Fifty-seventh Year

World News In Brief

Bournemouth, Eng. — (Reuters) — A 15-year-old schoolboy committed suicide over a theft of four pence, it was stated at his inquest here Monday. Police had questioned Peter Harrison and another boy about money stolen from a church offertory box, and they were scheduled for an appearance in juvenile court. Last Friday Harrison was found hanging from a tree.

Tokyo — (Reuters) — A burglar broke into the home of former Princess Yori and her former husband, Takamasa Ikeda, today, a few hours before Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako arrived for a visit. The burglar alarm at the farm brought armed police from nearby Okayama city rushing to the house. They arrested a suspect with a silver jewel box.

London — (Reuters) — More than 72,000 overseas visitors entered Britain last month — 17,300 of them from the United States. September arrivals brought the total of visitors for the first nine months of the year to 687,000, an increase of 11 per cent over the same period last year.

London — (AP) — The Queen today pinned Britain's highest military decoration, the Victoria Cross, on Lt. Col. James Carne for his role in the battle at Korea's Imjin river in April, 1951.

Moscow — (AP) — Russia has accused Greece of taking measures directly aimed at a new war by granting United States military forces the right to use some Greek air and naval bases.

The charge was made in a sharp protest note delivered Monday night by Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, to the Greek charge d'affaires in Moscow, Thomas Ypsilanti.

Indians Will Get Tuition Grants

Ottawa — (AP) — At least 700 young Canadian Indians will get federal government assistance in advanced studies this year by tuition grants totalling some $300,000, Citizenship Minister Harris announced today.

The announcement came during the second day of a three-day conference here between the Indian affairs branch and 19 representatives of Canada's 156,000 Indians.

Mr. Harris said assistance previously given by his department to Indians learning trades or attending university has had "very satisfactory" results.

An Indian dentist, Roger Ross of the Songhees Band, has started a practice at Victoria. A Huron Indian from the Lorette reserve near Quebec, Leon Grosblous, was awarded the governor-general's silver medal as the medical graduate at Laval University this year.

Among Indians being assisted by the department this year are 18 university students; 21 students of nursing and 12 learning to be nurses; assistants, six attending normal school and seven teachers who took training courses during the summer; and 40 commercial students.

Many of these Indian students will return to help their own people but this is not a condition for assistance in advanced studies, Mr. Harris said. They would be free to make any use they wish of their talents and training.

British Guiana PPP Leaders To Be Detained Indefinitely

Georgetown, British Guiana. — (AP) — The London-appointed governor of this troubled British colony today announced the indefinite detention of five leaders of the leftist People's Progressive Party (PPP). An official statement said their activities constituted a threat to public safety and order.

The surprise action was taken under the emergency powers granted Governor Sir Alfred Savage early this month when Britain suspended the colony's six-month-old constitution and kicked out six PPP ministers, charging them with plotting to turn British Guiana into a Communist state.

The five under detention were identified as Sidney King, works minister in the ousted government of ex-prime minister Cheddi Jagan; Rory Westmaas, vice chairman of the party; Martin Carter, chairman of the PPP peace committee; Bally Lachman Singh, a former member of the colony's assembly; and Adjudah Singh.

The men were taken into custody Saturday after they had been accused of trying to whip up support for sugar-industry strikes that have plagued the colony since Britain's drastic troop-enforced action Oct. 9.

The official statement said the governor had decided it was necessary "to make orders directing that they be apprehended and detained in safe custody until such a time as he may further direct" to prevent them from acting in a manner prejudicial to the public interest.

The statement added, however, that "owing to widespread intimidation and fear of victimization" it had been found difficult to obtain eye-witness evidence to support the charges that the men were promoting strikes.

Britain has accused PPP leaders of plotting—with Moscow backing—a campaign of arson aimed at bringing about Communist control of the colony.

Jagan, who flew to London to present his case to the British public, has denied the charge, asserting "a plot has been invented where there is none." He also denied the PPP is Communist.

U.S. Envoy Warns Reds They Must Accept Blame If Korean Talks Collapse

6 Lifeboat Men Drown Off Coast

Arbroath, Scotland. — (AP) — Six lifeboat men, weary from an all-night battle with a gale-tossed sea, were drowned early today within sight of the lights of their own homes.

Only one member of the crew survived. The 35-foot lifeboat put out Monday night in answer to a report that a vessel was in trouble off the Ichnepa Rock. That rock, the graveyard of many ships, was the subject of a poem by Robert Southey.

Friends and relatives gathered along the harbor wall as the returning lifeboat approached the breakwater. They watched in horror as a giant wave caught it.

Shouts from the crowd reached them as the boat was tossed onto rocks only 50 yards from shore. Then nothing could be heard but the roar of the sea and the howling of the gale.

A rocket line fired from shore tangled around the body of the only survivor, Archibald Smith. With its help he pulled himself to safety and was rushed to hospital.

Later, seafarers from this little port found the body of the coxswain, David Bruce, in the wreckage of the lifeboat. He had lashed himself to the helm. Three bodies were recovered from the sea and a search still is under way for the others.

Italy Is Lashed By Heavy Rain

Rome — (Reuters) — Violent rain storms brought new floods to Italy today as the cabinet met to decide on immediate and long-term aid for people already hit, particularly in the backward and desperately-poor Calabria province in the extreme south.

The new floods swept through low-lying ground in northern Italy, in the south, in East Sicily, and in Northern Sardinia.

In the north, the Po, Italy's longest river, rose hourly under the lash of heavy rain. Meteorologists predicted more rain in the next 24 hours.

More mountain torrents in the southern "toe" of Italy spilled over their banks and added their water to the floods which last week covered 400 square miles.

Damage to public property alone already totals about $5,000,000. It is still impossible to calculate damage to crops and private property.

Some 100 people are believed to have died.

Cat Is Rescued From Hydro Pole

Toronto — (AP) — An alley cat was rescued from a 30-foot hydro pole today, ending a 48-hour disagreement between two municipalities over whose area kitty had perched on.

The cat, chased the cat up the pole Sunday on the boundary between Toronto and Forest Hill townships.

A resident called the Humane Society. The society said it could not do anything about it. The City hall was checked. It couldn't do anything.

No Headway Is Made After Two Days Of Preliminary Meetings.

Panmunjom — (AP) — United States Ambassador Arthur Dean warned today that unless the Reds get down to business in planning the Korean peace talks they face the "onus of not having a political conference."

After his second straight day of stand-off preliminary talks with the Communists, Dean told reporters that if the Reds "persist in their attitude" they must face such a responsibility.

In the two-hour, 22-minute session today, both sides clung stubbornly to opposing designs for the conference and even how to plan it.

The Communists again demanded that non-belligerent countries be invited to the peace talks and that this question be settled before anything else—time or place—was discussed.

Dean insisted that only those countries whose troops fought in Korea should make the peace, and urged the Reds to settle on a site and date for the conference. Dean warned:

"If we invite neutral nations, we may turn the political conference into an endless debating society."

"In the meantime, our troops face each other across an uneasy armistice."

Another meeting will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. EST Tuesday).

Meanwhile, Indian officers attached to the Korean repatriation commission said privately that there appeared to be no hope of resuming on a large scale the interviews with anti-Red war prisoners who have refused to go home.

The five-nation neutral commission settled down to an almost "do nothing" routine—its only chore the care of 22,776 unrepatriated POWs in its custody.

There was no hint of a crack in the tight deadlock resulting from the communist demand 10 days ago that all communist Korean prisoners be forced to appear before Red interviewers.

A commission sub-committee worked today for an hour on a long letter to both the United Nations and communist commands. The letter will set forth in detail opposing views which have paralyzed the neutral commission. It probably will be ready for delivery in two or three days.

