GERMAN ARMAMENT BACKED BY LABOR

Narrow Decision Represents Setback For Attlee Forces In Party However.

London — (Reuters) — The parliamentary labor party Tuesday night grudgingly decided to back German rearmament in a Western defence system.

Thus it acknowledged the failure of Russia and the Western powers to come to terms over Germany's future at the Berlin conference.

But the majority for the official resolution supporting the plan was so narrow — 113 votes to 104 — that it amounted to defeat rather than victory for the party leadership under Clement Attlee.

Earlier an amendment put forward by Aneurin Bevan's left-wingers urging postponement of German rearmament pending further East - West efforts to achieve agreement on Germany was defeated in an even closer vote — 111 to 109.

The Labor party crisis arose because of the need to crystallize its policy on Germany before the House of Commons opens today a two-day debate on the Berlin conference.

The Churchill government is committed to the European defence community treaty, under which a German force would be included in a six-country European army.

Paris — (AP) — France's wartime premier Edouard Deladier and eight other members of the French Parliament who are opposed to the European army plan called Tuesday night for a general European anti-EDC conference in Paris March 20.

They invited representatives from Britain and six continental countries which have already signed the European defence community treaty to attend. The meeting apparently would be unofficial, without the backing of any of the governments.

The French foreign ministry denied reports circulating in Paris earlier Tuesday that the French cabinet had decided to withhold discussion of the EDC treaty from the Assembly until after the Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China opening April 26.

Some opponents of EDC insist France will have no chance of getting Russia and Communist China to call off the Indo-China war if the EDC is ratified.

Stab Wounds Described At Hearing

Cornwall, Ont. — (CP) — Seven stab wounds from a thin double-edged knife in the nude body of an attractive dark-haired girl were described Tuesday by a pathologist at the murder trial of Second Lieutenant Peter Ernest Balcombe.

Dr. William D. Hay of Kingston, Ont., gave autopsy findings in the slaying of Marie Anne Carrier, 20-year-old CWAC reserve army sergeant from Bienville, Que., whose body was found in a grassy ditch 35 miles west of here Oct. 15.

Other witnesses during the second day of the trial of the army officer testified that Balcombe owned a stiletto and that he had been advised to stop seeing the girl because he was married.

In the crowded, hushed courtroom, Dr. Hay listed the wounds in the order he believes they were inflicted.

First were two minor cuts across the trunk below the breast. Next was a deep stomach wound which Dr. Hay, provincial regional pathologist and associate professor of pathology at Queen's University, thought was suffered at least half an hour before the girl died.

Then came two chest wounds aimed at the heart. One appeared to have been made with a sawing motion.

A sixth thrust pierced the left eyeball and penetrated into the base of the skull. The seventh was a 20-inch cut from the lowest part of the trunk up the centre of the body to the chest, following a line generally used by medical men starting an autopsy.

On the girl's throat were two bruises. Dr. Hay said they were caused by force sufficient to keep the girl from crying out but not strong enough to make her unconscious or kill her.

The girl's eyes were dilated more widely than the veteran pathologist had ever before seen in anyone living or dead.

Dr. Hay said that in his opinion the dilation was caused by a combination of darkness, strangulation, struggling and fear.

"Profound fear, especially," he added.

The doctor said the girl appeared not to have been molested sexually. He said she appeared to be a virgin.

Lt.-Col. Val Leduc, commanding officer of the 4th Canadian Guards to which Balcombe was attached, said he asked Balcombe last March 7 to stop seeing Miss Carrier. He said he told Balcombe that, as a married man, he should not go out with the young woman who had been described to him as a good girl from a good family.

Capt. C. V. Carlson, commander of Balcombe's company, said that during army training exercises at Wainwright camp in Alberta last June he saw Balcombe carrying two knives, one a hunting knife and the other a double-edged stiletto. He said both knives were missing from Balcombe's kit when his belongings were gathered and

Legislature Pausing To Fete Premier

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Quebec. — (CP) — Legislative Assembly business will pause briefly today for the celebration of Premier Duplessis' 64th birthday.

Mr. Duplessis will not be 64 until April 20 but, following custom, Union Nationale party supporters have prepared an elaborate birthday supper coinciding with the clean-up stage of the annual session.

The pause in the Legislative Assembly will come when an armful of roses is placed on the Government leader's desk and, with gallic courtesy, the Liberal opposition leader extends his best wishes.

The "souper de fete"—birthday supper— means a free evening for Liberal members of the Legislature and hours of speeches and music for Union Nationale partisans who gather around flower-decked tables in the Legislature restaurant for the annual event.

Now half-way through his fourth term as Premier of Quebec, Mr. Duplessis is the Legislative Assembly's most frequent speaker, which prompts liberals to refer to the other Union Nationale Legislature members as "silent."

Mr. Duplessis' work usually extends far into evening and, occasionally, morning hours—a fact he likes to point out to labor delegations who visit him every year.

Impeccably dressed in well-pressed suits, hard-collar shirts and carefully chosen ties he handles the bulk of the four-month session's work day after day and can explain small or large expenditures of all the departments in his $300,000,000 administration.

His manner in the 92-seat Assembly is seldom any different than it is in his own private office.

He sips at a tall glass of orange juice, signals to secretaries at the rear of the Assembly, reads and signs documents, keeps the House debate rolling and finds time to exchange quips with Cabinet Ministers around his front row desk.

His apparent ease in the Assembly is understandable since he has been a Conservative member, Opposition leader, and Premier during the 27 consecutive years he has represented his home town of Trois-Rivieres.

Son of the late Mr. Justice N. L. Duplessis, Mr. Duplessis was brought up in an atmosphere of lively political activity. As a young lawyer he soon passed from the municipal to provincial field where he met failure for the first time in 1923.

He was elected to the Legislature in 1927 on the Conservative Party ticket at a time when Quebec was as Liberal in the provincial field as it now is in the federal field.

In 1933 he became leader of the Quebec Province Conservative party.

He then attacked the entrenched Liberal administration of the late L. A. Taschereau and rallied young Liberals in open rebellion against their party.

He consolidated his political partisans into the Union Nationale party in 1936 when his new party was swept into power.

The Liberals won back the Province in 1939 on the eve of the Second World War which was to bring about Quebec's signing of wartime taxation agreements with the federal government.

In 1944, on a provincial rights platform, the Union Nationale squeezed back into power and refused to go along with other provinces on new taxation agreements with Ottawa. Public works programs were started as postwar prosperity sent provincial budgets soaring to new peaks every year.

Sticking to the provincial rights platform, Union Nationale forces were re-elected in 1948 in a victory that left the Liberal party leaderless and broken with only eight elected members.

Circulation Of Dailies Set Record

Philadelphia — (AP) — Daily newspaper circulation in the U.S. set an all-time record in 1953, an authoritative periodical said Tuesday.

The 86th annual edition of N. W. Ayer and Son's directory of newspapers and periodicals said combined circulation of English-language dailies by the end of 1953 was 54,048,953, marking the first time that circulation has topped 54,000,000.

"The increase proves the continuing healthy growth of newspapers in spite of greater competition from other news media, including television," the directory said. It added:

"The nation's evening newspapers had a daily circulation of 32,402,000. This was down a few thousand from the preceding year . . ."

"Morning newspapers had the largest increase in several years, jumping to 20,662,000 circulation

WHERE SHOOTING OCCURRED — The second house from the right in the above row of houses on Bullard Street in Magog was the scene of the shooting yesterday morning when Jeff Lowther received six shots in the leg and one in the wrist. Gilles Murray, of Magog, is being held by the police for questioning. (Record Photo by Gerry Lemay).

Jealousy Reason In Wounding

By WARREN SPAFFORD

Magog, Feb. 24. — Provincial Police are holding 27-year-old Gilles Murray of Magog for questioning following the bedroom shooting of Jeff Lowther yesterday morning at 11 a.m. in Magog, because of advances allegedly made by the victim on Murray's wife.

The incident is said to have started Sunday night at a ski banquet at the Lantern Inn in Magog. Lowther, a 27-year-old unmarried textile worker, together with Murray and his wife spent most of the night at the Inn but when the party was ready to leave Lowther apparently made an advance at Murray's wife and nothing was said that night. The following morning Murray and Lowther met on the street in Magog where the victim asked Murray up to his house. They went and had a few drinks which was followed by a bitter argument and ended in a fight.

On Tuesday morning Murray went over to Lowther's house at 10.30 and asked the victim's mother, Mrs. Edward Lowther, if he could speak to him. She told him he had just gone to bed after working the midnight shift at the Textile plant. Murray said he would not be long and she gave him permission to have a few words with her son. The next thing she heard was seven shots and when she came into the front hall she saw Murray run down the stairs and go out the door.

At the time of the shooting Lowther was sleeping and Murray entered the bedroom and shot 6 bullets into his legs and one in his wrist. The weapon used was a .22 colt automatic.

After the shooting Murray went straight to the police station in Lowther's car and surrendered himself to Police Chief Telesphore Lavoie. He told him that he had just shot a man on Bullard Street. Chief Lavoie immediately went to Lowther's home and found the victim in his bedroom. The Chief was the first there. He called an ambulance and Dr. A. J. Brown, and they removed the victim to La Providence Hospital in Magog.

The case was then handed over to Det. Arthur Normandeau of the Provincial Police who arrived in Magog early yesterday afternoon to conduct an inquiry.

Chief Lavoie said, "Murray claims he purposely shot the man in the lower part of the body, from the ankle to the legs because he did not want to kill him, but only wanted to teach him a lesson."

Authorities at La Providence Hospital could add no details this morning to Lowther's condition but it is believed that he is out of danger after undergoing an opera

Liberal Majority Swamps Opposition No-Confidence Vote On Unemployment

Ottawa — (CP) — The Commons has defeated a CCF demand for immediate government steps to meet unemployment problems. The vote was 129 to 68.

The CCF motion, technically want of confidence in the government, called for action to "prevent further economic distress." It drew support from all opposition parties and three independent members in the vote Tuesday closing the fifth day of Commons debate on unemployment.

Debate will be resumed later, possibly next Monday.

Acting Prime Minister Howe, speaking earlier in the debate, said the situation is caused by a temporary slowdown in business which coincided with the winter slack period. He said seasonal unemployment will end by spring and that 1954 will be as prosperous as last year.

Opposition speakers Tuesday said the situation is serious and suggested various measures, including increased unemployment insurance, an expanded public works program and extension of defence contracts to depressed areas.

Unemployment figures issued last week by the national employment service showed 524,000 persons looking for work at Jan. 21, a post-war high and 186,000 more than at Dec. 10.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) said payments from the $900,000,000 unemployment insurance fund should be boosted and the period in which benefits are paid lengthened.

A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal) asked for a decentralization of defence construction work, with more contracts given the Maritimes where recessionh always hit first. Closed-down textile mills should be taken over for defence work.

Owen L. Jones (CCF-Okanagan Boundary) said projects such as conservation and irrigation works, the trans-Canada highway and construction be used to provide work. The cost would be little more than paying unemployment insurance to the jobless.

Tall Tales Repeated In Mining Camp

Geraldton, Ont. — (CP) — Fred Bergquist says he thinks he missed a fortune by neglecting to record 15 claims he staked last spring in the heart of the Manitouwadge copper discovery.

But the raw-boned, 200-pound Swede, reputed to be one of the strongest men in the North, grinned about it this week as he yarned in a Geraldton ohtel.

Roy Barker, William Dawidowish, Roy Barker and John Forster of Geraldton flew into the Manitouwadge area last May and collected samples which assayed highly for copper. But they did not stake any claims.

When the three men flew back again, they found that Bergquist and his partner, "Windy" Sam Pretulac, whose homes are in Fort William, Ont., had staked it solidly without knowing the Geraldton men had been there first.

"Me and Windy Sam were looking for nickel," Bergquist related. "We looked at the basic rocks. We didn't pay any attention to the acidic rocks that had the copper. That was our mistake. That was our bad luck."

The Geraldton men waited to see whether Bergquist and Pretulac would record the claims within the 30-day limit.

"I intended to record," Bergquist said. "I made out the papers and I kept them with me a long time. But there were $75 recording fees to pay. Finally I threw the papers in the stove."

As soon as the 30 days were up, Barker, Dawidowick and Forster moved in and restaked the ground. Today they hold 100,000 shares a piece in Geco, valued at about $12 a share, plus production royalties amounting to 15 cents a ton.

"But Windy Sam and me did all right," said Bergquist. "We came back in September and got Lunecho."

From that discovery in the same general area, both partners are reported to have done well in cash and stock.

Windy Sam, an ex-bushman, is on his way to Florida for a holiday.

Pope Passes Fair Night, Vatican Says

Vatican City — (AP) — Pope Pius spent "a fairly restful night," Vatican sources said today.

