

GOVERNOR-GENERAL AT LOCAL REGIMENT, CENOTAPH

His Excellency Governor-General Roland Michener paid his first official visit to Westmount on Sunday. In the morning he presented new Queen's Canadian Colors to the Royal Montreal Regiment. At top, he is seen leaving the St. Catherine street armory, followed by Hon. C. M. Drury and saluted by Lt.-Col. R. C. P. Lawson, R.M.R. commander, en route to a civic luncheon at Westmount Square. In the afternoon he attended a Remembrance Day service at Westmount's Cenotaph and took the salute at a march-past on Cote St. Antoine road. In the lower photo Canada's flag is raised after Reveille and flutters over the regiment's new Queen's Color and the regimental flag. (Examiner photos)

Three young boys caught in snatchings

Four purse-snatchings, including the one they were just committing, were cleared up by Westmount Police Friday evening with the arrest of three local juveniles.

In recent weeks, women in various parts of Westmount have had their handbags grabbed by young punks.

This trio, two 16-year-olds and one of 14, were spotted in the Greene-de Maisonneuve area during the evening by Sgt. Walter Richardson and Police Dog Buddy. Suspicious, they followed the three who, in turn, followed one woman who unwittingly evaded them by boarding a bus; then another girl, who entered a house before she could be overtaken.

Finally, the youths were seen to move in on a third woman, this time opposite 331 Clarke avenue. Sgt. Richardson alerted police patrols by radio and the units closed in just as the boys' quarry was knocked to the ground but before they could get to her purse — leading to the graver charge of robbery with violence.

All three were detained and remanded for appearance in Social Welfare Court on Nov. 17. Meanwhile, the ring-leader acknowledged three previous purse-snatching: Oct. 9, on Greene avenue;

Oct. 27, on Olivier avenue in which $100 was taken, and Nov. 3, on Grosvenor avenue.

On Tuesday, another youngster, this one only 9 years of age, was caught attempting a grab at Melville and St. Catherine.

It was youth week all around for the police. Just about the same Buddy and his master were making their triple arrest, another Westmount patrol discovered a car parked behind the reservoir on Belvedere road. Investigating, they brought in two 17-year-olds

Blackout out

A purse was stolen from a grocery cart in Steinberg's, Greene avenue, during the blackout last Saturday afternoon. It was the only crime reported to Westmount Police during the power failure, though firemen were kept busy with a rash of calls for persons trapped in elevators and for alarms which automatically tripped.

Anthony's taken in $500 holdup

Two men held up Anthony's corner store and sub-post office Monday evening. They made a get-away with approximately $500 in cash.

Bill 62-type committee shapes fast Monday night election called at WHS

Westmount may have, on an experimental basis, the first school parents' committee — ultimately determining the basic language and confessional choice for the school — of any institution on the Island of Montreal, as envisaged by the yet-to-be-passed Bill 62.

This became evident Monday night in post-agenda discussion at the November statutory meeting of The School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of Westmount, one of the 42 school boards, Catholic and Protestant, slated to disappear in the proposed restructuring of education on the island.

The approximate shape of things to come appeared with questions concerning a notice to parents sent out by Westmount High School principal H. Noel Hamilton.

While the experiment with a "school committee" had been authorized by the Greater Montreal board in September, Mr. Hamilton had delayed action, moving after publication of Bill 62 last week and incorporated in his outline for the committee specifications suggested for future committees for all schools.

His letter called for nominations by parents to be made by Monday noon next, to be acted upon at a WHS Home and School Association "meet-the-teacher" night that evening.

The Westmount Board's meeting last Monday evening was held down to one hour and 40 minutes, a record for brevity this year — to go into committee of the whole.

Reference was made in the open session to two items to be discussed behind closed doors and, before adjournment, there was considerable comment on both subjects before the five on-lookers:

- The topics:
  - (1) Bill 62; and
  - (2) The organization of the "school committee".

Commissioner A. Reid Tilley, in the course of his report to the local board in his capacity as chairman of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, reiterated that comment from him would be premature while several PSBGM committees were studying Bill 62.

However, he stated his concern over "the amount of power being passed from the local to the

WMA: Bill 62 meet looms

The implications of Bill 62 will be the subject of a special meeting of the executive committee of the Westmount Municipal Association to be held in about two weeks, it was decided Tuesday night as the executive's regular monthly meeting.

V. G. Hobbes, the association's president, said he would enlist the assistance of W. T. Wood, chairman of the Westmount Board of School Commissioners, in finding knowledgeable experts to address the group.

The possibility of organizing a general public meeting on the subject of Bill 62 was also discussed, but a decision was deferred for the time being.

The association's regular fall general meeting will be held on Dec. 9 in Victoria Hall. The primary business will be to propose candidates for vacancies that will occur in five civic offices at the end of this year. Two aldermen, two school commissioners, and a library trustee will be suggested by the association's nominating committee.

Contrary to tradition, the meeting will not feature a guest speaker, in order to provide an opportunity for citizens to ask questions on matters affecting Westmount residents. A question period is usually included in the spring meeting agenda, but it was felt that one such opportunity a year was not enough.

NEXT WEEKS' WEATHER

Roslyn classes of 35 and 36 pupils deplored by Commissioner Williams

Classes of 35 and 36 pupils, such as there are at Roslyn School, are too large and the Westmount School commissioners should be involving themselves more in this sort of problem, having directly to do with education, than in things like buildings.

This was the opinion of Commissioner W. M. Williams at Monday's night's school board meeting.

He declared that it should be their responsibility first to see to the education of the mass of the children, particularly their reading, writing and arithmetic, and he would give specialist programs, however important, second place.

Other commissioners pointed out that the classes were large because every available room was being used at Roslyn.

The current teacher-pupil ratio at Roslyn, reported earlier by District Superintendent B.S. Schaffelburg, was 1:22.6, as opposed to the laid-down Department of Education norm of 1:27, effective next school year.

Defiance?

To correct this we must defy the government, said Commissioner Dr. John M. Elder. "Maybe as a board we should say this," he added.

"Or use subterfuge," added Mr. Williams.

"We can't," returned Dr. Elder. With these big classes we run a risk of losing teachers, said Mr. Williams.

"We've lost the music specialist at Westmount Park School," joined in Commissioner Mrs. D. Lloyd-Smith.

Mr. Schaffelburg explained that at Roslyn, with 4½ teachers assigned as French specialists outside regular classroom duties, and others involved in physical education, music, home and industry, etc., the ratio was pulled down.

