Thomas Smith,—for an assault on Archange Laporte with intent to commit a Rape;—found guilty of the assault only: Judgement postponed the Prisoner being under conviction of Felony.

The said Thomas Smith,—for Grand Larceny;—to be transported for 7 years.

James McClinton and Jesse Presby,—for different assaults and batteries;—fined twenty shillings sterling each.

MONTREAL, March 2.

FIRE—Yesterday afternoon, a fire broke out in the Bake House of Mr. Thompson, in St. Ann Suburb, which from the wind being high, and the buildings of wood, soon communicated to the adjoining house, occupied Mr. Huddell, of the Canal-Hotel, when both houses were speedily consumed. The foundry of Messrs. Warwick & Co. was for some time in most imminent danger, but the wind being fortunately from the west, contributed greatly to its preservation. The different Fire Companies with their engines, were on the spot very soon after the alarm was given, but the fire had already made such rapid progress, that but little benefit could be derived from their meritorious exertions. A detachment of the 79th Regiment, under the immediate command of Colonel Douglas, were early on the ground, and were of great service in assisting the Fire Companies, and in protecting the property that was saved. Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Huddell, have sustained a serious loss of property, and we regret to hear that neither of them are insured. We understand that Mr. Nahum Hall, the proprietor of the premises, is insured with the Etna Company of Hartford, for £500, and with the Protection Company of Hartford for £300.

ACCIDENT—Two young men of the name of DUFRÈNE and another individual left Montreal yesterday afternoon for Laprairie. After they had passed Nun's Island it is supposed that they spent sometime at the Cantine a little beyond. In the drift which prevailed it appears they lost their way,—the elder individual reached Mr. Raymond's farm below Laprairie about 10 o'clock but mentioned nothing about his companions,—the two brothers continued to proceed, but the youngest of them, a boy about 16, an apprentice to the Tanning business with Mr. Joshua Hobert, St. Ann's suburbs, soon became benumbed and incapable of walking any longer. His elder brother carried him on his back, as long as his exhausted powers permitted, but the unfortunate youth expired within about ten acres of the Laprairie shore. The elder brother remained near the corpse of his relative till daylight, when he was discovered, carried into a place of shelter, and medical assistance procured to apply proper remedies to his frozen limbs.

In our last we mentioned the proceedings of the LADIES' BAZAR, but were then unable to give with any certainty the amount of gross receipts.

All the articles exposed not being sold off, the ladies determined on keeping the BAZAR open a third day, and giving free admission. Very few purchasers were enabled to attend from the state of the weather, and resort was had to raffling, &c. to dispose of their wares. The gross receipts mount to £420, which it will be recollected is upwards of £100 more than that raised in QUEBEC last year,—a circumstance we are more disposed to notice since individuals at the seat of Government generally deem themselves superior in every thing to those at a distance, and because it is ascertained that £75 was defrayed by the Earl and Countess of DALHOUSIE and the Lord Bishop of QUEBEC. Our MONTREAL LADIES are not yet satisfied in their good deeds and have announced a BAZAR BALL.

On their behalf we are authorised to return their sincere thanks to the public for the very liberal patronage they have received, and to express their well founded hopes that the same feeling will be exhibited by a full attendance at the BAZAR BALL on Tuesday evening.

The gratitude of our citizens and the blessings of the poor are certainly due to those ladies, by whose talents, exertion and industry, so very considerable a sum for the purposes of charity has been raised; and while we most willingly yield to them our humble and sincere praise, we are sure they derive a higher and purer satisfaction in the pleasing conviction that they will have been the means of administering to the wants of the afflicted widow—the helpless orphan, the destitute poor, and the suffering invalid.—Montreal Gazette.

The receipt amounted to £475 5 10½.

2. That in the tract of country on the north side of the river lying in the rear of the lands now conceded, settled and partly cultivated in the vicinity of Three-Rivers and in the seigniories aforesaid, there is found immediately adjacent a tract of land of more than sixty square leagues, which would be susceptible of being cleared, cultivated and settled, if it were conceded to the inhabitants and actual settlers in the vicinity of Three-Rivers, who have for a long time past, prayed for grants of land in the said tract, and who have up to the present time vainly endeavoured to obtain them.

3. That the obstacles presented to the settlement and cultivation of this tract of land have essentially impeded the progress of industry, and above all that of agriculture in the district of Three Rivers, and of resources of the town or borough of Three-Rivers in particular.

4. That one of the most powerful of these obstacles is the great extent of land comprised in the lease of the Forges of St. Maurice.

5. That it is necessary to take immediate steps for the removal of the obstacles to the granting and clearing of this tract.