The full commission meets at 10 a.m. Wednesday (8 p.m. EST Tuesday), but there is no prospect that any prisoners will be interviewed. And there is no indication that the Korean POWs will attend the interviews voluntarily or that the communists will back down on their demand that the prisoners be forced to attend.

Community May Have To Be Moved

Dubreuilville, Ont. — (CP) — This community of some 200 persons today is a miniature Quebec City, built like the ancient capital on a steep hill, but three years from now it may have moved on.

The village, which has already moved once in its four-year history, thrives on timber. When the timber is cut the lumbermen, for their families, move farther into the bush.

Now set around a lake in the midst of burnt over forest about 120 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, the predominantly French-Canadian community was brought to this area two years ago from a site 50 miles to the east.

It was made possible when the Canadian government in 1949 granted the four Dubreuil brothers, formerly of Taschereau, Que., a contract to cut timber in one section of a huge area burned over by forest fires the year before.

The brothers began at Mountain Ash lake, 50 miles east of here. They gathered workers and workers' families and built homes for them. But late in 1950 the cutting area was petering out.

The government granted a second contract in the area surrounding the site of the present Dubreuilville. Augustine, second youngest of the four, was sent to timber-cruise the area.

He found a townsite too. The lumbermen built six miles of winding road into it, put up log houses on the old Quebec plan and moved the whole village, women and children, to the present site.

The community has an appearance of permanency that belies its future. There's indoor plumbing, electric lights, a modern church and school, a general store and level streets.

But the brothers said that although it will take some 15 years to cut their 16-township tract, the area around Dubreuilville will be cut in two or three years and they'll have to push the bush road farther and move the community back into the wilderness.

The four manage the whole timber-cutting operation as a family affair. Napoleon, the eldest, is general manager; Joachim is woods superintendent. Augustine, saw mill manager and Marcel, manager of the planing mill.

Baby Sitter Is Abducted From Home

By CHRIS EDMONDS

Lacrosse, Wis. — (AP) — Lacrosse was an uneasy town Monday night, a town where parents of 'teen-age girls stirred restlessly at strange noises, where everyone stayed home because there were no baby-sitters.

This was the town of 50,000 where 15-year-old Evelyn Hartley, daughter of a college professor, disappeared Saturday night when baby-sitting so a family could attend a football game.

"You expect things like this to happen in New York or Chicago or St. Louis, but not in Lacrosse," said a neighbor of the Hartleys.

Rewards totalling $450 have been posted for information leading to the arrest of Miss Hartley's abductor. All law-enforcement agencies in this county joined forces in the search for the man who apparently forced a basement window at the Viggo Rasmussen home and spirited her away.

But there were no tangible clues. Footprints of about a size-10 shoe, were found leading to the Rasmussen home in a new subdivision. Bloodhounds followed the tracks a few blocks, then stopped. Officers figured the girl was shoved into a car at that point.

Bloodstains on the outside of the Rasmussen home and on other houses in the vicinity were analyzed by a state crime laboratory team.

Exactly when Miss Hartley, an attractive dark-haired high school junior, was taken forcibly from the Rasmussen home was not known. One neighbor reported he heard a scream about 7:15 p.m. Saturday, but thought it was children playing. Another said his dog growled and ran to a window about the same time. But he did nothing either.

The girl's father, Richard, 48, a professor at Lacrosse State College, discovered her missing several hours later. She had not called home as usual and he went to the Rasmussen home to investigate. The radio was playing loudly and the doors were locked. Hartley couldn't get in, but he found the basement window open and slid down.

Only traces of his daughter were her shoes and a living-room floor.

The Senator made the disclosure of the atomic heating system in a statement supporting GE's bid for authority to build a dual-purpose atomic electric power plant at Hanford. He declined to disclose the source of his information, but said it was "completely reliable."

Some Methods Used At Birth Of Babies Are Termed Lethal

By BERNARD DUFRESNE Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec — (AP) — A Toronto obstetrician said today many methods and devices used in getting infants to breathe at birth are "dangerous and even lethal."

"Children have survived, in many cases, in spite of the treatment they received and not because of it," Dr. John Mann said in a paper prepared for delivery at the 28th meeting of the International Anaesthesia Research Society.

"Because they managed to survive the ordeal of slaps and bangs, hot baths and cold ones, the treatment was given the credit," he said.

"Doubtless some have succumbed to the ill-advised use of some of the methods that might have survived if only nature had been given a chance."

Dr. Mann, a trainer engineer who later took up medicine, was demonstrating his "infant resuscitator" machine designed to introduce oxygen in a new born baby's lungs and start respiration.

He said the machine, invented three years ago, now is used in hospitals in a half-dozen Canadian cities. It was first tested for two years at Toronto General Hospital.

The fundamental problem in starting newborn babies breathing was to get the first gas going to start the lungs expanding.

"Too many people get impatient about obtaining the inspiratory gas and often resort to overzealous and sometimes disastrous methods," he said.

Objection to mechanical resuscitators was a result of their being applied to infants without any investigation of the airway, he said. Delivery of oxygen by mask to an infant with an obstructed airway was dangerous.

"You're got to pull out the plug before you let oxygen in," he said. His resuscitator sucks clogging mucus into a transparent drainage trap. Oxygen is then let in through the tube. Oxygen pressure is regulated by a safety valve and cannot change.

Dr. Mann said each case of resuscitation requires individual treatment which cannot be accomplished by automatic mechanical devices.

"The sooner this fact is realized and accepted, the sooner disasters will be avoided," he said.

Refrigerator Locks Trap Youngsters

Chicago — (AP) — Each of 28 children who were smothered in abandoned refrigerators in the United States this year died because two small screws held firmly in place, a service expert said.

"You can render virtually any refrigerator harmless by removing the lock stop from the doorsill, as in most models this metal part is held by only two screws," said Harry D. Busby, statistician for the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society.

Busby said 8,000 members of this group—the men who maintain and repair refrigerators—have pledged their help to their communities in making old iceboxes harmless in their communities.

"But anyone can do it," he said. "It takes about two minutes, and it doesn't damage the refrigerator or keep it from being put back into service."

The service engineers' group has records of 43 child deaths in 49 refrigerator accidents occurring in the United States and Canada since 1945.

These records are sketchy for some years because some accidents involving only one child were not reported widely. Real attention was focused on the abandoned refrigerator menace last August when 11 children were smothered within a 36-hour period after they became locked in the boxes. Five children died in one such tragedy at Proctor, Ark. Two others died a short time later at Windsor, Ont.

This year's U.S. toll is already twice that of 1952.

One reason for the recent increase in such deaths, Busby said, is that a tremendous sale of new refrigerators has caused a glut of old ones.

London Strike Has Ended

London — (Reuters) — London's gasoline truckers drove their big tankers to the city's garages and oil depots today for the first time in a week, ending an abortive strike over wage claims and union jurisdiction.

Their return meant back to back-racks for more than 6,000 servicemen brought to London last weekend to keep gas and oil supplies rolling. Their intervention killed the strike, which had thinned road traffic throughout the metropolitan area.

The 2,500 truckers and their helpers voted Monday to go back to work and leave representatives of the Transport and General Workers' Union to negotiate their claims with the oil companies. The first union-company meeting will be held Wednesday.

The union opposed the strike, alleged by the government to be Communist-inspired. Labor members of Parliament also condemned it.

The strikers demanded that their salaries, about the equivalent of $21 a week for drivers, be raised by $1.40. They also sought dismissal of five non-union drivers and a review of a new distribution method which they fear will cut into earnings.

Cairo — (Reuters) — An Egyptian doctor who was said to have turned part of a hospital for the poor into a cabaret for ex-king Farouk was sentenced today to 15 years' imprisonment and confiscation of all wealth he has acquired since September, 1939.

Dr. Ahmed el Nakib, former director of Moassat Hospital at Alexandria, was charged before the Egyptian revolutionary tribunal with acts harming the country's interests through his relations with Farouk. He was also accused of misusing his own position to misappropriate hospital funds.

