them and they are almost non-existent in stores.

Lack of ammunition and gasoline rationing may have a marked effect on hunting this season, but local hunters said that they are not overly pessimistic about the situation. They explained that duck hunters are the hardest hit because it takes more shells to shoot ducks, but the big game hunters use less ammunition and may have better opportunity for hunting this fall.

Generally hunters are reported to have pretty good supplies of ammunition held over from previous years. It was explained that duck hunters may need fifty rounds or more for a day's shooting, while a big game hunter may go hunting with half a dozen rounds, and if a good shot, may get his deer with one.

Inquiries from the United States on deer hunting are fairly numerous, and in the States it is reported a million rounds of ammunition have been set aside for hunters, but not distributed yet.

Accidental Death Verdict Is Rendered In Auto Fatality

Accidental death was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury under the direction of Leonidas Bachand, Coroner for the District of St. Francis, into the death of Jean Paul Froment who was struck by a car and killed on the Montreal highway early Wednesday night.

The principal witness at the enquete was Philippe Milaire, an insurance agent from Sherbrooke, who was the driver of the car. Milaire explained to the jury that he was returning from a day's work in the Magog area at about eight o'clock at night. He said it was very dark and that he had his lights on the bright beam. When asked if the lights on the poles in that vicinity were on, he replied that he did not think so since it was extremely dark out. When queried about his speed, he said that he was travelling between twenty-five and thirty miles an hour. He later told the jury that he was sure that he was not going any faster.

Testifying that his 1939 model automobile was in good condition Milaire said that he had had the brakes checked about two months previously and that the car was in good running order. When questioned about the condition of the road he said that it was in good shape and that there was nothing at fault there.

Coroner Bachand then asked to what he attributed the accident. Milaire replied, "I saw nothing in the range of my headlights and knew nothing had happened until I heard the dull thud on the car. Even after I heard the noise I did not know what I had hit. I drove on for about two or three hundred feet before coming to a stop and I then decided to go back and see what it was that I had hit. I saw the man lying on the road. Milaire said that he was driving on the right-hand side of the road and that a mark on the right-hand fender of the car indicated the place where the victim was struck. Milaire also told the jury that he notified the Provincial Police immediately, and he said that when he did so he did not realize that the young man was dead.

Mrs. J. Caron, of Little Lake, also testified at the inquest. She said that she was in her house near the Red Brook Bridge at Little Lake reading the paper when she heard a dull thud outside, followed by a woman's screams.

"I took my coat and rushed out of the house to see what had happened. When I reached the place I found the man lying dead on the side of the road. My husband was with me and he said to call an ambulance, and I went to the hotel to do so. I spoke neither to the driver of the car nor to the woman who was present with the victim. On returning from the hotel I rushed to the house for some bandages, water and a blanket. It was so dark outside that I could not tell who the third party was. I did not know whether it was a man or a woman because I could not see, but I heard the girl talking to someone and I knew that a third person was there."

Dr. R. Veilleux, who pronounced the man dead, said that in his examination of the body he found that the youth had died from a severe fracture of the skull as well as from what he termed the shock of the impact.

Another witness at the enquete was Joseph Delisle, who was following Milaire at about a mile's distance when the accident occurred. He said that on passing the spot he saw a lot of people around, but it was too dark to see what was happening and it was not until he had come almost to Milaire's car that he decided to stop. He said that he walked back to the scene of the accident and saw the group gathered around. He told the jury that in his estimation the accident took place not more than one hundred and fifty feet from the Red Brook bridge, and he also testified that it was dark, heavy and foggy around Little Lake.

The only other witness at the inquest was J. A. Archambault, an uncle of the victim, who testified that he identified the body, and who represented Mrs. Froment. Froment and his wife were spending their honeymoon at Little Lake at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Archambault. They had only been married for six days when the accident took place. Mr. and Mrs. Froment were walking together on the highway at the time of the accident.

THE PRUSSIAN MILITARISTS MUST GO

President Roosevelt made one thing very clear yesterday when he addressed the United States Congress. When Hitler and the Nazis go out, the Prussian military clique must go with them. There must be no half-way measures. Describing them as "war-breeding gangs of militarists," he said that at war end they must be rooted out of Germany and Japan "if we are to have any real assurance of future peace."

All told, the President's message to Congress carried little to comfort the enemy. It carried promise of further hard and telling blows against the Huns and Japs, however, including fresh invasion of Hitler's European stronghold.

The past few months have seen an increased tempo in the aerial warfare, but indication that it has not yet reached its highest crescendo was seen in the President's statement that it is now the purpose of Britain and America to set up bomber bases from which "devastating war" will be brought home to Southern and Eastern Germany.

Declaring, however, that the Allies still face a long war before ultimate victory in any of the major theatres of the conflict, Mr. Roosevelt warned that in spite of substantial victories in the Mediterranean there is still a costly fight up through Italy and the task of organizing positions before they can be taken advantage of.

Conceding that German power still could do great injury to the Allied cause, the President said nevertheless "evil power" was being destroyed inexorably, day by day, and "if Hitler does not know it by now, then the last trace of sanity has departed from that distorted mind."

The freeing of the Mediterranean will lead directly to resumption of complete Allied-control of the Eastern Indian Ocean and Bay of Bengal, permitting thrusts at Japan on what he termed another highly-vulnerable flank. With the Italian fleet in Allied hands, the formidable British naval strength retained in the Mediterranean is free to proceed Eastward, he said, to join in the attack on the Japanese.

And, he said, as a result of the Mediterranean victory the one serious gap in Allied seapower, between Northwest Australia and Ceylon, now can be closed.

Shifting his analysis further into the Pacific, the President said the threat to Australia and New Zealand across the Coral Sea had been "practically dissipated" by Allied seizure of air bases in the Solomon Islands. In fact, he said, the Allies now offer a threat of their own against the Japanese in the seas North of the Solomons and New Guinea.

He forecast, too, an offensive in Burma, to end a long period of defensive strategy and he spoke of the time when "we are ready to strike right at the heart of Japan itself."

The President had relatively little to say of post-war plans and policies but he ended his message with one pertinent paragraph.

