EMERGENCY ORGANIZATION TO PLAN CITY'S SURVIVAL

What may prove to be a model for similar local set-ups across the province is the Emergency Measures Organization of the City of Westmount, adopted by a new by-law given all three readings by City Council Monday night.

Based on a "survival plan" developed over many months by city officials and involving most every department, the organization will consist of a civil emergency executive committee, a civil planning committee and an emergency measures co-ordinator; in this instance broad-shouldered City Manager Norman T. Dawe, already responsible for the operation of the city under normal circumstances.

Great importance is attached to the organization at City hall, in no alarmist sense but rather to anticipate and provide for the continuity of municipal government, the health, welfare and safety of the population, and co-ordinate activities of all municipal services with survival operations.

A good deal of the basic work of the planning committee, which shall consist of the heads of all municipal departments and services and other persons whose services will be deemed necessary, has been done. Some sections of the survival plan are still skeletal, however, and it can be expected that, with the by-law in force, its completion will be stepped up.

Realism

The stark realism of the plan is demonstrated by its opening

Injured pedestrian damages Volkswagen

When a car hits a pedestrian, it is not always that the pedestrian comes off second best.

Take last Saturday night, for example, on St. Catherine street at Park Place.

Clive Burgess, 24, of 114 9th street, Roxboro, was driving east on St. Catherine in his 1961 Volkswagen. His attention was momentarily diverted, he said, by another car overtaking on his right.

When he looked back to the road he was too late to avoid striking Christopher John Gay, 46, of 2189 St. Catherine street west, who suddenly appeared,

TWO LOCAL LOTTERTAX WINNERS

Both Westmounters whose names were drawn in the City of Montreal's voluntary tax for February came up trumps Sunday night at the Centre Maisonneuve, between them richer by $750. Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau is seen, left, congratulating Col. J. Georges Garneau, 23 Willow avenue, who won $500 worth of silver ingots while at right is Jacques Zahlan de Cayetti, 21 Surrey Gardens, who was awarded one of the $250 prizes.

Four hurt as parked car struck

A driver and his three woman passengers all required treatment at Queen Elizabeth Hospital shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday evening when he crashed his 1963 Pontiac sedan into the rear of a parked 1963 Corvair opposite 4470 St. Catherine street west, just west of Metcalfe avenue.

Angelino Abrama, 42, of 1402 Church avenue, Côte St. Paul, was Westbound on St. Catherine when the collision occurred. The other vehicle was the property of Richard Glanville, 2105 Atwater avenue.

Both vehicles were considerably damaged, particularly the rear-engined Corvair which was caromed over the sidewalk.

Abrama, who had cuts to the mouth and broken teeth, and his sister and the two other women who suffered lacerations and bruises to their shins, were all taken to hospital by Westmount Police patrol car.

7 shoplifters caught at plaza in one week

Shiplifting continued apace during the past week at Steinberg's Miracle Mart in Alexis Nihon Plaza with seven new cases turned over by store security staff to Westmount Police.

While goods are temptingly displaced for all comers, shoplifters are now being apprehended almost as fast as they make their "professional" moves on the premises.

Westmount Municipal Court likewise processes them with despatch as they almost invariably plead guilty.

Authorities thus are baffled that word has not yet appeared to have got around that the Nihon Miracle is no pushover.

The week's "take" consisted of four men and three women — the proportion of men being on the rise in recent weeks.

Tuesday, Lawrence McLean, 57, of 5708 Sherbrooke street west, was sentenced to eight days in jail, while Wednesday morning Wanishagop Kupikelian, 26, was fined $75 for stealing $41 worth of goods and Marlene Aubin, 19, was levied $15 for taking $18 in articles unpaid-for.

Two others were scheduled to appear Wednesday morning before City Magistrate A. McT. Stalker but didn't, resulting in bench warrants being issued for Robert Corbett, 18, and Assunta Palmiri, 37.

The other cases are pending.

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

By ERIC NEAL

March 22 to 29

Mainly sunny and mild each afternoon, but nights are cold. Skiing conditions good everywhere. Sugaring-off continuing.

