Frost Village Church robbed

Silver Communion set stolen by vandals

By ALICE BUCKLAND
(Record correspondent)

FROST VILLAGE — Provincial police are still pressing their investigation into the desecration of Christ Anglican Church here on the night of Wednesday, Aug. 1, during which the valuable silver Communion Service was stolen and a large stained glass window smashed.

The vandals entered the church by opening the shutters and breaking through the center stained glass window above the Communion table. After taking the silver articles, they apparently left by the front door as this was found open.

Erected towards the end of the 19th Century, the window was dedicated to the late Archdeacon David Lindsay in appreciation of his services and work in building the church in 1952.

Several years ago it was damaged by stones and was repaired at a cost of between $200 and $300.

Following this incident, the congregation made shutters that button back to protect the windows.

The present damage is more extensive than that caused the previous time and the deliberate act of vandalism has roused the feelings of the community who treasure this little Anglican church.

The church, considered one of the most perfect architectural in the Eastern Townships, is used only during the summer months and is not heated or lighted except by candles.

The theft was discovered the following day by George Williams who lives on a nearby farm. He takes a great interest in helping to care for the little church and made the discovery when he went to cut the grass.

He immediately notified the Provincial Police who asked the incident be kept quiet until they had a chance to work on fingerprints left around. The act of vandalism was announced over the weekend.

Algerian leaders disagree

ALGIERS (AP)—New difficulties came to light today between Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau and the commander of Algeria's guerrilla army over the nomination of candidates for the Sept. 2 elections.

Algiers radio announced that the political bureau postponed for at least 48 hours the scheduled publication of its list of 196 election candidates because of a difference of views with the wilaya (military zone) commanders of the guerrilla army.

The virtually independent wilaya commands put forward their own lists of candidates. The political bureau refused to accept them, asserting that the elections were the exclusive concern of the new nation's civilian leaders.

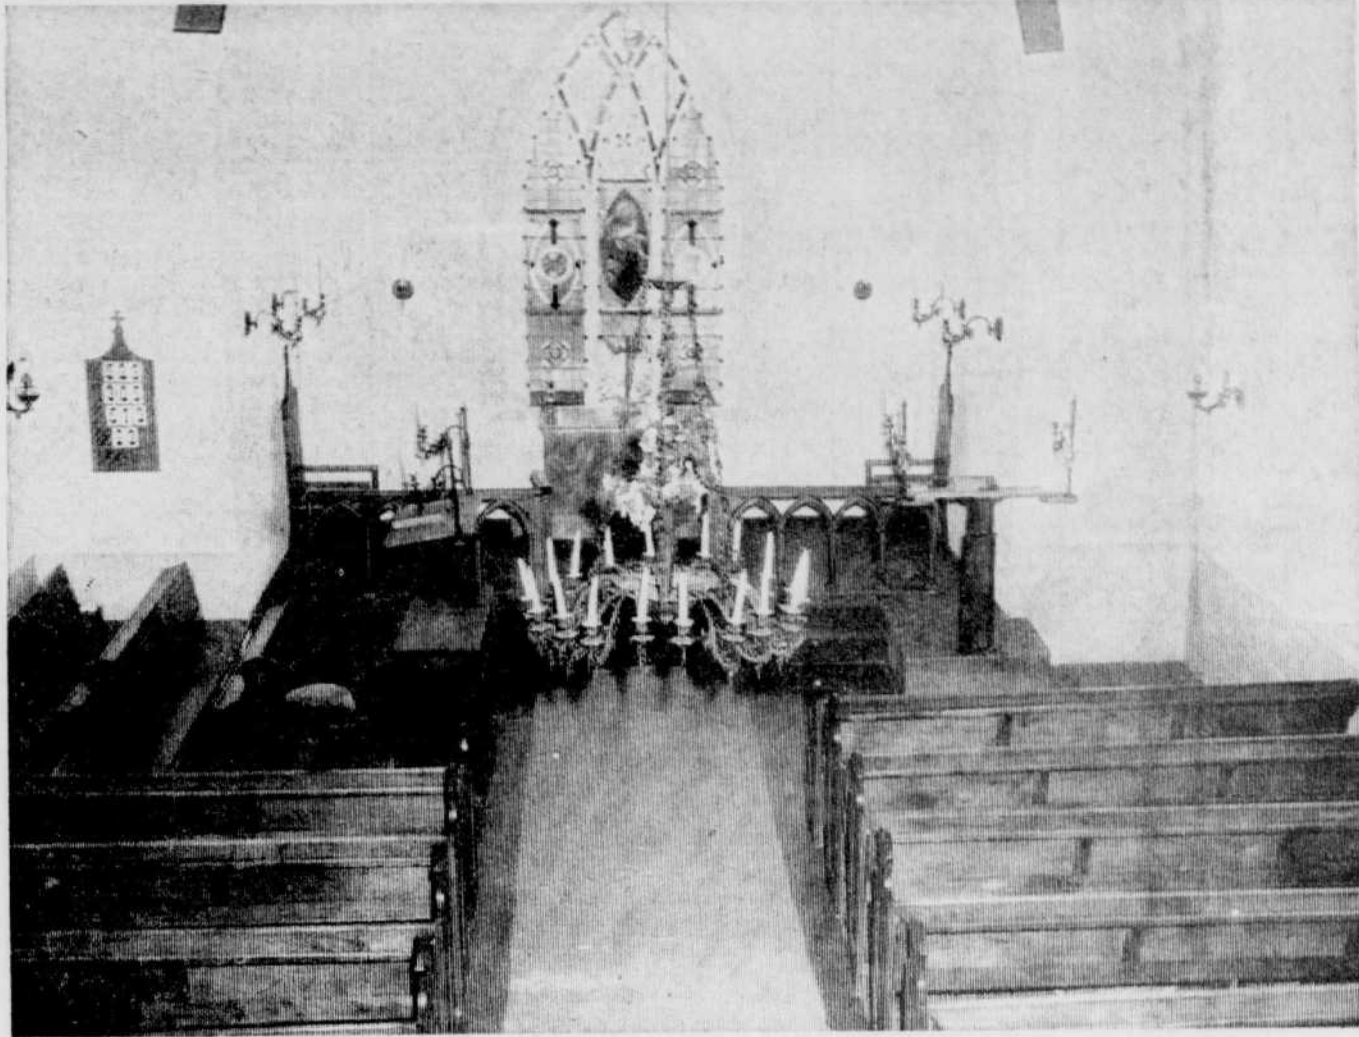

The political bureau, which is controlling the government until the elections, must announce the candidates for the one-party election by Thursday, the official opening day of the two-week election campaign.

MAY BE POSTPONED
If the list is not ready by Thursday, the election date may have to be postponed again, for the fifth time in as many weeks.

In a communique issued Monday after two days of talks with the commanders of the six wilayas, the political bureau said it had stripped the wilayas of their police and judicial powers over the civilian population and would not tolerate local military interference with the electoral lists.

But sources close to the political bureau said it might take some time before Algeria had enough civilian police and trained jurists to permit the central government to take responsibility for public order and the administration of justice out of the hands of the wilaya officers.

Nearly all policemen, judges and lawyers of European origin have fled to France.

Tax relief delayed

JFK pledges reductions in 1963

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy has pledged "billions of dollars" in top-to-bottom income tax cuts for Americans in 1963 but dashed all hope for any immediate pre-election tax relief.

In the face of widespread concern over the health of the U.S. economy, Kennedy maintained in a national broadcast Monday night that July figures indicate the country is still settling economic records which do not warrant the conclusion that we are entering a new recession.

But he pledged a personal and corporate income tax cut for 1963 as an important step "to prevent another recession."

While defending the strength of the economy, Kennedy indicated one of the main reasons why he won't propose an immediate cut is that he doubts Congress would support him now.

He said congressional leaders have promised to support him if he times his cut for 1963 after the November congressional elections—and couples with his request tax reform measures which would close existing loopholes.

But he said that if the unexpected happens—if the U.S. slides toward recession later this year—he will call Congress into special session to lighten the "far too heavy" tax burden.

He described the present tax system as "a drag on economic recovery and economic growth, biting heavily into the purchasing power of every taxpayer and every consumer."

American goods more competitive with those in the European Common Market where, he added, taxes have already been reduced with marked success.

MENTIONS DEBT

Kennedy made only indirect reference to the size of the U.S. national debt—now a mammoth $300,000,000,000—by comparing it with U.S. national production which had outpaced the rise in debt, thereby reducing the ratio of debt to production.

