WESTMOUNT, FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1947

PRICE—THREE CENTS

Local Red Cross Greet Boston Unit

Emphasizing the co-operation and good-will that exists between the various branches of the Red Cross Society is the telegram sent to Harrison G. Reynolds, Chairman of the Red Cross Campaign for Greater Boston, by Phillip H. Robb, Chairman of the Red Cross Campaign for the City of Westmount. The telegram read as follows: "Dear Harry: As Chairman of the Red Cross Campaign this year for the City of Westmount, Province of Quebec, Canada, I want to send you our very best wishes for a great success in your campaign."

Mr. Robb who is a personal friend of Mr. Reynolds, stated that he had noticed a series of pictures, in a popular international magazine, which showed the preparations being made by the Red Cross Society in Boston to put over the current campaign, and realizing that many Westmounters had personal friends in Boston, had taken this opportunity to offer the organization there the best wishes of the local Red Cross branch.

It is interesting to note that a complete canvass of the people of Boston is much more difficult than here in Westmount, due to the fact that many of the men there are engaged on fishing boats and would be out to sea during the campaign. This necessitated organizing a team on each ship before sailing, so that the crew members would be canvassed during the voyage.

Westmounters are not faced with any such problems as this satisfactory convalescence and is counting on the whole-hearted support of every resident in bringing this campaign to a successful conclusion. The City of Westmount's share in the national campaign is a minimum of $33,000, but every dollar obtained over and above that amount will help alleviate the suffering of the sick and needy.

Festival Entrants

The Western Quebec Regional Drama Festival Committee announce that the following dramatic groups from this district, are entering a play in the Festival to be held in the Sun Life Auditorium, during the week of March 24th: Les Compagnons, Montreal Drama Guild, Montreal Repertory Theatre, Catholic Teachers' Guild, Southwestern Y.M.C.A., Theatre Libre, Les Jeunes Comediens, Sun Life Dramatic Group, Carl Dubuc's Group, and Les Quinze.

Nuremburg Trial Benefited Mankind

"The Nuremburg Trials are a dead issue — no pun intended — and the reason I am speaking of the trials at all is to refute the irresponsible statement made in Montreal recently, by a prominent speaker that the "major war criminals were not condemned because they waged war but because they lost it." Lt.-Col. Clarence S. Campbell, Edmonton lawyer, a Crown Prosecutor associated with preliminary investigations of the Nuremburg trials and today President of the National Hockey League, made the above assertion to Rotarians of the Westmount Club at Victoria Hall, during their weekly luncheon on Wednesday.

Introduced by W. Boyd Robson, Lt.-Col. Campbell, M.B.E., revealed that time and expense were negligible in connection with the trials when it was considered that only 257 days were consumed, requiring 11 days each for the 24 defendants, of which number 21 actually faced the court, one being too ill, one committing suicide, and one tried in absentia.

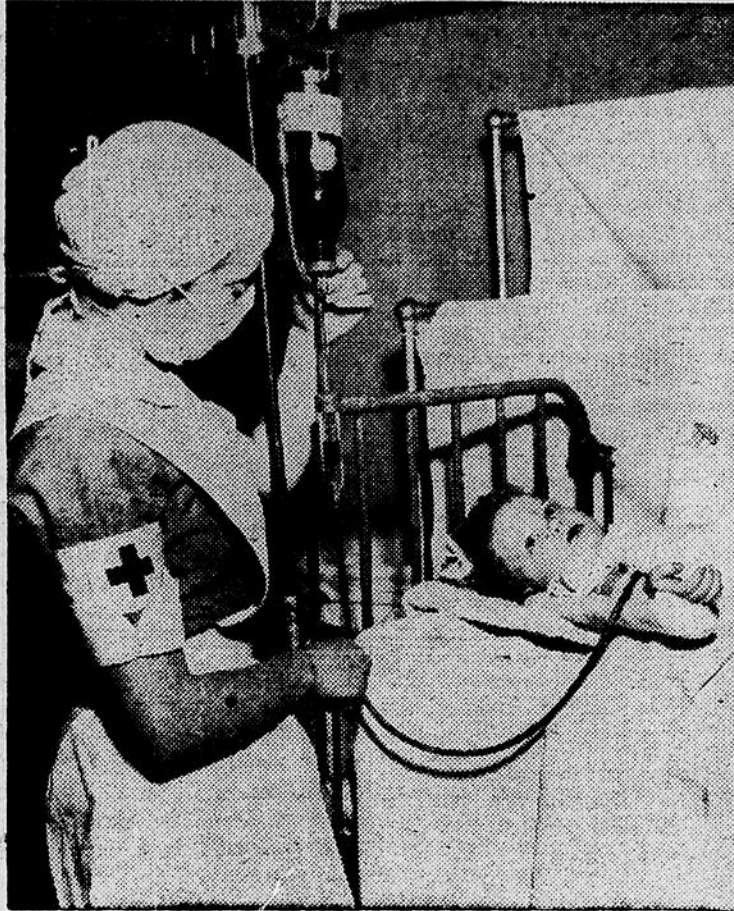

Trophy Will Honor Youth

In memory of his son, Geoffrey Capreol, who served with the R.C.A.F. and who had been a camper and counsellor at Camp Laclouwhi, Leigh Capreol, manager of the Montreal Airport, Dorval, has presented the Geoffrey Capreol Trophy for annual competition at the camp. Mr. Capreol made the presentation at the recent 17th annual banquet and camp reunion, held at Victoria Hall, Westmount, when more than 100 boys and parents were present.

Presiding at the banquet was Fred B. Whittet, secretary-treasurer of the Westmount Protestant School Commission and owner and director of Camp Laclouwhi, who stressed the importance of summer camp life as a factor in curbing juvenile delinquency.

Within 10 years juvenile delinquency in the province could be reduced 50 per cent by the institution of a program which would include provision of provincial government funds for the training of camp leaders in all Quebec universities and for the provision of needed camping facilities. Mr. Whittet's program would also have the department of education include in the school curriculum compulsory attendance at summer camps for boys and girls from the age of eight on, such camps to be free, or "at a nominal cost within the ability of all to pay."

Such a program would be "comparatively easy of accomplishment," Mr. Whittet felt, "as compared with the other 50 per cent which will be brought about when the mothers and fathers of all our children live such lives as will be an example for their boys and girls to emulate."

LIFE-SAVING BLOOD, FREE

Is the object of the new nation-wide blood and plasma bank of the Canadian Red Cross already opened in British Columbia and extending eastward to include all provinces. This child recipient is typical of Canadians of all ages and conditions who will receive free Red Cross blood. Hospitals, large and small, will draw the blood, free, from the huge national reserve. This is one of several peace-time activities for which the Canadian Red Cross seeks $5,000,000 in its 1947 campaign.

Westmount's Police Chief Convalescing

Police Chief Robert Byford is resting comfortably today in Homoeopathic Hospital following an appendectomy which he underwent on Monday.

The Chief was stricken with an attack of appendicitis Friday noon shortly after he had given City

CHIEF R. BYFORD

Manager Percy Jarman a lift home to lunch.

Doubled over with pain on his way back to Police Headquarters, he went to his physician who diagnosed the case as potentially serious and rushed him to hospital.

Today, Chief Byford is enjoying satisfactory convalescence and is expected to return to his law-enforcement duties in the near future.

T. D. Bouchard Pleads For Canadian Unity

By GEORGE COCHRANE

An eloquent plea for racial tolerance not only in the City of Westmount, not only in the province of Quebec, but throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion of Canada, was voiced at the 12th annual meeting of the Westmount High Old Boys' Association last night by Senator T. D. Bouchard, former head of the Quebec Hydro Commission and publisher of the liberal weekly, "Le Clairon."

The meeting, held at the Mount Royal Hotel, was attended by close to 500 Old Boys.

Senator Bouchard, describing his brief address as part of the campaign he is personally conducting against those who are preaching racial and religious intolerance, said, "If my personal interests were or could be involved in the battle I am making for unity, one could question the honesty of my purpose. Though the ties that formerly attach me to my political party have never been strong enough to stop me from promoting reforms that were far from being approved by my party chiefs, reforms, which, by the way, I may say have nearly all become laws, and, though I am still a liberal, I am freer than I have ever been from party bondage. My fight is on a higher plane than the ordinary level of political parties. So, if during my short remarks I speak of some doings of politicians who are members of such and such a party, do not have the false conception that I am prompted to bring them to your attention because of a partisan bias."

Citizens Role Extremely Vital A.G. Macnab Says

At the inaugural meeting for persons employed in restaurants, lunch rooms, etc., held last Monday afternoon in Victoria Hall, A. G. Macnab of the Westmount Health Department, who is in charge of the classes, stated that the Department would like to have its citizens the most sanitary conscious in Canada. Residents can play a vital role in attaining this desire, he said, by demanding that all places where food and drink are, should be kept in a clean and sanitary condition. Any practices not considered satisfactory must be reported to the department immediately.

The persons employed in food stores and restaurants in Westmount, are well versed in the correct ways and means to serve and protect foods for human consumption against bacteria which may cause food poisoning, due to these courses.

At the class in Victoria Hall next Monday afternoon the question, "How germs contaminate food" will be discussed and explanations given of how to prevent foods from becoming contaminated. The "germ gardens" which were planted by the class last Monday will be demonstrated. Washing and sterilization of dishes will also be discussed. Two short films will also be shown to demonstrate correct procedure.

some clergymen of the Catholic faith. In no instance should reproaches be applied to the Clergy at large or to the religion to which I belong. I have nothing to expect personally from one party or another. I willingly admit that my party has offered me what could please me more in my later years—a tribune from which I can talk freely on matters I consider essential to the welfare of my fellow-citizens of every race and creed. The reactionaries who thought that they could clear their way to more power by having me out of the provincial cabinet and who believed they could close my lips by giving me the most substantial salary existing in the public service made the error of their lives. My acceptance of a seat in the Senate and my uninterrupted support of the cause of freeing the mind of my compatriots of French descent has been their well-deserved punishment. They have realized that there are still in that part of society they despise as being too materialistic many men whose silence cannot be bought with gold or honors. My campaign for unity cannot be but unselfish."

STRESSES FOR UNITY

After praising the improvement of the teaching of English in French schools, and after stressing the necessity of all Quebecers becoming bilingual, Senator Bouchard continued, "Unity of the mind of all patriots was needed in the war. It is still necessary in peace time. The Hun menace has disappeared. But what man in close contact with the actual political situation would dare claim that all shadows of the monstrous

Scouts & Cubs

BY REG GROOME

St. Matthias Troop held a Parents' Night on Tuesday evening of this week in the Parish Hall of St. Matthias Church which was a decided success. The meeting was run by Scoutmaster John Field ably assisted by Acting Assistant Scoutmaster Alf. Powis. Over twenty Scouts and thirty parents were present for the occasion when the Troop demonstrated their abilities along many lines.

First-aid, monkey bridge, the latter very well done, these were among the Scouting subjects staged by the boys. Club Instructor Badges were presented to Paul Arnold, Derrick Crosson, Peter Howie and Morley Swan by Col. A. Powis, Commissioner for the Westmount Area. 2nd Class Badge was presented to Carter Powis by Chairman of the Group Committee, Col. R.N. McLeod. Marksman Badge was awarded to John Maynard.

Members of the Group Committee present were introduced; H.R. Hampson, Secretary, W.V. Crosson and Col. R.N. MacLeod, Chairman. Lindsay Graham, Patrol Leader of the Bulldog Patrol, was presented with the Honour Penant for the month of February. Lyall Williams, another member of the Group Committee, dropped in for a few minutes at the conclusion of the meeting. Refreshments were served to end the evening and Dave Chambers was there to take some photos of the Troop.

2nd Westmount Pack won their hockey game Saturday over Dixie by a 3-2 score but not before Dixie had given them a scare when they rallied in the third and final period. They go to Lachine Arena for the final and deciding game this Saturday from 2-3, each team having won one game in the best - of - three series. 2nd Westmount had a decided advantage over Dixie in their second engagement, far different from their first tangle when the Westmount lads were too sure of themselves and lost out 1-0 on a last minute goal by their opponents.

The Poltrick Cup will be presented to the winners Saturday and then again later at the League Party with the winners' name inscribed on it. If you want to see a good game, come to Lachine Saturday.

Camp dates for this season at Tamaracouta have been announced: the first week is from June 28th to July 5th; first period, July 5th to July 19th, second period, July 19th to August 2nd, third period, August 2nd to August 16th. Fees for a two week period are $17.50 this year including transportation.

The next meeting of the Scouters' Club of Montreal will be held at Scout Headquarters, 1523 Bishop Street, next Wednesday, March 19th, at 8 p.m. Speaker will be Staff-Sgt. E. A. Chamberlain, R.C.M.P. and two films will be shown, "Northwest Passage" and "Making Mounties". Reports on the Scout Circus slated for the Forum on May 17th will also be presented.

