FELL FIGHTING TO LAST WITH OVERWHELMING REBEL FORCE

Michael Collins And Party Ambushed On Wild Mountain Road Between Macroom And Bandon—Odds Were Twenty Against Two Hundred—Assailants Were Being Driven Off As Hero Fell

Cork, Aug. 23.—Michael Collins fell, fighting to the last with an overwhelming force of rebels who ambushed his little party on a wild mountain road between Macroom and Bandon.

The Commander-in-Chief of the Free State army had been visiting Cork and, accompanied by the members of his Headquarters Staff, left at six o'clock Tuesday morning to inspect the military positions south of Cork. He was escorted by a light armored car and a lorry carrying soldiers. Altogether the party is believed to have numbered about a score, including General Sean O'Connell, Commander of the Bodyguard, and Major General Dalton, Commander of the Free State troops in Cork.

A despatch rider preceded the large touring car with Collins and other officers; then followed a whipper armored car, while an ordinary open tender brought up the rear. The party visited nearly all the posts to the south of Cork occupied by the National Army, among them Skibbereen, Rosscarberry and Clonakilly; at each place the officer commanding was interviewed and the party was enthusiastically greeted. Owing to the interruption of communication by the main road the party towards evening took a round-about route for Cork from Bandon.

Bealibhath, which is eight miles from Macroom, lies to the South of the main road on the South side of the river Lee, in a hilly rugged district. While proceeding by road near this village at 6.30 in the evening, the party was ambushed by about two hundred Irregulars.

The battle opened with a few shots fired by the attacking forces. The Nationals were taken by surprise and one of the first bullets nearly struck Collins' car before it stopped, missing him only by an inch or two.

The Nationals hastily dismounted and Gen. Collins himself assumed leadership. A hail of bullets sweeping the road left him quite unmoved. He thought of the safety of his men, whom he ordered to take cover at the fences on both sides of the road.

At the very outset the despatch rider in front was badly wounded in the lungs, and under the direction of the Commander in Chief was removed to temporary safety. The Free State forces settled down to reply to the fire, and the fact that they were faced by far superior numbers did not daunt either Collins or his officers and within a few minutes the attack developed into a grim engagement fiercely contested.

Every man of the ambushed party had been tried repeatedly and had proved his bravery and coolness in action, and all of them showed readiness in the battle which lasted nearly an hour. It was in the very last stages that Michael Collins was killed.

It is asserted that the careful well directed fire of the ambushed party took heavy toll, a large number of rebels being killed or wounded.

Forty-five minutes of the Free State was the despatch rider. The fighting was nearly ended and the rebels were on the point of retreating, defeated despite their overwhelming numbers and advantageous position, and the firing had become less intense, when suddenly Collins fell.

It was obvious that he had been mortally wounded, but notwithstanding this, he still fired from the ground and encouraged his men by his unflinching bravery.

In a feeble voice the Commander asked for Major General Dalton, and Dalton and General O'Connell, both greatly distressed, comforted their dying Chief. They whispered a few prayers and recited the act of contrition before the General passed away. His body was removed under fire to the armored car.

The rebels were by now in retreat, leaving many dead and wounded on the field. The Free State forces were obliged to leave the touring car, taking their dead chief's body in the armored car, which reached Cork about mid-night.

WAR'S EVILS AND LABOUR'S VIRTUES

With Conspiracies Of Employers Were Keynotes Of Fraternal Addresses

Montreal, Que., August 23.—War's evils, International Unionism's virtues, the conspiracies of employers to throttle workers' organizations, and the stupidities of the British and American Governments, were the keynotes of Fraternal Delegates' addresses to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress at its only session here today.

Samuel Gompers, veteran President of the American Federation of Labor, who was introduced by Tom Moore, President of the Congress, as "a man whose years of service as a leader of organized labor are greater than the ages of many delegates here," pleaded the cause of the International Trades Union.

Employers, he said, cared little whether their employees were Protestants, Roman Catholics, Jews, Irishmen or negroes, so long as they remained apart and worked cheap. Labor should then take the lesson and organize heedless of creeds or races.

The arraignment of the British Government, particularly on its peace policy, the denunciation of all the Allied Governments' reconstruction policies because they were based on hatred and suspicion, were enunciated by W. Carter, M.P., Fraternal delegate from the British Trades Union Congress. Labor, he contended, had a greater problem than the mere fight for better wages and conditions of employment. They had to fight the greatest problem of all times—war. Victory on the industrial field alone, the winning of higher wages and better conditions served to nothing, if the manhood of the Union was to be slaughtered on the battlefield.

While Mr. Gompers recited the winning fight labor was making in the United States against ruthless, unscrupulous and "stupid" employers, Mr. Carter painted a sombre picture of conditions in England. There, more than a million and a half men and women were able and anxious for work but could not get it. The British Employers' Federation had just ended a successful battle against the Miners' Union—the strongest Labor Union in the world—and the miners were now working under the "most revolting of conditions." Expert miners received less than $2.50 a day, and were given but three days work a week—a total wage of some $7 or less. Each individual Union was being singled out for attack by the employers.

W. Hulbeck, A.F.O.L. fraternal delegate briefly urged the benefits of International Unionism, which he said would extend to the scale of a world entente among working classes.

R. Faribault, 90 St. James street, secretary for the Delorme family, had not received any report from Dr. Brochu at noon today.

"I find it peculiar," he said, "that Dr. Brochu should make any public announcement before the confirmation reached the representative of the family in this matter. Until we have had an opportunity of reading that report and of discussing it with my clients—that is the Delorme family counsel—I am not in a position to say anything except that should the report be as stated in the newspapers Dr. Brochu will certainly be called into Court for examination."

Until today the interdiction proceedings have been conducted by Mr. Faribault. Since, however, examination of Dr. Brochu and possibly other witnesses appears in prospect, it is considered possible that counsel will now be retained by the Delorme family and in this connection the name of Gustave Monette, who defended Delorme at the criminal trial, is mentioned. This morning Mr. Monette had received no communication from the family and refused to talk on the subject.

Apart from the sensation caused by the probability that the Delorme case once more is to occupy the spotlight in the Montreal courts comment centred chiefly on the possibility of Dr. Brochu's opinion directly or indirectly forcing the murder charge to trial on its merits.

"The matter, it is said, is right up to the Attorney-General of the Province, and his entry into the affair will depend largely on what Dr. Brochu does."

If Dr. Brochu considers Delorme not only sane enough to administer his affairs but wholly sane, it is anticipated that he will communicate with the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, on whose order Delorme was interned. The Lieutenant-Governor, in the ordinary course of events, would transmit the communication to the Provincial Secretary of the Province, and the matter would be before the Cabinet.

The situation then would be that the Beauport Asylum would be holding a patient declared sane by one expert, and declared by seven other experts to be in such mental condition that he could not, early in July, stand trial on the murder charge.

It is not anticipated that the Crown and defence alienists would venture any opinion on Delorme's mental condition to-day without further examination, because, should it be shown that the patient's mental condition had improved, it would be the duty of the Government to reopen criminal proceedings immediately. The Attorney-General would voice the instructions of the Government, but only after the Provincial Secretary,

WHOLE QUESTION OF DELORME TO BE RE-OPENED

His Mental Condition Will Again Be Considered By Court

DR. BROCHU'S REPORT AS TO INTERNED MAN'S SANITY REVIVES POSSIBILITY OF MURDER TRIAL

Montreal, August 23.—The whole question of Adelard Delorme's mental condition will be reopened in the Superior Court on August 29, at continuation of hearings on interdiction proceedings instituted by the Delorme family council, following a report made by Dr. Brochu, Medical Superintendent of St. Michel Asylum, Beauport, where Delorme is interned, that his patient is sane enough to administer his own affairs.

Dr. Brochu will be called to give evidence supporting his report. It is considered likely that the Crown and defence alienists, whose evidence in the Delorme criminal trial led the jury to pronounce the Abbe incapable of standing trial on the charge of murdering his half brother Raoul, will be called in rebuttal of Dr. Brochu's testimony. The upshot of the whole affair may be that the Provincial Government may order a mental examination of Delorme by a third set of expert alienists to decide once and for all whether the Abbe is now in a condition to face the murder charge, or whether he is sane and should be transferred from the asylum to Bordeaux jail once more, to appear in the Court of King's Bench on the merits of the case celebre.

The status of the case is unparalleled in the history of Montreal courts and sensational evidence at next Wednesday's Superior Court hearing, followed by unlooked for developments in a case, up to today considered virtually settled, are predicted.

The interdiction proceedings referred to have been hanging fire, because a report on the mental condition of Delorme has been lacking and the law requires that applicants for the interdiction shall produce a certificate from the medical superintendent of the asylum in which the patient is interned, setting forth that fact. A certificate favorable to the interdiction application has been expected.

Dr. Brochu, 90 St. James street, secretary for the Delorme family, had not received any report from Dr. Brochu at noon today.

"I find it peculiar," he said, "that Dr. Brochu should make any public announcement before the confirmation reached the representative of the family in this matter. ## BLACKHAND GANG WORKS MON REAL

Musicians Receive Letters Threatening Instant Death As Punishment

Montreal, Aug. 23.—An organized blackhand gang is at work in Montreal, according to reports made to the police.

Threatening letters saying that instant death will be the punishment have been received. Pieces of paper with pictures of daggers dripping blood, skull and cross bones, and weird inscriptions have been pinned to the front doors of citizens.

In every case the person receiving letters and papers is a musician. Last night one of the recipients was brutally assaulted. He was hit over the head with a cane which had two nails in the end. The stick is at Detective headquarters.

"This is the last notice. We will give you twenty-four hours. Don't let this go to the police!"

Signed Black Hand.

This was one of the letters received by Vincenzo Indelicci, of 1655 De La Roche Street. The message bore pictures of the skull and cross bones, daggers and other characters.

The same man awoke this morning to find a piece of white paper pinned on his door bearing pictures of daggers and saying that would die within the next twelve hours.

