World News In Brief

Flemington, N.J., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The widow of Louis Adamic yesterday told police she is "thoroughly satisfied with the findings of authorities" that the author committed suicide.

Detective John Lea said she made the statement to him in an interview at the farmhouse where the left-wing writer was found dead with a bullet in his brain last Monday. The kitchen of the kerosene-soaked house was ablaze when firemen arrived.

Liverpool, England, Sept. 7.—(Reuters)—Fifty teenage British girls, travelling companions for four weeks, said goodbye to each other today aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada.

As guests of Garfield Weston, Canadian-born biscuit manufacturer, they had been on a tour of eastern Canada that included dinner with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

London, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A military court in Sofia last night sentenced four Bulgarians to death by shooting on charges of acting as "agents of the American secret service." Nine others were sentenced to prison terms ranging from five to 20 years, the Bulgarian news agency reported in a broadcast dispatch here.

Blackpool, England, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Trades Union Congress today urged the Labor government to apply the principle of equal pay for men and women doing the same job in the civil service. A resolution to that effect was unanimously approved by the 917 delegates here.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Hurricane "easy" continued today to churn ominously over a west-northwest course aimed at the coast of Florida. The next 24 hours, the Miami weather bureau said, may determine whether the dangerous tropical storm eventually will strike the mainland or run a harmless course over open waters.

Kansas City, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Normal business operations resumed today in three Kansas City industrial districts endangered by the Kansas river. The crest of the flood waters passed Kansas City without breaking through dikes weakened by a disastrous overflow last July.

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Two packed express trains today collided head-on in a thick fog about 500 miles southwest of here. One person was reported killed.

Berlin, Sept. 7.—(Reuters)—East German police last night shot a United States soldier in the hip and carried him off into the Soviet zone, an American official said today.

U.S. authorities asked Soviet officials for details of the incident, which occurred on the boundary between west Berlin and the Soviet zone.

Wasted Words Leave Peace In Korea As Remote As Ever

By DON HUTH
Tokyo, Sept. 7.—(AP)—New communist notes swirled today in the brimming cauldron of wasted words that left peace in Korea as remote as ever.

Sharp fighting flashed again on the explosive western front while the Kaesong armistice talks remained suspended for the 15th straight day.

Two allied outposts fought their way out of Chinese Red traps northwest of Chorwon.

The main United Nations' line braced for an expected communist offensive.

The New Red notes rejected the latest allied denials of responsibility for neutrality-zone violations at Kaesong. There was no Red answer to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's insistence on selection of a new truce site.

Red China's Peiping radio broadcast the two new messages from North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il-senior Red delegate, to Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, top U.N. negotiator.

Both notes rejected Joy's three denials Tuesday of Red charges as "completely unsatisfactory."

One note brushed aside Joy's insistence that no allied plan was dropped a flare inside the Kaesong neutral zone the night of Aug. 23.

Teepee Seen In Search For Barilko

Kapuskasig, Ont., Sept. 7.—(AP)—A mystery teepee near a canoe and a gasoline cache on a lonely northern lake is to be checked by the R.C.A.F. in the hunt for hockey player Bill Barilko and Timmins, Ont., dentist Dr. Henry Hudson, missing on an aerial fishing trip to James Bay since Aug. 26.

With skies due to clear—foul weather yesterday grounded searchers based at this outpost 80 miles northwest of Timmins—plans called today for landing a float-equipped Norseman plane on Little Opinaka lake, near the James Bay mission of Rupert's House, to enable men to go ashore to study the gas cache, the teepee and the canoe.

The crew of a searching Lancaster spotted the gas cache, mounted on a stand and covered with canvas, several days ago. The canoe and teepee were 15 miles along the lake. Another plane flew over them since then, but search officials said they would not be satisfied until they could investigate on the ground.

A camera-equipped plane is continuing great sweeps over the area in which the Toronto Maple Leafs defence man and his companion vanished with their yellow seaplane on a 240-mile flight from Rupert's House, a heliport, due to join the hunt yesterday, was held up by the bad weather.

Meanwhile, in Toronto, Leaf goalie Turk Broda announced that his offer to pit his National Hockey League all-star softball team against any other team to raise money to help the search had brought results. He said at least two games will be played in Toronto next week. Such former hockey figures as Charlie Conacher and Busher Jackson will see diamond action.

Edmonton, Sept. 7.—(AP)—An aerial search in the Northwest Territories for bush pilot Johnny Bourassa, resumed Wednesday after a lapse of 2½ months, is to be extended.

The R.C.A.F. said here yesterday that two more aircraft will join five already engaged in the hunt, east of Yellowknife.

An R.C.A.F. plane from Winnipeg yesterday was sent to the search area. It was to be joined today by another from Rivers, Man. Already in the search are four R.C.A.F. planes and one aircraft from Associated Airways.

A maximum of 13 planes covered about 160,000 square miles in the first phase of the search after the Peace River, Alta., pilot, about 30, disappeared May 18 on a 200-mile northern flight.

No trace of his plane was found until last Friday when a U.S.A.F. aircraft sighted it on the rocky adequate witnesses and material evidence to confirm the inescapable responsibility of your side."

Both Ridgway and Joy repeatedly have told the Reds that thorough investigations disprove the charges.

Peiping radio also hashed over another allegation—that the U.N. command had not published the full texts of Red statements on the alleged Kaesong incidents.

Responsible allied sources still had no indication what site might be suggested by the U.N. command for resumption of the talks, broken off by the Reds Aug. 23.

Today an "unofficial" release from Ridgway's headquarters said "Kaesong has gone from bad to worse to incredible as a conference site."

It insisted: "just one way remains for the armistice conference to get back on the track of common sense and real accomplishment."

"This is to move the whole conference, now completely blocked by communist passion for lies and fraudulent accusations, out of Kaesong."

Indications Are That Communists Will Neither Sign Nor Be Present For Signing Of Japanese Pact.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
San Francisco, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Embattled Andrei Gromyko and his communist cohorts may walk out of the Japanese peace conference.

The third and last of a series of Red blasts at the treaty was scheduled late today. There was speculation in the American delegation that afterward the Russian, Polish and Czechoslovak delegations, badly out-numbered and out-talked here, might quit the meeting.

Predictions of a Russian walk-out came from Ambassador John Foster Dulles, second-ranking U.S. delegate. Dulles said in a radio interview last night he doubted that the Russians would sign the treaty "and they won't want to be spectators to the signing."

The treaty is scheduled to be signed tomorrow. Late this afternoon Poland's Stefan Wierblowski is listed to speak.

There was no reason to believe he would depart from the line taken by Andrei Gromyko Wednesday and by Dr. Gertrude Sekaninova of Czechoslovakia yesterday. Both insisted that communist China should take part in the peace-making and that the American-British-sponsored treaty, now publicly endorsed by more than a score of delegates, is a "treaty for a new war."

Representatives of 21 countries were listed definitely to address today's sessions. Wierblowski was certain to protest. Of the other 20, it was not yet known whether Indonesia would announce its intention to sign.

If Indonesia joins the majority, it will mean that 48 out of 51 nations will commit themselves to the treaty with Japan—as against Russia's three-country minority.

This likely will be the last oratory-filled day of the meeting. Secretary-general Warren Kelchner asked all delegations to give him by 6 P.M. the names and titles of the delegates who will sign the pact.

The signing ceremony is scheduled tomorrow. Then on either Sunday or Monday, said Senator United States Bridges, (Rep.-N.H.) the United States and Japan will sign a defence treaty. Under that pact U.S. forces would remain in the Japanese islands after the peace treaty ends the occupation.

The British foreign minister Herbert Morrison, is due to arrive tonight to sign the treaty. Kenneth Younger, minister of state, heads the British delegation pending Morrison's arrival.

The French foreign minister, Robert Schuman, chided communist countries yesterday for opposing and seeking to undermine the treaty.

"We would like to convince all men of our genuine desire for peace," Schuman told the conference. Whatever we undertake, our intentions are systematically misinterpreted or distorted.

"Today, we sign a treaty which does not include any secret provision; whose only aim, solemnly affirmed by 48 nations, is to establish and assure peace, in a common effort and for all. 'In Europe, as in Asia, that is our constant and exclusive preoccupation.'"

Schuman went a step beyond the defensive alliances which the U.S. is putting together with the Pacific—with Japan, with the Philippines and with Australia and New Zealand—and suggested an over-all treaty of mutual assistance.

Dr. Sekaninova said it was "folly" to discuss a Japanese peace without including Red China. She accused the U.S. of following a "conditional, hostile policy" toward the people of China.

Members of the American delegation—concerned over the possible effects in Asia of Russian propaganda against the treaty, and concerned also over the absence from the conference of India and Burma—professed to be specifically pleased with enthusiastic endorsements of the treaty by Pakistan and Ceylon.

Hero's Burial For Indian

The body of Sgt. John Rice, Winnipeg Indian who was killed in Korea, is carried on a horse-drawn caisson to a hero's grave in Arlington, Va., National Cemetery. A cemetery in Rice's hometown, Sioux City, Ia., had refused to bury him because he was not white.