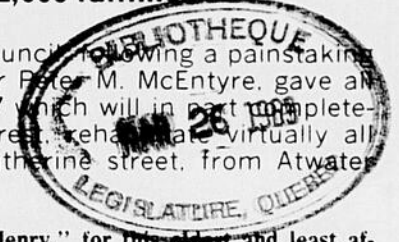

Stormy from middle to end of this week. Violent easterly winds bring snow-charged clouds far inland, then south-west blow them back to drop their load on our regions. ¼" of freezing drizzle and 3 inches of soft snow would be normal south of the St. Lawrence. Laurentians and the north country, 4 to 6" of wind-driven powder snow.

Temps: nights and some days: in the south, 15 and 50°F.; Laurentians, 5 and 45°F.; north, 10 and 35°F.

Westmount this week is committed to a broad, imaginative, self-liquidating urban renewal program reaching over the next five years, embracing some 90 acres — 10 percent — of the city's area and directly affecting, mostly beneficially, just over 1,000 families.

Monday evening City Council following a painstaking public explanation by Mayor Peter M. McEntyre, gave all three readings to By-law 727 which will in part completely transform and, for the rest, rehabilitate virtually all of Westmount below St. Catherine street, from Atwater avenue to the Glen.

The old epithet, "Upper St. Henry," for this oldest and least affluent section of Canada's richest square mile, well may have been used by its residents for the last time when the last new street lights are installed to complete this program in April 1974.

As forward looking as any plan may be, it has its detractors or, at best, critics. In the council chamber Monday night was a baker's dozen of citizens from the most extensively-affected eastern end of the renewal zone, led by lower Greene avenue architect Joseph Baker. They remained silent when invited to question or comment at the conclusion of the open, public meeting of council.

Assured

They had participated in a workshop study of the final revisions of the by-law in Victoria Hall only nine days previous, and the principal objections or fears they had then raised — with particular regard to overpasses of the CPR and Trans-Canada Highway proposed for their area — had since been met or assurance given.

City hall speculation this week was that the mayor's explanatory remarks had left little to be asked. However, expectation remained that the Baker group may be reserving its final submissions for the hearings of the Québec Housing Corporation, likely to be held in City Hall in May should any objections be submitted to it within the 30 days following the third publication of legal notice of the by-law. (First publication will be found on page 2 of this issue of The Examiner.)

Québec Housing Corporation is the agency of the Québec provincial government through which 75 percent of the $3,423,600 net public cost of the program will be paid. Québec in turn will recover two-thirds of its portion, or 50 percent of the net cost, from federal urban renewal funds. In fact, a hard drive has been on in recent weeks to get the by-law passed and in QHC's hands before the end of March to assure the federal contribution from currently-voted moneys in Ottawa.

Blessing

To assure the by-law being complete and in acceptable form, Westmount officials have been in

Ogilvie judgment delayed fortnight

Judgment in the hit-and-run trial of Michael James Ogilvie, 125 Clondeboye avenue, has been postponed from next Tuesday until April 10, due to the unavailability of the defence attorney Joseph R. Nuss.

The case was heard in Westmount Municipal Court February 18. The alleged offence was in the early morning of Dec. 18.

Business tax ceiling lifted
to up revenue

The ceiling of $5,000 in annual business tax paid by any one enterprise in Westmount is about to come off.

Only a small number of larger firms will be affected, but the move contemplated by a by-law given first reading Monday evening is expected to produce up to $60,000 in additional revenue to the city.

The measure, moved by Finance Commissioner Ald. Ian Craig, revises legislation which had its origins in 1909 and is made possible by recent amendments to the provincial cities and towns act.

Also provided for is refund on a proportionate basis of business tax already paid when an undertaking ceases to operate. Another step is to boost the penalty for unpaid business tax to 7 1/2 percent, similar to that recently effected for delinquent real estate taxes.

Computer age
boosts banks, Rotary told

Computerization has eliminated much of the routine work done today by banks according to Gerry Stephens, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, 4849 Sherbrooke street west.

Speaking to the Westmount Rotary Club at the regular weekly luncheon in Victoria Hall yesterday, Mr. Stephens explained that banking today catered to the public in providing world-wide services.

The speaker was introduced by Don Whitley, chairman of the welfare committee who reviewed the speaker's background and his association with the Royal Bank.

Les Stuart, former president, occupied the chair and called upon Harry Houston to introduce visitors present.

Incinerator repairs
tenders are called

Tenders close April 2 for repairs to Westmount's municipal incinerator.