The actual enrolment situation at the two elementary schools, reported the district superintendent, on Oct. 30 was as follows:

Roslyn School:
Grade 6, 138 pupils, classes of 35, 35, 34 and 34;
Grade 5, 127; 31, 32, 31 and 33;
Grade 4, 126; 32, 31, 33 and 30;
Grade 3, 106; 36, 35 and 35;
Grade 2, 116; 27 and 9, both French; 28, 29 and 23, English;
Grade 1, 106; 25, 25, and 32 French; 21 English;
Kindergarten, 85; 21, 21, 21 and 22, all French.

Westmount Park School:
Grade 6, 85; 28, 28 and 29;
Grade 5, 58; 39, 19;
Grade 4, 53; 34 and 19;
Grade 3, 52; 26 and 26;
Grade 2, 47; 25 and 22;
Grade 1, 61, 30 and 31;
Kindergarten, 42; 21 and 21.

Current teacher-pupil ration at Westmount Park was 1:22.9. Outside of this, there are two special classes operating at Westmount

Park for 23 children in two classes, of 10 and 13 pupils.

French classes

Other matters reported by Mr. Schaffelburg were that the courses in French for newcomers to the province, so that they could meet the department of education's new demand that all must pass French oral and written examinations for matriculation, are now well organized. They take place for two hours Saturday mornings.

He also said that the organizing of "meet-the-teacher" nights, sponsored by home and school associations, was becoming difficult with neither teachers nor parents evidently too keen. Commissioner A. Reid Tilley later commented that meet-the-teacher nights usually were the best attended home and school events of the year.

WHS students get philosophy course but in different form from request

The 40-plus senior students of Westmount High School have got, after all, a philosophy course — not the one they were seeking, with their own instructor paid by a special school board funds, but possibly in all the circumstances a better scheme.

It is being conducted after school, Tuesday at 4 pm, by Michael Shore, one of the school's religious education teachers. It started last week, Monday's school board meeting was told, with, however, only six pupils attending due to the competition of a football playoff game.

Inquiries about a West Hill High School course brought a turndown by the students, who thought it too highly structured and the final solution had been produced by Principal Noel Hamilton.

Dr. Stanley B. French, head of the philosophy department of Sir George Williams University, and some of his colleagues, have expressed interest, Commissioner Dr. John Elder reported. Dr. French also is president of the Westmount Park Home and School Association.

The course originally suggested by the youngsters was, Dr. Elder believed, possibly too ambitious; its demands could, he said, pose a risk to other courses of the students involved, in much the same way as, say too much athletics.

Tilley signs with teachers

A. Reid Tilley, in other matters which he reported to his fellow Westmount School commissioners Monday night in his capacities as chairman of the Greater Montreal board and president of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards, said:

- He finally had signed, after 29 months, a teachers' contract on Nov. 4 with, however, a number of items still left open;

- He was now in process of checking local agreements with the Montreal Teachers' Association;

- The PSBGM had submitted a brief on the non-medical use of drugs to the royal commission inquiring into the subject. He found the submissions interesting. He said that, though pressed, the central board refused as not being its role an opinion whether or not marijuana should be legalized. There was no reticence on the part of youngsters to speak up;

- The PSBGM's financial statements have been approved and will be published shortly, showing a surplus of "several hundred thousand" — out of a total budget of about $52,000,000. The Catholic school commission had a surplus of $1,300,000 he said — the Catholics having had special grants, the Protestants none. A deficit is anticipated for next year, presumably arising out of the new teacher pay scales.

School Board looks for City's reply on Academy road

The Westmount School Board is looking for a reply, hopefully a proposal, regarding Academy road so that its area might be incorporated into the usable area fronting on Westmount Park School.

"City Council should do something about it," declared Commissioner W. M. Williams.

Commissioner Dr. John M. Elder reported Monday night on a meeting held at city hall, and a letter from the PSBGM asked to be kept informed of developments; if a purchase is involved, the minister of education must approve of it.

Board's letter with tax bills?

Chairman W. T. Wood congratulated Commissioners Mrs. D. Lloyd Smith and Mrs. Sam Kaplan Monday night on the board news letter sent out to parents last week.

A better means of distribution, instead of sending them home with students, was scouted.

"Perhaps the city would send them out for us with the tax bills," suggested Mr. Wood.

"Or with tax assessments!" said Commissioner Dr. John M. Elder.

Governor - General Roland Michener and Mrs. Michener were formally welcomed to the City of Westmount Sunday at a civic luncheon at La Renaissance, Westmount Square, by Mayor Peter M. McEntyre.

The guest list of just over 60 persons included the vice-regal party, the mayor and aldermen, senior officers of the Royal Montreal Regiment, and wives.

The Governor-General made reference in his reply to this "attractive and hospitable city" which has "taken a generous gift of nature and improved and preserved it for the enjoyment of all. Few cities could boast that one acre in every ten of their area was parkland today." He hoped citizens took advantage of it.

The luncheon took place between the morning ceremonies at the RMR armory when His Excellency presented new Queen's colors to the regiment and the afternoon rites at the Westmount cenotaph when he placed a wreath and later took the salute at a march-past on Côte St-Antoine road at Stanton street.

Of the six building permits issued in Westmount last week, four were for repairs or alterations to the front entrance-ways of dwellings, aggregating $4,075 in cost.

The international aspect of Rotary was given an airing by Rotary Member Tom Fisher, chairman of Rotary Foundation of the Westmount Club, to members at their regular weekly luncheon in Victoria Hall yesterday.

Mr. Fisher explained in detail the ramifications of and the international scope, of the work in over 80 countries.

Rotary Foundation, he said, is producing scholarships to deserving students throughout the world and providing financial assistance to worthwhile projects, such as group studies in foreign countries, in order to help outstanding young men. Special grants were also being provided for other worthy causes, he said.

The one requirement was that the potential candidate must have a high degree of understanding and be sponsored by Rotary. Relatives of members were not eligible under the program. So far over 3,500 awards have been made at a cost to Rotary of over $9 million.

The speaker was thanked by Curt Ross, president.

Two members boasting of a combined age of 165 years were awarded the weekly lapel roses of distinction. President Curt announced that next week's speaker would be Dr. Ling of McGill University, who will speak on the detection of deafness in the young.

We Say

Bills 62 and 63 of good intent

Forty-two school boards or commissions — most of them already shorn of real powers — are ridiculous.