6. That it would be expedient to adopt measures to promote the settlement of that portion of the Province lying north of Quebec, known under the name of the King's Posts, now uncultivated, by making grants to actual settlers, and for the purpose of encouraging free trade and industry therein.

The House in committee on the bill from the Council, for rendering valid conveyances of real property held in free and common socage, made amendments thereto, which were ordered to be engrossed.

Monday, 2d March, 5 o'clock, P. M.

An engrossed Bill to grant a Pension to Mrs. Widow Caron, was read for the third time and ordered to the Council.

The Special Committee on Schools of Royal Foundation, &c. reported several resolutions, which were concurred in by the House, and a Committee was appointed to prepare and report a Bill in conformity to the said resolutions.

A Bill to provide for the erection of a Marine Hospital, was read a second time; referred to a General Committee, reported with several amendments, and ordered to be engrossed.

A Bill to repeal part of the Ordinance of 25th Geo. III. relating to proceedings in Courts of Judicature and trials by Jury, was read a second time, referred to a General Committee, reported, and referred to a Special Committee.

A Bill for exploring certain parts of this Province, was read a second time and ordered to be engrossed.

A Bill to grant a certain sum of money to A. G. Douglass, was read a second time and ordered to be engrossed.

Adjourned for want of a quorum.

Tuesday, 3d March, 10 o'clock, A. M.

On motion of Mr. VIGER the reports on grievances were referred to a committee of the whole to-morrow, to be the first order of the day.

The House of Correction Bill and A. G. Douglass' Indemnification Bill were read the third time, passed and ordered to the Council.

A bill to authorise the formation of two separate and distinct committees of the Trustees of the Royal Institution for the advancement of learning and for other purposes, was received from the Legislative Council, and read the first time; second reading to-morrow.

Amendments were made in committee to the bill for the distribution of the Laws; report to be received to-morrow.

The House in committee on the Public Accounts, &c. passed several Resolutions, which are to be reported to-morrow. The committee to sit again on Thursday next.

Mr. VALLIERES reported the reasons of the Council for disagreeing to the amendments made by the Assembly to the amendments made by the Council on the Bill relating to government claimants, as follows:—

10. Because the terms of the amendment are too indefinite and give rise to frequent contestation as to the existence of any appropriation of money to the objects in dispute.

2. Because the judgement of a Court of Justice when pronounced between the sovereign and the subject, ought to be exactly under the like restrictions and with the like advantages as if pronounced between subject and subject, and ought not to be made dependent upon the contingency of a future grant of the Provincial Legislature.

3. Because, by the terms of the amendment, the subject after having obtained judgement against the Crown, will be placed in no better situation than before the introduction of the present bill, namely, that of having his demand referred by the Crown to the Provincial Legislature, whereas the final judgement of a Court of Justice ought in all cases to be conclusive and executory.

4. Because in the event of no money being appropriated out of which such judgements could be satisfied, the professed objects of the bill, would, by the effect of the amendment, be unattained, an evil only to be remedied by an enactment that such judgement should be satisfied out of any unappropriated monies at the disposal of the Provincial Legislature.

5. Because, submitting the judgement of a Court of Judicature to the Provincial Legislature, virtually gives to the Assembly the power of revising that judgment; a power at variance with the principles of the constitution.

QUEBEC:

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1829.

The Packet Ship Birmingham, at NEW-YORK, brought us LONDON papers of the 7th January, and LIVERPOOL of the 5th. We have made copious extracts below.

The news is of an important description. The letter of the DUKE OF WELLINGTON to Dr. CURTIS has produced an answer from the latter, which, however, places the question in no better or clearer light than before. This letter the REVEREND DOCTOR sent to the LORD LIEUTENANT: who thereupon indited a letter to the same gentleman, in which he differs entirely with the PRIME MINISTER, the consequence is that Lord ANGLESEA is a Left tenant, indeed, which vile pun has been actually perpetrated in an IRISH paper.

We do not think that the recal of the MARQUESS OF ANGLESEA is solely attributable to his letter to Dr. CURTIS. On the contrary it has been often hinted in the LONDON papers, that Lord ANGLESEA's administration would be short-lived; and as he is supposed to be a man of ability, it is more likely that he wrote the letter under a perfect knowledge that his recal was not far distant, than that he could wish to stay after writing such a letter. It is evident that no LORD LIEUTENANT could remain opposed to the views of the PREMIER; and indeed, it must be admitted that during his Government the CATHOLIC Association had been suffered to attain an influence and power, quite foreign to the Constitution, and sufficient to control the operations of Government itself. The first step towards reducing this body to its proper dimensions was to remove the VICEROY. The next will doubtless occupy the attention of the Parliament. When that Body is rendered less dangerous, great progress will be made towards a settlement of the question itself. At present, there is a just and fixed resentment among the majority of the Protestant population, at the conduct and principles of the Association, as lately developed; and the MINISTER will prove the best friend of EMANCIPATION, who shall remove the greatest objection against it, namely, the demands made by a political party, trusting to its numerical strength.