Another who has received black hand letters and been threatened is D. Weinberg. While returning to his home from work late last night he had occasion to pass a large tree. Just as he was opposite a figure dressed in dark clothes hit him over the head with a cane. Weinberg struggled with his assailant and managed to wrest the cane away from the man.

PRESENTATION OF G.W.V.A. CASE AGAINST BOARD OF PENSION COMMISSIONERS GOT UNDER WAY AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Presentation of the case of the G.W.V.A. against the Board of Pension Commissioners, got under way at today's sittings of the Royal Commission, presided over by Col. J. S. Ralston, which resumed its hearings here today. C. G. MacNeil, Dominion Secretary Treasurer of the G.W.V.A. was on the stand during the whole of today's session and continued his presentation of the Veterans' case to-morrow.

At the opening of today's proceedings a clash occurred between the G.W.V.A. Counsel, H. R. Bowler, and Dr. Gordon Henderson, Counsel for the Pension Board, over the production of files now in the possession of the Pension Board. The G.W.V.A. asked that individual files of pensioners being dealt with before the Commission be placed in the Commission's custody. This was requested as an assurance that files would be present when needed. Mr. Bowler declared. After Dr. Henderson had objected to the G.W.V.A. being allowed to go on a "fishing expedition" it was agreed that the files should be available, but the representative of the Pension Board being present at the same time.

Mr. MacNeil in his evidence quoted from Hansard and committee reports to show that Parliament and the successive committees had intended that a man who had served in an actual theatre of war should be considered fit for enlistment. The Pension Board, he declared, had seriously violated the intentions of the Act and case after case had been found which also violated the assurances given by the Pension Board to returned soldiers in respect to the matter of disabilities and their ability to service. The charges against the Pension Board had only been made in a last effort to secure proper treatment for the returned soldiers in this regard.

The differences of opinion between expert alienists at Montreal and those of Quebec is declared to be historic. It is thought, therefore, that the proceedings to be taken by the Government will possibly be to have a Crown Prosecutor, with a watching brief, present at next Wednesday's hearing and then that should the developments appear to warrant the move, a third mental investigation of Delorme may be ordered to try and settle the question finally. In this connection it is considered probable that alienists from outside the Province would be utilized.

Dr. Brochu, who has watched Abbe Delorme very closely since he was brought to Quebec and placed in the Beauport Asylum, does not feel convinced that the alleged slayer of his step-brother, Raoul Delorme, is suffering from mental aberration.

Dr. Brochu does not think, however, that his report sent through the Attorney-General's office will mean a reopening of the criminal case against the Abbe, as it was most likely that the Delorme family would take other means than those set forth in the report to gain an interdiction.

BOARD MAY NOT CONTINUE ITS HEARING OF CASE

Remote Possibility Of Amicable Agreement In Wage Dispute On C.N.R.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—There is a remote possibility that the Canadian National Railways and their employees, with whom they are in dispute as to wages, may come to an amicable agreement without the necessity of the continuation of the Board of Conciliation. At the conclusion of the session of the Board this afternoon, at which A. E. Crilly of Montreal presented the brief for the Company, both he and A. R. Mosher, for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, agreed to a round table conference, which will be continued to-morrow morning.

NOT FAIR ATTITUDE TO BASE OBJECTIONS ON RELATION OF SALARIES TO FAMILY BUDGET

In presenting the railway's side of the dispute, Mr. Crilly sought to justify the proposed reduction of wages to the lower paid employees of the C. N. R. by showing that the wage rate today was 45 percent higher than it was in 1917, while the cost of living at present was only 15 percent higher than in that year.

Mr. Crilly, who was frequently challenged by Mr. Mosher, submitted statistics by which he sought to show that, whereas the employees of the C. N. R. whose dispute was being adjudicated, had received large increases in pay since 1917, there had been nothing like the decline which should accompany the ratio of the reduced cost of living. He pointed to the increases which had been given on the Canadian Government Railways from 1917 until July, 1921, when decreases decided upon by the Chicago Board of Railway Commissioners had been adopted by the Canadian railways. Whereas the increases granted to employees during those years had averaged $51.50 per month, decreases since then only averaged $18.36.

Mr. Crilly remarked also that, in addition to increased pay, the employees worked less hours, as the ten-hour day had been changed to eight in 1918, which meant the railways increasing their staffs by 25 percent.

Mr. Mosher said employees of Canadian railroads were getting less money than those on American railways when the blanket increases were approved, which was negated by Mr. Crilly.

"The main objection of the employees to wage reductions is based on the relation of salaries to the family budget," said Mr. Crilly.

"This is not a fair attitude to take in view of the fact that the cost of living is an individual matter dependent upon the tastes or inclinations of individuals and cannot be dealt with on a standardized basis. This is especially applicable here where more than 70 percent of the employees in question are single, while a majority of the others are married without families."

Following the submission of the evidence for the Company, Chairman Costello queried as to whether there was any chance of a settlement of the two parties being able to arrive at an amicable settlement of their differences if the Board should adjourn to allow them an opportunity. Both Mr. Crilly and Mr. Mosher expressed their willingness, and the Board adjourned until to-morrow afternoon when no settlement is arrived at, the debate on the submitted evidence will proceed.

Preliminary Discussion

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Preliminary discussion was held here today by the newly formed Conciliation Board which is to settle the dispute between the C. P. R. and the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, principally with regard to wage reductions varying from 3 to 4 cents an hour, which were not effective July 19.

There is also a protest from the employees on the question of overtime pay and certain other working conditions. Discussion was principally confined to arriving at an understanding regarding a basis on which to handle the dispute.

George Hodge was present for the C. P. R. and the employees were represented by the following: Eastern Lines, Frank H. Hall, General Chairman, Montreal; W. A. Rowe, Windsor; and C. L. Fisher, McAdam Junction, N.B.; Western Lines: W. E. Turner, General Chairman, Calgary; John Brodie, Vancouver; and Harry Carr, Winnipeg.

In order to be in closer touch with similar Boards dealing with disputes of a like nature, it was decided today to transfer the sittings of the Conciliation Board investigating the dispute between the Railway Companies and the shop employees from Montreal to Ottawa.

CAMPAIGN TO CLEAN UP DRUG TRAFFICKERS

Continues In Montreal—Royal Canadian Mounted Police Extremely Active

Montreal, Aug. 23.—The campaign to clean up the drug traffickers in Montreal, continues. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are extremely active and this morning has summoned to the Police Court Dr. Mallet, of 749 St. Denis Street, and Rosario Martineau, owner of a chain of drug stores in the city. It is alleged by the police that Dr. Mallet and Martineau sold drugs without the proper prescriptions. Trial will be held on August 30.

On account of both the men summoned to the Court being very prominent in their business, Judge Farault did not demand any bail; the prisoners being allowed their liberty on parole. Both, when arraigned, pleaded not guilty to the charge.

TO REMEMBER DAVID THOMPSON

Memorial Fort Will Be Dedicated To His Memory In West August 30

(Special to The Chronicle) Montreal, Que., Aug. 23—More than a hundred Canadian authors, historians and others interested in the early exploration of the Canadian West are assembling next week at Lake Windermere, B.C., to take part in the opening of an interesting building dedicated to the memory of David Thompson, the first man to explore the Columbia River from its source to the Pacific and the first white man to establish a permanent building in southern British Columbia.

For many years the memory of David Thompson has almost been forgotten till it was revived through the publication of his diaries and narrative of his explorations by the Champlain Society. This fascinating volume immediately restored him to his rightful position, and such authorities on the history of this continent as Professor Meany, of the University of Washington, Seattle do not hesitate to acclaim Thompson as the greatest geographer of the past century connected with the American continent.

The formal opening of the Memorial Fort, on August 30th, will be accompanied by a picturesque pageant in which many old timers and delegates from four tribes of Indians of the Pacific slope will participate. O. Armstrong, of Montreal, who conducted the celebrated Hiawatha pageant at Deserata, Ontario, is directing this pageant which will reproduce historic incidents in the explorations of David Thompson and Father Desmet, who served among the Kootenay Indians at Lake Winermere in 1811. Two of the war canoes used in the Champlain Tercentenary celebrations have been shipped West for this pageant.

Following the pageant, the Indians will conduct a stampee. The four tribes represented are the Flatstone, Kootenay Plains, St. Eugene Mission and Shaway. Many interesting works of Indian art have been collected for the Memorial Fort, which will serve as a museum for local antiquities and Indian handicrafts.

Sir Augustus Nanton will represent the Hudson's Bay Company at the celebration while Col. J. S. Deming will represent the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Canadian Authors Association will, at the same time, hold a Campfire meeting, in which the President Mr. J. Murray Gibson, Bliss Carman, Isabel Eccleston Mackay, Madge MacBeth, Onoto Watanna, (Mrs. Frank Heave), Frederick Niven, Evah McKowan, Robert Watson Lawrence, J. Burpee, W. T. Allison, W. S. Wallace and J. B. Tyrrell, the Editor of the David Thompson volume for the Champlain Society, are expected to participate. Bliss Carman arrives in Montreal on Friday, and leaves for the West on the Trans-Canada. After the celebration, he plans to canoe down the Columbia River from Lake Windermere to Golden, spending two or three weeks in the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

In Montreal a local group of those interested in David Thompson will hold a meeting simultaneously at three o'clock in the afternoon of August 30th at Thompson's grave in Mount Royal Cemetery. This grave has hitherto been neglected and is not marked even by a stone. The Canadian Historical Association is anxious to erect a small monument to mark the site, and the meeting planned by Dr. W. H. Atherton, Mr. George Ham, Mr. W. D. Lighthall, Mr. Pemberton Smith, Mr. Norman Rankin, Mr. H. Hodkisson, Mr. W. Ormiston Roy, Mr. Geo. Clarkson and Mr. A. W. D. Hai so far the last Post are among those who are expected to take part in the Montreal ceremony.

