THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—It is learned at the State Department that the report which is being made relative to frauds in the Halifax award, by ex-Representative Newberry, Professor Youle Hands and an officer of the State Department, will be completed next week, and there is reason to think that its conclusions will furnish a satisfactory basis for the Secretary of State to open negotiations with regard to the matter.

On Friday it is proposed to hold a Conversazione in the Province Building, which His Excellency is to attend, in the interest of the proposed School of Art. Then there is to be the regatta of yachts, boats and canoes. It is also to include races by the boats of the naval squadron. Altogether Halifax will, for the time being, be the gayest city in the Dominion.

THE IRISH TROUBLES.

The O'Mahoney Case—Members of the Ladies' Land League in Trouble.

CORK, June 27.—Brooks, the American Consul, visited O'Mahoney, who is in gaol on a charge of attempting to murder Scranton, a Justice of the Peace, of Ballydehob. The Consul says, O'Mahoney at the time of his arrest was serving as a poor-law guardian. That O'Mahoney was a naturalized citizen of the United States before he accepted that office there seems to be no doubt, but the Consul refuses to express a further opinion. He made a full report of the case to the Legation, at London and Washington. He says, the "suspects," of whom thirty-five are in Limerick gaol, are remarkably well treated, fed by the Land League, and supplied with clothing and bedding, marked "National Land League."

Several members of the Ladies' Land League, at Kilmallock, County Limerick, have been summoned on a charge of obstructing the public highway, during the recent visit of Miss Parnell.

THE MURDER OF ABDUL AZIZ.

Trial of the Conspirators—Midhat Pasha's Denial.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 27.—The trial of the persons charged with the murder of Abdul Aziz commenced to-day, with the public examination of Nouri Pasha. He admitted having ordered Abdul Aziz to be put to death, by command of the commission, composed of Midhat, Ruchdi and Mahmoud Pashas. Midhat, in a long speech, denied the existence of such a commission and maintained that Abdul Aziz suicided. The prosecution demanded the penalty of death against the actual assassins, and fifteen years' hard labor for Midhat, Ruchdi and Mahmoud Pashas. The assassins confessed that the assassination was ordered by Nouri Pasha. The replies of Ruchdi were systematic denials, but were shown in the speech of Midhat to be self-contradictory. Midhat declared that he would never have degraded the revolution in which he gloried, and which was accomplished without bloodshed. Mahmoud energetically denied participation in the crime. The diplomatic corps and a large number of spectators were present.

WITH THE VOLUNTEERS.

Some Suggestions.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

ST. JOHNS, Que., June 28th.—In my letter yesterday I called attention to some of the shortcomings of the battalions in camp here. I will now make some suggestions which appear necessary to insure the efficiency of the volunteers. It is evident that what is wanted is an instructor for each battalion. The officers are not, as a rule, competent for the duty, nor is it right to expect that they should be. All the fault I find with the officers is that so many of them dress so badly. As for their ignorance of drill that is not altogether their fault. I can easily understand and excuse their shortcomings but there is no excuse for not being in proper uniform particularly as many of the captains get $80 a year besides their annual drill money from the Government. And this money is given for the care of arms and for drill instruction. Well, the arms are in many cases rusty and unreliable, and the captains are not competent instructors and thus the money is thrown away. I have seen rifles eaten by rust and yet the captain of the company to which these rifles belong draws $40 "for the care of arms!" Then I have seen captains who hardly know their facings, and yet these captains draw $40 a year for drilling their men! And I am told by my civilian friends to "hush; do not notice it; let it pass," and that I should be as dumb as a trappist. But if each battalion had a drill instructor for the term of the camp, then indeed there would be a change. Look at the 85th at Laprairie! That battalion has engaged a drill instructor, and what is the result? I told you before and it may be no harm to repeat it; the 85th is the best drilled, the best dressed, and the best looking rural battalion I have yet seen. But the 85th has a drill instructor for themselves, and therein lies the secret. The experience and untiring energy of Cols. Von Straubenzie and Worsley and Lieut. Lydon; and the hard work and willingness of Col. Mattice, Major Smith and Captain Davies cannot compensate for the want of instructors, and no matter how hard they may labor this camp cannot do as well as it would as if there was an experienced instructor for each battalion. As a matter of right the Government should have supplied instructors, but failing in that it would not have been a hardship for each battalion to do it for itself. It would not cost much. There are plenty of efficient men who would have done the work for a few dollars a day. Each battalion gets $480 for drill and the care of arms, and a little of this might have been spent on a man who would devote his time during the camp to drill a battalion. There is, too, the question of the General in command. Gen. Luard is, I believe, an excellent officer. Those who know him will speak highly of him, but why not have a resident Canadian in command? There are three D.A.G.'s in Canada who are qualified, according to law, to take command of the militia, and I believe they are qualified by experience too. The act says the commander of the Canadian Militia must have been a Field Officer in the army. Well, we have Col. Laurie, Col. Strange, and Col. Von Straubenzie. They have been field officers in the army, and they have seen active service in different parts of the world. They reside in the country, and, if appointed to the chief command, the experience any of them would gain would remove in Canada, and not be brought away to England. What good has the money spent on General Smythe done to the people of the Dominion? What good has it done the volunteers? The experience he gained in this country is no value to us now. If that experience had been gained by a resident Canadian it would be still in the country, and the country would have the benefit of it. In fact, the system is false from root to branch. It has failed, and will continue to fail until a change is made. Any man who knows anything of soldiering, and who walks through the camp at St. Johns, will see all this at a glance. If we are to have a force at all, and if we are to keep that force going, then there is only one practical thing to do, and that is to reduce the force to 20,000 men, and let the rural corps go into camp for a few days every year. The arms, accoutrements and clothing should be kept at County headquarters. One caretaker, instead of six captains, can look after them. Here alone there will be a considerable saving of money and stores. The men should assemble at County headquarters, and from there go to camp, or else they should be visited by an instructor and drilled at County headquarters. The present system is expensive, and looks like a happy-go-lucky organization. As for the city corps, they should get more clothing than the rural battalions, and should be called the first reserve. Commissions should not be thrown to any one who would take them. They should be held as a prize. Officers should be obliged to equip themselves properly or resign. There is indeed an order to the effect that officers must equip themselves in three months after they are gazetted. But there are officers that have been gazetted at the first formation of the volunteer movement, and they have not got their uniforms yet! The regulations are laughed at. The officers do not appear to pay the slightest attention to them, so far as dress is concerned. But if the D. A. G. had the power, the proper thing to do would be to order the captain to get their uniform and stop the money out of their allowances. The majority of captains of rural battalions will make $100 out of the volunteers this year, and if they could be forced to get their uniforms and then stop the money out of their $100, it would be all the better for the service. For instance, the officer with the circus cap, why should not the D. A. G. have the power of ordering a cap for him, and stopping the money out of the circus cap gentleman's pay? It is a pity the D. A. G. has not the power of doing this for I believe he is just the man to exercise it. It is odd, too, that the most difficult branches of the service—the cavalry and artillery are the best, and why? Because they have the handsomest uniforms. That is the secret. No man ever made a good soldier yet that did not take a pride in his uniform. He may have the courage of the Cid, but if he does not take a pride in his uniform there will be a something wanting and that something will be detrimental to his efficiency. But view it as you will, the state of the rural battalions is not satisfactory and there are those of the volunteers who tell them so. I want to see them efficient and reliable. I want to see them soldierly in appearance and gallant in bearing. But they are none of these. They are miserably inefficient, and, although they may be reliable, yet they are simply good men in uniforms but they are not, and never will be soldiers until there is a change in the system, and common sense and experience dethrones politics in the management of the Volunteer Militia of the Dominion.

JOTTINGS FROM QUEBEC.

Defeat of Mr. Mercier's Motion—A Laughable Scene—Mr. Paquet and the Credit Foncier—More Work for Ex-Judge Loranger—The Prevention of Railway Accidents—Silver Plume Mining Company's Bill.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

QUEBEC, June 27.—Reference was made in a former letter to the serious change which is observable in the health of the Hon. Premier. The work and excitement attendant upon the long night sittings of the present session is not calculated to have a very beneficial effect on a weakly constitution, and it is not at all surprising, therefore, that Mr. Chapleau's health should have again broken down.

