World News In Brief

Boston —(AP)—Hundreds of small birds migrating south from Canada have been killed in collisions with Boston's tallest buildings, Robert Grayce of the Audubon Society said Sunday. He said the birds, mostly warblers and thrushes, apparently don't judge distances well. A number were killed recently in New York when they flew into the Empire State Building.

London —(Reuters)—Soviet oil experts are helping to direct the exploitation of petroleum in China, the communist New China news agency reported in a dispatch received here Sunday night. The agency gave details of a Chinese-Soviet petroleum company which it said celebrated its third anniversary Sunday.

Bonn —(AP)—The government announced today that West German iron and steel production dropped in September. Raw steel production was 1,200,186 tons compared with 1,227,217 in August, the federal statistical office said. Raw iron production fell from 905,345 tons in August to 872,116 in September.

Los Angeles —(AP)—This city recorded its hottest day of the year Sunday. At the airport the temperature was 101. The weather bureau blamed conditions on a high pressure over Nevada, which forced hot desert air westward. It was 103 at Culver City, San Gabriel and Thermal.

Hong Kong —(AP)—Forty-six Roman Catholic missionaries arrived from Communist China in September, leaving 396 still behind the Bamboo Curtain, Catholic headquarters said today. Of 23 American Catholic missionaries still in China, 13 are in prison, church officials said.

London —(AP)—The death was announced today of Vice-Admiral Gordon Campbell, world-famous hunter of German submarines in the First World War. He was 67. Campbell won the Victoria Cross and Distinguished Service Order as a commander of hush-hush decoy "Q" ships that lured U-boats to their doom.

Kesan, Turkey —(AP)—For the first time in modern history, Turkish and Greek soldiers met on a battlefield Sunday as allies. It was only a sham battle and a small part of NATO's operation Welfast spread over the Mediterranean area. The ancient enemies, now allied in NATO, staged war games on the bleak plains of southern Thrace a few miles west of the strategic Dardanelles.

Life Term Given Ex-Premier Hadi

Cairo —(AP)—Ex-premier Ibrahim Abdel Hadi came out from the shadow of the gallows after the governing revolutionary council Sunday commuted his death sentence to life imprisonment. Hadi, premier during the 1949 Palestine war, was convicted last Thursday by a special revolutionary court of "high treason and conspiracy with a foreign power against the security of the state." He was one of more than a score of Egyptians arrested on charges that they had plotted the overthrow of President Mohammed Naguib's regime. The revolutionary council is the body which shares with Naguib supreme authority in Egypt during the transition period before constitutional government is restored. Naguib led the army coup which ousted ex-king Farouk from his throne in July, 1952.

Seven Men Are Rescued After 37 Days In North; All Are In Good Condition

Waterfront Strike May End Quickly

New York —(AP)—Anticipated United States government action today may bring a quick end to an economy-crippling strike of longshoremen from Maine to Virginia.

A special three-man presidential board of inquiry was expected today to deliver to the White House a report containing findings indicating whether the wage-contract walkout is endangering the nation's welfare.

The report to President Eisenhower almost certainly will result in his asking the department of justice to seek in federal court an 80-day injunction under the Taft-Hartley law.

An estimated 50,000 to 60,000 ILA members from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., are involved in the dispute, which erupted into a strike at midnight last Wednesday.

Some big transatlantic passenger liners have been diverted from the strikebound ports. The cost of the walkout in New York alone has been estimated at $1,500,000 a day.

Some 260 travellers from Europe arrived in New York by train during the weekend from Halifax. Their ship, the Cunard liner Britannic, was diverted there from New York on Saturday because of the strike. The Britannic passengers were examined by immigration authorities on the train and underwent customs inspection of baggage at Grand Central terminal.

The Cunard liner Queen Mary also was diverted to Halifax and will dock there today. The Mauretania is due in New York today and will attempt to dock without the use of tugs, whose crews are ILA members.

Although the Britannic is sailing here to pick up passengers for its eastbound voyage, the Queen Mary is scheduled to return to Europe from Halifax. Passengers will be taken to Halifax from here by train.

The contract fight between the ILA and the New York Shipping Association, representing 170 shipping and stevedore companies, is further complicated by efforts of a new AFL docks union seeking to win over longshoremen from the ILA.

AFL leaders formed the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL, after ousting the old ILA for failing to purge itself of racketeering elements.

Shipping firm representatives have indicated they might be reluctant to come to terms with the AFL-ousted union. They told the board they had been notified by the AFL that its new ILA-AFL intends to challenge the ILA for the right to represent the longshoremen.

Halifax —(AP)—The liner Queen Mary steamed up the roadstead at dawn today to her old wartime berth, causing more bustle and excitement here than anything since the war.

Hundreds got up early to wait in a cold drizzle for a glimpse of the world's second biggest ship which last came here as a troopship in war paint.

Airlines and railways were busy arranging transportation for the liner's passengers. The Queen Mary was diverted here from New York because of the longshoremen's strike in U.S. east coast ports.

Among the 1,834 passengers was Lord Beaverbrook, on his way to Fredericton to make official his retirement as chancellor of the University of New Brunswick. Another passenger was movie star Linda Darnell.

Only One Of Group Found After Plane Forced Down Required Hospital Condition.

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

Bagotville, Que. — (CP)— Mission completed could probably sum up one of the most dramatic air rescues in the history of the northland — the rescue of seven gaunt men lost for 37 days in Quebec's northern wilderness.

The men arrived in this RCAF base in the Saguenay district Sunday after being flown from a remote, unmapped lake, where their single-engine Norseman was forced down when it ran out of gas Aug. 25. They were in surprisingly good condition.

Search planes had covered more than 200,000 square miles of northern Quebec before the Norseman was spotted on Lake Emmanuel, in the lake-dotted, heavily-wooded area southwest of Nitchequon, some 300 miles from here.

The plane was located Friday afternoon. Grouped around it were Ray Vanstone, Toronto student; Victor Abel, an experienced bushman from Senneterre, Que., and Klaas Koeten of Rotterdam.

The other four members of the party had set out the day before the plane was sighted in an effort to reach civilization on foot. In this group, flown here a short time after the arrival of those who had remained with the plane, were Rolph Theinhous, German geologist from Seigen, Andre Levesque, Montreal, pilot R. J. Mullin of Kenora, Ont., and flight engineer Richard Everitt of Montreal.

The party was returning from a visit to properties of Fenimore Iron Mines, Ltd., in iron-rich Ungava when they disappeared near the halfway point of their 700-mile flight from Fort Chimo to Roberval.

The men were found on the second day of a final sweep by Sqdn. Ldr. Jack Woods of St. John's, Nfld., piloting a Lancaster from the RCAF base at Greenwood, N.S.

Woods parachuted food to the men, signalled their position to his Bagotville base and waited the arrival of a Canso amphibian, owned by Mont Laurier Airways to which the missing Norseman belonged.

When the Canso arrived here, RCAF personnel, wives, children and friends of the missing men were on hand to greet them. An ambulance was ready but only Levesque used it.

The men were thin and their hair and beards had grown long but they were cheerful. Dr. Theinhous even did a little dance.

The experience apparently didn't instill fear of the northland.

Vanstone put it this way after a meal and a shave: "I still love the northland. This has been a worthwhile experience." He said he planned to go back.

Abel said he hadn't given up hope of rescue but he wondered how and when it would come. His greatest fear was that cold weather would cut off the party's supply of berries and other skimpy food.

Abel said a navigation error apparently took the Norseman off course. By the time they reached Lake Emmanuel, they had barely enough gas to get down safely.

Survivors told how they scouted around while awaiting rescue, how they ate sparingly of their meagre rations, how they shot partridge, snared rabbits and caught a few fish before losing their net.

They gathered to talk about their chances of survival and feared they had been given up as dead. This prompted four of the group to set off afoot.

Mullin and Levesque are in RCAF hospital under observation but they are expected to be "well" within a few days.

U.S. Regains World Jet Speed Mark

Thermal, Calif. —(AP)—Striking an average of 753.4 miles an hour, the navy's new F-4D Skyray interceptor has won back the world's measured course record for the United States and now will be given further tests at sea.

Lt.-Cmdr. James B. Verdin, 35, combat hero of both the Second World War and Korea, piloted the jet flying wing-type Douglas plane to the record Saturday about 150 feet above the hot sands along southern California's Salton Sea.

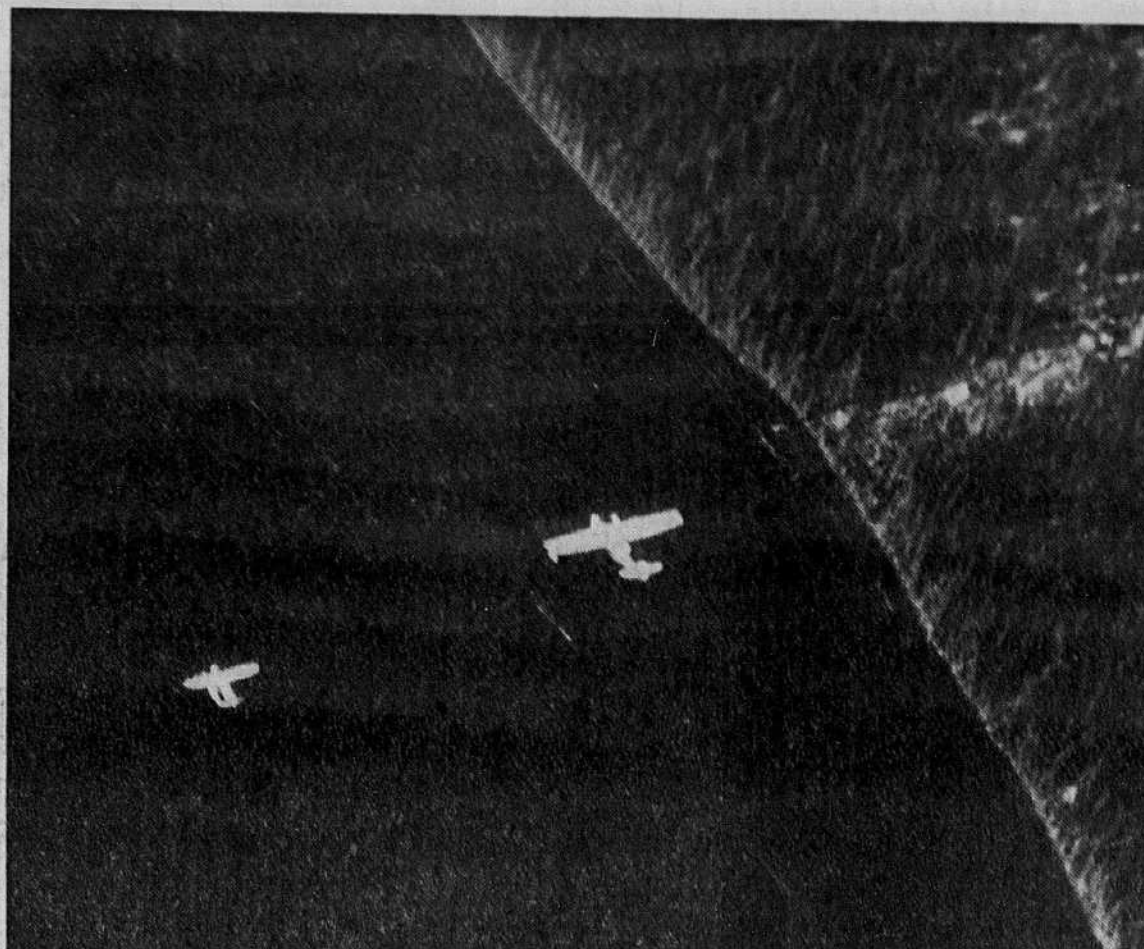

The Skyray is designed for use off carriers to protect its fleet from attack, and is now scheduled for sea duty aboard a flat top for further tests.

On each of his four arrow-straight passes over the three-kilometre 1.863 miles course, Verdin averaged each mile in less than five seconds. His fastest pass—761.414 mph—was only 31 less than the speed of sound along the course where the mercury read 88.5 degrees. Sonic speed varies with temperature and altitude.

Verdin and the Skyray erased the 737.3 mph record set by Britain's Cmdr. Mike Lithgow in a Vickers Supermarine Swift at Libya only last Sept. 25. In recapturing the record from Britain, Verdin also set a tough mark for future competitors. Under the Federation Aeronautique Internationale rules, a record must surpass the old mark by one per cent or more. Thus, to take the title to the Skyray, a plane will have to average 761 mph.

Considered probable challengers are North American Aviation's F-100 Super Sabre and the British Hawker Hunter and Supermarine Swift.

During the 20 minutes between takeoff and landing at El Centro auxiliary naval air station, the nine-ton Skyray, powered by a Westinghouse J-40 turbo jet engine.

Another U.S. - Russian Clash Expected Over Elections To Security Council

United Nations, N.Y. — (AP)— Another clash between the United States and the Soviet Union shaped up today in United Nations assembly elections for the security council and two other UN bodies.

The 60-nation assembly was called back into its first plenary session since last Tuesday for the annual elections. At stake were three of the 11 security council seats, six places on the 18-member economic and social council and two of the 12 trusteeship council spots.

Candidates needed a two-thirds majority of valid ballots cast in the secret vote for election.

The big contest in the security council was for the seat Greece will vacate Dec. 31. The Soviet bloc has backed Poland for the place, while the United States announced its support for Turkey.

The Philippines also entered 10 days ago, complicating the contest and threatening a long-drawn series of ballots.

The Security Council election took on added importance because the group's 11 members plus Canada form the disarmament commission which now has to deal with the hydrogen bomb as well.

Prisoners' Interviews Start Soon

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Panmunjom — (AP)— The neutral nations repatriation commission moved today to get underway the long-delayed explanation to some 22,600 anti-Red war prisoners as to why they should return home.

The NNRC asked the Allied command to start work on both temporary and permanent facilities where Red representatives will try to talk the 7,900 Koreans and 14,700 Chinese into returning to communism.

The interviews could begin within a week at the temporary site.

The truce agreement called for the interviews to begin by Sept. 26 and end 90 days later — Dec. 24. However, the target date was lost in a flurry of haggling over the interview buildings.

The Communists have demanded 32 permanent-type structures, which are to be built by the UN command.

