Housing loan rate increase hit in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The opposition vilified the new National Housing Act mortgage rate Wednesday although the subject did not become a matter of formal Commons debate.

Opposition pressure obliged the Liberal government to permit a three-hour debate today.

The NHA rate on residential mortgages skipped to 7 1/4 per cent from 6 3/4 with an announcement late Tuesday by Labor Minister Nicholson.

For average buyer:

$4.63 extra monthly

OTTAWA (CP) — A prospective home buyer seeking an average 25-year, $15,000 National Housing Act mortgage will pay $4.63 more a month and $1,389 more over the full term under the new loan interest rate.

Labor Minister Nicholson announced Tuesday night that the NHA loan rate had been increased to 7 1/4 per cent from 6 3/4.

A Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. spokesman said Wednesday that the average NHA mortgage in 1965 was $15,120. The most popular term is 25 years—although loans may be made up to $18,000 with 35 years to pay.

A $15,000, 25-year loan under the new interest rate will cost a borrower $107.39 a month and $32,217 over the full term. Under the old interest rate, the figures were $102.76 monthly and $30,828 for the full amount. The figures apply only to loans on single-family dwellings.

Contraceptives

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons health and welfare committee will be asked to recommend that a form of control be substituted for the present criminal code ban on dissemination of contraceptives, says a reliable source.

It is understood that the proposal has been agreed upon by an all-party steering committee and will be placed before the main committee this week.

Lemay's lawyers work to crack Crown's case

MONTREAL (CP) — Defence lawyers resume their relentless efforts today to crack open the testimony of the Crown's chief witness who says Georges Lemay directed the $633,600 burglary of a downtown Montreal bank in 1961.

The witness, sturdily-built 45-year-old Jacques Lajoie, successfully withstood two days of fierce cross-examination by Lemay's lawyers attempting to discredit his testimony at Lemay's preliminary hearing on bank burglary charges.

Lemay, a 42-year-old former

At the Commons opening Wednesday, the opposition was ready with the charge that the government was trying to shut off debate on the subject with "sharp practice" in timing the announcement.

Under a new rule, Commons business for the rest of the week had previously been settled by all-party agreement. The surprise increase came, they said, with no time left in the session to talk about mortgage money.

Reid Scott (NDP — Toronto Danforth) asked for adjournment of regular business to provide for a day-long special debate.

Commons rules call on MPs to advise the Speaker only whether such a debate is urgent, but Mr. Scott and a squad of other opposition MPs used the next hour to get to the heart of the matter as well, with a scalding denunciation of the rate increase.

HAD FOOT IN DOOR

Although Speaker Lucien Lamoureux finally ruled against the special debate, the NDP had its foot in the door and a later meeting of the four House leaders agreed to set aside three hours on the subject today.

When the flare-up had been settled, less than two hours remained for the day's scheduled topic — spending estimates of State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, including the CBC grant.

Jack McIntosh (PC — Swift Current-Maple Creek) quickly moved to reduce the CBC operating budget to $1 from $107,943,000.

He passed corporation policy and opened the way for similar criticism by the rest of the opposition.

Only Conservatives voted solidly for the motion when it came to a division, and it was beaten 74 to 41.

Mr. McIntosh joined Creditiste and New Democratic MPs in criticizing the CBC for failing to extend network service to remote areas of Canada.

MARTIN AND GOLDBERG CONFER — Paul Martin, Canada's foreign secretary, raises his hand to emphasize a point to U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg at the United Nations yesterday. Martin had just finished a speech to the General Assembly in which he urged that both Red and Nationalist China be given seats in an effort to solve the 16-year-old question. (CP Wirephoto)

Canada's China plan gets little UN support

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada made its much-heralded suggestion for seating the Nationalist and Communist Chinese regimes in the United Nations Wednesday but there was little indication of support from other countries.

Indications were that most members of the 121-country General Assembly continued to support one regime or the other, but not both.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin tossed the idea into the assembly's debate on Chinese membership Wednesday and insisted that it is not a two-Chinas policy. Nevertheless, that is the way most delegations appeared to take it.

Martin suggested as an interim solution, both the Communist government of Peking and the Nationalist government of Formosa be seated, pending settlement by themselves of their conflicting jurisdictional claims. China's permanent Security Council seat would go to Peking.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg declined direct comment on Martin's speech but said the United States stands "absolutely firm" in its support of the Nationalist Chinese regime, which has continued to occupy China's assembly and Security Council seats despite its defeat by the Communists in the Chinese civil war in 1949.

Nationalist China's UN ambassador, Liu Chieh, said his government "is categorically against Mr. Martin's suggestion."

In recent statements Communist China has been equally firm in opposition to the two-Chinas idea.

Ambassador Tewfik Bouattoura from Algeria, one of Peking's staunchest African supporters, said: "The two-Chinas theory is out of step with legal realities, as China is one indivisible country."

Japanese Ambassador Akira Matsui said: "... I would not expect the Canadian statement to have any effect on the voting for the Italian proposal for a general committee study of the issue of Chinese representation. I believe this proposal will pass by a small margin, with a large number of countries abstain-

Economic council gets massive change

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson announced Wednesday he plans sweeping changes in Quebec's Economic Orientation Council.

Speaking to members of L'Association Professionnelle des Industriels — the Professional Association of Industrialists — Mr. Johnson said the changes in the council are aimed at giving it a more corporate nature so as to permit "dialogue."

"As it now is constituted, it is not linked sufficiently to the various sectors of the economy or to the most dynamic elements of the Quebec Community."

"We want to enlarge the bases to make of it a true economic and social council, where representatives of industry, commerce, agriculture and the large unions will be able to work together, in close collaboration with the state, to build the Quebec of tomorrow."

The Economic Orientation Council is a body formed in February, 1961, to participate in economic planning on a province-wide level by "advising and counselling the government of economic matters."

'Journalistic scavengers'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Governor John B. Connally of Texas struck heavily Wednesday at those he called "journalistic scavengers" such as Mark Lane.

Those motives he suspects have "political overtones" in casting doubt on the Warren commission report on the Kennedy assassination.

Connally told a questioner at a press conference that he had read none of the books criticizing the Warren report but had read a number of news stories and book reviews about them.

He said he still disagrees with the Warren commission on one facet of its investigation into the murder of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, but he said he sees no reason to reopen it.

Connally insisted he was hit by a bullet that did not hit President Kennedy.

The Warren commission said one bullet hit both men.

Lane is a New York lawyer who wrote Rush to Judgment, a book that is critical of the Warren commission and advances the argument there may have been an assassination plot involving more than one rifleman.

Lane was hired by Marguerite Oswald to represent her before the commission. Her son, Lee Harvey Oswald, was identified by the commission as Kennedy's assassin.

Space grant off because it doesn't pay

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is discontinuing its annual outlays on McGill University's high-altitude research program in the Caribbean because it isn't paying off in business terms.

Industry department officials say the program, nicknamed McGill-HARP, may find some commercial backing and appears likely to continue with financing from the United States, which first supported the work.

But unlike other and larger phases of the Canadian space research program, McGill HARP has not provided the technological advances, jobs and export business for which the industry department is required to spend taxpayers' money.

McGill's researches in Barbados have been based on firing highly-complicated testing devices into the sky by means of an old naval gun with a lengthened barrel.

The work is part of a U.S. research program into the upper atmosphere, dovetailing with similar work carried on by Canada and the U.S. at Churchill, Man.

By the end of next June, when federal assistance to McGill HARP will end, the treasury will have spent $4,300,000 on it. But the country now is spending $15,000,000 a year on upper atmosphere and space research through the Churchill rocket range, the satellites Alouette and II, and the forthcoming series of Isis satellites.

Officials down the line from Industry Minister Drury and Deputy Minister Simon Reisman—both McGill graduates—gave the McGill program searching study before deciding a year ago that investment through the industry department can no longer be justified.

They searched other departments and agencies of the federal government for another bill-payer, more directly concerned with pure research, but found none willing to pick up the tab.

FARMING TODAY

There is more of the good than the bad in Canada's changing farm picture, a Canadian government assessment finds. For a report on this and other details of national farming today, see page 9.

Farm strike justified by low incomes says OFU

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Farmers have more justification than any other group in Canada to call a strike, John Dolmer, president of the Ontario Farmers' Union, said Wednesday.

Mr. Dolmer told about 300 delegates to the OFU's annual convention that farm income leaves much to be desired despite the fact agricultural workers have increased production during the last six years.

"For too many years the booming economy of the country has been riding on the farmer's back," he said. "The farmer is becoming tired of producing cheap food for other sectors of society."

A resolution asking OFU members to withhold produce from the market until satisfactory farm prices are obtained will be put to convention delegates today.

The resolution, submitted by the Markdale local of Grey County, also asks for co-operation of all transporters and operators handling farm produce in the event of a strike.

Mr. Dolmer said statistics show that farm prices have only increased 6.6 per cent since 1949 while farm costs have risen 57.7 per cent.

"Is it any wonder that many good, efficient farmers are leaving the business," he asked.

Earlier, Mrs. Grace MacInnis, New Democratic Party member of Parliament for Vancouver-Kingsway and a member of the Senate - Commons committee on consumer credit and prices, said an investigation of food prices is useless without immediate action.

"We must be vigilant or the report could end up pigeonholed next to other similar reports of earlier years," Mrs. MacInnis said.

She said the committee will show evidence of waste and inefficiency between the producer and consumer, but it is up to the government to act.

The government will only move as fast as the people behind it, she said.

She said advertising and promotional gimmicks account for 40 per cent of what consumers pay for chain store goods.

Mrs. MacInnis suggested creating a consumer-orientated economy by establishing more co-operatives in Canada as a means of combating high prices.

She said consumers are being sold a bill of goods when they are told they are living in an affluent society, but not every one is sharing the affluence.

Air talks apart

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada and union negotiators resume talks today after adjourning a few minutes before midnight Wednesday night following day-long efforts to end the machinists' strike against the airline.

The negotiating teams called it a night after their third meeting Wednesday, most of it spent in separate talks by union and airline officials.

The strike by the 5,200-member International Association of Machinists has grounded the entire fleet of 86 Air Canada aircraft since pickets were called out Nov. 14. Another 4,000 airline employees were forced out of work.