The 77-year-old spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic Church has been confined to his Vatican apartment since Jan. 25, when he was stricken by severe gastritis that steadily weakened him. A round-the-clock watch established when he fell ill has never been lifted

The Vatican newspaper l'Observatore Romano printed a communique Tuesday cautioning against too optimistic reports on the Pope's convalescence. It said a rapid recovery would be impossible because of "the nature of the illness and the general conditions of the august pontiff."

Asked today about the nature of the illness to which the newspaper referred, authoritative Vatican sources said this was "presumed to be gastritis pending x-rays to be made of the pontiff's stomach wall and adjoining organs." He has been unable to keep down the barium solution necessary for such tests.

Vatican sources said that Pope Pius himself has vetoed a suggestion that he submit to a full-scale consultation of medical experts on his condition.

His private physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, a Rome oculist, has been in almost constant attendance upon him since he became ill.

Dr. Paul Niehans, Swiss specialist on endocrine glands, also has attended the Pope.

Some Vatican authorities, it was said, favor a consultation of several more medical experts.

Prime Minister Sees Early Benefits Of Indian Scheme

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New Delhi — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent drove today to the rural outskirts of this capital to see what is happening under India's five-year plan to modernize the lives of 300,000,000 people who live in primitive conditions in villages throughout the country.

The Canadian leader was taken through the village of Zindipur, whose 200 people live in mud huts, sleep on mud floors and walk muddy streets. They cook in open mud ovens using as fuel the dung of cattle kept just outside their doors.

From Zinipur the prime minister went half a mile to the improved larger village of Mukhmelpur, where the streets have been paved with bricks and mud walls of homes are painted with white or colored wash. The dung cakes have been moved to pits at the edge of a new outer village road for use on the flat fields as fertilizer.

College students have come from the city to teach the children of illiterate parents. Public latrines have been built. A community reading room and library has been set up and steel points have been added to the wooden plows.

The prime minister, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell of Quebec, rode out to the village sites at the head of a motorcade of 14 automobiles. When he arrived, the villagers were digging holes for tree planting, eventually to produce wood for fuel.

The villagers heaped flower wreaths around the Canadian prime minister's neck and crowded around him when he took a hoe and worked a hole for a while.

Later the villagers squatted in a sunny square to hear his brief talk about the goodwill purpose of his half-completed six-week world tour.

His words, in English, were translated into Hindi a sentence at a time by Chief Minister Shri Brahm Perkash of New Delhi State, in which 105 villages with a population of more than 100,000 persons are being improved under the five-year plan.

Village development all through India's million-odd square miles of territory was started in October, 1952, and now is in progress in 23,000 villages with 21,000,000 people.

A preliminary stage of improvement, which does not involve works, is going ahead in another 23,000 villages with a further population of 15,000,000.

The five-year program will apply to 120,000 villages with 84,000,000 people. The government has estimated the five-year cost at $250,000,000, roughly the figure of its present annual budget.

Tuesday night the prime minister spent an hour visiting historic spots about this city, the eighth Indian capital to bear the name Delhi.

He saw the towering Qutab Minareo, built 800 years ago, the nearby Myboerious iron pillar which has defied rust for centuries, and the brown granite forts of the Tughlags and Tughlakabad, associated with earlier Delhis.

He visited Humayin tomb, an early model of the Tah Mahal at Agra, and the immense and incredible "red fort" with moats outside 40-foot red stone walls and within, gardens, ornate courts and buildings.

Stevens' Stand Causes Big Boost In U.S. Army Morale

By BEM PRICE

Washington — (AP) — Robert Ten Broeck Stevens, whom Senator Joseph McCarthy has called "the finest dupe I've ever met," is pretty much of a hero around the Pentagon, United States defence headquarters, these days.

Stevens, secretary of the army, stepped between McCarthy and a pair of generals in the row over the senator's investigation of what he terms a pattern of "coddling Communists" by the army.

Stevens, whose service to his country dates back to the First World War, got his back. Accusing the Wisconsin Republican of unfair tactics and abusing uniformed officers, he ordered his two generals to ignore any further summons from the senator, and said if McCarthy wanted any questions answered he would appear himself.

Their meeting, with network television cameras covering the proceedings, is scheduled for Thursday.

A colonel, long concerned with the whole morale problem inside the armed forces, said that when Stevens' stand became known, morale didn't just climb, "it zoomed."

The squabble between McCarthy and Stevens began over the senator's investigation of the promotion and honorable discharge of a New York dentist and reserve major, Irving Peress. Peress disputes as "sheer nonsense" McCarthy's contention that he is a Communist.

McCarthy has said Peress was known by the army to be a Communist and that Peress in a closed session of the senator's investigations sub-committee refused to answer questions on Communist affiliations, citing the guarantee against possible self-incrimination.

The senators has demanded that the army provide him with the names of all those responsible for granting an honorable discharge to Peress, and the names of those responsible for his promotion.

He told Brig.-Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commandant at Camp Kilmer, N.J., where Peress was released to inactive duty: "You are not fit to wear that uniform."

Zwicker is a decorated veteran of Normandy.

After that Stevens ordered Zwicker and Maj.-Gen. William Bergin, the army's adjutant-general, not to appear as scheduled.

Tokyo — (AP) — Marilyn Monroe left Japan for home today with a silver medal for her tumultuous four-day tour of Korea that also won her the cheers of American soldiers and a runny nose. A Pan American spokesman said her plane winged across the Pacific with Marilyn bedded snugly down in a berth where she can rest from the exertions of her Korea tour.

Reds Stress Benefits Of Pioneer Life

London — Reuters — Russia has sent a wave of pioneers marching toward the Soviet Union's eastern prairies with the ringing words—in effect—"Go east, young man."

The great hall of the Kremlin resounded recently with praise of frontier life as Premier Georgi Malenkov and other high Russian officials said goodbye to the first contingent of new settlers, and exhorted other youths to follow them.

The mass rally, also attended by Foreign Minister Molotov, was called as a send-off for a group of factory workers and technical students who left for remote Kazakhstan on the Chinese border.

Borrowing phrases that inspired the covered-wagon trains of American pioneers, Communist youth leaders urged other city dwellers to follow the departing team.

"Campfires under an open sky," and the "timeless lure of new lands" were thrown into a vision of frontier days by young speakers in the Kremlin's ornate hall, Moscow radio reported.

"It is not around the first pitched tent that towns spring up in deserts?" one speaker demanded, "not around a fire, under the open sky, that the first builders of Komsomolsk-on-Amur, Magnitogorsk and the hydro-electric power plants their first meetings?"

Other speakers claimed that 3,000 youths from Moscow Province and 8,000 from the vast Ukraine grain belt have volunteered to "go east." They will work on 125 new state grain farms to be set up within the next few years in the eastern prairies.

Kazakhstan, second largest of the Soviet Union's 16 republics, was the scene of a government shakeup two weeks ago.

More Devastating Weapons Ready For Canadian Forces

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa — (CP) — New weapons far more deadly than anything known during the Second World War are being delivered to Canada's armed forces.

New weapons now being delivered do not include atomic bombs or other nuclear weapons, which the Canadian services will get eventually.

In the cold war, there is no end to the problem of equipping the forces with the most modern destructive machines. Defence Minister Claxton said in a recent interview: "You reach one goal, but even before you get there, you know there'll be a new one beyond that and another beyond that again."

Here is a rundown of some of the new weapons being fed to the forces. Others are being considered, still others are secret.

Navy

Anti-submarine escorts — five launched, nine under construction.

Minesweepers — four completed last year, 10 expected to be ready by the end of this year.

Aircraft carrier — The angled-deck Bonaventure, now a building at Belfast, is expected to be launched in 1956.

Frigates — 21 are undergoing conversion.

Small craft, ranging from patrol vessels to floating derricks—43 completed or under construction.

Banshee all-weather jet fighters — About 40 are on order from the United States to replace Sea Fury fighters by 1956.

Grumman S2F anti-submarine aircraft—About 40 are on order to replace Avengers.

Sonobuoy—a new device for locating enemy submarines.

Squid—a new anti-submarine mortar with electronic fire control system, enabling detonation at predetermined depths.

Torpedo—new models for use in both ships and aircraft.

Armament—new three-inch electronic gun.

Army

Rifle—Belgian Fabrique Nationale automatic .30-calibre probably will replace the Lee Enfield .303.

Tanks—Conversion to British Centurions from U.S. Shermans is almost complete. The army is considering whether to purchase later model Centurions or monster British Caernarvons.

Anti-aircraft—Consideration is being given to purchase of the U.S. Nike, which fires guided missiles, or a similar weapon.

Vehicles — New road-building machines are being tested but are still secret.

Air Force

Aircraft — Home defence squadrons are being equipped with CF-100 all-weather jets, believed to be the most heavily armed fighters in the world.

The delta-winged CF-105 now is on the drawing boards.

So is the British Bristol Britannia, designed to replace the Lancaster bomber as an anti-submarine and patrol aircraft.

About 25 U.S. Neptune bombers are on order for maritime reconnaissance.

About 300 Mark V Sabres now are being delivered to the RCAF air division in Europe.

Engines—Canadian Orendas are replacing U.S. J-47s in the Sabre; the defence research board is conducting tests on increased-thrust jet engines.

Armament — Air-to-air guided missiles have been tested; a new rocket range on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border will be opened this spring.

Radar—McGill Fence now being installed as a backstop to the conventional radar gridwork.

Hollywood— (NEA) —Behind the Screens: Now it can be told that Peter Lorre turned down the remake of "M," the controversial flicker recently before the Supreme Court in the state censorship row. He starred in the original 1930 German version which played U.S. art theaters without censorship protest.

"There were no complaints then," he says, "because the film was sincere, dealing with a real problem. I turned down the remake because it was pulp magazine trash—the stupidest remake I'd ever heard of."

Playing light comedy now in films like "Beat the Devil," after a long career as a celluloid creep, he explains:

"The horror wasn't me. It was in the plots and the situations. There is no horrible man. Offstage I can make people laugh quicker than I can make them scream."

"More people saw me in that one picture than in any movie I ever made."

Sister Olivia de Havilland, by the way, has notified her Hollywood agent she's ready for the TV plunge, too. But Hal Roach, Sr., had to nix her for one of his dramatic telefilms because the confirmation came too late.

Betty Grable may not know it, but she's getting a hand-me-down from Marilyn Monroe in her new Columbia filmusical, "The Pleasure's All Mine." "Down Boy," a song written by Hoagy Carmichael for Marilyn to warble in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," was just purchased for Betty.

Shelley Is Bitter

Shelley Winters wept so many bitter tears and played Hysterical Hannah so often that portrait artist Novella Parigini had to call off the assignment to paint her likeness. Rev. W. A. White Inducted Into Coaticook Charge

Coaticook, Feb. 24 — The service inducting the Rev. William A. White, E.D., into the pastorate of the Coaticook, Barnston, Dixville and Moe's River Baptist Churches took place on Tuesday evening at the Coaticook church. In spite of the heavy snowstorm there was a large representative gathering.

A short song service was led by A. W. Frazer, of Verdun, who also read the Scripture and offered the opening prayer. Andrew Moffat, Moderator of the Association, was the chairman for the evening.

The Rev. Dr. Miles F. McCutcheon of Montreal introduced the pastor-elect and the Rev. Dixon A. Burns, of Toronto, preached the induction sermon.

The induction prayer was offered by the Rev. Francis C. Amery, of Sherbrooke, who also rendered very feelingly, the solo, "The Lord is My Shepherd."

At the close of the service a social hour was enjoyed.

SERIOUS ACCIDENTS CAUSED BY ROAD CONDITIONS

The recent heavy snow fall and cold wave made the streets and highways very dangerous for travel and was the direct cause of at least one death in the area and almost proved fatal for several other persons.

The fatal accident on the icy roads occured on the Compton road when an overturned truck took the life of Dominat Trudeau, age 69.

On the other side of Coaticook on the Dixville road, a car driven by Rene Menard, customs officer at Stanhope, with five other officers as passengers, got into trouble on the ice and all were shaken up and bruised, especially Ivor Whitehouse, who received a back injury. Paul Davignon, Ronnie Charland, Russell Sage and Ray Kelly were the other passengers.

In Coaticook itself a car driven by Dale Smith, got stuck in deep snow on Gendreau street and the exhaust pipe being plugged with snow allowed carbon monoxide gas to enter the car, causing the passengers to become unconscious.

Mr. Smith and his passenger, Miss Anne Cutler, of Dixville, were found unconscious in the stalled car by Constables L. Lemire and R. Mongeau on their regular patrol run, and medical aid summoned.

The use of the Town recussitator, purchased by the local Lions Club, was put into service to revive Miss Cutler and both she and Mr. Smith were allowed to return to their homes some time later.

Two men working to open the roads, J. A. Laliberte and Noel Fontaine suffered severe frost bite, requiring hospital treatment.