They in turn, are building sites for the Allies to interview 350 Allied POWs, including 23 Americans and one Briton, who have refused to return home.

The Indian command, which is in charge of the balky POWs of both sides, Monday, took over 10 structures built by the Reds for UN interviewers.

Although the UN command probably could begin interviews within a week, it apparently is in no hurry. An Allied high officer said explanations probably will not start for two weeks.

Communist correspondent Wilfred Burchett, sometimes an unofficial Red spokesman, told reporters today that the Communists might begin their explanations in a week provided their temporary centres are ready.

Meanwhile, South Korea's acting foreign minister, Cho Chung Whan, threatened again today that his government would order the republic's army "to fight them Indians if they continue to act hostile to us."

Cho threatened Saturday "to drive the irresponsible Indian troops out of Korea" by armed force if the NNRC and the Indians "do not rectify immediately the evil acts being committed."

Indian guards have killed three POWs and wounded 10 in camp disturbances.

Cho said "the acts... are clean-cut evidence of the NNRC and the Indians pro-Communist character."

Cho's threat Saturday was an official protest to Indian Maj.-Gen. S. P. P. Thorat, relayed through Gen. Maxwell Taylor, United States 8th Army commander. His second warning was given before the national assembly in Seoul.

7th Hurricane Is Blowing Up
Miami, Fla. — (AP)— Reconnaissance aircraft flew far out over the Atlantic today to look at a growing hurricane already packing winds of 80 to 90 miles an hour.

The tropical storm, seventh of the season and named Gail for the seventh letter of the alphabet, was reported about 180 miles east of Guadeloupe, French Antilles, and 2,500 miles southeast of Florida Sunday.

At that time the San Juan, Puerto Rico, weather bureau said the centre was near latitude 16.5 north, longitude 48.5 west. Gales extending outward 100 miles to the north and east and 50 miles to the south and west were reported.

The hurricane was expected to continue to increase in intensity and to move west northwest or northwest at about 15 miles an hour.

At its present rate of travel it is still a week away from the North American mainland.

70 Killed So Far This Year In R. C. A. F.

Flying mishaps in the RCAF in Canada during the first eight at least 28 aircraft valued at approximately $6,350,000 and killed 70 persons.

These figures were compiled by The Canadian Press after a check of air crashes as reported in Canadian newspapers since last Jan. 1. While not considered complete, they include nine F-86 Sabre jets worth approximately $3,150,000, two CF-100s, two Mitchells, two Beechcraft Expeditors, three Mustangs, five Harvards, four Lancasters and one Dakota.

Full information on the number of crashes is described as "classified" by the defence department on the ground that such data is not available from other countries, even to Canadian defence officials.

RESTRICTED TO CANADA
 The figures do not include RCAF crashes overseas or non-fatal accidents on air stations where other aircraft may have been quietly written off without publicity. An unofficial estimate of overseas places the figure at less than a dozen.

Informed sources said the figures, although possibly underestimated, do not necessarily indicate an abnormally high accident rate. Against them must be measured the number of service hours flown during the period—more than 400,000. Comparisons with other countries or with previous periods of RCAF history are not available.

For example, the air force has safely transported upwards of 250 Sabre jets overseas for service in Europe under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—a major undertaking with considerable hazards. Also, each of these jets involved many hours of flying training time.

RELATIVELY LOW
 Some observers feel, too, that in putting into service for the first time Canada's own CF-100s, the loss of two aircraft at this stage should be considered relatively low.

APPLICATION FOR DIVORCE
 NOTICE is hereby given that JOSEPH AUREL DENAULT, contractor of St. Lambert, District of MONTREAL, Province of Quebec will apply to the Parliament of Canada, at the present or next Session thereof for a bill of divorce from his wife BERTHA PATENAUDE, of Sherbrooke, Province of Quebec, Canada, on the grounds of adultery.

in comparison with similar ventures by other countries. Questioned recently regarding the crash rate, air force officials admitted the number of accidents had increased considerably, but said the number has not increased in relation to the flying time. They said the number of crashes is "in no way out of proportion" to the corresponding increase in flying time.

The $6,350,000 write-off total is based on informed but unofficial estimates rating a Sabre as worth $350,000; CF-100 $500,000; Mitchells and Lancasters $200,000; Beechcraft $175,000; Dakota $100,000; Mustang $75,000 and Harvard $65,000.

Since all planes are in varying stages of development, obsolescence or re-equipment, accurate estimates are difficult.

BIG CRASHES

The survey showed the following accidents as taking the biggest toll of life since Jan. 1:

Jan. 28—Dakota, en route from Vancouver to Cariboo, disappeared with seven men aboard. Wreckage found later. Icing conditions blamed.

Jan. 29—Mitchell bomber, en route Saskatoon to Vancouver, disappeared without trace with five men aboard. Icing conditions blamed.

Feb. 1—Lancaster with nine aboard disappeared on flight between Goose Bay, Labrador, and Torbay, Nfld. Bodies recovered later. Plane had reported failure of two engines.

Feb. 5—Pilot and three students from Stevenson Field, Winnipeg, killed when Beechcraft crashed on night training flight near Gunton, Man.

April 20—Lancaster returning to base at Greenwood, N.S., crashed in field near Centreville, N.S., killing six of seven crew members.

May 16—Mitchell bomber crashed at Valois, Que., killing all eight men aboard. Reason for crash unknown.

May 26—Lancaster crashed on Iron Mountain, Oregon, killing all 10 aboard, while taking part in coast exercises and en route to San Diego with Canadian destroyers. Weather conditions blamed for plane straying off course.

Aug. 11—CF-100 crashed into two houses at Ville Jacques Cartier, Que., killing nine, including seven civilians.

These crashes accounted for 58 of the 70 deaths. Apart from the CF-100 crash at Ville Jacques Cartier, only five of the deaths occurred in jet planes.

The brief business session, which preceded the party was conducted by the president of the Home and School Association, Mr. R. N. LeBaron, and plans were made for a masquerade dance to be held in the Town Hall on the evening of October 30. Mr. Frank Woodward was appointed to be in charge of the dance.

Mr. LeBaron introduced the new teachers, and gave a brief resume of their educational background and teaching experience.

The new principal of the school is Mr. Fraser Robinson, who comes to North Hatley from River John, N.S. Mrs. Robinson was also introduced to the members and friends present.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Clark come from Aylesford, N.S., and Miss Cathcart and Mrs. Fearon reside in Lennoxville.

Other members of the teaching staff are Mrs. Nelson Pike and Mrs. Victor Hodgson, both of North Hatley.

The party which followed, had been arranged by Mrs. G. E. Bennett and Mrs. Kenneth Bryce.

A series of progressive games kept eight teams busy and entertained. The team of Veil Dancers, led by Mr. Charles Hornett, accumulated the greatest score, and Mrs. P. Nelson won a special prize for being the only one in the room to score in the tiddly-winks game.

At the close of the games, refreshments were served.

11 Persons Perish In Tragedy - Packed Week-End

Leading Local Physician Is Killed In Collision With Train In Roberval County; Electrocutation In East Angus

Violent death claimed the lives of 11 persons in or associated with the Eastern Townships over the week-end. Among the fatalities was Dr. Lionel Groleau, 49, of Sherbrooke, an outstanding local medical man, who was killed with his companion, Dr. Alonzo Jolicoeur, 56, of Beauceville East, in a level crossing accident at St. Felicien, Roberval County.

The nine others who were killed in the E. T. over the week-end were:

- Andre Lamoureux, 38, East Angus.
- Girard Trahan, 32, South Durham.
- Lucien Blanchette, 24, Pierreville, Yamaska County.
- Mrs. Edgar Breault, 40, Manchester, N.H.
- Mrs. J. Henri Benoit, 56, St. Johns.
- Andre Duchesne, 5, Waterloo.
- Clement Roy, 19, St. Evariste Station.
- Gerald Grondin, 25, St. Evariste Station.
- John Mayhew, 73, Black Lake.

Lamoureux died in East Angus a few minutes after he came into contact with a 22,000-volt power line at the St. Lawrence Corporation plant. He died despite frantic efforts by Monfette ambulance crews, Sherbrooke firemen and fellow workers to revive him. An inquest under Dr. Louis Gagnon, district coroner, will be held today.

Trahan was killed when his motorcycle collided with a pickup truck driven by Albert Doyle, of South Durham, on the highway just outside the village.

Blanchette and Mrs. Breault were victims of the same accident at Marcotte Village in the Drummondville district, shortly after 5

Quiet Session Of Council Is Expected

Little excitement is expected at tonight's regular session of the City Council with only routine committee reports likely to come up for consideration by the aldermen.

Technically, the proposed by-law covering the installation of a filtration plant to improve the local water supply is scheduled to come before the gathering tonight—notice to this effect having been given at the last regular session—but discussion may be delayed for some months awaiting the receipt of revised cost estimates from the engineers who are studying the project.

Another contentious item that will be delayed is the homologation of the 1953 valuation roll as the board of revision have not completed the hearing of the mass of protests that have been lodged against the new roll. When the hearings were suspended Saturday afternoon, only 77 of the 250 cases scheduled to come before the board had been disposed of and it is expected that at least a week will elapse before the agenda is cleared.

A resolution from the School Boards fixing the general tax rate for 1954 at ten mills on the dollar with an additional three mills for the Protestant and neutral panel will be tabled tonight and adopted automatically. The Council have no option on the matter of the educational rates.

The speaker emphasized that whatever was done to assist India must be done according to the social system of that country, and not according to our ideas or systems. It would be useless to try and make them over into our pattern.

Professor Babcock was introduced by the president of the school, Dr. V. B. Griffiths, and thanked for his talk by E. J. Struthers, Don Elberson, executive director of the Vermont Council on World Affairs, accompanied Mr. Babcock on the trip.

The executive committee emphasized again that anyone was welcome to attend one session of the school, and also that it was by no means too late to enroll for the remaining eight weeks.

An accident at Cookshire Saturday night resulted in slight injuries to Mrs. H. C. Tillinghast, Darien, Conn., a passenger in a car driven by her husband which collided with a truck driven by Lomer Hodge, of Birchton.

Mr. Beaucage was introduced by the president of the school, Dr. V. B. Griffiths, and thanked for his talk by E. J. Struthers, Don Elberson, executive director of the Vermont Council on World Affairs, accompanied Mr. Babcock on the trip.

The mishap occurred as the family was proceeding to Bedford late yesterday morning and as Mr. Beaucage turned off to the Waterloo road his car skidded on a curve, left the road and hit a telephone pole.

Most seriously injured was Jeannie who received a broken jaw and had to be transferred from the Sherbrooke Hospital to the Montreal Neurological Institute by Bishop's ambulance.

Pottery Exhibit At Community School Tuesday

Derby Line, Oct. 5. — Stanley Ballard, of South Burlington, will speak at the International Community School, Stanstead College, on Tuesday evening, and will bring with him an exhibit of his pottery. Mr. Ballard and his work were featured in the summer issue of Vermont Life, and the talk and exhibit should prove to be a very good attraction for a number of those not yet members of the school.

The session last Tuesday featured the opening of the various classes, a fine talk on India by Professor H. S. Babcock, of the University of Vermont, and a considerable number of new registrations.

In his talk about his recent visit to India, Mr. Babcock said that it left him with a feeling of depression and hopelessness that anything could be done to solve the problems of famine and suffering among the millions in that country.

"Eighty per cent of the people are poorer than any you could find in the United States or Canada," said Professor Babcock. There are millions who live on the streets with no homes and no means of support. They live and die in the gutter, begging or stealing what little food they have.

"There is no such thing as a sanitation system. The same water is used for washing, bathing, drinking and a wallow for the water buffalo."

The speaker emphasized that whatever was done to assist India must be done according to the social system of that country, and not according to our ideas or systems. It would be useless to try and make them over into our pattern.

Local Airman Is Given Credit For Sub Kill In Nato Exercise

St. Eval, Eng. — RAF coastal command officers today confirmed a submarine "kill" for the RCAF's No. 405 maritime reconnaissance squadron in Exercise Mariner, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization manoeuvre.

Air Marshal Sir Alec Stevens, officer commanding the RAF coastal command, also paid high tribute to the crews of the squadron's 12 Lancaster bombers, which for 10 days took part in NATO's largest air-sea operation from the RAF station here. Exercise Mariner wound up during the week-end.

Credit for the one definite submarine kill went to an aircraft piloted by FO, Doug Heath of Sherbrooke, Que., with 12 years flying experience to his credit.

The submarine was first sighted just before dawn as it shadowed a task force proceeding toward the English coast from Iceland. The naval force included the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent and the cruiser Quebec.

Other members of the Lancaster's crew were FO, Chuck Rodger of Toronto, co-pilot, FO, Ernie Wray of Thorold, Ont., FLT Lt E. Morris of Calgary, FO, Colin Brennan of Hamilton, Ont., and FO, Erwin Ross of Halifax.

The Lancasters fly back to their Greenwood, N.S., base tomorrow.

It is hoped that there will be a large turnout of naval veterans at the service and special pews are being reserved for them as well as for other veterans.

Lt.-Cmdr. Hatrick Will Represent Naval Services

Lt.-Cmdr. Ray Hatrick, D.S.C., of North Hatley, will represent the naval services at the memorial service for Lt.-Cmdr. Craig Bishop, D.S.O. and Bar, at St. Peter's church on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Lt.-Cmdr. Bishop was accidentally drowned off the coast of Nova Scotia last month.

It is hoped that there will be a large turnout of naval veterans at the service and special pews are being reserved for them as well as for other veterans.

RECORD - CROSSWORDS $10 IN CASH!

As one contestant was successful in winning last week's prize of $50, this week's prize reverts to $10.00.

WHAT TO DO

Solve the clues as you would any crossword puzzle. Clip out the puzzle after you have filled it in and mail it — or good exact-size facsimile of it — to RECORD CROSSWORDS, c/o the Sherbrooke Daily Record. All answers must be received by mail or delivery in the Record Office not later than next Thursday. If more than one contestant succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be divided among those having the correct solution. If no one succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be added to next week's puzzle prize money.

No household may send in more than TWO solutions. Sherbrooke Record employees and their families are not eligible for the prize money.

Study the clues carefully before you write down your answers. There is always one answer which is the best. The decision of the judges in the contest will be final and all contestants taking part agree to abide by the decision.