At the press conference

Kennedy likened his solo adventure to those who explain they want to climb Mount Everest "because it's there."

May use coercion

OTTAWA (CP)—Fifteen privately-owned radio stations in Canada so far have refused to join 43 others in tying themselves voluntarily into a proposed new CBC radio network, the Board of Broadcast Governors was told Monday.

Thus the BBG was confronted with the possibility that it may have to use its statutory power to force the 15 stations to join the new system unless they come to terms with the CBC before the scheduled Oct. 1 start of the network operation.

Dr. Andrew Stewart, board chairman, told a public hearing that the governors would be "very happy" if the 15 affiliation deals could be completed before the deadline.

If they aren't, he said, the BBG will either have to defer action concerning the stations

Survives Pacific crossing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"There is an ocean? I want to cross it," 23-year-old Kenichi Horie said. He did it, alone.

The Japanese youth sailed under the Golden Gate Bridge Sunday afternoon after a 93-day voyage from Osaka, Japan.

Monday Kenichi whizzed around San Francisco straightening out his tangled legal status, getting a much-needed haircut, holding a press conference, receiving the key to the city from Mayor George Christopher and being ordered to return home, without his boat Mermid, by his father.

Early in the day U.S. immigration officials granted Kenichi a 50-day stay, and Ralph H. Holton, district immigration director, said "he can stay here six months as far as we're concerned."

The sailor had no passport, so in the eyes of the Japanese government he left Japan illegally. And he had no visa, so in the eyes of the U.S. government he entered the United States illegally.

At the press conference Kenichi likened his solo adventure to those who explain they want to climb Mount Everest "because it's there."

Reinforced West German police repeatedly drove the wildly screaming demonstrators back from the wall.

The crowds demonstrated continuously, from noon until heavy rain sent them home at 1:30 a.m. West Berlin police estimated that at the peak 10,000 people gathered before the wall, screaming, spitting and throwing paving blocks at the barrier.

"We just cannot allow them to tear the wall," said one police captain. "They shoot over there, and there are enough dead already."

ATTACK RED CARS
One crowd, frustrated in its attempts to reach the wall, surrounded three Russian Army vehicles nearCheckpoint Charlie in the U.S. sector. The Russian soldiers were returning from guard duty at the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin.

The angry demonstrators hurled stones and beer bottles, smashing the windows of a bus. Youths closed in on two sedans shouting "Pigs" and "Dirty bums." West German police finally freed the Soviet vehicles. At least one demonstrator was arrested.

Forty-eight of these stations already belong to one or the other of the existing CBC radio hook-ups. The remaining 10 have never been affiliated with the corporation. In all, there are 207 privately-owned radio stations in Canada.

The 58 earmarked for the network would be required under a blanket deal offered by the CBC—to carry a minimum of 26 hours and seven minutes a week of programs from the which still have not affiliated, or it could require them to affiliate and hope for an agreement on terms later. The BBG would have to consider which course to take.

TO BE DISMANTLED
At present there are 30 private stations on the CBC's trans-Canada network and 49 on its Dominion radio network. Both these systems are due to be dismantled Sept. 30 as the CBC strives for lower network costs, better programs and slightly improved coverage.

The revamped network would also include 24 CBC radio stations and its 81 low-power radio relay transmitters—unmanned units serving small communities. These alone are capable of reaching about 35 per cent of Canada's English-speaking population, the BBG was told.

Future spaceship plans uncertain

Russians silent on landing date

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's two newest astronauts completed another day of flying in the cosmos today with no definite indication when they will be brought down.

Maj. Andrian Nikolayev completed his third day in orbit at 11:30 a.m. 4:30 a.m. EDIT, and Lt.-Col. Pavel Popovich finished his second day aloft at 11:02 a.m.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced at noon that Nikolayev had completed his 49th orbit of the earth and had travelled more than 2,000,000 kilometres, or about 1,400,000 miles.

Popovich, flying in almost the same orbit, had completed 33 circuits of the earth for a total of 1,400,000 kilometres, or about 980,000 miles.

"The flight continues," said the announcement in what appeared to be an indication that the two space men would not land today.

CONTINUE SECRECY

The Soviet government continued to maintain absolute secrecy about the future schedule of the flight.

Earlier a Soviet informant had said something interesting would happen in the afternoon, when both astronauts would be in a position to descend. But later some of the usually reliable Soviet scientific sources came out with opposing predictions.

"They will be down today," said one.

"They are going to finish out a week," said another.

The day's first communique contained a variation that might signal something special was planned today—a landing, a close approach or even a lineup of the spaceships.

Omitting the usual sign-off of "the flight continues," the communique said: "At present, the cosmonauts have started carrying out their numerous difficult duties envisaged by the program of space research."

There were reports in Washington that the precision was even better than announced initially by Russia, being virtually a perfect matching of planet, heights and time.

What this could mean to U.S. military officials is that the Soviets may be able to convert this demonstration into the practical application for knocking down American spy-in-the-sky satellites.

Red success may offset spy-in-the-sky program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russian precision in launching satellites — plunking a pair of manned spacecraft into matching orbits—could spell trouble for the U.S. "spy in the sky" systems.

These warning and surveillance systems are still in the development stage.

However, a number of vehicles have been put into orbit during the past months, some of them presumably equipped with instruments for reporting data back to U.S. receiving stations. But the systems are still a year or more away from being completely operational.

Over the weekend, Russia showed that she has achieved a long step leading eventually toward ability to intercept satellites—either for purposes of peaceful space exploration or for inspection and destruction.

The Soviet scientists succeeded, on the basis of their own reports and on data from other sources, in putting Vostok IV on the same plane and virtually within sight of Vostok III.

To do this, fantastic accuracy in timing, rocket-engine burning control and computational had to be attained.

Scientists figure the Soviet launchers had an interval of less than 14 seconds to fire Vostok IV, during the 18th orbit of the first satellite, in order to put them both into the same track and in proximity.

Berlin rioting likely to bring new Red threat

BERLIN (AP)—The Western powers expected strong Soviet protests and new threats today following West Berliners' attacks on the Berlin wall and Russian vehicles during the first anniversary of the barricade.

Rioting crowds hurled paving blocks and curses Monday night at the barricade which was begun a year ago and now divides Berlin with stone, steel, barbed wire and military fortifications.

Reinforced West German police repeatedly drove the wildly screaming demonstrators back from the wall.

The crowds demonstrated continuously, from noon until heavy rain sent them home at 1:30 a.m. West Berlin police estimated that at the peak 10,000 people gathered before the wall, screaming, spitting and throwing paving blocks at the barrier.

Mix-up sped journey for BC premier

There were reports in Wash-

Premier Bennett and his RCMP escort car barreled through this northern British Columbia community, red light flashing, speed limits ignored.

Red-coated constables dumped the premier at his destination 60 miles away and hurried off to answer, they said, a "holdup call."

Well, not exactly a holdup call. More of a "mixup," as they explained Monday. It started when a bus driver, about to leave here for Prince George 80 miles away, couldn't get rid of a drunk.

He telephoned police, but the line was busy.

"Is this an emergency?" asked the operator.

"No," replied the driver, "but I'm being held up."

The operator cut him off at this point, and put out an emergency call on police lines.

The RCMP car was the only one available.

Fulfilling duty and forsaking ceremony, the escort took the call.

The drunk spent the night in jail.

Evacuated from crashed plane
LONDON (Reuters)—A German jet airliner crashed-landed at London Airport today, but an airport official said all the passengers got out of the plane.

The airliner, a Boeing 707 owned by Lufthansa Airline, was believed to be carrying about 40 passengers.

Fire trucks and ambulances sped onto the runway after the plane crash-landed on a flight from Frankfurt.

The giant plane's nose wheel was reported jammed and the pilot, after jettisoning fuel over the sea, made a pass over the airport control tower for officials to view the undercarriage with high-powered binoculars.

New woes confront Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido's shaky regime wrestled today with a new cabinet crisis today. It was also confronted with a U.S. warning that Argentina will lose American aid and recognition if it falls into outright military rule.

Interior Minister Carlos A. Adrogué twice submitted his resignation Monday and Defence Minister Jose Luis Cantilo asked to quit for the second time in three days. Foreign Minister Bonifacio del Carril and Economic Minister Alvaro Alsogaray also were reported ready to quit.

Guido rejected Adrogué's resignations but said he had not decided whether to accept Cantilo's.