"Finally, as the war progresses," he said, "we seek a national co-operation with other nations toward the end that world aggression be ended and that fair international relationships be established on a permanent basis. The policy of the good neighbor has shown such success in the hemisphere of the Americas that its extension to the whole world seems to be the logical next step. In that way, we can begin to keep faith with our sons and daughters who are fighting for freedom and justice and security at home and abroad."

EDUCATION AND THE ARMY

An interesting phase of the discussions highlighting the 21st annual convention of the Canada and Newfoundland Education Association is that relating to the army and plans to look after the educational requirements of members of the armed forces following the armistice.

Col. G. C. D. Kilpatrick, Director of Army Education, has suggested that the 700,000 members of the three Canadian armed forces be asked, "What do you intend to do when the war is over," and he believes that the answer received ought to give the army a fair view of the general ideas of Canada's fighting men for the post war period.

Regarding University students now in the armed forces, Col. Kilpatrick has suggested that they be paid a living allowance by the Government to continue their studies, and also proposes that other men in the army be prepared, while in the services, for university. He also announced that Canadian universities are preparing a curriculum of study to be submitted to the Government to take care of men being discharged.

Much interest also centres in the report of Dr. W. P. Percival, Chairman of the Survey Committee of the Canada and Newfoundland Association, the recommendations of which will undoubtedly receive close study on the part of educational authorities in all provinces.

Some of the recommendations made by the Committee follow:

1. The health of school pupils is of paramount importance. It is, therefore, essential that means be devised to find how to prevent sickness, remedy physical deformities, and provide adequate medical, dental, nursing and remedial services for school children.

2. As the educational opportunities offered in many parts of the Dominion are unequal, it is imperative that means be devised to bring the poorer standards to the level of the better. In the process it will be found possible to improve even the present best. As children who do not receive a good education can scarcely be expected, under ordinary circumstances, to be able to live lives as rich and full as those who are well educated, the state should benefit to the extent that it improves educational facilities for them.

3. Expenditures for education in Canada are entirely inadequate. The report shows that they must be at least doubled in order to provide even a moderate advance upon present conditions. It follows that means must be sought to secure additional sources of revenue for school purposes.

4. Since school districts that labor under heavy debt charges cannot be expected to provide services comparable with those free from debt, it is reasonable to expect that some sources other than ordinary revenue might be discovered to take care of capital expenditures.

5. The teacher is the most vital factor in the educational system. He should, therefore, be treated in a fitting manner. In particular, he should receive a salary that will be adequate and enable him to maintain a social position befitting his talents.

6. School curricula are tending to break away from the single college preparatory track. To conform with this desirable trend, arrangements should be made as widely as possible to offer cultural, vocational, avocational, social and character forming educational experiences suitable to the demands of individual lives.

7. As the day has probably dawned when no person should reach adulthood without having attained skill in at least one art or craft, conditions should be set up throughout the Dominion to make such training possible. This will involve differences in the educational offerings for boys and girls, will necessitate the engagement of guidance experts and will require that provision be made for differences in abilities.

8. As children may be expected to stay in school longer in the future than in the past, the school systems must be adapted to meet the demand.

9. Because children of impecunious parents in a democracy should be able to have like opportunities with the sons and daughters of the rich, liberal provision should be made in every community for scholarships to assist deserving pupils.

THREE GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS

Three notable achievements for the Allied cause can be recorded as this week draws to a close.

In many respects it has been a momentous week. It saw hard fighting on the beaches at Salerno, with the gallant and dauntless British and American troops in the thick of a battle both bloody and fierce, and it saw the Russians pressing their advance along a wide front, driving before them disorganized Hun troops who were unable, in their haste, to carry out their customary policy of destruction as they evacuated their posts.

First of these three achievements developed yesterday when Allied headquarters announced that a junction had been established between the Anglo-American 3th Army, victors in a nine-day battle at Salerno, and the British 8th Army as General Sir Bernard Montgomery's forces, including units of the Canadian First Division, climaxed a swift and dramatic 200-mile dash Northward from the toe of the Italian boot.

Second, and more important militarily, was the unemotional word from Moscow that the Red Army had broken the German line in the vital strategic sector East of the Kiev-Zaporozhe line of the Dnieper river. That vastly increases the gravity of the Hitlerite position.

Third was the Russian recapture of their big Black Sea naval base of Novorossisk which is, so to speak, the hinge of the narrow gateway the Nazis have been holding at the Kuban Peninsula entrance to the Caucasus. This jeopardizes the whole German position at the last remaining vantage ground from which they could glimpse the lakes of golden oil for lack of which they are in dire straits.

The indications now are that the Nazis' hopes of standing off further disastrous reverses must lie in the possibility that the autumn rains, which have begun, will slow the Russians down until cold weather arrives to freeze the ground. The mud is a terrible impediment during the rainy season.

Evolution God's Instrument Of Change

Prof. the Rev. H. C. Burt, M.A., D.C.L., Lennoxville.

Hebrews XIII, 8: "The same yesterday, and today, and forever."

In this chapter the writer stresses the great truth that Christianity, when concerned with things of the Spirit, is none the less a religion of everyday, commonplace human life. The history of the Church shows how hard it is to strike the true balance between the two. Thus, when men have all the stress on the purely "spiritual" side of religion—like the hermits, such as Simon Stylites—they convince themselves that Evil lies in "matter" itself, and seek to separate themselves from every-day interests and responsibilities. This savours of Hinduism, rather than Christianity. The New Testament has nothing to say about it; for the Man of Nazareth is shown forth in the sacred pages as One, transcendently spiritual, and yet One who brought His spiritual life into intimate relation with earthly scenes. The Christ who suffered with Zacharias and his father from reputable friends, the Christ of Nazareth and of Cana, was no anchorite!

The argument of the author of the Epistle to the Hebrews would doubtless receive the approval of the Master. This was the argument: Just because we are members of a spiritual Kingdom we should seek to be wholly in it, in our human obligations, we may serve God acceptably. In a world of change and decay the Christian must strive to live as "seeing Him who is invisible." The Old Covenant had passed away; its many priests had perished. All things pass, but Christ remains "the same yesterday and today and forever."

God does not change, though men's ideas about God may vary exceedingly. "I am the Lord that altereth not," is the echo of the last prophetic voice of the Old Dispensation. The God of Abraham is the God of Paul, though the individuals in question had extremely different notions regarding Him. As the old Hindu poet says: "The One is known by many names."

