

Best time for holidays forecast

Spring is here, and it looks like winter-weary West Enders can exchange snow shovels for sump pumps.

And, of course, there will be many fond glances at the calendar in anticipation of long-awaited summer holidays.

The best time to go this year, according to Eric Neal, Examiner weather expert, will be the last week of June and the first week of July, the last week of July and the first week of August, and the last week of August and the first week of September.

"Heavy rains are probable from August 26 to 30," Mr. Neal warns, predicting that a hurricane will be passing by the Atlantic coast about that time.

Floods forecast

Commenting on the long, hard winter, Mr. Neal says it was no worse than average, but with frost in the ground, spring runoff is likely to be excessive, causing floods.

"Farmers," he predicts, "will start the year with a below-normal water table and wells are likely to be empty before July."

And for those who are contemplating sugaring-off parties, Mr. Neal says it will be late this season, not because of the temperature, but because all the snow has remained on the ground.

This doesn't affect the sap, Mr. Neal says, but it's more a case of modern methods are sometimes not as effective as the old—it's simply a case now of tractors and vehicles not being able to get to the trees.

"Thirty years ago, whatever the snow in the woods, we got along with horses to collect the sap," he said.

Pattern set for future campaigns

"This First Campaign of Combined Health Appeal and Red Cross will set the pattern of future campaigns," General Campaign Chairman Frank B. Common, Jr., QC, 157 Edgemoor avenue said this week at the official opening ceremony of the Combined Health Appeal and Red Cross drive, on Place Ville Marie.

"An historic moment," said Mr. Common, "the Combined Health Appeal and Red Cross is pioneering in combining fifteen health organization drives into a single campaign. The presence here of the provincial minister of Health is indicative that our aims and purposes are worthy of support beyond the limits of Greater Montreal."

Mr. Common emphasized that the appeal was directed at everyone, without regard to race, creed or social status. Alternating between French and English, Mr. Common called for support from all quarters and stressed the urgency of the call.

Westmount headquarters established

Mrs. J. A. Duncan Falkner, Chairman of the Westmount Division of the combined Health Appeal and the Red Cross announced that headquarters for the Campaign are located at Victoria Hall.

The office is open between 10 and 12 a.m. and between 2:00 and 4:00 in the afternoon.

R. E. Harrison was appointed vice-chairman for Westmount. Hon. Alphonse Couturier, Minister of Health, pulled a switch on Place Ville Marie to "light the lamp of Hope," raise the Blue Diamond and Red Cross Flag and launch the First Campaign of Combined Health Appeal and Red Cross.

Thousands of Montrealers on their lunch hour, enjoying the first sunny day of Spring, milled about Place Ville Marie with several hundred guests to hear Mr. Couturier urge the public to support the campaign, congratulate the organizer and ask for the co-operation of the 15 member organizations of the Combined Health Appeal for the Emergency Relief Organization recently set up by the Provincial Department of Health.

made its choices independently of the Museum. The three others are to be announced later.

One of 23 women artists represented in the exhibition, which opens April 4, Mrs. Steinhouse is the wife of writer and CBC Producer Herbert Steinhouse. They live at 10 Springfield avenue.

Mrs. Steinhouse was born in Montreal and studied there, in New York and Paris. Her latest work was in graphics at S. W. Hayter's Atelier 17 in Paris.

Major accuses City Council of collusion, files formal protest

Julien Major announced today that he has filed a formal protest with the St. Antoine-Westmount returning officer and the Chief Electoral Officer in Ottawa, protesting the erection of political posters on Victoria Hall in Westmount. He said that as Victoria Hall is a polling station, election posters are forbidden there by law.

The NDP candidate accused Westmount City Council of collusion with the Liberal candidate in permitting him to rent a room in Victoria Hall, "simply to qualify for erecting a banner under the 'gentlemen's agreement'."

"In Westmount all parties are equal, he said. But the Liberals and the Conservatives are a little more equal than any other parties."

'Decision contradicts Council ruling'

"I have been penalized by a decision which flatly contradicts a Council ruling," he continued. "They tell me the decision is based on a 'gentlemen's agreement' to ignore the ruling, but the only gentlemen recognized by the Westmount City Council are in the Liberal and Conservative parties."