MAJORITY IN LABELLE NOW IS UNDER 500

Conservatives Are Considering Question Of Contesting Sherbrooke Bye-Election

LIBERALS SURPRISED J. W. Gregoire Not Chosen Party Standard Bearer As Was Expected

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Latest news from Labelle County shows that the Liberal majority there is under 500, according to a writer in the Montreal Gazette. "A curious fact," says the writer, "has come to light in connection with the election. This is that four women voted in the parish of Notre Dame de La Paix. One of the Liberal workers, fresh from his efforts in the Federal general elections of last December, when women had the vote, forgot that they have not the vote in provincial elections. He marched four women to the ballot booths, where they were allowed to cast their votes." The Gazette writer continues: "The Conservatives are at present considering the question of whether or not they should put up a battle in Sherbrooke bye-election which is expected to take place shortly. The Liberal convention was held today.

Mr. Sauve is disposed to get into another battle, despite the ardors of that in Labelle, but the matter is one which his friends will have to consider as well. Some of them do not think it reasonable at the present time to go into one contest after another with but a small interval between each. "The decision is one which will rest with the Conservatives of Sherbrooke. If they are anxious for battle, and wish to make a serious effort, they will have to so declare, but it may be that they will decide to let the Liberals hold the seat until the general elections, on the general principle that a bye-election always favors a Government.

"Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, has his home in Sherbrooke, though he sits for Richmond, and is considered to be quite a force in the capital of the Eastern Townships. Sherbrooke has been Liberal in Provincial affairs for 22 years. At the 1919 general elections J. H. Lemay was elected by acclamation.

In a contest in Sherbrooke the issue would narrow down to the question of what they were in Labelle. There is no colonization issue there nor anything affecting roads, and as far as the liquor law is concerned, Sherbrooke has a depot of the Commission, taverns and hotels. There are several other vacant Counties in the Province where bye-elections promise to be more interesting than would a contest in Sherbrooke. These are St. Hyacinthe, Chambly, Napierville and Rouville, Counties that are in large measure rural.

FOREST NOMINATED

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 23.—The nomination of Dr. Ludger Forest as Liberal candidate for the bye-election in Sherbrooke County was somewhat of a surprise in Liberal circles. It is generally understood that Mr. J. W. Gregoire would receive the nomination. The convention was attended by ninety delegates, fifty seven of whom voted for Dr. Forest and forty for Mr. Gregoire.

At the suggestion of Mr. Gregoire the nomination was made unanimous. The speakers included the Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer; the Hon. Mr. Perreault, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries; and Mr. Vautrin, Member for St. James.

The splendid financial position of the Province of Quebec was the main item under discussion, while a number of charges made by Mr. Sauve in the recent bye-election in Labelle were also commented upon. The Hon. Mr. Perreault advised that the Government was considering greater development of the water power in the Province with the hope that ultimately the purchase of coal from the States would be unnecessary. The Provincial Liquor Law was strongly approved and the Melghen Government was blamed for the special tax on imported liquors which had obliged the Government of Quebec to increase the price of liquor about $1.75 a bottle. It is not expected that there will not be any contest.

TO SHIP MORE GRAIN DIRECT

British Importers Complain Of Grades Received Via American Ports

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Following investigation of complaints made to the Department of Trade and Commerce here regarding the grades of grain received in England after shipment from Western Canada via United States ports and the taking up of similar questions with the British grain importers during the visit to Britain of Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Trade and Commerce, it is expected that steps will be taken to try and secure the shipment of a greater percentage of Canadian wheat through Canadian ports than previously. Occasional complaints have been received by the Department from British importers that grain received by them from Canada was not up to the standard of Canadian grades. Investigation of several complaints was made during the past year and it was found that the grain in question had been shipped to the Old Country through United States ports and that, in the trans-shipment at American elevators, wheat of inferior quality had become mixed with the Canadian product. This feature was taken up by Mr. Robb while in England, and it is understood that some of the British importers made vigorous objections to the present system of exporting. They were satisfied with the Canadian grading system but claimed that when the grain was not shipped direct through Canadian ports, they were not certain that their grain would be equal to the standard grade which they had contracted for. The outcome of the conference is expected to be a further development of elevator facilities at Canadian ports in order that as much Canadian grain as possible may be shipped direct, and there is also a possibility that Canadian exporters, under these circumstances, the railway cannot protect the standard of Canadian breadstuffs in the world markets, may be asked to bond their exports when they are shipped through foreign ports.

RAILROAD HEADS REJECT PLAN OF BROTHERHOODS

To End Strike By Reinstating Men With Seniority Rights

STRIKERS' SPOKESMAN Declares Door Closed To Peace By Lockout To Smash Unionism

New York, N.Y., August 23.—By a vote of 25 to 4, a majority group of the Association of Railway Executives today rejected the proposals of the Big Five Train Service Brotherhoods, that the carriers end the nation-wide shopmen's strike by reinstating the men with seniority unimpaired, and Bert M. Jewell, official spokesman for the strikers, declared the Association had closed the door to peace and voted for a lockout to smash Unionism on the railroads. At the same time, splitting away from the majority, was a group of 25 railroads, principally western lines, which debated a new suggestion of the Brotherhoods that individual settlements be effected. This minority, while professing to stand with the majority in reaffirming the stand of seniority, still indicated that it desired to hear further regarding the individual settlement suggestion.

The resolution passed by the Association of Railway Executives today stated that the roads adhered to the position heretofore taken that the striking former employees cannot be given preference to employees at present in the service and that, under these circumstances, the railway cannot protect the standard of Canadian breadstuffs in the world markets, may be asked to bond their exports when they are shipped through foreign ports.

Mr. Jewell, who is head of the Railway Employees' Department of the A. F. of L., in an official statement late tonight said: "The Association of Railway Executives have now voted for a lockout to smash Unionism on the railroads and to eliminate collective bargaining from the industry. "The 400,000 striking employees accept the challenge of the Association. We will redouble our efforts, confident of success."

United States Railroad Presidents will meet in session this afternoon to vote on the resolution submitted by a sub-committee, embodying the reply to be made to last week's proposals for mediating Brotherhood chiefs for settlement of the shopmen's strike. It was understood that the carrier heads, at their morning session, had voted unanimously to stand pat on their refusal to reinstate strikers with full seniority rights, but that the reply would contain counter proposals leaving the door to peace still open. This reply, it was expected, would be conveyed to the mediators later today.

Chief LePage, of the detective office, stated this morning that the prisoner is being held at Bordeaux jail pending his identification. He is believed to have been a member of a party which was held in the vicinity of Bonaventure station on the night of which Carey met his death and is believed to have been robbed of $20,000.

WESTERN MINERS BACK TO WORK

Up and down the street the picturesque Palestine Gendarmier ride upon their grey Arab ponies, or talk to the town police, in khaki and black astrakhan fez. It would be hard to find such a strange mixture of races even on the East Side of New York. The sold British infantry or garrison artillery, smart and alert, take up positions along the Jaffa road to see the pretty girls go by. As usual Tommy Atkins is quite inconspicuous, and it is difficult to believe that he alone allows all these warring races and creeds to meet and pass in peace. He keeps the peace in all the Near East now. Were it not for him, many lives would be in danger. Not far distant from the ancient

REACH TENTATIVE UNDERSTANDING ON SOME MINOR POINTS AT ISSUE IN NOVA SCOTIA COAL STRIKE

Sydney, N.S., Aug. 23.—A tentative understanding upon some of the minor points at issue in the Nova Scotia coal strike was reached at the second session of the British Empire Steel Corporation and United Mine Workers peace conference, held here this afternoon, according to official announcement. Negotiations will continue on Thursday.

President Livingstone and members of the District 26 executive appeared for the U. M. W. Vice-President D. H. MacDougall and his officials represented the British Empire Steel Corporation, and Hon. D. A. Cameron, Minister without Portfolio, was present as observer for the Provincial Government. The session commenced at 2:30 and lasted until 5:30 p. m.

When the meeting broke up, President Livingstone gave out the following statement: "The conference between the executive of the United Mine Workers and representatives of the Company was resumed this afternoon. Hon. D. A. Cameron was present. A further frank discussion of the questions at issue took place and some of the minor points in dispute were taken up and a tentative understanding arrived at. The conference will be resumed at 1:30 on Thursday."

Unofficial information was that, although the points at issue were thoroughly discussed, not a great deal of actual headway was made; the miners apparently marking time pending the arrival of Dr. Clarence Mackinnon, Principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, who is expected to be on hand for Thursday's meeting. On the whole, the situation looked brighter this evening and it was believed that the present negotiations would not be protracted. At a rough estimate, about two thirds of the Provincial revenue comes in one form or another from the coal mines and the report persists that Premier Murray is preparing to swing the big stick vigorously upon the disputants to force an early resumption of operations.

Quiet continued throughout the coal fields today, but vigorous picketing operations were in force on the Reserve road and at the coal company's banking station at New Aberdeen.

Mr. Caron promised to the Three Rivers Exhibition that he will next year celebrate its 25th anniversary, a provincial grant equal to those given to the Sherbrooke and the Quebec Exhibitions.

ROOSTER WAS PECKING AT REAL DIAMOND

London, Ont., Aug. 23.—Early this week, Fred. Moon got up at the usual hour to feed the chickens and noticed an old rooster, the King of the barnyard, industriously pecking at something shiny and loudly calling the attention of his many better halves to the fact that he had located a choice morsel for their breakfast. Mr. Moon decided to investigate. Going over to the scene of activity he reached down and picked up what he thought to be "just a shiny stone," but which turned out to be a genuine diamond of the frat water, weighing 2 1-2 carats and valued by experts at approximately $1200.

The Florida East Coast Railroad has a shop plant at that place.

CANADIANS GETTING DETROIT DIVORCES

Detroit, Aug. 23.—Convinced that hundreds of Canadians are obtaining divorces in Detroit every year by falsely representing themselves as residents of the city, Judge Richter yesterday ordered Edward Hokorny, clerk of the court, to investigate the residence of every Canadian who files suit for divorce. "I will not grant a decree in any Canadian case until Mr. Pokorny assures me that one of the parties has really lived here two years as required by the statute," said Judge Richter. "So many suits are being tried by Canadians that it has made me very suspicious."