The negotiating teams met for 20 minutes Wednesday morning and then adjourned so that each side could review its position. They met again in the afternoon and then again for about 20 minutes late at night.

Prime Minister Pearson said in Ottawa the government has urged Air Canada President, Gordon McGregor, to settle the strike by the machinists through direct negotiations and without government intervention.

SENDS TELEGRAM

Mr. Pearson sent a telegram to Mike Rygas, Canadian vice-president of the union, in which he said he "strongly urged" Air Canada to work toward a settlement.

The prime minister's telegram was in reply to one he received from Mr. Rygas who asked Mr. Pearson to clarify reports that Labor Minister Nicholson and Transport Minister Pickersgill told Air Canada that they support the Crown-owned airline's stand in the wage dispute.

The government repeatedly has rejected opposition demands in the House of Commons for the appointment of a federal mediator in the dispute.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television viewers with an interest in news must be familiar with what CBS' Marvin Kalb Tuesday night called China's Guided Tour No. 1.

This, he explained, is the triangular route of tourists and journalists between Peking, Shanghai and Wuhai.

CBS sent a West German crew on the No. 1 tour recently. The result was the usual portrait of busy smiling people marching and singing in spotless streets, happily picking perfect vegetables in rich green fields, eating well and living in adequate if slightly beat up quarters. And lots of pictures of cute, chubby children.

To make the program something more than a travelogue, three writers who recently visited China were asked to comment on the film and explain it.

The result was a gentle and sympathetic description of a nation fighting overpopulation and shortages of food and machines as it guides a social revolution.

Dr. Han Suyin, China-born physician-writer, had interesting reactions. She emphasized the presence of so many children.

"It isn't that there are more babies, but it's just that fewer babies die," she said.

The most interesting observations often were the small ones. The excellent quality of food served in train dining cars; the "complete and total absence of sin" in modern Shanghai which once had 80,000 prostitutes; 10,000 bars and night clubs and terrible poverty.

Chameleons can look up with one eye and down with the other simultaneously.

Non-violence disciple at U of S

By CLAUDE LABRECQUE (Record Staff Reporter)

Just before I walked into the cafeteria of the University of Sherbrooke yesterday noon I knew I would find there, speaking to the lunching students a poet, disciple of non-violence and Mahatma Gandhi, Lanza des Vasto.

When I walked into the cafeteria and glanced toward the corner rostrum I saw an apparition from the Old Testament. The speaker was clothed in white and blue, wore sandals, had a snow-white beard and on his breast was a cross, a symbol I guessed of "peace on earth good will to men."

By the time I got rid of my bulky coat and squeezed in with some other students intent on finding out about this strange man, I discovered he had finished his main talk and was now trying to answer some of the questions put to him by the young students.

"Non-violence asks so much sacrifice from the individual and taking into consideration the materialistic nature of our North American society, don't you think it might be hard to implement it out here?" asked one student across the filled room.

"Yes, I can appreciate what you are driving at" said Lanza del Vasto speaking in perfect French, "but remember it is just as hard to be violent, you must in your society be brave and heroic and go to war, surely you can appreciate the difficulty here also."

"Non-violence however is not just not being violent, or neutral, non-violence tends toward the spiritual and agricultural, as well as disappearing of war."

MODERATION

"Non-violence is also practicing moderation" he said. Later he explained to a questioning student that within the philosophy of non-violence was the thought of making economy and man's production less than man himself so that man might be able to dominate his world.

When asked to comment on the Americans in Vietnam he said: "I don't know all the ramifications to the problem but over and above this I don't seem to comprehend what a country is doing defending its territory so far from its territory."

Another student asked if Mr. del Vasto knew about the article in La Presse in which it was said that the Catholic Bishops in the States gave their moral support for the American effort in Viet Nam. To this the disciple of peace said: "No, I didn't know about it, but it doesn't surprise me."

The question period was soon over.

Lanza and his wife Chantrelle are guests of the University of Sherbrooke until today after which they leave for New York where they will be taking in a Peace Movement. They have been away from France, their home, for nearly a year. In this period of time they have visited Latin America where they have recruited

Teenager killed, two hurt in crash

COATICOOK—(Staff) — One Berlin, New Hampshire teenager is dead and two others injured following an accident within the limits of Coaticook about 5 p.m. last night.

Hotel fire causes damage

ASBESTOS — (Staff) — A small fire which caused considerable damage broke out in the Hotel Gaspe in Asbestos yesterday afternoon around 3:30 p.m. Within a half hour the fire was under control but the smoke and flames caused approximately $4,000 in damage.

Asbestos Municipal firemen who went out to the scene as well as others, could not determine the cause of the fire which they were told raged for an hour in the kitchen before it was discovered.

The firemen put out the flames with fire extinguishers from the hotel.

Proprietors running afoul of basement construction bylaws?

Possibly more than 100 city home apartment owners could be breaking the city of Sherbrooke's building construction by-laws, concerning basement construction.

If you are using or renting a basement for either a spare room or apartment you could have problems with the building inspector.

It depends on whether your basement is a "basement" as defined by the building regulations or a "cellar" as defined by the building regulations.

According to the city of Sherbrooke's building bylaws a cellar is defined as "The lowest part of any building, where half or more of the height measured from the floor to the ceiling is under the mean level of the street in the front of the said building or under the mean level of the ground in its natural condition or as modified in the front of the said building."

A basement is defined as "The lowest storey in any building of which half the height, measured from the floor to the ceiling, is above the mean level of the street in the front of the said building or is above the mean level of the surrounding ground in its natural condition as modified in the front of the said building."

According to the same by-law article 215 states that "No habitable room be erected in cellars. But the definition of an habitable room states, "it will be permitted to build and use bedroom boudoirs, living rooms, play or studyrooms or any other rooms of the same nature as long as there are not more than three rooms, in a basement that has a minimum height of seven feet clear from floor to ceiling and also that these rooms are integral to the same house and that these rooms be accessible from the said dwelling by a private stairway."

"This regulation will not allow a separate dwelling having this height nor the installation of kitchen, kitchenettes or dising room the construction of cup-board with sink or stove will not be allowed in the rooms described above; consequently all rooms finished in a basement which would be rented as a separate dwelling will have to conform to article 221."

Article 221 defines a habitable room.

The directors of the chamber have recommended to the city council that sufficient space be left vacant in the proposed city hall to accommodate the Registry Office of the county. The reason for the recommendation, said the press release, was that quite often the city makes use

Firemen require support of public

From time to time Sherbrooke area residents are asked to assist in some particular public service that involves them in no financial sacrifice and which brings important results to the beneficiaries.

One such project is the annual Christmas workshop organized by the employees of the local fire department.

Each year the firemen accept the responsibility of collecting used and even damaged toys, repairing them and then distributing them to underprivileged children at the Christmas season.

Public participation in this project is limited to the contribution of such old toys as may be found around the house, perhaps leftovers from previous Christmas seasons which the rapidly-developing youngsters of today find no longer interesting.

The individual is asked to contribute neither time nor money. Nor is he asked to go out and purchase new toys.

The firemen estimate that at least 360 families would miss a visit from Santa Claus this year except for the valuable work they are carrying out.

To provide for the needs of these youngsters, 3,500 toys are required in addition to those already in stock.

In a city of over 75,000 people this objective should be attained easily if each family will do its part by contributing one or two unused gifts.

Often these potential gifts are only a nuisance to the present owners.

But to be useful the gifts must be donated soon. It takes time to repair and repaint the old toys and there are only a limited number of firemen available to do the work.

So make your contributions soon.

Futile debate resumed on Red China

Judging from news reports from Communist China members of the United Nations are engaged in another futile debate over the entry of the Peking government into the world body.

These arguments have been conducted for years with the balance of opinion swinging definitely in favor of admitting the Chinese Reds.

But the arguments have been largely academic because they pre-suppose that Peking is anxiously awaiting an opportunity to apply for membership, whereas every indication is that entry into the world organization is the last thing that concerns the Communists.

Certainly the conditions just announced by Peking — expulsion of Nationalist China and the ending of United States-Soviet domination of the United Nations — make it clear that there is no anxiety for admission on the part of the mainland government.

Despite United States official determination to keep Red China out of the world body, it is becoming more and more apparent that if the UN is to maintain any efficacy as a peacekeeper Peking must be given a seat on the world council.

However, the United Nations is not strengthening its bargaining position by these repeated debates about the policies it will adopt if and when Red China decides to seek membership.

The most logical way of ending the impasse would be to create a special committee of neutralist powers that could make a direct approach to Peking to seek out a formula whereby Red China could make a definite application based on reasonable conditions which the other powers would be willing to accept.

And to have the greatest hope of success this committee might have no official status so that neither side would lose face when the proposals are made.

Law protects squandering parrot

Generally speaking, the law of the land takes the view that a person of sound mind has the right to will his estate to anyone or anything he please, always provided he respects certain conditions of the Civil Code which give a degree of protection to the surviving spouse and the children if the testator happens to be married.

And basically there can be little argument with the legal assumption.

But sometimes the provisions of a will are so fantastic that they indicate the testator was either of unsound mind or was determined to act against the public good. In such cases there should be some provision to permit the state to intervene.

One such case has occurred in British Columbia where a brandy-swilling parrot is dissipating an estate of $60,000 left by his female owner 17 years ago.

Cost of maintaining him in a mansion, providing him with brandy and the services of a watchman is placed at $4,000 annually.

Based on the life expectancy tables for parrots, it is estimated the 101-year-old bird will live another century, so it is apparent that the ultimate beneficiaries, a hospital and the Red Cross, will receive nothing when the parrot gets around to die.

Certain provisions of the will prevent either the hospital or the Red Cross from contesting the document, but it would seem only basic commonsense for the Legislature to step in and declare the will against public interest.

A reasonable case may be made for owners to make provision for the maintenance of their pets after the human dies, but it is ridiculous to assert that spending $4,000 annually to maintain a drunken parrot is within the laws of reason, human rights, or for that matter any other legal jargon.

The readers say:

They would discuss 'vital issues'

Dear Sir:
There have appeared in the Record within the last few weeks a couple of articles describing the activities of the Sherbrooke and district Ministerial Association and other groups interested in the ecumenical movement. In these articles reference is made to "our Separated Evangelical Brethren" referring mainly to the churches represented by the Eastern Townships Evangelical Ministers Association. In the last article, regret was expressed that none of these "separated evangelical brethren" was present at the ecumenical meeting. Since my name was listed with the evangelical ministers' association when first published, I should like to make one or two points clear to your readers.