Bern, Switzerland — (Reuters) — Three persons were killed Monday when a helicopter hit a high-tension cable and crashed near here.

Milk Strike Continuing In New York

New York — (AP) — New York City officials strove desperately today to effect an agreement in a strike that has cut the flow of fresh milk for 12,000,000 persons in the metropolitan area.

City prodding kept negotiations going early today in the wage-hour dispute between representatives of 200 companies and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL), the union of the 13,000 striking drivers and plant workers.

Talks had been going on since Monday morning, with federal, state and city mediators present. However, at 2 a.m. EST today the various parties left the conference room without indicating whether the talks were continuing elsewhere. The sessions had been held at three different hotels in as many days.

Just before midnight, negotiators for both sides said they would remain in session—separately or together—throughout the night. They said, however, there would be no announcement before completion of a formal meeting scheduled for 10 a.m.

Deliveries to homes and retail outlets were cut off by the strike, which started Sunday afternoon. Consumers lined up Monday outside dairy plants for rationed milk or turned to such substitutes as evaporated and powdered milk.

The union kept milk supplies going to hospitals, schools and some other institutions. Milk tank trucks were diverted from the city to processing plants, for cheese and other dairy foods.

Robert Abelow, counsel for the companies, refused to comment on a report that the dealers might ask President Eisenhower to invoke the Taft-Hartley labor act and seek an 80-day no-strike injunction.

A $15-a-week wage increase and a 35-hour work week instead of the present 40 hours are sought by the teamsters. The company representatives were reported offering package boosts of up to $2.10 an hour. The firms say current wages range from $82 a week for plant workers to $125 plus commissions for wholesale route salesmen.

Grays, England — (Reuters) — Eight British merchant seamen were fined a total equivalent to $380 Monday for their part in a wild party aboard a freighter off Bombay last August. The men pleaded guilty to 32 charges arising during a night aboard the 6,219-ton Lord Church in which the crew members ran wild aboard the ship in a drunken spree and attacked officers. They had broken into the ship's liquor cargo.

Johannesburg — (AP) — The South African government Monday announced it has abandoned a self-imposed restriction on the processing of gold on the free market. It now will sell gold in bars and not in strips and plate as formerly. The government said this change will give this gold-producing country a greater scope for sales and probably more profits to mines.

U.S. Senate Committee Seeks Gouzenko Interview

New York — (AP) — Counsel for the McCarthy and Jenner Senate investigating sub-committees have joined in a move to interview Igor Gouzenko, former code clerk in the Soviet embassy at Ottawa.

Gouzenko, who helped break the 1945 Canadian spy case, has been quoted as saying a "talk with either of the sub-committees would be worth while."

The joint reaction of the committees' counsel Monday was "delighted."

The statement came from Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the Senate permanent sub-committee on investigations, headed by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep., Wis.), and Robert Morris, chief counsel of the Senate internal security sub-committee, headed by Senator William E. Jenner (Rep., Ind.).

The two counsels said they had asked the state department to request permission of Canadian authorities to see Gouzenko in Canada. He has been living under cover in Canada since breaking away from the Soviet embassy and telling a story that helped bring six espionage convictions.

An interview with Gouzenko by Eugene Griffin, Ottawa correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, quoted the former code clerk as saying Russian spy rings are still operating in Canada and the United States.

Tax Inspectors Pay 1st Visit To Scillies

By EMERSON CHAPIN

St. Mary's, Scilly Isles, England — (Reuters) — Dark clouds and gloom shadowed Britain's sunny Atlantic paradise today as two income tax inspectors opened an unprecedented visit to hitherto-tax-free soil.

The weather, traditional ally of the Scillies' thriving tourist business, did its best Monday to buffet the islanders again, buffeting back the travellers' light plane. But the tax men pushed on through the driving winds and set their craft down safely for their "goodwill and fact-finding visit."

Little goodwill was felt by the 1,800 natives of a region by-passed by tax collectors for the last 111 years. "The visitors are here" was the word passed through the pubs and over the fences.

The Scillies, a cluster of islands southwest of Land's End, have been dreading the visit ever since treasury chief Richard A. Butler announced in his budget speech last April that he would correct the "defective machinery of assessment" causing the Scillies' happy state of affairs to end. The islanders then were given a year's respite, with pay-as-you-go tax due to be imposed at the start of the new fiscal year next April.

The main tasks now of the tax men are to gather data on the number of persons who will be subject to assessments and to acquaint the people with the intricacies of paying income tax.

The islanders claim that their tax immunity has been more than compensated by the high cost of living on the five inhabited islands. Freight charges from the mainland raise prices levels of most commodities to 30 per cent above those in England proper.

The islands derived their immunity from the fact that they were free of land tax in the 19th century. At that time they were too poor to provide any revenue, natives say. When Britain installed its income tax system it utilized the existing land tax administrative machinery, and the Scillies remained outside all subsequent impositions.

London Has New Daily Newspaper

London — (Reuters) — The first edition of London's first new daily newspaper in 25 years, the Recorder, hit the news stands today.

A 10-page morning paper with an accent on the personalities of big business, the Recorder aims at an initial circulation of 100,000 copies selling at twopence each.

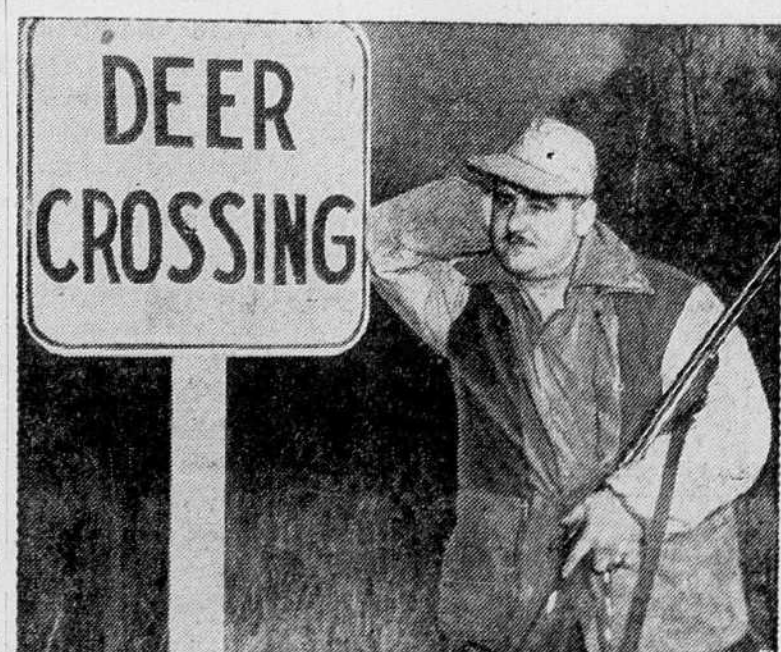

In a statement of policy the Recorder proclaims itself as independent of party of newspaper chains, of financial interests, and unbiased in its views.

If it is a success in London it will seek a national circulation. The first edition presents mainly home news with a small sprinkling of foreign reports. Whole pages are devoted to market reports and sport.

Controlling shareholder in the new company, the Recorder Limited, is William J. Brittain, publisher of 12 local London suburban papers and industrial magazines.

He began his career as a reporter in Hull, England, gained experience on Canada's Montreal Star and Toronto Star and later returned to London as an editorial executive on Northcliffe and Beaverbrook newspapers.

Johannesburg — (AP) — The South African government Monday announced it has abandoned a self-imposed restriction on the processing of gold on the free market. It now will sell gold in bars and not in strips and plate as formerly. The Crow and the Pitcher

A THIRSTY CROW found a Pitcher with some water in it, but so little was there that, try as she might, she could not reach it with her beak, and it seemed as though she would die of thirst within sight of the remedy. At last she hit upon a clever plan. She began dropping pebbles into the Pitcher, and with each pebble the water rose a little higher until at last it reached the brim, and the knowing bird was enabled to quench her thirst.