Mr. Mercier's motion, which most of the members of the House fancied they had already voted on last Saturday night, or rather Sunday morning, was disposed of to-day. The majority against it was 8. It is possible that the electors may feel inclined to demand satisfactory explanations as to the reasons which induced their representatives to vote down a proposition which had for its object the appointment of a Joint Committee to study the financial condition of the Province, with the object of reducing expenditure, and avoiding if possible increased taxation. Mr. Chapleau undertook to make the assertion on Saturday night that the condition of the affairs of this Province was not such as to warrant the action proposed by the ex-Solicitor-General. There will not improbably be wanting those who have formed a vastly different opinion on this important matter. It was a laughable scene that occurred in the House early on Sunday morning, when Mr. Mathieu voted against his motion that the previous question be put, and the whole ministerial party, Government and all, went with him, allowing the Opposition to support in a body the resolution moved from the other side of the House. The fact that the moving of "the previous question" is not better understood in the Provincial Legislature, is doubtless due to the fact that it is so seldom moved, the House being too fond of allowing the putting and debating of interminable amendments to all disputed questions. One would have thought that most of the members of the House would have remembered the effect of the moving of "the previous question" in the Dominion Commons immediately after Mr. Mousseau's celebrated motion on the Letellier matter. In this Legislature, a similar resolution has not, I believe, been made, since it was moved immediately upon the resolution carried by Mr. Angers and his following for the admonition of Mr. Joly, still rarer are the instances of a vote being taken upon the motion for putting "the previous question." The mistake the House committed on Sunday was in supposing that the formal motion of Mr. Mathieu had been already carried and that they were voting upon the main motion of Mr. Mercier.

The Paquet Investigation Committee is dragging along its enquiry very slowly. In fact it almost seems as if the Committee desires the session to pass over without making any report. The points so far proved by the investigation are that Mr. Paquet has received $14,000 from the Credit Foncier, provided out of a call of 3 per cent. upon the stockholders for so-called preliminary expenses, that the same amounts were placed at the disposal of Messrs. Chapleau and Wurtele, who refused to accept them—one because he was leader of the Government from which the Company derived certain powers,—the other because he had carried the Bill of the Company through the House. Yet—Mr. Paquet was a member of the Government which acceded to the Credit Foncier's application for certain powers, and a member of the House which passed their Act of Incorporation.

Ex-Judge Loranger is indeed a fortunate individual. When it was supposed that his work of codifying the Provincial statutes was drawing to a close, a new task has been entrusted to him by the Government, of which his brother is Attorney-General, that of preparing a new Code of Civil Procedure, for the next session of the Local Legislature.

Mr. Joly deserves well of the country for drawing the attention of the Legislature to the importance of legislation requiring railway companies to take reasonable precautions for the prevention of accidents. It is satisfactory to note that the Government, according to Mr. Lynch, will prepare a measure on the subject before next session.

The Transfer Company's Bill has been as quietly withdrawn as it was introduced. To THE STAR is certainly due the credit of first exposing the intent and meaning of the extraordinary powers asked for by this Company.

It is matter for public congratulation that the Bill of the notorious Silver Plume Mining Company has been considerably clipped in Committee.

QUEER QUILL.

THE MEXICAN RAILWAY DISASTER.

The Most Frightful Casualty in the History of the Republic.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 27.—The news of the railroad disaster caused great excitement here. Never in the history of the Republic has so frightful a casualty been chronicled. It is feared that it will further prejudice the popular mind against railway enterprises. The Morelas road was built by Government subvention, and is entirely the work of Mexican engineers. The engineer and fireman of the ill-omened train were scalded to death. Only sixty persons on the train escaped alive, and of these forty were injured. Many wives and children of soldiers were among the killed and injured. The disaster occurred at 11 o'clock at night, as the train which was a long one, drawn by two engines, was passing over a wooden bridge. For a moment after the plunge all was darkness. Suddenly 100 barrels of brandy, loaded on two of the vans, caught fire, and the burning fluid inundated the mass of passengers struggling in the ruins. Only a few who were not disabled or hopelessly wedged in the timbers, escaped. The dead and living were wrapped in a sheet of flame, and slowly burned before the eyes of the survivors, who were unable to save them.

ANOTHER COMET.

CHICAGO, June 27.—To-night a new comet is visible here to the naked eye. It is about thirty degrees above the horizon, in the northwest by north heavens. The tail is long, strongly defined and perfectly straight, pointing in the direction of the zenith. There is no resemblance between this comet and one visible between two and three a.m. The latter is shorter and more brilliant.

The Proposed Telegraphic Combination.

To the Editor of THE STAR:

SIR,—A business proposition has been made to the Directors of the Montreal Telegraph Company, by an able and wealthy incorporated body—the North-Western Telegraph Company,—several of whose promoters are representative Canadians by birth, or by adoption, and by regard for our country's institutions. These gentlemen have in their own personal rights large stakes contingent upon the general welfare of the Dominion, and possess a thorough knowledge of all the points covered by the proposed new alliance of telegraph interests, and, as one of them is the President of the North-western Company, will naturally wield great influence in the shaping of the policy of the combination.

The question of monopoly as regards extreme rates may be safely left in the hands of these leading men, for it will not, for a moment, be believed that they, apart from any other consideration, would become responsible, as shrewd business men, in a scheme to create a high range of telegraphic rates when they and other responsible men offer to bind themselves to a certain guarantee of a splendid dividend. Whatever competition in the future may crop up, it would on ordinary commercial grounds be but a childish plan for them to attempt extortion for the brief period in which they could hope to escape the effects of spirited competition, and when we remember the difficulty which has been experienced by our own capitalists, in the actual impossibility of their finding any satisfactory employment for their funds, is it likely that there would be any obstacle in the way of at once finding sufficient capital with which to speedily inaugurate a most formidable competitor, backed as it would be by an indignant sense of injury upon the part of the commercial public?—No! other and sounder cause for antagonism to this proposal must be sought ere the stockholders will be willing to oppose it. It may be that, as a young local journal recently states: "The smaller stockholders are the only ones likely to raise a voice against the alliance, so kindly obtained for them, but it would be doing these an injustice to reason that they are likely to remain blind to their own interests because they are so ignorant as the statement in question would imply;" and surely no one will agree with the journal in question unless at the same time it be admitted that these small shareholders not only are ignorant, but unreasoning to that extent that they cannot comprehend the benefit which would plainly accrue to them. Further, it is impossible to believe but that they will open their eyes to a full sense of the great difference to them between a stock investment paying a certain and excellent dividend, secured, beyond a question, for a term of years, and a stock of no certain value earning only such precarious dividends as good fortune in the shape of heavy crops and "booms" in trade may make it possible to earn.

It is time we had more securities of definite and carefully determined value, in the interest of all uncommercial and defenceless small investors. This is of the greatest importance, and this alliance will remove from our local "Wall Street" this heretofore favorite football of the brokers, under whose kind manipulations this same Montreal Telegraph stock has fluctuated twenty per cent in a week's time. Any one who has been even an ordinary observer of cause and effect upon "Change" during the past decade will probably endorse the view that the rough handling this stock has received during at least seven years of that period calls for every protection possible to extend to it, in order that it may be placed beyond the hurtful influence of these "bull and bear" attacks and create for its small shareholders a more certain and assured yearly value.

Something has been said to the effect that sentiment ought to have a place in the deliberations of stockholders as regards the consummation of this enterprising alliance. It is hardly worth while to revert to the old maxim—so trite, but those who patrol our financial centre will testify to this singular fact, i.e., that they hear most of this sort of comment while on or in the immediate vicinity of St. Francois Xavier street. Strange, is it not, that our money thoroughfare should so suddenly develop a feeling heretofore so conspicuous by its absence among moneyed men and their representatives?

It is pretty generally admitted by those who have most closely followed this matter, that the alliance is but a step ahead. It worthily follows the many enterprising and sound ventures for which the past two years will be forever notable, and while the greatest stride forward has been that of opening up a sparsely settled country and will afford the long wanted and strictly necessary opportunity to people it, the other will keep its means of communication intact, by good management, not inferior, as would be the case if, just upon our business revival, the whole system of telegraphy became demoralized by the failure of its income to balance its outgo, the consequent employment of cheap men, the effect of their mistakes and inattention, etc., all of which would surely result between the rivalry of the competing companies, but which will be prevented by this proposed friendly alliance and a good property saved to all of us.

GRAHAM & CO., Publishers THE STAR.

TUESDAY, JUNE 28, 1881.

THE farce at Albany still continues. If such a thing happened in Canada how the American papers would tease, satirize and lecture.

EDMUND BEALES, the famous Reform champion, died yesterday in London. He was much above his class, being a scholar and man of the world.

THE Provincial election for North Waterloo resulted yesterday in the return of Mr. Snider by a majority of 250. The member elect is a Liberal and thus the political representation of the County remains unchanged.

SARAH BERNHARDT has had the vengeance of ridicule on Germany. She turned the head of Baron Magnus, Imperial Ambassador at Copenhagen, snubbed him at a public dinner, caused his recall and now the old gentleman has gone mad.

