

PLANS COMPLETE FOR DISTRIBUTION OF COAL

Irish Rebels Continue To Fall Back Before Regulars

Awaiting Order To Set In Motion The Machinery For Control Of Distribution

United States Administration has Announced That it will Support the Railway Labor Board as the Only Agency Erected by law for Handling the Rail Strike—Inter-State Commerce Commission has Declared that an Emergency Exists East of the Mississippi River on Railways as First Step by the Government Toward the Control of Coal Distribution—All Roads Must Disregard Established Routings in Favor of Such Routings as Would Expedite Movement and Avoid Congestion.

(Associated Press Despatch)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—While the United States administration continued to await results of the attempt to operate the strike-affected mines, at the same time confining its policy in the rail strike to support of the Railroad Labor Board as the only authorized agency to deal with it, the Interstate Commerce Commission put into effect today, transportation routing and priority orders as the basis of the programme for control of the country's depleted coal supply and transportation facilities. Based on a previous declaration by the Commission that an emergency in transportation existed, which opened the way for operation of the coal distribution plan adopted yesterday by representatives of the producing fields, the priority order issued yesterday established a preferential system for shipment of fuel and food over all railroads east of the Mississippi. Another mandate going into effect at the same time today directs all the roads in the country to disregard established routings in favor of such routings as would expedite movement and avoid congestion.

Having joined in the fuel distribution plan thus prepared for, producing operators and railroad traffic experts today awaited the word from President Harding to set in motion the machinery for emergency control. The President was expected by administration officials to formally establish today the directing agency for the scheme by the appointment of a presidential committee of representatives from the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Departments of Commerce, Justice and Interior, with Secretary Hoover as chairman.

With the aid of an administrative committee of operators and railroad traffic experts, the Governmental body will direct the activities of the local committees of operators in maintaining fair prices and in distributing fuel to the roads and other public utilities in the order of preference established by the Interstate Commerce Commission as best serving the needs of the general public.

PEACE IN RAILWAY STRIKE APPEARED RATHER REMOTE POSSIBILITY TODAY—ADDITIONAL TROOPS CALLED OUT

(Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, July 26.—With the United States Government today assuming control of the freight traffic and the Eastern railroads continuing efforts to form new unions of shopmen, peace in the railway strike seemed a remote possibility.

On the other hand, good will was apparent in the meetings being held at Baltimore between officials of the B. and O. Railroad and representatives of the shopmen, which have been regarded as possible precursor of other individual settlements if successful.

No further spread of the strike was looked for, although fifty maintenance of way men at Shawnee, Oklahoma, and a number at Moberly, Mo., quit work yesterday because armed guards were patrolling railway property. A resolution adopted by representatives of nearly three hundred general chairmen of the Clerks and Freight Handlers Union, after their meeting here yesterday, declared they would resort to "their economic power" if their grievances were not adjusted, but it was believed that they would take no further strike action pending negotiations.

TROOPS WERE CALLED OUT IN THREE NEW STATES.
Curtailed of train service during the last twenty-four hours was negligible. The Pennsylvania Railroad issued a statement last night saying passenger and freight service had been restored to normal on that road.

Reports of violence or threatened violence were slightly increased and troops were called out in three new states, while in Montana the Great Northern Railway was promised troop protection at Havre and Wolf Point, where protection had been asked, and any other points where the need might arise.

DENISON, TEXAS, IS PLACED UNDER MARTIAL LAW.
Denison, Texas, was placed under martial law at five o'clock this morning by Governor Neff, who ordered five companies of the Texas National Guard to duty there.

Three companies of Alabama State troops were mobilized at Birmingham, ready for call to Albany, Ala., where deserters were reported. Kentucky State troops were ordered to Fonde, near Jellico, Ky.

In Pennsylvania State troops were shifted to more advantageous positions, several detachments being sent to strategic points.

CANADIANS MAY BREAK FROM INTERNATIONAL

(Associated Press Despatch)
WINNIPEG, July 26.—The Canadian maintenance of way railway shop employees, approximately 30,000, will, in all probability, break with their international affiliation for purely Canadian autonomy, declared T. Y. Geeke, local secretary here last night. It is expected a decision will be reached at an early date, he said.

He asserted that the question had been under discussion for some time and was practically an accomplished fact, the expressions of the rank and file, as well as their selected representatives, being practically unanimous.

The United Brotherhood of Maintenance Way Employees and railway shop laborers which, it was reported from Winnipeg, is considering a breach from its International affiliations, has 182 branches in Canada, according to the last report of the Department of Labor on "Labor Organization in Canada."

These 182 branches have on the same authority, 2,055 members in the Dominion. On the other hand, the number of branches in the United States is given at 12,000 and the number of members 163,000.

This Brotherhood has had a rather curious history in regard to its international relations. It is stated in departmental circles here: It was originally a Canadian organization with headquarters in Detroit. Later it pushed its campaign in the United States vigorously and by affiliation with other organizations of maintenance of way men in that country, developed into its present shape with a preponderantly American membership.

No definite information is available here regarding the proposal that the Brotherhood should break away from its international affiliations, although it is understood that a similar suggestion has been under consideration for some time.

U.S. RAILWAY LABOR BOARD HAS TAKEN NO ACTION

(Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, July 26.—Adhering strictly to its hands-off policy in the railway shopmen's strike, the United States Railroad Labor Board yesterday turned its attention to routine matters.

Despite statements from Washington that any government action in the rail controversy might come through the Labor Board, the Board took no action yesterday, and from officials it was learned that none is in prospect.

With the Board contemplating no action, the western presidents' committee on public relations of the Association of Railway Executives issued a statement last night asserting

(Associated Press Despatch)

THIRTY PER CENT. OF CARS OPERATED AT BUFFALO

(Associated Press Despatch)
BUFFALO, N.Y., July 26.—The International Railway Company operated thirty per cent of city cars today, and reopened the Lockport-Buffalo branch, which had been idle since the strike of carmen was called on July 2nd. There were no disorders. The main street line, one of the most important in the system, was operated today without police guards on the cars.

WOMEN LAUNCH ATTACK ON NON-UNION WORKERS

(Associated Press Despatch)
TOLEDO, Ohio, July 26.—Forty women, wives and relatives of striking railway employees attacked a party of non-union railroad shopmen on their way to work in the Fearing Street shops of the New York Central Railroad early today.

Police responding to a call for help were met with a shower of bricks and stones which resulted in calls for police reserves. Three police wagons were rushed to the scene with orders to arrest every woman in the vicinity.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED WITH RAILWAY CLERKS

(Associated Press Despatch)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—An agreement has been signed at Chattanooga, Tenn., between officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and the Southern Railway, which definitely averts the threatened walk-out of clerks on the Southern Railway and its affiliated lines. Local officials of the Brotherhood announced last night.

The agreement was formally signed yesterday afternoon, according to the message received by the local union chiefs, and comprised concessions from both sides, the employees accepting a reduction of from 3 to 4 cents an hour, and a reduction in minimum entrance salaries, while the management agreed to grant twelve days' vacation with pay annually, full pay for a definite period during sickness and half holidays on Saturday.

BOMBING OF HOTTENTOTS IS DISCUSSED

Secretary of State Churchill Replies to Colonel Wedgwood in British House.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons yesterday, Colonel J. C. Wedgwood, (Labor), drew attention to the proceedings in the mandated area of Southwest Africa, including the bombing of Hottentot villages, containing women and children, by an aeroplane dropping from a low altitude, no fewer than forty bombs and spraying with two thousand rounds of ammunition, a party of five hundred Hottentots, involving heavy loss of life.

Colonel Wedgwood asked whether the Government proposed to take any steps to stop these proceedings. Hon. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, replied that he was aware that the administration of Southwest Africa found it necessary to take military action against one of the native tribes. He pointed out that the mandate for Southwest Africa was held by the South African Union Government, who was responsible to the League of Nations.

Replying to a further remark by Colonel Wedgwood, Mr. Churchill said he hoped Britishers would find something better to do on the League than attack their own dominions.

(Associated Press Despatch)

Brochu, superintendent of Beauport Asylum, where Adelard Delorme has been confined, in a statement issued yesterday, said he could not complete examination as to the ex-priest's sanity before a fortnight. Lack Of Anthracite Coal Not Likely To Handicap Local Industries.—Large Supplies Of Bituminous Coal Available

Coal Strike in United States Causes Inconvenience, But No Serious Handicap to Industries—Few Concerns Use Anthracite—Householders Unable to Obtain Supplies—Dealers Report No Hard Coal to Be Had—City Consumes Large Quantity of Coke—Expected Citizens Will Make Greater Use of Coke This Fall—Gas and Electric Appliances Expected to Show Considerable Increase in the Fall.

THE effects of the coal strike, which is being maintained in the United States, are gradually being felt locally, and while there is little possibility of any disruption of business, the inconvenience resulting from delays and the uncertainty of conditions at the New Breton coal mines is distinctly aggravating.

Householders will be likely to be the ones to suffer most, and citizens who have been accustomed to putting in their winter's fuel supply during the summer months find that they are unable to get their orders filled.

Local dealers find it impossible to secure shipments of certain grades of anthracite from across the border and while nut and pea coal can be obtained in small quantities at uncertain periods, it is absolutely impossible to secure shipments of the larger sizes.