School tax levied on the basis of the payer being Catholic, Protestant or a "neutral" business is archaic nonsense.

Duplicated administrations are wasteful use of expensive talent.

Separate networks of schools, both under continual change of physical plant and staff to accommodate changes in the child population, must make education more expensive than it need be.

So-called confessional teaching, in a society which must prepare future citizens for a world vastly different tomorrow from today, let alone yesterday, no longer is publicly supportable.

And several decades overdue is an integration of resources for the teaching of French. Neither the French nor English schools — or, we should say, the Catholic and Protestant systems — can claim success to date in turning out good French linguists, and still less students who can write well, in Québec's first language.

(In an Eastern Townships community not many years ago we sought French-speaking persons to write news items in French for a local newspaper; the appalling fact was that we were near-completely unsuccessful. Mastery of French composition was scant. And it goes without saying that we Anglos, right up to the present, are rarely proficient in French upon matriculation.)

The more we talk to the suspicious and worried English-speaking Québécois the more we are convinced that their concerns are not based on a sense of superiority over their French-speaking compatriots so much as a distinct inferiority complex over their inadequacies in the use of French — plus an inherent Anglo-Saxon shyness about speaking French because they can't do it well.

Despite our personal shortcomings with the French language — and for us it began way-back-when in Standard III with incompetent and uninspired introduction to it at no less than Roslyn Avenue School — we believe Québécois of either mother tongue have a priceless cultural heritage where two languages present themselves to enrich their lives.

Westmount has some of those fortunate few who are near equally proficient in either language. Many others, by various means, seek to close the gap. They are all the more conscious of the inadequacies of the present system and support intelligent measures for improvement.

Broadly, Bill 63 and now Bill 62 move in that direction. In their implementation a burden of understanding and goodwill is going to have to lie on both sides.

There is good reason to be critical of some aspects of both measures, particularly where they concentrate power in provincial authorities through dictation and appointment rather than by consensus and democratic election.

We believe, however, that Westmount, so often maligned as an enclave of indifference to the French fact and a centre of affluence and power, can and should support the intent of both these measures with genuine enthusiasm.

At this point in our country's history, to be a good Québécois is to be also a good Canadian.

Some observations on real estate sales

Sir: Regarding your lead article of Oct. 23, "Real Estate Up," while I am generally in favor of optimistic and enthusiastic articles on city matters, any home owner selling a house in today's buyer's market would find it difficult to accept the somewhat

SOME FACTS ABOUT COLORS AND THE RMR

Some facts about military colors and The Royal Montreal Regiment: (See also pages 1, 10 and 11.)

* * *

Colors (or guidons and standards) have been carried for centuries. Early man fixed his "badge" to a pole. Medieval knights placed their coat of arms on their banners. In each case, it served as a rallying point in battle.

* * *

Since 1751, regiments of the line have been limited to two colors — The Sovereign's (Queen's) Color and the regimental color.

* * *

The Queen's Color is essentially the regiments' badge or identifying mark centred on the Sovereign's flag or the national flag — in effect, a demonstration of allegiance. The regimental colors usually comprise the regimental badge surrounded by the names of battles where the regiment has distinguished itself.

* * *

After the First World War, the regiment assumed peacetime reserve status. Its current home was built in the mid-20's. It not only serves as a permanent home for the regiment, but as a memorial to the 1,192 members who gave their lives in the War.

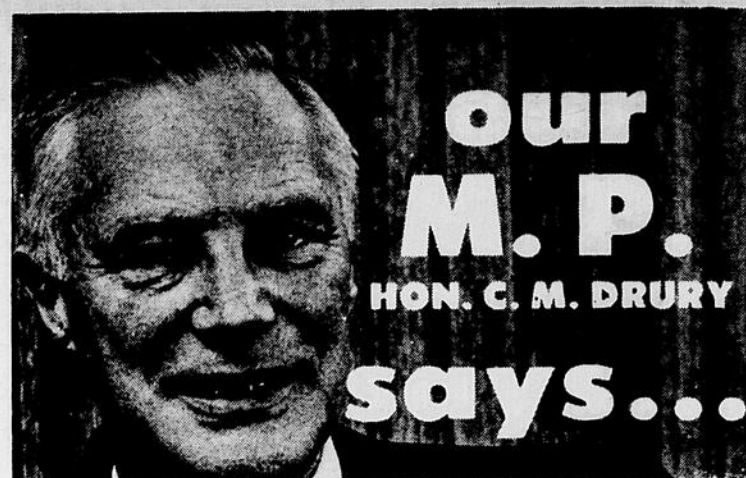

misleading conclusions of your account.

By your own report, real estate sales are not up, but in fact down 18.5 percent from September 1968, and sale prices in some categories are well below the proposed new valuations. In homes selling for $35,000 or less, the new valuations are 12 percent higher than the reported selling prices. In homes selling for more than $35,000, selling prices are 2 percent higher than the proposed valuations. These figures hardly justify the headline "Real Estate Up".

Undoubtedly, The Examiner's conclusions were influenced by one large commercial (non-home) transaction during the month included in your totals, that of the sale by the City of Westmount to Hydro-Québec, (both non-taxpayers) of land originally valued at $39,950, revalued to $41,400, (a modest 5 percent increase) and bearing a selling price of $124,236. No wonder the city administration feels that real estate is undervalued.

Alan C. Lindsay
4010 Montrose avenue,
WESTMOUNT 217.

Editor's Note: We stand by our report: there were 43 transfers in September, against 37 in September 1968. That's up. Also, the prices averaged 34.7 percent higher than current city valuations, against 28.8 percent in September 1968 based on the same roll. That's up, too. Mr. Lindsay's conclusion is correct in terms of aggregate dollar values of sales, which are down — there was included last year the declared sale price, $300,000, in a single, large, commercial transaction. With the value of some transactions shown only at "$1 and other considerations", comparison of total dollar volumes is meaningless and misleading.

Mr. Benson's proposals

There are very few things that the average citizen feels it is his public duty to do. One of these is paying taxes.

There is, admittedly, a compulsory aspect to filing one's income tax return, but the task has by and large become accepted as something one should do, even if one is not sure of the reason for doing so. Of course, no one would want to pay any more than he has to and many people, with the help of expert legal advice, are able to take advantage of existing loopholes in our tax system.

The initial credit for focusing attention on the inequities of our taxation system should go to the late Kenneth Carter and his fellow commissioners, whose monumental study of taxation stood out for one reason — its concept of fairness.