IMPORTANT — To be acceptable all entries must be clipped along the dotted line. This is important.

COMMENTS ON PUZZLE NO. 18

Explanation of more difficult clues:

ACROSS:

1. RACKET is best. A man chooses a tennis racket to suit himself, certainly, but he might also buy a JACKET to suit his wife, or his social obligations.
2. CLOCK is best. We know that a CLOCK is an instrument, the making of which is a specialized job. BLOCK has a wide range of applications and is not such a good answer unless we have further evidence of its type.
3. SCARS is best. By scars you might recognize the MAN. By a SCARF you are really recognizing the CLOTHING.
4. CAB is best. Whilst the use of abbreviations is permissible, it would take a strong point of argument to justify the selection of PART of a word (LAB) in preference to a WHOLE one (CAB).
5. RISE is best. Behind a RISE there may be some scheme or motive you cannot see. RISE is a little vague. If we take it to mean a RISE in the ground, it is not such a good answer unless we have further evidence of its type.
6. TILES is best. Good TILES should not do so. Under the stress of hard driving or racing conditions, even the best of new TILES can be expected to wear comparatively quickly.
7. CLEAR is best. The word CLEAR has a particular application to "decks". The Navy takes a great pride in its ships, in which you'd expect to find EVERYTHING CLEAR, and the DECKS CLEAR.
8. MYSTERY is best. There is LITTLE MYSTERY and NO MASTERY.

DOWN:

1. MADLY is best. It certainly isn't the sort of thing to play MADLY. But some waltzes (such as "Baldy's Waltz") are INTENDED to be played SADLY. SADLY is too obvious.
2. CARD is best for a "dress"! SUGGESTS a CARD. A CARD might come in handy for ANY kind of package.
3. OARS is best. The certain men in this case are oarsmen who need OARS. Strictly speaking, men can get along without OARS — it's the HORSES that want them!
4. CAT is best. Surely not a HATI particularly a man's.
5. TRACKS is best. EVERY track has its TRICKS. TRACKS is particularly apt for a JOCKEY.
6. DEFTY is best. It is the more comprehensive answer, since to DENY is merely one way in which to DEFTY treat.
7. AXE is best. Many a good AIE has not a particularly good head, but an AXE certainly needs one.

THE POWER OF CREDIT BUYING

How much can people afford to buy on credit? The answer to that question lies shadowy in the depths of the business crystal ball as observers try to peer into the future.

Some think people have bought too much on credit; others think it is an instrument for prosperity which by no means has been overworked.

Carroll M. Shanks, president of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, for instance, says: "Consumer credit is one of the greatest possible devices for raising the standard of living. By paying as they earn, people enjoy things while they are young, and with their children. How many could save $2,000 or $3,000 for a car if they couldn't pay for it by instalments?"

"Such credit is quickly paid off and gives stability to the economy." Mr. Shanks, making his comments in reply to questions at a Toronto press conference, said that undoubtedly credit could be overdone, but he didn't think today's figures unrealistic.

Taking a generally optimistic view of the future, he said North America is developing a virtually classless society in which buying power has been spread out, and which is much less vulnerable than that of, say, 1929, when buying power was in the hands of fewer people.

He considered agricultural surpluses a short-range problem and that, within 20 years, North America, with its growing population, would be hard put to produce enough from its farms.

Current agricultural surpluses might create problems, but he felt these would be solved through some device, and even if the solution cost something in tax money, the cost would be spread thin and would be much better than allowing the economy to collapse.

J. H. Mackey, assistant general manager of Industrial Acceptance Corporation, which finances credit buying, is another recent commentator to take issue with the idea that people have overbought on credit.

In an address in Montreal he said that no precise, authoritative rule has ever been worked out to say how far consumer credit can safely and soundly be expanded.

"No one can prove when the ratio of consumer credit to the country's disposable income becomes dangerous or is likely to get out of hand."

Consumer credit, Mr. Mackey observed, has certainly, risen, with statistics indicating that it now is about 10 per cent of personal disposable income in Canada.

However, it did not seem out of line when compared with ratios of 9.5 per cent and 8.9 per cent in 1939 and 1949. While there might be questionable practices in some fields of retail credit, instalment-finance companies were continuing to exert close control over their accounts to keep credit on a sound basis.

KNOWLEDGE GOES BEGGING

It won't be long now before the hurry and scurry of harvest is over. Grain combines will be silent. Plows will be turning their last furrows. Cattle will be ranging closer to home or chewing contentedly on their cuds in stalls or loafing in barns. Whether the year of hard work has been profitable or not, the farmer and his family will be looking forward to a period of comparative relaxation during the next few months.

These months, however, can often be turned to profit by using the time to acquire further knowledge on better farming methods.

Information on the most efficient methods of farming is actually going begging. Provincial and federal departments of agricultural scientists in experimental stations across the country. These are available usually without charge. Many Canadian industries are constantly turning out reams of valuable informative matter for various segments of the rural population. The closer scrutiny of farm journals and weekly newspapers and careful attention to farm broadcasts, will often provide information that can be turned into dollars and cents by the farmer.

For the benefit of the young farmer, most Canadian agricultural colleges run short courses during the slack farm period. These cover special or general subjects ranging from fruit culture to farm management. Enrolment fees and cost of board and room are so low that the return on the investment can be incalculable.

DOOR-TO-DOOR TAX CANVASS PRODUCES KING-SIZE PROFITS

By DOUGLAS LARSEN NEA Washington Correspondent Washington — (NEA) — Some form of the door-to-door canvass by Internal Revenue Service agents is almost sure to be adopted on a nationwide basis. The idea is to make sure that everybody pays their income taxes.

The results of the experiment in New England with that procedure are now being studied by top IRS officials. But it had such obviously good results, from the U.S. Treasury's point of view, that it's considered a cinch to be a standard IRS operation.

The studies are concentrating on removing the bugs and possible abuses.

Wilbur A. Gallahan, IRS commissioner of the New England region and veteran employee of the agency, was in charge of the test. He gives these details on the way it works:

The agent knocks on the door and shows his credentials, which include his picture. Residents are cautioned to check the credentials carefully. One of the possible abuses is a phony agent using this means of getting into a house.

Want Proof of Payment First question the agent asks is whether or not the resident has filed all of his federal tax forms. If the resident says, "yes," the agent then asks him to show either a cancelled check, copy of the form, or treasury receipt for the payment.

If the person can produce one of the papers and it's in order that's all there is to the visit. His name is checked off and the agent goes about his business.

If the householder or resident hasn't filed his forms, or if he has some question about his federal taxes, the agent seeks to get the matter straightened out then and there. In this way the canvass purports to be a service.

When the resident claims he has paid all of his taxes, but can't produce proof, the agent makes a note of it and then checks the official files later. If the files don't produce evidence of payment, the agent makes another call to that house. This situation occurs most frequently, it has been found. Sometimes it's because the taxpayer hasn't been a taxpayer.

If the latter case is found to be true, the agent moves in with the regular delinquent collection procedure.

Those New England residents who have had calls from IRS men have been very cooperative, Gallahan claims. He says many of them who have been found to have tax difficulties consider it a favor to have an agent come around and straighten the whole thing out.

Only A Few Are Indignant Only a few agents have doors slammed in their faces by indignant householders who feel their rights are being trampled in this procedure.

When it happens, the agent makes it a first order of business next day to check that person in the central file.

There have been isolated reports that IRS agents in other parts of the country have been intentionally very tough on taxpayers, with an eye to embarrassing the Republican administration. The story goes that these agents have said that their toughness was a specific order from the White House.

If this sort of thing was widespread in the service, the door-to-door canvass would lend itself very well to such a means of political sabotage. Service officials, however, while they admit having heard of such cases periodically during the past months, claim that it's not serious enough to wreck the canvass idea. Gallahan claims that there was no report of it in the New England test.

Gallahan's agents were pounding the pavement two days per month on this task. In the first go-round they collected $445,000 in delinquent taxes at a cost of $10,000. Succeeding tests collected proportionate revenue for cost.

The profit is obviously the big attraction.

Press Comments

LOVERS OF MY LADY NICOTINE

Ottawa Citizen Over the years, since Francisco Hernandez de Toledo, Jean Nicot and Sir Walter Raleigh created the fashion of smoking in Europe, a curious sort of character analysis has come to be applied to the users of tobacco. In the minds of some, of course, all users of the weed in any form whatsoever are considered to be of weak moral fiber. The more tolerant, while they make no such blanket condemnation, tend unconsciously to rate a smoker's general character according to the way in which he consumes the leaves of Nicotiana tabacum and its allies.

Considering only male addicts (for purposes of simplicity), the lowest estimate appears to attach to the smoker of cigars. He is regarded, frequently quite unjustly, as a person of nervous habits and instability of judgment. There are exceptions. A cigar in a long holder may be the badge of elegance and fastidiousness. The homemade article may be associated with thriftiness; while in the expert fingers of the croupoucher on the Western plains, where only the effete employ gummed paper, it becomes identified with manliness.

The cigar is commonly regarded as a sign of affluence, although the evidence of the nostrils, as regards certain brands, might lead to a revised estimate of the smoker's economic status.

But it is the pipe that enjoys the highest reputation. A man who smokes a pipe is identified with the best human attributes — above all, that of wisdom. All he has to do, in order to make an impression, is to toss away his pack of cigars and clamp his side teeth on the stem of a pipe, and puff gravely away, with fingers curled around the bowl in one of the several approved grips, and with his brow slightly furrowed.

The shape of the pipe is important. Curved stems nowadays are a little out of style and may possibly carry a connotation of eccentricity, which is not the effect desired. The smoker, if he wants to be rated as a fellow of vast judgment and all round reliability, does well to equip himself with a "bulldog" model, short and blunt and forthright.

The pipe smoker may be a complete fraud, but he starts with a marked advantage in popular estimation, and it takes longer for his true nature to be exposed.

Bible Thoughts

Great Peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them.—Psalms 119:165.

Peace doth not dwell in outward things, but within the soul; we may preserve it in the midst of the bitterest pain, if our will remain firm and submissive. Peace in thy life springs from acquiescence, not in any exemption from suffering.

Executive, Specialists Get Big Salaries, Privileges In Russia

(Editor's note: So the Russians are all one happy family in a "classless" society? Tom Whitney, AP correspondent who lived in Moscow nine years, says the Russian upper class is growing rather than diminishing.)

By TOM WHITNEY London — (AP) — A jewelry store on Moscow's Petrovka street recently displayed an emerald of several carats, priced at 35,000 rubles.

That is about as much as an average Russian would earn in 4 1/2 years. It is officially $8,750.

The store displayed the jewel because it knew there were potential customers. Soviet propaganda contends Soviet society is "classless." Anyone who has seen Soviet citizens riding around Moscow in big, black Zis or Sim limousines will realize this is not so.

Small Robeida automobiles are priced at 16,000 rubles ($4,000) each. The demand is such that a long line of prospective purchasers assembles each morning at Moscow's auto store. This means certain Russians can lay down in cash as much as the average worker earns in two years (there is no instalment buying).

Who are these well-heeled citizens? First of all, the upper class includes officers, particularly the senior officers in the armed services, and of militarized and semi-militarized organizations such as the police.

There are high ranking industrial and economic executives, scientists and research men. There are responsible government and party officials, and successful people from the literary and artistic world.

A certain number of technicians and workers, for reason of special skills or work in particular regions, benefit from special bonus payment schemes. Certain collective farm executives and farmers benefit from special bonus schemes for particular crops. Finally, some doctors and other professional men have lucrative private practices.

Often times big apartments costing nothing or almost nothing, the use of an official car at all times, and like privileges go with jobs the regime considers important. This upper class is certainly increasing in size. As the state grows larger and more complex it needs more and more executives and specialists.

Some Soviet citizens make fantastic amounts of money. This applies particularly to the more renowned doctors with private practice. Writers, if successful, earn so much money they don't know how to spend it. Top scientists and generals are said to make very big salaries. And income tax rates are low. The top surtax rate is 13 per cent for "workers and employees", a category which includes most of the upper class.

How do people get into the upper class? The main factor to start with is education. Talent, hard work and occasional intrigue also play vital roles.

Some sprang from the pre-revolutionary upper and middle class. Most of the present members, however, were brought up by the revolution from families of workers and peasants. These people are particularly strong for the Soviet regime, of course, since it gave them their opportunities.

Incidentally, West could have defeated the contract in today's hand if he had been a mind-reader. He has to open a trump! He gets in with the first diamond and leads a second trump! This defense limits South to seven trumps and two aces. But nobody that kind of defense, even in the finds that kind of defense, even

SHORT STORY

Jane

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

Jane was a member of a large family. There were four boys and three girls besides Jane. The mother was dead. The eight children lived with their father on a farm on the edge of Gransberry. Jane was the eldest of all the children.

When their mother died Jane assumed the responsibilities of the household. She was a large girl, very plain and rather dull looking. I met her and the rest of the family last summer when vacationing in Gransberry. She fascinated me because she was so sturdy and strong and uncomplaining. The longer I knew the family the more I came to realize how easy it was for the others to lean on Jane. She did two-thirds of the work.

It was interesting (and a little annoying) to watch. I soon came to understand that Jane was the goat. When one of them wanted a holiday he or she would pretend to be sick. Jane kept things going. It seemed unfair to me. They thought Jane was dull. They took advantage of her.

The more I talked to Jane the more I began to wonder if she were really dull. Yet sometimes I became discouraged. She seemed absolutely stupid.

"Last year," I said to her one day, "I met a family named Burdon, down south. There were six children in the family, and poor Mrs. Burdon had her hands full. She assumed all the responsibility and did all the work. Her children had never been used to anything else, so it never occurred to them to pitch in and help. The more she gave, the more they asked. It really wasn't the children's fault. They never knew anything different. Eventually the inevitable happened. Mrs. Burdon wore herself out. One day she was taken sick and died. She was only 51 years old."

I shook my head. "It was certainly a pity. After she had gone the children discovered that they could get along very nicely by themselves. They found out that they could do the things they had heretofore always believed themselves incapable of doing."

I stopped talking and looked steadily at Jane. But she only returned my look dully. "Wasn't it a shame?" she said.

I didn't see Jane again that summer. Three days after my talk with her I went home.

