QUEBEC IN FOCUS

Loubier calls CNTU bluff

QUEBEC (CP) — Gabriel Loubier, Quebec minister of tourism, fish and game, has invited the Confederation of National Trade Unions to examine his files on the closing of private hunting and fishing clubs in northern Quebec.

He made the announcement in the national assembly Tuesday after Gilles Houde (L-Fabre) asked whether the government planned any response to the demand by CNTU president Marcel Pepin for a public inquiry into the clubs.

The trade union earlier charged Mr. Loubier with having "resuscitated" 300 of the 522 clubs due to pressures from "rich businessmen" and "political organizers."

The clubs were disbanded between 1966 and 1967.

Raps separatist negativity

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — Georges H. Mercier, general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, Tuesday attacked what he called the negative attitude of separatists and urged Quebecers not to abandon Canada.

He told the Saguenay section of the Canada Committee and the local Professional Women's Association that French-Canadians have a large stake in Canada, a country largely explored by their ancestors.

Mr. Mercier is co-president of the finance section of the Canada Committee, an organization promoting Canadian unity.

Confederation has given Quebec its high standard of living and prevented it being swallowed up by the American melting pot, said Mr. Mercier, and, while not perfect, provides the province with its best opportunities for progress.

Mr. Mercier said those who mistrust English-speaking persons and urge Quebecers not to learn English are making a mistake in a world where all nationalities are equally endowed with good and bad features and where English is the international language of business and science.

Cops clean in booze snafu

QUEBEC (CP) — Justice Minister Remi Paul said Tuesday a police commission report indicates that the suburban Vanier police force cannot be reproached for its behavior in seizing more than $100,000 worth of liquor during a strike of Quebec Liquor Board employees in 1968.

The report, tabled in the national assembly by Mr. Paul, says there were no irregularities by police in the seizure of 9,500 bottles of liquor near a Vanier warehouse Nov. 9, 1968.

The seizure, the largest since the strike by 3,000 liquor board employees began June 26, 1968, created an uproar in the national assembly when a governing Union Nationale backbencher was linked with the seizure.

Police at that time said 200 cases had been transferred to a truck which was headed for Sherbrooke, Que., and 100 cases transferred to a truck destined for Trois-Rivieres, Que.

They said the seized liquor bore the QLB code for the Quebec region, but was in effect headed for New Brunswick.

Police seized the van and transported the liquor to a QLB warehouse.

Loyola formula worked out

MONTREAL (CP) — A McGill University law professor, appointed by the Quebec government to arbitrate a teacher-administration conflict over proposed staff cutbacks at Loyola College, recommended Tuesday 22 of 29 affected professors be retained.

Proposals and suggestions contained in Prof. Perry Meyer's 89-page report, six weeks in the drafting, are binding on all sides.

In his summary, Prof. Meyer said he believes he has found "a formula which will enable us to defer the non-renewal of these contracts for at least one year, in order to permit time for further discussions and recommendations."

Brian Mulrone, a lawyer representing 25 of 28 teachers who filed appeals against dismissal, said he was "delighted" with the report.

No verdict in computer trial

By CLAUDE ADAMS

MONTREAL (CP) — No verdict was reached Tuesday on the first of five conspiracy charges against 10 West Indians on trial in connection with the $1,600,000 computer centre destruction at Sir George Williams University last year.

The 11 white male jurors deliberated 4½ hours before notifying Mr. Justice Kenneth Mackay of Court of Queen's Bench that it was unlikely they would reach a verdict Tuesday.

It was their first day of deliberation. They are considering the charge of conspiracy to destroy two computers at Sir George Williams after a two-week student occupation there Feb. 11, 1969.

Maximum sentence for conspiracy to destroy private property is five years.

Mr. Justice Mackay was informed of the jury's decision at 4:30 p.m. He then adjourned the trial until 11 a.m. today.

50 KEPT WAITING

More than 50 persons, most of them young Negroes, waited outside the courtroom the entire afternoon, huddled in conversation and sitting on the wide marble stairways.

The jury was locked up Monday night following a six-hour closing address by the presiding judge.

They began deliberations at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday and their closed-door session was interrupted Tuesday.

LAST FLING?? — In 10 days it will be spring. Or at least that's what the calendar says. But the calendar doesn't take into account some of the idiosyncracies of Eastern Townships weather, which adheres more to the old saw which has it that March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb. Some of the sub-zero temperatures lately coupled with last night's gentle snowfall attest to this, but while waiting for the lion to become the lamb we can still enjoy the visual beauty of winter while it lasts. This is best seen in places like Huntingville where the old covered bridge, caught in the early light of morning preserves a quiet beauty all its own during wintertime.

May be police complicity in bank robbery wave

SUTTON — Four men were arrested yesterday in connection with Monday's $4,300 robbery here amid rumors of a scandal within the ranks of the Quebec Provincial Police.

Police declined to reveal the names of the four who were picked up along with the money from the Banque Canadienne robbery and a cache of arms. The arrest was made on the nearby Eastern Townships Autoroute.

Meanwhile, a Montreal English-language daily reported that it has learned from a reliable source that a 21-year-old constable with the Cowansville detachment has been placed under arrest for aiding and abetting bank robberies.

He is believed to be implicated in a wave of recent robberies which has seen at least five banks in the Cowansville area held up by masked gunmen.

Police were caught flat-footed, as it were, in Monday's robbery. A squad of officers had been keeping a constant vigil on the Sutton bank for some two weeks now in the hope that the gang would walk into their trap.

Monday morning they pulled out of the stakeout. A few hours later the bandits, armed with a revolver, a shotgun and a machine gun, entered the bank, grabbed the money and escaped in a blue 1967 Oldsmobile.

May be same gang
There was speculation that the robbery was committed by the same gang which robbed the Bank of Montreal in Knowlton Feb. 23.

The Knowlton robbery was climaxed by a wild west-style shootout between the bandits and the local police force before the armed trio escaped.

No one was injured in the gun battle, but several windows and cars were damaged and one of the policemen had bullet holes in his uniform.

Withold confirmation

A QPP spokesman told the Record Monday "it sounds like the same gang, but I can't confirm that."

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government Tuesday tabled its legislation to establish a public medical care insurance program in the province by July 1.

The bill, entitled the Health Insurance Act, was given first reading in the national assembly of Quebec and will be studied in detail later.

As announced in the last budget, the financing of the plan will be ensured by contributions of individuals and employers.

The ceiling for contributions by individuals is $125 a year.

Contributions will be collected by the revenue department as follows:

—Each married taxpayer whose net income exceeds $4,000 and each single taxpayer whose net income exceeds $2,000 will contribute 0.8 per cent of net income.

—Employers will also contribute 0.8 per cent of their payroll.

RENEW FISCAL DEMAND

At the same time the legislation was made public, Quebec renewed its demand for $200,000,000 collected by the federal government under its social development tax.

Quebec argues that the tax, imposed Jan. 1, 1969, is intended to finance participation of the federal government in medical care.

Made public in the assembly Tuesday was a letter sent to Edgar Benson, the federal finance minister, by Mario Beaulieu, the Quebec finance minister.

Mr. Beaulieu said he hasn't received an answer from Mr. Benson.

The Quebec minister said: "This sum should be returned to Quebec taxpayers, if you don't want to return it to the government of Quebec."

Mr. Beaulieu said he would not fear taking "any measures, fiscal or others, so that Quebec can continue to develop." He did not elaborate.

The medical care bill was introduced by Health Minister Jean-Paul Cloutier, who read the explanatory notes accompanying the legislation.

The explanatory notes say private health insurance plans "will lapse to the extent that they insure the same services as the Quebec plan."

New budget expected to hold price line

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson's budget Thursday night is expected to have a two-pronged thrust against any further rapid rise in consumer prices or in unemployment.