It is of course true that Humanity as a whole profits by the religious experiences of past generations, so that men's Ideas concerning God are forever "evolving." He who belittles the past beggars the present; the individual who has only a sneer for "yesterday" is likely to have little better than an interrogation point for "today." His is the true spirit who finds in yesterday inspiration and incentive for today.

There are some who tell us that the man who thinks independently about God, and the things of God, incurs the guilt of heresy. Such people fail to see that God has withdrawn Himself from man. We have learnt, or ought to have learnt, in the course of this War, that the Lord is as surely guiding His world now, as in the days when He went before Israel in the Pillar of Cloud and of Fire.

But, because God does not change we may not conclude that the "world" is likely to have no evolution itself is merely God's instrument of change. The world must become more and more what God wants it to be. The spirit of change is in the air today, as never before. When two great leaders of men sit down and compare views which take shape in a document known as "The Atlantic Charter"—the Charter of the Four Freedoms—they were, consciously or unconsciously, acting under the "presidency" of God. Each age has its definite contribution to make towards human betterment. One age goes very close to God, and we have their religious experiences embodied in Holy Writ. Another age, receiving the legacy of Scripture got near to God, and we have their religious experience embodied in the great Creeds of Christendom. Ours is neither a Bible-making nor a Creed-making age. But we have a definite work to do for God, and we shall never enjoy peace and safety until we set about it. This work is not so much doctrinal as practical. It is the effort to conform social conditions to the example and precepts of Jesus. The "Golden Rule" appears to be on its way to a place in our Statute-Books. What our world-leaders must do now is to get close

AND THE DEMAND WAS DROPPED

Owen Sound Sun-Times
It's a good story, whether it's true or not—and we have no reason to doubt its authenticity.

At the end of their campaign in Norway the Nazis demanded that the Norwegians pay pensions to the widows and dependents of the Nazi soldiers killed or wounded in the invasion. (The Norwegian estimate was that 65,000 had been killed or disabled). Norway promptly agreed. "I am surprised that you accept," said the German general who presented the demand.

"Not at all," replied the Norwegian official. "Hitler has announced that you lost only 1,163 killed and wounded. We can afford to pay pensions for them."

And that was the last heard of the German demands.

Typically Nazi, at any rate.

SHARES THE EMPIRE'S DANGERS

Chatham News
Many millions of people are worried when Prime Minister Churchill is journeying to various parts of the empire on official business, fearing that some harm may come to him. The same fear was expressed when he was First Lord of the Admiralty in the last war. But there is a spirit of adventure in Mr. Churchill's nature and his movements show that he is sharing the dangers with all the people of the Empire, as well as directing the strategy which will remove these dangers.

NAVY MAN'S GARDEN

New York Times
When the London Daily Mail naval reporter was at sea recently in a destroyer, he was asked by a sailor whether he would like to see his garden. "I followed him doubtfully down to his mess deck," he writes, "but the garden was there. It was an old tobacco tin, and pea plants were growing in it. The sailor said he got the earth by scraping potatoes issued to the mess. The seeds came from dried peas which the cook had let him have. 'They're hardly prize-winners,' said this Atlantic gardener, 'but they're the only plants for miles around here!'"

EASY WAY OUT

Times Dispatch, Richmond, Va.
The danger is that our leaders in Washington are seizing upon subsidies as a substitute for disagreeable, but necessary measures. The cost of living—argued they are grasping at this solution with a view to avoiding politically unpopular steps, such as real wage controls and heavy taxes on all classes of the population. If so, subsidies will be no improvement on what we have, for they will simply push up the national debt without bringing commensurate benefits.

WHY NOT?

Halifax Herald
It is announced by the Minister of Labor that the Dominion Government "is arranging with the governments of the provinces to move a thousand farm workers from the Prairies to Ontario for temporary farm work this summer." "Ontario faces a critical labor shortage for summer farm work. . . . The other day in Parliament it was urged that 'drafts men now serving in the interior of Canada, who have not signed up for overseas service, should be released from the Armed Services and put to work in war industry or on farms.' It is still an idea.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Saint John, Telegraph-Journal
Communists cannot be allowed to hold meetings as Communists or for Communistic purposes. If citizens, even if they hold Communistic opinions, band themselves in an organization "whose constitution, object and actions are not contrary to the provisions of the law, it does not concern the Minister of Justice," to quote the Minister. Communism was ruled illegal because it advocates the use of violence to bring about a change in the set-up of the country's government. If any new organization adds this and any other illegality, naturally the Minister would not interfere with it. It remains a fact that Communism is declared illegal in Canada.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

L'Action Catholique
Three times already, the Federal Parliament has made amendments to the Constitution on questions relative to representation in the Federal Parliament. In 1871, it had a law adopted to give itself the right to give the new provinces representation in the Federal Parliament. In 1886, a law was adopted to permit the Federal Government to give the North-West Territories an adequate representation in the Senate and in the House of Commons. Finally, a law was adopted in 1915 augmenting the number of Senators and modifying the principal territorial divisions.

These are the only three cases where the Federal Parliament has touched upon the problem of representation. Each time there were protests because the provinces were not consulted, but the protests went unheeded. Still, it should be emphasized that these three amendments did not touch on the principle of proportion in representation established by the Act of 1867.

The Act besides contained provisions foreseeing the entrance of new provinces into Confederation and it was natural that the Federal Government be able to accord them representation in the two chambers. And the object of these three laws was only to make clear what was

WOMAN JUST MISSES LIFE MASTER RATING

Until the very last board was scored in the world championship Masters pair event, we thought that the contest would create a new Life Master. Mrs. Wilkinson Wagar, of Atlanta, Ga., was leading the field. She had a bad round, however, and finished second.

Mrs. Wagar handled today's hand well. The eight of hearts was opened. East cashed the king and ace and returned the third heart, which Mrs. Wagar (South) won. Dummy's ace and king of spades were cashed, and a club led to declarer's ace. Deciding that East held the two outstanding trumps, Mrs. Wagar set the hand up for a coup. She returned a club to dummy's king and led the queen of clubs. East refused to ruff, discarding a diamond. Mrs. Wagar ruffed and led a diamond. East won with the ace and exited with a diamond.