This summer I came to Gransberry again. One day I drove past the Whitefield farm and, acting on impulse, drew up at the front gate. Amelia, Jane's oldest sister, was sitting on the front porch.

"Is Jane in?" I asked. Amelia looked at me with wide eyes. "Yes, but she's not feeling well. She's lying down this afternoon."

"Lying down? Jane? May I see her?" Amelia went into the house. A moment later she came to the door and beckoned to me. I went into the front room. The shades were drawn. It was quiet and cool. Jane was lying on a couch. She smiled up at me. She looked much prettier than the last time I saw her.

"She's been having attacks," Amelia explained. "She can't go on for very long without lying down. We've been doing everything to make her well. We don't let her do much of the work."

"I'm sure I'll be all right very soon," Jane said. Amelia's eyes lighted. "Oh, I hope so!"

I didn't say much. I merely listened. Presently I understood that Jane was spending a good deal of time on the couch these days. Occasionally she was able to go out driving in the evening with a young man from town who had developed an interest in her.

After a while I rose to go. "Take care of yourself," I told Jane. "Don't try to rush things. If you started in too soon you might have a setback."

"I know," she said. "How are the Burdon children?" "Who?—Oh! They're fine! Getting along nicely."

She sighed. "I'm glad. My sisters and brothers won't let me work much. When I get strong again they want to be sure I'll stay strong." And Jane's right eyelid fluttered downward as she looked at me.

Prevalent strikes and absenteeism are widespread in the coal mines of iron curtain countries.

OBSERVATION*

I saw a little Laddie Three years old, -- no more, Playing with his grey cat Both stretched on the floor. He offered her his cookie (One of the chocolate kind), Then suddenly retrieved it -- Just changed his healthy mind! He's such an active little boy With sayin's odd, and sage; Fine glowing skin, though figure slight For one about his age. He whirls around the kitchen And scoots from room to room, Chasing his pet dog or cat With the dust-mop, or broom They're much too fleet of foot for him And dodge that little chap; Next minute he is fondling them Or coaxing them to nap. Size Five boots just fit him now Size Six the next must be; Guess that will show us all just how He's growing big, you see. His sturdy brown boots surely show Much definite signs of wear; Scuffed toes, thin soles, -- seems Daddy must Soon get him a new pair. He's wearing scarlet overalls With buckles, pockets, straps; The same style that big Brother wears But, smaller much, perhaps. He has imagination keen A mighty "flair" for cars. When he the "warning-signal" gives All family peace it mars. Although he is a "south paw" That seems no handicap, Can do most things he tries to do So far, without mishap. His "peepers" blue are fetching quite When he "makes eyes" at me; Perhaps he'll change in days to come -- Just now, he's "tops" By Gee! He tries to copy older folks In a discerning way, With time and luck, he really should Be quite a guy, some day. Just now, he's satisfied to be His Mother's little Man, And stand in favour with us all -- Just like most kiddies can.

National Kids' Day Was A Happy Time For Waterloo Children Who Won Prizes

Waterloo, Oct. 5.—National Kids' Day met with an outstanding success on Sept. 26 when the Kiwanis Club of Waterloo entertained several hundred kiddies in a parade, pet show and entertainment at the Arena.

The parade, led by the Waterloo Concert Band met at the Waterloo Garage on the Granby Road, and wound its way down Main Street to Lewis, then up Lewis to the Arena. Here each child was given favours on entering the Arena, and those with pets, decorated carts or bicycles or in costume were asked to enter the judging ring, and the remainder of the crowd were asked to take seats in the stands.

The judging was completed by members of the Kiwanis Clubs and Brothers of St. Bernard's College, who gave the Kiwanis Club very valuable assistance all through the afternoon.

Following the judging, the children were treated to three hours of films presented by the Brothers. Here, the entertainment was certainly met with thunderous applause by the huge crowd of children.

The results of the judging was as follows:— Ponies, Pam Millinchamp and Howard Chapman; Dogs Pat Pugh, Jules Nadeau, Janet Chambers, Carol Gingras, Graham Owen, Claire Chapman, Donat Cabana, Sybil Quilliams, Lorne Langevin, Connie Benoit, Sharon McCullough, Brenda Katz, Simone Roy, Elaine Daine, Lois Russell, Shirley Russell, Winston Gibson.

For the group of youngest pups, Marilyn McKergow. Rabbits: Louise Tranchemontagne.

Lynwood Taylor Celebrated His 80th Birthday

North Hatley, Oct. 5.—Lynwood Horace Taylor, of North Hatley, celebrated his 80th birthday on September 27 at a party in his honour which was attended by relatives and friends.

The Taylor home was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and large black-eyed Susans.

On the occasion of this anniversary, Mr. Taylor received many gifts and cards of congratulation.

Noted for his humor and many anecdotes, he thanked his guests in his own inimitable way for their kind thoughts and best wishes.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Saunders son Craig and daughter Carol, Mr. and Mrs. William Sawyer and daughter Betty, of Lennoxville, Mrs. Joseph Seguin, Mrs. Hunting and H. Hunting, of St. Lambert.

Retired Navy Man Has A Great Record

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—A veteran Bluenose mariner who has sailed in everything from a square-rigger to a sea-going post office is living in retirement at Kilsnoan, a comfortable, residential district here that fronts on the sea.

Capt. H. S. Hilton, born at Yarmouth, N.S., will soon be 80. In his 77-year career—he went to sea aboard his father's full-rigged ship, William of Yarmouth at 2½—he has built ships and sailed them. He has been cited for bravery, helped put down a mutiny, held a master's ticket in sail at 23, founded a shipping line, run a holiday resort, operated a floating post office and directed a home for old sailors.

Capt. Hilton rose high in his profession. He became a marine superintendent for Canadian National Steamships and commanded their crack passenger liner Lady Rodney in the West Indies service.

FOUNDED COMPANY He also founded Harbor Navigation Co., Ltd., back in 1912, a short-haul passenger and freight service still operating out of Vancouver.

His brother followed the family tradition and is harbor master at the family port of Yarmouth.

He was 10 years old, on a run to San Francisco, when he saw the crew mutiny, and he helped the officers put down the insurrection.

After six years ashore Capt. Hilton went back to sea at 16, a cabin boy out of Saint John, N.B. He was bosum three years later, second mate at 21 and master at 23.

SAVED SCHOONER CREW He was sailing as mate aboard the Bristol City Line's Exeter City, his first experience in steam, when he received a gold watch from the Canadian government for saving the crew of the dismasted schooner Clifton during a gale.

Capt. Hilton came to Vancouver in 1910 and went ashore. By 1912 he was back to sea running a small line of vessels to nearby coastal points. This became Harbor Navigation Co., Ltd., which he sold out in 1919.

During his period in coastwise shipping, he held the lease on the famed Wigwam Inn resort and was master of the Burrard Inlet floating post office, believed the first in Canada.

He returned to the sea with the Canadian government merchant marine, forerunner of Canadian National Steamships.

Capt. Hilton treasures most a gold-headed cane presented by the Montreal harbor board for bringing the first ship into that port after the ice breakup, April 25, 1920.

ticket for the Clock radio was drawn by Mrs. George Cochrane and the lucky winner was Mr. Herve Groulx, of Waterloo. The Necchi Sewing Machine, which last year was won by Mrs. Ruth Hastings of Cowansville, was the final drawing. Mrs. Hastings drew the ticket bearing the name of Mr. Dave Schaeffeld, of Waterloo. Mr. Schaeffeld himself was an active member of the Apprentice Club, and he received a big hand, when he won the machine.

Very satisfactory financial results were realized from this dance.

Youngest University President, 33

Fredericton.—At 33, Colin B. Mackay is the youngest university president in Canada. His appointment as head of the University of New Brunswick here became effective Sept. 1.

A barrister at Saint John, N.B., since 1949, specializing in corporate administration work, Mr. Mackay also has been a lecturer at the UNB law school in that city.

"We are convinced we have a good man," Premier Hugh John Flemming said after announcing the appointment. "We were looking for a young man and we got one. We were hoping we would find a graduate who could take the post, and we did."

U.N.B. GRADUATE The new president is the first UNB graduate to return in that position since Thomas Harrison's term from 1885 to 1906.

Colin Bridges Mackay, handsome lean and six-footer, has been a resident of Rothesay, nine miles from Saint John. He has an easy manner, gestures freely while speaking and, associates say, has an unusual capacity for work.

Popular socially and in business, he is one of New Brunswick's most eligible bachelors.

He has sidestepped questions about any intention of changing his bachelor status and whether he will live alone in the large mansion which Lord Beaverbrook, UNB benefactor, bought as the official home of UNB presidents.

Former fellow students recall here that fronts on the sea. Mr. Mackay joined the Royal Canadian Navy in the Second World War just before graduating from UNB and served as a lieutenant. He commanded a landing craft in the Normandy invasion, later was loaned to the Royal Navy as an executive officer and took part in British operations in the invasion of Malaya. After his naval service he studied law at the University of British Columbia.

He is a nephew of Hugh Mackay, former U.N.B. president and Progressive Conservative leader. His father, Colin Mackay, is president of a lumber company at Saint John. His grandfather, the late Dr. H. S. Bridges, was superintendent of schools in Saint John and later a classics professor at UNB. Coupled with his administrative work in corporation, the new UNB president has kept in close touch with educational developments.

He succeeds Dr. A. W. Trueman, who left the university to become chairman of the National Film Board.

France Gets Tough With Tax Dodgers London.—France, that enchanting, exasperating country, has taken a simple step that may prove of importance to the Western World.

She has started getting tough with tax dodgers.

A report from Paris told of steps taken by Premier Joseph Laniel's government to penalize wealthy Frenchmen who salt their francs away in foreign countries and blithely report no income.

Among the chief offenders are large industrialists, big business men, and the small "commerçants," the thousands of shopkeepers who regard invoices as something they can do without.

The tax situation has been accepted with fatalism and grim humor. But even so intrinsically rich a country as France can't go along indefinitely on such a posty-turvey system. The recent spontaneous strikes, which came at the worst possible time for the lucrative tourist industry, showed that. In part at least they were a protest against tax inequities.

This correspondent spent three weeks in France during and after the strikes. Everyone agreed that lack of social justice lies at the roots of the French problem.

A particularly forgettable figure was that of the fast-talking little postman in our district. He had been off work three weeks, without pay. He is at the twilight of his career, but makes only about $17 a week and sometimes goes without lunch on the job.

Each year, French postmen deliver a calendar along with the daily mail. In return, they usually get a small tip for the year's services. After the strike, the mailman was told by some of his more important clients not to bother calling with his calendar next year.

"They told me they'd lost millions because I didn't deliver their letters," he said angrily. "That hurt. Well, I just told them maybe the tax collector might be interested to hear about those millions!"

For the free world, the postman's significance lies in his country's key position. France is recognized widely as the sick man of Europe, the weak sister of the Western alliance. Plans for European defence hinge on France, and France is wavering.

Already Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's election victory in Germany has revived an old French nightmare—German hegemony in Europe. Herself politically unstable, her production dropping, France sees a stable, booming Germany bidding to be America's darling and Europe's most powerful force.

So the news from Paris about tax dodgers could be important. The French people as a whole are greatly superior to their politicians and with their growing birth-rate could still bound back to greatness.

Convention Of Richelieu Clubs Is Held Here

Americans are becoming more and more aware of other nations, Adolphe Robert, Manchester, N.H., business man, said Saturday at the annual meeting of Richelieu clubs.

He said this awareness represents a "new dawn" in Franco-American relations and is a confirmation of the work of the generations of French-speaking Canadians.

Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal deplored "ravages" caused by lack of faith and said Christians must live according to the word of God, not only in their conscience but also openly.

He said those who are too materialistic will have difficulty in knowing God. A materialistic society acted as if God did not exist and left itself open to Communism.

Police Seek Rustlers In Magog Area

Magog, Que.—Provincial police investigated a number of cases of cattle rustling in the Magog district, 20 miles southwest of Sherbrooke, Sunday night.

John Lavers, bailiff of Magog, said rustlers, using trucks, have stolen 15 cattle from district farms. Three calves were stolen last week from William Higginson's farm, one of them being slaughtered on the spot.

Mr. Lavers said some farmers believe the animals are stolen and slaughtered for shipment to the United States "by old prohibition and smuggling roads."

One farmer was reported to have hired an armed guard to watch his herd, while others have let their loose into the pastures at night.

Paratroops Raid Vietnam Base

Hanoi, Indo-China.—(AP)—The French high command today announced another daring paratroop raid on a big Vietminh supply base on the Chinese border. This time the target was Coc Lieu, 156 miles northwest of Hanoi, and the French said bitter fighting is under way.

It was the second such attack in 10 weeks on a major link in the Communist-Vietminh's supply line from Red China. The French on July 17 dropped 1,000 paratroopers who wrecked the Vietminh supply base at Langson, 8 miles northeast of Hanoi.

The surprise attack on Coc Lieu, directly across the Red river from Lao Kay, was launched early Saturday morning. The French said a small group of crack Viet Namese paratroops, probably 30 to 40 men, spearheaded the attack on Coc Lieu. They were backed up by "pro-French local elements," the announcement said.

Their targets were the thousands of tons of war equipment received by the rebels from the Chinese Reds in preparation for the Vietminh's autumn offensive.

Living Costs Index Is Higher Ottawa.—Living costs climbed again during August with the consumer price index jumping one-half a point to 116.2 from 115.7. Higher food prices provided the main propellant force. This was the fourth monthly increase in a row.

The index, based on 1949 prices equaling 100, now is just two points below the all-time high of 118.2 in December, 1951.

During August the price of many food items climbed, including pork, eggs, coffee, lard, bread and butter. Price declines showed for fresh vegetables, fruits and other meats.

Rents went up along with street-car fares, cost of magazines and automobile operations.

Air Racers Crash Off Burma Coast

Singapore.—(AP)—The RAF today picked up two Australian air racers whose souped-up Mosquito fighter-bombers crashed off the Burmese coast.

The pilot of the rescue plane radioed that the two men, Sqdn. Ldr. Aubrey (Titus) Oates and his navigator, Flt. Lt. Douglas Swaine, had only minor injuries.

They were slated to rest up for a day or two at Penang before returning to Australia.

The pair were rushing to London to enter the England-to-New Zealand air race later this week. They ran out of fuel and were forced to crash-land 40 miles south of Mergui.