I have no office on the Evangelical Ministers' Association Executive but I can assure your readers that this association is at all times ready to take part in meaningful discussions on the true nature of our faith, with any other representative group, Protestant or Roman Catholic alike. However, we simply cannot take part in so-called ecumenical meetings until certain vital issues are properly discussed. To do so, would be simply dishonest.

I trust this explanation will help your readers to understand why the Evangelical minister is not represented at the above mentioned ecumenical meetings.

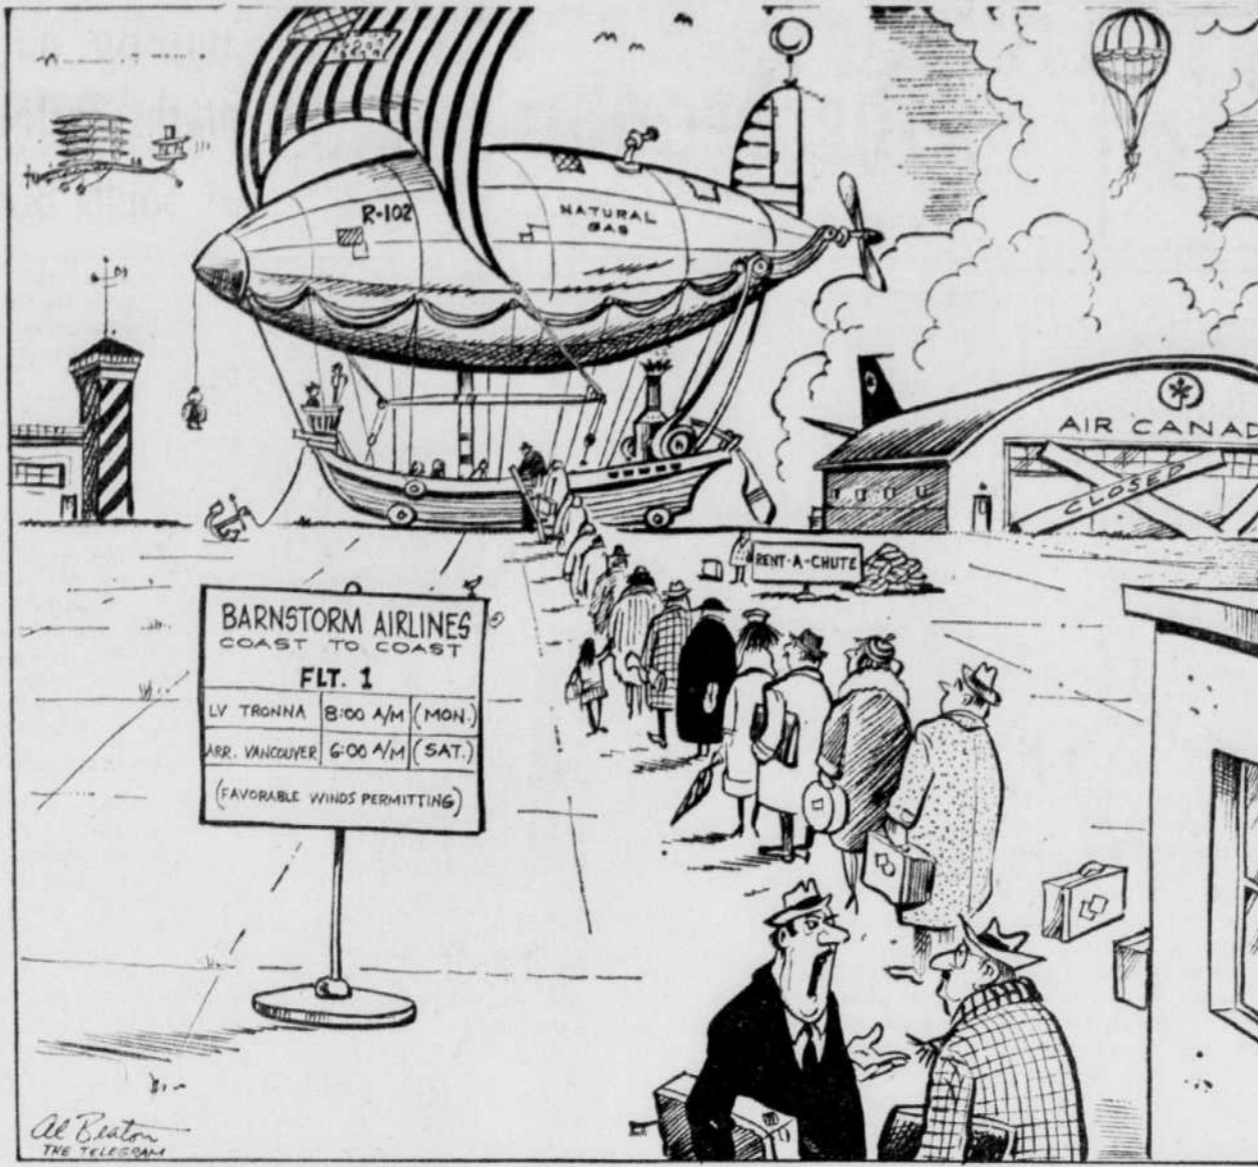

Very sincerely yours,
ARTHUR C. HILL,
Sherbrooke.

When myth and reality meet

American voters declare time to sleep again, Congressmen

By DAVID GAUTHIER

LIFE is back to normal in the U.S.A. Six years living it up on the New Frontier with the Great Society has exhausted Americans.

So put away those plans for urban renewal and aid to education, declare an armistice in the war on poverty, and strike a fair balance between civil rights and civil wrongs.

The recent election did not surprise me. Any competent observer of American affairs could see the widespread disillusion with positive government which the past six years had produced. Americans still yearn for the 20s, when the business of America was business, and government was its servant.

That the problems of the 60s cannot be solved by the methods of the 20s is one of those uncomfortable truths which make politics so difficult. For politics, especially in the United States, concerns myth, and not realities. And when myth and reality meet in the political forum, it is reality which loses.

The American tragedy is simple — so simple that sophisticated thinkers, especially on the left, cannot understand it.

In his heart, Lyndon Johnson does know that Barry Goldwater is right. For Johnson, and with Johnson the moderates whom Americans insist on considering liberals, believe the myths that provided the core of Goldwater's program and Goldwater's appeal.

You cannot build the Great Society when it already exists. The myth excludes the poverty, the slum, the pollution, the ignorance, the discrimination. The myth says that affluence is here, extending to everyone.

Congress sleeps

The myth says that is good that life is back to normal. A do-nothing Congress will do what wants doing — nothing. The hysterical voices of the Southern demagogues will quieten, their fears calmed as Congress returns to sleep, to that good sleep of the Eisenhower years from which Kennedy awakened it.

And meanwhile, another Kennedy will appear, and bide his time. Six years of waking, six years of sleep. In 1972 it will be time to awaken once more, but now, time to dream the American dream.

But normalcy is no longer enough. If America goes back to sleep, will the Negro? Will those Northern ghettos — Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles — go back to sleep?

Will the Southern Negroes who have learned that it is possible to vote, to go to school, to live with a little dignity — will they go back to sleep?

It is dangerous to tell a man that he is your equal if you do not intend to treat him as your equal. It is dangerous to tell a man that he has rights, if you do not intend to recognize those rights.

Too many Americans in high places have told the Negro, and the Negro has listened.

The American voter has cried 'enough'. But is anyone listening to him? Indeed, can anyone hear him?

When I think of the American voter, I think of Canute, standing on the shore, his mouth open wide, but his shouts unheard in the roar of the tide coming in, wave upon wave upon wave. (TNS)

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Having run in Warsaw and Moscow into what he called "a blank wall" of Communist intransigence on Vietnam, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin is now devoting his talents and energies to splitting the free world along the Chinese Wall.

It is incredible that Canada, which helped to organize the free world's collective security system, should now be emulating de Gaulle's France in putting strain on the bonds of the alliance. But myopic pocketbook interest and the leftist and Prairie vote are apparently over-riding all other considerations. The resulting shift in our foreign policy is, of course, presented to the public as pioneering "flexibility" in a lofty endeavor to lay new and better foundations for world peace.

It is the same argument which in the 1930s led to appeasement of aggressive Fascism until the whole bubble of self-delusions burst shortly after the crowning folly and ignominy of the Munich pact. Now a new generation of Chamberlains is busily arranging a repetition of the Munich disaster in the Far East by seeking to appease aggressive Chinese Communism.

The essence of evolution

Flexibility and timely adjustment to changing conditions are the essence of evolution whenever the change in conditions is brought about by genuine pressure for human betterment. This is almost invariably the case within free societies where the constant and open interplay of old and new ideas determines the scope and pace of necessary reforms.

On the international scene, the situation is substantially different, especially when a considerable part of the world community is prevented from expressing its views and aspirations. In such circumstances the totalitarian regimes which speak for their silenced nations can and do distort the picture, for the pressures for change they exert do not represent a freely arrived at consensus of majority opinion.

Adjustments by the free nations to such arbitrary pressures, which are clearly motivated by aggressive designs, are detrimental to the universal human aspiration for peace and freedom.

Had the Western democracies, in the name of "flexibility," caved in to postwar Soviet pressures for change in Iran, Greece, Berlin, Germany and the rest of Europe west of the monstrosity of the Iron Curtain, the uneasy but by now workable co-existence the non-Communist world has achieved with the Soviet bloc would not have been possible.

It was the rigid determination to resist the pressures of aggressive totalitarianism which stabilized the precarious situation in Europe and averted another world war.

The current ferment in the Far East is, by and large, a repetition of the European stage of the struggle in which Communist China is re-enacting with fanatical savagery the aggressive jitters of the Stalinist regime. In this analogy the conflict in Vietnam can perhaps be likened to the postwar struggle in Greece which Communist propaganda also tried to portray as a civil war.

This appears to be the attitude taken by our Government. And judging by that tenor of Canadian and European "progressive" comment, the resulting shift in our foreign policy is being hailed as an example of imaginative flexibility, initiative and leadership on the international scene.

