Chief Justice W. B. Scott of Westmount honored

Chief Justice William B. Scott, MA, BCL, DCL, QC, celebrated his 75th birthday Sunday and was honored by judges from four different courts this week on his retirement from the Quebec Superior Court.

Chief Justice Scott, a long time Westmount resident lives at 611 Sydenham avenue.

Senior members of the Bar with Batonnier Jacques Senecal, QC, gathered to say good-bye to the "chief" and wish him luck. He has been chief and associ-

Municipal Association

Hockey, elections take precedence at monthly meeting

Not completely recovered from the strain of following Federal election returns late into the night and hopeful of seeing an exciting Stanley Cup Hockey game on television, members of the Westmount Municipal Association moved for an early adjournment of their monthly meeting Tuesday night.

During the short meeting the executive did, however, make preliminary plans for the Association's general open meeting to take place on the second Tuesday in May.

As part of the Municipal Association program to acquaint Westmounters with various aspects of local administration they have arranged for several top police and fire officials to speak at the open meeting and later answer questions. Last year, J. R. Daye, City Engineer explained the problems of snow removal.

A nominating committee was selected at the meeting to consider candidates for the Association's 1963-64 executive. They will select a slate to be voted upon at the open meeting.

Current president of the Association is R. W. Coristine with J. H. Ritcher and R. L. Hunter as vice-presidents.

respectability to Canada — C. M. Drury

C. M. Drury, re-elected as Member of Parliament in St. Antoine-Westmount in a landslide victory said Monday that the Liberal Party must now create the image of respectability for Canada. "Nations throughout the world must recognize what we have to offer them and what they can offer us. Only if we are respected can this be accomplished."

None of the electors were held long in suspense about the outcome of the St. Antoine-Westmount campaign. By 7.30, only half an hour after the polls closed, Mr. Drury, the Liberal candidate had picked up a commanding lead over Progressive-Conservative candidate, Peter Kerrigan.

Mr. Kerrigan entered the Sherbrooke street headquarters shortly after eight to concede defeat.

By nine o'clock with most of the pools reporting, it was evident that the Liberal standard-bearer and candidate for a National Defence Portfolio had won a resounding victory sweeping all polls but one and piling up a three to one majority over Peter Kerrigan.

Mr. Drury received 15,976 votes or 59.7% of the total vote as opposed to Mr. Kerrigan's total of 7,208.

Mr. Drury said he was delighted at the number of electors who turned out at the polls. Over 26,000 voters out of a possible 38,181 went out to indicate their choice.

"It is a wonderful tribute to the volunteer workers who produced these results, he said. In this constituency they are an indication of the feeling across the country that majority government is essential."

He said he believed that a major factor in his election was the unique telephone campaign in which undecided voters were able to "dial Drury," and hear recorded statements of policy and beliefs. "The most decisive factor, both in St. Antoine

Tories will bounce back —Kerrigan

"The Conservatives will bounce back in spite of their difficulties in this election," Peter Kerrigan, defeated Progressive-Conservative candidate in St. Antoine-Westmount said Monday night.

"This has been a most important election and though the results have not attested to all our efforts, I feel assured by the number of people who have helped and supported us that the Progressive Conservatives will remain a viable party."

Mr. Kerrigan who conceded defeat shortly after eight o'clock dropped to 7,208 votes from his 1962 total of 10,786.

Neither the NDP nor the New Democratic Party nor the Social Creditors were able to make any inroads in a riding that traditionally votes for the "old line parties."

In the lower area of the riding the NDP candidate Julien

Kerrigan, Major, Foster, lose deposits

Loss of deposits by Federal election candidates on the island of Montreal contributed over $11,000 to the Federal Treasury.

Three candidates in St. Antoine-Westmount, Peter Kerrigan, Conservative, Julien, NDP and Jack Foster, Social Credit, lost their $200 deposits.

In order to waive the forfeiture, candidates must poll at least half as many votes as the winning candidate in the riding.

On the Island, two-thirds of the candidates lost their deposits.

History of Westmount Public Library: Part two

Growth and expansion

This is the second part of a history of the Westmount Public Library covering its growth and work in the community from 1936 to the present day. The first part, which appeared last week in The Examiner, dealt with the institutions beginnings in 1897 when it was established as a mere substitute for a statue of Queen Victoria and covered its rapid growth to its position as reportedly "the city's most valuable institution."

In 1936 the continuing growth of the library in books, members and circulation demanded expansion. The Library building was remodelled and modernized. A new workroom was added for the staff and the old room converted into extra space for bookstacks. All books were removed from shelves and stored temporarily in the Reference room. The stacks were then dismantled, while concrete floors were laid on two levels. The stacks were increased, the entire building redecorated and some new lights installed.