Ruby Group Of Chalmers' Church Report Successful Sale At Richmond Meeting

Richmond, Oct. 5 — The regular Monthly Meeting of the Ruby Group of Chalmers' Church, was held in the church parlor on Tuesday evening with a good attendance.

In the absence of the captain, Mrs. C. R. Boast, Miss Edith McCourt, assistant captain, was in the Chair, and opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. Robert Hall gave a very interesting reading "Standards of Living and Standards of Life," which was much enjoyed. The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Miss McCourt in a few words spoke of the great loss the group had sustained in the death of one of its most active members, Mrs. Gordon Bush, who will be greatly missed. Mrs. Bush took a keen interest in the Group work, and was always ready to assist in any way. Sincere sympathy was extended to the family and relatives.

Sincere sympathy was expressed, also to Mr. and Mrs. John Cogan in the loss of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Pratte. In respectful and loving memory, a minute's silence was observed by the members for the deceased.

The Group members will take charge of the church decorations for the Anniversary Service.

The cheer convener, Miss Mc-

Court stated two hospital patients had been reported to Mrs. Harry Frazer W. A. convener, who is in charge of sending the boxes of fruit to the sick. Two deaths were reported to Mrs. W. J. Ewing, W. A. Card convener.

The hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. E. McArthur, Mrs. A. Norris, Mrs. William Boa, and Miss Edith McCourt.

Mrs. Mabel Blanchette reported that the sale held at her home September 16 was a decided success, the sum of $77.45 being realized. Mrs. Blanchette was in charge, with her committee, Mrs. D. W. Stevens, Mrs. John Cogan and Miss Edith McCourt, assisted by Mrs. R. Herman and Mrs. Roy Blanchette. The committee wish to thank all the members for their splendid donations. Miss McCourt, on behalf of the group, thanked Mrs. Blanchette for loaning her home for this event.

The C.G.I.T. meetings in the future will be held on Monday afternoons, instead of Tuesday, at the same hour, 4 o'clock. The treat was brought by Nancy Gleason. The meeting closed with laps.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.

—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smoothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Liquid Skin Sachet. Available in 3 famous fragrances: Chantilly, Quelques Fleurs, Le Parfum Ideal. Only $2.

SAVE TIME AND MONEY

on your NEW HOME with "SENSIBLE" TEN-TEST INSULATING SHEATHING

FOR ANY EXTERIOR FINISH BRICK, STUCCO or SIDING

It's good sense to use TEN-TEST Insulating Sheathing — Asphalt Coated both sides and edges to prevent moisture penetration — insulates efficiently and strengthens the walls in one application.

1. Save as much as one-third on application. Speedy installation lowers labor costs.
2. Save on waste by using all cut-off pieces with this modern sheathing! Large 4' x 8' and 4' x 9' panels, 3/8" thick, are economical, easy to handle.
3. Save on fuel through strong, draft-free construction. 1" of TEN-TEST is equal to 3" of solid lumber in fuel-saving value.
4. Save valuable time! All panels are white-ruled at 16" nailing centres, to go up fast in any kind of weather.
5. Save all worry! Sheath in the building now against Fall rain and Winter snow. Finish interior at leisure and exterior next spring.

S. H. L. A. Resume Business Meetings At Hospital

The regular monthly meeting of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary took place on Monday, September 28, at 2:30 p.m., in the conference room of the hospital with Mrs. K. C. F. Mills, president, in the chair. Thirty-six members were present, including Mrs. Ross Huntington and Mrs. Byron Lusk, newcomers to the Auxiliary.

Mrs. A. J. Morrison, treasurer, reported a very satisfactory bank balance, and as it was noted that both the hospital and the nurses' home were badly in need of linen, it was moved by Mrs. Don Watson and seconded by Mrs. Nancy Day, that the Auxiliary buy all the linen required, amounting to $123.16.

Mrs. William Hughes, cafeteria convener, reported a profit of $830 from this project and stated that inasmuch as attendance was down 10,000 in comparison with last year, results were very satisfactory. She also thanked her committee for their untiring efforts in making the cafeteria a success.

Mrs. Harold LeDuc, in the absence of Mrs. H. C. Allnutt, in memoriam convener, said donations to the fund totaled $86, including a contribution to the Medi-Kar from Mrs. G. T. Armstrong. Members were asked to inform their husbands of the fund as it is quite possible business firms might be interested.

Mrs. W. E. Hume, organizing secretary of "nurses' recreation," reported a party had been given recently for the nurses at the home of Mrs. Bruce Fletcher, Jr., and the Lennoxville Wing is arranging a party for them in the near future.

The Lennoxville Wing announced a telephone bridge would be held Wednesday, October 14. Those interested in playing are asked to get in touch with Mrs. J. R. Moon-ey.

The president stated that due to the stock of gifts in the hospital shop being very low, a tea party is to be held at the residence of Mrs. Colin Campbell, Queen Boulevard north, on Wednesday, October 21, from 3:00 to 6:00 p.m. The admission will be a gift for the shop. Mrs. Lorne Campbell will convene this event.

Mrs. Mills announced nominations would take place at the next meeting, October 26, with Mrs. Colin Campbell, Mrs. Roy Wisgett and Mrs. Fraser Armstrong in charge.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned and tea was served, the hostesses being Mrs. Alex Allard, Mrs. H. Allard, Mrs. G. T. Armstrong and Mrs. Fraser Armstrong.

Members of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid were entertained for their meeting on Wednesday afternoon, September 30, at the home of Mrs. C. A. Turner, Victoria Street. The largely attended meeting, was opened by Mrs. E. A. Johnston, president, with a short devotional period. The treasurer's report consisted of "movies and music," held on September 29, was most successful. Members were reminded of the market, Friday morning, October 9. It was announced the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Dunsmore on Wednesday, October 14. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction and refreshments were served by the hostess, during the social hour which followed. Mrs. Charles Ross and Mrs. Lewis Dunsmore assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Olivier and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Villemare entertained recently at a buffet supper at the former's residence in St. Lambert, in honor of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Morin, of Montreal, formerly of Sherbrooke.

The guests included relatives from Florida, Ste. Rose, Montreal, Granby and Sherbrooke, and telegrams, letters and cards were received from those who were unable to attend.

The toast to the bride and groom of twenty-five years ago, proposed by Rev. Father Simeard, an intimate friend of Mr. and Mrs. Morin, was followed by the presentation of a purse of silver dollars by the daughter, Mrs. Villemare, on behalf of the friends.

Mr. Morin responded to the toast and extended thanks to the past and the present of the delightful celebration of their silver wedding, by their presence and their gift, and congratulated them on their arduous and successful keeping the event a complete surprise.

Grace Church W. A. Group B. Of Sutton Planned Events For That Society

Sutton, Oct. 3 — The September meeting of Group B. of the W. A. of Grace Church, met on Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Alfred Lengacher, Sr., with an attendance of eleven.

The president, Mrs. Herbert Charters presided over the meeting and read a letter concerning the Deacons meeting to be held in Knowlton, on October 15.

A message was read from Mrs. Keeffe thanking the group for the card sent at the time of their new daughter's birth. The secretary, Mrs. Guy Chamberlin, read the minutes of the last meeting which were accepted.

Rev. Mr. Keeffe told the members of a combined church meeting, which will be held in Waterloo on Sunday, November 1st, for all of the Anglican churches in the district. The guest speaker will be Bishop Wilkinson, of the Diocese of Amritsar, in Pakistan, and a combined choir from all the churches will lead the singing. As Bishop Wilkinson will be here for a short time only, the combined service has been planned to allow as many as possible the privilege of hearing his message.

There followed a discussion of future activities after which the meeting was brought to a close, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, who was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Lengacher, Jr., and by her daughter, Miss Ruth Lengacher of Montreal.

It is easier to teach a child good table manners when he is small than to try to get him to discard poor table manners when he is older. The child who is old enough to sit in a regular chair at the dining room table is old enough to be taught good table manners.

If you are ashamed of your child's table manners when you take him out—perhaps you should have been ashamed of them at home.

MARRIAGES

ROWELL - PERKINS FLYNN - BRONSON

Derby Line, Vt., Oct. 5 — The Universalist church at Derby Line, Vt., was the scene of a pretty double wedding which took place at 3 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, September 26, when Audrey Etta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Perkins, of Derby Line was united in marriage to Robert Lee Rowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Natt L. Rowell, of Newport, Vt., and Betty Lou Bronson, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Perkins, and daughter of Mrs. Verian Cloud, of Barre, Vt., was married to Mr. Wayne Taylor Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Flynn of Morgan Centre, Vt. Rev. Carl Nelson officiated at the double ring ceremonies and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Gordon Patton. Mr. Lawrence Wheeler, sang "Because" and "Always" during the signing of the register. Gladioli and white candles were used to decorate and the guest lists were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Perkins, given away by her father, was in a gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with a full floor length skirt of double tulle, accented with scalloped panels of lace, over a white tulle bodice of lace fastening up the back with satin covered buttons, having a Mandarin collar and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. Her fingertip veil of imported tulle illusion was caught to a sweetheart-shaped cap of rose point lace trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a satin and lace covered Bible decorated with poms and satin streamers knotted with lily of the valley.

Miss Bronson was escorted by her uncle, Mr. Hubert Perkins, up the aisle to the pulpit, where she was given away by her grandfather, Mr. Eugene Perkins. She wore a strapless floor length gown, designed with a bodice of Chantilly lace, edged with pleated tulle across the top with a bolero of matching lace having a Mandarin collar and long sleeves ending in points over the hands and a full skirt of tulle over taffeta. Her veil of tulle illusion fell from a bonnet of lace and pleated tulle with clusters of orange blossoms at each side and she carried a decorated white Bible.

Miss Doris Adams of Montpelier, Vt., as maid of honor for Miss Perkins, was in a waltz length gown of orchid lace and nylon tulle, styled with a double skirt of lace, fashioned with a full skirt of net over taffeta, the fitted bodice of lace with net inserts being topped with a jacket of lace having a Peter Pan collar and cap sleeves. She wore matching net gauntlets and a lace picture hat, and carried a Colonial bouquet of poms.

Mrs. Earl Sykes, of Beebe, as matron of honor for Miss Bronson, was in a floor length gown of apple green nylon net and lace, fashioned with a full skirt of net over taffeta, the strapless bodice of lace being worn with a lace bolero, having a Peter Pan collar and cap sleeves. She wore matching gloves and a picture hat and carried a Colonial bouquet of poms.

Little Miss Sheila Rae Petelle, niece and cousin of the brides, who was observing her fifth birthday, was flower girl. She wore a Cinderella frock of yellow organdy over yellow, flecked with white blossoms, a flower trimmed cap and she carried a basket of autumn flowers.

Mr. James Rowell and Mr. Lyman Flynn were best men for their brothers, and ushers were Mr. Roy Petelle, Mr. Urban Flynn and Mr. Donald Arnold.

Mrs. Perkins, mother and grandmother of the brides was attired in a frock of orchid nylon acetate with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Cloud, mother of Miss Bronson was in a gown of navy blue crepe and she wore a navy picture hat and accessories and a red rose corsage.

Mrs. Rowell, in a frock of navy blue crepe, wore navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Flynn was in taupe nylon acetate with which she wore black accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

The reception, attended by one hundred and twenty-five relatives and friends was held immediately following the ceremony in the Derby Line village hall, where white wedding bells and garlands were used to decorate. The brides' table was attractively arranged with a white linen cloth centered with two wedding cakes, placed on either side of a bowl of autumn flowers. The cakes decorated in white and silver and topped with a miniature bride and groom, were flanked by white tapers in crystal holders.

Punch was served by Miss Mary Holland of Montpelier, Mrs. Roy Petelle of Derby Line and Miss

Mrs. Perkins, mother and grandmother of the brides was attired in a frock of orchid nylon acetate with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Cloud, mother of Miss Bronson was in a gown of navy blue crepe and she wore a navy picture hat and accessories and a red rose corsage.

Mrs. Rowell, in a frock of navy blue crepe, wore navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Flynn was in taupe nylon acetate with which she wore black accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

The reception, attended by one hundred and twenty-five relatives and friends was held immediately following the ceremony in the Derby Line village hall, where white wedding bells and garlands were used to decorate. The brides' table was attractively arranged with a white linen cloth centered with two wedding cakes, placed on either side of a bowl of autumn flowers. The cakes decorated in white and silver and topped with a miniature bride and groom, were flanked by white tapers in crystal holders.

Punch was served by Miss Mary Holland of Montpelier, Mrs. Roy Petelle of Derby Line and Miss

OBITUARIES

MRS. CLINTON L. SWEET OF FULFORD

Fulford, Oct. 5 — The funeral of Mrs. Mildred G. Sweet was largely attended. Upwards of thirty cars were in the procession from the home of her cousin, Mrs. Lucia Fessenden, on September 22, at 2:30 p.m., to Holy Trinity Church, at Iron Hill, where a large number of relatives and friends had gathered to pay their tribute of love and respect to the deceased who had been a life long resident of that vicinity.

She was the only surviving daughter of the late Alva W. Beard and his wife, Ellen Moffat, and widow of the late Clinton L. Sweet, who died in April 1942. She is survived by a brother-in-law, Mr. Howard Partch, of Grimshaw, Alta., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Delmer Hadlock, of Iron Hills; one uncle, Mr. Frank Estes, of Ashland, N.H.

Her death occurred on September 19, in the Montreal General Hospital, where she had been a patient for two weeks as the result of a head haemorrhage. Mrs. Sweet had resided with her cousin, Mrs. Fessenden, for the last six and a half years and had made many warm friends in this neighborhood, who will miss her presence and cheerful smile. She was a real Christian and a faithful friend.

Rev. E. F. Macklin, of Mansville, and formerly of Iron Hill, conducted the services at the home and in the Church. Rev. David Dean, of Danville, assisted by prayer in the home and reading the scripture at the Church. Mrs. Charles Sparke sang, "In The Garden," as a solo and the choir sang three other favorite hymns of the deceased.

