World News In Brief

Rome, April 3—(Reuters)—The question of the 47,000-ton former Italian luxury liner Rex, which is lying off the coast of Yugoslavia, may be referred to the United Nations, it was learned today in Italian Foreign Office circles.

A report by Ansa, Italian news agency, from Capo Distria said that Yugoslavia had begun dismantling the liner, which was sunk in 1944 by rocket-firing R.A.F. Beaufighters. The report was not confirmed officially.

Istanbul, April 3.—(AP)—Istanbul newspapers quoted Premier Recep Peker today as telling a group of merchants at Izmir that "it is quite possible we might wake up one morning and find ourselves in a war."

The Premier's warning, press dispatches said, came last night in reply to a request that the merchants be permitted to export wheat—an item which Turkey has kept chiefly for home consumption since the beginning of the last war.

Peker was quoted as saying that Turkey had plenty of wheat this year, but that she still must hold herself prepared for eventualities.

"Under prevailing conditions of today our big neighbors should not declare war. It is absolutely so, but logic is not enough. We cannot judge everything according to our own logic."

New Delhi, April 3.—(Reuters)—Twenty thousand people squatting in a vast natural amphitheatre last night heard Mohandas K. Gandhi, elder statesman of the Congress Party, wind up the inter-Asian conference here by declaring, "The message of Asia is not to be learned from Europe; Christianity became disfigured when it went westwards."

Speaking into a microphone from a white mattress set up on a platform, he declared: 'East must conquer west with a message of truth.

"If you want to give a message to the west, it must be a message of life, a message of truth."

Hamilton, April 3.—(C.P.)—Mrs. Evelyn Dick, sentenced to life imprisonment on a charge of manslaughter in the death of her baby and now an anonymous jail inmate, swept back into the news today through being a witness to an attempted jail break at Barton street jail.

It became known this morning that three women attempted to break out of the jail. Their attempt failed. But Mrs. Dick, central figure of the sensational torso-murder trials here, saw the attempt and will be a court witness against the three women.

Lake Success, N.Y., April 3. —(AP)— Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain attacked Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko today for vetoing a British resolution in the Corfu Channel mine-blast case against Albania.

The will of the United Nations Security Council had been "strangled by a single vote," the British delegate told the Council as it resumed debate on Albania.

Compromise Formula Suggested By Marshall On Reparations Deadlock

Tactics And Strategy

U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall tries his peace-making tactics and strategy on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov during a party given in Moscow by Molotov. Marshall is seeking a showdown on the German reparations questions as first step towards an actual peace treaty, and just to show the Russians he's an expert on planning those steps, he wears the Soviet Order of Suvorov (above) given him for "strategic and tactical skill."

U.S. Would Be Willing to Consider Limited German Reparations from Current Production—Still Opposed, However, to Molotov's Demand for Ten Billion Dollars Over 20-Year Period.

Moscow, April 3—(AP)—State Secretary Marshall told the Council of Foreign Ministers today the United States would be willing to consider limited German reparations from current production, but only if the Allied powers agreed to leave in Germany a number of plants now earmarked for capital reparations.

At the same time Marshall proposed the compromise formula, he reaffirmed in a paper circulated among Foreign Minister Molotov, Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Minister Bidault that "present demands to increase the reparations agreed upon at Potsdam cannot be considered by the United States."

This was a restatement of his qualified opposition to Molotov's demand for $10,000,000,000 over 20 years.

Marshall's new proposal, which previously was taken up briefly in a secret session last Tuesday, is based, he said, on the assumption that the German level of industry is to be raised and that plants now marked for reparations export can be used to boost the level.

Informants said the proposition was first informally laid before the other three Foreign Ministers by the American secrtary at the Council of Foreign Ministers' executive session Tuesday.

While it was described as amounting to a compromise proposal between the United States, British and Russian positions on the reparations deadlock, it was said at the same time to be entirely unacceptable to the Russians in its present form.

Members of the American delegation, however, said the proposal represented about the extr me limit to which Marshall is willing to go in order to meet Foreign Minister Molotov on this vital issue.

The Russians have asked $10,-000,000,000 in reparations from Germany over a 20-year-period some of its from current production, and the stand of the western powers against this demand, coupled with Molotov's refusal to retreat from it, has blocked all efforts to reach a settlement of any basic German issues.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, principal advisor to Marshall on German problems, left today by plane for Berlin and the move was interpreted as indicating that the United States delegation sees little prospect of settling any German issues at the current conference.

Clay, the Commander in Chief of United States forces in Europe, took off from a Moscow airport in a special plane shortly after noon. He had been summoned here by Marshall soon after the Council of Foreign Minister's began its Moscow Conference.

There was no official announcement as to why he left, but the development was accepted in most quarters as a positive reflection of the American delegation's feeling that there is scant likelihood for basic German agreement—hence, Clay is not needed here any longer.

Marshall gave an indication of his own feelings at last night's Big Four session, where he proposed that the whole issue of Germany's future political organi-

Party Policy Outlined By P.C. Member

Members of All Parties in House of Commons Applauded Speech of J. M. MacDonnell on Progressive Conservative Post-War Aims.

(Special to the Record)

Ottawa, April 3.—Statements by J. M. MacDonnell (PC—Muskoka Ontario) outlining the Progressive Conservative plan for a post-war Canadian economy drew rounds of applause in the House of Commons yesterday as one of the clearest pictures of Opposition policy to be expressed in a long time.

Omitting specific details and dealing with principles, Mr. MacDonnell delivered a calm, seasoned exposition of conditions favored by his party in the post-war era as a means of establishing a national economy superior to that prevailing before 1939. His address was applauded alike by Progressive Conservative, Liberal, C.C.F. and Social Credit members—a reaction rarely seen in the House.

The recently re-elected president of the P.C. party said that he neither expected—nor hoped for—a return to the feast or famine uncertainties of pre-war Canada. The party which he represented realized, as much as any other, that the economy of post-war Canada would differ widely from that of the era which had ended in 1939. Like other parties, it was determined to secure a better Canada, even though it could not agree with the means to that end advanced in some quarters.

His party, Mr. MacDonnell em-

Two Men Arrested In Theft Of $24,300 In Gold Bullion

Val d'Or, April 3.— (CP) —Gold valued at $24,300 and destined for the Royal Canadian mint at Ottawa was recovered today after being stolen late yesterday from the railway station here and two men were placed under arrest.

Police identified the men as Conrad Morrisette, 29, and Cere Toussent, about the same age, both of Val d'Or. They are expected to appear in court later today.

The gold, in the form of two solid bricks totalling 137 pounds, was recovered from a snow bank about two miles from this northwestern Quebec mining town. It was still in the iron safety box in which it was sent to the station from Sigma Mines for shipment.

Full details of recovery of the gold and arrest of the two men were lacking.

The gold evidently had been taken off an express truck at the Canadian National Railways station and loaded into a vehicle. The road along which it was recovered led to Malartic.

Company police who aided Sgt. Gustave Massue, of the Provincial Police, returned the gold to the mine.

Delivery of the bullion was made to the Canadian National Express Company and placed on an express truck, which was wheeled along the platform to await the train.

Earlier, Sgt. Massue said he was unable to ascertain whether persons had been seen loitering about the station.

Details as to how the gold disappeared and was transported to the snow bank were unavailable.

Two Held In Rent Control Bribery Case

E. D. Fulton Refers in Commons to Summoning of W.P.T.B. Employee and Companion to Face Bribery Charge.

(Special to the Record)

Ottawa, April 3.—E. D. Fulton, Progressive Conservative member for Kamloops, B.C., pointed to evidence of serious irregularities in W.P.T.B. rental control operations in Montreal in the House of Commons yesterday when he referred to reports that a lawyer, said to be in the employ of the Prices Board in that city, and a companion, had been summoned on a bribery count involving $1,000. This, he said, appeared to confirm opposition charges that the power placed in the hands of "bureaucrats" tended to tempt them to engage in "criminal activities." Justice Minister J. L. Ilsley, invited by Mr. Fulton to comment on the matter, said that he had "no information" and that it was the first time he had heard of the case.

E. D. FULTON

(In Montreal Judge Edouard TeMier, acting on the request of R. C.M.P., earlier in the day issued summonses for two Montreal lawyers to appear in criminal court to face a charge of having accepted a bribe of $1,000 to do or not certain things in order that a midtown hotel might be able to charge more than ceiling prices for room rentals.

The summonses were issued to Bernard Ostiguy and Maurice Paquin, the two lawyers, at the request of Staff Sgt. E. A. Chamberlain, of the R.C.M.P. No addresses of the two attorneys were listed in the complaint. The summonses are returnable next Tuesday.

Maurice Paquin was a member of the staff of the Rentals Administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board here, but was not working in his capacity as a lawyer.

The Kamloops member informed the House that he understood that the Prices Board legal employee, the head of hotel accommodation charges for a Montreal district, had been caught "redhanded" with his companion, while delivering blank rate cards for hotel rooms to a hotel in the Windsor Street district.

He was informed, Mr. Fulton stated that at the time they were caught, they were found to have in their possession $1,000 in

Members Of Commons Go On Vacation

Will Resume Debate on Control Legislation When Parliament Re-convenes After Easter Recess.

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, April 3.—(CP)—Commons today wak a week-and-a-half Easter recess which ends April 14.

When the House bells sounded last night, they brought to a close the first two months of a session which thus far has been devoted entirely to the traditional debate on the Throne Speech and the enactment of legislation to give statutory effect to many of the government's wartime controls.

The adjournment found the Chamber in the midst of debate on second reading of the main control measure, the so-called "omnibus" bill which aims at extending over the next year many of the controls on prices, rentals and other goods and services.

When the members return, they again will take up the control legislation, seeking to give it passage before the Emergency Transitional Powers Act, from which the controls now derive their authority, expires May 15. Once that legislation is passed, Finance Minister Abbott will bring down high budget.

Eighteen divisions—or formal votes—have been recorded thus far in the session, which opened Jan. 30 and may continue until mid-July, and most of them have been on appeals from decisions given from the chair by Speaker Gaspard Fauteux.

The Senate, which adjourned last Friday, returns to work April 22.

A charge by John Hackett (PC—Stanstead) that the administration's control legislation lacked constitutional grounds featured yesterday's two-hour debate on the omnibus bill.

He asserted that there was no emergency upon which the government could base the legislation.

Other speakers included J. M. Macdonnell (PC — Muskoka-Ontario), Bona Arsenault (L—Bonaventure), John Probe (CCF—Regina City) and E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops.)

Before taking up the discussion, the House heard External Affairs Minister St. Laurent announce that the government would be "happy" to receive at a mutually-convenient date" a delegation chosen by the Newfoundland National Convention to discuss terms under which the Island Colony might become a Canadian province.

Regulations giving the Atomic Energy Control Board sweeping powers over the production, manufacture and use of radio-active substances were tabled by Reconstruction Minister Howe.

The Chamber approved a motion establishing a 25-man committee to make a yearly study of the oper-

Quick Approval of Britain's Proposal for Special Session of General Assembly Expected.

Lake Success, April 3.—(AP)—United Nations officials today expected quick approval of Britain's proposal for a special session of the general assembly to take up the delicate Palestine problem.

Without waiting for replies to a poll of the 55 member states undertaken last night by acting Secretary-General Victor Hoo, top officials already were busy with preliminary arrangements for the extraordinary session, which probably will begin early in May.

Since the British proposal had received endorsement of the other four major powers in advance, it was received as a certainty that at least 23 other members would approve the plan and thus provide the necessary majority of 28.

The spokesman for one of the big powers said he expected no serious opposition. He said the only objections he had heard came from the Arab states and he was not sure that they would vote against the proposal now.

It was generally agreed that the Palestine problem, which has given Britain a headache for the last 25 years, was the "hottest potato" yet handed to the United Nations.

It was indicated by the secrecy with which secretariat officials surrounded the spade-work they had begun some weeks ago in anticipation of the formal presentation of the Palestine problem here.

The assembly will be asked to establish a special committee for study of the Palestine problem and drafting of recommendations for the regular assembly meeting in September.

The extraordinary session was expected to confine itself to setting up this committee and defining the scope of its work. One of the big questions will be which countries will serve on the committee and whether the committee will go to Palestine to hear on-the-spot recommendations from Jews and Arabs.

Britain's declaration that she would ask the assembly to make recommendations, under article 10 of the U.N. charter, "concerning the future government of Palestime" was interpreted as meaning that Brtiain was ready to surrender her administration of the Holy Land if the assembly thought this was the best solution.

11 Perished In Fireworks Plant Blast

Five Others Injured in Clinton, Mo., Factory Turning Out Toy Buzz Bombers.

Clinton, Mo., April 3.—(AP)—An explosion and gunpowder-fed fire destroyed a fireworks manufacturing plant yesterday, burning to death eleven of the 28 employees working in the one-storey frame building and injuring four.

One of the injured was in critical condition. Ten of the victims died in the explosion and fire and the eleventh succumbed in hospital.

The workers were making toy buzz bombs in the Brown Manufacturing Company. Shortly after the blast, cause of which was not known, flames were so intense that firemen were unable to get closer than 100 yards from the building.

The bodies, burned almost beyond recognition, were taken to the city hall where relatives came

John Hackett Would Erase Rental Curbs

Stanstead Member Warns of "Progressive" Invasion Into Provincial Field by Federal Government.

Ottawa, April 3—(CP)—John Hackett (PC—Stanstead) said there had been a "progressive" invasion by the Federal Government into the provincial field.

Speaking in the Commons control measure debate, he said the national emergency transitional powers act "broadened and enenchanced' the powers extended to the government under the War Measures Act.

There was a growing tendency on the part of the government to arrogate to itself the right to legislate for the people of Canada. The tendency to overrun provincial fields was gaining ground.

When the life of the country was threatened one could understand the need for the setting aside of sacred contracts, such as rights outlined under Confederation, in the interest of self preservation.

Touching on housing controls, Mr. Hackett said if the controls were lifted the same number of homes would be occupied. They would be occupied either by the rightful owners or by people who were in the houses with the consent of the owners.

He had a higher opinion of the Canadian than had members of the government who painted such a dark picture of what would happen if rental controls were lifted.

He had met a landlord who said that if the Prices Board allowed a 20 per cent increase in rent, he would apply it because he did not know what the Board would do to him the next day.

However, if the Board lifted rental controls altogether the landlord said he knew his good tenants and he would treat them fairly.

Ruhr's Giant Coal Industry Paralyzed As Miners Strike

Essen, Germany, April 3—(AP)—The Ruhr's giant coal industry came to an almost complete standstill today as most of the area's 300,000 miners ignored British appeals to remain on the job and walked out in a demand for more food for their families.

Workmen at the mines in Dortmund and Hamborn, who struck earlier in the week, entered the pits as usual, however, apparently satisfied with the part they had already taken in the demonstration.