THE Quebec Legislature is about to adjourn, having been marked by several curious episodes, the not least curious being the fact that M. Tarte was allowed to sit out the session unchallenged. He was either disqualified by the Supreme Court or he was not. If he was, the duty of both the Government and Opposition was plain and imperative.

The Storm Abating.

We are sure that none but the most rabid foes of Mr. Gladstone's Government will fail to be pleased at the signs that his policy of conciliation and of justice is at length triumphing over the perversity and violence of his opponents, and that a brighter day seems to be dawning upon disturbed Ireland. A man less tough of fibre would have been harassed into his grave by the annoyances and perplexities that have fallen to Mr. Gladstone's lot during the last year. He has, however, though visibly shaken by the storm, never lost heart or vacillated in his purpose. He saw that a radical change in the Irish land system was necessary, and he determined to carry it into effect. He produced a land bill containing many new provisions, and one, the general effect of which will be to give the peasantry a much stronger hold upon the soil, an increased sense of security, and more to hope for in the future. That bill was spurned by those who ought most gladly to have accepted it, and the veteran statesman, weighed down with the cares and labors incident, under the best of circumstances, to his pre-eminent position, was compelled to encounter night after night a House of Commons in which wilful obstruction and turbulence ran riot. Meanwhile Ireland was all but in rebellion; and the most doleful predictions were indulged in both by friends and by foes. Still he held his course, making what headway he could against Parliamentary obstacles, and in the Government of Ireland weighing reasonable firmness with unbounded patience. And now we learn, with an infinite sense of relief, that this splendid trust in a policy of justice and humanity is having its reward, that serious opposition to the Land Bill in the House of Commons may be said to have ceased and that Ireland is becoming rapidly tranquillized. English institutions have survived another crisis thanks to a statesman whom nothing could seduce into believing that the truncheon and the bayonet were the true instruments of rule in Ireland or anywhere else.

City News.

—Some 860 immigrants, nearly all from Great Britain, passed through the city yesterday.

—The Victoria Rifles are to be inspected in camp about the sixth of next month by the Major-General commanding.

—A horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Prowse ran away yesterday on Notre Dame street, and running against a lamp post smashed the waggon.

—The "Helvetia," of the White Cross Line, from Antwerp, brought out the remainder of the machinery for the beet-root sugar factories at Berthier, Farnham and Coaticooke.

—Mr. T. Davidson, of the firm of Messrs. T. Davidson & Co., was, on Thursday last, presented with a handsome silver ice pitcher and an address by the employees of the establishment as a mark of the esteem in which he is held by them.

—Alexander Walker, a deserter from the Norwegian barque "Thule," was brought before the Police Magistrate yesterday, but the latter said he would have to discharge him, as he had no jurisdiction over a sailor sailing under a foreign flag.

—The police authorities give timely warning to residents in the neighborhood of St. Catherine street, where the circus is to be, to keep their houses securely fastened against thieves, otherwise they will fall victims to the crowd of light-fingered gentry which always follows a circus.

—To-morrow, St. Peter and St. Paul's Day, a review of the troops in the Laprairie camp will be held, and, as it is probable that a number of our citizens would wish to witness it, special steamer arrangements have been completed, as will be seen by the advertisement in another column of the Laprairie Navigation Company.

The Lorne Medal.

The "Lorne Medal," given by the Governor-General to the student of the Montreal High School who passes the best examination in English language and literature, French, and British and Canadian history, has been won this year by Chas. A. Daoust, of Lachine.

The Firemen's Picnic.

A meeting of the committee of the Firemen's Benevolent Association was held last evening for the purpose of making arrangements for holding their annual picnic and games, and it was definitely decided to hold it on the sixth of August. A capital programme of games was prepared, new features in which will be a three mile walk, a live wheel barrow race, a Shetland Pony race and a Lacrosse match between the bleu and rouge members of the Brigade. Persons wishing to contribute prizes are requested to communicate with the Secretary, Capt. Beckingham, of No. 2 Station.

Police News.

Jacques Charron, for obtaining money under false pretences, was sent to gaol yesterday, at the Court of Special Sessions, for three months.

Henriette Potterton, wife of William Wilson, Chambly, was sent to gaol yesterday for insanity. She was brought to the Central station, where her unwillingness to be put into the cells made things lively for a time. It appears that she has, although insane, now been harmless and peaceable enough for some time back, but the rumors of the world coming to an end disturbed her weak mind, and hence her present state.

Failures.

The number of failures throughout the United States and Canada during the past week was 93, an increase of 27 over the record of the preceding week. The insolvencies in the Dominion were eight, an increase of two over the previous week. Of these only two were of any great importance, that of Ryerson & Moses, Shipping, Yarmouth, N.S., and James C. Pope, Brewer, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island.

Cote St. Antoine School.

On Monday morning the parents and friends of the scholars of this school assembled in the Town Hall of the municipality to witness the closing exercises of the year. A choice musical and dramatic programme was excellently rendered by the scholars under the guidance of their teachers, Miss Scroggie and Miss White. Mr. J. K. Ward and Mr. A. C. Hutchinson, trustees of the school, and Mr. W. A. Weir examined the scholars on the work of the year with very satisfactory results, for which teachers and scholars were congratulated.

Mad Freaks of Two Drunken Men.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday two young men very much under the influence of liquor caused considerable excitement on St. Charles Borromee and St. Urbain streets by rushing into houses, breaking furniture and frightening the women and children, and in one case cruelly beating a young man. It is impossible to say how far these ruffians may have gone in their wild escapade had it not been brought to a sudden stop by a young fellow who, without consulting his own safety, rushed upon them, and after a desperate struggle succeeded in throwing them to the ground, where, with the assistance of one or two others, they were kept until the arrival of the police, when they were with difficulty taken in a carriage to the Ontario Street Police Station.

Suburban.

The Point St. Charles firemen were out for drill on the Champ de Mars yesterday morning.

The St. Gabriel Village Council met last evening. The most important question discussed was the placing of the meter.

Large quantities of phosphates are arriving in the city every day by the Lachine Canal. Scarcely a grain barge passes through the canal but has a deck load of this mineral.

The Point St. Charles branch of the City and District Savings Bank has been removed to the handsome new rough stone building at the corner of Seigneurs and Grand Trunk streets.

The little sums of $3, deposit for water, are being remitted to the Secretary of St. Gabriel slowly but surely. Seventy have already paid. The water is now turned on to 500 houses.

Joe Laing, the Amateur Champion, will probably row in the race for the American Amateur Championship in the regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen to be held on the Potomac River at Washington on the 8th and 9th September. Laing is anxious to meet Holmes.

Mrs. Meunier, St. Philippe street, St. Henri, became deranged on the Thursday previous to the 19th inst. through fright at the supposed approach of doom's day. Her husband had to be called from Chicago, where he was employed, and it is thought that the woman, who is now under a doctor's care, will have to be confined in an asylum.

The account of a St. Jean Baptiste Village policeman, as given by a doctor of this city, does not reflect credit on the force. The doctor took a city carter at the Mile-end depot to drive to the city, but had not proceeded far when a constable stopped the horse and actually pulled him out of the carriage. The law of the municipality allows city carters to drive parties to the depot, but they must not take fares from the depot to the city. It is well that the laws all over should be enforced, and it is as well for a policeman to be gentlemanly as otherwise.

SAYBROOK HALL.

Meeting to Consider Mr. Gault's Offer to the Diocesan College—An Appeal to be Made to Subscribers.

At a meeting held at Saybrook Hall, last evening, to consider the conditions upon which Mr. A. F. Gault would hand the Hall over to the Diocesan College, there were present Revs. Canon Evans, Dr. Sullivan, J. P. DuMoulin, S. Belcher, R. Lindsay, J. F. Renaud, J. G. Baylis, Messrs. T. White, M.P., G. Macrae, Q.C., J. S. Shearer, Sugden Evans, E. W. Simpson, Thos. Craig, and Drs. Scott and Lovejoy.

Rev. Dr. Sullivan, who occupied the chair, stated that the Bishop was unable to attend owing to a previous appointment. He had a letter from Canon Baldwin expressing his regret at not being able to attend, he having had to go to the camp at St. Johns. The chairman said that Mr. Gault had purchased Saybrook Hall at a cost of nearly $23,000 and was willing to hand it over to the Diocesan College on condition that an endowment of $40,000 be provided, towards which he was willing to contribute $4,000; or on condition that an annual income of $6,000 could be guaranteed for five years, he was willing to contribute $1,000 a year. One of these conditions was to be complied with before the 20th of July. Dr. Sullivan, in speaking of the importance of the establishing of the college, said that the Bishop considered a Theological College absolutely necessary to the proper administration of the diocese. He said the diocese of Huron had one, Toronto two, Ontario had one, or had had one, Quebec had one at Lennoxville, Fredericton had one, and Montreal should not be without such an institution.