OPERATION OF MINES RESUMED BY AGREEMENT TO END COAL STRIKE IN SOUTHWESTERN STATES

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 23.—An agreement to end the coal strike in the United States Southwest and resume operation of mines immediately was reached late today at a Conference here of miners, Union officials and operators from Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Vote on the settlement was unanimous, which was based on the Cleveland agreement.

The basis of the agreement, it was announced, was the extension of the wage scale, which expired March 31 last, to March 31 1923. A condition of the settlement was that miners now employed in mines under operation shall not be discriminated against.

Operators declared newly-mined coal would be on the tracks at mine sidings by September first. Bill Passed House. Washington, Aug. 23.—The United States administration bill for creation of a Federal Commission to obtain all facts possible relating to the coal industry in the United States, and one on which miners and operators were denied representation, was passed to-night by the House. Three separate attempts were made to amend the bill so as to put representatives of the miners and mine owners on the Commission, but all of them failed.

PRODUCTION RESUMED

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Illinois bituminous coal diggers today resumed production after 144 days of idleness adding the State's 15 percent of the United States production towards efforts to forestall a winter shortage. Union officials estimated today that settlements had spread to include four fifths of the unionized soft coal fields in the United States.

QUEBEC, AUGUST 24, 1922.

MICHAEL COLLINS.

Another chapter has been written in the tragedy of Ireland: one of those saddening and terrible occurrences which are inevitably produced by fratricidal strife.

Considering that the opponents of the Free State had been decisively beaten in fair fight and could henceforward do no more to further their cause than the commission of meaningless, useless acts of violence and destruction...

De Valera had been within the grasp of Collins on several occasions and was permitted to go free and unscathed, but De Valera did not hesitate to slaughter Collins from ambush in furtherance of his own destructive policies...

The highest hope then of a sorely troubled people has been dashed to the ground and their evil genius remains, but we are confident that Griffith and Collins will prove even greater assets to stable and moderate self government, dead than alive.

The last words of Collins were "forgive them, for they know not what they do." Forgiveness is a divine quality, but in this world at least it must be preceded, if not by atonement then by repentance.

DRURY SEES LIGHT.

Premier Drury, leader of the Farmer Government in Ontario, who long ago advocated a "broadening out" policy, appears to realize more and more clearly what many observers of current events and students of political science have always insisted upon...

"A proposal has come to me from friends of the Progressive party in the city of Toronto, and in some other cities looking toward the calling at some time in the not too distant future of a Progressive convention for the Province of Ontario.

"It is recognized that the strength of the Progressive party of Ontario, is found in the rural districts, but that there are many in the villages, towns and cities who think as we do politically, and who will be willing and eager to aid us when the time comes for a test of our strength in the Province.

"With a view to enlisting the active aid of these urban friends it has been proposed that a general convention should be called which these would be invited to attend.

"First, however, it has been suggested that it would be well to get in touch with these urban friends and find out their views on the matter. With that end in view I am writing you asking you to send me in confidence a list of urban friends of the Progressive cause in your riding or in any adjacent riding with which you may be acquainted and which is not at present represented by a Progressive member.

"Your co-operation in this matter would be greatly appreciated, and will, I am sure, contribute greatly to the strength of Progressivism in the Province of Ontario. Any list of urban friends you may send me will be treated as confidential, and I would ask you that you treat this letter in the same manner."

This broadening out policy of Premier Drury is evidently supported by a large number of the U. F. O. members. The Toronto Star publishes interviews with a considerable number of prominent persons in the organization and the majority of them expressed themselves in favor of it.

IN DEFENCE OF CHESS.

Is chess a game or a science? Can it be indulged in safely as a hobby, or is it a menace to the usefulness of the devotee in other spheres of human activity?

ney of International Chess Masters at London. Referring to the opening of this interesting event, the Times warned its readers editorially:

"It is not a game for every one; and to play it really well one must devote more time to it than is as a rule compatible with the successful pursuit of daily business. Alone among games, with the exception of its humble relative, draughts, chess allows no scope for luck or chance, and so partakes of none of those happy-go-lucky elements which make so many pastimes an enjoyment as well as a struggle.

"For chess in its last stages is an all-compelling and most predatory mistress. Many of the finest chess players have had early to renounce the game. Paul Morphy, perhaps the greatest master of all, came, saw, conquered, and departed from the halls of chess in a very few years, to take to the law and to sink into obscurity. Mr. Bonar Law, chess lover as he is, is aware of the dark side of the game. Yet we who are but of average intellect and do but play occasionally, ought not to be ungrateful to the masters when they play before us, and when we can follow their magnificent strategy step by step next day on the domestic board.

As might have been expected under the circumstances, an answer to this somewhat faint praise was not delayed in forthcoming and it was given by no less a personage than Jose Capablanca, the world's champion player, and himself participating in the international tourney. Taking direct issue with the Times, this master—who should be in a position to speak if anyone is—maintains:

"Chess is a game for everybody, but like other games, only more so, it is not a game in which everybody can excel. It has no element of chance when played only by the best men and over a long stretch of games. In a set match of six or eight games, where draws do not count, the best player will invariably win, all other things being equal, but in ordinary games between weak amateurs, unless there is a great difference between the players, there is a great element of chance, and no one can predict the outcome. I know, and have played, many different games, and have watched others play, yet I have never seen so much emotion displayed over other games as I have seen displayed over a game of chess. Chess is, it is true, a serious game, and a certain amount of quietness is required, but a little conversation is not at all barred from an ordinary game of chess.

"It is a great mistake to believe that in order to play chess well one must give up all other occupations. We have now in the present congress many of the leading players of the world, and yet some of them devote far less time to chess than to other things. Dr. Tartakover, for instance, is a lawyer and literary man; Maroczy for many years did technical work for the Hungarian Government; Dr. Bernstein is a lawyer; Dr. Tarrasch a practising physician; and Dr. M. Vidmar is a professor at the University of Ljubljana, and director or managing director of some engineering works in the same city. Yet all these men are world figures in chess.

"Nor are they the only ones who have been successful in other walks of life while being at the same time the leading players of the world. I remember Philidor, who was a great musician and at the same time the best player of his epoch; Anderssen, who was professor of mathematics in a university in Germany while he was the strongest player in the world. I could yet give many more names. As to myself, if business men gave as little time to their business as I generally give to chess, they would all go bankrupt in a very short time. It is thus evident that one can devote one of the leading players of the world and yet have considerable time left for any other pursuit in life. Of course, if a man wants to become a leading chess player and has not the great natural ability required for such a thing, he will need more time than a day has hours, but he will never get there. Chess may be a science, but from what we know at present it is just as much an art. That many of the finest chess players have had to renounce chess early is not correct. So far as I know, Morphy was the only one."

Where doctors disagree the layman must remain in doubt, but it would seem that chess, indulged in to excess, is likely to exercise an unfavorable influence like any other indulgence. The amateur and even the beginner can get keen pleasure out of this splendid game, regardless of skill, and the chief advantage under which it labors is the popular fallacy that chess, like Browning's poetry, is "difficult"; the result being that the majority of people to-day are deprived of an unequalled pastime through lack of curiosity or courage to investigate it for themselves.

THE BROAD VIEW.

(London Daily Chronicle.)

The American voter, burdened by high taxation, has been told by many of his newspapers and public men that the way to get it down is to make the Allies pay their debts. The only ally who has expressed readiness and willingness to pay is Great Britain, and he is loth to commute her immediately available money for German bonds, whose value, if any, would be unrealizable till a remote date.

THEY WILL LEARN.

(Regina Leader.)

The members of Premier Bracken's Cabinet are, like himself, comparatively unknown in the political world. That is no reason why they should not develop into efficient departmental heads, and if they have the same ability as their leader in learning things it should not be long before they are masters of their new work. The Greenfield Cabinet in Alberta was constructed out of nearly equally raw material, and it seems to be getting along fairly well.

DEMAND FOR AN ARMENIAN STATE

Establishment Of National Home For Christians Solution Of Near East Problem

New York, Aug. 23.—"The whole problem of the Near East is religious," declared J. Herbert Knapp of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly Near East district worker in Turkey. In an exclusive interview with the press, giving further details of his proposals to the United States State Department to save the lives of Christians and bring peace to Turkey.

As previously outlined in these articles, Mr. Knapp urges Charles E. Hughes, Secretary of State, to use his influence to reconcile the Nationalists and followers of Mustapha Kemal, and the reactionaries or officials now in Constantinople. With these Turkish factions united, both of which are greatly desirous of obtaining recognition by the United States, Mr. Knapp believes Mr. Hughes' power of diplomacy could be used to persuade this united Turkey to agree to certain treaty stipulations viz:

1. A mutual understanding between the Christian Government of the United States and the Muhammadan Caliph of Constantinople, the Sultan, and the Muhammadan Caliph of Arabia, for a cessation of aggressive methods by both Christians and Muhammadans.

2. That other Christian nations of Europe, notably England and France, join with the United States and Turkey in this pledge.

3. That sufficient territory be set aside by the Turks for a national home for Armenians and other Christians now in their domains and that this land be an allied protectorate.

There are two places which Mr. Knapp has in view for a "reservation" for Christians. One of these is contiguous to Armenia and the other is in Cilicia. Ae Erzerum, 150 miles inland, is the ancient Turkish waterway to Turkestan. Mr. Knapp said he believed they would object to yielding territory adjacent to Armenia. He said that it was not improbable that the Turks would be willing to designate a piece of land in Cilicia, which is "a fine country," in contrast with Armenia, they shall have the right to hold and own property, such land as ultimately may come under the laws of the country of which he is a citizen.