'Most dangerous' corner... isn't

The intersection of Clarke avenue and St. Catherine street was described in City Council March 3 as the "most dangerous" in Westmount.

Focus of attention was the concrete mall dividing Dorchester boulevard west at this point, where Dorchester terminates.

A check of Westmount Police traffic records, back to the time when the mall was constructed, reveals the expected number of two-car collisions for a busy intersection, but nothing to indicate at any time a single vehicle striking the mall.

Nonetheless, this week new and larger markers were placed on the mall, facing Clarke avenue at St. Catherine - just in case!

Barat parking is warmly debated who's doing what!

The following building permits were issued at Westmount City Hall during the past week:

Mar. 13

434 Claremont: for Montreal Trust Co by Eagan and Sons, change hot water tank, $100;

Mar. 14

4908 Sherbrooke: for Mrs. Pauline Mullins by J. E. Duhamel, alterations and plumbing as per plans, $2,000.

The council chamber at City Hall resounded Monday evening to the raised voice, declaiming and affirming, even a suggestion of honest debate in public business.

The occasion was a simple resolution by Public Safety Commissioner Ald. D O'C. Doheny, eventually passed, changing the parking regulations on the north side of Barat road between Wood avenue and the eastern city limits from two-hour to one-hour parking, 8 am to 5 pm, Mondays to Fridays.

Ald. Doheny explained that request for the change had come from the area and local residents had been canvassed and indicated this was their preference.

Before the vote could be taken, Ald. Jean H. Richer stood up and asked pointedly whether local residents of a particular street or City Council was making the laws.

Ald. Doheny: We take into account the desires of residents.

Ald. Richer: These shouldn't be the only factor. By the way, how was this decision reached.

Ald. Doheny explained that the request was concurred in by the city traffic committee.

Ald. Richer asked if the matter had come before general committee. Ald. Doheny said it hadn't, not when he was present.

Dawe Reminds

Eyes then turned to council's mentor, General Manager Norman Dawe. Mr. Dawe stood and, facing Ald. Richer, said the matter was brought direct to council in accordance with the aldermen's own wishes that more business come up for immediate attention in open, formal meetings.

There were embarrassed aldermanic chuckles.

Ald. Ian Craig then declared that he agreed with Ald. Richer.

Mayor Peter M. McEntyre, in his best soothing voice, described carefully how such requests were handled and, eventually, reached council.

Ald. Richer, turning again to Ald. Doheny, indicated he still was not satisfied.

"Does Ald. Richer want me to answer this or how long does he want to flog this question?" asked the bright-green-tied Ald. Doheny.

"Ald. O'Richer", Ald. Richer jovially corrected.

Behind the whole affair lay an implicit promise that perhaps times have changed in Westmount City Council. There just may be more genuine discussion in public sessions in the future, to augment the neatly packaged, pre-digested unanimity which has characterized the public's business.

PROMOTED: Appointed Monday night by City Council to acting assistant city clerk, as the new deputy of City Clerk R. B. Seaman, was Alfred André (Pete) Patenaude, 27, since June 1967 supervisor of the permits and licenses division of the board of inspections at Westmount city hall. Mr. Patenaude, who resides at 383 Olivier avenue, was educated at St. Leo's Academy and Loyola College, was employed for three years in industry before commencing in May 1965 as a clerk typist in the Public Safety Department. He is unmarried; his favorite hobbies: skiing and hockey. His home has been in Westmount for 22 years.

Vital agenda pushes meet nearly hour

City Council, in a special mid-month meeting Monday evening, had one of its heaviest agendas in terms of important legislation and, appropriately, sat considerably longer than usual: a full 50 minutes.

The renewal program by-law led-off, with all three readings, followed by all three readings of the new emergency measures organization by-law and the first reading only of an amending by-law on business taxes and license fees.

The monthly accounts and the appointment of a new acting assisting city clerk were then promptly adopted, followed by a protracted debate on reducing the parking period on Barat road.

There was no correspondence but Ald. Charles Aspler reported to council on Saturday's visit of the Pee Wee hockey team to Rimouski.

Month outlay near 3 million

City Council Monday night approved February accounts exceeding two and three-quarter million dollars, nearly half a million of which was ascribed by Finance Commissioner Ald. Ian Craig to payments to school authorities of taxes collected in their behalf.