Fresh statistics on both subjects are expected to be released after the budget.

The consumer price index, based on 1961 prices equalling 100, rose three-tenths of a point to 128.2 in January and was 4.6 per cent higher than in January last year.

The February index to be released late Friday, will probably show a further increase for the month. But the critical question is whether it will show any increased rate of climb over a year ago.

Since 1965 the winter months have shown consumer price increases of from one to two points in the period from about mid-November to mid-February.

Unemployment in January, amounting to 6.1 per cent of the labor force, was the highest since February and March, 1968, but still far short of the 10 and 11 per cent rates that prevailed in 1961. That year was one of remarkable price stability and now is the basis for the consumer price index.

YEAREND RISE BIGGEST

The record of the last 10 years shows unemployment has risen sharply between December and January, and more moderately between January and February in eight of the 10 years.

Mr. Benson dealt with employment, prices, productivity and costs at length in the pre-budget white paper he tabled in the Commons Feb. 27.

It is expected his speech

Mail still stable

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's postal services were operating at what postal officials said was a nearly normal pace Tuesday for the second day in a row after being hampered for more than a month by a series of labor disputes.

A post office spokesman said the only delays encountered Tuesday were due to the backlog of letters and parcels and vandalism against post office property.

He said the most recent incidents of vandalism occurred Monday night when some trucks were damaged and postal relay boxes tampered with.

The post office repaired about 100 relay boxes which were jammed with paper, glue, fast-drying cement and other objects Monday night. About 175 of the green relay boxes were still awaiting repairs.

The spokesman said 13 panel trucks belonging to G. Lapalme Inc., which holds an exclusive contract for trucking local mail, were damaged Monday night when their windshields were smashed and tires slashed in the company's parking lot.

The 425 drivers for Lapalme had been staging rotating strikes since Feb. 3 in protest of layoffs expected at the end of the month when the company is turned over to five other companies.

The drivers returned to work Monday after learning the federal department of labor would assist in settling the dispute.

Post office and labor department officials are scheduled to meet union representatives here Thursday.

The backlog of mail is expected to be cleared up in the next three days, the spokesman said, but the approximately 100,000 parcels still awaiting delivery present more of a problem.

Angry citizens demand answers East Ward renewal battle flares

By RICHARD SPALDING

"To help the population," he said, "and to get a chance to work with the people in the area."

"You are all my boss," he said, inspecting the frowning audience, "and I am here tonight to hear what you have to say about the matter."

Mr. Lamoureux said there had been widespread confusion about newspaper articles last week stating some residents of the St. Francis district would be separated from their homes and housed elsewhere in the city.

City alderman Hilaire Beliveau, chairman of the Urban Renewal Committee, told the audience to look into the issue with calmness and restrain from unfounded criticism.

"After all," Mr. Beliveau added, "it's up to you to accept it or refuse it."

WHY US

Asked to explain the origin of the urban renewal program, Mr. Beliveau said it was partially due to the formation of the Quebec Housing Corporation.

"We have a chance to renew part of the city," he continued, "the money is available and we have the engineering and urban resources made available by top government experts."

Focusing in on the St. Francis district to ease the turmoil in the smoked-filled hall, he said city council had decided it would be better to start the project right in their own back yard.

"Yes, but why the St. Francis district?" shouted someone in the audience.

In an unflinching tone, Mr. Beliveau said the sewage and water pipes in the district were century old, traffic was obsolete, and council feared for the safety and health of some residents who are living in unsavory conditions.

In an attempt to reason out recent frustrations, Mr. Beliveau said reluctance in the area arose from sentimental reasoning.

"Thirty per cent of the houses will be demolished," he said, "and houses with a 20-year-life expectancy will be renovated."

"It's not a question of moving to another ward."

He added the renewal project would start around the Domremy Alcoholic treatment centre. The most resolute argument to oppose the urban renewal plan was the fear of property owners that they would not be given a fair price for the sale of their properties to the city.

Pulp and paper industry faces contract bargaining

MONTREAL (CP) — The pulp and paper industry was told Tuesday that it faces the hardest labor contract bargaining in its history.

C. R. Day, manager of the industrial relations section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said contract negotiations under way will be lengthy and will "create frustration and possible disruption."

Addressing the annual meeting of the association's woodlands section, Mr. Day said wage demands are at an all-time high despite requests for voluntary restraints during the current inflationary period.

"In British Columbia, the International Woodworkers of America have asked for a wage increase of $1 an hour for one year. On top of this they have also requested a $1 adjustment to trades."

The unions in Ontario and Quebec have released wage demand increases of 50 cents an hour for the first year and a 15-per-cent increase in the second year of a two-year contract.

Current wage rates in Ontario and Quebec average between $3.60 and $3.80 an hour.

SEES SIMILAR PATTERN

Two mills already in conciliation have been faced with requests for 25 per cent and 12 per cent in one-year contracts, he said.

"There is no doubt that in the woodlands negotiations this year in Quebec and Ontario, you will be faced with similar requests."

He said craft unions in Ontario are trying to outdo the large trade unions while in Quebec the Confederation of National Trade Unions and the international unions are raising one another. A similar union raiding situation exists in British Columbia.

David J. Stewart of the Ottawa division of Consolidated

Bathurst Ltd., told the 1,000 delegates from Canada, the United States and elsewhere the only logical long-range plan to implement multiple use of forests is through a modified integration of the forest users—the industry and recreationists.

He used Ontario's Algonquin Provincial Park as an illustration, and said restrictions currently enforced in the park are not truly conducive to multiple use.

The park has been a productive forest for more than 150 years and has been cut over several times, Mr. Stewart said. But some restrictions, such as the ban on crossing any canoe route, eventually stopped the logical sequence of business operations.

"Industry will gain much in its position in the multiple-use concept... by giving consideration to the aesthetics of building bridges and roads."

At the same time, the forest industry must improve its public image and explain the economic and forest management benefits which it provides.

HERE & THERE

TORONTO — Mrs. A. R. Virgin, of North Hatley, Quebec, the owner of Clematis Farm has once again won the Constructive Breeder Award of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club on the high production and type of her herd.

In qualifying for this Award, 26 cows in the herd had an average classification of 88.74 per cent and 24 tested cows had an average production of 9,112 lbs. milk, 517 lbs. butterfat with a 5.67 per cent test. (BCA 120-126).

During this period, the bull, Clematis Royal John, classified Excellent, became a New Superior Sire on the high production and classification of his daughters, 5 years and over.

Waterloo forging ahead School project producing results

By BERNICE CHAMPAGNE

WATERLOO — Waterloo Elementary School has been buzzing with activity of late, with various projects in the language arts and science programs, and visits from 300 students and teachers from other schools to see the projects.

Another innovation at the school is a special geography class where students from grades five and six study geography in French under Mme Yvette Dion.

Mme Dion took the class to St. Bernadin School in Waterloo to introduce them to a French school and French-speaking students and to give her students an opportunity of using the language in an active situation.

When St. Bernadin made a return visit the children were again able to use the French language to explain their projects and to converse with their visitors.

In the near future, sports events will be scheduled between the two schools to further promote the learning of second languages.

John Wilson's five-six level class has been studying communications and actually wired three classrooms with a telephone system.

Other Members of the class constructed small electric computers which are capable of indicating whether your answers to various questions are correct or not.

Murray Gunson's six level class also had a very interesting four-part project which related to language development as well as science. In the rear of the large classroom is a project consisting of four cubicles which contain creatures and experiments under the headings of weather, mammals, fish, and poultry.

Each group has done well in displaying the topics, and in showing and explaining them to 160 students from Cowansville

Elementary School and on Parents' Night.