Hitch-Hiker Overhears Men Telling About Hold-Up, Planning Another

Provincial, Municipal and Royal Canadian Mounted Police are on the look-out today for a 1953 big black sedan, bearing Ontario license plates.

The occupants of the car are wanted for questioning in connection with a hold-up in the district of Montreal.

Alertness on the part of a shy and frightened hitch-hiker and overconfidence on the part of the occupants of the car resulted in the chase.

A Melbourne youth was hitch-hiking his way to Sherbrooke recently when two well-dressed men in a black sedan offered him a ride. He climbed into the back seat and thanked the men in French for offering him the lift. The men were speaking English.

On route to Sherbrooke, the hitch-hiker overheard the two men telling about a robbery which they had pulled off in the Montreal district. Frightened, he made sure he did not speak any English and pretended not to understand any. He asked to be dropped off in Sherbrooke and said "bonjour, merci."

After overcoming his nervousness he went to the municipal police station here and told his story. He also told the police that he had seen a revolver in the front seat of the car. He also said that the men were planning another robbery. He thought he heard them say Graniteville.

The customs officers at the border were checked to see if any car had gone by but had not reported since it was not headed for the United States. He said the car turned right at the border and was headed for Graniteville, Que. This information fitted in with that given by the youth.

Reinforcements were sent to search the Beebe and Graniteville area.

Provincial and Royal Canadian Mounted Police sped to the scene but they found no clues.

The search is continuing.

Anyone seeing a car meeting the description given above is asked to phone the nearest police station.

These men are alleged to be armed and are in their mid-thirties. One wears glasses.

Red Feather Failure Will Hurt Agencies

"What happens if the Red Feather Community Chest Campaign doesn't reach its objective? What actual effect will that have on the organizations that derive part of their revenue from it?"

Many people ask this question, and with real justification, for it is a matter of real concern to any community just what would happen to organizations which serve the community and its people at a cost far in excess of the fees they are able to charge.

A large contribution has been made over the year by the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., the Scouts, and the libraries, a contribution which has greatly affected the social and cultural and ethical life of the community.

There will be a distinct loss if these organizations were forced through lack of financial support to suspend operations, or even reduce them. Actually, the services should be expanded in order to permit them to serve to their fullest capacity, enriching the life of city and district in so many ways.

Yet that is what will have to happen if the money needed to balance the budgets for the year is not forthcoming.

Contributions to Red Feather are urgently needed. You must not fail them.

Maurice Parsons Retires As Head Of St. Pat's Old Boys' Association

The St. Patrick's Old Boys' Association held their regular monthly meeting last night, with Maurice Parsons in the chair for the last time.

Mr. Parsons is relinquishing the presidency because of the pressure of other business.

Following the regular business session, nominations were held for a new president and Solo Parker was elected to office to fill the post vacated by Mr. Parsons until the end of the year. Edmund Tobin was elected a director to take Mr. Parsons' place on the board.

Mr. Parker, in accepting the presidency, said that he knew he was voicing the sentiments of all the old boys in saying that they were going to miss Mr. Parsons in the chair. He remarked on the growth of the Association under Mr. Parsons' guidance during the last eight years and expressed the hope that he would still be around to give help and guidance.

Henry Crochettier, association secretary-treasurer, also paid high tribute to the work done by Mr. Parsons during his term as president.

In 1947 the camp at Stoke Lake was purchased at a price of $4,000," he said. "Today we value it at $40,000."

Mr. Parsons and Mr. Crochettier are the only members elected in 1945 who are still on the board of directors.

Rev. J. R. Moisan, pastor of St.

MAURICE PARSONS

Patrick's church, presented Mr. Parsons, on behalf of the Old Boys, with a set of travelling bags.

Father Moisan said that although Mr. Parsons was giving up the presidency he was not to think he was through working. He would always be around and would still be called upon when his help was needed.

Mr. Parsons, Father Moisan said, should be proud of his achievement as president of the Old Boys for the last eight years. The Boys Camp at Stoke Lake would always remain as a monument to him for a job well and truly done.

Mr. Parsons, in reply, thanked the speakers for their kind words and for the gift he received from the association.

He said that although he was relinquishing the chair, he would still be around when the monthly meetings were held and would be glad to give his time and advice when needed.

He expressed special thanks to Henry Crochettier for his help and co-operation.

Following the meeting the regular smoker was held.

Robert White Visits Local Lions Club

The Sherbrooke Lions Club last night received an official visit from Robert White, of Magog, their deputy district governor.

Mr. White, who was accompanied by Al Swager, president of the Magog club, gave a talk on Lionism in which he outlined some of the essential duties of members.

He reminded members of the pledge of service that they gave when they signed their membership forms and said that this service "is the cheapest form of anything we can do for humanity today."

Mr. White also traced the history and growth of Lionism from its foundation to the present day when it has more than 400,000 members in 46 countries.

Introduced by Leopold Chevalier, Mr. White was thanked by Doug Amaron.

Following his address Mr. White presented Mr. Amaron with the gavel he used while president of the Sherbrooke club last year.

President Jean Gauthier announced that the annual Goyettes banquet is planned for next month. Mr. Chevalier, chairman of the White Cane committee, announced that White Cane week this year will be Dec. 21, 22 and 23.

A meeting of the board of directors followed the regular session. At this meeting the sum of $50 was voted to help defray the funeral expenses of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Bradley. The four children were asphyxiated in a fire here last week.

PROBLEM DRIVERS

Such assertions as "There are more lunatics behind the wheels of cars than in mental hospitals" may sound rather exaggerated at first glance, but the more one sees and reads of traffic accidents, fatal and otherwise, the more one is ready to admit that there is a great element of truth in such statements.

Speaking before the National Safety Council convention in Chicago the other day, a Detroit court psychiatrist, Dr. Alan Cardy, gave a report on ten thousand problem drivers his clinic has examined. One hundred were held committably insane, 850 were feeble-minded, and 1,000 had a background of mental trouble.

Others in the group were suffering from psychoneurosis, emotional instability, and various other forms of irresponsibility.

This leads to the question: How do these unbalanced people act in traffic? Some are rather harmless, overworking their horns in an attempt to bully their way through traffic. In fact, the fellow behind you who starts tooting for full speed ahead as the red light changes to amber probably belongs to one of these categories. Generally such people have small respect for traffic laws.

One thing this report proves is that it is not enough to check an erratic driver for drunkenness anymore. He may not be right in the head. What his difficulty, his right to drive is in serious dispute.

A SERVICE TO FREEDOM'S CAUSE

In Canada, the United States and many other parts of the world, freedom is a thing you are born with. You do not have to choose it.

In other large sectors of the earth, mostly Russia and its satellite nations, freedom is no man's birthright. There you cannot buy it or beg it. Only a comparative handful can steal it — by escaping beyond the borders of those slave lands.

Placed in this perspective, the events now transpiring at Panmunjom in Korea appear quite remarkable. For there some 22,500 men are being given a chance to make the choice of a lifetime, to decide whether they shall live henceforth in freedom or under tyranny.

These men, Chinese and North Korean prisoners in United Nations hands, have gained this opportunity largely because the United States insisted that they should not be repatriated against their will. We would not accept a truce that did not contain that provision.

If a philosopher were to contemplate the process of choosing, he surely would assume that for each man it would be a solemn moment, marked perhaps by last-minute soul searching as the captive weighs freedom against the probable loss of all future contact with his family and friends in his homeland.

Actually, it is proving to be nothing of the sort. The overwhelming majority of these men made their hard choice months or even years ago, while they were still subject to the harsh persuasions of fellow prisoners loyal to the Communist cause.