Why, for instance, should a person who gains $500 through corporation dividends pay taxes, while a person who gains $5,000 on the increase in value of a company's stock not have to? One is income and the other — is it not also income? For Carter it was.

Injustices

The federal government's white paper on tax reform proposes to do away with some of the injustices of our tax system more equitable. The basic philosophy of the government's positive thinking in the field of taxation is to be found in the following sentence from the white paper:

"In raising the large revenues required to meet the needs of modern government, we must be certain that the total tax burden is distributed fairly" and "based upon ability to pay".

The personal exemption would be increased. A capital gains tax would be imposed. A number of taxation loopholes would be closed.

Certain groups will be unhappy because the proposed personal exemption is not high enough ($2,800 vs the present $2,000 for a married couple). However, the existing exemption is higher than those in most other countries, and the proposed exemption will place low income people in an even more favorable position vis-à-vis their counterparts in other countries.

The middle income group may feel that the government in its desire to achieve a more equitable tax system is doing so at their expense. For instance, a married couple earning $12,000 would be taxed an additional $157 a year, while a similar couple earning $30,000 would have its taxes raised by only $133. At first sight, this may seem unfair. However, in absolute terms, the former couple would be paying only $2,696 in taxes under the new system, whereas the latter couple would be paying $10,688.

They would also be paying considerably more if their present capital gains were included in their income.

There are no doubt many people, some of whom live in the constituency, who are completely opposed to the levying of a capital gains tax. The pros and cons of such a move in Canada have been debated for some time and in earnest since the Carter commission reported in 1967. Some say, for instance, that a capital gains tax would deter foreign and Canadian investment in Canada.

If the government had accepted the Carter commission's recommendation that all capital gains be treated as earned income there might be some validity to this argument. However, the government proposes to tax only 50 per cent of a person's capital gain on investments in Canadian corporations, at a rate roughly comparable to those prevailing in the United States and Britain, thereby not placing Canada at a disadvantage for would-be investors. Obviously any tax on capital gains would be a disincentive to foreign investors, but the government believes that the economic effect of such a move would not interfere significantly with the attractiveness of investment in Canada.

Not a Bill

The white paper presents "proposals" for tax reform. Finance Minister Benson repeatedly has pointed out that the contents of the white paper do not constitute a government bill. The proposals represent the government's philosophy of a more equitable tax system. They can be and will be changed if the government can be persuaded that such would serve the public interest.

The government has set a target date of January 1, 1971, for presentation of the new tax changes in budget form, which means there will be ample opportunity for individuals and groups to make their views known. Mr. Benson has said he expects more criticism than praise because those who will benefit from the proposed tax reforms will remain silent while those who will suffer will protest vehemently. He has, therefore, appealed to those who are generally satisfied with the proposals not to remain silent but to express their views to him. I, too, would appreciate receiving comments from my constituents, be it favorable or otherwise.

In the weeks to follow, I intend to discuss in greater detail certain aspects of the white paper which should be of particular interest to my readers. Meanwhile, if any of you would like to have a copy of the white paper, would you kindly send your name and address to me at the House of Commons, Ottawa.

Child is injured at hospital door

A little seven-year-old girl, injured in a traffic accident at Atwater avenue and Dorchester boulevard recently, couldn't have been handier for prompt and suitable medical attention - the Montreal Children's Hospital, right at the same intersection.

Sandra Moore, 678 Woodland avenue, Verdun, suffered a cut forehead and other lacerations to her mouth, hand and face when the 1966 Valiant in which she was riding in the back seat with her mother - who suffered a sore knee - collided with a 1966 International truck at 12:57 pm Oct. 27.

The car, driven by Charles Joyner, 68, of Newington, Ont., was proceeding north on Atwater and was attempting to make a left turn west on to Dorchester when it was struck on the front-right side by the truck, southbound on Atwater, driven by Michael Walsh, 26, of Dorion.

Damages were estimated at $700 to the car and $500 to the truck.

Mayor's youth committee may be headed by Boright

Dr. Angus Boright, under whose auspices as Westmount's medical officer of health much of the new facilities and services local young people have been launched, is likely to be the new chairman of the Mayor's Action Committee on youth.

He is expected to succeed George Trim, a member of the Rotary Club of Westmount, who has headed the task force since it was organized by Mayor Peter M. McEntyre last June. Mr. Trim has tendered his resignation, but may continue as a member of the committee.

There may also be three changes among the seven adult members; the youngsters in September named a new slate of seven representatives of their own.

Noel Hamilton, principal of Westmount High School, has resigned feeling that in his position he is too directly involved with local teenagers on a more formal, educational basis. He feels that someone else might more effectively represent the education sector of the community.

Lt. Russel Swales, another original member of the committee, is a platoon officer of the Westmount Police. He has won the confidence of the young people who, however, pose questions on law enforcement of a more strictly legal nature and it is hoped that his place might be taken by a young, experienced lawyer.

And the churches of the community have had a mixed representation. Rev. Father Timmins of the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord was recently pinch-hitting. Latest nominee is Rev. M.R.

Ralph, assistant minister of St. Andrew's United Church.

The other two members who are expected to continue are Ald. Douglas Robertson and Terry Johnston, YMCA detached worker whose services are now financed by the city.

The committee has been relatively dormant in recent weeks, though its adult members have had some recent discussion on reorganizing. In the meantime, the city gave the go-ahead to Dr. Boright to set up a special psychiatric and social service program to meet some of the evident needs of local teenagers.

3 architects are renamed

Final action was taken last week in the broadening of the former architectural commission into the area of overall planning, when Ald. John Birks, seconded by Ald. Daniel Doheny, moved the appointment of R.E. Bolton as chairman and A. L. Perry and H. Mayerovitch as members.

All three are architects and continue on the new body as they did with the old.

With Architect Ald. Charles Aspler abstaining, because there was "possibly conflict of interest," the appointments were otherwise unanimous.

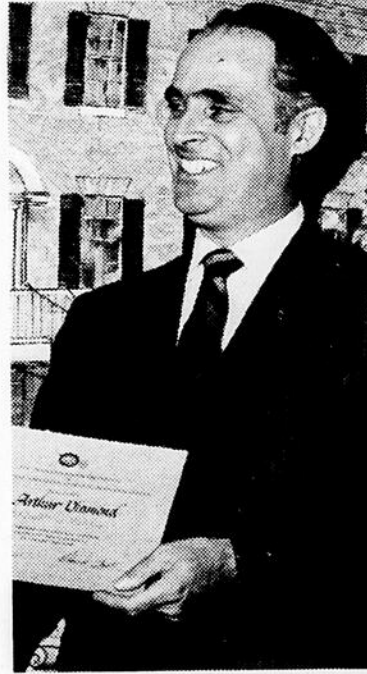

The remaining members are ex-officio members from the administration, including Ald. Aspler as Commissioner of planning and development.