GENERAL NOTES

In spite of the inclement weather the recent barn dance sponsored by the Coaticook Lions Club was a marked success. Prize winners for the best costumes were Miss Huguette Drolet and Mr. Bob McAlpine, while the door prize was won by Miss Pierrette Larochelle. The proceeds of the evening will be used to carry out the welfare program of the club and a social evening, to be held in the Guild Hall on Thursday evening, also sponsored by the Lions, will still further contribut-Lions, will still further contribute to this fine work.

Congratulations to Miss Patricia Thompson for her fine showing in recent public speaking competitions. Miss Thompson came second in the final round among a large group of contestants.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Humphrey and family and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wood, of Rock Island, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gledhill.

Mr. Ken Potter was in Newport, Vt., on Saturday on business.

Don't forget the Canadian Legion Polio Drive and if missed by the canvasser please hand your donation to any Legion member.

Mr. Andrew Thompson was in Toronto on business, making the journey from Montreal to Toronto and return by T. C. Airlines.

Mr. Camille Laperle was in Montreal visiting his daughter at the Pasteur Institute. He found her much improved and steadily gaining strength through the exercises taught by the experienced polio-therapy nurses.

A successful social gathering took place at the Legion Home on Saturday evening when a showing of some very interesting films and a food sale, sponsored by the Auxiliary members, featured the event.

At the present time 625 persons are receiving assistance through the local Unemplopment Insurance office. Of these 325 can be classed as part time claims, the men having at least partial employment during the week and the other 300 are mainly regular employees who have been laid off for work shortage, a large percentage from the Penman plant where work has been slack for several weeks. The situation is serious but not alarming since it is expeteed conditions will improve somewhat with the coming of warmer weather and the beginning of outdoor work.

At a meeting of the Coaticook St. Jean Baptiste Society the newly installed president, Leger Cameror, presented his resignation before the group. Mr. Cameron is a member of the Town Council at present and this with other duties necessitated his withdrawal from the Society. Mr. E. H. Hamel was named as the new president and Mr. Jules Thibault named to replace Mr. Hamel as 1st. vice-president.

Talk On English Education System At North Hatley

North Hatley, Feb. 24 — The February meeting of the North Hatley Home and School Association, was held in the Community Hall. In the absence of Mr. R. N. LeBaron, the president, the meeting was conducted by Mr. Henry Blachford.

Plans were made for the March meeting, which will be a Parent and Child supper, in the Community Hall.

The program to be presented after the supper, will be a discussion, with the pupils of the North Hatley Consolidated School giving their opinions on a subject to be determined by the principal of the School, Mr. Fraser Robinson. After some deliberation, it was voted that the supper would be eligible to those persons, whose membership fees were paid to the treasurer, Mrs. Charles Hornett, by the time the notices for the meeting are sent out.

Mrs. Ashley Carroll and Mrs. Frank Woodward offered to be co-chairmen of a committee to make plans for the supper.

The unpleasant weather conditions overhead and underfoot, kept many members and friends at home, but those who were present, felt well rewarded for their effort to attend, by the splendid talk on "The English Educational System", given by Rev. E. W. Harrison, who within the past year has come from England, to be the minister of St. Barnabas Anglican Church, in North Hatley. At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Harrison showed films, dealing with the subject, and a lively question and answer session followed.

The hearty thanks of those present was expressed by Mr. Charles Hornett.

France Drained By Paying For Three Wars, D. N. S. Robertson Tells Rotary

The European Defence Community is almost a necessity and Germany's contribution of twelve divisions would not only save that much American manpower for other purposes but would provide a force with which to cope with German extremists, David N. S. Robertson, personnel assistant of the Canadian Pacific Railway and a former member of the Control Commission of Germany (British Element), told the members of the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke at their meeting in the New Sherbrooke Hotel last evening. Mr. Robertson, who was paying the Club a second visit as a speaker, dealt with "Post War Europe."

Mr. Robertson saw the formation of the German divisions as a force to control extremists who might like to take revenge on those who believed the best interests of their country lay in co-operation with the Western Allies.

In dealing with France the speaker asked: "Why has France lagged in her support of the E.D.C.?

France, he showed lucidly, is today paying for three wars: the Second World War; the Indo-Chinese War and for its defence preparations against "the Third World War." The financial and economic strain of the past, the present and the potential conflict involved a great burden on the country.

Mr. Robertson then gave a deft sketch of the split of French politics into six major divisions, each party representing almost equal numbers in the Chamber of Deputies. There were among them the anti-democratic De Gaullists, even though presently without their leader; the Radical Socialist party which had contributed such leaders as Herriot and Daladier and the M.R.P., a Catholic Socialist party with Bidault and Schumann at its head.

With 22 or 23 different cabinets in power since the World War, said Mr. Robertson, it is not hard to see why it is difficult to secure a "going government." Bidault, for instance, had been prime minister twice and foreign minister eight times.

France's position was weakend by the condition of the railways, for one thing. There were more people on railway pensions than the number of those in actual rail employment and half fares and special travelling privileges — (half fares were accorded to wounded veterans and to all those families with two or more children. — were cutting drastically into revenues.

The landlords of France had also been placed in fantastically unfavorable position. They were not allowed to increase rents no matter how many improvements were made; hence, the natural result was few improvements

Mr. Robertson went back to the latter part of the 18th century to show how French political history had gravitated between the imperial, monarchical and republican forms of government over the years.

Germany, he remarked, had never secured the position which her natural abilities warranted. Whenever she got near the top there was a false step.

The speaker pointed to the pick-up of the German steel industry — he had interviewed members of the Stinnes and the Thyssen steel groups when a member of the Allied Control Commission — and spoke of the growing export of German cars, the Volkswagon alone accounting for fifty-eight million dollars worth of business in one year.

Mr. Robertson warned especially against the Russian method of War by Treason. The Russians had encouraged disaffection in the ranks of workers and peasants in opposing nations and would probably attempt to do so again.

He gave a brief account of his study work at Sandhurst in 1944 when the hoped-for occupation of Germany was the main subject, told an amusing story about a much-decorated American flyer's comments on a train episode near Cambridge and spoke of being in Lille shortly after D Day.

He noted one thing in common about the three Conferences of Berlin. The great historical gathering of 1878, dominated by Bismarck and Disraeli, saw Germans there as observers only. This was true, too, of Potsdam in 1945 when Stalin, Churchill, Atlee and Truman were the main figures. Now, again, the Germans were not participants and their attitude inclined to be: "Well, we hope this can't be blamed on us."

Clarence Blake introduced Mr. Robertson. Mr. Blake spoke of the guest-speaker's wartime service in the R.C.A.F. in which he rose to the rank of squadron leader and was mentioned in despatches; of his lecturing experience in staff colleges and his broadcasting and writing.

On the Control Commission in Germany after the War, Mr. Robertson, said Mr. Blake, had made a reputation for fairness in the handling of difficult problems. He had been chairman of the board determining the locations of new airfields had taken a prominent part in the necessary revival of labor unions in Germany and had also to devise and follow up plans for the rebuilding of municipal services.

Gerald Pouliot thanked the speaker.

President L. W. Dixon was in the chair and announced the celebration of the 49th anniversary of Rotary International.

Phil. Rennert introduced two visiting Rotarians: Rev. E. Geoffrey Tenneson, Rock Island, and Hercule Vallee, Megantic, and three non-member guests: T. E. Lang, Toronto, Robert W. Howard, Vancouver, and Don. Steen, Sherbrooke.

It was announced that the annual curling bonspiel will be held this year on April 2 and 3 at the Brae Manor Curling Club, North Hatley. Fourteen rinks recruited from Thetford Mines Rotarians and Kiwanians will meet the same number from the Sherbrooke Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs.

Those seated at the head table were Austin Dineen, Ronald Mooney, Clarence Blake, David N. S. Robertson, the speaker; President L. W. Dixon, Gerald Pouliot, Harry Moffatt, Alphee Gauthier and Lennox Wilson.

Skunks Now Seek Safety Of S.P.C.A.

Skunks have been calling at the S.P.C.A.

The black spaniel owned by Sherrill, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Neilson, S.P.C.A. representatives, has been decorated. The Neilsons live at 545 Argyle avenue.

It has been known for some time that the little black and white animals have been abroad in the North Ward. They have been seen ambling along with all the assurance in the world and there is other unmistakable evidence. This is the first time, however, that they have left a calling card so near the S.P.C.A.

Tomato juice has come to the rescue of the Neilsons and their small black dog and a plentiful supply has been laid in.

Notice was given of the world Day of Prayer to be held in this church, on March 5th. Everyone was cordially invited to attend.

A report on the recently held Valentine party tea showed a financial success and the president thanked those who had helped to make it so, especially Mrs. E. A. Lane, Mrs. H. E. Webster, Mrs. A. Gilbey and Mrs. E. S. Seale, ladies of the congregation, who very kindly donated food.

Following the business meeting, Miss Oliver Harvey, speaker for the evening, entertained the members with a very interesting talk on Bermuda, which was illustrated with coloured slides. Bishop's University Group To Give Children's Matinee

ROBERT MIDGLEY, ROMEO

ARTHUR MOTYER, DIRECTOR

HELEN FAIRBAIRN, JULIET

The Bishop's University Dramatics Society has arranged a special matinee for schoolchildren of Romeo and Juliet on February 27 at 2:15 p.m. It is felt that, although Shakespeare's play is one of his most famous tragedies, it is one of the least performed, and for that reason it is an excellent opportunity for students of English to see a play presented. Arthur Motyer, Director, has attempted to produce the play as it might have been seen at the time of Elizabeth I; the costumes, music, and set are all taken from paintings of the time — this will give students a chance to see an authentic production.

The cast, headed by Robert Midgley, as Romeo, and Helen Fairbairn, as Juliet, consists of over thirty persons who have been hard at work since the beginning of the second term.

Much work has gone into this production as the costumes have all been designed and executed by Judy Doak, Don Kuehner, Jane Hamilton and Marabelle Fritz; the stage crew, under Don Sangster, including Lew Abbot and several others, had to install a new lighting system including reo-stats and mercury switches, as well as design, construct and paint the complete set. In fact, almost every student on the campus has aided in some way to make this play a success which will follow up the successes of former years when The Taming of the Shrew and The Lady's Not for Burning were presented under the same director, and met with such enthusiasm and interest on the part of the residents of Sherbrooke.

The play will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 25, 26 and 7 at 8:15 p.m. in the Bishop's Memorial Auditorium, Lennoxville. The Laramee Bus Company has agreed to run extra buses leaving at King and Wellington at 7:30 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. the nights of the play and after the performance, pick up the patrons and take them back to Sherbrooke.

Tickets may be obtained at H. C. Wilson & Sons, Sherbrooke, or Clark's Pharmacy, Lennoxville; for reserved seats patrons are requested to call 3-0028 at any time. Tickets may also be obtained at the door the nights of the performances.

The University Dramatics Society wishes to thank, very sincerely, all those who have co-operated and shown their interest in the play. It hopes that Sherbrooke and Lennoxville will continue to support these plays as they have in the past.

Ascot Institute Hears Report On Panel Discussion

The February meeting of the Ascot branch of the Quebec Women's Institute was held on the regular day in the assembly hall at the Lennoxville Experimental Station.

Mrs. Albert Parsons presided and opened the meeting with the Salute to the Flag, followed by the Mary Stewart Collect.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. W. S. Richardson, and Mrs. Stewart Coates gave the financial statement.

An unusually large number of "thank-you" notes was received from the sick and shut-ins and all hope for their speedy recovery.

A renewal of the Canadian Association of Consumers Bulletin was taken out in the name of the branch secretary.

A report on the panel discussion, sponsored by the Montreal Council of Women, on mutual problems existing between producers and consumers, was read. Mrs. Ellard, 2nd vice-president of the Quebec Women's Institute, was a member of the panel.

Mrs. Frank Ingham in her citizenship report mentioned the interesting broadcast given by Mrs. William Coupland on "Citizenship in Community Life" and also referred to Prime Minister Saint Laurent's Commonwealth tour and the death of one of Canada's outstanding diplomats, Mr. Hume Wrong. An article entitled, "The Hobby of Collecting Shoes," was also given.

Mrs. Earle Savage, R.N., convener of health and welfare reported sending 200 cotton covers for bed pads to the Sherbrooke branch of the Cancer Society and urged members to keep up the good work.

Mrs. W. S. Mitchell told of the rapid dvelopment in the new Barvue zinc mine at Barville in Northwest Quebec.

The ways and means committee reported a "travelling apron" is circulating among the members collecting "silver." Plans were being made for a card party to be held at the Lennoxville Experimental Station on Saturday, Feb. 27.

The sum of $5 was donated to the Blind, and a food parcel was sent to Mrs. Everett in Cambridge, England.

Several members read articles pertaining to a new Canadian flag.