So, for these the last moment of choice is in weird contrast to the solemnity of the decision. Some prisoners stand with their backs to the Communist "explaners" trying to woo them back into slavery. Others scream violent oaths and epithets. Most virtually have to be forced to listen. The average interviews so far have lasted less than two minutes.

That is not a long time, but, as indicated, just a very small percentage of the prisoners come to the "explaining booth" with any lingering doubts. Up to now, about 2 per cent of the doubtfuls have decided to return to their Communist homes.

The philosopher might wish it otherwise, but the violent rejections most prisoners are recording in the presence of their humiliated Communist persuaders serve well the cause the free world seeks to advance in Asia and elsewhere.

If communism is indeed the ordinary man's paradise, how account for these countless human explosions against it? The answer, naturally, is a simple one.

Communism is not a theory alone to these men. They have lived under it. The vehemence of their reaction when asked to return to it measures their understanding of its horror. Let men everywhere who are ignorant of unsure of the perils of tyranny mark these responses well.

ALMOST AN ALOUETTE

Financial Post

A last minute switch from professional football to advertising has been a happy choice for 44-year-old George "Carvel" Hammond, who was last week elected president of the Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies.

One of the youngest men ever to head the association (which represents over 90 per cent of all national advertising in Canada), he is vice-president, a director and Montreal manager of Cockfield Brown and Company. As CAAA president he will be responsible for co-ordinating and guiding the inter-company activities of the association's 46 member agencies.

"I think the main job is to help bring along the younger people in our industry. Executive training is not being given the attention it deserves in many Canadian advertising agencies today," he feels, adding: "Also, we'll do our best to let people know that advertising is not a game but a very serious business. One indication of its ever increasing importance in the economy has been the gradual movement into the top management bracket of company advertising managers."

Born in Sherbrooke, Hammond was president of the students council at Sherbrooke high school and in his final year, captain of six school teams. After a short stint in the accounting department of Quebec Central Railway Co. (now part of CPR) he went to McGill's school of commerce. His graduating class (1933) named him permanent president. He starred on McGill's inter-collegiate football team, and won colors in basketball and track. Summer vacations were spent in the home-town, helping to produce the weekly Sherbrooke Telegram.

The post-university future was decided when the manager of the Montreal Alouettes Big-Four football team offered him a contract. But the night before the season's first game against Toronto Argonauts, the late Harry Cockfield offered him the job of treasurer in the company's Montreal office. "I haven't played football since," Hammond confesses.

In his spare time, Hammond continues sporting interests, but in less rugged outlets than football, in the winter curling, in summer tennis and fishing.

Hammond is a director of the Bureau of Broadcast Measurement, a council member of the International Chamber of Commerce and the Montreal Board of Trade. Other club affiliations include the Town of Mount Royal Curling Club (of which he is a director), Hillside Tennis Club and the Basque Fish and Game Club.

Married in 1934 to the former Margaret Evelyn Gough, a high school friend from Sherbrooke, they have two sons, 17 and 8, both attending schools in Mount Royal.

LIQUOR AND WHITE HOUSE — NEW TYPE TRAFFIC COP AMBASSADOR ON THE RUN — REPORTERS GET BRUSH-OFF

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The statement that "no liquor is being served in private or public functions at the White House," made by Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, has brought an explanation from Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary.

"Ordinarily, the refreshments served at White House functions are nonalcoholic. The only exceptions are toasts to the President or the heads of foreign governments. Because of long-established diplomatic protocols, toasts are drunk in wine."

White House staff members contend, however, that even the champagne punch served at the major functions is still the greatest boost for temperance ever devised. It has no identifiable spike at all.

If this "dry law" is now in effect at the White House, it represents a change. Some of the big shots who attended those mysterious state dinners given earlier this year by President Eisenhower reported afterwards that cocktails were served.

The Bard, Perchance

There's one as yet unidentified Washington traffic policeman who has developed a new technique of talking to John Q. Public. Two reports have come in on him, but both traffic-code violators have been so startled by his novel approach that they failed to get his number.

A man who stopped his automobile in a "No Parking" zone to take a picture at the Washington Zoo was hailed by this officer from his cruise car with:

"Good afternoon, sir. Could we prevail upon you to park your vehicle in a slightly more legal manner?"

A motorcycle courier, flagged over to the curb for going a little too fast in downtown traffic, was flabbergasted by the query, apparently from this same officer:

"Whither away? To conflagration, perchance?"

Second Thought

Signor Alberto Tarachino, Italy's ambassador to Washington, has always been known as a friendly and talkative diplomat. But when he came out of a State Department conference on the ticklish Trieste situation the other day, he obviously wasn't in a talking mood.

He tried to brush through the crowd of reporters waiting for him. But in the corridor, where he was forced to wait for an elevator, reporters surrounded him.

"I have only one thing to say," he declared in desperation. He swallowed hard and then added, "I have nothing to say."

Brush Is Showing

White House photographers are still grumbling at the rough treatment they got at President Eisenhower's Hershey, Pa., birthday-party celebration.

Most of the blame was put on Band Leader Fred Waring, who earlier had tangled, then made peace, with the reporters following his threat not to allow them to use their typewriters.

Waring, who was in charge of the entertainment, laid down so many do's and don'ts for photographers that they were unable to get any decent shots of the festivities.

At one point when photographers tried to picture the President helping Mrs. Eisenhower out of the Dutch buggy, Waring moved in, shouting, "Move back. Move back! I've got a show to put on."

Pennsylvania state troopers then brushed everyone out of the way.

Love, Honor, Security

Miss Pat Priest, one of this season's Washington debutantes, was quizzed recently by a girl reporter on the kind of man she hoped to marry.

He must be someone "who can promise happiness, love and SECURITY," replied Miss Priest with emphasis on the last word.

Her mother, by the way, is Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States.

Help Wanted

Top Republican administrators have decided that one of the big needs in the federal service today is more men who are experts on the technique of government procedures and management. At Department of Commerce a study is under way to try to analyze just what it takes to be a good government administrator.

When Uncle Sam determines from the Commerce study just what the personality and talent specialties are for a good government boss, big recruiting campaigns will be launched to get such individuals on the federal payroll.

AS LONG AS THERE ARE HOMES

As long as there are homes to which folks turn when day is through
As long as someone's waiting there, to welcome me and you —
With happy heart and welcome smile, a greeting true.
As long as there are children to live up the house,
With a pussy cat on a mat to chase away a mouse.
As long as there is food enough, and a little more to spare —
To give a stranger bite and sup, we have no need to care.
With a Bible on the table, and a flag upon the wall,
As long as there are homes like these, we need not fear at all.

THE MATURE PARENT

HERE'S A REALISTIC ANSWER TO "WHY DID IT HAPPEN TO ME?"

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I have finally been asked "That Question." It's been asked by the mother of a 20-year-old boy who left home for his vacation job one morning and didn't return. Instead, he telephoned to say that he'd found himself a furnished room and was going to continue to work this fall rather than go back to college.

He said he could see no other answer to his parents' demand that he pursue academic training he doesn't want and asks their understanding and forgiveness. From the bed to which she's retired in nervous collapse, his mother cries out "That Question." "Why did this happen to me?" With all sympathy, may I suggest that it's happened to her because like countless other human beings, she is subject to disappointment? It's happened because none of us is given special insurance policies against the frustration of our wishes.

We can no more control the destiny of another person than we can control the seasons of growth and decay. So the fact that we can ask such a question is intimately related to our suffering. It implies that we are a human being who denies that he has human limitations.

It is, I expect, our refusal to accept these limitations that has put us to bed with nervous collapse.

For when we regard ourselves as a special brand of creature above the disappointments lesser mortals suffer, we don't make ourselves likely prospects for trust or confidence. Our assumption that we are entitled to special protection against the frustration of our wishes makes it impossible for our grown son to say, "Mother, let's discuss my desire to go against your wishes." Rather than face the explosion, he gives up hope of understanding — and leaves home.