A preliminary training course, the last for this year, will start next Tuesday at Scout Headquarters, continuing for the next three weeks. This course may be taken as a preliminary or as a refresher. Scouters attending are asked to bring a pencil, notebook and running shoes.

Westmount Highlights

By Arthur Voronka

THE OPINIONS EXPRESSED IN THIS COLUMN ARE SOLELY THOSE OF THIS WRITER.

The three one-act plays, as presented last week in the Junior High School's auditorium by the Students' Production Organization, were highly praised by both critics and the general theatre-going public. Westmount High School, which has a reputation for presenting the best in high school dramatic entertainment, has again rung the theatrical bell and everyone from the producers and directors down to the last member of the stage crew may take a well deserved bow.

Teller Stars

Acting honours go to Mary Teller, a blond 17 year old, 11th grade student, for her very fine stage presence in the farce, "Good Night Caroline." Miss Teller, who had the leading role, portrayed a spoiled and garrulous wife with many fine strokes of artistry. Her role called for acting under unconventional circumstances. Her entire part was spoken from a bed so that she could not rely on change of position to emphasize certain lines. Mary overcame this handicap very admirably by utilizing facial expressions, voice inflections and gestures of the hand in a most polished manner. Indeed, we cannot say too much about Miss Teller's performance. It was the best piece of acting that theatre enthusiasts have seen in a long time on a high school stage.

The burglar in this play was well portrayed by Milton Winston, an 11th year student, and his bumptiousness and tendency to let his emotional feelings get the better of him was genuinely humorous. Elsie Angus played a character role, that of a maid, and although she had a small part, her few witty lines were duly emphasized.

The other two plays, Sunday Costs Five Pesos and Where The Cross Is Made, were well presented but did not quite reach the high standards set by "Good Night Caroline."

A breezy little comedy, Sunday Costs 5 Pesos, was a very colorful number as well as a very vivid one. Its tempo was much too rapid, however, and moved at too fast a pace. The performers gave the impression of being in a great hurry to get the play over and they hardly gave us a chance to catch the play's contagious fun.

Eugene O'Neill's "Where The Cross Is Made," a powerful play about a mad sea captain who has lived only by the strength of his own obsession and dies when he is finally disillusioned, was the third play presented last Thursday and Friday evenings. Don Bardwell, carefully hidden by character make-up, admirably played the part of Captain Isaiah Bartlett (the name was tactfully changed to Barton). A tragedy, the play did bring on seriousness of the mood but at times had a tendency to drag.

Taking everything into consideration, it was certainly a good evening's entertainment. The High School's Glee Club capably filled in time between acts with their "Echoes Of 'Purple & White Revue, '46'" and classical selections. The scenery, constructed under the expert guidance of Will Morrison and Tom Armstrong, was up to professional standards. The lighting effects were the best we've seen in a long time on an amateur stage and for that fact Gerry Roney certainly deserves the highest of praise. The three plays showed signs of good direction as did the Glee Club and for that Miss Lydia Davison, Miss Dorothy King, Mr. Burton Schaffelburg and Mr. Gifford Mitchell are to be congratulated.

Ski Gulls Dance

What the Ski Gulls vividly describe as "the best dance in the history of W.H.S." will take place soir. With the capable Westernairs Ork on the bandstand, the best in refreshments and a pleasant gym floor to dance on, we expect quite a congregation of dance enthusiasts and clean fun-lovers to attend. We are informed that it will be possible to purchase tickets at the door and it's not too late to ask a young lady to the dance yet (unless you read this Saturday morning). So don your best suit and make your way thru the sand covered streets toward the W'mount High School gymnasium.

Masquerade Next Week

The Fri-Nite Club of W.H.S. will present a Masquerade Dance next Friday evening. That's what the latest reports said and they must be right since our number one agent, The Oriole, reported it

SPRING SEMI-FORMAL

At the conclusion of last Saturday night's successful St. Patrick's dance, John Pitblado announced that the next feature dance of the Saturday Night Club would be held on April 12th at the Westmount 'Y'. This will be a semi-formal affair.

Bill Pardoe, president of the Westmount 'Y' Saturday Night Club, presided over a committee held last Monday evening at which details of the coming event were worked out. More definite plans will be announced later.

It was also decided at the meeting to hold a table tennis tournament this Saturday evening at 8.30 to be followed by a mixed swim and a dance in the Assembly Hall. The music for the dance will be that of the greatest recording artists of this present era.

to us. The hand written report goes on to say that a prize of five dollars (the Club must have struck oil) will be given to the young person with the best costume. The music will be supplied by Gerry Roney and His Platter Boys while John Dickins will show his face for laughs.

Red-Hot Items

W'mount's travelling lad, Doug Mitchell, got back into town last Sunday after a wild trip (at least, he expected it to be) thru the mid-west states. . . . The scene takes place in the quiet upstairs corridor of W'mount High School. The characters are two well-known celebrities, Angus Boright and Mary Dickens. As the curtains open, Angus is attempting to sing the famous aria "Che Gilda Manina" from the opera "La Boheme." He is walking very dramatically and using appropriate hand gestures. Enter Mary off right as song reaches dramatic climax and asks Angus; "Do you like that better than singing, Angus?" . . . Westmount High's Senior Basketball team beat Strathcona 84-17 last Wednesday while their hockey team defeated West Hill 2-1 last Tuesday. George McLanders, who is, according to THE STAR, "The toast of Westmount" played an excellent game of hockey and scored both goals. This means W'mount has the Hockey championship. Said McLanders, after reading a write-up about himself in the Gazette: "I like this much better than W'mount Highlights." I don't think he knew what he was talking about. . . . We would like to apologize for a mis-print in this column a few weeks back. The correct spelling of the young man's name we mis-

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

Horned Lark

"Nonsense!" I mumbled to myself. "That can't possibly be a nest at this time of year and before the snow has entirely gone."

But it was! A cup of grass lined with feathers, it rested in a slight hollow on a carpet of moss. So far, it held just one small greenish-grey egg, thickly spotted with dark green and mauve, about the size of a Bluebird's. Snow still lay about in little patches, and a fresh sprinkle which had covered everything earlier in the day was only now being licked up by the sun.

No householder came into view though I hung around the pasture for some time. But after I had climbed over the old snake fence and was starting down the road, a few yards ahead of me a small bird flew up and dashed for the spot I had just left. The only impression of color I got was a pale pinkish-brown; but that was sufficient. Mrs. Horned Lark had been patiently waiting for me to move from her private property.

The Horned Lark not merely builds on the ground but seldom leaves earth, except to give its soft, but wild and joyous song at mating time. Then, like the Skylark of the British Isles and our own Bobolink, it ascends to a great height, singing while on the wing. The ordinary song is a low, sweet warble.

This bird walks instead of hopping, and its hind toe ends in a long claw. If we find foot-prints in the spring snow showing such characteristics, the chances are that Horned Larks have been there, as but two other kinds of birds are so equipped. When we come upon a flock feeding, with little whistled notes they all rise, fly off a short way, then swing back and settle down again in much the same spot. The seeds of weeds tall enough to stand above the snow are their chief diet at this time of year. Although good vegetarians, they occasionally eat some of our insect pests, such as grasshoppers and cutworms.

Horned Larks have now acquired their spring costumes by the wearing away of their winter plumage. They are well named, because the black tufts that stand erect on each side of their heads certainly look exactly like spelled is C-A-R-T-W-E-L-L. That's Bliss Cartwell. . . . According to our latest reports, Rocky Dryden's latest nick-name is "Pebbles." Cute, don't you think. . . . The second set of examinations start at W.H.S. on March 28th and go on 'till April 3rd. And on that day the Easter holidays start and not to return to school until April 14th. . . . Oh, happy school-days. . . . Us Irishmen are celebrating St. Pat's Day on Monday, which leads us to think of spring and a happy thought: If spring is just around the corner then can summer be far behind? This column, like all excellent things, must come to an end.

Roslyn News

By Douglas Turner and Ross Southward

The skating and hockey is evidently over for this season. The Roslyn School rink has changed from a fine sheet of ice to a pool of water filled with ice cubes. All the pupils enjoyed a winter full of skating and hockey events. We have appreciated the fine rink that has been provided for us, however, we are now looking forward to the Spring sports.

The Sixth grade girls and boys are now wearing the new Roslyn pins. They are very attractive in the school colours with "Roslyn" written across the centre.

Last Monday the championship game was played for the inter-class basketball league between the Crees and the Blackfeet. The Blackfeet won 10-5.

Skippy Warnock started the scoring for the Blackfeet, and Mitchell Klein for the Crees, each scoring on a free shot. Klein sank three baskets on free shots. The points for Blackfeet were as follows: Nasmith 5; Warnock 4; and Rubin 1. For the Crees: Klein 3 and Skinner 2.

The players on the winning team were Allan Warnock, Sidney Rubin, Harry Nasmith, Brian Wilson, Michael Schell, John Gibb-Carsley, Tommy Edmonds, and Colin Grimson. The players on the runner-up team were Tony Skinner, John Swift, Harty McKeown, Ian McCrae, Mitchell Klein, Douglas Whitherspoon, Laurie Bennett and Bruce Gordon.

The Mohawks who are in third place with the Dog-Ribs, are trying to get a game to beat the champs. They are missing two of their best players when they were beaten by Crees in the semi-finals. It will be an exhibition game.

On Tuesday an assembly was held for Grades 5 and 6 and the basketball crests were awarded to the winning team.

A week ago Wednesday the girls of Grade 6 played a basketball game using boys' rules. Mr. Pitcairn was the referee. It was a good game with the Reds winning 12-0.

Miss Spences has started marking the girls for their Gym stripes, horns instead of feathers. A black crescent under each eye and a third one on the breast show very distinctly on the pale background.

Westmounter Is Chairman

One of Westmount's youngest merchandising executives was appointed this week to the post of general campaign chairman of the 1947-48 Welfare Federation campaign. Named to the post was Lt.-Col. J. Aird Nesbitt, 38-year-old president of Jas. A. Ogilvy's Limited, it was announced by Claude S. Richardson, chairman of the Federation's board of directors.

Lt.-Col. Nesbitt, who has contributed many years service in fund raising activities in the organization, will replace Murray R. Chipman, retiring chairman.

Prior to the Second World War, in which he served as Lieutenant in the Black Watch and later as acting commander of the Third Brigade, Lt.-Col. Nesbitt presided over the Industrial Division of the Federation's campaign in two highly successful charity drives. Last year he headed the Special Names division.

In accepting the chairmanship, Col. Nesbitt stated that it was in the interests of the individual to achieve contentment in any community. "This," he said, "is the task of the Red Feather Crusade. It's up to the people especially whom Providence has blessed with some of the good things of life to share with their fellows."

Co. Nesbitt, who served with the infantry throughout the war, saw service in England, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. He was mentioned in dispatches while in command of the West Nova Scotia Regiment during the time it was in action in Holland.

Plans For Camp Period Reviewed In Anticipation

Despite outdoor conditions, boys of the 1st Company, Boys' Brigade, are eagerly looking forward to their annual two-week camp period at St. Andrew's East. Word has been received from the former Dominion president, Rev. C. A. Selby of Flint, Michigan, that he intends remaining at camp for the full period this year. In past summers he has been a most popular figure amongst the boys and his return is hailed with delight. Captain J. H. Richardson will direct the camp and will have Lieuts. Sam Hallam and Jack Nichol associated with him.

The drummers are coming along well and look forward to some march-outs when weather permits. Leonard Gough is doing a fine job and it is greatly appreciated by the boys.

Swimming periods will be held twice monthly until the annual meet takes place, on which occasion the 1st Company's team looks forward to bringing home at least one of the three trophies. There are a number of powerful swimmers in the Company who are keeping in training.

Jr. Speakers Given Rating

Chas. Emery, speaking on Free Enterprise and Collective Bargaining took first place in the closing competition of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Public Speaking Class.

Donald Graham ranked second, taking as his topic "Canada's Forests"; Alan Perodeau, speaking on "A Health Insurance Scheme for Canada" came third; Kenneth Rapley got fourth place, taking as his subject "The Joys of Public Speaking"; Thomas Dodds, speaking on the "Mount Royal Cemetery" came fifth.

The class has been meeting since early November, holding thirteen sessions. Fred De Costa of the Young Men's Board of Trade instructed the group.

At the close of the session, the members of the class presented Mr. De Costa with an engraved lighter.

Westmount Man Receives Award

Douglas Courtney Pratt, a native of Westmount, was presented Monday night with an engraved gold watch and chain, and a cheque for $500 by the Bank of Montreal, for capturing a bandit who held up the bank's Main and Hastings streets branch in Vancouver, where he is supervisor of current accounts.