ESTABLISH TRUCE
Cantilo has been under fire for his handling of the army crisis last week which brought rival army factions to the verge of shooting in Buenos Aires and forced two war secretaries to resign in three days. He offered to resign then, but the rival army leaders established a truce with the selection of Brig.-Gen. Cornejo Saravia as war secretary.

Adrogué has been severely criticized for his part in the recent decree banning Peronists, Communists and others considered extremists from running for political office. Argentina's numerous political parties consider the measure too sweeping, but Adrogué said he would quit if it was watered down.

SHOWS DISMAY
Alsogaray has publicly expressed dismay at the effect of Argentina's continuing army crisis on his economic austerity program and efforts to win foreign aid to bolster the stagnant economy. Carril has had the difficult task of trying to maintain friendly relations with hemispheric nations which have shown an increasing hostility toward military governments.

The army leaders who led last week's rebellion against the Guido regime were reported at one point intent on setting up a military dictatorship. They said Monday that the U.S. government warned them informally that it would refuse to recognize such a regime.

CROSS-RUFF AGAIN HURTS

Italy picked up another IMP on the second hand of the match and again the result was due to good luck rather than superior play.

Mathe of America arrived at four spades after the rather unusual bidding shown in the box. After dummy's jack of hearts held the first trick.

Mathe led the queen of spades. East won and shifted to the queen of clubs, whereupon West took his ace and returned the suit for a ruff. Thus Mathe was held to four odd.

At the other table the Italian North arrived at five spades. Five spade contracts always represent some waste in bidding because game has been jeopardized for no really good purpose.

If East had opened his singleton queen of clubs Italy would have been set right away. But East opened a low heart. After dummy's jack held the trick the Italian player who was faced with the need to make 11 tricks, ruffed a diamond, discarded dummy's two clubs on the ace and king of hearts, ruffed a club in dummy, discarded one club on a high diamond, overruffed West's trump of the next diamond, ruffed another club in dummy, while East discarded his last diamond, ruffed another diamond with the ace of spades, ruffed another club with dummy's last trump, and eventually lost his last club and one spade.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — She may no longer be the real McCoy, but she's the real Kathy Nolan.

Her fans of the Real McCoy television series would scarcely recognize our girl. Gone are the dowdy duds that she wore on that corned show. Gone are 26 pounds. She is slim, trim and glamorous.

Kathy showed off her new style after making Nick Adams' Saints and Sinners television show in which she plays a high-style New York model.

"It's the best thing that could have happened to me now," she said. "I can show people that I'm not really a farm girl, and I've got Nick Adams to thank. A lot of people said they wanted me for roles, but Nick really looked for one and found it."

Now her career is heading in an entirely different direction. She's signed to do three more acting jobs. Fox is talking about a television series. George Stevens wants to discuss his doing Mary Magdalene in The Greatest Story Ever Told, she's doing a record album, and she has offers for $200,000.

Not bad for a girl who was hanging out wash with the hillbillies for five years.

Not that she was unhappy with The Real McCoy's—"it was a wonderful experience, and I'm grateful to it."

Then why did she depart

when her five-year contract was up?

"Because there comes a time when you have to make a change," she reflected. "It's like a girl growing up. She's grateful to her family for everything. But there comes a time when she's got to leave home."

Kathy's leaving "home" came dearly. She admitted that she passed up a guaranteed earning of $200,000 a year by not returning to the show. But lest you think that she's entirely off her nut, let me add that even if she doesn't work, she'll still earn $50,000 a year from residuals. And the way things are shaping up, she may easily exceed her McCoy earnings, anyway.

DIXVILLE —

Mrs. Ethel Hoare, of Grenville, Que., has been spending a few days with friends.

A postnuptial shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Tanner on Saturday evening, August 4, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Tanner, whose marriage took place on July 21. Lovely gifts were received by the couple, for which Mr. Tanner expressed thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hopkinson of Newport, were guests at the Thomas Home, Parker Hill, on Sunday.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—We're in for some rather unusual television entertainment this coming season—shows notable for omissions rather than excesses.

For instance—
One new series, Going My Way, is built around two Roman Catholic priests. The program will scrupulously avoid religious themes.

The Virginian, has the usual cast of characters—the ranch owner, the daughter, the foreman and his cowboy buddies. But the basic conflict will be the old West against the new, instead of the good guys against the bad ones.

Combat and The Gallant Men, both about fighting men in the Second World War, will de-emphasize shot, shell and enemy action and, instead, explore personal relationships under fox-hole conditions.

Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, concerns the adventures of a U.S. senator. But it will avoid all political themes, our hero's party affiliation will never be revealed nor will his state of origin.

IS BLAND DIET

And if you think these typical examples indicate a bland diet of escape entertainment during the next few months, be assured that this is exactly what television — particularly network television — has been hoping for.

This toothless, gentle trend is the logical reaction to the lambasting the industry took from many quarters last season.

It was called a vast wasteland by a top Kennedy administration official, followed by talk of stricter regulation of the Public's Air. There were Senate subcommittee hearings that produced headlines about televiborn of Montreal, are spending a vacation with Mrs. Ray Bishop. Weekend guests at the same home were Miss Ruby Morrison, Miss Josephine Pangborn and Mr. Roland Champagne, of Montreal.

Captain W. Campbell, Mr. Campbell and family of Germany were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith enroute to their new home in Calgary, Alberta. Mr. and Mrs. Smith received word their son Wayne, who is in Germany, is coming along fine after his recent accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Willard accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rowland, of East Angus are spending two weeks touring the Maritime Provinces.

BISHOPTON —
Mrs. Denzil Kenney, Mr. Allan Kenney, and Miss Daryl Kenney of Lindsay, Ont., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Joyce and visited relatives and friends in the district.

Miss Judy Smith, of St. Lambert was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Smith.

Miss Darlyn Haddon, of Baie d'Urfe, is spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harrison and family.

Miss Irene Harrison, of Sherbrooke spent her annual two weeks vacation at her home here and also spent a few days in Pointe Claire as guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. Martin.

SHOPPING CENTRE BARRIER TO COME DOWN

SHOPPING CENTRE BARRIERS TO BE REMOVED — The above barriers which have blocked traffic leaving the Sherbrooke Centre for more than a year were scheduled to be taken down today. City Attorney Albert Rivard told City Council Monday its appeal to the St. Francis District Superior Court was turned down thus leaving the city no other choice than to remove the barriers at the Lomas Street exit of the shopping centre. For Argyle - Portland traffic lights

Decide to share cost of new poles

Sherbrooke city council Monday agreed to share with the Bell Telephone Company the cost of installing new poles for traffic lights at the intersection of Argyle Street and Portland Avenue.

Council decided to pay its share of $186.33 to install the new poles after the Bell Telephone Company replied to a letter from the city asking why the Bell refused the city permission to install traffic lights on the present poles.

The company said in its letter presented to council at yesterday's meeting, it objected to having the city install traffic lights on its poles for the following reasons:

- 1) Pole No. 1, (North West corner) is larch wood timber which has a poor fiber strength value and short life. Pole No. 2, (South West corner), is Eastern cedar wood but has been in place for some time. Both poles should be replaced prior to adding any additional load.
- 2) Pole No. 1, (North West corner), is not sufficiently high to allow vertical clearance in accordance with C.S.A. standards with the signal light bracket attachment. A pole five feet higher is recommended.
- 3) Due to the small ground line circumference of pole No. 1, and being larch wood timber it is felt that it is not of sufficient strength to accommodate the transverse load with the addition of a 20 feet mast extension arm. Therefore a pole of sufficient strength with some form of guying should be placed.

The Bell said in its letter that the estimated cost to the city for replacement of the pole and transfer of telephone cables in accordance with the joint use pole agreement between the City and the Bell

Governor - General to visit the city

His Excellency Governor General Vanier will make an official visit to Sherbrooke on September 10. This was learned at city hall when

Edwin Harmer

City man dies at 75

Funeral service for Edwin Harmer, a life-long resident of Sherbrooke who died suddenly at his home, 1191 Elgin Avenue on Monday, will be held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Mr. Harmer, who was in his 75th year, was born at Three Rivers, Que., the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harmer. His parents moved to Sherbrooke, where he was still an infant and he has made his home here ever since.

He was one of the first men in Sherbrooke to drive an automobile and for some years worked as a chauffeur for private car owners.

He entered the employ of J. G. Sangster, a pioneer car salesman, and later was employed for 17 years as a mechanic with Webster Motors Ltd. For many years he worked for the Canadian Ingersoll Rand Company and at the time of his retirement a few years ago was maintenance foreman for that company.