Local dealers are inclined to believe that even with an immediate settlement of the coal and railroad strikes, it will be a question of living from hand to mouth insofar as supplies are concerned, at least until the end of the year.

Local Plants Not Suffering
Reports suggesting that local industries are likely to be seriously affected are totally unfounded, as very few of them are dependent upon the United States mines for their supplies. In the majority of instances bituminous coal, the Canadian mines at Nova Scotia, is being used in the local plants and is giving every satisfaction, in addition to being somewhat cheaper than anthracite coal brought in from across the border.

The City of Sherbrooke itself uses very small supplies of anthracite and confines itself largely to the use of coke. The gas and electricity department require heavy supplies of coke and satisfactory arrangements have been made to safeguard this supply.

A general survey of conditions in the city shows that very few important concerns are dependent upon anthracite coal and, as long as conditions remain favorable in Nova Scotia and bituminous coal can be secured in sufficient quantities, local industries will not suffer.

Import Welsh Coal
One important factor relative to the American coal strike is that it will eventually have an important bearing upon exchange rates, and United States currency should show a decided trend in favor of Canadian and English funds. Canada is in a position to supply itself with soft coal, while Great Britain is supplying the States with a large portion of its requirements. Anthracite coal for use in Canada is also being imported from the Welsh mines.

The lack of anthracite coal will likely prove to be of considerable inconvenience to householders, but it

THE FINANCIAL CONFERENCE TO BE DELAYED

MOVE TO CUT SALARIES OF ACTORS AND ACTRESSES

NEW YORK, July 26.—The move long expected in the theatrical world to bring a reduction in the salaries of actors and actresses has been made by A. F. Woods, who has addressed a general appeal to the profession through the Actors Equity Association to accept the reduction.

Other managers, who agreed that a cut was necessary, indicated that in general salary reductions up to thirty per cent will be offered players for next season.

Mr. Woods said that next season would see leading men and women getting from $300 to $400 a week, and average salaries from $100 to $250 a week.

MUTINY SAID TO BE RIFE AMONG IRREGULARS; CONTINUE TO FALL BACK BEFORE NATIONAL ARMY

Irish National Army Reported to Be Making Gains Against Rebels in the West of Ireland—Retreat in Most Places Rather Hasty, Although Occasional Stands Have Been Made by Fighting Parties of the Irregulars—Bomb Was Thrown at Lorry in Which National Soldiers Were Riding in Dublin.

(Associated Press Despatch)
DUBLIN, July 26.—The irregulars are continuing to fall back before the advance of the Irish National Army in the west of Ireland, according to advices from the front, with the retreat in most places rather hasty, although occasional stands have been made by fighting parties of the irregulars.

Mutiny is said to be rife among the irregulars, according to reports received in Nationalist quarters yesterday, and one of the insurgent leaders is reported to have been executed.

Six civilians, four of whom were women, were wounded by a bomb thrown at a lorry in which National soldiers were riding on York street, last evening.

No soldiers were injured, although companions of the bomb throwers fired ten or twelve revolver shots at the troops.

Two men were arrested.

ISSUE APPEAL TO THE WORLD PROLETARIAT

Communist Internationale Deprecates Slow Revolutionary Progress Outside of Russia.

MOSCOW, July 26.—An appeal to the world proletariat to bring pressure to bear upon the various governments for better terms for Soviet Russia in its endeavors to establish relations with capitalist countries, was issued today by the Communist Internationale.

The appeal emphasized that this action was being taken in view of the closing of The Hague conference, which it declared was broken by Soviet firmness and insistence upon Russia's rights.

The appeal says that owing to slow progress in the revolutionary movement abroad some measures are now necessary to renew endeavors to establish connections with the capitalists in other nations and to emphasize that the Soviet Government has no intentions of making further retreats from communism. It emphasizes that the next move toward establishing relations must come from the outside.

DATE UNCERTAIN FOR MEETING OF ALLIED CHIEFS

Italian Political Situation Is Likely to Delay London Conference

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, July 26.—A slight delay in the holding of the meeting at London of the heads of the Allied governments for discussion of the reparations question is foreseen in official quarters here following the receipt of a note from Great Britain stating that Premier Lloyd George will be glad to meet Premier Poincare on August 1st, if the governmental crisis in Italy were settled by that time.

It has been definitely decided that Italy and Belgium shall attend the conference and the failure of Italy to form a government before August 1st, would necessitate a brief postponement of the meeting.

CO-OPERATION OF CANADIANS IS VALUABLE

Washington Hopes to Conclude Treaty with Britain Covering the Illegal Transportation of Liquor to U.S.

(Associated Press Despatch)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—The success which the United States Government has met in co-operating with the Canadian authorities in the prevention of rum-running and liquor smuggling, is an important factor in the movement begun by Washington officials to conclude a treaty with the British Government covering illegal transportation of liquor to the United States.

United States prohibition officials say the co-operation of the Canadian authorities has been valuable, and what is now being attempted is practically an extension of co-operation to the British Government, though in a more formal way.

While the United States State Department has given out no formal statement on the matter, it is understood here that the proposed treaty between Great Britain and the United States would not apply to Canada.

It would be directed principally toward the curbing of rum running, into the United States from Bermuda and the Bahamas.

It is expected, however, that Canada will be consulted by the British Government and the fullest co-operation by Canada in curtailing smuggling will continue.

The movement for an understanding with Great Britain is only a part of a larger movement to secure co-operation in liquor enforcement with all nations from which there are heavy liquor exports. This is definitely stated on high authority.

OPERETTA AT GRANBY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Reports of Meetings, General News and Personal of Interest from Granby.

GRANBY, Que., July 26. — On Thursday last the operetta "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was reproduced in Granbyville by the children of Granby, thirty-five in number, who motored over for the occasion. The weather was all that could be desired and the children enjoyed the trip immensely. After a rehearsal in the Town Hall all repaired to the basement of the Congregational Church, where a most delicious supper was served by the Cowansville ladies, who have a reputation for serving good suppers.

The operetta was given before a crowded house, who were most appreciative and generous with their applause. The solo parts were taken by the same cast of characters as when given here in May last, viz: Miss Beatrice Odell, of Coaticook, "Princess Snow White"; Mrs. F. R. Fogarty, "Queen"; Mr. Albert Bleir, of Sherbrooke, "Prince"; and Mr. A. Levick, "Carl, the Huntsman."

The children took their courses with fine effect, their attacks being especially good and their words clearly enunciated. The orchestra, violin, Mr. George Legge; bass violin, Mr. W. R. Legge, and piano, Mrs. J. G. Fuller, rendered a good accompaniment to the voices. A number of the parents and friends of Granby also attended, making a total of sixty-nine persons in all who motored over for the occasion.

At the close of the performance another supper was served, after which, with many expressions of thanks for kind hospitality, the Granby fairies, forest children and dwarfs took their departure for home, which they reached in good time and without accident of any kind. The operetta was given under the auspices of the W.C.T.U. and the Y's of Cowansville.

About eighty people motored over, arriving at the lake in time for lunch. In the afternoon boating, swimming and other forms of amusement occupied the time, also a baseball game was played between the employees and the local team, which resulted in a victory for the former team by a score of 25 to 4. The weather was perfect and a most enjoyable time spent by all.

LADIES' AID MEETING. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational Church was held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Miner, Drummond Street, on Tuesday afternoon, July 18th. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Moses Parker in the absence of the president, and the new study book "The Women of the Bible" was taken up by Miss Lottie Black, who gave an account of "Mary the Mother of Christ." A duet by Mrs. W. Bradford and Mrs. P. V. Samson, songs by Mrs. Lee Penel and Miss Clara Seavey and a reading by Mrs. A. W. Mitchell were all enjoyed. Mrs. Samson gave an interesting account of the work of the church in Deloraine, Man., of which Mrs. Samson is the pastor and Mrs. Lee Penel also gave a splendid talk on the work of the First Congregational Church in Detroit, Mich., of which she is a member. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses who were assisted by Mrs. R. A. Butterworth and the Misses Richardson and Seavey.

ORFORD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.

A very successful strawberry social was held recently by the Orford Women's Institute at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mills, Rock Forest. The guests, numbering about seventy-five, were received by Mrs. Mills, assisted by the president and other members of the Club. The evening passed very quickly and pleasantly with cards and dancing to the music of a Victrola, kindly loaned by Mrs. Phillip Short. About midnight a delicious lunch was served of strawberries and cream, bread and butter, cake, etc., all doing full justice to the good things provided, after which dancing was again resumed until a late hour, when all departed after having spent a very delightful evening.

The regular meeting of the Orford Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Arbery, with a very good attendance. The President, Mrs. Andrew Faith, was in the chair and opened the meeting in the usual way.

The report of the convention held in Macdonald College was given by the delegate, Mrs. W. E. Hetherington, and a vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Hetherington for her report.

CASES HEARD IN LOCAL COURT THIS MORNING

License Cancelled for Driving Car While Under the Influence of Liquor.

After practicing for the past twenty-five years as a veterinary surgeon, Dr. Chas. Taylor appeared before Judge J. H. Lemay this morning on a charge of practicing without proper credentials.

The circumstances showed that although Taylor had been accepted as a member of the Ontario Veterinary Association twenty-five years ago, he had failed to take out the necessary credentials in the Province of Quebec.