East's last three cards were the jack-nine of trumps and a diamond. Mrs. Wagar held the queen-ten of

MORNING AND EVENING EYE BATHS
WILL MAKE YOUR EYES GLEAM

JOAN BENNETT: Eye care for health and beauty.

BY ALICIA HART

Bathe your eyes twice a day, and they'll take on a new gleam that will make them twice as attractive as ever. Joan Bennett, who has recently written a book on how to be attractive, gives first importance to eye care.

"I make a habit of bathing my eyes at least twice a day—in the morning and before going to bed," she says. "And an occasional treatment during the day, especially if the wind is swirling the dust around, prevents them from stinging or feeling tired," she has found.

You wouldn't think of going to bed without washing your teeth and running the risk of bacteria working the swing shift in tooth decay. Nor should you allow any foreign matter that has blown in your eyes during the day to remain there overnight.

Keep a good eye wash or solution of boric acid in your medicine chest right next to your cleansing cream and tooth powder, and it will be easy to make its use as much a part of your grooming as powdering your nose.

SUGAR PROBLEM DISCUSSED BY MELBOURNE W.I.

Many Business Matters Brought Up at Regular Monthly Meeting of Melbourne Ridge Women's Institute.

Melbourne Ridge, Sept. 18.—The regular monthly meeting of the Melbourne Ridge Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. G. P. Paul, with Mrs. G. P. Paul as joint hostess. The meeting opened in the usual manner with the "Pledge to the Flag."

The roll call was answered by each member naming a Quebec city and the principal industry carried on in that city. The minutes of the August meeting were read and approved. The Treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $35.71.

A letter was read from the War Times Prices and Trades Board regarding the allotment of canning sugar. It is to be hoped a solution will be found for the distribution of the canning sugar another season. It appears that eleven pounds per person was the amount allowed the Local Boards by the War Times Prices and Trades Board at Ottawa. It was left to the discretion of these local committees to distribute this sugar. In this farming area, where apples, cherries, plums, raspberries and strawberries were in abundance, have received only ten pounds per person. Surely that does not seem fair.

A letter from Mrs. C. Smallman, Provincial President, was also read, and letters from Mr. and Mrs. C. Stevens, the Red Cross and Miss McMorin.

The President voiced an appeal from the Sherbrooke Hospital for a fund to purchase new linens. It was decided we could not further deplete our funds at this time.

Arrangements were made to hold a rummage sale at the Melbourne Hall, in Melbourne, on September 16. The committee to collect and assist is as follows: Mrs. R. Kerr, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Grimston, Mrs. H. Fowler, Mrs. L. Driver, Mrs. M. Watters, Mrs. G. Crack, Mrs. Bachelor and Mrs. G. Frank.

It was planned to hold a chain of small social evenings. Any member who may have a small group of friends in for cards or games and charge twenty-five cents. This money is to be turned in for the soldiers' Christmas boxes and cigarettes.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostesses.

TESTED RECIPES

CABBAGE ROUND-UPS USE VEGETABLES WITH BREAD

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

Turn vegetables into a substantial energy-giving main dish by combining them in some way with bread. Although green, red and yellow vegetables are rich in vitamins, notably A and C, they're generally low in protein and food energy. Enriched white bread and whole wheat supply both these important food factors—add the vital B vitamins and minerals, too—so that the combination of vegetables and bread makes a rounded and satisfying supper dish, particularly right for growing children.

The ways of combining bread with vegetables are many—"on toast," with melted butter, cream sauce, cheese sauce or Hollandaise—a "topping" of toasted buttered crumbs (mix fine dry toast crumbs with melted butter or shortening)—or "scalloped" with bread sauce.

By scalloping one or more leftover cooked vegetables, you can often stretch them for another meal. To make the scalloping sauce, scald 2-3 cup milk, add 2-3 cup of soft enriched white bread crumbs and cook over a low flame, stirring until thick. Add 2 teaspoons butter or shortening, season with salt and pepper. Arrange 1 to 2 cups of cooked vegetables in a greased baking dish in alternate layers with the sauce. Sprinkle top with a layer of buttered crumbs and grated cheese if desired. Bake in hot oven 400° F. 10 minutes.

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, scrambled eggs with cheese, whole wheat toast, butter, jelly, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Casserole of dried lima beans, enriched bread and chopped lettuce sandwiches, whole apples, tea, milk.

DINNER: Cabbage roundups, mashed potatoes, bread, butter, raw vegetable and lettuce salad, squash pie, coffee, milk.

Cabbage Round-Ups (Makes 8 rolls)

One medium-sized head cabbage, 1/2 pound ground beef, 1 small onion, minced, 3 slices enriched white bread, finely cubed, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 3/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 bouillon cube, 2 cups boiling water. Carefully remove outside leaves

An invitation by the Entertainment Committee of the Citizens' War Auxiliary Services, to act in cooperation with the Y's Men in providing amusements for the dances to be held each Tuesday night at the Y.M.C.A. for all enlisted men, was accepted, and an Amusement Committee was appointed, consisting of the following members: Miss Helen Blain, Mrs. P. TABLET ERECTED IN MEMORY OF DR. G. A. BOWEN

Rev. E. A. Tulk and Dr. C. S. Harris Officiate at Unveiling of Tablet Given in Memory of Popular Magog Doctor in Anglican Church at Magog.

Magog, Sept. 18.—A bronze tablet erected in memory of the late Dr. G. A. Bowen was unveiled in the Church of England at Magog on Sunday last. Dr. C. S. Harris, the Chairman of the Dr. G. A. Bowen Memorial Committee, unveiled the tablet and in his address asked the clergy and the wardens to accept it into the church. The tablet was accepted on behalf of the church by the Rev. A. E. Tulk, B.A., B.D., and he chose as his text "He went about doing good and healing all."

In his address the Rev. Mr. Tulk said that a notable instance of one who followed the example of Jesus and went about doing good and healing all was the man whom the congregation was honoring at the special service. He told the gathering that Dr. Bowen had won a place in the affections of his fellow-men that few could attain. Three principle reasons were then given by the minister in explanation of the high esteem in which the doctor was held.