It's been my experience that self-centeredness is always behind "That Question." Since we can't accept our boy's limitations until we accept our own, our attitude will continue to separate us from him unless we correct it.

So long as we insist on regarding ourselves as a unique victim of disappointment, we cannot possibly respond to his disappointment. How, then, can we expect to help him think through his discouragement over college?

So let's stop raging at life for presuming to deny us a wish. We are not the Almighty ordaining the destinies of others. Let's get out of bed, make ourselves a bowl of hot soup — and ask our son to come over and tell us why his wish seems more important than ours.

If we listen with understanding and love, that's all the present moment requires of us.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

LEARN FINESSE AND AVOID GRIEF

The finesse is a peculiar play: you spend half of your bridge cards in the hope of making the diamonds are not 3-3. The average player would win the first trick with the ace of hearts, draw trumps, and perhaps even run an extra trump or two for good measure.

In today's hand, for example, the slam seems to depend on a successful club finesse one it has been discovered that the diamonds are not 3-3. The average player would win the first trick with the ace of hearts, draw trumps, and perhaps even run an extra trump or two for good measure.

He would then try three rounds of diamonds in the hope of setting up dummy's fourth diamond. When that hope failed, he would try the club finesse and lose his slam contract gracefully.

The expert would play the hand quite differently. After winning the first trick with the ace of hearts he draws only two rounds of trumps. Then he tries the three top diamonds.

When West is known to have the fourth diamond, the slam is ice cold. The correct play is to ruff dummy's queen of hearts, get back to dummy with a trump, and lead the last diamond from dummy.

South must not ruff dummy's last meeting. Instead he discards the eight of clubs, allowing West to win the trick. If West returns a club, South gets a free finesse. If West returns a heart (the only other possibility), dummy ruffs while South discards the queen of clubs.

An early club finesse would be wrong even if the diamonds were switched so that East rather than West held the four diamonds. Upon discovering the diamond break on the third top diamond, South would lead the queen of hearts from dummy.

If East played low (after all, the opening lead might conceivably be from king-jack-ten), South would throw the eight of clubs and catch West in an end-play.

Even if East were able to put up the king of hearts to thwart

Fake Bombs Could Be Used By Foes To Capture City

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

New York (AP) — Suppose an A-bomb or a H-bomb is dropped on your city—but it doesn't go off. Is it a dud? or is it a time-bomb?

Or is it a complete fake, a Machiavellian monkey wrench of panic designed to send people fleeing and paralyze an emptied city?

This strange bomb may come when an enemy is bombing other places or after your city had been announced as a target. What happens? What do we do?

These questions are presented by Jack de Ment, research chemist and director of the de Ment Laboratories, Portland, Ore., writing in the military engineer.

Strangely, there's been little mention of the possibility of atomic duds. And less speculation about clever fake bombs, looking like the real thing, but with no nuclear gizzard.

It's time for some realistic thinking about these possibilities, de Ment says.

MANY DUDS

Many ordinary bombs in the Second World War were duds or time bombs. Special bomb disposal crews had the ticklish job of disarming or removing them.

A-bombs and H-bombs are much more complex things. There's a good chance, de Ment says, that some stockpiled or new bombs could be dud from mechanical or human failure.

How much of a modern city might have to be evacuated until a dud A-bomb could be removed? Fake bombs could be a potent new psychological weapon, even a real weapon.

Two cities might be bombed, and a fake bomb dumped, into the third. Until you know it's a fake the area is deserted, factories shut down.

The fake bomb could be used to neutralize and empty a city which an advancing enemy wanted to save intact. In the Second World War, bombers sometimes avoided areas of cities which their army later hoped to use.

Fake bombs would be cheap, would actually stretch the supply of real bomb when used this way.

SHORT STORIES

The Red Muffler

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

Constable Simon McCall, noticed that the fringe of Bruce Wyatt's long woolen muffler was stained a deep red. Wyatt saw the officer's look of inquiry and glanced from the muffler, which still hung around his neck, to the dead form of Jim Cary.

"I must have got the blood on the muffler when I went over Jim on the bed there," he said.

Constable Simon nodded and glanced at the doctor, who was conducting an examination of the corpse.

"What time did you get back here?" Simon asked Bruce.

"About 15 minutes before I called you. I saw Jim on the bed. I knew he was dead, but I thought the doc ought to be called."

Simon listened only half attentively. He was trying to think of some one who would have a reason for killing Jim Cary. Cary and Bruce Wyatt were partners. "Been dead about five hours," Doc Leland said, finishing his examination.

"Five," he said. "That would make it about 10 o'clock last evening. The dance was at its height then. No telling who left and who didn't."

He turned suddenly to Bruce. "Where'd you go after the dance, Bruce?"

"Over to Jake Dearborn's. Him and me and some others played poker till about 2:30."

Simon smiled faintly. "Well, if Jake and the others back that up I guess we'd better look elsewhere for a suspect."

"Where yuh goin' to start? Who'd want to kill old Jim?" Wyatt asked.

"Old Jim? He's not so old. About 30, I guess," Simon said. "Thirty, and just now falling in love. I expect you knew about Jim's interest in Freda Burnett, Bruce?"

Wyatt looked up quickly. "Why, no," he said. "I didn't know."

"You didn't? Simon's voice was almost eager. "Well, well. That gives me the motive, then. 'Eh?'"

"I said that little remark of yours provided a motive for the killing, Bruce. It makes you out a liar, too."

Bruce Wyatt thrust out his jaw in an angry gesture. "What the devil are you talking about, McCall?"

"About why you killed Jim," Simon said. "Me? Killed him? You're crazy."

"Oh, no, I'm not. You killed him because you were crazy about Freda yourself and you couldn't stand to see Jim getting in there ahead of you. You did it last night about 10 o'clock when every one was at the dance."

"You must be sick yourself, Simon. You don't know what you're saying. You can't prove that. You said yourself no one would be able to tell who left the dance long enough to come over here, murder Jim and get back again."

"That," said Constable Simon easily, "is something I won't have to worry about. The fact is, I know you've lied to me twice, and I know you were with Jim a minute or two after he died. That's enough to make an arrest on, since you're so all-fired careful about thinking up alibis."

Wyatt opened his mouth and closed it again. He stood still, waiting, still puzzled.

And Simon explained: "The blood on your muffler, Bruce. You probably got it there when you bent over Jim all right, but that was shortly after 10 last evening. Blood, you know, dries and hardens within a few minutes. None would have got on your muffler five hours after the wound was made."

Doc Leland made a gasping sound, which was at once confirmation of the statement.

Bruce Wyatt's glance darted to the face of the doctor, and without looking again at Simon he leaped toward the wall.

But Constable McCall was a good shot. The interior of the tiny cabin fairly rocked with the crash of his service gun, mingling with the cry of pain from Bruce Wyatt as the heavy slug tore through his hand even as his fingers coiled about the rifle barrel.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Once in a while it's the girl who has to ask the boy for a date. So if your club or sorority is giving a dance, here are a few pointers to remember when you ask him for a date. Explain all about the party before you ask him if he is going to be busy on the important night. Be a bit of a salesman. That is, make the party sound like fun. Above all, try to get there "first"—before some other girl gets him all lined up for the big date.

Magog Home, School Assoc. Has Meeting

Magog, Oct. 27. — The regular monthly meeting of the Magog and District Home and School Association was held at the Princess Elizabeth High School on Tuesday, October 20, with an attendance of 103. The business was conducted by Miss E. M. Cartwright.

A parent was chosen from each grade to act as class mother for the school year, her duties being to assist the class teacher and to promote interest between the school and the Association.

