RUSSIANS REFUSE VOLUNTEERS BAN

Claims Unilateral Move Intervention To Aid Insurgents

Reply to British Note Demanding Non-Interference in Spanish Civil War Accepts Idea in Principle, but Declares that Ban Must Be Enforced By Germany and Italy—Renews Original Proposal that Foreign Fleets Establish Strict Control in Spanish Waters—Express Fear Germany Will Turn Czechoslovakia Into a "Second Spain."

Moscow, January 18.—The Soviet Union refuses to ban volunteer enlistments for Spain until Germany and Italy do so, on the ground such "unilateral action" would be equivalent to intervention in favor of the Spanish insurgents.

In a note transmitted to the British ambassador here over the week-end, Russia stressed it was not at present sending any volunteers to Spain, but at the same time did not consider it expedient to take steps which would not be observed by powers aiding the Spanish insurgents.

The note, signed by Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff, also renewed Moscow's original proposal to the London non-intervention committee that foreign fleets establish strict control in Spanish waters.

(The British Government has already banned volunteers, while in France the Chamber of Deputies has voted a measure empowering Premier Blum to do likewise).

"Such individual measures seem particularly premature when it is taken into account that up to now the rebels have not given consent, even in principle, to the establishment of any form of control," said the Russian note.

Meanwhile, warnings that Czechoslovakia might be the "next Spain" were sounded here.

Vigilis, writing in Izvestia, denounced the present anti-Czechoslovakian campaign in the German press.

"The aim of that campaign is a secret to nobody," he asserted. "Observers of international events are wondering where the Reich will attempt to create a new accomplished fact and invariably they express fear it will be in Czechoslovakia."

COMMITTEE REVIVES PLAN FOR ENFORCING BLOCKADE

London, Jan. 18.—The International Non-Intervention Committee to isolate the Spanish civil war was reported today to be considering a revived plan to blockade the conflict-torn peninsula.

As insurgent Fascists and Socialist Government forces continued their struggle after six months of war, the non-intervention group was called into session on a sub-committee's proposal for halting all aid to the combatants.

Observers felt, however, the committee faced a blank wall arising from the apparent reluctance of the major European powers to take positive action.

Authoritative sources summed up the stalemated situation as follows: Great Britain has enforced a firm ban on volunteers and asked other nations to follow her lead. France and Russia have agreed in principle but declined to act until joined by Italy and Germany, who have delayed answering until they have formulated a joint policy.

Informed circles noted an increasing tendency to divide Europe into three political camps with Britain standing alone and holding the balance of power between Franco, Russian and Italo-German understandings.

New Differences Menace Parley To Settle U.S. Auto Industry Strike

On Eve of Scheduled Conference Between General Motors and Union Officials, Latter Accused Corporation of "Bad Faith" and Cancelled Scheduled Evacuation by Sit-Down Strikers of Two Flint, Mich., Factories.

Detroit, Jan. 18.—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, announced today, after a brief meeting with high General Motors officials, that "the conference is off."

The Union suddenly cancelled plans for the men to leave the Fisher Body plants Nos. 1 and 2 at Flint, Mich., yesterday, accusing the large automobile-manufacturing company of "acts of bad faith" which would destroy the purpose of the negotiations.

As one of these "acts" the Union cited General Motors' promise to bargain with a committee from the "Flint Alliance," which said it represented a majority of the Corporation's employees in that city. The "Alliance" was formed to crystallize anti-strike sentiment and is

Early Settlement Of British Debt To U.S. Appears Likely

Visit of Two British Officials to United States Strengthens Belief that British and United States Governments Are Seeking Solution of War Debts Issue Entwined with Broader Questions of Trade Agreements and International Monetary Stabilization—British Debt Now in Arrears $786,000,000 with Accrued Interest.

New York, Jan. 18.—With war debts entwined in the broader question of trade and international monetary stabilization, it is believed in well-informed circles the British Government is prepared to make a settlement on its debt to the United States.

This belief, prevalent for some weeks, has gained strength with the visit of two British officials, Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, and Sir Otto Niemeyer, director and financial expert of the Bank of England. Runciman will arrive tomorrow. Sir Otto is en route.

It was further believed likely that, if a settlement is made by Britain, France would quickly follow.

As payment dates have passed with defaults after defaults—the British debt is now $786,000,000 in arrears, with accrued interest—the question has become not only one of debt settlement, but also is related to monetary stabilization, together with the possibility of a reciprocal trade agreement between the United States Government and Britain.

Informed persons believe Runciman is empowered to discuss these questions with Washington officials, if not to open formally negotiations.

NEW CONTRACT FOR PULPWOOD CUTTING GIVEN

Ontario Government Expects that Hundreds of Men Will Find Work in Woods as Result of Latest Timber Limit Allocation.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—A contract for pulpwood cutting, expected to provide work for hundreds of men in limits 150 miles east of Fort Arthur, was approved by the Ontario Cabinet Saturday and announced over the week-end by Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Lands and Forests.

The Province is allocating to the Ontario Paper Co. Thorold, limits formerly held by the Great Lakes Power and Paper Co. and the Abitibi Power and Paper Co. These limits reverted to the Crown when the amount of work conditional on their granting was not done, Mr. Heenan said.

The Ontario Paper Co. will spend $250,000 for water conveyances, barking drums and a small power development preparatory to starting cutting next fall, the Minister reported. Power will be needed for transport of the pulpwood to Lake Superior for trans-shipment by boat to Thorold.

FASCIST ARMY RENEWS ATTACK UPON CAPITAL

Seventh Month of Spanish Civil War Opens with Renewed Bombardment of Madrid—Large Insurgent Force Trapped in University City Hospital

Madrid, Jan. 18.—Spanish Fascists began the seventh month of their attempt to overthrow the Socialist Government today with renewed bombardment of the capital.

Half-a-dozen shells burst in Madrid's central plazas, damaging commercial buildings although no casualties were reported.

In the Clinic Hospital in northwestern University City, a large force of insurgents were threatened with annihilation after being isolated on an upper floor of the war-scarred building.

The besiegers of the capital, themselves besieged after a three-day Socialist onslaught in the northwestern section of Madrid, kept up a desperate rifle and machine gun fire. The Madrid forces maintained their new position, however, and a detachment pushed the defence lines ahead to the north side of the mine-wrecked hospital.

The dynamite blast was set off yesterday after lengthy preparations by Government militiamen who tried to storm all the scattered hospital buildings at once. When the mine blew out the stairway, their only means of escape, the insurgents mounted machine gun nests on an upper floor.

Arrest Of Kidnap-Killer Imminent As Search Centers On Los Angeles

Reports Claim that Fingerprints Discovered at Scene of Kidnapping Were Those of Ex-Convict Who Was in Pacific Northwest Recently—Sudden Move by Federal Agent in Charge of Hunt for Mattson Murderer Taken to Indicate Impending Developments.

Los Angeles, Jan. 18.—The long expected "break" was believed near today in the search for the swarthy kidnapper and killer of ten-year-old Charles Mattson as United States federal agents concentrated suddenly in Southern California.

A dramatic swing in the manhunt to this region from the scene of the crime in Washington one thousand two hundred miles north was interpreted as a sign of impending developments.

Adding emphasis was the report from an authoritative source that Harold Nathan, federal agent in charge of the search at Tacoma, had sped here by airplane and taken personal charge of swiftly mobilized forces.

The same source stated that fingerprints had identified the man sought as an ex-convict paroled from prison who was in the Pacific

CLAIMS PEACE OF EUROPE DEPENDS ON BRITISH POLICY

London, Jan. 18.—The international situation is fraught with peril and Great Britain can avoid danger only if she keeps absolute composure, J. L. Garvin wrote in the Sunday Observer.

Peace depends absolutely on the refusal of Great Britain to be involved by either French slanders or Russian propaganda in an unnecessary war because of the Spanish question," Garvin said.

Speaking of the "manufactured crisis," which made the recent episode in Spanish Morocco, Garvin said: "It showed just how the next war might come, as before, in a few fatal days, if the British Government and the British press on some future occasion and in other connections were stamped by anti-German hallucinations and manoeuvres in Paris or Moscow."

DAMP WEATHER INCREASES HOLY FATHER'S SUFFERING

Vatican City, Jan. 18.—Damp, neuralgic weather settled over the Vatican today, aggravating Pope Pius' suffering.

The Holy Father carried on with the schedule he has set for himself, prelates said, drawing on his nerve and feeling of spiritual exaltation for energy.

Propped up in bed to ease his shortness of breath, the Pope was said to have spent a painful night, after the busiest day since he took to his bed.

He received three German cardinals yesterday in the first group audience since his illness began six weeks ago.

SEEK ATTITUDE OF BENNETT ON TABLING FILES

Views of Opposition Leader on Recent Constitutional Crisis May Determine Action of Government in Responding to C.C.F. Motion.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—Debate of the Address in Reply to the Throne Speech was scheduled to start today in the House of Commons, but Conservative Leader Bennett who ordinarily would lead it was not expected in the capital till evening.

Mr. Bennett arrived yesterday in Halifax after a four-months' tour of the Maritime and his appearance in the House was awaited with keen interest. His attitude, it was thought, would govern to a considerable extent the administration's decision how much it will make public concerning its conduct during the November constitutional crisis in the Centre.

Norman McLarty, Liberal, Essex West, was scheduled to move the address and Dr. C. J. Veniot, Liberal, Gloucester, to second it.

Public interest, usually centred on the Throne Speech reply debate, appeared occupied more with the constitutional question. James S. Woodsworth, bearded C.C.F. leader, has on the order paper a resolution demanding production of all correspondence and other documents relating to the question of Edward VIII's abdication and George VI's succession. Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House last Thursday the Government did not consider it in the public interest the correspondence be tabled.

However, he said, he would make a statement on the question and "His Honourable Members have questions which they would like to ask of myself or of other members of the Government we shall do our best to reply, and perhaps the house might then consider whether it would wish to have more in the way of correspondence."

C.C.F. members said yesterday unless Mr. King's statement is more informative than they expect they will make determined effort to force tabling of the correspondence.

The Senate will resume its session Tuesday.

Entire Alberta Farming Production To Be Taken Over By Marketing Body

Premier Aberhart Announces that Control of Marketing of Alberta's Farm Products Will Be Vested in Import-Export Board Will Take Over-Crops for Alberta Credit and Sell Outside the Province for Real Canadian Money—Declares that Bank and Debt Money Will Soon Be Replaced in the Province by Social Credit Currency.

Edmonton, January 18.—Full control of the marketing of Alberta's farm products will be vested in the import-export organization which Premier William Aberhart announced in Calgary yesterday, had received the "wholehearted support" of the legislative caucus of Social Credit members.