Mr. Craig, the Treasurer of the Diocesan College, said that the present annual income was $2,500, of which $150 came from the country. One hundred and fifty subscribers contributed this, the subscriptions being guaranteed for five years, two of which had already elapsed.

It was moved by Mr. White, seconded by Dr. Scott, and carried, "That the clergy of the different congregations, with one or two laymen selected by them, be requested to ascertain from the present subscribers of the Diocesan College fund if they are willing, in view of the proposal now made, to renew the guarantee offered by them for five years, and to increase it; and that the result of this appeal be reported to a subsequent meeting to be called by the chairman."

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT.—NEW YORK, June 28.—An Albany special to the Times says simultaneously with the arrival of Conkling and Platt last night, the streets and hotels was alive with reports of a compromise. The Conkling men seem to have obtained information that Conkling and Platt are about to withdraw from the contest. The Tribune says there will be great pressure from both sides to end the struggle over the senatorship this week.

A SCANDAL.—PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—A blackmailer here wrote forty scandalous letters to Dr. Nicholson, rector, and eleven members of St. Mark's Church. The congregation is highly aristocratic. The first letter received alleged criminal intimacy between two prominent members of the church. The supposed authorship of the letters has been fastened upon an insane person, formerly an attendant of the church. It is asserted woman's work is noticeable in several of the letters.

TOBACCO.—GREENSBORO, N.C., June 28.—The traffic in this State in crooked manufactured tobacco is in a fair way of being totally broken up. Three-fourths of the itinerant salesmen, who, in the past, flooded the market with cheap productions, upon which no tax was paid, have been compelled to abandon business. Recent returns show an increase of 33 per cent. in tobacco, reported and stamped.

DELIBERATE SUICIDE.—NEW YORK, June 28.—Mrs. Moses Roseberg, an invalid, was found burned to a crisp in bed last night. It is suspected she deliberately set the bed on fire.

PRISONERS ESCAPED.—HACKENSACK, N. J., June 28.—Two prisoners escaped from jail here yesterday. Being hotly pursued one jumped into the river and was drowned. The other was recaptured.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.—TUSCAN, Arizona, June 28.—A powder house blew up last evening, breaking nearly every window in the town. It is reported the County hospital was nearly demolished.

CANADIAN.

STEAMER ASHORE.—ST. JOHNS, Nfld., June 28.—The large iron steamer "Amaryllis," bound from Canada to Liverpool, is reported stranded in Longley Island, nine miles from St. Pierre. Her cargo of grain will probably be saved.

SS. "Celtic" has arrived at Queenstown.

It is provided with all modern comforts, and the table supplied with all the delicacies of the season. Ample accommodation for one hundred guests. The view from the house is one of the grandest in the country, having an uninterrupted view of the city of Quebec, its harbor and shipping and the Montmorency Falls, and Laurentides Mountains. The ferry steamer between Quebec and the Island runs every two hours (time of trip 20 minutes), from 5 a.m. Prices moderate. Apply by letter to Thomas Lizotte, manager, on the premises.

Neuralgia, with its terrible pain and suffering in the mouth, teeth and face, often involving the eye and ear with its sharp, darting, piercing and troublesome affliction, can be promptly allayed, and the sensitive and sorely affected parts relieved by bathing freely with Pond's Extract and taking ten drops internally every two hours. In cases of severe Toothache by holding some of the Extract in the mouth many have been instantaneously cured. 150 1

A Good Investment.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Vermont & Colorado Mining Company in another column. The property of this company is located in the famous Ten Mile Mining District, and adjoining the celebrated Robinson Consolidated mines, the richest in Colorado, which gives ample assurance of the value of the property. A limited amount of the stock of Vermont & Colorado is now offered for sale by Goff, Hastings & Co., financial agents, at the low figure of 50 cents for $10 shares, full paid and non-assessable. It offers a splendid opportunity for the investment of a small amount of capital with an almost absolute certainty of a large and rapid increase in value. In view of Mr. Edward H. Goff's success in managing other mining properties, notably the Boston Gold and Silver, the stock of which has more than doubled in the past six months, we have no hesitation in recommending the stock of the Vermont & Colorado as a safe and profitable investment.—Boston Daily Advertiser. 1m

On Friday last an immense crowd thronged the Boston One-Price Clothing Store. On enquiry we ascertained the crowd was attracted by the arrival of a fresh lot of Boys and Youths' Suits, they having received a new assortment of Boys and Youths' clothing of American pattern, and they are certainly worthy of inspection. 137tf

"As plays the sun upon the glassy streams." —Shakespeare.—Brightness, brilliancy, beauty are the chief characteristics of the Nubian blacking. Its peculiar merits are that it needs no brushes and no polishing; that it makes the leather soft, supple and durable; that it renders it water and weather proof; that it is warranted free from acid or other injurious ingredients; that it does not soil the clothing and needs applying but once a week; that, consequently, in time, in labor, in brushes, in the saving of leather, in appearance and in the preservation of health it is the best and cheapest application for boots and shoes, harness, &c., ever known; in bottles at 25 cents, and sold everywhere. 92

MYSTERIOUS MURDER.—LONDON, June 28.—When the Brighton express stopped for the collection of tickets outside of Brighton yesterday, Arthur Lefroy, a newspaper reporter, aged 22, was found in one of the carriages with a wounded head? He reported that his fellow-travellers were a countryman and an old gentleman. Shortly after passing Croyden he heard a shot and was stunned. Several bullets were found imbedded in the carriage. In Becombe Tunnel was found with his throat cut, the corpse of F. J. Gold, a retired business man, who had been in London to collect a dividend. He was also stabbed in various places. Only a pocket book containing cards was found on his person. Lefroy, after his wound, was dressed, started for London. He will be accused of murdering Gold.

HON. MR. CHAPLEAU was so indisposed yesterday, at his hotel, that he was unable to attend either the Committees or the sittings of the House.

Proposed Monument to Maisonneuve.

The Presidents of the different sections of St. Jean Baptiste Society held a meeting at the residence of Mr. Bourassa, President of the Central Section, last evening, to consider what action should be taken with reference to the erection of a monument to Maisonneuve. It was unanimously decided that they should take the thing in hand and make it a success.

The Circus.

A reporter spent half an hour at the Circus on St. Catherine street West, this afternoon, and more fun in the shape of gymnastics, trumbling and contortion tricks, performances by educated horses, &c.,&c., it would be difficult to have got into that space of time outside of an arena not combining all the merits that Shelby, Pullman and Hamilton's circus does. The gymnastic feats of the Carlo Midgets, a boy and a girl, aged respectively 9 and 7, is alone worth the entrance fee. A matinee takes place at 10 to-morrow morning, especially for ladies and children.

The Pointe Claire Boating Club.

The members of the Pointe Claire Boating Club met last evening and decided to hold their annual regatta on Saturday the 6th of August next. It is certain from the success of the regatta last season that not only the friends of the club, but also the general public will have a good day's sport on the occasion. Pointe Claire offers perhaps the best facilities for boating in the vicinity of Montreal, and in consequence the club membership is fast increasing, now numbering double that of last year. The club has built a fine club-house on the water side and it is the intention to give a dance there every second Saturday evening during the season.

The Decline in Ontario Bank Stock.

Speculation in this stock is said to be due to rumors as to how past debts are to be dealt with by the directors, the annual report having stated that such debts were to receive immediate attention. The leading rumor was that the new General Manager, Mr. Holland, would recommend a reduction of capital to bring about a more satisfactory state of affairs, but it is stated that everything is as yet in statu quo. A distinction must be drawn by the public between mere speculation and the business standing of the bank, which is certainly no worse, but doubtless better than it has been for some months. Mr. C. Holland leaves for Toronto to enter upon his new duties this week.

Disobedient Bailiffs.

Three bailiffs of the Superior Court have been struck from the list of bailiffs for disobeying the orders of the Court. The names of the "erring ones" are Tessier and Narcisse Dumouchel, removed by Mr. Justice Mackay, and Bastien, suspended by Mr. Justice Torrance. There are petitions complaining of the acts of other bailiffs now before the Court; and it is said that bailiffs whose bonds are of old standing will be required to renew their securities. In removing Dumouchel, Mr. Justice Mackay remarked that bailiffs must be taught that they would not be allowed to disobey the orders of the Court with impunity.

The Baxter-Sills Libel Suit.