An office was provided for the Librarian, and four mural paintings by Sherriff Scott were placed on the walls. Library work at this time was carried on under difficult conditions, the circulation department being closed through March and April, normally busy months.

A new system of issuing books and registering borrowers was instituted which proved very satisfactory and enabled more accurate records to be kept. The active membership after this registration was 5533. The Library hours increased from 39 to 72 for reading and reference and for adult circulation from 30 to 42.

Pictures of the new library were printed in the American Library Journal and also in a book on Library Buildings by Joseph C. Wheeler.

Section for teen-agers

It was in 1938 that a small section of books for the use of Teenagers was set aside in the Adult department and through the years this has proved very popular.

War causes decreased circulation

War in 1939 brought to Canada, peoples of many races and an increasing number of German or Austrian refugees. Some read English, some French, so there were many requests for simple books.

Demand increases for non-fiction

There was a noticeable increase in the reading of non-fiction. One reason is that it becomes more interesting each year and more attractive in make-up. A wide range of subjects is covered. And at this time there seemed to be a dearth of Westmount and across the country in the Liberal success was, however the great need for a majority government."

Mr. Drury said one of the first things required was the "preparation and presentation of a budget, perhaps within one month after parliament convenes on May 16."

He paid tribute to the great effort put in by his campaign committee. The local Liberal Association divided the constituency among six district chairmen, each in charge of encouraging the voters in his particular district. Mr. Drury, St. Andrews, Selby, Upper Westmount, Central Westmount, and St. Henry.

An active women's committee under the leadership of Mrs. R. W. Coristine planned played in a vital part in the campaign, Mr. Drury said.

The Liberal established eight committee rooms throughout the riding.

Mr. Drury left his Sherbrooke street headquarters shortly after nine to appear on television and visit central headquarters in the Reform Club, where he took time out to praise Yvon Dupuis, who was reelected in St. Jean-Berille-Napierville "for being so effective in making the myth of Real Caouette disappear so quickly."

C. M. Drury will take his place in the House of Commons as a member of Parliament and a possible cabinet minister with an extensive background of experience in Canada and abroad.

From 1945 to 1947 he was chief of UNRRA Mission to Warsaw, Poland. He was with the Economic Division of the Department of External Affairs until 1949 after returning from Poland.

In 1949 Mr. Drury was appointed Deputy Minister of National Defence the highest post in the Defence Department next to the minister himself. He held this until 1955.

Mr. Drury is past president of the Montreal Board of Trade and the Canadian Centenary Committee, and the United Nations Association of Canada. He recently headed the Montreal branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. He is a former member of the Northwest Territories Council and vice-chairman of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission.

A lawyer by profession, Mr. Drury attended the Royal Military College in Kingston, Ontario. His military service during the war won him the CBE and the DSO and the distinction of being one of the youngest Canadian officers to be promoted Brigadier.

He was born in Montreal and lived most of his life in Westmount. Educated at Lower Canada College and Bishops in Lennoxville and the Université de Paris, he is married and has two daughters and two sons.

Similarly, Jack Foster of the Social Credit party received 1,318 votes, where as Dr. Del Hushley running last year managed only 996.

On election day Mr. Major who had protested the erection of campaign posters on Victoria Hall by both the Liberals and the Conservatives, complained to Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay in Ottawa and spoke to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Neither would remove the signs.

Mr. Major said that such election banners were forbidden on Victoria Hall as it was not only a public building but also an official polling station.

ate chief justice for the past ten years.

Mr. Scott, during his tenure in the Quebec Supreme Court has always campaigned vigorously to speed up the often snail-like pace of judicial process in the courts. He fought successfully for better salaries for court officials, secretaries and clerks.

Two weeks ago the Chief Justice was honored by all the judges of the Superior Court at a banquet when he was presented with a painting.

He said that the past ten and a half years, "although representing a tremendous task, were very happy years in which I received the loyal collaboration of all my colleagues and of those who worked at the court house."

No successor has yet been appointed.

From yoga demonstrations to revolving tractors at Westmount's Victoria Hall

The imposing grey stone building which stands well back from the sidewalk at 4626 Sherbrooke street west presents a well-ordered, quiet appearance to the casual observer, and except for a number of cars parked nearby, seldom gives an inkling of the beehive of activity within.

Victoria Hall has been used for weddings and receptions, commercial and sales meetings, concerts, plays, service club lunches, political rallies, balloting, yoga demonstrations, art exhibitions, and many other community activities that often total 1400 events a year, with several going on during the same day at the same time.

"We often wash about 3,000 to 4,000 dishes a day by hand as many as any restaurant may do in one week" declared Clarence P. Dutton, managing superintendent of Victoria Hall since 1939.