A staunch supporter of the Presbyterian Church, he was an elder of St. Andrew's Church, Sherbrooke, at the time of his death.

He was a member of Unity Oddfellows Lodge and of the CIRCO Long Service Club.

Mr. Harmer was a member of the small group of news boys who distributed the first issue of the Sherbrooke Daily Record in 1897.

His wife, the former Myrtle Louise Brown, predeceased him a few days ago.

He is survived by one son, Gordon, his daughter-in-law, two brothers, Charles, of Sherbrooke, and Robert, of St. Catharines, and a sister, Jennie, of Montreal.

telephone attachment and transfer charges on pole No. 1, $100; for a total of $186.33.

City council asked the Bell Telephone Company why it could not put up traffic lights on its poles.

At that time Aldermen Everett Nicol complained there were many cases where the city could use the Bell's poles to install traffic lights, but were refused permission.

Ald. Nicol said because of the Bell's refusals, the city was being forced to spend additional money for the installation of traffic lights.

Two survive

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — Two men have survived the crash of a light plane in dense forest in northern Quebec, it was reported Monday. Pilot Benoit Page of St. Jean Eudes, Que., was injured in the crash and suffered burns when his clothes caught fire. He was reported to be in satisfactory condition today in a Chicoutimi hospital. Armand Bourgeois of Chicoutimi was uninjured.

The project of moving the skating rink in the St. Alphonse Park to the rear of Marymount and St. Anne schools, as proposed by alderman Antonio Pinard, has been postponed until next year by city council. The object of the project was to allow the children who go skating there to enter the school in order to put on their skates.

City council approved a request made by the Roman Catholic School Board asking for permission to build a sidewalk for a new school on Galt Street West. The school board has offered to pay for the sidewalk, providing the city repays the cost of the construction.

City council studied recommendations submitted by the joint traffic committee formed by the council to make a report on traffic conditions throughout the city. The main item of the committee's report has been the request to prohibit parking on certain streets considered as narrow when vehicles are parked there, especially on Bowen South near King, on First Avenue near King East, on King Street East between the Alymer Bridge and Bowen, on Big Forks North and South Streets, and on Belvedere South.

Council will decide whether the bylaw prohibiting parking on these streets should be passed or not next time it meets.

Alderman Everett Nicol told city council the city's electricity department should take more care in their work of replacing poles and see that all signs removed from the old poles are replaced on the new ones.

Ald. Nicol said the city's police department were called out to Galt and St. Catherine Road by a citizen who said the city's electrical department and the Bell Telephone Company were replacing poles on Galt Street and forgetting to replace the parking signs.

Investigation showed it was the city's electrical department who replaced the poles and didn't put the signs back up.

Threatens to sue city

COWANSVILLE (Staff) — A Cowansville photographer has threatened to take the Corporation of Cowansville to court if nothing is done by the latter to clear up the Town's drinking water supply.

In a letter to council dated August 3, Claude Pagerie, owner of Studio Elclair, Church Street, Cowansville claims that he has lost several customers because of the spots the town's "dirty" water leaves on his pictures.

Mr. Pagerie's letter reads in part: "I find that this water which comes from Tettecault Pond, is not only unfit for drinking, but much less for the processing of films in my photography business."

"I have now reached the point where I must filter all of your (Town) water through cheese cloth. And still I cannot clean it."

Mr. Pagerie claims that he has verbally complained to several aldermen about this situation on several occasions, but to no avail.

The photographer claims to have found marine life in the water in addition to the "silt and mud."

Stanstead council pays tribute to R. Meekren

STANSTEAD — Tribute to Robert Meekren, an engineer and a resident of Stanstead, at present in a Montreal hospital, was made by the Stanstead council on Monday evening at their regular monthly meeting when the service road of the new four lane highway on the extreme East was named Meekren Road.

Considerable discussion was given in regards to letters concerning levied traffic fines which are unpaid. Each committee chairman gave his report and bills were presented and voted to be paid.

The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. George Winter, was authorized to make a small bank loan for the municipality until the tax monies come in this fall.

Mayor E. J. Struthers was authorized by vote of the council to have a survey taken of Mountainview Street extension to have an installation of additional sewer system for new buildings to be erected.

Alderman Marcel Savard told council he went to the golf club on Sunday and the road (Musset Street), which was opened by the city last week, was in very poor condition.

"The road is very hard to pass over because recent rain storms have caused the street to cave in and to be very muddy," Ald. Savard said.

Ald. Antonio Pinard said: "We have some streets in the city much worse than Musset Street, and nothing is being done to them."

Ald. Nicol asked council if there was any way of improving the Musset Street entrance, and if so "during the time it is being improved would the golf club keep its parking lot closed or not?"

"Last week we gave them 48 hours to close their parking lot," Ald. Nicol said.

taxes asking them whether they would prefer a filtration plant or a pipeline from Lake Memphremagog.

Ald. Jeanson said there were a lot of people who were in favor of taking the water from the Magog River and have it filtered rather than taking it from Lake Memphremagog.

"I think we should have public approval of where the water should be taken from," Ald. Jeanson said.

He suggested that a card be sent out to all water taxpayers asking them to check off a yes or no on the alternatives.

Council decided it would send out the cards but only after it has studied plans and costs of both projects which will be presented to them next week by Ald. Jeanson.

Ald. Jeanson said the costs of both projects were about the same.

Ald. Everett Nicol said all council members should get a report of the projects, "especially before it gets to the newspapers."

Mayor Armand Nadeau said he was in favor of sending out the cards because he thought the project was a big decision for council members.

Ald. Jeanson said the city had tried four or five times to pass a loan bylaw for a filtration plant without success.

"I think it is better to consult them first this time, rather than having the bylaw turned down," Ald. Jeanson said.

Ald. Marcel Savard told council it should include on the card sent out to the water tax people how much of an increase people could expect in water taxes.

"We should let them know if the taxes will go up 10 or 15 per cent, or whatever it may be," Ald. Savard said.

Mayor Nadeau said the card which will be sent out by the city will also protect city council because, "if whatever they want proves to be an error in later years, we'll be able to admit we were wrong — but say the public voted for it."

Ald. Jeanson said water taken from Lake Memphremagog was good and clean and only required normal filtration.

He said the water would be pumped through pipes from Lake Memphremagog to the city's reservoir, where it would be filtered normally before entering city water mains.

"If the water is taken from the Magog River, it will be just as good after it has gone through the filtration system as the water from Lake Mem-phremagog," Ald. Jeanson said.

Ald. Jeanson told council the tests for artesian wells showed there wouldn't be enough water to supply the city with its needs and to continue testing would only be a waste of money.

"Now there is only two projects we can use, water coming from Lake Memphremagog, or taking water from the Magog River and having it go through a filtration plant," Ald. Jeanson said.

Ready to build new shopping centre

Mayor Nadeau disclosed at city council Monday night that the Steinberg Real Estate Company is ready to invest one and a half million dollars for the construction of a shopping centre on the grounds of the Fairbanks-Morse Company on Belvedere Street South. Steinberg's has already obtained an option on the land.

The real estate company is ready to pay the city $41,000 to rebuild the swimming pool in Dufresne Park and re-locate the playgrounds. This would also require the demolition of the old municipal electricity sub-station, on the corner of Galt and Belvedere Streets.

The council in principle accepted the project on one condition — that the Steinberg Real Estate Company be willing to underwrite cost of placing electricity cables underground. Everybody at council meeting was in favor of the project. They said the project would bring improvement to this particular section of town.

Vermont Street stays open

Golf club complains of street condition

Alderman Everett Nicol Monday afternoon told city council his impression is that the Sherbrooke Country Club Inc. will keep its Vermont Street entrance open to the golf club as long as possible.

Ald. Nicol made the statement in referring to a letter from the SCC president addressed to city council which said:

"Your request to close our entrance on Vermont Street would seem to be rather premature and we regret very much that the action of the city council in serving us with what is tantamount to an ultimatum without previous consultation with us, has caused undesirable publicity at this time."

The letter went on to say: "We have already had enough trouble with the residents of Vermont Street, without the impression that the entrance have been ordered closed, should be closed forthwith."

Alderman Marcel Savard told council he went to the golf

At 2 city hospitals

Improvement noted in supply of blood

The supply of blood for transfusions at the two French-speaking hospitals in Sherbrooke has improved.

As of this morning, St. Vincent de Paul Hospital authorities report that their supply is sufficient, and very much improved over last week.

Last week St. Vincent de Paul Hospital reported a critical shortage of blood and said that they might have to call a blood clinic.

