FRESH GERMAN KHARKOV OFFENSIVE SMOTHERED

Soviets Break Through Nazis' Flank At Izyum

Russians Claim Germans Suffering Heavy Equipment Losses in Bitter Battle South of Kharkov—European Stage Set for Three-Pronged Axis Drive Against Petroleum Riches of Middle East.

(By The Canadian Press)

Soviet front-line dispatches reported today that Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's armies had smothered part of the German offensive eighty miles below Kharkov, while the German high command asserted that resistance of Russian troops encircled in the same critical sector "has been broken."

The Russians declared the Red armies, smashing through the flank of a German wedge, had brought the Nazi offensive in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector to a standstill in the most important zone.

Soviet reports said the German push was stopped along a river bend where Russian troops were described as now enlarging a pocket.

Red Star declared the Germans were suffering "immense losses" in tank battles flaring in many sectors of the 125-mile battle zone, with the Russians matching attacks by Nazi squadrons of twenty to thirty tanks each.

Meanwhile, London diplomatic quarters noted multiplying signs that the Axis is preparing a formidable land and naval move in the Mediterranean.

Speculation centred on the possibility that Hitler is planning synchronized drives into the Middle East from three directions.

1—From the Crimea or Rostov-and Don through the Caucasus.

2—From North Africa into Egypt.

3—Across the Mediterranean from Crete, Greece and the Dodecanese Islands.

German parachute troops were reported training in Crete, and strong Italian garrisons are stationed in Greece and the Dodecanese Islands to support any trans-Mediterranean thrust.

Omens of a gathering new storm included:

1—British Middle East headquarters reported that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's North African armies were on the move again, with strong Axis troop and tank columns advancing toward the main British lines.

2—Reports of an Axis squeeze on France to gain control of the immobilized French fleet.

3—Premier Pierre Laval's discussions with his naval chiefs.

4—Reports that 300,000 Italian troops were massing along the French border, ready to back up Italy's demand upon France for Tunisia, Corsica, and Nice.

Countering these portents of Axis strategy, London commentators said indications that a rival Allied assault may be imminent to blast the way for a landing on the Ger-

Germans in North Africa Appear to Have Started Offensive of Some Sort, British Reports State.

London, May 27.—(P)—The Germans in North Africa have started "an offensive of some sort," but it is too early to judge its size, a military commentator declared today as Axis tank columns and infantry moved eastward toward the main British positions.

Diplomatic sources said there were increasing signs that the Axis was mounting a formidable land and sea offensive against the British in the Mediterranean.

Activity Of A.V.G. Fighters Improves Chinese Position

Chinese Gains on Two Fighting Fronts Rather Belie Declaration of Japanese Emperor that United Nations Pacific Fleets Have Been Wiped Out as Result of Recent Battle of the Coral Sea.

(By The Canadian Press)

Japan's Premier, Gen. Hideki Tojo, sounded a new threat to Australia today, asserting boastfully that "the naval forces in defence of Australia have disappeared, with nothing standing now to defend that country before the onslaught of the Imperial Japanese forces."

Evidently a "fishing expedition" in quest of information, Tojo's repetition of Japan's claim of victory in the Australian Sea battle—previously Allied accounts—was accompanied by a renewed pledge of Japanese support for the Axis.

But, as if to dispel the idea that Japan would help Germany by attacking Russia, Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo carefully explained: "Relations between Japan and the Soviet Union have undergone no change even after the outbreak of war in Greater East Asia."

In addition to this threat against Australia, Tojo warned India that the long as British and American troops remain in India, Japan is inflexibly determined to annihilate them.

While Japan's war leaders thus boasted of future conquests, Allied fighting men scored new successes against invaders on far-flung land and sky fronts.

On China's East Coast, in the critical Chekiang province theatre, Chiang Kai-Shek's armies were reported to have started an offensive in an attempt to hamstring Japanese columns storming at the gates of Kinwa, Chekiang provisional capital.

Chinese dispatches said Gen. Chiang's troops were attacking in the Hangchow-Kashing-Wuhing sector 100 miles below Shanghai, behind the bases from which the Japanese drive against Kinwa was launched.

Far to the West, in the Burma-China war zone, the Chinese position along the Burma road was reported sharply improved as Chinese troops continued to push the invaders back

Eastern Townships Engineering Unit Heads Latest Contingent Of Canadians To Reach Britain

A British Post, May 27.—(C.P. Cable)—A new contingent of reinforcements for the Canadian army and the Royal Canadian Air Force has arrived in Britain, bringing with it a group of 100 Canadian engineers and a group of 100 Canadian mechanics. The contingent, described as one of the most miscellaneous ever to leave Canada, was described as comparatively small, consisting largely of army reinforcements and airmen but also containing auxiliary officers, Poles, Czechs, several navy fliers and the Germans.

The prisoners are crossing the Atlantic for the second time. They were originally sent from Britain to Canada for internment after the fall of France. For good behavior they are being allowed to return to Britain to repair air raid damage.

Many of them have spent months in German concentration camps. Some escaped from Nazi countries. None of their stories can be told individually for fear German authorities persecute their relatives who were left behind.

Majority of the troops were French Canadians from Quebec, sappers of an engineering outfit, one of the only two complete units in the shipment, who said before they left Canada that they were "glad to be going overseas" after months of intensive training in Canada.

Probably the angriest men in the contingent were a group of Poles descended from ancestors who migrated to the United States thirty or forty years ago. The Czechs, all of whom had fought the Nazis before September, 1939, would not talk at all for fear they might disclose information of use to the enemy.

LITTLE EVENTFUL ON JOURNEY
By LOUIS V. HUNTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Somewhere in England, May 27.—(C.P. Cable)—French Canadians from the nine provinces of Canada and parts of the United States renewed acquaintances today in military camps in the South of England where thousands of their compatriots have been training for more than two years for the day the Allied offensive opens.

The newcomers arrived in Britain in the latest contingent of troops to bolster the Dominion's overseas army. Members of a battalion of the Royal Canadian Engineers commanded by a lieutenant-colonel from Thetford Mines, Que., they reported an uneventful crossing. A few complained of rough seas which gave

ATTORNEY-GENERAL WARNS OF DANGERS FACING UNITED STATES

Philadelphia, May 27.—(P)—Attorney-General Francis Biddle says Americans "no more a master race than the Nazis" must use their power after the war to build an economic peace that is "just, equitable and enduring."

"Those who write the peace must think of the whole world," he told the La Salle College graduating class last night.

"There can be no privileged peoples," he said. "We must not perpetuate economic warfare without planting the seeds of military warfare."

At home after the war, the country must act "aggressively and with speed" to prevent collapse of the American system of government, the Attorney-General said.

Complete Mobilization Required To Prosecute War, Legion Claims

By MARSHALL BATEMAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Winnipeg, May 27.—(P)—The Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, today swung its full weight behind a total war effort for Canada, promising to do everything "within constitutional means" to have the Dominion Government enforce conscription of manpower for overseas service.

The Legion too, demands the Government put into effect "immediately" all necessary compulsory measures, apart from conscription of manpower, which will gear the country to its maximum capacity. It suggests that steps necessary include a limit on profits made in industry by elimination of "all" excess profits.