A splendid account of the quarterly meeting of the Sherbrooke County W. I. was given by Mrs. Frank Ingham and among the many things mentioned was the Tweedsmuir Competition.

The annual meeting will be held on March 10th in the Lennoxville W.I. Club room at 10 a.m.

The nominating committee is composed of the following ladies: Mrs. F. Ingham, Mrs. Earle Savage and Mrs. W. T. Pearson, and the program committee includes Mrs. Norman Bowers and Mrs. Wallace Wingeat.

The roll was answered by 20 members who handed in some very helpful household hints and shortcuts.

Mrs. John Campbell very kindly prepared for a demonstration of a dish of fish souffle. This was a most delicious and nourishing supper dish and Mrs. Campbell was thanked for her trouble by the president.

After adjournment, the hostesses, Mrs. E. Savage, Mrs. H. Bennett, Mrs. Hugh Savage and Mrs. Wallace Wingeat, served a most bountiful afternoon tea to which the members did full justice.

C.M.A. SPEAKER, the Honourable Robert Henry Winters, Federal Minister of Public Works, who will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Sherbrooke Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at the New Sherbrooke Hotel, on Thursday, February 25th, 1954.

Legislative Assembly Passes Bill To Establish University Of Sherbrooke

Quebec — (CP) — The legislative assembly yesterday unanimously adopted a measure designed to give Quebec province its fifth university, the University of Sherbrooke.

Premier Duplessis said the government was happy to introduce the measure which would give students in the Eastern Townships access to a university of their own. He promised financial support for the new institution.

Liberal Leader Georges Lapalme said foundation of a fifth university in Quebec is an indication of progress among the French-speaking citizens in this farming and industrial area where Loyalists made their homes after the American revolution.

Lands Minister Bourque, who represents Sherbrooke riding in the legislative assembly, said the new university will serve a population of 500,000 persons.

First faculties to be setup would be those of arts, sciences, and theology. Later faculties of law and of the notariat would be established.

"The whole question has been studied with Archbishop Georges Cabana of Sherbrooke and we are anxious to contribute to the prosperity of the Eastern townships," Mr. Duplessis said.

"What Msgr. Cabana wanted at first was enough power to set up the basis of a university. It must be understood all will not be achieved at once, the project will be spread out over a period of time.

"It is our desire to make universities more accessible to students of various regions. This will be done gradually in relation to the means of the province.

"The situation in Sherbrooke is a special one and it is the duty of the government to meet the wishes of religious authorities who have asked for the power to set up a university.

"It is the intention of the government to help the new university as justified and as the finances of the province permit assistance."

Two Liberal opposition members, Jules Savard (L.-Quebec West) and Emilien Lafrance (L.-Richmond) said they are happy to see their alma mater, the 80-year-old Seminaire St. Charles Borromee, being elevated to the rank of a university.

One of the graduates of the seminary is Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Under the bill the seminary is changed into a university and acquires all the privileges granted universities.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Sherbrooke would be chancellor of the university and the superior of the seminary would become rector.

Roman Catholic Archbishops of Montreal and Quebec are automatically chancellors of the universities of Montreal and Laval.

With Sherbrooke the number of Roman Catholic universities in Quebec will increase to three. McGill University in Montreal and University of Bishop's College, in Lennoxville, are Quebec's two English-speaking universities.

Organ Recital At St. Paul's Tomorrow Night

On Thursday evening, Feb. 25, at 8:00 o'clock, Rev. Mr. E. W. Harrison, rector of North Hatley, will give a recital of organ music at the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, corner of McManamy and Fairmount.

A new electric organ was recently installed, which was donated by St. Mary's Guild.

Mr. Harrison, who is an accomplished organist, has already given recitals in other parts of the Townships, and he has kindly consented to present a program at St. Paul's. He will give a commentary on the music played during the program.

An offering will be taken for the benefit of the choir.

There was a large number of members present as well as several guests who all profited by Mr. Whyte' talk.

Fire And A Small, Nagging Fear

Not long ago a man living nearby lost his home through fire. It was insured for only a few hundred dollars, just enough to cover a small mortgage, but was worth many times that amount.

A friend, not so tactful as most, asked the stricken owner why he had insured the property for so little.

"That's what I've been asking myself," was the reply, accompanied by a wry smile. "I find it hard to believe. I only thought of the mortgage."

With this man such a lapse was not characteristic or customery. In his everyday business dealings he happens to be a keen individual.

An interesting and lucid article called "The School's on Fire," written for a recent issue of "The School Board," official organ of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards, by O. R. Jackman, of Granby, makes one realize that this tendency to under-insure is fairly general, a fact known well to insurance men but not always realized by others.

Replacement of buildings today costs 66 per cent more than in 1946, says Mr. Jackman, but insurance records show that policy amounts have been increased by little more than half, that is, 35 per cent.

We all know how the cost of materials and the wage level have gone up since 1946. The difference is much more striking if we go back to 1939 and many homes, offices and buildings, with long useful lives still ahead, date from that year or belong to an earlier vintage.

Then why do most people neglect to raise their insurance to somewhere near 1954 replacement levels?

It seems cheaper to do nothing — who wants to raise his overhead? The subject also brings uneasiness, slight though it may be and unacknowledged.

Another reason for doing nothing is the belief in our guiding star. Most of us echo to ourselves at some time or another the psalmist's reassuring words but taken out of context: "A thousand shall fall at thy side and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh unto thee."

"Your home will never really be burned," whispers the optimistic little ego. "You may read about the young neighbor's home, his office or his factory going up in flames but it won't touch YOU."

Yet fire is no respecter of persons, no respecter of guiding stars. The safest-seeming home is sometimes the first to go. Insurance companies recommend policy adjustment to about eighty per cent of present value.

It is the feeling of security which comes from this insurance modernizing that is more valuable, some feel, than any amount which might be obtained. In the back of the mind of the man whose property is under-insured there is always hiding a small nagging fear. He knows he isn't being consistent — (why insure at all?) — but it is cheaper and easier to let things drift.

Security! It is the greatest thing in the world. Compare the tranquil expression of the child, secure in his parents' love, with the orphan or the lad who feels he isn't wanted. And only a sense of security can make marriage worth while.

Sometimes a little, nagging fear, weighed in the balance, will make the difference between a family's success or failure.

Congressional Editor

Persons interested in the right of the press to criticize, and to evaluate the news, must have read with some misgivings the proposal of Representative Harold Velde, chairman of the House of Representatives' un-American Activities Committee, to investigate press coverage of his committee's doings.

It is rather puzzling to figure out how Velde would justify the expense of such an inquiry. He had asked one of his staff to travel from Washington to New York to check on wire service handling of the committee stories.

To what effect? Suppose the investigator felt that the handling was inadequate. Would the committee then propose legislation setting minimum volume levels on such news coverage? Or would it content itself with mere public complaint?

Like any other agency of society, the press must be held to account for the fulfillment of its public responsibility. But it seems doubtful that the way to do this is to have a governmental committee chairman measure inches of type with a ruler.

Stormy Weather

One of the great North American sports is lambasting the weather man on the grounds of unreliability. But it has always been an amateur sport. Nobody really wants to tar and feather the poor chap who pores over maps and charts trying to figure out what wind and cloud will do next.

In Kansas City, however, a number of business firms which suffered in the 1951 flood got serious about it. They wanted to sue the weather bureau for damages resulting from what they felt was insufficient warning of disaster.

But a federal judge said the bureau could not be sued. He stood up for the harassed expert with the maps and the charts. Thus tongue-lashing the fellow is still an amateur sport, though it may be practised pretty vigorously on occasion.

SLOW REACTION IN CONGRESS—COLORED SAUCERS — EXPENSIVE GIFT — AIR FORCE RESCUE — VEEP CLUB

Washington — (NEA) — Congress didn't get off to a very good start during January on President Eisenhower's program that is to win the Republicans control in the November election. Only three bills were passed and signed by the President, making them law. One continued the Army's missing-persons' act, a second set cotton acreage quotas, the third was a minor irrigation claims bill.

The last of the President's messages didn't get to Congress till Jan. 28, but even so, the House met only 24 hours during the month, the Senate 80. And the Senate got all tied up in the Bricker amendment.

In spite of these short work-months, the individual law-makers were busy enough. Over 300 news bills were introduced in the Senate, nearly 900 in the House.

Fourteen hundred Presidential appointments were confirmed by the Senate, but there's a backlog of more than 5000 unacted upon. That's where a lot of the patronage is tied up that the politicians are yelling about.

Flying Saucers

Latest pipe dream of the Air Force Technical Intelligence Center in its investigation of the flying saucer mystery is to equip some 75 control towers with expensive "diffraction grating" cameras. They take stereoscopic (Three-D) pictures on color film. Since most of the flying saucer phenomena are observed at night, and at considerable distance, when light for color work is almost impossible, experienced commercial photographers wonder just what the pictures will show.

Commented one retired Air Force officer, "The comic strips do the thing better."

Mercy Missions

Air Rescue Service has not kept an accurate count on the number of lives it has saved in the seven years of its existence, but the number is estimated at 15,000. Of these 10,000 were in the Korean theater, rescuing pilots and crews who were shot down by enemy fire or crashed after accidents in regular operational flying.

Pity The Veeps

As a publicity gag and promotion stunt for Georgie Jessel, a new "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Vice-Presidents" has been launched. Membership certificates have been sent out by the hundreds.

The aim, it says, is "to Preserve, Protest and Pamper those who have ben Pressed, Parlayed or Provoked into these Parlous Positions."

Charter Membership No. 1 was sent to U. S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The Horsey Set

Senator Wayne Morse, the Oregon Independent, tells this story about a Christmas present:

Several of his former colleagues in the Republican party chipped in and sent Morse an expensive set of cuff links and tie clasp shaped like a rear view of a horse. Senator Morse is quite a horseman in his spare time.

But when a charity group in Oregon asked the Senator to contribute something for sale at a white-elephant charity bazaar, he offered this gift to the cause.

Word got around about the cuff links and clasp. They were put up for resale at later Charity auctions. Each time they brought more money. Says Senator Morse today:

"This gift is probably the most my former Republican friends ever did for the benefit of the people."

Florida Graybeards

It has been eight years since the wife of Florida Senator Spessard Holland has laid eyes on a grandfather graybeard tree, she says. This unique tree sprouts its white, feathery covering for just a couple of weeks in March or April. That's the time of year when Mrs. Holland has been her busiest as a Senator's wife in Washington. But this situation having gone long enough, Mrs. Holland will take off for Florida this spring — just for a reunion with a grandfather graybeard tree, she says.

New Look For GOP

Republican National Committee's Women's Division did some cute statistical research on the 52 feminine members attending the Washington meeting of the GOP hierarchy. The average National Committeewoman of today says the publicity division, is about 55 years old, married and the mother of two children. Slightly more than one half are grandmothers. About a third of them have held public office.

Old political reporters at the meeting observed that the type, which once could have served as the original for Helen Hokinson's drawings, is gradually growing slimmer, and a lot better looking.

JULIET, JULIET! WHEREFORE ART THOU JULIET?

The Quebec Chro icle-Telegraph

We were quite interested to read in these page the other day the course of young love. Usually it is the young man who calls upon the young lady, but here in Quebec things are a bit different. Perhaps the number four at the end of 1954 led the young lady into believing this to be leap year, and she was simply exercising her prerogative of going after her man. But whatever may have been motive, she was found heaving pebbles — of all things — at her boy friend's window.

The Montagues and Capulets can take a back seat now. The spotlight is no longer on the balcony, but on centre stage Juliet was throwing pebbles madly toward the window of her Romeo. The catch was that Romeo's Ma didn't like the sound of tinkling glass in her son's boudoir, nor the blast of the keen north wind which swept in through the hole where the glass once was.

We do not know whether Quebec's version of Juliet and Romeo will end as tragically as the more orthodox stage version. So far, Juliet stands condemned to repair the damaged windows and to pay the costs of ligitation. And what's more, Romeo seems to have been silent through it all. Perhaps one of the pebbles struck him as he slept by the window and he hasn't awakened yet. There is only one real question in our mind, however. What bothers us at this time of year is where Juliet was able to find pebbles with all this snow that has been lying around about us?

THE STUFF THAT DREAMS ARE MADE OF

The Gazette, Montreal

Some idea of the stuff that dreams are made of has been explained in a speech here by a noted psychoanalyst, Dr. Charles Fisher, of Mount Sinai Hospital, New York. Confirming what many students have suspected, Dr. Fisher says that dreams are largely based on impressions gained by the subconscious, rather than the conscious. The activation which gives these impressions life are unfulfilled desires, often subconscious, too.

Many things pass before the eye, in a normal day, which are not recorded by the conscious memory. Unless a companion be along to note some of them, the resultant dream is most difficult to trace to its source, because the mind has not recorded them in any available memory cell. How then have the researchers decided that this happens?