The complaint was laid by a certain Trudel, said to be a veterinary surgeon practicing at Bury. Taylor was recently appointed veterinary surgeon for the town of East Angus, and it is understood that this appointment was not viewed with favor in certain circles. Mr. Taylor has already made application of the Provincial Government for the necessary authority to practice.

Counsel for the plaintiff introduced a number of remarks having a decided racial flavor and was called to order by Judge Lemay who refused to consider the evidence if submitted along these lines.

Taylor pleaded guilty to practicing without a provincial certificate and was fined $50 and costs, or thirty days.

In the case of Austin Poole vs. Herbert Gibson, charged as being an accessory in the burglary committed at Steel's, Gibson was discharged as there was no evidence adduced sufficient to implicate him.

Ferdinand Lafond vs. J. Lyster, Wootton. The accused was charged with trespassing but the case was dismissed.

Mrs. J. Pomerleau laid a charge of disturbing the peace against her husband and, after hearing the evidence, the court condemned him to furnish a bond of $200 to keep the peace.

Chief Couture vs. Webb.—The accused was remanded until Saturday on a charge of attempting to commit suicide and was allowed out on furnishing a personal bond of $500, and one bondsman of $500.

Grade X—Grace Sterling, Audrey Bennett, Randall Burton, Bertram Titcomb, Margaret McKindsey, Malcolm Greene, Clarice McCurdy, Hugh Maclear, Gertrude Hunting, Dorothy Lipsey, Irene McCurdy.

The Montreal Road Women's Institute.

There were about a hundred and fifty people present, and the young element confined their energies largely to games while at the close of the evening dancing was held on the lawn.

The social was unquestionably a great success and the Women's Institute should benefit by a substantial amount.

Miss Irene Hall, who is visiting friends in the city, was the centre of attraction, and her exhibition of ballet dancing was splendidly conceived, proclaiming her, as it did, to be an accomplished master in her art.

MUCH BUILDING ACTIVITY IN SHERBROOKE.

There is a great deal of building activity in Sherbrooke at the present time. Construction companies are at work in many quarters of Sherbrooke and by the fall many fine new buildings will be added to the city.

The city hall is going ahead fast and one may now get an idea of the building, inside as well as out, as it will appear upon completion.

Many of the group of houses which are being erected by Newton-Dakin on Portland and Newton Avenues are nearly finished. This colony consists of some nine dwelling houses in four of which plastering has been completed. Gas, water, electric and sewer connections are in and all the houses, it is understood, will be ready for occupancy in September. The cost of these houses is stated, is in the neighborhood of sixty-five hundred dollars.

Houses and apartments are being put up in several other parts of the city as well. Two apartments on Frontenac Street are practically completed, while the flats which are being laid out in the Hyndman Block on Strathcona Square are being rapidly finished off. A house is being put up on Portland Avenue for Mrs. J. H. Bell, which will contain two apartments.

The building at the corner of King and Belvidere Streets, which is being erected by K. B. Jencks, for Bernard and Bouthillier, is nearly completed and will be a great improvement to that part of the city.

J. D. SHARPE, OF THETFORD MINES DIED YESTERDAY

Manager of Asbestos Corporation Passed Away After a Long Illness.

(Special to The Record.) THETFORD MINES, Que., July 25.—The death occurred here yesterday afternoon of John Dodds Sharpe, for several years general manager of the Asbestos Corporation. The funeral service will be conducted at the house tomorrow, (Thursday) by the Rev. P. R. Roy, of St. John's Church, and the body will leave for Sherbrooke, where interment will be made in the Elmwood Cemetery.

The late Mr. Sharpe has been a resident of Thetford since January 1911, in the capacity of general manager for the Asbestos Corporation of Canada, whose large asbestos mining plants are situated here. His death came after an illness of several months duration.

The late Mr. Sharpe was fifty-five years of age and is survived by his wife, Emma Jane List, one daughter, Miss Mary Sharpe, who is a nurse-in-training at the Western Hospital, Montreal, and five sons, Robert John, William Dodds, Frank Wesley, Edmund List and Richard Leslie, who are all living in Thetford Mines.

the box with Rousseau catching, and then the fun began as each of the Y. players picked out good ones and at the close of the first inning they had notched four runs.

Newton and Smith were the battery for the Y. and the former pitched almost airtight ball but there were a number of errors that let Barlow get one run in.

In the second inning Dustin warmed up a bit and gave the Y boys some trouble but they were able to add two more runs to their score.

When the Rand went to the bat with a score of 6-1 it looked as if there was going to be a run away with the Y but errors at 1st base and right field let the Rand get a second run.

In the third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings Dustin did not let the Y get anything and it was practically in the first, second and third and out while the Rand made two runs in the third.

In the fourth and fifth innings the Y pitched excellent ball and had better support than in the previous innings.

When the Y. M. C. A. started in the seventh it was getting quite dark but Dustin seemed to lose a little and Newton, Clancy and Loomis all tallied and clinched the game, as Newton just got the Rand one two three in the last inning.

For the game both teams were without some of the regular line-up and the Y had possibly the better of the shifting as they played four of the Junior Y team.

It is scarcely expected that the Rand will be satisfied with last night's result, and the possibility is that another game will be arranged before the end of the season.

EXHIBITION GAME. All arrangements have been completed for the game between the Junior Y. M. C. A. and the Post Office, which is scheduled for the Industrial baseball diamond for Wednesday at 6.45.

MR. ROBB'S TRADE MISSION TO BRITAIN.

Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Trade and M.P. for Huntingdon and Chateaugay, is on his way to the old country to inspect trade service machinery so far as Canada is concerned with a view of bringing about greater efficiency.

"The visit is timely," remarks the Montreal Gazette. Continuing, the Gazette says:

"Mr. Robb's presence in England should be the means of silencing much uninformed criticism which it is now the habit of some British publicists to direct at this country. As an experienced and successful business man he is competent to deal with practical business questions in a practical way and to remove misunderstandings which interested parties have been diligently converting into grievances, to the prejudice of Canadian business and Canadian credit. The moment is one which presents a real opportunity for an extension of trade between Canada and Great Britain, the United States tariff policy being designed to pretty effectively close the American market against Canadian products."

"The Dominion, should the tariff bill now before Congress become law, may have to seek other markets and to buy as well as sell in those markets, a condition which, if properly handled, ought to stimulate in marked degree the trade between this country and the United Kingdom. Lord Long, who held the office of Colonial Secretary during the latter years of the war period, is proposing an Imperial Economic Conference, having for its object the development of trade within the Empire. Great Britain is experiencing difficulty in trading with bankrupt European countries, and Lord Long believes that better results can be obtained by the cultivation of commerce with the Dominions. His suggestion may be acted upon, or it may not, but in any event it serves to emphasize the fact that there does exist an opportunity which may be used to the advantage of both Great Britain and Canada. Barking at this country and at Canadian business methods will not, however, hasten such a movement as Lord Long has in mind, and it is in this connection that Mr. Robb's visit may be most useful. Few men are better equipped than he for giving, when and where needed, a clear, straightforward and convincing representation of Canadian conditions and of the problems with which Canadian shippers and importers have had to deal, problems which have not been of their own making and for which they ought not to be held wholly responsible."

"The Minister will, it is intimated, conduct a survey of the various departmental agencies in Great Britain with the object of putting them into better working order. A scheme of co-ordination, under which the activities of the commercial and immigration agencies may be made to dovetail, is said to be in contemplation. The two services are not now related, nor, in the nature of things, can they be unified, but they can be made to operate in harmony, to the advantage of both and the gain of the Dominion. That overseas trade agencies are of very much value to Canada is questionable; in times of depression there is little that they can do, and in periods of commercial activity the stream runs independently of them; business has a way of finding its own channels and the experiments which have been made from time to time in the establishment of commissions and what not, have not been conspicuously successful. There is, nevertheless, a broad field in which the Minister of Trade and Commerce may do valuable missionary work, a field in which the large store of sound common sense with which he is endowed may be employed to advantage in disabusing the British mind of some curiously erroneous ideas upon Canadian trade subjects."

GROW WITH SHERBROOKE.

The "boom" town is ever alluring to large numbers, in that it seemingly offers the opportunity to grow up with the place. To get in on the ground floor, so to speak, at first blush, prompts great numbers to rush to the new place, where they will find many others who had been attracted in the same manner.

They seek their new home with the avowed purpose of growing up with the town and that determination, serves as an impetus for extra effort. If perchance the ambitions of its founders are realized, those with that determination to grow with the place will succeed, provided the determination is sincere and a proportionate amount of energy is displayed in their efforts.

Have you grown with Sherbrooke; have you kept pace with its advancement and development? There has been no boom here, as that term is usually applied to the growth of the so-called mushroom cities that spring to life over night, only to fade away almost as quickly. There has been, however, a healthy, steady, wonderful growth and advancement here for the past ten years. True, there has been no stream of prospectors added to the normal growth to cause the population to increase as rapidly as has been the case in many other cities of this size.

The growth in wealth and health has been phenomenal. The advancement in civic improvements, its streets, churches, schools, residences, factories is such that there is just cause for exceeding pride.

There have been and are now as great opportunities for success here as there are in those new or proposed boom towns. The opportunity to grow up with the place, to get in on the ground floor holds as good in Sherbrooke as the other places. If your desire to grow up with the city is real, there will be the accomplishment. If your desire to grow up with Sherbrooke has been sincere and the effort expended sufficient, you have grown up with it.

