Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

JUNE 4 TO 11

The summer will be relatively dry and quite HOT so a water shortage and many forest fires may be anticipated.

Frosty nights, morning valley mists or dews. Tobacco and other delicate plants will require protection. Rapid evaporation of dews can be as chilling as a killing frost.

HOT, sunny days with light, warm southerly winds, then magenta and orange or sandy sunsets to warn us of evening thunderstorms with hail.

Temperature range: Quebec and Ontario, 35 and 90°F. Maritimes, 45 and 85°F; New England, 40 and 90°F.

Two independents, four parties, contest riding

The day before the official nominations closed in Westmount, it appeared that the Hon. Richard Hyde, was going to be opposed only by a member of the short-lived Quebec Conservative Party, Roger Billette. In fact even Billette didn't make it official until the last minute.

Then it came, within two hours of closing time, the returning office saw four more candidates come in and put down their $200. The result; we have running in our riding, a Liberal, R.I.N., R.N., U.N., and two independents.

Westmount, may very well be the only riding on the island, or in the province, for that matter, that has a mere two of its six candidates residing in the riding. Furthermore, the two that do reside in Westmount, do not belong to a major party.

With redistribution, our boundaries encompass part of N.D.G., Hampstead, the Cote des Neiges area, Westmount itself and territory east to Park avenue.

The six candidaes here are:

Roger Billette

A graduate of the University of Montreal, magna cum laude, and of McGill, the Quebec Conservative Party candidate in Westmount is a French Canadian, Roger Billette.

A resident of Valleyfield, Billette is the president of the Quebec Property Owners League. In the past several years, he has taken students from the Toronto area into his home and instructed them in French.

He has acquired property in nine different communities and is particularly intrigued with the problem of social welfare. Married, he is the father of four children.

John H. Dunne

A 55-year-old public relations consultant, John Dunne, has tossed his hat into the political ring for the first time and will run as an independent in Westmount.

Educated at Loyola High School, he underwent further courses at the LaSalle Extension University of Chicago and the Alexander Hamilton Institute. A former organizer for both provincial and federal political aspirants, he is a former owner of the Lachute Arena and was part-owner of the Bonnie-brook Golf Club.

Married to the former Kathleen Keenan, he is the father of two daughters, both attending Sir George Williams University.

Urbain Fisher

Born in 1929, Urbain Fisher is making his initial attempt for public office as the National Union candidate in Westmount.

Although a native of Montreal, he attended Bryant High School in New York before continuing on to an insurance underwriting course in Toronto. Active in a variety of enterprises, he is a

Polling station locations

The provincial riding of Westmount, has 210 polling stations for the June 5th election. Below, is the poll number, address and description of the last 71 polls which are located in the City of Westmount. The first 139 polls, although they are located in the Westmount riding, lie outside our city limits.

"Bonjour" stranger

A close look at the list of candidates in the riding of Westmount and their backgrounds, brings to light a very interesting point.

Of the six candidates, representing four parties and two independents, there are only two who reside in the riding. They are: John Dunne, an independent and Andree Maillet-Hobden, a separatist, running for the R.I.N.

The others: The Hon. Richard Hyde, Liberal, lives in Beaconsfield, Urbain Fisher, National Union lives in Laval, Lucien Vallee, resides in Montreal and Roger Billette, an independent, is from out of town.

Advance polls set for today and Friday only

In view of the coming Quebec general elections of this Sunday, special polling stations will be opened today and Friday, from 2.00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. in the evening at 330 Clarke avenue.

During these two days, the deputy returning-officer of all special polling stations must accept the vote of the qualified electors in these stations.

Only those entitled to vote in these special polling stations are railway, postal and transport services employees, sailors, missionary priests, travelling salesmen, and all other persons whose habitual occupation prevents them from being at home and those who have reason to believe that their ordinary occupation will oblige them to absent themselves from the municipalities they reside in on the day set for the general elections and will prevent them from voting on that day.

PROCEDURE

A voter must obtain a certificate from either the returning-officer, his secretary, or from an appointed person who will receive the electors from 2:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. in the evening the days the special poiling stations are opened.

The elector has the right to the certificate if he makes a personal demand, indentifies himself and endorses his signature on the certificate.

There he gives it back to the deputy returning-officer of the special polling station and then he is sworn-in. He is then given his ballot if he has the right.

If for one reason or another, the elector cannot vote on the special polling day, and that he does receive his certificate, that gives him the right to vote, he may do so on general voting day

Local firm gains international award

The engineers of T. Pringle & Son Limited, 245 Victoria Ave., building and industrial consultants, recently became the first Canadian recipients of the coveted Actual Specifying Engineer Award which was presented earlier this month at the annual meeting of the American Consulting Engineers Council held in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The citation reads: "For outstanding innovation and achievement in advancing the science of mechanical/electrical engineering for the benefit of mankind . . ." The award was granted for the design of an air-conditioning and heating system for The Bell Telephone Company of Canada Limited's head-office building in Montreal.

In accepting the award on behalf of T. Pringle & Son Limited, Vice-President Edward C. Amos, Eng. expressed pride in receiving the first non-U.S. award in this series. He also took the opportunity of thanking the design and construction engineering staff of the Bell, "the largest Canadian telephone company and a prominent member of the AT&T Association, without whose support this project could not have been undertaken."

ENGINEERING AWARD: Edward C. Amos, Eng., Vice-President of T. Pringle & Son Limited receiving the "Actual Specifying Engineer Award" plaque presented at the annual meeting of The American Consulting Engineers Council held in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"With more than 1,000 premises scattered throughout Quebec and Ontario, Bell Telephone is probably as experienced in owning and renting buildings as any firm outside the real estate business," he said. "When the time came to up-date the system in their head-office building, they sought a well-planned solution and, as in their own field of communications, an exploration of the latest technical innovations."

The result is an integrated air-conditioning and heating system with many unusual features, some of which are unique. The installation is one of the largest reconversion projects of its kind in Canada, comprising a centralized heating and refrigeration plant with a turbine-absorption system and an electronic solid-state centralized control centre. The latter includes a data-logger that can monitor twenty other buildings in the surrounding area.

Westmount Park renovations

In 1965, phase one, including the installation of underground services, construction of the pond complex and waterfalls, pathways, contouring, seeding, planting and lighting: and part of Phase Two, i.e. the Children's Play Area and the Senior Citizens' Area, were completed. Planting work, consisting of trees, shrubbery and flowers were completed during the summer.

The reconstruction, landscaping and general improvement of the Melville Pond Area is scheduled for 1966.

Inspectors eye central city area

The annual house-to-house fire inspection, carried out by the Westmount Fire Department, got underway yesterday.

This year, the aim of the inspection is to cover as much of the central section of the city as possible. This includes all buildings from Sherbrooke street north to The Boulevard and from Claremont east to Atwater.

The object of the inspection is to notify residents of any hazards that may be found by the firemen in their houses. Hazards they may not think to be potential fire starters.

Rubbish in the back yards, cluttered halls or staircases and overloaded fuse boxes are the main concern of the inspectors.

In the past two years, inspections were carried out in the southern section of the city and the year before that, the northern section.

The inspection will last until mid-October when Fire Prevention Week draws to a close Oct. 14th.

We Say

Sunday vote stresses dignity, rule of law

WHATEVER individual personal views may be held regarding Sunday voting, its provision in this Province is law.

Indeed, it was passed by the Legislature with rare, all-party unanimity.

It has been said rightly that the time to protest was then, not now in the heat of a general election.

Sunday Quebec goes to the polls. All who cherish the hard-won privilege, right and duty to vote—in a world where the people's ballot is mocked by single-choice tickets or denied entirely—will be out sometime Sunday to place their crosses on paper in the secrecy of a closed booth.

Some facetious things have been said, such as wondering whether one should go to church before or after voting.

More debatable has been the question as to whether or not Sunday elections are a desecration of the sabbath. Conscience here comes into play; yet we must doubt that in A.D. 1966 many could say that the act of voting was incompatible with many other forms of their Sunday activtiy.

In other words, a good deal of hypocrisy may be suspected if any significant, larger than usual number of citizens of voting age, especially the newly enfranchised younger group of 18-year-olds and up, fails to exercise their franchise.

Since Quebec's Sunday election provisions were adopted by an unanimous Legislature which must have included a good number of God-fearing men, it is to be hoped that there will be clergymen who this weekend will encourage a good turnout at the polls by stressing from their pulpits the dignity of Man as exemplified in a free democracy and by the rule of law.

Lt.-Col. N. Cook takes over RCE, Wolfe retires

Command of 3 Field Engineer Regiment, Royal Engineers (Militia) of Westmount will pass to Lieutenant-Colonel Norman Cook, CD, from Lieutenant-Colonel Joel Wolfe, who is retiring after 25 years military service, which included service with Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery's famed Eighth Army in its drive across North Africa.

The change was made at a ceremonial parade last Sunday afternoon, on the grounds of Westmount High School.

Brigadier J. H. R. Gagnon, OBE, CD, Senior Militia Advisor for Quebec, was reviewing officer for the parade.

Joined In 1941

The retiring commanding officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Wolfe, enlisted in the Royal Engineers as a Sapper in 1941 in the Middle East and was commissioned in 1942. He served in the Eighth Army's campaign in North Africa. Later he served with 643 Field Company of the Jewish Brigade Group in Italy. He joined the local Militia unit on his return to Canada in 1949, holding a number of appointments until he was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel and given command in May, 1963.

Lieutenant-Colonel Cooke, CD, MASc, ScD, FCIC, MEIC, RCE, joined the infantry for Pacific service in 1945, but was demobilized before he could get overseas. With the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, he volunteered for service with the 57th Independent Field Squadron, RCE. He was mentioned in dispatches during his service in Korea.

In civilian life, Lieutenant-Colonel Wolfe is the president of a company which assembles electronic equipment. Lieutenant-Colonel Cooke is Principal Chemical Engineer for Canadian Industries Limited.

The regiment paraded its own band, affiliated cadet corps, and its field squadron based in Chambly.

Biography of Streets

Clarke avenue

As it has been previously noted, the material available upon the subject of Clarke avenue is quite extensive, because Washington Irving's 'Astoria' published in 1836 and Miss Adele Clarke's 'Old Montreal; John Clarke: His Adventures, Friends and Family' published in 1906, give detailed accounts of activities of one of Westmount's most famous sons, John Clarke, who was born in the house Simon Clarke built about 1750 and demolished about the turn of the present century, which stood at what is now the north-east corner of Clarke avenue and Sherbrooke street. Previous instalments have given an outline of the fur trade upon which John Clarke embarked in about his twentieth year, and we now follow him, by Washington Irving's 'Astoria' in what is perhaps the most famous of his adventures.

It may be assumed that John Clarke, having been taken on as a partner by John Astor, was one of those to whom fell the assembling of the party which was to make the overland voyage to the new centre of the fur trade on the Columbia.

Washington Irving gives (1836) a colorful picture of the problem involved. "Mr. Hunt, (the chief partner in the enterprise) repaired, about the latter part of July, 1810, to Montreal, the ancient emporium of the fur trade, where everything requisite for the expedition could be procured.

Voyageurs

"One of the first objects was to recruit a complement of Canadian voyageurs from the disbanded herd usually to be found loitering about the place. A degree of jockeyship, however, is required for this service, for a Canadian voyageur is as full of tricks and vices as a horse; and when he makes the greatest external promises, is prone to prove the greatest take in!

"Besides the Northwest Company, who maintained a long-established control at Montreal, and knew the qualities of every voyageur, secretly interdicted the prime hands from engaging in this new service; so that, although liberal terms were offered, few presented themselves but such as were not worth having.

"From these, Mr. Hunt engaged a number sufficient, as he supposed, for present purposes; and having laid in a supply of ammunition, provisions, and Indian goods, embarked all on board one of those great canoes at that time universally used by the fur traders for navigating the intricate and often-obstructed rivers.

"The canoe was between thirty and forty feet long, and several feet in width; construted of birck bark, sewed with fibre of the roots of the spruce tree, and daubed with resin of the pine, instead of tar. The cargo was made up in packages, weighing from onety to one hundred pounds each, for the facility of loading and unloading, and of transportation on portages. The canoe itself, though capable of sustaining a freight of upward of four tons, could readily be carried on men's shoulders. Canoes of this size are generally managed by eight to ten men, two of whom are picked veterans, who receive double wages, and who are stationed one at the bow and one at the stern, to keep a lookout and steer. They are termed the foreman and the steerman. The rest, who ply the paddles, are called the middle-men. When there is a favourable breeze, the canoe is occasionally navigated with a sail.

ST. ANNE'S

"The expedition took its regular departure, as usual, from St. Anne's the extremity of the island of Montreal, the great starting place of the traders to the interior. Here stood the ancient chapel of St. Anne, the patroness of the Canadian Voyageurs, where they made confession, and offered up their vows, previous to departing on any hazardous expedition. The shrine of the saint was decorated with relics and votive offerings hung by the superstitious beings, either to propitiate her afvors, or in gratitude for some signal deliverance in the wilderness. It was the custom, too, of these devout vagabonds, after leaving the chapel, to have a grand carouse, in honor of the saint and for the prosperity of the voyage. In this part of their devotions, the crew of Mr. Hunt proved themselves to be by no means deficient. Indeed, he soon discovered that his recruits, enlisted at Montreal, were fit to vie with the ragged regiment of Falstaff.

"Some were able-bodied but inexpert others were expert, but lazy; while a third class were expert and willing, but totally worn out, being broken down veterans, incapable of toil.

"with this inefficent crew, he made his way up the Ottawa River, and by the ancient route of the fur traders along a succession of small lakes and rivers to Michilimackinac. Their progress was slow and tedious. Mr. Hunt was not accustomed to the management of 'voyageurs', and he had a crew admirably disposed to play the old soldier, and balk their work, and ever ready to come to a halt, make a fire, put on the great pot, and smoke, and gossip and sing by the hour.

MACKINAW

"It was not until the 22nd of January that they arrived at Mackinaw, situated on the island of the same name, at the confluence of Lakes Huron and Michigan.

"This famous old French trading post continued to be the rallying point for a multifarious and motley population. The inhabitants were amphibious in their habits, most of them being, or having been, voyageurs or [illegible]. It was a great place of arrival and departure of the southwest fur trade. Here the Mackinaw Company had established its principal post, from whence it communicated with the interior and with Montreal. Hence, its various traders and trappers set out for their respective destinations about Lake Superior and its tributary waters, or for the Mississippi, the Arkansas, the Missouri, and the other regions of the West. Here, after an absence of a year or more, they returned with their peltries, and settled their accounts; the furs rendered in by them being transmitted, in canoe, from hence to Montreal. Mackinaw was, therefore, for a great part of the year, very scantily peopled; but at certain seasons the traders arrived from all pointsè with their crews of voyageurs, and the place swarmed like a hive.

THE HABITS

"Mackinaw, at the time, was a mere village, stretching along a small bay, with a fine broad beach in front of its principal row of houses, and dominated by an old fort, which crowned an impending height. The beach was a kind of public promenade, where were displayed all the vagaries of a seaport on the arrival of a fleet from a long cruise. Here voyageurs frolicked away their wages, fiddling and dancing in booths and cabins, buying all kinds of knick-knacks, dressing themselves out [illegible] and parading up and down as arrogant braggarts and coxcombs. Sometimes they met with rival coxcombs in the young Indians from the opposite shore, who would appear on the beach painted and decorated in fantastic style, and would saunter up and down, to be gazed at and admired, perfect satisfied that they eclipsed their place-faced competitors.