A Merchant Marine veteran, still suffering from war injuries, Mr. Pratt gave chase and overpowered a gunman who entered the bank on January 30, and held up a woman teller. The bank made the presentation to Mr. Pratt at a dinner held at the Hotel Georgia in Vancouver. Mrs. Doris E. Woodward, teller, and the assistant manager, Edward A. Royce, were also presented with cheques for their share in preventing the bandit's escape.

Son of G. Courtney Pratt, manager of Barclays Bank in Montreal, Mr. Pratt entered the Bank of Montreal in 1937 and served Montreal branches before joining the Merchant Marine.

Attendance Pin Awards Given

On Sunday morning, the Junior and Intermediate Departments of St. Andrew's Church School were happy to welcome T. M. Barrington, acting Session Clerk, who spoke briefly to the school and then proceeded with the presentation of three months' perfect attendance pins to the following:

Audrey Bremner, Joan Currie, Jennifer Palmer, Marilyn Ross, Ann Sinclair, Wendy Wright, Elizabeth Cross, Joyce Bremner, Janet Cross, Heather Doig, Heather Swift, Norah Henderson, Ian Black, Graham Ross, John Swift, Donald Fell, Bill Fell, Ken Falconer, Jim Durocher and David Farquharson.

The departmental attendance has been maintaining a high average, even during the severe weather, and the superintendent looks forward to presenting a considerable number of pins when the next three months' period has been completed.

The school is looking forward to the annual festival to take place on the 19th of April, as well as a splash party for Junior and Intermediates, taking place on March 20th.

Review Of R.M.R. Spring Training

With the advent of spring, the R.M.R., commanded by R. Peirson is now taking advantage of equipment heretofore unseen by this Unit. The most popular so far is the addition of the No 19 Wireless to the equipment already held by the Signals Section. The No. 19 set made its reputation with the Allied Forces during the war when it proved second to none for the job it had to do. It was not only the chief means of communication within our fast rolling Armoured Division, but was sent to other countries where its worth was also proven. The ambition of many an amateur radio fan is now being realized under the able guidance of Lieut. B. Harris, Commanding the Signals Section.

Since the appointment of 'Solly' Green, ex lightweight champion of Canada as boxing instructor, more of the younger members are seen out each Thursday evening to learn the manly art of self defence. The Sports Officer advises that before the boxing season terminates he will promote a few bouts of short duration to let the boys see what they have gained from their instruction.

Further to the two teams representing the Regiment in the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association competition, the indoor range is becoming the scene of much activity of late. The Unit has but recently acquired more rifles to sate the demand of the interested and the assistance being lent by the finer riflemen in the Regiment is doing much to improve the marksmanship of our personnel.

Wild Animal Show Coming

At a special meeting of the entertainment committee of A. A. O. N. M. Shriners held at the Karnak Temple a few days ago, J. Harry Spence was elected chairman of the committee and later announced that the committee had voted unanimously to bring back to Montreal the Hamid-Morton Trained Wild Animal Show for a limited engagement of seven days, beginning Saturday afternoon, May 3rd, and ending Saturday evening, May 10th, during which time two performances will be given daily, at 3 p. m. week days and 2.30 on both Saturdays, and 8.30 in the evening. These performances will again be given for the benefit of the Shriners for Crippled Children on Cedar Avenue.

This year the Hamid - Morton Trained Wild Animal Show, will it is said, surpass all previous appearances in this city. For the past eight years this organization has played the Forum and each succeeding year the show has been hailed as better and bigger than ever.

As in past seasons, the committee has been busy getting out special books of tickets to be distributed amongst the Shriners and to the public in general. These books are now ready to be put on sale, being obtainable at the Karnak Temple, at the corner Sherbrooke and St. Mark Street.

Over forty thrilling and breathtaking acts, gathered from all parts of the country, will make up the big show and, in addition, there will be a host of clowns to supply thousands of laughs throughout the show.

Nuremberg Trial

(Continued from Page 1) documents and witnesses were at large and no agreement arranged as to how justice should be meted out to those responsible for in-human warfare, which included extermination of six million Jews in Europe, murder, torture, concentration camps and foul medical experiments.

The London Charter brought the four major powers into agreement and, supported by 14 other nations endorsing the movement, the trials were arranged for with despatch, Colonel Campbell stated. Britain's share amounted to $750,000 and the total cost would probably be between three and four millions, a paltry figure when compared to the expense of a single battle engagement in terms of cost.

"Law With Teeth"

It was the establishment of international law able to deal with war crimes and the power to punish those responsible, the speaker said, quoting the phrase of Roosevelt, "International Law with teeth." Fatigued by war, normal comprehension could not grasp the enormity of what was being done, he declared, but both the time element and expense end of it, in ratio, were actually more economical than that required for common murder cases anywhere.

Never before had such a titanic piece of litigation been accomplished, involving continents, with considered justice and despatch, he stated, and the calmer review of it all, decade hence, would only confirm the necessity, the justice and the efficiency of the Nuremberg Trials.

Four Offences

Actually there were four offences on which they were charged, breaking peace by violation of treaties, which the tribunal declared the greatest crime of all, war crimes as such, crimes against humanity and the fourth, conspiracy to commit each of the other three.

The Nuremberg Trials were a success, declared Lt. Col. Campbell, each defendant was given a fair and deliberative trial and the way the trials were conducted commended itself to the conscience of the world.

Lt. Col. Campbell was suitably thanked on behalf of the Club by W.G. Moxley. President Doug McKean was in the chair.

Mr. Campbell succeeded the recently resigned Mervyn "Red" Dutton as President of the National Hockey League, and, with an impressive war record, the lawyer came directly from the war criminal trials in Aurich, Germany, to take over hockey's highest and most coveted position.

FRIDAY NITE CLUB

After having a successful dance last week, the Friday Nite Club has decided to run a special St. Patrick Dance this week, with refreshments to be served from their newly opened coke bar.

A contest is being run for a name for the club and there will be a prize for the winner. A theme song is also going to be chosen, possibly from the winning name.

The club has planned many things for the near future, including a splash party followed by a weiner roast in front of the fireside.

Physical Committee

Following the regular monthly meeting of the Physical Committee on Monday evening, Mr. Errol Smith, the acting chairman, announced tentative plans for the Spring Swimming Program. This program will include swimming and life saving instructional classes for both young men and senior boys and a "Learn to Swim Campaign" for both boys and girls 6-12 years of age. Last year 110 children enrolled in our Learn to Swim Campaign and Graydon Reipert, chairman of the Swimming Committee, is planning for an equal number this year.

Fencing

The Women's Provincial Class B Fencing Championships for the Province of Quebec are being held tonight in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, under the auspices of the Quebec Fencing Association. Mr. Silverstone, president of the Association, said last night that this year they had the largest entry for several years. Spectators are invited to see the meet.

Badminton

The Westmount 'Y' Badminton team will play the Baron Byng club tonight at Baron Byng High School. This is the second game in the Murray League. Westmount won the first by a small margin and will be out tonight to make it two straight.

POINT THE WAY TO LASTING PEACE

● With over 30,000 branches and over 900,000 members, The Canadian Junior Red Cross is pointing the way to lasting peace. As a part of the world-wide organization with 25,000,000 members, Canadian Red Cross Juniors foster international friendliness and understanding on a broad scale, by corresponding with Junior Red Cross groups in other lands. This is but one of several ways in which the Red Cross works for and through Canadian children.

The Canadian Junior Red Cross peacetime program includes: the practice of health; relief of child victims of war; work for veterans in hospitals; and service to handicapped children.

Furthermore, the Red Cross trains thousands yearly in Home Nursing — teaches water safety and first aid — saving thousands of lives with thousands of ounces of prevention.

Canada needs the Red Cross! And the Red Cross needs your financial support — every last dollar you can spare. Every penny will be put to work doing what you would do if you could. Let your conscience be your guide — give from the heart — generously.

CANADA RANKS THIRD IN WORLD TRADE

The international trade record established by Canada during wartime, when she became the third largest nation in the world, was maintained during 1946.

Total value of Canadian exports and imports last year was $4,200,000,000. This figure was two and a half times greater than the average total recorded by Canada during the three years immediately preceding the war.

Canada's retention of third largest trading nation position was made despite the almost complete elimination of munitions and war supplies from the list of articles traded.

THE WORST POSSIBLE FORM OF GOVERNMENT

"Unlimited power is the ideal thing when it is in safe hands. The despotism of heaven is the one absolutely perfect government. An earthly despotism would be the absolutely perfect earthly government, if the conditions were the same, namely, the despot the perfectest individual of the human race, and his lease of life perpetual. But as a perishable perfect man must die, and leave his despotism in the hands of an imperfect successor, an earthly despotism is not merely a bad form of government, it is the worst form that is possible." — Mark Twain.

FILM OF 1,000 STARS

Ealing's Australian picture, "The Overlanders," has got a new tag-line. It's being called the film with a thousand stars. The description is no exaggeration, either. Director Harry Watt purchased a thousand head of cattle for the picture, and with all due respect to the human players headed by Chips Rafferty and Daphne Campbell, the cattle make the film. "The Overlanders" is their story — the story of the greatest migration of cattle in history, when they were overlanded from Japanese threatened areas to safer districts a couple of thousand miles away.

TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

On the occasion of the Greater Montreal Safety Campaign, carried here this year, it is worth recalling to motorists the responsibilities they are assuming in accepting their license plates for 1947, says a message by Colonel Arthur Gaboury, General Secretary of the Province of Quebec Safety League.

"Motorists may realize they must not endanger the life of others. When accepting your license plates, you must be fully aware of the heavy responsibilities you assume.

"Responsibility to others: You must drive in a manner that will not encroach upon the rights of others. Your car may be used for pleasure or business, but never as an instrument of disaster.

"Responsibility to children: Treat them with care, as if they were blind and deaf. Protect them accordingly.

"Responsibility to yourself: Do not drive blindly into a railroad crossing. Some day, there may be a train coming. Your car is sure to be lost if you are lucky enough to save your life. In cities, where streetcars are operated, do not damage your car or risk your life by stubbornly attempting to force them aside. It cannot be done. Beware of car tracks, they are treacherous."

So, motorists, concludes Mr. Gaboury's message, let's do our share to prevent accidents in Greater Montreal this year. Let's re-establish and maintain that good safe reputation.

OLIVIER TO FILM 'HAMLET'

In a brief announcement from London, Lawrence Olivier has announced plans to film Shakespeare's "Hamlet," and that shooting will begin some time next month. It is expected that his wife, Vivien Leigh, will play the part of "Ophelia," and that many of the distinguished players who helped make "Henry V" one of the real events of the 1946 motion picture year will be associated with him in this newest venture. Filming will be done in Denmark, in the actual historic settings of the story. It will be recalled that Olivier and Miss Leigh journeyed to Denmark a few years ago, during which time they played "Hamlet" against its actual background, and doubtless Olivier was able to study his projected settings at that time. And the role of the "melancholy Dane?" — who else, but Olivier himself!

WEEKLY REVIEW

Socialist Text-Book For Children

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

A father was examining his son's school report, and it was very bad. "This is awful!" said the father. "Can't you do any better than that?" "O yes," replied the boy, "I got 96 for an essay on 'Building a New World Order!'"

Walter A. Tucker, M.P., leader of the Liberal Party of Saskatchewan, recently protested against the introduction of a text-book, entitled "The World of Today," into the public schools of that province. Mr. Tucker charged that book glorified socialism and communism, and he demanded its withdrawal from the schools.

I have read the book and have found it very interesting. It certainly covers the subject, as far as governments, economics, industry and social life are concerned. It contains a lot of very useful information, and the authors have, for the most part, tried to present it in factual form; but they have marshalled the facts in a very subtle manner so as to lead the young minds to one conclusion—that there is something radically wrong with the world today, and that it can only be set right by Socialism.

The book starts out by likening the world and the two thousand million people in it to an "enormous motion picture," which shows "a never ending jumble of people working at a million different tasks, following a million different ways of living." Having presented this picture, the authors ask: "What is the object of this ceaseless activity? Why do so many work while a few play? How is it that some live so much more comfortably than others? What is it all about?"

These questions are by no means new. They have puzzled poets, philosophers and theologians down through the ages. But not so the authors of this text-book. "The answer to some of these questions," they say, "is fairly simple. In spite of the amazing differences in appearance and surroundings, in living and habits of thought, with few exceptions, all have the same object in view: the good life, and a good living." So there you have it. The riddle of the Sphinx is solved at last—and it was so simple after all. It is merely a question of economics, for this book informs us that when man emerged from the savage state he "became an economic animal." His chief aim in life is "the search for a good living."