Payrolls amounted to $211,100.14 and other payments, $2,582,440.19, for a total of $2,793,540.33, some $490,000. over February 1968's total.

Craig tops Doheny with Irish mark

Ald. Daniel O'Connell Doheny with his bright green tie, was outdone in marking St. Patrick's Day at Monday evening's March 17 special city council meeting by an alderman with the un-Irish name of Ian Craig, who appeared resplendent with a large sheaf of stringy green vegetable matter pinned to his lapel.

We Say

Renewal, survival are major matters

Our federal and provincial parliaments tend to dominate our attention to the point of denigrating the importance of municipal government.

But this week, for Westmounters, nothing so important has come out of Ottawa or Quebec City as the two major measures enacted into local by-laws for the urban renewal plan and the emergency measures organization.

Either one of these alone would have made this an important week municipally.

In scope and imagination, the renewal scheme ranks first. Its five-year program already has commenced to make Westmount a better place, not that it ever was all that bad. However, in the midst of continent-wide concern over the plight of cities, we have here right at home a soundly-based series of projects for the older, bottom portion of our municipality to improve what is good and replace what isn't with, hopefully, better.

No government, at any level, could be addressing itself at this time to an area of its prime concern more close to need than has been the Westmount administration to the maintenance and uplift of the environment of its citizens.

And while some 1,000 families in a tenth of the city's area are directly involved, the whole of Westmount will feel and enjoy the benefits for years to come.

On the other end of the scale from building up and improving, City Council also concerned itself this week with the possibilities of disaster, the consequences of which would be its first responsibility before any others'.

"Survival Plan" is the title of the underlying document, upon which much work and thought already has been applied. We are not prone to dwelling on the fact that Westmount lies astride a potentially disastrous "fault" in the earth's crust; or on the ever-present risk of one of these ever-larger airliners falling into our densely populated community, part of one of the world's major aviation centres; or our being part of a prime target in some future warfare.

Most of us are a bit prone to regard people who think of these things, in times when all is well, as being a bit odd. Yet we would readily bless them if, heaven forbid, any of us were suddenly bereft of shelter, food, loved ones in any one of the sort of emergencies envisaged by these measures.

Good, functioning local government is hard to beat when measured on the scale of personal values.

Weeklies high up in media ratings

Senator Keith Davey,

The Senate, Ottawa.
Dear Senator:

We hope you will include the weekly community press in your study and report on "the ownership and control of the major means of mass public communication in Canada" as well as the extent and nature of the media's impact and influence on the Canadian public.

We believe your special committee's proposed study will be incomplete and its findings misleading if the some 600 newspapers across Canada which qualify for membership in CWNA or Les Hebdomas du Canada are not included.

The country's earliest and basic communication medium, (and progenitors of most of Canada's dailies) the weeklies continue strongly independent, growing anew in our mounting urbanization, and an important influence on the communities on which they focus.

Collectively, the weeklies are an impressive, thriving force in Canadian life.

Westmount is... peculiar thefts

Westmount is where, for no apparent reason, for the third successive week, this time from 19 Staynor street, last Friday, there was stolen, without trace or clue, two fire extinguishers.

'Scholar-gentleman' equation questioned

Sir: I must protest the "Scholar-gentleman" editorial. (Examiner, Feb. 20.)

Academic freedom is imperilled by demanding basic standards of morality, deportment, dress, loyalty, etc. A university isn't an intellectual version of IBM.

Many eminent scholars - including a considerable number of Oxford dons - would be sacked on that criteria.

If I end up being an academic, I hope to be a gentleman, too - but that has nothing to do with being a scholar in search of the truth, etc.

Hopefully other readers have already picked you up on this point.

ETC - a Canadian approach

The subject of educational television is at once fascinating and complex.

It is fascinating because the extent of its influence and its potential are at the moment unknown quantities. It is complex because it involves two distinct fields of jurisdiction, one federal (broadcasting) and the other provincial (education).

The federal government, in devising a plan for educational television, had to resolve certain difficulties such as the definition of an "educational program" (for purposes of program content) and the control of transmission without implying any influence on program material.

The bill recently tabled in the House by the secretary of state seems to me to represent the ideal solution to this multi-faceted subject.

New agency

It would establish the Canadian Educational Broadcasting Agency (CEBA), a federal body which would be responsible for the transmission of educational programs authorized by the provinces. For purposes of clarification, educational programs are to be those which are presented in a structured context, are part of the curriculum or part of a broad program. They must result in the progressive acquisition of knowledge and there must be some degree of supervision.