Un-Digested

It does not look hopeful that Reader's Digest will contribute a scholarship for Westmount High School. Commissioner Dr. Elton R. Pounder reported Monday night. The Digest board is considering the matter.

Name drawn

Joe Caplan, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, is among the names drawn in the current City of Montreal voluntax round Monday evening.

CHARTER MEMBER: One of 40 to qualify. Arthur Diamond, 55 Sunnyside avenue, receives his charter membership in the Insurance Fire Mark Society during the 38th annual convention of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents in Washington, D.C. ## STILL NOT QUITE THE 'IN' THING

One thing that can be said for the new long overcoats, schoolgirls in tunics and bare knees probably are warmer as temperatures slope downward for winter. However, near the end of lunch hour at Westmount High School earlier this week, The Examiner camera observed this "loner" in the newest style, attracting little attention from her fellow students. Will "maxi" rival the popularity of the "mini"?

Car malled

Some $900 damages were caused and Driver Pierre Normandin, 28, received minor injuries at 12:50 pm last Wednesday when northbound on Greene and attempting a lefthand turn into Dorchester boulevard his brakes, he said, failed. His 1969 Maverick cross the Mall and struck a 1968 Barracuda.

Based at St. Andrew's, this group includes young people from other city and lakeshore churches. In recent months the 50 members have presented services before a number of local congregations and in Ottawa, Sherbrooke, Charlottetown and Saint John, N.B. Members of the St. Andrew's congregation are invited to meet the Kairos group at a post-service coffee period.

EDITORIAL

Dawson College has the chance to set up a system to run the College which would incorporate the knowledge and gains made in the field of college and university government since the beginning of the 1960s. The question is, will we?

The greater part of the campus troubles in the United States and Canada have stemmed from two main sources. The first being the fact that most colleges and universities although situated in countries steeped in democratic tradition are undemocratically run. The second being that the fantastic increase in enrollment rendered it impossible for the student body to communicate with the administration and vice versa. As they grew so did the back-log of unsolved problems resulting in explosions of violent protest.

Does Dawson want to run the same gauntlet of protests and demonstrations or shall we be different and institute democratic self-government of the College?

Would it not be wise to have an Academic Council with actual control of the College? Would a Council elected by the Dawson Community at large, and with a proper constitution with which to act, solve both problems? Will this Council have seats reserved for certain factions within the college or will every faction have equal opportunities to be elected to any seat?

In a September 10th memo signed only me, but worded as speaking for the Commission, it is said that, "The Commission views itself as a body to receive all proposals from members of the Dawson community regarding the structure of all policy and decision-making groups in the College. .... The Commission is by no means a decision making body. It's function is to accept briefs, organize them, and present them to the Dawson community for consideration."

"Present them to the Dawson Community for consideration" means that the students faculty and the rest of the Dawson Community better start thinking of how they want the College run because they have the unique opportunity to have a College without the built-in mistakes of other universities.

What we decide is going to be around as long as Dawson will and future members of the Dawson Community will either praise or denounce the decision soon to be made by us, the first Dawson Community.

GEORGE A. LESSARD

Humanités

Are you taking Humanities in French?

This Monday IAC meet on this topic. It has become apparent that there are some classes which overlap, such as Humanities in French and a psychology.

It was decided that two credits should be offered to such courses. But, it has not been decided whether the student should register for one or two courses. In these instances.

It was also discussed that a course evaluation be done by students before the end of this semester. A tentative date has been set for Nov. 15.

More information will be forthcoming.

Drapeau addresses Dawson

True bilingualism only solution

"Your rights in Quebec are threatened - now is the time to take action.

Unite, be heard, and be counted."

This is the message which Capt. Louis René Drapeau and Mr. Kingwell of the Parti Québécois ejaulated to Dawson students last Monday.

"We must react now. Are you willing to be destroyed without a peep? How can we eliminate some of the problems in Quebec today?"

The problem in Quebec is not only linguistic, but also it is one of teaching three different versions of Canadian History. Mr. Kingwell recommended, all schools in Canada should teach history in a uniform and factual way. This means doing away with 1) the Catholic - French and English, 2) the English, and 3) the French version of history. Simply give the facts the way they are.

Dawson lighting go-ahead given

Go-ahead has been given for beefing up the lighting down Greene avenue from Dorchester and west along Selby to Dawson College.

Works Department men should, in the next few days, be putting in sono-tube forms for concrete bases, approximately every 40 feet, on which will be installed disused luminaires from other parts of the city. While these do not individually provide as high intensity as more modern standards, usually 60 feet apart, the light is expected to be more evenly distributed, says Alex Heron, light department chief.

With it now getting dark earlier, both Dawson College officials and the police will be relieved to see this temporary improvement for the sake of women students.

Abuse?

Interested in writing a test? Looks like only one student was; last Friday a student forged a note saying the class was cancelled.

To prevent this from happening again, the administration is printing official cards with specific signatures.

Is it fair to penalize your fellow student's?

Represented

Dawson was represented at the changing of the color at the Royal Montreal Regiment Armory on Nov. 9 by Sister MacDonald, Sister Dunlevy, Louis Santre and Mike Rukenstein.

Dawson drops two

Last week Dawson basketball team played two exhibition games. Thursday night they played host to McGill and went down to defeat 57-54.

In another display of dramatic heroism Friday, our team travelled to St. Laurent only to lose by 9 points.

The season gets underway tonight at 8 pm, at R.M.R., against Valleyfield.

Support our team.

"If there were heroes on both sides of the battle, let us learn about them. If two official languages developed - let us all learn these two languages.

"We must rally under one flag, THE MAPLE LEAF.

"Unite now for a more secure tomorrow. We must fight democratically in order to do away with present stupidities - separation, school integration - and keep traitors out of the National Assembly.

"Separation gravely threatens Quebec's investments which in turn threatens the Quebec economy.

"How do we make Quebec more attractive?

"Quebec can be more attractive, if we bring back business law and order. Great efforts are needed to make French Quebec so interesting that new people, who have not experienced the unstableness in Quebec, are eager to learn French and establish new business in this province."