Miners in the Cologne area—technically not part of the Ruhr—remained on the job. But reports from throughout the Ruhr indicated that most of its 170 mines were idle in a strike expected to cause a loss in production of 500,000 tons of badly needed coal.

In almost every mining town—drab today in drizzling rain—workmen failed to show up on the job—despite an "urgent request" made by authorities in a radio broadcast in German last night. The walkout order was issued by mine union leaders yesterday at Bochum.

Some officials described the demonstration as a "petticoat strike." They said the miners, with the highest rations in Germany, had no reason to strike on their own behalf but must have listened to wives' complaints that they and their children lacked food.

One responsible official said that both union and political agitators had played upon this idea.

"It seems obvious that politics are involved in this strike," he said, but declared that it was not a one-party affair.

He pointed out that a miner's family got only the normal ration—1,550 calories a day is standard in the United States and British occupation zone—and that this had not been met.

The agitators of one party remind him of this and demand action, the official said, and then politicians of other parties, to show that they are doing something, too, join in.

The official expresed confidence that, their emotions released in a one-day walkout, the miners would return to work and production gradually would begin to climb back to normal.

Profits Of Newsprint Firms Boosted By Big Price Hikes

Special to the Record

Quebec, April 3. — The record prosperity and enormous profits now being enjoyed by Canadian newsprint manufacturers may be a cause for gratification to security holders, but it cannot be denied that some concern is now being felt here as to the long-term wisdom of the industry's present price policy, which seems to be to raise prices to United States and Canadian publishers by successive amounts which, as evidenced by the huge profits being reported, are wholly disproportionate to any increase being experienced in manufacturing costs. In brief, the policy seems to be to get the maximum that the traffic will presently bear.

Those here who are concerned for the long-term stability and year-in-year-out prosperity of an industry that looms so large in the economic life of this province feel that in raising the price by $29 a ton, or by fully 51 per cent, since the beginning of last year, the newsprint companies are shortsightedly taking advantage of the current heavy demand-short supply situation, and in so doing may just be killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

In the United States, according to press reports, many small publishers are being driven to the wall by inability to get newsprint, even at these almost prohibitive prices, because of the huge tonnages that are being preempted, as it were, by the wealthier, immeasurably stronger publishers in New York, Chicago and other U.S. cities. Observers here feel that the day may come when the little fellow's business may be sought after as avidly as it is now being ignored. Further, the sharp expansion in profits, it is thought, will almost surely invite further demands for wage increases, and in view of the well-known tendency of wages to remain high despite downward trends in sales and earnings the time may come when the newsprint industry may find itself in a much less advantageous operating position. Should that time come, the security holder who is today rejoicing in fat profits and increased dividends may well have reason to regret what many here regard as a short-sighted price policy.

The Day In Parliament

By The Canadian Press

The Commons resumes consideration of government control legislation.

The Senate will not sit.

Yesterday

The Commons heard External Affairs Minister St. Laurent announce that a Newfoundland delegation is coming to Canada this year to discuss confederation; heard a charge by John Hackett (PC-Stanstead) that the government's control legislation lacks constitutional grounds; approved a motion establishing a 25-man committee to make an annual study of operations of the CBC; saw Reconstruction Minister Howe table regulations giving the Atomic Energy Control Board sweeping powers; heard Postmaster General Bertrand say the government was not in a position to raise revenue derived from postage on parcels to the United Kingdom; adjourned for an Easter recess to April 14.

The Senate did not sit.

Higher Subsidies Urged To End Maritime Coal Strike

Glace Bay, N.S., April 3.—(CP) —Increased subsidies to coal operators and immediate steps to "mechanize" Nova Scotia collieries as a means of ending the six-weeks-old Maritime coal strike and putting the industry on "a firm financial basis" were suggested today by Cape Breton mayors in a resolution forwarded to government, company and union officials.

The resolution, containing an appeal for "a fair and just settlement" of the strike, was passed yesterday at a meeting of mayors.

It was to be placed before a conference scheduled for next week when top officials for United Mine Workers (A.F.L.) international headquarters at Washington will meet with executives of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation to discuss the walkout.

Place and date of the strike conference still appeared to be in doubt today with Freeman Jenkins, president of U.M.W. (C.C.L.) district 26, denying a previous announcement that it would be held in Montreal Sunday.

Mr. Jenkins issued a statement saying that "there may be a meeting in Ottawa at a later date."

The original announcement came from Labor Minister Currie of Nova Scotia who said in the Legislature Tuesday that he had been informed by Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Federal Labor Minister, of a meeting to be held in Montreal Sunday between Arthur Cross, president of Dosco, and John Owens, international representative and U.M.W. trouble-shooter at Washington.

The question of district 26 representation at the strike conference was left untouched by Mr. Jenkins in his statement last night. A meeting of the district executive here Saturday was expected to clarify this point.

The meeting of mayors asked that the strike be settled immediately "so that the entire industry may not be crippled and the communities suffer a setback from which they may never recover."

Conceding that production in Nova Scotia pits was low, the mayors suggested specifically that the Federal Government grant increased subsidies "for a period of one year and that periodic reviews be made by both union and company."

These subsidies, paid since early in the war to support miners' wages and compensate operators for losses, have already ceased but Reconstruction Minister Howe stated in the Commons Tuesday that the government was willing to re-institute them if the current strike could be settled and production restored to a "healthy" condition.

PLEA FOR CLEAN UP OF SCREEN

Hollywood, April 3.—Movie Czar Eric Johnston read the riot act to film producers, before leaving for Washington, on cleaning up the screen and avoiding state censorship.

Keynote of his talk was that "any human emotion can be portrayed on the screen in good taste." He also made a plea for less drinking on the screen.

The latter has been a device long overworked by lazy film writers. When they can't think of anything for their characters to say, they have them reach for a drink.

ROMEO DUFORD GAVE ADDRESS AT EAST ANGUS

East Angus, April 3.—Romeo Duford, secretary of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, and honorary member of the East Angus Chamber of Commerce, who is to be in charge of the French section of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Duford, in a very interesting address, explained the function of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the service it renders to its members and particularly to the French Canadian members.

At the price of great effort and much expense, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce has opened this service, because the Canadian executive has learned that it could not represent truly Canadian ideas, without having the support of the French Canadian Chambers of Commerce, thus giving the French members an opportunity to study international affairs.

Later Mr. Duford declared that the Chambers of Commerce are the Associations, which can most surely lead to a national "bonne entente," because he stated that in the Chamber of Commerce one sees Canadians, who ignore creed and language, but work with perfect agreement in the interest of fostering a community spirit in the town and making a better Canada. Two great races can live harmoniously if every person gives his co-operation.

The speaker outlined the duties of his new position, which went into effect on April 1. This service will consist particularly of establishing constant communication between the French Canadian Chambers of Commerce and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. All publications printed in the Canadian office will be translated into French.

In conclusion, Mr. Duford spoke of his enthusiasm in working for the success of the Chambers of Commerce in the Eastern Townships and that if he had any favors to bestow in his new position, these organizations would be the first to benefit.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Currie, of Westmount, spent the week-end with relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stokes, of Bury, were in town calling on Mr. and Mrs. Murray Labonte and family.

Mrs. M. B. Hodge, of Lennoxville, and Mrs. Carrie Weston and Miss Marion Barter, of Sherbrooke, were guests of Mrs. S. B. Somers.

The ambulance was called from Sherbrooke to take Mr. H. H. Cooper, who has been ill at his home for two weeks, to the Sherbrooke Hospital, for observation. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell McLaughlin have left for Masonthon, where Mr. McLaughlin has accepted a position.

I believe in keeping old letters. You never know when they may come in handy.

My wife disagrees. Especially around Spring cleaning time. This morning the banging of doors and the whir of the vacuum signalled the opening of the annual offensive. With a kerchief wrapped around her head, my little mermaid looked like the lady on the old Dutch Cleanser can.

I was working at my desk, trying to catch an opening sentence by the toe, when she barged into my room. The morning papers were scattered every which-way beside my bed.

"What have you been doing?" asked Eleanor, pleasantly. "Making paper hats?"

"Grspkh," I mumbled.

My frau gathered up the rumpled pages. "A self-respecting herring wouldn't let himself be wrapped in one of these," she said.

I was too battlewise to be drawn into the old argument about mussing the papers. Months back, when Eleanor complained about not being able to find the funnies, I told her I stood ready to increase her allowance a nickel a day for an extra set.

Miss Sapolio of 1947 looked down at the toy junkyard on my desk. "You'll have to do something about that," she said. "It has mice."

"A man's desk is his castle," I said in my best Republican voice.

"Might be interesting to clean the castle up," chirped my helpmeet. "You might find Judge Crater at the bottom."

I couldn't see anything wrong with my desk. It's all very neat and orderly. The papers on the left, under the ashtray, are important letters requiring immediate answers. The papers in the middle, under the magazines I haven't read yet, are letters I should have answered a month ago. The papers on the right, under the box of gumdrops, are letters too old to bother answering. I intend to answer pile 1 as soon as I can find my typewriter, which I suspect is under pile 3.

No telling what might happen if someone monkeyed with my desk. Something important might get lost—one of the gumdrops, for example.

I went back to digging for a notion for today's column. The dip in nightclub business? The time Major Timothy Morgan nearly married the bearded lady?

Suddenly I heard a yelp of anguish from the missus. I looked over at the open closet and saw the back bow of Eleanor's apron vibrating with rage. The rest of her was in the closet. She was tossing out onto the floor scrapbooks, bundles of letters, photo albums, and a rare book entitled "How to Live the Well-Ordered Life."

"Hey!" I cried. "Go easy on that stuff. I need everything in there."

Prettyface came out of the closet. "Our marriage is illegal!" she announced. "You signed the license Billy Rose, and all the time your name was Langley Collyer!"

"You'll get everything all mixed up!" I wailed.

Eleanor turned on the smile which used to make the front cover of "Life."

"Do you love me?" she purred.

"Certainly," I purred back.

"How much do you love me?"

"How much do you need?"

"Wise guy!" snapped my frau. "If you love me, once and for all you'll let me get rid of this fire hazard. It looks like the set for a Boris Karloff movie."

From the top of the heap I picked up a magazine. It was the June, 1934, issue of "Amazing Stories." "Look what you want to throw out," I said to my wife. "'The Goose Men of Mars!' I want to read this first chance I get."

"Out it goes, Junior," said my missus firmly.

"And look at this," I said. "An autographed picture of Sally Rand."

"Out."

"The piece I wrote for the High School of Comerce 'Caravel'."

"Into the flames," said the lady of the house.

I picked up a bundle of letters. "Maybe you're right about this old junk," I smiled. "Why should I keep the letters you wrote me when I first knew you in Cleveland?"

There was a nice moment of silence. Eleanor took the letters out of my hand. She half read a couple of them, and then handed them back. "You mean to say you've kept these since 1937?"

I nodded.

"You win," she smiled, and walked out of the room.

As I crammed the junk back into the closet, I heard the vacuum start up in another part of the house.

I nibbled on my pencil for a moment and began to write.

"I believe in keeping old letters. You never know when they may come in handy . . ."

Sherbrooke Exceeds $10,000 Red Cross Objective

City 2nd In Province To Top Its Goal In Current Campaign

Sherbrooke has topped its objective of $10,000 in the Canadian Red Cross drive, it was announced today by John Bassett, Jr., president of the Sherbrooke branch of the Society.

At noon today $11,552.04 had been subscribed to the campaign. The $10,000 mark was passed early yesterday morning.

The Sherbrooke campaign, which started only on Monday, March 17, was completed in sixteen days, making the city the second in the province to attain its objective in the current campaign.

Joint chairmen of the drive here were Armand Laberge and Forest Keene.

Thousands of Sherbrooke citizens took advantage of the opportunity that the campaign offered of showing appreciation of the work done by the Canadian Red Cross Society during the war, and of the work it is now carrying on. The money raised in the campaign, which had a national objective of $5,000,000, will make it possible for the Society to carry on the great peacetime program which it has planned.

During the war the Red Cross was recognized as the symbol not only of mercy but of efficient and kindly service. In peacetime there is a vast amount of work which the Red Cross must undertake.

The important blood transfusion service supported by the Red Cross during the war is being continued in peacetime in order that, whenever and wherever transfusions are needed, blood may be available. Veterans in hospitals and other disabled veterans are given friendly attention from Red Cross workers and helped to become re-established in civilian life. Other important peacetime activities of the Red Cross include the maintenance of outpost hospitals on the frontiers of Canada, hospitalization for crippled children, the maintenance of the Junior Red Cross, first aid, home nursing and disaster relief.

CONTRACT TO BE SUBMITTED FOR REVIEW

Failure of the Conciliation Board to reach an agreement on certain points relative to contract arrangements between the city and employees of the City Hall and the Sherbrooke Police and Fire Departments has resulted in decision to bring these matters before the Arbitration Board at a date not yet set, it was stated officially this morning. Should officials of the brotherhoods concerned decide to accept the city's terms in the meantime, however, the need for the meeting would be removed.

Special sessions of the Conciliation Board were held yesterday afternoon and last night in the City Hall, the first at 3 p.m. when proposed contract terms between the city and the Sherbrooke Police Department were discussed, and the second at 8 p.m. when terms concerning City Hall employees were reviewed. At both meetings, however, several points remained unsettled, this necessitating their being brought before the Arbitration Board.

Sitting at the meetings yesterday were His Worship Mayor Guy Bryant, members of the City Council, Albert Leblanc, K.C., legal representative of the city, City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers, City Treasurer Maurice Cormier, Cyprien Miron, government-appointed conciliator, and representatives of the brotherhoods concerned.

PASSOVER TO COMMENCE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

The inspiring festival of Passover (Pesach) which marks the beginning of Israel's existence as a nation and a free people, begins Friday evening.

The Passover affirms the great truth that liberty is the inalienable right of every human being. Having been enslaved for a period of 210 years in Egypt, the Jewish people under the leadership of Moses, left their shackles behind them and began their journey to the Promised Land. However, this freedom was not granted until the Almighty, through Moses, brought ten plagues upon the oppressors, the last of these being the smiting of the first-born son, which completely broke the stubbornness and the resistance of Pharaoh, the Egyptian ruler, and his people.

The first two nights of Passover —Friday and Saturday evenings— are celebrated in Jewish homes by conducting a special "Seder" ceremony. The table is set in festive style. On it is the Seder dish containing foods commemorative of the ancient story. The Matzoh speaks of the unleavened bread the Jewish people prepared in their haste, the bitter herbs of the bitterness of slavery. This festival is the outstanding example of Israel's homage to the great principle of human freedom.

Passover lasts for eight days during which period no leaven is eaten or used.

Special Passover holiday services will be conducted both evening and morning at the local Jewish Synagogue beginning with Friday evening, April 4, at 6.15 p.m., and continuing until Saturday, April 12, during which services a special prayer for the deceased will be recited. The holiday draws to an end Saturday, April 12, after sundown.