In the first place he said that the deceased had great skill as a doctor and that he was very efficient in his chosen profession. This was one of the chief reasons for his prominence in Magog and the surrounding districts since he was known far and wide for his ability to aid the suffering. Rev. Mr. Tulk said that he stayed long enough and worked long enough to win a firm place in the affections of those to whom he ministered, and he reminded the congregation that while Dr. Bowen had had a special aptitude for the practice of medicine he could not have become proficient without a considerable amount of hard study. One of the lessons therefore that Dr. Bowen leaves behind him is that it pays to be efficient in whatever task is being done.

Another reason for the doctor's popularity was the fact that he liked to associate with people and that in so doing it made no difference whether they were rich or poor, and all classes received the same care and attention that he could give. Rev. Mr. Tulk said that most men work to earn a living and that the living has a tendency to become the chief consideration. This, he said, was not so with Dr. Bowen, since his kindness of heart led him to do many favors for which there was no remuneration.

Faithfulness of service was considered the third reason for the honor and admiration in which Dr. Bowen was held. Rev. Mr. Tulk said that the first principle of modern business was service and he added that Dr. Bowen had looked upon his profession as an opportunity for doing good and he took great pains to see that it was done.

In closing, the minister said that the Girl Guides were present at the service in a body and that the motto of their body was "Service." The members of the Lions Club were also present and the watchword of their organization is service. He said that this should be the byword of everyone and that this service should be rendered to Him who was about doing good and to them whom He served.

Rev. Mr. Tulk's closing words were the poem written by Mabel McLaren as a token of respect to Dr. Bowen and entitled "Farewell at the End of the Road."

YEHUDI MENUHIN

"Because of the limitations of time we are counting heavily on present members to renew their subscriptions voluntarily," Mrs. Bradley said today. "Apparently every member has enjoyed fully these splendid concert offerings during the last six years," she said, recalling that such outstanding artists and attractions as Raoul Jobin, Mischa Elman, Robert Casadesu, Albert Spalding, Rose Bampton, have been presented.

Furthermore this season the Association has decided to increase its membership to 1,000 members. In doing so it will be in a position to present three great artists, one of them being none other than the foremost violinist Yehudi Menuhin. With such a large amount of members the Association will present the three concerts at the Granada Theatre.

Under the co-operative citizenship-sponsorship of the Association, a minimum of three top-ranking concerts has been presented annually in Sherbrooke for the six years. The number of high calibre concerts is dependent upon the number of memberships signed within the annual membership drive period. No memberships will be obtainable after the close of the campaign, and no single admission to any of the concerts is available. Without these restrictions, Mrs. Bradley said, the artist selection committee of the Association would be unable to plan definitely on sufficient subscriptions to underwrite the series.

Co-workers in the membership campaign will be announced within a few days, Miss Jeanne Perreault and Mrs. Sampson indicated, and a meeting of all workers who will be active in the drive will be held next week.

OBITUARIES

MRS. GLADYS LENA PALIN, OF HOLLAND, VT.

Derby, Sept. 18.—Mrs. Gladys Lena Palin, who passed away in Brattleboro, N.H., was born in the Town of Holland, Vt., on March 28, 1895, the eldest child of Eugene and Harry G. Gray. She received her early education in the rural schools of Holland and later attended Stanstead College.

On May 1, 1918, she was united in marriage to Harley A. Palin, of Holland, Vt., and went to reside with his parents on the home farm in Holland, Vt. Later they moved to the farm in Derby, where Mr. Palin now resides. To this union was born one son, Lyndol Harley Palin, who is now an aviation cadet in Bainbridge, Ga.

Eleven years ago Mrs. Palin suffered a severe attack of the gripe followed by jaundice and was later removed from her home to Bright-Helm Hospital, St. Johnsbury, Vt., but her recovery was very slow. Six years ago she entered the Deaconess Hospital in Boston, Mass., for observation and treatment and from there went to the Brattleboro retreat, where she remained until her death.

Mrs. Palin was a woman of cheerful disposition and a great lover of her home and family. She was a member of the Social Union and the Wide Awake Rebekah Lodge of Derby.

Besides her immediate family she leaves to mourn her passing her mother, Mrs. Harriet G. Gray, of Morgan, Vt.; three brothers, Glen, Lyman and Merle, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at the Congregational Church, in Derby, Vt., by the Rev. H. A. Carson, of Rock Island.

Interment was in the Derby Cemetery. The pall bearers were four cousins, Roy, Raymond, Bert and Carl Gray.

MR. ERNEST VIGNEAULT, OF EAST RICHFORD, VT.

Glen Sutton, Sept. 18.—This community was shocked and saddened by the death of Mr. Ernest Vigneault, in a Newport, Vt. hospital, from the effects of a motorcycle accident.

Mr. Vigneault was on his way home from Newport, Vt., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Vigneault, when a dog ran in front of his motorcycle, causing him to be thrown and fracturing his skull. Dr. Gillanders, of Mansville, rushed him to the hospital, but it was of no avail, for in three days he passed away.

Mr. Vigneault was an American Customs officer at East Richford, Vt., but had always boarded on the Canadian side of the line. He had been employed at East Richford, Vt., for over ten years.

He was very kind to everybody, especially anyone in sickness or trouble, and children, too, will always remember him for his many little kindnesses. He has always been one of the leaders every year since the war began in getting subscriptions towards sending Christmas boxes to every boy of this parish, and he always helped to pack them. He will be greatly missed by everyone.

His funeral took place at Newport, Vt., on September 15th.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Vigneault, of Newport, Vt., have the sincere sympathy of all the community in this their great bereavement.

A very pleasant evening was spent when the friends of Miss Barbara Atkin tendered her a miscellaneous shower in the Camber Hall, which had been very prettily decorated for the occasion. Seated in a decorated chair, a mock wedding was performed for her benefit. The nuptial parties were Mrs. J. Atkin, the minister; Miss Pauline Hutchins, the bride; Miss Vivian Hutchins, the groom; Miss Adeline Keet, best man; and Miss Evelyn Rolins, flower girl. After the acting of this ceremony the gifts, which were numerous and beautiful, were presented to the bride-to-be in a prettily decorated cart. WHEN THE ARMY STRIKES FROM THE SEA!