Mr. Kingwell strongly proposed that: a) French language teachers teach French to English Quebecers, and b) English language teachers teach English to French Quebecers.

Our horizons must be widened. "We may begin our education in English or French but we owe it to each other to have a working knowledge of both languages.

'Curtains'

Saturday is the day! Luxurious gold blackout curtains will be installed this Saturday.

This means, however, that there will be absolutely no smoking in classrooms. This is a Westmount fire regulation.

The students who wish to smoke may do so in corridors and lounges. There will be wall bracket ashtrays in the corridors sometime next week.

Midnight Cowboy
Focuses on Loneliness

United Artists Production. Produced by Jerome Hellman. Directed by John Schlesinger. Starring Dustin Hoffman, John Voigt.

All those who haven't as yet seen Midnight Cowboy, playing at the Westmount, are losing out on a truly great experience.

Midnight Cowboy is a film of loneliness, of illusion created by our advanced civilization. It deals with the search for the good life by two downtrodden individuals, lost in a maze of humanity. The search for the good life revolves around the Midnight Cowboy, Joe Buck, played by John Voigt and 'Ratso' (Rizzo played by Dustin Hoffman). In the context of this film the director illustrates the impersonal atmosphere of a 'cold' city and how it destroys the humanity and the dreams of Ratso and Joe Buck. It focuses in on a simple but compassionate interdependent relationship. Joe Buck substitutes one barren life for the hope of a fruitful, enriching one. He goes East, taking with him his masculinity to plunder the 'rich' harvest of women, but he ends up a bugler without his horn. Ratso Rizzo, the product of the vulgar society introduces Joe to the harsh realities wherein the innocent, the dreamer is subjugated to the callousness of life.

John Schlesinger has put together a masterpiece with a message for all. The filming captures the taut emotions, involving the viewer. Listen to the theme song, by Nilsson, and you will know where it's at.

The acting is superb. Both Hoffman and Voigt come across with a powerful portrayal of the defeated. John Voigt comes on strong in his debut as the Midnight Cowboy and Hoffman has continued to show his skill in character acting.

It is worth seeing the film solely to experience Dustin Hoffman again!

Of Reflection

Here I sit - what now
Rustling, suffering
But peace
One voice, low and deep
Resounds with love
Giving
Quiet throughout but
A gentle dapple murmuring
Me.

Westmount High School NEWS

By BILLIE PERCIVAL

Vox Ads

Commercial ads in Westmount High's yearbook, Vox Ducum, are still available and very much needed. One page costs $80; 1/2 page, $45; 1/4 page, $25, and 1/8 page, $15. For only $5, names of parents or students will be printed. For information concerning these ads, please contact the business editor, Joseph Aspler, at the school.

Can Drive

Splash is continuing its can collection for the needy families of Point St. Charles, this week and possibly through until Christmas. Students are asked to consider seriously bringing in cans of any kind of food. Please bring them to the checkroom or Room 317.

Ciné-Classic

So far, two movies have been shown at the school, with relative success. They were "Lord of the Flies" and "Macbeth." Being on the Grade Eleven English course, they are of particular interest and value to the students.

French Club

Student apathy has become exceedingly apparent, creeping into many clubs and activities. Due to lack of support, the Cercle Français was dissolved this week. However, later in the year there will be a production of a French play and possibly a sugaring-off. Jennifer Morter, president, and the club's advisor, Dr. Saly, have been forced to do this to a club which, if used properly and actively supported, could have been a great asset in learning the language and instrumental in the appreciation of its culture.

At Brown

Jefferey Brian Mendel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Mendel of 720 Sydenham avenue, is a student at Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island. A graduate of Westmount High School, he is a candidate for the combined bachelor of science-bachelor of arts degree in economics.

Weredale House

By BRUCE INGLIS

With the approach of winter, the momentum of life at Weredale has begun to pick up. The Phys-Ed classes are into full swing. Arts and crafts classes have begun and a very large number of boys have involved themselves in this voluntary activity.

Tutoring for those boys in need of it has been going on for some time. These young men who are devoting their time are getting great results. The younger boys are receiving special aid in reading. In brief, a great proportion of the present activities are aimed at improving school grades.

It has been impressed upon us by the older boys that this week we should devote our space to thanking those people involved in making the load easier to bear, for most of us. This was by far a reasonable request. "We thank you all."

We extend our congratulations to Lenice Elliot. He was the second top scorer in the Westmount Eight-Man Tackle League. His team, the Bulls, finished first.

UNITY BOYS' and GIRLS' CLUB NEWS

For our girls a modelling and charm course is held on Tuesday nights from 6:30 pm. This course is very useful for girls wishing to learn good grooming and charm.

The course covers manure of the nails, make-up for each individual's personality, personal cleanliness, skin care, the correct way to walk, stand and sit, care of clothes and accessories, combinations in color fashion, and confidence in one's bearing and personality. The course is being given by Miss Judith Jacobs and Miss Lita Talarico, both ex-models.

We have a successful little program on Friday afternoons: "Doll Day." Members are invited to bring in their dolls, so that they can all meet each other. We are starting to make new doll clothes for those who need them for the winter.

The girls now have their own gamesroom on the second floor, and can play there whenever they want. Games include ping-pong, sand-bag toss, marble games, shuffle pool and others. We will also be holding little contests for the girls to compete in as well as playing old favorites such as charades, etc.

Review

Tex Konig attracts many

"He's witty, disillusioned and sings great". — One description that might fit any good performer; but this time we'll apply it to Tex Konig, the man who entertained large crowds at "The Basement" recently.

Konig is unique among folk-singers because he does unaccompanied ballads ... sometimes. The result is original since Konig's voice is capable of such performances.

His stage presence? Wrap it up in blues, add some sadness, a dab of cruelty and you've got it. Typical examples are Still Life, an unknown Dylan composition; Marshall Brandy who drove in an electric car and then died "cause he'd been on the job too long".

Tex describes Dave Van Rouk as his greatest influence as well as friend. I suppose for folk fans the similarity doesn't end just there... Still Konig stands on his own ground well enough not to be criticized.

We've enjoyed Tex Konig's performance very much. It included some readings of Turnben's 13 clocks.

We hope to see him again, and are glad he quit New York for Montreal.

Lower Canada College COURIER

By JAMES ROBERTSON AND RON FARHA

A special Remembrance Day assembly was held Tuesday. In the First World War, 31 boys who attended LCC were killed in action. World War II took an additional 42.