Mr. Major quoted a letter he said was from N. T. Dawe, City Manager, dated March 1, drawing attention to the ruling forbidding the erection of election posters on public property. He said that he had been told there

New programmes stress 'single' activities at Westmount 'Y'

A new concept in gym programming at the Westmount YMCA will be introduced April 1, when the Youth Department issues a new schedule providing instruction and practice time for many 'single' activities. Officials hope that the changes will provide more "depth of instruction and learning."

A revised youth program schedule for the Westmount YMCA's Youth Department members has recently been issued. It becomes effective Monday, April 1 and will be in use till mid-June. The annual Learn to Swim Campaign requires the YMCA to reschedule the swimming and gym periods during the week. There are no changes in the Saturday program.

Starting April 1 the girls' swim classes on Monday and Wednesday will be at 5 p.m. for beginners and cards 1 and 2, and 5.30 p.m. for cards 3 to 5 and advanced. There is a similar shift in times for the boys' classes held on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The Swim Team will continue to meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday between 7 and 8 p.m.

The Friday afternoon "Dip" for those attending the 4 o'clock gymnastic class still begins at 5 p.m.

In addition to the new concept of gym programming the Physical Department is making showers after every gym class compulsory. "This rule is for the youngsters own health. Parents' co-operation will greatly assist us by making sure that boys and girls bring a towel and bathing suit to all physical activities," a YMCA official said.

Under the new schedule boys 12 yrs. and under may attend the following classes: Tuesday 4:00-4:45 badminton and softball; Thursday 4:00-4:45 floor hockey. Boys 13 yrs. and up have badminton and tennis Tuesday 4:45-5:30 and volleyball Thursday 4:45-5:30.

Girls' classes are on Monday and Wednesday. On Mondays badminton is available to girls 9 yrs. and up at 4 p.m. and volleyball to girls 12 and up at 4:45. On Wednesdays: softball for girls 11 and under at 4 p.m. and tennis for girls 12 and over at 4:45 p.m.

Sharing fund gets record contribution

Record contributions have been made by Simpsons Limited and Simpsons-Sears Limited to their respective Employees' Savings and Profit-Sharing Fund, it was announced this week.

An amount of $1,477,548 out of the 1962 profits was contributed, 26.7 percent greater than the year before, and the largest in the 44-year history of the fund.

Each company contributes on a rising scale from a minimum of 5 percent to a maximum of 10 percent of annual profits, before taxes and dividends, depending on the amount of profit earned.

Employees participate by having 5 percent of their wages, up to a maximum of $500 per year, deducted from their pay.

Total membership in both funds grew to 15,553 during 1962, or 97 percent of all eligible employees.

A spokesman for the company, commenting on the fund, said, "It is designed to enable employees to share in the largest way possible in the growth of the company, to provide greater security for employees during their working years and greater income on retirement."

The combined Simpsons-Sears profit-sharing fund owns over 10 percent of Simpsons Limited shares, the spokesman said.

Harold Mills heads Westmount Realties

More than half a century of experience in the real estate business is the background with which Harold Mills, FRI, 500 Elm avenue, Westmount, takes over as president of Westmount Realties Company, one of the oldest and largest such firms in Montreal. He succeeds his brother, the late Ernest B. Mills, with whom he founded the company in 1910.

Announcement of his election was made by the board of directors this week.

When Harold Mills started in real estate, Westmount itself was only partially developed, the upper level being sparse of population. Large suburban areas such as Notre Dame de Grace, Hampstead and Town of Mount Royal were only in the process of being subdivided. Cote St. Luc was a rural village and the Lakeshore was for the most part thought of as a summer home resort area.

In 1910 the Montreal Street Railway had 145 miles of track. Today one-way autobus road mileage exceeds 1,000 miles.

In the ensuing 53 years, a great modern metropolis has developed around the nucleus of a city, and Westmount Realties has been part of the metropolitan growth.

When Harold Mills and his brother founded the firm, it was exclusively a residential business. They were joined in 1914 by George S. Wheatly, in 1919 by the late James L. Miller and the late J. Wurtele Rankin, OBE, who, until his death in 1951, managed its commercial and industrial departments, and later by other associates.

The firm grew with the city until today, this highly departmentalized concern deals with residential, commercial and industrial accounts, with appraisal and with property management.

Born in Merrickville, Ont., Harold Mills came to Montreal in 1906. Later he became part owner of the printing company which published the Westmount News. The decision by Mr. Mills in 1910 to enter into real estate proved to be the right field for him. Since then, he has served the real estate business in general as well as his own firm.