Mr. Knapp said that, doubtless there would be some opposition among the Armenians to giving up their country, but he believed that a majority of them would favor a better land if their lives were safeguarded, their property protected and the right to worship God guaranteed by a mandatory of the allied powers. He said that many Christians in Turkey have been forced to become Muhammadans through non-sending missionaries into non-Mohammedan territory and the only possible exception I know of," said Mr. Knapp, "is a mosque in London, which was established for the benefit of Moslem soldiers in the British army and navy."

Leadership Disputed. "The Turks profess to be the leaders of the Muhammadan world," he continued. "As a matter of fact, they are a mongrel race and in no way truly representative of the followers of the Prophet of Allah, Muhammad. In fact, he was an Arab, and it is the Arabs who are the real Muhammadans. As there is a division among the Muhammadans themselves as to their real leader the Turks accepting the Sultan as their Caliph and the Arabs obeying their own sons of Allah, it would be considerable advantage to communicate with these two Muhammadan leaders. The Koran of course, teaches that Muhammadanism must be accepted by the entire world and they are quite as energetic in proselyting as Christian missionaries.

"The underlying sentiment of the Turk is hatred of Christians. Christian missionaries in Constantinople and elsewhere for years have tried to convert these followers of the Crescent, but in only a comparatively few instances has their faith been rewarded. This is easily understood; religion is a government institution in Turkey, and capital punishment awaits any Turk who openly renounces the religion of his fathers. I know of my own knowledge that it has been so in many cases of Turks converted to Christianity.

course, have objected to observing the capitulations from the fact that the present Turkish Government has not shown itself responsible or capable in protecting foreigners. The capitulations mean that all foreigners in Turkey shall have the right to be tried by officials of their own Government and not by the Turkish Government, that is opposed to giving Constantinople back to the Turks and would favor the internationalization of the Dardanelles.

BEHIND SCENES AT MONTE CARLO. The first time you go to the casino at Monte Carlo, you will be greeted by various scribes encased behind a small counter at the entrance. They will ask to see your credentials and you will be obliged to fill a form. While being questioned, two or three individuals, walking up and down past the counter nonchalantly, will make some idle remark to you and might possibly tell you some innocent joke and you turn round and receive full in your face the concentrated glare of the individuals and—ping, your picture is photographed in their eyes for all time. If you should not reappear at the casino for ten years, you will be instantly recognized and remembered.

"Take up your position in front of the crompler, this automaton with the mechanical gears, who perched on his high stool, scope in the counters with that inexorable rake of his gently scraping the green cloth. Keep your gaze on him from time to time and you will observe in this wooden face an all but imperceptible movement of the eye in the direction of some player who, perhaps, is leaning in so far forward on the table, who snatches so promptly at the counters he has won or at a face which is too pale, too ravaged or distorted by some nervous trick or other."

"Still better, if the policeman at the bar is absolutely at the end of his resources, money to pay his hotel bill and his ticket here will be advanced to him; but he cannot return to the casino until he has discharged his debt to the authorities. "As for the delinquent, he will be punished more or less severely, but always with the same penalty, expulsion from the rooms—for ever, for ten years, for five, for one."

PROHIBITION IN UNITED STATES Is Enriching The British West Indies, Declares Sir Daniel Tudor

Prohibition in the United States is enriching the British West Indies, according to Sir Daniel Tudor, who is on his way from the Bahamas Islands, where he has been Chief Justice of the Supreme Court since 1911, to assume the post of Chief Justice of Gibraltar, to which he has been appointed.

He spent several days in Montreal before sailing for Southampton on the Canadian Pacific "Melita."

According to Sir Daniel, the dry laws of the American Republic have been a veritable boon to both the Government and the population of the Bahamas. Not only has the Government been enabled to meet its budgets without anxiety, but very many Bahamians have reaped indirect benefits from the attention which has been concentrated upon the islands.

This conviction is arrived at by deduction. From the statistics regarding the revenue upon spirituous imports to the Bahamas, one simply deducts the figures representing the total sales of spirits within the colony. The answer is the measure in which the Bahamas may contribute to American cheerfulness.

THE WORLD IS GROWING WARMER Process Is Rather Slow One, But Of Late Seems Accelerated

The best way in which to comfort ourselves in weather such as we have been having is by consideration of the fact that this world of ours is not growing colder and wetter but warmer and drier. Particularly the Northern Hemisphere

The process is, of course, rather a slow one, but it is none the less steady, and of late it seems to have accelerated to some extent.

If we possessed records of the weather since the beginning of the Christian era it is certain that the temperature over the whole of Europe and North America would show a startling rise.

Unfortunately the thermometer is a comparatively modern invention, while weather recording is a still more recent innovation. Yet for all that we can find plenty of proof, both in history and in other ways.

For instance, in Caesar's account of the Gallic wars we find frequent mention of frosts so intense that whole armies were able to cross broad rivers on the ice. We know, that in some days Germany's Winter was almost Arctic in its severity.

These are conditions which have long since passed away, and it is not more than twice or thrice in a century that a river like the Seine freezes up.

We are also aware that no further back than the sixteenth century the Winters in England were, on the average, much more severe than they are nowadays.

Another interesting proof is obtained from the records of the Hudson's Bay Company. These records give in every case the date of the freezeup of the Northwestern rivers and of the break up of the ice.

We learn from them that within the past two centuries the average interval between the setting in of the Winter frost and the coming of the Spring thaw has decreased by no fewer than ten days.

Again, European glaciers are everywhere receding. The Aletsch, the largest of Alpine glaciers, is receding at the rate of fifty feet yearly. Grand Desert, at nearly double that pace. The Kalkwasser, the Loetschen, the Tinal—all are shrinking steadily.

In the great glaciers of the Caucasus the shrinkage is even more noticeable. Eight of the largest are receding at rates varying between twenty and one hundred feet yearly.

WEEKLY ROTARY CLUB DANCE DUTIES OF BRITISH CONSULAR SERVICE OUTLINED BY MR. DENNIS COWAN, O.B.E.

The Quebec Rotarians held their weekly meeting at the Chateau Frontenac yesterday afternoon, which was well attended by members with a number of American and Canadian Rotarian guests, including Messrs. George Thompson, Greenleigh, Conn.; John A. Noonan, New York; Thomas Martin and H. Martin, Bridgeton, N.Y.; E. J. M. Shaw, Austin, Texas; L. Ashcroft, Atlanta, Georgia; Roy Fallon, Fort William, Ont. and R. H. Tanner, Montreal.

The President of the Club, Mr. Frank Stocking, called upon Hon. Frank Carrel, first President and organizer of the Club, to preside, who after the luncheon called the meeting to order when several speeches were made interspersed with club songs. The guest of honor was Mr. Dennis Cowan, C.B.E., formerly of the British Consular Service, who gave a very interesting talk on the service of which he had been a member up to 1920, when he retired.

He spoke of the training necessary for and the activities of the British Consular Service. He said that Canadian young men who were eligible should apply to the Minister of Foreign Affairs to be allowed to qualify. He said the service was now well paid in comparison with the past. From his own observations, he was able to state that the Canadian Trade Commission, appointed by the Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, were doing good work in the countries to which they were assigned. He referred to the duties of the British Consuls in foreign countries, who, he said, did not at all times satisfy the British public, but explained that the duties were on files with detail, visiting, passports, shipping, and many other matters that they were not able to give the attention to commercial subjects that were at times exacted from them. The duties of the Consul was not to assist on special concern but the entire aggregation of merchants.

Mr. George Van Pelson was the main speaker, who gave a very interesting address on Rotarianism, its aims and educational problems. He welcomed two new members, Messrs. J. J. Sutherland, of the C.N.R., and Mr. David R. McWilliams, Manager of the Canadian National Railway Telegraph System, and told them it was a real privilege to become a Rotarian.

He also spoke of the good in manhood and the welfare of the community. Hon. Frank Carrel also spoke, talking for his subject the value of publicity.

At the close of the speeches, which brought forth a vote of thanks, the President, Mr. Frank Stocking, read a communication from Mr. Joseph Samson, Mayor of Quebec. Mr. Joseph Samson, informing the Club that he had not as yet been able to fix a definite date for the official inauguration of the Dental Clinic, provided by the Rotarians and installed at the City Hall, until after the City Council meeting to be held on Friday night next, but the day following a resolution going on record as favoring "Daylight Saving" was passed.

Rotarians as to the date of inauguration. President Stocking also announced that members of the Quebec Rotary Club had accepted the invitation extended to them from the Three Rivers Rotary Club, which had been fixed for September 12th.

The Rotarians unanimously passed a resolution going on record as favoring "Daylight Saving" was passed. The time as enacted for several years by the Quebec City Council.

FRASER SALMON NOW FISHED OUT Decline In Production For Last Year As Compared With Previous Years

Victoria, Aug. 23.—Although the production of British Columbia's fisheries last year made up 39 per cent. of the total output of Canada and the province led all others in the value of its fish harvest, the figures disclosed in the annual report of Hon. William Sloan, commissioner of fisheries, show that there has been a notable reduction in the pack.

The decline in production as compared with previous years is largely on account of the fact that the Fraser River, once world famous as the home of the sockeye salmon, is now virtually fished out. The production of British Columbia salmon last year was less than 50 per cent. of the average for the past ten years.

The total pack of sockeye in the entire Fraser River system, which includes that of the State of Washington, in 1921 was but 142,598 cases, as compared to 559,702 cases in the preceding fourth year and 2,385,524 cases in preceding eighth year. Sloan states that the report, which goes on to say that there was a marked decline in the catch of all species on the Skeena River, Rivers Inlet and the Naas.

Mr. Sloan points out that a study of the records emphasizes that the northern rivers are also giving a smaller yield from year to year and unless effective protective methods are adopted they will go the way of the Fraser.

VISITING BEN HUR GAME TO GRIEF Was Fined $100 And Costs For Speeding Auto In City Streets

Wilfred Leclerc, who recently arrived from the New England States in an automobile, came to grief on Tuesday when he was fined by a municipal police constable speeding his car, at the rate of over 50 miles an hour through the city streets.