"At this place, Mr. Hunt remained for some time, to complete his assortment of Indian goods, and to increase his number of voyageurs, as well as to engage some of a

At Unity Boys':

Club prepares for six week program

All attention has been focussed during the past week on the M.B.A. Track & Field Day held last Saturday at the Westmount Athletic Grounds. Entries from the four M.B.A. Clubs participated in the event, namely: East End, Lions, Point St. Charles and Unity. Winners will be announced next week.

SUMMER PROGRAM

Now that we have had a taste of summer weather our thoughts are turning to the Unity Boys' Club summer program, which has always been a big feature in Club activity. This event occurs for a six week stretch each year and features many unusual and enjoyable activities. The dates this year are July 4th to August 12th. Much information has been gleaned from the various Embassies of the countries which we are introducing to our members during this Summer Program. The countries are: Japan, Holland and Brazil. The intention is to acquaint the members with the customs and manners of these strange lands. For instance a Japanese Supper may be planned, games which are peculiar to Brazil will be played. Costumes of the various countries will be worn if available and altogether we hope to have a very cosmopolitan atmosphere around the Club this summer. Brochures of the various countries have been prepared by Tom Stephens, Program Director and Miss Victoria Schrammel, Girls' Worker and will be available to the members shortly.

PICNIC

A very impromptu but satisfactory picnic was enjoyed by some twenty club members in Staynor Park on one of the very beautiful evenings we had last week. There is nothing wrong with the Unity Boys' Club member's appetites we might add.

CONGRATULATIONS

To Gary Repta, a Boys' Clubs of Canada Scholarship Student, who has been connected with Unity for his Field Work. Gary passed his exams handily and now has a B.A. Degree to his credit.

KEYSTONE CLUB

This group continues to meet at the Club on a regular basis. They are in the process of drawing up their by-laws and making plans for the future.

CAMP LEWIS TRIP

Don't forget to sign up for the Family Outing to Camp Lewis planned for the 18th of June. This is being arranged by the Montreal Boys' Association. A good turn-out is anticipated. Bring your bathing suits, lunch and towel.

GRADUATES

We would like to congratulate the Club members who graduated from Westmount High. We understand the girls looked beautiful, the boys debonaire and a very wonderful time was had by all. A most enjoyable program was arranged by the Committee in charge, including dinner at St. Helen's Island, a movie at the Avenue Theatre, a dance at the school with two orchestras playing continuously in a beautifully decorated gymnasium topped off with several breakfast parties attended by game but weary youngsters.

Loyola's Maloney heads Youthpower

The opening of Youthpower, a non-profit clearing house of summer job opportunities for teen-agers, was announced recently by Lucien Michel, General Manager of Manpower Services Montreal Limited, at a luncheon meeting of Youthpower's Board of Advisors.

The Youthpower organization, which will open at 9 a.m., Saturday June 4, will be headquartered in an office at 5319 Park Avenue.

Michel introduced Peter Maloney, the twenty-year old President of the Loyola College Students' Council, who has been chosen to direct the Youthpower operation in Montreal and to act in the capacity of Advisor to the young volunteers who give their time to operate Youthpower. Youthpower's Board of public-spirited Montreal citizens, offered many worthwhile suggestions and promised to throw their support behind Youthpower and thus aid Montreal young people in finding summer employment.

Organized on a non-profit basis as a public service, Youth power will be operated by teen age volunteer workers. The physical facilities, such as telephones, office space, printing and supplies, as well as professional knowledge and guidance of its personnel will be provided by Manpower Services Montreal Limited. Manpower has also set aside scholarship for volunteers who make outstanding contributions of time and effort to Youthpower. Young people from 16 to 21 may apply at the Youthpower office for jobs mostly of an unskilled nature. The organization will serve as a means by which teen-agers, seeking employment, may be brought together with prospective employers of young people. Employers may place their requests for Youthpower workers by telephoning or stopping in the organization's office. Youthpower will not set wages. This will be a matter for the youth and the employer. Youthpower already has a number of jobs to offer young people who apply.

PETER MALONEY

U.S. IDEA

Youthpower was first operated by Manpower in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, during the summer of 1964 after Elmer Winter, President of Manpower, first conceived the idea of a free employment service for young people. That year it placed nearly 1,300 young people in summer jobs. Last summer the program was expanded to Chicago, Illinois and Green Bay, Wisconsin. It was operated in the same manner, and met with even greater success, placing over 2,000 young people.

NEW AREAS

According to Michel, part of the goal which Youthpower hopes to realize during the summer will be to develop new employment areas for young people. "In a large metropolitain community, many areas are overlooked in which young people could serve businessmen and householders", said Mr. Michel. 'By sponsoring the Youthpower project, we hope to encourage young people to explore these opportunities for themselves, and uncover employment possibilities for as many responsible young people as possible. But again, Youthpower will need everyone's cooperation to achieve its goals."

Youthpower will be open from 4 to 8 p.m. on weekdays from June 4 to June 25, and all day Saturdays. After June 25, the hours wil be 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays, and 9:00 to noon Saturdays. The Youthpower number is 273-8843.

In order to better equip Montreal young people to do various jobs which are in demand and to help them in applying for work on their own, Youthpower will hold a series of clinics

Independent John Dunne:

Plans to put a dent in Westmount with five point campaign platform

John H. Dunne, a public relations consultant, who resides at 3194 The Boulevard, will run as an independent candidate in the forthcoming June 5th election.

Dunne's last minute decision to enter the provincial race came only hours before the official nominations closed.

"It was my neighbours who made me decide to give it a try," said Dunne.

He began his campaign at the end of last week.

Just a few days ago, Dunne revealed a five-pronged attack which he hopes will oust Richard Hyde, incumbent Minister of Revenue and former Speaker of the House.

John Dunne's platform is as follows:

- "Outspoken representation

JOHN DUNNE

for the county of Westmount—one of the most important needs.

- "Continued dialogue on the necessary grants to McGill University.
- "University status for Loyola College.
- "Fairer distribution of education bursaries, and,
- "Proportional English-speaking representation on provincial government boards."

DISSATISFACTION

Dunne said he senses a "great undercurrent of dissatisfaction in Westmount and N.D.G. with the way the Liberals have been doing things."

And he complained that Revenue Minister Hyde is rarely in evidence in the riding.

"We never see Dick. He just doesn't come to the riding. He doesn't even live here."

An ideal candidate, Dunne said, "would represent the status quo, both in Westmount and in Quebec."

Westmount is largely English-speaking, Quebec has one million English-speaking citizens and, "it's time we stood up and were counted. We have our rights too, you know."

He conceded, however, that "we have possibly been too apathetic about elections in the past."

Dunne himself is a longtime Liberal Party worker. He is proud of being fluently bilingual, of never having met a French-Canadian he disliked and of having a "wonderful" women's organization behind him.

HIS FAMILY

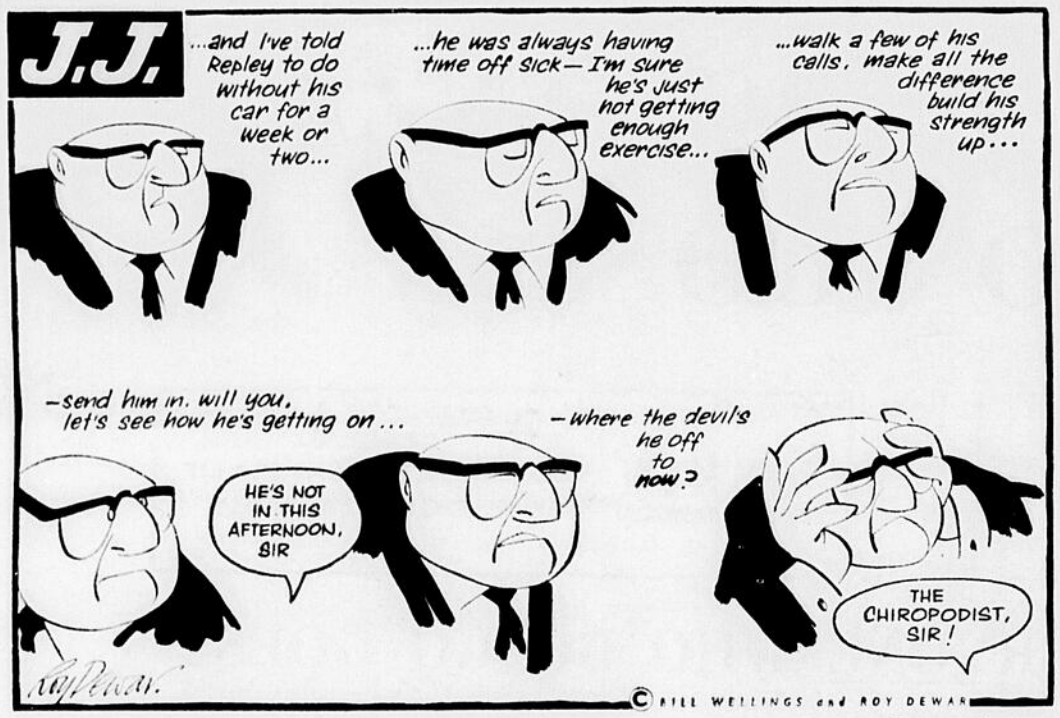

His wife Kathleen is one of the leaders of this. A former secretary of the Quebec's Women's Liberal Federation, she has also been a campaign worker for Richard Hyde.

Their two daughters, Coleen, 21, and Doreen, 19, are both students at Sir George Williams University and will help out in the week-long election drive.

Dunne said that with the women's organization and the backing of an unidentified group that asked him to run, he has a chance of making a dent in the riding.

"I used to think the word 'independent' didn't carry very much weight," he said. "But things are changing now. And I know that here in Westmount there is definitely an undercurrent against the Liberals. I want to be 'party-free' and to do that, and do what I want to do for Westmount, I must run independent."

Syrup, clothes and goodies: the Queen and others wait

If Queen Elizabeth is waiting for her annual supply of Westmount maple syrup, she may have to wait for quite a while.

The syrup, all part of a promise made to the Queen on her last visit here when she was presented with a silver syrup container and told that each year a new, ten gallon supply, would be sent to her, is still in Montreal, a victim of the port strike.

Even if it could get out of Montreal, it would get tied up in London and their strike. After both strikes are over, it will take weeks to get back to normal due to the huge amount of cargo sitting in both ports.

Meanwhile, the Queen waits.

OTHER ASPECTS

There are a few other interesting local aspects connected with the longshoremen's strike.

A young woman, from a wealthy English family who lives just outside of London, is soon to marry a local young man. Just before leaving England for Canada, she 'went to town' in London and bought all her clothes and those for the bridesmaids along with an assortment of gifts and so on.

All these arrived with her in Montreal on the Empress of Canada. But before the ship could be unloaded, the strike hit. She was told that she would get her trunks, containing all her much-needed clothes, when the

In 1965, the various rooms were used on 1470 occasions as compared with 1286 in 1964. As a result of the increase in rentals and contracts during the year being renewed at the increased rental rates which became effective in 1963, the total revenue of $50,817 was $3,584 higher than the 1964 figure of $47,233. These revenue figures included rental payments contributed by the Municipality for the years 1965 and 1964 of $8,560 and $7,180 respectively. A net increase in revenue of $2,204 for the year 1965 was the result.

During the year normal maintenance of the building was carried out including painting, repairs and general cleaning throughout.

FSEA elects Ed Kalil to board

Leo A. MacDonald, Secretary-Treasurer of Industrial Caterers Ltd., was re-elected President of the Montreal Branch of the Food Service Executives Association, for the third consecutive year, at the Association's May annual meeting in the City of Montreal owned Helene de Champlain Restaurant.

Re-elected with MacDonald, for the 1966-67 season, to the same posts held on the retiring FSEA executive board were: Robert Rainer, of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 1st Vice-President; David Weightman, of Cara Operations Ltd. (Le Martinique Motor Inn), Treasurer; and Horace Himbury, of F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd., Secretary.

Edward Kalil, of the Avenue Snack Bar Ltd., was also elected as 2nd Vice-President, in his first appointment to the executive board of the Montreal Association.

As president during the past two years, MacDonald has presided over one of the most rapid periods of growth the Montreal F.S.E.A. Branch has experienced in the association's 38 year history. Total branch membership now stands at 220, an increase of over 50 members since MacDonald assumed office for the first time in September 1964.

The Montreal Branch is one of 60 branches of the International Food Service Executives Association throughout the world. It is a member of the Quebec Hotel and Restaurant Council, and is considered as one of the province's most active food management groups.

The new executive board was installed in office during the May meeting, by FSEA Canadian Membership Director Robert T. Bray, of McGill University, and Joe Kerkhoven, of Macy's Terminal Restaurants Ltd., immediate Past President of the Association

St. Paul's news shorts

By LYNN CHAPMAN

Tuesday, May 31, a French Night was held at St. Paul's. This is an annual event organized by our French Teacher Mademoiselle Gabrielle Labbé. From 8 until 11 p.m., an audience of parents and friends treated to the fruits of the labors of 3rd and 2nd high.

First on the evening's bill of fare was a debate by 3rd high. Resolve; that Canada should join the United States. All arguments were in French. Speaking for the affirmative were Nicole Gareau, Patricia Cooney and Joanne Dzcimian; for the negative: Monique Bergeron, Nancy Keyes, and Margie Thompson. Rebuttlers wre Jane Skelton and Andrea Facchi, and Yvette Costa and Judy Keyes. Both sides did an excellent job, presenting convincing, well-framed and well-spoken opinions.

Judges of the debate were Mr. Robert Maude, Mrs. Coradeau Mastro Pasqua, Mrs. Sarandi Pefannis, Rather René Roi, and Miss Hupert.

The Negative side was chosen winner. Best speaker was Nancy Keyes; best rebuttler was Andrea Facchi.

Then there wa sintermission, and the audience was entertained by a medly of songs performed by 2nd high.

Following was a fashion show, put on by 3rd high. Modeled were outfits belonging to the girls themselves; six showed pieces of clothing they had made themselves;. The scope of fasion covered every phase of living from beach-wear and sport clothes to daytime wear and even to formal evening dress. Commentaire was given by Joanne Lunney and Ann Bedford, with help from Sylvia Cloutier and Michelle Berman. they provided a running description of all the fashions in French.

Baby Chick

The sad news came recently that our baby chick had died last Thursday morning, after living six days. Hhis hatching was the culminating point of an experiment by the Science Club. It is though he developed a disease while still in the egg. Two other chickens, orginally intended as companions for our first one, were bought from Macdonald College. These will be kept. Both are thought to be males. School affection was quickly transferred, and the two rapidly growing balls of fluff will be terribly spoiled. The frantic business of name-choos-

So much to digest:

In the Parent Report

Reading the Parent Commission report — the equivalent of about 81 columns in a newspaper — is no mean feat in itself.

And anyone who has read the report cannot but realize the great amount of work that went into its preparation.

By TRACY S. LUDINGTON

Unfortunately, the report has been issued under a series of strange circumstances, so that it has not been possible for citizens of the province to peruse it and to weigh the various aspects, with regards to the effect on English-language Protestant schools and scholars; English-Roman Catholic schools and scholars; French-Roman Catholic schools and scholars and the facts surrounding the neutral panel.

The Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards, of which Westmount is a member has gone on record as seeing the educational overhaul as proposed in the report "too radical" and has also brought up the possibility that it may be ultra vires of the British North America Act.

Certainly there is one section of the BNA Act that it would clearly appear to contravene. That is the section that declares, after setting up education as a provincial matter: "Nothing in any law shall prejudicially affect any right or privilege with respect to denominational schools which any class of persons have in law in the province at Union."

From the standpoint of English-language schools and Protestant schools there appears to be radical changes suggested that will, if implemented, materially alter the form of education as we know it today in Westmount.

If the reports of the Commission are put into effect, it will mean, in many cases, that English-language schools will be controlled by French-language majorities. With time, this could happen in Westmount.

The Protestant School Boards Association has even gone so far in its brief opposing the Parent Report to say that "it is doubtful if the Protestant School tradition can be preserved."

The Commission lauds the English-language schools and says it is the wish of the Commission "to conserve this asset and to leave it to develop and progress".

More Freedom

But the conservation and the development of the tradition requires a far larger degree of administrational and directional freedom than the Commission's recommendations allow.

Another point that may have escaped the Commissioners in their deliberations is that the English-language population of Quebec Province is much more mobile than the French-language portion of the population.

There is a great need that English - language education be, as far as possible, equipped with a standard and a curriculum as close to that of other provinces as possible so that education may be 'portable' by people coming into the Province and people going out of it.

No one can reasonably oppose the breaking down of some of the barriers that have kept sections of the provincial education department in pockets for years; but the question remains of how it is done.

Opinions

Frank M. O'Dea, chairman of the Roman Catholic PTA special committee is quoted: "The big question in my mind is how much say the English will have in the new system."

Ivan Phelan of Marymount: "A multi-confessional school is nothing more than a neutral school with an option in religion."

A. Chapman, president of the Federation of Catholic PTA's puts his finger on a problem very close to home: "The Parent Commission recommends that all universities be non-confessional, in the light of this I feel that Loyola's application for a university charter will receive very little support at the government level."

And Father R. B. Nagy, chaplain of the McGill Newman Club says: "The neutral school, in my opinion, is no solution".

Disposal of lawn cuttings

The City strives to keep streets in a clean and attractive condition and engages during much of the year in almost continuous watering and sweeping. Residents, for their part, take pains to keep their lawns and gardens trim and handsome. Achievement of these objectives obviously is desirable both to the resident and to the City.

Unfortunately, sometimes grass cuttings and garden debris are piled loosely in the gutters, to be carted away at a later time. Should the wind blow, such unprotected refuse is soon scattered over the property of neighbors and the clean city streets alike.

Residents are requested to avoid the possibility of such unfortunate littering by placing such cuttings in appropriate receptacles while they are awaiting pickup and disposal.

Professional gardeners are warned that they may not pile cuttings in such a fashion that they might be spread over the street by wind, animals or other means, and that disciplinary action may result should this practice be continued.

Do you love tiny babies? Lots of them need a foster home, especially for the summer. If you have love and a room to spare — even for just the summer months — call the Foster Home Recruiting Centre at 935-2589. Or drop in at Room 211, 4018 St. Catherine Street West, near the Forum. Looking backward thirty years as political pendulum swings

Almost 30 years ago — August 16, 1936 to be exact — saw the end of one of the bitterest political campaigns in the province of Quebec as well as one of the most active, with the late Honorable Maurice L. Duplessis swept to power along with 76 of his deputies.

Westmount, at the time, was Conservative, in every sense of the word, with Hon. R. S. White as Federal M.P. and Hon. Charles Smart as Conservative in the provincial legislature.

The onuster of the Liberal clique under the late Alexander Taschereau was all to the liking of a majority of Westmount's citizens —but they did not realize to what extent the province had been sold down the river.

100 RELATIVES

Duplessis and his cohorts found disorder in the finance department, in the administration—and worst of all, in the public mind.

Taschereau, it was openly charged, had more than 100 relatives on the public payroll when the government fell.

Shortly the depression was to fall across the province, across the country, across the world — and the provincial government was faced with the necessity to re-establish the precarious credit of the province, pay pensions, honor the debts incurred by the Taschereau regime, as well as feed the hungry mouths tossed up by the depression.

Then came the Second World War, and the defeat of the Duplessis government at the hands of the Federal Liberals, with Hon. Ernest Lapoint stumping the province and promising that no Canadian would cross the seas to fight in Europe against his will.

Prime Minister the late Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, of course, was to get his party out of the corner, with his famous statement "Conscription if necessary, but not necessarily conscription".

It is difficult, perhaps, to pick up the exact moment in history at which the pendulum swung away from the Conservatives, but it was probably when Douglas Abbott, now on the Supreme Court bench, won a very slim victory over Hon. R. S. White, at the time the dean of the House of Commons.

OVERNIGHT

Abbott was named parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Defense (McNaughton), and as Bruce Hutchison himself says in his book The Incredible Canadian, "it made the reputation of Abbott overnight."

A resident of Westmount (Arlington avenue) Abbott was a fledgling statesman with a light-hearted manner, and a popular young lawyer in Montreal — not the familiar figure in the horn-rimmed glasses that John Collins of The Gazette was later to 'rib' most effectively, but well-known in Westmount through his campaign cocktail parties, and an influence in making the middle-aged and under electors believe that the Liberal way, if no better, was at least a good deal more 'in' than the Conservatism of their fathers and fore-fathers.

And the swing followed in the provincial field as well, with Hon. George Marler being sent to the legislature with little difficulty as long as he wanted to run provincially.

In 1944, as a matter of fact, the National Union, in a resurgence unparalleled in any other province of Canada, returned to power at the close of the war. It was a situation very much like the present, with the Bloc Populaire brandishing the slogan of Nationalism.

Westmount, however, did not return a National Union candidate but stuck to the Liberal fold, provincially as well as Federally.

NO DEFEAT

In 1955, in a by-election that followed the switch of Hon. George Marler to the Federal field as Minister of Transport, the National Union ran a well-known and seemingly 'natural' candidate in the person of Dr. James Griffith, who had been promised the portfolio of Health in the provincial cabinet if he was elected, but to no avail.

This is not to say, however, that Westmount has not deviated from the Liberals, for in the Diefenbaker sweep of 1957 Hon. George Marler was defeated by Webster, a comparatively unknown — so that Westmount, like any other riding, can and does react to a sweep.

Over the past decade or so—this solid Liberal phalanx had been softened up to some extent, as witness the number of votes obtained on the Federal level by Peter Kerrigan when he ran as a Conservative, and even a well-aimed, if not effective, body-blow not too many years ago by Kenneth Wilson Q.C. who carried the National Union standard high, if fruitlessly.

Early in May, Hon. Richard Hyde was nominated again as the Liberal standard-bearer, a surprise to no-one, since he has held the seat since 1955 when he won it in a by-election.

SPEAKER

In 1962 he was given the Speakership, in one of a series of moves that were considered a sop to the English electors who felt the rebuff of the Shawinigan Water and Power takeover by the Liberals.

Not too long ago he was named Revenue Minister, a post once held by the late Paul Earl, and also heads two important committees, Subsidies and Ways and Means.

Running against him as a National Union June 5 is Urbain Fisher, a comparative unknown.

There is however, a strong Independent in the field, as well as representatives of the splinter parties RN and RIN.

It is this Independent, John Dunne, who, in the opinion of many, will give Hyde the best opposition, and with the many splits, might just nip in — when you consider the number of people who are normally out-of-Westmount on a pleasant June weekend.

Shall We Save Confederation?

We must start now. There is no more pressing problem.

The Lesage administration has wrecked our relations with the rest of Canada by injudicious claims to a separate status (opting out of joint plans, etc.) We are already feeling the ensuing pains.

We must counter separatist propaganda with proper enlightenment in all parts of this province. This I pledge to do.

We must defend Confederation from the floor of Parliament. This I pledge to do.

A Westmounter in Great Britain

Ever Heard of L.C.C.?

by Stephen Schofield

Dunsfold, Surrey, Eng. — "Have you ever heard of Lower Canada College?"

The question was uttered casually by a pleasant managing editor of The (Toronto) Globe and Mail.

In quest of a job, I had hitch-hiked from Montreal and now sat on a plushy chair in a beautifully pannelled private office in the front corner of the newsroom floor.

Not to McCullagh. Brilliant Brilliant but unenlightened, so often subject to flattery that it became credible; reading the report himself it would have seemed to him, not merely credible, but perfectly natural and proper. His most likely reaction would have been: "Bright boy, that Bain; I must move along."

Bain, on the other hand, a fine reporter then and since in Ottawa, London and Washington, would doubtless agree, quietly, under his hat, that the apt word for his deliberately puffed up prose in this particular report, is unctuous.

"Yes," I said, I know it."

"Where is it?" he asked. "Is it in Montreal?"

"Yes," I answered, "it is in a suburb of Montreal."

The query was real, not an effort to assuage me. He was interested because he was reading a book by a master of that College. The managing editor of this self-termed national newspaper really wanted to know the location of LCC.

Is there not an Upper Canada College in Aurora or Port Hope or St. Catherine's, or perhaps somewhere here in Toronto? Such a query from me would be analagous to his.

Apparently U.T.S. or Jarvis Collegiate need a few bolts in the undergirding, a fact he may have divined from my demeanour, for I did not secure the job.

Eagerly I hastened to the favorite spot in town for visitors. This is any seat on a plane or train for Windsor, North Bay, anywhere.

Fantastic

Is it not fantastic that the present owner of the Globe & Mail, a Westmounter, and his four brothers, are all LCC Old Boys; and that at this moment it is the only Canadian newspaper in our county library in the small town of Farnham, Surrey?

Presumably the Westmount publisher approved and advanced the capital required for this edition, which involved buying Roy Thomson's Canada News here. But this edition was actually launched by his able executive, Edward Phelan of Toronto.

Personally I think it's best feature is a column by Richard Needham . . .

Ineffable

What is unknown and ineffable is this.

A quiet gentleman by the name of Albert Smith, so quiet he was nicknamed "Noisy," lived in London, Ont. Mr. Smith, well off and in the liquor business, employed a cook whose son, George, sometimese cleaned the boots and helped around the house.

At London Collegiate Institute George was popular with boys and girls. But he disliked school and would not work, although his teacher moved him to the front row nearest her desk and tried to induce him to study, he rarely passed examinations and never graduated. He was there for three years.

One day, while working for the Bank of Montreal in London, he blew up and resigned. Subsequently he moved to Toronto and induced a rich mining prospector to invest the capital to amalgamate the Globe and the Mail & Empire, thus founding the Globe & Mail — he, George McCullagh.

20 Minutes

Perhaps his greatest, and least known, contribution, emanemanated from a promised "20 minutes' " interview, which extended to an hour and a half and an invitation to lunch with President Franklin Roosevelt in the White House in Washington, D.C.

Here he explained his plan to enlighten that then dormant nation, especially in the West, of its looming peril of a rapacious Germany under the thumb of a misguided, bloody thug.

Roosevelt agreed and gave him an endorsing letter to convey personally to Prime Minister Churchill, who also approved. Thus his plan materialized. Many U. S. editors were brought to Britain, which was assailed from the coasts of subjugated Belgium, and from defeated France: Britain fighting alone, actually almost as much to the advantage of the N.S. as to her own.
of subjugated Norway, from the coasts of subjugated Holland, from subjugated Belgium, and the U.S. as to her own.

At this critical stage the U.S. editors, inevitably impressed, as intended, must have considerably illuminated home opinion. McCullagh really instigated that in 20 minutes, and divulged the fact to only a few.

Butter, Please

Sometimes he preferred eulogy. Once he spoke in Montreal to a combined meeting of service clubs. Because The Canadian Press naturally does not insert radiant adjectives, a Globe & Mail ace reporter, George Bain, was assigned to cover the speech and particularly, as Mr. Bain well knew, the elated response to which the audience would undoubtedly be moved.

Bain covered the meeting. He covered it with butter and jam and honey; his report was unctuous.

Did any paper comment on this? Not in Montreal or Toronto. This was due to friendly relations between those at the top cemented over drinks in Montreal. (With the exception of bootleggers, drinks were not served in Toronto, which had not attained that degree of civilization. Torontonians held bottles of whisky under dining-room tables in top hotels, and blandly ordered ginger ale.)

But from away across the prairies in The Calgary Herald, came the unfettered voice of Richard Needham: a delicious article about George Bain buttering up his boss. "This," Needham wrote, "must be causing much amusement in newspaper circles . . ."

Of course this was ignored in Montreal and Toronto, but not in Ottawa, for I read it in The Journal, and I wrote my congratulations to Needham in Calgary.

U.S. Senator

One evening in the Westmount Library, a few years later, I read in the Globe & Mail a magnificent editorial about a U.S. Senator, a blatant boob who had long been a national nuisance. The editorial rightly traduced him to a gaseous balloon. It was a beautiful piece that shone in columns not unknown to gas themselves.

Much impressed, I wrote a warm approval to the paper and lo! — a reply came from the writer himself, Richard Needham. Needham, the only Canadian to criticize the founder of The Globe & Mail on a delicate matter, now wrote for that paper. Is this not utterly ironic?

A handsome man, vibrant and vain — who is not vain? — inclined to be dapper in attire and undisciplined in nature, a brilliant mind trunkaced prematurely, unexposed to the ample spoils of time, partly through lack of means and partly through impatience: a well-intentioned shooting star of journalism, a Canadian mandarin of print and speech, was McCullagh.

What he craved is endemic: power, immediate overt results and eulogy. How he strove! How he wrestled on the rungs of the ladder. Driving himself and coddled by sycophants, he stormed the ramparts and was hurled back again and again, apparently unaware that war but kicks against an awl.

In vain? Indeed not. Groping as we all do, he built the paper, more than anyone.

Tremendous Achievement

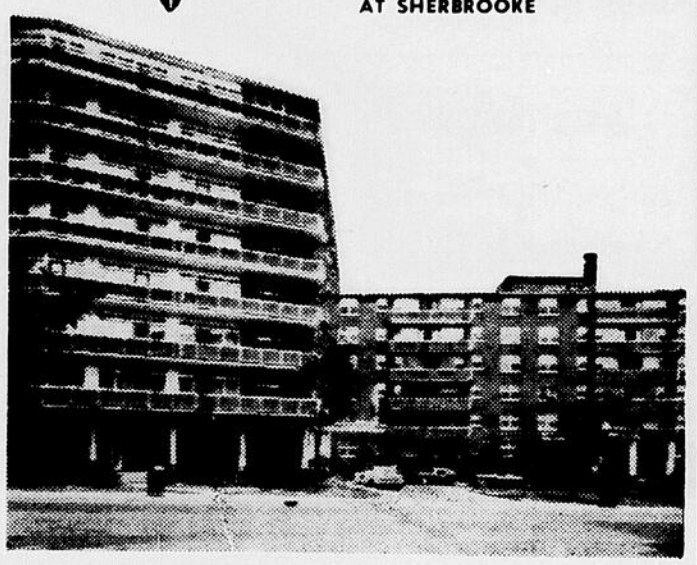

He was generous: a fine rink and arena for a School, a splendid residence for an aging Archbishop in the North: doubtless mere drops that have come to my knowledge.

Tenderly he assuaged his mother, critically ill, refusing to leave her bedside in London for a race very close to his heart. Having missed the race, he left her only briefly and only because his horse had won, to receive — without

The Forty Three Hundred

Hon. Richard Hyde:

'We are living in exciting times Quebec isn't stationary anymore'

The Hon. Richard Hyde, official Liberal candidate in Westmount, recently addressed an informal gathering of electors and urged support for the Liberal team.