British-Iran Negotiations Suspended

London, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Oil talks between Britain and Iran reached a complete breakdown today following a thinly-veiled British demand that Iran throw out Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

The foreign office, stung by Mossadegh's threat to expel 350 British technicians from the shut-down Abadan refinery area unless Britain comes up with new proposals within 15 days, said last night.

"The recent speech by the Persian (Iranian) Prime Minister in the Senate shows conclusively that no further negotiations with the present Persian government can produce any results."

The government now considers that the negotiations begun by the Lord Privy Seal, Richard R. Stokes, are no longer in suspense, but broken off.

This was regarded here as putting it squarely up to Iran to produce entirely new proposals as a basis for negotiations or bring in a new government to tackle the difficult problem.

Mossadegh could lose the Premiership by parliamentary action. Or he might be decisively voted out of office in the Iranian general elections scheduled for next month.

It is doubtful, however, that the implied British ultimatum will be helpful to Mossadegh's opponents, considering the inflated nationalistic feelings in Iran.

The foreign-office statement also indirectly warned that Britain would not sit idly by if Iran carried out her threat to expel British employees of the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

"As regards the threat to withdraw the resident permits of British company employees, it is evident that any attempt by the Persian (Iranian) government to evict them would be a further breach of the interim decision of The Hague International Court," it said.

The Americans—about 200—fought their way out through a gantlet of 3,000 Chinese firing burp guns and hurling hand grenades. Demeres called his men "a bunch of fighting fools who wouldn't give up."

A group of about 1,000 Chinese, apparently badly hurt, was seen Friday pulling north from this area, about seven miles north of the 38th and 25 miles from Kaesong.

Night-flying marine fighters and B-26 bombers, operating by the light of flares, reported they destroyed or damaged 857 trucks, a record for the Korean war.

The entire front flared with action of one kind or another Thursday for the first time since the Kaesong talks were started July 10.

The allies still held the initiative in the mountainous east, where they carved out new gains within the past week.

Avonmouth, England, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Troops today joined firemen in a grim battle against a raging blaze that already had licked up 14,000,000 gallons of oil at the Regent Oil Company's storage farm.

Two more tanks exploded with deafening roars early today, bringing to 26 the number of containers destroyed in what was described as Britain's worst peacetime oil blaze. Firemen fought desperately to keep the flames from exploding the remaining tanks.

By JOHN RANDOLPH

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Two allied outpost units, encircled in a Red push which edged forward along the whole western battlefield, fought their way out today.

One allied unit immediately counter-attacked behind the blazing guns of United Nations tanks. Attacking Chinese and North Koreans did not hit the main allied line. Nor did they threaten it.

But the Red movement had all the earmarks of a prelude to a general offensive.

Communist infantrymen showed a new aggressiveness in strikes against allied outposts and patrols. It appeared that they wanted to occupy the wide belt of no-man's-land that has separated opposing forces in the west for months.

The Red movement encircled one American company Thursday and two other U.N. outposts Friday. Ensnaring fights proved costly to the Reds.

An allied divisional officer estimated the communists suffered 2,000 casualties, including 400 killed.

Nurses apparently accompanied some of the attacking communist outposts. The sound of women crying on the battlefield was reported by one American soldier.

The Reds did not use tanks in their encircling attacks on allied outposts Friday, although they were rumored to have 50 to 100 behind the lines in this sector.

Screaming Chinese infantrymen swarmed around the units in the Imjin river sector west and northwest of Yonchon before dawn. One attack was preceded by an artillery barrage. The other was made under a smoke screen.

Both allied outfits fought free. Tanks came up to support one allied group and it promptly launched an attack of its own to regain a hill due west of Chorwon, 17 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Both actions followed, on a smaller scale, the pattern of a Red attack on an American company Thursday.

The Chinese opened the assault with "the dammedest artillery and mortar barrage... it turned the place black with shell craters," said Lt. Col. Robert J. Demeres, battalion commander who directed the escape.

The Americans—about 200—fought their way out through a gantlet of 3,000 Chinese firing burp guns and hurling hand grenades. Demeres called his men "a bunch of fighting fools who wouldn't give up."

Toronto Ex Attendance Takes Drop

Toronto, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Rain has dimmed official hopes that attendance at this year's Canadian National Exhibition would top 3,000,000.

The showers yesterday and last night held attendance to 135,500, compared with 149,000 on the same day last year.

Total turnout to date stands at 2,291,000, some 3,000 down from the figure reached on the corresponding day in 1950. Until rain hit the big fair, the overall attendance since the opening Aug. 24 had been leading 1950 by 12,500.

However, with the weather man's assurance that the rain has probably moved on officials hoped for a steady clicking of the turnstiles today and on the closing day tomorrow.

This is interprovincial and service clubs' day.

The national horse show holds its second double session with judging of classes in the afternoon and evening. Sixteen-year-old Shirley Thomas of Ottawa won her fourth first last night in the ladies' jumpers class.

A male visitor stole a little of the ladies' glories yesterday. E. J. Taylor of Toronto took second prize in a contest in which competitors were asked to give solutions for everyday problems. Asked how to impress one's wife with the correct manner of squeezing a tube of toothpaste, he suggested a switch to tooth powder.

Music activities wind up today with a concert by first prize winners in all classes.

The Canadian and international table tennis tournament which opened yesterday continues with more than 100 entries from Canada and the United States.

By JOHN P. WARD
San Francisco, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Poker-faced Andrei Gromyko can say "no" in more ways—and more frequently—than a good-looking old maid with a million bucks.

The dark-haired, 42-year-old Russian deputy foreign minister has been saying nothing much but "no" since he arrived here for the Japanese peace conference.

He is stiffly unbending, both in his actions and in his firm refusal to comment on anything—including the weather and the scenery.

If it were not for the Russians' cloak-and-dagger behavior, chances are they would be regarded with no more curiosity than the Cambodians or the Viet Namese.

Each day the Russians drive up to the Opera House in their sleek limousines and stride inside under the white glare of television lights.

They silently take their places and assume an attitude of bored patience. Gromyko often doesn't even bother to put on the headset through which translations of the speeches are broadcast to the audience.

After the session, the Russians are whisked to their rented mansion at Hillsborough, 20 miles south of here. That temporary "little Russia" is centered in 12-acre, park-like but unkempt grounds for which the Russians provide their own security.

Evidently, Gromyko has nothing to say until he gets inside. He seldom speaks to the Soviet dele-

Guild Ouster Is Sought By Newsmen

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Canada labor relations board yesterday reserved decision on an application from a group of employees of the Canadian Press national news-gathering agency, to revoke the certification of the American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.-C.C.L.A.) as bargaining agency for a unit of CP editorial employees in Canada.

The board, which early last year certified the A.N.G. as bargaining agent after it got a majority in a representation vote, today heard evidence from the group opposed to the Guild that its decertification petition held the names of 42 of the 76 CP employees in the unit at the time it was filed.

It was suggested in Guild evidence and argument that the signatures had been obtained under some duress on the part of the company. This was denied by witnesses and counsel for the CP, which the board named as a respondent to the application along with the Guild, but which did not present evidence.

The Guild was certified by the board as collective bargaining agent for the CP editorial unit in April, 1950. The board has discretionary power to revoke that certification, after it has been in effect at least a year, on becoming convinced the union does not possess a majority of the unit.

Main points of yesterday's evidence were summed up by the counsel William Estey, representing the anti-Guild group; John Osler, for the Guild, and John W. Brooke, for The Canadian Press.

Mr. Estey argued:

1. The main issue was whether the petitioners constituted a bona fide group, not influenced by the management, and whether it had a majority of the unit at the time the application was filed last May. The answer was yes on both scores.

2. Despite some staff changes since the signing, the signatories still had a majority, though a smaller one.

3. Had the Guild complied with the standards of Canadian newspaper men, it would not now be faced with a "rebellion." It should look to itself as the source of that revolt and not try to label the petitioners as "stooges."

4. A majority of CP editorial men had been "saddled with a bargaining agent they do not want." The decision in the case would be important as affecting the rights of majorities and minorities in labor groups all over Canada.

Mr. Osler contended:

1. The application was nullified by the fact that most—if not all—of the signatures were obtained before the A.N.G.'s certification had run a year.

2. The petition signed by anti-Guild staff men did not mention the decertification proceedings specifically.

(In his later reply on these two points, Mr. Estey said that, firstly, the reason for the early signing was that the causes for it came into force early and, secondly, the petition was not drawn up by lawyers but by a group of employees.)

3. Staff changes and departures would knock about 11 of the original signatories off the petition as of now. Also, seven employees who signed it had paid dues to the union after signing.

4. There had been "continuing pressure" on some employees not to have anything to do with the Guild. The impression had been conveyed to at least one employee gate at his elbow in the conference hall.

Gromyko is reported to find relaxation in chess, Hollywood movies and in reading Mark Twain. Once in a while he goes fishing.

At some social occasions he'll take a Scotch and soda.

In a sense, at 42, he's Russia's "boy wonder," although some wages call him "the oldest young man in the world."