The Courier declares expressly, that Lord ANGLESEA was recalled eighteen hours before he wrote his letter to Dr. CURTIS.

The increase on the last year's Revenue, up to the 5th January, amounted to £1,660,647.

ROWLAND STEPHENSON, the defaulter, had not been captured at the latest dates. It is now supposed he is not guilty of felony, though he has absconded with vast sums entrusted to him, and with funds of the Bank, of which he was a partner. Should he arrive in NEW YORK, he will fall into the hands of Mr. Ex-Sheriff PARKINS, who has been defrauded to the amount of £15,000.

Public curiosity in GREAT BRITAIN has been racked to the utmost by the horrid details of the EDINBURGH murders. A conspiracy existed to obtain subjects for surgical purposes by murder; and perhaps thirty victims have been thus immolated by barbarians on the altar of science, anomaly as it may appear. Some Legislative enactment will probably be the consequence of these atrocities.

We must postpone to our next the publication of the correspondence between Lord Aberdeen and Mr. Lawrence on the disputed boundary. The tone of the latter breathes defiance, and that of the former is firm and statesmanlike. Mr. Lawrence talks about "consequences for which the UNITED STATES cannot hold themselves responsible." This alludes to an attack, we suppose, by the State of MAINE, on NEW-BRUNSWICK, which the Union has not power to prevent!

Sir HOWARD DOUGLAS, at the date of the last Mail from Halifax, had not yet embarked for Europe. The Session of NEW-BRUNSWICK had been prorogued.

CATHOLIC QUESTION.

Answer of Dr. Curtis to the Duke of Wellington.

DROGHEDA, Dec. 19, 1828.

My Lord Duke—I have never been more agreeably surprised in my life than by the unexpected honour of receiving your Grace's very kind and even friendly letter of the 11th instant, which, coming from so high a quarter, I should naturally wish to reserve, if possible; but as it was franked by yourself, the news of its arrival was known all over this town (as might be expected from a provincial post-office) before the letter reached my hands: so that I was obliged, in your Grace's defence and my own, to communicate its contents to a few chosen friends, for the satisfaction of the multitude, who might otherwise fabricate in its stead some foolish, or perhaps mischievous nonsense of their own. But, fortunately, your Grace's letter contained only such liberal and benevolent sentiments as all parties must eulogise, and none could possibly malign. Besides, it very seasonably strengthens the testimony that I, as a faithful witness, have on all occasions given of your generous, upright, and impartial disposition.

It would be somewhat worse than ridiculous in me to offer any thing in the shape of political advice to a consummate statesman, at the head of the first cabinet in or out of Europe; but as your Grace has so humanely condescended to mention some of the difficulties tending to paralyse your efforts to settle the Roman Catholic question, I beg leave to submit to your superior judgment, a few reflections, made to me by some well informed and unbiased friends, as well Protestants as Catholics, who certainly understand the subject much better than I can pretend to do. They have read with great pleasure and gratitude the noble declaration in which your Grace so strongly expresses your sincere anxiety to witness the settlement of the Roman Catholic question; which you are convinced would, by benefitting the state, confer a benefit on every individual of society; and you regret that you see no prospect of such a settlement, because violent party feelings are mixed up with that question, and pervade every discussion of it to such a degree, as to preclude the possibility of prevailing upon men to consider it dispassionately. But that if it could be buried in oblivion for a short time, and if that time were diligently employed in the consideration of the question, you would not despair of seeing a satisfactory remedy.

These humane and statesman-like sentiments (as far as they go) do great honour to your Grace's head and heart, and might appear sufficient if you were a private nobleman, but not in your present exalted station, with power to wield, when necessary, all the resources of Government: for it would be a slur on the unrivalled and far-famed British Constitution to assert that, even when well administered, it does not possess or supply means for establishing any thing known to be essential for the peace, welfare, and tranquillity of the empire at large, and for pulling down or removing any intrigue or party spirit that might wantonly attempt to oppose so great a blessing.