The drifters who have been content to let the city forge ahead of them, who have not had sufficient faith in their home to keep abreast and grow up with it, have that opportunity today. It may be late, but not too late to awaken to the possibilities which are so patent to those who have grown up with the city. Readjustment of thought and the creating of faith, may be difficult, but true ambition to catch up and keep up will assure the attainment.

One of the first qualifications necessary for growth with the city is the knowledge of its growth. It may grow all around you in many ways, invisible because you are not strictly a part of it. Becoming identified with the men and agencies that are promoting and largely responsible for the growth will give you the vision to see and appreciate developments made and likely to be.

Sherbrooke is going to continue to grow and develop. You may if you choose grow with it. When you do so, yours and the city's growth will be mutual. In just the proportion in which your aid is given in the advancement and development, will the return be by the city. If dormant, the ambition in you should be awakened, if lacking, it should be created. Self interest alone asks and community interest demands that you grow with the city and that the city grow with you.

TODAY'S A HOLIDAY.

July 26, 1922.

The Pardon of Aury.

This is the annual occasion for one of the most brilliant spectacles of the summertime in Europe, the famous Pardon of Aury. In the little town of Brittany such pilgrims as Louis XIV. and Louis Napoleon have bent the knee at the shrine of St. Anne.

A vision which appeared to a peasant, Yves Nicholas in 1628, gave the impetus to the rebuilding of the chapel of St. Anne, which had lain in ruins for a thousand years. Starting at four this morning, Masses are continuous, and the surging crowds fill the village to overflowing.

Another shrine to St. Anne, even better known to Americans, is that at Beaulieu, in the Province of Quebec, Canada. Its visitation by lightning recently has not reduced the ardor of the pilgrims. A notable sight at Beaulieu is the pile of crutches and braces, discarded by those who have been healed at the shrine. Gifts of countless value have been left by happy and pious pilgrims. Thousands from all parts of the United States and Canada visit it annually, and today, the festival of St. Anne, is the central occasion of the season.

Increase in exports to other countries means much to Canada for it emphasizes that business interest are reaching out to other countries. The more we export the better business is likely to be generally. There is no room for pessimism in Canada.

THE CIGARETTE MENACE.

(Halifax Chronicle.)
A forest ranger of repute has given the Canadian Forestry Association a unique proof of the great danger of lighted cigarettes in or near the forest. As a means of getting information on the number of fires that can be started by cigarettes along the trail he covered a distance of a mile dropping at intervals 20 lighted cigarettes. Nineteen of them were found to have set small fires, all of which, of course were immediately extinguished. The experiment was conducted in a dry part of the country. The ordinary smoker little suspects the lurking danger in the woods. Hundreds of the worst forest fires recorded in Canada this year have been due to the evil habit of tossing away lighted tobacco.

Europe's trouble may be diagnosed fully from this one case. PROTECTING SOCIETY.

(Ottawa Journal.)
Is it right that the law should permit that one man may be confined for a long term for an offense that did little or no injury to anyone, while another escapes more lightly from a much more serious deed? Should there not be assurance of more equitable treatment of unfortunate who come into the grinding mills of the law? Treatment of offenders that looks to their restoration to a useful place in society is highly profitable. Just the other day the Ontario Parole Commission reported that of several hundred prisoners paroled during the last year only a very few had shown themselves unrepentant.

FROM THE RECORD FILES

July 26, 1905.—Enough dynamite was found in a shed at the rear of the Hochelaga Bank, last evening, to demolish half the buildings on Wellington Street between Fletcher's Corner and the Grand Central Hotel. Yesterday a young man went into the shed to hitch up his horse. He dropped his pipe and putting his hand beneath the flooring he found eight sticks of dynamite lying on top of a large stone underneath the floor. The explosive appears to have been placed there quite recently as it was not discolored.

Children of France! Phoenix-Like from the Ruins Youth Rises to New Life, Liberty and Happiness

Three little fatherless sons of devastated France for whom the American Committee is creating a background of normalcy.

IN the Anzly-le-Chateau Payer of the American Committee for Devastated France, the Jardin d'Enfants was just finishing up the cardboard village which they had been making for some time. Each child had laboriously cut and folded a tiny house, drawn with much care the windows and colored the slanting roof a bright red. Even the church, with its tiny cross, double doors and pointed windows, was ready to be stood in the place of honor at the head of the main street.

With great excitement Nini and Terese cleared the table. Paulette, with a small and a minute bucket, went out to the sand box to collect a few pebbles with which to pave the streets in most approved style. Madeleine, having presented "Mam'selle" with a rather dilapidated hat and the less sweet bunch of wild violets and primroses, the flower beds were provided for. The village was set up, every one having a voice in the matter, each allowed to set up his or her particular house and "plant" the garden around it.

When every house was set up and all the flowers planted, the streets well covered with sand and pebbles, all the children stood back to get the effect of their handiwork. There were many exclamations of admiration and delight. No one noticed the lack of trees.

Pierrot was sent out to get these. In a few minutes he came in breathless, having been down to the "Forest," thus being sure of having real trees for this prize village.

To Miss Patton's surprise the so-called trees were a faithful lot of bare sticks.

"But, Pierrot, Mam'selle told you to get trees for the streets of our village, and all you've brought back are bare twigs!"

For answer Pierrot, very near to tears, pointed silently out of the window to the "Forest," once made up of beautiful green trees perhaps, but now many were burned and scorched by shells, while those left standing had no leaves on their spread branches, even the bark having been killed by the poisonous gases.

Pierrot had brought back the only "trees" he knew of, the only ones he had ever seen. Of course, in fairy books there are always pictures of beautiful trees with lovely green leaves and bright colored flowers, but then these only belonged to fairyland, a place where everyone was happy and where there had been no war.

It is to children such as these, whose surroundings are still so abnormal that the "Comite Americain" ministers—creating for them a background of normalcy, that they may emerge strong sons and daughters of France.

Jealousy Matrimony's Arch Enemy, Stupidity Less Fatal, Says Author

A MAN can be fairly happy with a stupid woman but not a jealous one; a great difference in age is not fatal to a happy marriage if accompanied by unselfishness—these are the main points brought out by Margaret Deland in the first interview she has granted in many years.

The selfishness of jealousy and its dire effects on marriage is the theme of Mrs. Deland's new novel, "The Vengeful Flame," which depicts the union of a nineteen-year-old boy and a woman of thirty-nine. And yet in spite of the tragedy which emerges from this situation the author has put the following words into the mouth of one of her characters:

"It isn't years that decide whether a marriage is a failure. One of the happiest marriages I ever knew was between a woman of fifty and a man of thirty."

Questioned as to her own attitude in regard to the above quotation, Mrs. Deland admitted that she feels a difference in age is not fatal to happiness in marriage, although it is a risk.

"This woman was of distinguished intellect and was also unselfish," she explained. "I don't believe any marriage ever went on the rocks if both husband and wife are unselfish. I think Maurice in the 'Vengeful Flame' would have stood by if Eleanor had not been so jealous. He wouldn't have been perfectly happy because it was a ridiculous situation, but he would have played the game. If she had been a kind, sweet, unselfish woman she would have loved him, but then love would have turned into a beautiful friendship and the marriage would not have terminated as it did."

However, Mrs. Deland by no means glorifies stupidity. "The highest compliment," she added, "that a man can pay his wife is to say 'she never bored me.'"

As for jealousy—Mrs. Deland defines it as "self-love, plus the consciousness of your own inferiority to the person of whom you are jealous." It has the same effect on love "that water has on fire," and the worst of it is "it will bore any man to death." It will even drive a husband into unfaithfulness.

"Love grows up to reason and down to jealousy," Mrs. Deland said. "Every one who loves is liable to experience jealousy, but it is deplorable."

Suppose, she pointed out, that somebody you love, obviously loves some one else better than you. Of course, you will be unhappy for two reasons, either because you are deficient in those qualities he finds in the other, or because he has descended to love some one less worthy than yourself and thus proves faithless to his own ideals. If the former is the case, you should, according to Mrs. Deland, simply get busy and try to gain those qualities you lack.

Parents Responsible for Lawlessness

"American parents are training their daughters to become 'homebreakers' rather than 'homemakers,' according to what one sees and hears," Mrs. Oliver H. Harriman, national president of the Campfire Girls of America, declared recently.

"The parents are just as foolish as the children in many homes," she continued. "They teach their daughters to marry rich men and give them no sense of values. Girls are not taught simplicity of attire or real culture—they only get a veneer. They are not being taught, in many homes, the beauty of home-making. They want an easy time when married. Oftentimes the easy time means the breaking up of another home to get the man they want. The mother with growing sons almost trembles these days when she thinks of the machinations of the homebreakers and what it may lead to. The homebreakers are not limited to any class or age of woman. The average home does not present any sort of standard to guide its children by. The organization of the Campfire Girls must give them the ideas the home fails to supply."

Attractive Models of Tub Frocks

An organdie frock is made without sleeves, save a triple row of scalloped organdie points, set in like shields, extending perhaps three inches under the arm and running up to nothing on the shoulder.

Navy and white dotted swiss fashions another frock, with vestee, collar and sleeve ruffles of white self fabric. A band of the white fabric also finishes the edges of the skirt. A touch of bright color is added by the belt of vivid red suede.