The import-export organization was one of the eleven points in the Social Credit plan for Alberta drafted by a committee of the Cabinet and ratified, in all essential terms, by the caucus.

The organization would buy farm products for Alberta credit inside the province and sell it outside for Canadian money. The surplus would be used to buy manufactured goods not processed in Alberta. It also would have a wholesale function, filling the orders of retailers for manufactured goods and delivering them from outside Alberta.

Speaking of the Edmonton convention of the Social Credit League, Mr. Aberhart said: "We were sure our people were going to discontinue the use of bank and debt money and use their own money. The establishment of an import and export marketing agency received wholehearted support."

Results of the deliberations at the caucus, he said would be revealed fully in legislation at the next session of the Legislature, opening February 23rd.

The Premier had a few words of criticism for the press, which he declared "have not evidently the slightest conviction or scruples whatever in repeatedly publishing falsehood and misrepresentation."

He likened the Alberta press to a character in a comic, one who relates "tall stories" of adventure. "They are becoming just about as bad as Major Hoople," the Premier told his audience.

FRANCO DENIES GERMAN FORCES ENTER MOROCCO

Salamanca, Spain, Jan. 18.—General Francisco Franco stressed the "peaceful aims" of his insurrection in an interview with Havas yesterday and vigorously denied charges of German infiltration in Morocco.

The insurgent commander declared it is "not we who will endanger the peace of Europe," and proclaimed "we shall bring peace to the country."

"There are no German soldiers in Spanish Morocco," Franco said at the outset.

"I have already issued a formal denial regarding allegations that German troops or volunteers have disembarked in our possessions in North Africa. As it happens—through simple coincidence—there are fewer German civilians in these regions at present than ever before."

"Neither yesterday nor today has a session of any particle of national territory been involved in the struggle as far as the Nationalist (insurgent) Government is concerned."

"We shall struggle—until the final victory—to drive from our soil the evil forces of Communism. We want to liberate, and shall liberate, our country from the mortal influence of an ideology which is foreign to our aspect. We are striving and fighting for that and that alone."

Over Hundred Met Horrible Death When Flames Swept Chinese Train

Engineer, Unaware of Tragedy Being Enacted when Coaches Caught Fire, Speeded Train Through Night, Adding to Toll of Holocaust—Search Parties Seeking Bodies of Victims Along Fifteen Miles of Right of Way.

Canton, China, Jan. 18.—Rescue workers searched along fifteen miles of track today for the burned bodies of panic-stricken Chinese, who huddled themselves from the blazing coaches of a speeding express train.

At least one hundred persons, it was estimated, perished in the third class cars of the Canton-Hong Kong express yesterday, as the engineer, unaware of the fire, kept the train speeding through the night. Some eighty-five bodies, burned beyond recognition, were recovered. About fifty persons were injured.

Railway officials said the fire followed the explosion of a jar of sulphuric acid in a third class car jammed with passengers.

Panic gripped the trapped occupants as they tried to fight their

Three Goals in First Period Start Richmond Away to Decision Over St. Francis Valley Hockey League Monarchs Yesterday—Bromptonville Nosed Out Lennoxville.

Windsor Mills, Jan. 18.—Following the St. Francis Valley Hockey League took a glance at the standing today and were surprised to find Richmond on even terms with Windsor Mills in first position. This situation was created yesterday afternoon when Richmond travelled here and scored a three to two decision over the defending champions. Three goals in the first period gave the visitors a lead they grimly held against repeated Windsor Mills offensives during the last two frames.

"Chief" Fuller opened the scoring for the Richmond lads on a play in which his two line mates, "Doc" Roy and Doug Gleason participated. Four minutes later "Babe" Janelle put his team two up when he converted Henri Beaubien's pass into Richmond's second point, while there were less than six minutes left of the chapter when Fuller counted what proved to be the winning point with assistance from Gleason.

Reggie Dubois registered the first Windsor Mills point on a lone rush in the middle chapter and Giles Landry uncorked a long shot which beat Boast in the last round. Bobby Morey, the league's leading point-getter, was closely guarded and failed to get away often.

Ant. Frenette was lost to the local team. Illness confined him out of the game after the first period while Couture played under the handicap of bereavement, a telegram earlier in the day having advised him of the death of his mother in British Columbia. Couture decided to play after he was convinced that his absence would disrupt the local lineup.

Dan Towne, of Sherbrooke, was the referee and meted out four minor penalties, Richmond suffering three principally because of the defensive measures the visitors adopted after scoring their three goals. J. L. keeps absolute composure. J. L. The teams were: Richmond goal Longproy Smith defence Cayer Beaubien defence Landry Roy centre Morey Fuller wing Coderey Gleason wing Alc. Frenette

Richmond subs: B. Janelle, Carson, A. Janelle and Cheney. Windsor Mills subs: Ant. Frenette, Healy, Couture, Gaucher and Dubois.

BROMPTONVILLE NOSED OUT LENNOXVILLE SQUAD Bromptonville, Jan. 18.—Playing here yesterday afternoon, Bromptonville scored its first St. Francis Valley Hockey League victory by out-pointing Lennoxville by six to five. After coming from behind twice to knot the count, the local lads assumed a lead which they maintained despite the desperate efforts of the visitors in the driving moments of the hard fought fixture.

R. Maurice and Walter Harvey had given Lennoxville a two-goal lead before Ernie Leblanc opened the scoring for the homesters. Maurice was assisted by Rollie Lacasse and Lloyd Price, Harvey was on the scoring end of O'Connor's pass, and Leblanc was helped by his brother, Josephat.

Josephat Leblanc tallied twice at the opening of the second episode, once on an individual rush and then with St. Cyr as playmaker. Harvey sent the College Town sextette ahead again when he converted a penalty shot, but Ernie Leblanc squared matters with St. Cyr's help.

Harold Quinn concluded the second-period scoring on O'Connor's pass. Ernie Leblanc rallied his third goal at the start of the final twenty minutes and Lennoxville rallied to score twice through O'Connor and Rollie Lacasse, the latter collecting an assist on O'Connor's effort. The visitors had six minutes to score the equalizer but failed to again take the measure of Goalee St. Laurent.

Four minor penalties were inflicted by the referee, Lorenzo Couture, of Sherbrooke. The teams were: Bromptonville: Goal, St. Laurent; defence, H. Quinn and Riddick; centre, J. Leblanc; wings, J. Leblanc and St. Cyr; subs, Bourgeois, Desjardis, Emond and Lepine. Lennoxville: Goal, Galvin; defence, McMullen and R. Lacasse; centre, Harvey; wings, O'Connor and McVeigh; subs, Price, Hodge and R. Maurice.

LIME RIDGE DEFEATED EAST ANGUS WINGS HANDILY East Angus, Jan. 18.—With Gard and Lopez Lemelin occupying the goal-tending roles, Lime Ridge whipped the East Angus Wings to the tune of seven to three in the opening game of the Wolfe County Hockey League here yesterday afternoon. Gard was credited with the difficult "hat trick," scoring three of Lime Ridge's points, while Roger Lemelin accounted for a pair of tallies. Lajoie and B. Lemelin punched home the visiting team's two markers.

Lime Ridge led by the odd goal in three at the end of the first period, outscored their opponents by two to one in the middle chapter and counted three times in the final twenty minutes of play. Gendreau, Westgate and Bernier were the successful East Angus marksmen.

Ralph Hayes handled the fixture and handed out seven penalties, six of which were incurred by the home-sters. The teams lined up as follows: Lime Ridge: Goal, Beaudoin; de-

LOCAL JUNIOR QUESTION HAS BEEN SETTLED

Eastern Townships Junior Hockey League Ordered to Include Champtre in Circuit During Meeting of this District's Presidents Saturday Afternoon.

Presidents of all but one of the leagues under the jurisdiction of the Eastern Townships vice-president of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association gathered here Saturday afternoon to discuss matters pertaining to their respective circuits. The meeting was presided over by Albert W. Reid and representing the various groups were Nelson Charrier, Sherbrooke County League; Dallas Grant, St. Francis Valley League; Alden Rousseau, Wolfe County League; Oliver Cromwell, Compton County League; Francis Kenalty, Richmond County League and Eastern Townships Juvenile, Midget and Bantam Leagues, and Emmet Kenalty, Eastern Townships Junior League.

The principal discussion centred about the admittance of the Champtre club into the Junior League. Considerable difficulty had been experienced in this connection and without last year's champions, Mr. Reid, after declaring that the fundamental idea of hockey is to provide young men with a chance to develop their ability, ruled that Champtre be admitted and the scheduled revised.

Emmet Kenalty was authorized to admit Champtre into the league and announced that a league meeting would be held to consider this new development. It was also clearly defined that no club would be allowed to play in the junior league if its roster included over-age players. This ruling was made after Bishop's University had been asked to enter a team and play exhibition games because the collegians could not use an aggregation under the age limit.

The meeting was advised that Richmond's junior team would be allowed to participate in the play-offs without playing through a schedule. This privilege was accorded because there are no other junior teams in the Richmond district to form a league.

It was decided that renewed efforts would be made to obtain the guarantee promised the St. Patrick's juvenile champions by the Q.A.H.A. for travelling expenses last spring, while the provincial authorities will be asked to classify Montreal district club teams as provincial champions without a play-off with other districts. Registrations and schedules were examined and found to be in order. Some schedules, however, have been disrupted because of the unseasonable weather, but hopes are maintained that the respective winners will be declared before the deadline on February 20.

EARLY SETTLEMENT OF BRITISH DEBT TO U.S. APPEARS LIKELY

Continued from Page 1. on stabilization and a trade pact. He will spend next week-end at a White House guest, but President Roosevelt said his visit was personal. They are old friends, and the conclusion of a reciprocal trade pact with Britain would be regarded generally as a major accomplishment of the tariff programme of Secretary of State Cordell Hull. It was felt certain by some New Yorkers close to the administration, however, that the United States Government would first insist upon a settlement of war debts.

He said that the Union has proceeded in good faith to carry out the agreement and called the "Flint Alliance" a "company-inspired vigilante outfit."

Martin also said: "Workers of the Cadillac plant in Detroit have come to Union headquarters notifying us that they have received telegrams from the company instructing them to report for work Monday morning, advising them if they could not get into the plant gates to come through the administration building. This was done despite the company's agreement to keep this plant closed after it had been evacuated by the sit down strikers."

Sergeant A. T. Maguire, chief custodial officer, was reported to have been mobbed by forty prisoners. He suffered a severe cut when struck over the head and was knocked unconscious, but returned to duty shortly afterwards.