My friends allow that such momentous exertions may be sometimes unsuccessful when Government is conducted by weak or unsupported heads or hands, and that they require such a Prime Minister as the nation has now, and, I hope, will long have, the happiness to enjoy, who, after an interrupted series of the greatest victories, and a successful arrangement of the most important interests that perhaps ever yet occurred, has been placed at the head of Government by the entire and well-earned confidence of our most gracious Sovereign, and with the universal applause of the whole empire, and, indeed, of all other nations. Under such a chief, exerting his legitimate prerogative, they say that no party would dare to oppose the general good; and that if your Grace would intimate your serious resolution to settle the Roman Catholic question, its opponents would instantly fly and appear no more; and if the settlement were once carried, it would in a few days be no more spoken of or thought of, than the concessions now are that were lately made to the dissenters; for the enemies of such arrangement are not half so angry in reality as they now appear to be, in order by that bugbear to carry their point. But my friends have no hesitation in declaring, that the project mentioned by your Grace, of burying the Catholic Question in oblivion, for the purpose of considering it more at leisure, is totally inadmissible, and would exasperate in the highest degree those who are already too much excited, and would only consider that measure as a repetition of the same old pretext so often employed to elude and disappoint their hopes of redress; but that if it even were adopted, it could only serve to augment the difficulties, by allowing contending parties, and particularly the enemies of all concession, the opportunities they seek for preparing their means of resistance to the most alarming lengths, which they have avowed and publicly announced in atrocious and sanguinary terms, to which, however, I should not here allude, for I never wish to be an accuser, but that I am certain your Grace must have read those horrible threats often repeated in the Brunswick and Orange public prints, and to this latter subject, at least, I must beg leave to call your Grace's attention and to implore your powerful protection, humbly praying that you will not suffer public peace and concord to be violated or disturbed under any pretext whatever. An effectual remedy would cost your Grace but one word. I do not, however, hereby mean to meddle in temporal affairs, but I consider it my bounden duty to labour incessantly, in concurrence with all my venerable confreres, to impress upon the minds and hearts of all those committed to our spiritual care, sentiments of true Christian charity, moderation, and kind forbearance towards all men without exception.

I beg your Grace will excuse the length of this letter and vouchsafe to consider it as a proof of my unfeigned regard, and of the sincere respect with which I have the honour to remain, my Lord Duke, your Grace's most obedient and most humble servant.

R. CURTIS.

Letter from the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland to Dr. Curtis.

DUBLIN, Phoenix Park, Dec. 22.

Most Rev. Sir,—I hasten to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 22d, covering that which you received from the Duke of Wellington, of the 11th inst., together with a copy of your answer to it.

I thank you for the confidence you have reposed in me. Your letter gives me information upon a subject of the highest interest. I did not know the precise sentiments of the Duke of Wellington upon the present state of the Catholic Question.

Knowing it, I shall venture to offer my opinion upon the course that it behoves the Catholics to pursue.

Perfectly convinced that the final and cordial settlement of this great question can alone give peace, harmony, and prosperity to all classes of his Majesty's subjects in this kingdom, I must acknowledge my disappointment on learning that there is no prospect of its being effected during the present session of Parliament. I, however, derive some consolation from observing that his Grace is not wholly averse to the measure; for, if he can be induced to promote it, he, of all men, will have the greatest facility in carrying it into effect.

If I am correct in this opinion, it is obviously most important that the Duke of Wellington should be propitiated; that no obstacle that can by possibility be avoided should be thrown in his way; that all personal and offensive insinuations should be suppressed, and that ample allowance should be made for the difficulties of his situation.

Difficult it certainly is; for he has to overcome the very strong prejudices and the interested motives of many persons of the highest influence, as well as to allay the rear alarms of many of the more ignorant Protestants.

I differ from the opinion of the Duke, that an attempt should be made to "bury in oblivion" the question for a short time. First, because the thing is utterly impossible; and next, because, if the thing were possible, I fear that advantage might be taken of the pause, by representing it as a panic achieved by the late violent reaction, and by proclaiming that, if the Government at once and peremptorily decided against concession, the Catholics would cease to agitate, and then all the miseries of the last years of Ireland will be to be re-acted.

What I do recommend is, that the measure should not be for a moment lost sight of—that anxiety should continue to be manifested—that all constitutional (in contradistinction to merely legal) means should be resorted to, to forward the cause; but that, at the same time, the most patient forbearance, the most submissive obedience to the Laws should be inculcated; that no personal and offensive language should be held towards those who oppose the claims.

Personally offers no advantage, it effects no good; on the contrary, it offends, and confirms predisposed aversion. Let the Catholic trust to the justice of his cause—to the growing liberality of mankind. Unfortunately, he has lost some friends, and fortified his enemies, within the last six months by unmeasured and unnecessary violence. He will soonest recover from the present stagnation of his fortunes by showing more temper, and by trusting to the Legislature for redress.