Since then, however, there have been 13 donors at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital and several other people have left their names as potential donors should an emergency arise, thus alleviating the need for a clinic.

At Hotel Dieu Hospital, supplies are adequate, Dr. Rene Vanasse this morning. "However we are temporarily delaying, non-critical operations," he said.

"Our bank has some 20 points on hand," Dr. Vanasse said, "and we have a long list of people who will donate blood should an emergency arise."

Band concert

The Sherbrooke Harmony Band will present one of its weekly concerts at Dufresne Park this evening at 8:15. The program will be featured by trumpet solos by Michael Tinker.

Valuable donation to local history

The donation of Carrollcroft, one of the oldest homes in the Eastern Townships, to the Stanstead County Historical Society not only assures the preservation of this stately old structure for posterity but provides this Society with a suitable museum building.

Members of the Colby family have played an important role in the history of Stanstead County and of Canada as a whole and the century-old residence at Stanstead has witnessed many important developments in the story of the Dominion.

Over the years it has greeted leaders in the political life of the nation as well as of the learned professions, both of which were enriched by the participation of members of the Colby family.

In the field of regional historical research much valuable work has been accomplished by the Stanstead County Historical Society, with strong support from the Colby family, and the donation of the home for use as a museum is tangible proof of the value which present members of the family place on the work of this organization.

Perhaps of greater importance than the home itself is the valuable collection of historical articles gathered by the Colbys over the years that is included in the gift.

More than a century of work has gone into the collection which is considered as one of the best accumulations of Canadiana in existence.

Coupled with the impressive display already in the possession of the Stanstead County Society, the people of the border communities will have an historical exhibition of which they can be proud and which should be an attraction for an ever-growing number of visitors in the years to come.

Russian space prestige mounting

In these days of Telstar television satellites and men in space, the news of the Russian feat of sending two men into separate but related orbits can no longer be labelled "fantastic."

But the accomplishment is, nevertheless, a scientific milestone, and scientists around the world have rightly hailed it as such. Speculation now is that the Russian space superiority displayed in the double shot in almost sure to put the Russians on the moon ahead of the United States.

This, of course, gives the USSR a tremendous prestige boost, and there can be little doubt that Mr. Khrushchev et al will use it to the full in whatever way they can. And, there is a possibility that more Russian space exploits will soon be announced, if indeed, they are not already accomplished facts. American sources have already expressed fear that Mr. Khrushchev will use the new feats of rocketry to blackmail the United States by threatening to put a thermonuclear bomb into orbit. He would be perfectly capable of carrying out the threat.

Other papers say:

Commonwealth lacking imagination

The Commonwealth never appeared in a worse light than today.

The Earl of Home, Britain's Foreign Secretary, talks to other Commonwealth countries like a Dutch uncle. They must, he says, "do some very hard thinking in terms of hard realities."

There's no indication they have even started to think together in realistic terms about their economic future. Yet the failure at the Brussels negotiations to win concessions for Commonwealth food exports shows how great the economic hazard is today.

The way Lord Home speaks Britain is going to the European Common Market even if the cost of admission is very high. If she does not get in, he insists, she will deteriorate into an economic offshore island.

Britain seeks from the Inner Six concessions to preserve Commonwealth trade, such as exports of Canadian wheat. How far she will persist in demanding concessions before she will join depends to some extent on the attitude of her Commonwealth partners. That attitude has not been very helpful.

Britain has been told, as she should be told, loud and long, of the damage to be done the economy of nations like Canada by the loss of Commonwealth preferences.

But isn't there more than that negative approach? The Commonwealth countries outside Britain should be preparing for both of two possible eventualities. Should Britain refuse stiff ECM terms and stay out of the market then she and her Commonwealth associates will benefit from having done some advance thinking on a form of Commonwealth economic association extended beyond the present preferences. If Britain decides to enter the ECM, the remaining Commonwealth countries should not be caught without some tentative joint planning towards their own solutions. Much emphasis is put on the fact that the September meeting in London is to hear what Britain intends to do. Have the Commonwealth countries given any collective thought to announcing what they plan to do? Such planning could be useful not only to them but to Britain. It seems the Commonwealth does not lack goodwill among its members at this time but one cannot be so sure that co-operative thinking and imagination is in good supply.

Difficulties face Malaysia plan

The Federation of Malaysia (prospectively consisting of Malaya, Singapore, and the three smaller territories of Sarawak, North Borneo, and Brunei) has been duly begotten, and will be born before August 31, 1963; but will for some years retain a transitional form, to allow its more and its less advanced elements to blend harmoniously together.

The main difficulty in shaping the new federation is that it will bring together communities not only of different racial origin but also in very different stages of social evolution. All five territories have substantial Malay and Chinese elements; the Borneo territories contain also indigenous peoples who have advanced only a little way along the road to social maturity. The special arrangements suggested by the Cobbold Commission are designed to ensure them a gradual introduction to their more sophisticated neighbours, and perhaps particularly to protect them from being swamped by an early and unchecked rush of Chinese immigrants from overcrowded Singapore. But it is hard to say how long these transitional arrangements can endure in a self-governing federation. This will be the hardest test of the statesmanship of Tunku Abdul Rahman and Mr. Lee.

Opponents of the scheme, particularly the Left-wing parties in Singapore, will certainly say that its main purpose is to submerge under reactionary and Islamic numbers the pro-Communist Chinese of Singapore. There is clearly something in this; if

Mr. Lee was not so hard pressed by the Left in Singapore, Tunku Abdul Rahman might not be in such a hurry to bring in the Borneo territories as a makeweight, or so ready to concede to them transitional arrangements for administration which may be found rather galling to the Federal Government. But there is a good deal to be said for the federation on other and more lasting grounds. The Borneo territories have several large and powerful neighbours. They may well find themselves better placed among the ten millions of Malaysia than with the twenty-four millions of the Philippine Republic (whose President looks forward to a takeover bid) or with the eighty millions of Indonesia.

"ONCE MORE, DEAR FRIENDS, UNTO THE BREACH!"

75th anniversary marked this year

History of St. Paul's, Magog

THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

The Union Church was built in 1830 and was used as far as is known by Methodists, Anglican and Baptists. The building is now used by the Advent congregation and is still standing on Merry Street South, was the first building to house the Methodists of Magog. As families often walked long distances to attend services, and the roads were dusty, children sometimes carried their shoes and stockings, putting them on at the church door that they might appear in their Sunday best.

The Methodist group seems to have become the strongest and a curious document remains certifying that on December 22, 1885, the "Pew owners and persons interested in the building known as 'Union Church in Magog' which was built to have 'regular services' — by ministers of different denominations" — sell, assign, transfer and make over to the said Methodist Church — represented by the Rev. Melvin Taylor Clergyman — all right, title and interest — hereby granting a full transfer and quit claim of the said Church and lands, to the said Melvin Taylor acting for and on behalf of said Methodist Church —.

Whatever came of this is not known. In the very next year the following minute appears in the minute book of the Quarterly Board of the Methodist Church under date of February 8, 1886. "Whereas it is deemed expedient to create a Trust Board for Church purposes in Magog the following brethren were proposed by the Reverend Melvin Taylor and unanimously adopted by this Quarterly Board: R. B. Lindsay, Artemas Turner, J. H. Ellis, C. C. Manning, Fred Porter, Levi E. Rexford, L. E. Chamberlain. In March 1887, Erasmus D. Smith was also appointed. (7)

This Board engaged Mr. A. E. Wallace, Contractor, of Waterloo to build a Church and this "was begun in the month of September 1886. The land was purchased from S. A. Abbott for $275.00. The contractor bound himself: "with in the space of four months — to build and completely cover in and finish upon the premises — a Church and Tower adjoining — in a thoroughly good workmanlike and substantial manner — (for) the sum of Twenty Two Hundred Dollars — of lawful money of

By REV. R. A. MITCHELL (St. Paul's United Church)

Canada". The building specifications state that it was to be roofed with "best 16 inch Cedar shingles laid 4 1/2 inches to the weather — clap-boarded with No. 1 birch clap-boards laid 2 1/2 inches to the weather —.

"There were to be 26 pews 12 1/2 feet long; two platforms, one for choir and one for pulpit. The pulpit was to be of proper dimensions — with sides of birds-eye maple, adjustable desk and a foot stool."

"There were to be two hooks for chandeliers — placed in the ceiling directly of the centre of main aisle — two new large, heavy and substantial stoves of best quality 36 inches long inside —.