VARIED PLEA FOR SMALLER SCHOOL CLASSES Harrigate, England, Jan. 18.—A plea for reducing the size of classes was voiced at the annual conference of the National Union of Women Teachers held at Harrigate. Some delegates pressed for the limitation of classes to thirty children. The District representatives were brought into the argument in favor of smaller groups. Miss A. E. Brewer, of London, said the rearing of the quints had been taken over by the state and that the mother of British quads was receiving every assistance in trying to bring them up. This was because it was felt that five or even four children were too many for one woman to manage alone.

JUDAISM WAS EXPLAINED IN FINE ADDRESS

Member of Ayer's Cliff High School Teaching Staff Discussed Judaism at Inspiring Service in Beulah United Church.

Ayer's Cliff, January 18. — A very inspiring service was held in Beulah United Church Sunday evening, January 10th, when Miss Esther Helfield, B.A., a member of the High School teaching staff, delivered an address on Judaism. The theme of the entire service was good-will, the unrest across the seas having prompted the minister, Rev. H. H. A. Gillingham, to stage such a service. A large congregation greeted Miss Helfield with enthusiasm as she expressed her views on her religion. The hymns and lessons were wholly in keeping with the theme and the prayer of Rabbi David De Solo Boal, of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue, New York City, was used by the pastor.

FRAUDULENT ATTEMPT TO COLLECT NOBEL AWARDS

German Woman Arrested at Oslo on Charge of Attempting to Collect Prize Money Due Noted German Pacifist.

Oslo, Norway, Jan. 18.—Police have seized the passport of the "Mystery Woman" who attempted to collect the $37,000 Nobel Peace Prize awarded to the German pacifist, Karl von Ossietzky. The woman, supposedly a German, who gave the name of Mrs. Alexander Krenzberger, was confined to her hotel where she refused to see anyone. She said she was secretary to a Dr. Kurt Wannow, of Berlin, and was acting at his instructions. "I don't know Ossietzky or his wife personally and am only acting on orders," she declared. A section of the Norwegian press charged her action was an attempt by Nazi authorities to seize the Nobel prize money. (Ossietzky was released from a Nazi concentration camp shortly before he received the prize.) It was understood the bank, to which the Nobel committee entrusted the funds for payment, turned down Mrs. Krenzberger because it did not consider her authorization "satisfactory."

DEMAND A YOUNG MARRIED MAN TO REPRESENT TOWN

All Bachelors Were Eliminated on First Scrutiny by Richmond, Surrey, Conservative Party.

London, Jan. 18.—Conservative party authorities at Richmond, the pleasant and historic Surrey town which nowadays is a better-class London dormitory, let it be known today that they are resolved to have a married man as the town's parliamentary representative. He must also have had some political experience, but must be fairly young. More than seventy names so far have been considered for the seat, where hitherto large Tory majorities have been the rule. All bachelors were eliminated on the first scrutiny. The seat is to be vacated by Sir William Ray, sixty-one year old widower, who is retiring for reasons of ill health.

WESTON PLAYED THE QUEEN OF JACK

South felt justified in looking for a shorter road to game, although North might well have bid one spade himself instead of giving the diamond raise. The contract reached, however, is natural. West won the first two tricks with the king and queen of hearts and then South ruffed the third round with the deuce. Declarer's problem was to limit the trump losers to one, if he was to make his contract. This was how he solved it. He led a low club to the king it, dummy and then the three of spades. East did not split his honors, as he figured that this would save the declarer a guess on the hand if he did. Declarer played the ten and the nine dropped from the West hand. Two more rounds of trumps followed, leaving East with the high trump, and only one trump remaining in the dummy. But East could cash only his good trump and the rest of the tricks were won by declarer. Had East played the queen of jack, South would have won with the king and re-entered the dummy with a diamond to lead another spade toward his ten.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

LIMITS TRUMP LOSS

Declarer, with Four-Four Division, Makes Contract by Careful Handling of His Control Cards.

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

A trump suit divided four cards in each hand is the joy of most expert bridge players, and often they go to great lengths in the bidding to discover such a situation. If, however, there are four trumps in each hand and two honors are missing, the handling of the combination to be sure to limit the loss to a single trick requires careful play. This is the situation in today's hand, with the added complication that declarer has been forced to ruff the third trick. The bidding requires no particular comment. When North gave a free raise after West's overall, South felt justified in looking for a shorter road to game, although North might well have bid one spade himself instead of giving the diamond raise. The contract reached, however, is natural. West won the first two tricks with the king and queen of hearts and then South ruffed the third round with the deuce. Canada And Foreign Investment.

Certain elements in the economic and political life of Canada who so loudly deplore the heavy investment of foreign capital in the Dominion apparently fail to realize that Canada itself is no mean exporter of capital for investment in other countries. The extent to which Canadians trade in foreign securities and foreign investors acquire Canadian issues is vividly portrayed in a statement issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This reveals that for the first eleven months of 1936 Canada's total international securities trade was valued at $726,477,136, an increase of $238,238,069 over the corresponding period of 1935.

These figures show that sales of securities abroad amounted to $370,426,273 against $267,312,633 for the same period in 1935. In other words, during the first eleven months of the past year, foreigners invested $370,426,273 in Canadian enterprises or repurchased foreign bonds and stocks formerly held by Canadians. The first eleven months of 1936 saw international security purchases by Canadians valued at $356,050,863 as compared with $222,926,428 in 1935, which sum represents Canadian investments abroad and the repurchase of securities of Canadian companies. Thus in the eleven month period, the actual net foreign investment in Canada was only $13,765,410, certainly not enough to unduly upset the economic balance of the country, especially when the tremendous development of the mines of northern Canada is considered.

The securities trade with the United States amounted to more than all the other countries combined, totalling $599,186,861, and, surprising as it may seem, Canadians actually purchased more American held securities than they sold, the purchases being valued at $299,946,396 and the sales $299,240,463.

Great Britain made the largest net investment in Canada, purchasing securities valued at $60,741,810, while sales were valued at $48,703,507.

The Gold-Digger Of Europe.

The inconsistencies which have marked Germany's foreign policy during the past few weeks have proved rather breath-taking to followers of international affairs. First, the Reich is ready to battle the world. Bright and early next morning it opens negotiations for a rapprochement and treaty of everlasting peace with its ancient enemy, France. The third day, however, it decides that an alliance with Italy would force Great Britain and the other world powers to come around to its way of thinking.

In the economic field its manoeuvres are just as erratic. One day nothing will do but a policy of economic isolation and self-sufficiency. The next day, Hitler and his chief aide, Goering, want foreign trade. It is all very confusing except to the editor of the Hamilton Spectator, whose rather lightly composed article, "The Gold-Digger of Europe," perhaps contains more actual truth than humor regarding Germany's antics. The article reads: Sometimes Germany reminds us of certain women we have known. These women usually get what they want, but if they can't they get what they can.

The weaker the resistance of the person with whom such women are negotiating, the more exacting become their demands; the stronger the resistance, the more willing they become to accept such crumbs as fall from the rich man's table. There is essentially a policy of intelligent expediency, and it is a policy which is irritating because it means that one must be continuously on the alert if one wishes to preserve part of the contents of one's pocket book. The policy is commonly called "gold-digging."

In a sense Germany today is the gold-digger of Europe. She is out to get what she can. True, she is poor and needs certain things, but the gold-digger almost always is. At least she begins that way. She raises a fuss and demands all sorts of things in a truculent sort of fashion. As long as she seems to be getting away with it, somewhat naively she climbs down and becomes obediently demure.

The Moroccan crisis is a typical example. Herr Hitler's wild protestations that France was anxious to establish a second Gibraltar on the other side of the Mediterranean looked like producing a serious international situation. He implied that Britain would be in a difficult position should this occur, since France would then command the bottle-neck of the Mediterranean. What he overlooked, of course, is the fact that France already commands the Channel ports and that, irrespective of the question of Gibraltar, it would be highly inconvenient for Britain to quarrel with France. He also overlooked, or rather failed to mention, a fact which indeed has been commented upon infrequently—the fact that, if the worst came to the worst and the Mediterranean were closed to British shipping, Britain could still use (with some inconvenience to herself, it is true) the old route to India around the Cape of Good Hope. In any case, the whole synthetically created crisis came to nothing and Herr Hitler, faced by united opposition, climbed down and implied that he would be a good boy.

This he will be, until the next occasion arises in which some show of weakness on the part of some one suggests that there is something new he can get away with. Then the gold-digging will start anew.

The Spirit Of Adventure.

An effective rebuke to the contention of certain sections of the population that the human race is growing soft is offered by the readiness of foreign volunteers to take part in the Spanish civil war. This was supposed to concern only the internal affairs of a single country, but it cannot be denied that tens of thousands of foreigners, Germans, Italians, Russians, French, Americans and Britishers could not resist the urge to "mix up in things" and thus precipitate a grave international crisis.

The reasons for this participation are many and varied, differing in each country. The Germans, Italians and Russians undoubtedly received moral pressure from their respective governments which had individual interests to serve. The Frenchmen were sympathetic to the Socialist cause and felt it something of a moral duty to support their ideals with blood if necessary.

But in the ranks of Britishers and Americans, things were different. The recruits can be divided into several classes. The first comprises the soldiers of fortune, a sort of professional soldier and generally an Imperial Army pensioner. Having spent years moving around the outposts of the Empire and engaging in a series of minor wars in India, Egypt, Palestine, Afghanistan and other widely removed parts, these men have lost touch with home as known to the average person and have developed a liking for the hardships of a campaign. Therefore, a civil war in Spain is regarded as something of a holiday and death in battle an easy end to it all.

Then there are those attracted by a love of danger of any sort—either war, a trip to the North Pole or lying around the world. Apparently the Spanish civil war did not come up to expectations if the word of deserters from the Foreign Legions can be accepted. Adventure itself was lacking, the war being confined to wholesale murder, with little chance for covering oneself with glory—the reason for enlistment.

The third class is the individual who went on promise of good payment for his services—professional and amateur aviators predominating in this division. Again disappointment prevailed, both Government and Opposition forces believing that what money was on hand should be used for recruiting and not for the payment and feeding of men already brought to Spain.

Despite these disappointments and books on the horror of wars, certain irresponsible individuals will continue to stick their nose into other people's business and keep the world on tenterhooks as self-seeking politicians seek to capitalize each incident.

What Editors Say

"BOSSY" IS NO BOOB.