Members of the projects are: Weather, Karen Haydock, Karen Jungermann, Sharon Grubb, Linda Bec and Cindy Romaniuk; Mammals, Keith Page, Wayne Grubb, Fletcher Juby, Thelma Picken and Joanne Arnott; Fish, Barbara Haley, Connie Peacock, Ritchie Bowker, Peter Carter, Charles Barbeau, Gary Wheeler, Randy Williams and Jefferson Picard; Poultry, Bobby Viger, Carol Hollenbeck, Nancy Benoit, Robert Bessette and Esther Walsh.

The projects, carried out with the help of Mr. Gunson and principal Vance Patterson, have proved to be of great interest to all five and six level students and to educators throughout the District of Bedford.

At present Mr. Gunson's class is preparing to launch another project on pollution of which you will hear more in the near future.

Committee likes Canada Day

OTTAWA (CP) — A private member's bill to change the name Dominion Day to Canada Day met with general approval at the Commons justice committee Tuesday although no vote could be taken on it because of lack of a quorum.

The bill's sponsor, James Brown (L.—Brant), noted that the original draft of the bill, which has received second reading in the Commons, stipulated that the first Monday of each July would be observed as a legal holiday commemorating Confederation.

But he said that in discussing this question with several MPs, he has found a general desire to celebrate the holiday July 1. He therefore moved an amendment to that effect.

Committee members unanimously supported the proposed name change and all but two MPs also favored celebrating the holiday July 1.

Government plans to push mining careers in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — Two Quebec government ministers Tuesday jointly announced a publicity campaign to urge Quebec students to prepare for mining careers.

But their news conference was undermined by a critic who said mining instruction is so inadequate in his region Quebecers go to Ontario to get an education.

Resources Minister Paul Allard said an information campaign will be conducted in 55 regional high schools to inform students about career opportunities in the province's mines.

Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal said a mining course would be offered at a third junior college this fall, at Gaspé. The course is already offered at Thetford Mines and Rouyn.

CRITICAL OF PLAN

One of the people invited to the news conference to admire what Mr. Allard described as "a work of government co-operation" spoke up.

Luc Bergeron, director of student services at a regional high school in the Rouyn district, said the mining course offered by the junior college at Rouyn is inadequate.

"The students know very well that there is neither the teachers nor the equipment to receive an adequate course in the mining option."

He said Quebec students interested in mining go to Kirkland Lake or New Liskeard in Ontario to study, with the result that they are educated in English.

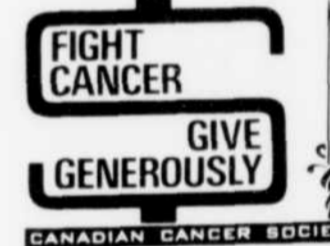

The education minister admitted that much remained to be done, largely because this was a domain where "Quebec was not in the forefront."

Mr. Cardinal said the government had decided to establish more than 30 junior colleges first and would get around to equipping them adequately second.

Stocks pressure under

TORONTO (CP) — Oil stocks on the Toronto Stock Exchange came under pressure Tuesday following reports that President Nixon ordered a cut back in oil imports from Canada.

The western oil index, the main indicator of price movement of oil stocks listed on the exchange, dropped 2.76 points to 190.15 after touching a 1970 low of 188.29.

Pipeline and oil refining stocks were slightly lower.

Observers said that while the new daily limit of 395,000 barrels a day was in theory an increase from the previous limit of 332,000 barrels a day, in practice it represented a decrease over import levels of the recent past.

Prices on the over-all market were mixed in light trading. Industrials were moderately higher but golds and base metals declined.

Issues that declined in price outnumbered those that advanced 298 to 171.

A whimper, not a bang

Discretion in the prosecution of the law often can have a subtle effect.

A case in point is the trial of alleged terrorists. The five-month trial of the "Chicago Seven" for conspiracy during the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago had the important effect of stimulating the extreme radical elements of the United States and the stiff contempt sentences passed by the presiding judge have martyred the seven and their lawyers.

In a Montreal case, the Crown Prosecutor on the other hand failed to present a strong case against the unilingualist leader, Raymond Lemieux, who was charged among other things with excitement to riot. As a result the charge was dismissed by the judge.

The charges against Lemieux arose out of his leadership of the fiery demonstration in St. Leonard last fall during the height of the school language controversy which focussed on that Montreal area community.

Had the Crown Prosecutor chosen to pursue the case to its fullest he could undoubtedly have presented a well-documented case against Lemieux. Instead a poor case was presented and it was thrown out by the judge.

Lemieux was denied the opportunity for martyrdom at the hands of the provincial government and; therefore, to some degree, negated.

Despite any criticism that may be forthcoming of going easy on criminals, it would seem that the wisest course was followed in the Lemieux case with the end result a whimper more than the bang which was heard in Chicago with reverberations in three other United States centres.

Nor, would it appear, is the trouble over in the United States.

All-purpose cleanser

Detergents, which were once indicted for causing unsightly foaming in sewage plant discharges until manufacturers eliminated the problem, are now blamed for another kind of pollution.

It is claimed that the phosphates in most detergents are responsible for the runaway growth of algae, thus contributing to the rapid aging of the continent's rivers and lakes.

But there is good news. Researchers at Marquette University Milwaukee may have come up with the "latest washday miracle cleaner," that has none of those undesired side effects.

In a series of tests, one batch of soiled diapers was washed in a well-known commercial detergent containing phosphates.

Another was washed in detergents without phosphates. Finally, a third was washed in a special chemical formula which is neither a detergent nor does it contain phosphates.

The results were rated numerically, the lowest number being the highest score.

In whiteness, none matched never-used diapers, but the load washed with the well-known detergent got a "1".

The special formula followed with a "2" and the phosphate detergent was given a "3".

In dirt removal, all three rated a "1". In stain removal, however, the special formula handily beat the others, winding up with total points of "4" as against "5" for the brand-name detergent and "6" for the phosphate-free detergent.

The special formula: H<sub>2</sub>O — plain water.

THE ART BUCHWALD COLUMN

didn't you report it then?" he inquired.

"Because I didn't know they were stolen. I thought they were at the cleaners." There was a long silence on the other end of the line. Then he said, "Do you want us to find the man who stole your suits?"

"No, not exactly. I don't even want the suits. But I have to report it to the police, or I can't deduct it from my income tax so I can buy new suits."

"Who told you that?"

"My insurance man. You see, he told me not to collect for the suits or they'd cancel my policy, but to report it to you instead."

There was another long pause on the phone. "I see. Well, I'll send a squad car to take the report."

The squad car arrived a few minutes later and two uniformed policemen took down the facts.

They said they would be on the lookout for the suits, which I assured them wasn't necessary. What I didn't realize was that their report would go on a teletype to the offices of the three newspapers in Washington. The three newspapers all thought there was something very funny about me losing my suits, and they reported the theft in their papers including the fact that the police valued the loss at only $25 a suit, which is what they would bring at a hock shop.

Not only did I lose out on my insurance and my income tax deduction but to make matters worse, the reporter from the Washington Post called up columnist Joe Alsop, with whom I had been having a feud, and with whom I had been trying to make up, and said, "What have you done with Buchwald's suits?"

3,000 tons of sewage

NEW YORK—Every day, the Newtown Creek barge sails from Brooklyn with the most offensive cargo in Gotham harbor—100,000 cubic feet of sewage sludge.

The boat's trip is relatively short. Straight out the middle of the New York bight, past a light tower called Ambrose, to a point about 12 miles between Long Island and New Jersey. There the sludge, which is in fact the solid wastes of eight million New Yorkers, is dumped into the silent sea.

This is nothing new. The Newtown Creek and others like it have made the dump haul for three decades, annually scuttling some 500 million gallons of goo—routinely, quietly, almost unnoticed except for the, um, odor.