Wilfred came to Quebec in his car with money to burn and coming from a prohibition country, was bent on having a good time in Quebec. He is alleged to have patronized the Government liquor stores with the result that he got very full of ardent spirits and started in to show he natives how to race an automobile, regardless of consequences.

With coat off and shirt sleeves rolled up above the elbows he was having a fast and furious time when suddenly he was brought to a halt by a constable who took him to the cooler for the night. Yesterday morning Wilfred still cool as a cucumber before Judge Lachance in the Court of Sessions, when he pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs a total of $115 which he paid and took his departure from the Court. Judge Lachance informed him that the only thing which saved his automobile from confiscation was that it bore an American license.

ARMENIAN BOYS PROVE GOOD FIREFIGHTERS Constantine, Aug. 1—(By Mail)—A bucket brigade of 200 Armenian orphan boys from the industrial school recently saved thousands of Turkish homes at Beylerbey, on the thickly-populated Asiatic shore of the Bosphorus, from destruction by fire.

The fire started in a locality made up of tenements and at one time was most threatening. There was no firefighting apparatus available, so Mrs. A. A. Burt, of Los Angeles, the headmistress of the school, sent two hundred of the oldest boys to the scene of the fire with buckets. They organized a quadruple line from the waterfront to the fire and succeeded in confining the flames to a group of 12 tenements. About 100 Turkish families were rendered homeless.

Doctor Esther Lovejoy, of Portland, Ore., head of the American Women's Hospital, who happened to be visiting the school at the time, assisted in directing the boy firefighters.

LIMIT OWNERS WAIT ON PREMIER To Urge Suspension Of Order-in-Council Regarding Stumpage Dues

An influential deputation representing important lumber interests and headed by Mr. W. Gerard Power, President of the Limit Holders' Association of the Province of Quebec, waited upon Premier Taschereau, Hon. Honoré Mercier Minister of Lands and Forests and Hon. L. Perron, Minister of Roads, yesterday morning at the Parliament Buildings to urge a further suspension of the provisions of the Order in Council dated October 6th, 1920, regarding the dues on timber and to enforce instead the Order-in-Council dated 13th, June 1918.

After hearing the views set forth by the deputation, Premier Taschereau stated that the claims of the Limit Holders would be given immediate consideration by the Cabinet. It was stated by the deputation that the same reasons which had warranted the Cabinet last year to lower the stumpage dues, still existed, and though there was perhaps an improvement in respect to the demand prices were still low and no further improvement was at present in sight.

In the event of the old tariff remaining in force, the lumber companies would operate their camps during next winter. The Order-in-Council which the deputation requested to be maintained for another year, considerably cuts down the dues in comparison to the scale of 1920, but it was pointed out that in New Brunswick dues had also been cut down, and it had been understood by the lumbermen generally, that if conditions did not improve the 1918 tariff would be extended.

The deputation was composed of the following: Messrs. W. J. Power, President of the Association, Sir Henry Egan, Albert MacLaren, R. L. Montgomerie, T. F. Kenny, J. H. Stephens, M. C. Small, W. Beattie D. MacLachlan, J. Rotchester, P. Walker, J. Champoux, D. Champoux, S. J. Gillies, M. F. Faure, W. Mathewson, G. M. Stearns, W. J. Ray, W. Bris, General J. B. White, D.S.O., J. Power, P. Grogan, J. A. Rousseau, J. Ross, R. Grant, W. Grant, R. S. P. Smythe and P. J. Owen, Secretary of the Association.

The following companies were represented by the deputation: Peninsular Lumber Co., Power Lumber Co., Hawkesbury Lumber Co., Montgomerie Sons Co., Jas. MacLaren, Co., Price Bros. and Co., Quebec Development Co., Pembroke Lumber Co., Colonial Lumber Co., Laurentide Co., Jas. Richardson, Co., MacLachlin Bros., Shepard and Morse Lumber Co., Chateaux Bay Mills, Gillies Bay Mills, Gillies Bros., Fraser Co., Lake Megantic Pulp Co., Berville Lumber Co., Belgian Industrial Co., Borden Co., Gaitheau Co., Ontario Paper Co., Franquelin Lumber Co., Port au Quiltes Lumber Co., J. R. Booth, Ltd., Howard Smith Paper Co., York Lumber Co.

PRICE OF COAL That the buying public must pay the price is the determination of one at least of the retail establishments doing business in this city if the price of coal should go up in price. This was told a customer who went into a store to purchase goods when she was informed that prices would be advanced in a few days should coal go up in price.

When asked where the salaried man, the laborer and the poor would stand in such a case, the clerk, with a shrug of his shoulders, said: "That is their own lookout!"

ACCIDENTAL DEATH. Dr. G. W. Jolicoeur, city and district coroner, yesterday held an inquest on the remains of a young man aged 17 years named Louis Philippe Meunier of Matane who passed away at the Hotel Dieu Tuesday night as a result of injuries sustained accidentally in a saw mill, when an arm and leg were severed. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

FIRE RAGED IN GIFFARD VILLAGE Shortage Of Water Made Situation Alarming—Quebec Firemen Went Out

Fire broke out shortly before eleven o'clock last night in the little village of Giffard, west of Beauport Asylum, and owing to a shortage of water the situation became rather alarming. There was danger of the fire spreading to other buildings and appeals having been made to the City Fire Department, a chemical hose wagon was sent out in charge of Deputy Chief Belanger.

The fire broke out in the residence of Mr. Romeo Gauvin, who conducts a garage in this city at the corner of Des Glacis and d'Aiguillon streets. The house was a one story wooden building and the members of the family had just time to escape when their home was enveloped in flames. As there was no water available to check the flames they raged with unbridled fury and soon their glow illumined the sky for miles around and brought other houses of the village into relief.

When the firemen arrived and found there was no water they were powerless to assist and returned to the city. There was danger of the fire communicating with the barn of Mr. J. B. Poirier, but fortunately this was prevented by the villagers. The fire burned for more than an hour and was seen from different parts of this city, many people making inquiries at the Chronicle to ascertain where the fire was.

Both the home and most of the effects of the Gauvin family were lost. The Canadian Forestry Association has issued the following circular from its headquarters in Ottawa: So great has been success of the Quebec Government's new permit plan for all campers, fishermen, hunters, etc., entering the woods, that the period of enforcement has been extended to November 15th.

The original Order-in-Council was to have expired on the 15th of August. The working out of this regulation has been found highly beneficial in forest fire prevention and at the same time has caused little or no inconvenience to travellers in the woods. While the new law prohibits entry into the forest except by a permit, the latter are secured so easily from forest rangers at nearly all points that very few complaints of delay have been received.

The whole purpose of the new regulation is merely to insist upon the taking of precaution in building camp fires and in extinguishing them the cautious use of lighted tobacco, matches, etc. The name and address of the traveller is taken by the ranger and of course in the event of fire occurring that are attributable to camp fires or matches, the permit holder will be held responsible for his wrong doing.

FOUR FIREMEN WERE OVERCOME BY DENSE FUMES AND SMOKE From Basement Of Plumbing Shop Was Cause

Four firemen were overcome by smoke and had to be rescued by their companions at a blaze which broke out last night in the basement of the plumbing shop of David Houzeau and Pils, 795 St. Valier street.

The cause of the fire is unknown but it must have communicated with some material or acids used in the plumbing business which caused poisonous fumes to pervade the building. Besides the four firemen who were overcome the others who worked at the blaze were also affected.

Those who were completely overcome and lost consciousness were Captain Langlois and Fireman Omer Renaud, of No. 7 Station, Firemen Odilon Lavoye, of No. 8 Station and Fireman Philippe Bourret of No. 3 Station.

The men had to be given medical treatment after their rescue and Firemen Lavoye and Renaud had to go home. The blaze was confined to the cellar and it is estimated that the damages will run in the vicinity of $200.

TWO PAINTERS INJURED IN FALL Fell From Fourth Story Of The John Ritchie Factory Yesterday Afternoon

Two workmen engaged in painting the John Ritchie factory, 493 St. Valier street yesterday afternoon had an almost miraculous escape when they fell from the fourth story and escaped without grievous injury. They were Joseph Lalonde, 120 Durocher street, and Omer Plead, 30 Bedard street.

Other workmen and people on the vicinity who witnessed the fall ran to the assistance of the two men. A doctor was called and after examining the men he said there were no bones fractured and apparently no grievous internal injury. The men, however, suffered considerably from shock and were removed to their homes in the ambulance.

GIVEN WELCOME AT THREE RIVERS Mayor Samson And Party Were Hospitably Received At Exhibition There

A most hospitable reception was accorded Mayor Samson and a party of Quebecers who motored to Three Rivers yesterday to attend the Exhibition which is now on in that city.

The three motor cars which left Quebec yesterday morning carried Mayor Samson, Ald. V. Martin, Mr. Arthur Marler, member of the Quebec Exhibition Commission, Mr. Martin Madden, M.L.A., Ald. Jos. Emond, Ald. A. Drouin, Mr. A. Samson, Mr. Eugene Leclerc, Ald. P. H. Gadard, Ald. A. A. Lantier and Mr. Sylvio Bedard.

On their arrival at Three Rivers the visitors were greeted by Hon. Dr. Normand, Mayor of the city, and by Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs. They were later received by the President of the Exhibition Reception Committee and were entertained at luncheon. In the early part of the afternoon they visited the exhibition and also took in the races during the afternoon.

On their way back they stopped at the Jardin des Allées at Grand-dunes where they had dinner and arrived in the city shortly before midnight well pleased with their trip and speaking in glowing terms of the hospitality of Three Rivers.

POLICE CALLED FOR ROW IN ST. SAUVEUR When They Arrived Combatants Had Flown And Everything Was Peaceful

A telephone call was received at Central Police Station shortly after midnight asking for the services of the police to stop a big fight that was in progress at the corner of St. Germain and Morin streets in St. Sauveur.