Largest crowd during battle of Britain

"The largest crowd we ever handled here was during the Battle of Britain when the Rev.

J. S. Springett, of the British Israelite Royal Federation of Canada came to speak here. Every room and every corridor was jammed with people, and his voice was carried through a public address system to all those who could not get into the auditorium.

The zaniest show took place when five farm tractors were demonstrated, one at a time, on a turntable on the stage. It certainly was a test for floor strength."

Giselle McKenzie and Norma Shearer

Many famous people have visited or performed at Victoria Hall. Canadians who are well known in the entertainment field appeared, such as Giselle McKenzie, Norma Shearer, (who grew up on Grosvenor avenue in Westmount), and Fay Wray, stage and screen star; Oscar Peterson appeared here before going to New York; Joy Thompson, former director of the Canadian Art Theatre, and now married to Ed. Asselin, member of parliament from N.D.G.; Bob Goodier, one of Montreal's most popular comedians; John Pratt, Mayor of Dorval, who appeared with the Fossils Club.

There were also Navy Shows under Johnny Coy, protege of Betty Speirs and Peter Miller and such performers as Miss Martha Allan, that "Lady of the Little Theatre" who presented plays by members of the Montreal Repertory Theatre; Arthur Davidson; violinist; Betty Speirs and Peter Miller of the Speirs-Miller School of Dance appeared regularly.

A late Leslie Gordon Barnard, fiction and short story writer addressed the Rotary Club; Christopher Ellis, well known radio newscaster and commentator and speakers from

Local squadron supports three children

Members of the Maple Leaf Wing of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association, Westmount, have adopted three "foster children," it was learned this week. Two of the children live in Seoul, Korea; the other in Madras State, South India.

Through a "foster parents plan," members of the squadron contribute to the support of the children, now living in charity-supported homes. Most of the children there are complete orphans; only a few still have a father and mother, but these are so poor that they are utterly unable to support them financially. Some came from hospitals; others were found by police in city slums. All of them arrived in pathetic need of physical care and food and, above all, of understanding, security, and love.

Balasubramaniam, the Indian boy, aged 11, was deserted by his mother when he was still a baby, but his father, a weaver by trade, managed to provide a happy home for the boy until his death.

Not one relative appeared at the father's funeral to comfort the little boy, but a kindly neighbor took Balasubramaniam into his home for a while. As the neighbor is poor and can hardly support his own family he was forced to make arrangements before long, and in February 1960 Balasubramaniam was admitted to the home.

WE SAY YOU SAY

Congratulations to all election candidates Westmounter escapes from 'song sharks'

WITH A sigh of relief, voters, candidates, both winners and losers wound up the Federal election campaign Monday night.

The campaign is over and the voters have voted their choices.

To Mr. Drury go our congratulations for a well-fought campaign and for ultimate victory.

To Mr. Kerrigan, our sympathy. But with your talents there will always be other fields to conquer.

To Mr. Major, you added a spark to the campaign and kept it interesting to the last moment.

To Mr. Foster, the experience you have gained throughout the campaign will no doubt stand you in good stead.

And to the voters of St. Antoine-Westmount, congratulations on again keeping this election on a high level and out of the statistical columns of districts where unlawful practices took place.

Political pressures in TCA move here

MUCH against its better judgment, Trans-Canada Air Lines has been forced by political pressure to hire a firm of U.S. consultant to "re-assess" a management decision to move maintenance and overhaul facilities from Winnipeg to nearby Montreal Airport at Dorval.

All of Canada's taxpayers are going to have to foot the bill for this unnecessary and unwarranted "re-assessment." This, in itself, is bad enough.

Yet a matter of still greater concern is the precedent that has been established. Is the decision of every government agency or crown corporation — if that decision goes against the wishes of any regional group and is hence politically undesirable — to be made the subject of a re-

Thank you for your editorial of last week in the Examiner about the Better Business Bureau and the great need to study carefully all contracts and other documents before signing.

Salesmen can be terribly persistent, as you note, and I would just like to point out another instance where a call to the Better Business Bureau would save a great deal of later griefs.

As an amateur musician I almost lost my shirt through unscrupulous operators, but a call to the Bureau prevented this. Since then I have become one of its greatest supporters. I believe a number of my fellow Westmounters may also be in a position to lose.

As I found out later the Better Business Bureau has answered many inquiries about so-called music publishing companies who charge a fee for their services.

Amateur song writers, including myself, have long been cautioned that legitimate companies do not charge any fees for their services. If a legitimate company publisher believes that a song has commercial possibilities, he will risk his own money.

The song "song shark" as I later found out, promises, on the other hand, almost invariably, that the writers' song has great possibilities, but once he has collected his fee and technically complied with his contract that is the last that the song writer ever hears about it.