The prize of $2.00 given by the Association to the class having the largest number of parents present at the meeting was won by Mrs. Ross' pupils. This money is to be used for the purchase of library books. Mrs. Claire Shipway, district nurse, reported on the possibility of a dental clinic to be held in the spring. A committee was appointed to investigate more fully before next meeting.

The program of the evening was under the direction of Dr. K. R. Willis, supervisor of Stanstead County schools, the topic being "Know Your School." Dr. Willis introduced Mr. Wendell Breese, chairman of the Magog Protestant School Board, who gave a very complete resume of the progress made, and plans of the work yet to be done on the new High School building. S. J. Olney, principal, then outlined the school program, which gave a clear picture of the requirements at various stages throughout the school years.

Following Mr. Olney's talk the members were instructed to visit the various classrooms where the teachers were prepared to give a summary of the course of study taught in each grade, and to discuss problems with parents. After 20 minutes all met again, and formed groups who prepared questions, which were later answered by Dr. Willis, Mr. Breese and Mr. Olney.

Delicious refreshments were served, and the gathering dispersed with the feeling that much had been accomplished by way of a mutual understanding between parent and teacher.

Dutch Reibel Retains Top Spot In NHL Scoring Race

Canadiens Take Over Leadership In National Edging Red Wings; "The Rocket" Leads With Goals

Montreal Canadiens won three games during the week to climb into undisputed possession of first place in the National Hockey League standings. The Habs have 14 points, two more than Detroit Red Wings.

Boston Bruins are in the third slot with eight points in seven games. Toronto Maple Leafs also have eight points but the Leafs have played one more game than Boston. New York Rangers are fifth with five points, followed by the cellar-dwelling Chicago Black Hawks who have yet to win their first game of the season.

Detroit's sensational rookie center, Earl (Dutch) Reibel, is still the top point-collector. He leads the pack with four goals and nine assists for 13 points. Gordie Howe is second with 11. The big Detroit winger has four goals and seven assists. Bernie Geoffrion of Canadiens follows with four goals and six assists and Detroit's Ted Lindsay is next with two goals and eight assists. Bert Olinstead, Canadian, and Ed Sandford, Boston, are tied with eight points apiece.

Maurice Richard of Canadiens leads in goals with six, while Earl Reibel has the most assists with nine. Terry Sawchuk racked up his second shutout of the season on Oct. 25 as Detroit blanked Toronto, 2-0. The 1953 Vezina Trophy winner has played in six of the Red Wings' nine games and the Wings have had 10 goals scored against them for the best defensive record in the N.H.L. Gerry McNeil of Canadiens also has two shutouts. He registered his second "goose-egg" on October 24 against Detroit.

The most penalized team is Canadiens with 97 minutes, while the most penalized players are Maurice Richard, Canadiens, and Leo Boivin of Toronto, each with 18 minutes.

Art Ehlers Named General Manager Of Baltimore Orioles; Leaves A's For New Job With Complete Control

Baltimore—(AP)—Art Ehlers, who was a six-year-old kid playing in Baltimore streets when major league baseball left here, was hired today to be general manager of the Orioles' return to the American League next season.

Ehlers brings to the new organization, which succeeds the St. Louis Browns, a background of 16 years as a baseball official, the last two as general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

"The extent of his compensation will depend largely upon the success of the club in Baltimore," said Clarence W. Miles, a whirlwind of a lawyer who masterminded purchase and transfer of the Browns on Sept. 29.

Miles explained that the 56-year-old Ehlers will be paid a flat salary, undisclosed, plus a bonus depending on attendance.

"Ehlers will have complete authority to run the ball club," Miles continued. "I would assume he would tie in with us as far as financial matters are concerned, but just as long as he doesn't mortgage the ball club he will have free rein."

Miles is to head a group of financiers putting up $2,475,000 to buy controlling interest of the Browns. It also has promised to put up more money for additional player material, saying "the old St. Louis policy of selling players to get cash to operate on is a thing of the past."

Miles displayed his brisk methods of operating in coming to agreement with Ehlers. The selection had been up in the air for 10 days while he took a hospital rest. He was released late last week.

Late yesterday morning, he sent out word there would be a news conference. At 3 p.m. he read a five-sentence statement of Ehlers appointment.

"My agreement with Mr. Ehlers was reached this morning," he said. It was only half an hour before the announcement that he telephoned Roy Mack, vice president of the Athletics, and told him of Ehlers' acceptance.

Mack said the Athletics told Ehlers "we wouldn't stand in his way if he could improve himself, and he assured me he wouldn't leave unless he could get a much better proposition." Mack said there will be no rush to replace Ehlers, adding "I don't know if we'll have a new G.M. or not."

Ehlers became general manager in 1950 when Connie Mack quit. He had been directing the farm system of the Athletics since 1947.

Bill DeWitt, a vice president and former owner of the Browns, will have that job for the Orioles, Miles said. A contract which DeWitt had with the Browns still has

Halifax Atlantics Move Into First-Place Tie In Maritime By Dumping Glace Bay 9-5 In Rough Fixtue

Halifax, (CP)—Halifax Atlantics moved into a first-place tie with Sydney Millionaires in the Maritime Major Hockey League Monday night, stopping Glace Bay Miners 9-5 in a rough and ready contest.

Lanky Billy Ford got much of the credit for Atlantics' victory. He scored three goals, the first less than four minutes after the start and one in each following period.

Bobby Brown topped the Miners' scoring list with two.

Billy Vessels' Injury Causes Big Debate In Western Football Circles

Edmonton, (CP)—While Half-back Billy Vessels undergoes a complete hospital rest cure for a painful back injury, debate still rages among Edmonton fans over the circumstances of the Eskimo star's injury which may or may not keep him out of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final.

Centre of the controversy is Buck Rogers, defensive lineman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Rogers is reported to have made the tackle which resulted in the former Oklahoma Sooner being carried off the field on a stretcher Saturday night with a fractured muscle attachment on the spine.

An unidentified Eskimo club official and some Edmonton players contend that Vessels was "deliberately knee-ed" in the back after being tackled.

However, Eskimo Coach Darrell Royal and the Edmonton sports writers are making no accusations. "Darrell didn't make any recommendation to me regarding the Vessels incident and no charge regarding deliberate injury was made," WIFU President Walter Sprague said. "If I thought such a thing was premeditated I would resign this office."

Royal said doctors won't know for at least a week how long Vessels may be sidelined. He said the present belief is that Vessels, voted the No. 1 United States college player last year, will be out for two weeks.

Ehlers, who will make the decision, and Miles both said no discussion has been held yet about whether Marion will be retained.

Willie Shoemaker Runs Wins To 407

Albany, Calif., (AP)—Willie Shoemaker booted home three more winners—including Home Free in the featured invitational Handicap—before 7,719 fans at Golden Gate Fields today to run his world record of season victories up to 407.

Except for a couple of shut-out days after he passed the former world mark of 390 a week and a half ago, the silent shoe has been scoring regularly. Turf writers predict he'll come close to 450 before New Year's.

He had Home Free off first in the mile and a sixteenth handicap, took over the lead at the halfway pole and outlasted Boom-erang Boy in the stretch. The Green Lion was third.

Home Free, the odds-on favorite, ran the distance in 1:43 2/5 and paid $3.40, $2.70 and $2.10. Boomerang Boy paid $5.80 and $2.80. The Green Lion returned $2.30.

The total mutuel handle was $615,006.

Sudbury Edges North Bay 5-4

Sudbury, (CP)—A goal by Frank King in the last two minutes of play last night gave Sudbury Wolves a 5-4 win over North Bay Trappers in a Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group game.

The Wolves were trailing 4-3 going into the third when Frank Kraiger scored on a backhand shot to tie the game.

Other Sudbury goalgetters were Tatter McLellan with two and Lennie Speck. Trapper scorers were Ed Marineau, Don Hogan, George Gosselin and Chester Konecny.