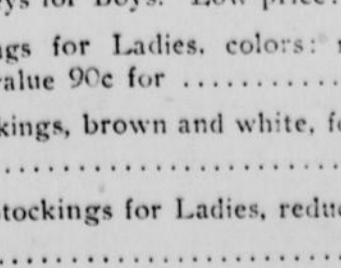

Sergt. Laflèche immediately rushed twelve men to the scene from the various stations nearest to the scene of hostilities, but when they arrived everything was peaceful. The belligerents having seen the arrival of the police and taken to shelter.

It appears that the row was not a very serious one being just an ordinary rough-and-tumble street fight, but some of the neighbors got excited and summoned the police to stop what they seemed to think was a riot in the making.

THE MISTAKE WAS NOTICED. "Do you ever make mistakes?" "Oh, yes," said the druggist. "We all make mistakes occasionally. One of our customers thought he was buying extract the other day, but a clerk gave him home tincture instead. He drank it, too."

"No complaint. Several of his neighbors came in the next morning with prescriptions from a veterinarian."

DRAWING LESSONS FOR OUR KIDDIES PETER RABBIT

Of course, you all have read stories of "Peter Rabbit" and now you will find it very interesting to make a sewing of him. You can see that it is easy to do, by starting with the five circles. First putting his tie and vest on him. Now his eyes, the fat cheeks like rabbits have, then his arms and legs. Here drawing No. 4 shows where to put the ears and erase the parts of the circles you do not need. From here on you may think it up to suit yourself, making his suit any color that you like.

EIGHT SPLENDID CUPS HAVE BEEN DONATED FOR QUEBEC JOCKEY CLUB RACE MEETING

One Trophy Will Be Competed For Each Day, While Remaining One Goes To Leading Jockey—First Horses Expected Today As Well As Pari-Mutuel Machines

Eight magnificent cups have been donated for competition during the seven days of racing which will be staged at the Exhibition Grounds by the Quebec Jockey Club starting Saturday. The latest trophy has been presented by Boswell's Brewery and will be known as the Boswell's Brewery Handicap Cup.

The following is the complete list of trophies: Provincial Handicap Cup, presented by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec; City of Quebec Handicap Cup, presented by Mayor Samson; Exhibition Handicap Cup, presented by Quebec Provincial Exhibition Commission; Holt Renfrew Handicap Cup, presented by Holt, Renfrew & Co.; Duquet Handicap Cup, presented by Mr. Arthur Duquet; Boswell Brewery Handicap Cup, presented by Boswell's Brewery; and the Commercial Handicap Cup, presented by the Retail Merchants Association of Quebec. Mr. Charles Rondeau has also donated a cup which will be known as the Rondeau Jockey Cup and will be presented to the jockey who pilots the greatest number of winners during the seven days of racing. All the cups will be put on exhibition in one of the windows of Cyr. Duquet's jewellery store on St. John street this morning.

The pari-mutuel machines will arrive this morning from Montreal and will be installed immediately while the first batch of horses, which will come from King Edward Park are also scheduled to arrive during the course of the day. Many of the thoroughbreds will in all likelihood be seen galloping around the oval early tomorrow morning.

Some two hundred bangtails will be quartered here during the meeting. Some of them raced here last year though the majority of them will be newcomers to these parts.

The track and clubhouse are already in first-class shape, a gang of men having been at work banking the track and remodeling the clubhouse since Monday.

The promoters of the meeting have decided to install a pari-mutuel machine in the clubhouse to be used exclusively by wearers of membership badges and their ladies. The other pari-mutuel machines will be installed in the same place as last season.

Membership badges have been issued by the Quebec Jockey Club and are being disposed of at ten dollars each. This badge entitles the wearer and a lady to admission to the clubhouse on every day of the meeting. There has only been a limited number of these badges issued and as they are being rapidly disposed of, it would be advisable for those desiring one to get in touch with W. G. Carberry, 34 Amable street without delay.

C.B. AND NAPS NEXT SUNDAY

Will Play First Game For Championship Of The City Baseball League

The C. B. baseball team, winners of the first half title in the Quebec City and District Baseball League and Napoleons, who copped the second half title, will play the first match for the League championship on Sunday afternoon at the Quebec Baseball Park. This was arranged at the meeting of the League held at the Victoria Hotel last evening.

The play-off will be decided in a series of five games, the winners of the first three to take the championship and the Spalding and Walsh Cups. The latter trophy has been presented to the League by W. J. Walsh, President of the St. Patrick's Club.

Four umpires will officiate at all the play-off games. One will be stationed behind the bat while the remaining three will have one base each to take care of. The officials appointed for Sunday's contest are Harry Ledden behind the plate, and Harry Stevenson, Henri P. Drouin and Johnny Brunson on the bases.

Before adjourning, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. H. Fontaine for kindly placing a room at the disposal of the assembly.

COAST WILL HAVE HOCKEY PLAY-OFFS

N.H.L. Champions Play Coast Titleholders And Winners Meet Western Leaguers

Vancouver, August 23.—The Pacific Coast will be the scene of two play-offs in professional hockey next spring. This was the decision arrived at when the coast moguls and those of the Western Canada League concluded their conference here.

The champions of the National Hockey League are due to play the coast series winners in whichever city is successful and following this the title-winners of the Western Canada League will play the winners for the world's honors. This series, they say, must be played in Vancouver where at least some of the prairie players have had experience. The reason for staging the games here is that there will be no ice either in the prairies or in the East by the time the final series gets under way.

In adopting a uniform code of play for both leagues, the promoters agreed to a clause drafted by Frank Patrick, President of the Pacific Coast League, which will limit the number of players remaining on the defence at any stage to three in addition to the goal tender. It reads as follows:

"It shall be illegal for any team to use more than a three-man defence, exclusive of the goal keepers. When not checking back, all other players must at all times be advancing towards their opponents' goal or have the puck actually in play, and standing shall not be done by them between centre ice and their opponents' blue line. Any violation of this rule shall be subject to a penalty of two minutes and the puck shall be faced off from centre ice."

PETER MANNING DOES FAST MILE

Champion Trotter Covered The Distance In 1.59 1/4 At Grand Circuit Yesterday

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., August 23.—Thomas V. Murphy, Poughkeepsie's reinsman on the Grand Circuit, drove Peter Manning, 1:57 1/2, the world's champion trotter to a mark of 1:59 1/4 at the Hudson River Driving Park this afternoon and piloted Hope Frisco to victory in the "Union" 2:16 trot, purse $2,000, and Margaret Dillon to a win in the free-for-all pace.

In equalling the best time of the year on the Grand Circuit made by Nedda at Toledo, Murphy lowered the local track trotting record of 2:01 1/2, established by St. Frisco in 1917, and the pacing record held jointly by Napoleon Direct and Miss Harris M. at 2:00 1/2.

Miss Harris M. was driven by Murphy when she equaled Napoleon Direct's time made in a race.

Hope Frisco races easily without competition. Smart brushes in the stretch featured Brandywin's victory in two straight heats over Ethelinda in the "Duchess" two-year-old trot for a purse of $2,000.

Wesley R. took the 2:14 trot by winning the two last heats after a sharp struggle from a field of eleven starters. Finvara was the winner of the first heat handily with a magnificent strident in the last hundred yards.

FINAL MATCH FOR MONTREAL CUP

Event Will Be Staged At Lake St. Joseph On Saturday

Montreal, August 23.—The Star says the final match for the possession of the Montreal Cup, the winner of which is looked upon as the real singles tennis champion of the Province of Quebec will be played next Saturday on the courts of the Mount Royal Tennis Club between E. H. Laframboise, of Montreal, present holder of the trophy and E. Savard of Quebec.

This match has been postponed from time to time, until now nearly six weeks has elapsed since the scheduling of the semi-finals. Both contestants have been unable up to the present date to set a date for their battle, for if one was not forced to be away, the other was. However, as they will be able to meet next Saturday, the holder for the next year will soon be known.

TEN ENTRIES FOR SWIMMING RACE

Will Meet Laframboise Of Montreal Next Saturday

Ten entries have already been received for the swimming race which will be staged by the Quebec Swimming and Athletic Club over a one-mile course at Lake St. Joseph on Saturday afternoon. The entries so far received are all members of the Q. S. A. C. though it is expected that before long the list will be increased by a number of Y. M. C. A. aquatic experts.

The following are the entries so far received: Fred Barrow, George Gillespie, Clarence Perry, D. O'Donnell, G. Barton, H. Braff, L. Wigga, Milburne Beattie, Marlowe Beattie, G. Adie.

The above swimmers have been practicing steadily for over a week and have been covering the course in good time. The race is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock. The trains for the Lake will leave at 12:10 and 1:45 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, returning in the evening at 8:30 and 9:00 o'clock.

BOXING BOUTS MONDAY NIGHT

White Will Meet Gagnon In Feature Contest At Rustic Theatre

A good program of boxing bouts will be staged at the Rustic Theatre, Montmorency Falls, on Monday evening by the Quebec Sporting Association. Thirty-two rounds of milling is on the bill and such batters as Charlie White, Kid Gagnon, Young McNaughton, Tommy Holt, the Duquet brothers and the Lafamme brothers will be the principals. The main bout on the bill will be the return meeting between Charlie White and Kid Gagnon. These boys put up a great battle at the Imperial Theatre last month, and the news that they have been matched again over the same route will no doubt find favor with local fans.

Young McNaughton will clash with Tommy Holt in the semi-final which is also scheduled for ten rounds. Holt is an English boxer and is reputed to have met the leading flyweights in England, including Jeff Clarke who fought Jimmy Wilde, the present world's champion for the flyweight crown.

The six-round preliminaries will be a family affair, the two Duquet brothers being pitted against the Lafamme brothers in six-round contests.

MANY a man is given a soft answer because he is known to be a hard hitter.

DOUBLES SEMI-FINAL PLAYED

Handley And Langlois Victorious At Quebec Lawn Bowling Club Last Evening

One of the most interesting lawn bowling games of the season was staged last evening on the greens of the Quebec Lawn Bowling Club when the semi-finals in the Doubles competition was run off. The competing pairs were C. H. Handley and G. Langlois, and P. Dale and E. H. Gagnier, and after twenty-one sternly contested ends victory rested on the brows of the first named pair, the score being 14-11.