It almost happened to me — it has happened to thousands of others.

I suppose for some people the Brooklyn bridge will always be for sale.

examination by "outside consultants?"

If this is to be the case, then it is easy to conceive that vast sectors of the Canadian economy will soon come under the effective control of an army of consultants, most likely consultants from south of the border to boot.

The present TCA incident would seem to be further proof that despite the assurances of state planning enthusiasts, crown corporations are not nearly as immune from the pressures of political expediency as a great many people would like to think.

Debaters demand swimming pool

Over 250 pupils and parents heard this week a strong appeal for a Municipal swimming pool in Westmount, at the annual public speaking contest sponsored by the St. Leo's Debating Society. The theme of the evening was "Resolved that Westmount should have a Municipal Swimming Pool."

Speaking on behalf of his fellow school commissioners, Mr. Leduc promised to do his utmost to encourage the building of the pool.

Pageantry and history are most richly observed in Ottawa since the day in 1857 when Queen Victoria chose this noble city as the nation's capital. Royalty and tradition, the military and the RCMP have given color and romance to this meeting place of international personalities and statesmen.

Canadian citizens have made their choice, and it is high time that the war of prejudices and personalities be put aside in favor of sound legislation which is long overdue.

Direct initiative needed to preserve city's character

This is the eighth in a series of reports on Westmount "master plan" for redevelopment of the city between Sherbrooke street and the southern limits. It is based on a report submitted to City Council by the firm of Bland, Lemoyne, and Edwards, Architects and Town Planning Consultants.

This firm spent eight months on an intensive study of the southern area in order to provide "a sound basis for regulation to preserve the unique character of Westmount and, at the same time provide for its orderly redevelopment."

Much of the new zoning by-law, approved recently by City Council are based on information given in this report. Future planners will draw heavily from it.

"The gain to the community as a whole from zoning and redevelopment programs can be profitable economically but more important, it can be a source of great benefit socially and aesthetically. It can provide enjoyment and satisfaction for those who live and work in the City today and for those who will use it in the next period of growth of the community. It can also serve as an object lesson for the rest of the metropolitan area and possibly elsewhere. Above all it is required now before too late.

"Zoning in itself is not sufficient to guarantee desirable conditions in a community. It is only a tool that serves the administration on the one hand and designers and developers on the other. An enlightened and responsible society can be the only guarantor."

Social and physical changes

What stands out most significantly from the analysis of the southern area is the amount of transformation that has already occurred both physically and socially the report explained. The familiar environment that has been a characteristic of the area slowly has been altered with changes in the form of building development, use of premises, types of population, density of traffic, patterns of ownership and treatment of open spaces. The changes for the most part have sporadic and the effects have been inconsistent. Individual developments have been permitted that are not sympathetic to their surroundings.

"Certain districts have been untouched because of zoning prohibitions. Other areas have been exploited excessively in relation to their present service capacity. But underlying all this is the recognition of the essential character and potential of the area. Its singularly fortunate location is an attraction to new development and although inadequate in many instances the calibre of quality can be considered to be higher than most work elsewhere.

Geographical features establish character Throughout the different stages of development within the area particular conditions have governed which have remained constant, according to the report. These conditions are the salient features that primarily established the character of the area and have served to maintain it. Essentially geographical they have taken on extra qualities due to other circumstances. The area is predominantly flat between the hill above Sherbrooke street and the escarpment below the railway.

The major arterial routes run east-west between these boundaries and communications have been limited to points of access up the escarpment under the railway or to routes crossing the mountain. The important changes in development have occurred along the main roads and it can be assumed that this will continue to be the case. Within the area in Westmount Park with its verdant character spreading out along Western avenue and its intersecting side streets. The more desirable residential development generally has been in the immediate vicinity of the greenery and the large amenity open space; and it must be preserved in this manner. Accepting these features as constants, provisions must be made to control the variables which are caused by factors that are economic, aesthetic, physical, social and political.

"The proposals to accommodate the desire for preservation and the demand for transformation must be based on an equitable balance between the two, with the recognition that the appearance of the community must be pleasant for both. It is important that the conditions deemed worth conserving should be clearly established in the minds of those who will control the next

Dieppe House campaign opens in Westmount

Headquarters for the Dieppe House Annual Campaign were established this week at 223 Victoria Avenue, Westmount. Dieppe House at St. Hilaire, a specialized home for epileptics is appealing for support to continue its rehabilitation work among men afflicted with epilepsy.

A public appeal for $75,000 will open April 15 it was announced by John A. Savoy, chairman of the campaign.

The home, built on the hillside of St. Hilaire after the second World War as a memorial to the Canadians killed in the Dieppe Raid of 1942, is described as among the finest homes for epileptics anywhere.