"In asking support," he said, "from a constituency made up largely of English-speaking Quebecers, I am asking you to join me in welcoming the new spirit of freedom and cooperation which has been brought to Quebec by our dynamic leader, Jean Lesage.

"We are living in exciting times, particularly for our native province. Only six years ago it was common to hear the question, 'Why can't Quebec get up to date and come to terms with the 20th cenury?' Today, some complain that we are moving too fast. But at least we are moving and not stationary as in he past.

"Under the leadership of Mr. Lesage, the majority of our fellow Quebecers, whose mother tongue is French, are experiencing a great awakening. They are modifying the human and natural resources of our province with a view to a better life for all Quebecers.

EQUALS

"What does Quebec want? Basically to be accpted and treated as equals in the Canadian Confederation.

"Surely, as English-speaking Quebecers we must welcome the opportunity to participate with the vast majoriy of our fellow citizens to bring about a true partnership, based on mutual respect, understanding and goodwill. Only in this way can we attain our common aim — a prosperous and dynamic Quebec of which all Canadians can be truly proud."

Decorative acoustical ceiling tile

Faced with the problem of a cracked ceiling, the owners of a home found a "bold" solution.

They didn't want to go through the mess and delay of re-plastering the old ceiling. And they wanted decorative quality in keeping with the home's decor.

After looking at dozens of ceiling tile patterns they chose a noncombustible mineral fiber tile with high acoustical value. They liked the "bold" three dimensional ceiling pattern with its appearance of a continuous surface. They also enjoy having a modern sound absorbing ceiling that blends with and enhances the character of the early American furnishings.

Because the old ceiling, though cracked, was still quite sound the tile was installed directly to the ceiling with adhesive. The job was finished in one day.

The owners are particularly pleased that in years to come they may paint their new ceiling and not normally reduce the sound-absorbing qualities.

A good grade of interior finish paint — applied in a thin coat — be used.

If necessary, the tile may be periodically washed with a damp sponge, or cleaned with a chemically - treated synthetic sponge.

Plans active summer for local youngsters

Final preparations are well under way to provide the 8-13 year old boys and girls of Westmount and vicinity with a fun filled summer of activities from July 4th to August 12th.

The Westmount YMCA SUMMER FUN CLUB is an in-the-city program designed for boys and girls who spend much of their summer vacation in the city. It's general purpose is to provide FUN for youngsters through programs such as; Swimming instruction and recreational swims, handicrafts, in-door and out-door sports of all kinds, sing-songs, dramatics (skits), trips and tours to places of interest, hikes, a Penny Carnival, track and field events, archery, and sometimes a camping trip for the older campers.

STAFF

The program will be directed by Ron Watt, Youth Program Director, who has been associated with the Westmount YMCA and Summer Fun Club, for many years, and is a graduate of Sir George Williams University. The following teenagers will be on our staff as Counselors or Counselors-in-Training.

Michi Hayami, Barbara Hood, Clare McManus, Kathleen Kirkpatrick, Manica Keator, Pat Beaven, Jennifer Taylor, Diana Locke, Ionna Sonea, Raymond Lefebvre, Michael Morrow, Tony Schroeter, Philip Miller, Jody Nixon, John McManus, John Taylor, Ronald McLaren.

Several more teens will be added to the staff before the end of June in order that we may be prepared for a record registration this summer. It is expected that we will have a daily attendance of over 140 boys and girls who will be divided into fourteen "small groups."

Through our staff training and the operation of our program we are aiming to achieve the following five GOALS:

to operate a "high quality" program with boys and girls 8-13 years of age. the "media" to be through the use of the "Small Group."

to attract as many youngsters as possible who stay in the city most of the summer. the "media" to be "activities" that are interesting, challenging, and above all — FUN.

to demonstrate to the public what a good YMCA program can mean to the growth and development of children. The "media" to be Parents Night, Penny Carnival, Counseling, Closing Ceremonies, etc.

to create an atmosphere in which youngsters feel free to be creative in their thinking and expression AND to improve or learn new skills — hobbies — interests, etc.

to be a "training ground" for young people interested in the leadership roles of camp and wishing for practical experience in a supervised atmosphere.
Learning the meaning of responsibility and how to accept this responsibility.

TYPICAL WEEK

Operates on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. — 4:30 p.m. and on Thursday afternoons and Friday morning. During the morning periods we operate a three or four "ring circus" with the groups rotating from swimming instruction to crafts to sports to archery. The afternoon periods are usually "small group" activities planned by the youngsters and their counselor. Thursday afternoons are usually the "all camp" program periods when we have our track & field day, swimming meet, hikes, etc. Wednesday is our special trip day when we go to a beach or on an all day trip out of the city.

Registration will be limited during the first four weeks of program, therefore register early. Folders and application forms are available at the YMCA or call 937-39.6.

CAMPING DISPLAY

Starting on Thursday, May 26th and running until Saturday, May 28th the Montreal YMCA will be sponsoring a "Camping Display & Water Safety Display" at the Fairview Shopping Centre in Pointe Claire, Displays, Slide shows, Contests, Prizes, etc., will be in the program. It will show what the Montreal YMCA does during the summer months at Kamp Kanawana, Otoreke, Family Camping, Day Camping and Summer Fun Clubs, etc. Be sure to visit the displays.

POM GOLD is in the BAG—

Corny? No siree! Our bagged bread is taking Montreal by storm. At last, here's a delicious loaf that's sanely wrapped, ah, bagged, with a little plastic KWIK-LOK that ingeniously lets you open and close the wrapper airtight, everytime. When the bread is eaten, the bag can be used a hundred ways, forever. No more pulling, punching, tugging or tearing. It's all so easy with the KWIK-LOK and the bag wrapper.

But, be warned — once you discover POM GOLD — you're hooked. No wonder, we bake more good things to eat than any other baker in Montreal.

THE QUEBEC LIBERAL PARTY PROGRAM

The Quebec Liberal Party, under the leadership of Jean Lesage, has adopted an imaginative, sound and realistic program for the future. It covers all aspects of our society. Some of the more important projects are —

HUMAN RIGHTS

- A Liberal government will undertake the enactment of a BILL OF RIGHTS setting out, and guaranteeing, the fundamental rights and freedom of the individual.
- The administration of the Bill of Rights will be administered by a CIVIL RIGHTS COMMISSION.
- And, it will establish a LEGAL AID SERVICE so that individuals who cannot afford legal advice may have access to it.
- And, it will establish family courts in place of the Social Welfare Courts so that they may deal with all family problems.

THE CONSUMER

- A Liberal government will establish an OFFICE FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE CONSUMER.
- And, it will pass a law against usury practices which will require the TRUE INTEREST RATES and THE COSTS for loans and time-payment purchases to be clearly shown and made known to the consumer.

CHILDREN

- A Liberal government will radically revise the LAW OF ADOPTION; and establish A CODE FOR THE PROTECTION OF CHILDREN so that the child's rights and interests are properly protected.
- And, it will establish a FOSTER HOME PLAN to assure the upbringing of neglected children and orphans in a proper environment.

FARMING AND FISHING

- A Liberal government will institute a program of financial assistance to create larger farm units so that farming will become more profitable.
- And, it will establish CROP INSURANCE; and adopt a plan so that the farmer may retire at an earlier age on an adequate pension.
- And, it will continue its policy of modernizing the fishing industry through research, adopting up to date fishing methods and financial aid for the purchase of boats and fishing equipment. Processing plants will be modernized and consolidated.

THE ECONOMY

- A Liberal government will establish a Department of Economic Development to stimulate the growth of secondary industry and regional development.
- And, it will construct trunk highways to make the various regions accessible to industry; and undertake a rural roads program to aid the marketing of farm produce.

The Quebec Liberal Party's program is designed to meet the needs of modern Quebec and serve the interest of all its citizens. The Party is confident that, with your support, its program will be realized.

For a stronger Quebec  Keep Quebec moving forward

Vote LIBERAL on June 5th

(Published by Mr. Jean Morin, 905 Pratt Avenue, Montreal, 8, official agent, Quebec Liberal Party)

IN WESTMOUNT RE-ELECT HON. RICHARD HYDE

Independent Roger Billette:

Where to, Confederation?

At a campaign meeting, held last Thursday in Victoria Hall, Roger Billette, the Quebec Conservative Party candidate in Westmount, spoke to some 15 people who turned out to hear his aims and plans for the June 5th election.

Although the party will not be officially in the running, due to an insufficient number of candidates, Billette will run as an independent.

In his address Billette stated:

"In welcoming you to this meeting, I feel that I must first outline my qualifications as a candidate for the Quebec Conservative Party, in Westmount.

While stating these, I must assure you that I am fully aware of the glorious past which Westmount has played in Canadian history and that I should be worthy of it.

"As a Bachelor of Arts graduate, magna cum laude, from the University of Montreal, I was raised in the Greek, Latin and French classics. Later, I obtained a Bachelor of Science degree from McGill University, where I spent four years. I may emphasize that I enjoyed my stay at McGill, tremendously. Every minute was a new and thrilling experience. I am glad to add that I have contributed to the Alma Mater Fund, ever since its inception. My son is attending McGill.

"I may, therefore, say that I am privileged to commune in Canadian life, not only bilingually, but also biculturally. I can well appreciate the fine qualities of Canadian culture, under all its aspects, be it in Quebec or anywhere else.

INTERTWINE

"It is my pet scheme that our French and English communities should be so intertwined in spirit, in understanding, that there should not arise any case of friction. Our internal public relations should bend toward that common aim; it is a most important one. The harmony which should prevail among us should be set as an example. I visualize the point where our English speaking minority should be so pleased with its relations that it should act as a messenger of goodwill in the rest of Canada.

"Indeed, on that score, it irks me that, in this year 1966, our school system throughout this province should turn out so many unilingual youngsters.

"In this connection, I may relate that I have received in my home, over the last few years, a total of nine students from the Toronto area. I have taught French to them and I may say that I have been most pleased with the results and with their eagerness to learn. For me, it has been a most pleasing experience and one which I recommend anyone to follow.

IN BUSINESS

"As a business man, I have acquired property in nine different communities and I have, thus, been made aware of their difficulties. I have interested myself in the plight of the property owners and in the vexations which they encounter. I have submitted a report on that subject, to the Bélanger commission.

"To come now to the deficiencies of the Lesage administration, I could go into several fields where these have been most apparent. Especially so in the matter of Social Welfare, where our burden is extravagant. The United States have found that it pays to train all able-bodied men and women that are recipients, in order that their names should be deleted from relief rolls and, on the contrary, that they should become additional taxpayers. That is an example for us.

"Let me tell you, at the outset, that Confederaion means teamwork. To that extent it means pulling together with a great deal of forbearance for our partners' needs and ideals. It means a family spirit which, in this case, is of a high national and patriotic order. It entails many sacrifices, in order to achieve a common goal, which is a unified and strong nation.

"What has been Quebec's attitude, in the last few years, toward Confederation? It has been one of headstrong obstinacy for the sake of a so-called Autonomy. Yet Quebec always had all the autonomy it wanted.

MITCHELL SHARP

"As an illustration, I may quote from an interview that the Honourable Mitchell Sharp granted recently to a Financial Post reporter. After discussing at length the apparently insuperable difficulties in our capital needs, he was asked, as a final question, what was our most pressing national problem. He answered: our federal provincial relations.

"The aforesaid obstinacy has culminated in opting out of joint programs and in moving to set up a "different State".

"At the same time, it has fostered a train of thought in this Province, which ranges all the way to complete Separatism. Needless to say, such thoughts were not entertained, as close as six years ago. If at all, they were ridiculed then.

"All of this has resulted in the worst possible relations with the rest of Canada. It has brought out widespread antagonism, to say the least. THIS IS NOTHING SHORT OF TRAGIC.

"Confederation is a sacred trust which must be defended dearly.

"History is being made in these very times. Let us not lose one single moment in our efforts.

"Our task is confronting us. Let us avoid the narrow lanes of bigotry and the tormented shoals of Separatism in order to reach the wide open fields of harmony and success.

"Finally, the name of Quebec Conservative Party has been disalowed on the ballot-paper, so do not search for it under my name, or under that of any of my fellow candidates.

Westmount Square:

Tenders called on phase 2

With the pouring of the first concrete on April 22 at Westmount Square, the $25,000,000 commercial residential complex entered the final stages of Phase 1 to Plaza level. Tenders were called two weeks ago for Phase 2 for the completion of the project above Plaza level and it is expected that this contract will be awarded by the middle of this month.

The contract for the installation of elevators in the 21storey office tower, the two 21-storey apartment buildings and the shopping complex has been awarded to Otis Elevator Co. Ltd., for an amount in excess of $1,000,000.

The contract for the fabrication and erection of the curtain walls in an amount of $2,200,000 has been awarded to the Canarch division of Canadair Ltd.

Features

On completion in 1967 Westmount Square will be virtually a city within a city. Among the many outstanding features contained in the two luxury apartment buildings will be duplex penthouses, central air-condiing for all apartments and year 'round enclosed swimming pools.

The interior design of the office tower will reflect the emphasis placed upon the tenant and his planning needs. Maximum perimeter offices, floor to ceiling glass walls, whose glare reducing glass will permit the use of natural lighting throughout; complete air-conditioning, acoustic tile ceilings and resilient tile floors are some of the elements which will contribute to a complete and harmonious business milieu.

To further the concept of total living, Westmount Square's Concourse will contain a 700 seat theatre, restaurants boutiques, food and service stores and complete banking facilities.

Two levels of underground parking will be available for the convenience of tenants and visitors.

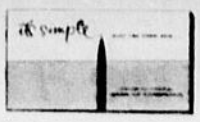

Easy Access

Westmount Square will be within easy access from all parts of the island as it will have direct tunnel connection with Montreal's new Metro as well as being located within blocks of the north-south and east-west extensions of the TransCanada highway. Also, the Atwater bus terminus will be within minutes walking distance of the Square either by St. Catherine Street or through the tunnel.

Westmount Square is the first project in Montreal designed by the internationally acclaimed architect, Mies can de Rohe. Mr. van der Rohe is also the consulting architect for Toronto's new Toronto-Dominion Centre.

The owner and devloper of Westmount Square is Westmount Centre Inc., an associate company of MonDev Corporation Ltd.

Westmount teacher honored

Miss Vera May Jamieson, a music teacher in three Westmount schools; Roslyn, Westmount Park and Westmount High, has been awarded the Order of Scholastic Merit (First Degree).

Announcement of the award came in form of a letter from the Hon. Paul Gerin-Lajoie, Minister of Education for the Province of Quebec.

MISS U. M. JAMIESON

In his letter to Miss Jamieson, Gerin-Lajoie said :

"I am glad to be able to inform you that on May 5 the Board of the Order of Scholastic Merit awarded you the First Degree of the Order.

"The honour will be conferred upon you and the other recipients at a meeting of the Board in Montreal at the Protestant Teachers' Convention next November.

"I congratulate you upon this recognition of your excellent contribution to education."

Babies, tots and teenagers need kind, sensible foster parents. Can you help? Supervision, board, clothing and medical care are provided. For more information call the Foster Home Recruiting Centre, telephone 935-2589. Or drop in at Room 211, 4018 St. Catherine Street west, near the Forum. There's no obligation, of course.