It is only fair, however, to add that the authors, in a note on the back of the title page, state: "It is the purpose of this book to describe some of the more important social, industrial and political aspects of the world since the Treaty of Versailles in 1919. Lack of space makes possible only a passing reference to the artistic, literary and spiritual achievements in the present-day world." That is well, but the impression a study of this book must leave on young minds is that these spiritual things are of minor importance, and that he pointed out that "in New Zealand the government loans money for your home building at 1% interest. In Canada the private loan companies charge 4% and 5% interest." Then the youngster is asked to figure out "what is the difference in an amount of interest that will be paid on a loan of $4,000 in the two countries? How much per month will the New Zealand family have to spend on necessities and recreation?"

How could any school boy or girl figure out that very complicated question? There is no comparison between the standards of living in Canada and that of New Zealand, and there is a wide difference between the financial and commercial status of the two countries.

As I have said, there is a good deal of information in this book that is of interest to public school pupils and it is presented in a readable form, but that renders the conclusions drawn and insisted upon by the authors all the more insidious. If there were any doubt about the very definite trend of its teaching toward Socialism, I could quote numerous passages to show that the whole book was carefully planned as a piece of socialistic propaganda for young and ingenuous minds. One quotation is sufficient, and it is this:

"The year 1932 witnessed the rise of a new political party. At a meeting in Calgary of various farm and labor organizations, plans were laid for the formation of a Dominion-wide socialist party, the Co-operative Commonwealth (C.C.F.). Among its objects were the socialization (public ownership) of banking, and the natural resources (minerals,

THE FORUM.

Conducted by Howard S. Ross, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Colonel Clarence Sutherland Campbell, the president of the National Hockey League (annual receipts $4,000,000.00) no doubt is the only major sports figure on this continent who cooks his own breakfast, does not drink or smoke, was a Rhodes scholar, a lawyer and a soldier with a Mentioned-in-Dispatches and an O.B.E. He is forty-one and a bachelor and among his other duties during the war he was assistant prosecutor in the Kurt Meyer War Crimes trial. When he came to Montreal as NHL president, he took a room and bath at one of the principal hotels, but later found a small housekeeping suite with a private family in the Town of Mount Royal. He cooks his own light breakfast of coffee, eggs, bacon and toast. His other meals he eats in downtown restaurants. He is a light eater and still retains the slim lines of youth. He is one of a family of three boys and three girls and was born in Saskatchewan and completed his eighth grade in Macklin when he was eleven. His family moved to Edmonton and at fifteen he entered the University of Alberta and received his B.A. at eighteen and his Law degree at twenty.

He started refereeing hockey games in Switzerland and in 1926 refereed the final of a tournament at Davos. After returning to Canada in 1929 with B.A. and B.C.L. degrees from Oxford, he entered an Edmonton law firm and did his first Canadian refereeing in the Alberta Senior League and became well known as a referee during the next few years. In 1936 he took a position with the NHL, but continued with his law firm which frequently had business in the cities in which he worked as referee, so he could combine both positions.

In philosophizing about the game he said in part: "All boys are by nature hero-worshippers and for many reasons prominent athletes are the idols, therefore it is only natural that the young Canadian should cut from the paper the picture of his favorite professional hockey player and follow his career from game to game and from season to season with admiration and pride. He will seek to emulate his hero's exploits and will be tremendously interested by all he does. Prominent athletes have a great responsibility."

—This is a small part of an excellent article in Maclean's Magazine entitled "Campbell Here" (his greeting to telephone callers), by Elmer Ferguson, Sports Editor of The Montreal Herald and Dean of the "Hot-Stove" Commentator Philosophers, who are heard over the Imperial Oil broadcasts during the outstanding hockey games in Canada.

A British Labor member in a speech in the House objected to the BBC playing so many of Bing Crosby's records. They said a few now and then, but not three or four hundred hours a year! A large amount was devoted in the budget for the carrying on of the BBC. The BBC listeners who own receivers pay a fee of $4.00 per year.

"The consumption of beverage alcohol is one of our serious medical-social problems. It is rated as the fourth, almost the third, public health problem in the United States. It produces what is now recognized as a disease entity termed alcoholism (forests, water-power, and so on) . . . In industry its keynote was production for service rather than profit."

which needs to be treated as carefully as any other disease. "Alcohol is an uncompromising enemy of man's nervous system and has a paralyzing effect on the very center of intelligence. It is the arch enemy of the brain and will produce death when it reaches the brain in the strength of one-half of one percent. Post-mortems reveal that water swelling or edema of the brain and lungs is common in individuals who have died from alcoholism. These physical changes produce such mental disorders as acute alcoholic hallucinosis and alcoholic paranoid states. The former is characterized by auditory hallucinations and the latter by ideas of persecution and loss of memory.

The condition well known as delirium tremens, with its unceasing, almost violent activity, is frequently accompanied by zoological hallucinations in which all kinds of animals appear to be snapping at and crawling over the body. Victims of this form of alcoholism do not escape with simply seeing snakes and pink elephants on occasion. The matter is of much longer duration. Thousands of such patients all over the country are taking up the time and energy of psychiatrists and other physicians who are urgently needed in our understaffed, overcrowded mental hospitals."

—Regner W. Kullberg, M.D., practising physician in Astoria, Oregon, and a member and Fellow of the American Medical Association.

Jehovah's Witnesses will soon begin construction on a $203,000.00 10-storey addition to Bethel Home, their national headquarters in Brooklyn. This, it was stated in a U.S.A. journal, is because of the rapid growth in their membership and their world-wide activities.

Recently, for the first time in the history of British relations in India, the traditional address by the Viceroy to the Annual Meeting of the Associated Chamber of Commerce composed mostly of British trade interests was departed from. Mr. Nehru instead of the Viceroy addressed the Chamber's meeting in Calcutta. In the course of his address he declared that no free Indian Government could possibly continue such commercial safeguards as have existed for the British in India. The colonial economy of which there are still traces must, he said, be entirely eliminated. As an example of how British politics in India have overlapped into other spheres, he pointed to Christianity which, in Southern India, is an old institution that existed prior to the British administration, but in Northwest India, where it spread along with British power, has become a symbol of British domination.

Mr. Ambedkar, the representative of the depressed classes in India, recently in the course of a discussion of a statement by Mr. Nehru, said in part: "I know today we are divided politically, socially and economically. I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that we shall in some form be a united people, but notwithstanding the agitation of the Moslem League for a partition of India, some day enough light will dawn upon the Moslems themselves and, they, too, will begin to think that a united India is better for everybody."

twins, nazism and fascism, have vanished from our province?

"The Sacrosanct press has accused me lately of seeing everywhere ghosts working against Canadian unity. It is not phantoms which disturb my mind; it is shadows I see moving about and crouching here and there. Their existence is not a new social phenomenon in our country, but they have increased in number in this last quarter of a century. It means that those who cause those shadows have multiplied and that the hidden disintegration of real Canadianism is in full progress.

EQUALITY OF OPORUNITY

"I love my country as it is. We still enjoy, at least in our statutes, as much, if not more, freedom than any land I know. I have lived a happy life in it, so have those of my compatriots who speak my language. Any of their children can climb, as well as those of another extraction, to the summit of our social and political honors. True, we have to compete with citizens of a different racial descent, but I believe, and facts have proven this truth in many instances, that with a proper practical training we can also reach the top. Why then work to isolate the Canadians of French descent from their compatriots of another origin? Why instil in the minds of our youth the idea that the national status for us would be an independent French and Catholic state on the borders of the St. Lawrence?

"I do not favour the Balkanising of Canada. I prefer to be the citizen of a large country having a modern constitution, in which the rights of a free people are recognized to the fullest extent, than the slave of the coteries that were the real rulers of the old medieval kingdoms. The Pakistan may be a sound policy for India, in which country the population exceeds the 400,000,000 mark. I do not believe in this partitioning of Canada."

Senator Bouchard concluded, "We have to prepare for the worst when we should be enjoying a well-deserved rest. This is the reason why I am asking all the friends of Canadian unity, in which I include the Westmount High School Old Boys, to join their forces to make Canada a united country as we should have a united world."

EXECUTIVE ELECTED

One of the most important items on the agenda last night was the election of a new slate of officers for the 1947-48 year. The slate proposed by the outgoing executive was accepted without a dissenting vote. The new executive is headed by President James de Lallane.

Dominion-Douglas Choir Sing Handel's Messiah

The choir of Dominion Douglas Church will sing Handel's Messiah on the Wednesday evening preceding Good Friday, April 2, at 8.30 p.m. The work is to be sung in the new form whereby the complete oratorio is performed in one and three quarter hours.

This revision, by the organist of the church, John Robb, is not merely a shortening of the work by the elimination of choruses, but, by means of overlapping and other devices, the oratorio has been given greater continuity, thereby making it very easy to follow the story contained in the work and reducing the time required for performance. It was performed twice last year in the new form and with much success.

The accompaniment will be provided by organ and strings and the soloists will be Margaret Messenger, soprano; Armande Davis, contralto; J. M. Stewart, tenor; and Harry L. Brown, bass.

Enameled ware should not be heated or cooled too suddenly. Always clean it gently; rinse in hot soap suds and rub gently with a soft cloth, then rinse in clean hot water and dry with a clean cloth.

The Services of Worship in Calvary United Church on Sunday will be conducted by the Minister, Right Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada.

He will preach both morning and evening and will also conduct the Bible Class at 10 a.m. in Macauley Hall.

The subject of the morning sermon will be, "The Biggest Business in the World", while the theme of the evening sermon will be, "Religion for Today and Tomorrow".

The Calvary Young People's Union will share in a special St. Patrick's programme on Monday night, March 17th. The Social and Recreational conveners will be in charge of the programme.

The Annual St. Patrick's Luncheon, sponsored by the Calvary Women's Association, will be held in the Church Hall at 1 p.m., on Tuesday. The bill of fare will include the Luncheon, Music and a Lecture on Ireland and the Irish by Dr. T. W. Jones. Those desiring to attend should telephone the W. A. President, Mrs. G. L. Fowler, WE. 4803 by tomorrow for all particulars.

The Mission Circle now in process of organization will meet on Wednesday. Details may be obtained from Miss Isabel Frith or Miss Vera Jamieson.

Stanley Presbyterian

The morning Service in Stanley Church on Sunday will be conducted by the Minister. The Guest Speaker will be the Rev. H. Owen. Mr. Owen, who is a son of one of the Church members, is visiting in Montreal prior to sailing for China where he will work under The China Island Mission.

On Palm Sunday the Choir, under the Direction of Miss Doris Killam, will present Stainer's "Crucifixion" at the evening service.

St. Luke's United

"The Master's Scale of Values" is the subject of the sermon to be preached Sunday evening at St. Luke's. The morning subject is "Responsive Living," the fourth in the series of sermons entitled, "The Heart of Great Living."

Rev. Wm. Steeper of McGill University will speak at the Lenten service on Wednesday next at 8 p.m. The Young Adult Group, Senior and Junior Young Peoples' Societies will have charge of the service.

New members will be received on Sunday morning, March 30. The minister will appreciate being informed of those who would like to unite with the church at that time.

Westmount Park

The fourth in the series of sermons which Mr. Goth is preaching on Sunday evenings under the general theme of "Design for Living" is entitled "How To Live With Yourself". Everyone will agree that this is a very important step in our search for wholeness. We may change our habitation in order to get away from an unwelcome situation, but if the disturbance is in our own selves, we cannot cure it by a mere change of environment. We have to live with ourselves. The "Twenty-Thirty" Club will meet following the service.

In the morning Mr. Goth will preach on the topic: "The Authority of a Great Personality".

Church of the Advent

Next Sunday is known as Refreshment or Mothering Sunday; it is Mothers' Day in the Church and special intercessions for Mothers will be made.

At the Church of the Advent there will be an informal reception directly after the Evensong, to bid farewell to the Rev. Reginald Stewart and Mrs. Stewart, who are leaving for Westville, N.J., in the near future. All members of the congregation and friends are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served by the Women's Guild, and a presentation made to Father Stewart.

On Wednesday evening the Bishop will come to administer

Mrs. H. Sharpe, 4311 Harvard Avenue, will entertain at tea this afternoon at her home, when part of her collection of early American glassware will be on display. Proceeds of this tea are being donated to the Military Hospital Visiting Committee of the N.D.G. Women's Club.

In honor of Miss Charlotte Henry, bride elect, a miscellaneous shower was held on Friday night by Mrs. Alexandra D. Regele, Upper Belmont Avenue.

Mrs. E. B. Forrest, a former president of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club, who is in Florida, sent greetings to the club on its 25th anniversary, which were read to the members and guests by Mrs. N. B. Muir, the president.

Miss Joyce Finnemore, of Westmount, and Miss Virginia Sampson, of Notre Dame de Grace, left on Saturday, March 8th from New York on the "S.S. Fort Amherst" for Bermuda to be guests at the Belmont Manor and Golf Club. On their return, they will spend a few days in New York.