Brute force, he should be assured, can effect nothing. It is the Legislature that must decide this great question; and my greatest anxiety is, that it should be met by the Parliament under the most favorable circumstances, and that the opponents of Catholic Emancipation shall be disarmed by the patient forbearance, as well as by the unwearied perseverance, of its advocates.

My warm anxiety to promote the general interests, of this country is the motive that has induced me to give an opinion, and to offer advice.

(Signed) ANGLESEA.

To the most Rev. Dr. Curtis, &c.

His Grace the Duke of WELLINGTON, to his honor be it recorded, has accepted the Office of Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, the salary of which is merely nominal—that he might have the gratification of giving Walmer Castle, during his Grace's life, to the Dowager Countess of Liverpool, as a residence.—John Bull.

No little excitement has been caused by the appearance of a letter from the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland (the Marquis of Anglesea,) to Dr. Curtis, strongly favoring the cause of Catholic Emancipation. This letter, first appeared in the Dublin Morning Register, with the following prefatory remarks:

"We call the attention of this country to one of the most important documents which have ever been published, in relation to the great subject which, beyond any other, involves the interests and agitates the passions of the Irish people. The letter of the Duke of Wellington has been followed by a commentary upon the views and the sentiments which are expressed in it, which is equally remarkable. The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland stands forward as the annotator upon the composition, of the prime minister. Lord Anglesea has also addressed a letter to Dr. Curtis. The head of the Roman Catholic hierarchy has thus been selected as a medium of communication with the empire by the chief minister, and the representatives of the Sovereign. The Marquess of Anglesea has, by this solemn expression of his opinions conferred an obligation upon Ireland. The spirit of political wisdom which pervades what may be regarded as an instruction to the government, and an injunction to the nation, is combined with a generosity of feeling, and a chivalrous devotion to the interests of the country, which give him a lasting title to the affections of the Irish people. Whether he shall long abide amongst us, or shall speedily depart from Ireland, let him be assured that he has won the hearts of seven millions of its inhabitants."

The Marquess, who, during his short administration of affairs in Ireland, has rendered himself very popular with the Catholics, has been recalled from his Vice Royalty, by the "Military Chieftain" of England—Some of the papers announced that the Marquess resigned his office, though evidently from necessity, in consequence of the wide difference between the opinions of himself and the Premier upon this great question. But the Courier states distinctly, and with an air of authority, that he was recalled; and adds that this recall was not in consequence of his letter to Dr. Curtis, since the letter of recall was placed in his hands eighteen hours before that letter had transpired. The Courier adds, that "the Catholic question would not have been advanced by the Marquess of Anglesea's continuance in Ireland, nor will it be impaired or retarded by his recall. 'It is the Legislature,' as the Marquess has truly said, 'that must decide this great question.'" It is stated that either the Duke of Buckingham or Lord Verulam, would be his successor.

Though a declaration of hostility to the claims of the Catholics be not a test of qualification for office, and the Catholic Question has always been left open, yet we do not exactly see that the Marquess of Anglesea could with propriety have written the letter to Dr. Curtis, had his recall or resignation not been fixed. That the Duke of Wellington revealed to Dr. Curtis, an old friend, his intention of not attempting to settle the Catholic Question this year, could hardly justify the Irish Viceroy in censuring the head of the Ministry in a subsequent communication to the same Prelate, because the liberty to retain and declare his opinion allowed to every man in office, cannot be extended to a liberty to censure the acts of the Premier. The case of Mr. Dawson is not in point. Mr. Dawson is no doubt in office, and he delivered at Londonderry, on a memorable occasion, a very different opinion on the Catholic Question, from that which he was accustomed to deliver; but what gave importance to Mr. Dawson's speech was, the inferences drawn from it, with respect to the policy of the Administration, and not any arrangement of the policy of the Ministry. We do not say that the letter of Lord Anglesea led to his recall; but we say, that a recall, or a determination to resign could alone justify the letter.—Morning Chronicle, Jan. 7.

The publication by Dr. Curtis, of the Duke of Wellington's Letter was not expected, we have grounds for believing, by his Grace. The Doctor published also the Letter of the Marquess of Anglesea.

Lord Anglesea's departure from Ireland will take place, it is said, in about eighteen days. It may be necessary to state, that no abolition of the Viceregal office is in contemplation.

In the event of Lord Anglesea's removal to England, previously to the appointment of his Excellency's successor, Lord Justices will be appointed. The personages upon whom this office will devolve, are—the Lord Primate, the Lord Chancellor, and Sir John Byng, the Commander of the Forces.

THE REVENUE.