U.S. the rallying point

Coming hot on the heels of the Nazi big lie, the Communist big lie in Europe had little chance to deceive Western politicians. They rallied behind the American effort to hold the line and helped the inheritor of the burdens of free world leadership to stop the menace.

Since then allies of the U.S. in the Atlantic area have grown fat, soft and blasé. So blasé that Western Europe, as the NATO secretary - general pointed out last week, is now losing ground on the political front. And so soft that the Pacific phase of the East - West conflict is regarded by those who directly involved as an irritant.

Believing that none of their selfish interests are directly threatened by Communist China, Western Europe and Canada are quite willing to appease the aggressor under the guise of "flexibility." Why run any risks, they argue, for the sake of such remote places as Vietnam and Formosa? And what's wrong with trying to use the UN as a reformatory?

Those directly threatened

Our friends in the Far East — notably Australia, New Zealand and Japan — do not see it that way. Being directly threatened by the aggressiveness of Chinese Communism, they know that the Peking regime is a menace to world peace. They are dismayed by Canada's appeasement moves which are confusing the issue and dividing the free world.

What our Government is doing with its two - Chinas policy comes, in my opinion, perilously close to organizing a far eastern Munich. The only serious obstacle in the path of this exercise in misguided "flexibility" is the firm stand of the U.S. It's sad to see Canada leading the attempt to undermine it.

Russ Jackson talks about doubling his money with London Life

Why did Russ Jackson—football player and mathematics teacher—choose a $25,000 Jubilee whole life policy? Russ gave his reasons in a tape-recorded conversation. Here they are—in his own words:

"There are not too many places where you can double your money as well as protect your family."

Protection is one side of his Jubilee whole life policy. Investment is the other. Russ looked into this thoroughly.

"As many people know, bonds and investments are part of the Grade 13 Algebra course. Teaching this to the students at high school has made me aware of all the pitfalls and possibilities in this type of investment. I believe the mathematical background has helped a great deal in evaluating this London Life policy."

"My monthly premium is $34.58."

"I bought the policy when I was 28. If I live to age 65, I will have paid in a little over $15,000. And if I leave my dividends to accumulate, which I plan on doing, then this policy can be worth over $31,000."

"This would be double the amount I would have paid in premiums."

(Note: the $31,000 figure Russ mentions above is made up of $13,600 guaranteed cash value and the balance in accumulated dividends. These dividends are based on the current dividend scale. While they are not guaranteed, London Life has had an outstanding record of dividend payments. Dividends allotted to owners of London

"Being in the position I'm in, I have a lot of insurance people who contact me and try to get me to take insurance policies of one sort or another."

"But I had known some people in London Life and when a chap here in Ottawa contacted me, I was ready for insurance and more than willing to talk to him."

Why did Russ feel he was "ready for insurance"?

"I was married in 1961 to a Hamilton girl, Lois. We now have two youngsters—a boy, Kevin, and a little girl, Suzanne."

"This policy gives my wife protection if anything should happen to me and would enable her to carry on what I think would be a fairly normal life."

Life profit-sharing policies for 1965 exceed $29 million.

"I have to admit it's a long-term investment—you're not going to make a lot of money quickly—but the protection that you get with it makes it extremely attractive."

London Life insurance is flexible. Here are three of the choices Russ will have when he reaches age 65:

(a) He can continue to pay premiums on his $25,000 policy and continue to build savings.

(b) He can withdraw his $31,000 or so as a lump sum.

(c) He can use his savings to provide an annuity for life or for a set number of years.

Russ talked briefly about one other feature of his insurance program:

"I also have what is known as income continuance. This extends through to May of 1984, and guarantees Lois—if anything happens to me between now and 1984—$200 a month, every month, until that date in '84. The purpose of this is to guarantee my children—who are very young now—the chance of going to college."

(This income would be in addition to the $25,000 provided by Russ' Jubilee policy.)

Russ Jackson's story is not unusual. Today, most young men know they need insurance to protect their families. Many of them are discovering they can also double their money with London Life. A representative of the Company can show you how.

Mrs. Dean Rusk sets pace for shoppers at annual YWCA food fair

WASHINGTON (CP) — Mrs. Dean Rusk, wife of the secretary of state, set the pace for more than 10,000 shoppers at the annual YWCA international food fair by filling seven bags with items ranging from a Canadian Eskimo carving to Swedish cookies.

The Canadian booth, organized and staffed as usual by Canadian wives from the diplomatic, military and press community, gave a cheque for $1,700 to the YWCA.

As usual, the Canadian contributions, ranging from home-baked goods to donated commercial foods and fabrics, sold out. Lola Kidd, wife of Canada's minister, George Kidd, said this year's fair featured the broadest selection yet of Canadian products and the proceeds put Canada among the top contributors.

The international fair has become a Washington landmark drawing discriminating shoppers from New York and elsewhere.

There were the usual fiddleheads, Cheddar cheese, pickles, cakes, candies, canned specialties and other foods.

The fair theme this year, however, was fabrics and the Canadian display included tweeds from Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Newfoundland knit goods, maple leaf tartan ties and hand-woven ties and Quebec tapestries.

FEATURED CERAMICS
Mrs. Kidd, as organizer, said the Canadian booth also featured two or three lines of ceramics for the first time with British Colonization designs proving especially popular.

There were a few of the distinctive Oupik Eskimo dolls — "not as many as we would have liked" — small sealskin animals and some of the miniature Eskimo carvings which Mrs. Rusk and others purchased.

Mrs. Kidd said the Canadian booth's design was particularly striking this year thanks to a background of a black-and-white totem pole with some representation for each of the provinces.

It was done by Mrs. Peter Bazowski, wife of the RCMP inspector attached to the embassy here. The Bazowskis formerly lived in Edmonton.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — I would like to tell all of you how our family has planned a special time to spend with each of our children. When the second baby arrived we found we were never really alone with the first child and as the family grew we wondered how we could give each child all the attention and time needed. It was then that we adopted a "Tuesday Night Up." Each Tuesday one child is permitted to stay up for half an hour after the others have gone to bed. Each child receives his turn in rotation. We discovered that in this half hour, with no other distractions, the youngster can show traits we might have overlooked. He can confide in us though he might otherwise ignore. We try to be good listeners and there is something special about looking directly into a child's eyes. By making this deliberate attempt to be alone with each child we are developing a closer relationship with all of them. — MRS. W. S.

DEAR POLLY — and dog lovers — Our puppy kept sticking his paws into his water bowl and often tipped it over. To prevent this we filled a cigar box with sand and hollowed out a place in the sand for the doggy bowl. No more spills, and if there should be one it would go in the sand and not on the floor.

If a puppy gets lonesome the first few nights away from its mother put a transistor radio playing very soft music inside a shoe close by a puppy will be content.

To make it easier to get dry dog food out of the package, use a sugar or flour scoop. — ELAINE

Princess attends Ontario university to learn craft shop operation

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — A Swaziland princess is attending Waterloo Lutheran University to learn how to operate a craft business.

Mrs. Mpiko Lukhele, Princess Msalela, is the daughter of King Sobhuza II of Swaziland. She will spend a year at the school of business and economics and return home to run a craft centre in the town of Manzini.

The centre began as her father's idea. King Sobhuza has been knighted and made a Commander of the British Empire for his progressive work for his people.

"He saw the poor people going from house to house to sell their craft work. Many times these visits would be dangerous because the seller might be bitten by a dog.

"The king went to the resident commander, the representative of Britain in Swaziland, and they came on the idea of having one shop or centre where these poor could bring their crafts, and other people, especially tourists, could come and buy."

The store keeps a maximum of 10 per cent to cover costs of management. Bookkeeping is involved, because everything is held on a consignment basis.

QUALITY GUARANTEED
Mrs. Lukhele says quality control at the shop is strict. If work isn't up to the centre's standards, the craftsman is given a sample of a good product and sent home to try again.

Crafts include sisal baskets, trays, carpets, grass carpets, wooden work. Mrs. Lukhele hopes to go home with ideas for new crafts and more knowledge of what can be sold on a world market.

The craft shop is a part of efforts to encourage business in Swaziland. It is still basically an agricultural country, but is due to get independence from Britain in 1970 and is trying to attract and build some industry.

Mrs. Lukhele's husband is planning to open a shop in their home town soon, so her course may be of help to him, too.

The Lukeheles, who were married in a Christian ceremony, have five children aged 16 months to 14 years.

Mrs. Lukhele's father has about 20 wives and about 30 children. Swaziland permits polygamy, she says, but the number of wives a man may have is related to his wealth.

Mrs. Lukhele says she is grateful for the help Canada has given her. The Canadian government is paying for her year here.

"I do not know how to give them thanks but perhaps my government will know a way. Canada has done so much."

Brazilian housewives protest labor benefits for domestic servants

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazilian housewives are up in arms over a labor ministry proposal to give domestic servants the minimum wage and other labor benefits. Housewives say the maids would use the legislation to take advantage of their employers.

Labor Minister Luis Gonzaga do Nascimento a Silva says his ministry is studying the regulation of the domestic profession because "it's incredible that such a large class of workers continues to live solely under the protection of their employers' good will."

Average monthly salary for a maid in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo is 50,000 cruzeiros (about $22). Some especially good cooks or nursemaids make twice as much as that. In the interior and in provincial cities, the monthly salary is about 35,000 cruzeiros ($16).

The minimum wage varies from state to state. In Rio and Sao Paulo, the legal minimum wage is 81,000 cruzeiros a month ($40), but in the interior it goes down to as low as 44,000 cruzeiros.

The new law would require extra bookkeeping for housewives in order to make deductions from the maid's salary to pay for pensions, medical and other benefits.

Some employers pay for their maids' medical expenses.

One housewife says the deductions would be "difficult to control and logically the maid would not like it if we made deductions for lodging, meals and uniforms. She would have nothing left to spend or save."

The law would permit such deductions.

Preparing house for holidays?

If you're one of the many who schedule their fall cleaning stint in November so that the house is all slicked up for the Christmas holidays, here are a few tips aimed to cut down on physical wear and tear.

Don't try to do everything in one or two days. The take-it-all-apart type cleaner makes the family shudder and leaves you exhausted. Spread it out over a week — two if necessary. Set a flexible time table, limiting yourself to a single room or a single chore, such as closet-cleaning per day.