Turning to domestic affairs, delegates today will urge people everywhere to loyally and patriotically cooperate with the new War-time Prices and Trade Board order reducing consumption of tea, coffee and sugar.

The Legion unanimously approved the Rehabilitation Committee's report, urging changes in the Veterans' Land Settlement Act that will benefit soldiers returning from the present war and a works programme that the Legion maintains should be ready to be put into effect immediately after demobilization.

As the scheduled last day's business of the ninth biennial meeting got under way consideration was given to a home defence resolution urging that all men eligible and physically fit be compelled to serve in the Canadian (Reserve) Army. Men exempted from active service because they are engaged in essential war work, also are included.

Legion members yesterday heard Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, Assistant Deputy Minister of the Department of National War Services, declare Canada must "strip for action" for a struggle to the end, and be "united and strong."

"Unity is the crying need of our people," he said, "and with unity we can do our full duty again, and we will add to the glory of the victorious Canadian overseas forces of 1914-18."

Speedier House Procedure Demanded As Debate Lags

Spokesmen for All Parties Agree that Present Rules of Parliamentary Procedure Are Delaying Progress of House—Opposition Leader Blames Attitude of Government for Lack of Definite Action in Session.

By C. R. BLACKBURN

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, May 27.—(P)—Reform of parliamentary procedure, under fire from many quarters in the House of Commons at this session, today appeared likely to become a subject of formal action.

Criticism of procedure has been voiced on various grounds, including alleged lack of Government information, long debates and slow progress.

The procedure problem featured a lively debate in the House yesterday when members took 2 1/2 hours to pass an interim supply bill. Such bills customarily pass without question or discussion.

It was raised also by Prime Minister Mackenzie King on the orders of the day when he said that "if we are to get through at all before autumn I think we should begin very soon to make more rapid headway than has been made up to the present time." He suggested some arrangement should be made to speed up action in the House.

Finance Minister Isley referred to this point when he said that "in my judgment Parliament is more and more on trial at the bar of public opinion."

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. House leader, suggested that the rules be amended to conform with the British practice where so much time is allotted to debate a measure and it must be disposed of within the time allowed.

"What good will it do to revise the rules if you do not revise the will to carry on public business?" asked Conservative House Leader Hanson who placed the onus of delay on the Government.

Mr. Hanson said he thought the discussion would do some good but he gained his point that the interim supply bill originally introduced by Mr. Isley for two months or 1-6 of

WAR PROBLEMS CONTINUING TO ENGAGE MAYORS

Question of Air Raid Precautions Receives Considerable Attention at Mayors' Gathering in Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 27.—(P)—Air raid precautions, civil defence, urban post-war reconstruction and war-time housing were under consideration today at the fifth annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities held in Ottawa.

Following Tuesday's statement by Mayor Walter A. Merrill of Montreal, Que., that civilian protection is one of the primary duties of the municipalities, Hon. Robert J. Manion, Director of Civil Air Raid Precautions, was to address the conference on that subject.

W. J. Scott, Director of Fire Service for the Civilian Defence Committee of Ontario, was to speak on the wartime job of municipal fire departments.

The question of post-war reconstruction in cities was also under consideration, with K. M. Cameron, chairman of the Sub-Committee on Post-War Reconstruction Projects for the Committee on Reconstruction, scheduled to speak on "Cities Facing the Future."

George H. Mitchell, Reeve of the Township of North York, Ont., was to speak on post-war labor conditions as they will affect municipalities. The housing problem in wartime will be discussed under chairmanship of Mayor W. Garfield Case of Owen Sound, Ont.

In his speech yesterday, Mayor Merrill of Westmount, Que., referred to air raid precautions work and said that two of the most important functions of the municipalities, greatest obstacle facing authorities in trying to establish an efficient A.R.P. system, he said, was the apathy of the Canadian people, who had a false sense of security because they had never been blitzed.

The conference heard L. E. Westman, Assistant Director of National Selective Service, emphasize that the problems of handling mobilization of human resources were far more complex than those of mobilizing money or materials.

Mr. Westman said Canada had no previous experience with regimentation and that everyone must be prepared to make sacrifices. Each Government official, whether in the village or the Federal Cabinet, could do his part.

Delegates were received at Government House yesterday afternoon by the Governor-General and Princess Alice and later attended a "Good Neighbor" dinner arranged by the United States representatives at the conference.

Laval May Yield Tunisia To Satisfy Italian Calls For Territorial Gains

Berne Diplomatic Quarters Believe that Giving Up North African Protectorate, Considered Valuable to Axis, Would Cause Less Popular Discontent in France than Abandonment of Part of Homeland.

AID JUSTICE AGENTS

Washington, May 27.—(P)—Under legislation approved yesterday by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and United States army and navy intelligence services may tap telephone lines and other communications sources any time they suspect an offense has been committed or is about to be committed against the national security.

Information from the Occupied Zone said the fight at Beziers, a town in Southern France near the coast West of Marseille, was ended by police intervention.

The parades were carrying anti-British and anti-Churchill placards when jeers from people on the sidewalks started the fighting.

Admiral Rene Platon, Secretary of State in the Vichy Foreign Ministry, made a bitterly anti-British speech at Beziers yesterday.

Reports from Vichy shed little new light on the progress toward a settlement with Italy.

Pierre Laval, the Chief of Government, is continuing talks with Governor-General Jean Esteva of Tunisia and Admiral Jean Darlan, Chief of the armed forces.

Previous reports have stated that Laval was tentatively discussing cessions in Tunisia in an effort to satisfy broader Italian claims for Nice and Corsica.

Observers said Tunisia would be valuable for Axis operations and might satisfy the Italian clamor, and that at the same time Laval might feel he could risk a concession there where a concession of a piece of France's homeland would provoke too great a public reaction against him.

Admiral Esteva arrived in Vichy on an emergency visit yesterday.

He has been Chief of Government Pierre Laval and is to confer today with Admiral Jean Darlan, commander in chief of the navy.

GERMAN PRISONER IN SECOND ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE FROM CAMP

Pembroke, Ont., May 27.—(P)—For the second time, an escape attempt by Emilien Hakek, thirty-year-old civilian internnee at nearby Petawawa internment camp, has been unsuccessful.

Hakek was missed early yesterday and late last night was recaptured by a member of the Veterans' Guard of Canada, on a railway bridge about fifteen miles from camp.

Details of the recapture were not available. Hakek's previous escape attempt occurred last April 27, and he was recaptured in the camp area after only a few hours' freedom.

Prairies Face Bright Prospects With Rainfall Far Over Average

Winnipeg, May 27.—(P)—Spring rains in many parts of the prairie provinces have soaked grainlands already well supplied with moisture for this year's crop. Manitoba wheat-growers have reason to be particularly optimistic, with precipitation records indicating the best reserve of moisture in years.

Over the nine-month period ended April 30, precipitation in Manitoba showed an increase of 39 per cent above the average, Saskatchewan an increase of six per cent, while moisture in Alberta was three per cent below normal.

During the first eighteen days of May rainfall was fair in some localities, but there was little or no rain in the Saskatchewan grain area and some parts of Alberta. Mean temperatures during the early part of May were one to three degrees below normal throughout the West. At times extreme minimum temperatures fell well below freezing at many points in Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan.