He studied at the Soviet Institute of Economics in Moscow in 1921 after attending a teacher's college in Minsk. Later he was assigned to teach at the Academy of Sciences and lectured at the Institute of Economics and at Moscow University.

His diplomatic career began in 1939 when he joined the American section of the Russian foreign office. He served as counsel, charge d'affaires and in 1943 became ambassador to the U.S.

He was Russia's spokesman at the Lumberton Oaks conference in 1944 and attended the United Nations founding conference in San Francisco in 1945.

Gromyko started the Russian walk-outs from U.N. sessions in 1946 when Russia's protests against considering the Iran case were over-ruled. Iran had charged Russian troops violated the Indian frontier.

BILL BOSS

War Correspondent Bill Boss Will Address Legion On Monday

Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent in Korea for the last nine months, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Legion on Monday evening.

Boss, who returned home on leave last week, went to Korea with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and has reported all the engagements of that unit and of the other Canadian troops who arrived later to make up the Dominion's brigade in the Commonwealth division.

During the recent lull in the fighting he turned his attention to some of the domestic problems in Korea arising from the military's relations with the civilians and his series of articles was one of the most soul-searching that has come out of that unhappy country.

Boss, in his address to the Legion, is expected to deal briefly with his experiences in Korea and then open the meeting to a general question and answer period. The Legion is planning to invite a number of guests to the meeting.

A war correspondent, like any other reporter, is on the scene to report the news, and in that respect Boss is one of the best in the business. But once in a while, a war correspondent himself is news.

Much has been written about Bill Boss, both during the Second World War as he followed the troops up the boot of Italy, in the subsequent closing stages of the war in western Europe and since he went to Korea last December.

In this category fall a couple of news stories by Frank King, of The Associated Press, who toured the Far East last spring. King found Boss and his one-man Korean press operation unlike anything he had encountered up to that time. Bill was on the gun line, with the artillery, and was fully operational in a small tent that, with his typewriter and radio and other equipment, could be knocked down and packed in a two-wheeled trailer in 45 minutes, ready to move with the Patricians.

King quite evidently was impressed—or amazed—at the read beard, black beret and the cheery voice known all along the Canadian front. But he was only one of many fellow correspondents who have been impressed or amazed since Bill Boss got into newspaper work.

Bill, who is 34, was born in Ottawa. It was there that he got his start in newspaper work in 1932. A move to London followed.

He served on the Headquarters staff of the 4th Canadian Armoured Division during the early part of the war and was transferred

Vancouver Man Appointed To Local "Y" Post

The appointment of Alex A. Leslie as physical director of the local Y.M.C.A. has been announced by J. Edward Short, general secretary.

Mr. Leslie replaces Harry Weber who accepted a "Y" post in Montreal during the summer. A native of the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia, Mr. Leslie attended school there and at Vancouver, graduating from the University of British Columbia in 1948 with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He has spent the last year in post graduate study at the Y.M.C.A. College in Springfield, Mass., where he majored in group work and community organization.

His duties here will consist of heading a program of gym and swim activities as well as some club work for boys, which will be designed to produce some gymnasts, athletes, basketball and volleyball players, and well-qualified swimmers.

Mr. Leslie is also a very capable skier and mountain climber, having been a member of the Outdoors Club of the University of British Columbia during his student days.

Fire Damages Boiler Room At Collinsville

Heavy damage was caused to the boiler room of Collinsville Industries, registered, Drummond Road, yesterday afternoon when a fire broke out in a bin in which the sash and doors firm keeps shavings.

The bin is located next to the boiler room and drying kiln, in a building separate from the main factory building.

Firemen believe the blaze was caused by a flash from the boiler itself. Employees of the firm say they heard an explosion prior to the outbreak of fire.

The drying kiln and bin were also heavily damaged.

The Fire Department responded to the alarm at three o'clock and returned to their station at 4:30 p.m.

Duplessis Will Be At Actonvale

Prime Minister Maurice Duplessis will fulfill another speaking engagement in this district on Sunday afternoon when he will take part in the dedication ceremonies of the new St. Andrew School at Acton Vale, a few miles from Richmond.

Following the blessing of the new school by Msgr. Antonio Douville, Bishop of St. Hyacinthe, the Prime Minister will address a political meeting, during the course of which he will review the record of his administration.

He will be supported by Daniel Johnson, M. L. A. for Bagot, in which riding Acton Vale is situated. Hon. Laurent Barre, Ernest Charteau, M.L.A. for St. Hyacinthe, Maurice Bellemare, M.L.A. for Champlain, Robert Bernard, M.L.A. for Drummond, Hon. J. H. Desile, Henri Vachon, M. L. A. for Wolfe, Hector Choquette, M.L.A. for Shefford, and many other National Union members.

Within the next few weeks, the Prime Minister is also scheduled to address a rally at La Patrie in Compton County.

to the Mediterranean theatre in 1943 with the 1st Canadian Corps. He later was transferred from the army to be CP's correspondent in Italy and later in northwest Europe.

He since has served in almost every CP bureau across Canada. In 1950, after a transfer back to London, he travelled through 10 European countries reporting for CP from Scandinavia down to Italy.

During his travels, Boss learned Italian, French, German and Dutch. He also knows a bit of Russian, but admits that he has finally been stumped by the Korean lingo.

Boss chose newspaper work in preference to music as a career. In Ottawa he founded and conducted the Ottawa concert orchestra and during and after the Second World War made musical history by being the first Canadian to conduct several leading European symphony orchestras, including that of the Royal Opera House in Milan.

Mark Anniversary

Windsor Mills, Sept. 7.—On Saturday evening, August 4, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sundborg (above), were guests of honor at a banquet at the River View which marked the occasion of their golden wedding. Eleven of their twelve children, with their wives and husbands and several of the older grandchildren were present to celebrate the happy occasion with them.

The banquet took the form of a wedding party and the head table was centred with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake which was made by their daughter, Edith, Mrs. Gordon McLeod. The tables were appropriately decorated with gold roses. Mrs. Sundborg was dressed in a brown figured crepe dress and wore an orchid corsage, a gift from her daughter, Ada, Mrs. James Edson.

As a small token of their love and respect for their parents, the children presented their mother with a gold ring with sapphire settings, her birth stone, and their father with a gold pocket watch. The presentation of the ring was made by Victor, the eldest son, and the watch by Ada, the eldest daughter. In a few well chosen words, the couple thanked the children for the lovely gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Sundborg were also the recipients of numerous other gifts, cards, telegrams and flowers from their relatives and many friends. Following the banquet, a quiet social evening was enjoyed by all.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Sundborg were at home to their relatives and a few close friends of the family at the home of their son, Alfred. Present were seven sons and their wives and four daughters, three of whom were accompanied by their husbands. Twenty-one grandchildren were also present, two of whom are married and were accompanied by their wife and husband respectively.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Edson, Mr. and Mrs. James Edson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. A. Robinson, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sundborg and daughter, Joan, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. George Sundborg and son, Dennis, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sundborg, of North Bay; Mrs. A. Robinson and children, Jean, Ted and Allan, of Sherbrooke, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Terreault, of Dorval.

U. K. Landlords Seek Permission To Boost Rents

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
London. — British landlords and Conservative Members of Parliament are campaigning for increased rents from tenants of privately-owned houses.

They are bringing pressure on the government to amend the rent restrictions acts, by which rentals on unfurnished houses and apartments are kept down to 1939 levels.

Landlords want the acts changed to allow them to increase rents by a minimum of six shillings and eight pence in the pound. They want these increases to be exclusive of taxes, which are also soaring.

Permission to increase rents was sought recently in a resolution passed by the National Federation of property owners.

It was suggested that working-class houses now rented at 13 shillings eightpence per week, exclusive of taxes, should have their rents raised by at least four shillings eightpence a week.

The property owners said they needed the extra rent to enable them to maintain tenanted houses in a proper state of repair, and to prevent existing houses from becoming uninhabitable.

They urged that the present rent restrictions acts should be replaced by one comprehensive act fixing rents at a figure allowing them both maintenance costs and a "reasonable return on investment."

Ernest Marples, Conservative M.P. for Wallasey, supported the landlords' campaign in a letter to The Times, quickly followed by letters by other conservatives and members of the property owners' federation.

The Times gave the landlords its blessing in a lead editorial. "It is clearly anomalous—to use no stronger word—that the rents of most private dwellings should remain fixed at what were in 1939," the Times said.

The Daily Mail in an editorial said the "grasping landlord" was a stock figure that lingered on "in the mythology of socialism."

"That is partly why rents of privately owned houses are still fixed at 1939 levels, and in half the cases are even related to 1914 standards," the Mail said.

"The costs of renewals and decorations has not been frozen. It has at least doubled since 1939, so that most landlords cannot afford to keep their property in a good state of repair. Slums are created as fast as new houses are erected."

The Mail added, however, that any large or uncontrolled rise in rents "would knock the country's economy into a cocked hat."

Incest Charge Brings Term Of Ten Years

Arthur Pouliot, 46, of Island Brook, was sentenced to ten years in penitentiary here yesterday by Judge Joseph Marier after he had pleaded guilty to having sexual relations with his two daughters, aged 15 and 13.