For the good of your morale, put on make-up and look neat in case of unexpected visitors.

Rest periods are important. Allot ten minutes per hour to sitting and relaxing. Frequent short breaks are better than long ones that are few and far between.

Use strong back muscles when lifting heavy objects to help prevent fatigue, and squat instead of bending down when working on anything low.

Gather together all your cleaning paraphernalia in an easily toted basket. Don't include more than you actually need for the sake of weight.

You'll find that such all-purpose products as 3M soda concentrate, that have many different cleaning uses instead of just one or two, cuts down on the amount of gear you need.

Sal in solution, for example, works wonders with such diverse projects as window and mirror washing, cleaning all types of plastic surfaces, porcelain and tile surfaces and linoleum, just to mention a few.

VICAR'S UN-DOWDY WIFE — Judith Rydings, 23, wife of the new Anglican minister, showed up at the church youth club in a mini-skirt and the boys besieged her with requests for dates. They didn't get them but the wife of Rev. Donald Rydings of St. Mark's, in Bourne End near London, said "I see no reason why vicars' wives should be dowdy." With her mini-skirt, four inches above the knees, she wore black fishnet stockings studded with diamond designs and her dark hair cut in a Mary Quant-style bob. She said her husband approves. Unconventional costume causes stir in village

LONDON — AP — When Mrs. Rydings wore black fishnet stockings studded with diamond designs. Her skirts were four inches above her knees.

"My ideas may have caused quite a stir in the village, she said, "but I think the locals are now beginning to accept them."

She said her husband approves of her attitude. He commented: "The image of a conventional vicar's wife is more in the minds of the people than anything else — and particularly in the minds of people who do not go to church very often."

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

MONTREAL, November 24th — Here's a merry idea for a very Merry Christmas — a gift of money, beautifully "gift-wrapped" in a gold-colored gift box from THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA. Don't misunderstand me. Scotiabank isn't giving money, but selling it in the form of Scotiabank Savings Certificates and I, for one, am going to buy and give them this Christmas. A ten dollar certificate costs just $7.50 and grows to full value in just six months. Scotiabank Savings Certificates are available in denominations of $10, $25, $100 . . . or (in case you're interested) as high as $50,000 — at any branch of The Bank of Nova Scotia. If you happen to give a certificate to a "spendthrift" friend, he'll be happy to know — it's cashable any time!

Like my recipe for a delicious White Christmas Cake? Write to me, Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, and I'll send it — free, of course!

FROM YEARS OF PERSONAL EXPERIENCE, I know that it's easy to Cut Food Costs at Dominion. For really substantial savings I advise you to buy Dominion's own Brands. You'll save a penny here . . . a penny there . . . and pennies do add up to dollars in savings on your total food bill! And popular Dominion Brands are ideal for the festive season ahead, e.g. "Domino" Ginger Ale, "Richello" Coffee, "Enchantment" Boxed Chocolates and many more. If, like most Canadians, you want full value for your food dollar . . . then, Dominion Brands are what you want. Switch to Dominion and plan to cut Christmas Food Costs! It's that easy!

THERE ARE TWO GOOD REASONS . . . why this is one of the best times of the year to visit London. The first is that you won't be rushed by summertime crowds. You'll have more time to enjoy the parades and pageantry, the star-studded West End premieres, and the "characters" in quaint old inns and pubs. The second reason is BOAC's 21-day Economy Excursions . . . with them you'll save up to $191 over summer season fares. Let BOAC or Air Canada take you to Britain soon.

To remove lipstick from your precious linens — just apply glycerine for two or three hours — then launder — magic!

TWO WELCOME GUESTS at any festive gathering . . . Brights 74 SHERRY and Brights 74 PORT. I find these delicious wines are perfect luncheon or dinner companions. Brights velvet smooth 74 Sherry is one of the most popular Canadian sherries I've ever served — a wine to make any party a good time to remember. Then Brights 74 Port is so wonderfully satisfying with snacks or after-dinner crackers and cheese — another fine wine that both men and women enjoy. Truly I find there is a Brights fine Canadian wine that's exactly right for any occasion — and any budget, too!

AS I HAVE WRITTEN SO OFTEN before, CANADIAN NATIONAL always seem to be coming up with improvements to make our train travel more pleasant. Since CN trains are on the move twenty-four hours a day, it makes sense to use the 24-hour Clock System and this plan is now in operation. Here's how it works. Every hour of the day has its own number and it's as simple as counting to twenty-four. For example, 1 a.m. is 0100 hours — six a.m. is 0600 — 12 noon is 1200 hours and six p.m. is 1800 hours. Simple, practical and easy to remember isn't it?

in a moment... Paarl hospitality and the friendly warmth of a glass of imported Paarl Oloroso Sherry with its own nutty flavour and richness. If it's the cocktail hour, the more delicate Paarl Pale Dry Sherry is the perfect choice. Both are fine imported wines — at a surprisingly moderate price.

100 questions a day are answered by library system

TORONTO (CP) — How often do you wash an elephant? And how much water does it take?

"We answered the first question — once a day because it has dry skin — but I never did find the answer to the second one," says Carolyn Ross, a librarian in the Toronto library system for more than 30 years.

The Toronto system answers more than 100 telephone questions each day between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

"As a public library we're here to provide service to everybody," says Anne Mack, head of the division of general and student references.

The librarians will not, however, answer questions for school children. "The purpose of their assignment is to have them look up information themselves," Miss Mack says.

Nor will the librarians look up answers for contests or crossword puzzles. But those are about the only limitations.

Miss Mack's favorite was the man who called to ask how to milk the cow he had won at the Canadian National Exhibition. The librarian telephoned the humane society which sent a man to do the milking.

A few months later the man called back to say he had bought property in the country and had moved the cow there

HELP OTHER LIBRARIES

Many questions are of a seasonal nature — about gardening, sailing or skiing. Training and breeding of dogs are a favorite. And lately there has been an increasing number of calls about dyes.

The questions go to a staff of four librarians, two assistants and occasional help. When searching for answers would take too much of the librarian's time, the questioner is referred directly to the source material.

Not all questions come by phone. Hundreds come by mail, and there is a Telex system linking the library and many Canadian universities.

Other libraries, in Canada and around the world, also seek information here. And the Toronto system in turn calls for help from libraries elsewhere when it is stamped.

New union row

MONTREAL (CP) — Louis Laberge, president of the Quebec Federation of Labor, says his organization may pull out of all provincial labor bodies unless the Quebec government allows public service employees to join whatever union they wish.

He said in a statement that current labor laws, drawn up by Quebec's former Liberal government, favor the rival Confederation of National Trade Unions.

The CNTU said recently it was withdrawing from major federal bodies because of what it termed discriminatory practices that favored the Canadian Labor Congress.

Butter output down but milk producers get more for less

OTTAWA (CP) — The butter production slide continued in 1966 with output estimated at 330,000,000 pounds, according to a government report to the federal-provincial agricultural outlook conference here yesterday. It was the fourth consecutive year in which butter output fell. The 1965 total was 337,000,000 pounds. The report noted the decrease came despite record returns to producers. The decrease reflected a smaller total milk supply and a diversion of milk into other markets.

Domestic butter consumption for the third consecutive year will outpace production despite a 1966 decline in per capita consumption to 17.7 pounds from 18.2 in 1965. Consumption will total 353,000,000 pounds.

HERD DECLINES

Without saying why, the report also noted the national dairy herd declined again in 1966 and at June 1 was the smallest in 46 years. The total: 2,799,000 head. Projected milk production this year is down a little from last. It was the second consecutive year of decline and little change in the pattern is foreseen for 1967.

The tourist inflow in Centennial Year may temporarily halt the decline in per capita consumption of milk in all forms. An upswing in dairy cattle

More good than bad is found in the Canadian farm picture

OTTAWA (CP)—The good far outweighs the bad in a government assessment of Canadian agriculture that indicates wheat exports will remain a main support of the farm economy. Wheat exports in the current crop year are forecast at 530,000,000 bushels. The annual range to 1970 will be 475,000,000 to 550,000,000, with long-term contracts with Russia and China largely responsible for the high level. The export projection compares with the record 586,000,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour exported in the last crop year ended July 31.

The reports were presented Tuesday to the annual federal-provincial conference of agriculture ministers.

Wheat export returns played a key role in the government forecast of total cash income of $4,000,000,000 or more this year and again in 1967 for Canadian farmers. The previous high was $3,800,000,000 in 1965.

The surge past the $4,000,000,000 mark will be accompanied by an increase in net income to almost $2,000,000,000 from $1,700,000,000 in 1965. The reports held out no hope of a net income increase next year. Rising farm expenses may leave net income the same or even a little below the 1965 level. Livestock prices are expected to remain favorable next year. But no real improvement is expected in hog prices, which declined in 1966.

Looking ahead in food, well-hedged government projections indicate that meat, fruits and vegetables by 1980, will have gained considerable favor with Canadian consumers at the expense of eggs, potatoes, some dairy products and such cereal grain products as wheat flour.

The future is particularly bright for beef and poultry, both expected to undergo sharp increases in per-capita consumption.

Prices and production up

Poultry cuts deep into meat market

OTTAWA (CP)—The poultry industry grabbed a bigger share of the 1966 meat market and price patterns favor further growth, the federal-provincial agricultural outlook conference was told yesterday. Projected poultry meat output this year is 770,000,000 pounds as the growth rate of the industry accelerated, according to a federal report. The output is up 10 per cent from last year and 41 per cent above the 1959-63 average. Despite the 1966 production increase, poultry producers commanded higher prices than in 1966 because of the vigorous demand for chicken, turkey and other products. Almost all retail poultry meat went into the domestic market. Per capita consumption of eviscerated poultry meat is estimated at 39 pounds, up three pounds from 1965.

"Poultry meat prices will at least maintain and may further improve their competitive position in relation to red meats," the report said, looking to 1970. "If beef and pork prices in Canada continue at near their present levels relative to poultry prices, then a further rise in per capita use of poultry seems assured. FEED CHEAPER Poultry producers have an advantage because of a cheaper feed bill than livestock meat producers. Also favorable retail price levels for turkey and chickens compared with red meats will result in even stronger demand for these poultry products, the report said. Poultry meat production should total 1,000,000,000 pounds annually by 1970.