Mr. C. H. Bonnycastle, Headmaster of Rothesay Collegiate, was a week-end guest at Lower Canada College. Mr. Bonnycastle accompanied his senior hockey team to L.C.C. for an inter-school match, having recently won the New Brunswick Provincial Championship.

Robert Haydon, who has recently come to Montreal from New York, is acting as tenor soloist at Trinity Memorial Church. Mr. Haydon was soloist at Broadway Presbyterian Church in N.Y. City last year and before the war was soloist at Yorkminster Baptist and Trinity United in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harmon, of the Town of Mount Royal, are rejoicing at the birth of a baby son and wondering if the fact that the baby was born on Saturday, March 8th, isn't a lucky omen for the prospective new hockey player, as the number "8" is Glen's number in the Canadian hockey team! The infant was born at the Royal Victoria Hospital while his dad was playing in Chicago (incidentally the Canadiens won) and telegrams were flying from Glen's pals from overseas and now in Winnipeg, as well as from other fans. The baby's mother is "Juliette" of hat fame, whose creations are shown in her Westmount salon.

Miss Dorothy Ghikas entertained at a personal shower on Friday March 7th, in honor of Miss Kay Wilson whose marriage to Mr. Charles Atchison has been arranged to take place on March 29th at three o'clock. Decorations were carried out in pink and white. Miss Betty Pogue and Miss Joan Woodings assisted in pouring tea; and the guests present included Mrs. M. Wilson, Mrs. D. Burnett, (aunt of the bride), Mrs. E. May (sister of the groom), Mrs. James Collins, Mrs. K. Ghikas, Mrs. John Ghikas, Miss Ilene Jarka, Miss Grace Parker, Miss Betty Pogue, Miss Irene Pogue, Miss Edith Rakes, Mrs. Irving Roberts, Miss Alta Rolston, Mrs. C. T. Woodings, Mrs. Jack Woodings and Miss Joan Woodings.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Liverant announce the engagement of their younger daughter Nadja, to Mr. Walter Roos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Roos, all of Westmount. Miss Liverant received her Bachelor of Commerce degree from McGill University, and her Master of Business Administration from the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Roos spent three and a half years overseas with the Royal Netherlands fleet air arm.

WESLEY CHRISTENINGS

Sunday afternoon, March 9th, at 3.30 p.m., in Wesley Church, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Alexander, of 343 Clarke Ave., Westmount presented their baby, Anne Frances, to the Rev. B. B. Brown for Christian baptism. A large number of friends and guests witnessed the ceremony. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Alexander of Addington Ave., grandparents, and Mrs. N. Lewis maternal grandparent, of Westmount.

Harry Maude To Sing At St. Stephen's Year Musicale And Tea

The Churchwomen's Year of St. Stephen's Church, Westmount, are holding a musical and tea in the Parish Hall, Weredale Park, on Saturday, March 15th at 3.30 p.m. Mr. Harry Maude, baritone, will be the soloist, accompanied by Mr. Eustace Tait, A.C.C.O. Tea will be served under the convenship of Mrs. G. O. A. Brown and Mrs. J. D. Telford. The congregation and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

Betrothal Announcement

Miss Ruth Matheson

Mr. Kenneth A. Wright

An interesting recent engagement is that of the popular couple pictured above. Miss Ruth Maxwell Matheson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Matheson, Hampton Avenue, N.D.G., and Mr. Kenneth A. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wright, Roslyn Avenue, Westmount.

Over-Eating Said To Be Habit-Forming

It's only overeating that puts on the excess pounds. If you get into the habit of always eating to belt-pressing proportions — with second helpings—not much, just a juicy slice with the fat left on, and maybe just another half of the candied sweet potato — keep right on eating until you get that nice full feeling, then add dessert, and you're a cinch to wind up at 185 pounds! As you know by now, the stomach is a muscular organ and its capacity to stretch is astounding. The more you eat, the more you want to eat.

Appetite is supposed to give a satiety signal, but it gets muffled when buried under too much fat. And overeating is so pleasantly habit-forming!

But if you will get away from the table and get your mind off food, you'll lose your appetite.

Agnes Davis Forsook Physical Culture For Singing

From teacher in the public schools of Denver to concert fame has been the record of the swift rise of Agnes Davis who appears here with the Montreal Masonic Choir on March 25th in St. James United Church. This attractive young soprano was a graduate of Colorado State Teachers' College when she first began the development of her voice, and was then teaching physical culture in the high schools of Denver.

She came into national prominence as winner of the first prize in the Atwater Kent Radio Contest, and after further training her reputation spread and before long she was in demand throughout the entire country.

The soprano has made 37 appearances with the Philadelphia Orchestra alone, singing under conductors Stokowski, Ormandy, Reiner and Smallens; being engaged for such contrasting music as Wagner's "Walkure," "Parsifal" and "Gottterdammerung," Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, Mahler's Second Symphony, Honegger's "King David," and Rachmaninoff's "Bells."

TRAVELLING DOCTOR CHECKS ON HEALTH

Dr. N. L. Phoenix, of Edmonton, is probably one of Canada's most travelled doctors. Near the end of a two-year swing throughout Western Canada, he has stopped at every city, town or village on the Canadian National Railways between the Great Lakes and the Pacific Ocean. His patients are employees of the Canadian National Railways running trades who are checked for eyesight, hearing, color blindness and general physical fitness. He travels with his wife in a specially fitted railway hospital car.

FRENCH TOAST

2 eggs
1/2 teasp. salt
1 tablesp. granulated sugar
1/4 cup fresh milk

HOME EDUCATION

Withdrawing Her Apron Strings

BY H. G. GREEN

"A few years ago I found my two children becoming much too deeply attached to me and too dependent on me. To make them more self-reliant, I deliberately planned a weaning process," a mother confided to me recently.

Knowing her tall, handsome Jim and her lovely Sally, I replied, "That must have been a difficult thing to do."

"Yes, it was. But since I had discovered that gradually a really too-binding relationship had developed, I was sure it must be done. We three—you know my husband died five years ago—had unintentionally formed a sort of closed corporation. I learned that the children had been declining invitations to entertainments and little parties. 'We have a better time with you,' they told me when I asked about it. Although this was very flattering, it struck me as being not quite normal. I saw that their close attachment to me and to their home was psychologically crippling."

"How did you manage to loosen this tie?" I asked, deeply interested.

"Well, I was puzzled just how to go about it. Of course, I went to the library and secured many of the helpful books on child development that are available. Almost the first one I opened showed me I was right in my theory. I took notes from some of the books, and after much reading and thinking I called a family conference. Frankly and lovingly I explained just how I felt."

"What was the reaction?" I inquired.

"At first Jim and Sally looked hurt and mystified; they said little. The next day they came to me.

"'Mom,' said Jim, 'We've been talking together about what you told us last night; we think you're right.'"

"That helped a lot?" I asked.

"Yes, indeed. We all had the same viewpoint from that time forward. I insisted that Sally and Jim do more of their own shopping and that they start helping me with a few of the smaller financial problems. Of course, they always had done some of the work in the house and garden. Socially, they began to make many new friends and they 'polished up' some old friendships."

"And you?"

My charming neighbor smiled. "I had so much more time for myself. As you know, I met and married the children's 'other father,' as they call him.

"The chief difficulty of being a

Hints On Fashions

Interesting lounging and cocktail suits appear in the newest collections, as can be seen from this sketch. Black wool jersey with spanking white sharkskin is the theme for this smart design. The white criss-cross scarf buttons on (or off) at either side with gold buttons. There is the same detail for the cuffs. When the white detail is removed, the basic black slacks can be easily brightened up with colorful accessories.

Gerry's Chatter Column

A GAY AND INTERESTING CENTERPIECE for your Easter Sunday dinner table, can be inexpensively and easily made by using a loaf cake as the base for a cart which is drawn by several small cotton chickens and driven by a cotton bunny who sits on top of the cart. For wheels, use small brown cookies and fasten them onto the loaf cake with toothpicks. Remove a little of the center of the cake and fill it with green tissue paper and jelly beans. For reins, use paper streamers or narrow ribbon.

Charm and Poise of a Great Lady

This is the time of year when a pure wool house coat seems to be just the thing to slip into after a shopping spree downtown. Yesterday I was looking at the varied assortments at Robert Simpson's. These pure wool coats are very cozy with their shepherd's plaid of black and white, brown and white, and brown and yellow, also the chalk stripes. They are the famous Coronet robes, which also come in the plain pastel shades. They have a generous sleeve, wrap around, and, of all things, a kick pleat in the back. If you want to feel dressed up while wearing a house coat, see the rayon crepe, by Sobury, they come in floral or a leaf design, in sizes, 12-20 and 16½-22½, having a Talon zipper closing down the front, or the wrap around style, and a very full skirt. The printed jerseys are luscious enough to make one feel like the great lady of the moment, and would be perfect for afternoon entertaining. From the great sweep of the skirt, to the graceful lines of the sleeves, one would be sure of all the poise and charm needed for the occasion. They have a grey background trimmed with dark blues and rich reds. You may have these in the larger sizes of 40-42-44. Barbara Mae has a very practical style of dressing gowns that would be very handy for travelling; they are a black silk jersey, with a rose panel down the sides, or blue, lime. For the bride-to-be these sheer pastels are most attractive. They are so simply styled, with large pearl buttons down the front, and a tie at the waist. Whatever style or make you are looking for, I know you will be delighted with the assortment offered at SIMPSON'S LTD.

Fancy Things for the Spring HOLT RENFREW

From now on the feminine hearts will all be aglow with the thoughts of fancy things to wear. Talking of "fancy things," trust Holt, Renfrew & Co., corner of Mountain and Sherbrooke Sts., to have an exclusive article in lingerie. It is an elastic shirred chiffon pantie, with a narrow shirring of net around the knee. These are the daintiest panties imaginable, and yet they wash beautifully, and wear just as well as their more practical sisters. You may purchase them in tea rose, white and black, at $4.95. They come in sizes small, medium and large. The ladies who will soon be chasing the elusive tennis or golf balls, will find the new MERCURY slimmies ideal for sportswear. They are very tightly ribbed, heavy nylon and rayon panties, which should take the place of a girle while indulging in your favorite sport. They are ideal to wear under shorts. These come only in white, in sizes small, medium, and large. Have you ever visited Holt, Renfrew's corset department? If not, you will be very well satisfied with the attention received in the fitting rooms, so private and quiet. You will be surprised at the bargains that are still to be picked up at this attractive store. When browsing around yesterday, I was amazed at the reductions still to be had on some of the price tags. There are some lovely quilted pajamas that some lady may be looking for; the coat is ¾ length, cut in the mandarin style. They come in turquoise, and shocking pink, they are most attractive, and smartly cut.

Saying "No" To Pastry Dessert One Way Of Not Overeating

This you have to try to believe! If you will get up from the table feeling just a wee bit hungry, 15 minutes later you wouldn't give a dime for dessert. And, you'll be reducing! Try it at dinner. Eat the main course, a generous serving of lean meat or fish, a couple of vegetables, salad and a roll. Eat every mouthful. But no seconds

Have a cup of coffee or hot tea. Then get promptly up from the table. If the others have apple pie, naturally it looks good, and you could eat a piece even a la mode. Stoutly refuse. Fifteen minutes later you will have forgotten you ever wanted a piece. And you're still reducing. Try the plan again at lunch the next day. Even if you say to yourself, "This is all the bunk. I'm still hungry. I could eat two desserts and I know I'll be hungry all afternoon!" Try it anyway—what have you got to lose? Fifteen to 30 minutes later you will be pleasantly surprised to find you are no longer hungry. Of course, it takes longer than that to break a dessert habit of long standing, but the more you turn down dessert the easier it is. Getting away from the table helps most of all. When you don't see the food, you don't crave it. This isn't dieting exactly, it's just not overeating.

An Angler's Dream

The C.S.L. Gift Shop, 1480 Sherbrooke St., near Mackay, has some very attractive luggage racks in mahogany and oak. These combined with a large mahogany or oak tray, having in the center, Audubon or old English prints, makes a most attractive coffee table. I was more than intrigued by the hob-nailed glass decanters in pale blue or white. The girls had ivy growing in them, and looked very novel. I have meant to tell you before about the amber glass jars, with red, blue, or white rings. They are about twelve inches high, and would make beautiful lamp bases; they come around $6.00. The fisherman should see what this shop has to offer him when entertaining his friends. First, a tray of bleached wood, the center having twelve ovals containing different flies, but not being an angler I cannot tell the names of the species represented, except to say that they looked very fetching. To hold the glasses are lucite coasters, with flies in the center, and the muddlers and the stirrers continue the pattern. The leather cigarette box has several flies on the cover. To complete the ensemble is the hand made linen luncheon set, with the fish motif. If you have been looking for a crisp white shirt-waist to wear with your new spring suit, you will be delighted with the white rayon sharkskin classic tailored waists that the C.S.L. shop is featuring. They have the nice long sleeves, with the tailored cuff, and white pearl buttons down the front; this blouse will wear like iron and wash beautifully, and all for $6.95. Oh, yes, you must be sure and see the angel white LANSEA sweater set, the pullover and the cardigan, they are exquisite, and would make perfect companions to the new pleated skirts this summer.