Recently, though, everybody has taken notice of the Newtown Creek.

Fortnight ago, a federally requested report depicted several square miles of "dead sea," oxygen now scarce in the water of that area, sick lobsters, fish life rapidly dying.

Conservationists, newspapers and politicians have grouped loud demands to move the dumping area or find some other means of sludge disposal entirely.

But the solution just may not be this easy. In fact, according to Maurice Feldman, the city's water resource commissioner: "Very little can be done at all."

To prove his point, Feldman accompanied a newsman on a recent sludge-dumping voyage aboard the Newtown Creek. Explaining his expertise ("35 years experience in the sewage business") and periodically punctuating his remarks with a jab of a filter-tip cigar, Commissioner Feldman thus laid out his case:

"In the first place, I'm not convinced we're doing harm with the sludge dumps. The 'dead sea' report was incomplete and shallow. No one has yet shown me that we are polluting anything. Remember, this is organic matter—we're just putting it back into nature. We test the waters on New York's beaches regularly, and we have no evidence that any biological change is occurring.

"But aside from this, tell me, what else can we do with this sludge? We can't use it for land fill because we've run out of land to fill.

We have tried to turn it into a kind of topsoil—but the process of drying it and adding nutrients is too expensive. And if we burn it, we'll produce smoke—and just add to the city's already intolerable air pollution problem."

So, the commissioner says, it will continue to be dumped.

This continuation has rather noxious omens about it, just from the size of the operation alone. New Yorkers daily produce about 1.3 billion gallons of sewage. And enough sludge is extracted each year—by a dozen purification plants—to build a hundred-foot mountain for 28 blocks along Fifth Avenue. Moreover, in the next few years this amount will increase threefold.

But Feldman and the city have some convincing economic arguments against altering the disposal of even this vast amount of glob. If the city decided to take the sludge farther out to sea—100 miles to the continental shelf—disposal costs would jump an estimated 500 per cent.

And even then, according to Feldman, ecologists would not be satisfied:

"Now, I'm not against ecology. Not really. But too many of them have made an almost religious thing out of environmental control. They have let their emotions get the better of them. They've stopped being scientists and become politicians.

"They seem to be scaring people in order to force acquisition of new research funds. And, in the case of this sludge, for instance, they've put the welfare of some fish above the welfare of eight million people."

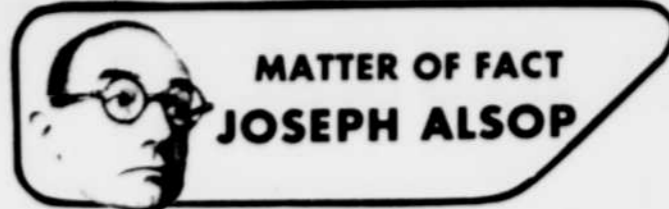

So the Newtown Creek sails on.

Under the Verrazano Bridge, Out the Narrows, Past the Ambrose Light, "We're ready to dump," says Commissioner Feldman, moving to the rail. The ship shudders slightly. Begins a turn. "We're dumping," says the commissioner.

Three thousand tons of slop released in five minutes—the second load for the Newtown Creek today. The 20th load, including other vessels, for the week. From the skyscrapers, the industrial plants, the hospitals of the city.

Says Commissioner Feldman, almost insistently, "See, you don't smell anything, do you? Well, maybe a slight tarry smell. But it's not bad, is it? I mean, there's just a slight tarry smell—right?"

The reporter looks out at the filthy, discolored water. "Sure, sure," he sighs. Then he grabs his nose and walks numbly away.

MATTER OF FACT
JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — The first demonstrations against French President Georges Pompidou caused a sharp word to be sent from the White House to the Israeli Embassy. The word was, in effect, "Call off your demonstrators" — which the Israeli Embassy was of course powerless to do.

Next came the President's last-minute decision, taken only Monday morning, to tear up his schedule and go to New York for the dinner for the French president the same evening. The purpose, obviously, was to show the most marked extra courtesy to Pompidou because the pro-Israel demonstrators had gone on being rude.

All this seems a bit odd, in view of the jackal character of Pompidou's Middle Eastern policy. That policy's practical aim, after all, is to exploit Arab resentment of future U.S. aid to Israel, in order to get existing U.S. oil concessions transferred to new French concessionaires.

All this is far less disturbing than the President's concurrent failure to keep his promise to decide "within 30 days" whether Israel is to get the additional U.S. aircraft which Israel so desperately needs. One hopes the always crafty President is merely trying to obscure a favorable decision to be taken later because of the inevitable reaction of the Arabs. But against the background already sketched in, a decision adverse to Israel is no longer unthinkable.

Indeed the State Department is already passing out word that the Israelis have quite enough Phantoms and Skyhawks to insure air supremacy, as anyone can see. But this is misleading guff.

For the time that matters is more than a year from now — the first moment the Israelis can get their new planes if their request for them is approved. And by then, the need for the planes will be urgent.

The contrast is frightening, in fact, between what is going on here and what is now going on in Cairo and Moscow. In Cairo, to begin with, the senior Soviet official charged with Middle Eastern affairs, V.M. Vinogradov, has been secretly conferring with Gamal Abdel Nasser and other members of the Egyptian government for a matter of days.

In Moscow, meanwhile, a perfect drumfire of the most vicious anti-Israel propaganda has been going on for some time. There is a complacent notion that the Soviet Union really has no thought of destroying Israel. But this was not exactly confirmed by a prominent letter to Pravda from Lt. Gen. David A. Drwgunsky. After much name-calling Gen. Drwgunsky ominously concluded:

"The military dictionary also includes such words as defense, retreat and flight. It might well be that the Israeli army will have to use these words some time."

Any fool knows that if this is ever permitted to happen, the successful Arab armies will put to the sword Israel's whole Jewish population. Yet while the United States waffles and hesitates over planes for Israel, the Soviet Union is doing the very opposite over arms for Nasser.

Unless the Soviets positively enjoy throwing good money after bad, furthermore, the arms program may be only one part of the story. Remember that the Egyptians' Soviet-supplied SAM-2 missiles have been so incredibly mishandled that they have shot down somewhere between six and 10 of the Egyptians' Soviet-supplied MIG-21 aircraft — as against a single Israeli Mirage.

This startling kill-ratio, first reported in this space, rather obviously suggests that Soviet SAM-3 missiles will never be supplied without complete Soviet crews to operate them. Soviet "volunteers," flying air patrol over Cairo, are another possibility to consider.

In short, the great danger now is the thin end of the wedge of direct Soviet participation in the Arab-Israeli war. Already, the distinction is worryingly blurred between the presence in Egypt of Soviet soldiers and officers as advisers, and their presence there as combatants.

In these circumstances, when so much may depend on rocklike American firmness, the line the President is taking is worse than bewildering. But so is the line of a great many people on the left who are still doing all they can to weaken this country's strength and will, on which Israel's survival must ultimately depend.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Obesity Is Serious Health Hazard

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

About 85 per cent of the population of this country is overweight. This is a serious health hazard, since for those who are 15 to 34 per cent overweight there is a 30 per cent increase in the death rate; for those 25 to 34 per cent overweight, a 45 per cent increase; and for those 35 per cent or more overweight, a 60 per cent increase.

Most obese persons have great difficulty maintaining a normal weight. Because the food they eat is burned with greater efficiency than normal, they need less food than the normal person. But because their feeling of hunger is greater, they eat more. In most cases the cause of this is unknown but, in any case, I strongly advise a thorough examination, including tests for glucose tolerance and blood cholesterol.

It is estimated that 50 per cent of all overweight persons are either diabetic or prediabetic. Both conditions will improve with a loss of weight. In general, all overweight persons must eat less and exercise more if they want to lose weight. They should, however, eat a balanced diet of the type they are accustomed to but cut the size of all portions in half, keeping a careful record of all the food they eat.