Mr. Savoy invites the public to view for themselves the remarkable program of rehabilitation. In all, about one quarter of the men at Dieppe House, heartened by the therapy of kindness and care found there, eventually return to their homes completely rehabilitated.

Dieppe House is a unique home in many respects. It is a home without any inside doors or stairs — a safety measure for the epileptics. The men come from all parts of the province and there is no restriction as to race, religion or language.

Epilepsy, once a disease surrounded by mystery and superstition, now is better understood by medical science. Many epileptics live a normal life.

Unity Boys' Club

Parents invited to 'Open House'

By
MAURICE MARIASINE

Just a reminder — Parents are invited to the Unity Boys' Club "Open House" which takes place on Friday, April 19. On display will be articles produced in the hobby workshops during the year.

President W. Bordon Empey has called a meeting of the Board of Directors for Tuesday, April 16, at 8:00 p.m.

VETERANS ENTERTAINED

Last Wednesday, the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade, entertained the patients of the Queen Mary Veteran's Hospital, with a preview of the performance scheduled for Boston, Mass on Wednesday, April 24, and at Lake Placid, N.Y. on June 2.

A total of 21 acts featuring precision chorus lines, singers, dancers, comedians, instrumentalists and novelty acts were presented. A special guest appearing with the Talent Parade was Danny Dean, the King of Comedy.

AMATEUR SHOW

Members of the staff and a large group of mothers in the community have been working hard completing three sets of costumes which will be used in the Amateur Show scheduled for Friday, April 19.

We would like to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to the following mothers who have been most helpful: Mrs. J. Martin, Mrs. J. Mascuilli, Mrs. S. Dallas, Mrs. R. Heather, Mrs. D. Collins, Mrs. D. Hogan, Mrs. R. Moore, Mrs. W. Murphy, Mrs. M. Tremblay, Mrs. A. Gaucher, Mrs. S. Standing.

Thanks is also extended to Joan Strike and Victoria Schrammel of the Club staff.

CLUB CLOSING

In keeping with the Club's Easter policies, the Unity Boys' Club will be closed on Good Friday, Saturday and Easter Monday.

Like other clubs throughout the Dominion of Canada and the United States, the Unity Boys' Club of Westmount serves the community by providing recreational facilities for children who might otherwise spend their leisure time playing in the streets.

Sponsored by the Rotary Club of Westmount, the Unity Boys' Club is operated by the Montreal Boys' Association, a unit of Welfare Federation, (the United Red Feather Services) and has as its prime purpose, the guidance of youth in health, physical and vocational welfare, and in social and character development.

The Club fills a need wherever there are boys and girls who lack opportunities for wholesome recreation, companionship and for the constructive use of leisure time. The Club attracts the boys and girls who most need its opportunities and benefits.

There are no membership limitations other than the capacity of the Clubhouse, and the fees are at purely nominal level easily within the means of any boy or girl. Its doors are always open in the after-school and evening hours. The Club creates an environment where character develops under natural and favorable circumstances.

One of its greatest accomplishments is the fact that it provides opportunities for leadership and guidance which ultimately produces men and women better fitted for the responsibility of citizenship.

JUNIOR LEADERS CORPS

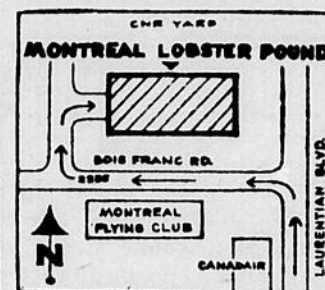

Many members of the Unity

Junior Leaders' Corps who are currently rendering valuable services in a variety of ways at the Club have been regular participants and many continue to participate as well as give service. They are: Sharon Molloy, Billy Standing, Susan Rountree, Don Vollett, Linda Vaux, Ilmi Siiman and Douglas Fisher, Peter Whiteside. Graduates of the Junior Leaders' Corps who are still giving service to the Club are: Keith Gavin, Douglas Gavin, Douglas Wright, Peter Doherty and John McDonough.

The Unity Boys' Club has a total of 51 volunteer workers giving service in arts, crafts, hobbies, sports, social and special activities.

Principal discoverer of insulin was Sir Frederick Grant Banting, a Canadian physician.

Westmount Stamp Club recently held its 1000th meeting there; theatrical productions by the Children's Theatre group have been presented here for 29 years.

Dances popular

For about ten years Johnny Holmes' Dance Orchestra played every Saturday night and teenagers from Westmount numbering up to 700 attended. Quebec Music Festival finalists, and Francis Goltman's music clinics were held here for years.

Old Victoria Hall stood on the same site as the present building, and was constructed of red brick in 1898. It was named Victoria Hall to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

A demonstration in honor of the Queen's reign was held in Westmount Park on Saturday, June 19, 1897. Mayor F. W. Evans was in the chair.