Miss Phyllis King, a Designer

I have often been asked if I knew of a real up-to-date, reliable dressmaker, and up to now I didn't. This week I met Miss Phyllis King, and after having seen some of her creations I do not hesitate to recommend her to anyone who is particular about her clothes. Miss King designs all her own patterns, but if desired, will copy any style down to the last detail. In February, Phyllis King designed for and arranged the complete fashion show sponsored by the Westmount C.W.L. It was a distinct success, and she received many complimentary remarks from the press. Bridal gowns and oversize garments are a specialty at her salon. If you are interested in ready made clothes, you will find a very fine collection here, all of which having been designed by Phyllis King, and made by her competent staff. This artiste is continually improving her talent by taking special courses in the latest technique in designing and sewing. There is something very satisfying in knowing that one's frock has been designed solely for yourself. Once more a Montreal girl has embarked on a career for herself that I'm sure will bring her many honours. This dress-making salon is situated at 1504 Sherbrooke St., W., just east of Guy, and the telephone is FI. 2901.

Originality Strikes The Note Of Smart New York Gift Shop

The interior of Guldery Gifts, one of New York's ultra-chic gift shops, is charmingly feminine. Miss Eve Brand, who began the establishment on a shoestring just two years ago, enlisted the services of her husband, Mel Gussow, a decorator, to design it for her. From the outside, the shop has a gay bird-cage atmosphere, globular white wrought-iron containers displaying gifts cleverly spotlighted with small theatrical lights. Pinkish mauve is its basic color scheme, Guldery Gifts' Victorian tempo is accented by furniture upholstered in plaid taffeta in soft colors, and whimsical white accessories. Everywhere, too, one sees enticing packages which hold "surprises" wrapped in gay colors, and imaginatively trimmed with shining ribbons and pretty posies. During the paper shortage one of her brightest ideas was the dyeing of ordinary newspapers in her bathtub. Every day colored newspaper sheets were strung up on the Gussows' terrace, to dry into brilliant pinks, greens, blues, yellows, the newsprint showing through to look like little original designs. White cord she also dyed either to match or to contrast.

Sequin Dust-Glitter
Once during the war, also, Miss Brand saw a lot of gold, silver, green, and blue dust shimmering on the floor of a small sequin manufactory after sequins had been cut out. Foreseeing the inevitability of a tinselless Christmas, she scooped up some of the glittering dust. With clear glue she traced designs on colored paper, sprinkled it with her sequin dust, and achieved great success with the unusually lovely paper she used for holiday wrappings.

Another of Miss Brand's bright innovations was the use of buttons on some of her gayest packages. Every time she discarded a dress, off came its buttons, to be strung into ornaments for gift baskets or added to boxes in decorative spots and clusters.

Kensington Recital Next Week With Stevens, Doherty

The unusual interest shown in the recital which will take place at Kensington Church Hall on Friday, March 21st, is an indication of the popularity in Notre Dame de Grace of the young artists to be featured on the program.

William Stevens, who was well known for his appearances at the Bonfire Theatre, has gone a long way musically in the past few years. He won five scholarships in music at the Quebec Conservatory and is considered by the director, of that institution, Germaine Malepart, as one of Montreal's outstanding young pianists.

Kevin Doherty, who shares the stage, is leading tenor soloist at St. Patrick's. A member of the Lyric Operatic Society, he has appeared in recitals both locally and abroad. He completed his studies in Paris and London.

D.O.N. Election

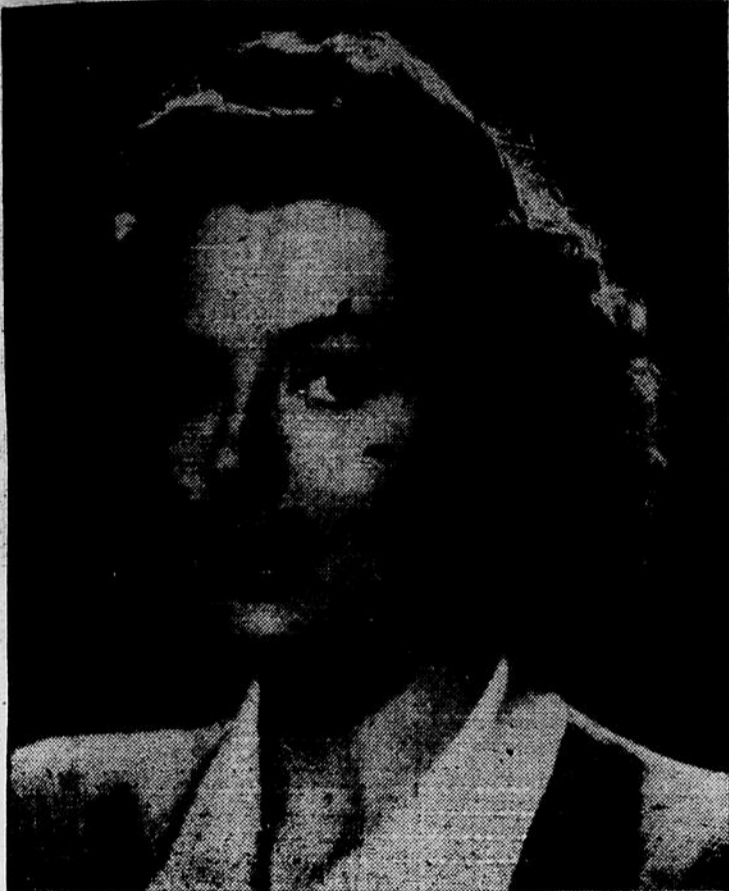

The annual meeting and election of officers of Oasis Temple No. 46, Daughters of the Nile, will be held in Victoria Hall, on Monday at 7.30 p.m.

The reading of annual reports will take place also. Mrs. Orma Growen will preside.

HELD OVER FOR SECOND WEEK! Deborah Kerr, the great new star discovery, is co-starred with Trevor Howard in "I See A Dark Stranger," which starts a second big week at the Snowdon United Theatre on Saturday. Miss Kerr's performance in this film so impressed Hollywood, that she was signed to play opposite Clark Gable in "The Hucksters."

Drama Festival Inauguration In '32 Recalled

The Dominion Drama Festival was inaugurated at a meeting called at the instance of His Excellency The Right Honourable the Earl of Bessborough, Governor General of Canada, and held in Government House, Ottawa, on October 29th, 1932. There were present at the meeting about sixty representative men and women interested in the drama from all parts of the Dominion. An organization was set up, a Committee was appointed and it was decided to hold the Festival for 1933 at Ottawa in the month of April. The competitors were to be amateur groups chosen by previous competition as representative of the best dramatic work being done in the various parts of Canada. For this purpose the Province of Ontario was divided into three regions and the Province of Quebec into two. Each of the other provinces constituted a single region.

Shortly thereafter a Regional Committee was appointed in each region and arrangements were made by each of these for a regional competition. The general interest excited is shown by the fact that in these regional competitions 90 plays in English and 20 in French were presented. In some regions, it was necessary to organize preliminary competitions in order to keep the numbers of contestants in the regional festival within manageable limits.

Adjudicators for the regional festivals were appointed by the Dominion Committee and on their reports the groups taking part in this programme were selected.

The festivals were suspended during the war, the last one taking place in 1939. This year the eighth festival will be run off in London, Ontario, during the week of May 5th. Winners from the regional competitions will meet then for the final contest.

SHOPLIFTERS ACTIVE AGAIN

Merchants have reported to the Better Business Bureau the operations of two women who would appear to be expert and experienced shoplifters. In one instance a mink neckpiece was acquired from a well-known furrier. One is described as an attractive brunette, in her late teens, comparatively tall, with large eyes. The other is an older woman, probably twenty-

Miss Jo Broderick

Miss Mae Lumsden

These two young ladies are both appearing in "Heart's Desire" the Irish comedy being presented by Our Lady's Sodality of St. Malachy's Parish on March 16 and 17 in the church hall. They are Miss Jo Broderick, who plays the role of Norah, and Miss Mae Lumsden, who will be seen in the leading role of Molly.

Pre-Laundry Tricks Great Help In Keeping Sweaters Lovely

Do you have a favorite sweater so treasured that you have been almost afraid to wash it? Did you fear that the color would run, or that it would shrink or stretch or just somehow manage to end up unwearable, or at best not the same garment it was before? You shouldn't feel that way, for a sweater that is washed and handled with care should last through dozens of such washings and still look as it did when new. But to have it turn out successfully, don't just dump it into the water and hope. Go about it carefully, and systematically and you are practically guaranteed success.

Sweaters

The first step in washing a sweater is to remove any buttons or ornaments that might rust or run. In fact it is better to take all such things off even if you think they won't be affected by washing.

Now measure the sweater. You can do this in two ways. Either spread the garment flat on a bath towel and outline it carefully with pencil, or measure the body length, shoulder width, sleeve length, waist and bust measurements, and record the figures.

Soiled Spots

If there are any spots that are going to need special attention during the washing, outline these with a contrasting, color-fast thread in large basting stitches. This will make them show up when the sweater is wet and insure that you don't miss any of them. While you have that basting thread handy, a good trick, if the neck or sleeves are stretched, is to run a basting thread around them and draw them into their original size. This basting should be left there until the garment is completely dry.

You are ready to wash now, so fill the bowl with lukewarm water and rich soap suds. Squeeze the suds through the sweater, but do not rub two parts of the garment together. For the very soiled spots that you marked before washing, and for the cuffs and neck edge where it is most likely to show soil, the best method is to rub the spot gently with well soaped fingers. Do not rub soap directly on the wool.

Rinsing

Be sure to rinse thoroughly, using at least three rinse waters. The temperature of the rinses should be the same as the wash water. Sharp changes in temperature may cause matting of the fibres and shrinkage. As you lift sweater from suds or rinse water support it below with your hand so the weight of the water does not pull it down.

Dry your sweater flat on a towel, eased to fit the outline you

A highlight of the club's charter day luncheon, which was also its 25th anniversary, was the ceremony of cutting the special birthday cake. The guest speaker of the afternoon, the Rt. Hon. F. M. Forde, High Commissioner for the Commonwealth of Australia, may be glimpsed at the extreme left of the picture. Standing beside him, and snapped just after she blew out the 25 candles, is Mrs. George G. Wakeman, honorary president of the club. Next is Mrs. Norman B. Muir, president of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club; and smilingly cutting the first slice of the cake is Mrs. F. H. Sproule, the organization's first president.

N. D. G. Women's Club Begins Second Quarter Of A Century

"We builded better than we knew" remarked Mrs. F. H. Sproule, the first president of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club, Inc., when she spoke at the Charter day luncheon and 25th anniversary, which was attended by nearly 700 members and guests and was held in the ballroom of the Mount Royal Hotel on Friday, with Rt. Hon. F. M. Forde, High Commissioner for Australia, as guest speaker.

of the club and how far its good works and cultural facilities would extend.

Mrs. Norman B. Muir, the president, who presided at the luncheon, graciously paid tribute to the foresight of the founders, however, in her reply to the toast to the club which was proposed by Dr. H. S. Ross. "A 25th anniversary," said the president, "is also an occasion for looking forward, and the fact that we may look forward to a happy, useful future is due in great measure to the wisdom of our founders. When these fine public-spirited women laid the cornerstone of this organization, they placed in it the Three Graces—Faith, Hope and Charity, and when they came to the keystone of the arch they inserted friendship. Thus was the edifice erected. There was vision in the building and good workmanship in the construction.

Loyal Membership

"Moreover, from early days, our club has been blessed with an eager, loyal, enthusiastic membership. Members have realized that in the field of service the club is themselves magnified several hundred times. They know that so much more may be achieved in a group than by individual effort. They have left self behind and embraced selflessness. Interests have broadened and horizons extended in the field of service."

Answers a Need

Mrs. Muir also spoke of how the club fulfilled the inner needs of the individual members. "We have now our groups and classes, and our programmes of great diversity. Does the club fulfill the needs of members as individuals? It is not possible to speak for all of you, but our steadily increasing membership would seem to indicate an affirmative answer. Women today have no time to waste. We are taking an ever-widening interest in world affairs and accepting the attendant responsibilities—this in addition to care of home and family needs. If members can come to our meetings with the knowledge that there they will find relaxation, inspiration and a sympathetic approach to all problems, the club will continue to fulfill that inner need of which we spoke.

Shining Objectives

"Let us then while rendering service to the community, also cherish our members and fulfill their needs and interests—and may we all go forward together with renewed faith in the aims of our founders—those fine, shining objectives now softly gleaming with the symbolic silver of our 25th anniversary."