ONE OF A SERIES OF 'ACTION PICTURES' WITH CANADA'S MECHANIZED ARMY

AS THE FIRST WAVE of Allied invasion barges nears the enemy coast, silent men in battle dress eat hot soup from self-heating cans, then leap ashore.

On the heels of the assault force, protected by fighter pilots and fighting ships, the second wave from the sea brings heavy vehicles and light tanks.

Most difficult and dangerous of all war operations, taking enemy territory from the sea is complicated by thousands of supply problems. Not only must the army gain and hold a bridge-head, but every single item it needs to exist and fight must be brought by sea and landed under enemy fire. An endless supply of food, water, gasoline, guns, tanks, ammunition and supplies must be brought ashore. It's a matter of hard work and detail as well as superb skill and daring!

Canadian army troops, fliers and naval men are trained in Canada for "Combined Operations". And fighting men from Canada are often chosen to be first onto the beach when the army strikes from the sea!

Vehicles from Canada, too, are taking part in seaborne invasions, carrying men and supplies deep into enemy territory. Reading between the headlines, 16,000 workers at Ford of Canada take pride in the performance of battle vehicles made and tested at Windsor, Ontario.

"The speed and power and perfection of detail essential to 'Combined Operations' provide a pattern for those who support the fighting men. The pattern calls for each of us to do his individual part—without hesitation, without fail."

In-Season Fruits And Vegetables Fully Represented On Local Mart

The Lansdowne Market yesterday was a fairly large one with all the in-season fruits and vegetables fully represented. Fairly new on the mart were winter radishes, or commonly called Chinese radishes. They are long and white, and much larger than the ordinary radish, but taste similar with the exception that they much hotter.

Fruit growers were asking and getting the new ceiling prices. New red grapes were in abundance and sold for twenty-five cents a pound. Pineapples were plentiful and were listed at 35c each.

There was a large display of vegetables with the supply being about equal to the demand. Tomatoes were to be found almost in every stall and ranged in different prices by the pound to the six-quart basket. Corn, sold from 20 to 25 cents a dozen, celery at 20 cents a stalk, and cauliflowers from 10 to 25 cents.

As butchers prophesied last week, there was but little lamb to be had. Beef was plentiful, however, with no change in last week's prices. With cooler weather setting in, several stalls had pork for sale.

Egg and chicken prices remained firm. It was the first time in weeks that the price of eggs was not increased. However, there was a scarcity of grade A-large, while pullets were more than plentiful. In the floral section, zinnias and asters at 35 cents and gladioli ranging in price from 50 cents to $1 a dozen, provided a riot of color.

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER

Unconditional surrender:
Two master-words combined,
Make a forceful fitting tender
For the Axis chiefs to sign.
Thus the price of peace is tumbled;
And the whole price must be paid,
Or their triple might, disabled
In chaotic ruin laid.

With her members sore and ragged,
In a haughty disregard,
The Italian mother staggered
Till her very heart was scarred:
Then, at last, the yoke was broken,
From cursed partnership unbound,
Begging mercy, she has spoken:
Thus one signature gone down.

With the Russian driving at him,
And Northern Winter's frigid breath:
Allied bombs his factories shattering,
And the Second Front of death;
All the countries he has ravaged,
Wait in breathless agony,
For the time the Nazi savage
Dips his pen, to set them free.

As the slimy yellow serpents
To their filth-bound land recoil,
In a future, not far-distant,
We envision Hilo's scrawl —
Thus, avenging China's sorrow
And Pearl Harbour's stunning blow;
Peace again, on glad tomorrow,
A rejoicing world will know.

As the ripened fruit be taken
From the war-grown conference tree,
May the Axis strength be shaken
To an Allied Victory!
As we render thanks that Italy
From the foe-list has resigned,
May we frame conditions worthy
Of a generous Christian mind.

KINGSEY

The Community Hall was the scene of a very enjoyable surprise party when the parishioners and other friends of Rev. and Mrs. F. B. Cooke gathered together for a farewell party in honor of a clergyman and his family who have by their hospitality and helpfulness become very much esteemed by their own parishioners and by the members of other churches. The evening was spent in dancing to music furnished by Messrs. Spencer and Nelson Brock, Colin Andrews and Bruce Mastine, ably assisted at the piano by Mrs. J. W. Smith. In the course of the evening W. T. Shaw presented Rev. and Mrs. Cooke with a purse and Mrs. J. L. Andrews presented Mrs. Cooke with a crystal sandwich tray from the Ladies' Guild of Trinity Church. Mr. Cooke, in a few well-chosen words expressed his and Mrs. Cooke's thanks and said that he regretted that circumstances had made it necessary for them to leave the parish, where he and his family had made many close friends. Gerard Caille also spoke a few words, expressing the regret of the French-speaking neighbors of Mr. Cooke and family, who have always found him ready to co-operate in any matter of public interest and welfare, and he assured Mr. Cooke that he and his family will be much missed from their midst. Mrs. Cooke, in a few words, thanked the ladies of the parish, and Mrs. Cooke and Master Ralph are spending a few days with Mr. W. Woolley in Cookshire, before leaving for their new home in Creemore, Ont., where Mr. Cooke will join them at the end of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Clark have returned to Isle Bigras, after spending the Labor Day week-end at "Maplewood."

Mr. P. A. Moore is in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, for medical treatment. She was accompanied by Mr. Moore and Miss Enid Moore. The latter will remain in the city for a few days to be near her sister-in-law.

Mrs. Harold Blake and daughter, Jean, of Kingsley Falls, are spending some time with Mr. Edward Mastine during the absence of Mrs. Mastine, who is in the J.M.C. Hospital in Asbestos.

Schol has reopened after the Labor Day week-end. Miss Brown spent the holiday in Foster and Miss Mills in Richmond.

The Ladies' Guild met with Mrs. Shaw. There was a large attendance of members. After the business meeting Mrs. Cooke was presented with half a dozen china cups and saucers and a sum of money from the members of the Guild and the W.A., as a token of her much-appreciated services to both these organizations.