Our senior gym and library were built by the Old Boys' Association in memory of these men.

Our senior football team put up a good fight but, unfortunately, lost the championship game. However, the season was a really good one since they won all their scheduled games as well as the Western divisional championship and the semi-final game.

Congratulations are in order for Captain Jack Muir and Assistant Captains Rob. Desbaillets and "Duncan" Harvie, and specially Coach Dave Wood, whom The Star called "one of the best coaches."

Incidentally, the school won one of the 100 bursaries for selling more tickets than any other school.

On Friday, Nov. 21, LCC in collaboration with the Federation is sponsoring a dance entitled The Electric Environment. It features The Excelsior, a multi-media light and sound show by Sheldon Kagon, and a special guest appearance by Roger Scott of CFOX.

Casseroles for gourmet at St. Matthias' Fair

Shown here preparing recipes are Mrs. T. S. Gillespie, 5 Hudson avenue, and Mrs. D. T. Dingle, 561 Lansdowne avenue, who are convenors for the gourmet table at the St. Matthias Church Talent Fair to be held Nov. 27.

There is great interest in this year's new casseroles. Eight different, first-rate recipes have been selected and improved to conform to the highest possible standards, making them the "piece de resistance" of any special luncheon or dinner: handy to have on hand for the coming holiday season.

There will be other interesting booths and tables where many items can be obtained. Mrs. W. D. Lennox, 57 Thornhill avenue, with Mrs. S. Armstrong, 1 Grove Park, is convening the talent fair and reports that many people have been working for months making the useful items which will be on sale.

Among these are plum puddings, mince meat baking, candy, jams and jellies, all home made from favorite recipes.

Bargain hunters will be happy with the price of the famous church choir record which is for sale this year. The attic treasures table is once again eagerly anticipated as there will always be the chance of a really "once in a life-time" purchase and the same goes at the book table.

Beautifully dressed dolls will be offered for some little girl's pleasure, aprons and knit goods

$400 is raised at sherry party

As the result of donations placed in the silver bowl on the occasion of the fifth annual sherry party at the Royal Montreal Regiment's officers mess, Percy Partridge of the Mufti Club has announced that a cheque for of $400. will be presented to the Lakeshore Association for Retarded Children (Workshop) tomorrow evening at the RMR officers' mess.

Casseroles...

for other members of the family.

After a morning's shopping nothing is so good as a good lunch, served in the main hall, and a special children's lunch downstairs, as well as a fish pond, piggy bank shop and lemonade stand.

The members of the holiday decorations group are well known for their imaginative wreaths and centerpiece which will also be on sale.

All proceeds will be used for the work of the church and if anyone not already involved would like to lend a hand in any way with donations and preparations, one of the convenors would be happy to assist.

The tables and convenors are:

Aprons, Mrs. G. Dorey, 540 Cote St. Antoine; Hand Knits, Mrs. W. M. Bancroft, 5010 Sherbrooke street west; Jams, Mrs. C. C. Maynard; Baby Knits, Mrs. E. ## Council grants club 'charter' to geographers

An apparently little-used provincial law, which in effect gives a municipal council the power to provide a form of incorporation for certain bodies, was invoked last week at city hall.

The Geography Club, which it is believed is to promote an interest among its members in geography through travel, received consent and authorization for its formation from the city fathers under the Amusement Clubs Act. Its place of business is to be at 4149 St. Catherine street west.

Charters normally are granted by either the federal or provincial governments. In this instance, however, the authority is given to the local mayor and aldermen. The provision is for associations or clubs "with a view to recreation, instruction and amusement, or with a view to developing and encouraging tourist traffic, or a musical association or an automobile club."

The members, of which there must be at least 10, have no personal liability for the debts of such a body which, however, otherwise comes under the Companies Act.

H. K. Gertler

Hyman Karl Gertler, 82, long-time resident of 718 Victoria avenue, died last Oct. 31. He came to Canada in 1908 from his native Austria and later founded Atlas Bedding Ltd. He was well known as a philanthropist. He is survived by his wife, a daughter and two sons. Services were held Tuesday.

The Westmount Examiner, Thursday, Nov. 13th, 1969 - 15

Garbage wagon of Air Canada burns thrice

Three times in nine days the Westmount Fire Brigade had to dash to the Air Canada building at 4333 St. Catherine street west to douse fires in the large carts in which refuse is removed from the vital nerve centre of the national airline's reservations network.

Youngsters are suspected in each instance, the first of which occurred Oct. 14, in the early evening after the spectacular Domus furniture store blaze had wearied the local fireman all the previous night.

The other instances came in last week, at 9:10 pm on Tuesday and 4:06 pm Thursday - by which time the officers and men were unhappy.

Just to add to the problem - and perhaps an example of how nuisance fires and false alarms are potentially dangerous - at the same time as Thursday's call a horn sounded in the police garage, below the Stanton street fire station, indicating trouble in the boiler room. As it happened, there was no serious problem.

Smash, caught

Two Rosemount youths, ages 15 and 14, were arrested late Saturday afternoon after they allegedly went on a smashing rampage in the washroom of the Sugar and Spice restaurant in Alexis Nihon Plaza.

PHILATELY BY Mark Weiner

Many collectors are familiar with such stamps as hotel, newspaper and telegraph stamps but many of you are aware of "college" stamps and their use? Nearly a century ago college stamps were used at Oxford to frank letters which were delivered by college messengers. Keble was the first of eight colleges in the university to begin this practice of using stamps bearing the college arms. Now after 84 years the Post Office has lifted the ban it had imposed and is allowing Keble to bring the stamps back into use for its centenary. The G.P.O. has given permission not only for the stamps to be used in the internal messenger service but also as a seal on the front of covers sent by ordinary post.

leged children. The stamps depicting children with various musical instruments were designed by Charles S. Corsen, Willemstad artist and printed by multicolor offset by Joh. Enschede & Sons, Holland: 6+3c - boy playing guitar; 10+5c - girl with tape recorder; 20+10c - boy with marimula, a native instrument; 25+11c - girl at piano.

The idea of issuing the Voor Het Kind series just before the Christmas Season, that they may be used on holiday mail, was adapted from the Swiss "Pro Juventute" issues. By charging a surtax, thus the public can contribute to this worthy work. - solicitation in this manner is practical and economical as no special staff or administration is required. Since the Postal Administration announces the numbers of all stamps sold, one knows exactly how much has been collected without the need of administrative overhead.