Take it from Miss Pearl Gardner of Cornell University's agricultural school, the cow is not so dumb as her cud-chewing propensities have indicated. Five years of tests made with 72 horses, 48 cows and 11 sheep have convinced Miss Gardner that the cow is smarter than the horse and the sheep Dobbin's mental equal. "Cows," she told the American association for the advancement of science, "catch on quicker, remember better." The horse has gained his reputation for intelligence because of the fact that he trusts man far more than any other barnyard animal. Miss Gardner found no difficulty in teaching sheep to do tricks, such as taking a handkerchief out of her pocket, rolling a barrel and shaking hands, "just as easily as a horse." So now we may be expected to extol "cow sense" as the ideal of solid thinking.

THE FRENCH PRESS

ASSISTING POLAND

One of Poland's most pressing problems lies in the placing of its surplus population. This country, which possesses no colonies to which it can send citizens, had a population of 34,000,000 in 1936. Last year's total is 6,800,000 more people than in 1921, when the last census was taken, and means that there was an annual increase of 500,000 since that year.

At this rate the population of Poland will attain 42,000,000, or equal that of France—within the next fifteen years. But where can all these people be put? Poland, despite its restricted area of 150,000 square miles can only have 49 per cent of this given over to agriculture. With a density of population of 227 per square mile and 75 per cent of its people already following agricultural pursuits, what does the future hold in store for the Poles? Dry out the marshes and utilize them, say some, but such a plan, besides entailing an exorbitant expense, would only provide additional accommodation for 400,000 persons.

Poland, which got along alright until other countries "clamped down" on immigration, is really in dire straits and it is now up to League of Nations to render it some practical assistance.

CANADA STRENGTHENING DEMOCRATIC FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

If England has particular reasons for holding to her constitutional monarchy, Canada is tending rather to the strengthening of her democratic form of government. That does not at all prevent Canadians from being attached to the symbol of British authority, as represented by a royalty which in no way limits her destiny.

Under these conditions it would be indiscreet from every point of view to invite a member of the Royal Family to represent the British Crown as Governor-General of Canada.

Upon the free land of America, a princely court would have too much to do to a zoological garden. However, in season or out, a certain type of imperialism believes it his duty to make himself conspicuous here by an excess of loyalty. It is to this type that must be attributed the indiscreet proposal to invite an abdicated monarch to officially make his residence in Canada.

That choice of domicile is desired neither by London nor by Ottawa. And, above all, it will displease the sanest elements in a hybrid society.

GYPSY WEALTH.

The only time I wish for wealth is when the gypsies bring the shining wares that they have found in Cairo or Peking. And I who cannot buy a thing must sit there and pretend I have a pocketful of gold. I might be coaxed to spend. Supposing on a sun-bright day a gypsy lad should knock. And think I ought to choose a bowl or gold embroidered frock. And he should show me all his wares, A peacock fan, a ring, An extra verse from some old song A prince used to sing. A colored wind he's caught some place. And bottled in a jar, And then on top of all these He placed a gypsy star. I never could afford a star, A bottled wind or fan, So I should be polite and say, I'd like another pan.

Impressions of Europe

John Bassett, Jr.

Reams have been written about European train facilities, and probably reams more will be written, but I must restrict my remarks, because it is really amusing to see five Canadian hockey players, one German girl and a Frenchman crowded into one compartment on a packed holiday excursion train.

We left Brussels for St. Moritz at eight o'clock, prepared to get what sleep we could, but I at least was not prepared for the tremendous crowds, the excitement and the many officials we encountered. It seemed that every time the train stopped more uniforms appeared everywhere. However, a Canadian passport is like a magic wand, and I actually was in Switzerland without having a Swiss stamp on my passport. The German girl in our compartment could speak no English, and little French, and the Frenchman no German and little English. However, we all talked, shared fruit and chocolate. Everyone was in an excellent humor at the thought of a few days in the mountains.

We arrived at Beal at five o'clock in the morning, and after a hasty breakfast changed trains. We were now in Switzerland, and the characteristics of the Swiss could be recognized everywhere. Neat, clean little farms and houses of all colors, pink, blue, white, green and even purple. Every town had a fountain, where we again changed trains, to mighty Zurich had its own clock tower. Such neatness and cleanliness I have never seen. Everything had a well-scrubbed look.

After Coors began the five-hour trip through the Alps to St. Moritz. Gradually up and up, through the most magnificent scenery I have ever seen, the train made its way. Forgotten were the hard, wooden third-class compartments. All that could be thought about were the mighty mountains on every side. Snow—real and lasting snow, all around us, below us, and since leaving Canada. And air that was perfectly marvelous. I am sorry if I am speaking in superlatives, but after fog and rain, you cannot imagine what it felt like to see nothing but mountains, snow and blue sky.

As I ascended the mountains, suddenly little villages would appear. They really looked like little toy towns with their pink and green houses and great multicolored clock towers. And then as we would come out into the open after passing through one of the numerous tunnels, below us could be seen the Rhine, winding its way slowly through the valley. What a magnificent sight to see the ruins of some feudal castle, perched high on a craggy peak. How they were ever built I cannot imagine, as they looked almost inaccessible.

Finally we neared St. Moritz, and as we wound around the mountains, we saw one lovely little village four times. Each time we were a little higher up. Then we passed for seven minutes straight through a tunnel, and arrived in the Engadine Valley. In a few minutes were at the station.

We were met by a great open sleigh and brought to the hotel. We skated for awhile in the afternoon; at night, although it was Christmas eve, everyone went to bed right after dinner.

On Christmas Day at St. Moritz we played hockey at the Olympic Stadium against Vienna in the opening round of the tournament. We beat them eight to one. It was a perfect day. We were completely surrounded by mountains, and at our feet was the lake. Just above us was Mount Corviglia. With the deep blue sky as a background, we could see the snow being blown off the top of this mountain. It was a truly wonderful sight.

Christmas' afternoon we all watched two of our opponents playing hockey, and then went and listened to a famous Austrian jazz band at the hotel. After dinner we hired a sleigh and drove down to the next village. Stars, a full moon and snow and mountains, plus five-homesick but singing Canadians, completed the picture. Such a beautiful night would be hard to duplicate. The next day we had a bye in the hockey, so we all went skiing. After about an hour we took off our skis and basked in the sun, it was so warm. Saturday night there was a dinner for us, and then early to bed, for on Sunday we had to take the final against the St. Moritz team. We had a very good game, finally winning three to two after playing overtime, and so all were pleased, as we had won the trophy.

After a substantial tea, we took the homeward train, arriving in Brussels the following morning. We had only been in Switzerland a little over three days, but I shall never forget it. The sun on the mountain peaks, the great full moon, and more stars than I have ever seen. The little houses of all colors. The lights of the great luxury hotels in St. Moritz. A strange contrast to the peaceful and mighty mountains. The tourists in multi-colored ski clothes, paying huge prices to enjoy the sun and air which the Swiss have free! Kay Francis, the movie star, was there, but created little excitement. There were three national fancy skating champions practicing at the same time. However, it is not the celebrities, but the grandeur, the beauty and the wonderful air of Switzerland which will keep it always fresh in my mind.

NOTES BY THE WAY ON THE TRIP

In the Olympic Stadium there is a picture of the 1928 Canadian hockey team winning the championship from Switzerland. The two Canadian defencemen are shooting on their own national flag, skating while two forwards are playing with another puck in front of the Swiss goal.

Bunny McClure, former Bishop's College School rugby and hockey player, now at Cambridge, was at St. Moritz, and asks to be remembered to his Sherbrooke friends. Harry Griffiths scored three times against Vienna, and scored the first goal in the final against St. Moritz. Having played at Zurich last year, he was very pleased to be back.

Bert Shaw, who played on the St. Moritz team last year, was given a great welcome by his former teammates and also many of the crowd. After closed-in rinks, it was wonderful to play on hard, natural ice in the open-air. Everyone came back quite sun-burned from the trip. It seems that most Europeans think that nothing ever came out of Canada but apples and people who can play hockey, so Gus De Baeker, our Belgian manager, told me. It was due to him we had the trip, and we certainly are grateful.

BRITAIN KEEPS STRANGLE HOLD ON GUN-TOTING

Gunless Police Find It Handicap at Times, but They Can Hurl Clubs with Accuracy if Needed.

New York, Jan. 18.—Britain is one up on the United States and some other countries in the control of firearms in the hands of criminals—a problem which has been submitted to Congress by Attorney-General Cummings.

Rarely in England is a criminal found in possession of a pistol. Even the police do not carry guns, excepting on special occasions when a few pistols may be served out to picked squads—to be returned to headquarters when the emergency has passed. The British constable depends on his truncheon.

No person may purchase a firearm without a special police permit, and it is exceedingly difficult to obtain permission. A would-be purchaser must have a valid reason for possessing a gun. If you have a gun permit, you may not purchase cartridges for it without police consent and all discharged cartridges must be accounted for before more can be obtained.

Dealers in firearms, all of whom are registered, cannot sell a gun to a person who does not have a certificate. They may not even repair a gun for a person without a certificate. All sales and repairs are reported to the authorities, with full details.

Arms manufacturers are registered, and their output is officially recorded. Theoretically, the authorities know where every gun in the country is, and practically the system is pretty air-tight.

Even dummy pistols, or toy pistols, are offensive weapons under the law, if used in the commission of a crime. If a burglar or someone has a pistol or a dummy gun on him when he does a job, it automatically adds seven years to his prison term. Possession of a pistol without a permit, even if no crime is committed, is punishable with a heavy jail sentence. There are special restrictions against the possession of pistols by ex-convicts.

The law protects not only the honest citizen but the criminal in the matter of using firearms. It is manslaughter for a householder to shoot a burglar, for example, unless the thief is attacking or about to attack the householder or someone in his home.

You are not entitled to shoot a thief merely because you see him climbing out of the dining-room window with all your silver on his back. If a householder or someone else is about to use violence, the householder would have to convince the court that he sincerely believed he was in physical danger.

The police at times have found themselves handicapped because they carry no pistols. For instance, about four years ago London was experiencing a wave of daylight smash-and-grab robberies of jewelry stores. Several bandits—usually three—would draw up in a fast car in front of a jewelry establishment. While the driver kept the motor racing, the second man would dash across the sidewalk, smash the show window and grab as much costly jewelry as he could quickly. The third member of the party would act as guard, to prevent anyone seizing the bandit's trunk.

Within thirty seconds the trio would be racing away in their car with the loot. The only thing a policeman could do, once the car was in motion, was to jump on the running board and force the car into the curb—or hurl his truncheon at the driver. London bobby throws his club with accuracy of a bushman using a boomerang. More than one driver was hit on the head, and his car crashed.

GENERAL WOLFE'S HOUSE PRESERVED

Westerham, Kent, Jan. 19.—The memory of Major-General James Wolfe, whose defeat of General Montcalm at Quebec in 1759 changed the course of Canadian history, is not forgotten here in his native village.