OPPOSES PARKING METERS

Chief of Police Edouard Moreau, is opposed to having parking meters installed on the main streets. He believes that although their existence would serve as revenue for the city, their likely damage by cars would be a hindrance and off-set their usefulness in controlling traffic.

Maundy Thursday Marked Today: Special Pre-Easter Services

Today is Maundy Thursday, the day before Good Friday and marked from the days of the early Christian church by acts of humility by "ecclesiastics small and great and laymen of eminence, not excepting soveign princes."

Most widely followed custom, and one which still survives on a "token" basis in many parts of the world was that of washing the feet of paupers in imitation of Christ washing the feet of his disciples on the eve of his passion. The washing of the feet of the poor was generally followed in England by the distribution of food in baskets, or maunds, from whence came the name of the day.

In Rome, however, and in Roman Catholic countries generally the day is known as Holy Thursday the occasion on which sacred oils, used in various ceremonies of the church throughout the year, are blessed.

It was formerly the custom of the King of England on Maundy Thursday to wash the feet of as many people as he was years old and afterwards to distribute to them "His Majesty's Maunds" consisting of meat, clothes and money. James II, was the last English King to perform this ceremony in its entirety. His successor, King William, delegated the job to his almoner and successive monarchs did the same thing until the reign of George II when the washing was dispensed with altogether.

At the beginning of the reign of Queen Victoria the dispensing of provisions ceased and the ceremony, which may not be performed at all this year due to the absence of the King and Queen from England, consisted of the distribution of specially minted coins called Maundy money.

A custom generally followed in Roman Catholic churches today is the silencing of the bells. No bells are rung in the churches Thursday morning and throughout Good Friday until Saturday morning.

There will be special services in the Anglican and Roman Catholic churches of the city tomorrow.

At St. Peter's Church there will be matins at 8.15 a.m. and litany and ante-communion at 10 a.m. The three hours' devotion will begin at noon, with a children's lantern service scheduled for four o'clock in the afternoon. Evensong will be held at 5.30 p.m. and a latern service at 8 p.m.

There will be three services at St. Patrick's Church on Good Friday. Mass will be celebrated at nine o'clock in the morning. At three o'clock in the afternoon The Way of the Cross will be traced. There will be special service at eight o'clock in the evening.

POSTAL SERVICES ANNOUNCED

There will be no delivery by letter carriers in Sherbrooke on Good Friday when only a skeleton staff will be maintained at the Post Office.

Tomorrow there will be no delivery by either rural route carriers or parcel post drivers.

E.T. WORK TO BE DISPLAYED IN ART SHOW

The Provincial Handicraft Exhibition, first of its kind, which is coming to Sherbroke next June was first held in reconverted barracks on St. Helen's Island under the direction of the 3rd Montreal Centenary Commission. Since that time, Montreal, St. Hyacinthe, Rimouski, Valleyfield, Hull and Three Rivers have been chosen as sites for the annual exhibition, which displays the work of craftsmen in the province and surrounding localities.

The exhibition this year is being organized by the Sherbrooke Junior Chamber of Commerce with the assistance of the Provincial Office of the Handicraft Division, Ministry of Commerce and Industry; Economic and Domestic Art Services; Ministry of Agriculture; Housekeeping School and Public Service Department; The Furniture School, of which Jean-Marie Gauvreau is director, the Canadian Handicraft Guild of Montreal, and the Domestic Arts School of Quebec.

THE CIVIC IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

The details of the city improvement program, as revealed by the submission of the by-law to the regular City Council session this week, indicate that the aldermen are determined to keep abreast or even ahead of the actual needs of the growing city. The sum asked is substantial, amounting to $375,000 after the adjustment of certain debits and credits on previous loan by-laws, but is not extravagant when the scope of the proposed undertakings is considered.

The extension of the city and the construction of residences on new streets compels the provision of municipal services to these householders and $78,000 is provided for this purpose. Similarly $25,000 is appropriated for levelling and grading a number of newly-developed streets. No objection can be taken to the purchase of additional equipment for the various civic departments as the proper functioning of these services is dependent to a great degree upon the quality of the equipment in their possession.

Nobody who has attempted to park a car in the business section of the city will take issue with the proposal to open a new parking ground together with a street to link Meadow and Big Fork streets, thus to a degree relieving the congestion on the main thoroughfare.

The continued growth of East Sherbrooke compels the provision of an adequate water supply, both for domestic consumption and for fire protection services. This need is to be met by the construction of a new reservoir on the east side of the St. Francis river to remove the danger inherent in a possible break in the existing mains under the river. The extension of the existing reservoir to provide greater storage capacity is also proposed.

Parks and playgrounds are also essential to the welfare of any municipality and modest sums are asked for the improvement of existing facilities and the purchase of land for potential developments.

The City Council, having received the endorsement of the ratepayers in the recent municipal elections, has every reason to believe that it will find public support for this by-law which provides for the logical continuation of the policies of the immediate past.

NEWFOUNDLAND AND CANADA

Negotiations between Newfoundland and Canada for the incorporation of the former into the Dominion with the status of a Province will enter a definite stage during June when representatives of the Constitutional Assembly, named to study the future status of Britain's oldest North American possession, visit Ottawa to hold unofficial talks with Canadian Government officials.

The incorporation of Newfoundland into the Dominion has been a subject of discussion from time to time, but negotiations have broken down at the critical stage owing to one or other of the parties being unwilling to make the concessions desired by the other. The present overtures come from Newfoundland but it must be realized clearly that the delegates have no official powers nor is public opinion in the Ancient Colony overwhelmingly in favor of joining the Dominion. This deliberations must be carried on in a spirit of goodwill, with the final decision resting with Newfoundland.

That a merger of Canada and Newfoundland would offer inestimable benefits for both parties is beyond question, especially in the developing of the vast resources of Eastern Quebec and Labrador which could be carried on as a single project. The question of defence would be materially eased by the political union of the two countries.

However there are certain unfavorable factors, especially from the point of view of the Newfoundlanders, many of whom believe that the best hope of improving the economic position of the country lies in developing a market for its natural products in the United States. These interests believe that an independent Newfoundland has a better opportunity of negotiating a favorable trade treaty than it would have as a part of Canada. The Dominions they hold, cannot possibly absorb their potential exports, most of which, with the exception of iron ore, are also leading exports of Canada.

However, if, after striking a balance and studying the terms proposed by Canada, these hardy people decide their best interests lie with the Dominion, they will be received with open arms by the Canadian people as a whole.

AN IMPORTANT COMMUNITY WORK

The value of the ability of a person to make a public address has long been recognized although, unfortunately, this is a branch of education that is too often overlooked by those charged with preparing a school curriculum. As a result, many men find themselves handicapped in later life by their inability to put an idea across.

In an effort to correct this deficiency, the Rotary Clubs of this province have been conducting an annual public speaking contest among the students of the High Schools. The final tests for the Sherbrooke district were held here this week, first honors being carried off by Harold Hampson of Bishop's College School.

That the value of these contests is appreciated by the young people is evidenced by the ever-growing number of youths entering the initial stages and the steady increase in the number of schools participating. Regardless of the stage which the contestant reaches, he cannot fail to benefit from the training he receives in the preliminary round.

This contest under the sponsorship of Rotary is an effective demonstration of the real meaning of their motto, "Service."

SALESMANSHIP OF DEMOCRACY

The much-heralded showdown between democracy and communism brings up the matter of what the U.S. proposes to do about selling its particular brand of freedom in a naughty, misguided world.

It is generally agreed that the Russian Commies are better at this propaganda racket than anybody else. There is no breakdown of the Russian budget to show what the Soviet government spends on its "educational" activities in other countries. It has been estimated as high as $100 million a year—more than all the rest of the world put together spends on informational and cultural relations.

About 30 leading governments now indulge in this national good-will building in other countries. That the Russian propaganda builds more ill will than good will is beside the point. The point is that they seem to get their line across in ways that do the most damage to democracy, which is their purpose.

In connection with the proposed grants of $400 million aid to Greece and Turkey, the question for the U.S. is how to offset in those countries the Communist propaganda that this is American imperialism seeking control of their governments and economy. To counteract that propaganda what has to be sold is American democracy.

On purely informational programs to tell Greek and Turkish people about the U.S., the American government is this year spending $115,000 in Greece and $192,000 in Turkey. That's enough to keep a couple of people in each country, pay tolls on special information cables from Washington, contact the native press and radio, keep open American libraries and information centres in Ankara and Athens.

SEVEN YEARS BEHIND TIMES

Broke as the British are, they have been spending ten times as much as the U.S. for information work in Greece and Turkey. On a world-wide basis, the British informational program calls for about double this year's U.S. appropriations of $25 million.

The $6 million U.S. cultural relations program is now limited by law to Latin America, the Philippines, and Liberia. This is the program set before the war, when American foreign policy was largely concerned with the western hemisphere. This limitation may now be said to be seven years behind the times. For the newly-declared Truman foreign policy has as its principal aim the spread and protection of democracy around the world.

To promote this objective the State Department and half a dozen other civilian agencies of government have just sent to Congress proposals for a bill which would authorize world-wide cultural relations and informational activities.

FOUR-POINT PROGRAM

Four types of activity are proposed. First, exchange of students and professors, books and other educational materials.

Second, assignment of American technical experts to foreign countries for aid in agriculture, health or industry. Most expenses for these scientific missions are paid for by the countries receiving the aid. In the present plan to aid Greece and Turkey, however, expenses for the extraordinary technical assistance would be paid for out of the $400 million appropriations.

Third, setting up joint scientific services, such as weather stations, aids to navigation and civil aviation. Expenses of these projects are usually shared between two or more governments.

Fourth, expansion of the international information service. This is the touchiest project of all. It has been severely criticized as government propaganda. There is some sentiment in Congress for abolishing it altogether.

To take off some of the curse, Assistant Secretary of State William Benton has in the past year worked out a plan to get the government out of short-wave broadcasting and turn it over to a semi-private corporation.

SHADOW AND SUBSTANCE

Christian Science Monitor

It looked for awhile as though, in hailing the new democratic Japanese Constitution, people were forgetting the lesson of the Weimar Constitution. For that was democratic, too.

Now the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission in Washington has sent General MacArthur a directive for a review of the Japanese Constitution in one to two years, with the aim of providing for the fully expressed view of the Japanese people on it.

This was what some of the more thoughtful Japanese liberals urged in the first place—namely, an interim constitution with provision for thorough review after the people had had further education and experience in democratic procedures. Only so, they felt, could it be anything other than an alien, imposed form of government, without roots or chance of ultimate survival in a restored Japan.

Let us hope this decision of the F. E. C. will bring to light some of the conservative opposition to the Constitution which was driven underground by the need to conciliate American opinion. A healthy fight in the open could do much to educate the Japanese on basic constitutional issues, and the advantages of this should outweigh even the possible conservative modifications of the Constitution that might follow.

If it comes to a choice between an ideal democratic document that won't work and an imperfect compromise that will, we favor the latter. But it cannot be sunnily assumed that even one or two years from now any Japanese constitution will really represent the enlightened "will of the people." All that can be done is to strengthen and encourage the democratic forces in Japan that are working to bring the realities of Japanese life more into line with the noble rhetoric of the present Constitution.

GOT A BIT MIXED

Minneapolis Star Journal

Paul Porter, President Truman's economic expediter for Greece, speaks with a Kentucky drawl. Foreign languages are not his forte. In Greece, he wanted to learn enough language to be polite and the first phrase he tackled was "thank you" which in Greek is "e fhristo".

The pronunciation proved difficult. Finally the Greek interpreter suggested:

"Maybe you have a friend in Kentucky named 'F. Harry Stow'. Just think of him and pronounce it 'F. Harry Stow'—'e fhristo'."

Porter did pretty well that night at dinner and thanked everyone every time they passed anything. "F. Harry Stow!" he exclaimed on any and all occasions.

Next morning after breakfast, Paul tried to be equally polite.

"Harry F. Stow," he said, bowing graciously.

His hosts looked puzzled. Porter had reversed the initials of his "friend in Kentucky".

THE ANCIENT GAME

The Beaver

From Roy Webster, golf historian of the Pacific Northwest, comes word of the first golf course in those regions—one that probably antedates any others on this continent. It was at Fort Nisqually in the 1840's, he says, that the Scots factor (evidently one Angus McDonald) laid out a three or four-hole course near the south end of Steilacoon Lake. This, we imagine, was near the site of the first Fort Nisqually, the second site being occupied about 1845. According to Mr. Webster, the grounds where those bearded Scotsmen scaffed around the links with their cleeks and baffies is now occupied by the State Insane Asylum.

Non-golfers will please refrain from comment.

NON-ACTION MORE DANGEROUS

Washington Post

The world is watching a type of aggression against which there is no protection in the Charter save reliance upon self-restraint. It has also watched the emasculation of the U.N. in dealing with it. This is the reason we say that the Truman action is aimed at restoring respect for the United Nations. What the Secretary General could not produce last summer, the United States may. It is idle to talk of the danger of war. Non-action is more dangerous than action in a situation in which power centres are being eroded for Russian seizure. Russia's whole security system is being expanded and built up without the slightest reference to the United Nations. In not one of her satellite treaties is the world organization mentioned. The present is a chance that may not recur of reminding Russia in action of the United Nations and of her obligations to it.

TIME IS PRICELESS

New York Post

Delay is wholly unreasonable. No matter what other concerns may occupy the Congress, the strengthening of our ability to forestall agression is primary and pressing. It is obvious that the United States must maintain that ability. There is no excuse for failure to adopt the most efficient and economical means. Time is not only the priceless element of war. It is equally the priceless element of peace. Even after the Congress has authorized the War Department plan (for universal military training) it cannot be put into operation at once. The Army must have time to set up its training centres, arrange programs and reorient instructors before the first young men can begin to learn. The world of 1947 still is too far from peace to permit us the luxury of a leisurely pace in taking those steps necessary to guarantee our ability to oppose force with force if factors beyond our control force us to so. We believe we should do everything possible to prevent the necessity of armed action by spurring the complete organization of the United Nations. In the meanwhile we should build our strength. Again we say to Congress: Don't delay!

TOLL OF THE TAX COLLECTORS

Ottawa Journal

The Toronto Globe and Mail has been trying to work out the "average' 'tax bill of an Ontario wage-earner making $3,000 a year, who is buying a house and driving a car.

Based on last year's rates the tabulation sets income tax at $500, sales tax at $137, excise taxes and duties at $151, customs duties at $54, property tax at $135, motor licence and gasoline tax at $45. The total is $1,022, or more than one-third of the man's total income. And, as the Globe and Mail points out, no taxing body takes any account of other taxes paid—thus income tax is collected on salary which merely passes through the taxpayer's hands to the province or to his municipality.

A tax system which takes more than one-third of a moderate income, whether by open or hidden ways, unquestionably must reduce the incentive to enterprise and reduce the standard of living to which a family with $3,000 a year might feel entitled. It is a terrific price to pay for government.