New marking system adopted

Students enrolled in the Protestant School Board's summer school courses will no longer receive numerical grades for final examinations. Instead, they will be rated as having passed or failed.

The Greater Montreal board approved the change earlier this week on the recommendation of its education committee.

In a letter to the board, Dr. L. D. Hamilton, district superintendent, pointed out, "Marks obtained at summer school cannot be based on the same criteria as those used in the regular school examinations."

The examinations in summer school courses, he said, "are not designed to test the pupils' knowledge of the entire course in all its aspects."

He noted that the specific mark obtained by a pupil in summer school "has really little importance for the placement of a pupil."

The summer school program is designed mainly for students who fail a subject during the regular academic year or those who pass with difficulty.

In addition, other students take for personal enrichment non-credit subjects (such as extra French conversation and typing) which they are unable to fit into their schedules during the regular school year.

ing will sweep over everyone, bringing out bursts of creative genius.

Last Wednesday there was a Parent - Teachers Association meeting. It was held in St. Paul's hall at 8 p.m. Points under discussion were from the Parent Report, such as the merging of school boards and the abolition or retention of confessional schools.

After the meeting adjourned, refreshments were served in the downstairs auditorium.

Thursday, May 19, Ascension Day, was a holiday. School was in session Friday, but Monday was another free day because of Victoria Day.

Irvine avenue resident in same house for 74 years

We think we have uncovered something of a record in Westmount this week when we talked to William Lock of 131 Irvine Avenue, and he told us that the house he is now occupying was built by his father in 1892, which was the year he was born. Not only that but he has lived in the same house ever since.

Lock's father, whose name was also William, built 131 and 129 as a duplex, and after his death in 1914 his daughter Katie and his son William remained in 131 until Katie's death in 1950. Her brother William inherited the two properties and still lives in 131. What we think may be another record, is that 129 has been rented to the same tenant, Miss Jessie McGregor since 1914.

Lock old us that he thinks he is lucky to have missed all the moving the rest of us have gone through and we were ready to agree with him wholeheartedly. Lock said that as far as he could remember no houses have been built since his on Irvine, and only one on Abbott.

He remembers the old C.P.R. station at the foot of Abbott Avenue well and the wooden platforms on either side of the two tracks. The station was on the far side of the tracks, and set up on piles on the far side. He went bobsledding down Claremont Avenue, and played by the stream which was almost a pond where Lansdowne meets the Glen. He went to King's School and to the old Westmount Academy, where he told us Norma Shearer also got her education. The actresse's father, James Shearer, had a lumber business in Montreal, and the family lived in Westmount.

The ony other family who can come near to the Lock family record on Irvine, Lock thinks is George Livermore's, whose father built 124 and 126 just across the street, but the dwellings were not occupied by members of the family until 1918. Livermore and his wife still live in no. 126 however, and his three sisters, now widowed, are in 124.

Local woman adopts Vietnamese youth

Mrs. Enid Cowan, of 35 Oakland avenue, has financially "adopted" Le Van Dung, a seven-year-old Vietnamese boy, through Foster Parents' Plan.

Mrs. Cowan has already received a photograph and case history of the child. Through an exchange of monthly letters (original and translation are transmitted by PLAN) they have learned to know and love one another. Foster Parents often sent photographs of themselves and their families and descriptions of life in this country.

ONLY $8.00

Many a Foster Parent who has visited his Foster Child finds that his letters are tattered from reading and rereading. In turn the Foster Child writes about the near-miracle that his generous Foster Parents have wrought . . . the cash grant of $8 a month . . . new clothing . . . household equipment . . . medical care . . . and education. All this plus good used clothing for the Foster Child's entire family, guidance and counselling from on-the-spot trained social and case workers supervised by a full-time Director in each of the eight countries where Foster Parent's Plan works — Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, the Philippines, Viet Nam, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru.

The key word for "adoption" through Foster Parents' Plan is "responsible". Every Foster Child must go to school. Once a child is enrolled he is given PLAN benefits until he graduates from school or achieves financial independence. PLAN strives always to keep the family together. To this end a Vocational Training School for older brothers and sisters of Foster Children has been established in Korea, with a job awaiting each graduate. In the Philippines PLAN families living in slums have been relocated as a group in a healthier suburb. Cottage industries have been organizer so that the families can earn without having to move back into the industrialized sections of Manila. Each country can be treated individually because there is a highly trained professional director stationed there permanently.

7,200 PARENTS

There are over 7,200 Canadian groups and individuals who are Foster Parents through Foster Parents' Plan. The groups range from two or three friends to large company groups running to hundred of contributors. Individuals in all walks of life participate too. The Pearsons and the Diefenbakers are Foster Parents, as are hundreds and thousands or ordinary citizens — labourers, clerks, students, nurses, farmers and fishermen. All feel a personal involvement in the problems that beset their less fortunate fellows in this rapidly shrinking world.

Westmount Welfare dept.

In 1965, a total of 135 QPCA cases were processed during the year. Beneficiaries of QPCA allowances totalled 82 as at December 31st. In addition to direct relief, food orders and temporary assistance given to needy persons, arrangements were made for four children of two needy Westmount families to attend camp during the summer months. The requests for temporary assistance during the year showed a considerable increase over the previous year—143 in 1965 as compared with 91 in 1964. Food orders issued in 1965 totalled 78 an increase of 20 when compared with the 1964 figure of 58.

During the Postal strike in the month of July, arrangements were made for recipients of Financial Assistance to call for their cheques at the office of La Societe de Protection Notre Dame at the time when the cheques would normally be mailed.

The Welfare Department assisted with arrangements for the distribution of toys during the Christmas Season by the Westmount Firefighters Association to 84 children from 15 Westmount families.

W. L. Fraser

William L. Fraser, 1 Rosemount avenue, who died May 18th at the age of 84. Born and educated in Montreal, Mr. Fraser was employed by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for nearly 50 years. He was made general accountant for the company in 1930, a position he held until his retirement on June 1st, 1947.

For many years Mr. Fraser was a member of the Laurentian Council of Telephone Pioneers of America, Charles Fleetford Sise Chapter. He is survived by his wife Edythe and a daughter Peggy Ann.

John J. Bueb

John J. Bueb, a senior executive of Alcan Aluminum Ltd. who was the first to open up the company's business on the African continent, died yesterday in the Royal Victoria Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Until a few weeks before his death, Mr. Bueb, had been president of Alcan Africa Ltd., a position he had been appointed to in 1960. During that period, he was responsible for sales to that continent.

Earlier he had served 15 years as managing director of Alcan operations in the Union of South Africa, establishing the first aluminum sheet mill and fabricating operation in South Africa.

Born in New York in 1902 and educated at Greenwich, Conn., and at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., he entered the aluminum industry in 1925 and joined Alcan in Montreal in 1929. Following eight years as a salesman in Montreal and selling through Central America and the West Indies, Mr. Bueb was sent to open the first Alcan sales office in South Africa in 1938.

His selling activities covered all of southern Africa and in 1946 he directed the foundation of Alcan Aluminum of South Africa Ltd. at Pietermaritzburg, today the leading aluminum fabricator on the African continent.

Since his return to Canada in 1953, Mr. Bueb held senior appointments in Alcan's international sales organization and in personnel administration, returning to full-time emphasis on African affairs in 1960. He made numerous sales tours of Africa in recent years.

He was a member of the Masonic Order and of St. James' Club, Montreal.

Mr. Bueb is survived by his wife, the former Dorothy Shipman and by two daughters, Mrs. Nancy Timms of Chertsey, Eng., and Janet of Montreal.

A memorial service will be held 1 p.m. tomorrow at the St. Matthias Church, Côte St. Antoine road.

Mrs. E. Brazel

of Westmount, died at Milton District Hospital, Milton Ontario, April 23, 1966.

Born in Johnville, Quebec November 1, 1898, Mrs. Brazel had lived in a number of places including Cookshire, Sherbrooke, Quebec, Springfield, Mass.; Milton, Ont.; and Sand Hill, Quebec.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Oakes, and was married to James Orion Brazel at Johnville, June 24, 1935. She leaves to mourn a great loss, Doris (Mrs. Charles Brown) of Milton, Harold of Montreal, a step-daughter Esther (Mrs. Gordon Honey) Foster Quebec, a step-son Stanley of Vermilion Ohio.

Mrs. Brazel moved to Milton in 1955, and attended Grace Anglican Church before moving to Montreal in 1961. While in Montreal, she attended Church of the Advent.

In her earlier years she sang in the choirs of St. Paul the Apostle, and St. Peter at Sherbrooke. Her father was the first organist of the former church. She also sang in the choir of the All Saints' Episcopal Church in Springfield, Mass.

She was predeceased by her husband and parents, and is survived by her children, three sisters Rosamond (Mrs. Fred Parker) of Johnville, Olive (Mrs. Fred Riff) of Whitby, and Muriel (Mrs. Albert Carroll) of Whitby, also a brother Leonard Oakes of Oshawa.

Funeral service was from Grace Anglican Church, Milton, with Rev. Dr. T. M. Dustan officiating. Hymns sung were 'Jesus lover my soul' and 'The strife is o'er.' The choir was in attendance. Pallbearers were Leonard Oakes (Junior) Elwin Oakes, Dr. Frank Oakes, Lindsay Love, Milton Lake, and Joseph Waters.

Interment was in St. Luke's Anglican cemetery, Sand Hill, Que., with Rev. Canon H. C. Denton officiating. Pallbearers were Raymond Brazel, Elwin Brazel, John Brazel, Nelson Tryon, Gordon Honey, George Parker.

Mrs. H. Boultbee

Mrs. Hesill Boultbee, well-known Canadian artist whose works have appeared in many Montreal exhibitions, died here Saturday following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Boultbee graduated from the Froebel Method Teaching College in England and later taught in the open air school in Regent's Park, London. She came to Canada in 1937 and was a member of the teaching staff at The Study.

Mrs. Boultbee studied with Adam Sheriff Scott, Eric Goldberg and other leading Canadian painters. Her work has appeared in the Royal Academy Salons and the Spring Exhibition at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. She also displayed her paintings at the annual exhibitions in Dominion Square and her work has been acquired for a number of private collections.

During the Second World War, she served with the Red Cross Volunteer Corps as an instructor in occupational therapy.

Mrs. Boultbee was an active member of the Protestant Church at Ste. Adele and was associated with a number of community activities in that town. She was also a member of St. Matthias Anglican Church in Westmount.

She is survived by her husband, Paul N. Boultbee; a daughter, Miss Sheila Boultbee; a son, David; and a brother, Maj. Arthur Mallock, of the British Royal Corps of Signals in England.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

BY CORNELIUS R. STAM PRES. BEREAN BIBLE SOCIETY CHICAGO 35, ILLINOIS

In II Thes. 2:10 St. Paul declares that the apostates of the coming age will "perish, because they received not the love of the truth, that they may be saved." This is something worth considering very seriously.

God calls this present dispensation "the dispensation of the grace of God" (Eph. 3:2). During this dispensation faithful Christians are proclaiming "the gospel (good news) of the grace of God" (Acts 20:24). This is the message of God's grace and love in giving Christ to die for our sins so that we might be saved from its penalty and power.

All, however, do not believe this glorious message or accept God's grace in Christ. These, the apostle declares, will be left behind when our Lord comes, at the close of this age, to catch His own away. Because they rejected the truth, and the love it proclaimed, God will give them up "that they might believe a lie," and put their faith in Antichrist, "that they all might be damned who believed not the truth" (II Thes. 2:8-12).

It was infinite love that brought Christ to Calvary to suffer shame and disgrace for our sins, and this love is being proclaimed in this dispensation of grace. But this dispensation may be brought to a close at any time and bring in the day of God's wrath. How important then to accept God's love and trust His Son without delay! "Behold, NOW is the accepted time . . . Behold now is the day of salvation (II Cor. 6:2).

The fun will offer the latest models in bathing suits, cocktails, buffet, go-go girls, dancing, summer fashion show, more than 50 valuable door prizes. Seen here are: left, Frank Cregeen and right George Jost with a model who will appear tonight.

Ormstown Exhibition next week

Westmount residents, either from nostalgia of their small-town roots or from the novelty for the city-born and bred, have proved popular visitors to the nearby annual Ormstown Exhibition.

The four-day show, blend of country fair complete with big midway and sophisticated horse show and exhibition attracting over $25,000 in prize money this year, opens next Wednesday afternoon through Saturday evening, June 8-11.

Greatly improved road communications are responsible for a big jump in attendance figures which last year topped 33,000 to the Chateauguay valley farm centre of some 3,500 souls. Ormstown is little more than half an hour southwest of Mercier bridge on Route 4.

Ormstown has established itself as the top country fair of Quebec and Eastern Ontario from its solid base in the midst of Montreal's major milkshed. Some 274 prize cattle already are entered this year, plus other farm livestock of all kinds, handicrafts, cooking, flowers and 210 show horses, performing nightly as well as Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and Saturday morning in the enclosed arena.

Judging and exhibitions take place every day and special features include an emphasis on youth with bareback pony potato races, calf scrambles and 4-H Club calf judging.

And the King Reid midway goes night and day.

Birdland :

Ovenbird song — loud and clear

By WINIFRED WILSON

"Tea-cher, tea-cher, tea-cher, tea-cher, tea-cher," came a voice strong and clear from the woods beside the narrow footpath.

The song sounded as if the singer meant business, and grew louder and louder.

"What a peculiar noise. Is that a bird?" asked a newcomer to our group of birders who had never before heard the song of an Ovenbird.

It was early June, so a pair of these very odd Warblers must be nesting nearby. The dry, dead leaves of last autumn lay on the ground, and any movement on our part caused them to rustle. There was a gentle slope up to the spot from which the voice came. Could we make it without disturbing the singer? We feared not.

Suddenly, as we watched, a small bird alighted on a fallen log, then walked daintily along it. Next, it flew straight down and — disappeared!

Dutch Oven

Up the slope we crept as quietly as we could. The nest must be right there, because Ovenbirds build on the ground, arching over the top of the home so that (like a Dutch oven) the entrance is at the side. Naturally, as the first person drew near the occupent flew. But we had all seen the big, round eye encircled with white, and the orange crown with its wide border of black on each side. Its underparts were white with large black dashes.

The Ovenbirds had made use of some of the dead leaves to build their nest, and plant fibres kept it in shape. The lining was fine grass and the hair of some animal. But what interested us most was a tiny, white egg with a wreath of specks and spots around the larger end. It was the colours of these markings that took the eye: reddish-brown and lilac.

The Ovenbird is actually a member of the large Warbler family, but with many odd characteristics. We began to count these up. Some we had already discovered for ourselves. It did not look or carry itself like most Warblers, it walked instead of hopping, found its food on the ground instead of in the air or on trees, nested in an unusual place, built a unique home, and had a song quite unlike any other Warbler.

One peculiarity we did not discover that day. The Ovenbird has a flight song which is heard most often in late afternoon. Nevertheless, it is occasionally given at other times: mid-day, in complete darkness, or on a moonlit night.

Tongues

As it is quite unusual to get a chance to see the tongue of any bird you may have the idea that there is no such thing. However, occasionally you may be near enough to see one in action, as when a customer on a window-sill feeding shelf puts out a tiny, pointed, pink object.