Mr. Mills was one of the founders of the Montreal Real Estate Board and was president of that stabilizing body in 1929. He is a charter member of the Canadian Institute of Realtors, an organization which functions as the educational arm of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards. He is chairman of the recently-formed Quebec Chapter, No. 2 of the Institute.

The formal conferring of honors will take place next October during the annual teachers convention in a special ceremony under the joint auspices of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers and the Protestant Committee.

Drury returns to home hustings

C. M. Drury, Liberal standard-bearer in St. Antoine-Westmount in a televised address this week said that a Liberal government would cooperate with the governments of their city and province to do whatever was necessary to make the World's Fair a success and speed its planning and arrangements.

Mr. Drury arrives back in Montreal today after a two day speaking tour of the Maritime Provinces.

This evening he is holding an Open House at his Central Committee Room, 4825 Sherbrooke street west, to meet all constituents in the Westmount area.

During the past week, in addition to his Maritime tour, Mr. Drury spoke at a joint meeting in the Atwater Market. Prior to the meeting he toured the Committee Rooms in the St. Henri area meeting many of the constituents.

As the campaign enters its last week, Mr. Drury, who is the Liberal Defence spokesman, will be spending most of his time meeting constituents throughout the riding.

On Wednesday, he will be attending a rally with Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson at the Drill Hall, Craig street, at 8 p.m.

He will make a final television appearance on Thursday, April 4 when he will speak on behalf of all the Liberal candidates for the island.

Political diet hard to stomach - Kerrigan

Canada is suffering from political indigestion, according to Peter Kerrigan. Since April of last year "we have had a continuing diet of partisan politics dominating our National scene and draining off a good part of our National energy," he said.

Speaking before a crowd of about 250 people at Westmount High School last week, the Conservative standard-bearer said that this political "diet" has left Canadians perplexed, confused and groping.

"We have had so many contradictions of facts, we have heard so much criticism, much of which we are almost coming to believe, we find it difficult to know who to believe and who not to believe. Perhaps we are allowing ourselves to be convinced by the pessimists, like the patient who talks him-

Support Easter Seals campaign

THE Easter Seals Campaign gets underway on Tuesday with the traditional mailing to 500,000 householders of a pink envelope containing a supply of seals.

There are some facets of the disbursements of the funds so collected which are not generally known, but which speak highly in favor of support for the campaign.

For example, seven scholarships of $1,500 each are provided in physiotherapy for both French and English students. The course takes three years and the graduates join the staffs of hospitals caring for the crippled.

In addition, disbursements from the funds collected go out to other agencies, such as the Mackay Centre for Deaf and Crippled Children.

A noticeable trend has been established here in the past couple of years where there are many campaigns, and most have been under-subscribed.

This should not be the case with Easter Seals campaign. And it's so easy to contribute: just put what you can afford in the pink envelope and drop it in the mail.

And use the seals on your mail to remind those who might have forgotten to mail their contribution.

Our electoral system is not up-to-date

Sir: It is a belief shared by many, stimulated by the trend of recent happenings, that the electoral system, which essentially includes the present-day system of representation, is no longer compatible with, nor can they any longer provide or sustain, that ethereal and nebulous system of Government glibly referred to as Democracy. 'Demokratia' is as out-moded as are the tactics and weapons of Waterloo and Trafalgar.

An effet Parliament, perhaps the worst in Canada's history, has recently terminated. Blame for its futility can not be placed with any party. It must be shared by all, and attributed in large measure to an out-moded, vicious and undemocratic system by which Candidates are selected, nominated, and are controlled after election. The whole electoral system is a negation of the loosely-used term "Democracy," and its definition as "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people." By any test it is not representative, and the disparagement between popular vote, and the number of representatives elected to respective parties, establishes only one important aspect of the fact.

We have witnessed the tragedy and the scandal of a party elected by the people, being coerced, blackmailed and manipulated by splinter parties which had nothing in common beyond sustaining their own political and personal interests. To this end, they were prepared to, and did in fact, connive to render the party in power, innocuous, at a critical time in Canada's history.

When the time was propitious, and together, they were able to concoct motions of non-confidence in phraseology which attempted to disguise the great, but cheap conspiracy tacitly existing between them, they tumbled the Government out of office.

Many experienced relief when the end came, but as many are perplexed and fearful of the probability that the next election will find Canada confronted with a repetition of a Governmental enigma which could prove fatal to our economy should it engender a further international lack of confidence in the ability of Canada to set her disordered house straight.