Seeding was completed at least a week later than in 1941 and as a result it is expected there will be a decrease in wheat acreage.

According to statistics prepared by the Dominion Meteorological Service, Toronto, covering the period from August 1, 1941, to April 30, 1942, Western Manitoba was at the top of the precipitation record with an increase of 43 per cent over normal. The excess in the Eastern part of the province was 36 per cent.

Northern and Southeastern Saskatchewan showed fair improvement over the normal, but there was a three per cent decrease below the average in the arid southwestern corner. All areas in Alberta were below normal, Central Alberta showing a decrease of 14 per cent.

During five of the nine months under review there were good rain and snow falls in Northern Alberta, but precipitation was light in October, December, January and March. In the central region deficiencies were recorded in all months except August, September and February. A heavy snowfall in February helped Southern Alberta but little snow or rain fell since that time.

April rains in all parts of Saskatchewan gave a good lift to the "bank" in that province after a poor record in that area after a poor mid-winter showing. In the North there was three times the normal amount of precipitation in April and

General Gas Rationing Planned To Counter U.S. Rubber Shortage

Washington, May 27.—(P)—Put on notice that country-wide gasoline rationing may be the next step in the United States rubber conservation programme, the House of Representatives Interstate Commerce Committee called on Government rubber experts today for an explanation of the situation and what is being done to meet it.

Representatives of the army, Commerce Department and other agencies dealing with rubber were requested by Chairman Clarence Lea (Dem., Calif.) to tell how essential needs are being met and will be met in the future. The main purpose of the investigation, he said, is to keep the public informed on the situation.

On the basis of existing technical developments, official predictions have been there will be no new tires for civilian use until 1944 at least, and probably not until 1945.

President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday it is necessary to save rubber by methods still to be decided on; but he expressed hope that certain tire substitutes may be available before tires now on the road wear out. He said he thought the civilian transportation situation could be worked out satisfactorily.

Answering a question on whether anything was being done to develop a supply of synthetic rubber for non-military use, the President spoke of the need for buses to take workmen to and from war industry plants and said work is in progress on two or three kinds of tires which require no rubber.

The House Interstate Committee heard Ralph K. Davies, Deputy Petroleum Coordinator, indicate yesterday that country-wide gasoline rationing might have to be resorted to as a means of compelling motorists to save their tires. Davies emphasized that while the gasoline shortage existed only in the East and to a lesser extent in the Northwest, the rubber shortage is country-wide.

Compromise Reached Between City And Salvage Committee On Shifting Of Depot Site

Compromising on the moving of the salvage depot from its present site in the rear of the Central School on King Street West to the city property near the incinerator on the Brompton Road at a general meeting of City Council and the Sherbrooke Salvage Committee held at City Hall last night, the plan offered by Alderman Eugene Thibault was accepted by the salvage group members.

A place less conspicuously located," he added. "That is why the city property on the Brompton Road was selected."

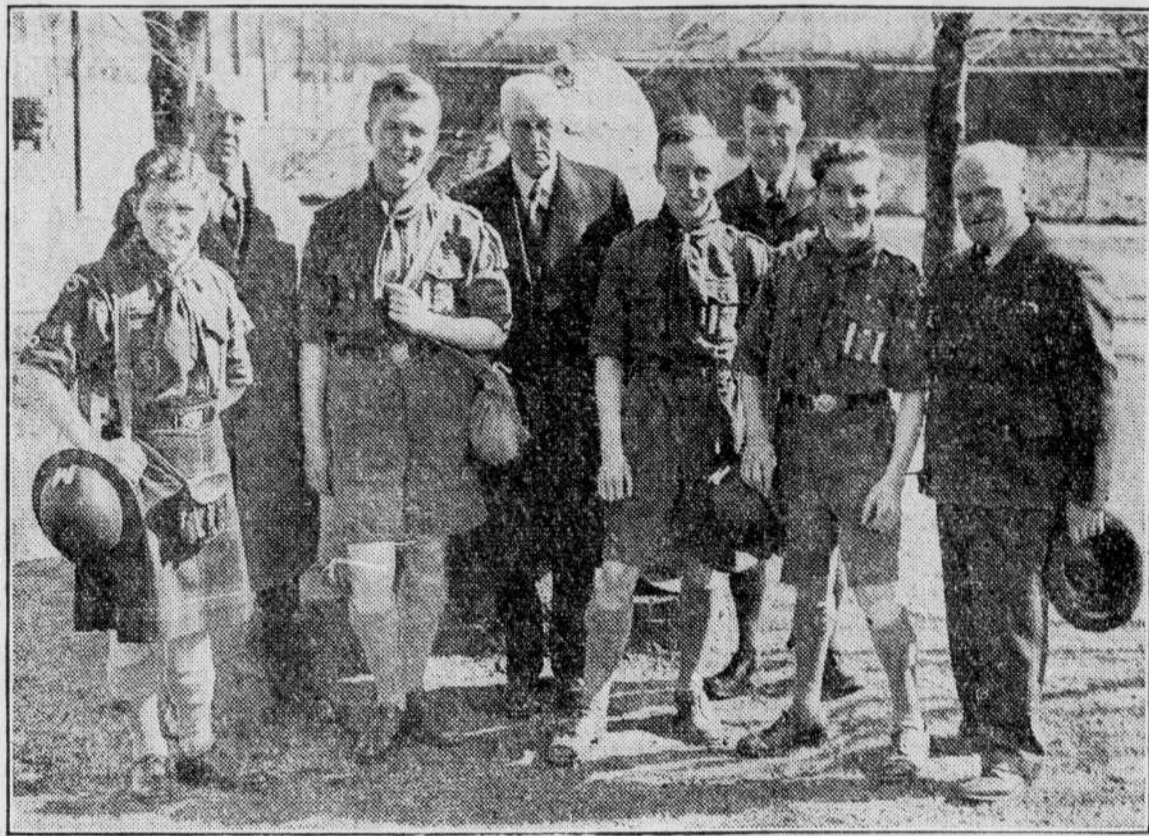

The new location, chosen by City Council a fortnight ago, will be levelled and put into condition before the salvage is moved.

Alderman Thibault informed interested citizens at the meeting, the majority of whom were women, that this salvage plan has proved successful in Toronto. Proceeds of salvage sales will go to the local committee under the plan.

It was explained that a new gate on the fenced Brompton Road city property will be erected in order to protect the materials from possible theft. The regular city employee at the grounds will sort the salvage.

"Council received complaint after complaint concerning this condition and decided that it would be better to pile and assort the materials in a place less conspicuously located," he added.

$29,000 MARK IS REACHED IN LOCAL APPEAL

Objective of $35,000 Expected to Be Attained When Final Figures in Red Cross Drive Are Compiled.

Members of the campaign headquarters staff were hard at work this morning and early this afternoon cleaning up the rush created by the receipt of last-minute returns, as is always the case on the closing day of a money drive, home it was difficult to obtain any estimate of the likely final figure.