The final word relating to the Union Church is this rather humorous note: "Moved, seconded that this Board pay Rev'd Melvin Taylor the sum of ten dollars for the pew in the Union Church which Bro. Taylor obtained by purchase from J. J. Webster. Carried." Why would a minister need a pew? (7.1887)

The building of the "New Church" was no easy undertaking, and it was no sooner dedicated (March 19, 1887) than the Trustees had to borrow $1000.00 which they obtained from John D. Moore, to pay off the contractor. They had also to give earnest consideration to the purchase of wood for heating, oil for lighting, the hiring of someone to care for the building, at the tremendous cost of $40.00 per annum, which they sometimes avoided by having "those brethren who are willing to take care of the Church in their turn —" (7) Wages, or work, soon increased and in 1892 "Bro. Coruth was paid one dollar per week for taking care of the Church" (7.1892).

"Received from Mr. S. W. Beers the sum of 675 cents for his services in pumping the organ". A new reed organ, with pedal board and hand pump, was purchased in 1894. This was a wonderful invention, it was especially beneficial for discipline, as an unruly boy could be put to the task of pumping it throughout the service. But it meant a debt and the Epworth League was first shouldered with it. They did not make too great a success of writing it off, and in 1896 "the Rev'd K. Corrigan and S. W. Beers were appointed as a committee to solicit subscriptions for the debt —". Presumably the minister had more winning ways than the Epworth League, for no further mention is made of the matter.

By 1891 it was decided to sell the parsonage and Bros. V. E. Chamberlin, F. M. Bullard and L. D. Smith were appointed to confer in the matter and to report. No immediate action was taken, perhaps because of other problems. Choir leaders and organists were appointed and resigned. At one meeting the organ is made available to all who wish to play it, and at the next the motion is rescinded. Pew rents were continued until March 17, 1894 when it was moved and seconded "that if the indebtedness of the Church be declared off by Monday the 19th inst. the seats be declared free for the term of two years and tickets be taken off same."

The local problems did not prevent the good people of Magog from heeding the difficulties of others, as the following testifies: "We the undersigned agree to pay the Trustees of St. James Methodist Church, Montreal, the sum set opposite our names, in three equal instalments, due respectively June 1st, 1899, June 1st 1900 and July 1st 1901 for the purpose of aiding in paying off their indebtedness and thus saving their Church in Protestantism". Twenty names appear with a total of $100.00.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — Most people here agree, and I with them, that Prime Minister Diefenbaker has done a good job in cabinet reconstruction, considering what he had to work with.

His recruitment of Wallace McCutcheon, the Toronto tycoon, could be a stroke of political genius. But only if McCutcheon makes the difficult transition from business to politics even as well as C. D. Howe did, and if Diefenbaker really intends McCutcheon to be his C. D. Howe.

Diefenbaker had difficulty persuading McCutcheon to come with him — just as Mackenzie King had trouble convincing Howe in 1935, and perhaps for the same reason. Howe gave up a $75,000 a year practice as a consulting engineer for the then $16,000 of a cabinet minister. McCutcheon gives up a six figure salary for the even now paltry $19,500 of a senator-minister without portfolio.

McCutcheon tells me he knew only 48 hours in advance that he would be joining the cabinet — but that leaves open the question of whether that 48 hours earlier decision was his or Diefenbaker's. My guess is that it was his. There were rumors days earlier that Diefenbaker was pressing him — and alongside his 48 hours remark, these rumors mean he was hard to get.

One by-product of McCutcheon's appointment was to distract public attention from the demotion of Donald Fleming to the justice ministry. The blunt fact is that Fleming had outlived his usefulness to the administration in the finance job. He was the Coyne mess, the dollar disaster, the deficit mongering, the spending cutback, the civil service wage squeeze — in short, everything that had gone wrong with or was unpleasant in the government's policies.

Fleming was not solely responsible for the decisions that boomeranged and policies that didn't work, but so many people thought so that it was time for him to leave.

The switch of George Nowlan from revenue to finance was a surprise to nearly everyone. Nowlan never had a top cabinet post before. Finance is an onerous one, and Nowlan had a heart attack a year ago. But time may show Nowlan in the role of a temporary incumbent, filling the need for someone to take the lumps for future unpalatable economic and fiscal measures before he goes to his reward in the Senate or on the bench.

Davie Fulton's transfer from justice to public works is not demotion. Justice is the more prestigious portfolio, but public works carries more administrative responsibility and power. It will broaden Fulton's experience, and it will give him power he can use to create political debts payable in the form of delegates' votes for Fulton at the next Tory leadership convention.

Mrs. Fairclough appears happy to have landed the job of being the nation's postmistress. Well she might. The new mines minister, Paul Martineau, is a Du-plessis boy who was in the right place, Quebec, at the right time.

In appointing Dick Bell to succeed Mrs. Fairclough as immigration minister, Diefenbaker proved his magnanimity. He showed that it was possible for him to overlook Bell's having backed Sidney Smith for the party leadership. But perhaps magnanimity is not quite the right word. After all, it did take six years and the gun of political necessity at Diefenbaker's head.

corporation network. Some are likely to carry more programs voluntarily.

This minimum requirement—making up what is called "re-

However, it was indicated that of their own revenue-producing time to the CBC.

R. C. Fraser, CBC vice-president for corporate affairs, told the hearing the corporation has no plans to pay the private affiliates to carry unsponsored network programs — especially now that the government austerity program has cut CBC spending.

CBC President J. Alphonse Oumet suggested that the 26 hours weekly is a "reasonable compromise," originally the CBC in negotiations that began 14 months ago was asking the 58 stations to take as much as 36 or 40 hours a week.

ARRIVE AT TERMS
Mr. Oumet said the 43 stations who already have come to terms haven't done so because of any commercial consideration—they had recognized the deal as an acceptable one in view of their own public service obligations.

He suggested that the CBC could wrap up the remaining deals by the end of September. But that was before he and the BBG heard the stout opposition to affiliation from L. F. Daley of station CHSJ Saint John, N.B.

Mr. Daley said carrying 26 hours of CBC programs a week would cost his station $50,000 a year in lost ad revenues. The ultimate result would be a reduction in its local programming service and an unfair burden in competing with non-network station CFBC Saint John.

He also noted that while the 1958 Broadcasting Act gives the BBG power to force affiliation to the CBC, nothing was said about the station not being paid for its time.

The present deal amounted to the CBC confiscating 26 hours a week of CHSJ time without any compensation. Also opposing the CBC application were stations CKX Brandon, CJCQ Quebec City and CKYL Peace River, Alta. But spokesmen for all three indicated that there still is room for negotiation with the CBC leading to an affiliation deal.

Disagree on names for quads

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ruth and Alec Becker have chosen names for two of their 13-day-old quadruplets.

But they can't agree on names for the other two. Mr. Becker, 31, a Vancouver lawyer, said Monday night the girls will be called Brucine Paula and Stacey Lynn.

The boys are still known as D and C. At birth, the quads were A, B, C and D, in order of arrival at Vancouver General Hospital Aug. 3.

"We've compromised on the girls' names," said Mr. Becker. "It's going to take a little more time to pick them for the boys."

Mr. Becker said he has more important things—diapers, feeding, bottles, sheets and blankets—on his mind than names these days.

DIAPERS GOING
"We're scarce to need at least 16 dozen diapers, and I haven't bought any yet," he said.

Mr. Becker said he hopes his 28-year-old wife will be out of hospital in about a week to help get things organized for the quads who will probably be in hospital for another two weeks.

Hospital authorities said Mrs. Becker is doing fine and the quads are gaining weight. Brucine weighs five pounds six ounces and Stacey about four pounds, 10 ounces.

B and C tip the scales at about five pounds each. The Beckers have one other child, Benjamin, three, at their three-bedroom home.

Says Joe quit job for MM

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joe DiMaggio quit his $100,000-a-year job to be near his ex-wife Marilyn Monroe, says DiMaggio's former employer.

V. H. Monette, Incorporated, of Smithfield, Va., said Monday the one-time New York Yankee baseball star resigned Aug. 1 as a vice-president of a company. DiMaggio was reported deeply worried about his ex-wife days before she died Aug. 5.

Meanwhile, two women close to the late actress have left the Hollywood scene.

The blonde star's personal press agent, Pat Newcomb, was reported "no longer with us" at the Arthur Jacobs Agency, and a Hollywood trade paper said she's been fired.

Marilyn's housekeeper, Mrs. Eunice Murray, who found her dead of an overdose of sleeping pills, has checked out of her Santa Monica apartment. She left no forwarding address.