The Courier of the 6th congratulates its readers upon the flourishing state of the country, as disclosed by the returns of the last Quarter's Revenue. The total increase of revenue, beyond the corresponding quarter of last year, is £66,600. The total amount of the revenue for the year ended 31st January, 1828, was £46,644,675; and for the year ended 31st January 1829, £47,383,322. These results the Courier considers as affording the most convincing proof of an increasing internal prosperity of the country.

It is said that the Irish Revenue statement, when it appears, will show an increase of £400,000 for this year beyond last year. A long time since it was said that the revenue of Ireland was rapidly on the increase, and that it could go on increasing.

Notice has been given that the payment of the pensions and allowances to the American loyalists, due yesterday, will be made on Wednesday, the 7th inst. and on Wednesday, the 14th inst. and that those who do not attend may do so on the 21st Wednesday of any subsequent month.—Jan. 7.

The following statement appears in some of the Morning papers:—

"Among the reductions in the Colonial Office, we understand that the office of law-clerk, held by Mr. Stephen, is to be abolished, in consequence of Mr. Twiss, who has been long a barrister of eminence, having been appointed Under Secretary of State in the Colonial Department. The office of law clerk has been abolished in the Home Department for many years, indeed ever since a barrister was appointed Under Secretary."

We are authorized to state that the above paragraph is devoid of any foundation.—Courier.

The Duke of Wellington had an interview with the King, Saturday at Windsor, and immediately afterwards his Grace had summonses issued for a Cabinet Council for the 10th day. On Sunday, after a long deliberation, the recall of the Marquess of Anglesea from his Government in Ireland was resolved upon, and dispatches were forwarded to his Excellency that night by a special messenger, who arrived here Tuesday.—Courier, Jan. 5.

It is understood that on the completion of St. George's Hall, a grand installation of Knights of the Garter will take place at Windsor Castle; and an installation of the Knights Companions of the Bath is, it is said, to take place in May next, in Westminster Abbey, after which the members of the Aired Service Club intend giving a ball and supper. Captain George Mundy is appointed to the command of the royal Yacht, vacant by the death of Sir William Hoste.

A rumour is in circulation that the Speaker is to be raised to the Peerage, and that he is to have the Privy Seal—that Mr. Manners Sutton will receive the honour usually conferred upon a retiring Speaker—and that, when divested of his present office, he may be summoned to the active service of a country in some other way, is highly probable; but there is no ground, we believe, for supposing that the Right Hon. gentleman retires at present from the station which he so admirably fills.—Standard.

A paragraph has been circulated, stating that Lord Liverpool's property amounts to above £700,000, and insinuating that this large sum was in a great part derived from his official profits. The fact is, that Lord Liverpool has left behind him £130,000, £100,000 of which was bequeathed to him by his father; £30,000 is, therefore, the result of more than 30 years' public life, and 15 years' premiership. To the honour of the Duke of Wellington, it must be told that he has accepted the Wardenship of the Cinque Ports, merely that he might give Walmer Castle (the only advantage of the situation, as the salary has been abolished) to the Dowager Countess of Liverpool during his Grace's life.—Morning Paper.

The Marquess of Anglesea has appointed three liberal Protestant barristers to as many vacant chairs of Irish counties. Mr. Curran, son of the celebrated orator of the last generation, has been made Chairman of Kerry, which is reported to be worth £1000 per annum. Tyrone has been given to Mr. Tickell, descendant of the poet; and Leitrim to Mr. Nunnet.

The Rev. Robert Bathurst, son of the Bishop of Norwich, has committed suicide, in a fit of temporary derangement, by cutting his throat with a razor.

It is a mistaken opinion, which has been recently circulated, that the situation of Lords Warden of the Cinque Ports is an invariable appendage to the Office of Prime Minister. The late Lord Liverpool himself presents an exception to this supposed general rule, as he was made Lord Warden in 1806, and did not become Premier until after the death of Mr. Perceval. Although "shorn of its beams," in the article of pecuniary emolument, the office is one of high dignity and extensive patronage, and we are inclined to believe would, in the event of a war, be still found extremely lucrative.

Saturday last was a busy day at Keith and Lochabers. His Grace the Duke of Gordon having arranged to discharge on that day the debts and incumbrances on his estate, for the sum of £400,000.—Inverness Courier.

The Lords of the Admiralty have directed by a Circular Order, that the affidavits to be made by Naval and Marine Officers, for half-pay shall declare in addition to the present form, that they do not hold any civil appointments, or that such appointments were given to them prior to the 1st January 1820, as Government intends to withhold half pay from officers appointed to civil situations after that period.