Total Effort Of Every Citizen Of Canada Needed In Carrying On War

Rotary Told by President of Montreal Club that It Must Do Its Utmost to Further National Interest—Can Do Much to Spread Understanding and Friendship Between Countries.

Since this has been declared to be a total war both by the enemy and by leaders of this country, the total effort of every citizen of Canada is required, and the total effort of every organization, institution and society within the bounds of Canada, therefore the total effort of Rotary, members of the Sherbrooke club were told last night by President George Harris of the Montreal Rotary Club, who was guest speaker at the regular local meeting at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Rotarian Harris discussed the boys' work corrective programme of the Montreal club, and said that during the past twenty years $400,000 had been spent but well repaid by the type of boys turned out of schools such as the one at Shawbridge to enter His Majesty's service, thus rewarding society for having placed their feet on the right road.

Flight-Sergeant John Ives, Who Escaped From Enemy Territory, Has Returned To This Country

Flight-Sergeant John Ives, Royal Canadian Air Force, who performed the impossible last year by making his way successfully to Gibraltar after being reported missing over German-occupied Europe and believed killed, has arrived in Canada to take up instruction duty.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll S. Ives, received a telephone call last night from their twenty-one-year-old son, who was at Moncton, N.B., and expect that he will be home for a well-deserved leave within a few days.

Flight-Sergeant Ives was in a British plane which disappeared over European territory on August 19, and no word was received from him until he cabled home from Gibraltar on November 30. He had succeeded in working his way down through Europe to the British island stronghold.

FLIGHT-SERGEANT JOHN IVES was when the crew asked for their bearings by radio. Air Ministry officials were unable to obtain any information about the crew until Flight-Sergeant Ives' safety was learned almost three and a half months later.

Four "Blitz Scouts" Will Visit Sherbrooke On June 5th To Tell Of A.R.P. Work And Experiences

The "Blitz-Scouts"—four British Scouts touring Canada, telling of A.R.P. work and their experiences during German raids on England—will visit Sherbrooke on June 5, it was announced today by Clarence G. Blake, District Scout Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association.

Plans for their arrival and entertainment were completed at a meeting of the Sherbrooke Boy Scouts Association held last night in the Odd Fellows' Hall.

District Scout Commissioner Blake said that the four English Scouts will arrive in Sherbrooke before noon, accompanied by Provincial Field Secretary F. G. Hicks. They will be taken directly to the Chateau Frontenac, where they will address a luncheon gathering in the main dining room under the sponsorship of the Y's Men's Club. Members of the Sherbrooke Lions, Rotary and other service clubs will be invited to attend, including special guests.

Wesley Bradley, President of the Y's Men's Club will preside at the dinner gathering and District Commissioner Blake will introduce the visiting Scouts.

During the afternoon the four Scouts will visit the Sherbrooke High School, St. Patrick's Academy and other schools. Arrangements for this tour will be in charge of James H. Wark, Chairman of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners, who also is Vice-President of the local Association of Boy Scouts.

A concert by the Sherbrooke Regiment Band will be held at Portland Square, where the King's Scouts will speak between selections on conditions and bombings of England, at a Scout and Cub rally starting at 7.30 p.m.

Scout representatives will be present from throughout the Eastern Townships, including Ayer's Cliff, Way's Mills, East Angus, Windsor Mills, Magog, Sawyerville, Stantstead and Thetford Mines.

The Sherbrooke and Lennoxville Girl Guides will attend the rally, which is open to the public. In the event of rain, it will be held in the Mitchell School.

After leaving Sherbrooke, the four English Scouts are scheduled to visit Granby the following day, where another reception in their honor will be accorded them and a programme of entertainment held. The Scouts will pass through Sherbrooke again on June 12, arriving at 9 p.m. from Quebec City and leaving at 10.45 p.m. for St. John, N.B. The four Scouts were selected from candidates all over the British Isles to come to Canada on a special wartime mission to tell Canadians what their cousins overseas are doing, because of their outstanding records in civilian defence work.

Also, these heroic King's Scouts are conveying the thanks of Coventry, Hull and other bombed towns to the Canadian associations which sent them clothing, food, money and relief supplies.

Their official tour started at Vancouver, B.C., and is continuing back across the Dominion.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

"PULLING THE WOOL" OVER OLD SOL'S EYE

Under Old Sol's burning eye, the temperature inside some houses has soared close to oven heat on a few of our recent sunny days. But in thousands of other homes—homes protected by a barricade of Johns-Manville Rock Wool insulation—cool comfort reigns supreme.

Many people ask, "Just what is Rock Wool? Is it a form of asbestos?" It's understandable they should ask that, as Johns-Manville owns the world's largest asbestos mine. But Rock Wool is not asbestos. In making it, molten rock is actually "blown" into soft, fleecy fibres. Installed in your home, this wool-like material provides as much protection against heat and cold as eleven feet of solid stone. It literally "pulls the wool" over Old Sol's eye and in winter, saves up to 30% on fuel bills. For free literature, and name of your J-M dealer, call J. S. WHY NOT GO ALL THE WAY?

The Canadian Government, through the Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has announced that the people of Canada must substantially reduce their consumption of tea, coffee and sugar as part of the national war effort.

The new rulings will be accepted and obeyed by all loyal Canadians, but it would appear that the time has come for the Government to institute some clear-cut form of coupon rationing.

When rationing of sugar was instituted the argument presented against the coupon system was that it would be too complicated for a single commodity, but with the gradual extension of the list of products covered the Federal Government might now reasonably institute the coupon book system.

MORE ACTION, LESS TALK NEEDED

While the people of Canada willingly admit that certain controls are needed over the expenditures of public monies, even in wartime, they are becoming rather fed up with the display being staged at the present time in Ottawa where, under the guise of debating the War Appropriations Bill, members are discoursing at length on almost every conceivable subject.

These measures have been argued long enough for the public interest and the debate might well be suspended to allow the key ministers to return to their departmental duties instead of being held in their House of Commons seats for interminable hours to answer often petty questions in a generally senseless debate.

PLANNING THE NAVAL WAR

Arrival in London of both the United States Chief of Naval Aeronautics and the head of the United States army air forces is not only a sign of planning for the aerial offensive against Continental Europe which will precede and accompany Allied invasion; it also demonstrates Allied determination to cope with the more urgent problem of the two great sea flanks to the Continental front.

Only this week the German high command claims a new air attack on a convoy somewhere between Iceland and North Cape, Norway. There also is the continual threat in the North of the Nazi fleet units, from the Super-dreadnaught Tirpitz, holed up now beneath the protecting cliffs of Trondheim, to the slippery Cruiser Prinz Eugen. The British forces have battered desperately at these units with torpedo planes and other weapons in their arsenal. They have caused damage, but they have fallen short of the knockout. The Prinz Eugen got away from Norway to Kiel last week, hurt but afloat.

The weak spot in British naval air strength is believed by many to be lack of dive bombers. Dive bombers are the specialty of Rear-Admiral John Towers, who heads the naval section of the new mission to London. Lt-Gen. Henry Arnold heads the army section.

These officers find already established in England the commander of United States naval forces in European waters, Admiral Harold Stark.

They also can get the first-hand Mediterranean picture from Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, until recently Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet, who now is in London on his way to head the British naval delegation in Washington.