Monette said he believed DiMaggio was still in love with Miss Monroe, though their marriage had lasted only nine months.

Marilyn married playwright Arthur Miller after divorcing DiMaggio. But when she divorced Miller she saw DiMaggio frequently and vacationed with him in Florida.

Mark 61st anniversary this month

For and about Women

By EDNA BLAKELY

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's army nurses trace their history back to 1885 when small groups of Winnipeg and Toronto nurses went to Saskatchewan to care for the sick and wounded of the Northwest Rebellion.

This month, they mark the 61st anniversary of the formal founding of the Canadian Army Nursing Service.

In 1885 one group of Winnipeg nurses spent three days getting from Troy Station, Sask., to Saskatoon where they set up a hospital in settlers' homes. Today army nurses can be flown to join Canada's NATO forces in Europe within a matter of hours.

The end of the Prairie uprising brought to a close that early stage of military nursing and it wasn't until 1899 that Canadian nurses took to the field again. This time four nurses went to South Africa to work in Imperial Army hospitals during the Boer War. A year later another four were chosen from among 190 volunteers and, in all, 12 nurses took part in the campaign.

Finally on Aug. 1, 1901, the nursing service was organized as an integral part of the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

KILLED IN ACTION

The service had a permanent staff of five nursing sisters when war broke out in 1914. The first mobilization order Sept. 16, 1914, was answered by thousands of volunteers from Canada and the United States. Ninety-nine were chosen.

By 1917 their strength had grown to 2,003 with a reserve force of 203. The nursing sisters served in such countries as France, Belgium, Greece, Malta and Palestine.

Six were killed by enemy action on land and another six were wounded. Fifteen were lost at sea when their ship was sunk by a German submarine. The nurses managed to get to lifeboats but were killed when the crew of the sub fired on them.

One of the few memorials in the Hall of Fame in the Parliament Buildings is dedicated to the 21 who lost their lives. The white marble work, near the entrance to the Parliamentary library, was erected by "the nurses of Canada in remembrance of their sisters who gave their lives in the Great War 1914-18 and to perpetuate a noble tradition in the relations of the old world and the new."

Nearly all the nurses returned to civilian life after the armistice and it wasn't until the outbreak of the Second World War in 1939 that nursing sisters were recruited again. The service reached its peak soon after

FORMED THREE BRANCHES

In 1940 the RCAF formed its own nursing service branch and a year later the first nursing arm of the Royal Canadian Navy was formed. The only death by enemy action in any of the three nursing services was an RCN sub-lieutenant drowned when the SS Caribou was torpedoed off Newfoundland.

In 1959 the tri-service Canadian Forces Medical Service was formed and while nursing sisters still enrol in the arm of their choice they may be employed with any of the services.

The army nursing service was reduced to peacetime requirements between 1946 and 1950 and nurses served only in Canada. But all services expanded during the Korean war and army nurses were sent to Japan and Korea.

In 1954 nurses were posted to Germany to assist in the care of Canadian soldiers and dependents.

Maj. Margaret Dewar, senior matron of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, is one of the nearly 20 nursing sisters still in the corps who served in the Second World War. She retires this month after 28 years.

Many changes have occurred with advances in medicine but the aims of military nursing have remained constant since 1885, Maj. Dewar says.

Marriage

Landry - Hall

ASBESTOS — The marriage of Rosemary June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Hall of Asbestos, and Alfred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Landry of Dalhousie, N.B., took place on July 14, at 11 a.m. in All Saints Anglican Church, Asbestos. Rev. Nevil Tucker officiating. Mrs. Grant Harris played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register she played "O Perfect Love". Sweetheart and Tailsman roses were used to decorate the organ and altar, while the guest pews were marked with lilies-of-the-valley and satin ribbon bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a cocktail length gown of silk organza, embroidered and appliqued with lace and seed pearls, with bouffant skirt, fitted bodice, scoop neckline and full length sleeves en point. Her chapel length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet jewelled head-dress, and she carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Gerald Hall, as matron of honor, wore a cocktail length frock of gold peau de sole fashioned with fitted bodice and draped wrap over skirt and carried a nosegay of bronze and yellow mums. The bridesmaid, Miss Eudora Lodge, wore the same style dress except in turquoise and carried a nosegay of pink carnations. They wore matching hats and a cultured pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the bride.

Mr. Roger Doucet was best man and the ushers were Messrs. Gerald Hall, brother of the bride and Barrington Lodge. Mrs. Hall, the bride's mother, wore a gown of blue organza over printed taffeta, with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. J. Chatterton of New Carlisle, wore a gown of navy blue Arnel with navy blue veiled hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Landry, mother of the groom was unable to be present. His sister, Mrs. Alonzo Guitard, wore a gown of blue lace with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held in St. Augustine's Church Hall, Danville.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Landry left for New Brunswick, the bride travelling in a two piece coral linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of white and yellow mums. Following their wedding trip they will take up residence in Asbestos.

Guests were from Danville, Richmond, Sherbrooke, New Carlisle, Montreal, South Port, Ind., Dalhousie and Charlottetown.

Surprise party

for bride elect

The girls at the Y.W.C.A. residence, Moore Street, gathered recently to honor an August bride-to-be, Miss Carmen LaRoche.

The guest of honor was taken by surprise when upon her arrival Miss Pam Goodenough pinned a corsage on her and escorted her to the living-room which was prettily decorated with pink and white streamers, assorted flowers and confetti filled balloons.

The bride elect graciously thanked all her friends for the lovely gifts of miscellaneous articles and recollected her many happy times spent at the residence.

Later refreshments were served by the hostesses Miss Claire Macey and Miss Pamela Goodenough, assisted by Miss Rose Cryan and Miss Pauline Goodenough.

Engagement

The engagement is announced of Betty Lou Elaine, second daughter of Mrs. Shirley Coates and the late Wayne Coates of Ayer's Cliff, to John Harold Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Doyle of Montreal. The wedding will take place in the near future.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Cigarette ashes
clear white marks

DEAR GIRLS — "Don't be too quick about emptying those ash trays after a party is over" is the advice I gave my daughter-in-law. She called to tell me the lacquered top to her sideboard was ruined because a hot casserole, with pads underneath, had left a big white blob on the top. Drippy glasses will do the same thing. We thickly covered the offending spot with smelly cigarette ashes then rubbed them in with a cloth moistened with a bit of butter. It takes a lot of elbow grease, too, and always follow the grain of the wood, but soon there is nary a trace of white. When the marks have disappeared, wipe off the ashes and polish as usual.

DEAR POLLY — My easily upset husband used to grumble about the baby's bath toys being all over the bathroom. That is, until I hit on the idea of using a couple of those net bags that had come from the grocery filled with oranges and onions. I ran stronger cord through the tops and when baby's bath is over, into these bags go all the rubber balls and boats. The string tie is looped over a coat hanger which is pushed to one side of the shower rod. They are easy to reach, and are dry when the next bath time rolls around. Above all, hubby is happy.

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR POLLY — I think I am a pretty good housekeeper but the ants just won't stay away in summer. Sprinkling ground cinnamon around always chased them but the mess was almost as bad as the ants. Now I have discovered ants hate cucumbers so I save the skins and put them around where ants have been seen. Works just as well and is a lot cleaner.

ANT HATER

DEAR POLLY — Cooked potatoes are always snowy white if you add a little milk to the water they are cooked in. They taste better, too.

Old British entertainment is revived

By ALAN WALKER

HITCHIN, England (CP)—An old form of popular British entertainment has been revived after centuries of obscurity.

The Elizabethans, a small group of actors and musicians organized by former Walt Disney costume designer Sheila Graham, are touring with jigs—farical playlets originally performed in the late 16th century after major dramatic productions.

Miss Graham unearthed 20 jig texts from university and museum libraries after she saw brief references to them in histories of drama. Now she is in business.

"Most of the jigs were improvised and few have survived but there is a sufficient number of texts to enable me to present an interesting repertoire," she said in an interview at an outdoor theatre in this Hertford town near London.

Village greens and open-air theatres supply the ideal setting for the jigs. At the performance here the players used a ground-level stage in the middle of a deep, wooded glen. Part of the audience sat on the hillside as they watched the torch-lit spectacle.

BANDY SATIRE

The jigs are rhymed and partly sung developments of the ballad. Often bawdy and bitingly satirical, they provided a final humorous relief after a heavy tragedy.

Dances were an intimate part of the jigs when they were performed nearly 400 years ago. Miss Graham has brought her presentations even closer to the originals by mixing in Morris dances which have their origins in fertility rites practised at least 1,500 years ago in Britain.