We have to announce the death—which occurred on Tuesday—of the Right Hon. Priscilla Barbara Baroness Willoughby d'Eresby, jointly with her sister the Marchioness Cholmondeley, hereditary great Chamberlain of England. She is succeeded in her titles and estates by Lord Gwydir, her Lordship's son. Her Ladyship was born on the 16th of February 1761, and married in 1779, Sir Peter Burrell, who was elevated to the Peerage as Baron Gwydir on the 10th of June, 1766. Beside Lord Gwydir, her Ladyship has left two sons and a daughter.

MR. DENMAN'S AMENDE.—It is creditable to Mr. Denman, that upon the Duke of Wellington's communicating to him His Majesty's pleasure, of making him one of his Council, the Learned Gentleman took occasion to say, that he was less anxious about his silk gown than a desire to remove from the mind of his Sovereign any unfavorable impression arising out of the Queen's trial. Any expression attributed to him, (Mr. Denman,) as intended to reflect on His Majesty, he assured the Duke of Wellington, had no foundation in truth. Age.

MARKETS.

Liverpool Jan. 8.—Ashes.—The import last year was 13,500 barrels, of which 2300 barrels were from the United States, and 16,500 from Canada) against 13,920 in the previous year—being an increase of 4880 bbls. The stocks are computed at 10,500 bbls., viz: 100 United States. Pot and 500 Pearl. 6,200 Montreal Pot and 3700 Pearl. Prices are 2s. a 3s. 6d. per cwt. higher than at the close of 1827.

The business done this week has been extremely limited, but at full prices: 70 bbls. Montreal Pot brought 33s. a 33s. 6d.; 30 Pearl, 34s.

Corn Exchange, Jan. 6.—At our Corn Exchange this morning, there was a thin attendance of the trade, and a fair show of samples. Flour, heavy sale, but not lower. Wheat per 70lbs., English, 10s. 6d. a 11s. 6d.

In consequence of the letter from Mr. CHRISTIE, and our own conviction of the justice of his cause, we have opened our columns to his refutation of certain parts of the evidence which has gone the round of the public prints, on the Bill for the qualification of the Magistrates. It is, in our opinion, so far complete.

The following paragraph is from the BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER: we trust the account will be found greatly exaggerated. If so much damage has been done, the loss in money must have been greater:—

From Demara.—By an arrival at Eastport, information is brought of the destruction of that city by fire, in the latter part of December. The conflagration raged for three days, and the territory for the space of three miles, was left in ruins. The fire is said to have originated in a large warehouse, where some persons were engaged at night in pumping rum. The loss is estimated at five hundred thousand pounds sterling.

We understand that His Excellency the Administrator of the Government has given directions that the Balance of all monies remaining unpaid on the first loan for the La Chine Canal, 4 Geo. 4, Cap. 16, shall be paid on the 31st May.

To the Editor of the Official Quebec Gazette.

SIR,—By inserting in the Gazette of tomorrow, the paper under signature of twelve Magistrates which appeared in the MERCURY of last Saturday, and my letter in the Mercury of yesterday, addressed to BENJAMIN TREMAIN, Esq. you will oblige me. Having been refused the privilege of cross-examining him at the Bar of the Assembly, and of adducing testimony in contradiction to his evidence and that of others, examined before the COMMITTEE of the ASSEMBLY (of which Mr. Vallieres was Chairman) relating to the qualification of Justices of the Peace, the Press is the only means that remains to me of enabling the public fully to judge of the matter, and I therefore trust your columns will remain open to any communication or explanation which, from time to time, I may think proper to give on the imputed evidence of persons examined before the Committee. I have only to add that I shall not, in a matter in which I have been openly attacked, send you any anonymous communication, and that it shall be my study to prove that notwithstanding Mr. TREMAIN's insinuation to the contrary, I will know how to "possess" myself.

I am, Sir, very truly and respectfully,

Your most obedient servant,

ROBT. CHRISTIE.

SIR,—Having read the statement given in the Official Gazette of Thursday last, signed "R. CHRISTIE," and the extracts given from the Register of proceedings kept by the Clerks of the Peace accord with the facts, as they occurred; and that the evidence imputed to Mr. Tremain is the reverse of those facts.

No. 2.

TO BENJAMIN TREMAIN, Esquire, J. P.

Sir,

I make free again to address you. In the STAR of the 21st inst. you (if you are the person who wrote the article signed B. T.) represent yourself as having "endeavoured during a period of political excitement to act a moderate part." It was Sir a most praiseworthy endeavour. The public are no doubt much indebted to you, as well for the "moderate part" you then "acted," as for your condescension in revealing the circumstance to them, without which it might never have come to light, and they for ever have remained ignorant that you had acted any "part" in that awful drama.