YOUR FEEDING ADVISOR

Today in the Eastern Townships we have a poultry population about three times more than we had last year, and about five times what it was three years ago. We have gone right along with the country in increasing our poultry because of the increased demand for eggs, and poultry meat. We have in most cases been carried away with the egg prices, and have not paid any attention to what we have in the line of buildings, feed hoppers, waterers, etc. These are all main essentials that cannot be overlooked. To have 100 pullets is one thing, but to have enough space to house them comfortably is another. Now that we are putting them in the laying house, we are finding our mistake. Most of us have not the required space to house our birds comfortably. It requires four square feet per bird of house space to give that bird enough room to move around, and this space should not be cut, even at the expense of selling all birds that will not fit into this required space. It is much better to have 100 birds comfortably placed, than to have 125 crowded. You are going to hurt your production, and that to you is the difference between profit and loss. Most poultrymen know how to cut their birds, but very few do this as well as they know how.

Up until 25 years ago no one knew how to cull birds. No one knew if a hen was a good layer or a poor layer. Yet today nearly everyone knows what it takes to have a good layer. You know that a laying hen has a large bright comb; she has a soft, pliable abdomen; she has a large, moist vent. If you cannot tell by this method, take a peek and see if you cannot catch them in the act. It is a sure-fire method. Is the hen molting? If she is at this time of year there is either one of two things to blame. Either the hen is no good, or she is a cull, or you are no good as a poultryman. Which means that you had better feed and ventilate your house better, and get rid of lice and mites.

Are the hen's legs yellow? We like our hen's legs bleached out. The girls these days, you notice, are covering up their bleached skin. Maybe I am not supposed to know that, but I am not too old to be keen in my observations. With your laying hens, if they are worth their salt, the pigment is all gone by now. Get rid of the hen if she is not laying. If she is laying, maybe she has reformed, then keep her until the next culling time. Watch that you do not cull the late hatched birds if they have not the above requirements of a laying hen. It would be too early for them to be culled. Now, how do we know that a bird is healthy? If she is healthy and laying and not molting and has pale legs, keep her. You need no further information as to her pedigree. There you are; that is all you have to know. Go out in the laying house, wet down the floor to get rid of dust, get a catching hook and coop. Get the chickens in a corner, handle them, inspect them for lice, but the culls in a crate, and take them to town to be sold for meat. Then you have done yourself a favor and have made space for the good hens. I might add that there are other things that you might like to have in that laying house of yours. A smart idea is to have a wire under the roosts; that prevents the hens from getting into the droppings. A hen requires four inches of feed space. The hen needs a five-gallon waterer if she has 49 other birds with her. For every 100 hens you will need two of these waterers. You should have 15 nests per 100 hens.

One hundred hens require 65 feet of roost space. The hens should have a 13-hour day. To make this up, you will need lights in fall and winter. If you can have all these, together with the culling method, there is no reason on earth why you can't average 60 per cent production each year.

The price of eggs today pays you to do all this. You hurt your own pocketbook when you let the birds that are not laying take the place of the birds that are laying. We are short of feed this year, and all those who are culling out the bad birds are doing a favor to others. Measure your poultry laying house, and see how many birds will go into that house. All you have to do is to measure the length and the width. By multiplying the length by the width you have the amount of square feet in the house. By dividing that total by four square feet you get the number of birds that can go into the house comfortably. For example: A house 10 by 12 feet gives you 120 square feet. Dividing 120 by 4 square feet gives you 30. Thirty is the number of hens and no more that should go into that house. I hope the information in this column has been helpful to those who are not up on their poultry management. All you are doing by following this method is CULLING THE LIARS FROM THE LAYERS.

We take pleasure in presenting to the people of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships a new insurance service, the combined Sherbrooke Insurance Agencies. Not a new firm, rather an amalgamation, designed to give better service and understanding of your insurance problems, bringing together the two deans of insurance in this city, C. O. Palmer and T. Belanger, active heads of the two oldest underwriting firms, with the addition of the eagerness and initiative of G. D. McManamy, still a young-blood in the field, plus the acquisition of Mederic Belec, an insurance inspector of twenty-seven years experience.

Combined under one roof, these agencies will be enabled to give the utmost in service plus the ultimate in efficiency.

Modern methods, combined with a thorough knowledge of all underwriting requirements, are thus assured. Mr. Belec, presently leaving the long-term post of Provincial fire, casualty and inland marine inspector for the Atlas Assurance Company, will give to the Sherbrooke Insurance Agencies a factor seldom found in an insurance agency or brokerage office catering direct with the public.

Thus we are equipped and stand ready at all times to act as your advisors in all problems and questions relating to I-N-S-U-R-A-N-C-E.

East Ward And Mt. Pleasant In Championship Tilt

Darche And Boisvert Battle It Out Today For Singles' Title At Mt. Pleasant Club

Marcel Darche and Ivan Boisvert will come together in the championship of the men's singles at the Mount Pleasant Club tomorrow afternoon. The club tournaments which have now been in operation for the past two weeks have for the most part been as good as the city tournaments because the majority of those who played in the city tournaments were members of the Mount Pleasant Club. Both Darche and Boisvert have had some stiff opposition to encounter before they were able to pair off against each other. Both players have from time to time come against each other in championship matches at the club when it was known as the old St. Francis and they are considered by many to be the mainstays of the tennis organization. The game between these two players will start at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon and it promises to be a battle all the way.

The championship for the women's singles will also be played and it is scheduled to take place at about 8:30 on Sunday night. The two players who will be sparring in this match are Therese Boisvert and Ida Goyette, who will leave nothing unwanted in the women's field. Miss Boisvert was a finalist in the women's singles of the city tournament and was not defeated until she came up against Mrs. Simard, while Ida Goyette reached the semi-final stages of the tournament. Miss Goyette will be a triple threat opponent for Miss Boisvert since she had little trouble in defeating Marie Robert, the former women's champion, who was reputed to be the best women player in the club. With this victory behind her Miss Goyette is expected to go a long way in the final, but Miss Boisvert should offer some stiff opposition.

Other matches to be played at the club over the week-end are as follows:

Saturday
2:30—Marcel Gervais and Leonard Proulx vs. Ivan Boisvert and Marcel Darche.
Sunday
2:30—Ivan Boisvert vs. Marcel Darche (Finals).
3:30—James Crochetiere and Dan Heleig vs. Armand Fortin and Lorenzo Desruisseaux Norman Braut and Gaston Gagnon vs. J. A. Savail and Armand Nadeau.
8:00—Therese Boisvert vs. Ida Goyette (Finals).