In addition to this, they should take a four- or five-mile walk every day.

Appetite suppressants are of doubtful value and may lead to a psychologic dependence. Thyroid pills should definitely not be taken. It is true that they speed up the metabolism but they also increase nervous tension. Crash diets are a waste of time because the weight lost is quickly regained. Low-calorie diet foods aren't of much use, either, because, if you are hungry, they will not satisfy your appetite.

A steady loss of about one pound a week is easier to maintain than a more rapid loss and is less likely to spoil your disposition. If at the end of a week of increased exercise and reduced food intake you have not lost weight you should make a further cut in all food portions and increase your daily exercise. If this doesn't work, you are cheating. No farmer was ever mystified regarding why his prize hog gained weight.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Waterloo

Eighteen tables of bridge and 500 card players competed for prizes at the card party on Feb. 28, sponsored by the ladies of St. Luke's A.C.W.

Mrs. Doreen Gibbs was first in 500 and Mrs. Dorothy Mercer first in bridge. Other 500 winners included Gerald Hollenbeck, Mrs. E. McElroy, Mrs. DeSolla, Mrs. Lucie Cote, Mrs. Germaine Robert and Raymond Streeter. O. T. Pickford was the second bridge winner. Many other game prizes were awarded.

Earl McElroy won the door prize, a pair of pillow cases; and Gerald Hollenbeck, the drawing on a mushroom gift pack and salt and pepper shakers.

A work table was also featured with Mrs. Doris Wilson in charge. The next card party will be held on March 21 at 8 p.m.

Stanstead municipal council complimented on snow removal

STANSTEAD — The March 2 meeting of the Stanstead Municipal Council took place in the Court room of the County building. The Mayor, E. J. Struthers and full council were present.

Edward Hyatt, a former councillor was also present. He complimented the Council on the excellent manner the streets and sidewalks have been kept clear of snow this winter. He further spoke, for a delegation, to make another request to the Bell Telephone Company to have the Border area of the Province on the same exchange as Sherbrooke, Magog and Coaticook. The council agreed to act on this request.

The Council passed a resolution to support the local Chamber of Commerce resolution to have a liquor store in Rock Island.

A table of office hours for the secretary-treasurer's office was under study. However, as she is away for three weeks, the matter was deferred until the April meeting as some changes were suggested.

The chairman of the Roads committee, Donald Prangley, noted that damage, including broken windows and a door on the Richard Wallace property on Maple street was done by a snow plow, but investigation by the police proved it was not the snow plow of Stanstead or Rock Island, but a plow on the highway which evidently had swerved out beyond the road side and the icy pieces smashed into the house. Tire tracks in the section were shown as evidence.

A note of appreciation to be sent the Rock Island Council for their Civic reception in conjunction with the Dog Sled Derby.

Mayor Struthers asked Donald Prangley and Delmar White to look into the matter of a change of site for the dump. Although the present dump is some 30 to 40 feet away from the Tomifobia river, the council feels the site should be changed to avoid any suspicions of pollution to the water.

Applications were received to do the Village valuations. The names of six persons are to be approached by Mr. Struthers who said in the latter part of March he may call a special meeting to make the appointments of three valuers to do a complete valuation in 1970, and revisions in 1971 and 1972 years. John Wilson was appointed a Village pound-keeper.

Rock Island Town Council new system speeds up session

ROCK ISLAND — The Rock Island Town Council has a new system to speed up its meetings. The minutes of the previous session are in printed form and one is given each alderman.

The Council passed a resolution to support the local Chamber of Commerce resolution to have a liquor store in Rock Island.

An appeal to make a donation to the Canadian Red Cross campaign was denied because of Town policy not to contribute where there is house canvass.

Because Rock Island does not appear on many highways signs, the council wrote the Department of Highways requesting the name on signs directing traffic to villages. A communication was received from the Minister of Tourism in reply to having a tourist office in the area.

Five copying machines were on display. The council will be purchasing one for Town office use.

On a split vote, broken by the Mayor Edouard Girard, the dog by-law was amended to raise all taxes by a dollar, from $3 and $5 to $4 and $6.

A notice of motion was made that the Stevens Block on Railroad Street be demolished, after being condemned as an unfit place for people to live. It will be passed at the April meeting and the Department of Health notified as well as the owner of the property advised.

The Tomifobia River is clean of pollution for two miles past Rock Island, it was noted from a report received. From this section onward, the river "is a mess" and badly polluted. Rock Island Town had the foresight a few years ago to install an excellent sewerage system which removed much pollution in the river as several sewers were emptying into it.

The Sports Committee will meet with others interested in Federation sports in the month of March and be further discussed at another meeting about joining, committeemen are Albert Simoneau, Fernand Maclure and Gerard Surprenant. There was discussion about the industrial committee fund which could be set up to give aid and encouragement to have industries settle here.

Mrs. Mary Houlihan will be in charge of the March coffee hour after the church services.

Mrs. Howard Walsh will entertain the March 17 St. Patrick's Day meeting with dessert at 7 p.m. It will be followed by a work period.

Mrs. C. R. MacLean delighted everyone with her slides and pleasant narration of her trip in 1969 to Greece and Turkey.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Capham returns to Argos

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League announced Tuesday night they have reclaimed centre Ron Capham from Calgary Stampeders for rookie end Doug Smith.

The Argos sent Capham, a Canadian, to Calgary at the end of the 1968 season as part of an agreement in which they obtained linebacker Mike Blum from the Stampeders.

Smith, a Toronto native, played with Kent State University at Kent, Ohio, last season and only recently signed an Argo contract.

Woman jockey licenced

TORONTO (CP) — Carol Lee Roland thinks women drivers are just as good as men—on harness racing tracks at least.

Miss Roland, 24, was awarded a provisional driver's licence Tuesday at Greenwood Raceway after three judges viewed her final qualifying drive.

She became the first woman driver in Canada to be granted a permit since the associations governing the sport—the Canadian Trotting Association and the United States Trotting Association—rescinded a rule that prevented women drivers from racing at extended meets.

The rule change went into effect last January and ended a 10-year ban on women applying for driving permits to race at big meets. They had been allowed only to train horses and race at small fairs.

Licences granted women before the ban was imposed remained valid, however, if they were renewed each year.

Miss Roland now works for Retta Herrington, the only regular women driver now racing in Canada.

Seattle meeting postponed

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A special American League meeting to consider the troubled Seattle franchise was called off abruptly Tuesday in a cloud of conflicting statements.

Joe Cronin, president of the league, announced that the postponement was made because of the illness of Bill Daley, the principal Seattle owner.

However, in Cleveland, Daley said he had entered hospital only for a checkup and was under the impression the meeting would be held regardless.

He said he had designated Dewey Soriano, the club president, to represent him at the meeting, and that he had felt certain the franchise would be shifted to Milwaukee.

Jets sale awaits approval

NEW YORK (AP) — Sale of New York Jets to a syndicate, supposedly including Allie Sherman, awaits only formal approval of the National Football League, a team official said Tuesday.

"Details have been worked out and now it's up to the league directors at the meeting in Honolulu next week," said Townsend Martin, chairman of the board of the New York team. The pro owners open their winter business meeting Monday in Hawaii.

Sherman is the former coach of New York Giants and Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League who was replaced last season by A. ex Webster, a former star with Montreal Alouettes of the CFL.

Gary Player supports Blacks

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player, whose native South Africa has a national policy of apartheid, volunteered Tuesday to play exhibition golf matches with American Negro professionals with the proceeds going to the United Negro College Fund.

"I want to do this as concrete physical evidence to support statements I had made," Player said.