The preliminary examination in this suit was commenced this afternoon at the Police Court. Mr. James Baxter, the plaintiff, being cross-examined. Mr. Baxter stated that he credited Mr. W. B. Sills with the statements in the Herald because Mr. Sills had said as much to him. He was sure that the portrait of himself in the Police News was published at the instigation of Sills. He had seen the younger Sills distributing the papers. As to a true bill having been found against him in the Chicago courts for defrauding the United States Government, he would say that the case was made out against him when he was absent in England, and he had received no notice of the verdict at the time.
Case in progress.

Judgments Against the City.

Judgments were delivered by Judge Torrance this morning in two cases against the city of Montreal et al.

In the first, that of Diotte against the city, the plaintiff had sued the Corporation for damages sustained by him from being thrown out of his carriage on Maisonneuve street on account of obstructions being allowed to be placed on the side of the roadway by contractors without a light on a dark evening. Judgment was given for plaintiff for $250. His Honor declaring that the Corporation could in their turn collect the amount from the contractors. The Judge also remarked the city would avoid much trouble in future if they insisted that the regulations regarding obstructions placed on the street by builders be strictly carried out.

The other case was that of Walker vs. the city et al., claiming damages for false arrest. The plaintiff was in the Spring of 1880 arrested by a constable named Prefontaine on the charge of exposing his person, but the charge was not proved, and he took action for damages. Judgment for $50 against both the city and Prefontaine.

The Strike on the Wharf.

Everything on the wharves has been as quiet as possible to-day, and the strike continues without any change. The officers of the Ship Laborers Society had a conference in the Harbor Board room this afternoon, with the chairman of the Harbor Commissioners, Sir Francis Hincks, Mr. Kerry and other merchants, with the view of explaining the situation connected with the strike, and if possible to lead to an adjustment of the unhappy differences now existing. Mr. Carroll, the President, and Messrs. Leonard and Piche stated the case of the men in a very forcible manner, dwelling upon the drawbacks which they have to encounter in their uncertain employment. The whole subject was thoroughly discussed, but no definite understanding was arrived at. It is hoped, however, that with moderation and some concessions on the part of both the 'longshoremen and the shipowners, something may be done through Mr. Robertson, Sir Francis Hincks and Mr. Kerry to bring the strike to an end. It is the inte[illegible] of every one to aid in such a good work.

The disposition of the Government Harbor police forces has been judiciously arranged; the lower part of the wharf from Jacques Cartier pier to Hochelaga has been entrusted to Chief Murphy and thirty men, and the remainder to Capt. Trudel, Chief of the Quebec force. Chief George Murphy, who has been on almost continuous duty day and night since the commencement of the strike, and whose excellent services are well recognized by our merchants, is quite unwell from the extra duty devolving upon him, but he refuses to take a much needed rest.

M. Dufaure.

Jules Armand Stanislas Dufaure, whose death is announced from Paris, was born at Saujon, Charente-Inferieure, on December 4, 1798. Educated for the bar, after practising successfully at Bordeaux, he entered political life in 1834, and under the Guizot Ministry, became a Councillor of State, and afterwards Minister of Public Works. On the rejection of the law of dotation, he quitted the Cabinet and was one of the Liberal Opposition. After the revolution of February, 1848, he was elected for the Charente-Inferieure, and became Minister of the Interior, June 2, 1849. When the President resolved to usurp the whole power of the State, M. Dufaure was one of the representatives who escaped seizure and imprisonment. He opposed the coup d'etat and in conjunction with many of the constitutional statesmen of France, strongly protested against it. When elected to the Academy the Emperor received him most graciously, and said that, although M. Dufaure was not among the number of his supporters, he altogether approved of the choice of the Academy, and he should never forget the services rendered by M. Dufaure at the time of the Presidency. During the prosecution of the Count of Montalembert, in 1862, M. Dufaure defended the publisher of his pamphlet with great skill and eloquence. After the fall of the Empire he was returned to the National Assembly by the Department of Charente-Inferieure, and when M. Thiers formed his Government in February, 1871, he selected M. Dufaure as Minister of Justice, which office he retained till the overthrow of the Government in May, 1873. He again became Minister of Justice under M. Buffet's administration in March, 1875. His subsequent career as Prime Minister and Senator are matters within the recollections of our readers.

HEAVY SEIZURE.

A Bluenose in Difficulties.

John A. Cameron, formerly of Cornwall, Ont., owned a large property known as "Fairfield" in that place, which he valued at some $60,000. In 1878 he exchanged this property with James Caffray, of Truro, N. S., for some gold mining areas and some property in Truro, Caffray also agreeing to pay off a mortgage of $14,000 on Cameron's estate. At the last moment, however, and after the agreement had been signed, Caffray finding he was making a losing bargain, failed to carry out his agreement. Cameron waited for him for a long time, hoping that a suitable arrangement would be come to in the matter until as he alleges through Caffray's neglect the Cornwall estate has been comparatively ruined by want of care and having the mortgage foreclosed upon it. Some time ago Caffray, while in the city, was capiased by Mr. Lighthall, notary, who had done the business between the two parties and who lacked pay from Caffray for his services. The case went against Caffray, but he appealed. The appeal came up for hearing a few days ago and Caffray came to this city in regard to the case. Cameron hearing of it took out a capias against him through his counsel Messrs. Macmaster, Hutchinson & Knapp, but the Bluenose was not to be caught napping and kept himself clear of the bailiffs. Cameron also took out a seizure before arrest for $31,000, his estimate of the loss he had sustained at Caffray's hands, and property owned by the defendant in the holding of various parties in this city to the value of some $6,000 or $7,000 has been seized. Caffray, however, cannot be found, and as far as known, he has left the city.

OUR SCHOOLS.

The Preparatory High School.

The closing exercises in connection with this school, and the distribution of prizes to the successful pupils in the usual Summer examinations, took place this morning in the Burnside Hall, corner of University and Dorchester streets. The Rev. Canon Norman, D. C. L., presided, and numbers of the friends and relatives of the pupils were present. The Head Master, Mr. Arthy, read his annual report and prize list, showing that Master Ross was dux of the school, thus securing the medal. The prizes were delivered by the Chairman, and in the intervals between the distribution to the different forms, a capital programme consisting of recitations, dialogues and songs was creditably gone through. The National Anthem, sung with right good will, on the little lads being reminded, by the Chairman, that to-day was the anniversary of Her Majesty's coronation, brought the proceedings to a close.

After the pupils had filed out, their seats were taken by the pupils of

Mr. Haight, M.A., the principal, read his annual report and prize list. As in the case of the exercises of the preparatory school, a programme of songs and recitations was performed most creditably during the intervals. The scene from Macbeth, in which Lady Macbeth urges her husband to the murder of Duncan, and in which the characters were taken by Misses Allan, Cornell and Ivinson, was presented in a most realistic manner. The singing of Horace's Ode Integer Vitae, and of "O Hush Thee," by Sullivan, were features of the programme, and showed that the young lady pupils of the school possess both trained and sweet voices. A very sensible and comprehensive valedictory address was read by Miss Gertrude Jenner-Fust, in which farewell was bid to their alma Nutrix and its associations by the members of the graduating class, and the determination expressed of always in the future keeping its welfare in mind, and to live according to the learning they had acquired while there.

After a short address by the Chairman the proceedings came to a close with the benediction.

Secondary qualities of loose hay were parted with at $7 to $9.50. Loose straw was higher at $4 to $5.50 per 100 bundles of 12 lbs. Pressed hay is easier, despite the opening up of a new export trade with London, and we quote $11.50 to $13.50 per ton.

A SIMPLE WOMAN.

BY

The Author of "Nut Brown Maids."

CHAPTER XI.

RIVALS.

Mary pondered her aunt's consolation, and sometimes it added a sharp prick to her compunction, sometimes it beset her with a subtle temptation. She felt if she gave in and saw herself the unwilling cause of ruin to those who were anticipating no evil, who had received and entertained her as a guest, kinswoman and friend, if she yielded to appear a monster of ingratude and a serpent in their bosom there would be no more happiness for her in this world. Then Mary's mind was in a wild state of confusion; she resolved a thousand schemes, till her poor young head and heart ached with the pressure of her secret. Would she tell the Brookes at once, and suffer their indignation and resentment, and bid them adopt means to save themselves? That would be a relief to the sense of double-dealing so foreign to a frank nature. But what would it avail the Brookes? Would she take advice herself? But poor Mary, though she would cheerfully have gone to London a hundred times on such an errand, feared the civil coolness and acute cross-questioning of the lawyers. She had a horror that these men of law would abide by the letter of the law, and pay no respect to private sentiments. She had a hopeless conviction that they would say to her with urbane condescension and contempt, "My dear young lady, if your grandfather has made you his heiress, and is not in a condition to alter his will, there is no help for it. Very few would quarrel with the alternative. When you are older and have seen more of the world, and formed other ties, you will understand the thing, and thank us for assuring you now that you cannot tamper with legal documents, though it is very much to your credit to wish to have justice done. If it were in your own power, you might execute a deed of transfer, that is possible, with the consent of all parties, and we would be happy to arrange it for you; but, till then, "&c., &c.,—and so they would rub their gentlemanly hands, and bend their bald, polished heads, and bow her out of their chambers as a silly, fantastic girl, whom it would be a shame and disgrace for them to aid and abet in her folly, which she would rue sooner than anybody, and who was, therefore trespassing unthinkingly on their valuable time.