Referee Fred Deluca handed out 20 minor penalties in the rough game.

LONG LAKER—Slater Martin stands five-10 but looks like a midget alongside his now Minneapolis teammate, Clyde Lovellette. After a month with the Phillips Oilers, the six-10 former Kansas All-America quit amateur basketball to join the Lakers. (NEA)

Western Football Union Semi-Final Will Be Tough Going, Says Filchock

Winnipeg—(P)—You pay your money and take your choice.

That's the situation as Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers prepare for the opening game here Wednesday of the home-and-home, total point Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final.

Second game is at Regina Saturday afternoon, with the winner meeting the top-place Edmonton Eskimos in the best-of-three final starting at Edmonton Nov. 7.

Odds makers are giving 9.5 in favor of Winnipeg in view of their smashing 17-8 victory over the Eskimos in the league wind-up at Edmonton Saturday night. If you like the third-place Winnipeg of the series you can get 8.5. If you are on the runner-up Rider bandwagon you can get 7.5.

Frankie Filchock's Riders hold a slight edge in the season's play after winning four of the six meetings, three of them at home. Bombers, however, have a 92-84 record against record with Saskatchewan, largely on a one-sided 19-2 victory in one home game.

Over the whole schedule, Riders won eight, lost seven and tied one and scored 243 points against 239. Bombers kept to the middle of the road. They had eight wins and eight losses, and scored 226 points while the same number was scored against them.

Bomber Coach George Traffon says the team is in good shape "physically and mentally." Half-back Tommy Ford, who suffered a kidney injury, Oct. 10, is the only regular definitely out of action.

From Regina, Filchock reports that Quarterback Glenn Dobbs, Ed Stan Williams and Guard Art McEwan are not expected to play.

Winnipeg probably will be given a slight edge along the front wall, with such starry performers as all-star tackles Dick Huffman and Buddy Tinsley and ends Neil Armstrong and Bud Grant. All four are former National Professional League players. But Saskatchewan fans will concede them nothing against Rider's tackles Martin Ruby and Ray Collins and ends Mac Speedie and Stan Williams, also pro imports.

In the backfield, the nod must be given to Riders. Winnipeg will have a tough time matching the running of imports Bobby Marlow, All-American from Alabama, or Herbie Johnson, former West Point Star.

Riders' big weakness is lack of depth at quarter. If anything should happen to Filchock and Dobbs remained sidelined, the quarterbacking chore would fall on Del Warden, now classed as a non-import after coming to Canada in 1947. Warden has been operating only as a halfback since he left Montana State.

Traffon can call on any one of his three aces—veteran All-star Jack Jacobs, rookie year import Joe Zaleski or rookie Geoff Crain, former McGill captain and college all-star.

This was a bruising battle all the way and just about even through the first six rounds. Then Giardello's combination punches proved too much for the left-hooking Cartier.

The votes, all for Giardello, were: Referee Petey Scalzo, 5-1; Judge Harold Barnes, 7-2-1; and Judge Artie Schwartz, 8-1-1. The AP scorecard had Giardello in front 6-3-1.

Although there were no knock-downs, both fighters were shaken several times in the free-swinging fray. The 29-year-old Cartier was almost knocked out in a punching bag that lasted throughout the ninth round.

Cartier started off the hectic frame by rocking Giardello with a left hook to the chin. The 23-year-old Giardello came back with two smashing rights to the chin that shook the New Yorker all over. He skidded to one knee in Giardello's corner but the referee ruled it a slip and not a knockdown.

As Cartier came in, Joey staggered him with a right to the eye that opened a deep gash on Walter's left brow. The cut required twelve stitches afterwards.

In the second and fourth rounds Cartier shook up his rival with left hooks to the jaw. Cartier relied mainly on his left hook while Giardello, who has a good left hook of his own, also scored with good right hand smashes. That was about it, one hand against two. A crowd of 2,260 paid $3.245.

Joe Rowan, 174, Phoenixville, Pa., outpointed Jimmy McMillan, 174, Newark, N.J., in a six-round. Also in a six, Vinnie Calderone, 125, New York, outpointed Tony Amaville, 131, New York.

Eddie Washburn, 148, Lawton, Okla., stopped Lou Beaudro, 148, Brooklyn, in 2:10 of the first round in a scheduled four.

Jimmy Moulton, 134, New York,

Laurentide Loop May Join Ranks Of Organized Ball

The Laurentide Baseball League voted unanimously last night to venture into Organized Baseball next season if their application is approved at the minor leagues meeting in Atlanta, Ga., in December.

The Laurentian loop this week received an application from the office of the president of the association of minor baseball leagues, George Trautman. It will be completed by President Dr. Albert Cherrier and forwarded to Trautman.

The league is seeking a "C" rating in O.B. and may increase the number of teams in the league to eight. Cornwall is being sought as the eighth club.

Canadiana Places Second In Laurel

Laurel, Md., (P)—E. P. Taylor's Canadiana, winner of the 1953 Queen's Plate, ran second today in the $15,000-added Laurel sprint, won by Absty House Farm's Pomace.

Canadiana could get no closer than four lengths of the winner while outrunning Dinner winner by three-quarters of a length.

Time for the six-furlong event, highlight of today's opening at Laurel was 1:10 2/5.

Fourteen horses competed and Pomace, with Johnny Adams up, was clear of all trouble as he took the lead at the break and immediately opened a daylight advantage.

Pomace paid $20.80 to win.

Notre Dame Still Top Dog In College

New York—(P)—Notre Dame's victory over Georgia Tech brought a new wave of popularity today for the Fighting Irish, who tightened their grip on the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press weekly football poll.

Georgia Tech, its unbeaten string snapped at 31 games, and Michigan State, upset by Purdue after a winning string of 28, managed to hold positions in the top ten but had to be content with lower rungs. State fell from second to sixth and Tech from fourth to eighth.

Maryland's high riding Terrapins, meanwhile, moved into second place on an imposing record of six straight victories while undefeated Baylor and once-tied Illinois followed in that order.

The Fighting Irish haven't been out of first place since the writers and broadcasters picked them as the most likely national champions in the pre-season poll.

However, the former Penn State star expects to drill with the squad tomorrow in preparation for the clash with the Philadelphia Eagles next Sunday.

$100,000?

$1,600,000?

How much does a wildcat cost?

A "wildcat" is a well drilled in an area where oil has never been found. Drilling costs vary, but the average wildcat in western Canada runs to more than $100,000. One well cost $1,600,000—and found no oil!

Oil is making an increasingly important contribution to our standard of living. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

How many wildcat wells find a new oil field—

1 in 3? 1 in 7? 1 in 23?

Since 1939 the cost of living index has risen by 85%. During that time has the price you pay for gasoline gone up by—

44%? 79%? 105%?

A lot of oil has been discovered in the west since 1946. In that time have Canada's oil reserves increased—

4 times? 23 times? 37 times?

How many companies, would you say, are engaged in the oil business in Canada—

23? 174? 750?

Canada's growing oil industry means orders for many businesses, jobs for many Canadians. Last year Imperial's purchasing department bought equipment and supplies from Canadian firms amounting to—$12 millions? $56 millions? $110 millions?

The long-term average in western Canada is 1 in 23. Only 1 in 87 has found a field capable of producing as much as 2,000 barrels a day.

The average retail price of gasoline is only 44% higher than prewar, even with higher road taxes in all provinces.

Reserves have increased 23-fold in the past six years. Canadian fields now supply all the prairies and part of B.C. and Ontario.

About 750 companies in which the public has an investment interest, as well as several hundred private firms and partnerships. And this doesn't include the thousands of privately operated service stations and other retail and wholesale outlets for oil products.

$56 millions. About 4,500 Canadian companies sold Imperial supplies ranging from heavy steel plates to paper clips.