The definition provides also for individual programs as long as they fit into a structured context. For instance, an Apollo space shot could be considered part of a science course.

Public affairs and cultural programs are thus excluded from the meaning of this definition. The federal government has opted for the type of programming contemplated by the International Conference of Educational Television, held in Paris in 1967, which, although acknowledging the educational value of cultural and public affairs programs, considered these beyond the scope of its conference. The U.S. definition of educational programming is considerably broader, extending to enrichment and instructional programs. It should be noted, however, that there is no U.S. counterpart to the CBC whose mandate includes programs of an enrichment and instructional nature.

Each province would have a provincial education authority. It is envisaged that such an authority would be charged with co-ordinating educational television in its province.

CEBA would make one general agreement with each provincial authority and could then make supplementary agreements with specific organizations approved by the respective provincial authorities. The object of the bill is to facilitate educational broadcasting in Canada, but only within the bounds of the agency's franchise which, for obvious jurisdictional reasons, does not extend to the development of educational programs, nor does it permit the agency to choose between two competing organizations. Such a choice would be at the discretion of the individual province.

Rights

It must be very clear that the federal government, by broadcasting educational programs, is in no way infringing upon provincial rights in the field of education. The provinces provide the programs which are subsequently broadcast by the federal agency.

CEBA would be part of the national broadcasting system and would therefore have to apply to the CRTC for every licence it wants. Once a licence is granted, however, the agency would be responsible for ensuring that the program material satisfies the conditions of the licence. As is the present case for the CBC, the agency could not have a licence revoked by the CRTC. Nor could it be prevented from broadcasting an educational program.

An advisory board, comprising federal and provincial representatives, would be established to help develop the agency in such a way as to be of maximum benefit to all provinces. The idea is to provide for as much provincial participation as possible at the decision-making level without, however, losing sight of the federal government's jurisdiction in broadcasting.

ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES
AT THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

'Matter' is topic
in Science church

Popular concepts of "ambition" and "success" will be re-examined at the services in Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Bible lesson-sermon on "Matter". Significant Scripture will be highlighted by this from Colossians: "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth."

Pertinent passages from the denominational textbook will include: "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. If divine Love is becoming nearer, dearer, and more real to us, matter is then submitting to Spirit. The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning."

Optimism pervades outlook on education at WHS H&S

If what the Home and School heard at Westmount High on Monday night from Dr. Elton Pounder and Dr. Miles Wisenthal, is typical of the new approach to education, and a foretaste of the dialogue between the authorities, parents and students, then we have reason to be optimistic.

Broad-minded, humorous and wide in vision, these men gave valuable insights into the future and left high hopes for the new trends in education. Many interested young people were there along with their teachers and parents.

Dr. Pounder gave the latest news on Dawson College, stating that in view of the quality and the numbers of applications already received to teach there, it should not be difficult to find excellent staff. McGill, Bishop's and Sir George Williams were providing, for the next four years, college equivalent courses to CEGEPs.

These would take two years, to be followed by a three-year university course. For the first two years, the fees will, in all probability, be $445 a year. McGill would still insist on a 70 percent average for entrance, or 65 percent with Latin.

Enthusiasm

Dr. Pounder showed much enthusiasm for the new CEGEPs with particular reference to their "comprehensiveness". Not only would the university stream be catered for, but excellent instruction would be provided for those students who had previously been unable to go to university or who had failed to complete their degrees. The entrance requirements will be flexible to allow for the training of specific talents. To fit into this trend, Westmount High will eventually become a comprehensive school.

Parents were given an explanation of the Pagé Report, which deals with restructuring of education on the Island of Montreal. This report sets up the machinery for parent participation through democratically - elected school committees, and it was stressed that parents must try to fill this role energetically and responsibly. Dr. Pounder said modern government is responsive to "pressure groups", and that parents who felt strongly should not hesitate to write to those in authority and make their views known.

Meet Young

Turning to the problems that beset colleges and schools, Dr. Wisenthal made a strong plea to teachers and parents to meet the needs of young people and give them an opportunity to see democracy at work in the schools. Step by step they must be given freedom and encouraged to act in a responsible manner. Up to now the system has not provided such a training. A too-rigid structure has thrown before university students unprepared and unfamiliar with democratic procedures. If this is to be changed, high schools must give more than token responsibility to students.