"Your crime is worse than a hold-up. You have robbed your children of their innocence," Judge Marier told the accused.

"I am giving you a long sentence to protect your other children," the judge told the father of eight.

The accused was not represented by counsel and there were no witnesses called to testify.

Wrong Number Phone Calls Are Numerous

Approximately 156,000 uncompleted or "wrong number" telephone calls were made from dial telephones in Sherbrooke during July, according to H. E. Walker, Bell Telephone manager here.

Mr. Walker explained that complex mechanical equipment "observes" on dial apparatus and "tells" when an irregularity occurs. During July, he said, when telephone users in Sherbrooke placed an estimated three million local calls, one out of every 20 was an uncompleted or wrong number call.

The large majority of these calls, the manager pointed out, had been traced to irregular and careless dialing. Common mistakes of the average telephone user resulting in uncompleted or wrong number calls were given as:

calling numbers by memory instead of consulting the directory; dialing before the dial tone is heard; careless and too-fast dialing; forcing the dial, and failure to hang up properly before dialing another number.

These errors often result in wrong numbers or no numbers at all — and waste the telephone user's time, Mr. Walker said. In order for telephone users to receive maximum efficiency from the telephone, it was urged that care be taken to avoid these errors. Take time, to save time, is his advice.

Swearing-In Ceremonies For Judge Cliche Will Take Place On Tuesday

The swearing in ceremonies for Louis Philippe Cliche, K.C., Lake Megantic attorney who was recently named third judge of the Superior Court for the Districts of St. Francis and Bedford, will take place at the local court house on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. The ceremonies will coincide with the re-opening of the courts for the fall and winter season.

Following these ceremonies, the new judge will hold a reception for the members of the bench and the legal profession in the Lawyers' Library at the Court House.

The new judge, whose appointment was announced on August 16, has been practising law in this district since 1926, all of this time at Lake Megantic, where he took an active part in civic, religious and political circles. In 1930-31 he was mayor of the Town of Lake Megantic and in 1932-53 was mayor of the adjacent parish. He was secretary of the Lake Megantic Board of Trade for fifteen years and is an honorary president of that organization. He was Liberal candidate in the provincial elections in Frontenac county in 1948 but was defeated.

The post which the new judge assumes results from the decisions of the Dominion and Provincial Governments to appoint additional Superior Court Judges to meet the demands created by the growth of population in this province and he will serve along with Mr. Justice Casaire Gervais and Mr. Justice William Mitchell.

THE SITUATION IN ARGENTINA

Some observers of South American politics believe that the decision of Eva Peron to decline the nomination as vice-president is a sign that this very shrewd lady sees the handwriting on the wall. Her husband, President Juan Peron, has been running high, wide and handsome as dictator of the South American Republic ever since his election in 1946 and as usually happens in dictatorships, a crisis of the first order is developing rapidly and may come to a head at any time.

A writer in the New York newspapers has attempted to analyze the real reasons for this crisis and a summary of these may help to reveal what is really going on. Few countries, points out the writer, are blessed with an abundance of foodstuffs and exportable raw materials as is underpopulated Argentina, which furthermore found itself in 1945 with a tremendous dollar balance accumulated during wartime. During the following years the world-wide hunger for Argentine raw materials created additional exceptionally favorable export opportunities. Incidentally, none of the Argentine essential materials were ever contributed free to any war-starved country but were sold to the highest bidders, irrespective whether East or West.

In spite of this extremely favorable economic position, the free peso dropped continuously from about five to the dollar in 1945 to its present value of twenty-seven to the dollar. What is the cause?

First of all, as it customary among all dictators, an army and navy program was developed for which there was no geographical justification. This is supported by a country with a total population of fifteen million. Furthermore, instead of concentration on the importation of agricultural machinery, replacement of a decrepit transportation system and other essential machinery, surplus war material on a tremendous scale was contracted for in the United States. Much of it was never properly conditioned for use upon arrival in Buenos Aires, where it could be seen for years rotting at the piers.

Another large part of the vitally important dollar exchange surplus was used for the development of economically unsound industries, for which the only explanation can be chauvinism. This holds good for all heavy and a great number of other industries manufacturing items for which there is neither a large enough domestic market nor sufficient export opportunities in competition with the United States and Europe.

The main reason for the drop in the peso, greatly accelerated during the last few months, is the rapidly diminishing public confidence in the future value of its national currency. This has not only led to the flight of capital but also to a point where a large number of the population tries to convert its meager savings into dollars.

The author of this analysis declares it is only a question of time before even a slowly awakening citizenry will realize how the Peron government is bankrupting its country, destroying its savings and the security of its much-advertised social benefits.

THE CANADIAN ECONOMIC PICTURE

Canada's exports for July were $379,000,000, nearly $8,000,000 more than imports for the same month says the current issue of The Canadian Bank of Commerce monthly Commercial Letter. This was the first monthly surplus on trading account this year. It reduced the cumulative deficit for 1951 to $332,000,000. Exports to both the United States and the United Kingdom increased during the month. For the second successive month imports from the United States declined slightly.

Harvesting is now well under way. The first official estimate forecast a record wheat crop of 582,000,000 bushels of wheat and bumper outturns of feed grains. Rain has delayed harvest work and the lateness of the season in Western Canada makes late-sown crops vulnerable to frost damage. Ample feed supplies are virtually assured — a good omen, having regard to current rather precarious live stock and dairy products supplies.

No very far-reaching change in either the use or the source of labor is likely this year unless foreign relations alter quickly for the worse. Beyond 1951 the outlook is more obscure. Assuming that the projected defence program must be carried out in full, a fairly large addition to the effective labor force must be contrived, or a lowering of present living standards accepted.

The most critical shortage at present is that in skilled labor. And it is one that seems likely to remain with us for some time. Unless there is some "dilution" of labor or a far-reaching attempt by individual industries to raise the status of their less skilled workers, the skilled labor situation seems likely to grow more acute as the volume of defence work grows. On the present efforts of skilled workers the subsequent employment of semi and unskilled labor depends. Without skilled workers shifts can be increased only to a limited extent.

Essentially the problem is to produce the military equipment we must have together with enough civilian goods to keep prices within bounds.

Between 1946 and 1950 that part of the labor force engaged in manufacturing increased by 18 per cent. This was attained only at the expense of other segments of the economy, notably agriculture. Throughout this period shortages of skilled and semi-skilled tradesmen have persisted. Some doubt, therefore, arises concerning the ability of our economy to man the increased capacity contemplated in the next year and a half, while also providing the additional labor needed in other sectors.

The greatest untapped source of labor at the present time is women not currently seeking employment, students and retired persons. In June 1951, 24 per cent of adult females were members of the labor force, compared with 33.5 per cent in mid-1944. While the restoration of the latter percentage would be neither necessary nor socially desirable in the absence of extreme urgency, this group forms the largest potential pool of labor. It is likely also that many persons who have just reached retiring age could be induced to remain at work. The natural increase in the labor force is now about 50,000 a year, part of which will likely be absorbed into the armed services.

About five per cent of the current labor force is probably made up of immigrants who have come to Canada between 1946 and 1950. Immigration this year may set a post-war record of about 150,000, about 90,000 of whom may be added to the labor force.

The allocation of scarce materials to defence production has resulted in some shift from civilian to military goods. But this together with tightened credit controls does not necessarily release manpower of the desired types in the most strategic localities.

PRESS COMMENTS

EDEN APPROVES BRITISH TRADE WITH SOVIET

Toronto Telegram

Anthony Eden has declared his approval of British trade with Russia, a business about which he had met much misunderstanding in his trip through the United States. In an interview in New York just before sailing for home he explained that Russian timber was essential to improvement of Britain's housing situation, which he termed "a hideous human problem." Without Russian trade the timber would have to be bought in the dollar area, which would dangerously drain Britain's dollar resources. Equally necessary were Russian coarse grains, required to feed British cattle. "My own opinion," he said, "is that as long as we are careful why this sentiment should be a cause which we share."

Mr. Eden's opinion is shared by two United States measures—the Ken amendment, which was adopted in June, and the Battle Bill, which is designed to replace it. The former makes it mandatory to forbid aid to countries exporting to Russia or her satellites anything "which may be used" in the manufacture of arms or armaments, while the latter allows the President to decide whether or not aid should be stopped. The Times dislikes both measures and holds that neither is necessary because military exports from the countries concerned to the Soviet have been cut off long ago, but prefers the Battle Bill because it is less drastic than the amendment.

In its argument it supports the position taken by Mr. Eden. Saying there is a point in the curtailment of trade beyond which the United States' allies "are simply not able to go," it points out that if Western Europe did not get coal, grain and timber from the East, it would have to get them, if it could, from the United States. That is why the U.S. would have to supply if it did not wish to see the economies of its allies collapse. It is not likely that the U.S. would be willing to pay this price.

HOW OTTAWA ECONOMIZES

Toronto Globe-Mail

The Federal Government's notions on how to save money are often weird and wonderful. A private firm which tried them as a method of getting out of the red would end in bankruptcy. This year's experiment in cutting down postal service appears to be a case in point.