Serbian Students Return to Help Homeland After Three Years Study in This Country

Experiment of International Serbian Educational Committee Proves Successful—Through the Efforts of Dr. Roselle S. Morton, Its Leading Spirit, Money and Scholarships Were Provided for Sixty Students

MARA NICOLITCH, WHO STUDIED DOMESTIC AND SOCIAL SCIENCE AT CASTLE SCHOOL.

DR. ROSALIE S. MORTON, PROMOTER OF INTERNATIONAL EDUCATIONAL EXPERIMENT.

A N experiment in education was begun three years ago when Dr. Roselle S. Morton of this city brought over from Serbia forty girls and boys to be educated in the schools and colleges of the United States. It was looked upon as a serious undertaking to transplant adolescents from their war-ravaged country to the very different atmosphere of the United States.

But friends came to the support of Dr. Morton, money was given, and school openings were made, so that all of the broad were settled at educational institutions here.

New part of the experiment is planned, for four students are going back to their homeland. One can now truthfully say that Dr. Morton's part has been successfully played, for she has turned out some good specimens of international education.

Social work was chosen by two of the girls, while the third, who wants to teach, chose English as her subject. All have the intention of remaining in touch with their foster country. Miss Mara Nicolitch, a graduate of Miss Mason's School in the Hudson, says: "If things go as I want them to, I shall return to this country."

"How" she is questioned. "Through the Government?"

"Yes," she admits truthfully, though not wanting to tempt fate by too much assurance.

Each of the two Belgrade girls, Milica Alexievitch, a graduate of Robbins College in Florida, and Mariya Yovanovitch, from the International College, Springfield, Mass., expects to join her family. The mother of Milica has already written: "Now that you have the theory of sociology, ethics and philosophy, why not try it to the filling of Yugoslavia's greatest need at present—better social conditions, better housing, child welfare, etc."

The daughter, alim, white gown and hazel eyes, nods her head acquiescently as she tells her mother's advice and queries of the reporter:

"Why not? I usually like to fall in with plans, and surely there seems need of me in that way." She has majored in literature, but as she does not want to teach social work is considered preferable.

Of the masculine sex there is only one who is going back at this time. He is Illya Minovitch, of Princeton, whose memoirs will in future months appear in the Atlantic Monthly. A prepossessing youth, he has marked ability and carries himself with a manner.

The International Serbian committee was organized by Dr. Morton in March, 1919, after which time she visited various colleges in the eastern part of the United States and with her facts and great eloquence convincingly set forth the part that Serbia had played in the world war, the desolation of that country, the destruction of the great university at Belgrade and the crying need of her young people to complete their educational training.

A number of these colleges, visited through their student body, alumni and professors of colleges, the directors of the Girls Normal School of Belgrade, the American Consul and other representative Serbians and Americans, was formed to arrange for the selection of the students, four of whom have now finished their work.

At the outbreak of the great war Dr. Morton was professor in the New York Polytechnic Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, and attending surgeon in the Vanderbilt Clinic of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the medical department of the Columbia University. Her research work on the Bubonic plague in Ceylon, India, and other parts of the East was extensive.

Choosing Dishes

THE other day a woman of recently acquired wealth solved the problem of buying dishes for her table by going to the store that handled the finest china in town and buying a set of the most expensive dishes they had. This was an eminently satisfactory solution for her.

Most of us have more individuality. Most of us would not especially like the most expensive dishes that could be bought. They would probably not be in keeping with most dining rooms. And just because dishes are expensive is no assurance that they are most beautiful in design.

In selecting dishes it is always desirable to get what is known as "open stock." The advantage is obvious. Then the next thing to be considered is to get dishes that harmonize with the scheme of your dining room and with the manner you have chosen for setting your table. If you have an informal dining room furnished in cottage style, then one of the sets of quaintly painted cottage china is attractive. Pure white dishes are often attractive and have the advantage of being unusual. Gold decorated dishes should never be used save with a formal mode of service in a rather stately dining room.

Some of the least expensive of dishes are often most attractive. Old-fashioned willow ware looks well with the dining room furnished in simple Colonial style. Plain green Japanese china is most attractive in many a modern dining room in which green is the predominating color or a harmonizing color. Yellow dishes, usually of Japanese make, are delightful when they harmonize with the rest of the furnishings.

Money Sense Is Matter of Training; Women Becoming Good Investors

New York, Saturday.

THERE are just as many idiot men as idiot women. When it comes to investing their money, women do not take any more reckless chances, nor do they speculate more foolishly than do men. Knowledge of investments is not a matter of sex, but of training, in the opinion of two women executives of two of the largest financial houses in the city.

Miss Virginia Furman, who believes that money in regard to investing money is equally divided between the sexes, was the first woman to be made an officer of a bank in New York. She is now an assistant secretary of the Columbia Trust Company, in charge of the women's department of the Park avenue branch.

A bond saleswoman, Miss Helen Merchant of Boubright & Co., who deals directly with customers, both men and women, thinks women are just as capable of investing their money wisely as men. "Women must, however," she said, "be considered as having a handicap on the basis of the past. Men have been buying and selling for hundreds of years, while to women it is quite new.

"With the reservation of this handicap for women in general, the classes of investors will not depend upon sex, but upon training, environment, profession and inheritance of business instinct. "Some brokerage and bond houses have discriminated against women by refusing to handle their accounts. In many cases, this situation has occurred because speculative brokers draw out the worst qualities of women as a sex. The women who are willing to take a long chance with the risk of losing their money are of the same type as men gamblers. When they lose money, they are inclined to go to the broker's office and cry about it. The attitude of some brokers as affected by certain rules of the Stock Exchange. "For instance, a transaction in which more than ten shares of stock change hands, is not valid if that stock is in a woman's name. This adds complications of accounting which often make it easier for a woman to speculate in her husband's name."

Miss Merchant says that the professional classes, both men and women, know least about how to invest their money. "Doctors, especially," said Miss Merchant, "can be sold anything. Last year there was even a company selling preferred stock in the League of Nations. All the 'lucker lads' in the country contain the names of teachers and trained nurses. This is because they are more likely to be paid seasonally, have a large sum of money at one time on which it is necessary for them to live over a certain period. They are anxious to make this go as far as possible and, not having much financial experience, become the easiest victims of unscrupulous salesmen.

"Above all else I believe in variety of investments. If a woman has a varied list of securities, not more than one or two thousand dollars in one company, this list can be representative of all the highest grade securities on the market. Men are more apt to watch their investments than are women, who think, when they have purchased their securities, all they have to do is to cut the coupons."

Social Etiquette in Sending Invitations

THE old time method of sending an invitation to "Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and family" is no longer tolerated among discriminating people. The same thing holds good in sending out invitations to a reception, dance or dinner party, as well as to a wedding.

If it is a wedding or other occasion when a formal invitation is used this is simply addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. John Brown" and within the blank is filled out like this:

"Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson request the honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown's presence at the, &c., &c."

If an informal invitation is given then the note is usually written to the wife. That is, if Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson were giving a dinner party to which they wanted to invite the John Browns and did not use invitations in the third person, then Mrs. Robinson would write a letter to Mrs. Brown, asking her and Mr. Brown to be present.

In sending invitations to sisters living under the same roof one invitation is sufficient. In inviting a mother and daughter living together two separate invitations should be sent if they are formally engraved, but if the invitations are informal notes, then one is sufficient. So in sending formal invitations to a father and son, to two brothers or to two sisters, one of whom is married or widowed, always two invitations should be posted.

Things to Remember When Company Comes

ALWAYS give your invitations quite explicitly, and give them so that if possible you will receive a definite reply regarding the time that your guests expect to arrive. It is sometimes as much the fault of the hostess as her guests when they arrive hours before the time she expected or do not come until after she has almost given up hope of seeing them.

You ask house guests to "come any time Monday," you need not expect to have them tell you just when they expect to arrive, and if you say "come as early as you can," we are always ready. But friends came to the support of Dr. Morton, money was given, and school openings were made, so that all of the broad were settled at educational institutions here.

Tempting Things Shown in Shops

A red taffeta frock, made with a tight wrinkled bodice, and a full skirt, has white sleeves and handkerchief puffs at the sides of the skirt of lace dyed exactly to match the taffeta of the frock. The effect of the all red is vivacity striking and would be intensely becoming to a certain blonde type of young girl.

Still another clever frock, combining cretonne and a plain fabric, achieved variety with wide sleeves of white handkerchief linen, over which was worn a sleeveless jacket of cretonne, slightly fitted to the figure at the waist line and held in by a sash of the linen tied in a big bow at one side. The frock was a straight line model.

USE ELECTRICITY IN YOUR HOME

MANY FAILURES EXPERIENCED IN EARLY ATTEMPTS TO LAY THE TRANS-ATLANTIC CABLE

The Submarine Telegraph System Has Had a Wonderful Expansion During Past Fifty Years—Early Experiments in Under-Water Telegraphy—France and England Joined by Cable in the Middle of the Nineteenth Century—First Trans-Atlantic Cable Only Carried 271 Messages—Permanent Success on July 27, 1866.