They have flashed pictures before subjects at a speed too great for their conscious minds to memorize. The subjects, asked to draw the portion of the pictures they recalled, have done so. Dreams, in the following 2 hours, have included pictures the subjects could not recall having seen. Yet those pictures were the ones they had seen, too fast to record, the day before.

This experimental system is interesting, and the results convincing. They are not a great help to psychoanalysis, however. They prove the theory that the wind operates on two levels even during waking hours, and that the conscious mind does not know what the subconscious is doing, does not even understand its language.

Dr. Fisher's talk recalls the recent statement of an electronics engineer. Regarding "electronic brain" machines he said that a machine that would contain all the information, do all the calculations, make all the decisions that one human brain is capable of would have to be several storeys high and several acres in area.

The Golden Stool

By ETHELYN PARKINSON

McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Features.

At their first breakfast in Linwood, Ellen Hamilton asked anxiously, "John, will you look up your Uncle Comstock? Or shall we wait for him to call?"

John's lip twitched. "Let's get settled first, dear. And aren't you expecting Lucille Smythe and her father soon? You'll be busy."

"John, I'll certainly have time for Uncle Comstock."

Ellen set out to find him that day. He wasn't in the phone book, so she consulted the city directory. Comstock Whitney Hamilton resided at 33 Reber street. Ellen took a taxi across the river, down Main street, across another rather smelly little river, to a strangely rural looking community.

"You must be wrong," she said to the driver. "I'm looking for the residence of Mr. Comstock Whitney Hamilton."

"That's it, ma'am." He pointed to a tumble-down cottage. "But," he grinned, "if you want to see old Ham', look for him in front of Pete's Place at the east end of the bridge. He's held down a bench there for twenty years."

"Are you sure you're not mistaken?" Ellen asked frigidly.

"Ma'am, everyone in Linwood knows those old fixtures in front of Pete's—swappin' lies and spittin'. There's old Ham, old Joe Horner—"

"Never mind," Ellen said. "Take me there."

That night she said to John, "You should have seen how overcome poor Uncle Comstock was. I felt so ashamed! Your own uncle, sitting on that hard old bench with those horrid men! It's weeks since he's seen a barber. He was speechless when I told him who I was, that we're living on Prospect avenue and that we insist on his moving in with us. I don't suppose he dreamed anyone would rescue him."

John blinked. "Are you sure we can make him happy?"

"Oh, yes! He'll love being in this house, having nice clothes and knowing really congenial people."

John smiled. "Set a frog on a golden stool . . ."

"What's that?"

"Nothing," John said. "When do we move him?"

Ellen considered. Lucille Smythe would be in town the next week on her way east. She was a bit snooty. He father would be with her—he's once lived in this town. Ellen had seen pictures of Lucille's father, a dignified old genteleman with a pointed white beard.

"Uncle Comstock will come at once," Ellen said firmly.

They left Uncle Comstock's cottage just as it was. He wouldn't need anything there. He was silent on the way to Prospect Avenue. "He's simply bewildered." Ellen whispered to John.

Uncle Comstock looked sweet in his new clothes. Ellen supervised the barber's work. A white mustache and pointed beard made him positivcly distinguished. After dinner he said he wished he'd brought his plug of chewing tobacco. Ellen patted his hand. "Darling, John has some good cigars." He smiled wistfully.

He did just as Ellen said. "I wonder what he's thinking," Ellen sighed. "He seems so pitiful and wistful, doesn't he?"

"More every day," John said.

Lucille was due on Saturday. At ten she phoned from the station. Ellen found her quite upset. "I've lost Daddy. He went out to talk to the baggage master—and now he's disappeared!"

They looked about and gave up, John met them for luncheon and they shopped. There was a bus tie-up, and they walked across the bridge for the Prospect Avenue bus. As they approached Pete's Place, Ellen saw five or six old "fixtures" on the bench. She thought of poor Uncle Comstock and shivered.

Suddenly her blood froze. Uncle Comstock was sitting right there with the others, chewing tobacco! Desperately, Ellen walked and talked fast, calling Lucille's attention to a landmark across the street. They were safely past when Lucille exclaimed. "I've dropped a package!"

"I'll run back," Ellen said quickly. Then her heart sank as she saw a man rise from the bench, pick up something from the curb and start toward them. But it wasn't Uncle Comstock. It was another old "fixture" who approached them.

"Why—Daddy!" Lucille gasped. "I didn't see you. What are you doing here? Getting the latest on the town?" She laughed nervously. "Daddy always talks to everyone. Come along, Daddy!" He was very dignified, but he looked pitiful, wistful. Lonely. Like Uncle Comstock.

"John," Ellen said later, "what's the rest of your little poem. 'Set a frog on a golden stool'?"

"Guess," John grinned.

"Is it. Back he'll hop into the pool'?"

"Exactly."

"Well, it's true," Ellen admitted. "We'll let Uncle Comstock have Pete's bench again," she smiled.

The Doctor Says:

BREAST CANCER TREATMENT IS EASIEST IN EARLY STAGES

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

The recovery rate from cancer of the breast, when discovered early and promptly treated properly, is encouragingly high. Rather rare in women before the age of 25, cancer of the breast increases in frequency as the years go by.

It is now believed that women should be taught to examine their own breasts, and if anything abnormal is found, to seek professional assistance at once. The more often this is done, the more rapidly will real progress be made toward the control of this form of cancer.

The symptoms are important because they lead to that early diagnosis which is so important. A lump in the breast calls for immediate investigation. Some people mistakenly believe that cancer of the breast cannot be present unless the nipples are pulled in or actually inverted. True, this may be a symptom, although generally a late one.

More important is a flattening of some portion of the breast. Any change in the shape of the breast which has not been present before is suspicious. Also(any discharge or secretion from the nipple should be cause for prompt study.

Pain, burning, and other sensations are rare in the early stages of cancer.

Once a lump or suspicious area of the breast has been found, proper treatment involves prompt surgery with the removal of some of the tissue from the lump and its examination under the microscope.

This tissue can be frozen, stained, and examined almost at once so that if cancer cells are found, the entire tumor and surrounding breast tissue can be removed without further delay. The longer the cancer has been present, the more danger there is that it will recur.

The most important thing to remember is that any change in the appearance of the breast should be promptly recognized and expert opinion sought at once. Those who delay treatment because of fear that cancer may be found are extremely short-sighted because it is with early stages that complete cure is possible. In this form of cancer in particular a little more knowledge and prompt action can prevent tragedy.

AVOID PARTNER WHO'S ALWAYS IN

You all know the kind of player who wants to play every hand. As your partner, he will bid one suit after another if he lacks support for your suit. And if he's lucky enough to have support for your suit, he'll bid no-trump. Dante forgot to mention this type, but you may be sure that there's a special region being kept warm for him down below.

Almost as bad a partner, however, is the type that thrusts every problem on your shoulders. For example, North gave his partner a problem when he jumped to four hearts. This jump looks like an unselfish partner-helping bid, but it's really a way of passing the buck.

North can practically guarantee nine tricks at no-trump opposite any sound vulnerable overcall that South may have, but he cannot guarantee ten tricks at hearts.

West could have defeated the contract of four hearts if he had thought of opening a club. The defenders would have taken three clubs and a spade to begin with.

Rather naturally, West opened a spade, but South still had to play very carefully to make his contract. He put up dummy's king, and East took the ace of spades. East then returned a trump, and South had to find a way to avoid the loss of three club tricks.

After some thought, South drew two rounds of trumps and the two top diamonds. He then cashed the king of spades, discarding a club, and led the ten of spades from dummy. East very properly played the jack of spades on dummy's ten, whereupon South discarded a second club.

This loser-on-loser play caught East in an end-play. If East led clubs, dummy's king would win a trick, and South would lose only one of his two remaining clubs. If East led anything else, dummy would ruff while South discarded a third club; and then South would still have only one club loser. Either way, South was sure to win ten tricks, making his contract.

CARD SENSE

Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Diamond	1 Spade	?

You, South, hold: Spades K-J-6-3, Hearts A-5-2, Diamonds K-2, Clubs Q-10-4-2. What do you do?

A—Double. You expect to take two trump tricks and two or three tricks in the side suits. If your partner has fair defensive values, you should beat one spade easily. If he has good defensive values, you should beat one spade for more than the value of a game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered.

You, South, hold: Spades K-J-9-8-7-6, Heart 5-2, Diamonds 5-2, Clubs 10-4-2. What do you do?

Secretary For 53 Year, She Never Was Late

Toronto — (CP) — Eva M. Gardiner, a legal secretary here for 53 years, is a survival of the era when boater hats and hobble skirts were the height of fashion.

The erect, white-haired office worker, who has passed 78, has many proud memories. In all her years of working she can't recall ever being late. She was employed by the same man throughout, and except for vacations has been absent through illness on only two occasions.

Cherishing her laurels, Miss Gardiner is retiring this month, after winding up the affairs of her employer, the late Casey Wood, Q.C., who died at 83.

Sole Employer

Lawyer and secretary worked together through half a century. She became his secretary when he was taken in as a junior partner in his firm in 1901. She says "He was a wonderful man to work for. He was a gentleman, tolerant, never demanding and very, very pleasant."

She likes to recall the carefree days of the early century when Sir William Mulock and other lawyers and business men were driven downtown behind liveried drivers and prancing horses. Stenographers then enjoyed ice boating and skating on Toronto harbor or went on bobsledding and snowshoeing parties in winter months.

Born at Brockville, Miss Gardiner attended high school and business college there before moving to Toronto with her parents. Her first job had been with a Brockville legal firm.

Her career parallels that of a Hamilton woman, Mrs. Maud Tobey, who at 8' is still working in a real estate office.

Both women attribute their good health and vitality to constant attention to their jobs.

Waiter Brings Chilled Steaks For Cold Meat

Moscow (CP) — Two western reporters wanting a quick dinner in Moscow's Metropole Hotel thought they'd forestall the local two-hours-a-meal service. They asked the waiter to bring everything at once.

Soup, cold meats, pickles, toast, butter and beverages were ordered.

Thirty minutes later came the soup.

Then from his tray the waiter unloaded two steaks.

"We ordered cold meats," said one of the reporters, who speaks pretty fair Russian. "You've brought steaks."

"But they are cold," protested the watter.

"There are no cold meats in the kitchen today, so we cooked a steak for each of you and put them outside to chill."

University Critical Of Massey Plan

Montreal—(CP)—The University of Montreal today took issue with recommendations of the Massey royal commission on arts and sciences and contended that universities belong constitutionally under provincial jurisdiction.

The Roman Catholic university's position, embodied in a brief presented to the Quebec royal commission on constitutional problems, also pointed up a related "dilemma" in taxation fields.

The brief posed these alternatives: either the federal government will evacuate these fields, "which are properly allotted to the provinces and the latter will occupy them in its stead;" or allocation of taxation fields must be revised, preferably along with "revision of the whole constitution."

The Massey commission had recommended consultations by the federal government with governments and universities of each province with respect to federal aid. The University of Montreal said this recommendation was coupled with "a mathematical formula which actually left little value to such consultation."

"Its only justification was the existence in the western provinces of state universities and, of course, it would have been unthinkable that their governments accept federal grants without acquiescing thereto either implicitly or explicitly."

The university said the federal government has twice voted subsidies to universities and other higher-study institutions "but the norms it has followed in so doing are also open to fundamental objections."

The first money vote was "adopted prior to any consultation of the provinces." Then the federal government "seemed to take it upon itself alone to define what was a university or an 'equivalent institution'." Through intervention of the Quebec premier "such determination was turned over to the provinces."

"Direct recurrent grants to universities are of the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces," said the brief. "This is an uncontrovertible fact under the constitution. It is another fact that the ratio of the over-all taxation absorbed by the federal government exceeds all that could ever have been foreseen, and thus prevents the provinces as well as the bodies under them to fulfill their obligations.

"When an authority has no natural resources and spends money for purposes outside its jurisdiction, it is evident that taxation has been levied in excess of the needs."

New Australian Election Called

Canberra—(AP)—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies announced today that the regular general election for the 123-member Australian House of Representatives will be held May 29.

The present House was elected April 28, 1951, for a three-year term, but campaigning this year has been delayed to keep politics out of the royal tour of Australia. Queen Elizabeth leaves the country April 1.

A Liberal-Country party coalition has governed Australia since it defeated the Labor party in the 1949 election and ended eight years of Labor government. In the 1951 election — a special ballot called after the Supreme Court invalidated a key government law to ban communism—the Liberals won 51 seats, the Country party 17 and Labor 53. The Northern and Australian Capital territories are represented by two non-voting members.

Microphones In N.S. Legislature

Halifax — (CP) — Members of the Nova Scotia legislature are going to have to watch what they say during the 45th general assembly which opens here today. Wisecracks that usually were quickly forgotten will now be recorded for posterity.

Every word spoken in the house will be picked up by one of 20 sensitive microphones that are attached to members' desks and cannot be turned off.