The house where he lived is now the property of the National Trust for the Preservation of Historic Places. J. B. Learmont, of Montreal, was responsible for the preservation of the house.

LAUNCH DRIVE TO ABOLISH TOY WEAPONS

New York, Jan. 18.—The World Peaceways Society, fearing that toy weapons will foster in youth the desire for war, has begun a drive to abolish such playthings, urging parents to substitute midget cannons and revolvers with more peace-provoking toys.

As a substitute for make-believe wars of children, the Society offers such games as "snatch the handkerchief" and "fox and geese."

Royal Bank of Canada 68th Annual Meeting

Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, Stresses Need for Orderly Recovery—Recommends Commission to Investigate Financial Relationships of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments.

Sydney G. Dobson, General Manager, Reports $56,000,000 Increase in Deposits—Profits Improved—"Business Undoubtedly on Up Grade."

Warning against the dangers of a speculative boom, and a plea that recovery be maintained on an orderly basis, were outstanding features of the address of Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, at the 68th Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada.

That recovery was well on the way there could be little doubt, and "even the most sanguine would have hesitated a year ago to predict progress as great as that which has been accomplished during 1936," stated Mr. Wilson.

In addressing the meeting, Mr. Wilson said, in part: "A serious drought again affected large areas in the West, with results that were disastrous to the farmers immediately concerned. Those farmers who reaped good crops last year benefited materially by higher prices, but, in the midst of a broad recovery, farm income has lagged behind.

"It is gratifying that the stocks of grain in Canada are again of normal proportions. Nature is in a fair way to take the Government of Canada out of the grain business. It is sincerely to be hoped that she will not be drawn into it again.

Prices for newsprint have shown a slight increase during the past year and this, together with a heavier volume of sales, has brought encouragement to the newsprint industry.

"In the lumber industry there has been a satisfactory volume of demand from Great Britain ever since the beginning of their building boom. This demand has been maintained during the past year and is the most important factor in the improvement of conditions in lumbering.

"The value of Canadian mineral production established a new high record in 1936, amounting to approximately $350 million compared with $312 million in 1935. The increase in the Canadian mining industry are more favorable than at any time in the past.

"Throughout the manufacturing industries of Canada, volume of production has been above the level which prevailed in 1926 and in October reached the highest point recorded since July, 1929.

Employment and Relief

"At the moment manufacturing employment is close to normal. In mining, as a whole, the number employed is greater than at any time in our history. In trade the volume of employment is not unsatisfactory. Under these circumstances, I cannot but feel that the time has come to examine with care our lists of those receiving unemployment relief. It is a notable fact that there has been a decrease in employment since 1931. At a time like the present a biennial census would give our various governing bodies facts which would help them in determination of policies.

Division of Taxes

Over a wide field of economic legislation it is virtually impossible to guess whether ultimate authority rests with the Province or with the Dominion.

"Let us secure a review of the whole subject by a Royal Commission with the object of resolving these complexities. Changed social and economic conditions have thrown responsibilities on various governing bodies that were never contemplated at the time of Confederation and as a consequence it is found increased in number, in some instances, to meet these additional responsibilities with the sources of revenue at their disposal. Having regard to the necessity of maintaining the national credit, if it is at all possible some solution must be found which will permit both provinces and municipalities to continue the service of their public debt in full.

Individualistic Democracy

It is the fashion in certain quarters to say that the system of capitalism—or, as I prefer to term it, individualism—has failed.

"In the past it has adapted itself to changes in economic conditions and social concepts, and there is no reason to think that such adaptation will not continue to be made. In fact, they must be made if the system is to survive. With Com-

SUGGESTS CANADA IMPORT MORE BRITISH PRODUCTS

Ottawa Agreement Described as Highly Advantageous for Canadian Export Trade with Its Restrictions on Competitive Selling Power of British-Manufactured Commodities.

London, Jan. 18.—A suggestion that the "gates of entry for British products into Canada should be opened a little more widely" is made by Patrick Joseph Hannon, president of the National Union of Manufacturers, who has just returned from a visit to Canada. "It is clear that the operations of the Ottawa agreement became increasingly of abounding advantage for the Canadian export trade with its restrictions on the competitive munism, Fascism and Nazism in competition, individualism will survive only if the benefits which it provides to the community continue to be greater than those conferred upon people living under other organizations of society.

"If we would set an example to the world we must manifest that unusual degree of self-control which restrains booms and thus avoids subsequent depressions.

"It is for this reason then that the present monetary situation is an outstanding challenge to economic individualism. Can a popular government, such as that in the United States, for instance, deal effectively with the monetary situation? The revaluation of gold by the United States and the reduction in the gold value of other currencies, made almost unanimous this past year by the capitulation of the European gold bloc introduced a dynamic inflationary force into world economy. It is encouraging to note that this potentiality seems to be understood by the monetary authorities in the United States and that they are taking definite action. The world has not previously experienced a period when borrowing rates have been so low for so long a time. If continued on this basis an unhealthy and artificial situation will develop. Easy money is a powerful force; it operates somewhat slowly, but to wait until it is evident that speculation is out of hand will be to create conditions which can be corrected only by depression. In such a quarter we are asked to believe that the increased government regulation of general economy may make it possible to continue low interest rates more or less indefinitely. I feel strongly that this view is not correct and that the action now being taken is necessary and reasonable. By use, if necessary, of an emergency reserve already accumulated it will be possible to prevent any serious interruption in recovery. It is surely better that we maintain the upward trend for a prolonged period and that recovery shall proceed in an orderly manner, than the minimum of encouragement to an irresponsible speculation. We must on no account allow recovery to degenerate into boom—the forerunner of depression. Individualistic economy will stand or fall, depending upon its ability to prevent depressions."

General Manager's Address

In reviewing the annual balance sheet, Mr. S. G. Dobson, General Manager, referred with satisfaction to an increase of $54,668,757 in total assets, which now aggregate $855,588,457, and to an increase in deposits during the year of $56,579,909. Mr. Dobson said in part:

"The demand for loans in Canada was disappointing, though there have been a number of increases in the last few months of increased requirements for business purposes. While advances under the heading of Current Loans in Canada decreased $41,251,783 during the year, this does not mean that the requirements of business are less. The reduction is fully accounted for by repayment of two special loans, namely, about $33,000,000 due by the Wheat Board liquidated principally through the sale of surplus stocks of wheat held under Government control, and the repayment of approximately 10,000,000 due by the Canadian Pacific Railway, being our participation in the loan to that company made by the chartered banks of Canada under Dominion Government guarantee.

"I give this information to correct an impression which casual consideration of this item in our Balance Sheet might create, that is, that business is still undergoing a process of liquidation.

"In this connection it is interesting to note that total commercial loans in Canada of all banks are only 50.46% of the amount outstanding at the end of 1929.

"Due to increased volume of business, I am pleased to report an improvement in Profits of $201,492. While not large, this is an encouraging trend.

Improvement in Business

"A review of conditions in Canada and other countries in which the bank has branches, indicates a definite improvement in business in Canada and in practically all of the foreign countries in which we are represented. Business is undoubtedly on the upgrade, and I look forward to 1937 with a greater feeling of confidence than has been justified for some years."

VALUABLE JEWELRY FOUND IN HAYSTACK.

Esksdale, Cumberland, Jan. 18.—Cyril Bulman had a surprise while cutting hay from a stack in the Wink House farm here. In the stack he found $2,000 worth of jewelry.

The jewelry was identified as belonging to Mrs. Roberts, wife of the Provost of Selkirk. It had disappeared from a drawer in her room while she was staying at Wink House on August 15th last. The find included a string of pearls worth $1,600.

How the jewelry got into the haystack remains a mystery.

FLOOD FEARS IN RICHMOND WERE REVIVED TODAY

Efforts to Be Made to Break Up Huge Ice Jam that Has Formed in Narrows Below Richmond—Lack of Snow Continues to Interfere with Lumbering Activities.

Flood fears were revived in Richmond and at a few other Eastern Townships points today with the return of mild weather conditions after the brief cold spell that checked the rise of the St. Francis River.

Many merchants and townspersons in Richmond have removed goods and furniture to upper floors to prevent them being damaged in the event that the St. Francis river floods Main street. Ice has piled high near the bridge and a huge jam has formed in the Narrows three-quarters of a mile below the town.

Ice-coated streets and sidewalks made motoring and walking precarious, to say the least, in this city today. Many pedestrians experienced bad falls, but no serious injuries were reported.

A RECORD CROWD EXPECTED FOR INAUGURATION

Officials Preparing for Influx of 250,000 Persons to Washington on Wednesday for Inauguration Ceremonies—Expenditures During Roosevelt Rule Double Receipts.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Inauguration officials, their preparations complete, predicted today a record crowd of 250,000 will cheer President Roosevelt on Wednesday at the start of his second administration.

While he worked unconcernedly at his desk, expectations of an historic inaugural address set the United States capital aflutter.

Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the inaugural committee, said most of the visitors would be "just folks," although thirty-six government officials are expected. Special trains have been scheduled from as far away as Texas.

Early arrivals congregated about the reviewing stand, modelled on "The Hermitage," Andrew Jackson's Tennessee home, rubbing their eyes at the sight of blooming magnolias and rambling roses—artificial ones.

Four trying years in the White House have left President Roosevelt physically as strong as when he first entered it.

"Without question the President's physical condition is excellent," Captain Ross T. McIntyre, his naval physician, said today.

Two weeks of sailing his own schooner around Nova Scotia and twenty-eight days of exposure to sea air and sun bathing on a trip to South America, the doctor added, not only gave Mr. Roosevelt a healthy tan and rested him from the strength-taking campaign, but "toned up" his muscles and hardened him.

President Roosevelt will wind up his first term with treasury ledgers showing two dollar spent for each one dollar taken in and with fiscal policies pointed conditionally toward a balance between income and outgo.

Since Mr. Roosevelt took office on March 4, 1933, the Government has spent $28,925,000,000 and collected $14,217,000,000. The resulting $14,708,000,000 deficit is the largest for any comparable period.

The public debt climbed $13,533,000,000 from March 4, 1933, to an all-time peak of $34,467,000,000 on January 12.

The debt is expected to rise to a projected $35,026,000,000 on June 30. If relief outlays in the 1938 fiscal year can be held to the suggested $4,537,123,000, the debt will remain at about this level for one year.

fears of widespread floods in parts of the middle west. Hundreds of men patched weakened sea walls in Missouri and Arkansas where flood conditions were acute. Many streams, which broke their banks and inundated thousands of acres in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois last week renewed a climb toward flood stages.