FIFTY years ago last Monday was the anniversary of the day on which the Eastern Associated Telegraph companies laid their first submarine cable and a jubilee celebration was held in honor of the occasion. The Duke of York, Premier Lloyd George and other notables congratulated the corporation on its long and useful career and said it could claim a large share of the credit for bringing the countries and the peoples of the earth closer together. At the time of the birth of the Eastern Company there were only eight thousand miles of cables in existence and only a limited portion of the earth covered. Today there are 325,000 miles of cables, encompassing every part of the habitable world.

EARLY EXPERIMENTS.

As one reads these facts, concerning the phenomenal growth of the world's cable system, it is hard to realize the enormity of the work accomplished during the past half century. However, when one delves into the history of the early developments of the submarine cable, even more staggering facts are brought to light. Stories are found in abundance, telling of the heroic struggles of inventors, who were possessed with the divine spark of genius—inventors who, handicapped by poverty and the opposition of the unbelievers, fought on in spite of all, through his contribution in the great task of binding the world together by the marvellous modern cable system.

Early in the nineteenth century, knowledge concerning electricity and its possibilities increased by leaps and bounds and with the acquirement of this knowledge the system of sending messages by code over a wire gradually came into use. Sir William O'Shaughnessy Brooke in 1838 succeeded in sending messages over a wire which passed through a river in India, this being a marvellous accomplishment for that period of the century. Morse, who gave to America the modern telegraph system, sent messages through a copper wire laid in New York Harbor but he was terribly poor at the time, writing, "My stockings all want to see my mother and my hat is hoary with age."

FRANCE AND ENGLAND JOINED

The period between 1845 and 1850 witnessed many experiments, accompanied by various degrees of success. The middle of the century was marked by a notable achievement, for England and France were united by cable. Two brothers, Jacob and John Watkins Brett, residents of Great Britain, managed, after a long delay, to get permission to lay a cable between these two countries, but entirely at their own expense. The ship, with the cable, started in August and soon landed at Calais. Messages were sent over the wire by Queen Victoria and the Emperor Napoleon III but suddenly the sounds ceased and the vast chasm of silence was once again re-established between France and England. Upon investigation it was discovered that an uneducated fisherman had dragged the cable up with his nets and believing that he had discovered a new kind of sea weed, broke the wire in two. However, a new cable was soon laid and the linking up of other places quickly followed.

EARLY TRANS-ATLANTIC PLANS.

But this was only a beginning, for with the laying of the cable across the Channel, the wiser men of the day saw the possibilities of a trans-Atlantic system and the great plans were soon in the process of construction. The Brett brothers met with the famous American, Cyrus Field; a company was formed and young Charles Tilston Bright was instructed to carry out the gigantic task of uniting the Old World and the New by an under water telegraphic system. The short-sighted men of both lands shook their heads with doubt and pessimism and consistently opposed the proposition. They claimed that it was impossible, in the first place to lay the cable, and in the second place, to send messages across the cable, granting if it were ever possible to lay it.

However, Bright, though young, had been endowed with a bountiful supply of brains and had already done a great deal towards establishing the telegraph system in England. He had also laid a cable between England and Ireland. In consequence he was a man well fitted for the great task and though many bitter disappointments were to be encountered, those who put their trust in Bright were not to be disappointed.

MANY FAILURES.

Both the governments of Great Britain and the United States showed that they had faith in the great attempt for each government provided two ships to aid the adventurers and on August 5th, 1857, one end of the cable was brought ashore in the neighborhood of Valentia, Ireland. Next day the expedition set off, dropping the cable overboard as the ships travelled out to sea but failure was to be encountered. When the vessels were three hundred and eighty miles off the coast of Ireland, the wire snapped and sank to the depths of the Atlantic.

More money was necessary to purchase nine hundred miles of extra cable and in June 1858 the ships started off again. Fierce storms were encountered; the ships were badly damaged; the cable broke repeatedly owing to faulty workmanship and once again black doom loomed up on every side.

TEMPORARY SUCCESS.

However, the steadfast courage of the pioneers was not to be overcome. More money was raised by the strong supporters of the proposition. The ships sailed out of port and parting in mid-Atlantic, headed toward opposite shores, the successful reach of which meant triumphant victory over the wild waters of the Atlantic. Mile after mile disappeared beneath the ceaseless surface of the ocean and finally one expedition reached Valentia and the other landed at White Strand Bay, Newfoundland. The event was an epoch marking one in the history of the cable system of the world, for the Old and the New Worlds were joined for the first time in the history of the centuries by a single wire—a wire that could carry messages across the ocean, thus keeping the two great worlds in close and daily touch, one with another. The officials of the company flashed their congratulations across the great expanse of water and the first public message was sent from Queen Victoria to the President of the United States.

But the conquest was not complete. Two months later, after two hundred and seventy-one messages had crossed the wire, the sounds ceased. The Atlantic had conquered the cable, which was too weak to stand the strain.

THE PERMANENT CONQUEST.

The last failure was extremely disheartening but the great fact had been established and could never be denied. During the next two years a new company was formed and in 1865 the Great Eastern, the monster ship of the period, left dock with twenty-three hundred miles of cable. However, the first attempt ended in failure and another wire was sent out, finally connecting Ireland and Newfoundland for the second time on July 27th, 1866. A year later a second cable was completed between these two points.

Sir Samuel Canning was in charge of the Great Eastern cable laying but Sir Charles Bright was the company's adviser and he may be regarded as the father of Atlantic cables.

To him, to his fellow-workers and to those who perfected the steamship this community and all communities throughout the world ought to be sincerely grateful for the work they accomplished and it is well to remember that the chasms between the nations of the world were bridged only by great courage, perseverance and faith.

MARVELLOUS EQUIPMENT ON LINERS.

The spread of the use of electricity has not been neglected on the trans-oceanic liners and these huge floating castles are elegantly equipped with numerous devices. However, in very few of even the most magnificent large ships afloat today is the use of electricity carried to such a high degree as in the British-built "Pittsburgh," which recently made her maiden voyage from Great Britain to America. This vessel, which has accommodation for 600 first class and 1,700 third class passengers, is equipped with a complete electric generating station capable of developing over one thousand horse power. The extent to which electricity is employed on board this vessel may be gauged from the fact that no fewer than eighty miles of distributing cable are used. Electricity works the steering gear, lowers the boats, operates the cargo winches, drives the lifts and hoists, starts the engines, controls the sounding machines, and works the printing presses. All the cooking on board is done electrically, the kitchen equipment including three large ranges, three circular roasters, a baker's oven, electrically-driven dough mixers, and many small labor saving appliances such as potato peelers, vegetable choppers, meat mincers, coffee grinders, and so on. All the ventilating and heating arrangements are electrically operated, and the clocks are driven by electricity and synchronised and controlled from the bridge.

ELECTRIC DEVICE TO STABILIZE SHIPS.

Mechanism that will make ships as steady as ballroom floors has been tried out in an ocean liner, and promises to be of such popularity that all the high class passenger vessels will adopt it in the near future.

The device is a gyro-stabilizer—a sort of huge spinning top, placed somewhere in the bowels of the vessel, whose motion keeps the craft steady in its course by a similar whirling motion to that which keeps the earth steady as it revolves.

Sea legs will be needed no more by those who go down in ships. The vessels themselves will be given sea legs, and seasickness will pass into history.

Alarms.

Another important use of electricity in the municipal life is the high degree of efficiency that has been reached in fire and police alarm systems. The most efficient force of policemen or firemen is useless without an efficient system of alarms, for quick action is the great preventative of fire and crime. There are many elaborate burglar and fire alarms that have been perfected during the past twenty-five years and several of these are found in local shops and factories. The automatic sprinkler and fire alarm, which is set into action by an extraordinary degree of heat, is one of the most popular inventions and in many instances has saved the loss of lives and thousands of dollars. Fire alarms, for the public use, are found in all cities and they are the feelers of the fire fighters. The red box on the telephone pole is a familiar sight to every Sherbrooke citizen, but how many stop to consider of what vital importance these alarm boxes are. Each one is connected with the fire stations and when the alarm is sent into headquarters, the district of the fire is recorded at the station and without any loss of time the reels are soon on the scene of the conflagration.

Other uses of electricity in the municipality are too numerous to mention. Many of the factories, stores and municipal buildings are equipped with electrical appliances, which, to the modern mind, are absolute necessities. Electric fans, clocks, elevators, escalators and numerous other things of this nature are ordinary sights to all.

However, when one stops to think what would happen if these disappeared from our everyday life, it is easily realized what a majestic part the mysterious power of electricity plays in the life of this municipality.

All nations have benefited along these lines and the following accounts of the most recent developments prove of great interest.

As Usual, Your Central Station is Ready to Help

When war orders deluged your factory, when your expanding plant was crying for more power—more lighting—Quick!

—Then your central station was ready to co-operate with you. It did its utmost to help.

Today the problem is different; today "economy" and "efficiency" have more interest for you than "production". Throughout the country manufacturers are seeking methods of sustaining quality with less cost.

Everywhere central stations are helping solve this problem. Electric power from central stations is driving the machinery of industry resulting in a smaller cost per unit of output.

Correct electric illumination is a vital factor, too, in reducing that enemy of profit—spoilage.

Consult your central station. Let it help you now as it has always been ready to help in the past.

NEIL watched her for a moment; then he went across to where she sat and bent over her.

"Jean?"

"Well!" ungraciously.