Admiral Cunningham believes that complete Mediterranean victory is a matter of meeting Axis naval and air strength with an equal combination of British and United States air and sea forces. Had that prevailed at the end of 1940, he hints, Italy would have been knocked out of the war.

But the Axis, through tremendous Mediterranean air reinforcement, has dealt heavy recent blows to the British fleet there: Three new destroyers sunk in one day, widespread devastation at Malta.

On the horizon is the menace of a French fleet in the hands of the Germans. It is reported in London that Pierre Laval, chief of the so-called Vichy Government, has given the Germans permission to train sailors at French naval yards—to show them how to man the French warships.

That is a step the Allies have feared, for they have counted heavily on the French navy's personnel to refuse to fight for Germany. If these reports are true, the main French men-o-war at Toulon could not even escape to Africa in the event of a Nazi coup—they are said to have been drained of their oil.

THE NAZIS TEST SOUTH AMERICA

The first big test of the Nazis' ability to cripple the war effort of the United States by fomenting revolt in South America may be taking shape in Argentina, where a political crisis is on the horizon, centering on the eyes of the President—who is not the president of that country.

In this strange drama, Dr. Ramon Castroviejo, New York eye specialist, has gone to Buenos Aires to see what treatment is necessary for the eyes of the titular chief of the Argentine Republic, Roberto Ortiz. The eyes of Ortiz were the reason for his retirement from the Presidency about two years ago. In Ortiz' absence, the duties of the Presidency have been exercised by Vice-President Ramon Castillo, whose administration adopted a policy of "neutrality toward all" in the war and was responsible for preventing a unanimous New World break with the Axis powers at the American Foreign Ministers Conference in Rio de Janeiro.

If Ortiz' ailment can be cured, there would be no legal reason why he should not return to the Presidency, and if he should do so, his friends have indicated, he would comply with the popular demand within his country to break Argentina away from all connection with the Axis.

It is a political axiom in Buenos Aires, however, that in spite of his health Ortiz would not have quit the Presidency even temporarily had he had the support of the army. The converse is considered equally true: That he cannot return to the Presidency without the support of the army.

At the time Ortiz retired from official life, former President Augustin Justo, a general with a large political following in the army was against him. Justo previously had helped Ortiz become President, but they split on domestic issues. Today Justo, who wants to be President again, approves more of Ortiz' pro-Americanism than he does of Castillo's neutrality.

That leaves the crucial unknown factor: How much of the historic German influence, flowing from German training and German-made weapons, is left in the Argentine army? Some say this influence is strong. A few identify it as the real reason for Castillo's refusal to line up with the United States. Others aver that Nazi power is more propaganda than actuality. Whatever the truth may be, Hitler can be depended on to use his influence to its fullest extent to prevent Argentina from joining the world-wide front against his "New Order."

B. C. MERCHANTS SEEK ECONOMY

Business men of British Columbia, with the cheerful co-operation of consumers, have put into effect a programme designed to conserve rubber, gasoline and other supplies needed for the war effort.

Deliveries have been drastically curtailed and "pooled" in many parts of the province and even wrapping paper and string are being saved by wrapping only those articles which definitely require it. Officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board B. C. Regional Office have praised the initiative of businessmen who started the conservation campaign on a voluntary basis weeks ago.

The Retail Merchants Association has recommended the banning of door-to-door peddling, of premiums and wholesale-consumer selling; that wholesale grocery deliveries be gradually reduced to one weekly; and that the public be induced to use shopping bags.

There will be no ladies' style shows, except when staged for patriotic purposes and sponsored by some patriotic organization. Laundries, dry cleaners and linen supply firms now deliver but once weekly to homes, and there are no special deliveries. Work required in less than one week must be delivered and picked up by the customer.

FROM THE RECORD FILES

Brome County residents are today voting on a county municipal by-law proposing to ban the sale of liquor. The vote terminates an active campaign by both parties.

Among those taking part in a concert given by the Coaticook Methodist Church choir were Prof. A. Sunbury, Prof. F. Dudley, Albert Blier, Miss Amy Tompkins, Miss Edith Tompkins, Merritt Smith, Dr. Cromwell.

It is understood that only the question of assuring an adequate water supply is delaying the agreement whereby King's Hall School will move from Compton to Coaticook.

Great Britain is going through another industrial crisis owing to the strike of some 248,000 transport workers in the London area which threatened to spread throughout the country.

The officers elected at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Eastman Church were Mrs. F. Shilson, Mrs. H. L. Stowe, Mrs. J. Dingman, Mrs. J. T. Seale and Miss Mabel Taylor.

At the annual meeting of the Christian Endeavour of the Inverness Methodist Church the following were elected as officers: Mr. W. H. Lambly, Rev. J. I. Hughes, Rev. J. M. Miller, Miss Annie Mackenzie, Mrs. James McKelvie, Mr. Norman Lambly, Miss Etta McKillop and Mrs. Norman Lambly.

A Nazi airman captured on British soil was truculently loyal to his master.

When interrogated, this is all he would say: "The Fuehrer saved me from Poland. . . The Fuehrer saved me from France. . . The Fuehrer will save me from England."

"He'd better be quick," remarked the examining officer. "You're off to Canada tomorrow."

"My friend," said a solemn man, "have you ever done aught to make the community in which you live the better for your living in it?"

"I have done much," replied the other humbly, "to purify the homes of my fellow-beings."

"Ah!" continued the solemn man, with a pleased look, "you distribute tracts?"

"No, I clean carpets."

A steward stood at the gangway of the liner and kept shouting for the benefit of the arriving passengers, "First class to the right, second class to the left."

A young woman stepped daintily aboard with a baby in her arms. As she hesitated before the steward, he bent over her and said in his most chivalrous way, "First or second?"

A lady who had engaged a new cook made a tour of inspection after she had kept her a week. She found a policeman locked up in the pantry.

The duty officer at a coast observation post watched a lone British bomber flying up and down a stretch of clear sky.

"Get into communication with that fool," he roared, "and tell him it's dangerous to fly like that."

In due time the reply of the solitary airman was reported to him. It ran:

"It's all right, I'm only the bait. There are twenty Spitfires above the clouds and watching."

THE SHIPS GET THROUGH

Moncton Transcript The loss of the British cruiser Edinburgh will be deeply regretted but the Germans can derive little satisfaction from the encounter in the North Sea on the Arctic supply route. In a running battle lasting several days in which two British convoys were involved, three cargo ships bound for Murmansk were sunk, but ninety per cent of the convoy got safely to its destination, whilst the returning convoy lost only one ship travelling in ballast. The German losses included a destroyer sunk, another damaged and three bombers shot down. With many advantages on their side, including the use of harbors along the Norwegian coast from which to operate and air bases from which their planes can take off, the Germans have been unable to stop the flow of supplies to Russia via the Northern route. All winter long the ships have been getting through, with little news of losses sustained. If the Nazis could take a toll of only ten per cent in an engagement such as this, it is safe to estimate the average losses at a lower figure. Russia has been getting the supplies and the Germans have been feeling the effects along the Eastern front. The desperate effort to cut the supply line suggests how effective British aid to Russia has been proving.