The game was a very exciting one all the way through, and from the first end up to the last was never safe for either team. Handley and his partner only coming through to win with a garrison finish in the final two ends.

By their victory last evening Messrs. Handley and Langlois qualified to meet J. T. Bradbury and R. S. Murphy in the finals of the Doubles competition, which event will be run off during the course of next week.

The rinks and scores last evening were as follows:
G. Langlois ..... E. H. Gagnier
C. H. Handley (14) ..... P. Dale (11)

FOOTBALLERS MAY GO TO SHAWINIGAN

All Star Local Eleven Invited To Play On Labor Day

An all-star football eleven composed of players from the different teams figuring in the Quebec City and District Association Football League will very likely journey to Shawinigan Falls to play an exhibition game with the team from that town on Labor Day. The Shawinigan Falls outfit sent an invitation to the local league to send on a team, and at the meeting of the League at the Victoria Hotel last evening the invitation was practically accepted, the only hindrance for the present being the question regarding the number of players who will be available to make the trip. However, there are quite a number of footballers in the city and it is expected that a strong eleven will be mustered together that will give the Falls players a lively tussle.

The Junior League was also represented at the meeting and it was decided that four contests instead of the two scheduled would be played during the course of next week.

FLAPPER NO MORE TO SPOIL TRADE

Change In Fashions Will Remedy Damage Of Fads To Industries

New York, N.Y., August 23.—The flapper came for it again tonight. The Hair Net Association of America, Theodore H. Gray, president, issued a statement predicting since the Paris fall styles have restored long hair, long skirts and fashion frills, the flapper will not be able to work havoc with manufacturers' profits.

"People are accustomed to think of the flapper merely as an unconventional sort of person, without reckoning the cost of her fads to many industries," the statement said.

"But hardheaded businessmen laid awake nights trying to circumvent the trade damage she wrought. About the only way the flapper helped business, manufacturers will tell you, was in stimulating the demand for novelties."

"There was a fly even in this ointment, the statement declared, for as soon as a flapper novelty became popular, a price-cutting war was made, and only small profits were made."

Price Changes Irregular And Mostly Downward At N.Y.

RAIL SHARES SOLD OFF HEAVILY AT OPENING BUT RECOVERED LATER

Closing Quotations Showed Only Fractional Declines—Market Fairly Active—Disposition Of Recent Buyers To Turn Paper Profits Into Cash Noted—Mexican Pete Furnished Individual Feature Of Session

New York, Aug. 23—Irregular price changes, mostly downward, took place in today's fairly active stock market, presumably in response to the failure of the anthracite coal strike negotiations and the pessimistic reports from the meeting of railroad presidents.

Rail shares, especially the anthracite carriers, sold off substantially at the opening but recovered somewhat later, closing quotations generally showing only fractional declines. A few issues like Northern Pacific, Missouri Pacific preferred, Louisville and Nashville, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Western Maryland, closed at slight gains. Some disposition of recent buyers to convert paper profits into cash was noted in rail transactions.

Mexican Petroleum furnished the individual feature of the session, rising nearly nine points on announcement that the company had settled for five months export taxes to the Mexican Government under a recent decree which fixes the rate at forty per cent of the tax last year.

After the market closed, it was announced that the board of directors had refused the request of members for an extra holiday on Saturday September 2nd.

Call money opened at 3 1/2 per cent but was advanced to four and then to 4 1/2 where it closed. A slight stiffening was noted in the rates for time money, with comparatively little activity being noted.

Foreign exchange rates were inclined to weakness, German marks being quoted below seven cents a hundred for the first time in history. Czechoslovakian crowns continued their upward movement, establishing a new high rate at 347, almost double that of a month ago, yielding to 243 at the close.

A sharp collapse also took place in Portuguese Exchange, Escudos, which had been quoted above 7 cents early in the week dropping to 5.80.

Speculative railroad mortgages, several of which moved to a new high ground, featured today's irregular movement in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange. The feature of the late dealings was the demand for local traction issues.

In the industrial group, Chile Copper sixes established a new peak but weakness was noted in the marine sixes Cerro de Pasos 8s. and United Drugs 8s, gains of a point or more in Mexican 5s. and City of Berne 8s, featured the foreign securities, most of which held steady. Liberty bonds continued weak.

Total sales, par value, amounted to 414,302,000.

WAS OWNER OF 40 PUBLICATIONS

Northcliffe Wielded More Power Than Many Prime Ministers

Alfred Charles William Harmsworth, Viscount Northcliffe, was the most influential and most feared journalistic figure in Europe. He was the owner of over forty publications, and wielded more power than many prime ministers. He taught the uneducated masses of Great Britain to become newspaper readers, and supplied the news for educated intellectuals as well. He raised the "hacks of Fleet street to positions of self respect by paying them high wages and rewarding enterprise lavishly.

He was born July 15, 1865, in Dublin. His father wanted him to study for the law, but journalistic genius pressed for expression. So Mr. Harmsworth went to London to seek his fortune in Fleet street.

Harmsworth first came into the limelight when, with his brother Cecil, he organized a weekly comic called "Answers," largely an imitation of Sir George Newnes's famous "Tit-Bits." "Answers" quickly became popular and was really the foundation of the Harmsworth fortune. His next step was in the news field. He founded the London Daily Mail, which blazed a new path in British journalism, and gave Harmsworth, subsequently Lord Northcliffe, his great opportunity.

Previously to Northcliffe's whirlwind appearance in Fleet street, British journalism had been a staid affair of intellectual lethargy. Popular appeal was ignored contemptuously. But Northcliffe realized the masses were hungry for news, and made his fortune by catering to them.

Class Feeling Against Him. The middle and upper classes were shocked by the Daily Mail. There was no reason to be, for his news was accurate and interestingly told. But class feeling sided against Northcliffe because his paper circulated so largely in the East End. It became a stench of culture among snobbish people to deny the Daily Mail. Northcliffe never succeeded in righting himself with this class of Englishmen. Even his purchase of the London Times, the most cultured newspaper in the world, and his elevation to the peerage, failed to give him rank in the social world of London.

Northcliffe never cared for society and class criticisms did not bother him. His mind was too active to dwell for any time in reveries. He had an astonishing supply of nervous energy and his death at a premature age is due primarily to the fact that he burned himself up. He played a ceaseless part in the production of his papers. Promotion was rapid under him and his generosity never failed when he espied merit. He paid higher wages than any other London publisher. But, he would not tolerate inefficiency. This led to a saying in Fleet street that he made his fortune by squeezing lemons and throwing away the skins. The criticism was misplaced, for Northcliffe made the fortunes of more subordinates than all other Fleet street proprietors combined.

Enormous Political Power. Northcliffe's political power was international. His newspapers have had a wide influence on foreign relations. People discussed Northcliffe's policies as if he were a prime minister. Northcliffe was independent and moderately progressive in his views. Before the war, he bitterly attacked Lloyd George's radicalism. But once the conflict began Northcliffe realized Lloyd George was best fitted to become war premier. The weight of Northcliffe's influence undoubtedly had much to do with Lloyd George's selection. During the progress of the war, Lloyd George and Northcliffe worked together without friction despite their temperamental differences.

But, when the German break came and the crisis was over, relations between them ceased to be amicable. The cause of this break probably was the impossibility of two such independent and active personalities working together except under the stimulus of national self-preservation. Northcliffe attributed their differences to Lloyd George's refusal to reorganize his ministry in the interest of greater national efficiency. Lloyd George's version is that the split was due to Northcliffe's effort to dictate to the prime minister the names of a peace cabinet.

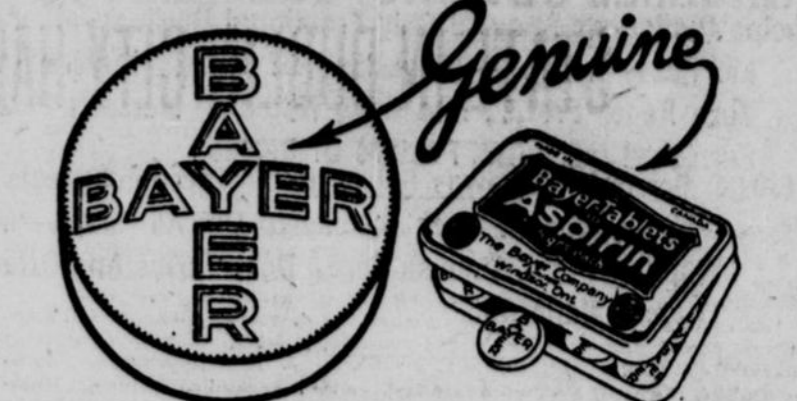

Strain of News Gathering. After the quarrel, Northcliffe began to show the effects of the strain under which he had been laboring during the war. Several times he was ordered by his physicians to rest, but he disregarded their advice. Eventually he was persuaded to take a trip around the world. The doctors thought this would quiet him up. Instead, Northcliffe turned special correspondent and searched ceaselessly for news at all the stopping places.

A favorite Northcliffe slogan was "Watch Japan." He believed Japan held ambitions which were dangerous to the rest of the world. He broke down under the strain and had to curtail his tour. On his return to Europe the doctors took him in charge again. But he refused once more to listen to them.

He became very erratic. He went into Germany disguised, to study conditions there. He severely criticized in public the action of his subordinates on the Daily Mail in agreeing with other publishers to reduce wages. Two directors of the Daily Mail started libel suits against him. His condition alarmed his relatives and he was finally persuaded to give up all work and submit to medical treatment. But, he retired too late. His heart became affected and the end came soon. He died practically as he had lived at his desk.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD. Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of genuine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads with the sponge—rinse and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. The pores open, and the hot water have just dissolved the blackheads and unsightly—unless the blackheads are big and soft they will not come out, while the simple application of genuine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. You can get genuine powder at any drug store and if you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.