Player, 33, one of the world's premier golf professionals, had issued a statement Monday pleading that "politics be absolved from sports."

Player is here for the $150,000 Monsanto open golf tournament, the first stop on his American tour this season.

Player mentioned leading American Negro professionals Charlie Sifford, Pete Brown and Lee Elder as possible opponents for the exhibitions between regular weekly tournaments.

Canadian Mixed Curling
Fry thrashes Desjardins in sixth round

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP) — Bill Mitchell had to be talked into competing for the 1970 Canadian mixed curling championship, and after six rounds the other 10 rinks are wishing he hadn't been so easily persuaded.

The lanky Edmonton skip picked up three wins Tuesday to bring his record to 6-0, but he isn't talking about duplicating clubmate Don Anderson's perfect week last year in Kitchener, Ont., at least not yet.

"By the end of the week, it will be 58 games since Jan. 12 for me," said the 28-year-old dentist who played third last year at the national men's final in Winnipeg for Hee Gervais.

He slammed Barry Shearer of Halifax 8-5 and Wen MacDonald of Charlottetown, P.E.I., 10-4 Tuesday, then laid a six-ender on Jack Berg of Prince Albert, Sask., en route to a 13-5 crunch.

WINS TIGHT ONES
Barry Fry of Winnipeg pulled off two squeakers—9-8 against Lyle Wilder of Kapuskasing, Ont., and 7-6 over Berg—before thrashing Andre Desjardins of Kenogami, Que., 10-2 to bring his record to 5-1.

Glen Harper of Duncan, B.C., boned up for his seventh-round meeting today with Mitchell, scheduled for 9:30 a.m. PST (12:30 p.m. EST), by beating Tom Foster of Saint John, N.B., 12-9 and MacDonald 19-7.

But he needed a 10th-end take-out through a two-foot-wide port for the win over the pesky Prince Edward Island rink. And Harper admitted MacDonald was "as tough as a bagful of hammers."

"I made a good shot in the seventh end and left him with about an inch of shot showing," said Harper, tied at 4-1 with Earl Hushagen of Toronto.

"An inch. And what does he do? Chips out and takes two."

"I don't know if that unnerved me but I was six inches narrow for a four-ender in the eighth and had to settle for one after knocking him in."

Wilder split the afternoon and evening draws, beating Foster 9-4 before bowing 11-5 to Len Kalichak of Goose Bay, Nfld. Wilder is 3-2.

BOTH ARE 2-3

Shearer, tied with Kalichak with two wins in five starts, lost 10-8 to Hushagen before knocking off Foster 8-5 in the sixth round. Berg's Saskatchewan rink is 2-4.

Prince Edward Island, beaten 7-6 by Hushagen in the fourth round, and New Brunswick are 1-5 while Quebec has yet to claim a victory.

Berg crushed Desjardins 7-3 in the morning draw and Newfoundland pounded him 8-4 in the afternoon.

Harper goes against Mitchell today uncertain about his game.

"We're not as sharp as we were in White Rock last month," where he won the right to represent the Pacific Coast Curling Association in the provincial final.

1-Boston, AL East

PROSPECTUS — Red Sox finally have some pitching depth, long a problem with them, and internal squabbles presumably have been soothed. New manager Eddie Kasko is starting out with a stronger team than Dick Williams did when he won the flag in '67. If everybody stays happy Red Sox will win it all with room to spare. So deep are they everywhere.

PITCHING — Jim Lonborg, never quite Jim Lonborg since a skiing accident, will try it again as No. 1 starter. Forget the 7-11 of last year, they say in Boston. Ray Culp, 17-game winner last year, is No. 2. Then, there are Sparky Lyle (8-3), Mike Nagy (12-2) and Jose Santiago, a hero in '67 but a sore-armed problem since then. Gary Peters was acquired from White Sox, where he was 10-15 last year, and Sonny Siebert (14-10 in bullpen and out) could be starters, too. Same for Ken Brett, fast lefty who's had much grooming. Bullpen looks solid with Lee Stange, Vicente Romo and Gary Wagner, the ex-Phil. Rating—A—.

CATCHING — Jerry Moses, who hit .304 last year, will start, but figures to get a run from Dan Pavletich, acquired from White Sox. Ver Russ Gibson is still around and so is Tom Satriano. Rating—B—.

INFIELD — George Scott is back at first, but if bat falls off as it sometimes does, Pavletich waits in the wings. Mike Andrews is at second, Rico Petracelli at short. Petracelli had best season ever last year, leading club in home runs. Third might go to Rookie Luis Alvarado, who hit .292 and was MVP of International League last season. Red Sox are high on him. If he doesn't make it, journeyman Dick Schofield or Tom Marchick will move in. Rating—B—.

OUTFIELD — Potentially, best in AL. Carl Yastrzemski's back in left, Reggie Smith in center, Tony Conigliaro in right. All have power and speed and, to be sure, questionable temperaments. If Kasko can keep them happy, he'll be set. Billy Conigliaro is ready after a 298 year in Louisville and will spell his brother Joe Laboud also around. Rating—A—.

TOP ROOKIES — Young Conigliaro, upset over being sent to Triple A last season, proved his point with fine season. He'd probably be a starter elsewhere. Alvarado is only other rookie with chance of sticking.

Prediction: 1st in AL East

The New SAFETY '99'

A good tire made even better for the 1970's

Nothing stands still these days. That's why we're retiring 'Old Faithful' in favor of a new and better Safety '99'. Wider. Flatter. Stronger. Heavier than its million or more predecessors. Changes not just for the sake of change—but to meet the heavy demands of today's driving.

We like to be a jump ahead. We have to figure what happens to tires at speeds you may not even need. You see, tire failures increase alarmingly as speeds increase. A tire tread driven at the old speed limit of 60 m.p.h. will run almost twice as far as one now driven at 70. And a tire capable of giving 25,000 service miles at 80 m.p.h. will survive only 6,000 at 90 m.p.h. A sobering thought—back of our determination to make tires safer, stronger, longer-lived.

TIRE GUARANTEE
ROAD-HAZARD INSURED—No Deductible
30 MONTHS NO WEAR-OUT DISCOUNT ALLOWANCE
(No Deductible or Maximum Mileage. See Dealer for details.)

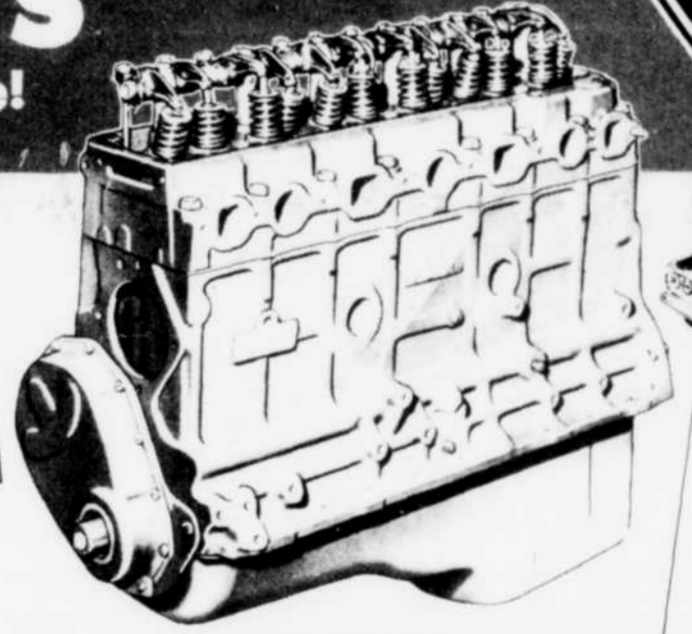

SAFETY '99'—in nylon or polyester—is a leader and we aim to keep it that way. Ride it—and you'll know it. Trade in your old tires—and you'll discover it's still North America's best tire buy!