Disintegration and disaffection has ensued amongst the leaders of the old guard, with mixed indications of honesty and treachery, but Mr. Dief-

Building activity up from depression level

That Westmount residents are taking advantage of opportunities offered under the Home Improvement Plan is evident in figures issued by the Department of Finance with regard to loans in this municipality up to February 1, 1937.

Seventeen loans, totalling $9,265, have been made through branches of banks situated in Westmount.

The easy availability of money for purposes of improving and altering dwellings, has been a great stimulus to the building and associated trades. Local builders, renovators, plumbers and other tradesmen report that business in the city has picked up since the plan has been effected and throughout the city activity is keen in the modernizing and renovating of homes.

Members of the victorious Dominion-Douglas team were: Bevan, Hanna, Swindon, Darling, McKee, Brunt, Cochrane, Grant, McIntosh, R. Jones, D. Jones.

Local Rabbis denounce dictatorship

In local synagogues on Sunday, Rabbis formed a united front in their denunciation of dictatorship, and all forms of despotism.

Taking as his subject "The Three-Fold Freedom," Rabbi Abramowitz of Shaar Hashomayim recalled that Passover is a festival to emphasize the blessings of freedom, as it commemorates the time when, in a world enslaved by tyranny, the Israelites had the courage to strike out for their freedom from Egyptian bondage.

Rabbi Harry Stern of the Temple Emanu-El said in part: "Because the Jew at Sinai pledged his loyalty to moral law, he was destined to become the great protestant — embodying the Divine protest against injustice, slavery, falsehood, and oppression."

After appearing in fifty cities in the United States and Canada during the past five months, the National Ballet Company will end its tour with its performances in Montreal on Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Her Majesty's Theatre.

Special guests invited to attend the opening, will be entertained by Westmounters at dinner parties before going to the theatre, then on to the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts where a reception "Arabesques Printanieres" will be held later.

His Excellency the French Ambassador, Raymond Bousquet and Mme. Bousquet are to be entertained by Mme. Ph. B. Papachristidis; also expected to attend are Honorable Justice Gerald Fauteux and Mme. Fauteux.

Needed: more open space about new buildings

This is the sixth in a series of reports on Westmount's "master plan" for redevelopment of the city between Sherbrooke street and the southern limits. It is based on the report submitted to City Council in 1960 by the firm of Bland, Lemoyne and Edwards, Architects and Town Planning Consultants.

This firm spent eight months on an intensive study of the southern area, in order to provide "a sound basis for regulations to preserve the unique character of Westmount and at the same time provide for its orderly redevelopment."

Much of the new zoning by-law, approved recently by City Council, is based on information given in this report. A detailed study of this by-law will appear in later issues.

In the southern area of Westmount there are over fifteen different widths of streets ranging from less than forty to one hundred feet, the report stated. Major roads are generally among the widest as would be expected, but the paved widths are not necessarily of the same order. However, with the City owning the rights-of-way the potential width of paving can be considered as being directly proportional to the street width. "In many cases the widths of paving and street bear little relationship to the density of traffic they carry. This is usually due to the various types of land subdivision within the City and the erection of buildings at different setbacks behind street planting."

Combined with the variety of street widths is the similar multiplicity of building lines. The majority of lines range from approximately ten to fifteen feet. The others which exceed these limits can be considered as local conditions due to existing buildings. There is essentially no difference in setbacks on the main arteries and minor streets indicating that the building line is not a function of the street width under present conditions.

As a fraction of the normal lot depth the distance between the street line and the front building line is approximately one eighth to one twelfth and is therefore a more direct function dimensionally of the block width. "The relationship of the buffer space between street and building is important in town building and should be incorporated into the criteria governing new development," it was noted.

Provide light, air and verdure

"A better picture of the prevailing situation can be seen by adding the so-called buffer spaces on either side of the street to the width of the effective street width, measured between the two building lines. What the effective street widths indicate is the amount of open space along the street fronts of buildings providing light, air and verdure. It also helps to establish the scale of the architecture on the street.

The open space about a street is an urban characteristic that requires attention if it is to provide amenity to the occupants of buildings and to the passers-by in streets, the report said. "The pleasant character that contributes much to the charm of the southern area is based upon this phenomenon and where it has been ignored the consequences have been noticeable."