THIS NEEDLESS LOSS OF BURMA

New York Herald Tribune The last exhausted remnants of Burma's Anglo-Indian defenders have abandoned the field to the Japanese. While the Chinese have not been expelled and we by no means admit that they are going to be, or that Japanese advances into their own Yunnan Province have any importance, four-fifths of another strategically important British possession is now under undisputed Japanese control and cannot be recovered except by a major military effort.

The worst of this defeat is that it should not have happened. This was a preventable disaster, as we shall shortly be told by as many embittered witnesses as have already testified to the miscalculations that made the British debacle in Malaya possible. In this newspaper there appeared a dispatch from Calcutta by Daniel de Luce who was with the Anglo-Indian Army in Burma. In this he says that if available Chinese forces had been used in time, that country could not only have been held but would not be a base for raids on Siam.

For the fighting men and their commanders he has nothing but praise. Against the colonial government he brings the familiar charges of "political intrigue, bureaucratic friction and careerist ambitions" but the fatal error of judgment was the rejection of Chinese help until after the Anglo-Indian Army was exhausted, out of deference to native Burmese ministers in the colonial government, who protested against admitting Chinese to their country.

This explanation of the disaster is not Mr. de Luce's invention. Every one who has been in touch with responsible Chinese in this country knows that Chungking was fully prepared in December to anticipate the Japanese attack on Burma, which amounted to little until the end of January, by rushing substantial forces all the way down the Gulf of Martaban and to man the Eastern

THE JUMPER

The world is left behind us when he flings His weight upon the snaffle. As we rise, His muscles—coiling steel against my thighs—Release and straighten like heroic springs. Below are turf and brush and bars and wings; But like a foreign scene their pattern lies. We are hiatus-held between the skies And earth we left . . . until it leaps and swings To meet us. He must judge. A second late Will break the perfect rhythm of descent . . . He wins! The stands applaud a five-bar gate Well done. They cannot guess the road he went. Hoarding is playing right into Hitler's hand. It creates dissatisfaction among thousands of people who can't afford to build up reserves, and who would be content to go without if everyone were in the same boat.

In the first scene the old woman refused to purchase a dream from the peddler who offered to give her one. In the second scene the old woman was sleeping in her chair and the peddler commanded the other characters to punish her for her mean disposition.

The fairy then awakened her and the old woman thanked them all for her beautiful dream and purchased the remainder of the peddler's wares.

A soprano solo, "Au Clair de la Lune," was sweetly sung by R. Roy. Vividly attired in scarlet uniforms and led by F. Harper, Jr., as drummer, a group of soldiers, W. Paige, S. Allen, M. Parker, R. McKinnon, G. Morey, B. Robb, D. Morey and D. Hall, marched on and sang, "There's Something About a Soldier." They then gave a drill display, which was concluded with a snappy military tap dance by M. SOUTH AFRICA SORRY TO CUT FRENCH LINKS

South African News Letter Reviews Recent Developments in Union — Government Finds General Support.

Cape Town, May 27.—(C)—Development in the Vichy Government of France have made it impossible for the British Union of South Africa to continue diplomatic relations with it, said the recently published text of Prime Minister J. C. Smuts' note to French Minister de Simonin asking him to inform the French Government of the Union Government's wish that the French representative, ministerial and consular, be withdrawn from South Africa.

After referring to the Union's anxiety in the past to continue friendly relations with the French Government even after the German-French armistice of 1940, the note continues:

"Changes have now taken place in the French Government from which the Union Government has to infer with sorrow that the French Government has no doubt under strong pressure, decided rationally to alter its course and accept collaboration with the Axis. Under these circumstances normal diplomatic relations with France will be discontinued."

M. de Simonin will remain in Pretoria till the end of May when he and his family will leave to take up residence in the United States.

If you are eligible for NEW, USED or RETREADED TIRES—

the Firestone Dealer will show you how to make out the necessary application for a tire ration permit

Under the latest Government Tire Restrictions, new or used tires and tubes and retreading service can only be sold to certain defined operators.

Such operators must fill out an application form which must be accompanied by an Inspection Report from an authorized Tire Dealer. These are submitted to the Regional Office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, which issues the Tire Rationing Permit now necessary for the purchase of any new or used tire or tube or retreading service.

Official Tire Information

Your nearest Firestone Dealer has the necessary forms and official information. He will gladly advise you which category you are in and what you are able to purchase, will help you fill in the application, furnish the Inspection Report, and do everything he can to assist you.

Even more important, the Firestone Dealer will give you the advice and help on how to get the utmost mileage from your present tires. For a quarter of a century, Firestone has been selecting and training dealers so that they could help you get the greatest mileage from your tires, with the greatest safety and at the lowest cost per mile. This experience is now invaluable to you. Whenever you need tire advice, or tire service, go to your nearest Firestone Dealer first—he will serve you better and save you money.

How to Get the Most Mileage from Your Present Tires

1. Have the Firestone Dealer estimate the number of miles left in the tires—then ration your mileage to so many miles per week.
2. Limit your driving to essential transportation. If you drive to work, take others—and rotate trips with them.
3. Have air pressure checked every week. Underinflation is the greatest enemy of tire life.
4. Drive slowly—avoid quick starts and stops that grind off the tread. Go easy on curves and use gears instead of brakes on steep hills.
5. Park with care—do not scrape sidewalks or bump the curb.

THE FIRESTONE DEALER CAN HELP YOU BY

1. Completely inspecting tires and tubes at frequent intervals for cuts and bruises.
2. Rotating the tires every 3,000 miles to even the wear.
3. Checking wheel alignment and brakes.

No needless or unnecessary expense—work done only when required.

A copy of Firestone's "Tire Saving Guide," explaining in detail how you can increase tire mileage, will gladly be sent upon request. Write today to Firestone Tire & Rubber Company of Canada Limited, Beach Road, Hamilton, Ontario.

TWO SPEAKERS AT MEETING IN COWANSVILLE

Mrs. Allan Biggar, B.A., and Madame F. X. A. Giroux Address Members of Red Cross Society Branch.

Cowansville, May 27.—At the May meeting of the Red Cross Society two fine addresses were given, one by Mrs. Allan Biggar, B.A., on the International Red Cross, and the second by Madame F. X. A. Giroux on the Blood Donor service of the Society.

Mrs. Biggar explained that prisoners of war included men captured in the fighting forces, civilian passengers and crews of merchant ships, or those shot down in airplanes landing on enemy territory, and men, women and children taken in enemy occupied countries and interned.

The British Red Cross Society is responsible for the care of all prisoners belonging to the British Empire, and it has asked the Canadian Red Cross to assist it by packing and dispatching a certain number of parcels of food each week.

In January, 1942, we were sending 15,000 food parcels a week and also 5,000 paid for by the Australian Red Cross, 2,500 for the New Zealand Red Cross, and 17,500 for the British Red Cross, making a total of 40,000 parcels each week.

Each parcel received by the chief item of Red Cross expenditure, and the bill would be a great deal bigger if the Red Cross had to pay for packing of the parcels, but luckily they are all packed by voluntary workers.

The cost of the food is met from the money subscribed to the general funds of the Society in response to its annual appeals.