CITY KIDS

Learning where milk and eggs come from

GENESEE, Alta. (CP) — Most city youngsters accept the idea that if you want milk or eggs or meat or produce you go to the store and buy them.

Not so the 73 youngsters in a recently established residential school in this village 40 miles southwest of Edmonton. They're taking up farming as well as the regular curriculum.

They've started in a sweet way with their first harvest, gathering hives and extracting honey in a bee-keeping program.

St. John's boys' school, obviously, is not an average school. It and its forerunner, St. John's in Selkirk, Man., which has been operating for 12 years, are Company of the Cross schools which have gained a reputation for toughness.

For boys in Grades 7 to 10, the school also includes outdoor activities such as canoeing and snowshoeing. The snowshoeing jaunts may cover 30 miles at a stretch in 40-below-zero weather.

The school was built at a cost of $450,000, with classroom, dining and dormitory facilities for up to 100 boys. Construction was completed in 1968 with much of the labor coming from the students.

The bee-keeping operation is only the first step in the school's farming plans. St. John's Alberta hopes to emulate the Manitoba school and raise chickens, hogs and cattle.

HOPE TO BREAK EVEN

Pork sausage and smoked ham are specialties of the Selkirk school. Fifteen Saturdays a year, teams of boys truck their products to Winnipeg and sell them door-to-door. A similar project is planned for the Edmonton area when the Genesee school starts producing.

"We will be quite happy to have our farming operation break even," said director Mike Maund. "There are three-fold benefits, though, from having a student raise a litter of pigs, for instance.

"He gains knowledge of an academic nature, learns responsibility by cleaning up after the litter and learns marketing when he sells them."

Tuition at the school is $1,200 this year with an additional $200 being required in the form of a gift to help defray the cost of a $250,000 Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. Loan.

"The interest rate on that really hurts," said Mr. Maund.

Practical application is stressed in the classrooms. The French course is designed for Canadian relevance and is focused on the early Canadian fur trade. Instructors say they will produce students who are truly bilingual.

Women's news

Mrs. Laura Gillespie, formerly of East Angus, now residing with her sister, Mrs. Norman Arbery at their home on St. Elie D'Orford Road was the surprised guest at a birthday party held in her honour on Wednesday evening, March 4, by her niece, Mrs. Fred Richardson, a next door neighbour.

About a dozen guests arrived earlier in the evening and were secluded in the living room. Peter and Jimmie Richardson, for whom Mrs. Gillespie was supposed to baby sit, kept watch for her arrival from behind drawn curtains.

Upon her arrival, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Arbery and sister-in-law Mrs. Henry McBain, she was greeted at the door by the hostess and Mrs. James Gillam, another sister from Sherbrooke, who played Happy Birthday To You on the piano, everyone gaily singing a welcome.

Mrs. Gillespie joined the other guests at two tables of 500, the winner being Mrs. Henry McBain and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Gordon McBain, another sister-in-law.

Just before lunch, the hostess presented the guest of honour with an armful of prettily wrapped gifts for which Mrs. Gillespie thanked everyone saying it was a very nice way to baby sit.

A luncheon of salad, rolls, tea and coffee was topped off with a birthday cake, made by the hostess, and decorated with pink strawberry mousse icing and was lighted with unblowable candles. After numerous attempts to blow them all out, Mrs. Gillespie carefully removed the candles from the cake, amid much laughter and some assistance from the hostess.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Peter's Guild was held in the Memorial Hall on Monday, March 2 at 8 p.m., with 16 members present. The meeting was opened in prayer by Mrs. Russell Bartlett, president. The minutes, read by Mrs. Hazel Brouillet, secretary, were approved. Thank you notes were read by Mrs. K. F. Jackson, corresponding secretary. Forthcoming events discussed were the Treasure Trove Tea to be held on April 16. A salad Bar Tea is planned for May 21. The meeting was closed in prayer by Mrs. Russell Bartlett. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. J. Northey.

Mr. John Evans is convalescing at his home on Victoria St., after being a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital for the past two weeks suffering from a heart attack.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Welling of Whitby, Ontario wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter Bonnie Joan to Mr. Donald A. Drouin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Drouin of Foster. The wedding date to be announced later.

Shower

STANSTEAD — Some 40 members of the families, relatives and friends of Dr. and Mrs. Gilles Bouchard, of Rock Island, gathered at the lounge of the Royal Canadian Legion Memorial Home in Stanstead on March 4 to shower Mrs. Bouchard with stork gifts.

On arrival, Mrs. Bouchard was much surprised, when presented with a baby novelty corsage by Mrs. Allan Sheldon and escorted, amid salutations, to a chair reserved for her. The decor was carried out in pink, blue and white garlands caught at the ceiling with a pink rabbit.

Seated with her were the guest of honor's mother, Mrs. Herman Paquette of Montreal, Mrs. Arthur Bouchard of Rock Island, and Dr. Bouchard's grandmother, Mrs. John Bushnell.

As the gifts were opened, Mrs. Bouchard expressed her appreciation as they were admired, after which Mrs. Bouchard in French and English thanked everyone for their thoughtfulness.

A quiz game was played and Mrs. Thomas Bowen won the prize, a card game was also fun with four winners.

Buffet refreshments were served. The table was centered with a stork cake, made and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Albert Simoneau, in the traditional colors and centered with pink and blue booties. White candles in crystal with silver inlay holders completed the decor. Mrs. Sheldon and Mrs. Wilfred Cuerrier presided at the silver services each end of the table.

The hostesses were Mrs. Sheldon and Mrs. Albert Simoneau assisted by others. Guests attended from Montreal, and Boundary Villages.

The roads are going to pot

TORONTO (CP) — As winter begins to turn to early spring, every Canadian municipality gets a sinking feeling. It's pothole time.

Warmer temperatures which cause expansion, running water from melting snow, and coincidental repairs to gas, telephone, sewer and other utility lines are all contributors.

Toronto, which has 519 miles of paved streets and 1,580 miles of sidewalks, has a crew of 13 troubleshooters under Raymond Bremmer, the public works commissioner, on the lookout for this plague of motorists and pedestrian alike.

The patrol covers every inch of sidewalk and street once every eight days. When a pothole is noticed, a repair crew is called in.

Gordon Gale and his two-man repair crew use a hot-mix process to deal with the potholes. They draw off a bucket of tar from their propane-heated oven and splash it into the hole as a binding agent. Asphalt then is shoveled in and tamped even.

"The potholes are with us all year, but we're coming into the main season now," said Mr. Bremmer.

Mr. Bremmer said the average hole takes 80 pounds of asphalt, worth $2.40 at the city's purchase of $60 a ton. He said one proof that a repaired hole stays repaired is the steady decline in suits against the city for damages to automobiles—mainly tailpipes, tires and rims.

Mr. Bremmer started the hot-mix process when he took over as works commissioner six years ago. Formerly the city used a cold mix for most potholes.

Mr. Bremmer said the cold-mix fixes often popped out "like a bad filling from a tooth."

Daniele's appeal is universal

MONTREAL (CP) — Anyone wanting lessons in how to appeal to a wide variety of audiences should apply to Daniele Dorice. The address is Montreal but her act is international. The petite French-Canadian chanteuse has used the twinkle in her eye and a mischievous grin to charm well-dressed patrons of New York hotels or casual, unseen television viewers or dusty army troops far from home.

Daniele claims there is no special trick to entertaining audiences with mixed backgrounds and positions. "Just let them see you're enjoying yourself and it's easy to make them smile."

However, one technique used successfully on Caf Conc, her now-defunct CTV network variety show, was to get persons sitting side by side in the audience to shake hands and exchange first names.