The distance between building lines on either side of a block determines the effective block width. Most blocks measure between 250 and 300 feet except for blocks of early subdivisions where the lot depths were less and for some blocks which only contain large lots extending from street to street. Within the effective block width there exists the open space left over for rear yards made up by conglomerations of buildings, fences, yards, gardens and lanes. This interior open space provides light, air and verdure to the same buildings that front onto pleasant streets in an orderly manner.

Improve economic value of all properties

"Buildings sited on lots so as to get light from both front and back often forfeit their rear portions both internally and externally because of the inferior conditions which exist there. For large development the results are frequently economically unsound and architecturally unattractive. Day-lighting standards and aesthetic considerations are sufficient reasons to promote the better design of the interior spaces within the block, which would tend probably to improve the economic value of all properties."

The lanes have different widths varying from less than fifteen to twenty feet. The widest are the most benefit to vehicular traffic providing space for two cars or trucks which is important in servicing the properties. Garages and sheds are usually built up against the right-of-way as are some larger buildings either to their full height or partially.

'Disparity in standards'

Rear yard requirements are such that it is possible to have a minimum effective width of interior open space of as little as twenty feet at ground level and only proportionately more above the first floor. "This is not at all compatible with street-side requirements which are at least two and a half times this width and usually greater. The disparity in standards is based upon earlier forms of development and can no longer be considered useful for contemporary needs."

Floor area Ratio

The bulk of building is measured in terms of building density. The method most commonly accepted for regulating or assessing building density is by the Floor Area Ratio (FAR) which is the ratio of the gross floor area of a structure to the total area of the lot. As such it measures building density directly and population density indirectly; residents in apartments, shoppers in stores, workers in factories.

Although this method is not currently in use by the City of Westmount a similar control has been adopted in certain areas by limiting the cube of a building to thirty-five times the area of the site on which it stands. Assuming the floor to floor height to be nine feet for such a cube the FAR is approximately equal to four which provides a basis of comparison with other existing buildings.

As might be expected the ratios correspond closely to the pattern of development: wherever apartment houses and commercial buildings occur the FAR is high and where there are single family dwellings it is correspondingly low. New buildings generally have a higher ratio than older buildings of the

Parents plan graduation party

By JUDI ROTHMAN and ELIZABETH CAMPBELL

Last Monday night, a meeting was held in the auditorium to form a Parents' Graduation Committee.

Friday, May 24, has been set as graduation day for Westmount High School. Last year, all arrangements for the dinner, dance, and theatre party were taken care of most efficiently by a committee of Grade XI parents acting in consultation with a students' committee. Experience has shown that the assistance and experience of parents is needed to make the graduation a memorable occasion for all.

The assumption of responsibility for the program by the parents has the added advantage of leaving the pupils free to concentrate on their school work.

Approximately seventy parents turned up at the meeting last Monday night to give their assistance. Mr. and Mrs. J. Kennedy, members of last year's Parents' Committee, were on hand to help with explanations.

Although no definite plans were made, the committees and their heads were chosen:

Co-chairmen — J. Lipson, P. Mustard; secretary — Mrs. H. M. Cowan; treasurer — J. R. Garland; decorations — H. Mayerovitch (head), Mrs. C. Lebovitz, Mrs. P. Mustard, Mrs. P. G. Edgell, P. R. Austin, Mrs. G. A. Forber, Mrs. M. Notkin; dinner — Mrs. W. Aronoff (head), Mrs. E. Adeland, Mrs. G. H. McDougall, Mrs. J. Stewart; refreshments — Mrs. W. E. Collison (head), Mrs. C. Crelinsten, Mrs. S. Adams; orchestra — W. F. Reider; entertainment — Mrs. R. J. Bruck, Mrs. W. Abrams; prizes — Mrs. S. W. Baker, S. Godine; theatre — Mrs. V. Turley.

The above committees will work jointly with a Students' Committee whose members are Carol Bruce, Paul Latour, John Dorken, Pat Cavanagh, Mike Bedford, Lawrence Schwartz, Penny Turley, John Tilley, Dave McDougall and Barbra Fidgeon.

Last Friday night, the fourth sports banquet in Westmount High was held. The evening events began at 5:30 p.m. with a chicken dinner. After the one hundred students and fifteen teachers had finished eating, the presentation of awards began under the direction of the M.C.'s — president of the Boy's Athletic Association, Jon Deitcher and president of the Girls' Athletic Association.