However, profit prospects for turkey producers are less favorable for 1967 than this year because production costs are up and the price outlook is a little weaker than a year ago. But broiler turkey output will continue to rise in 1967.

Hog price drop over?

OTTAWA (CP) — A month-long decline in hog prices may be nearly arrested, a government report said yesterday. The long-term outlook is favorable.

An upward trend reversed itself last March. From a February monthly average of $43.10 a hundredweight for Grade A dressed hogs, prices had dropped to $34 at Toronto by September.

The report, prepared by federal experts, said that prices may not drop much lower than present levels. Winter prices are likely to stay close to the fall level and show some improvement next spring.

The 1966 slide followed a steady increase that began in June, 1965. The long-term outlook in the North American hog economy indicates a long period of favorable prices, higher than the historic pattern. This is based on the U.S. expectation of a moderate expansion in pork output, plus higher prices for cattle and less beef on the market. These factors are expected to raise prices in the U.S. and Canada.

The report was presented to the federal-provincial agriculture conference here.

SANTA WILL ARRIVE IN STYLE — The gay old gent is scheduled for a colorful entry into Downtown Sherbrooke this Saturday, and to explain the absence of reindeer, let's attribute their lack of appearance to our need for snow, at least that's an answer to appease that wonderful age of make-believe. Who cares whether he has reindeer or not though, after all, there'll be so much to see anyway, that young and old will probably not notice the absence of Dancer, Prancer, Blitzen and the others!

Canadian Eskimo art a hit in Washington

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canadian Eskimo art from the eastern Arctic area of Cape Dorset is getting major exposure in Washington.

Some is included in an educational exhibit at the Smithsonian Institution marking the Alaska centennial.

A much larger collection was opened for viewing and purchase Nov. 8 in the interior department's art galleries and will be there until Dec. 31 under the sponsorship of the Centre for Arts of Indian Americans, a non-profit Washington group.

"It's just great," says Edna Massey, centre secretary, reporting unusually high interest. "We practically sold out all the sculpture pieces the first day and had to order more."

The prices run from $5 to $500, aiming at the Christmas market, but the prime objective of the centre is educational.

"We'll be lucky if we break even," says Mrs. Massey, who buys the soapstone carvings and stone-cut prints from the Bain Island community through the Eskimo Fine Arts Association in Ottawa.

GUIDED BEGINNERS

Cape Dorset a few years ago, under the guidance of artist Jim Houston, pioneered the technique of transferring stone-etched drawings to paper in assorted colors.

Production of each print is limited.

Mrs. Massey said she had been disappointed at not getting more larger carvings but realized these were in strong demand and were more expensive.

"But the fat, bulging weight of walrus, the sleek strength of bears and the primitive, honest directness of all Eskimo forms have charmed the museums, the art galleries and the public," she said.

"The attraction lies in the forms, the shapes and the texture of the stone," Mrs. Massey said working people can afford the Eskimo art, and that people seem willing to pay a lot for what they like.

Along with the exhibit, the sponsors have printed and passed out in substantial quantities an information sheet about the Cape Dorset community and its contribution to world art.

Sorel, here tonight

Braves take on top team as they gun for their third straight win, Coach Plamondon stands pat

Sherbrooke Braves will be out gunning for their third straight win when they take on Sorel in the Sports Palace in a regular fixture of the Quebec Junior "A" Hockey League. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

The Braves fresh from posting wins over Trois-Rivieres and Shawinigan will be out to knock over the Sorel crew and break a deadlock with Quebec. Two other games are on tap in the Plante circuit with Drummondville visiting Quebec, where they will take on the Junior Aces, and Trois-Rivieres will journey to Shawinigan to tangle with the Bruins.

Theftford Canadiens are leading the league and have built up a ten-point spread over second-place Sorel while Shawinigan and Trois-Rivieres are tied with 14 points each in third place. Drummondville is next with 12 while Sherbrooke and Quebec are two points out of fifth spot in the loop.

A win for the Braves and a loss for the Rangers would move them a step higher in the standing. Quebec is favored over the Drummondville squad since the game is in the Capital City and following the games both Quebec and Sherbrooke could move into a tie with Drummondville.

Coach Gerry Plamondon will have the same lineup in action with Maurice Desy in the nets and if he comes up with another top performance the Sorel Club will have their hands full. On defense Perron will team up with J. Filiatreault while Joe Belanger and A. Pineault will work together.

Three lines will be used allowing Coach Plamondon two spares. On the first unit Bill Murray, Jamie Kennedy and Al Fairbanks will get the nod to start with Jack Rathwell, Talbot and Pierre Jarry. D. Daigle will centre Yvon Robert and Richard Lecours as the third unit.

The Braves will run into one of the toughest teams in the league and are considered as the second best just at present. They are a hard-hitting squad who dish it out and take it well. They are big and have the reputation of good skaters which will make for a good game as the Braves can dish it out as well.

ETABA

Independents remain with Bandits on top

Rock Island Border Bandits and Lennoxville Independents remain top clubs in the ETABA senior 'B' basketball league after their victories last evening at Lennoxville High School.

The Bandits squeaked past Bishop's University Junior Varsity 93-79 in five minutes of overtime play, being tied 74-74 after regulation. Doug MacKenzie, a freshman at the university, tied the game in the final fleeting seconds with a forced shot that swished through.

In the first game played, Independents dumped Fred W. Bean's Sherbrooke Clippers 38-18, after holding a one-point halftime lead, 22-21. The next game on the schedule has Bishop's JV's at St. Pat's Sunday afternoon.

TWENTY FOR MACKENZIE

A fourteen point spurge in the second half by Doug MacKenzie proved to be the spark that ignited the JV's against favored Border Bandits. His total points of 20 was tops for Bishop's, but that was bettered by the Bandits' Roger Carlee, popping in nine and 16 points in the respective periods. Bishop's held a 37-31 halftime lead.

Other high scorers on both squads included Al Davis (14), Lindsay Black (9) and Barrie Hall (10) for Bishop's; while Mal Boright (24), Dean Boucher (19), Jim Murphy (14) and Dick Rivard (11) provided other scoring punches for the Bandits.

Robert 'Squee' Gordon again scored on the hoops for 27 points in leading the Independents to their conquest over the 1966 league title winner, to be followed by Terry Ranoach, chalking up another 17 contribution.

The Clippers after a late start, kept up the pace set by the Independents, but failed to click at the foul line, missing 15 free throw attempts, with some of these being bonus situations.

Clipper high scorer was Jeff Mills, 16, with Bryson, McKell and Nugent under the double digits, but over five.

St. Pat's topples Aces

Meteors registered a 3-2 victory over the Braves in Sherbrooke Juvenile Hockey League action last night at the Sherbrooke Arena, to join the Aces at the top of the league, but a greater achievement came in the second game.

St. Pat's Juveniles, after struggling with one tie and a series of losses, defeated the league's best, Aces, 7-3 for their first conquest of the season.

M. Marchand and Kevin Bowen handled most of the St. Pat's scoring chores, as the former picked up a hat-trick, while Bowen lifted two into the nets. Both had two assists.

The St. Pat's victory, which leaves them in the cellar but only a point away from the Optimists, was obtained in the final period, scoring four goals to break the 3-3 tie.

During this last period, four major penalties were handed out, including a game misconduct to St. Pat's R. Castonguay.

It's Grey Cup time: Late dinner, hot fire, pretty miss, and money

VANCOUVER (CP) — Organizers lit the Grey Cup fire here Wednesday night—and the fire marshal made them light it all over again.

The roast beef for the Miss Grey Cup pageant came from half a steer roasted on a spit on downtown Hornby Street and carried into the theatre restaurant where the festivities were under way.

Dinner was a bit late, however, because the fire marshal ruled that the fire had been laid improperly and would have to be redone to prevent the heat from melting the pavement.

Inside, Dale Ann Young, an 18-year-old high-school student representing Toronto Argonauts, was chosen Miss Grey Cup.

Runners-up were Jo Ann Martin, Miss Saskatchewan Roughriders, and Marion Harris, Miss Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Miss Young said she had "never won anything before" and had been "prided into entering" by friends.

"I had no idea I would win, really," she said.

Miss Young said she was going to take her prizes—a convertible, a coat, beauty kit and hair dryer—"home and enjoy them."

"I felt numb. I was simply numb with excitement. It's been a lovely week and a busy schedule and I've loved every minute of it."

CHOSEN MOST CONGENIAL

Margo Dunlop, Miss Edmonton Eskimos, was chosen by the girls as the most congenial of the representatives from the nine football cities of Canada.

Just before the nine female representatives gathered for the Miss Grey Cup pageant, the nine general managers spent an uneventful three hours discussing pensions and other financial arrangements with the Canadian Amateur Football Association.

The Canadian Football League officials said 11 other items would be deferred until January in Houston when the CFL general managers meet at the same time as the U.S. coaches.

Discussions of the financial agreement with the CFA, formerly the Canadian Rugby Union, are internal, said Herb Capozzi, retiring general manager of British Columbia Lions.

A brief by the players' association of the CFL, calling for establishment of a pension plan, was approved in principle by the league.

Meanwhile, special trains carrying an estimated 2,000 football fans are rolling across the Prairies toward Vancouver and Saturday's football classic.

A train city of sleeping cars, able to accommodate up to 500 persons, will be established in the rail yards here as hotel rooms become harder to find.

Ottawa slips, but only on mud

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders have mixed feelings about the weather for the Grey Cup game but they were almost unanimous in their reaction to the mid-40 temperature at their workout Wednesday.

"Man, this weather is great," said fullback Jim Dillard on his way to a shower after a 75-minute drill on the University of British Columbia campus.

"But I hope the footing is better," he added.

Patches of blue showed in the sky during the Riders' offensive and defensive drills but recent rains have left the practice field slippery.

Corner linebacker Mike Blum cautioned some concern when he slipped during a pass coverage drill and later sought out Dr. Fred Davies, the club doctor.

"It looks like Mike pulled back muscle," Dr. Davies said later.

"It may be painful for a while but it shouldn't affect his play Saturday."

Blum is the third player on the team with pulled muscle trouble, but all are expected to be in top form for the Canadian Football League championship against Saskatchewan Roughriders in the Grey Cup final.