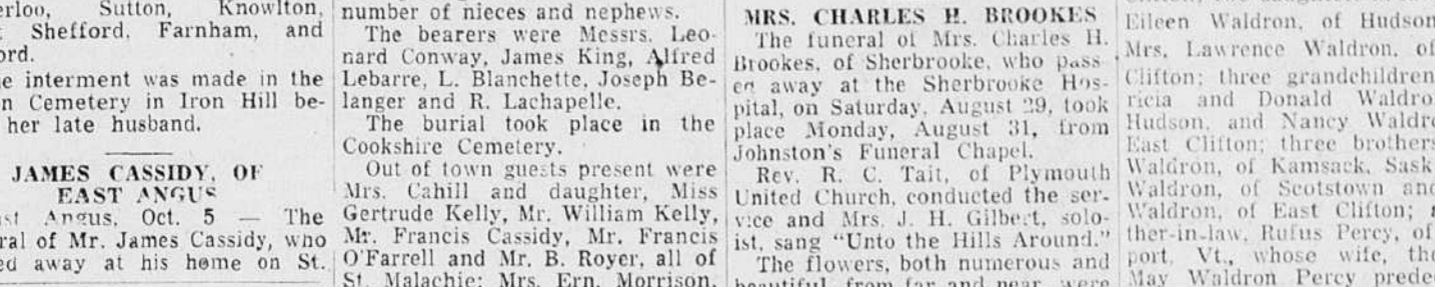

The church was filled even to standing room and the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The pall bearers were six nephews of her late husband, Messrs. Herman, Wilfrid, Lynford, Jackson and Garth Hadlock, and Mr. Gordon Swift.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Hartley Sawyer, Mr. William Sawyer and Mr. Randall Sawyer, Mrs. Winnie Danaher and Mr. Robert Danaher, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Beard and Miss Lucia Hadlock, of Montreal;

JAMES CASSIDY, OF EAST ANGLIS
East Anglis, Oct. 5 — The funeral of Mr. James Cassidy, who passed away at his home on St.

Jean Street, East Anglis, on Monday, August 24th, was held from St. Lewis Church, on Thursday, August 27th. He was in his 82 year. Before his retirement, he was employed by the Brompton Pulp and Paper Co., for many years. Mr. William Kelly, of Cowansville, and Messrs. Floyd Morrison, Robbie Goodhue and Howard Gilbert. Interment was made in Riverside Cemetery.

He leaves to mourn his loss besides his wife, nee Ruby Strange, a young son, Ronald; his mother, Mrs. Allen, and three brothers; two sisters predeceased him some time ago. Sympathy is extended to the family.

MRS. CHARLES H. BROOKES
The funeral of Mrs. Charles H. Brookes, of Sherbrooke, who passed away at the Sherbrooke Hospital, on Saturday, August 29, took place Monday, August 31, from Johnston's Funeral Chapel.

Rev. R. C. Tait, of Plymouth United Church, conducted the service and Mrs. H. H. Gilbert, soloist, sang "Unto the Hills Around." The flowers, both numerous and beautiful, from far and near, were silent tokens of esteem. Mrs. Brookes, nee Hattie Johns, daughter of the late John Johns and Harriet Frances Doyle, was born in Michigan, July 20, 1887, and came to Albert Mines as an infant and had spent all her years in the vicinity. She was a most devoted wife and mother and highly regarded for her generosity and warm friendliness.

She is survived by her husband, Charles H. Brookes, retired Q.C.R. employee; a daughter, Evelyn, Mrs. Ross Andrews, of Shawinigan Falls, and son-in-law, Mr. Ross Andrews; three brothers, Wallace Johns, Edward Johns and Stanley Johns, all of Sherbrooke, and several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by a daughter, Dorothy, and two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Wright, Gladys, and Mrs. Fred Humphrey, Eliza, also a brother, Richard O. Johns.

The bearers were Messrs. George Coombs, Lawrence Coogan, Frank Eastman, William Pettes, Ernest Sheldon and Ernest Simpson. Interment was made in the family plot in Malvern Cemetery, Lennoxville.

Those attending from out of town, were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Andrews, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. McCharles, Mrs. William Miller and Mr. Graydon Johns, of Three Rivers.

GUY BENJAMIN WALDRON, OF SAWYERVILLE
In the late afternoon on Monday, August 31, Guy Benjamin Waldron, a much respected citizen passed away at his home in Sawyerville, after a few hours illness. Although the deceased had been enjoying good health for years, it was a great shock to his relatives and friends, for apparently he had seemed to be as well as usual.

Guy Benjamin Waldron was the second eldest of a family of five, of the late Newell Waldron and Viola Waters Waldron, and was born in East Clifton on September 6, 1885, and spent most of his life there, until due to ill health he gave up farming and moved to Sawyerville on November 12, 1948.

On June 2, 1909, he was married to Alice M. Gallagher, at her parents' home in High Forest. To this union, there were born four children, Kenneth Guy, born March 24, 1910, deceased September 20, 1945; Walter Newell, born September 20, 1919, deceased March 28, 1931; and two are surviving, Miss Edeline M. Waldron and Mr. Lawrence R. Waldron.

Guy, as he was familiarly known among his friends was a home loving man, a kind husband, a devoted father, and a good neighbor. During his life spent in East Clifton, he served on the municipal council, the school board, and was a trustee of the United Church, of which he was an honorary member at the time of his death.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, September 3, with prayers being said at his late residence, at two o'clock. The large procession proceeded to the United Church at East Clifton, under the direction of Mr. T. C. French, of Sawyerville, at 2:30 p.m., where Rev. R. A. Cameron, pastor of the United Church, delivered a very inspiring sermon, speaking comforting and encouraging words to the bereaved family.

Favorite hymns of the family, "Abide With Me," "Breathe On Me Breath of God," were beautifully rendered by the Sawyerville choir, with Mrs. James Towers, the East Clifton organist, officiating. The bearers were Messrs. James W. Parkinson, Norman Bain, Phil McClellan and Victor Bell, of East Clifton; and Manly Silver-son, and Ivan Kerr, of Sawyerville. The casket was covered with flowers, and many wreaths, sprays and cut flowers, besides donations which were placed in the East Clifton Cemetery fund, in his memory.

After the service the cortege wended its way to the East Clifton Cemetery for burial.

The deceased is survived by his wife; a daughter, Miss Edeline M. Waldron, of Lennoxville; a son, Mr. Lawrence R. Waldron, of East Clifton; two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Edleen Waldron, of Hudson, and Mrs. Lawrence Waldron, of East Clifton; three grandchildren, Patricia and Donald Waldron, of Hudson, and Nancy Waldron, of East Clifton; three brothers, Lee Waldron, of Kamauk, Sask.; Roy Waldron, of Stouffville, and Ray Waldron, of East Clifton; a brother-in-law, Rufus Percy, of Newport, Vt., whose wife, the late May Waldron Percy predeceased him in 1931; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Roy Waldron, of Stouffville, and Mrs. Ray Waldron, of East Clifton; an aged aunt, Mrs. Edna McVetty, of High Forest; an aged uncle, Mr. Judson H. Waldron, of East Clifton; nephews, nieces, cousins and friends who have the sympathy of the community.

Saints Impress With 4-2 Victory Over Buffalo Bisons

Locals Overcome Two-Goal Deficit With Markers By Tremblay, Forbes, Ehman And Bruneteau In Exhibition

Playing coach John "Jake" Forbes and his Sherbrooke Saints ushered in the local puck-chasing season on a winning note at the arena yesterday afternoon with a 4-2 exhibition decision over the American Hockey League Bisons from Buffalo, N.Y.

Forbes led a classy-looking combination of youth and veterans who overcame a two-goal deficit at the nine-minute mark of the second period and scored two more in the final frame to send 1,628 paying customers home happy.

Young Dave Gatherum was between the pipes for Sherbrooke in the first period and a half and Bisons scored both their goals on him, two screened shots. Veteran Gerry Cotnoir took over as local custodian halfway through the middle period and blanked the visitors from then on as Saints took command of the play and added the winning and insurance markers.

Veteran center Nils Tremblay led the local scoring parade with a goal and an assist. Other Sherbrooke scorers were Coach Forbes, Gerry Ehman and Ed Bruneteau while Erwin Grosse assisted on two goals.

Pierre Pilote and playing-coach Frank Eddols tallied for Buffalo. The 70-game schedule of the Q.H.L., newly-formed professional circuit opens October 10 at Ottawa where Senators are at home to Eddie Shore's Indians from Springfield, Mass., the only new entry in the League which was formerly known as the Q.S.H.L. Saints play their first game October 11 at Valleyfield and open the season in Sherbrooke October 22 against Shawinigan Falls. No further exhibitions are scheduled for the locals.

Pilote drew first blood for Buffalo half way through the slow first period when he beat Gatherum with a shot from just inside the blue line through a maze of legs. Eddols made it 2-0 for the visitors at the four-minute mark of the middle cant on a similar, but Tremblay reduced the margin with a goal only thirty seconds later.

Coach Forbes, who really looks as if he knows what to do with the puck when he gets it at his decisive spot, put Saints into a 2-2 tie at nine minutes of the second when he teamed up with Grosse and Tremblay to beat Jacques Plante.

Action speeded up in the second and third periods and most of the time players of both sides were showing mid-season form. In the final two periods Sherbrooke outplayed Buffalo, whose roster is studded with former N.H.L. names such as Eddols, Dick Gamble, Ed Slowinski, Steve Woolchy, Johnny McCormack and Paul Masniek.

Ehman scored Sherbrooke's winning goal at 12 minutes of the third frame on a play with Roger Roberge and Bert Giesebrecht, during a defensive lapse by Bisons.

The final goal of the game came about on the nearest play of the contest. Moe Irving broke away from the Sherbrooke blue line and sped to the Buffalo goal, outmaneuvered Plante and passed to Ed Bruneteau who backhanded the puck home.

Sherbrooke was without Gilles Dube and Tod Campeau who were playing in the All-Star game at Chicoutimi yesterday afternoon. Rather than break up his other front units, Forbes used their linemate Moe McLean as a utility forward, along with Joe Malo, latest addition to the local squad.

Bert Giesebrecht and Ehman and Bruneteau on one line yesterday, Tremblay was between Grosse and Bobby Brown while Irving pivoted Nelly Podolsky and Ed Stankiewicz.

Stankiewicz was the hard luck player for Saints yesterday. Brilliant play by Plante robbed him of goals on at least three occasions. With a little luck, this newcomer, judging by his performance against Bisons, should be up among the scoring leaders in the League.

Forbes had four defencemen, including himself, for yesterday's tilt because rearguard Al Treen is out with a heavy cold. Eddy Palamar is a hard-playing defenceman who hit former local Pete Wright on one body-checking occasion, that Wright will remember for a spell. Red Bowness, another new defenceman, looks like a ready customer behind the local blue line.

Both Gatherum and Cotnoir looked good in goal yesterday and Forbes faces a dilemma in choosing his goalkeeper from game to game if they keep up their fine work. Nels Podolsky turned in an aggressive game from his left wing slot.

Bruneteau was coach last year of Milwaukee Chiefs of the international League and Irving played for him. The latter tells us that Milwaukee is a good sports town only for a winning team. He feels that the baseball Braves wouldn't have had their record attendance if they had a second division club.

Apart from the fact that there weren't any programs for yesterday's game, that the press box was unuseable from because of a barricade which obliterated the view of one goal, forcing the sports writers to sit elsewhere, an accomplishment after some delay, and that the time clock wasn't working, Sunday was a good day at the Arena.

Lineups: Buffalo: Goal, Plante; defence, Wright and Pilote; center, McCormack; wings, Woolchy and Gamble; alternates: Eddols, Clune, Slowinski, Marshall, Lund, Edmunston, Rousseau, Anderson, Kowalchuck, Hayden, Masniek, Sullivan and Taylor.

Sherbrooke: Goal, Gatherum and Cotnoir; defence, Roberge and Palamar; center, Giesebrecht; wings, Ehman and Bruneteau; alternates: Forbes, Bowness, McLean, Irving, Stankiewicz, Podolsky, Tremblay, Brown, Malo and Grosse.

Referee: Ken Mullins; linesmen: Whitehead and Haggarty.

Bulldogs Trim Ottawa Seconds

Montreal—(P)—Verdun Bulldogs romped home to a 32-6 victory over Ottawa Seconds Sunday in a Quebec Rugby Football Union game.

Ottawa's Bob St. Jacques sprinted 56 yards for a touchdown three minutes after start of play.

Scotch Victory Wins Walnut Cup

Lexington, Ky. —(P)—Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N.S. drove Scotch Victory to split hat victory in the 55th renewal of the traditional Walnut Cup at the Lexington trots Saturday.

Owned by Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif., Scotch Victory won the first and third heats, Katie Key, from Riverhead, N.Y., won the second to force a two-horse raceoff.

Chuck Paul converted to give the Seconds a 6-0 lead.

Shortly after Ivan Livingston of the Bulldogs ran 50 yards for a touchdown, converted by Eddie McCloud. Then Doug Adrian kicked a single from Ottawa's 45-yard line to give the Bulldogs a 7-6 edge at the end of the first quarter.

Verdun made it 19-6 at half time as Danny Johnson and Mickey Maguire each scored a touchdown. Both were converted by McCloud.

Bob Swail scored an unconverted major early in the third, and Hank Middleton caught Chuck Paul behind the touchline for a safety touch.

The Bulldogs got another single by Adrian, and a touchdown by Danny Johnson in the last quarter.

The inclement weather forced the officials to cancel yesterday's program at the local race track but on Saturday evening the weather was perfect, the pari mutuels paid well and the times were good.

The top price on Saturday was $96.15 when those who picked the daily-double made a good $2 investment. Prince Dillon Brooke, owned by Fabi and Eils, Ltd., Sherbrooke and driven by L. Pelletier, won the first race and Tiger Hum, owned and driven by Eric Leblanc, of Malartic, Que., caused the upset by winning the second race.

The quinnellas paid well also. They paid $43.15, $37.50, $38.25, and $37.20.

Direct Harvester, owned and driven by Armande Beaudoin, of Bulwer, Que., was a double winner.

Pay Mac was another double winner. He was driven by his owner L. R. Huckins, of Derby Line, Vt.

Following are the results:

FIRST RACE

Louis Praught Is Injured At Track

Louis Praught, 52-year-old local sulky driver, was injured on Saturday night at the local race track.

Praught, a well-known performer, was driving Maryland Port in the sixth race when the horse apparently stumbled and fell, throwing the driver head-first to the ground.