Teams represented at the banquet were boys' basketball, boys' hockey, boys' skiing, boys' curling, girls' basketball, girls' volleyball, girls' swimming, and girls' skiing. The junior and senior cheerleaders were also present. The members of the various teams were awarded with tabs and a "W" for their participation.

Steve Abbott, captain of the bantam hockey team, was presented with a trophy which his teammates, impressed with Steve's sportsmanship and general attitude, had bought for him.

Mr. Wood then announced the winners of the Most Valuable Player Award from the boys' senior basketball and hockey teams: Mike Hersh for basketball and Courtney Pratt for hockey.

The guest speaker was Mr. Dave Baillie, head of the department of Physical Education at Lindsay Place High School. He spoke about amateur athletics and the Olympics.

Having participated in the Olympics at Helsinki, Melbourne and Rome, Mr. Baillie was well-versed on the topic.

After a few remarks from Mr. Wood, the banquet was ended formally by the two Masters of Ceremonies. A dance for the members of the Senior School followed.

On March 20, the Alumnae held a fashion show in the school auditorium. The highlight of the evening occurred, when six of our girls demurely came in wearing 19th century clothes. The applause was frantic, especially from a few

Ian Grant heads Students' Society

In elections held recently at the Montreal Diocesan Theological College, D. Ian Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Grant, 472 Victoria Avenue Westmount, was elected President of the Student's Society. He was subsequently appointed Senior Student of the College by the Principal, the Rev. Canon Eric G. Jay.

Educated at Roslyn School and Westmount High, Grant is a graduate of Sir George Williams University and is at present completing his second year of Divinity at McGill.

scattered boys in the audience. After the show, the girls left feeling underprivileged, and consequently went to boost their egos by eating in the gym.

The school was visited last Friday afternoon by the Bishops University Choir. After singing a few joyous songs, the choir proceeded to poke fun at politics.

Four boys dressed brilliantly in workers' clothes imitated the Limelinters and then joined the choir for a combination of "rock 'n' roll" and a satire on commercials. For the last number, the choir sang the College's 'Alma Mater'.

the field of engraving and particularly, in recent years, in color engraving. Its successes have played a leading role in the current revival of the art of print-making.

Mrs. Steinhouse's engravings are examples of intaglio printing and the advanced research of "Atelier 17" into the possibilities of printing in multiple color from single plates worked to different depths in a single operation.

Statements of light and atmosphere

Employing the special and new techniques based on a knowledge of colored inks, papers, intaglio and a variety of rollers, she translates her artistic preconceptions into statements of light and atmosphere.

Mrs. Steinhouse has had one-man shows in Paris and Montreal. She has also participated in group exhibitions in the same centres as well as in cities across Canada.

At the present time, samples of her work are on view in the Museum's Gallery XII series where she is exhibiting with sculptor Mario Bartolini until March 31.

She is represented in the permanent collection of the Quebec Provincial Museum, the National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa, and the Canadian Embassy, Moscow, as well as in numerous private collections.

Mrs. Steinhouse is a member of l'Association des Peintres non-figuratifs as well as the Canadian Group of Painters.

She says of her style and aims:

"I have a personal preference for the mystery and magic all around us, for the implied but not fully stated image. This leaves a residue of thought for the onlooker, something for his spirit to explore and to live with. If you take the mystery away, it is a sorry world indeed. My feeling for light — one might call it an obsession with light — is very important to me."

"Our first concern was to give the people of the riding an opportunity to hear the issues discussed by the candidates of the two major parties. Because we are anxious to have the voters of the Ridgewood area hear the debate, my committee will arrange a bus service to and from the meeting."

Format for the debate will include 10 minute opening statements and three minute rebuttals by each man. Following questions from the floor each candidate will be allowed a three minute summing up.

Costs of the meeting are to be split between the two parties.

Mr. Kerrigan last week challenged C. M. Drury to a public debate based on a paid advertisement entitled "How did Canada get into this mess, anyway?" It was published by the Liberal Party last Tuesday. The debate, Mr. Kerrigan said, should take place in the Ridgewood avenue auditorium.

Mr. Drury, on the other hand, said that the debate should be held in Victoria Hall Westmount, "a more central area, one with better parking facilities, and larger capacity."

W.J.C. Stikeman heads John Howard Society

The need for greater co-operation between rehabilitation agencies and the government was stressed last week by Leeds Nelson, 648 Roslyn avenue, outgoing President of the John Howard Society of Quebec. He was succeeded by W. J. C. Stikeman of Westmount.