Anniversary Gift

Mrs. George J. Shanks was chairman of the luncheon assisted by her committee, Mrs. T. R. Rennie, Mrs. A. H. Pepper, Mrs. J. E. Armstrong, Mrs. R. G. Bain, Mrs. G. Lowles, Mrs. H. M. McCulloch, Mrs. H. C. Atkinson and Mrs. W. L. Gatehouse. On behalf of the committee, Mrs. Shanks presented a beautiful silver water pitcher, which was accepted for the club by Mrs. Muir.

Toast to the Club

Dr. H. S. Ross, K.C., who presented the N.D.G. Women's Club with its charter on its first anniversary on March 9th, 1923, proposed the toast to the club. Mrs. J. W. Perks, first vice-president of the club, thanked the speaker.

Religion And The U.N. Discussed By Mrs. Shaw

"Religion in Life" was the theme of the sixth annual Sisterhood Interfaith meeting held in the Temple Emanu-El on Tuesday afternoon.

Among the interesting speakers representing the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish community was Mrs. J. Wilfred Shaw, president of the Westmount Branch of the United Nations Society. In her address Mrs. Shaw pointed out how religion and the United Nations must go hand in hand for international order. One of the responsibilities of the U.N. is to guard the freedom of religion, she stated, and added that discrimination against any religion means the eruption of brutal forces which lead to war.

Change In Time

The Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club will hold its regular monthly business meeting in Victoria Hall on Friday, March 21st at 2.30 p.m.

Members will please note this departure from the regular time for such meetings.

Musical Show

The Young Ladies' Sodality of Ascension Parish will present a musical show entitled "Two-Tones" at Victoria Hall, on April 15, under the direction of Rev. George F. Thoms.

Proceeds from this production will go towards the Parish Rectory Fund.

CARRIES ON

Our men and women back from the world battlefields often tell how the Red Cross was there to aid and comfort them—oftentimes to save their lives. Now the Red Cross asks those who extended such solid support during the war years, to help keep the Red Cross strong in peace.

Today there are thousands of sick and disabled veterans who need the continued help and friendship of the Red Cross. Isolated frontier communities need Outpost Hospitals and nursing service—their only medical aid. Crippled children's hospitals must be maintained and expanded. Men, women and children across Canada need the Blood Transfusion Service the Red Cross has started to supply.

Will you continue to lend your help to sick and suffering humanity? The Red Cross work is your work.

BOGART IN GREAT PART! Humphrey Bogart portrays Philip Marlowe, the famed detective of Raymond Chandler, in the exciting film "The Big Sleep," which starts on Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre, playing for one week. Lauren Bacall co-stars in the film.

"Holiday In Mexico", Colorful Musical Hit Now At Westmount

"Holiday in Mexico", which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Sunday, is a delightful tuneful musical - drama filmed in Technicolor against the stunning south of the border backgrounds.

Walter Pidgeon is seen as the suave American ambassador to Mexico who finds that he needs all the diplomacy at his command to prevent his motherless daughter from making a fool of herself over an older man with whom she imagines herself to be in love. The daughter is played by Jane Powell and the older man by Jose Iturbi, who again reveals himself the possessor of a sure dramatic hand as well as those celebrated keyboard fingers.

As a sub-plot is the romantic meeting between Pidgeon and Ilona Massey, cast as a former countess and current Mexico City night club star. It is the attraction of her father for the glamorous Miss Massey that makes the impressionable daughter feel herself to be unwanted, and diverts her attention to Iturbi, much to the disgust of Roddy McDowall, her young admirer, who is involved in all the torments of puppy-love. The complications are finally ironed out when Iturbi presents his two grandchildren to the chagrined Miss Powell and bring her to the realization that young McDowall is more her type.

Clever use of musical sequences ties the threads of the story together and the picture abounds in a variety of attractive songs sung by Ilona Massey and Jane Powell. An additional attraction is Xavier Cugat and his orchestra who are heard in several elaborate night club sequences.

As the ambassador, Pidgeon, is polished, urbane and convincing. Miss Massey is in the top form both musically and photographically, and Miss Powell and Roddy McDowall make an attractive juvenile team.

Trinity Players Present Last Play Of The Season

The Trinity Players' last offering of the current season will be presented from Wednesday, April 16th, to Saturday, April 19th. In line with the policy of varying the type of play, the Players now rehearsing under the direction of Basil Donn, will enact "Quiet Weekend" by Esther McCracken, which ran for more than two years in London.

The theme of this comedy might be summed up by calling it fun and games in an English village; the audience contributes a series of chuckles while the several characters are sketched out and their interwoven stories develop. Those who remember the "Quiet Wedding" which Trinity played some years ago will appreciate the entertainment which is in store.

Long-Awaited Jane Russell Now In "Young Widow" At Monkland

With a theme as timely as today's headlines, "Young Widow" is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre, until Friday night. The film is smartly-paced, with a smooth blend of heart-catching drama, smart comedy and poignant romance. Not the least of its assets is the exciting appearance of lovely dark-eyed, dark-haired Jane Russell in a starring role. Jane Russell, known far and wide as the pin-up queen of the 2nd World War, was loaned out to play the exacting title role in this entertaining drama. The story concerns a newspaper woman, (Jane) who resigns her assignment in Britain when her husband is killed in action. Back home and brooding over her loss, she finds it hard to pick up the threads of life again. How she gradually comes through forms the basis of this charming story. Louis Hayward, who was never better cast, plays the role of a devil-may-care young air lieutenant who does his best to make the young widow realize that she is young and beautiful, and that life must go on. Kent Taylor is the faithful newspaper publisher who knew Jane before her marriage and who sticks around now to smooth over the rough edges for her. In amusing comedy roles are such seasoned laugh-getters as bubbly Marie Wilson and Penny Singleton, with Faith Domergue, Cora Witherspoon and Connie Gilchrist rounding out a colorful cast.

"A Scandal In Paris", Exciting Comedy Comes To Seville Soon

A gay and mischievous comedy-drama, "A Scandal In Paris", starts Wednesday, March 20th, at the Seville United Theatre. George Sanders plays the role of Vidocq, a 19th century master-crook, a Don Juan whose left hand "palms" a diamond even as his lips steal a kiss. Signe Hasso and Carole Landis provide the romantic interest, with Akim Tamiroff and Gene Lockhart in excellent character parts.

The opening scenes find Vidocq resting from his "labours" in jail; but not for long. He and his accomplice, Emile, played by Akim Tamiroff, cross the turnkey's palms with gold and escape to freedom and a world where beautiful women wear diamonds in public.

The first victim to his charm and deftness is Loretta (Carole Landis). Chancing to pass her cafe, he hears her singing act, likes her and goes backstage to put on a little act of his own. To his surprise he finds that she is wearing a magnificent ruby-encrusted garter. So, combining business with pleasure, he steals both a kiss and the garter and makes off.

Loretta bewails her loss to the Chief of Police, Richet (Gene Lockhart). Vidocq and Emile, however, are two steps ahead of the police. But Richet consoles Loretta by giving her a wedding ring.

Two years pass by, while Vidocq and Emile work the provinces. Then on their way back to Paris, they rob the house of the Minister of Police (Alan Napier). Too late, Vidocq realizes that he has fallen in love with Theres (Signe-Hasso), the daughter of the minister.

Mary Beetles' Dramatic Play Aids Youth Work

The Mary Beetles production of "The Palace of the Sea Queen" will be a delightful Easter treat for children and their parents. Held on two consecutive Friday evenings, March 21 and 28, at a centrally located hall with a well equipped stage, St. Matthias on Cote St. Antoine Rd. The entire proceeds of this performance will be given to the Kinsmen Boys' Clubs and Youth Work.

This original play, written by Rosemary Whiting, has the two qualities so essential for a successful children's play, a good plot and plenty of action. The story is written around a small foreign princess, who is sent here to Canada to a school of deportment while her country is at war in Asia. She is a general favourite until her country falls and then, on account of loss of money, the school principal, Miss Hopkins, turns against her. Desperate with grief she runs away with Sally the little kitchen maid to the woods, where she meets David and his mother, who have also tried to escape from life and its troubles. Followed by the rest of the children of the school, they all arrive at the sea palace, where Queen Neptune, by her cheerful counsel, teaches the children how to overcome their troubles and live happily ever after.

Most of the cast will be familiar to N.D.G. audiences, but this year a new juvenile player of very fine talent will be included, 12-year-old George Binks, who plays the part of David. Other newcomers are Louise McDevitt, Jane Robertson, Jean Toye, Mary Lou Sieam, Betty Hawthorn and Joan Dow. The Production is under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Whiting.

Three groups of dancers will take part in the Play, these include School Children, Sea Sprites, Storm Maidens and the Wind. The Choreography is by Miss Jeanne Rodier, Ann Holland assisted in rehearsing the School Pupils. Accompaniments for the dances will be played by Mrs. Elizabeth Saunders.

There are a limited number of seats, but those lucky enough to be present will enjoy a novel treat by the children of N.D.G. for the children of N.D.G.

Valued Papers Are Presented Bell Museum

Highly-valued documents dealing with the early days of the telephone industry in Canada were recently donated to the Bell Telephone Museum, Beaver Hall building, Montreal, by Miss B. Pope of Quebec City, while visiting her relatives, Rev. Canon and Mrs. R. Kenneth Naylor, 3461 Northcliffe Avenue.

Miss Pope's father, Edwln Pope, who died in 1936 at the age of 93, developed and patented many improvements in telephone communication, including a device to permit the working of 100 subscribers' lines on 10 wires.

As long ago as 1878, Mr. Pope introduced telephone exchange service in Quebec City for some 250 subscribers. He also patented an ingenious printing telegraph and electric typewriter system.

There are about 200 pounds of steel in the average household washing machine.

Gift from the Heart...

BUT BLOOD DONORS MUST BE BACKED BY MONEY DONORS

Q. Does the Canadian Red Cross still need blood donors?

A. Yes. As in war — so in peace, the Red Cross carries on this life-giving service. And blood must still be backed by money donors.

Q. Why does the Red Cross require donations of both blood and dollars in peacetime?

A. For the new nation-wide free Blood Transfusion Service which the Red Cross is now organizing.

Q. Is this Blood Transfusion Service to be for civilians as well as for war veterans in hospital?

A. Yes. Through the Red Cross, blood plasma and whole blood will be supplied to all civilian hospitals across Canada — so that blood may be always available to any person requiring it.

Q. Will the Red Cross charge the hospitals or patients for this Blood Transfusion Service?

A. No. The Red Cross will charge neither hospital nor patient — with your help it is to be a gift from the heart — to the heart.

The supreme value of continuous blood transfusion service to Canadians cannot be measured in dollars and cents. But it is costing the Red Cross a lot of dollars to extend the work, to maintain the clinics, to process and distribute the blood. Money Donors to support the blood donors are what the Red Cross needs today.

Be a sharer in this great life-giving endeavor. Help save the lives of hundreds of mothers in childbirth, infants, hospital patients and accident victims. Remember, the Red Cross still needs your support. Every cent collected is used to good advantage. Make your money gift a true gift from the heart. Give now! Give MORE!

W.H.S. Pucksters Victors

Down WHHS 2-1 To Cop Title

By GEORGE COCHRANE

There is great joy and merriment in the suburb city of Westmount day. The citizens, particularly those of the younger generation, can be seen dancing and cavorting in the slush covered thoroughfares. From Atwater to Claremont joy is reigning.

It's all the result of Westmount High's Senior A hockeyists' 2-1 win over West Hill at the Forum Tuesday afternoon. The victory clinched the Senior A Protestant section for the Purple and White team, in league play this season, have maintained an unbeaten and unblemished record.

The suburban lads had to really battle to keep that record intact on Tuesday. Minus the services of Andy Edmison, their ginger-haired brawler, their defence, the champs were outplayed by a wide margin in the first period.

It was after a mere one minute and ten seconds of play that Bill Rattray broke into the clear for the Red Raiders, sailed in on Fred Jones, the bespectacled netminder, unmolested and blasted a shot that glanced off Jones' leg pads into the right hand corner of the net. Naylor was given an assist on the play.

ALMOST

Minutes later Westmount's Richard Lord, who played a bang-up game on the Westmount defence, was thumbed for tripping. While he was off, McLerman coasted in on Jones but Fred, as cool as a frosted glass in the North Atlantic, saved brilliantly. Jones turned in another of his sensational games.

With Lord back, Don McRae's charges went gunning on the attack. Paced by Frank Read, whose stickhandling wizardry had the far west enders frequently baffled, and big George McLanders, who turned in a great two-way game, the Westmounters swarmed around the West Hill net like a hive of purple and white coated bees. They rifled shot after shot, missed half-open nets, had shots blocked by the acrobatic Douglas in the losers' cage and finally saw their immediate hopes of tying up the contest end when Douglas dived out of his net to smother the boot heel.