He felt that exciting experiments were being made in grade schools, which would prepare students at an earlier stage to be responsible for their own actions and give them more opportunity for creative and imaginative development.

Dr. Wisenthal stressed that if we failed to recognize existing needs and real social problems, the consequences might be disastrous. He felt that people in positions of authority were not responding quickly enough to the demands of present, accelerated growth. It is the tragedy of modern man that reforms are brought about mainly through fear, when actual confrontation has already occurred.

Other Westmount residents on the list of officers for 1969 include: Miss Eileen Peters, 106 Arlington avenue; Charles E. Frosst, 24 Devon avenue, and Fred T. Capkas-Pratt recital set by local man Gina Capkas of LaSalle and Jacques Pratt of Longueuil will be the stars of a recital Tuesday at 8:15 pm at the Plateau Auditorium of Montreal. The two artists are members of the renowned La Cigale cabaret singing group.

The recital is a presentation of Les Entreprises Belle-Arti Enrg. directed by Fernand Cornellier, a former resident of 55 Columbia avenue, Westmount, and student at St. Leo's. Mrs Capkas, a soprano, has studied with Mrs. Pauline Donald, doctor in music and director of the Opera Guild Inc., and made her debut with Sarah Fisher. Mr. Pratt, son of the former mayor of Longueuil, is continuing a successful career as a bass singer.

They will be accompanied by Madeleine Donais-Roch.

Majors and Minors

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

Two titles: long and short

I. - SPEBSQSA. This is so long that only initials can be used and if one is unfamiliar with these eight letters, how can you possibly know what they stand for?

For the benefit of people who are unacquainted with them, they stand for the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. Can you imagine that the Montreal Chapter, known as The Mountain City Chorus, is presenting the 19th show. Mountain City is certainly an appropriate appellation.

I saw and heard it for the first time last year. It is a fun evening with a few serious spots. Being real family entertainment that every age can enjoy. I am looking forward to hearing them this year when they will present their show in Salle Wilfrid Pelletier of Place des Arts next Friday, March 28.

There is always a guest group beside the many chapters which participate from other sections of Canada and from many parts of the U.S.

The special guests this year are the well known "Les Disciples de Massenet," a serious chorus directed by Leon Plante which has been heard frequently in oratorio, opera productions and in recitals of their own.

How do you like the title, "The Midnight Oilers?" They are a comedy quartet from the Chicago Chapter and the local group also has a quartet called "The Last Edition." Incidentally, The Midnight Oilers were chosen by the U.S. Government last year to tour Vietnam. If they are like some of the entertaining quartets last year, akin to oldtime vaudeville - singing, making jokes, dancing with hilarious costumes in flashy color - the Chicago foursome must have been a hit with the troops.

II. - "NAME," the No. 1 Broadway musical with a single name title has really become a best seller in many spheres. Here recently, (not the original cast) it was enjoyed by many but criticized as not first rate by others. I did not see it so cannot voice my opinion.

What I am writing here is to show how many musical regions benefit through a successful production. Just to mention a few from "Name" . . . Stage Band - Young Band - Concert Band - Concert Orchestra - String Orchestra - (I have not listed the selections which are familiar to all, in order to conserve space) - Guitar - Vocal Selections (on records) - Vocal Score (vocal and piano) - Dance Orchestra - Sheet Music includes: Choral - Piano - Trumpet - Organ - Easy Piano Guitar, Organ and Marching Band. Is that a list?

The recording industry and music publishing firms stand to make a fortune from each musical stage success.

decided on St. Patrick's Day. Even our cooking classes got into the act by baking green peppermint cake which disappeared very rapidly.

The winner of the doughnut-eating contest was a new member, Mathieu Cuffey, brother of our membership record breaker of last week, Theresa Cuffey. According to reports, he was able to eat six doughnuts before other participants could manage even two!! Mathieu now has to compete with the winners from the other boys' clubs. The winner will go on to compete in New York. Good luck, Mathieu.

A big prize is being offered to the member who brings in member No. 400 before April 1. The membership now stands at 391. Only nine more to go.

Modelling classes are now in full swing on Tuesday nights for older girls. These classes are being conducted by an ex-professional model, Miss Christina Fisher. The enthusiasm is very high.