Speaking before the Society's 69th annual meeting, Mr. Nelson said he believed that government is trying to support, rather than interfere with the work of private agencies. Little could be attained by adopting an attitude of suspicion or distrust, he suggested.

"I am completely satisfied they are willing and anxious to discuss frankly with the agencies any and all aspects of penal reform and rehabilitation. I would hope that all the agencies and national and provincial associations would approach the problem and negotiate with the same spirit of cooperation." Elected president of the John Howard Society of Quebec at the meeting was W. J. C. Stikeman, 571 Upper Lansdowne avenue. Mr. Stikeman, former president of the agency's employment committee for released of-

Your child's future is in the balance

The major problem facing Canada at this moment is to find work, not only for the thousands of Canadians now out of jobs, but a quarter million additional jobs, every year, for the young men and women coming out of school. A Liberal Government would stop antagonizing our two best export customers — the US and Britain — on whom one Canadian in five depends for his job. The Liberal plans call for a Department of Industry to work to establish industries in those areas where idle manpower is greatest . . . to get more goods manufactured in Canada. A responsible Government means greater security for you . . . and your child. On April 8th, the decision is yours . . .

Needed: more open space...

same type which reflects the higher cost of land and greater scale of development than was common as recent as fifteen years ago.

As in the case of tall buildings the greatest building densities are to be found along the major roads, where the need for greater bulk has been most acute.

The Floor Area Ratio of a building is a direct function of the lot coverage. A high FAR does not indicate always the form of the bulk which might be low and squat covering most of the site or high and tower-like standing only on a small portion of the lot. The FAR must be considered in terms of the space about buildings which throughout new development in southern Westmount seems inadequate the planning firm said.

'Restrictions encourage maximum exploitation'

"The present criteria for lot coverage are not conducive to the sense of pleasant openness required about buildings of greater bulk. Restrictions on yard width and rear setbacks along with height regulations do not combine to permit development of an attractive nature, but rather tend to encourage the maximum exploitation of whatever is possible regardless of appearance. A means towards the promotion of a better understanding of town planning principles must be established to avoid irresponsible development. The use of the Floor Area Ratio method with simplified lot coverage regulations can be a step in implementing a sense of urban aesthetic sadly forgotten in recent years."

If a building covers fifty percent of the site on which it stands, its height is double that of the Floor Area Ratio regulating the site. The FAR method therefore serves as an approximate guide to the height of development that can be anticipated in an area without actually stipulating limits. This does not mean that there cannot be height restrictions to be used jointly with the FAR control, which would be the desirable solution in particular areas.

The report stated that the necessity of a control of the distribution of building accommodation is based upon the securing of good conditions — of light, air, access, and amenity — for all buildings within a given area. The FAR method enables the City to control building density in different districts, on individual lots and different types of building. It promotes the possibility of the regrouping of buildings within reasonably large and regularly shaped street blocks. It permits the development of a street system that can cope adequately with the traffic by not overloading certain areas at the expense of others and contributes somewhat to a more equitable distribution of parking facilities within each area.

It provides the opportunity to develop a system of defined open spaces, whether small or not, throughout particular areas creating thereby a sense of urban development that is pleasant without being wasteful.

"In addition, it tends to create a compactness of building development within street blocks and zones which is an advantage for uses that are interdependent and best located within the same areas. The extent of each use district and its particular Floor Area Ratio must be well defined and recognized for the purposes of conservation and redevelopment.

The speaker next Wednesday will be W. A. Lawrence, associate senior executive of Canada, Limited who will talk on the problems and needs of the retired man.

St. Antoine-Westmount Conservative candidate Peter Kerrigan chats with Trade and Commerce Minister M. Wallace McCutcheon at a recent meeting in Westmount High School. It was the Minister's first public appearance in Quebec since accepting the Cabinet post.

KERRIGAN: "I predict a Conservative Government on April 8th. This statement would seem preposterous 4 weeks ago. But not today. There is a new trend across Canada. A trend to the Conservative Party. I do not ask you, the voters of St. Antoine-Westmount, to unthinkingly accept my forecast. But I do urge you to follow developments closely and vote for the party that will form the government so as to ensure that it is a majority government".