Last spring the public was asked to accept once-a-day letter delivery on the assurance that about 1,300 postmen could be taken off the Post Office payroll and placed in other departments that needed extra help. There would probably have been a net, if invisible, saving in this transaction had it worked out as planned. There was, however, a catch in it if Calgary's experience is typical. In that city, the Calgary Herald relates, twenty-three postmen were laid off and presumably "absorbed" in the spring. But postal service deteriorated to such an extent that twenty new men have been taken on.

The final upshot is thus a visible increase of twenty in the Federal civil service in Calgary alone. If other places have had the same experience, this figure is about one thousand for the whole country. But the true increase may be greater for it is at least permissible to doubt that "other departments" had essential employment ready and waiting for every one of the 1,300 postmen laid off.

The Federal civil service is undoubtedly top-heavy; but discharging postmen was surely an odd way to begin cutting off the fat. Postmen do a necessary job. They were not under-worked when twice-a-day delivery was in effect and the service to the public was not excessive. The place to begin economizing in the civil service is among the redundant people who are not anything like so valuable as postmen. But Canada may have to wait for a change in Government for a real attack on this problem. Governments which have been long in office are always extremely reluctant to part with their old friends and retainers.

SPIRITLESS YOUTH RALLY

Glimpses Into The Past

By BERTHA WESTON PRICE

REMINISCENCES
 In going over several letters that have been kept on file because of the many glimpses into the Past they contain we find many comments on animal traits, as well as of humans. In the old days when the animals' kingdom was invaded by humans there was a certain contact between them; the former were curious and were rather slow in making up their minds just who the newcomers were, while mankind had the protective instinct needed for safety.

Our forests were filled with moose, monarchs of their forest homes, and many fireside tales are still told of their actions. Mr. Avery Laberee, of Bulwer, has at times drawn upon his good memory for our entertainment, perhaps the little story about "Nice Doggie" being a "star" among the many others we have read. This was about a seven-year-old boy who patted the head of a black bear he came across in a pasture, and of whom he told his family when safe home that "he seemed to like it." The story belongs to the Wakefield family, early residents in the townships, and its retelling brought letters from western Canada, the U.S. and nearer home—because of memory, "the warner of the brain."

Mr. Laberee has a retentive memory and we profit thereby. He remarks: "Our early settlers were a determined lot," and we agree with him. If they hadn't been they would never have come through. To emphasize his remark Mr. Laberee tells of an old man trying to hold a steer by its horns with his teeth in one ear until he carried the man through a high rail fence. (Sounds like rodeo.) Then he adds: "Animals are determined creatures. Did you ever notice a horse that wouldn't move for food, nor the whip? That is what is called a balky horse, is it not? There are many such we believe and the same trait is sometimes found in humans."

An instance is given: "Some forty years ago Mr. Edward Lindsay was sitting on his verandah in the lengthening shadows when he noticed a large animal coming up the driveway. In the dim light he thought it was a horse and ran out to stop it and found that it was a moose. Mr. Lindsay made a hasty exit, then with his son followed the animal to the barn, then the barnyard where it smashed its way through a board fence and ran into the woods." It was truly a determined moose. We are told that a moose will follow a certain route, even if it takes him into a village, or a barnyard, and Mr. Laberee recalls having seen one which came into Sawyerville like that. He was promptly shot by Mr. Char. Saxland.

We may add here that Mr. Laberee was superintendent of roads in Eaton Township for 25 years and has had much experience in road building. He recalls that once when road-building in Sawyerville the workmen found tools buried, without doubt at the time of building the Craig road in the early 1800's.

Another kind friend of our corner, Miss Jessie Blackwood, of Bedford, who we must mention, has a record of 35 years as a school teacher. And we must add: God bless her for her long service. Miss Blackwood tells of a friendly chat she had with an aged lady, Mrs. Chipple, who at the age of 93 years can recall the past. She remembers as a child having seen the foundation of a church along the St. Armand road. All other traces of the building were gone, it was built before the time of her mother, Mrs. John Krans, an early resident of Missisquoi County. At that time when children went to church they went barefoot until near the church they stopped beside a small brook, washed and dressed their feet and entered the church. This was necessary to lengthen the life of their shoes; they had only one pair a year.

This was over a century ago, but I recall, when in Scotland, having seen Scotch women coming to the village barefooted. When they reached the edge they sat down by the roadside and dressed their feet, then continued their way, knitting as they walked and talked.

Mrs. Chipple tells us that in her early day fathers tanned the skins of domestic and wild animals, then in the fall there came shoemakers to make up foot wear that must last until the next fall. Joe Powers and Gardiner Meed were reliable shoemakers in Bedford district a century ago. She also remembers that when U. E. Loyalist families came into Missisquoi from the United States, they brought negro servants with them. These people were respected and there is a burial ground built around a big boulder where they were laid to rest.

Since that time two Anglican churches have been built at Phillipsburg. When the first showed signs of decay the clergyman went to England and collected a goodly amount for rebuilding. The Mother Country did much for Canada.

Another odd story of Fenian Raid days was recalled by Mrs. Chipple. She remembers that her father, when warned that the Raiders were passing through, buried his maple sugar and other treasures behind the house, took his family and a neighbor, Mrs. Mitchell, to the barn and hid them. Then he and Mr. Mitchell patrolled the road throughout the night. While the invaders stopped in the march to Quebec they ordered a big dinner and it was prepared. The soldiers parleyed among themselves, then went into the dining place, overturned the table and scattered dishes, food and all on the floor and went on their way. They had suspicioned poison! Those men may have been good soldiers, but surely they were not gentlemen.

These quaint stories from the past have their bearing on our local history and remind us of the store of records we can make of trivial happenings, yet having their place in the whole.

A good man has said: "Happiness is a by-product of work," and we may add: Our pioneers knew full well the meaning of those words.

PROPER DEFENSE IS TRICKY IN THIS ONE

It's probably foolish of me to stick my neck out, but I'm nevertheless about to do so. I believe that not one bridge player in a thousand will think of the correct defense in the hand shown today. Try it, and see if you're the exception.

West opened the jack of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. A low club was returned from dummy, and East wisely put up the jack of clubs to return a trump. South put up the ace of trumps and led another club, which West had to take with his ace.

Now, suppose you pick the best lead at this point from the West hand. You can look at "he whole hand, and even that won't help you unless you're wide awake.

While you're thinking, just see what happened when West actually returned a second heart. South won with the king, ruffed a club in dummy, and ruffed a heart in his own hand. He then ruffed another club in dummy, cashed the ace of diamonds, and ruffed a diamond in his own hand. Then he laid down the king of spades and led his last club. West could take the queen of spades, but no more.

Mind you, West thought of ruffing the third or fourth club with his queen of spades, but that would have done him no good. He also thought of discarding diamonds to be in over-ruff position when South got back to his hand by ruffing a diamond. That also would have done him no good. West had missed his chance when he returned a second heart.

Have you found the million-dollar lead yet? West must return the queen of spades. It looks like the worst possible lead, but it's actually the best.

If South decides to draw trumps, he loses no trump tricks but must give up four clubs. If South, in-

The Record Short Story

BERRY FARM

By SANFORD JARRELL

On Sunday morning both young men slept late. Tom West had taken his girl to the Pasadena Playhouse and afterwards had braved the Saturday night jams in several of the hot spots along the Sunset strip until they finally wedged into one of them where they danced, sardine-like, on a floor about the size of a kitchen linoleum.

They listened to a famed night club comic tell a few jokes that were more smutty than risqué; had two sandwiches and a like number of watery highballs, and Tom had picked up the check for something around $15.

Bill Putnam, who had no girl at the moment—she had thrown him overboard for a well-heeled real estate salesman last month—went solo to a movie, had a few beers at a noisy neighborhood bar until a drunk drove him away with the tearful story of a misspent life, and had read through a paper-back murder mystery before falling to sleep.

Tom West and Bill Putnam shared an apartment just off Wilshire above MacArthur (nee Westlake) Park. It was Bill who first awoke on the bed davenport of the living room and found it was just noon. From the alcove came sounds that indicated that Tom was still in the land of dreams.

Bill put some coffee on, rummaged about the tiny kitchenette and found bread to toast, some fruit juice, and two slices of bacon. He thus fixed up a mild breakfast.

He and Tom had planned to go out to the Berry Farm for a whopping fried chicken dinner sometime in the afternoon. The Berry Farm, which had started as just that way back in 1920, was something of a Los Angeles institution, like Olvera Street, Hollywood and Vine, Forest Lawn and the County Jail way up in the clouds of a Civic Center skyscraper.

It now served over a million dinners a year, had a realistic "ghost town, a chapel and a market. Bill had never been there, but it was one of Tom's favorite eating-out places.

Breakfast over, Bill went through the Sunday papers, and at 2 o'clock he decided it was high time to awaken his slumbering apartment mate. This was not an easy chore, but was finally accomplished, Tom said drowsily, "You go on ahead, chum. It takes two or three hours to get a table on Sunday after you've put in for it, and you can wander around Ghost Town and spend your dough. I'll find you there, or I'll pick you up when they announce your table over the loudspeaker."