After reaching Geneva, parcels are put on board trains with a Red Cross representative in charge, and on arrival at the prisoners' camp are given over to the British prisoner chosen as spokesman by his fellow prisoners.

In each parcel there is placed a postcard addressed to the Canadian Red Cross in Toronto, these are signed by the prisoner receiving a parcel and they have been coming in thousands to the Enquiry Bureau at Ottawa.

At Geneva information cards are kept, different colors for different nationalities, as green for French, pink for Germans, mauve for Poles, and so on. In addition to these there are white cards on which are entered applications for news from families of prisoners, and a special card index of all sick and wounded prisoners.

The Educational Book Section of the British Red Cross arranges for prisoners to continue their education for examinations and vocational training and so prepare themselves for post-war activities. Articles needed are tooth powder (not paste), tooth brushes, shoe laces, woolen socks and warm undergarments.

Exchange of prisoners is another important function of the International Red Cross. "Meanwhile wherever they are, wherever they may go, there go I," the world-wide organization of the Red Cross.

Madame Giroux graphically described how Canadians have an interest in efforts which are being made to assist those who are really in the front line of this war.

During the month of January over 6,000 citizens showed tangible evidence of voluntarily donating about three-quarters of a pint of their blood for the preparation of blood serum used in treatment of shock in war casualties. This service will continue until the Red Cross is able to call at least 3,000 donors per week to the blood donor clinics across Canada.

Blood lost in accidents or operations can be replaced by the blood of another person provided the blood of patient and donor is of types which can be mixed together.

This procedure is one requiring hospital equipment and cannot be readily undertaken in hastily equipped quarters. In recent years efforts have been made to simplify transfusions through the use of preserved blood stored in "blood banks" so that considerable quantities are available, but the wastage is high, as it is difficult to transport, must not be frozen and not more than a few weeks old.

As a result of extensive research there is today available for use of war casualties a preparation called "Normal Human Serum—Pooled and Dried."

Although this serum does not contain red cells, it does contain proteins and is a very useful preparation to be administered following the loss of blood in hemorrhage and in the treatment of burns and shock.

The President, Mrs. H. Winsler, described a visit she made to the Blood Donor Clinic in Montreal.

Australian Ants, Camouflage Artists

During the month of January over 6,000 citizens showed tangible evidence of voluntarily donating about three-quarters of a pint of their blood for the preparation of blood serum used in treatment of shock in war casualties. This service will continue until the Red Cross is able to call at least 3,000 donors per week to the blood donor clinics across Canada.

Blood lost in accidents or operations can be replaced by the blood of another person provided the blood of patient and donor is of types which can be mixed together.

This procedure is one requiring hospital equipment and cannot be readily undertaken in hastily equipped quarters. In recent years efforts have been made to simplify transfusions through the use of preserved blood stored in "blood banks" so that considerable quantities are available, but the wastage is high, as it is difficult to transport, must not be frozen and not more than a few weeks old.

As a result of extensive research there is today available for use of war casualties a preparation called "Normal Human Serum—Pooled and Dried."

Although this serum does not contain red cells, it does contain proteins and is a very useful preparation to be administered following the loss of blood in hemorrhage and in the treatment of burns and shock.

The President, Mrs. H. Winsler, described a visit she made to the Blood Donor Clinic in Montreal.

In a very thoughtful and earnest manner Douglas Hamilton proposed a toast to the Christian Church. This was responded to by Rev. S. W. Boyd and Rev. J. Peacock.

Joyce Cassidy expressed keen appreciation of the labors and patience of their teachers and responses were given by Mrs. Bernice McClatchie, Mrs. Irene Acheson, Miss M. Phelps and Miss Brouillette, French specialist. Principal Arthur also paid tribute to the pupils of the High School whom he had found most responsive to all appeals made to them and most capable in carrying out any project.

The principal address of the evening was given by Mrs. A. Biggar, who held the undivided attention of all present as she painted in glowing colors the possibilities that lay ahead, the advantages of University life and the necessity of persevering in whatever line of work or study undertaken. Mrs. Biggar visited Germany in the summer of 1933 and described many things she saw there, which are now bearing fruit.

Mr. Arthur expressed keen appreciation of Mrs. Biggar's address and he thanked all who had contributed to the success of the banquet, which he hoped would be an annual affair. The programme closed with the singing of the school song, Dancing followed the banquet.

Several ladies gathered at the High School one day last week to work on a quilt that was pieced by the girls of the High School.

Work clothes need more than ordinary washing...

The neckbands and fronts of house dresses and smocks collect dirt — need special attention.

It's amazing the grime that collects on the cuffs of Junior's school shirts, his collars and shorts.

Men's work shirts and overalls get badly soiled and grimy — are hard to wash clean.

You must have Sunlight's "EXTRA-SOAPINESS" for those extra-dirty parts

IT'S true of every family's wash that the garments in it are worse soiled in some parts than others. The general "all over" soiling, naturally, is easy to remove—any good soap will do it. But for those extra dirty parts where the dirt is rubbed right into the fabric you need Sunlight's "extra-soapiness".

Because of Sunlight's wonderful "extra-soapiness" you can get right at the dirt. No hard rubbing—just a touch leaves a thin film of Sunlight in contact with the dirt—and this thin film is sufficient to loosen every speck of grime and leave the garment spotlessly fresh and clean.

Once you've tried the Sunlight method you'll want to use it always—for laundry and household cleaning. Sunlight is all-pure soap—safe for everything you wash, mild and gentle to your hands, too.

You can't do without SUNLIGHT SOAP. A LEVER PRODUCT

Waterloo, May 27.—An event of interest to a wide circle of friends was the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Standish, which they observed on Saturday, May 23, at their home on Western Avenue.

Both the bride of nearly eighty years and the groom of eighty-three still enjoy good health and are able to look after their own home with as much interest and thoroughness as in the earlier years of their lives.

The happy couple were recipients of numerous letters and cards from relatives and friends on the occasion, as well as telegrams from Debert, N.S., and Paulson, Man., from relatives in the service.

Among the relatives who were in attendance were an uncle of Mrs. Standish, Mr. James Purdy, of Waterloo, who is in his ninety-fourth year, a granddaughter, Mrs. William Ball, a little great-grandson, Mas-

Howard Krist Records Fifteenth Mound Win

St. Louis Tops Chicago Cubs 3-1 for Krist's 15th Victory Over Spread of Four Seasons—Braves Stay Up in Second Place by Spilling Giants 4-2—Yankees Continue Domination of American League by Belting Red Sox 9-2 with 13-Hit Assault.

It is high time for someone to introduce Howard (Spud) Krist to the baseball public because his pitching record for St. Louis Cardinals is one of the most remarkable in the big major leagues—Fifteen victories and one defeat spread over four seasons.

The tall righthander was overlooked last year when everybody was agog about Whit Wyatt, Kirby Higbe, Thornton Lee, the comeback of Lefty Gomez and the promise of Howie Pollet. But Krist won ten games without a loss in 1941 and he has won two more without a setback this season.

Krist's specialty is relief and it was in this role that he earned his second success yesterday as the Cardinals curbed Chicago Cubs 3-1 in 10 innings.