Offensive halfback Ron Stewart has been living and playing with the problem for more than a month and defensive end Bob Brown picked up his injury in Montreal last Saturday when Ottawa completed its humiliation of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the eastern final.

Dr. Davies has a few other minor problems to worry about this week, but like the pulled muscles, "they aren't serious injuries," he said.

Peter Thompson, a second string end and key man in downfield tackles under kicks, has a cast on his left hand to protect a thumb broken last Saturday. Thompson hurt his thumb on the first play of the game and had it taped, figuring it was just jammed.

But later x-rays revealed the fracture and the cast was put on Tuesday morning.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Saskatchewan says . . . "we've plugged a few holes"

VANCOUVER (CP) — Reports that the Saskatchewan Roughriders' defence will be easy pickings for Ottawa Rough Riders in the Grey Cup final were disputed Wednesday by Saskatchewan line coach Jim Duncan.

"Our defence gets better at this time every year," he said in an interview. "Besides, we've been able to make a few changes . . . plug a few holes."

Only one team in the Western Football Conference, Edmonton Eskimos, gave up more points than Saskatchewan during the regular season.

"We lost to Ottawa 18-8 . . . but the last touchdown came on the last play of the game and it didn't mean anything," Duncan said.

"We were on the second half of a back-to-back eastern swing when we played Ottawa before."

Wally Dempsey's return from the injured list helped Saskatchewan because his presence at linebacker enabled head coach Eagle Keys to move Ken Reed to the defensive front four.

Ed McQuarters arrived midway through the season in time to chew up the Winnipeg offence in the western playoff.

"Sure, McQuarters helped us," Duncan conceded. "He is a good football player."

McQuarters rumbled 53 yards for the decisive touchdown after picking up a fumble in the final game against Winnipeg.

Duncan said he expects both clubs to stick with the systems that carried them into the Grey Cup final.

Saskatchewan reached the final only once before—in 1951, when Ottawa won a 21-14 verdict.

"We believe we can run some against Ottawa and we believe we can pass some," he said. "We are prepared to try to run a balanced offence."

Duncan agreed with predictions that Saskatchewan's ability to press Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson could be decisive.

"We showed good pressure against him in the game we lost," he said. "It was much tougher than the rush he faced against Hamilton."

Beavers travel to Drummondville to clash with league-leading Eagles, Malette still top scorer

Sherbrooke Beavers travel to Drummondville this evening to tangle with the high-flying Eagles in what could turn into a real old battle the whole way. The game will commence at 8:30 p.m. and is important to both clubs.

Ronnie Racette, former player and are in contact to try and secure replacements. It is doubtful if they will be on hand for tonight's fixture.

TIGERS DOMINATE SCORING RACE

Three members of the Victoriaville Tigers are setting the pace for individual honors in the Quebec Provincial Senior League according to the latest figures released.

Jean-Pierre Malette is the top man with a total of 25 points while Johnny Mentis is next with 23 and Andre Samson follows with 20. All play on the same line for the Tigers.

Malette has also scored the most goals in the league, 12, while Johnny Mentis has the most assists, 17. Georges Guibault is the top marksman for the Beavers with 17 tied with Michel Labrosse of the Eagles. Guibault has picked up nine goals to go with his eight assists.

Rejean Richer is next in line with 14 while Claude Cardin is close behind with 13. Jean Levesque is the most penalized player in the loop with a total of 35 minutes in the cooler.

Gauls' Andy Payette is the top goalie with an average of 2.75 while Claude Cyr is close behind with 3.33. G. Grenier of Victoriaville is next with 3.83 while Serge Aubry has been scored against 52 times in the 12 games so far to give him an average of 4.33.

The league president suspended him for tonight's tilt and also tacked on a fine for a real old battle the whole way. The game will commence at 8:30 p.m. and is important to both clubs.

The Eagles have dropped Claude Fournel and Clovis Viau and are in contact to try and secure replacements. It is doubtful if they will be on hand for tonight's fixture.

LEAFS MISS ON SCORING TRY — Chicago Black Hawks goalie Denis DeJordy guides the puck past the net as Toronto Maple Leafs Pete Stenkowski (12) and Brian Conacher (22) are blocked on a scoring try by Hawks Pierre Pilote (3) and Eric Nestorenko (15). Eddie Shack turns into scorer, pots two as Leafs dump Hawks 6-3, Rangers edge Bruins 5-4

Eight years ago, few people would have thought that one day rambunctious Eddie Shack might reach a National Hockey League milestone, except perhaps for penalties or goafs.

When he broke into the league with New York Rangers in 1958-59, he picked up 109 minutes in penalties — and only seven goals — in 67 games.

The following season he spent 110 minutes in the penalty box in 62 games. His eight-goal effort earned him a demotion to Springfield of the American Hockey League.

However, Shack, a 29-year-old native of Sudbury, Ont., got a new lease on life in 1960 when the Rangers traded him to Toronto Maple Leafs.

Today, the one-time clown prince of the NHL stands on the threshold of a milestone—his 100th big-league goal.

Shack scored two goals and assisted on another by John Brennanman Wednesday night as the Leafs walloped Chicago Black Hawks 6-3 in one of two scheduled NHL games. Frank Mahovlich also scored two goals, one on a penalty shot against a cold goaltender, and Ron Ellis got the other Leaf marker. Stan Mikita, Ken Wharram and Dennis Hull scored for Chicago.

RANGERS NIP BRUINS

In the other game, New York edged Boston Bruins 5-4 on goals by Jim Neilson, Phil Goyette, Vic Hadfield, Red Fleming and Don Marshall.

Bobby Orr, Boston's bonus defenceman, scored two goals and Pit Martin and Wayne Connelly scored the others as the Bruins' five-game string of wins was broken.

Shack's two goals were his third and fourth of the season and his 88th and 99th of his career, giving him something to look forward to Saturday night when the Leafs meet the Bruins in Toronto.

Mahovlich's first goal came on his penalty shot. He scored against Glenn Hall, who went into the game to replace Denis DeJordy for the occasion.

Referee Bill Friday awarded the Leafs the penalty shot after Toronto had stormed around the Chicago net with several players taking a swipe at the puck.

Chicago defenceman Pat Stapleton pulled the puck under him and Friday ruled a penalty shot. Mahovlich was selected to take it and then Chicago coach Billy Reay pulled DeJordy in favor of Hall.

MOVE BACKFIRED

But the move didn't work for Reay as Mahovlich let go with a blazing shot from Hull's left side which caught the far side of the net to start the Leafs on the way to victory.

Leafs fired 36 shots at the Chicago net while Chicago had 28 at Toronto netminder Terry Sawchuk.

The victory was Toronto's fifth of the year and moved them to within one point of the league-leading Hawks. Chicago has 18 points on eight wins and two ties while Toronto has 17 points on five wins and seven ties.

Fleming and Marshall scored less than a minute apart in the third period to snap Boston's five-game unbeaten streak and move the Rangers into sole possession of third place in the league standings.

The loss was Boston's first since Nov. 9 when Gerry Cheevers took over in nets for Ed Johnston, sidelined with an eye injury Nov. 6 against the New York Rangers.

ORR HAS 5 GOALS

New York's victory offset Orr's two third-period goals, his fourth and fifth of the season.

Orr had moved the Bruins into a 3-3 tie with an unassisted goal just past the seven-minute mark of the third period but Fleming and Marshall provided the Rangers the goals they needed for the win.

Bishop's hockey Gaiters slap CMR 4-3 in OSLAA

"If the puck goes in our end, go there, and if it goes down the other way, follow it!" shouted Al Grazys, coach of Bishop's University hockey Gaiters, across the rink to Willie Mitchell, sitting out the last seconds of a two-minute penalty.

The puck went the other way. Mitchell stepped on the ice and followed it, to score the team's fourth goal against CMR last night in an OSLAA game at the Scott Rink.

The Gaiters defeated CMR 4-3 to boost their early season record to two wins and one loss, along with one exhibition victory against U of S. In one other game played last night, Loyola College Warriors scored five goals in the third period within two and a half minutes to bomb Macdonald College 7-1.

Ken Chipman, a rookie Gaiter on the ice, tied the game at 13:20 of the opening period with what could be termed the classic goal, receiving a pass from Jack Coghlan, lifting it into the upper corner after a perfect setup.

In the second period, Steve Locke knocked in a rebound from Jeff Planche at 10:30, only to be followed by defence-man Chuck Norris' goal 90 seconds later, pushing the puck across, after a corner pass from Mitchell.

The Gaiters took a commanding lead on Mitchell's goal after serving a two minute penalty for elbowing in the third period, but then saw that lead diminish dangerously to one tally.

Jacques Laniel, Pierre Michaud and Basil Wheeler scored the CMR marks against Gaiter goalie Doug Campbell, who stopped 32 other shots. Denis Richard, the beaten CMR netminder, stopped 25.

MISCONDUCT PENALIZED

Protests from CMR players and the visiting bench showered upon game officials after Mitchell's winning goal, as they claimed the Bishop's team captain was offside, and therefore the goal should be disallowed.

CMR captain Bob Donaldson, in loud argument with one referee, was thumbed to the box for ten minutes, showing disrespect to the official. After continuous demonstration, he was given the early ticket to the showers, for delaying the game, and throwing his stick around the rink.

Bishop's now moves out to Royal Military College, Kingston, Friday evening for their only weekend game. They defeated RMC at home Saturday, 3-1 after losing their opener 2-1 to Sir George Williams University.

As well, the basketball Gaiters meet RMC Redmen Friday night, and then return to Macdonald College Saturday for their fourth league game this year. Their present record is 2-0.

BISHOP'S: Goal: Doug Campbell; Bob Adams, Chuck Norris, Cliff Goodwin, Al McCullum; Bill Bone, Mark Ensio, Jack Coghlan, Jeff Planche, Ken Chipman, Willie Mitchell, Con Harrington, John Goldsmith, Keith Pedersen, Steve Locke, Lindsay Majury, Barry Smith. (sub-goalie).

CMR: Denis Richard, Serge Gaudreau, Real Laroche, Richard Limoges, Ken Pearson, Yves Faucher, J. Charles Lemieux, Jacques Laniel, Bob Donaldson, Claude Lavoie, Pierre Michaud, Alain Tremblay, Basil Wheeler, Larry Travis, J. Pierre Bouchard, Andre Michaud, P. C. Langstaff, G. S. Veilleux.