Besides to publish the intended alienation of the property seemed to poor Mary like consummating the deed. As long as it was only known to herself and her uncle, and the lawyer and witnesses, if they were still in existence—she could depend, it was difficult to say how, on its being hushed up and extinguished. Then she remembered with a vivid intuition one particular party who must have a guess at the truth, the flippant, forward, foolish young London agent, Mr. Anthony Sievewright. Mary had not the least idea of the mine Mr. Anthony had fired on his own account, but her advance in knowledge enlightened her so far on what had been the original motive of his attention to her and its extraordinary mode of expression. He had thought, at the lowest calculation, to win favor with the ignorant young heiress of Buckley, to fill the post of her prime minister, if not to reign her lord and master, when she should arrive at her preferment, at which he had so broadly pointed. Vie was right: this Anthony was more knave than fool, but the consciousness in the middle of her anger and aversion only rendered Mary more miserable and appalled.

Then, in her bewilderment, the temptation assailed Mary to be supine, to let things take their course, to allow herself to be drifted by the current, and carried over all their heads. What would Mrs. Brooke have to say against her then? What would Ralph have to urge against the passion which should lead him back to fortune as well as to happiness? Doubtless, it was an ignoble temptation, but it struck into the weak woman's nature in its very credulity, humility, and tenderness. Mary told herself as she had said it, already pale and sorrowful, or flushed and passionate, that she was no match for young Ralph Brooke; that he was not only the rich young heir of Buckley, while she was a poor post-captain's niece, but she was a very ordinary girl, while he was such a fine young fellow—upright, resolute, reliable, capable—no wonder he hesitated about giving way to his fancy for her, as Mary dreamt he hesitated. No wonder, if the consciousness of his mother's furious, inveterate opposition decided his half-formed inclinations in the negative, and induced him to give her up altogether. Mary would not accuse him of fickleness, or blame him heavily in the transaction. He had not been more than cousinly, not much more, and of course he would get hundreds and thousands of girls far better, cleverer, handsomer, of higher rank and more equal fortune, to smile upon him gladly.

But if Mary were indeed the mistress of Buckley, all would be different. If Mary were the heiress, and Ralph the young man cut off with a shilling, his best friends might be thankful to perceive his standing in her good graces, and he might be fain to clench it. True, it would not be "all for love or the world well lost," but it would be something not so very far from it. Mary would not be resentful because he had not cared for her and her only. She would rejoice in her inmost heart that he had cared for her at all; she would trust to making much of his love, after it was hers, before God and man. Ah! yes, it might be mean; but she would reverse the story, and serve for young Ralph Brooke as Jacob served for Rachel—seven long years, and seven to them—if, after she had been his devoted wife through the heat and cold of all these Summers and Winters, Ralph should hail her at last as his best and dearest friend.

If there had been a single suspicion of another love with Ralph, Mary would have judged differently, but there was none, and therefore Mary would be easily content.

Not the worst men, not the worst women, thinking with single-hearted regret of their own deficiencies, come near to the foily of stooping somewhat to buy the love which should be theirs without price.

Mary was sometimes sorely tempted; and thus when her whole heart melted at the danger of Ralph Brooke, what had been hovering on the threshold of his door—a young girl's eager, unreserved, infatuated love, was thrown right at his feet.

But the very unreserve and lowliness of her affections saved Mary. Thinking it all over, conning many and many a time the scenes in which Ralph might seek her favor, and covet her interest, and flatter her by his eyes as he had begun to do at Buckley, Mary could never bring herself to see Ralph as the obliged party. The young master, the crown prince, the ruler at Buckley, to be dependent on her bounty, to receive his goods, his own portion of goods, to which he ought to have been free, as a gift at her hands! Mary would sooner die than subject him to the indignity. She would rather wander away and never be heard of again; she would rather deny her own identity; she almost thought she would rather see him learning some profession, and slaving to acquire a career, and obtaining, however late, a hard-won independence—for her Ralph Brook could never ultimately fail; she would rather see him marry some other woman, some happy, unconcerned woman, in the midst of his struggles, and die herself a spinster, and bequeath Buckley to his children than put a yolk round his neck and mock him with the restoration of his own.

Poor Mary! It was wretched on every side, and after sundry more intellectual consultations with Aunt Fan, she shrank from the mere mention of the fact, and drew back within herself to exhaust herself with wild schemes and castles in the air, and mope and pine under a conception of their crying flaws and failures, and the increasing horror that her grandfather was an old man, well stricken in years as in infirmity, and time was passing on and bringing with it the disastrous conclusion.

Then the naval population of Chatham in Mary's rank began to remark how much Mary Shenstone took her uncle's death to heart, and what a weak girl she must be, and how selfish to dwell on her own loss, why she was longer and more nervous than the widow herself; and to speculate what the particular grievance could be, whether the diminished income, the more cheerless home, the care of Aunt Fan; and to make ducks and drakes of poor Mary's distress, and read it backwards, as we often read our neighbor's troubles.

It was at this juncture that Ralph Brooke thought fit to pay his proposed visit to Chatham, and when he entered the widow's drawing-room unannounced, Mary received him as you would receive the man whose pocket you had feloniously picked, against whose limbs and life you have entertained garotting designs, while you are not clean can lost to the shame and horror of your crime. The girl nearly fainted before his eyes.

Ralph was confounded; he feared at first that her nerves had received a serious shock, that her health was hurt, and all the man within him was stirred to quiet and strengthen his darling. But as ill-luck would have it, another suggestion, plausible as it was hateful, prompted itself for Mary's excessive trepidation. Poor Aunt Fan had not entertained a guest since her woeful loss, and to-day two trespassed at once on her retirement. Misfortunes do not come alone—nor visitors, particularly when the last are rare. The son of an old friend of Uncle Charles's, a lad who had sailed uner his command, and owed much to his kindness, had come into harbor, and in his sailor heartiness saw no objection, but all the reason in the world for running up in person to pay his respects to the widow, bluntly to echo her regrets, and try his hand to comfort her by his heartfelt assurances of the universal respects and regard in which the late Captain Morgan had been held in and out of the service. The lad was not far wrong. Aunt Fan, even in her first agony, would have been fain to admit him, to hear with streaming eyes his homely, earnest encomiums, to open her kind heart in return to their author, and shake off her stupor to ask faintly, but with interest, after his belongings, and where he expected his next appointment. Aunt Fan was a sort of second mother to all the young lieutenants and middies who came across her, especially to those who had been associated with Charles Morgan. The mischief was that this worthy young Lieutenant Oliver and Ralph Brooke happened to hit on the very same day for paying their respects to Mrs. Morgan, equally resigned and even pleased to see both of them, raising her sweet eyes, sweet to old age, to Ralph Brooke's face, with a little excitement able to take in his gallant presence and his comeliness, and to feel proud with a very womanly pride that there was not a young fellow in Chatham better to look upon than Mary's Ralph Brooke.

At first neither of the visitors gave place to the other. Ralph had come three counties' distance, and under his courtesy to Aunt Fan, he hugged a grave personal problem which he had screwed himself up to the point of solving, and which he was not inclined to relinquish on a moment's notice for any interloper.

Lieutenant Oliver had gone about the Morgans since he was a boy, was on the most enviably friendly and familiar terms with Aunt Fan and Mary, and innocently imagined, since he had arrived from the other end of the earth primarily, and the other end of the town secondarily, to see his friends, and it was a manly effort in a lad who had an awful vision of black dresses, broad bordered handkerchiefs, and hysterics, now since he found them composed and conversable there was no harm, he was doing the proper thing in sitting still, as he used to do when Mrs. Morgan invited him. The boy did not know why the hand upon his arm and the voice addressing him shook together as she issued the wonted hospitable request. It did not strike Mr. Oliver, obtuse enough, though brave and kindly, that Aunt Fan's memory flew back to him who had sat at the foot of the table when Dick Oliver was last there, and then she wondered which of the strangers she could ask to fill his place to-day, and how she should bear to see one of them there without breaking down before the young people. She must keep up for the young people, the world was yet before them, they could not understand her shipwreck, and it was not for her to lay her load on their shoulders and repel them by dismal depression. Dick Oliver was as nice a boy as could be, he always said so; and Mary's Ralph Brooke was distinguished as well as attractive looking, and she could rejoice on Mary's account that he was come; it would do the child some good, it would help to ease her mind.