Old Victoria Hall was very popular with the citizens of Westmount, especially the younger ones. Such men as Art Ross, Cooper Smeaton, Lester Patrick, Odie and Sprague Cleg-horn, Walter Smail and others spent their boyhood around the hall. It was not unusual for boys to rise at 5 a.m. and practice in Westmount Park before an important match. They slept as best they could in the hall.

The Old Victoria Hall had a swimming pool, bowling alley later turned into a shooting range, billiard room, gym, dance floor, living quarters for the superintendent, rooms for lodges, concert hall, stage, etc.

Victoria Hall was destroyed by fire in 1923, and rebuilt the following year. It was reopened in 1925, and the official opening was attended by the Mayor and Alderman of the City of Westmount. It was declared formally open by His Excellency Governor General Byng and Lady Byng. A reception was held in the New Hall. Victoria Hall is just two years older than Mr. Dutton.

Clarence Dutton was born in Westmount and attended local schools. He was the first to swim in the tank at the YMCA in 1911 when it was opened, and fees were $1. His teacher, Mr. Black, at the school on Academy road, was, at one time, secretary of the Westmount Municipal Association. Mr. Dutton's first job was in the office of the secretary treasurer of the City of Westmount, in the Old City Hall which was housed in the present Westmount Police station on Stanton.

His duties now cover everything pertaining to Victoria Hall — rental, reservations, repairs, maintenance, painting and cleaning. He remembers the exciting campaign when Doug Abbott beat Mr. Price by a close margin.

After the Nazi-Soviet conquest of Poland, vast numbers of Polish servicemen made their way to France and, later, to Britain. Over three hundred thousand men, all volunteers, served in the Polish armed forces. Polish airmen shot down every seventh German aircraft in the Battle of Britain. Polish divisions fought in Norway, Africa, Normandy and Germany. The Encyclopedia Americana states that the Polish Second Corps were responsible for winning the great battles of Monte Cassino and Ancona in Italy.

and the committee rooms were in Victoria Hall. He is a familiar figure to many members of clubs, and amateur theatrical movements, who use the hall as their headquarters.

He is responsible for the allotment of time periods to these organizations, and personally arranges the many details necessary if functions are to be carried out smoothly.

Mr. Dutton owns a tremendous collection of material and clippings on the City of Westmount, dating to the time when it was known as the Village of Notre Dame de Grace in 1874.

Frank Common sees 'emergency' in CHA campaign

The campaign of the combined Health Appeal and Red Cross reported this week that $875,703 of the $2,033,537 objective had been reached. This represents 43.7 per cent of the goal.

Frank B. Common of Westmount, general campaign chairman said that because of the "emergency" in the campaign, city officials have given their full endorsement for designating April 9-12 as "Operation Mop-Up."

"It is an emergency, since the failure of the first Combined Appeal would delay recruitment of new members into the CHA and cast reflection on the community as a whole, particularly when so many tens of thousands are involved in the undertaking," he said.

Mr. Common said that he is calling on all volunteers and well-wishers for a further effort from April 9 to midnight April 11 "to achieve in these four days the Operation Mop-Up which is required if the first combined Health appeal and Red Cross campaign is going to set the pattern for future campaigns."

The political situation during the two-week drive was such that the "campaign may have been overshadowed by reports of the national issues facing the country."

Direct initiative needed to preserve city's character . . .

stage of growth within the southern area. Too often treasured values remain hidden and become forgotten because they have not been articulated and promoted for their intrinsic merit."

Although most of the principles are of common knowledge many have been reinforced by recent statements made by the inhabitants of the City at the request of the Council. It should be noted that the majority of recommendations made by the citizens have been found to be compatible with the basic philosophy underlying the report and have been incorporated to a large extent into the proposals.

Maintain the city as a residential community

Topmost among all considerations is the desire to maintain the City of Westmount as a residential community, the planning firm said. This applies essentially to all areas and includes particularly the southern area which is most subject to change. "It is recognized that with new modes of living and different forms of dwelling the current units of accommodation in the southern area are not always of the necessary standards. The population of the City cannot be counted on to grow beyond a certain point due to the limited capacity of services both now and later, and as such the residential population should be expected to require additional areas of land.

"On the contrary: the residential zones can be consolidated to include large scale apartment house development provided they are treated as parts of the total environment rather than independent of it. Similarly there are areas that must be considered no longer satisfactory for residential development and their gradual displacement is to be encouraged. It is important also to plan the residential areas so that they are situated adjacent to the necessary facilities that serve them thereby forming well-defined neighbourhoods."