ABOUT FACE!

Minneapolis Star Journal

Undoubtedly the airlines didn't know it or they would have changed things a bit, especially now that their revenues are showing considerable inclination to lag behind expenses. But air passengers prefer to sit facing the rear instead of the front of the plane.

For some time the Air Transport command has been flying two 44-passenger DC-4's with all seats reversed. Some 700 of its passengers have been asked how they liked the new arrangement. Ninety-six per cent of the men and 100 per cent of the women favored the change, for they discovered both comfort and visibility improved when they faced the rear.

Aircraft designers long have known that in the event of a crash or a rough landing, a passenger facing aft, with the whole cushioned seat to take up any impact, would be less liable to injury than one facing forward and thrown against the seat belt.

NO WITCH HUNT

Providence Journal

Announcing President Truman's order to the executive agencies to guard against infiltration by subversive persons, the White House has assured the nation that there is no intention to embark a "witch hunt." That is a welcome reassurance. While we do not doubt the necessity for the security measures decreed by the President, neither do we believe that the Federal establishment is loaded with persons disloyal to the United States. It would be next to impossible, however, to set up standards of political loyalty or methods for searching out subversive individuals which were not susceptible of abuse. Certain sections of the President's order, we believe, could be misused with relative ease.

"CREATING INFURIATION"

Sunday Dispatch (London)

Britain led the rest of the world in resisting Axis aggression. As a result we are saddled with a debt to the rest of the world of £5,000,000,000. When the wife of the new U.S. Ambassador to Britain comes to London this month she will bring with her supplementary rations—on the advice of the U.S. State Department. This was the statement of a State Department official, quoted by the British United Press: "We consider British rations are quite inadequate for Americans in relation to what they are used to eating here, and, naturally, we expect personnel to live on U.S. standards." This is recalled not in criticism of the new Ambassador and his wife, but to illustrate a state of affairs which is creating infuriation here.

RUSSIA AND THE U.N.

New York Herald Tribune

The Russians, in fact, have consistently refused to trust any of their major interests to a forum in which they can be effectively outvoted. They will continue to do so until that fear has been dissipated either by some massive swing of world opinion or world power or by a general political agreement, a canalization of the contest between Russia and the West which shall be more precise than the U.N. Charter could possibly be. The present American policy is intended to prevent the former contingency; if the Russians accept that policy as final they may turn to the alternative, help to establish some sort of equilibrium in international affairs and take up their tasks in the United Nations. Then—and only then—the world organization may begin to realize some of the hopes which millions have reposed in it.

HOW MUCH?

Christian Science Monitor

How much responsibility can the United States accept for political difficulties which other democratic Governments may face as they are caught in the East-West crossfire? Can the United States give effective aid to such Governments? Can it overhaul its economic policies to support democracy for the long run at many points around the globe? Even if the United States cannot do all these things the Truman program does not seem headed for war. But it may skid into confusion. Increased efforts to lay a global pattern of economic support and collaboration with all democracies is now clearly called for. This must be done if the present challenge to totalitarianism is surely to lead to peace.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

7 IS OPTIMISTIC, BUT IT PANS OUT

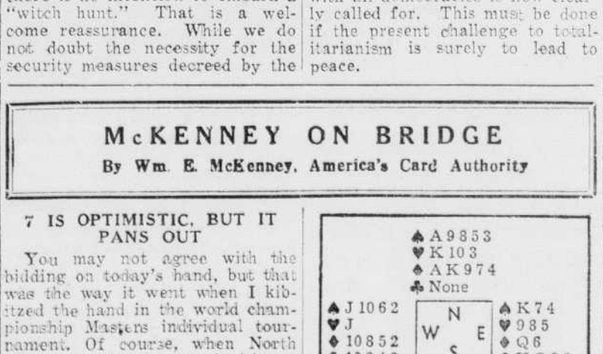

You may not agree with the bidding on today's hand, but that was the way it went when I kibitzed the hand in the world championship Masters individual tournament. Of course, when North bid two spades, he was inviting a slam. As a matter of fact, some players treat that bid as a slam demand.

North's jump to five hearts over three hearts should show a solid heart suit. Perhaps North thought that three to the king-ten would solidify the suit. In my opinion the king of spades or jack of hearts were much needed cards for a slam demand, but several pairs did reach seven-odd, and those who counted their tricks made it.

The count showed six heart tricks, the ace-king of diamonds, ace of clubs, two club ruffs, ace of spades, and maybe a spade trick would be established for thirteen.

The first trick was won in dummy with the king of diamonds, the ace of spades was cashed and a small spade trumped. A small club was trumped in dummy with the three of hearts, and another spade ruffed by declarer. Another club was ruffed in dummy, the king of hearts was cashed, and a spade led. There was no use for East to ruff, so declarer ruffed with the seven of hearts, and cashed the ace-queen of hearts, picking up East's trumps. He cashed the ace of clubs, and still had a diamond to get over to dummy to cash the good nine of spades.

This was just a matter of counting up to thirteen, and then planing the play so as to cash all 13 tricks.

THE EASTER STORY

Holy Thursday

Two events of "Holy Thursday" are depicted above. Left: Judas approaches Jesus to betray him to the soldiers. "And he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, drew near unto Jesus to kiss him. But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of Man with a kiss?" Right: Peter denies Jesus. "And as Peter was beneath in the palace, there cometh one of the maids of the high priest: And when she saw Peter . . . said, and thou also was with Jesus of Nazareth. But he denied . . . And a maid saw him again, and began to say to them that stood by. This is one of them. And he denied it again. And Peter called to mind the word that Jesus said unto him. Before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice."

Reds Worming Into Civic Groups As Prelude To December Voting

(This is the second in a series of three articles that appeared in The Gazette revealing the plans of the Communists for Montreal and the Province of Quebec. These are being re-printed in view of the great interest taken in the Montreal-Cartier by-election, which resulted in a serious setback for the Communist party in Canada. These aims of the Labor Progressive Party are extracted from the confidential report of the "City Conference" held in Montreal last November).

By JACQUES G. FRANCOEUR

The Montreal Communists are planning to elect a "people's reform bloc" to the City Hall next December and they are now concentrating their efforts on infiltration into Home and School bodies, consumers' leagues, civil liberties groups and community councils, to prepare for the elections.

These are the main revelations made by City Councillor Michael Buhay, Communist candidate in the Cartier by-election and Miss Beryl Truax, well-known Montreal teacher, in their official reports to the 75 candidates attending last November's secret convention.

One of the highlights of this convention was the election of Fred Rose by acclamation as a member of the 25-member executive of the party in Montreal. While the 24 other directors were elected from a slate of 33, Rose, who had already been sentenced to prison for espionage, was elected by acclamation, a few days after party leaders had disclaimed any connection with the spy ring.

Buhay, who was reporting on "municipal affairs" said "The Montreal City Conference (of the party) places greater emphasis on municipal affairs as a major task of the Labor Progressive Committee, the councils and all the clubs.

The city councillor then reviewed the major issues facing the people of Montreal and after asking for a "democratic administration," he turned to housing.

"Housing is a vital matter," he said, "and must become one of the most important issues in our election campaigns." He also asked the party workers to concentrate their efforts on a Montreal Transportation Commission which would take over the Montreal Tramways Company and build a subway.

Points to Elections

Pointing to the municipal elections coming next December, Buhay declared that "a great movement of democratic and labor reform in our city has great possibilities of developing. The Communist and prospective labor candidates in the forthcoming municipal elections can approach the trade union movement and the PAC's (political action committees) that are formed or are in the process of formation to agree to a minimum program of very important issues that are vital for our city.

"The purpose should be to ensure the election of a labor and people's reform bloc to the City Council" was Mr. Buhay's blunt statement. "We should support and encourage a broad citizens' municipal reform conference initiated by the labor movement.

"Campaigns on above issues must be initiated by the party," he continued. "The trade unions, consumers' organizations, home and school associations and other bodies should be urged to participate in the campaigns."

After recommending the immediate organization of a special commission to map electoral plans. Buhay said "one of the chief purposes of this commission is to work out a people's real municipal program for the forthcoming elections. The first three issues mentioned above are to be emphasized and further to finalize on candidates and districts to be contested in the election. The program to be ready early in 1947."

Buhay also recommended that "the adjacent municipalities, Outremont, Verdun, Lachine, etc., must also be geared to the above work.

"The City Committee and the party clubs must greatly increase their municipal activities; learn more about municipal matters, and become leaders in the community. Prospective candidates, under the leadership of the municipal commission should take responsibility for the development of our program in their given areas in a public way, and to involve the Party and the labor movement," Mr. Buhay concluded.

Lesson On Infiltration

A practical lesson on infiltration was given by Miss Truax in her report on "professional workers." She gave suggestions on "how professional and middle class members of our party can make a maximum contribution to the work of the party and in the establishment of a people's coalition in the fight against the trusts and the Duplessis regime.

"This problem presents special difficulties," she continued. "It is our task as party members to make clear to middle class people where their interests lie. This can be done only by raising those issues which touch their interests and by showing them that monopoly capital is strangling their efforts as professional workers and threatening their security.

"How can this be done?" Miss Truax asked. "Our party members of middle class groups must become members of existing organizations now dealing with social questions and be prepared to increase the setting up of any other groups as the need and possibilities are presented.

"Some of the existing organizations are the "Civil Liberties Union League for the Defense of Trade Union Rrights. Home and School Organizations, Scientific Societies, Consumers' Leagues and Community Councils" she continued.

"In addition to their work in above organizations, party members must be directed to work actively in their own fields and all members in the salaries groups of the middle class should strive to established trade union organization" she said.

"All members must gain the confidence and recognition as leaders by their own professional organizations. Party members must see that all issues presented are raised to a political level." Miss Truax concluded.

(The final article tomorrow will depict Communist infiltration in youth movements, veterans' organizations and labor.)

to make the identification. Some of the victims were so badly burned identification was only possible through rings and other personal effects or through teeth.

C. S. Knoles, a worker, said the flames swept through the building in a matter of minutes.

"By the time I got to a door, I could hardly find it because of the smoke," he said. "I could hear the girls behind me screaming. I closed my eyes and mouth and started for the road outside. When I reached it I turned around. There was fire everywhere."

Fred Baker, the plant foreman, told a coroner's jury that workers attempting to escape were prevented by a pile-up at a small door.

The dead were identified as Roy Burnsides, 62; Frank Chanslor, 58; J. C. Herst, 62; J. S. Moyer, 70; Mrs. Edna Moyer, 54, wife of J. S. Moyer; George C. Tally, 60; Mrs. Lillian Shepard, 55; Lydia Crockett, 50; W. H. Belton, 59, and Harry L. Pogue, 67. All lived in Clinton or Deepwater, Mo.

Floyd Shepard, a worker whose wife died in the fire, told a reporter she was being led from the building when she suddenly remembered her daughter-in-law was in the plant. She cried, "Oh, Hazel," and ran back into the building. Her body was found later in the debris.

The daughter-in-law, Hazel Shepard, was burned critically.

ations of the CBC.

Mr. Hackett based his argument that there was no emergency for the control legislation on the grounds the fighting forces had been disbanded, the wartime industrial machine had been dismantled and that the peoples involved were back at peaceful occupations.

"The emergency which justifies the complete disrespect of a country's constitution is not a petty thing," he said. "It is something that threatens the life and the soul of a nation."

Such an emergency did not arise from a list of "petty things" which a government felt should be kept under control.

Mr. Arsenault expressed fear the government was lifting controls too quickly and said the country did not want to return to the pre-war system of "control by private enterprise to the detriment of the common people."

One field where the government should re-impose controls was that of motor cars. Veterans who needed them for their livelihood could not obtain cars because manufacturers were sending them to countries throughout the world.

Mr. Macdonnell said it would be "unfair" to assert that the Progressive Conservative opposition wanted to return to pre-war conditions. The Conservative Government of 1930 to 1935 had not been responsible for the depression of that era.

He said that once a planned economy was started it was difficult to say where it would go. The C.C.F. party was advocating such a policy and it would require an extensive civil service which would plan the lives of all Canadians.

Will Die For Slaughter In Polish Camp

Warsaw, April 3.—(AP)—Rudolf Hoess must pay with his own life for more than 4,000,000 lives snuffed out at Oswiecim (Auschwitz) extermination camp in the 2½ years he was Nazi commandant there.

The 47-year-old ex-colonel, on trial for three weeks, was sentenced to death last night by the nine-judge Polish supreme national tribunal. The condemned man, stocky and clean-shaven and wearing a green German officer's uniform, was calm and attentive as he listened through headphones to the hour-long reading of the judgment. The courtroom was crowded.

Hoess is permitted to ask President Boleslaw Bierut for clemency, but even should he do so this seemed certain to be denied. No date was set for the execution.

Party Policy

phasized, believed first of all that the maximum amount of freedom and minimum amount of Governmental interference compatible with public well-being, should and must be guaranteed to Canadians. It believed too, in a competitive system based on individual energy and initiative, with all the incentives which could be supplied, "along with regulations where they are necessary." Such a system insured the highest possible measure of production through which "we shall get the social security that we all desire."

He realized, he said, that the mere mention of the word competition was bound to raise wild cries of monopoly and cartels. He and his party were as much against both as any. But it would be easier, he suggested, to correct the faults of a working system than to abandon it in favor of one which was untried.

Following are some of the principal points made by the party association president in his address today. Pre-war depression conditions: "We admit the evil of those conditions. I think during those years Lord Bennett . . . tried courageously to meet difficult and unprecedented conditions and did devise schemes which, though perhaps not perfect, in the years succeeding were in effect followed. . . ."

Planned economies: "I think I can understand why planning is attractive. But let us bear in mind that it is planning for other people that is attractive, that there is not so much attraction in having other people plan for us."

Production: "The tremendously important thing now is production. That is becoming a terribly commonplace expression, but let us remember that it was not always commonplace."

Profit system: "We talk about the profit system, but it should be called the profit and loss system. It has been said in this House that the manufacturer fixes his own prices. He does nothing of the kind. If he fixed his own prices, would there be the failures we see at every turn? As long as there is competition, he does not fix his own prices."

Competition: "We who believe in the private enterprise system have to see that there is real competition, and we should be prepared to say that in these cases—where there is monopoly—there are some such as the telephone business where a monopoly or near-monopoly is probably the sane and sensible thing—there should be regulations. We cannot have it both ways."

Compromise

zation be thrown into the lap of the Allied Control Council in Berlin without further efforts to reach agreement here.

This suggestion followed a unanimous decision by the Foreign Ministers that no agreements on political unification could be made effective until economic unity is achieved. Discussion of economic unity is stymied by a Russian demand for $10,000,000,000 in reparations.

The agenda for today included demilitarization of Germany, the report of a special committee dealing with denazification and other relatively non-controversial issues, together with a report from a coordinating committee assigned to work out the agreements and disagreements of the Big Four on political questions.