The evidence you have given before a committee of the Assembly, (that evidence until you disavow it, I must consider yours) misrepresents my public conduct, as repulsive and unsatisfactory to the Magistrates, particularly to the elders among them, and imputes to it, a general abatement in their "zeal," in the performance of their public duties, implying also a discontinuance on their part in attending at the Special Sessions as formerly. In this you have been near about as accurate as in another statement previously noticed.

"It is certain"—say you—"that since the nomination of 'Chairmen of the Quarter Sessions' with salaries the zeal of the Magistracy has much abated," and that the corps "has fallen much in the public opinion. It is with reason, a subject of complaint, particularly among the older Magistrates that a young man receiving a salary has the 'precedence of the other Magistrates who do the duties 'from a sense of honor.'"

The latter part of the above it is unnecessary to touch upon, further than to say, that respect for the opinions of the "older Magistrates," whether in point of age, or of standing in the commission has invariably influenced my conduct, and I am satisfied that they will not warrant you in this assertion. Wherever there have been differences, it was chiefly by their opinions that my own prevailed, which never has been in opposition to theirs, and which you represent me as making light of.

By official and authentic records the full value of one part of your evidence has already been shewn. The former part of the above quotation, I propose to test by the same authority, and to shew the value of it also. An examination of the Register containing the proceedings of the Magistrates at the several Sessions during the six last years (from 1823 inclusively) will exhibit the following result.

In the period of the years 1823 and 1824 there were in all 74 Sessions. Those during this period most numerous attended consisted of 15 members,—this occurred only twice. The next most numerous was of 14,—this also occurred but twice. The third consisted of 11, and this only once, but there were several where there was but one besides the Chairmen, who in this computation are not included. The whole attendances amounted to 437, making an average on these two years of scarcely 6 members at each Session. In the same period "B. Tremain, Esq." appears to have been present at 27 Sessions, at six of which he seems to have had no immediate interest, at least the Register discovers none!

In 1825 and 1826, the attendances were more general than during the two preceding years. The most numerous meeting consisted of 21, which occurred twice during this period. The average attendances were nearly 9, and none so low as one. The name of "B. Tremain, Esq." appears at eight of them,—at two of these no particular interest traceable to himself, is discovered by the Register!

In 1827 and 1828, and to the present, the attendances have been more general than at any time previous, within the period mentioned, the greatest being 22, and the average exceeding ten. The name of "B. Tremain, Esq." during this period occurs four times—twice without any apparent interest!

It is also a fact that since the issuing of the present Commission of the Peace (February, 1828,) although the total number of persons in it is less by 36 than that on the previous list, (some absent, some omitted at their own request, and others because they had never qualified, and for other causes) the least numerous attended meeting consisted of six—a number, although the minimum of the latest period in which you say the "zeal of the Magistracy" has "much abated," that nevertheless exceeds the average of a time when your own "zeal" appears, from what causes you best can explain, to have been at its fullest fervour.

It must strike you by looking at this statement, from authentic and undeniable data, that it is almost precisely in the inverse ratio in which your own zeal has "abated," that the general attendance of the "Magistracy has increased."

For instance, during the two first years (1823-4) of the given period, we find the average attendance to have been scarcely 6, and that your attendances amounted to 27.—During the next two years (1825-6) the average had increased to nearly 9, whereas your zeal had considerably abated, and accordingly you appear, during the whole time, to have attended at but 8 meetings. And finally, during the last two years (1827 and 28, and to the present time) although the average of attendances at each exceeds ten, we find your name, Sir, at no more than four of the general meetings of the Magistrates, and at one of those for no other purpose than can be discovered, than to obtain from them, an order for payment to you of the sum of twenty-one shillings and three pence currency, from the Road Chest; which sum, as there seems to have been no division among the Magistrates on the subject, must have been a very just claim, and has no doubt been paid you. How does this statement accord with that you have given, and with your subsequent declaration in the STAR, that it "will be found strictly true and impartial?"

I have had the honor of holding the office of Chairman scarcely yet two years. During the last year no meeting has consisted of less than six, although frequently double, and sometimes more than treble this number of Magistrates have attended, not one of them, Sir, in knowledge, in probity, or in moral worth, in the least inferior to you, whereas many of them, in wealth—if we are to take the public estimation as a guide, far exceed you.

It is not, Sir, that I pretend to stand better with the "Magistracy" than any of my predecessors that I am led to these comparisons, but because I am, from a proper respect for public opinion, compelled to come forward and to show, as your evidence has been levelled at me personally, the credence that is due to it, and the reliance to be placed in your statements upon honor before a committee of the Assembly. I am, &c.