He suffered lacerations and bruises. After being treated at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital he was able to go home.

Who Flashed Mirror In Fifth Game?

Brooklyn. —(AP)—The fifth game of the 1954 world series Sunday produced a baffling baseball mystery.

Who flashed the mirror from the apartment building on Bedford avenue into the eyes of New York Yankee and Brooklyn Dodger batters?

"Somebody had it in a window about on the third floor," said Yankee manager Casey Stengel.

"He always came up with it when a guy was swinging. It looked like a big mirror. He was doing it to both teams."

At one point play was held up while the umpires huddled. The right field fence of Ebbets Field borders Bedford avenue. The apartments are about 500 feet from home plate.

The feeling in the Yankees' dressing room seemed to be universal that the pivot game of the series had been won.

"Pretty good," Stengel muttered. Several of the players smiled and as the door was closed for the customary five-minute "cooling" period a few mild shouts were actually heard outside.

Stengel settled down to a happy rambling discussion of the game.

"First day we've hit," he said. "Jim McDonald did a real good job. He fielded his position good, and saved us some trouble. Allie Reynolds had good stuff. Maybe he'll come in handy tomorrow or the next day."

Mickey Mantle, the grand slam hero of the day, displayed a red bruise on his left thigh where he was hit by a line drive from the bat of Irv Noren during batting practice. The ball also bruised the knuckles of his left hand. For a few moments before the game started there was a question if he would play.

Mickey said he hit "a belt high curve" for the big smash in the third that wrecked the Dodgers' hopes—"the same kind of ball they were throwing me the other day."

Canadiens Win Over Frontenacs

Quebec. —(CP)—Montreal Canadiens edged Quebec Frontenacs 4-3 Sunday in an exhibition game between the National Hockey League and the Quebec Junior Hockey League clubs.

Canadiens came from behind late in the third period with Paul Fournier, a Frontenac regular, tying the score 3-3, and Floyd Curry, Canadiens winger, scoring the winning goal on a pass from teammate Bruce Moore.

Elmer Lach and Boom Boom Geoffrion assisted on defenceman Fournier's marker, a blueline shot deflected in off goalie Jacques Marcotte's shoulder.

After a scoreless first period, the teams traded two goals each. Mosdell scored on a 30-footer on a pass from Calum Mackay in the second minute of play, but Denis Boucher tied it up minutes later on passes from Guy Rousseau and D. Topall. Boucher, Rousseau and Topall were on loan from junior Canadiens.

skilled Jim McFadden added two more in the middle stanza.

Ludger Tremblay, Ray Kelly and Michel Labadie scored for the Aces in the second while Brown ended the scoring late in the final frame.

Chicoutimi Downs All-Stars 6-5 Despite Litzenberger's 3 Goals

By LEN O'DONNELL
Chicoutimi, Que. — Roland Hebert's Saguenays of Chicoutimi downed the All-Star aggregation of the Quebec Hockey League 6-5 in a wide-open scoring fixture here Sunday afternoon before 2,525 fans.

Ed Litzenberger, rangy winger from the Montreal Royals, paced the goal-getters with a hat-trick while Georges Bougie and J. G. Talbot accounted for the others. For the home club Stan Smrke, Tkachuk, Buchanan, Norm Dussault, Leger and J. P. Lamirande were the marksmen.

The Sags moved to the fore in the first period right after the first minute of play when Tkachuk rifled home the disc on a breakaway. Just before the end of the period Stan Smrke made it 2-0 for the Hebert club. In the second period Buchanan put the Sags further ahead when he teamed up with Stan Smrke to beat Hughes from close range.

Ed Litzenberger came to the fore with two quick goals on a nice passing play with his linemates to put the All-Stars within halting distance. Just after the halfway mark Talbot, the Aces' fast-breaking rearguard, knotted the count but a couple of minutes later Normie Dussault put the home club ahead once again.

In the final frame it was a wide-open fast-acting affair with both clubs going all out. Bougie broke away and evened the count at 4-4 but a few minutes later Leger put the Sags ahead again. Andre Corriveau got in the clear twice but failed each time in close.

Big Ed Litzenberger set up the final goal for the All-Stars when he broke away and after some nice passing with Corriveau and Desaulniers tipped the disc by Hughes. It was one of the nicest plays of the game.

Johnny Marois was called upon to stop a couple from close quarters and came up with some nice saves. Johnny Moore was the kingpin in the winning tally when he got away with J. P. Lamirande and the chunky rearguard rifled a hard screened shot to beat Marois. The Aces' netminder had a chance on the drive as his defense backed right in on him.

Dube and Campeau teamed up with Cliff Malone as one line and although they failed to tally they had several good opportunities but the quick work of Phil Hughes saved the situation.

Hughes handled 30 shots while Marois handled 26 for the All-Stars.

Chicoutimi: Hughes, Claude, Taillefer, Levesque, Lamirande, Buchanan, Perreault, Moore, S. Smrke, Franche, Crawford, Dussault, Groleau, Tkachuk.

All-Stars: Marois, Leger, Roy, Desaulniers, Talbot, Bougie, Malone, Deslauriers, Litzenberger, Tremblay, Corriveau, Campeau, Dube, Kuntz.

Jean Beliveau Finally Makes Up His Mind And Signs With Canadiens

Montreal — (P)—Big Jean Beliveau, hockey's prize rookie who exudes personality and color, finally made up his mind Saturday and came into the fold of Montreal Canadiens.

The 22-year-old centre-ice star signed a five-year contract. The figure wasn't disclosed, but managing director Frank Selke, beaming happily, said "it is the highest contract ever given any player—highest by a city block."

Speculation over the amount written into the contract was rife, as high as six figures for the five-year span.

The final conference of many during the last three years lasted three hours. It can safely be deduced that, regardless of the amount offered finally by the Canadian's management, Big Jean was doing some close figuring on his take-home pay after income taxes.

At the conference were an income tax specialist and a financial adviser, in Beliveau's behalf, from a trust company.

After the talks had gone on for two hours, Selke came from his office leaving Beliveau to confer alone with the men of finance. At that stage the chances of Beliveau signing appeared 50-50.

"Honestly don't know right now what he will do," said Selke. Then he was summoned back to the conference.

A few minutes later he popped out again and was seen to take blank contracts from his secretary, then hustled back to the meeting. Out he came once more, at 1:15 p.m., and told waiting newspaper men and photographers:

"Well, you haven't waited in vain." All crowded into the office and Beliveau promptly affixed his signature.

Seven and a half hours later he was on the forum ice, playing with the world champion Canadiens against the National Hockey League All-Stars. He failed to score himself but assisted on Canadiens' one goal, against three for the All-Stars, played a smart game and never looked out of place among hockey's classiest performers.

Canadiens have kept tab on Beliveau since he played junior hockey in his native Victoriaville, Que. After he moved along to Quebec City's junior Citadelles and continued starring, Canadiens signed him to hockey's "B form." Under this Beliveau agreed to play with Canadiens whenever he turned professional.

He turned down tempting offers from the NHL club, moving up to Quebec's Senior Aces for two seasons after two years with Citadelles. Despite the so-called amateur status of the junior and senior leagues, Beliveau was collecting fat salaries for playing and, as the idol of Quebec fans, was the recipient of many gifts, including a car.

crashing the time barrier

In 1901, two women teachers published correspondence revealing that by some strange alchemy, they had walked back through time to Versailles's Trianon Gardens in the days of Marie Antoinette. Readers scoffed, but the Journal of the Society for Psychic Research now reveals new evidence to throw a baffling light on the business.

An Architect named Antoine Richard submitted plans in 1774 for some new buildings in the Gardens, but they were rejected. Now unearthed, the plans couldn't have been known to the two teachers. Yet their letters describe in detail what the plans proposed.

Going back in time is a favourite device of more than one writer. John Balderston has Peter Standish, hero of "Berkeley Square", go back to the England of 1786. Standish didn't care for 18th Century table manners but did approve of its ale.

In the latter respect, he wasn't alone. John Molson who started his Brewery that same year had learned the ale brewing trade in England. He felt sure that anything as good as the ale he could make would create a demand for itself elsewhere.

John Molson was right. What existed only in his mind 167 years ago has since grown far beyond anything he might have imagined. Today that ancient formula, applied with the most modern methods, has made Molson's Ale the largest selling ale in Canada. Nothing baffling about that to those who say "Make Mine Molson's".

Two Top Grid Teams In Trouble

New York — (P)—The upper crust of college football scored expected victories Saturday but Oklahoma and Georgia Tech, two of the schools expected to set off fireworks before the start of the season, ran into trouble.

Oklahoma, rated eighth in the first Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers and sportscasters despite its opening loss to Notre Dame, could do no better than a 7-7 standoff with Pitt.

Georgia Tech, tied last week by Florida, squeaked through to a 8-4 victory over Southern Methodist.

But Notre Dame, Michigan State, Maryland, Michigan and UCLA, the top five in that order, all triumphed.

Black Hawks Trim Ottawa Senators

Quebec. — (P)—Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League edged Quebec Aces of the Quebec League 5-4 in a rough exhibition game here Sunday night.

The contest was marked by a first-fight involving four players less than two minutes before the end of the game. After tempers cooled off, referee Bill Chadwick handed Black Hawks' Gus Morton two majors and a 10-minute misconduct, and Larry Zeidel a major and a 10-minute misconduct. Adam Brown and Rags Raglan of Quebec each drew a major.

Chicago jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first period on goals by Doc Couture, George Gee and veteran Bill Mosienko. Lou Jankowski and Jim McFadden added two more in the middle stanza.

Ludger Tremblay, Ray Kelly and Michel Labadie scored for the Aces in the second while Brown ended the scoring late in the final frame.

Expected To Be Erskine Vs. Ford Today At Yankee Stadium

Yankees Need Only One More Victory To Clinch Title For Casey Stengel

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York — (AP) — It's almost a sure thing these days that the two world series teams will play themselves one awful game along about midway, the shortage of really good pitchers being what it is.

The Yankees and Dodgers turned their own park in the Bronx, with their crack young left-hander, Whitey Ford, on the mound. The Dodgers were relying on their new world series strikeout king, Carl Erskine.

Considering his brilliant exploit of only three days ago, when he fanned 14 Yankees and beat them by 3-2 on Roy Campanella's eighth inning homer, Erskine looked like a good bet to tie the playoff at 3-3 and send it into its seventh and binding game Tuesday. Charlie Dressen, the Brooklyn manager, was ready to shoot the works.

"If he's needed, Preacher Roe will be ready to relieve," he said Sunday night. "I would like to save him to start the seventh game, but I won't be saving anybody when these games are playing out the way they are now."

Ford lasted only one inning when he started for the fourth game at Ebbets Field. The Dodgers climbed aboard him for three runs in a righthanded batting barrage in the first inning.

Dressen had his righthanded explosive planted again yesterday, with Jackie Robinson hitting third and Roy Campanella fourth. Duke Snider, left-handed hitting jewel, was down in the sixth slot, below Gil Hodges.

The one thing to be hoped was that the sixth game would not degenerate into such a hitting shambles as in Sunday's late innings. Six were hit in all, the early ones pretty exciting, but there is some doubt that any one of them would have been a home run in the larger Yankee Stadium. The guess here is that five would have been long outs at the stadium and that Mickey Mantle's grand slammer in the third inning would have been a triple over Jackie Robinson's head.

It was a sloppy contest. Each club made six earned runs. The Yankees scored five times in the third inning after they should have been out and Johnny Podres, the juvenile who started for the Dodgers, should have been out of trouble.

With two Yanks away, Podres got Collins, the first-baseman to slap a ball sharply down the right line. Gil Hodges muffed it beautifully, letting a run across. This appeared to ruffle the Dodger pitcher. He proceeded to hit the next batter and then walk the bases full.

That brought in Russ Meyer, who had been warming up since the game began. The bases were loaded. Mantle was at bat. Meyer came in overhand with his first pitch. Mantle, who had been hit on his throwing hand and sorely hurt in pre-game batting practice, knocked it into the upperdeck in left field. That made the score 5-1.

By the end of the seventh inning, the Yanks were leading 9-2, partly on the strength of Billy Martin's two-run homer in that chapter. They were 10-2 by the time the Dodgers finally laid into Jim McDonald for four runs in the last of the eighth, mainly Billy Cox's three-run, line drive homer just over the left barrier.

In the last of the ninth, Junior Gilliam led it off with a homer over the left railing, leaving the Dodgers only four duns down. Pee Wee Reese fled out to left, but Snider punched a single to right.

That brought Casey Stengel out from the bench waving toward the Yankee bullpen. In came Allie Reynolds to pitch to Jackie Robinson, and two more Yank pitchers promptly began warming up.

The Chief missed a couple outside, and then came in with one outpou hfehCeI edT -amsoule that Robby smashed viciously toward Billy Martin at second. Billy grabbed the ball and tossed to Phil Rizzuto to start a double play to end the game.

WORLD SERIES NOTES

New York — (AP) — Johnny Mize reiterated his decision to retire after the series today. "Guess I've played my last game in Ebbets Field," he said, "and I hope there'll be only one more in Yankee Stadium."

Billy Loes, who whipped the Yankees Saturday, was stopped for speeding while driving to the ball park before Sunday's game.

"I'm Billy Loes of the Dodgers," he told the police officer. "Look, buddy," came the sharp reply, "I'm a Yankee fan—here's your ticket."

Jim McDonald was only the Yankees' batting practice pitcher in Stengel thought the Dodgers were using him as one in the eighth inning Sunday, he quickly called in Bob Kuzawa from the bullpen.

The happiest guy in the Yankee dressing room after the game was Allie Reynolds. "I didn't figure I was going in. But I sure turned out all right," he said. "That was a low fast ball I threw Robinson to get him to hit into the game-ending double play."

Steve Kraly, young Yankee lefty, who hasn't seen any action in the series, has more to worry about than the Dodgers. A fire in his home in Whiting, Ind., Saturday night destroyed kitchen and porch.

Billy Martin is the leading hitter in the series with a .525 hitting average with 10 hits in 19 times at bat. Gil Hodges paces the Brooks with a .444 mark on eight hits in 18 trips.