Actually, there are many points of agreement on how to go about setting up central administrative agencies, a provisional German government and a permanent German government.

Also, there is complete agreement that this is to be done "democratically" — a word which has many different meanings when used by different members of the Big Four.

Nevertheless, discussion of the future German government remains on an academic level for the time being and must remain so until the deadlock on reparations is broke, for that is the key, not only to economic, but to political agreements.

Profits Of

The profits record of the leading companies for recent years speaks for itself. Citing advancing costs, Canadian newsprint manufacturers, with remarkable unanimity, have put into effect increase after increase in the cost to the publisher, the practice and pattern having been for the leading newsprint manufacturer to announce an increase and the other companies to follow suit. As a result, the profits of a representative company such as Price Bros. have risen by more than 200 per cent, this after all charges and taxes, between 1943 and 1946, with fully $8.32 earned per common share in the past year. On its preferred stock Price earned 96.32% in 1946. Consolidated Paper's 1946 net profit of $4,859,000 exceeded 1945's by more than $3 millions and exceeded 1943's by more than 975%. Abitibi's net profit for 1946 at $5,600,000 exceeded 1943's by $4,669,000. In 1946 International Paper (through its subsidiary, Canadian International, major Canadian producer) had a net profit of $31,179,048, equal to $8.50 per common share, against $8,546,078, or $2.14 a share, for 1945.

In the accompanying tabulation, which has been prepared by a statistical expert here, the combined net profits of the six companies, after all charges and after all taxes, are given at $48,568,667 for 1946, as compared with $14,767,616 for 1945 and $12,884,323 for 1943. As compared with 1945, the increase in aggregate net profit was 228.8 per cent, while 1943 was exceeded by fully 277.7 per cent.

As of April 1, this year the price of newsprint has been advanced by another $6 a ton.

marked bills which had been received from the proprietor of the hotel who had informed on them.

"The information which we have is that at least $1,000 in marked money changed hands in one particular transaction in that connection," Mr. Fulton said. "I understand that these men are to be arraigned, if they have not been arraigned already, and will be charged early next week."

"That is an extent to which abuses can creep in and are creeping in to the administration of these controls." Mr. Fulton declared. "It is possibly an inevitable consequence when you expand your administration or controlling force as must be done with widespread measures of control such as we have had in this country.

"I wonder if the Minister of Justice (Mr. Ilsley) would care to say something this afternoon about that situation because I think it is of vital importance to the country."

"I have no information about the facts," Mr. Ilsley replied. "This is the first information I have had."

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

A wild ride in the night of April Fools' brought Romeo Gravel, of Bishopton, into Court of Sessions here yesterday where he pleaded not guilty to charges of hit-and-run and reckless driving. He chose a summary trial and his case was remanded to April 8, by Judge Marier, who set bail at $100.

Provincial Police said that Gravel, accompanied by Hector Gagnon, was proceeding up King Street East in Sherbrooke when he struck a car driven by E. Dutil, who was stopped for a red light at the corner of Murray Street.

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of our dear son and brother, Flt.-Lieut. Floyd E. Luxford, R.C.A.F., and four members of his crew, who were killed in action on April 3-4, 1943, over Germany.

Four years have gone since you passed away,
And still it seems like yesterday,
They say that time helps one forget,
But, Oh, how sorely we miss you yet.
God in His tender mercy,
Gave us strength to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you Floyd,
Only God can ever know.
Sadly missed and longed for always,

MOTHER, DAD AND SISTER.

STUDENTS TO TAKE MEDICAL EXAMINATION

Danville, April 3.—The regular monthly meeting of the Danville Home and School Association was held in the Danville High School. Thirty-four members of the association were in attendance and five new members were enrolled.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Albert Barrett, the secretary, and were approved. Mr. Dunsmore expressed his disappointment at being unable to present Mr. Patterson, who had been scheduled as the speaker of the evening. However he stated that Mr. Patterson had advised him that he would be able to speak at an ensuing meeting if it could be arranged to have the meeting on a Friday evening instead of the regular second Monday. It was decided that this could be arranged and Mr. Patterson will speak at the next Home and School meeting which will be held on Friday, April 18, instead of Monday, which would be the regular meeting night.

The president mentioned the matter of the health examinations and inquired as to when they would be held. It was stated that the doctors were planning on examining all pupils of the Danville High School during the following week. It was also disclosed that at present there were 110 pupils attending the Danville school with 115 attending the Asbestos High School.

A report from the committee appointed to dispose of surplus second hand clothing disclosed that the sum of five dollars and forty cents had been realized from the sale of a part of this clothing. The president announced that the request to the school board for permission to use a small unused room for a teacher's room had been refused by the board. A vote was taken to decide if it was essential to press further on this matter and the membership was unanimous in its decision to continue its efforts. A committee was therefore appointed consisting of Mr. Frank Olney, Mr. Dunsmore, Mr. F. G. Smith, Mrs. Eunice Beer and Mrs. Lorne Mitchell to interview the school board and explain more fully the reasons prompting this request.

Mr. C. Hill informed the meeting that the telephone, which had been on order for the school since last fall, would definitely be installed shortly. The matter of the installation of window screens during the warm weather was discussed and a suggestion was passed on to the school board in this regard.

The business meeting was brought to a close at 9.10 p.m., and was followed by the showing of two technicolor films loaned for the occasion by the Provincial Board of Education. These films were greatly enjoyed and it is hoped that the association will be able to present more films of this nature at future meetings.

The evening was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments by the refreshment committee in the school dining room.

The attendance banner was won by Grade I. The constantly increasing attendance and membership at these Home and School meetings is indeed gratifying and demonstrates beyond doubt an increasing interest in school affairs. It is to be hoped that parents of children, who are not yet of school age, will become more active at these meetings and thus give their support and ideas to the development of our local educational institution in order that it may steadily improve and therefore approach their ideal of a perfect school by the time their children are ready to attend.

Letters explaining the aims and advantages of the Home and School Association are now in preparation and will be mailed to these parents in the near future.

TRINITY CHURCH W.A.

The Women's Association of Trinity United Church met at the "Parsonage," with Mrs. Albert Olney, the president, in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, and the treasurer, Mrs. Marck, reported the proceeds from the paper salvage and food and apron sale, which were very gratifying.

At the tea hour, delicious refreshments were served to a large attendance by the hostesses, Mrs. C. W. Foggo, Mrs. Albert Olney, Mrs. Harry Marek, Mrs. Margaret Hall and Mrs. Margaret Buchanan.

A WHIST PARTY

The whist party sponsored by the Canadian Legion, Branch No. 41, of the Ladies Auxiliary was largely attended.

The winners were Fort Yellow, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Olney, Mrs. George Porter and Mrs. Delight Manners, with a score of 48.

The hostesses were Mrs. Arthur Paige, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. James Turnbull, Mrs. Roy Smith, and Mrs. Charles Webb.

The next meeting and last to be held in the series will be held shortly.

WATERLOO

The annual meeting of Brome-Shefford Deanery was held at Waterloo with proceedings commencing with a celebration of holy communion. The celebrant was Rev. F. W. Gedye, assisted by the rector, Rev. Harry Andrews. The business session was held at the "Rectory" during the afternoon, with the rural dean, Rev. I. M. Lidstone, in the chair. Rev. T.E.R. Nurse, rector at Knowlton, was elected secretary. The rural dean was nominated along with Mr. H. D. Wells to represent the Deanery on the executive of the Diocese for the past year. The financial returns for the Deanery showed a very healthy condition both in the number of families and the financial support given to the work in the church. There was an increase in financial support for the year in both budget and stipend guarantees. The Anglican Advance Appeal was strongly supported throughout the Deanery and the sum of fourteen thousand one hundred and fifty dollars and sixty-five cents was contributed up to the end of December, 1946. During the day, several important matters pertaining to the work of the church in the Deanery were discussed and were of an advance nature, details of which will be announced at a later date. All members of the Deanery were present with the exception of Archdeacon H. Charters, of Sutton, who is confined to his home. In addition to the clergy, Mr. H. D. Wells, lay representative, for the Deanery was also present. The members of the Deanery were the dinner guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Andrews, and also at afternoon tea at the close of the meeting.

TWO BOOKLETS DISTRIBUTED IN RICHMOND

Shedding new light on the growth of Richmond, two booklets are now being distributed through the efforts of the Richmond-Melbourne Board of Trade and the Richmond Junior Board of Trade, the senior group's effort being a two-color publicity and "acquaintance" pamphlet, while the Junior Board is distributing their Richmond municipal directory.

Backed by a map showing Richmond-Melbourne's air, rail and highway location, the publicity booklet carries the slogan "Richmond - Melbourne — The Crossroads of the Eastern Townships." Well illustrated, and telling the many recreational and industrial advantages of the communities, the pamphlet carries the following photographs: C.N.R. Station, La Diva Shoe Co. Ltd.; National Hosiery Mills Ltd., La Duchesse Shoe Ltd., J. G. Ewing and Sons Ltd., Bank of Montreal, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Post Office and Customs Bldg., Belle-View Golf Club, Myra Theatre, Brunswick Hotel, New Richmond Hotel, St. Jacob's Hotel, Wales Home, Grand Central Hotel, St. Francis College High School, Sacred Heart College, St. Patrick's Convent, Ste. Bibiane Church, St. Anne's Church, Chalmers United Church and Ste. Famille Church, and the Richmond Coliseum.

Businessmen and citizens of Richmond are receiving their copies of the town's new municipal directory this week. Prepared under the auspices of the Junior Board of Trade, the 70-page booklet, with two-color cover bearing the town crest, and slogan "United We Prosper," is bilingual in content, and contains a complete civic guide.

Information and statistics on Richmond are complete in every detail, giving a thorough picture of the size, services, organizations and industrial life of the community. Alphabetically listed, with their street and number of residence, every citizens and business place has its listing in the booklet.

A four-page section for the village of Melbourne is found at the back of the directory. In the centre, a yellow sheet gives a detailed, 4" to the mile scale map of Richmond and Melbourne, with listing of the various business houses, public buildings, parks, schools, cemeteries, and recreational facilities.

ST. FRANCIS COLLEGE NOTES

Richmond, April 2.—The girls basketball team received its first bad beating in eighteen games this year, when they ended up on the short end of a 42-15 score against Mansfields Olympics, of Montreal, provincial champions for the past two years.

With five players just off the sick list and another with a bandaged finger they were lucky to hold Mansfields to a 10-9 score at half time by playing a close-checking game.

During this first half, Isobel Irwin, captain of the school team, was handed out four personal fouls for her close checking of the fast Montreal forwards, running in with the ball. Enid Shepherd and Doreen Clough, teammates on the Montreal track team, that recently defeated the Cleveland Ladies' relay team, starring Stella Walsh, in the Montreal Forum Track Meet, scored all their teams points in the first half.

In the second half Mansfields were definitely superior. St. Francis passing was very poor as the forwards, especially the first line, who had an off-night, fed the ball to their opponents repeatedly. This led to many baskets on quick breakaways by the fast Montreal forwards.

The final score was Mansfields 42, Richmond 15, with Clough and Shepherd scoring 20 and 12 points respectively.

With a strong, fast team, most of whom have played together for several years, Mansfields should give a good account of themselves in the Eastern Canada final at Toronto, Ont., on April 11 and 12.

St. Francis College boys salvaged one game of the double-header, when they subjected the Regiment basket to a barrage of shots. The game ended in Richmond's favor to the tune of 63-20.

High scorers for the school were Hanson, 15; and Sanderson 12. All scored in the second half, and Pye 10. Twenty-one personal fouls were called on the Regiment team and thirteen on Richmond. After a few wild shots at the beginning of the game St. Francis team settled down to a fast passing attack that netted them 24 points in the first half and 39 in the second half compared with 5 and 15 for the 12 Armored Regiment.

Dr. Lamoureux and Nurse Dennison, of the local Health Clinic, were at the school twice during the last week giving the pupils of the lower grades a medical and dental check-up in an attempt to improve the general health of school children.

The three platoons of the Cadet Corps enjoyed a one hour route march on Friday afternoon. A chilly wind blowing off the St. Francis failed to dampen the ardor of the enthusiastic members on parade. It is hoped that shooting for the cadet badges may be resumed shortly.

Marjorie Gilchrist, Helen Hills and Helen Driver, all graduates of the School, are doing practice teaching in the primary and elementary rooms this week as part of their course at the Macdonald College School for Teachers. Sometime in the near future we would like to see at least one boy graduate of the school turn to the teaching profession. Here we might quote Dr. Percival's own words "Young men also need to be attracted to the profession, vigorous men, football and hockey-playing men, and men who will not be considered effeminate if they enter the teaching profession. We need them in larger numbers than we have them at present."

Boys who are anxious to start throwing and batting a softball around again are exasperated at the slowness with which the snow is melting. Last year, a week earlier than this, no snow could be seen in the direction of Danville from the top floor of the school and the school ground was dry in spots. Today, there is plenty of snow left and the diamond is a shallow swimming pool.

A meeting of the program committee of the St. Francis Valley Teachers Association was held in the school library, on March 29. The afternoon was spent in drawing up a program for the fourth and final meeting of the Association for the current year, to be held in the Asbestos High School on April 25.

* * *

All wish to tender sincere thanks to all the citizens of Melbourne and Richmond, whose generous donations made it possible for the girls basketball team to travel to Montreal and Sherbrooke to play against Mansfield Olympics in the Provincial Final. They didn't win this time but the experience was valuable.

WILL HONOR CHAMP TEAMS AT RICHMOND

All Richmond is proud of the championship honors brought to the town through the splendid efforts of its senior hockey team and the girls' basketball team. Richmond Phantoms captured the Eastern Townships intermediate title in this year's ice loop, while the St. Francis College High School girls won the Eastern Townships intermediate hoop title.

To fittingly recognize the respective laurels of the two clubs, President Thomas Southwood of the Richmond-Melbourne Board of Trade has just announced that his organization would be hosts to the two championship teams at a dinner and entertainment to be held at the Brunswick Hotel on Monday, April 21st.

It is expected that a well-known Montreal sportswriter will be present as guest speaker for the occassion, when due tribute will be accorded the victorious lads and lassies of the championship clubs.

Always Belittlin'

Parents' Lack of Diplomacy Works Hardship On Children's Future

One of the strange things about parents is that so few of them seem to think that it is worthwhile to use any diplomacy in dealing with their children. Probably not one father and mother in a thousand regard their youngsters as so dull and stupid that they do not know what it is all about, and so lacking in all sensitiveness that their feelings do not have to be considered, yet they treat them as if they were morons.

DOROTHY DIX

It is a common thing for a little child to be torn from his play and brought into the living room to be baited by his elders. All of us have seen this horrifying spectacle time and again. We have seen little Jimmy writhe in anguish while every particle of dignity and privacy was stripped from him and his every fault and blemish were discussed as freely as if he had been an animal instead of a human being.