Charles L. Blanton, Works Progress Administration supervisor, termed conditions in south-eastern Missouri critical. Fresh "shock troops" joined an army of 1,500 workers, most of them W.P.A. employees, in an effort to stem the raging St. Francis river's assault on levees. Relief agencies sheltered more than 250 families evicted from their homes by flood waters in Stoddard, Butler and Dunklin counties.

The secretary of a small village football club wrote asking another club to meet them in friendly rivalry.

The secretary of the latter wrote naming a date on which they would be willing to play, "on condition that later in the season you will give us a 'quid pro quo.'"—a return game.

The village club had no men on its committee who understood the meaning of the phrase, so a few days later the other secretary replied: "My committee has asked me to send the pond for the professional you mentioned, although they are surprised at such a request from a club of your standing."

He was arraigned before a Justice of the Peace today and remanded for trial.

FINAL APPROPRIATION FOR DIRECT RELIEF The adoption of the by-law providing for a loan of $25,000 to cover the cost of direct relief until April 1st, after which date the city will no longer contribute to the relief of unemployment, is expected to be the chief item of business to come before the aldermen at tonight's regular Council meeting.

The by-law does not have to be submitted to the ratepayers and the aldermen have already unanimously voiced their approval of this loan. The remainder of the meeting is expected to be taken up with routine matters.

CRAWLED UPSTAIRS ON ALL FOURS

Owing to Rheumatism in Her Knees

It was not a very dignified way of going upstairs, but she had rheumatism in her knees, and it was the best she could do, at the time. Since then, she has been taking Kruschen Salts, and now feels much better. Read her letter:

"I had very painful gout in my big toe and could only get upstairs on all fours owing to rheumatism in my knees. It is over three years ago since I commenced taking Kruschen Salts. I must say on damp days I still have a little gout, but my knees are quite better. I am over 60 years of age, have a complexion like a girl's and feel very fit. I am fully repaid for taking a half teaspoonful of Salts each morning in a cup of hot water."—(Mrs.) A. W.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently caused by deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating your liver and kidneys to healthy, regular action, and help them to get rid of the excess uric acid which is the cause of so much suffering.

BUSY SESSION OF INSTITUTE AT SCOTSTOWN

Eastern Townships Industries Subject of Interesting Roll Call at Regular Session of Scotstown Women's Institute — Christmas Cheer Report Given.

Scotstown, Jan. 18.—The January meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the High School. The president, Mrs. G. C. Beard, opened the meeting with the W.I. Ode and Creed. The roll call was "An Industry of the Eastern Townships," and was readily answered by the sixteen members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The report of the Christmas Cheer committee was given by Mrs. D. Scott. Twenty-nine people were remembered with food and clothing. The barrels which were placed in the streets for food donations, were very great help in this work. The treasurer reported a fair balance in the bank. After considerable discussion, it was decided to serve soup to the school children on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week. Several members voiced a greater pleasure was found in the meetings held at the homes instead of in the High School. This was discussed with animation, but the final decision was left for the annual meeting. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. J. N. MacIver, convener of Canadian Industries.

Mrs. D. Graham and Mrs. J. N. MacIver each gave a paper on "Home Farming" and "Minerals," which were greatly enjoyed. The members took an active part in the discussion which followed. Mrs. J. B. Scott, who is in charge of the W.I. library, reported the loss of several books, and the members were requested to hand in all books as soon as possible.

Mrs. S. J. Scott entertained a few friends at afternoon tea in honor of Mrs. William Taylor who is leaving shortly to spend some time in Toronto. At pleasant afternoon was spent in social intercourse. The hostess was assisted at the tea hour by Mrs. Charles Woodside.

The members of the Ditton Street Christmas Club held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Nicholson. A social hour was spent, after which the hostess served refreshments.

Mr. Kenneth MacAulay, of East Dundas, and Mr. Charles Buchanan, of Limerick, Sask., were recent week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacLennan.

Mr. Elmer MacIver was returned from Sherbrooke, where he spent several days as a guest of his brother, Mr. Leonard MacIver. Recent guests at the home of A. and Mrs. Roy Desruisseaux were Mr. Ray Desruisseaux and daughter, Miss Myrtle Desruisseaux, Mrs. C. Nourse, of Cookshire, and Miss M. Ward, of Bury.

Mrs. John Cox has gone to Boston, Mass., due to ill health. She was accompanied by Mr. Cox, who will spend a few days in Boston.

Mrs. L. J. Fairfield has returned home, after spending the past two months at Disputanta, Va., and other points, where she was a guest of relatives.

Friends of Miss Margaret MacLeod, who has been ill at her home, Lake Megantic, are sorry to learn that she has had to enter the Montreal General Hospital.

The annual meeting of the Guild of St. Alban's Anglican Church was held at the home of Mrs. H. J. Scarth. There was a good attendance of members present. Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. B. G. Mayhew; vice-president, Mrs. A. H. Cowling; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Starr; secretary, Miss Bertha Cowan; convener of fancy work, Mrs. George Robby; convener of useful articles, Mrs. Roy Desruisseaux; convener of entertainment, Mrs. H. A. Scarth; convener of altar committee, Miss C. Hanright. Plans for the year were discussed. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Room, Mayor George Cowan presiding. Routine business was carried out. The town policeman was empowered to appoint a special constable whenever the need arises. A letter was also received from the Chamber of Commerce at Lake Megantic, asking the Council, in conjunction with other municipalities, to petition the Government to carry out plans to develop a national park at Mount O'Lord.

Mr. Daniel MacRae has returned from Montreal, where he went for medical advice. Mr. Milton Morrison has gone to Ponoka, Alta., where he expects to remain for some time with his sister, Mrs. Christine Hoar.

The election of councillors for the Municipality of Hampden was held on Monday, January 13th, in the Oddfellow's hall. The three retiring councillors, Messrs. D. P. Graham, of Dell, J. C. Morrison, of Dell, and W. E. St. Laurent, of the Ditton Road, were re-elected.

Regarding the construction of a road connecting the Daniel Webster highway of the United States with Canada, it is interesting to learn that New Hampshire's part of entry into Canada will be completed in the fall of 1937. Since October, 1935, labor has been hewing a roadway through an unbroken forest of spruce and fir to bridge a nine-mile gap between the end of the present Daniel Webster highway and the village of Chartierville, Que. It is expected that work will be commenced on the Canadian side in the early spring, there being one mile of unbroken route. The village of Chartierville lies a few miles south-east of Scotstown. The proposed road will pass through Scotstown and connect with the Quebec-Montreal highway at Gould village.

DEATHS REPORTED

MRS. ELLA HUNTINGTON, FORMERLY OF WEST BOLTON. West Bolton, January 18.—The following obituary of Mrs. Ella Huntington, taken from the Orleans County Monitor, will be of interest to the few relatives and friends left in this section who will remember her early years.

Mrs. Ella Huntington died at her home on Glover street, Barton, Vt., on December 22nd, following an illness of two weeks, the immediate cause of her death being heart trouble. She had been in very frail health for several years, but always displayed wonderful Christian patience, and throughout her life she lived to serve others. Her friends were many and she was dearly loved by all. She was a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Barton, and a regular attendant as long as health permitted.

Ella Amelia Quilliams was born in West Bolton on November 4, 1860, to Duncan and Miranda Phelps Quilliams. On February 24, 1885, she was married to Dana J. Huntington at East Alban, where they resided before coming to Barton eighteen years ago. Six children were born of this union. Mrs. Clyde Thompson, of Middlesex, Olin D., of Barton, Mrs. William Estabrook, of New York City, Mrs. Arthur Collins, of Tampa, Fla., Mrs. Arthur Butler, of Irasburg, Vt., and Mrs. Norman Ellis, of Bloomfield, N.J. To these children she was always a loyal and devoted mother. Her husband predeceased her only a year ago.

Funeral services were held from the residence on Thursday, December 24th, with her pastor, Rev. F. W. Engel, officiating, and burial was in the family lot in Irasburg. The services were largely attended by relatives and friends. Only three of the daughters were able to be present, Mrs. William Estabrook, Mrs. Clyde Thompson and two daughters, and Mrs. Arthur Butler. To the son, Olin, who has always lived at home and faithfully administered to the needs of his parents, the community extends heartfelt sympathy in his bereavement.

ELBERT W. PHELPS, EATON. Eaton, January 18.—Rev. Mr. Bunt, of the Birchton United Church, officiated at the funeral of Elbert W. Phelps, a life-long resident of this place. The funeral took place at the late afternoon of Sunday, January 20th, and was followed by interment in the Eaton Cemetery.

Mrs. Edgar Taylor presided at the organ during the service, and a male quartette, composed of C. Picard, G. Picard, H. Jones and E. Taylor, rendered the hymns, "Peace Be Still," "We Shall See His Face to Face" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." The bearers were Guy Chaddock, Roy Lock, Charles Picard and Abie McCafferty.

Mr. Phelps was born in the Township of Newport on November 15, 1864, his parents, Willis Phelps and Marian Carrier, moving to Learned Plain shortly after his birth. In May, 1890, Mr. Phelps married Olive I. Ward, of Learned Plain, and continued to reside on the home place.

The esteem in which the deceased was held was shown by the many friends who attended the funeral. He will be missed by many as a good friend and neighbor.

Besides his widow, Mr. Phelps leaves to mourn his loss, one brother, Mr. Henry Phelps, of Sawyerville, and one sister, Mrs. William French, of Birchton.

FUNERAL OF GLEN ARNOLD LINCOLN AT STANSTEAD. Stanstead, January 18.—The remains of Glen Arnold Lincoln, who passed away suddenly at Denver, Colo., on Tuesday, January 5th, were brought to Stanstead by the funeral service which was conducted by Rev. Dr. Philp.

The bearers were all old friends and members of Golden Lodge, Stanstead, of which the deceased was a member. Beautiful flowers were sent by the lodge and by friends in Chicago.

HEATIC SCENES WITNESSED AT DRUMMONDVILLE

Stormy Third Period Marred Provincial Hockey League Fixture Yesterday Afternoon from which Sherbrooke Emerged Victorious by Four to One.

Drummondville, Jan. 18.—That the stinging defeat at the hands of St. Jerome last Thursday night had had the desired and expected effect was distinctly evident to Sherbrooke hockey fans yesterday afternoon when their favorites laid the foundation for another Provincial Hockey League winning streak by downing Drummondville to the convincing tune of four to one. That setback, snapping a string of nine straight victories and one draw, together with rumors widely circulated but without official confirmation—that several Sherbrooke players might find themselves without a berth after a proposed shake-up, seemed to provide that extra ounce of stick-handling ability and speed which featured the visiting aggregation's triumph.