Auditions are being held this week and next for TV Theatre. Ronald Donahue, a former member of the Unity variety shows of past years, is looking for talent among the members in dancing, acting, singing, etc., with a view to reviving such an activity at the club. Come along, members, and "strut your stuff".

Our All-Star Cosom hockey team finished on top with one tie and no losses in the Montreal Boys' Clubs League.

The results of the Cosom House League from March 8th and 11th games were:

Colts	7	Tigers	8
Yanks	0	Pirates	13
Mets	0	Pirates	3

The most outstanding players were Billy Wilson and Aubrey Christopher with 5 goals each.

Mets	12	Yanks	0
Yanks	1	Tigers	8
Pirates	3	Colts	7

The most outstanding players were Andre Hebert with 6 goals and Larry Lyne with 4.

Boxing classes are being held every Saturday under a very competent instructor, Ken Kerwin. These take place at 10 am.

Judo classes will be resumed again as Claude has now recuperated after a successful operation. These will be held on Thursdays at 7 pm.

McGill Choral 'Springsong' is Saturday

The McGill Choral Society's spring concert, Springsong, is both interesting and varied, the highlight being the cantata "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" by S. Coleridge-Taylor. This cantata is the first part of a trilogy based on the narrative poem "The Song of Hiawatha" by Longfellow. At the turn of the century it rivaled Handel's "Messiah" in popularity, and great performances with choir, orchestra and dancers were given at the Crystal Palace in London.

On a lighter note, the concert will include madrigals, folk songs, and Negro spirituals. The Choral Society also will perform the First Psalm from a modern folk mass and two selections by Bach as arranged by the Swingle Singers. The Martlets, an a cappella group of 16 experienced choral members, will include a short recital of their own.

Date: March 22, 1969, Saturday at 8:15 pm, Redpath Hall, McGill University.

consultation with Québec and the assumption is well-founded that the entire project has, in advance, the blessing of both superior governments.

Westmount's 25 percent share, $856,000, may be borrowed from the province at a preferential rate, in this instance 6 3/4 percent. Amortized over 15 years, the annual cost to the city would thus be about $94,000.

However, the publicly-financed program lays the groundwork for large-scale private development. Mayor McEntyre noted Monday evening that the resultant broadening of the tax base will yield to the city considerably more than this annual cost plus another $85,000 in subsidized housing costs for persons displaced by the program.

Included in the legislation is a new housing code for Westmount, delineating for the entire city minimum requirements of buildings when used for various purposes.

In a sense, the renewal program has a retroactive effect, dating from the widening of Dorchester boulevard from Atwater to Clarke avenue and St. Catherine street and the razing of Selby street for the Trans-Canada Highway.

This Year

The phasing schedule shows a considerable number of operations slated for this year, including the bulk of the necessary property acquisitions in August and in October, thus calling for the engagement of staff and establishment of a relocation office for displaced residents as early as July. The extension of Wood avenue from St. Catherine street south to Dorchester boulevard and the closing of Gladstone avenue and of Hallowell street have already been initiated for 1969-70.

The city intends to produce a newsletter shortly, outlining the scheme in essential detail for all residents. For those interested enough, copies of the voluminous by-law and related schedules, following on the elaborate, map-laden original Goldyn Sutherland town planning report of June 1, 1967, are expected to be available from city hall from tomorrow at $25.

A comprehensive exhibit, with models and plans, is to go on view for the public in Victoria Hall sometime in April. It is unlikely that the proposals of a private developer for the extreme southeast corner of the city will be on view, both because these are not directly part of the public scheme and their preparation was delayed while getting the Québec highways department to shift a planned access ramp for the Trans-Canada Highway out of the site.

Refurbish

Increasingly regarded as just as important as new construction is the emphasis placed upon rehabilitation of other sections, containing useful residential properties. Here the public program calls for extensive rebuilding of sidewalks, roadways and other street amenities, such as turning areas and screening off of the CPR tracks, with encouragement of owners to refurbish their properties.

Guiding the by-law through council and moving all three readings Monday night was Ald. Charles Aspler, architect, who is commissioner of planning and redevelopment.

Ald. Douglas Robertson, a resident of the area, declared his interest and abstained from the otherwise unanimous voting.