The new system will enable members to get complete copies of the day's procedings each day. Secretaries will turn out stencilled copies of what the records have picked up.

The first few days of the session will be a test period. The method of transcription will be continued if it is successful.

LEGISLATURE PAUSING

Yesterday Mr. Duplessis stepped into the role of Provincial Secretary as he took over discussion of education estimates for Provincial Secretary Cote who is ill.

Liberals said politics play a big role in government grants to school commission and that everybody, political foe or friend, should get fixed grants.

Mr. Duplessis said no law can cover every case and eventuality. Situations are infinitely varied according to local problems and each case has to be decided individually, he said.

If Legislation could be drafted to cover every case that would be automatic, not democratic, government.

"You might as well have machines instead of government," he said.

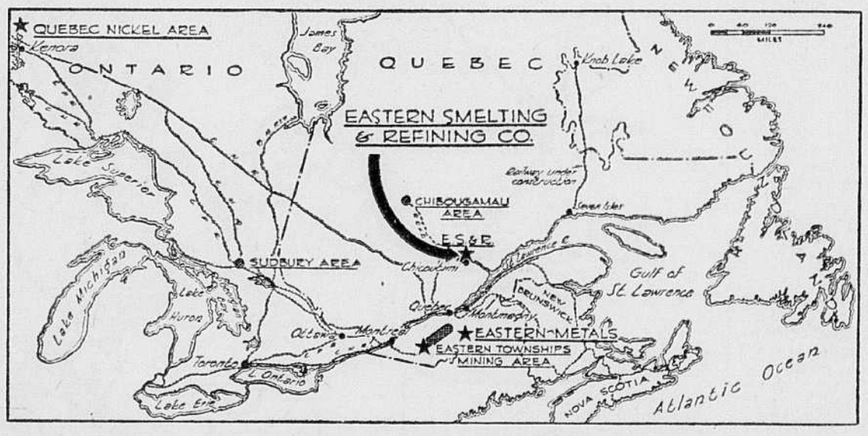
Quebec Pioneers New Nickel-Copper Smelter & Refinery

An Order-in-Council passed by the Government of the Province of Quebec on January 14, 1954 has paved the way for Eastern Smelting and Refining Company Limited to build a modern nickel-copper smelter and refinery at Chicoutimi, Quebec. The site is ideally located in the centre of new mining areas coming into production in Quebec and Labrador, with water and rail transportation at hand to bring concentrates for custom smelting and refining.



Site Potential

The site to be acquired from the Province of Quebec was formerly owned by Quebec Pulp & Paper Corporation. Eastern Smelting and Refining Company Limited also has obtained the power rights on the Chicoutimi River at the plant site. A regular output of 25,000 h.p. can be produced at this site which will be available to the smelter at approximately half the ordinary cost of purchased power.

The site extends over 90 acres of industrial lands in the town of Chicoutimi. Included in the acquisition are a shops building of steel and granite construction, with railway sidings readily available to the main line of the C.N.R., fully equipped with shop facilities including over-head travelling cranes, iron foundry, brass foundry and a full range of machine tool equipment for general repairs with adequate space for all laboratories and testing equipment for the proposed smelter, and an office building of brick construction with adequate space to accommodate the administrative and clerical staffs to be employed in the proposed smelter operations. The management considers that the lands, buildings, machinery and equipment that will be utilized by Eastern Smelting and Refining Company Limited in its proposed operations have a replacement value of about $750,000.

Experienced labour for plant construction and operation is readily available at adjacent Chicoutimi and nearby Arvida. Adequate housing facilities are no problem in this heavily industrialized section of the Province.

Future Plans

Eastern Smelting and Refining Company Limited will proceed to develop this important site with the erection of a modern nickel-copper smelter and refinery to treat in excess of 200 tons of nickel-copper concentrates and 200 tons of copper concentrates daily. Related metallurgical and chemical facilities will be provided to recover the by-product sulphur and all contained secondary metals in the concentrates. Initially extensive investigations of various smelting and refining processes and pilot plant operations will be carried out utilizing the available buildings and equipment, to evolve plans and lay-out for the most efficient treatment process for the smelting and refining of nickel and copper concentrates that will be available to the Company.

This location and the proposed facilities will permit the economical treatment of concentrates from the Manitoba border to the Eastern seaboard. Arrangements have already been made to treat the concentrates from Eastern Metals Corporation Ltd. and Quebec Nickel Corporation Ltd. when these properties come into production. The Company is expected to be able to offer attractive rates for treating concentrates from present and future producers in the Chibougamau Camp, the Eastern Townships, the Sudbury district and as far west as the Gordon Lake area, near Kenora, Ontario.

Shipments of concentrates both eastward and westward will have the advantages of cheap water transportation through the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence waterway and up the Saguenay River to the site.

EDUCATORS MUST SOON RESTORE SCHOLARSHIP TO POPULARITY

"Kids today just can't afford to be intelligent," a junior high school student explained to his father, who happens to be superintendent of schools in a large city.

Though they might not put it in those words, the majority of children who crowd our public schools feel pretty much that way about it.

And in this case it is the schools—and not the parents—who are largely to blame.

Public schools don't play up scholarship any more. There's little honor for the child who studies hard and gets straight "A's." Many schools don't even have an honor roll any more.

All the emphasis is on the students who make the football team, get to be cheer leaders, or those who are voted "best dressed," "most popular," "best personality," etc.

No wonder the kids get the idea that they can't afford to be intelligent. There's no recognition for studying and making good grades.

* * *

"Brains" are Out of Fashion

But other things pay off. You can get your picture in the school paper for being voted "cutest girl" or by getting on the pep squad.

You'd never be mentioned for merely making the highest grades in your class.

In fact, if you do make high grades—you keep still about it. The rumor might get around that you're a "brain"—and that would absolutely ruin you.

Popularity—not scholarship—is the important thing.

There's one question I'd like to ask the superintendent of schools whose son explained to him that kids can't afford to be intelligent: What are YOU going to do about it?

A. — A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smoothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. BULWER—

Forum Approves Price Support

Bulwer, Feb. 24 — The Monday evening meeting of the Bulwer Farm Form was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Meijerink, with Mrs. Basil Prescott and Mrs. Douglas Grapes for the assisting hostesses.

The topic under discussion was "Farm Policy in Relation to Production."

The members thought that the price support system has worked out well in Canada and is as good as any system we could have.

If an international organization could be set up that could handle surplus without injuring another country's trade it would be the ideal solution.

Members did not think that any of the other plans suggested in the "Guide" would work out well in Canada.

Coaticook Legion Branch Sets $1,000 Objective For Polio Fund Campaign

Coaticook, Feb. 24 — A group of enthusiastic Coaticook citizens met in the Legion Home on Tuesday evening to plan for the forthcoming polio fund campaign sponsored by the Legion, which will have dozens of volunteer canvassers from every women's organization in town. The meeting was presided over by Murray Woodman, branch president.

Present were J. Lee Heath, Mrs. Bristol Smith, Mrs. Selena Aulis, Mrs. Charles Leadbeater, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Gerald Johann, O. Dupuis, Milton Woodman, campaign chairman, Rev. Dr. W. B. Perry, Rev. Leon Lemay, Mrs. R. Menard, Mrs. Peter Maurice, Mrs. Armand Gregoire, Herve Caron, Mrs. Leonard Akhurst, Mrs. W. Lamontagne, Mrs. A. Dionne, Mayor Charles E. Akhurst, Mrs. Doris Grady, Roger Jean-Marie and Stanley Beerworth.

The chairman outlined the suggested plans for a campaign as prepared by headquarters and showed some of the advertising and canvasser's supplies. He also gave a resume of how the previous year's funds have been applied in the fight against polio. He suggested that an objective of $1,000 be set for this area and stated that he felt sure that this would be reached. Mayor Charles Akhurst congratulated the Legion for taking the initiative in such an important cause and said that with the threat of this dread disease having been forcibly brought home to us, by having a case in our midst, everyone should realize the danger and be prepared to give generously to aid other victims. Dr. Perry and Father Lemay pledged their support in bringing this before their congregations at the Sunday services.

Others who spoke were Mrs. Menard representing the Emerald Guild, Mrs. Akhurst representing the Rebekah Lodge, and Mrs. James Smith for the Foresters Court. Others groups lending their support and taking an active part in the canvass are the Women's Association of the United church, St. Mary's Guild of St. Stephen's the Daughters of Isabelle, the J.O.C., members of the Legion Auxiliary, senior pupils of the High School and others.

The campaign will be staged from door to door this coming Friday evening, February 26, between the hours of 6.30 and 8.30 P.M. Cars will be available to transport the ladies to and from the area they are covering and it is hoped to canvass the whole town in the two hours time. Volunteer helpers, among them Mrs. Harry Buckland at Barnston, Mrs. Ivor Whitehouse at Dixville, James Pond at Norton, Arnold Todd and Miss. L. St. Laurent at Compton and B. Gandelfo at Baldwin's Mills, will lend their aid in swelling the campaign fund by looking after the collections in their own neighborhoods, Children of the High School will conduct a street tag day on Saturday, February 27.

As in other towns and cities, this is to be a Mother's March on Polio. Plan to be home that evening with your porch light on and welcome the lady who has volunteered to give her time and energy that others may benefit. The need is great so give a great deal. Remember that this is not a campaign to aid Legion members and their families only. Anyone, anywhere who has need of assistance through an attack of polio may apply for aid. Remember the date and hour of the drive, Friday, February 26, from 6.30 to 8.30 P.M. If you are missed that evening send your cheque to the local Legion.

Cowansville Home And School Receives $100 Cheque From Students' Loan Fund

Cowansville, Feb. 24. — The February meeting of the Cowansville Home and School Association took place on the evening of February 11, in the High School gymnasium.

The president, Mrs. J. Shower, presided at the meeting. The minutes were read by Mrs. R. Gunson, the secretary. The program immediately followed with a mock meeting of the Cowansville High School students' council.

Col. Wood introduced the members of the council and outlined its work. A sample meeting then followed with the president, Miss Louise Kemp, in the chair. After closing the meeting, Miss Kemp read an account of the Provincial Students' Council conference, which was held in November, in the West Hill High School, in Montreal. She was assisted in this reading by Miss Biane Cullen, who also attended the conference.

The editor of "The Hylite," Miss Jeanine Chagnon, gave a report on the progress of the work on the annual.

The president of the students' council then presented the Home and School with a cheque of $100 to be used in the Students' Loan Fund. Before the students' council members withdrew, the representative grade attendance was taken and the ice cream award went to Grade XI.

Mrs. Shower called upon Col. Wood to read the new constitution for the Students' Loan Fund. Mr. Chagnon made a motion to thank Col. Stockwell for helping to word the constitution.

The group then adjourned to the lunch room where tea and cookies were served.

LEGION TO CELEBRATE

The regular meeting of Cowansville Branch No. 99 Canadian Legion, was held at the Legion Hall, Cowansville, on Friday, February 19. There was almost a full attendance of officers and a large number of members.

The president, Comrade Arthur Barratt presided. After the opening ceremony routine business was conducted. The chairmen of the newly formed committees were called upon for a report of their activities. In most cases it was found that they were already working and reported progress.

The recommendation of the executive committee to change the regular meeting night to the third Thursday of each month was accepted and passed.

The canteen is governed by the "directors" of Club 99. In answer to questions from members, the chairman of the club, Comrade Larry Labrecque, outlined steps to be taken to ensure more supervision over this section of the branch. The chairman of the house committee, Keith Scott, reported on minor repairs that were to be carried out on the building, the work necessarily being minor until conditions were better.

Comrade W. D. Smith drew attention to the fact that March 20 was the 10th anniversary of the branch receiving its charter and he suggested that a celebration of that fact be held on the next regular meeting night, which would be March 18. This was unanimously approved. A supper will be held and it was decided to leave the duty of organizing same to the chairmen of the entertainment and the membership committees, Comrades M. Cady and W. D. Smith.

There had been complaints that, due to causes, not always the fault of the local branch, that no representatives from Cowansville branch had attended some regular or special district council meetings when important recommendations to Provincial Command were discussed. Comrade F. J. Knight addressed the members present and stressed "that not only should the appointed branch representative attend the meetings but as many members as possible, especially young vets, should attend." From his experience at provincial conventions he stated that it was essential for branches outside the Montreal district to organize if they wished to carry weight at the convention. If "country" branches hoped to elect members to Provincial offices, they must train their members for such offices. As in everything, the trained man has the advantage over the untrained. The local branch is the training ground, but the district council should be the rung on the ladder to reach the desired objective. Outside branches can provide just as good Provincial officers as city branches of the local members make preparation for the duties just as seriously.