With a little guidance and coaxing from Daniele, they leaned back in their chairs and visibly relaxed.

PEOPLE ARE SAME

"People are the same everywhere," she said in an interview, but did not deny that she has extra affection for the many Canadian forces troops she has met and entertained.

Since breaking into show business in 1958, Daniele has made an almost annual pilgrimage to Cyprus at Christmas time to sing, dance and crack a few jokes with "the boys."

And it was not without regret that she realized the 1969 trip with members of Tommy Hunter's show would probably be her last. The federal government may pull Canadian soldiers out of the strife-torn island some time this year.

Daniele was a Quebec City secretary who spent her weekends appearing in amateur shows when she won a trip to London and a screen test with J. Arthur Rank. From there, she took off on an international swing through Europe, South Africa and the Orient—and hasn't paused for breath since then.

She is a regular performer at Toronto's Royal York and the St. Regis Hotel in New York, where she is known as the only entertainer who is not a big name in the U.S. to be invited back.

SHOW WAS DROPPED

Cancellation of the TV show after only four months was a big disappointment, particularly since it was originally renewed then dropped due to financial problems.

However, with typical buoyancy, she shrugged it off and bolstered her spirits on a mid-winter cruise to the Caribbean.

A future ambition is to help young entertainers get started on development of a marketable nightclub act.

Daniele has no intentions of trying to coach young singers because "I don't consider myself a singer; I am strictly a performer"—be it in a glistening evening gown, mod pantsuit or tuxedo, top hat and cane for a little soft shoe.

"I know I'm no Piaf," she insisted, but she has faith in her ability to guide aspiring performers in putting together a routine.

"These days French-Canadian performers must have a bilingual act. All French clubs are finished here (in Quebec). They must go beyond provincial borders."

St. Armand

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Regnier and family of St. Johns, were guests over the weekend of Mrs. Regnier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Courchesne.

Mrs. R. C. Lake and Mr. Edward Lake spent a day in Montreal, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Dagley.

A largely attended ecumenical service was held in the Roman Catholic Church here on Jan. 25 with the congregations of the Philipsburg Catholic Church, St. Paul's Anglican and the United Church. Father L. Belshe was joined by Rev. W. Sparling of the Anglican Church, Rev. W. R. Lake of the United Church and Father A. Lavarriere of the Philipsburg Catholic Church. A combined Choir from the different Churches led in the singing of the hymns in French and English. Following the service refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed in the assembly room of the Catholic School.

DANIELE PERFORMS — Daniele Dorice entertains on the now-defunct CTV network variety show Caf Conc. She appeals to a wide variety of audiences by letting them "see you're enjoying yourself." She is a regular performer in New York and Toronto night clubs.

THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS REGIONAL SCHOOL BOARD

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO PARENTS WHOSE CHILDREN WOULD NORMALLY ATTEND A SCHOOL OPERATED BY THE ABOVE NAMED BOARD

Quebec Bill 63, an Act to Promote the French language in Quebec, stipulates that, effective July 1st, 1970, the language of instruction in all schools shall be French, unless parents request that their child be taught in English.

The Government has now ruled that all registration or enrolment must be repeated on the official forms. These are now available and will be distributed through the students to all parents of children presently attending schools under the jurisdiction of this Board.

While these forms will be accompanied by a letter of explanation, the following will be of interest to the public at large —

A white card, Form No. ME 500-A, is the Official Enrolment Form for the 1970-1971 school year. In conformity with governmental regulations, it must be completed for each and every pupil who will attend an elementary or secondary school in 1970-1971.

A pink card, Form No. ME 501-A, is an Appendix to the Official Enrolment Form and is to be completed by parents wishing that their child be taught in the English language.

It should be noted that parents whose child presently attends an English language school or section need not complete this form for next year, unless that child changes School Boards or graduates from the elementary to the secondary course.

A yellow card, Form No. ME 502-A, is an Appendix to the Official Enrolment Form and is to be filled in by parents whose child is currently being taught in the English language and who wish their child to be taught in the French language during the 1970-1971 school year.

The above information is of particular importance to all parents of children who are changing schools or School Board, or enrolling in Kindergarten or Grade 1 for the first time next September.

If it should occur that you do not receive an Enrolment Card within a very short period of delay, please contact the school where your child is now in attendance as it is imperative that these forms be returned to us not later than March 25th, 1970.

The Schools administered by this Regional Board are as follows —

- Alexander Galt Regional High School
- Richmond Regional High School
- St. Francis Elementary School
- A.D.S. Elementary School
- Windsor-Brompton Elementary School
- Drummondville Elementary School

OBITUARIES

MRS. CHARLES LITTLE, OF HUNTINGVILLE

HUNTINGVILLE — The death of Mrs. Jeanne Little occurred on Jan. 19, 1970. In failing health for many years, she suffered an attack of the flu, seemed to be recovering when she went unconscious and in spite of all medical skill could do, died peacefully in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Born Jeanne Altha Morrill in South Durham, April 1, 1914, the elder daughter of the late Robert Morrill and the late Grace Smith, her early life was spent in South Durham and Melbourne. She attended local schools, St. Francis College High School and Macdonald College. Teachers 1932, after which she taught school for several years in the Townships.

On Sept. 19, 1942, in South Durham United Church, she was married to Charles Little of Inverness, Brookbury, and Lennoxville before moving to Huntingville some 12 years ago.

While in Brookbury she was active in Farm Forum activities and also served as relief organizer at Brookbury United Church.

Following prayers at Johnston's Funeral Chapel at 2 p.m. on Jan. 22, service was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon T. J. Matthews in St. George's Church, Lennoxville. Two hymns, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Why Should I Fear the Darkest Hour" were sung by the choir.

The bearers were Cedric Jenkinson, Brookbury, Herbert Finlay and Jean-Marie Mercier, Sherbrooke, Henry Robinson, Howard Dewing and Wayne Nutbrown, all of Huntingville.

Burial was in Malvern Cemetery, Lennoxville.

Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her loss a son, Robert Eric, a sister, Jessie Morrill, a brother, Claude Morrill, and four half-brothers, Galen, Gordon, Evan and Elwin Coote of South Durham, as well as many other relatives.

attended grade school at Notre Dame Du Laus, Ste. Catherine Rd. and the Rock Forest Elementary School. He attended St. Patrick's High School from which he graduated at the age of 16.

In 1952 he joined the Bell Telephone Company of Canada. He was transferred from Sherbrooke to Montreal, to Quebec City to Cornwall, Ont., and back to Sherbrooke in 1959, where he met a girl, who was to become his wife. Later that year he was transferred back to Montreal, and on April 23, 1960 he married Francoise Rheault in St. Gregoire de Nicolet, her home town, near Three Rivers.

On Jan. 22, 1962 a baby girl, Sylvia, was born to them. They resided in Boucherville until 1964 when Mr. Moran resigned from the Bell and came back to Sherbrooke with Hodge Auto Parts. In 1966 he joined General Motors Acceptance Corp. of Canada Ltd., Sherbrooke. On August 12, 1968, a baby boy was born whom they named Patrick.

In April 1969, they accepted a transfer which was to return them to Montreal, where he worked, residing in Roxboro until his untimely death on Jan.

14, 1970, at the age of 35.

He always worked very hard but what gave him most pleasure was his music. He had his first guitar at the age of 10, later a banjo and mandolin. To his many friends he was known as Mr. Banjo. No gathering of family or friends was complete without Rod's songs, wit and music.

He is survived by his wife, Francoise, his daughter, Sylvia, age eight, and son Patrick, 18 months. He also leaves his mother and father, his sister, Doreen, Mrs. Dale Kinder, and many other relatives.

Funeral service was held at Our Lady of Peace Church, Roxboro, Jan. 17. Burial was at St. Genevieve.