The curious and exasperating spectacle of two referees, both obviously unfamiliar with this season's rules, apparently trying to outdo one another in waving players to the penalty bench was witnessed by the largest crowd to invade the local arena this winter. League officials had neglected to follow the usual custom of sending two arbiters from Montreal to handle the assignment. The results was that each team appointed its own referee, Paul Gullabault being named by the local club and Charlie Gordon by the visitors. It is extremely doubtful that either nominee would have accepted had he been able to foresee the hot session he was in for, particularly in the wild third period.

Nineteen penalties, including a match banishment and two major sentences, were imposed on this asserted collection Sherbrooke took over. So steady was the parade to the pen that there were but few occasions during the second and third frames that both teams were at full strength. Bad feeling crept into the encounter in the opening chapter, almost disappeared in the middle canto and then flared in the final twenty minutes when play was suspended in order to clear the surface of the debris tossed from the rafters by irresponsible fans.

The fireworks started when Billie Gordon was the victim of an illegal body check from Vaillancourt. Both players landed their fists in favor of gloved fists and tumbled to the surface. In the melee Gordon was kicked in the face by a skate and cut both above and below the left eye. Bob Dunsmore became conspicuous in the centre of the upheaval from which Vaillancourt emerged with a cut on the forehead. Players and fans poured over the boards and several minions of the law made their appearance. The hubbub was over for the time being, at least—with Vaillancourt being ordered to the side lines for the remainder of the game. Dunsmore receiving a five-minute penalty and Gordon a minor. Play had progressed only a few seconds after this miniature Donnybrook when Thiffault, local winger, was directed to the "cooler" for some insignificant offence. Then the fun started. It was alright as long as only paper programmes flew through the air and fell harmlessly on the surface. But it was another matter when empty bottles sailed close to the heads of officials and players to be smashed into smithereens as they reached their journey's end. A hurried conference between the coaches and the rival clubs and the officials resulted in an enforced rest period during which the rink hands went to work. From then on, however, the fans indulged in nothing more harmful than catcalls whenever views on certain plays did not exactly coincide with the ideas of the officials.

Strange to relate, three of the visitors' four goals were scored while they were shorthanded. Over-anxiety to take advantage of their edge in manpower caused the homesters to make openings through which their rivals drove in their decisive goals with two third-period tallies. After similar circumstances had existed at the time the second Sherbrooke marker was made, Drummondville's lone point was registered with a Sherbrooke player watching the proceedings from the side lines.

There was a dispute with the Sherbrooke machine despite the fact that only one practice had been held since the St. Jerome game. The three forward lines made the local defence look weak time after time and played stellar two-way hockey, backchecking contently to relieve the pressure off Roger Dign and his defence. The Sherbrooke rear-guard threw body checks around with their customary abandon and made the Drummondville forwards think twice before trying to spit or tear around the baitwork in front of Dion.

The many penalties and offences made the game itself very ragged and the main excitement occurred when one or the other team was shorthanded. The local defence could not contact incoming puck carriers either at the end of passes to unopposed team mates or pivoted sharply to throw the Drummondville blockers off balance. Only the steady work of Leo Lamoureux, between the local uprights, saved the homesters from a worse defeat.

The penalty box was vacant when Billie Gordon opened the scoring for Sherbrooke after five minutes of the first period had elapsed. Gordon was parked just where the rebound to Ronnie Mooney's shot landed and promptly unseated a drive which had the ex-East Angus netminder waken all the way. Several chances to increase the visiting team's margin were missed until towards the end of the frame when Camille Henri cut in behind the local defence

QUEBEC HOCKEY GROUP BACK IN CANADIAN FOLD

Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Decided at Conference in Montreal Yesterday to Maintain Affiliation with Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association is still the governing body of hockey in the Province of Quebec. Its affiliation with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will be maintained, it was decided at a conference here yesterday between the executive of the Q.A.H.A. and officials of the Canadian Association.

Cecil Duncan, of Ottawa, president of the C.A.H.A., agreed to confer with the Q.A.H.A. affiliation effective when a letter affirming the provincial body's stand is received by him. A month ago the Q.A.H.A.'s opposition to the Canadian body's break with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada in the matter of amateurism was considered as resignation from the C.A.H.A., said Secretary Billy Hewitt, of Toronto, and George Duddy, of Midland, Ont., second vice-president. A notice from the Q.A.H.A. at that time in effect, which the Association would withdraw if the disputed four points were "adopted" by the C.A.H.A.

In a lengthy preamble on his Association's stand, Mr. Duddy quoted rules and regulations of the League Internationale d'Hockey Sur Glace, of the C.A.H.A., a member, and which is considered to be the world-governing body for amateur hockey. One of the rules of this league is that a player is entitled to "his pay while on leave" under certain conditions.

The suspended one of the "four points" and justified, said Mr. Duddy, and questioned the C.A.H.A.'s attitude that the A.A.U. of C. could not bar Canadian hockey teams from participation in international meets on grounds of professional practices.

Furthermore, said Mr. Duddy, the articles of affiliation with the A.A.U. of C. show that the C.A.H.A. has never conceded any of its authority over amateur hockey in Canada to the "parent body."

With regard to the situation of the Quebec hockey situation, it is apparent that the group's direct negotiations in the last month with the C.A.H.A., regarding its eligibility for Allan Cup playdowns, must now be made through the Q.A.H.A.

AMATEUR COUNCIL MAY BE FORMED IN ONTARIO. Toronto, Jan. 18.—The four Ontario branches of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada will be asked to ratify a proposal to form an Ontario Amateur Athletic Council to co-ordinate activities of the province and to control registrations of amateurs within the province. Formation of the council was suggested at a week-end meeting of branch representatives here.

To pick up "Guidoo" Roy's well-timed pass and put Sherbrooke two up. The visitors were almost continually on the attack and play was mostly confined in the local blue line area. Mooney split the Drummondville rear-guard at the middle of the play and opened and then missed the post by inches. Fern Ranger made several generous but futile solo rushes and Freddie Belanger gave several masterful exhibitions of stickhandling only to go scoreless when he held his fire too long after getting in stride with Lamoureux. Jack Kelly also missed by the proverbial hair's breadth, while Drummondville goal was called a duck because a local player was in the crease when the puck tickled the draperies. As the period ended Dunsmore and Harris passed up opportunities to enter the final twenty minutes with a more comfortable lead.

Jean-Paul Ranger was serving time when Marcel Marier registered Drummondville's lone tally after four minutes on passes from Haworth and Dufresne. The Eastern Townships tennis champion was in position for the rebound to Dion's shot and hoisted over Dion's prostrate form. After the general mix-up and while his brother was in the "cooler," Fern Ranger skated aimlessly until he had crossed the local blue line and then spurted into a spot from which a backhand shot found its resting place in the meshes. The decision was in the Sherbrooke bag, but just to make it more certain Jean-Paul Ranger jumped out of the penalty box just in time to get his stick on Harris' pass and take the Drummondville goal's measure with a wicked drive.

FROM THE SIDELINES

Wandering Willie was heard to remark after yesterday's game in Drummondville that it looked as though a player would be penalized for looking cross-eyed at either of the referees.

The Sherbrooke team's regular coach, Len O'Donnell, was missing. Len was called to Boston by the death of an uncle and Art Lapierre stepped into the breach. Art handled the team well with timely assistance from the veteran Fred Povey.

Nearly three hundred spectators accompanied the Sherbrooke team, private cars and buses conveying the visiting fans. In the end support for the visitors was increased by many Drummondville fans who were very much taken with the smart play of the Sherbrookes.

Billie Gordon and Vaillancourt were the only casualties. Gordon re-appeared with swabs of court plaster beneath and above his left eye while Vaillancourt sported the souvenir of somebody's healthy punch.

Jean-Paul Ranger's major penalty came after Gullabault had stopped play. A Drummondville player fell and the Sherbrooke defenceman got a five-minute rest when he proceeded to tell Gullabault what he thought of his officiating.

The Drummondville players were so anxious several times to stop an opposing puck carrier that it was not uncommon to see three players paying attention to a lone visitor.

Bob Dunsmore is very "popular" with Drummondville fans. Every time the Sherbrooke guard was thrown off balance handing out a body check he was the object of a loud chorus of catcalls.

One of the happiest members of the winning squad after the game was Jean-Paul Ranger, who offed the eleven minutes he spent in the penalty box with a pretty goal-getting effort.

Prior to the game a minute's silence was observed in memory of Playmate Haworth's father who died recently.

Yvan Dugre was very disappointed when he received a very questionable penalty in the first period. The banishment came after Yvan had gone through five consecutive games without visiting the "cooler."

Leo Lamoureux, still as much the grandstander as he was when he played with East Angus, gave the officials a mock salute when he was warned for slashing Sherbrooke players as they rounded the Drummondville circle.

Eddie Bouchard, one-time star in pro ranks, played yesterday afternoon for the home team, which he coaches. Eddie's underpinning may not be as sturdy as it was a decade ago but he still has plenty above his shoulders.

Not much time was lost after the game in shaking Drummondville dust off Sherbrooke cars. A blinding snowstorm made visiting fans hurry to escape the possibility of experiencing the same fate suffered earlier this winter.

There were many healthy sighs of relief when the Sherbrooke caravan got safely beyond L'Angevin. Many remembered the Sunday afternoon spent in this tiny village because of the snow-bound conditions of the highway.

The Sherbrooke team has no league game on its schedule this week and will make a four-day trip to Atlantic City. Leaving here Thursday morning, the local lads will play twice and return Sunday night.

CANADIENS IN DECISIVE WIN OVER MAROONS

Fast-Travelling Frenchmen Humiliated Intra-City Rivals Before Largest Crowd to Attend Game in Montreal in Five Years—Detroit and Boston Also Scored Shutouts.

In the affections of their French-Canadian supporters at least, the Montreal Canadiens are once again the great team that flashed along the hockey trails in their great days six and seven years ago. There is little argument in Montreal today that they are Stanley Cup material as they were in 1930 and 1931. And no wonder. The collection of old men which "Babe" Siebert was supposed to be holding together went out without the great "Babe" Saturday night and tossed the Montreal Maroons' for a five to nothing loss before 12,300 persons, the largest crowd that has seen a game in Montreal in five years.

Siebert was on the injured list, but Bill MacKenzie took his place and the veterans were performing so well up front that the "Babe" was not missed. The Maroons never had a chance against the Habitués except in the first few minutes of the game.

The victory shot the Canadiens into a six-point lead over the Maroons and they have played one game less than their rivals. Its the same lead that the world champion Detroit Red Wings have over the New York Rangers in the National League's American division.