Comrade Knight asked all officers and members present to consider his remarks.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

What a wonderful day it is when baby makes the first attempt to finger-feed himself. Of course it's messy! But think of the fun he's having trying to gain his independence . . . of the real strides he's making in learning hand-to-mouth coordination. A plastic bib will keep the dribbles from his clothes . . . sheet plastic under baby's high chair will save the floor from stains and spills.

* * *

What a wonderful day, too, when baby graduates from strained to junior or chewing foods! When the first smattering of teeth come through, both you and baby will appreciate Gerber's Junior Foods. For the tender, minced texture gives baby something to get those new little teeth into! (The bite-size bits really encourage chewing.) And the true-flavor, natural-color goodness which makes Gerber's, Strained Foods so appealing, helps to keep junior's appetite perked up.

* * *

First steps dept. Once your active little sprout starts getting the wanderlust, you can save him a few tumbles (especially on the kitchen floor) if you lightly sandpaper the soles of his first hard-soled shoes.

* * *

Five heavenly varieties of luscious sun-ripened fruits . . . processed to preserve the true-to-nature colors and flavors baby likes. Good eating galore is in store for your teething toddler when you serve Gerber's Junior Fruits. Nice "as is"—swell for a cereal topping or as a spread on bread for an older child.

* * *

Send for this handy baby bib! Made of vinylite plastic with "catchall" bottom, edged in pink and blue. Wonderful for saving baby's clothes from mealtime spills. Just send either 6 Gerber's can labels or 3 Gerber's box tops to Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

Apprentice Training for a Bright Future

THE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC SUPPORTERS of the Canadian Army's Soldier Apprentice Plan are those young men now enrolled, and their parents. A happy, clean-cut group, the Soldier Apprentices receive a combination of school study, discipline and trades training, as well as sports and other recreation.

The carefully balanced programme of Soldier Apprentice Training helps to develop and mature judgment and self-discipline. There is plenty to study and learn, but the happy environment of Soldier Apprentice Training seems to make this whole process so much easier and more pleasant.

Out of his training, the Soldier Apprentice emerges as a qualified tradesman with the opportunity of building a fine career for himself in the Army.

The young man of 16 who enrolls receives:

- thorough trades training in one of 16 trades.
- academic training — in such subjects as physics, chemistry, algebra, English.
- the general military training of the Canadian soldier.

Learning and living with other young Canadians of their own age stimulates healthy and happy comradeship as well as intense pride in their squadrons and units.

Soldier Apprentices are eligible for all Army benefits, including 30 days annual leave. They receive half pay when 16 and on their 17th birthday they receive full pay.

The young man, with a minimum of grade 8 education, who is interested in the happy, healthy and purposeful life of the Soldier Apprentice should investigate immediately.

For an interesting booklet and full information on Soldier Apprentice training, write, phone or visit the Army Information Recruiting Centre nearest your home.

Three Interesting Addresses Feature Meeting Of Sutton Home And School

Sutton, Feb. 24 — A large attendance of members and friends were present for the regular monthly meeting of the Sutton Home and School Association, which met in the High School with the president Lawrence Smith, presiding.

Following the opening prayer the minutes and correspondence were read by Mrs. Arnold Thompson in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Fordyce Ingalls.

The program arranged for the evening was in the nature of a travelogue, with three guest speakers. The first, Mrs. Arthur Darrah, was introduced by Mr. Smith. Last fall Mrs. Darrah accompanied her husband on a very interesting trip to Hornepayne, Ont., and her description of this section of the country, which very few know about, proved to be most entertaining.

Hornepayne is a town of about 2,000 inhabitants and is a divisional point of the Canadian National Railway, in the northern part of the province. Although so remotely situated as to be inaccessible except by rail and air, the citizens enjoy a well rounded life with a good school and churches, bowling, curling and ice skating.

The Cree Indians also inhabit the section, unconfined to reservations. Although devout Christians, they still cling to many of their primitive ways of life, spending the winters on their trap lines and the summer in wigwams on the edge of town. The children attend school during the summer only. Their church is adorned with very beautiful hand embroidery and headed work done by the women.

The next speaker was Miss Ann Ropars, French specialist, who was introduced by Miss Dorothy Phillips. Miss Ropars is a native of Brittany, France, having come to Canada in 1946. She has received her diploma from MacDonald College school for teachers and also served on the staff of Feller Institute, Grand Ligne, before coming to Sutton last September. Miss Ropars had many interesting facts to tell about the way of life of these people whose simplicity is far removed from that in sections more commonly read about.

Here, for the most part the homes are still the little cottage type, with thatched roofs and in many cases, dirt floors. Although the younger people have adopted modern dress, the older members of the families still wear the native costumes and wooden shoes, for the latter have proven the most practical for the climate. The starched white cap forms a picturesque part of their dress.

In her closing remarks, Miss Ropars spoke of the kind way in which she had her family have been received since their arrival in Canada and likened Sutton to the village where she lived in France.

Miss Shirley Baker, a partial student and helping teacher on the High School staff was next introduced by the president. Miss Baker was among the group of students from surrounding schools who last fall had the priviledge of joining in a tour of the United Nations and New York City.

That the trip proved a valuable experience was evident in the very clear description she gave of these beautiful buildings and the pleasure she felt when the group were provided with earphones and allowed to listen in on a discussion. Her talk was hilighted by pictures which were shown on the projector by Morton Jaquays, Jr., who had himself been a member of the party. Mr. Jaquays also showed some pictures which Miss Ropars had brought.

The three speakers were graciously thanked by Mrs. Spencer Giffin.

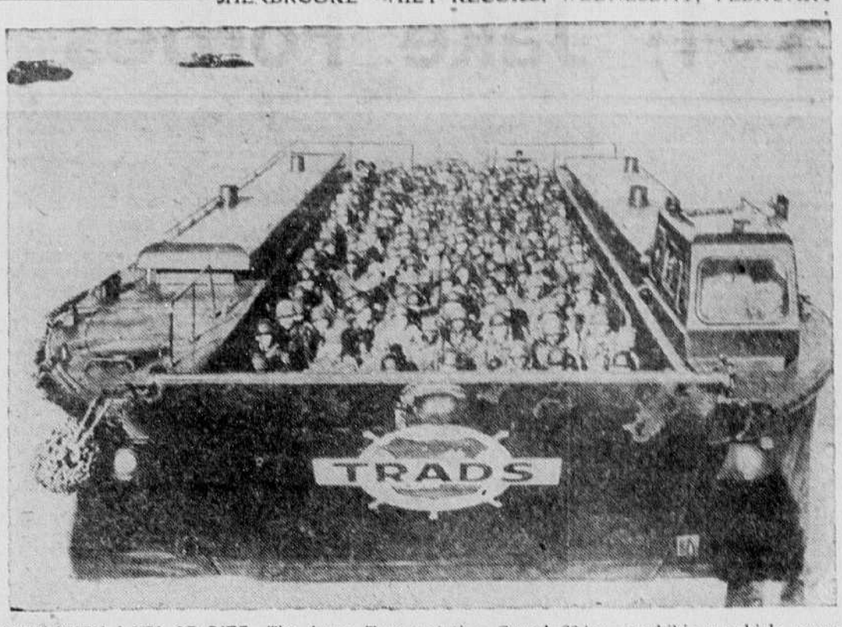
Following the program, the principal, Miss K. Harper, gave an outline of the program which is planned for education week, and which includes a church service and open house at the school. The Home and School program will be in keeping with the week. A panel discussion will take place with two members of the staff and two parents participating.

Mrs. Cecil Carr, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Mrs. J. Jennings reported on the recent Booster Club dance which proved a very profitable venture. Both ladies very graciously thanked all those who had been so helpful in making the evening a success.

After some discussion it was decided to hold another such dance the end of June.

The treasurer, Mrs. Orton Baker gave the financial report which showed a substantial balance on hand. It was voted that the Association should purchase a page of advertising in the School Annual which is to be published for the first time this year. A cheque for $15 was gratefully received to aid the hot lunch.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned to be followed by refreshments and a brief social hour. Those assisting with the lunch were Mrs. Hollis Hooper, Mrs. Stanley Whitford, Mrs. Lloyd Cooke, Mrs. J. Jennings and Mrs. Nelson Thompson.



'BARC' WITH LOTS OF BITE—The Army Transportation Corps' 60-ton amphibious vehicle named the "BARC" carries 203 field-equipped troops during a test run at Ft. Story, Va. Primarily designed to carry heavy equipment such as tanks, cranes and locomotives, it is also being considered as a potential troop carrier.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The February meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary, Branch No. 158, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., was held in the Legion Hall on Wednesday evening with seventeen members present.

Comrade Jean Davidson, president, opened the meeting. The colors were carried by comrade Helen Bresee and Nancy Whitford. The minutes of the January meeting were read and approved, the treasurer's report submitted and general business transacted.

Two new members from Abercorn were welcomed and initiated by the president, Mrs. Nick. Bleser and Mrs. Frank Parkins.

The Auxiliary hopes to increase its membership, and anyone who had relatives in either of the two World War is welcome to join. If interested, they should contact Comrade Jean Davidson.

The ways and means committee, under the convenorship of Comrades Gloria Davis and Betty Staines made plans for a food sale.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the committee and enjoyable social hour held.

On Saturday afternoon, February 13th, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sutton Branch of the Canadian Legion held a food sale in the Legion Hall. The convenors were comrades Gloria Davis and Betty Staines, assisted by comrade Amy Cowan. The tables, with such an array of delicious home cooking, were very tempting and the food sold very quickly. It was the ways and means committee's first undertaking this year and proved to be a great success.

Playing coach Jake Forbes of the local squad suffered a slight concussion in the second period of last night's tilt and was taken to the Montreal Western Hospital for surgical treatment and is still in Montreal.

In the second period Gary Blaine tried to split the local defence, of Forbes and Ed Palamar, and all three fell to the ice and Coach Forbes suffered a severe cut on the head. Blaine hurt his leg in the three-player crash.

Forbes was taken to the Forum clinic, where he received first-aid treatment before being transferred to the hospital. Ivan Dugre, director of the club, who was a spectator at the game, accompanied Forbes to the hospital.

He underwent an operation late last night and the authorities reported that he was in fair condition considering and they looked for no complications to set in. With Forbes' injury the Saints are faced without a pilot, and a rearguard at the same time. It is doubtful if Forbes will return to the role of a player this season but it is hoped he will be able to carry on as coach following his release from the hospital and a rest.

Sherbrooke Intermediates Make Clean Sweep Of Series With Butterfields; Down Basks 8-1 To Win Playoffs 2-0

Sherbrooke Intermediates moved a step closer to the Massawippi Valley Hockey League championship last night, as they defeated the Butterfield Basks 6-4, to capture the quarter final series. Papineau notched the insurance marker at the halfway mark of the third, and although the opposition tried to force the play in an effort to "get back in the game," sensational netmining by Labbe thwarted all attacks.

Thirteen penalties were handed out in the wide open contest, the Sherbrooke squad taking seven and Butterfield five, one of which cost them the game. An infraction by S. Independents Open Bid For E. T. Basketball Crown Tomorrow Night At Sherbrooke High School Gym

Playoffs got underway this week in the Eastern Townships Amateur Basketball League with the four top clubs playing in two home and home series. Tomorrow night at the Sherbrooke High School gym, the undefeated Independents visit the Athletics in "A" series at 8:00.

The Independents finished the eight-game schedule without a loss this season, dropping only two exhibition games to an American basketball entry. With only three wins to their credit the Athletics remain a dangerous threat to capture the series from Ray Brown's hoopsters.

The Athletics finished the series in third place, having suffered five losses. In second position, the Lennoxville Grads captured six games, losing two to the Independents. The Grads will meet Richmond in "B" series, which will open this Saturday night at the paper town. Richmond wound up the season in fourth position with six losses and two victories. Asbestos, who copped only one tilt in eight games, held down fifth place and are thereby eliminated from the playoffs.

The second game of "A" series will be played on Monday, March 1, at the S.H.S. gymnasium, when the Sherbrooke Independents will be host to the Athletics squad. This will be the final game of the home and home series, with total points being the deciding factor as to what club will be represented in the finals.

On Tuesday, March 2, Richmond and Lennoxville will resume their series, when the latter receives the Perkins' aggregation in the new L. H.S. gym. This is also a total-point series, with the winner clashing with the winner of "A" series, in the finals.

The finals will consist of a home and home series, with the winner of section "A" playing the winner of "B" section on March 10, then the return match and deciding game will be held on March 13, with "B" meeting section "A."

Provincial playoffs will be held in Shawinigan Falls this year, and judging from the brand of ball they've been playing in this loop, whatever team represents this district, we can be sure they'll put up a good showing.

George Beaulieu copped the individual scoring honors with 142 points, accoring to the year's statistics recently released by the league. Wearing the colors of the Independents on right wing, Beaulieu's average for eight games was roughly 17 points a game.