Toronto, Sept. 18.—If New Westminster Salmonbellies make the national lacrosse final again this season it will mark their fifth appearance in the Mann Cup series in the eleven years of the box game. Salmonbellies have won the cup just once—in 1937. St. Catharines and Orillia each won the trophy three times in four attempts. . . . Bill Wilson has a near monopoly on Cup records. He has been in the national final seven times—with three different teams. Twice Bill showed with Orillia, once with Salmonbellies and four times with St. Catharines. He was on the championship club six times.

Round and about:
Saint John, one of basketball's hot spots, is building for a good season. . . . Cpl. Maxie Berger, Montreal's gift to the prize ring, is writing a column in the paper printed at the Brooklyn army base where he's stationed, and Dink Carroll of the Montreal Gazette suggests Berger is following in the literary footsteps of such ring greats as Gene Tunney, Benny Leonard and Fide Labarba.

Hall of Fame:
The N.H.L.'s choice of Kingston as a site of a Hockey Hall of Fame met considerable criticism in Halifax and Montreal. Ken Chisholm of the Halifax Herald said the Halifax committee had been assured it would be notified when the Hall of Fame decision would be discussed but that the notification did not come. . . .

E. M. Orlick of the McGill University Department of Education says he is confident the decision will be revoked. Orlick figures Montreal should have been chosen.

Final Game In Ball Series Will Be Played Here Sunday

The last game in the series in the each had to play a two-out-of-three Intermediate "A" Baseball League is expected to get underway at the Park Avenue Stadium at about two o'clock on Sunday afternoon when the East Ward team and the Mount Pleasant Club will battle out nine innings for the championship for the Bourque Trophy and for the right to meet a team from Three Rivers for the Provincial Championship.

The play-offs in this league have dragged on now for well over a month and the crowds who have been attending the games have dropped off considerably. In the first place all the teams in the league were admitted to the play-offs and to get into the finals. Trouble arose over the famous Boissonneault team that was later disqualified from active play by the Quebec Amateur Baseball Association. The Boissonneault team was then reinstated by the local branch of the league and after a lapse of a week the games with this team had to be renewed again. When it finally ended up, the two under dogs, the East Ward and the Mount Pleasant Clubs, reached the finals and each team won a game in a best-of-five series. This was then followed by a double header last Sunday with each winning one of the games. The deciding game will therefore be played tomorrow afternoon and the winner will go on to Three Rivers next week to play the first game of a best-of-three series. The next game will be played in Sherbrooke and if the third game is necessary a double-header will be played here.

Both finalists are fairly evenly matched and each team had about the same results in the league all season. With the league championship at stake, however, it is expected that they will be both playing a good close game.

Both teams will be fielding their complete line-ups and no new additions have been made so that anyone wishing to see these teams working under pressure will certainly get a chance tomorrow afternoon.

Pte. Benjamin Clarke, of Petawawa, Ont., spent a week-end here with friends.

Mrs. Kinloch, and Mrs. Batson, of Montreal, were guests of the Misses Kinloch, at the home of Mrs. Nickle.

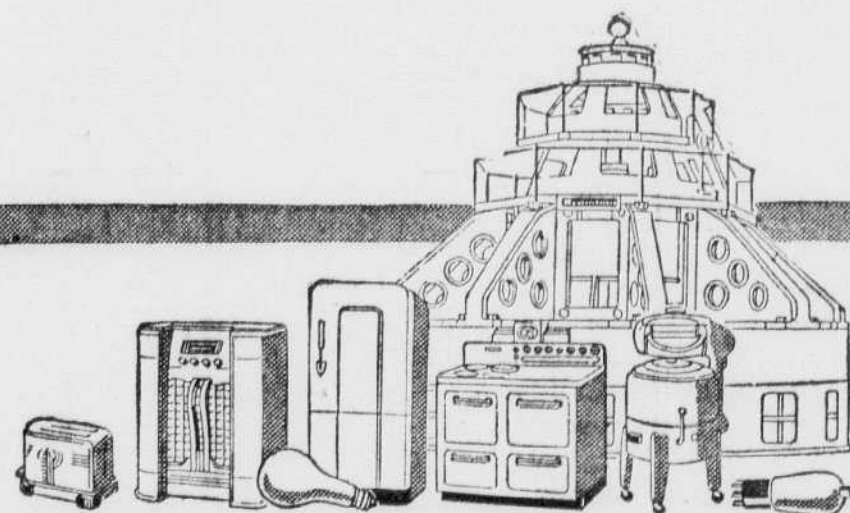

Nothing like This has Ever Been Done Before . . .

These words might well be the motto of the electrical industry.

Ever since George Westinghouse developed the Alternating Current system in 1889, electricity has been tackling jobs that never were done before . . . and doing them.

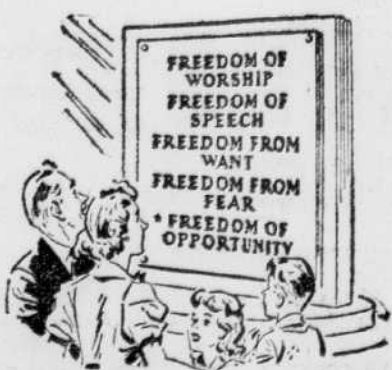

Our homes, our cities, our industries and our farms all bear evidence of the miracles which electricity has achieved.

The war has created new and perplexing problems for electricity to solve . . . and called forth new wonders of ingenuity and skill . . . new developments in electronics, in electro-chemistry, in metallurgy, in the application and use of electric power for production, communication and protection. Many of these achievements cannot be disclosed.

And, when victory comes, other new tasks and problems will face us . . . the creation of new industries to provide employment and opportunity for Canada's fighters and workers and to speed peacetime production . . . the development of more and better electrical devices to bring more of the good things of life to all our people.

We will have to do things that have never been done before. But that should present no obstacle to a free people, working together to utilize the experience, ingenuity and resources which we in Canada possess . . . and using to the full the power of mankind's greatest, most versatile servant, Electricity!