Following Tom's direction, Bill drove through the quiet downtown streets and the Sabbath-calm industrial areas of Los Angeles, to Buena Park, where he took a side road to the Berry Farm.

There he parked, took a reservation for a table for two in one of the several centrally located dining rooms, and was told that he would be called over the loudspeaker when it was available. Judging from the vast number of parked cars, he knew that Tom was right; it might be two or three hours before he would be tackling one of those celebrated fried chicken dinners.

Bill took the trail to Ghost Town. He was amazed at what in a relatively short span of years a roadside stand featuring boysenberry jam could develop into what is now a multi-million dollar a year project and all kept in the family which originated it.

Although not an expert on West-ern lore, he figured that Ghost Town was a fairly accurate replica of the old mining camps in the high country about which Bret Harte and Mark Twain wrote so feelingly.

 The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-8-7, Hearts J-10-4, Diamonds Q-8-7-2, Clubs J-5. What do you do?
 A—Bid three diamonds. Your hand is about average in high-card strength, and it is therefore worth two responses. For your second bid, you must show your diamond strength, leaving the rest up to your partner.

CHICKENPOX IS MILD DISEASE, BUT WATCH OUT FOR SCARRING

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

The mildest and probably the most common of the contagious diseases of childhood is chickenpox. This disease like the others common to children is likely to come in epidemics but it is probably less of a problem in schools because so many have had it before they reach school age.

Chickenpox is rather a curious disease. Until about four centuries ago, it was often confused with the much more serious smallpox. Although both are caused by viruses, resistance to one does not give resistance to the other.

But chickenpox does have some peculiar relation to another virus disease—shingles or herpes zoster. Just what this is remains somewhat obscure, but children have apparently contracted chickenpox by being exposed to shingles, and grownups have sometimes developed shingles after being exposed to chickenpox.

Because chickenpox is so contagious, it is almost impossible to prevent children from being exposed. Fortunately the disease is usually, though not always, mild and about the only thing one needs to be concerned about is the prevention of scarring the skin from scratching the blister-like pox.

For this purpose, soothing lotions or powders are often helpful. Older children must be warned against scratching, but those who are not yet able to understand may have to have the hands bandaged or splints put on the arms to keep them from scratching.

Local Rules Differ

It usually takes from ten to fifteen days for symptoms of the disease to develop after the child has been exposed. As is true for the other contagious diseases, the communities differ on how long they require a youngster to be isolated.

The local rules must be followed, of course, but the American Public Health Association has expressed the opinion that there is no danger of passing the disease to others six days after the appearance of the first pox.

It seems to me that chickenpox could well be studied more than it has in recent years. Any disease which is so common might someday become more dangerous and it certainly has interesting features even though, ordinarily, recovery is complete.

Folk Song Is Disc Hit

BY JOEY SASSO

WHEN Buddy Morrow, RCA Victor's newest recording star, was out making personal appearances plugging records, he ran into Ed McKenzie, popular disc jockey in Detroit. McKenzie, known professionally in the Motor City under the curious name of Jack the Bell-boy, informed Morrow and Herb Hendler, Morrow's personal manager, that radio from England was heavily touting a record hit in the British Isles, "Rose, Rose, I Love You."

What was particularly newsworthy about the item was that Columbia Record's disc was in Chinese and that the date and source of publishing, authors and origin were unknown. It was agreed upon by all concerned with the English songwriting trade that "Rose, Rose" was authentically a very old Chinese folk song that made an unusual splash in an English-speaking market.

Wilfred Thomas of the British Broadcasting Company wrote an English lyric for the song and featured it on the BEC's "Record Rendezvous" and Chappell Music copyrighted the song internationally. All of this was unknown to Morrow when he started to track down the publisher of the song.

Morrow called "Musical Express," England's leading musical publication, to find out authorship and publication and they in turn cabled an answer as to Chappell's rights. Hendler contacted Chappell in New York to get a license for a recording. Chappell was seemingly unaware of the song being in their international catalogue and they promptly transferred the song to their American book, at the same time granting trombonist Morrow a green light to record. Columbia Records, in the meantime, rushed an American version on the market.

The Morrow version is done in march tempo with a swingy male vocal and tells the story of a soldier forced to leave his Malayan sweetheart as his Army unit embarks for home and demobilization.

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

DOROTHY DIX
Grandma Speaks Up

Older Woman Answers
Mothers Of Today

DEAR MISS DIX: In answer to "Worn-Out Ma," how about the other side of the question. Wasn't Grandma mother 25 years ago? Did she have an automatic washer, automatic gas range, dish washer, clothes dryer or ironer? No, this grandma used a washboard. Were there as many families with cars? Did we have canned baby food? No. I cooked oatmeal for two hours. Today the cereal is moistened with formula and used. Nursing a baby is a big job and uses up the mother's energy. Yet with all the household appliances very few nurse babies today. We didn't have the security of "shots," either. We dreaded diseases such as diphtheria which are almost non-existent today.

Grandma has earned her leisure. What's more, she can't please this younger generation. She's old-fashioned and believes in "spunkology" rather than "psychology." She's told children are reared differently today. They call parents by their first names, and even Grandma has no choice in what she's called. The parents give her the name they like—something modern! More power to the grandma who can adjust herself and find interests she had to give up when she was a young "Worn-Out Ma!"

GRANDMA
Answer: This grandma has learned the secret of adjustment—one of the cardinal rules of getting along in the world. Mother, grandma, mother-in-law—each has an important role in the world and can be of most service sticking to it and not trying to keep a foot in each of two generations.

STILL A FULL-TIME JOB
Grandma seems to have a touch of resentment for the convenience of modern child-care. True, modern appliances, canning methods and medical progress have eliminated much of the drudgery in raising children, but the conscientious mother of today still has a full-time job with her youngsters. If she uses her time wisely, as the vast majority of young parents do, she escapes the "worn out" state, which is really a form of martyrdom rather than a purely physical condition. A healthy mother of healthy children will be tired at the day's end, but she tucks her young 'uns in with the secure feeling of a day's work well and efficiently done, and tackles each day with zest.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 36 years old and have been married 18 years. I have four children—the oldest one is married. My husband left me with no explanation whatever, but writes and occasionally comes to see me. I have had to go to work to support the three children at home and the only money I get from my husband is $5 now and then. I know the children aren't getting the things they need.

MARTHA
Answer: Your husband has an absolute obligation to support his children whether he is home or not, and you can force this support through legal proceedings. If you can't afford a lawyer, go to the Legal Aid Society nearest you for advice. Don't try to carry the whole burden yourself. You make it too easy for your husband to evade his responsibility.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am almost 20 years old and am plagued with blushing, which seems to grow steadily worse. The girls laugh at me, and some just call it cute. Regardless, I consider it a liability and would like to know its cause and cure.

CHARLES
Answer: You'll just have to resign yourself to whatever teasing your blushes elicit from your friends as there's no cure except to overcome the self-consciousness that causes it. Blushing was a necessary attribute of heroines in Victorian novels, but the self-assurance that characterizes the younger generation has made it almost extinct today.

MARRIAGES

McGEE—SHANNON

The marriage of Marion Shannon, R.N., of Vancouver, B.C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Shannon, also of Vancouver, and Hubert Allan McGee, son of Frederick J. McGee, and the late Mabel Louise Faige, of Lennoxville, Que., took place in Grace Chapel, Sherbrooke, on Saturday, September 1, at half-past two o'clock, Dr. Arthur C. Hill conducting the service. Miss Ruth Robinson, pianist, played the wedding music, and Mr. Stewart Martin was the soloist. Gladioli and various summer flowers were used to decorate.

Miss May Shannon, of Vancouver, was her sister's maid of honor, and Mr. Rubin Bonney, of Montreal, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Ray Langley and Mr. Bob Paulette.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Robert Fortway, of Toronto, Ont., wore a floor-length gown with train of white satin, the sleeves and skirt inset with panels of lace, a fingertip-length veil held in place by a lace and satin headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white gladioli tips tied with white tulle ending in streamers knotted with rosebuds.

The maid of honor was in a lilac colored floor-length frock, the bodice fashioned in brocaded satin, the skirt being of net over taffeta. Her bouquet was of yellow and mauve sweet peas and gladioli tips.

Mrs. Shannon, mother of the bride, was unable to be present. Mrs. McGee, the groom's mother, wore a navy sheer afternoon dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The reception was held at "Rock-cliffe," where the bride's table was centered with the three-tier wedding cake and decorated with vases of roses and sweet peas.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. McGee left for a short motor trip to the New England States, the bride wearing a navy blue wool gabardine suit having a beaded cape collar, white and navy accessories and a white gardenia corsage. Mr. and Mrs. McGee will reside at 3577 Peel Street, Montreal, Que. The bride is a graduate of St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, B.C., and Mr. McGee was a student in commerce at McGill University. Out-of-town guests were: Miss Shirley Kibler, R.N., of Vancouver, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Fortway, of Toronto, Ont.; Mr. Colin Forbes, of Jamaica, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Langley, of Stanstead.