The Red Raiders played it defensively for the rest of the period, sitting back and waiting for the breaks.

FIRST FOR McLANDERS

George McLanders, the champs' sturdy centreman, put the McRae men back into the fray at the eight second mark of the middle canto when he rifled the rubber past Douglas on a beautiful unassisted effort.

The score put new life in the suburb city lads and they again kept the play in the West Hill end for almost a minute. Then the Red Raiders' Blauer was sent to the cooler for holding and the Purple and White resumed their relentless attack. While Blauer was off they did everything but score. From the

WHS And Baron Byng To Clash For Cage Honors

Westmount High's hopes of clinching the Senior A Protestant section basketball title, as well as the hockey crown, on Tuesday were blasted when coach George Cameron's powerful Baron Byng quintet bested Montreal 48-40 in a hard-fought contest. Had the Byngsters lost, the Purple and White would have been shoo-in for the championship.

Now, providing the suburb city crew can top the as yet winless Strathcona aggregation, Westmount and Baron Byng will play-off for the section title.

Westm't Y Volleyballers To Play Central Monday

Stan Loucks and George Lines are now tied with 34 points each in the weekly Volleyball Tournament at the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Following the two top players are: Wilf Spearman, 32; Wm. E. Cooper, 30; Wm. Taylor, 28; Al Hollingworth, 26; Lloyd Irwin and Henry Chethowski, 24. The weekly competition will continue till the end of April.

On Monday next the Westmount "Y" Volleyball Team will be the hosts to the Central "Y" Team. This game will commence at 6.15 p.m. The Westmount team will be: Stan Loucks, George Lines, Al Hollingworth, Lloyd Irwin, Don Novinger and Wilf Spearman.

side-lines, they missed three sure goals.

But they just couldn't get the puck past Douglas and the period ended with the count tied at 1-1.

McLANDERS AGAIN

McLanders sent the Westmount supporters into bedlam at the 1.50 mark of the last frame when, on a relayed pass from Read and Harold Young, he fired a shot from out near the red line that Douglas didn't see until he heard the plunk of the rubber in the rigging behind him.

The Westmounters continued to outplay the West Hillians, again missed out on several ultra-golden scoring chances while, at the other end of the rink, reliable Cucumber Jones parried all West Hill thrusts with consummate skill.

The Westmounters really deserved the victory. They were outplayed in the opening frame, 'tis true, but in the final two sessions they had it all over the Red and Grey. Richard Lord and Johnny Waterston both played bang-up games on defence for the winners while up front the starting trio of McLanders, Read and Young was deadly.

For West Hill the two-way playing of rearguard George Appleby stood out. The Apple really glistened.

SHORTS ON SPORTS

By George Cochrane

After a couple of near misses and many determined tries, the iron-muscled athletes from Westmount High have once again won the Protestant section Senior A hockey title. The clinching points, as you will read elsewhere in this readable section, were garnered at the House of Selke on Tuesday when the Purple and White chalked up a 2-1 win over the Red Raiders from West Hill. The Raider fellows, perennial rivals of the suburb city, put up a good fight but they just didn't have enough to cope with the smooth, fast-skating offensive work of George "Two-Goal" McLanders, Harold Young and Francois Read. Not to mention the sure-footed defensive work of Johnny Waterston and Richard Lord and the Durman-like goaling of Fred "The Bespectacled One" Jones.

Now all that remains for the locals to do is knock off the powerful Catholic High outfit in the two-game, total goals to count series for the City Championship. That will be no easy task. The Black and White boys will undoubtedly enter the series as favorites but it should be a very close series and it's definitely possible that the WHS'ers will cop the laurels.

Coach D. N. McRae in his second year at the helm of the Senior A team, has done a masterful job and deserves the heartiest of felicitations. If he succeeds in leading the local larrigans to the city title, I, personally, will buy him one half-dozen Pepsi Colas.

Things are really looking up for Westmount High in an athletic way. The lads seem to be snapping out of the athletic lethargy they went into when the 6-3-3 system was introduced back in 1940. For not only have the puck chasing lads distinguished themselves but there is also the possibility that Lew Davies' cagers will win the Protestant senior A title. All the Westmounters have to do to accomplish that feat is knock off Baron Byng when the two teams meet in a post-schedule playoff—provided the Purple and White can top the as yet winless Strathcona team.

In the course of the regular schedule, not yet completed, the Davies men lost one, won one in play with the Byngsters and Mons. Davies thinks his boys should have won both games.

As Arthur Voronka, the sage of the town, has put it, "Things are looking up."

The educational background of the two referees of Tuesday's crucial Westmount-West Hill tilt is interesting. Curly Davies went to the home of the Red Raiders for his high school training; William Jack Errol McKissock went, until June, 1946, to the home of the

Junior Cagers Enter Finals Against YMHA

The Westmount Junior Basketball Club, showing their best form of the season, easily disposed of North Branch "Y" 111-67 in a two-game, home and home, total point series, to enter the finals against Y.M.H.A., for the Provincial Junior Basketball championship.

In the first game, played on the North Branch "Y" floor, the local Juniors piled up a commanding 40-25 lead to carry into the second game. Paced by Sterling McLeod, with 8 points, and Bob Putnam, Wenty Young and Gordon MacLeod, who each tallied 6, the purple and white carried off a healthy advantage to work on in the second game. For the home team, Doug. Burke was the mainstay with a brilliant 16 points.

The final game, played on the Westmount Junior High School floor, turned out to be a rout with the Westies piling up a 71-42 victory against the "Y" boys and pulled some doubtful strategy in every department of the game. The North Branch "Y" mentor pulled some doubtful strategy in this tilt by dressing 12 players and using 11 in the game, perhaps reckoning that security was in numbers. However, the plan backfired and his boys were snowed under. Bob Putnam, playing his best game of the season, seemed to be perpetual motion as he bobbed and weaved his way for 18 points to lead the locals to victory. Putnam was closely followed by Sterling MacLeod, John Field and

2nd Westmount Lick Dixie 3-2 Poltrick Cup Series

The Inter-Pack Hockey League's final series for the Poltrick Cup is all tied up at one game each between Dixie and 2nd Westmount after the latter won Saturday's game 3-2. Dixie had previously won the first tilt by a 1-0 count. 2nd Westmount had a 3-0 lead Saturday before Dixie rallied and the rally fell short of a tying goal to give 2nd Westmount a much needed respite and a better than even chance to win the series. The third and deciding game in the best two-of-three series will be played at the Lachine Arena Saturday afternoon from 2-3 p.m.

2nd Westmount went one marker up in the game when Warnock took a pass from McKeown and Southward after only 45 seconds of play. Four minutes later, Warnock was back with an unassisted tally to put 2nd Westmount two goals ahead. At the twelve minute mark of the second period, McLaughlin scored what proved to be the winning counter for the Westmount outfit, unassisted. Dixie rallied strongly in the final period but the 3-0 lead was too much to overcome.

Legros took a pass from Grigg at the eight minute mark to make the score 3-1 and came back again just before the end of the game on passes from Reibmayr and Renaud to shorten the count to 3-2. Dixie were pressing hard when the final whistle went, but couldn't net that all important goal, sending the series now into the third game with the winner emerging as the 1947 champs. Two penalties were dished out to Warnock in the second stanza for cross-checking and slashing. Renaud of Dixie was penalized for slashing in the final canto and Warnock drew a third penalty for roughing. Legros was penalized for boarding.

Both games in the series thus far have been exactly as predicted, Dixie having the advantage over a too-sure 2nd Westmount club in the first tilt and 2nd Westmount having a distinct edge in the play in the second game. Dixie didn't look as good Saturday as the previous week and Coach Bert Saunders is peppering the boys up for this week's game. If they lose this time, it will mark the fourth time in as many years that Dixie have been the

St. Leo's Sports

Below are a few oddities taken from the Interscholastic Hockey League which you will probably agree 'Believe it or not' Ripley would have a job exceeding.

Last Friday afternoon at the Forum, D'Arcy McGee Senior A club trounced the newly crowned Catholic High Senior A champions by the lopsided score of 7 to 1. On Monday afternoon the same McGee Senior A team engaged Catholic High Senior B team, now hold your breath mates, and believe it or not, lost to the C.H.S. seconds 6 to 2. Both games were regular league fixtures. The win for the Black and White squad placed them in a first place tie with St. Leo's in the Senior B section. There is no basis to the report that coach Andy McGillis of St. Leo's was seeking a saliva test of both teams or a summons of the principal ones involved to be summoned before the N. Y. Boxing Commission.

Now here is another one for the book. How could a team winning only one game in its section finish in a tie for first place with a team that lost only one game in the same section? It may sound a little complicated but here is the solution. As the B teams play an interlocking schedule with the three A teams, Catholic High's club managed to win two games from the A team and only one game from St. Leo's in the B section. St. Leo's won three games in the B section and none in the A section.

Prior to the opening of the schedule, Jack Lang, Director of Physical Education for the Protestant Schools, attempted to bring all the schools of both groups into one league. This move, unfortunately, failed as Loyola and Catholic High could not see their way clear for amalgamation of both leagues. St. Leo's and McGee were in favor of joining both leagues and, after looking over the past season in the Interscholastic League, it is clear that the move blocking the union of both leagues was not a wise one as the Catholic schools had to put up with two and three team sections along with a farcical interlocking schedule of the B and A teams.

The Protestant Union had all their sections well populated with teams.

SKIING

It will be all aboard for St. Saviour this Saturday morning for St. Leo's Senior and Junior Ski members as they head for the north to participate in the Interscholastic Ski Competition on the week-end. A small party from the school will also accompany them to look after the official duties as this year's competition is under the direction of St. Leo's Academy.

Peter Ciceri, Bantam forward, went on a scoring rampage in a recent exhibition game against Montreal West High Juniors. Pete accounted for no less than four goals in this team's 6 to 3 win over the westies.

Bob Lunny is well on the road to recovery after an appendicitis operation and will soon be back in circulation with bigger and better promotional ideas.

Ramon Orr, classy young boxer will return to his old school colors for a one night stand in the forthcoming school's eighth Annual Boxing Show. Ray, in addition to being one of the best at his weight in Montreal, is also one of the most entertaining with his smart style.

To the surprise of nobody Catholic High Senior A hockey squad have captured their seventh straight Interscholastic Senior Hockey title. Their opponents in the city finals will likely be none other than Westmount High Srs. who at present are undefeated in the Protestant Union. The Black and White will be strong favorites to take the Westmounters but by no means can they expect a cinch as the Westmount club have some real good performers in Sandy

The Old Boys hockey game will probably be played towards the end of the month. It is rumoured that the Old Boys are putting on a stall until two of their star forwards return to Montreal to help the cause. The two in question are Johnnie Chenier, who plays for Shawinigan in the Senior Group, and Tom Brennan of the Boston Olympics.

With the regular boxing classes now in session, coach Andy McGillis wishes it to be known that there is plenty of room to accommodate some more big boys, who this year seem a little shy to have anything to do with the manly art of self defence.

Two St. Leo's Pee Wee all star teams journeyed out to Lachine Arena, last Saturday to play an exhibition game. The combined team of Greens and Blues nosed out a combined team of Red and Greys 2 to 1. For most of the youngsters it was their first time on artificial ice and they thoroughly enjoyed it. A few of them were heard to comment, "Gee, whiz, it sure takes a long time to get to the other end of the ice."

The past week has been a busy one around the school with three sports holding the spotlight. With hockey having its last fling and the skiers taking part in major competition and last but not least comes the boxing season with regular training sessions now underway. Johnnie Rolland and John Mace, two boys who have been doing a grand job as athletic managers are just about played out from trying to keep all activities in running order.

school for an Athletic Council to be formed to help manage and encourage sports within the school. An executive composed of about three boys working under the guidance of the Director and coach, could contribute a lot to the sport organization in the school. At present everyone has a voice in the sport administration of the school and no matter how well they mean, it has a decided tendency to cause confusion and is out of line with the policy of most schools.

finalists, only to lose out two games to one. Hampstead beat them last year, after losing the first game, Montreal West did the same thing two years ago and St. Matthew's before that. The fourth time is something the Dixie boys are hoping to avert, for it is a dubious honour.

The teams Saturday were, Dixie: A. Madley, goal; defence, Salagan and O'Reilly; forwards, Reibmayr, Renaud and Grigg; substitutes: Mackay, Arless, Carman and Legros.

2nd Westmount: C. Grimson, goal; defence, Peters, Lillie; forwards, Warnock, Southward and McKeown; substitutes: Donaldson, Greenwood, Hango, Webb, Martin and McLaughlin. Dixie were playing two men short Saturday, both of whom were sick.

Referees Saturday were Ed Connolly and Joe Derrick.