Detroit took advantage of the Rangers' week-end idleness to grab two points by beating the Chicago Black Hawks by two to nothing in Chicago last night, and the Boston Bruins moved up to within a point of the Rangers by defeating the New York Americans to the tune of three to nothing. The Toronto Maple Leafs won the other recent game by taking the Hawks by two to two in overtime at Toronto Saturday night.

The Canadiens were so much better than the Maroons that at times Netminder Wilf Cude skated across his goalmouth for minutes at a time to keep warm. The Habitués did all their scoring in the first two periods. Four of their goals were scored while the Maroons were shorthanded.

Veteran Aurel Joliat opened the scoring in the first period and "Toe" Blake got another in that session. Then MacKenzie scored twice in the second frame and George Brown got the other tally. It was rookie Brown's fourth goal in six games and he also was credited with an assist on one of the MacKenzie counters.

Marty Barry and Larry Aurie. Detroit's high scorers, continued their rivalry by pointing arrows at Chicago. Each got a goal and kept their tie for first place. The Hawks outfought Wings through the first period and most of the second chapter but had hard luck. They might easily have done better with a little luck at Toronto, too. The Hawks started the game by slipping the first half of the game but slipped back when Toronto got their attacks co-ordinated. Sylvanus Apps, rookie center, scored two of Toronto's goals and "Nick" Metz got the winning one in the third minute of overtime. Glenn Brydson and "Apt" scored for Chicago. Apps' second goal and Brydson's were protested on the ground that they took passes inside the crease. The officials ruled them legal but disallowed a counter made by Bob Davidson in the third canto because he was in the crease.

Boston scored one goal in each period against the Americans. Hooley Smith marked up the first, Conney Weiland got the second, while Hooley was serving a penalty, and Leroy Goldsworthy rang up the third.

LEAFS HANDED THE CANADIENS BAD TRIMMING

Strengthened their Hold on Pace-Setting Berth of Sherbrooke County Intermediate Hockey League in Slow and Rugged Game at Local Arena Yesterday Afternoon.

The Maple Leafs strengthened their hold on the first place in the Sherbrooke County Intermediate Hockey League when they handed the Canadiens a decisive eleven to three whipping at the local arena yesterday afternoon.

The game provided few exciting or so-called spectacular plays. Rugged and disorganized hockey was more the rule than the exception. As the final score indicated, the Leafs were in much better form than their opponents, although the result might not have been so one-sided had it not been for the steady and efficient net-minding of Ernie Taylor.

MacCormack, injured in a recent game, made his reappearance with the Leafs. Although not in top form and playing cautiously, he outclassed his team-mates and set the pace whenever on the ice. He figured in three of the Leafs' tallies.

The Canadiens opened the scoring in the first canto when Gaudette snapped up a loose puck in front of the Leafs' net. But the Leafs came back strong and tallied four times before the period ended. They continued their scoring shortly after the beginning of the second frame and caused the red light to blink three times before Canadiens could do anything about it. Then Roy scored on Routhier's assist for Canadiens' second tally.

The Leafs countered twice in the first eight minutes of the last canto. Deslauriers distinguished himself on a long "steamroller" rush from his own blue line and past the Canadiens' defence for a marker. Gaudette and Prefontaine co-operated for Canadiens' third and last tally and Leafs notched another pair to record an eleven to three victory.

Roycraft was credited with two goals and one assist, while Johnny Hibbard and Gerry Mathieu figured in three tallies apiece. F. Kirby and Eddie Wolfe and Amedee Roy refereed.

NEW CONTRACTS CAUSE CHICAGO CUBS TO WORRY

Salary Figures for Some of Cubs Being Dropped as Sharply as Their 1936 Batting Averages—Cincinnati Boasts Third Largest Farm System in Big Time.

New York, Jan. 18.—Tagging the bases: More than one of Chicago's Cubs are going to be disappointed when they see the new contracts. . . Salary figures for some are being dropped as sharply as their 1936 batting averages. . . The Cincinnati Reds boast that they now have the largest farm system in the big time. . . And are adding to it regularly.

The Red Sox roster, fresh in from Boston, disclosed a house-cleaning so thorough that all but two hold-over outfielders have been let go with the moss-covered deadwood. . . Which may mean Jimmy Foy will be switched to the fly pastures, unless a deal with the Browns or the Indians comes off. . . The squad averages twenty-five years in age. . . Considerably younger than last year's. . . And definitely indicating that Tom Yawkey plans to keep the rubber band on his bankroll from here on. . .

The slide out of the majors is slippery. . . Witness Al Niemiec, who did considerable second-basing for Connie Mack's Athletics last year because there wasn't anyone else around to do it. . . Al was sent to Baltimore several weeks back. . . Now even before he can show his stuff in double-A company, the Orioles are shipping him down to Little Rock.

Roy Hughes, who finished the 1936 season with a .205 average and the regular second-base spot with the Cleveland Indians, is credited George Uhle, one of the hard-hitting pitchers, with his first reversal for the better at the plate. . . A little matter of not enough back and shoulder in the swing cured his weak hitting after Uhle went to work on him, says Roy.

The Chicago White Sox still lead in the size of their third-base infield brigade. . . "Rip" Radcliff now joins Luke Appling, Thornton Lee and Jack Hayes in telling the front office they don't like the '37 salary offers. . . Although the Sox already have upped the figures on "Rip's" contract since his protest.

GRANT CAUSING NET MOGULS MUCH EMBARRASSMENT New York, Jan. 18.—Tip: Keep your eye on a lad tagged Emerson Dickman, who gets a pitching try-out with the Boston Red Sox this spring. . . He showed in only nine games for Rocky Mount last year and came up with five wins, no setbacks and a very neat 1.84 earned run average. . . Tonight's the night they beefsteak it at the Garden in memory of Joe Humphreys. . . And his "Quiet, piecez. In this cornah, and still champagne" . . . Jimmy Walker does the officiating honors.

Don't look now, but is the United States Lawn Tennis Association's collective face red? . . . Imagine an upstart like "Bitty" Grant doing all those things to Mr. Don Budge in two straight tournaments. . . And just after the tennis bigwig had made Budge the country's number one player and little "Bitty" only third. . . Joe Louis is now ten to one to make it a very nasty evening for Bob Pastor on the 29th. . . Remember Schmeling.

Tony Canzonei hit the comeback trail any day now despite advice of pals. . . He'll try a few warm-ups and then look for the heavy sugar. . . There's a rumor around that Larry White has signed his San Francisco middleweight, Fred Apostoli, to a contract for five fights under the promotion of hand of Mike Jacobs. . . If those pictures from Miami show everything (and there's very little they don't) Goose Goslin looks in the pink.

Al Schacht's nomination for the finest throwing arm he's ever seen—Joe DiMaggio. . . Says Al: "While I was coaching last year I was afraid to signal a runner from first to third when Joe fielded a ball."

SIX REGULARS INVOLVED IN PLAYER TRADE

Vosmik, Knickerbocker and Hildebrand Traded by Cleveland Indians to St. Louis Browns for Solters, Lary and Andrews—Cardinals Making Frisch's Head Ache.

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—The biggest baseball deal of the stove league season sent three of the Cleveland Indians' regulars to the St. Louis Browns today for a like number of Manager Rogers Hornsby's first stringers.

Left Fielder Joe Vosmik, Shortstop Bill Knickerbocker and Pitcher Oral Hildebrand were shipped along after several months of negotiations in a straight trade for Julius Solters, Lary Lary and Ivy Andrews, who play the same positions.

Baseball men immediately wondered whether Vosmik, who fell from .348 to a meagre .287 at bat last season, would remain long at St. Louis.

The gold-plated Boston Red Sox have been after the erstwhile Cleveland sandlotter since the season closed and were expected to renew their efforts to obtain the twenty-six year old ace, who lost the 1935 American League batting championship to "Buddy" Myer, of Washington by less than a point.

"I think the deal will help both clubs," said C. C. Slapnicka, head of the Indians' business office, and of course I feel it will strengthen the Indians materially.

"I'm tickled over the swap," declared the Rajah, known as one of the shrewdest ivory traders in the majors. "We needed new faces and we got them without sacrificing any strength and obtained younger men."

Solters twenty-eight years old, came up to the Red Sox from Baltimore in 1934. After one season when he batted .299, he accompanied a bundle of Tom Yawkey's money to St. Louis for Oscar Melillo. Although he batted but .291 last season, "Moose" was fourth in the run-scoring in column with 134.

While the stove leaguers were chewing and digesting the Cleveland-St. Louis deal, Frankie (Francis) Frisch, foreman of the St. Louis Cardinals, was on his way from New York today to the Gas-house district with a three-base headache.

For a guy whose team is perennially among the favorites in the National League, Foreman Frank has more trouble than a one-legged shortstop. Most of his pitchers are either too old, too young or too crippled to play. The right side of his infield is transparent on defence. From there on things get worse.

The main trouble is with his pitchers. He admitted that he probably has the two best right-hand flingers in the league, "Dizzy" Dean and Lonnie Warneke, and another starter in Jim Winford. He also has ten prospects from the top minor league coming to training camp, but still he's worried.

"You can't tell about those youngsters yet," he said just before leaving. "If we get two major league pitchers out of the ten I'll be satisfied."

The most promising candidate from the St. Louis farm system is Bob Weiland. He won twenty-three games and lost fifteen last season in Rochester and, with Cliff Melton, of the Baltimore club, was generally considered the best in the International League.

Frisch declared that he had no definite information about the all-

HOT SULPHUR BATHS BRING RELIEF FROM RHEUMATISM

New Product Helps Local Sufferers

For thousands of years, sufferers with rheumatism and similar ailments have gone to natural hot spring baths for relief from the pain and tortures. Chemists have recently discovered a new product, called "Sal Sano" which imparts to ordinary water the essential health-restoring properties of these hot sulphur springs. A package of "Sal Sano" dissolved in a bath tub of hot water brings relief from rheumatic pains, muscle stiffness, tired nerves and other ailments usually treated at natural hot baths. If you wish to have the names of some people in Sherbrooke who have tried "Sal Sano" and found it very beneficial, write The S. S. Chemical Co., P. O. Box 126, Sta. B., Montreal. "Sal Sano" is distributed throughout the Eastern Townships by G. T. Armstrong & Sons and is sold by all druggists for a dollar a box. LOCAL CURLING CONTEST DREW TWELVE RINKS

Rink Skipped by Wesley McKee Carried Off Major Honors in Special Prize Competition at Sherbrooke Curling Club.

One of the largest turnouts of the season participated in the regular week-end special prize competition at the Sherbrooke Curling Club on Saturday afternoon, twelve rinks taking part in this event.