Of course all birds have tongues, and some of them are most unusual. The Woodpeckers which winter with us keep alive by feeding on insects found under the bark of trees. Clinging to the trunk with their hooked claws they brace themselves with their tails, throw back their heads to get power for their specialized bills to hammer into the wood, and draw out the food. For this last act a specialized tongue is needed.

The tongue bones are so very long that there is not room for them to lie flat along the length of the bill. They wind over the base of the bird's skull, along the crown, and their ends finally rest near the bill's tip.

This "made to order" tongue can be stretched out very far until its tip touches the desired food. The sharp point spears the insect, and at the same time a sticky fluid is secreted by the salivary glands. The prey is thus held. On either side of the tongue lie diminutive, backpointing barbs so that the impaled prey can be pulled out of the wood.

Bird of seasons

Sapsuckers are the odd members of the Woodpecker family. They live on the sap which flows from the small, square holes which they make with their strong bills in the trunks of smooth-bark trees. Few Canadians have the opportunity of finding a Sapsucker in winter because these birds migrate to regions where the weather is sufficiently warm for sap to flow. By March you might begin to look for one here. Your ears may help you more than your eyes, because the tattoo made in drilling a hole is distinctive — irregularly timed naps. To drink sap, the bird does not require a very long tongue, but it must be able to soak it up.

every Saturday from June 25 to Augusi 6 at Youthpower's downtown office.

The first clinic will attempt to give young people a better knowledge of how to look for jobs, fill applications, dress for interviews, and how to conduct themselves in an interview with a prospective employer. This clinic, which is appropriately entitled: "How to Succeed in Business by Really Trying", will start at 2:00 p.m. on June 25. Other clinics will be held as follows: July 2 "Mother's Helper Clinic", July 9 "Lawn and Garden Care Clinic", July 16 "Sales Clinic", July 23 "Party Planner's Clinic", July 30 "Hostess Helper Clinic", and August 6 "Handyman Clinic". Experts in each field will address young people on how to do these jobs and thus give them a better opportunity for summer employment.

member of the Life Insurance Underwriters Association and a governor and director of the Renaissance Club.

He is married to the former Laura Marchini and is the father of four children.

Andree Maillet Hobden

Mother of three children, Mrs. Hobden will represent the RIN in Westmount.

She received her education at Collège Marguerite - Bourgeoys, the University of Montreal, Columbia University and the New School Social research Theatre. A journalist since she was 18, she worked with the ministry of information in Paris between the years 1946-51.

As well as being a member of the British American Press Association until 1951, she has been a member of the Society of Canadian Writers since 1942 and a member of the RIN for the past five years. An author of 12 books, she was awarded a bronze medal from the Canadian Librarian Association in 1965.

Richard Hyde

Richard Hyde, minister of revenue and former Speaker of the House, was born in Montreal 51 years ago and has been the member for Westmount since 1955.

Educated at Westmount High School and Kingston's Royal Military College, he later attended Cambridge University. A graduate of the University of Montreal faculty of law, he was admitted to the Bar in 1938 and became a member of the Hyde and Ahern legal firm.

He saw active service during the war in France and Belgium before resuming his law practice. His father represented the same riding in the Legislature before he was appointed to the Upper House.

He was appointed Speaker in 1962 and has chaired the committee on subsidies, and ways and means. Married to the former Patricia Irvine, he is the father of three children.

Lucien Vallee

Making his second try for public office, his first in a provincial election, is the Ralliement National standardbearer, Lucien Vallée.

In last November's federal election, he ran as a Créditiste in St. Antoine-Westmount and garnered 566 votes.

He lists his occupation as a technical engineer and has resided in Montreal for 30 years. He has been active in the provincial Social Credit movement for many years.

Three tots win awards

At a recent service of worship of St. Andrew's Church the Religion and Life Award was presented to three of St. Andrew's young people, all ten years of age:

Pauline Crouch, of St. Andrew's Brownies, and Gordon Walkling, and James Hogle, of St. Andrew's Cub Pack.

Requirements for the Religion and Life Award are very high. It is presented only after the candidate has satisfactorily demonstrated excellent ability to get along with others, both at home and in the Pack; and after an examination by the candidate's Minister on the Church, missionary work, and tasks of the present time; the candidate must also demonstrate an intelligent comprehension of several Biblical passages and stories, as well as an intelligent grasp of the Church School Study for the year. The candidate must also have shown more than average interest in religious subjects.

'God the Only Cause and Creator'

How to recognize the ways in which God's power and intelligence are made evident in human affairs, will be examined at the services in all Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "God the Only Cause and Creator."

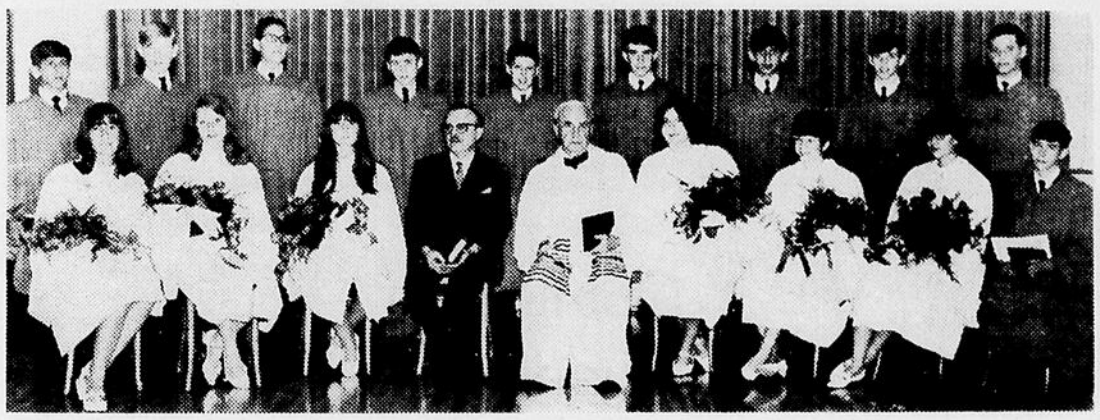

Scriptural selections will be keynoted by the following from Psalms: 'The Lord is righteous, in all his ways, and holy in all hsi works. The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth." Related passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook will include: "When mortal man blends his thoughts of existence with the spiritual and works only as God works, he will no longer grope in the dark and cling to earth because he has not tasted heaven."

Douglas WA start Clothing service

The Auxiliary of Douglas Hospital has established a Clothing Service Centre for indigent retarded children within the hospital. The Centre, in the Burgess Pavilion of Douglas Hospital will be formally opened on June 9th at 4 o'clock by Mr. Ernest Crowe, Chairman of Children's Services on the Board of Management. A cheque will be presented by the Versalla Art Group, the proceeds from their annual exhibit, and will be used for much-needed winter clothing.

Following the opening ceremony a reception will be held. Members of the Pioneers Club of the Bell Telephone, who staff the Centre, will act as hostesses.

Mrs. T. C. Todd is the Auxiliary Chairman of this project.

All Auxiliary members are invited to attend.

IODE national annual report

Canadian chapters of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire spent $447,131 on services in Canada and overseas it was reported at the annual meeting of the national chapter on Monday.

Mrs. Donald M. Brown, war memorial secretary, reported that three candidates were granted reappointments for a second year of study in Great Britain under the scholarship plan, and five candidates were awarded post-graduate scholarships of $2,300.

Mrs. William Redpath, who was re-elected president of the Montreal Soldiers' Wives' League at its annual meeting Monday. Other officers include: Mrs. B. N. Malott, Mrs. G. Foucher, Mrs. J. Lowe, Mrs. N. B. Capes, Mrs. G. Gamache, Mrs. J. A. Wolfe, Mrs. L. P. Frawley, vice-presidents; Mrs. J. A. Lefebvre, recording secretary; and Mrs. D. Ward, corresponding secretary.

Tuna salad luau meal in itself

A salad can be a meal in itself. A Sunday night supper of salad, garlic bread and tea can be the perfect finale to a perfect weekend.

We like this recipe for Tuna Salad Luau. It is a "crisp" salad in that the celery and nuts act as a pleasant foil for the tuna and pineapple chunks. The texture is interesting and the flavor is superb.

The combination of salad dressing and curry powder is an interesting taste experience and the overall flavor meld of tuna, pineapple, celery, walnuts and curry teams well with the subtle seasoning of the salad dressing for a hearty salad equally at home at family supper or club luncheon.

- 2 6-ounce tins tuna, flaked
- 2 cups (20-ounce tin) pineapple chunks drained
- 1 cup sliced celery
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- *¾ cup salad dressing
- ¾ teaspoon curry powder
- Salt and pepper
- Lettuce

Combine tuna, pineapple, celery, walnuts and parsley. Add salad dressing blended with curry powder; toss lightly. Season to taste; chill. Serve on lettuce. Serves 4 to 6.

Nonstick kitchen utensils, especially bakeware, should be oiled before the first use to condition the surface. One method is to wipe the surface with a paper towel soaked in salad oil.

Nearly new shop plans sale

The Nearly New Shop, 1209 Burnside street, operated by volunteers from the Women's Auxiliaries of the Royal Victoria Hospital and the Montreal Children's Hospital, will hold its annual summer closing sale starting tomorrow until the 17th. Two advance sale days were held yesterday and today.

Items on sale will be up to 50 per cent off the regular shop prices. The store is open Monday to Friday from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. All proceeds will be used to further the Social Services of the two hospitals.

Headstart school planned for fall

Mrs. R. Douglas Smith, of Westmount, is a member of the organizing committee of a "Headstart" Observation Nursery School being planed for next winter at St. Columba House for the Point St. Charles area.

Volunteers who can give one morning per week are needed to assist the nursery school teacher in this project which is being sponsored by St. Columba House of the United Church of Canada in co-operation with the Montreal Children's Hospital, Lorne School of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, and the Family Life Education Council.

The council will provide a worker once a week who will meet with the mothers of the children in the school. In addition it will operate training sessions this June for all volunteers who will be assisting the nursery teacher. Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer worker may contact Mrs. Smith, or Mrs. Wiliam Dunnington or Mrs. David Gibb, both of the Town of Mount Royal.

This school will accommodate fifteen children five mornings per week from October to the beginning of June. The goal is to assist large families living under crowded conditions; to broaden the children's limited experiences, and to better prepare them to enter kindergarten. It is hoped also to help their mothers tackle the many problems of raising a family in the inner city today.

What is foster parenthood? It's giving homeless children the wholesome, happy life they so badly need. It's giving innocent victims of broken homes security, understanding, firmness and warmth — often for for the first time in their lives. It's challenging, gratifying work. Find out more from the Foster Home Recruiting Centre, telephone 935-2589. Or drop in at Room 211, 4018 St. Catherine Street West, near the Forum.

Handy helps

A paste of cream of tartar and peroxide applied with a stiff brush will help remove the discoloration left by a drippy faucet.

Brush a sweater with a dry sponge to remove fuzz balls.

Clean electric appliances after use by rubbing them with a little detergent on a damp sponge. Then dry with a clean cloth.

One medium-sized raw tomato will give nearly one-half of a day's requirement of vitamin C and generous amounts of vitamin A.

Don't forget turnip greens kale and collards. All three are good vegetable sources of riboflavin as well as vitamins A and C.

Slices of raw peaches, apple or banana won't brown if dipped in orange or lemon juice.

Furs need to breathe. Don't store them in containers of any kind, including garment bags.

Indian culture gave vegetables

Until colonization began seriously in North America, the civilized world was a bit short of vegetable varieties. More than half the vegetables we accept as routine fare today were discoveries of the North American Indians.

Beans, potatoes and squash were all introduced to Europe by explorers to the Brave New World.

So, along with Cowboy and Indian movies, vegetables have been a significant contribution by the Indian to world culture.

Consumption of vegetables has, until fairly recently, been influenced by climate. Eskimos eat scarcely any vegetables, living almost entirely on animal food. The inhabitants of the tropics, on the other hand, live almost entirely of vegetables. In the temperate regions, both vegetables and meat are eaten, but more vegetables are consumed in summer than in winter simply because of their greater availability.

In recent years, however, the transportation and refrigeration of vegetables has made great leaps ahead to the point where there are at least 25 different varieties available fresh on any Canadian market in any given month.

When frozen vegetables and canned vegetables are added to this tally, it becomes very evident that there's no lack of choice in planning menus with a stimulating array of vegetables.

For their nutritive values, vegetables are highly important in the daily diet. They contain carbohydrates, some protein, and most important, a good supply of minerals vitamins and cellulose. They also contain chlorophyll, a green pigment found in a wide range of leafy vegetables that aids in the digestion and assimilation of foods.

On keeping the green sward green

It's everybody's ambition to have a perfect lawn, even those of us who don't work too hard at it would love to have the pleasure of it. So let us review what is necessary to accomplish this happy result, it may not be too much work after all.

For maintenance we find that we must mow properly, as mowing too short weakens grass and cuts down the ability of the blades to take in enough sun food to build healthy roots. A basic guide would be to never remove more than one third of the grass blades at any one cutting.

We also must fertilize the lawn, the first time at the beginning of the season, in fact it should have been done by now and again 30 to 40 days after the first application. For best results cut the dosage in half and water thoroughly to soak the food down to the roots. Sprinkle well as in early spring.

Water well and regularly especially fresh grass growth. Keep newly seeded spots damp at all times. (Some fertilizers can be applied with watering, check the directions on the package.)

The most common weeds we are bothered with in Westmount seem to be dondelion and plantain and there are many handy products on the market now which takes the labor and uncertainty out fo this chore. We like the squirt type, as it gives us pleasure to shoot at the roots of the nuisances. Some directions ask the control to be watered in, so again check your package directions.

And so to work and we hope we all have good results.

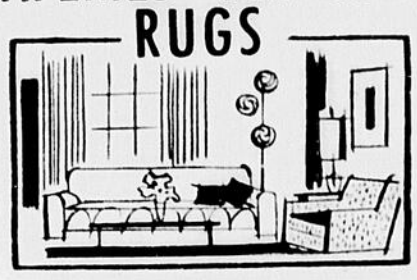

More than 275 Canadians drowned last year because they lost their balance and fell into the water. This is Red Cross Water Safety Week. Be water wise!

BWU of CWL hold annual election for the 1965-66 season — The Business Women's Unit of the Catholic Women's League of Canada.

At the annual meeting of the Business Women's Unit of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, Miss Elizabeth Greenslade was re-elected President.

Other officers elected were Miss Marian Fahy ,First Vice-President; Miss Vera Stryde, Second Vice-President; Miss Patricia Lehman, Third Vice-President; Mrs. L. P. Byrne, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Carol Whimbey, Corresponding Secretary; and Miss Alberte de la Mirande, Treasurer. Miss Kathleen Leahy is immediate Past President.

The Business Women's Unit raised $3,219.14 during the past year through a Card party, Christmas Shower, a marathon bridge group, and a Valentine Kaffee Klatch.

Financial assistance was given by the group to various institutions including the Diocesan Priesthood Guild, Cavalcade of Cheer, Catholic Sailors' Club, Convent of Marie de la Reparatrice, Catholic Welfare Bureau, Canadian Mental Health Association, and a group of Retarded Children. Contribution made to Vanier Instituâte of the Family.

Scholarships were donated to Marianopolis College and St. Joseph's Teachers' College, furthermore, a High School Student will be attending the United Nations' Seminar this summer, sponsored by the Unit.

Two children are maintained by the Unit under the Foster Parents Plan.

Over 1200 hours were contributed by members of the Unit to St. Mary's Hospital Coffee Shop and the Gift Shop at St. Mary's; the Ecumenical Center, and St. Ann's Military Hospital.