Preserve the verdant character

The verdant character of the City is complementary to the residential and must be considered as an integral feature of the community. Westmount is particularly well endowed with fine parks and pleasant street planting and the protection and preservation of these features is of paramount importance to the City.

Within the southern area the two major spaces about the large park and the City Hall are features that can ill-afford to be forfeited. The prolific street planting within the central portion of the area is a commodity which is at a premium in many other urban residential districts and must not be allowed to be destroyed until new trees have grown to take the place of the old.

'Considered most attractive city in the country'

The appearance of the City is considered to be among the most attractive in the country and this has been a product of the geographical setting and the form of development. With the majority of the buildings being residential and built for the most part prior to 1930 the scale and the materials comprising the architecture have given the area a desirable quality that should be used as a yardstick for future development. New buildings are of a height and a bulk that must be related to the existing development in location and appearance.

Because of the important mountain-side residential community and the major amenity open spaces in the central area larger scale development is more desirable at a distance from these districts. This means the report said, that high-rise buildings are best sited to the south of Western avenue where they can be of most value economically and visually. Once this has been accepted, provisions can be made to allow higher development than that presently permitted.

Also it must be assumed that the pleasant nature of Sherbrooke street should not be altered in a drastic manner destroying its character, but on the contrary, limitations should be established as to height and bulk within certain portions of the street. It is important therefore that a new set of factors must be devised to control the development on individual lots in all districts in order to create a desirable transformation to the City's appearance.

With the desirability of preserving the residential and verdant character of the southern area is the recognition that there is a demand for commercial development in parts of the City. The report felt that the two shopping districts have a character that is worth maintaining and exploiting in its present form, allowing changes that would improve the facilities without necessarily changing the character. The Greene avenue shopping street lends itself admirably to redevelopment in a comprehensive manner and the Sherbrooke street shopping street has a potential of a different scale and character.

Commercial offices are becoming an important feature in the southern area and it has been accepted that more land is required for their premises. It is felt that because of their use and the activity they generate they are best located adjacent to the shopping districts and generally south of St. Catherine street. Large commercial buildings possess a bulk that belongs in the southern portion of the area where other high-rise buildings are desired and it has been considered that this area would be the most accessible relative to the central business district of Montreal.

Professional offices located along Sherbrooke street exist mainly in residential buildings which must be assumed to be obsolete and thereby replaceable. While the professional offices are a desirable feature in the two defined areas it is important that the replacement of present buildings in order to accommodate them should not destroy the essential character of the street.

Devise new traffic system

In order to permit these desirable features to be preserved or developed it is necessary to devise a traffic system that can serve the majority of required conditions. Easy accessibility and a minimum density of traffic is undoubtedly the most desirable formula. To achieve this requires the reorganization of the southern area into a simplified and co-ordinated network of major streets for through traffic and minor streets for internal circulation. To protect Westmount Park and its adjacent environment a detour for heavy traffic is of prime importance.

To develop the entire area south of St. Catherine street and Dorchester boulevard greater accessibility and circulation is essential. To permit adequate servicing to all commercial districts an improved system of lanes is needed.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

BABY KNOWS BEST

By C. ROBERT GRUVER,
In grandmother's day, parents thought that baby should be forced to eat all of the food prepared for him whether he wanted to eat or not.

The resulting emotion-packed "feeding fights" were nightmares for both mother and baby. Can't you still hear your mother saying, "You will eat your dinner if you have to sit on that chair all day."

Today pediatricians advise parents to make baby's mealtime as pleasant as possible and to allow babies to eat as much, or as little, of what they want to eat.

Between babies first and second birthdays, their rapid growth slows somewhat, and appetites slow, too. During this period you can expect your baby to eat less.

Here are a few tips to help you keep mealtime a happy time. Don't try to take away baby's milk in order to encourage him to eat more semi-solid or solid foods. It takes a mountain of meat and vegetables to equal the 34 grams of protein in a quart of milk and perhaps he is not ready for a full diet of solid foods.

Let your baby eat the same old foods he likes best if he wants to. Introducing a flood of new foods may do very little to tempt his appetite although occasional experimentation with new foods could prove beneficial to the child's diet.

Don't make an issue of baby's eating habits by over-praising him if he eats particularly well, or by being overly critical if he eats poorly. His appetite will develop the way nature intended.

Give your child small servings and let him come back for seconds if he wants. Remember that some children do better on frequent small meals than on the three-a-day routine.

Making mealtime into wartime is bound to have exactly the wrong effect. Nervous tension helps kill small appetites. The average baby will normally eat the right amount of the proper foods by their very natures if you do not make an issue of the feeding. Serve your baby a variety of wholesome foods regularly in a pleasant atmosphere and you've done your part. He'll do his by eating what he needs. In other words, you cook it, he'll eat it — if he wants to.