Whatever one might privately think of the peculiarities of strangers, no one would dream of calling attention to them in their presence. No one would twit Colonel Jones on his size, or tell Mrs. Smith to her face that she had lost all of her good looks. But no one hesitates to express a fear that little Jimmy is going to be a runt like his grandfather, or to say what a pity it is that Sally has inherited her Aunt Susan's nose. And when little Jimmy goes sulky or dumb under his persecutions, he gets a black mark for not being a little gentleman.

POKING FUN BAD TASTE

Parents' sense of humor peters out pretty thin when their own blunders and mistakes furnish the joke that sets a dinner table in a roar, but mama's and papa's best stories centre around something naive children have said or done. Maybe it is Jimmy asking father how a man conducts himself on his first date. Maybe it is mother telling the secret that Sally whispered to her in confidence. Awfully funny. Gets a big laugh. But it sends Sally from the table in tears, and Jimmy never asks father's advice again as long as he lives.

But where parents' lack of tact in rearing their children does its deadliest work is when father and mother harp continually on their boys' and girls' shortcomings, whether they be mental or physical. For its inevitable result is to give the child an inferiority complex that it never overcomes. Parents set their children's standards and if they are constantly reminded that they do not come up to what mom and pop expected of them, they lose hope and ambition and slump into being the failures that their fathers and mothers have practically wished on them.

And the contrary of this is just as true. Many a mediocre boy and girl are developed into successes by their parents' belief in them, by their parents' encouragement, by their feeling that they couldn't let mom and dad down.

Many and many a girl is an old maid because her mother began selling her the idea that she was homely and unattractive before she was fairly out of her cradle. Mother was always bemoaning Sally's stringy hair, or her bad complexion, or that she was too tall or too short, until she made Sally so self-conscious that she stumbled over her own feet and never tried to improve her looks and was so dumb with men that they fled from her. For a girl, to be pretty, has to feel pretty and carry herself forty per cent over her looks instead of ninety per cent below them. And many a man is a failure because his parents killed his belief in himself when he was a child.

As we think, so are we, and our parents shape our thinking. Pity that they do not oftener teach us to believe in ourselves.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

WOMEN'S GROUP AT HATLEY IN BUSY SESSION

Hatley, April 3.—The annual meeting of the Hatley Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Fannie Bowen with fifteen members present. The president, Mrs Arthur McClay, was in the chair. After the salute to the flag and the "Mary Stewart Collect" were recited, the minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Bray, and accepted.

Mrs. Dustin gave a report of the Domestic Science classes held at the school. The thanks of the society are extended to Miss Esther Miller, Mrs. Mildred Orcutt, Mrs. Ethel Bruhmuller and Mrs. T. Ride, who conducted the sewing classes; to Mrs. McCuaig, who gave instructions in laying a table, and serving a formal dinner; to Mrs. Arthur McClary, who gave instructions in Home Nursing and First Aid; and to Mrs. Hugh McClary who conducted a class in manual training for the boys. The interest manifested by the children in these classes would seem to prove that the project has been worthwhile.

A report was given of the card party, which took the place of the February meeting. Several letters of thanks were read from the members to whom flowers and potted plants had been sent. Reports from the conveners of all branches showed a very busy and successful year.

The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Bowen, who presented the following slate of officers: Honorary President, Mrs. Arthur McClary; president, Mrs. Willis Dustin; vice-president, Mrs. Kenneth Little; secretary, Mrs. T. Vaughan; treasurer, Mrs. Bray.

The following conveners were also appointed: Agriculture, Mrs. Ronald McClary; education, Mrs. H. B. Whitcomb; home economics, Mrs. Ride and Mrs. Carter; national and international relations, Mrs. Hugh McClary; health and welfare, Mrs. Arthur McClary; publicity, Mrs. Fannie Bowen; emergency, Mrs. H. B. Whitcomb, Mrs. Leslie McClary, Mrs. A. McClary and Mrs. F. Bowen.

Mrs. Dustin, the newly elected president thanked Mrs. McClary, the retiring president for the faithful and efficient manner in which she had carried out the work of the society during her term of office. Mrs. H. B. Whitcomb then presented Mrs. McClary with a lovely vase, as a tangible expression of the appreciation of the society.

The retiring president thanked the members for their kind words and beautiful gift.

At the close of the meeting, a delicious salad tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. Bowen.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dustin, with Mrs. Dustin and Mrs. Miller, the joint hostesses.

PRIZE AWARDS GIVEN OUT IN PHOTO CONTEST

Proof that photography has wide appeal was evident when a very enthusiastic audience attended the Haskell Opera House last Friday evening to witness Prize Night in the recent Boundary Photo Contest. This contest was sponsored by the International Community School, who also presented a well diversified program for the evening, climax of the successful Spring Photo Salon.

C. R. MacLean, president of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, acted as master of ceremonies, and the evening started with a community sing-song, featuring a number of songs in both French and English, to get the audience in the proper mood. This was followed by two numbers by the Stanstead College Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Ethel Nesbit; "Minuet" by Mozart, and "Chanson" by Friml. Mr. MacLean then introduced the Tibsen Ladies' Choir, new Boundary choral group, who sang two numbers, "Music When Soft Voices Die" by Wood, and "The Graceful Swaying Wattle" by Budge.

A silver collection was then taken to help defray the costs of the Contest, and then the prize-winners were announced and the prizes given out by Earl Heath, former president of the School. In his remarks, Mr. Heath expressed thanks to all who had helped, and his hopes that this would be the first of many such efforts in the Border Communities.

Following the announcement of the prize-winners, some very fine African movies were shown, through the kindness of Commander Attilio Gatti, world-famous explorer, and now a resident of Derby Line. These films were received very enthusiastically, and an especially loud round of applause was given by the audience to indicate their gratitude to Commander Gatti. The program concluded with the singing of the two National Anthems.

A list of the prizes and prize-winners follows:

ORLEANS CAST TO GIVE PLAY IN DERBY LINE

From the reports received in Derby Line, the Orleans Community Players scored a real success with their production of Barry Connors play, "Applesauce," when they presented it in Orleans on March 20th.

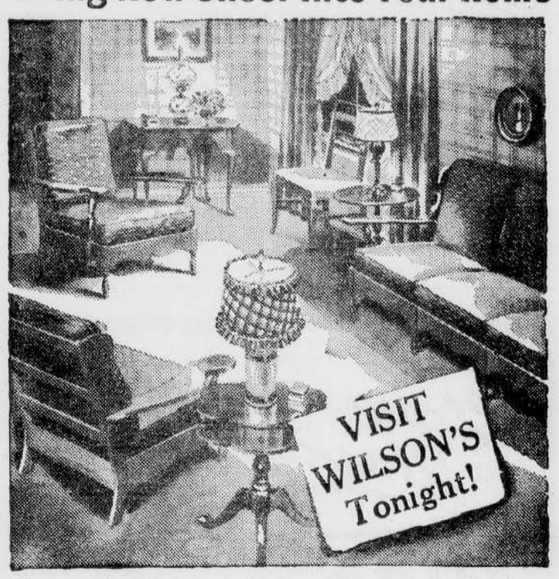

Residents of the Boundary are looking forward to seeing this very amusing comedy when it is presented at the Boundary for the benefit of the Derby Line Parent-Teachers Club on Friday evening, April 11th, at the Haskell Opera House. The tickets are already issued and are selling rapidly enough to already assure another full house for this very capable group of players.

Those who saw the play in Orleans state that it is one of the most amusing comedies they have ever witnessed and that every member of the cast played his or her part to complete satisfaction. Many compliments were extended to Greta Rowe and Robert Cass for their first fine direction; to Willard Burdick, stage manager, Roger Barton, property manager, and their assistants for the fine stage settings and prompt and efficient changes.

There are seven persons in the cast and two different scenes in this highly amusing comedy, and there are many laughs well scattered throughout the three acts. It takes a capable cast to extract all the laughs and to make the characters live, and that is precisely what the Orleans Community Players have to offer the residents of the Boundary on April 11th.

An interesting story of Newport's fame in salmon fishing, much of which is done from the railroad bridge on the Causeway, is reproduced in this column, as an interesting sidelight on an activity which has brought considerable renown to our neighbors in the Border City:

"It won't be long now before April 15 when all good Newporters will arise at 5 o'clock in the morning and, after a light breakfast, make their way toward the Canadian Pacific Railroad bridge for the opening of the salmon fishing season. Salmon fishing off this bridge in Newport has become more or less a tradition. Right now many of the fishermen are preparing for the opening day. Some are rewinding rods, others are tying flies, and still others are just giving their old rods a new coat of shellac, but, all in all, each one is working towards the same goal, to see who will have the honor of catching the first salmon of the season.

"Salmon a la Newport" is the subject of a feature story by J. E. Hart of Newport in the April issue of Field and Stream magazine. The story is illustrated with four views of salmon fishermen on the Canadian Pacific Railroad bridge. "In this Vermont city," the story indicates, "fishing for landlocked salmon is a family affair, and the whole town turns out on opening day to celebrate the occasion. . . All of the people fish some of the time, and some of the people fish all of the time. . . ." The article closes as follows: "It's sort of a family affair with us Newporters; so let's close in a conventional manner with a formal invitation: 'Come up sometime and elbow your way into a place on our bridge.'" The story covers two pages of this large and well-known sportsman's magazine."

The judges in the contest were Rev. Armand Fortin, of Derby Line; Earl V. Kennedy, of Beebe, and Ralph Sessions, of Newport. The committee in charge of the contest consisted of Rev. Armand Fortin, Earl V. Kennedy, Mrs. Patricia Carroll, Miss Elsie McIntosh, Rev. C. M. Stewart and Earl Heath. The reel of Community Singing was secured by Rev. C. M. Stewart, who operated the very fine projector owned by the Centenary United Church.

The International Community School is especially grateful to the trustees of the Haskell Library for their kindness in allowing the use of the building for the contest, and for the untiring efforts of the librarian, Mrs. Patricia Carroll, to make the contest a success. On Prize Night the library was open both before and following the program, and was visited by a very large group of people. It is the hope of the School that this effort will make more people realize the importance of the library here, and more eager to assist in any way to make this public institution more useful.

The pictures were taken down Saturday and every effort was made to see that the owners received them back promptly and in good condition. Those who sent in photos can aid by calling at the Haskell Library for their entries.

LAW OFFICERS ARE READY TO HELP YOUTH

Rock Island April 3.—"Wherever there is human habitation there is crime," said Sgt. Murray Smith of the R.C.M.P., in a talk on "Juvenile Delinquency," at the meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, held at the New Cliff House, in Ayer's Cliff.

"Juvenile delinquency has been a source of trouble for generations, and it goes back directly to the parents," Sgt. Smith continued. "The responsibility in most cases rests squarely on the parents, who are either not interested in their children or else set them a bad example. Too many parents make the mistake of evading or breaking the law, and then bragging about it before their children—these parents cannot understand why their children should become criminals! Strangely enough, criminals do not always come from poor families. While poverty and slums breed crime, some of our finest citizens have come from poor families, and some of the worst criminals have come from what would be regarded as the best families. A nation can rise no higher than the quality of the homes that are in it, and one real requirement for the prevention of crime is a good home."

Sgt. Smith went on to tell of the work of the R.C.M.P. in trying to learn what caused these young criminals to get into trouble, and what their opinion of the police was. It was found that most believed that the police had been fair with them and that they had had a fair trial. Too many of them, through, had always regarded the police as an enemy rather than as a friend. The R.C.M.P. is doing everything in its power to reach the young people of Canada and teach them that all police officers are ready, willing and glad to help them; to protect them from any group or individual that tries to force them to break the law; to aid them to make a new start if they have made a false step; and in general to be the friends of youth. This preventative work is bearing fruit and will eventually result in lowering the percentage of juvenile crime. Sgt. Smith spoke of the work that had been done by many service clubs to aid the police, and said that such assistance was badly needed and greatly valued. One rather startling fact that he mentioned was the remark of a judge, who said that out of 30,000 juvenile crimes that had come before him, only 5 were committed by Boy Scouts. Work among the youth does pay big dividends, and it is far more valuable to the community to prevent crime by educating the youth away from it than to merely catch and punish the criminals.

Sgt. Smith was introduced by Vice President Claude Willard and thanked by L. F. Tilton, for one of the finest and most inspiring talks the club has heard for some time.

It was Winners Night at the meeting at Ayer's Cliff, and the losing team was host to the winning team in the recent attendance contest. Thanks to R. J. "Stiffy" Stafford, the hotel host, all those present enjoyed a fine meal, and some real Ayer's Cliff hospitality. The entire program was in charge of the losing team, and they provided an evening that will be long remembered by those present.

Next Monday evening, the Rotary Club of the Boundary will meet jointly with the International Chamber of Commerce at the Del Monty Hotel, and the speaker will be John Bassett, Jr., Editor of "The Sherbrooke Record."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with Major Hoople

OVER $1,000 COLLECTED BY MAGOG LIONS

Magog, April 3.—Thirty-seven members were present, at the Lions Club's regular meeting, to hear Lion Harold Nowlan announce that the annual drive, in aid of the blind, had again gone "over the top." The sum collected was $1,040 some odd dollars, which was most gratifying to all canvassers.

Lion Harold Nolan thanked all for their efforts and particularly mentioned the splendid work of new members that contributed to the remarkable success of the drive. On a motion, moved by Lion Mel Ferguson and seconded by Lion Harold, it was unanimously agreed to invite the blind citizens, of Magog, to the club's next meeting, to be held on April 9, when the money will be handed over to Vice-President C. G. Bryant and Secretary Neil Tracy, of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Following is a list of the Magog Lion canvassers, whose efforts produced such a fine sum: W. D. Kirk, (Team Capt.) C. S. Harris, Ronald Malcolm, A. E. Smith, Team Capt; Fred Breckstead, Charles Ahern, W. Yanor, H. P. Stewart, A. E. Swoger, Team Capt; John Medlyn, G. Johnson, R. E. White, John Cunningham, Team Capt; G. Lestage, William Ivory, Malcolm Christie, Harold Patterson, Hugh Pibus, Laurier Paradis, F. E. Patch, Team Capt; Leon Giguere, Clayton Robinson, Team Capt; W. E. McKenna, L. Chankin, Thomas Muir, Daniel Ramage, C. D. McGilliard, Mel Ferguson, Co-chairman; and H. H. Nowlan, Chairman.

For the Lions' meeting on April 23 an outstanding public speaker will be a guest. The speaker is Mr. Romuald Bourque, president of the Mercury Press and past-president of the St. Lawrence Kiwanis. Acting on the suggestion of Lion Frank Patch it was decided to make that night a "Ladies' Night" in order that—as well as ourselves—they too may hear this orator.

According to Lion "Slim" Jackson, the "Cotton Town Ministrels," are preparing an old-time show to be presented, tentatively, on April 29 and 30. Advance requests for tickets lead us to estimate an attendance of eight hundred people. Program advertising, for the event, is in the able hands of Lion Al. Smith, Laurent Degre and an assistant. The proceeds, as in the past, will be used to further the charitable works done by the Lions.