YOUNG GIRL JUMPS IN FRONT OF TRUCK TO RESCUE CHILD

Pauline Bourdeau, 12, of Ville St. Pierre, Que., risks her life to save cousin from path of truck

1. Pauline Bourdeau was walking towards First Avenue in her home town of Ville St. Pierre, a few miles from Montreal... totally unaware that she was about to star in a real-life drama. For suddenly a terrifying sight met her eyes. Out in the middle of the street she saw her 3-year-old cousin Ghislaine Bourdeau... and behind her, only a few feet away, was a truck! Apparently neither the child nor the truck driver noticed the danger.

2. Many a hardy adult would have been rooted to the spot in horror. But not Pauline Bourdeau. The 12-year-old girl acted with amazing presence of mind. In what several witnesses described as practically a split second she had dashed out in the street... and, throwing herself in front of the truck, grabbed her little cousin Ghislaine and pulled her safely to the sidewalk.

3. Although she had acted with almost unbelievable coolness and speed, the young Academie Martin schoolgirl was so shaken by the incident that it took her several days to recover from the shock. For her deed of great courage we are proud to add the name of Pauline Bourdeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bourdeau, 102 - 1st Ave., to the list of those who have won The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

Garden Party At Cookshire Was A Success

Cookshire, Sept. 7 — The Friendly Group of the Trinity United Church, sponsored a Garden Party, which was held on Mr. J. L. Wooten's lawn.

The beautiful grounds formed an ideal setting for the tea tables. The main table, covered with a lace cloth, had a centre piece of California poppies and a large basket of white gladioli, formed the background.

Tea was poured by Miss C. E. Nelson, Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Mrs. J. E. Drennen and Mrs. J. L. Wooten.

The guests were greeted by the president, Mrs. W. W. Roberts, who took this opportunity of introducing Mrs. Jones, who, with her husband, Rev. P. W. E. Jones, have recently arrived from England to take charge of the local United Church.

The proceeds from the tea and sale table were most gratifying.

Weatherman Helps League-Leading Cleveland Indians; Yankees And Boston Have Several Doubleheaders

The weatherman appears to have ranged himself alongside the front-running Cleveland Indians in their three-team fight for the American League pennant.

Rain, washing out yesterday's doubleheader between New York and Boston, forced rescheduling of the Yankee-Red Sox games for the final, vital days of the flag race and placed a heavy burden on New York and Boston.

Scheduled games between the Dodgers and Phillies, Giants and Braves, and Senators and Athletics also were rained out. The Indians and St. Louis Browns had an off day.

The Yankee-Red Sox games had to be fitted into the schedule as parts of doubleheaders Sept. 28 and Sept. 29. The season ends with a single game Sept. 30. No other dates were available.

This means the Yankees and Red Sox will clash five times in the last three days. Meantime, the tribe figures to have a breather.

Whereas Boston must cram 11 games into the final 10 days, and New York nine, Cleveland plays only six.

The scheduling of those double-

Top U. S. Golfers Meet Canadians Today; Don Doe Plays H. D. Paddock

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 7.—(P)—The top amateur golfers from the United States and Canada meet today in an informal team match styled after the U.S.-British Walker cup competition.

It's strictly for fun—with no international trophy involved. But the Walker cup system of scoring will be used. And the Canadians hope this informal match will be the start of real competition, annually, between the best golfers of the two countries.

The match tomorrow will serve as a preliminary to the 51st amateur championship of the United States Golf Association which opens a week of play next Monday on the trap-guarded Saucon Valley Country Club course here.

Each side will be represented by nine players. The schedule provides for four foursome matches in the morning and eight singles in the afternoon—all at 18 holes.

Sam Urzetta, of Rochester, N.Y., 1950 United States Golf Association amateur champion, teams with Harold D. Paddock, Cleveland, in the last morning foursome. They play Don Doe of Granby, Que., and Laurie Roland, Vancouver, in the singles. Urzetta faces Walter McElroy, Vancouver.

Besides Urzetta and Paddock the U.S. team is composed of Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O.; William C. Campbell, Huntington, W.Va.; Charles Coe, Oklahoma City, Okla.; James B. McHale, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; Richard D. Chapman, Pinhurst, N.C.; Robert W. Knowles, Boston, and Willie Turnesa. Only Turnesa will not play. No reason was given.

Five O'Clock Club To Hold Meeting

The LaSalle Five O'Clock Club will hold their annual meeting in the Record Office next Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Plans for the dark season will be discussed and officers will be elected. A large turnout of members is expected.

E.T. Junior Golf Tourney Saturday

This Saturday the annual East Townships Junior Golf Tournament will be held in Cowansville.

The top juniors in the district will be seeking the laurels and some keen competition is expected.

Rough Riders To Play Alouettes Twice

Ottawa Rough Riders, who made a thin showing last week-end against Toronto Argos, will have a chance to add feathers to their caps this week-end.

They are set for two contests with powerful Montreal Alouettes, in Ottawa Saturday and in Montreal Sunday. The "gentle Alouettes" are considered a slick lot this year—even if they did take a 37-6 clanging from Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the opening game of the big four football contests.

Wes Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Ottawa club, said last night that his club had picked up waivers on the Tiger-Cats' Stan Wolkowski, released this week by Hamilton.

For a few hours, the Riders also had another quarterback.

They picked up Stan Heath from the Tiger-Cats, also on waivers, but renounced their claim when they discovered Hamilton Coach Carl Voyles had inadvertently promised him to Calgary Stampeders first.

Heath, recovering from a pre-season injury, will fill in for injured Keith Spait with the Stampeders.

The bullet-passing youngster from Toledo, O., pitched Hamilton into first place in the big four last season.

In Wolkowski, the Riders got Heath's understudy last season and a handyman who can fill in at other backfield posts and in any end spot.

In the other eastern game, Toronto Argonauts will have another go at the Cats—this time on the Argos' home field, last week-end in Hamilton they took a 27-6 beating from the Felines, now in first place in big four standing.

All three major western teams are set to play two games from Saturday to Monday. Saskatchewan Roughriders will play the Stampeders at Calgary Saturday and Winnipeg Blue Bombers will play Edmonton Eskimos at Edmonton.

On Monday night, the Blue Bombers will play the Stampeders at Calgary and the Roughriders face the Eskimos at Edmonton.

The Eskimos and the Blue Bombers showed up well last week-end. The Edmonton squad knocked down the Stampeders in two games and the Bombers edged out the Roughriders.

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, the highly-rated Sarnia Imperials will take on Windsor Royals Saturday at Windsor. The Royals lost last Saturday to Toronto Balmy Beaches and the Beaches lost Monday to the Imperials.

Max Manning Expected To Toss For A's Against Jean-Pierre Roy; First Tilt Of Best-Of-Seven Starts At 9

Sherbrooke Athletics Provincial League pennant winners will start out tonight in quest of another title—playoff champions.

The locals play Drummondville Cubs tonight at the Park Avenue Stadium in the opener of a best-of-seven series. The game gets underway at 9 p.m.

Should tonight's game be cancelled due to rain the two teams will play here tomorrow evening. The game is played to Drummondville tomorrow evening and the third game of the series will be played here Sunday afternoon.

Sunday afternoon will be a big day at the local ball park. In addition to the play-off game the matting will raffle $1,000 in appreciation for the 100,000 attendance objective which was reached.

There will be seven prizes. The first $500; the second $200; the third $100; the fourth $100, the fifth $50; the sixth $25, and the seventh $25. In order to be a winner, the lucky ticket holder must be present at the game. The tickets will be drawn until the winner has claimed his prize.

Max Manning, who recently joined the local squad, is expected to toe the mound tonight for the A's. Jean-Pierre Roy will start for the Cubs. Manning has a 2-0 record while Roy has 18-14.

In the other semi-final Quebec Braves play the Red Sox in Granby.

Special Buses

This evening there will be special buses leaving the corner of King and Wellington at 10 o'clock to give those who had to work an opportunity of seeing part of the ball game. The transportation will be free.

Knot-hole buttons and tickets from booklets of "10" will no longer be good for the play-offs.

Tonight's game at the Park Avenue Stadium should be a thriller. There has been quite a feud between the rival business managers over the date for the play-offs and playing manager Roland Gladu who would sure like to take those Cub four straight.

A large number is expected to be on hand this evening.

Sherbrooke Saints Sign Bob Pepin

Sherbrooke Saints of the Quebec Senior Hockey League signed a fifth player today.

Business manager Forest Keene announced today that Bob Pepin, who played for the Saints last year, had signed.

The locals have already signed Pepin's brother, Rene, who played for the Three River Reds in the Junior "A" loop; goalie Roger Bessette, defenseman Gerry McCabe, of Glace Bay Miners and Nils Tremblay, former Ottawa Senator forward.

Dominion Textile Reach Finals

Dominion Textile entered the finals of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League play-offs by defeating Bruck Mills 13-6 in the second game of their two out of three at Dufresne Park on Wednesday night.

The Bruck men got off to a quick start, getting six runs in the first three innings to the Textile's one. Paquin hit a home run for Bruck in the first stanza. Two hits and then a grand slam homer by Rene Pepin in the fifth inning, brought Textile right back into the game.