"Look here, my dear," said Robin, "why can't you believe that I know best—in this instance at least. I'm more sorry than I can say that you've got mixed up with the Symons's set. I ought not to have allowed it in the first place. I blame myself. As for this money—whatever sum it is..." He laid his hand on hers.

Jean snatched her own away furiously.

"Whatever sum it is," she cried.

"A MAN OF HIS WORD"

CHAPTER XIX.

But he sauntered round to his cousin's house about twelve. Jean was in the hall to meet him; she looked pale and worried, he thought. He was sure she had been crying.
"I thought you were never coming," she began impatiently, then checked herself and tried to laugh. "I even sent Mr. Symons away because I wanted to see you," she said again. "He wanted me to go out with him in the car."

"It was hardly me whom you wished to see, was it?" said O'Neil quietly. He gave his hat and coat to the butler and followed Jean into the library.
"I came because you asked me to," he said. "But I am sorry—I haven't brought any money. I told you I would not pay your card debts—I am not going back on my word..."
"It isn't card debts," said Jean quickly; her voice was eager. "It's

—it's for Aunt Lydia..."
She was looking at him as she spoke, and she realized with a shock of dismay that he did not believe her; she rushed on—
"She wrote last night—she has not been well; she asked me to let her have a little money—oh, you're not going to refuse?"

He was watching her closely. "May I see the letter?" he asked. She drew back with a little cry.

"I destroyed it; I—she asked me to—she...oh, you mean that you don't believe me?"

He did not answer at once.

"You were playing at Symonses' the other night, I know," he said; "and I hear that you were playing yesterday afternoon at Mrs. Rutherford's flat..."

"I haven't denied it—I was playing."

"And you lost?"

"Yes."

"I'm sorry that I cannot give you any money," said O'Neil quietly.

Jean started up; her hands were clenched.

"Oh, how dare you refuse! I've told you the truth; I don't want you to pay my debts—I haven't asked you to—but I will have some money—I must have it, I tell you..."

Robin turned away, flushed and panting.

"You won't get it from me, Jean," he said determinedly. She faced him.

"You've not right to keep it back from me; it's my money—how dare you treat me like this!" She checked herself. She had meant to be so humble and patient, and already she had flared up and lost her temper; she tried to control herself.

"You don't understand," she said more quietly. "It's not for cards—it's oh, why won't you believe that it really is for Aunt Lydia?"

He did not answer.

"I give you my word," Jean broke out agitatedly.

He looked at her then.

"Do you owe Mrs. Rutherford any money?" he said.

"No," said Jean violently. She told herself it was true. The money was Mrs. Symons's—Pansy had said so. O'Neil turned

PLANS FOR SYSTEM OF INSTITUTIONS FOR THE CURE OF DRUG ADDICTS

(Associated Press Despatch)
VICTORIA, B. C., July 26.—Initiation of the possible establishment of a system of institutions throughout the Dominion for the care and treatment of drug addicts, or for special accommodation for them, was made here yesterday by Hon. D. D. McKenzie, Solicitor

GIRLS ARE USED AS 'STALLS' BY HOLD-UP MEN

Two More Daring Hold-ups Carried Out in New York Yesterday.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Detectives were searching today for three alert girl bandits, described as good-looking, youthful and modishly dressed, who assisted their male companions in two daring hold-ups early yesterday morning. The girls gave every indication of being hardened to their work by experience and careful training. Two of them worked with three men on one hold-up, and a single girl worked with two men in the other. Both hold-ups were of stores, and went through without a hitch. Several hundred dollars and some jewelry comprised the loot.

The girl crooks, who are styled "gun molls" in underworld lingo, were used as "stalls" or look-outs for the men who committed the crimes. The men are described as fastidious in their attire as were the girls. Expensive touring cars were used in both robberies as a means of effecting the "get-away."

General for Canada.
Mr. McKenzie said that he was visiting the penal institutions of the country to ascertain conditions under which men and women were held in confinement, with a view of being able to make suggestions to the Premier upon his return to Ottawa, as to how improvements could be brought about, particularly regarding those addicted to the drug habit.

TRAIN STRUCK MOTOR TRUCK; TWO ARE DEAD

Woman Stepped in Path of the Ottawa Express at Valois Station Yesterday.

(Associated Press Despatch)
Ottawa, July 26.—A woman stepped in the path of the Ottawa Express at Valois Station yesterday. The train struck her, and she was killed. The woman was Mrs. J. B. Ste. Denis, fifty-two years old, of Ste. Dorothee, and Joseph Payette, fifteen years old, whose parents live at 306 Wolfe Street, Montreal, were killed, and Lionel Gauthier, brother of the dead man, was injured seriously, when the motor truck in which they were driving was struck by a train at a level crossing at Cap St. Martin, on the Ste. Rose Road, near this city, yesterday.

Mrs. J. B. Ste. Denis, fifty-two years old, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, was killed by the Ottawa Express, westbound, when she stepped across the track opposite Valois Station, and was struck by the engine. It is supposed she thought she had time to cross before the train reached her.

THE MONTREAL CATTLE MARKET QUOTATIONS

Prices Paid for Cattle at the Montreal Stockyards—Other Details.

(Associated Press Despatch)
MONTREAL, July 26.—Dominion Live Stock Report: With fifty cattle, ninety-eight sheep and lambs, 295 hogs and 195 calves on the markets this morning, trading was very quiet. Buyers were not looking for stock and sellers found it difficult to sell the light offerings of the day. There were not sufficient sales made to form a basis for price quotations. The decrease in the demand for meat which always occurs in mid-summer, is now being felt and butchers are buying lightly. Good quality stock is the only kind that commands any attention today.

Light common lambs and calves are particularly hard to sell and are lowering the prices for all grades.

MILLIONS SPENT ON FACE POWDER, SAYS MINISTER

(Associated Press Despatch)

Dr. McKay, general secretary for foreign missions, pointed out that although the church appeal was urgent, Canadians last year spent $1,600,000 on face powder alone, $3,680,000 on chewing gum, $61,000,000 on cigars and cigarettes, $28,000,000 on soft drinks and $13,000,000 on amusements in just one of the smaller Canadian cities.

PROGRESS MADE RE WHEAT BOARD BILL IN THE WEST

All Clauses Have Passed Committee Stage in the Saskatchewan Legislature.

(Associated Press Despatch)
REGINA, SASK., July 26.—Great progress was made yesterday in the Saskatchewan Legislature on the Wheat Board Bill, and when the session rose for the day all the clauses had passed the committee stage.

Third reading will be given today, it is likely, and the session will probably conclude tomorrow.

WHEAT MARKETING SCHEME.
(Associated Press Despatch)
EDMONTON, July 26.—The concurrent legislation of the Saskatchewan and Alberta Legislatures regarding co-operation in a federally-managed wheat marketing scheme will be uniform and practically identical, Hon. J. E. Brownlee, Attorney-General, announced shortly after the opening of the Legislature here yesterday.

He said he would introduce the Wheat Board Bill by the way of a resolution today, if agreeable to the House, and would explain the measure at the same time.

CZAR WORTHY VICTOR.
COLUMBUS, O., July 26.—Czar Worthy, champion three-year-old trotting gelding, yesterday won his first race of the season when he defeated a big field of 2.11 trotters in the Shepard and Swisher stakes, feature event of yesterday's Grand Circuit programme here.

TENDLER AND LEONARD MEET TOMORROW.
DELANCO, N. J., July 26.—A bit of polishing up today and Lew Tandler, Philadelphia challenger, will be in tip top shape for what he hopes will be victory over Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, in their world's title bout in Jersey City tomorrow night.

The challenger will be the same sort of southpaw battler he always has been when he steps into the ring at Boyle's Thirty Acres. He has spent long hours trying to crowd more power into his powerful left arm and a wee bit more of co-ordination into his right. He says he has succeeded.

NEW YORK PRESS MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh
Wall Street Journal—Price movement in the industrial list confirmed the view that technical causes had more to do with Monday's reaction than uncertainty over the coal strike.

Journal of Commerce—Throughout the stock exchange situation there was an absence of professional selling pressure so much in evidence on the preceding day, and few offerings came out when the floor traders endeavored to force a further decline in stocks.

Tribune—The recent minor reactionary movement in the stock market, culminating on Monday, brought prices to a level where they attracted fresh speculation for the rise.

Wall Street Journal will say today—

Mexican light oil has advanced to $1.50 a barrel.

Copper buying moderate, with prices firm.

Union Pacific earnings, net and gross for June period six months below same period last year.

Southern Pacific's shops sixty-four per cent of normal forces.

STEEL SHARES EASIER ON WALL STREET EXCHANGE

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, July 26.—Heavy selling of Mexican seaboard oil and certificates, which declined about 2 1/2 points to a new low for the year, caused a recession in the general list after the first hour. Lackawanna, Bethlehem and Midvale steel shares were inclined to ease and United States Steel was fractionally lower. Miner losses were registered by General Motors, Studebaker, St. Paul, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, People's Gas and American Smelting and Refining.

Among the heavier losses were Pierce Arrow 1 1/2, Pierce Arrow preferred 1 1/2 and Chandler Motors 1 1/2.

The only exception to the general decline was the sugars which made fractional advances.

Call money advanced 4 per cent.

How Zeal and Faith in an Ideal Accomplished Results Which Appear Impossible

Ambition to Own a Store of His Own Resulted in L. R. Steel Becoming the Head of One of the World's Greatest Chain Store Systems—The Story of His Rise to Prominence.