Rejuvenated U. B. C. Upsets C. M. R. Gridders 30-12; W. Lynch Top Scorer

Capitalizing on speed and an accurate aerial attack, Bishop's University Gaitors Saturday crushed College Militaire Royale from St. John's 30-12 in the university gridiron in the curtain-raiser of the 1953 Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Conference "B" Section schedule.

For the rejuvenated Purple and White squad, it was the first win in more than three years and for new coach Mac Sanders, it was the first win of his coaching career.

Despite unusually warm weather, the pace of the game was blistering as Bishop's peeled off long end runs and unveiled a dazzling pass offensive, centering around rifle-armed Dave Lethbridge and quarterback Murray Greenwood. The pair completed a total of 14 passes, three of which were for major yardage, with Lethbridge flinging two of them and Greenwood the other.

Freshman Warren Lynch, a former Sherbrooke High School athlete, played halfback and was the individual star of the game, scoring three of five touchdowns for the Gaitors. In the first Bishop's play of the game, he was on the receiving end of a sleeper play, taking a long pass from Greenwood to go over unmolested, while in the third quarter Lethbridge hit him with a pass in the end zone from 30 yards out. In the final quarter, Lynch intercepted a C.M.R. pass on the centerfield sideline and raced all the way for his final score.

Bishop's end, Dave Wadsworth made spectacular grabs all afternoon, and in the second quarter tucked away a long end zone pass from Lethbridge to score his first major.

Freshman fullback John Turnbull, formerly of Bishop's College School, played an outstanding running game for the Gaitors and scored a dazzling third quarter touchdown when he grabbed a loose ball from the arms of C.M.R. halfback Gregg on the C.M.R. 48 and dashed down the sidelines to paydirt.

A string quarterback, Murray Greenwood handled the convert kicking chores and only missed one attempt during the game. He also was credited with a rouge in the dying minutes of the second quarter on a 40-yd. boot by Andy Ross, coming out of the tilt with five points to his credit.

Both C.M.R. players were scored through the line in the first quarter by speedy halfback Gregg, who was the only opposing ball carrier to make any dent in the Bishop's defence; and in the final canto by wing back Harrison. Quarterback Tufts booted both converts.

The big red and white machine from St. John's couldn't seem to solve the Bishop's passing and running pattern, despite a strong line which for the most part effectively blocked Bishop's plungers. The C.M.R. ground attack was their strongest weapon as they completed only three passes, but time and again the Bishop's defensive line carried through to toss C.M.R. ball carriers for substantial losses.

Gregg and Harrison displayed great speed and good broken field running in the C.M.R. backfield, but received little blocking support from their teammates. The Gaitors, on the other hand, reeled off large gains on well-blocked end runs and off tackle slants.

As the game got rolling in the first quarter, C.M.R. were caught napping on a sleeper play, as Lynch, far in the open, accepted a long blooper from Greenwood and romped into the end zone for the first major score. The convert attempt by Greenwood was good, C.M.R. couldn't get going, and Harrison kicked on third down. Greenwood fumbled the long boot on the Bishop's five, Dodge recovered for C.M.R. and halfback Gregg sped across to paydirt on an off tackle plunge. The convert by Tufts was good. Score, Bishop's 6, C.M.R. 6.

Bishop's were handed a 10-yd. penalty for having too many men on the field, and immediately took to the air. Lynch ran for 25 yards after taking a flat pass from Greenwood, a plunge was stopped at scrimmage and Wadsworth grabbed a spot pass just over the C.M.R. line for 6 yards. C.M.R. end, Wharton, breaking through stopped the Bishop's attack cold. As the quarter ended, Bishop's were penalized 15 yards for roughing.

As teams changed sides for the second quarter, a C.M.R. fumble was recovered by Bishop's on the C.M.R. 45, and the Gaitors proceeded to march down the field. A quarterback snead and a long end run with excellent blocking achieved a first down, Greenwood hit Wadsworth with a 12-yard pass, good for another first down, and then passed to the opposite end. Dave Lethbridge, for another 20 yards. Lethbridge then dropped back to the quarterback slot and threw to Wadsworth in the end zone. Greenwood's convert was good. Score, Bishop's 12, C.M.R. 6.

On the kick, Gregg and Valiquet for C.M.R. plunged for a first down, but linebacker Ron Jenne broke in to stop the attack, and C.M.R. kicked. Lethbridge was formed to swallow the ball for Bishop's and was tossed for a nine-yard loss. Gregg was nailed cold by Wadsworth on the Gaitors' kick, and a C.M.R. pass attempt was knocked down. Taking to the air again, C.M.R. half Harrison finally hit the end for 15 yards, but the next attempt was intercepted by Bishop's Ross on the Bishop's 35, who lateralled to Greenwood for a 30 yard gain. Lethbridge hit Wadsworth again with a five-yard flat pass, and Lynch, in the clear on the C.M.R. five, couldn't hold a long Greenwood peg.

Ross kicked 40 yards for Bis-

Two King-Sized Dodger Mistakes

Brooklyn — (AP) — The dejected Brooklyn Dodgers blamed two king-sized mistakes for their 11-7 shellacking at the hands of New York Yankees Sunday in the pivotal fifth game of the world series.

The first one was Gil Hodges' miff of Joe Collins' grounder in the third inning which opened the dikes for five unearned Yankee runs.

"I just muffed it, that's all," said the Brooklyn first baseman in the glum dressing quarters afterwards. "It was an easy play."

The other giant Dodger mistake, an error in judgment, was in trying to outguess Mickey Mantle, golden boy of the world champions.

snicker caught hold of a Russ Meyer curve ball and planted it into the upstairs left centre-field tier for the fourth grand slam home run in the world series' 50-year history.

"It was one of my best pitches," said Meyer, who had just relieved rookie John Podres in the third and pitched his first throw to Mantle.

"Carl Erskine had been telling me—and we had been noticing it—Mantle had been running away from the pitches."

"So I fed him a low overhand curve—a beauty. Just the kind Erskine was giving him. Friday when he fanned him four times. It was a low one and a good breaker."

"But this time Mantle didn't fall away from it. He stepped into it like he was mad at somebody and murdered it."

As for another move which might be interpreted by the second guessers as an important mistake of the Dodgers—the starting of a raw, 21-year-old rookie, Podres, against the most awesome baseball team in the world—Dressen had no apologies.

"It was a good move and I would do the same thing over again."

"After all, the kid had pitched 13 innings against the Yankees in exhibition games and hadn't given up a run. He's the kind of pitcher who goes well against them."

"He wasn't nervous at all. But he was a bit wild and when that error by Hodges came in the third inning I decided he might get rattled. So I yanked him and put in an older head."

Dressen announced that his choice for the sixth game today is the curve-balling hoosier, Carl Erskine, who set a strikeout record of 14 in whipping the Yankees in the third game of the series.

"Our backs are to the wall again, and it's up to Erskine," said Dressen. "He's pitched with two days' rest before and done okay."

Erskine himself said: "I haven't pitched with two days' rest this year and I don't know how good my stuff will be."

Local Golf Season Brought To Close As Country Club Holds Banquet, Dance

"Another local golfing season became history Saturday night when the Sherbrooke Country Club held its closing banquet. Approximately 100 persons were on hand for the turkey dinner, a brief address by President Prefontaine, distribution of prizes and dance.

In his remarks, Mr. Prefontaine briefly reviewed a highly successful season which saw improvement of the clubhouse, dining room service and said that the course was in perfect condition all season. "Thanks to the good work of Mrs. B. N. Holtham and her ladies' committee many social evenings were held."

Highlights of the golfing year, he pointed out, were the fine showing of both men and women members of the S. C. C. in tournaments throughout the province and the winning of the E. T. Open championship by local pro, Harry Fowles, the first time in the history of the event that a Sherbrooke player had come out on top.

President Prefontaine said that the season just past was one of the most successful in the history of the Country Club and added that the directors were in a large measure responsible for this success.

He thanked particularly Mrs. Holtham and her ladies' committee, G. M. Young, Eugene Gingras, Don Howard, Len O'Donnell, D. W. Beaudry, Charlie Lund, L. P. Leblanc, Albert Foy, Harry Fowles, Henry Delorme, Olivier's Restaurant, the caretakers and the caddies.

He thanked also the local press for their valuable publicity.

Mrs. Holtham also spoke briefly, saying that she was particularly happy with the interest shown this year by junior members and she hoped that in the very near future that the club will have a junior provincial champion. G. M. Young also said a few words.

Pete Leblanc, captain, presented prizes as follows:

Undeclared Lions And 49ers To Clash

New York — (AP) — The National Football League's two undefeated, untied western conference teams clash in the No. 1 game of the week this Sunday when the Detroit Lions entertain the San Francisco 49ers.

Both have won two games. The defending champion Lions will be favored, but the 49ers are fresh from one upset and will be gaining for another Sunday. Frisco upended the Los Angeles Rams, 31-30 just six seconds before the end on a field goal by Gordon Soltan.

In other league action Sunday, the Cleveland Browns defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 27-7, and the Chicago Bears turned back the Green Bay Packers, 17-13.

The powerful Browns sit atop the Eastern Conference with two victories and no losses and the Philadelphia Eagles don't figure to cause them any undue worry this Saturday.

The Browns stopped the Cards with almost effortless precision as Otto Graham tossed a touchdown pass on the first play from scrimmage. He threw two more and that was the game.

The Bears also had to come from behind at the end. Trailing 13-10 with three minutes to go, George Blanda hit Jim Dooley with a 16-yard pass in the end zone to wrap it up for the Bears.

Soltan's timely field goal for the 49ers was the big one, but Ben Agajanian kicked three and converted three touchdowns to keep the Rams in the van most of the way.

In other action next Sunday, Baltimore visits the Chicago Bears, Los Angeles plays Green Bay at Milwaukee, the New York Giants journey to Washington and the Pittsburgh Steelers entertain the Chicago Cardinals.

and Ron Stewart accounted for the Leafs goals. The Baron counter was scored by Glen Sommer in the third period.

N. H. L. All-Stars Whipped Canadiens 3-1; Hergesheimer Fired Two Goals

Montreal — (AP) — The National Hockey League all-stars, capitalizing swiftly on manpower advantage in the first period, defeated Montreal Canadiens, Stanley Cup champions, 3-1 Saturday night in the NHL's seventh annual all-star game.

Little Vally Hergesheimer of New York Rangers fired two goals in the opening period, enough to win for the all-stars who were outshot 31-20 but were given magnificent support in the nets by the brilliant Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings.

Maurice Rocket Richard scored for Canadiens in the last period, rapping in the rebound of a smothered shot by Jean Beliveau, Canadiens' rookie sensation who signed his contract earlier in the day. The all-stars were a man short when Richard counted.

Gerry McNeil, who can't be blamed for the defeat, was pulled from Canadiens' net in the last minute by coach Dick Irvin when the champions staged a desperate offensive, and Alex Delvecchio of Detroit scored the final all-star goal in an open net.

The game set a record for both paid attendance and gross receipts. The crowd of 14,422 eclipsed the previous best all-star game attendance of 14,169 in 1947 at Toronto. The gross gate was $30,386.75. The best previous was $25,920.75 in 1949, also at Toronto.

Despite the summer-like heat, the game seldom lagged and the teams played it to the hilt. The 11 penalties called by referee Red Storey included majors to Red Kelly of Detroit and Bert Olmstead of Canadiens, who squared off and threw solid punches early in the third period.

Line-up: All-Stars: Goal, Sawchuk, Detroit; defence, Kelly, Detroit; Quackenbush, Boston; Thomson,

Royals Lead In Little World Series

Montreal — (AP) — Lefty Tommy Lasorda was the pitching choice of the International League champion Montreal Royals tonight in their drive for a clean sweep of the little world series against the American Association Kansas City Blues.

The Royals took a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series with a 6-2 win over the Blues Saturday night. The Brooklyn Dodgers farmhands downed the New York Yankee-owned Blues 10-0 in the first game.

Sunday's game was postponed because of rain.

Lasorda who has an impressive 18-7 record in season play, will oppose southpaw Bob Weisler who has won seven and lost eight.

In Saturday's game, right-hander Herb Coleman went all the way for Montreal scattering nine hits and striking out three men.

Rip Coleman of the Blues was knocked out in the sixth inning and was followed by John Kucab and Mel Wright.

Montreal first baseman Rocky Nelson paced the Royal attack with a homer, a double and two singles in four times at bat.

Maple Leafs Win Over Barons 5-1

St. Catharines, Ont. — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League defeated Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League 5-1 in an exhibition game here Saturday night.

Porterhouse Wins Belmont Futurity

New York — (AP) — Porterhouse, a fleet Virginia-bred colt with an Argentine daddy, ran away from 13 rivals Saturday in the $117,575 Belmont Futurity to stamp himself as the heir apparent to the two-year-old championship of 1953.

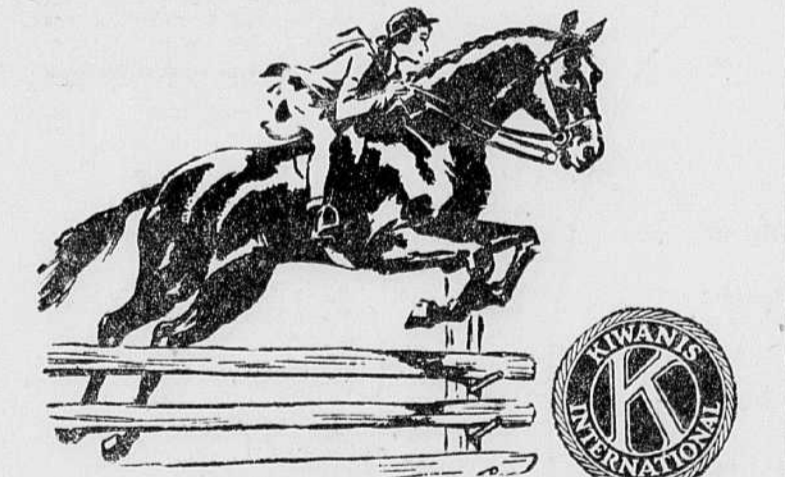

Drawing away in the last quarter of a mile of the 6 1/2-furlong dash under the confident riding of Bill Boland, Porterhouse scooted under the wire 3 1/2 lengths ahead of James Cox Brady's Artismo. Porterhouse is owned by Mrs. M. E. Person of the Lamgollan Farm, Upperville, Va.