This was enough for Marier, the Bruck hurler, who was replaced by Bourrelle, but the Textile batters greeted him with a barrage of hits, when they added five more runs, Boulanger and Chateaux getting home runs in this inning. Bruck was held off the score sheet for the remaining innings. Rene Pepin, who had replaced Gagne on the mound for Textile, only allowed the Bruck men two hits in the four innings he worked.

The game was a fairly close one despite the score, both teams being strong on the offensive. The two very costly errors by Paquin, the Bruck shortstop, did not help the Millon's cause. Bruck went down fighting, and heartily congratulated their victors at the end of the game.

Textile now meet Rubins in the final, a three out of five affair, starting next Monday evening at Dufresne Park at 7 p.m.

Detroit Red Wings Start Training

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 7.—(P)—Detroit Red Wings, champions of the National Hockey League, opened their fall training camp at Pullar Stadium here today and manager Jack Adams said a "lot of spots" on the team were wide open.

Seventy-five hockey hopefuls took to the ice seeking berths with the Red Wings, with Indianapolis Capitols of the American Hockey League, with Edmonton Flyers of the Pacific Coast Hockey League and with Windsor Spitfires of the Ontario Hockey League junior "A" circuit.

Jockey Kane Held On Narcotics Charge

Baltimore, Sept. 7.—(P)—Jockey Thomas Kane, of Baltimore, was indicted by a grand jury yesterday on a charge of possessing heroin and marijuana.

Some of them are accused of supplying "teen-age girls and boys with narcotics."

Jack Stewart Signs With Blackhawks

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(P)—Jack Stewart, star defence player whose hockey career was believed ended last December when a disc was removed from his spine, today signed a 1951 contract with Chicago Blackhawks.

Stewart, 34, a 12-year veteran of the National Hockey League, was reported in top shape by a Blackhawks physician who termed his recovery "most remarkable."

After medical examination following a serious back injury in an N.H.L. game, it was reported Stewart would never play again.

Stewart said he got his back strengthened by hard work on his wheat farm in Manitoba.

World Series To N.B.C. For 4 Years

New York, Sept. 7.—(P)—Television broadcasts of the world series were assigned yesterday to NBC for the next four years.

NBC president Joseph H. McConnell said this year's telecasts of the baseball classic—first to go coast-to-coast—would be over a network covering areas with 85,000,000 of the country's population.

Television and radio rights to the series are held by the Gillette Safety Razor Co. Radio broadcasts will be over the Mutual Broadcasting System network.

Jack West, Hunted, Gives Himself Up

New York, Sept. 7.—(P)—Jack (Zip) West, 40, accused as a fixer in college basketball scandal, gave himself up yesterday because "I'm tired of living like a hunted animal."

He was held in $50,000 bail, charged with bribery and conspiracy. West pleaded innocent.

A country-wide manhunt had been on for him since he was indicted in July. He was charged with offering a $10,000 bribe to Gene Melchiorre, Bradley University's All-American, to throw a 1950 championship basketball game with City College of New York. Melchiorre said he turned down the bribe.

Norman Poile Signs To Coach Glace Bay

Glac Bay, N.S., Sept. 7.—(P)—Norman (Bud) Poile, 27-year-old native of Fort William, Ont., today signed as playing coach of Glace Bay Miners of the Maritime Major Hockey League.

Poile, a veteran with five of six N.H.L. teams, was playing coach last year with Tulsa Oilers of the now-defunct United States Hockey League.

Poile reported from his Toronto home today he had six players ready to sign with Miners.

Jockey Bright Is Suspended For Life

Toronto, Sept. 7.—(P)—Jockey Charlie Bright of Muncie, Ind., yesterday was ruled out of Ontario racetracks for life for accepting bribes in connection with the fixing of races at Fort Erie, Ont., in July.

The Ontario Racing Commission, which issued the suspension, notified Bright that his case would be considered Thursday. However, Bright did not appear at the hearing.

Bright drew suspension last year for unsatisfactory riding during the Thorncliffe meet here.

Prize Winning Riflemen

Bisons Bow 4-3 To Springfield Cubs

Tom Simpson, righthander of Buffalo Bisons, hasn't enjoyed much success since he pitched a no-hit no-run game against Toronto late in July.

Since his no-hitter Simpson has won only two games while dropping five. The former relief specialist suffered his fifth setback in his last six decisions last night as the Bisons bowed 4-3 to Springfield Cubs.

Jack Wallaesa was the chief thorn in Simpson's side. Wallaesa drove in three runs on three hits including a double and home run. Wallaesa cracked his homer in the sixth inning to break a 3-2 tie. Bill Padgett scattered nine hits to post his 16th victory.

Syracuse Chiefs turned back Baltimore Orioles, 5-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Art Hartley in the only other game.

World Series Will Open In A.L. Park

Prices of tickets will be the same as last year—$8 for box seats, $6 for reserved seats, $4 for standing room, and $1 for bleacher seats.

Arrangements for the series were completed yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the pennant contenders. These are the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants in the National League, and Cleveland, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox in the American League.

The Chicago White Sox were invited but did not send a representative.

The first two games of the series will be played in the American League park, followed by

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON

Grossinger, N.Y., Sept. 7.—(P)—If there's any truth in the popular rumor that Randy Turpin has been shaking in secret workouts on his "off" days, he should be the best-prepared boxer who ever fought for the middleweight title.

Randy denies the yarn but some folks who have found it hard to penetrate the protective barrier Turpin's managers set up on his rest days figure he must be getting in a few licks. Maybe that's because some of his public workouts for his Sept. 12 New York date with Sugar Ray Robinson have looked more like playful sparring sessions.

At least it isn't like the "secret" drills that Tex Rickard once ordered for Georges Carpentier so the fans wouldn't see that the Frenchman would be an easy victim of Jack Dempsey. So far Turpin has boxed 48 rounds in public in the two weeks he has been here. He had an 11-round session Wednesday and promises to make it 15 either today or Sunday.

After that, he says, "I'll just spar around a little with the boys to stay loosened up."

No Fight Plans

Turpin and his board of strategy also insist they haven't a plan for fighting Robinson. He's just training for another fight, in spite of the awesome reputation Sugar Ray carried before Randy jarred it loose in July in London.

Turpin does things that look as if they'd get him into trouble. Such as backing into the ropes and then lashing out with a right-hand lead when a cautious boxer would be covering up.

But Jackie Keough, who fought Turpin in England and who is sparring with him here, exclaims: "He didn't seem to do too well when I had him backing up—but he just hit me once and I couldn't move my legs. Randy really can punch."

three in the National League park, and the final two, if necessary, in the American League park.

In the event of a playoff, however, the start of the series could be delayed.

36 Rounds Of Boxing Here Sunday Evening

For his final card of the season, Promoter Eddy Bolduc will present 36 rounds of boxing at the Sherbrooke Arena, Sunday night, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

In the feature event, Bernie Sergerie, 126-pound contender from Montreal, will do battle against Clement Bolduc, of Sherbrooke, in an eight rounder.

The semi-final bout brings together Bob Smith, of Drummondville and Reg Lacroix, 157 lbs., of Sherbrooke, who will be defending his E.T. middleweight crown. The fight is scheduled for eight rounds.

Mickey Parenteau, 130 lbs. of Drummondville, will fight Jack Lefevre, 135 lbs., of Sherbrooke, in a six-round preliminary.

Other preliminary scraps are between Siouz Cadorette, 145 lbs. o f Magog, and Marcel Piau, 148-pound scrapper from Windsor Mills, in five rounds, Butch Bousquet, 148, Magog, against Burke Emery, 150, of Sherbrooke, in five rounds; and Jerry Potvin, 120, of Magog vs. Kid Tanguay, 122 lbs., of Sherbrooke, four rounds.

Baseball Commissioner Candidates Named

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(P)—The possibility that major league club owners will select a man from baseball's rank as commissioner was indicated yesterday by owner P. K. Wrigley of Chicago Cubs.

The successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler, ousted as commissioner by club owners earlier this year, will be named at a meeting here Sept. 20.

Wrigley said in an interview he would back a baseball man as candidate for commissioner and that he believed other owners' sentiment generally was the same. A 12 to 4 majority is necessary to elect a commissioner.

It was believed a slate of "baseball" candidates would be limited to three men—Ford Frick, president of the National League; Warren Giles, president of Cincinnati Reds; and George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Harwood Trophy Race, Sept. 9

New York, Sept. 7.—(P)—George Fulford of Brockville, Ont., has joined three other Canadian motorboat-racing drivers challenging for the Harwood Trophy Race around Manhattan Island Sept. 9, Lou Eppel, President of the American Inboard Association, announced today.

Fulford will race his 135-cubic inch hydroplane Simba. He will replace Jack Langmuir, also of Brockville, who is unable to make the trip to New York.

Fulford will travel to New York under the banner of the Canadian Boating Federation with Art Hatch of Hamilton, George Reynolds, of Brockville, and Bernard Daost of Lachine, Que.