LATEST MAIL NEWS.

ENGLAND.

A startling discovery was made last week at Doyley, a village near Sheffield, an extensive building contractor, a few days ago, eloped with a young lady living in that locality. It was supposed they had sailed for America, but next morning their bodies were found in the dam at Loxley. It is believed they committed suicide.

Last week before the Cheltenham magistrates, James Maule, a clerk, and George Herbert, an agent, were each fined £5 and costs, or fourteen days' imprisonment, for abstracting voting papers and using them in behalf of the Conservative candidates at the last election for poor law guardians. Two similar cases will be heard next week and the Conservative party threaten reprisals.

Eton pupils, present and former, have established and maintained in one of the poorest districts of East London, England, what is called a "mission," for the inculcation of correct sanitary, social, educational, and religious principles. The other day Sir Stafford Northcote presided at a meeting in Willis' Rooms on behalf of the Eton mission, and Lord Carnarvon, Lord Coleridge, and other eminent Etonians pleaded this good cause.

Ireland.

The agricultural prospects of the counties of Waterford, Tipperary, Kilkenny are most promising.

The bailiffs are finding it so difficult to serve writs that in several cases they have been obliged to obtain permission to send them by post.

The Salvation Army have been parading and holding open-air meetings in Enniskillen recently. They seem to have had a better time there than elsewhere in the north.

A soldier of the First Regiment was attacked at Charleville, the other night, and badly beaten. It was alleged he had made some disparaging reference to Father Sheehy.

An affray is said to have occurred between the gunboat "Goshawk" and the islanders of Arranmore, the latter having, by smashing five of the ship's boats, provoked the gunboat to fire upon them.

At a late meeting of the Newry Board of Guardians, a gentleman called attention to the fact that in one small townland in the vicinity of his property five cows had to be destroyed, having been bitten by mad dogs.

A demonstration of unemployed laborers took place in Dublin lately, when the principal streets were paraded by a crowd. A black flag was carried, with the words, "One thousand men out of work. One thousand families starving. Christianity a mockery."

The Dons of Trinity College, Dublin, have relaxed the interdict against the races which used to be held annually in their Pulling Park, and which made one of Dublin's brightest Summer fetes. Some Peckwater frauds caused their suspension for the last two or three years.

A man who was employed as a laborer in the Dublin chemical works, slipped off a plank the other day and fell into a tank of caustic or carbolic acid, from which he immediately emerged, and "went to cool himself in a water tank." He became weak, and died while being conveyed to the hospital.

The Drogheda branch of the Land League has resolved to "make out a list of the shopkeepers of Drogheda who have joined the Irish National Land League, and circulate same among the members of this branch requesting them to support only those shopkeepers who have joined the League. Those who are not with us are against us. God save Ireland!"

The most intense excitement prevailed at Clonmel a few days ago, where sales of farms were announced to take place. Early in the morning several hundred well-mounted and disciplined horsemen, wearing green sashes, preceded by bands, and followed by an immense procession of people, paraded the town. All the streets leading to the Court House were lined with police and military, and all shops and business places were closed. The sales passed off quietly.

Joseph Murphy was charged before the Charleville magistrates lately, with having stolen a writ of ejectment from a bailiff named Madigan. It was alleged that while Madigan was in the publichouse, defendant asked him if he had any writs, and took one from his pocket. Prosecutor, however, admitted that sometimes his family took writs from him and destroyed them, in order to prevent his serving them. The case was dismissed.

The entire body of sheriffs, bailiffs and process servers of Dundalk district waited upon the sub-sheriff last week, and informed him they had unanimously come to a decision to serve no writs or processes, or take any part whatever in seizures or in evictions for nonpayment of rent. This decision must cause some inconvenience, as proceedings are pending against the tenants of some estates who cannot come to an agreement with their landlords as to payment of rent.

Bridget Glernon, wife of a laborer, in Mullingar, Westmeath, who had been suffering some time with fever, ordered a woman who was in attendance on her out of the house; and in her absence the unfortunate woman threw her child, two years of age, into the fire, the injuries inflicted causing death. She then threw herself on the fire, and was badly burned, when the police arrived. The poor woman, it is needless to say, is believed to have been out of her mind when committing the dreadful deed.

A most outrageous assault was perpetrated in Dublin lately by a sergeant, a corporal and some privates belonging to the Scots Guards. The sergeant and corporal drew their swords and rushed upon and wounded several people. One poor man was knocked down and struck several times by the sergeant. He was cut on the back, and, were it not for the timely arrival of a policeman, there is little doubt but there would have been several lives lost. The sergeant was brought to the station and charged with the outrage.

At a meeting of the Castlewellan, Co. Down, Land League, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "We hereby record our most indignant protest against the unmasked tyranny of 'the base, brutal and bloody Whig Government,' in arresting that most noble of priests, the Rev. Father Sheehy; and that we hereby pledge ourselves to redoubled efforts to bring to a successful issue the cause which he so warmly espoused and so ably advocated, that is, the right of every Irishman to own the land he cultivates." Similar resolutions are being passed in all the branches throughout the country.

As an illustration of the reign of terror at present existing in Westmeath, it may be mentioned that the unfortunate man named Farrelly who was brutally murdered some weeks ago, and the perpetrators of which have not yet been discovered, left by his will a considerable amount of landed property to his brothers and relatives. Since the occurrence the brothers have received threatening notices, and the effect of these has been that they have been compelled, in fear of their lives, publicly to notify that they will not resume possession of the land which their murdered brother held. The land is now lying waste, laborers being afraid to go upon the ground to reap the crops.

A farmer named Patrick Nolan residing at Glasson, Westmeath, a short time ago purchased a portion of the land from which a tenant had been ejected for non-payment of rent. In consequence of this he received several threatening letters, which service he appeared to have disregarded. The other night an armed body of men, with their faces blackened, surrounded Nolan's residence, and, on a demand for admission having been complied with, Nolan was informed that if he did not relinquish possession of the land he had taken possession of his life would not be worth twenty-four hours' purchase. The armed men then left the premises, firing a volley at the house as they took their departure.

A large number of constabulary arrived at Moate the other day on their way to Doon, King's Co. to protect the sheriff in the execution of ejectments. The local constabulary having been directed to employ post-cars for their conveyance to the scene of operations this morning, visited the different carowners and were in every instance refused cars. Next morning Capt. Barry arrived to take command. He went to the principal hotel for a car to convey him to Doon. He was in the first instance refused, but on explaining who he was, and pointing out that if the proprietor persisted in his refusal, the usual yearly publican's certificate would not be granted, he was furnished with a car and a horse, but no driver, which compelled him to become his own Jehu, accompanied by a policeman.

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Session—Fourth Parliament.

QUEBEC, June 27.—A message was received from the Legislative Council, informing the House it had passed the following among other bills:—Relating to the Bar of the Province; Respecting the Parish of Notre Dame, Montreal.

On motion of Mr. Lecavalier, the House went again into committee on the bill to incorporate the Silver Plume Mining Company. The bill, after being amended several times, was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Mercier moved to appoint a joint committee of both Houses to study the situation of the country, to seek for remedies to be applied and reforms to be made, to put an end to deficits and avoid fresh taxation.

The motion was lost on a division of 15 against 23.

The bill to annex a part of the parish of St. Calixte and another parcel of land, which is not yet erected civilly, to the parish of St. Theodore, in the county of Montcalm, was declared to be out of order and was accordingly withdrawn.

The bill to exempt from seizure one-half of the wages of laborers was carried on division, read a third time and carried.

The following bills were, after discussion, allowed to drop:—To secure the payment of the mechanic, builder, laborer and of all those who have worked at the construction of any building; to amend and consolidate the provisions respecting the preparation of lists of electors; to afford greater security to railway employes against accidents; to amend the Act 32 Vict., chap. 22, intituled: "An act to amend the law respecting jurors and juries;" to provide for the recovery of claims arising from the construction of the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa & Occidental Railway, or from the transport of passengers and goods on the said railroad.

Hon. Mr. Loranger moved that the writs of election for the county of Vercheres be issued. Carried.