Alderman Amedee Roy of the City of Sherbrooke and coach of the Sher-Lenn Little League All-Stars who took part in the All Canadian Finals at Victoria, B.C., during the past summer, was the guest speaker at the closing banquet and presentation of trophies of the Cowansville Little League held Tuesday evening at Pinnacle Lodge, Selby Lake.

Prior to the banquet players, managers, coaches and the executive of the league were guests of Pro-mayor Armand Beauregard at the City Hall where all signed the Golden Book.

The league which is beginning its sixth season next summer is a four-team loop but will be extended to an eight team circuit. The league is entirely sponsored by the Cowansville Lions Club and is very popular throughout the district.

President Yvan Monast welcomed the players and guests to the event which was largely attended. Canon Girard began the evening's event by saying Grace. Secretary Art Stocks introduced the guest speaker and Mr. Roy in his talk had words for the players, coaches and parents.

He mentioned the success of the Sher-Lenn Little League during the past season and stated that all leagues could accomplish this honor. Hard work on the part of the players and the importance of good coaching was a big factor in any league's success. The interest and support of the parents is also a factor in the advancement in tournament play.

He paid particular praise to the great work of the Cowansville Lions Club for their sponsorship of such a flourishing Youth Movement. The speaker was thanked by Player Agent Marshall Gregory.

The player awards then took place with The Princess Theater Trophy, for the Most Valuable Player, won by Daniel Sirois and presented by Guy Bourage. The Carl Brock Memorial Trophy for the Rookie Of The Year went to

Canadian Ladies Golf Association to honor Marlene Stewart Streit, annual meeting to be in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Women She has won the British, United States, Australian and Canadian titles, has been a member of the world amateur championship team, the Commonwealth championship team and has won the U.S. intercollegiate title.

"I've often thought of getting a cabinet or shelves for my trophies," she says. "But I never have. Most of them are packed away in boxes."

Marlene won the Canadian amateur title 15 years ago at 17, to launch her career.

Now married to J. Douglas Streit, a governor of the Toronto Stock Exchange, she has curtailed her golfing activities recently to spend more time with her husband and their daughters Darlene, 6, and Lynn, 4.

She still hopes to play "one or two major events a year," but admits to one burning ambition: "I'd love to win an 'open' tournament from the pros."

Marlene lost a television match last summer to pro champ Mickey Wright in Oslo. At the time, her opponent said: "I can't understand why she didn't go pro. She's a fantastic player. She'd have made a great one."

Said the girl they called "Little Ben" because of her Hogan-like tenacity: "I like my way better. If I'd had to choose between a life in an office or on the golf course, I'd probably have taken golf. But the choice never came up." She married a year after graduating from university.

"There are a lot of wonderful girls on the tour, but living out of a suitcase with no real home is not my idea of a very feminine life."

Marlene, with a degree in business administration from Rollins University in Florida, says many Canadian youngsters are missing a bet in not going south for simultaneous golf and education.

REMEMBER WHEN!

Ottawa Rough Riders defeated Toronto Argonauts 8-1 26 years ago today—in 1940—to retain the interprovincial football title. Ottawa went on to beat Toronto Balm Beach, ORFU champions, in a series declared the Canadian championship by the Canadian Rugby Union, which refused to recognize the West's challenge that year.

San Diego Gulls like home ice as they edge Los Angeles 2-1,

San Diego Gulls are really homing pigeons in disguise.

They proved it Wednesday night when they edged Los Angeles Blades 2-1 for their third straight victory on home ice.

The Gulls were forced to open the Western Hockey League season with 13 games on the road while the International Sports Arena was being completed.

They managed only two wins and a tie in the stretch and returned home in last place—six points behind Seattle. Now only two points separate the two.

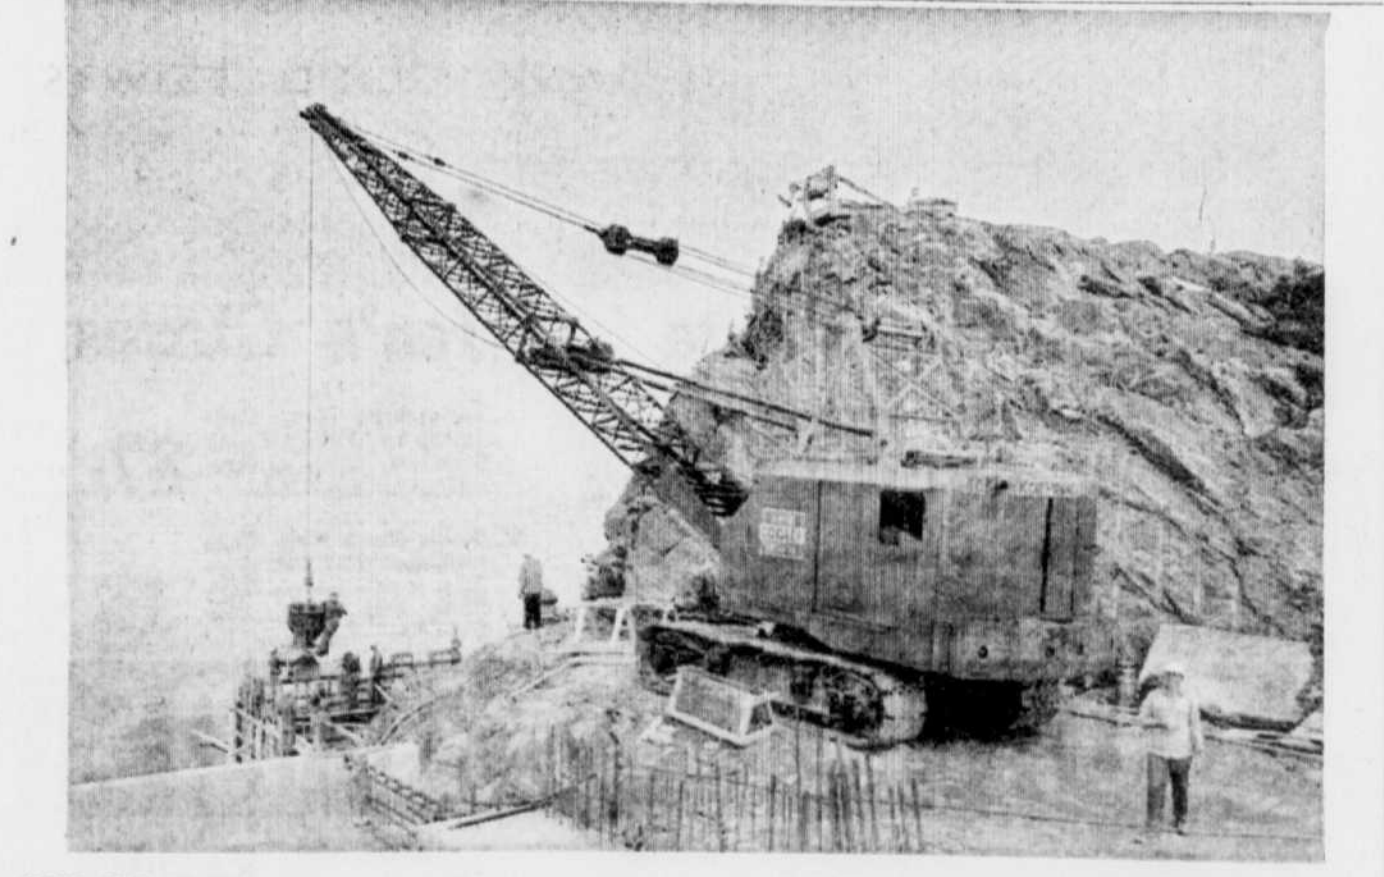

Seattle broke a five-game losing streak with a 4-3 win over Victoria and Portland Buckaroos downed California 5-1 to round out the U.S. Thanksgiving-Eve action.

At San Diego, Larry McNabb put the Gulls in front in the first period, but Al Langlois tied the score at 18:07. Les Ronson scored the winner for San Diego seconds later.

Goals by Noel Picard, Bill Dineen and Larry Lund in the first 3½ minutes of the second period gave Seattle a 4-1 lead. Victoria couldn't overcome Dineen's goal was his second of the game.

Rollie Wilcox and Aut Erickson cut the margin to 4-3 with the third period just over four minutes old.

ATOP JAY PEAK is this 35 ton track crane, lowering material to workmen at the base of the top station airtramway. The crane nestles right next to the top of Jay Peak

JAY PEAK, Vermont — The job of stringing more than 120 tons of Airtramway steel carrying cable is underway here with men and machines working in rain, slush and snow to complete by December 21 the largest lift of its kind ever constructed in Eastern United States.

From huge roll drums 10 feet in diameter the 44 millimeter (1.73 inch) steel cables are unrolled today at the base of this Vermont mountain, inch-by-inch, into the solid rock atop Jay Peak.

Between the heavy concrete structures at the base and top of the Airtramway, two steel big drum at the base of the towers 135 and 87 feet above mountain is a smaller hauling ground have been erected in recent days.

Two tracking cables of more than 30 tons each will be suspended from each of two sides of these heavy towers.

Jay's new Airtramway is a double track, jig-back design manufactured in Switzerland.

The pair of two-inch tracking cables must be hauled up 7800 feet and secured to the top station building, a beautiful three-level structure of solid concrete and wood, with a foundation grouted 22 feet deep into the solid rock atop Jay Peak.

The four tracking cables are being pulled up the mountain and over the towers without touching the ground. Their unusual thickness and strength is necessary to support the cable cars which will carry 61 people each the 7800 feet to the top of Jay Peak. The two cable cars will be heated and, besides carrying skiers to the top, will also transport diners and tourists to Jay's new Sky Haus restaurant and lounge on the peak.

In addition to the four, or double pair of tracking cables, workmen in the next several days will be stringing the smaller 24 millimeter (about one inch) hauling cables. Heavy duty winches have been installed at the bottom as well as the top of Jay to accomplish the intricate and weighty job. Vertical haul involved is about 2000 feet.

Top speed of the cable cars will be 2000 feet per minute. The two cars will be programmed this winter to make the ascent in five minutes, and 25 seconds. A 560 horsepower motor will do the hauling.

"We are on schedule," said Walter Foeger, Jay general manager, today. Airtramway opening is scheduled for December 21.