These stamps will appeal to the topical collectors of both "Children" and "Music" on stamps. The set will be available at the post offices of all six islands comprising the Antilles until February 2, 1970, unless stocks are exhausted earlier and remain valid for postage until December 31, 1970.

Children and music is also the theme for the 1969 addition of the Child Welfare semi-postals to be issued on November 11 by the Netherlands. As in the Antilles the funds raised from the sale of these stamps are used to support welfare agencies and activities on behalf of youngsters. This years series was designed by Dick Bruna, Utrecht, who drew the main pictorial motifs and P. C. Cossee of The Hague designing the text and denomination figures. Printing was by multicolor photo-

The group has meet twice. The turnout was small, but those who attended were enthusiastic. This enthusiasm prompted them to invite friends to the next meeting.

Another event at the "Y" on the Park was the "Bring a Friend Campaign" for children which was Oct. 20 to 31. Guests were asked to bring shorts, bathing suit and running shoes and were free to take part in total program.

Civics course still in plans

There has been further communication but no finalizing of plans with Hon. C. M. Drury for the conducting of a civics course at Westmount High School. School Board Chairman W. T. Wood reported Monday night.

He had been in communication with Peter Dunn, Mr. Drury's executive assistant. It had been suggested that the mayor and others might also participate.

The Stampeders blanked the Lions 12-0 in a sudden death play-off game to win the City of Westmount recreation department touch football Pee Wee Championship for 1969.

Scoring in the first and fourth quarter, they managed to keep the Lions off the score sheet with good defense work.

They will be awarded crests at the Annual Awards Night to be held in the Spring.

Mosquitos

The Alouettes defeated the Tigers in a sudden death play-off game by a score of 9-6 to win the 1969 Mosquito championship.

The Alouettes required a safety touch-down in overtime to clinch the victory.

to be a writer. How many readers know this?

Even during his school days, Schumann contributed to his father's publications. He wrote many articles on music and continued through law school (which he abandoned for music).

Then he began his career as a music critic with musical essays as well as opinions. Who has not heard his often quoted "Hats off, gentlemen, a genius!" when he reviewed a Chopin recital in 1831.

This was the start of his important writings covering the years 1831-1853. Schumann will remain immortal through his great masterpieces in many musical media but also because he promoted people through his criticisms. Two are Chopin and Brahms, whose genius he recognized immediately.

The following has been repeated by many people but it was Schumann who wrote it first.

"There are two very difficult things in the world. One is to make a name for oneself and the other is to keep it".

Jascha Heifetz, the celebrated violinist said: "It was hard to get to the top but twice as hard to stay there".

And Witold Malcuzyński, who played recently in Salle Wilfrid Pelletier in Place des Arts (Canadian Concerts and Artist Series) is a pianist who got to the top and has remained there for almost 30 years.

The late Joseph Champoux, who was piano tuner for my mother before she was married and of course, I remembered him from my earliest days. He tuned for me until his death almost 20 years ago, travelled with pianist Malcuzyński on tours in the smaller cities of Québec. He said that the Polish artist was a grand person and his wife was a marvellous pianist also.

Proof of her great talent is the fact that she was one of the 12 winners in the first Belgian Competitions, also called "Concours Eugene Ysaye", Brussels, May 1938. Mr. Champoux told me that Mme Malcuzyński (she is Colette Gaveau, French pianist) gave up her career when she married.

Here is something really interesting. The winner was Emil Gilels, U.S.S.R., and another winner was Benedetti Michelangeli of Italy. Both these super artists attract big audiences in Montreal. (Also, they are with CCA).

The first piano concert in Salle Wilfrid Pelletier was a recital by Malcuzyński. It was his 20th anniversary in Montreal and has always been under the same management. It was also memorable for me because I reviewed it.

Editor's 'friend'

During the lunch-hour Friday a woman employee noticed a stranger in the Readers' Digest office who said he was "looking for the editor." When the same woman returned from her lunch her purse, which had contained $80, was no longer under her desk where she had left it, she told Westmount Police. The man had not found "the editor" also was gone.

NEAR HALF WAY: The $4,000,000 capital campaign for the Montreal Children's Hospital neared the half way mark to its objective today. At work since last April in an old apartment on Closse street, across the street from and owned by the hospital, (left) has been Westmount's former mayor, Michael Tucker, (above) heading up the voluntary organization, which includes a number of other talented, retired Westmount executives. Mr. Tucker is optimistic about the outcome of the campaign - and is looking forward to its conclusion to catch up on holidays which he didn't have this summer.

ed to the board meeting of a month ago that the committee had been authorized by the PS BGM. He added that the disruption of teachers' contracts perhaps had upset Mr. Hamilton's schedule.

Mrs. Bourke asked the board for suggestions of names of parents for nomination, occasioning a short debate among commissioners as to whether or not they should be involved in the committee. The concensus appeared to be that they were entitled as parents to be involved but as school board members perhaps they shouldn't, though Commissioner Mrs. D. Lloyd-Smith's suggestion that perhaps one member of the board serving on the committee would be good for liaison won some favor.

After examining a circular on the subject put out by Mr. Hamilton to parents, Mr. Tilley offered the further opinion that Mr. Hamilton had laid down the specifications for the committee along the lines suggested by Bill 62 and offered this as a further reason for its late issuance to parents - who were given by Mr. Hamilton until noon Monday to submit their nominations.

The board pointed out to Mrs. Bourke that this provided a week.

thought to have been shelved several years ago, "and ideas of the government itself."

"Another thing I don't like," he concluded, "is that the president and vice-president (of the island council) would be appointed by the government."

The government seems to like to do that sort of thing, commented another commissioner.

The question of the WHS school committee arose at adjournment when Mrs. G. M. Bourke, who said she was representing the education committee of the Westmount Municipal Association, questioned the short notice given by Principal Noel Hamilton to parents to make nominations to the committee.

Mr. Tilley expressed surprise, saying that he had report-provincial level." There would be "tremendous foci of power in the island commission and the minister," he said, and he was "looking for more democratization than concentration at the provincial level."

Later, in reply to a question from Commissioner Mrs. Sam Kaplan, he explained that Bill 62 appeared to be an amalgum of the Parent report, which called for non-denominational schools; the Pagé report, in its tax provisions and a strong island-wide council; ideas taken from Private Bill 116 of the Montreal Catholic School Commission, which was