Three men singled, one run was in and two were out when Krist strolled to the mound in the eighth with the score tied. He promptly forced Olsen to pop to Shortstop Martin Marion. Then in the 10th Enos Slaughter and Coaker Triplett knocked in two St. Louis runs and Krist checked the Cubs although giving up a single and a walk.

In the day's only other National League game Boston Braves retained their grip on second place by turning back New York Giants 4-2. Three of Boston's runs were scored in the first two innings off lefty Cliff Melton, who had beaten the Braves three times last year and twice this spring without a setback.

New York Yankees continued their domination of the American League by belting Boston Red Sox 9-2 with a thirteen-hit assault while Atley Donald pitched six-hit ball. It was the World Champions' 15th victory in their last eighteen games.

The Bombers hit three home runs in one game for the first time this season and two of them, by Tom Henrich and Charley Keller, came in the first inning, each with a man on base. Frank Crosetti led off with one in the fifth. In rebuttal, Ted Williams hit his 12th of the season with one on in the third for Boston's only runs.

Washington smeared Philadelphia Athletics 8-3 as Steve Sunda kept seven hits and pitched carefully in the pinches.

At Cleveland, Les Fleming punched out a ninth-inning single that drove Jeff Heath and Buster Mills across the plate for the Tribe's first triumph in six starts. The 2-1 setback was the seventh of the season

Sport Shorts From Britain

London, May 27. — (C) — Sport shorts from Britain: Ballynennan Moon is the wonder dog of British greyhound racing, but the pooch has no sentiment.

Trainer Sidney Orton, a superstitious fellow, thought Bally would stand an excellent chance of breaking the Charlton Track record in the Spring Cup Final if he wore the collar of greyhound's immortal Mick the Miller. He placed it about Bally's neck before driving to the track.

Before Charlton was reached Bally had shown his disbelief in charms by chewing the collar to pieces. Then he went out and didn't break the track record.

But Bally has won 19 of his 30 races since coming to England from Ireland last summer.

After June 1 British racing will be confined almost exclusively to horses under five years of age. It's a step towards reducing the number of racers in training, a war economy measure that's none too popular with veteran track followers.

Horses over four have formed the backbone of handicaps for many years and many well-known racers will disappear from the track.

"Nursery Handicaps"—handicaps for two-year-olds—will start August 1, one month earlier than previously permitted.

Lionel van Praag, British speedway ace who made crowds gasp at his daredevil antics, is announced as winner of the George Medal "for the highest bravery" while serving with the Royal Australian Air Force.

He was second pilot of an aircraft attacked by Japanese planes and forced to land on the sea last January. The aircraft sank and the crew of four took to their lifebelts. Van Praag helped support an unconscious member of the crew and also towed a non-swimmer. They were in the water 30 hours and beat off several shark attacks.

Giddings Refused Offer Of $40,000 For Ten To Ace

By SCOTT YOUNG (Canadian Press Staff Writer) Toronto, May 27.—(C)—A couple of interesting yarns have been added to the swiftly-growing biography of Ten to Ace since he came of age by winning the King's Plate.

One has it that three American horsemen visited Toronto this spring with a $40,000 offer for Harry Giddings' colt, but shied off. Another concerns the colt's birth, which almost wasn't successful because his dam, Royale, stretched out on a sharp piece of wood in a pasture while heavy with foal. It could have ended the Tennesseer's racing career before he was dropped, but fortunately was discovered before damage was done.

Random thought: That's the only way Ten to Ace could have lost the Plate—by not being born.

Think this over: Hal (Vancouver Sun) Straight thinks gasoline rationing may change the present style of fishing, because plugs and bait need a speed ordinary mortals can't get out of a rowboat. (Ed. note: Or some outboards, either.)

Incidentally: Montreal Bulldogs may score a few more touchdowns this year if they can get the services of P.O. Bob Fritz, who will be stationed at Lachine as an R.C.A.F. physical training instructor. . . . Lieut. Ralph Wilson, a former sports editor of the Calgary Herald, has written an excellent communique on the place of sports in the services. . . . An excerpt: "It is the desire of the Army at the conclusion of hostilities to discharge to civil life young men who are well-trained mentally and physically and who understand fully how important team play is to the success of anything." Lieut. Wilson is Press Liaison Officer for M.D. No. 13 at Calgary.

Lionel Conacher was 42 last Sunday. . . . A military hockey league in the Ottawa district next year may take all the play away from the Quebec Senior League in those parts. . . . Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson reports that Maurice Tillet, the world's most outstanding antithesis to the collar-and-type, averages about $2,900 weekly from his wrestling. . . . He banks carefully, has bought $15,000 in Canadian Victory Bonds, $45,000 in American Defence Bonds. . . . If he really wanted to help win the war he could have his picture on postcards and distributed judiciously. . . . It would scare the enemy to death.

LEAF'S RECORD 11TH STRAIGHT HOME VICTORY

Billy Nagel Leads Toronto to 4-2 Conquest of Rochester Red Wings—Orioles Shade Red Sox 5-4.

For a pitcher making his first appearance in Class AA ball, Ewell Blackwell, of Syracuse, has had more than his share of bad luck. Blackwell has made two starts for the International League Chiefs and has allowed only four hits a game—two in each contest.

He looked up in a brilliant mound duel with Bobby Coombs, of Jersey City Giants, last night and lost out by narrowest of margins, 1-0.

The Giants scored the winning run in the eighth when they loaded the bases on two hits and an error and continued at Nino Bongiovanni grounded out. It was Coombs' second straight shutout over Syracuse. Blackwell previously had been beaten by Newark Bears, 7-4.

Toronto Maple Leafs remained in a fourth-place tie with the Giants by defeating Rochester Red Wings 4-2. It was the Leafs' eleventh straight victory in their home orchard.

Billy Nagel, of Toronto, enjoyed a perfect day at the plate with a homer, triple and single in three tries. His three bagger drove in the winning run in the sixth.

Baltimore Orioles pounded Al Gerberus for seven hits and five runs as they beat Newark Bears 5-4. Bob Lemon started the assault with his twelfth home run of the season in the first inning with a mate aboard. Buffalo and Montreal were not scheduled the Bisons were active in the player mart, purchasing Outfielder Henry Steinbacher from Toledo of the American Association. Steinbacher was acquired to take the place of Ed (Shovel) Koback, regular gardener, who has moved behind the plate because of injuries to Catchers Jack Redmond and Bob Garbark.

Mathematics exam: Fred Hunter, the Red Sox scout, reports that college ball players are getting too good at figures since they heard about the bonus Dick Wakefield got for signing with the Tigers. . . . Recently one kid he approached demanded $15,000 for his signature and at the same time admitted he didn't know whether he could make the grade on the Sox Piedmont League farm. . . . Hunter asked how come, and the boy explained: "Well, Detroit gave Wakefield $45,000 and I think I'm a third as good a ball player as he is."

Last laugh: Down at the P.G.A. tournament, Cpl. Vic Ghezzi encountered Sam Snead, who will go into the navy right after the affair ends. . . . Vic remarked: "Sam, Gene Sarazen wanted you to go to Australia two years ago for a $5,000 guarantee. You didn't take it. Now it looks as if you will go there for nothing."