The public is always anxious to know something about men who achieve great things, and as it can be rated as something out of the ordinary for an individual to build up a business which in a couple of years has in operation 225 offices, stores, shops, cafeterias, etc., it is only natural that people would like to know how L. R. Steel came to undertake such an unusual proceeding.

Some men are born to greatness, while others reach the goal by the application of natural business ability to a great ideal. The record of L. R. Steel in the chain store business indicates that he is one of the latter class.

Ambition Realized
Mr. Steel is only in his forty-fifth year, but one of the secrets of his success is that he was imbued with the merchandising spirit when he was a boy and always entertained an ambition to own stores of his own. He started in to work when he was a boy going to school. He was only twenty years of age when he realized his ambition of starting his own store, but industrial adversities struck the town in which he started business in a small way, and it was not long before he had to start out and seek employment, and he turned to the chain store business. He soon made good, however, and was soon rising from the ranks of a poorly paid clerk to positions of trust, and it was not long before he began to see visions of once more getting back into business on his own account with the chain store idea always the objective.

That class of enterprise was by that time assuming a status of success and importance which spurred him on, and it was not long before he was again in possession of a business of his own, and the success it has attained is today one of the outstanding features of the chain store business in the United States and Canada.

Large Organization
As already stated, this has attained the remarkable status of 225 offices, shops, cafeterias, etc. The chain extends from the Atlantic seaboard to as far west as Denver in the United States and Brandon in the Canadian Northwest. There are more than 4,500 people employed by the L. R. Steel enterprise and there is a small army of 40,000 stockholders to watch its success and wish it well.

The company is officered by a

FIRM TONE NOTED IN THE PRICES FOR WHEAT

(Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, July 26.—Indications of continued active demand from exporters gave firmness to the wheat market today during the early dealings. At first, however, liberal receipts here and favorable weather northwest led to a transient downturn in price.

No marked affect from the emergency orders in regard to railroad shipments was apparent.

The opening, which ranged from one cent lower to 1/2 cent advance, with September at $1.07 1/2 to $1.07 3/4 and December at $1.09 1/2 to $1.09 3/4, was followed by an upturn all around to slightly above yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats were firm with wheat. After opening 1/2 cent off to a like advance, with September at 62 1/2 to 62 3/4 cents, the corn market held near to the initial figure.

Oats started 1/2 cent off to 1/2 cent up, with September at 33 1/2 to 33 3/4 cents, and hardened a trifle later.

Lower quotations on hogs depressed the provision market. There was free selling of September lard.

Giants Managed to Pull Out Ahead of Cardinals — Cobb Leads Batters.

(Associated Press Despatch.) NEW YORK, July 26.—The St. Louis Browns and New York Giants had firmer holds today on their leadership in the American and National League races, as a result of their victories in the opening games of the crucial series with the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals. Two and a half games separated the leading American League rivals as they opened the second encounter, while the chief combatants in the National had a gap of but half a game between them.

Urban Shocker recovered his ability to jinx the Yankees, after four straight setbacks, and weaved a shut out spell over Murderers' Row, while his mates knocked submarine Carl Mays from the box and tallied eight runs.

Ken Williams lashed out his twenty-second homer and scintillated in the field.

The Giants had a more strenuous time with the Cardinals, winning 9 to 8, chiefly by virtue of a seven run melee in the fifth that drove Bill Doak from the box. St. Louis rallied in the ninth and came within a run of tying the count by driving across four tallies off Fred Toney.

Cobb took the American League batting leadership from his St. Louis rival, George Sisler, by a margin of one point as a result of obtaining four hits off Walter Johnson and leading his team to an 8 to 5 victory over Washington. Cobb's unofficial batting average today was .411 and Sisler's .410.

Guy Morton shut out the Athletics 4 to 0, in the first game of a double header but failed in an "iron man" attempt to pitch both contests. He was knocked out of the box in the third of the second counter and the Mackmen broke even with Cleveland by winning 11 to 4. Blankenship twirled the White Sox to a 3 to 1 triumph over Boston. Watson's poor fielding aided the Chicago Cubs to score six runs off him in the fourth and defeated the Boston Braves by 6 to 3, while the Reds captured a slugging contest from Philadelphia in ten innings. The Pirates got the best of the Dodgers by 5 to 3.

LOUIS, Mo., July 26.—A vigorous protest against the purchase by the New York Americans of infielder Joe Dugan and outfielder Elmer Smith from Boston was sent yesterday to Baseball Commissioner Landis and President Johnson and Heydler, by F. W. A. Vesper, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

MAGOG PLAY HERE THIS EVENING

The Magog "Prues" are due to play against the locals this evening at the Ball Park and a good game should result. The two teams are playing a championship series of the best out of seven games and while Sherbrooke has already won two games they were only by small margins.

The visitors possess a couple of hefty twirlers in Emerson and MacKinnon and are likely to cause the locals a lot of trouble. The Sherbrooke lads are playing pretty good ball of late and it requires more than an ordinary team to beat them.

The game will start at 6:45 p.m. sharp.

Tomorrow afternoon the locals travel to Newport and are quite confident of being able to repeat their success of last Saturday. Newport have made several changes among their players and are making every possible effort to strengthen their team.

Saturday next, St. Johnsbury make their appearance and fans anticipate a splendid contest. This is the game which was postponed on Sunday last owing to unfavorable weather conditions. On Sunday, Messena, of New York, will make their initial appearance in this district. They are well spoken of in the "Big City" and should provide a good exhibition.

Efforts are being made to get Saranac Lake to come to Sherbrooke and if the management is successful this should be the biggest event of the season. Saranac Lake are a splendid team and have a record which is difficult to beat. The local management is hopeful of reaching a satisfactory agreement.

DEAL CHARACTERIZED AS "UNSPORTSMANLIKE"

(Associated Press Despatch) ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 26.—Spectators at the St. Louis-New York game yesterday, first of their important series, which the Browns took by the one-sided score of 8 to 0, were by no means stingy in voicing their disapproval of the latest New York-Boston deal.

Joe Dugan, who figured in the bargain, was greeted by hooting and jeering when he made his debut in a Yankee uniform yesterday. Elmer Smith, the other newly acquired Yankee, was not given a chance to appear in the line-up.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Rotary Club too were awaiting the result of their letters sent yesterday to Commissioner Landis, President Johnson of the American League, and President Heydler, of the National League, protesting against the deals, which were characterized as "unsportsmanlike" and "indefensible."

FOOTBALL

FINAL OF WATSON CUP TONIGHT

The final of the John G. Watson Cup will be played this evening at the Parade Grounds at 6:30 p.m. when Circo line up against Lennoxville.

Lennoxville have acquired a number of new players of late and feel confident of bringing off another surprise. The Circo lads on the other hand realize the necessity of getting goals, as the final disposal of the cup depends entirely on tonight's game.

Mr. John G. Watson, who donated the cup, will kick-off and he will also present same to the winners at the conclusion of the game.

The teams will line-up as follows: CIRCO:—Goal MacFarlane; Backs: Brodie and Mann; Halves: Sullivan, Forbes and Scott; Forwards: Milnes, R. Robertson, D. Robertson, L. Petts and Smith; Reserve: Jarvis.

LENNOXVILLE:—Goal: Warner; Backs: Hastings and Staniford; Halves: McCoy, Frinn and Bilson; Forwards: Bryant, Douglas, Fernerley, Wilson and Lavoie; Reserves: Lavoie and Liddell.

GARRISON TO HOLD MEETING

GOLF

NICOL THOMPSON WON TOURNEY

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, July 26.—Nicol Thompson, of Hamilton, won the Canadian professional golf championship held here yesterday, thereby becoming the holder of the challenge cup donated by P. D. Ross, of Ottawa. His score for the thirty-six holes, medal play was 145.

TENNIS

LADIES' TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

For the past couple of seasons ladies have been devoting more of their time to tennis and today the Townships possesses a number of excellent players.

It is hoped that in the near future arrangements will be made for a tournament to be held at which the best lady players of the Townships would be represented and an effort is now under way to promote same.

ST. FRANCIS CLUB CHAMPIONSHIPS

St. Francis Club tennis championships are to be staged in the very near future when the feature event will be the Mitchell Challenge Cup, donated by Mr. Malcolm Mitchell for competition in singles. This cup must be won three years in succession before it may be retained. The draw will probably be made over the week-end and games will be started during the coming week. All players are requested to take part in the club championships in order to afford the committee an opportunity of placing them. Members are requested to advise any member of the tennis committee or else sign the list which will be posted up at the clubhouse.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS TOURNAMENT

Owing to the great success which attended the staging of the Eastern Townships Tennis championships last season, it has been decided to make this a yearly event and in future it is probable that the entries will be confined entirely to residents of the Eastern Townships.

It is quite likely that the championships will be held over a given week-end instead of during Exhibition week as was the case last year. An effort is being made to organize a real Eastern Townships Association and it is suggested that each club in the Townships be represented by its best players, one singles and one doubles. This would result in elimination competitions being played among the different clubs and the final contestants for the Townships championships would represent the best players in the district.

A meeting of the Committee will be held on Friday evening and members from the different clubs in the Townships are cordially invited to be present in order to discuss the matter in detail. The meeting will probably be at 8:00 p.m.