A director's meeting was called at which plans were discussed for the holding of a raffle, however, more of this at a later date.

MEETING HELD BY KNOWLTON FARM FORUM

Knowlton, April 3. — The local Farm Forum Group held its Fourth Night meeting in the Knowlton High School with thirty-three members present.

Following the broadcast, Mr. Sidney Taylor introduced Mr. Ellenwood Wilson of the Forestry Division, who delivered a most interesting and informative address on "The Farm Woodlot" and was as follows.

"The average farmer thinks of his woodlot as a source from which he can draw his fire wood, a small amount of repairs to his buildings and occasionally get some cash from sale of firewood and logs. He does not stop to think how important the woodlot is in the economy of the farm".

The woodlot not only furnishes the above products, but it protects the farm from excessive winds, from erosion and protects the water supplies. In addition it adds to its comforts and beauty and furnishes shelter to wild life, which can add to his income through trapping and a bit of hunting.

"It is like capital in the bank, growing year by year at a rate f... greater than his savings in the bank. When he needs cash, he can cut a few logs or sell a few cords an emergency like having to go or send some member of his family to the hospital or buying a new piece of farm machinery.

"If he would plant a few acres of trees, when each child is born he would have enough money to give it money for a start in life. There it no safer or better start in life. There is no safer or better legacy to leave to his heirs than forest land. It grows at compound interest, while he sleeps. Unlike agricultural crops it does not have to be cut at any specified time but can be held until the demand is great and prices high.

'Brome County is essentially a wooded county. 73,000 acres are wooded, and 85,000 non-agricultural land. When we speak of wooded areas, it does not mean that they are covered with forests which produce timber. Some are maple groves, much is young growth, scrub trees or cut-over land. There are thousands of acres which have nothing on them but weeds. Some of it is used for pasture, but heaven help the stock, which must depend on it for food. All of these waste areas which are such a drag on the farmer because he has to pay taxes on them, could be planted to trees and would become more valuable year after year "What shall we say about the man who kills the goose that lays the golden eggs? The man who cuts his sugar bush and sells it for lumber, taking a small lump sum and losing his yearly revenue for the next fifty to seventy-five years.

"Many farmers think that they are making money when they sell to a sawmill or wood using industry their standing timber seven inches and up and let the buyer go in and ruin it, leaving a piece of waste land, which will produce nothing but must still have the taxes paid on it. It is just like drawing all your savings out of the bank or selling your high interest bonds and putting the money in the bank at one and one half percent.

A careful study made in the United States, shows for all classes of farms, an annual return on woodlots of better than ten dollars per acre and that a farmer earns more per hour for the time spent on his woodlot than he does from work on dairy operations, $1.75 per hour for the woodlot and $1.00 per hour for the dairy.

"Then work in the woodlot can be done in the fall, winter and early spring when no other outdoor farm work can be carried on. The returns from woodlots are not dependent on the quality of the soil. Very ordinary woodlots showed a surprisingly high return, when the farmer and his family worked on them but even good quality timber sold on the stump did not always show a high net return.

"One difficulty about securing the highest return from woodlots is that usually the farmer sells his logs direct to the sawmill or other buyer. As his cut is not very large, he is at the buyer's mercy. If all the farmers in the district would form a co-operative to sell their logs, they could get much better prices. "The sawmill man must have logs and the farmers' combined could practically fix the prices. Proper handling would increase both the amount and quality of the timber and add to its value.

"Advice on the proper handling and managements of forests is to be had free for the asking from the Bureau of Information of the Department of Lands and Forests, Quebec, which will send a forester to give advice on the ground. The government will also supply free trees for planting if the farmer will pay the transportation. A man without experience can plant three hundred to five hundred trees per day and an experienced man eight hundred to nine hundred.

"Many people think that it takes too long to get merchantable timber by planting, but pulpwood, twenty-five cords to the acre can be grown in twenty-five years. I have cut trees for pulpwood that I have planted myself. Hardwoods take longer but are more valuable. Anyone, who will plant oak, black walnut, hickory, yellow birch or maple, will leave a small fortune to his children. A farmer at Abbotsford planted some hybrid walnuts six years ago and the trees are now twenty feet high, six inches in diameter and are bearing nuts.

"You will think I am perhaps a little hard on the farmer, but when I see how timber lands are handled, how hillsides are stripped of trees, so that all the good soil is carried into the brooks and rivers and how land utterly unfit for cultivation is cut clean and turned from a productive area to a barren waste and how cattle are pastured in woodlots and sugar bushes just a bare existence besides ruining the woodland, I can only deplore such ignorance and such shortsightedness."

Following Mr. Wilson's address two films were shown on "Trees For Tomorrow" and a "Fisherman's Path."

Major L. D. McClintock was called upon and praised the local Farm Forum Group for the fine work being done in this district.

Mr. O. L. Stanley, of the County Farm Bureau of Richford, Vt., was present and gave a short address in which he brought greetings from the group in Richford Vt., and complimented the local group on its achievements.

The business meeting followed and the president, Mr. Sidney Taylor, called upon Mr. James Davidson, the secretary, who read a letter from Mr. L. D. McClintock stating that he is donating a prize of twenty-five dollars to the Forum in Brome County limits, which gets the best project underway in 1947, to do with some phase or phases of "Community Farm Living." An additional cash award will be given to the Farm Forum Group which successfully puts in operation the above suggested plan of co-operative enterprise. Mr. McClintock then explained the idea more fully.

On the behalf of the group, Mr. Sidney Taylor then presented Mr. James Davidson with a small remembrance as a token of appreciation of his faithful service.

Mr. Taylor, who had previously been appointed to represent this group at the county executive meeting stated that they had met and decided on the time for the spring rally.

A special feature of the meeting was that the gentlemen were in charge of the refreshments, which were served in the school cafeteria.

The Doctor Says

SUNLIGHT WILL IMPROVE ACNE

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

Many skin disorders improve in the summer from the effects of sunlight as well as from relaxation of nervous tension. Acne is one of those skin diseases which will automatically improve in the season ahead.

Dr. O'Brien.

It is estimated that more than 50 per cent of young persons between the ages of 17 and 25 are bothered by acne. The disease begins in a dilation of the pores of the oil glands and the formation of a plug from thickening of the lining of the ducts. Obstruction of pores causes the oily secretion to dam back, breaking through its boundaries, and cause inflammation of the surrounding skin.

Earl D. Osborne, M.D., Buffalo dermatologist, reports there is a tendency for acne to improve with time. If a hundred patients with acne are observed over a three-year period, one out of every four or five will clear up without any treatment. Nearly half will be free of the disease half the time and will have trouble the rest of the time, and the remainder will have continuous difficulty with many ups and downs.

When children inherit an oily type of skin, they will show a tendency to acne just as their parents did. When acne has not been present in the parents, children as a rule do not have it.

Acne victims receive conflicting advice as to diet. It was hoped at one time through special diets to liquify the oil in the skin so that it would flow freely, but all efforts along this line have failed. Advising young people to eat less sugar and sweets apparently does not make a great deal of difference in their skin difficulty.

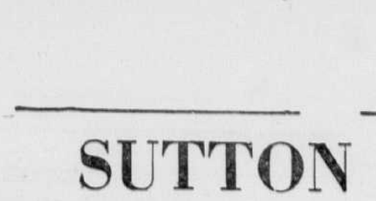

Since acne occurs most frequently in adolescence, it is believed to result from disturbances associated with it. Skin peeling from sunlight or special preparations of sulphur are of value in acne, while X-ray treatments are used in certain cases.

Then to 1 lightly beaten egg add ½ cup CROWN BRAND CORN SYRUP, ½ cup milk and 2 tbsps. melted fat. Add liquid ingredients all at once to dry ingredients and stir until just moistened. Fill greased muffin tins 2/3 full and bake in hot oven. Yield: a dozen muffins 3" in diameter.

So make your next batch of muffins with CROWN BRAND—it gives a delightfully distinctive flavour that you don't get with sugar.

QUICK THINKING SAVES CHILD

Murray Jordan, a butcher in Dartmouth, N.S., is a modest young man—he's also brave and quick-thinking. On February 19th, 1947, he was startled by the frightened cries of little six-year-old Nelson De Wolfe who'd been playing on an icy Dartmouth pond and had fallen through the thin ice forty feet from shore. While anxious passers-by hesitated on the banks of the pond, Murray Jordan did the only thing that could be done—he took a flying start and dashed onto the ice as fast as he possibly could, reaching the drowning child before he, too, crashed through into the icy water. It was over his depth and the current was swift, but he held little Nelson with one hand for fifteen long minutes 'til help in the form of a stout ladder was shoved across the ice to him. Now, six-year-old Nelson is happily alive and well thanks to the quick-thinking courage of 22-year-old Murray Jordan who has been chosen, by a group of leading Canadian newspapermen, the most recent DOW AWARD winner. For it is for just such deeds of complete selflessness that the DOW AWARD, sponsored by the DOW BREWERY, is given to civilian heroes and heroines in all parts of Canada—together with a $100 Canada Savings Bond as a tangible expression of appreciation.

BRISK TRADING ON LANSDOWNE THIS MORNING

With ham and eggs obtainable in large quantities, Easter trading in these commodities was brisk on the Lansdowne Market this morning as residents of the district gathered their supply for the weekend. Prices for both these products remained well within the reach of the average shopper, this being especially true of eggs, which were on sale at the same low rates prevailing for the past few weeks.

Lending a holiday and springlike atmosphere to proceedings this morning, Easter lillies, daffodils and tulips were on sale at many of the booths, price asked comparing favorably with those of past years. Also providing a note of spring, maple syrup was selling at most stalls for $4.50 per gallon, maple sugar being quoted at 50c per pound. Comparative scarcity of the maple products was still being felt, however.

A scarcity of beef experienced by local butchers for some days past was relieved this morning with the return of the product in substantial quantities. Reason for the temporary shortage was not known.

TIMELY HINTS GIVEN IN TALK ON USE OF SEED

Helpful recommendations and timely hints on seeding were given farmers, last Thursday, March 31, by W. S. Richardson, Assistant to Superintendent at Lennoxville Experimental station, in a broadcast given over C.K.T.S. and sponsored by the agronomes of the Sherbrooke area.

In his broadcast entitled: "Prepare for a Good Harvest" Mr. Richardson stated that if a farmer intends to use as seed, grain produced on his own farm, it should be thoroughly cleaned. "This," continued the speaker, "may be done at home if a farmer owns a fanning mill or at the local custom cleaning plant." If this work is performed at home, care should be taken to see that the correct sieves are used and that the fanning mill is in good shape. Badly worn screening cannot be expected to do a good job.

Explaining the necessity of cleaning seeds, the speaker said that, grain, as it comes from the thresher, contains small seed, light seed and a certain amount of trash such as pieces of broken straw or even small pieces of stone. When such material is seeded, it is very difficult to set the seeder to sow the proper amount per acre. When a farmer talks of sowing around five bushels of oats per acre, it is certain that it is this type of material that he is accustomed to use. This coarse material often blocks the drills and where small stones or nails happen to get into the feeds they are liable to cause breakage.

Mr. Richardson reminded his audience that care should be exercised in the purchase of seeds. Said he:

"All grain sold for seed is supposed to be graded according to the Dominion Seed Act. Under this Act there are three classes of seed: registered, certified and general seeds of commerce. Registered is the highest class and is produced from a crop that has been inspected in the field as to purity and is again inspected after cleaning, and if it meets the high standards set for this class of seed, is then sealed in the bag by the inspector."

"Certified is also sold in sealed containers after field and seed inspection, but the standards are not quite as high as for registered. General seeds of commerce are not field inspected or sealed in the container. It is required to be relatively free of weeds and have a good germination but there is no definite assurance as to purity of variety, as there is with registered or certified seed."

The speaker then warned his listeners against the use of so-called Alberta oats, stating that it is merely commercial feed oats and may contain a mixture of varieties that do not ripen uniformly or a variety not suitable to this district. "While it is good feed oats, a farmer is taking a big gamble when he uses it for seed," said Mr. Richardson.

"A factor which sometimes takes a heavy toll of our crops is disease," continued the speaker "Some of this can be prevented by treating the seed before planting. The smut diseases come into this class. There are two types of smut which attack the commonly grown grains of this district. They are referred to as the loose and covered smuts. The loose smut of barley or of wheat can only be controlled by the "Hot Water Treatment" which requires too much equipment to make it practical for any but small quantities of grain. However, both the loose and covered smuts of oats, and the covered smut of barley or wheat can be controlled by treating the seed with one of the mercury dust compounds on the market such as Ceresan, Leytosan, etc. Full directions for using these will be found on the containers."

"Give your farm a chance to produce a good harvest," concluded the speaker, "by starting right with good seed treated against disease."

MRS. JOHN BARTHOLOMEW, OF MONTREAL, FORMERLY OF FRAMPTON

Frampton, April 3.—Although in frail health for some time, friends and relatives were saddened by the passing of Mrs. Margaret Bartholomew, at Montreal, on February 27, following a stroke from which she never rallied.

Funeral services were held on February 28, at 8 p.m., from Collins' Funeral Home, with Canon Naylor officiating. Interment was made at Frampton on March 1, in Frampton Episcopal Church Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Ottiwell, of Quebec, conducted the services, which were attended by a large number of friends of the deceased. The choir sang "Rock of Ages," and "Abide With Me," favorite hymns of the deceased. The flowers were many and beautiful, silent tokens of esteem for one whose friendly nature and kindly disposition endeared her to everyone.

The bearers were Messrs. Leonard McLaughlin, Herbert McLaughlin, Edward Hurley, Martin Miller, Albert Bradley and George Kinsley.

Deceased was born on August 14, 1867, at Frampton, a daughter of the late Mary and George Pickford, and was married to John Bartholomew on November 10, 1891, who predeceased her on February 24, 1924.

Three children were born to them, Mrs. L. Brown, of Montreal; Mrs. C. Wilde, of Barre, Vt.; and Ernest, of Montreal; who survive to mourn the loss of a loving and kind mother.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. H. Morrow, of Bury; and Mrs. J. Watson, of Rock Island; besides five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

MR. ALLEN N. LAWRENCE, OF WATERLOO

Waterloo, April 3.—The death occurred on March 6, at Waterloo, of Mr. Allen N. Lawrence, youngest son of the late Wilder and Wealthy Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence was born on July 4, 1870, at Dalling, on the old homestead, formerly owned by his late brother, Mr. Ladd Lawrence, who predeceased him on February 17.

In 1896 Mr. Lawrence went to Wilder, Vt., where he was employed by a large lumber company. In 1898 he was married to Lydia M. McElroy, of West Bolton. They moved to Palmer, Mass., and there he was employed on the Electric Railroad for several years. Later they moved back to Canada and purchased the farm across the road from his father's, where he lived until 1942, when owing to ill health he sold his farm and moved to Waterloo.