During the ten monthly (and special Christmas) visits made to St. Anne's Military Hospital by members of the Unit, gifts of candy, cigarettes, magazines, pipes, tobacco, etc., were made to patients of two wards. Two complete layettes as well as over two hundred hand made items of clothing and other articles were donated to the Catholic Welfare Bureau. Fifteen baby's knitted sets were donated for needy Mothers of St. Mary's Hospital Maternity Ward.

A Pilgrimage will be made by the Members to Our Lady of Hope Shrine, Essex, N.Y. on Sunday, June 12, 1966.

Councillors elected were Miss Stellma Ganley, Miss Myrtle Hawthorne, Miss Ethel Love, Miss Patricia McCord, Mrs. J. B. Snanahan, Miss Helen Sodo, and Miss Viola Wright.

C. S. Malone, a Governor of Loyola College, presents the Chemcell Prize for English to MISS ANNE CAREY of 31 Bruce Avenue, Westmount, at the 70th Convocation of Loyola on May 28th.

● WE HEAR from Gerald Saxton, executive director of the Quebec division, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, that there is still no cure for Arthritis, and he warns all sufferers to beware of those who claim that there is.

"The trouble with arthritis is that there is a phenomenon called 'remission' he says in which the symptoms disappear.

"When that happens you attribute it to anything you might have done in the last 24 hours."

And quacks like the Montreal doctor who sells his hormone-cortisone drug, or an east-end man who pushes bee-venom, are just milking the public.

They can produce results to back up their treatment — but they don't mention the failures. And the successes are usually due to the remission factor.

Anyone who goes to a quack for relief from arthritis should know that he is not only wasting monty, but time. Arthritis symptoms, if treated by a qualified rheumatologist, can be helped by certain drugs.

The products sold as "cures" for arthritis fall into five categories: devices (suspension machines, mitts filled with uranium dirt, "irradiated water"); drugs (glorified aspirins, hormones, treated milk); liniments (adrenalin cream, alfalfa, herbs and acids); treatment centres (like the one in Texas where you spend $10 a day to sit in uranium mines); diets and food supplements. This last category includes doses of olive oil prescribed "to liburicate the joints."

Dr. Winspear speaks to UWC

Dr. Mary Winspear, principal of Weston School, Westmount, speaking to the University Women's Club of the Montreal Lakeshore recently took as her subject 'The world is round'. She carried her audience with her on a vivid tour of the places she herself visited last year when she was a Canadian delegate to the International Federation of University Women's conference in Brisbane, Australia. These places included Tokyo, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Cambodia, Fiji, and Tahiti as well as Australia .

"At times the fact that the world is round comes home to us with a new impact; such as flying over the broad Pacific Ocean and crossing the International Date line; such as flying into Australia as the sun is just rising over the horizon".

Dr. Winspear feels that with modern transportation and communication people have a great potential opportunity to get to know each other better and that if they take advantage of this chance, it in turn is almost certain to broaden the perception of the individual.

To an individual from an urban, western country, Dr. Winspear pointed out that many things come as a great shock. To illustrate this she mentioned the great lack of fresh water, especially in Hong Kong; also the fantastically crowded living conditions in the same place. The tremendous poverty is another great problem. "There is no logic in the fact that half the world is eating and half is starving. Their maximum is our minimum." She went on to say that many of these countries have been "very obscure to us — but not to themselves. However, we can no longer speak about dark continents or countries".

Speirs - Miller Springtime revue

PROCEEDS TO A WORTHWHILE PROJECT.

Proceeds from the Speirs-Miller revue being held by the Speirs-Miller Studio in Loyola College Auditorium, June 3 at 7:30 p.m. will be used jointly for the benefit of the children in the Retarded Children's Service of Douglas Memorial Hospital and the Jesuit Darjeeling Mission in India.

Betty and her husband Peter Miller have devoted a lot of time during the past eight years to a program of volunteer work with patients who are mentally ill. A year and a half ago they also commenced a volunteer program of dance with a group of thirty-five retarded children in the children's services which they found most rewarding, because the children responded so well to the singing and tap dancing. The program has proven to be of great value in helping them to gain better co-ordination and concentration, and a great deal of happiness to both the children and teachers, Betty and Peter Miller, has resulted.

BETTY SPEIRS-MILLER

It is for this project that the concert proceeds will be used to buy new tap shoes which many have grown out of since last year.

Betty Speirs-Miller will be commentator. Curtain rises promptly at 7:30 p.m. and tickets may be obtained at the door.

VOW ends busy year

VANCOUVER (C.P.) — What with politicians and playthings, biculturalism and birth control, the Canadian Voice of Women has had a busy year.

In her report to the annual meeting here, recently, VOW president Kathleen Macpherson of Toronto outlined the activities of the previous year.

In July, VOW representatives attended the Helsinki Peace Conference in Finland.

During the session of the Vatican council. VOW presented an appeal to bishops to press for the condemnation of war, the outlawing of all nuclear weapons, the setting up of peace-keeping institutions, general disarmament negotiations, recognition of the status of conscientious objectors, and educational programs for peace and international understanding.

During the federal election,

Girls' Cottage School reports enrolment low

The enrollment of the Girls' Cottage School, a residential treatment centre for delinquent girls and girls from multi-problem homes, hit "an almost all-time low" last year, Miss M. A. Campbell, its executive director, said yesterday.

But she believes the trend is only temporary.

"During last summer, we sent letters to the judges handling juveniles acquainting them with our program and informing them we had vacancies," said Miss Campbell at the Girls' Cottage School annual meeting.

"By fall, we were beginning to ask questions and do some realistic thinking. Is the Girls' Cottage School necessary to the community? If not, how could we best serve our community?

"We have now stopped asking those questions. We are probably having to work harder than ever before. During February and March, we received 11 new admissions, compared with 21 in the preceding 13 months."

Miss Campbell said in an interview, the sudden increase in enrolment was due to a shortage of good foster homes for teenage girls and to a renewed faith in the institutionalized care and treatment by professionals.

Ernle Carroll, recording secretary, reported that the past year brought "a major change in the operation of the school." The Government of Quebec had assumed the financial responsibility of the school with the assistance of a grant from the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal.

The United Red Feather Service gave a grant to cover the cost of follow-up case work service to girls who had left the school.

Mrs. M. L. Tucker was re-elected president of the Girls' Cottage School.

Members of the executive are: Miss Grace Campbell, Mrs. C. F. James, Mrs. Peter Kilburn, vice-presidents: Mrs. Leighton Smith, treasurer; Mrs. George McDonald, honorary recording secretary; Mrs. Gordon Trower, honorary treasurer; Mrs. T. B. King, honorary corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Andrew Fleming is honorary president.

Tomato juice, beef broth — Enjoy a cupful of tomato juice for 45 calories or stir in one envelope unflavored gelatine for extra protein and a plus of 28 calories. (To fix, sprinkle gelatine into juice to soften, then stir in and sip cold. Or heat just until the gelatine dissolves.) Condensed beef broth poured right from the can over ice, or diluted with an equal amount of water, counts a low 17 calories for ⅔cup. Two saltines to eat with it add 35 calories.

IODE national president reviews group's work

There is no volunteer job in any field that some members of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire do not perform, said Mrs. J. Neil Gordon, national president, at opening ceremonies of the 66th annual meeting of the National Chapter of Canada here Saturday.

Reviewing major activities of the 28,000-member organization, Mrs. Gordon said that "all the schools in the far north and hundreds more across the country and to the isolated villages of Newfoundland have been given assistance in many forms, such as bursaries, awards, books and supplies."

The organization's First and Second War Memorial Funds have provided scholarships for post-graduate students and aid has been given to handicapped students.

The IODE is "assisting nearly 50 secondary schools in the islands of the West Indies" and gives scholarships for post-graduate study in Canada to students from Ghana, Nigeria and the West Indies. In India, where the IODE has helped for more then 60 years, it provides grants to nurses and doctors and texts for two hospitals.

To Korea, where the organization maintain's a children's hospital, it has sent tons of powered milk and boxes of clothing through the Save the Children Fund.

Mrs. Gordon reminded members that their aim is "to foster patriotism and to be of service" and urged them to publicize the organization.

VOW ends . . .

VOW questioned candidates on the recognition of Communist China, Canada's contribution to peace in Viet Nam, disarmament, uranium sales and overseas aid.

All through the year, VOW continued its campaign against the sale of war toys to children, and Mrs. Macpherson reported many schools, teachers, parent groups, doctors, social workers and others are supporting the campaign.

A VOW brief was prepared seeking changes in the Criminal Code to permit dissemination of information on birth control and family planning.

A group of VOW met with officials of the trade department and discussed weapons sales and restrictions on the sale of uranium. They were told the U.S. and Britain would be bound in future to use Canadian uranium for peaceful purposes only.

In her address, Mrs. Macprerson said: "We demand a peaceful world where the rights of all are respected. We are, in our small way, the conscience of Canada."

Penny wants a pussy cat, something she can cuddle and call her own. She is so lonely because she and her brothers lost their own mummy and daddy. Yes, Penny wants a pussy cat, but most of all she wants a loving home where she and her brothers can live. Can you help? Call the Foster Home Recruiting Centre at 935-2589. POTATOE SALAD MOLD

Here is an old summer favorite which can be enjoyed by all the family with cold meat and a green salad on hot summer days especially out of doors. (Hint, the flavor is always better if the potatoes are blended with the other ingredients when they are still warm.)

- 8 large potatoes
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, shelled
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 cups mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1 cup green onion tops chopped
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- Romaine leaves

1. Cook potatoes, covered, in boiling, slightly salted water in a large saucepan 45 minutes, or until tender; drain. Cool until easy to handle, then peel and dice. (There should be about 8 cups.) Place in a large bowl.

2. Chop 3 of the eggs and add to potatoes; sprinkle chopped parsley over. (Set remaining egg aside for garnish.)

3. Blend mayonnaise or salad dressing, onion tops, sugar, salt, mustard, pepper, and vinegar in a small bowl; pour over potato mixture; toss lightly to coat evenly. Cover and chill until serving time.

4. Spoon salad, mounding in a bowl shape, into a serving dish. (Tip: Salad is easy to pat into shape with two large spoons.) (Makes 8 servings.)

Slice the remaining eggs and use as a garnish with some of the parsley chopped and unchopped, a few green leaves of lettuce, and a sprinkling of paprika for color.

City Hall

Tenders for the City Hall renovations were submitted to Council on March 1st, 1965 and the contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, Seal Construction Limited. The City Hall was vacated during the weekend of March 19th and renovation work commenced immediately. All work was completed by October 15th, the date on which departments returned to City Hall and service to the public was resumed in the renovated building.

A QUICK AND COOL SUMMER TREAT

To ten or twelve ounces of prepared coleslaw, add one half pound of drained or dry, (compressed) cottage cheese, and a small can of tuna flakes. Toss all together in a salad bowl and serve. Very low in calories too.

Tart-sweet pink rhubard sparked with orange bakes under a whirly-top crust

Bake at 425° for 50 minutes . . .
makes 1 nine-inch pie

- 1 package piecrust mix
- 1½ pounds rhubarb
- 2 eggs
- 1¾ cups sugar
- 4 tablespoons flour
- ¼ teaspoon mace
- Dash of salt
- ¼ cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

1. Prepare piecrust mix, following label directions. Roll out half to a 12-inch round on a lightly floured pastry cloth or board; fit into a 9-inch pie plate; trim overhang to ½ inch.

2. Wash rhubarb; trim ends; cut rhubarb into 1-inch pieces. (There should be about 4 cups.)

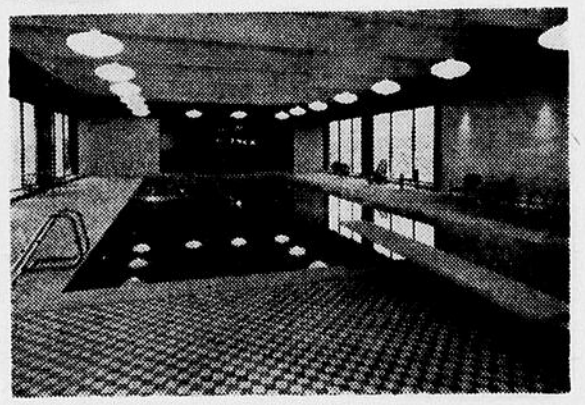

3. Beat eggs slightly in a large bowl; blend in sugar, flour, mace, salt, and orange juice; stir in rhubarb to coat pieces well. Spoon into prepared pastry shell.

Cross-hatch the pie with strips of pastry, and set pie pan on cookie sheet to bake, in a hot oven (425) for 50 minutes, until pastry is golden and juices are bubbling. Cool on a wire rack before slicing.

Skim milk or buttermilk — Perfect for an afternoon or before-bedtime pickup — and so good for you, too. Count 90 calories for a cupful. Munch on five thin pretzel sticks as a go-with for only 20 calories.

Rotary club rebuilds Weredale Camp

Carnival funds bear bulk

Weredale Camp will be open again this summer, despite a major fire there late last August that destroyed the main dining hall and several other buildings.

The Westmount Rotary Club, which built the gutted dining hall back in 1934 when the club was under president Percy Jarman, was responsible for its rebuilding this year. The club contributed a total of $25,000.

To meet that commitment, the club has made the Weredale Camp project their major goal in the funds raised through their annual Carnival.

In an effort to acquire all the money possible, the Rotarions have done over their carnival from top to bottom in an attempt to attract as many people as possible. The Carnival will run from June 14-18.

Their motto for this year's carnival is 'Fun" and that hits the nail right on the head.

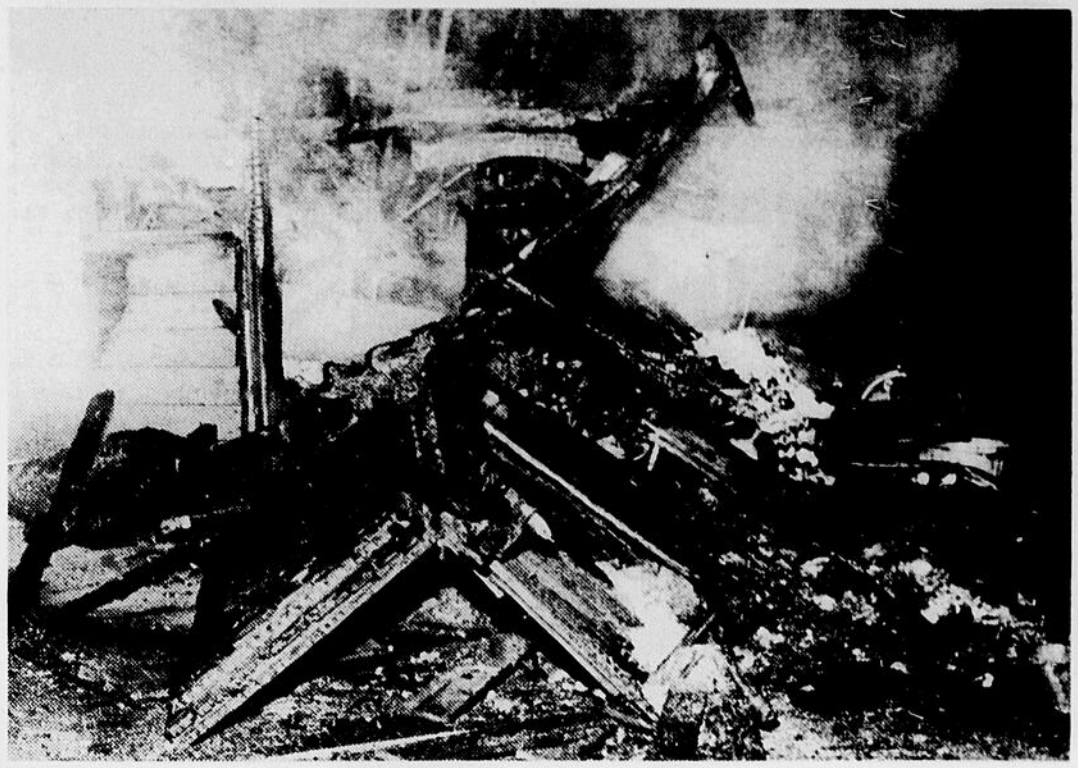

Old Beams

One of the new booths will be tied right in with Weredale. There will be some of the heavy beams from the destroyed dining hall on hand and the aim of the game to see if you can hammer a regular size nail into this beam in three blows. Sound easy? Come to the carnival and chances are you'll be in for a big surprise.