Beaulieu's wing-mate, Al Hunting, finished in number two spot in the standing, with 130 points in the same number of games. Rivalry was at its peak between the other three top players, with K. Perkins dominating third position with 94 points, J. Sparks holding down fourth with 91, and B. Billing of the Asbestos team with 82 points.

Manitoba Defeats Quebec 11-5 In Schoolboy Curling To Remain Only Undefeated Rink

Hamilton — (CP) — Manitoba today remained the only rink with a perfect record as the Canadian high school curling championships went into the third day.

Manitoba, represented by a school from Winnipeg, Tuesday night won its fourth straight game by defeating Quebec 11-5. The victory, coupled with Saskatchewan's 9-7 loss to northern Ontario, gave Manitoba sole possession of first place.

Saskatchewan's loss was its first and it now holds second place with three wins and one defeat. Five rinks — Ontario, northern Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Alberta — are tied for third place with two wins and two defeats each.

British Columbia, Quebec and Prince Edward Island are next with one win and three setbacks.

The bonspiel winds up Thursday.

Manitoba and Quebec Tuesday night played an alternate knock-out and draw game. The St. Michael's School rink from Riverbend, Que., was able to win only three of the 10 ends.

There were three mild surprises in last night's fourth round. Ontario blasted New Brunswick 12-4 and Alberta defeated Queen Elizabeth High from Halifax, 14-5, both New Brunswick and Nova Scotia skips conceding before a stone was thrown in the 10th end. Prince Edward Island's game rink from Charlottetown won its first game by defeating British Columbia 9-7.

The Sarnia, Ont., rink was the most improved Tuesday. It won in the afternoon, 10-9 over Quebec, and defeated New Brunswick's Bathurst High after losing twice Monday.

Ronty, Forgotten Man Of NHL, Key Figure In Rangers' Bid For Fourth Playoff Spot In Circuit

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Paul Ronty of New York is one of the forgotten men of the National Hockey League.

He has never wor a trophy, and never been voted to an all-star team. But New York fans say the 25-year-old centre is one of the main factors in the Rangers' rise into contention for the fourth play-off berth.

And they can back it up with statistics. While Maurice Richard of Montreal, Gordie Howe of Detroit and fellow-Ranger Wally Hergesheimer have been drawing the headlines, Ronty has slipped into sixth place in the NHL scoring race with a total of 44 points on 13 goals and 31 assists.

The 160-pound Toronto native has been the big gun in the Rangers' last three games, all victories, with one goal and four assists. The stretch drive has moved the Broadway squad to within one point of the fourth-place Boston Bruins, and the Rangers have a game in hand.

New York fans are at a loss to explain how Ronty has been passed up each year by the all-star selectors. Last year, he was second only to Alex Delvecchio of Detroit in scoring among league centres but Fleming Mackell of Boston took the first all-star berth, Delvecchio was voted the second spot.

BEST SEASON 1949-50

Ronty, who broke irto the NHL with Boston in 1947, had his best season in 1949-50, when he counted 23 goals and 36 assists for the Bruins. That placed him fifth in the scoring standings, but he was beaten out in the all-star voting by Sir Abel of Detroit and Ted Kennedy of Toronto.

The same fate seems in store for him thi svear. He and Dutch Reibel of Detroit are tied as the league's top-scoring centres, but Ken Mosdell of Montreal and Tod Sloan of Toronto won the nod in the mid-season voting.

Tonight the Bruins meet the Rangers in a contest that could decide the last Stanley Cup play-off spot.

The Bruins, knowing this and reviewing their former teammate's recent scoring splurge, are certain to be keeping a close check on Ronty.

Sports Roundup

New York—(AP)—You may look for the Yankees' contract troubles to diminish rapidly now that the boss of the world champions, quiet George Weiss, has acquainted Vic Raschi with some of the more unpleasant aspects of a hold-out's life.

Instead of spending another pleasant summer at the local stadium figuring out how to dispose of a $6,000 world series cheque, the big righthander finds himself an outcast from the American League and headed for St. Louis where the Cardinals, though ambitious and quick with a buck, are some years away from winning a pennant.

In announcing the deal which sent Raschi away for $75,000 and two minor players, the Yankee general manager left no doubt he was nettled at the demands being made upon him.

Raschi became the scapegoat, first, because he was the most expendable of the club's high-salaried veterans, and, second, because he has been a thorn in Weiss' sensitive hide every spring. Since 1951, when he last won 20 or more games, Raschi has steadfastly refused to be reduced from his $40,000 bracket, though his fast ball obviously was departing.

Weiss was not sore enough at Raschi to deal him to a contending club. The other American League clubs knew that Weiss would quickly withdraw the pitcher, as he is entitled to do twice under the waiver rule before it is for keeps.

Raschi has long been one of our favorite pitchers. Out there facing a batter he looks as mean as Burleigh Grimes used to, as if he would as soon toss the ball down said batter's throat as over the dish. There have been times, too, when he became convinced it was not just an optical illusion. We hope he does well at St. Louis, and have a strong hunch that he will.

If he should turn out to have another real good season in his 35-year-old frame, the Cardinals will have picked up one of the greatest bargains since Chicago Cubs got another pitcher Hank Borowy, from the Yanks in a strikingly similar manoeuvre in 1945. Vic might not win a pennant, as Borowy did, but he won't hold the Cards back, either.

Reynolds Comes To Terms With Yanks

Oklahoma City — (AP) — Allie Reynolds, New York Yankees' consistent winning right-hand pitcher, said Monday night he has agreed to terms for the 1954 season and will leave for spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla., today.

The "super chief" of the Yankee mound staff refused to divulge whether he had been given an increase over last year.

Irish Lizard Favorite In Grand National

London — (AP) — Irish Lizard moved into the favorite's role for the Grand National steeplechase Monday at odds of 10-1 in a call-over of London bookmakers at the Victoria Club.

Last year's winner, Early Mist, slumped to 33-1 after being the 100-9 joint favorite a week ago with Irish Lizard. The price on Early Mist was lengthened after the horse's trainer, Vic O'Brien, said the Irish jumper was a doubtful starter for the race March 27. O'Brien said the horse suffered an injury in training.

Coneyburrow now is second favorite at 100-9, with Queens Taste 100-6, Royal Tan 18-1 and Ordnance 20-1.

An Irish hospital sweepstakes is based on the result of the Grand National, world's toughest steeplechase.

Davidsson Wins National Singles

New York — (AP) — A tall young son of Sweden with lightning reflexes, Sven Davidsson, won the national indoor tennis championship Monday by subduing Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4, in the first all-foreign final in 27 years.

The rout took just 67 minutes before a crowd of 1,500.

Davidsson and Nielsen, both Davis Cup stars and champions of their respective countries, now plan to swing south to make the Florida circuit.

U.S. champion Tony Trabert and Davis Cup captain Bill Talbert teamed to take the doubles crown with a 6-4, 13-11, 8-6 victory over Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Budge Patty of New York.

It marked the fifth time in the last six years Talbert had shared in the doubles championship.

Raschi Waived Out Of A. L. And Sold To St. Louis Cards For $75,000 And Two Players

By JACK HAND

St. Petersburg, Fla. —(AP)— Vic Raschi, one of the "big three" of New York Yankees' pitching staff, was sold to St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday for $75,000 and two minor league players after he was surprisingly waived out of the American League.

The 34-year-old righthander had incurred the wrath of George Weiss, Yankee general manager, by holding out against a 25-percent cut in his $40,000 1953 salary and failing to acknowledge a letter from the front office on contract negotiations.

Weiss at the same time criticized the attitude of some other members of the world champions.

Without mentioning other names he said: "I don't want to make Raschi the whipping boy but there is an air of complacency . . . Some of the players don't seem to realize or will not admit that the club itself has had something to do with the five straight world series championships."

YANKS SURPRISED

Weiss said Waivers were asked Monday for Raschi. "We were somewhat surprised when no one asked for him. It appears no one wanted to pick up the tab (Raschi's salary), particularly since he has declined in the number of victories each year recently." He was used sparingly last year, winning 13 and losing six.

Manager Eddie Stanky of the National League Cardinals was "tickled silly" about the deal that gave him another dependable starter.

He said Raschi will be his No. 3 man, after Gerry Staley and Harvey Haddix.

Raschi didn't know about the deal until informed by a photographer. He seemed stunned by the news.

Raschi huddled with Card officials later in the day and was expected to sign at the $40,000 figure.

In his big league career, dating back to 1946, Raschi won 120 and lost 50. He appeared in six world series for a 5-3 record.

Rookie Hospitalized With Arm Injury

St. Petersburgh, Fla. —(AP)— Shortstop Alex Grammas, the St. Louis Cardinals' $100,000 rookie prospect, is in a hospital here with an arm injury.

Reports at the Cards' main training camp here said the young infielder injured his right arm—his throwing arm—while sliding into a base in a practice game at the club's early spring camp at De Land, Fla., Sunday.

Grammas was acquired from the Cincinnati Redlegs last winter in a $100,000 deal and has figured predominantly in the Cardinals' rebuilding plan for a pennant.

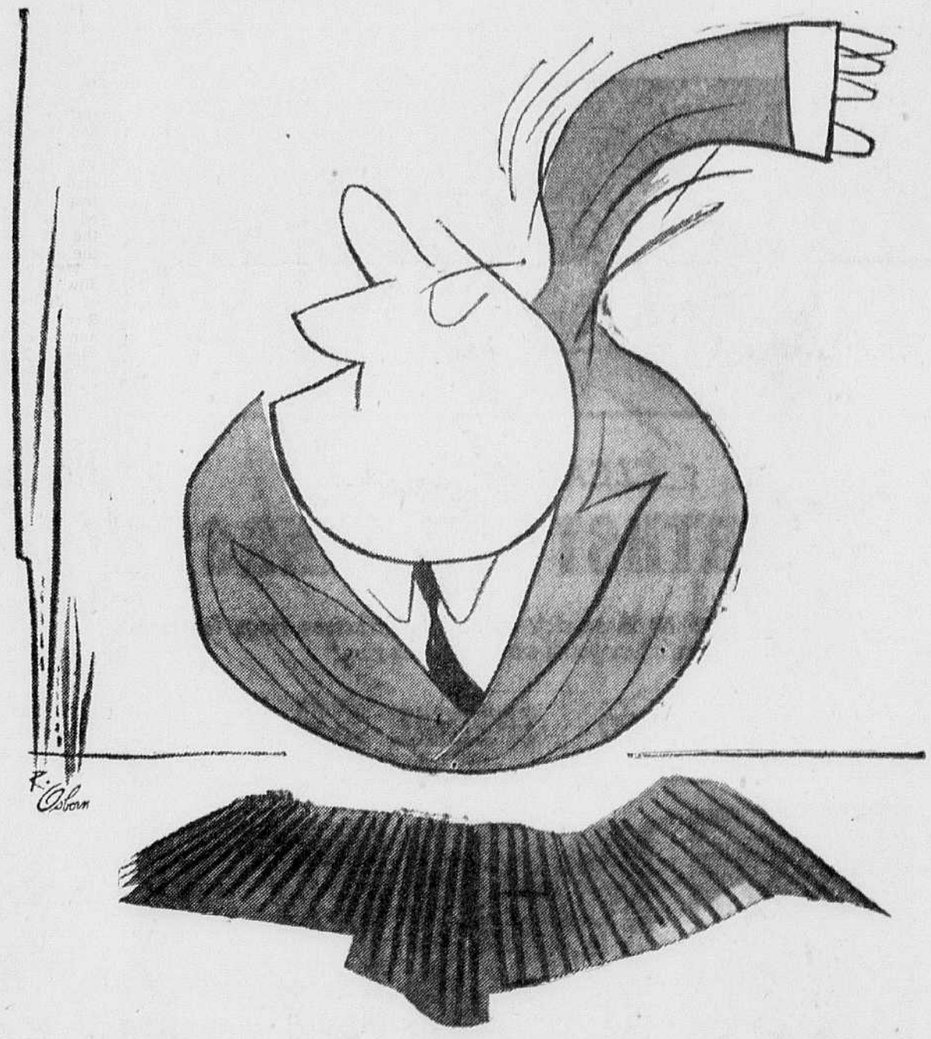
No. 3 in a series of RARE CREATURES:



THE ONE-WING BOASTY BIRD can't make headway with one wing tied, but still he wants to keep trying

A BOASTY BIRD is an advertiser who purposely flies in the face of experience — even though he knows it's harder that way.

He'd rather climb stairs on his hands and knees than take a comfortable ride in an elevator.

And he'd rather use an advertising method that might succeed in place of a method that doesn't fail.

Fortunately he's a rare creature.

The advertising that always does its job, of course, is newspaper advertising. It's basic.

Very few manufacturers or advertisers, for example, would even dream of trying to introduce a new product without using newspapers. Because only the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town . . . regularly . . . day in and day out.

And today more people are reading more newspapers than at any time in history.

No wonder it's basic for advertisers!

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!