The dancers, all male, wear bells on their legs "to frighten away evil spirits" and whirl madly about waving thick sticks and white handkerchiefs "to encourage the crops."

Musical accompaniment for the Morris dances is provided by the "pipe and tabor" or tin whistle and a small snare drum tapped with the finger.

The jigs had a short life. Elizabeth I banned them in 1598 after authors had begun to find life in her court a prime target for their barbed wit. The jigs survived briefly as banquet entertainments, on the quiet, but were never again performed in theatres.

MAY TRY CANADA

Miss Graham and her 38-year-old husband John McCusky, who acts in the jigs and is the main financial backer of the group, want to take the group to North America.

"I hear there is great interest in Canada and the United States in early English entertainment of this type," McCusky said. He has started laying plans for a tour.

The Elizabethans performed in Ingelheim, Germany, in April as part of the British Festival exchange.

German audiences laughed heartily at such pieces as Singing Simkin and The Wooing of Nan and stared with amazement at Morris dances.

"They didn't understand much of the language of course," said Miss Graham, "but they grasped the over-all situation. This form of entertainment has a very direct appeal."

106th annual Richmond Fair opens Thursday for 3 days

This year's Richmond Fair which promises to be bigger and better than ever before will open on Thursday and will run until Saturday evening.

This year's edition which is the 106th annual has as its president Alfred T. Smith, with A. A. Carson being the first vice-president and Robert Laferge as second vice-president.

Last year more entries in virtually every competition open to the public, 70 majorettes and musicians a midway and excellent weather all combined to make the fair the best yet in the history of Richmond.

Attendance was up last year some ten to 15 percent and all indications have it that if the weather holds out, this year the attendance records will be shattered once again.

Due to the high number of entrants in virtually all classes last year a blue ribbon was a very scarce commodity and an item of which one could very well be proud. Last year's winners for the most part will be back and so competition will once again be keen and hard fought, with only the very best being able to walk off with the prizes.

Senators sweep two from Indians, Angels stop Red Sox while Twins knock over Yanks 6-4 in close duel

Can a Senator overrule a general?

Harry Bright has taken the first step toward tackling the ticklish problem in the American League.

Responding to a pep talk precipitated by the general's displeasure with his forces, Bright unleashed a home-run salvo Monday night that carried Washington's last-place Senators to a doubleheader sweep over Cleveland Indians 11-2 and 3-2.

It all started Sunday when Gen. Elwood (Pete) Quesada, president of the Senators, indicated the axe was being sharpened for general manager Mickey Vernon, his chief lieutenants since the club entered the American League as a new member for the 1961 season.

CHANGES LOOM

Said the general: "Prudent thought dictates some major changes in the organization. I have no intention of firing anybody at this time. But again, I don't deny the possibility that changes could be made."

When Doherty arrived in Cleveland Monday night, he was confronted with a group of grumbling Senators. He decided on the pep talk to close ranks. Referring to the Sunday announcement before the game with the Indians, Quesada told the players: "Just because you don't like what's happened is no reason to quit trying."

The Senators didn't. They pounded out 16 hits in the first game triumph, including a three-run homer by Bright, then won the nightcap when Bright tagged another three-run shot in the ninth inning.

Meanwhile, the second-place Los Angeles Angels, led by Ted Bowsfield, of Penitence, B.C., closed to within 4½ games of the league-leading New York Yankees by beating Boston Red Sox 5-1. Bowsfield fired a five-hitter. The third-place Minnesota Twins knocked off the Yankees 6-4 on Harmon Killebrew's three-run double in the eighth inning.

Als win and move into tie for second place in loop

Richard Blais' double gives Red Sox 5-1 win over White Sox, take series 2-1, meet Senators for LL crown

Richard Blais, doubled with three men on, led the Red Sox to a 5-1 win over the White Sox in the third game of the two out of three series of the Sher-Lenn Little League semi-finals.

Red Sox will now meet Senators in the finals. Bruno Bernier, pitching for the Red Sox, allowed only two hits and came up with 14 strikeouts. David Laforge, though losing, pitched good ball. He held the Red Sox to three hits. Failure to hit with men on bases was a big factor in the White Sox defeat.

The teams played it cosy in the opening innings. White Sox, in the first, got a single from Kelvin Sayer. Top of the third a single by Wayne Hussey coupled with two walks gave White Sox the first run of the game. Laforge in the first three innings held the Red Sox hitless. They loaded the bases in the third but Laforge with two strikeouts and an assist stopped the threat.

White Sox went scoreless in the top of the fourth. It was then that Laforge weakened a little issuing two walks and these coupled with Blais' double and a single by Michael Cottrell drove four runs across the plate.

Bernier sent the White Sox down in order in the fifth and sixth. A miscue by Laforge in the fifth gave the Red Sox their final run. Red Sox were worthy winners taking advantage of the breaks that came along.

Their big stars were Bernier and Blais. White Sox stretched their opponents all the way in the series and went down fighting. Laforge and Hussey stood out. Dussault, Clark, Webb and Faucher were the umpires.

Redlegs post their 9th straight win belting Braves 10-2 to gain ground, Jim O'Toole earns decision

It wasn't so long ago that Cincinnati Reds were written off as contenders for the 1962 National League pennant. But the Reds had other ideas.

They won their ninth straight game Monday night, 10-2 over Milwaukee Braves and are in third place in the league race, 6½ games back of the leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

The league's other clubs, including San Francisco Giants, who are 2½ games off the Dodger pace, were idle Monday night.

The Reds used the old formula, tight pitching by one of their young flamethrowers, and the big bat of Frank Robinson to chop down the Braves and turn their won-loss record over their last 28 games to 23-5.

Jim O'Toole, 25-year-old left-hander who won 19 games last season, ran his record to 13-12 with a strong effort as he threw six perfect innings before Roy McMillan reached base on an error leading off the seventh inning. Lou Johnson and Eddie Matthews then singled and McMillan scored on Hank Aaron's hit.

TOYED WITH PIRATES

It was O'Toole's second flirtation with a perfect game this season. He got 23 Pittsburgh Pirates in a row July 23 before Bob Skinner doubled.

Robinson belted his second grand-slam home run of the year and had five runs batted in. He boosted his batting average to .342—tied for second with Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals—his RBI total to 102—tied for second in the league with San Francisco's Willie Mays—and his homer total to 27. He leads the league in doubles with 42.

The win gave the Reds a good start on a key week. They meet the Braves three more times and then play the Dodgers four games at home. The Reds have a season edge of 6-5 over Los Angeles, the only club in the league with that distinction

Blue Bombers rally to edge Stamps 45-27

CALGARY (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, spearheaded by a three-touchdown spurge from veteran end Farrell Funston, overpowered Calgary Stampeders 45-27 in the Western Football Conference Monday night.

The Bombers, defending Grey Cup champions, pulled out their first triumph of the 1962 campaign with sheer grit and a classy performance that took full advantage of Calgary errors.

The Stampeders held a 27-24 lead early in the fourth quarter after a brilliant display by rookie halfback Jim Dillard—who registered two touchdowns and 114 yards rushing—but they were no match for the Bombers, in the tough going before 14,000 fans.

The Bomber victory — they have been beaten once this year—created a traffic jam in the five-team race. The Bombers, British Columbia Lions, Edmonton Eskimos and Saskatchewan Roughriders are deadlocked for first place with two points apiece. The Stamps are last with two straight losses.

BEATS COWAN BY THREE

His score as leader in the qualifying round was three strokes better than Gary Cowan of Kitchener, defending Canadian amateur titleholder.

The closest threat from south of the border was Bob Cochran of Normandy, Mo. Cowan and Cochran each shot 69s.

Close behind Ontario for four-man team honors came Alberta, champion two years ago, with 295. Saskatchewan, thanks to Rever, was only a stroke back at 294.

The British Columbia team, 1961 champions, had Bill Wakeham as low man with 72, but was back in the ruck with 298, followed by Nova Scotia with 303, Quebec with 312 and the combined New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island team with 315.

Lawrence O'Hearn led the Nova Scotia team with 74 and Bud Kennedy was low man on the New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island team with 72.

The Quebec team messed up the back nine completely. Brian Powell, who had a fine 33 on the front nine, was low man on the team with 74.

SHOOT FIVE BIRDIES

Rever missed par only once on his brilliant round. He bagged three birdies on the front nine and two more coming home.

Pidlaski never strayed from par, collecting three birdies on the first nine to match Rever's