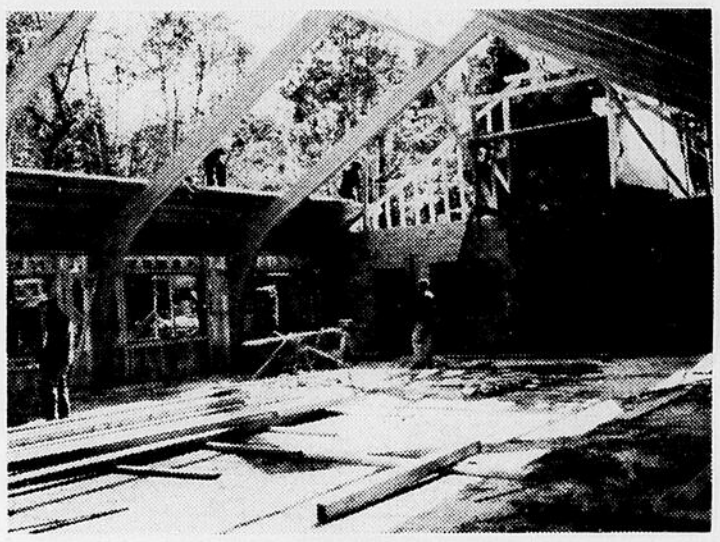

When the fire struck last year, it was the middle of August and the camping season. All the fire-fighting equipment at the camp was thrown into action and all the boys went to work. The fire was finally contained hours later after gutting four buildings.

The boys were forced to return to Weredale House for the remainder of the summer. Within days, the Rotary executive were on the site to see what could be done with regards to rebuilding.

The results of this is that the boys will leave for their camp shortly this summer, and will be greeted with a spanking new dining hall and work shop building.

Rebuilding

Weredale Camp has long history of aid

WEREDALE HOUSE, named for the Park in which it is located in the lower southeast corner of our City, was built in 1930 to provide a new home for the Boys' Home of Montreal which had opened its doors on Mountain Street in 1870 as a home for boys,—A Home for Boys, regardless of creed, colour or condition, who through no fault of their own were deprived of the care of their own homes. Since its establishment in Westmount, over 3,000 boys between the ages of 10 and 18 have called it "home", some for a few weeks only and others for many years, depending upon the conditions prevailing in their own homes.

Weredale House, in addition to providing all the cares found in a normal home, has facilities for sports and activities including a playing-yard, a gymnasium, swimming pool, class rooms in which the boys study their lessons under supervision, craft classes, library, games rooms, facilities for dental care and hospitalization and an Auditorium which is used for large gatherings and in which a chapel service is held every Sunday morning.

ALWAYS OPEN

Weredale is always open and welcomes visitors. Since its establishment in Westmount, most of the boys who have been in residence have attended our Protestant and Catholic schools, from which many have graduated and some have gone on to University. Many of the older boys work and while they continue to live at Weredale pay for their board and lodging as is expected of every growing citizen.

As we are now giving consideration to the historical background of the establishments in our City, probably a little of the history of the House would not be remiss.

Almost a century ago, in fact in 1868, a group of young men in a Bible Class, attending a church then located on Beaver Hall Hill, decided that their Christian endeavours should carry them beyond the walls of the church and set about to find an "unmet need" in the growing metropolis of Montreal.. A Protestant infant day-school seemed to be the answer, but before formal plans could be made, the Protestant Board of School Commissioners came into being and picked up the slack in this connection. They then sought other avenues and decided that there was a need for a Home patterned after the Shaftsbury Homes in the Old Country, for boys who, because of conditions in their homes, were not enjoying the privileges and rights that are conducive to good citizenship.

ALEXANDER

Charles Alexander, a local philanthropist, was interested and the first Boys' Home was established on Mountain Street, opening its doors in 1870. The name "Alexander" should be well remembered in the City of Westmount as a store bearing his name operated for many years on St. Catherine Street, just west of Greene Avenue. From this modest beginning, additions were made as the demands became urgent for two new sections of the building. Early in the 1900's the interest of the Board was aroused through the lack of facilities for the care of delinquent boys and through their interest and support, the Boys' Farm and Training School at Shawbridge was established in 1907, as the first cottage-planned institution for boys in our country.

In 1918, the Board brought into being the first summer camp for our so-called under-privileged boys, originally called "Camp Boy" and located on Lac Dupuis on the site now occupied by the new modern hotel known as "L'Esterel". A year following its opening it was renamed "Camp Lewis" and the Camp for many years has been operated as a unit of the Montreal Boys' Association.

IN DEBT

These extra loads, however, placed a heavy financial responsibility on the old institution, and, following the First World War, it found itself heavily in debt. The interest of the Rotary Club of Montreal, a newly established service club, was solicited and in 1920 they campaigned for $20,000. to write off the bank overdraft and to give the old institution a new lease of life. Rotary's interest has been continuously maintained in its affairs ever since and when it was decided that a new building and new location were required, the Rotary Club of Montreal, in 1928-9, sponsored a campaign for a quarter of a million dollars, the largest amount ever raised by a service club any place at that time. The campaign went over the top to the extent of $39,000. and the new Boys' Home—Weredale House—was established in our City. Since its establishment, it has been necessary to make two additions to the building to provide for increased accommodation and the investment now represents an equity in excess of one million dollars.

The spirit of having to meet other needy causes was not diminished through its establishment in Westmount, as, over the years, land adjacent to Weredale House has been made available at a nominal cost for the building of the Red Feather Building on Atwater Avenue and an outright gift of land made possible the establishment of the Children's Service Centre next door; the most recent addition to Weredale House being the provision, on a rental basis, of premises for the National Office of the Boys' Clubs of Canada.

ROTARY CLUB

The interest of the Rotary Club of Montreal in Weredale House sparked the interest of one of its children, the Rotary Club of Westmount, and its first major social service project was the establishment of a new camp—Camp Weredale — at Lac L'Achigan, for boys of Weredale House. This was brought about in the depths of the depression in 1933-34 and the spirit that prevailed in overcoming all obstacles in the establishment of the camp at that time, bespeaks the determination of the Westmount Rotarians that has been so evident over the years through the conduct of their annual carnival by which they have established the Unity Boys' Club of Greene Avenue, Prospect House for Elderly People and contributions to a host of other charitable undertakings. Members of both Rotary Clubs have been

Elsby joins Beavers in new twin role

Ted Elsby, one of the most respected names in Montreal football for the last twelve years has joined the Montreal Beavers in a twin role as Training Camp Coach and Game Program Manager.

Elsby should be a valuable asset to the Club in both capacities. Ted's experience as a defensive lineman should prove of immediate assistance to Head Coach Marvin Bass in stabilizing his young front four.

In assuming control over the Montreal Beaver Autostade Program, Elsby brings with him a wealth of advertising and printing knowledge. He has a diversified background as an advertising salesman and consultant, and currently is part owner of a Montreal printing company.

"Beaver President, John Newman is going first class all the way for the fans and that policy also applies to the Game Program", said Elsby. "We have studied the best in Canada and the United States and can guarantee that the Beaver Game Program — as well as the team — will be the finest in Canada."

'Y' to get five new directors

J. E. Annesley announced that the membership of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. will be asked to approve the addition of 5 new directors to the Westmount Branch Board of Management at the Annual Meeting to be held tomorrow Friday, June 3rd.

In making the announcement, Annesley reported the appointments are being made to enable the branch to carry out its program plans and goals for the next 5 years.

A. MacDonald gets 'Y' post

D. Macdonald, Chairman of the Westmount YMCA Personnel Committee, announced the appointment of Andrew MacDonald as Physical Education Director.

Andrew MacDonald is a graduate of the University of New Brunswick in Physical Education. His primary and secondary school education was received in both Canada and the United States. While attending school at Wakefield, Mass. MacDonald served the YMCA as a leader and on the summer program staff.

While at University he was a member of the Varsity Soccer Squad, gymnastics and track and field team. His other interests are camping, skiing golf and handball.

Under MacDonald's leadership the "Y' looks to an expansion in the fitness and family programming.

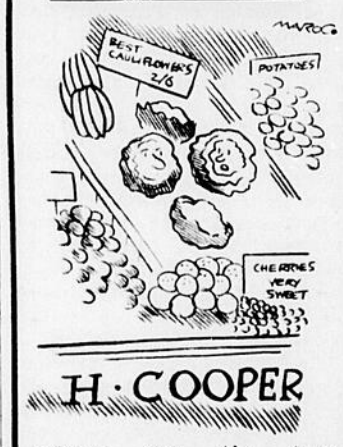

Tennis instruction available

Boys and girls who are residents of Westmount may register for special tennis instruction.

This instruction will take place on the junior tennis courts starting on Tuesday, July 5th, from 10 to 12 noon and subsequent Thursdays and Tuesdays through to August 25th. The group will be limited to sixty.

You may register at the artificial rink before June 10. The fee will be $3.00.

SPORTRAIT

"Mind you the boss put up a very game performance—"

Summer playground programme

The City of Westmount Recreation Department will be operating a summer playground program at Prince Albert Park, Westmount Park, and Staynor Park. The first day of registration will be Monday, June 27th at 9.00 a.m. at the comfort stations of the above-named parks.

Boys and girls from 6 to 16 years of age are welcome and will be able to participate in a wide program which includes handicrafts, tours of interest, picnics, sports, etc.

Further information may be had by contacting John Garland, Recreation Supervisor at 932-4293.

more efficient character than those enlisted in Montreal.

JOCKEYSHIP

"And now commenced another game of jockeyship. There were able and efficient men in abundance at Mackinaw, but for several days not one presented himself. If offers were made to any, they were listened to with a shake of the head. Should anyone seem inclined to enlist, there were officious idlers and busybodies of that class who are ready to dissuade others from any enterprise in which they themselves have no concern. They would pull them by the sleeves, take him to one side, or would suggest dificulties outright.

FINALLY

"At length, one man was hardly enough to engage, and he was used like a stool pigeon, to decoy others; but several days elapsed before any more could be prevailed upon to join them. A few then came to terms. It was desirable to engage them for five years, but some refused to engage for more than three. Then they must have a part of their pay in advance, which was readily granted. When they had pocketed the amount, and squandered it in regales for their outfits, they began to talk of pecuniary obligations at Mackinaw, which must be discharged before they were free to depart; or engagements with other persons, which were only cancelled by a reasonable consideration.

"It was in vain to argue or remonstrate. The money advanced had already been sacked and spent, and must be lost and the recruits left behind, unless they could be freed from their debts and engagements. Accordingly, a fine was paid for one; a judgment for another; a tavern bill for a third; and almost all had to be bought off from other prior engagements, either real or pretended."

"Mr. Hunt groned in spirit at the incessant and unreasonable demands of these worthies upon his purse; yet with all the outlay of funds, the number recruited was scanty, and many of the most desirable still held themselves aloof, and were not to be caught by a golden bait. With these he tried another temptation. Among the recruits who had enlisted he distributed feathers and ostrich plumes. These they put in their hats, and thus figured about Makinaw assuming airs of vast importance, as voyageurs in a new company, that was to eclispe the Northwest. The effect was complete. A French Canadian is too vain and mercurial a being to withstand the finery and ostentation of the feather.

"Numbers immediately pressed into service. One must have an ostrich feather; another must have a white feather with a red tip; a third a bunch of cocks' tails. Thus, all paraded about in vainglorious style, mode delighted with the feathers in their hats than the money in their pockets, and considering themselves fully equal to the boastful men of the north.

"These matters being arranged, they prepared to embark; but the embarkation of a crew of Canadian voyageurs, on a distant expedition is not so easy a matter as might be imagined; especially in such vainglorious fellows with in both pockets, and cocks' tails in their hats. Like sailors, Canadian voyageurs generally preface a long cruise with a carouse. They have their cronies, their brothers, their cousins, their wives, their sweethearts; all to be entertained at their expense. They feast, they fiddle, they drink, they sing, they dance, the frolic and they fight until they are as mad as so many drunken Indians. The publicans are all obedient to their commands, never hesitating to let them run up scores without limit, knowing that, when their own money is expended, the purses of their employers must answer for the bill, or the voyage will be delayed.

changing his clothes — the King's Plate cup from King George VI.

Emphatically a tremendous achievement, from cleaning boots to building The Globe & Mail, which has now acquired respect from coast to coast, and alone flutters the Maple Leaf daily in Britain.

Aimed at the highest general intelligence in Toronto, the controlling strings of the paper are actually pulled in Westmount, whence the highest general intelligence in Toronto is thus illuminated and controlled. Of course this is quite in keeping with a suburb of Montreal ,the nerve-centre of the nation.

A managing editor of The Globe & Mail asked me the location of LCC; the present owner is an LCC Old Boy; its best column is by Richard Needham, the only Canadian to publicly ridicule its founder on a delicate matter; its founder from London, its most-read writer from the West, and its owner of Westmount — is this is not ineffable, may I enquire: What is it?

Weredale . . .

active Governors of Weredale and the Westmount Club has held a field-day at Camp Weredale annually since the camp was officially opened in 1934.

Is is appropriate that this article appear in the newspaper at a time when the United Red Feather Campaign is reaching its peak, as Weredale House, like 32 other agencies, raises the balance of its funds required to maintain its operation through the United Red Feather Campaign. Approximately 25% of its operating funds comes from this source. It is quite natural, therefore, that members of the Weredale Staff and the older boys themselves are participants in the campaign. The balance of the funds required comes from Government payments for boys who are deemed indigent and, in some instances, payments are made by parents who can afford to contribute and, of course, the older boys work and pay for their cost of care. Scholarships for boys going on for higher education are made possible through friends and in some instances bequests have been left to Weredale for this purpose.

STAFF

The staff of Weredale, majority of whom have been associated with the work for many years, continuously emphasize the fact that no institution should ever attempt to take the place of the home. It should, however, provide an adequate substitute until the home conditions can right themselves, or until the boy is old enough to think in terms of establishing a home of his own. This attitude makes for a happy institution.

"Old Boys" never lose touch with the House or the Camp that has meant so much to them during a critical period in their lives and the records at Weredale show many of its graduates to be professional men of standing and hundreds of honest law-abiding citizens, proud of their association with Weredale and thankful to the citizens of our metropolitan City that make its work possible.