After recess.—Hon. Mr. Robertson moved the resumption of the adjourned debate on the motion for receiving the report of the committee of supply on resolution C (maintenance Q., M., O. & O. R., $703,319), and the sub-amendment of Mr. Irvine to Mr. Gagnon's amendment.

Mr. Irvine made a strong speech in favor of his sub-amendment. He spoke very strongly and bitterly against the appointment of Mr. Senecal as superintendent of the Q., M., O. & O. Ry. He said that Mr. Senecal had been a bankrupt two or three times, contending that he was not a reliable man to have in such an important position as manager of the road.

Hon. Mr. Lynch stigmatized the attacks made on Mr. Senecal as cowardly. They had raked up old slanders of twenty years' standing. He stoutly defended the administration of the road by Mr. Senecal, who had made of the road one of the best on the continent. The Opposition had not been able to prove anything against Mr. Senecal before the committee on public accounts, and as long as there was nothing proven against Mr. Senecal, the Government was not blameable in keeping him in office, but to the contrary, it had acted in the interests of the province in keeping a highly qualified official in office, notwithstanding all the slanders brought against him.

Mr. Taillon pointed out that the Opposition would condemn any appointment made by a Conservative Government on the Q., M., O. & O. Railway.

After some further discussion the sub-amendment was lost on a division of 16 against 26.

The amendment was also lost on the same division.

Another amendment moved by Mr. Gagnon, to the effect that the Superintendent of the Q., M., O. & O. Railway be given a salary of $3,000 in lieu of a percentage on the receipts, was lost, and the main motion carried on the same division.

Hon. Mr. Robertson moved the House into committee of ways and means.

Three amendments were proposed and lost on divisions of 26 to 16. The House then went into committee and received the report of the committee of supply.

The Supply Bill was then read a first time, and the House adjourned at 1.45 a.m.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Proclamation of Waterford—Exciting Debate—Progress of the Land Bill—Turkestan and Afghanistan.

LONDON, June 27.—In the House of Commons to-night there was an exciting debate. The Home Rulers made a concerted attack upon the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and Mr. Forster, Irish Home Secretary, in reprobation of their action in proclaiming the county of Waterford as destined to be brought under the Coercion Act.

Mr. Frank P. O'Donnell, member for Dungarvon, said that only one assault in Waterford had been reported during the last six months, and declared that there was far more respect for law and order in Waterford city and county, and that life and property were more secure there than they were in London, Liverpool or Manchester.

Mr. Forster, in reply, justified this proclamation, and said he was quite ready to meet a vote of censure from the House.

Mr. Richard Power, member for Waterford City, Mr. Sullivan, member for Meath, Mr. Arthur O'Connor, of Queen's County, and Mr. Parnell severely censured the Government for its action, declaring that it appeared determined, by unjust restrictions and persecutions, to drive the Irish people into acts of violence, which would furnish excuse for shooting them down.

Mr. Healey said the real reason for the proclamation of Waterford was that the Duke of Devonshire owned 30,000 acres of land in the county, and it was desirable to enable his agents to imprison troublesome persons. Another speaker described Mr. Forster as a "Brummagem Castlereagh."

Mr. Parnell said Mr. Forster had persevered in his shameless course.

Mr. O'Donnell's motion for the adjournment of the House was rejected, 305 to 28.

Clause four of the Land Bill has been carried in Committee.

Sir C. Dilke said the territory recently annexed by Russia is the Tekke Oasis, extending as far as 190 miles from the Afghanistan frontier.

Lord Hartington said the subsidies given to the Ameer of Afghanistan amount to £399,000.

Mr. Charles Russell, Q.C., the member for Dundalk, has given notice of a new clause to the Bill providing that the Land Court may arrange for the settlement of the arrears of rent which have accrued since 1877, by composition or deferred payments; that it may, under certain circumstances, reinstate a tenant against whom an ejectment decree has been obtained, and that the Land Commissioners may assist such tenant by advances.

The News, commenting on the notice of Mr. Gladstone to give the Land Bill precedence over all other Orders, says:—"We cannot close our eyes to the immense strain and burden about to be placed upon Mr. Gladstone's strength, and the danger, not only to the Bill but to the nation and Ministry, of its being overtaxed.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best (and some of the worst) physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at for two years, before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The Parents.—Telegram.

Liquid or Dry.

Some people prefer to purchase medicines in the dry state so that they can see for themselves that they are purely vegetable. Others have not the time or desire to prepare the medicine, and wish it already to use.

To accommodate each class the proprietors of Kidney-Wort now offer that well-known remedy in both Liquid and dry forms.

Sold by druggists everywhere.—Truth. 150-3

D. Sullivan, Malcolm, Ontario, writes:—I have been selling Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for some years, and have no hesitation in saying that it has given better satisfaction than any other medicine I have ever sold. I consider it the only patent medicine that cures more than it is recommended to cure." 12

Two Hundred and Forty-four Miles of Stove Polish.

Messrs. Morse Bros., of Canton, Mass., are now making large shipments of "The Rising Sun" Stove Polish to London, England. Their labor-saving machinery enables them to overcome the difference in cost of labor and compete successfully with European manufacturers. Then goods have now been sold in the United States for sixteen years, and in the Maritime Provinces for ten years. The sale of "The Rising Sun" Stove Polish in the United States, Canada, Great Britain and Sandwich Islands in 1880 reached the enormous quantity of 724 tons, 3,864,528 packages. As the cakes are four inches long, the product of 1880, placed in a line, would extend two hundred and forty-four miles. Each package of the genuine bears their long established trade mark—a picture of the rising sun—registered in the United States, England and Canada. The trade and consumers are especially cautioned against dangerous imitations in the market of their long-established trade mark, a picture of the rising sun, by which unprincipled manufacturers are seeking to reap the advantage of the great reputation and superior quality of the genuine article. Their Montreal agents are Messrs. Lyman, Sons & Co., wholesale druggists.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

The Great Blood Purifier.

CHANGES AS SEEN AND FELT, AS THEY DAILY OCCUR, AFTER USING A FEW DOSES.

1. Good spirits, disappearance of weakness, languor, melancholy, increase and hardiness of flesh and muscles, etc.

3. Disappearance of spots, blotches, pimples; the skin looks clear and healthy; the urine changes from its turbid and cloudy appearance to a clear cherry or amber color; water passes freely from the bladder through the urethra without pain or scalding; little or no sediment no pain or weakness.

4. Marked diminution of quantity and frequency of involuntary weakening discharges (if afflicted in that way), with certainty of permanent cure. Increased strength exhibited in the secreting glands, and functional harmony restored to the several organs.

5. Yellow tinge on the white of the eyes, and the swarthy, saffron appearance of the skin changed to a clear, lively and healthy color.

6. Those suffering from weak or ulcerated lungs or tubercles will realize great benefit in expectorating freely the tough phlegm or mucus from the lungs, air cells, bronchi or windpipe, throat or head; diminishing the frequency of cough; general increase of strength throughout the system; stoppage of night sweats and pains and feelings of weakness around the ankles, legs, shoulders, etc., cessation of cold and chills, sense of suffocation, hard breathing and paroxysm of cough on lying down or arising in the morning. All these distressing symptoms gradually and surely disappear.

7. As day after day the SARSAPARILLIAN is taken new signs of returning health will appear; as the blood improves in purity and strength, disease will diminish, and all foreign and impure deposits, nodes, tumors, cancers, hard lumps, etc., will be resolved away, and unsound made sound and healthy; ulcers, fever sores, chronic skin diseases gradually disappear.

8. In cases where the system has been salivated, and Mercury, Quicksilver, Corrosive Sublimate have accumulated and become deposited in the bones, joints, etc., causing caries of the bones, rickets, spinal curvatures, contortions, white swellings, varicose veins, etc., the SARSAPARILLIAN will resolve away these deposits and exterminate the virus of the disease from the system.

9. If those who are taking these medicines for the cure of Chronic Scrofulous diseases, however slow may be the cure, "feel better," and find their general health improving, their flesh and weight increasing or even keeping its own, it is a sure sign that the cure is progressing. In these diseases the patient either gets better or worse—the virus of the disease is not inactive; if not arrested and driven from the blood, it will spread and continue to undermine the constitution. As soon as the SARSAPARILLIAN makes the patient "feel better," every hour you will grow better and increase in health, strength and flesh.

The great power of this remedy is in diseases that threaten death, as in

of the Lungs and Tuberculous Phthisis, Scrofula Syphiloid Diseases, Wasting, Degeneration, and Ulceration of the Kidneys, Diabetes, Stoppage of Water (instantaneous relief afforded where catheters have been used, thus doing away with the painful operation of using these instruments), dissolving Stone in the Bladder, and in all cases of