Although in failing health for a long time, Mr. Lawrence was confined to his bed for only two weeks. His friendly nature for which he was well known made for him many friends who mourn his passing.

Funeral services were held on March 9th, at St. Paul's United Church, in Waterloo, conducted by the minister, Rev. E. D. Mitchell, pastor of the church. The hymns sung were "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," "Beneath the Cross of Jesus," "Peace, Perfect Peace."

Burial took place in Melbourne Ridge Cemetery beside his brother. The bearers were Messrs. Jay and Douglas Irwin, Thomas, Sydney, Gardner and Earl McElroy, all nephews of the deceased.

Those left to mourn his death are his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Francis A. Campbell, of Waterloo; a son-in-law, Francis Campbell; two grandchildren, Miss Isabelle and Master Lawrence Campbell; three sisters-in-law, Mrs. B. W. Brock, of Sweetsburg; Mrs. Addie Lawrence, of Fitchburg, Mass.; and Mrs. John McElroy, of New Richmond, Wis.; two brothers-in-law, Dr. B. W. Brock, and Mr. John McElroy, of New Richmond, Wis., and a wide circle of nephews, nieces, cousins and friends.

Those who attended the funeral from a distance included Mrs. B. W. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney McElroy, Miss Irene McElroy, Mrs. Sam Marshall, Messrs. Earl and Lawrence McElroy, of South Stukely; Mr. Gardner McElroy, of West Bolton; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McElroy, and Mr. Chester McElroy, of Stanbridge Station; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Campbell, and Mr. Bernard Campoell, of Warden; Mr. Gerald Campbell, of Montreal; Miss Beatrice Long, of Valcourt; Mr. Henry Fowler, of Melbourne Ridge; besides a large number of friends and neighbors.

On arrival at the cemetery several of his old friends were there to meet the cortege, including Mr. Warren Morrissey and Mr. Edsyl Long, of Valcourt; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carlin and Mr. and Mrs. Denn' Murphy, of St. Mary's Elie, as well as several friends from Melbourne Ridge.

The beautiful flowers testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

President Comte Voices Complaint To Quebec Amateur Hockey Group

Montreal, April 3.—(CP)—Ernestе Comte, president of the Quebec Senior Provincial Hockey League, said today he had approached President Norman Dawe, of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, requesting that he insist upon the executive of the Quebec Senior Hockey League making their league final playoff a best-of-five games series.

Montreal Royals and Ottawa Senators are playing in the Q.S.H.L. final, a best-of-seven series, with Royals leading two games to one. Another game was tied.

"Unless the final series of the Q.S.H.L. is speeded up, the Sherbrooke St. Francis team (P.H.L. champions) will be under the obligation of carrying their club for a longer period this season and thus entail unnecessary expenses," Comte said. "Furthermore, such a layoff at this stage of the season is not good for a club, particularly a team that has played so many games in such a limited time period."

Comte protested too that the Q.S.H.L. is not playing its games to a finish, declaring "no one can tell how many games will be necessary to decide a winner between the two teams." He added that he felt the Q.S.H.L. teams "are taking advantage of the fans by acting in this manner."

Defenceman Bill Quackenbush To Be Missing When Wings Meet Leafs

Detroit, April 3.—(CP)——Indefinite loss of defenceman Bill Quackenbush with a wrenched knee heightened the gloom in the Detroit Red Wings camp today as they prepared for a last ditch fight to avert elimination by Toronto Maple Leafs from the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Down two games to one in their best-of-seven set with Toronto, the Red Wings went into tonight's fourth game needing to take three out of their four remaining games with Leafs to reach the Stanley Cup finals.

Loss of Quackenbush, hurt in a collision with Toronto's Gus Mortson during the Leafs' 4-1 victory here Tuesday, forced Manager Jack Adams to juggle still more a Detroit line-up that already has rookie Ralph Almas filling in for the injured Harry Lumley in goal and Jimmy McFadden, hastily purchased from Buffalo, in place of Jerry Couture on the forward line.

Adams' choice is between Hugh Millar and Al Dewsbury as a replacement for Quackenbush on the defence but the Red Wing pilot said he would not decide until later today which would dress for the game.

Toronto's Howie Meeker, fast little right winger who also came out of Tuesday's rough game with a twisted knee, was expected to be ready for tonight's scrap.

The Maple Leafs, second in N.H.L. standings for the regular season, haven't lost in seven games on Detroit ice this year. If the string holds up tonight Toronto will be a shoo-in to close out the Red Wings Saturday at Maple Leaf Gardens and qualify for the cup finals.

Probable starting lineup:

Thomson	defence	McCaig
Mortson	defence	J. Stewart

Watson	wing	Lindsay

Commissioner Bell To Hand Down Sentences In Football Scandal

Philadelphia, April 3—(AP)—Bert Bell will rule today on the disposition of Frank Filchock and Merle Hapes, two New York Giants football players involved in the biggest sports scandal since the 1919 baseball world series.

The National Football League Commissioner's pronouncement of the fate of the two giant backfield aces follows by one day the sentence of three men for their part in the attempt to fix the league's championship game last December.

Bell has maintained a staunch silence on what the league will do about Filchock and Hapes but he has stated that in the future any player must report any bribe offer or even insinuation of such an offer or face suspension or expulsion from the league.

Sentenced to prison terms by Judge Saul S. Streit in New York were David Krakauer, Harvey Stemmer and Jerome Zarowitz. They had been convicted on testimony of Alvin J. Paris of scheming with Paris to offer bribes to Filchock and Hapes.

Streit sentenced Krakauer and Stemmer to terms of five to 10 years and gave Zarowitz an indeterminate sentence with a three-year maximum. Paris, who also has been convicted, will be sentenced Monday.

Tesimony at the trial disclosed that Filchock and Hapes were offered bribes of $2,500 each and $1,000 bets in their names as well as lucrative off-season jobs if they would "lay down" in the Giants' championship game with Chicago Bears.

Both Filchock and Hapes testified they refused the offers. Filchock was permitted to play in the Giants-Bears game but Hapes was ordered suspended. Since that time Bell has placed both men on the suspended list.

The scandal surrounding the bribe attempts has given birth to an intensive drive for passage of legislation in the United States which would make the offer of bribes to athletes a crime punishable by imprisonment.

S.H.S. DOWNED BY REGIMENT IN BADMINTON

Playing on their own floor, the Sherbrooke Regiment downed the Sherbrooke High School Badminton Club 4-1 last night in a regular league game of the St. Francis and District League.

Nancy Nicol was forced to play three sets before downing Mrs. Betty Beattie, S.H.S., 4-11, 11-4, 11-1.

Mrs. H. Evans and Miss E. Vonberg of the Regiment aggregation defeated Mrs. O. McClintock and Mrs. B. Beattie 17-15, 15-9.

Miss Kay Thompson and Archie Mitchell took two straight sets from Mrs. O. McClintock and Ross Beattie to the tune of 15-2, 15-1.

Harry Blue and Lorne Campbell upset Gerry Rockwell and George McClintock 15-10, 15-12 in a hard fought contest for the Regiments fourth straight victory.

Gordor Harmer saved S.H.S. from a whitewash by defeating Mike Armstrong 15-9, 15-7, in the men's singles. Following the tilts luncheon was served by the members of the Regiment squad.

TIGERS GOING TO TOWN IN MIXED LOOP

Tigers, of the Sherbrooke Mixed League, are setting a whirlwind pace for the other teams in the league. For some weeks now they have been winning strings by the triple. At the latest league meet at New Bowling alleys they shut out Wolves three strings to none. The result leaves them with five times as many victories as defeats. They are in first place in the league standing.

Two other quintets finished up with three string games. One was the Newsmen, who blanked the last-place Cards. The newspapermen have risen from seventh to fifth place in the league standing, and at the moment are only two strings behind the fourth-place Red Sox. The latter are the other big winners. Beavers forfeited a scheduled match to them.

In the other clash, the third-place Sherbrooke Machineries topped the second-place Bruins two strings to one.

Two players deserve special mention. W. Gorham, of Sherbrooke Machineries, took high string of 298 and high three of 743 as the Machineries crew beat the Bruins. A. Fyfe, of Red Sox, was top man in the Red Sox-Beaver tilt with pinfall of 270 in one string and 688 in all three.

Hollinger Greenshirts Edge Out Hamilton Tigers 4-3 In Overtime

Hamilton, April 3.— (CP) —The Hollinger Greenshirts outplayed the old Hamilton Tigers all the way last night to win by 4-3 in overtime and with the next two games scheduled at Schumacher it looked as though the Tigers had better pull up their socks if they wished to continue on the Allan Cup trail.

Tigers, eastern senior champions of last year, blanked Hollinger 3-0 in the first game. They were always behind in the second. It's a best-of-five series, and the third game is at Schumacher Friday and the fourth also at Schumacher Saturday. The fifth has been scheduled for Hamilton next Monday.

The Greenshirts, champions of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, got the jump on the Ontario Hockey Association senior titlists at the start of last night's battle, and they stayed ahead. Three times Tigers fought back to even the count, but they couldn't come back after Tony Talentino fired the game-winning goal after two and a half minutes of the overtime period.

That was Talentino's second goal of the night. The other Hollinger goals were scored by Cecchini and Theriault.

Tigers' goal-getters were Runions, Miocinovich and Shillington.

The game was about as rough as the first meeting of the two senior teams but only 11 penalties were handed out and all were minors.

DEAN OF CANADIAN SPORTS WRITERS DIES

Toronto, April 3.—(C.P.)—James P. Fitzgerald, 72, for the past 47 years on the staff of the Toronto Telegram and dean of Canadian sport writers, died suddenly last night at his home in nearby Oakville. His death came as a shock to his colleagues on the sports staff of the Telegram as he had been on duty as usual yesterday.

DR. N. F. DINNING NEW BADMINTON CLUB LEADER

Dr. Neil F. Dinning was elected president for 1947-48 and Col. George Logie vice-president at a general meeting of the Sherbrooke Regiment Badminton Club at the William Street Armory. The newly elected executive will take office in October.

Following the election, the Club discussed plans for a closing dance to be held Friday, April 11th and to coincide with the last tea and match on Saturday, April 12th.

The session dealt with tentative plans for inaugurating a junior membership but left the matter in abeyance until the annual meeting in October. The Club's 1946-47 membership comprised 92 members, 56 of them playing and 36 tea members. The members met throughout the season on Wednesday evenings and Saturday afternoons at the Armory, and used the Armory's five courts enthusiastically at every meet. A club tournament is still in progress, and winners to date are Maj. Fred Baldwin, men's singles; Maj. Fred Baldwin and Capt. M. Soles, men's doubles, and Miss N. Nicol and Mrs. H. Evans, ladies' doubles. Mixed doubles and ladies' singles sets have yet to be played.

The Regiment squad has competed with several outside teams and the local players looked very promising. The area league has not completed playoffs and owing to the fact that most of the clubs are just resuming activities after a wartime layoff, definite teams could not be chosen nor handicaps allotted. Considering how they have been doing this season the local players should be holding their own amongst the best by next fall.

Tigers won three strings.

STAR FIELDER IS LEFT BEHIND AS YANKS MOVE

St. Petersburg, April 3.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, slugging New York Yankee centre fielder, will remain here when the New York club moves North tomorrow in order to give his ailing foot more time to heal.

DiMaggio, who reported for spring training less than a week ago after an operation on his heel, and since then has been unable to engage in active training, will remain at least until April 8, manager Bucky Harris said.

Boston Bruins Make Last-Ditch Stand Against Canucks Tonight

Montreal, April 3. — (CP) — Dick Irvin's injury riddled Montreal Canadiens seeking their second straight Stanley Cup title, have high hopes of winding up their best of seven series with Boston Bruins tonight in the fifth game of the Stanley Cup semi-final.

With a 3-1 lead comfortably tucked away, the Habs are favored to end the series here. But Canucks, with two crippled players—one out for the balance of the season and the other unlikely to play again in this series—will have a re-organized club for the game. Kenny Mosdell with a broken arm, suffered Tuesday at Boston, and Kenny Reardon with a cut tendon in his big toe, will be definitely sidelined.

The Bruins also are feeling the effects of the rugged going. It was reported from Boston yesterday that three of the Bruins would be unable to take the ice tonight. They are Johnny Crawford, Don Gallinger and Murray Henderson. Crawford and Henderson are regular defencemen while Gallinger has a permanent post on the forward line.

Manager Art Ross of the Bruins has called up Pnetti Lund, a forward from the Boston Olympics of the Eastern United States Hockey League. Lund will likely replace Gallinger.

Canadiens will dress five rearguards, Frankie Eddolls, Glen Harmon, Buech Bouchard, Leo Lamoureux and Roger Leger. Murdo McKay, who played a strong game Tuesday will likely be used in place of Leo (Gazelle) Gravelle. Dick Irvin declined to release his lineup yesterday, saying:

"I won't be sure who's playing until game time."

As a result of Tuesday's game at Boston which Canadiens won 5-1, Roger Leger has a sore hand and Billy Reay and Murph Chamberlain have colds. However, the trio will be on hand tonight.

Ross has not said whether he plans to use Milt Schmidt on the Boston defence again. In the third game at Boston Saturday when Schmidt was moved back he surprised Canucks by sparking Boston's only victory of the series by sniping two goals.

Here's the probable starting lineup for tonight:

Boston		Montreal
Brimsek	goal	Durnan
Flamon	defence	Harmon
Egan	defence	Leger
Cowley	centre	O'Connor
Dumart	wing	Blake
Richard	wing	Bauer

TO FILM LIFE OF HOME RUN KING BABE RUTH

Hollywood, April 3—(AP)—A spokesman for President Herbert J. Yates of Republic Pictures said yesterday that an agreement had been reached with Babe Ruth to film the life story of baseball's home run king.

Counsel for the studio and the Bambino were said to be drawing up formal documents on the agreement, presumably in New York.

It was not known here whether Ruth himself would appear in the proposed film.

In New York, Mrs. Ruth said her husband and representatives of Republic conferred "at great length" yesterday at the New York Athletic Club concerning the film.

Mrs. Ruth said she doubted that the Babe would portray himself in the film but said he might appear in an epilogue. He is currently convalescing from a neck operation.

ED CHANDLER IS BOUGHT BY BROOKLYN CLUB

Havana, April 3—(AP)—Branch Rickey, president of Brooklyn Dodgers, last night announced the purchase of Ed Chandler, 25-year-old righthander, from the Fort Worth Farm club.

Chandler, who won 20 and lost six in the Texas League last season, had been on trial with the Dodgers this spring.

Rickey also announced Bob Ramazotti, reserve infielder, had been optioned to St. Paul of the American Association and that Lou Welaj was assigned to Montreal of the International League. Both are Brooklyn farm teams.

The Brooklyn boss said he had instructed Clay Hopper, Montreal Manager, to return Jackie Robinson to first base for last night's exhibition with the Dodgers.