The drama production was a great success: over 700 Westmounters attended the performances on Thursday and Friday night. . . The Ski Club is sponsoring a trip to Jay Peak this Saturday. The cost of tickets is $7.50 which includes bus and tow. . . The inter-school dance is this Friday at Outremont High. . . Westmount has been asked to participate on the Channel 12 T.V. show "Like Young". If enough students are interested the school will send representatives. . . "Le Cercle Français" Westmount's French Club, is busy putting the final touches to its variety show scheduled for March 28. Over 60 students and a number of teachers have spent many hours perfecting the presentation. It is hoped that many Westmounters will attend this evening and contrary to their reputation, demonstrate their interest in French culture. The program will consist of songs, dances and poems chosen to show both French and French-Canadian art, and this will be followed by a scene from the Molière play "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme". Tickets are $1.00 for adults and .75 for students. For those whose French leave something to be desired, the programs will be printed in English. Please come to Westmount High on March 28 at 8 p.m. to learn about French culture and to enjoy an excellent performance put on by the students of Westmount High.

general considerations, under the title "Menace". It begins:

"The Municipality of Westmount, situation on the Island of Montreal and in the vicinity of the 'White Horse Rapid Fault', traversing a north-west-southeast line crossing Montréal, Outremont, Town of Mount Royal and St. Laurent, is vulnerable and subject to the effect of an earthquake.

"Secondary causes, such as fire and explosion, would create a disaster of such magnitude that municipal authorities would hardly be able to cope with the welfare and protection of its citizens."

The document goes on to cite the lesser disasters which might be created by crashing aircraft and the danger from chemical products being transported by rail and road through the city.

Nowhere mentioned in the plan is war. However, this omission is remedied in the by-law, if only to assure that Westmount shall benefit from National Defense budgets and facilities provided for civil considerations.

Standing

The by-law states that the civil emergency executive committee shall be a standing committee of council consisting of the mayor, the commissioner of public safety who shall be chairman, and two other aldermen.

They shall be responsible for reviewing plans, programs and expenditures for emergency planning and submitting to council estimates for operating the organization, semi-annual progress reports and a definitive emergency plan.

The executive may negotiate agreements with other municipalities for mutual aid or joint organizations for employment of technical skills.

(It is interesting to note that Outremont, Town of Mount Royal and St. Laurent, mentioned above as lying in the path of the same seismic fault, already are in a mutual aid agreement for sharing firemen and fire-fighting equipment with Westmount.)

As co-ordinator, the general manager will chair the planning committee, co-ordinate plans, advise and assist department heads, prepare annual estimates, effect training programs and exercises, maintain a continuing program of public information, develop plans for areas not normally under some department or service, advise and assist individuals and private organizations on emergency measures, and appoint his own deputy.

Peace, War

Each department and service of the city shall plan such measures and carry out such activities required to meet its responsibilities during a major peacetime or wartime emergency or disaster.

No employee of the city may enter into agreements or commit the use of equipment, manpower or facilities to any federal or provincial organization requesting the same for the purpose of emergency measures or national survival without the specific authorization of the council upon the recommendation of the chairman of the civil emergency executive committee.

In the event of the occurrence of an emergency whether in time of peace or war, the mayor or in his absence, the chairman of the civil emergency executive committee shall be empowered, to implement the Municipal Emergency Plan and request the minister of justice of the province to call on the military authorities for assistance.

Pee Wees defeat Rimouski 'twins' by 3 to 1

16 - Thursday, March 20, 1969

The City of Westmount recreation department's Pee Wee All Stars Saturday defeated our twin city, Rimouski's, All Stars in the first game of a home and home annual competition for the Mayor M. L. Tucker Trophy.

The tired but happy boys, all in the area of 12 years of age, arrived back home Sunday morning after two successive nights on trains, to and from Rimouski. They were accompanied by their proud coach, John Garland of the city's recreation department; Recreation Superintendent B. A. Rothwell, and Aldermen D.O.C. Doheny and Charles Aspler.

Gus McCrimmon lead Westmount in the 3 - 1 victory with 1 goal and 2 assists. Jay Daly and Stephen Emo also scored. Westmount goalies Paul Angelas and Clifford Stevens played brilliantly, keeping Rimouski off the score sheet until 14:30 of the second period.

Good hosts

The players were well received and entertained by their Rimouski hosts. Ald. Aspler told City Coun-