12 Women's Canadian Club elects Mrs. J.B. Shannon

The Westmount Examiner, Thursday, April 11, 1963

The Women's Canadian Club of Montreal during the past year studied subjects ranging from the reshaping of China under Communism, to Britain's role in the world, and the bi-cultural nature of Canada, it was reported at the annual meeting.

The Club, with a membership of 2,220 (an increase of 62 over last year), had an average attendance of 597 at its meetings.

The program of 12 lectures was planned with the idea of underlining the club's purposes and, at the same time, having appeal to the individual interests of members.

The purposes are to encourage amongst women a deeper and more serious understanding in the institutions, the history and resources of Canada, as well as fostering patriotism, and stimulating active work in all that pertains to the welfare and progress of Canada. In addition, the program attempted to put before membership the leading questions of the day.

Among those giving lectures during the year were Rt. Hon. Viscount Amory, U.K. High Commissioner in Canada, who spoke on Britain's role in the world; Hugh MacLennan, "National Independence in the Modern World," Dr. Zelma George, "Africa: Myths and Reality"; Dr. Ivan Nagy, "The Reshaping of China under Communism"; Sir Hugh Foot, "The New Nations at the United Nations"; Very Rev. Henri F. Legare, "Bi-Culture Through Understanding"; Rabbi Harry Stern, "The Message of the Great Hebrew Prophets For Our Day"; and Brigadier Stephen Longriggs who spoke recently on the Middle East Panorama. Yousuf Karsh, Mrs. Cleveland Grant and Mrs. A. F. W. Plumptre also addressed meetings.

'Hot Cross Buns' derived from pagan worshippers

By Millicent Hickmore

TODAY, Hot Cross Buns are associated with Lent, Good Friday and Easter. They have a religious significance, the cross on the fresh dough being a sign of Christian faith; the bread itself being a traditional symbol of religious celebration and observance of special occasions.

A peep into the history books unfolds a fascinating story of the gradual evolution of ancient "moon buns," to the sweet, spicy buns now sold by the tens of thousands in bakeries and food stores during the Lenten season.

You may literally thank the moon for your hot cross buns! In ancient times the moon goddess was widely worshipped among the pagan peoples. She was known as Selene by many, as Luna by the Romans, as Diana by others in Italy, as Astarte by the Phoenicians, and as Ishtar by the Babylonians. Her worshippers set aside certain days to honor her — usually at the new and at the full moon. On these days, special "moon cakes" were baked, to bring to her temples. Each cake was imprinted with the oxen's crossed horns, and known as bon, meaning ox. The name later changed to boun, and still later to bun.

When Christianity was introduced, efforts were made to outlaw the custom of baking cakes for the pagan gods and goddesses. But, realizing the difficulty of separating these festivals and religious celebrations, it was found easier to take over the most alluring of the pagan customs, and to give them new meanings. Thus the mark on the bun became a sign of Christian faith, and the making of the buns became a rite that belonged exclusively to the church. The holy buns were distributed to communicants after Easter Mass.

In England, as far back as 1252, the demand for these special "cross marked" Lenten buns was so great that bakers began making them in competition with the church. Although the practice was forbidden, the unhallowed buns sold like hot cakes! Gradually as Protestantism spread, the ban was removed, and soon they were no longer considered holy bread.

Today, Christian people all over the world have become acquainted with the sweet, spicy flavor of baker's Hot Cross Buns. They continue to eat them every Good Friday during the Lenten period.

Art exhibition

The Annual Spring Exhibition of Paintings and drawings of the Independent Art Association is taking place at Eaton's on the 9th floor, April 12 to 27 inclusive. The first prize for the best picture was won by Jiri Janu; honorable mention to Agnes Knox, Arlette Kingwell, and Freda Pemberton-Smith.

DANGER SPOTS

A study of accidents on freeways shows that they are most frequent on entrance and exit ramps and at interchanges. We've been warned!

SPCA issues 'chick' warning

A special Easter appeal "Don't buy chicks as Easter gifts" has been issued by the C.S.P.C.A. The society is asking all its members to point out to store owners and friends the suffering that can be caused to these tiny animals. "So far only the City of Lachine has a by-law making it an offence to sell or give away baby chicks, ducklings and other small animals," says the Society's president, Mrs. K. G. Blackader. "We hope the City of Montreal will soon pass a similar by-law."

Usually fatal

W. N. Dunlop, general manager of the C.S.P.C.A., point out that these small animals almost invariably die when they are given as presents. "Even if the child doesn't accidentally kill the animal," he says, "few homes have the facilities to keep them at the right temperature or give them the right food. "Buying or giving small animals as Easter gifts is cruelty to the animal, however, well-intentioned people might be."