MCCUTCHEON: "The Canadian economy's record of achievement in 1962 was one of the most impressive since the end of World War II by any yardstick. The trend line for Canada is in the right direction. It is going up . . . steel production is up 12% . . . motor vehicle production is up 43% . . . merchandise exports are up 9%. There is no indication we are losing the momentum we gained in 1962 . . . employment has increased."

Youngsters who can't swim and don't know how to handle a boat are often all wet. This is the theme of two water safety films just released by Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada in cooperation with the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The films, "Be Water Wise" and "Boating and Good Sense," are both in color and 14 minutes in length. They were produced by Crawley Films Limited, and will be shown by regional Red Cross branches, to schools, Y, and other community groups across Canada.

"Be Water Wise," which deals with the fundamentals of swimming and water rescue, says the secret of water safety is primarily a matter of care, training and common sense. It gives practical demonstrations on how to float and tread water, and how to proceed in water rescue.

Designed for all age groups, the films are especially suitable for children. They were filmed at a summer camp in the Laurentians last summer. Prints are available in English and French.

Our election system...

enbaker displays inordinate courage or egotism, and seems determined to stick with the ship, which, even if it makes port, stands little chance of ever again being sea-worthy or with a crew sufficient in number to have more than nuisance value.

So far not platform has emerged from the preliminary speeches which have been made, and the theme song of the last election persists of "Anything you can do, I can do better," but each leader has expressed the hope that the electorate will return his party with a workable majority, without intimating why, or how, this may happen. The electorate is as confused and as frustrated as it was before the last election.

True the issue of nuclear weapons is being tossed about and commitments to an ally are important if they are seriously and intelligently entered into, and provided the circumstances, and conditions prevailing at the time of the commitment are not fundamentally changed; but this is a matter for the Defence experts, and certainly not a subject for hustings blarney nor yet one on which the general electorate can be asked to pronounce.

The writer has experienced a couple of Wars on two major fronts, in three services, including the RAF and RFC, as a pilot, but confesses complete ignorance of modern weapons and their scientific deployment. How in Heaven's name can any responsible Party take this issue to people as grounds for their support or rejection?

Let us hear more of realistic plans to recuperate the country from its perilous economic position, supported at this time by pump-priming and extravagant spending; bolstered by a spurious exchange rate, favored temporarily by an act of God which facilitated wheat sales to starving China.

It is at once true and lamentable, though not generally realized, that a small percentage of those few going to the polls know who they are voting for; what they are voting for; and in some cases why they are voting at all.

Their votes are, of course, swamped by those with personal interests; party prejudice; and the gullible swayed personality, and/or fantastic and unrealisable promises.

As for the candidates, they come in all shapes and sizes, motivated by a variety of promptings, and/or interests, social, financial, psychiatric, with a leveling of capable individuals who desire genuinely to serve their fellow-countrymen, and would and could do so, if funds were available for campaigning purposes for those not chained to a party system.

Elections have grown to be too expensive, and in many city ridings it costs $25,000 and frequently more to make a showing. Great and overwhelming advantage goes therefore to the candidate with the largest political funds at his disposal. That election appointments are largely in the hands of the party last in office, also raises costs and promotes a deal of election chicanery.

Need one comment on the present mal distribution of seats, which gives the rural areas favorable and disproportionate representation and power. There is little that is original in these comments. The public is aware of the evils of the whole system. Governments have promised action, but the promised Independent Commissions have still to be inaugurated.

And what of the Party system? What is the significance of Liberalism — Conservatism — Socialism? Where are the platforms originally identified with this, now spurious nomenclature? Let us beware of the accelerating trend to patrimony, of the promises of full employment — fringe benefits — subsidies for butter — bigger baby bonuses, of unrealistic and unrealisable promises which, should they materialize, will be paid for by the fools whose vote has been purchased with their own money.

It is suggested that candidates and party leaders in designing platforms should give attention to some of these considerations, and to the mounting dissatisfaction of the general public, which will not indefinitely continue to be discussed only at coffee breaks.

Consideration could well be given to what has happened and what is happening in the Province of Quebec, under strong, capable and honest government. If French-Canadian citizens are dissatisfied with the federal government, there would appear to be ample justification for it at this time.

It may well be that the survival of Confederation, desired by most, could ultimately depend upon a return to the dignity, and honesty of non-political statemanship, of which qualities our federal government has been temporarily bereft.

It may be that new Leaders will have to be found, or developed, and a check placed on the tendency of many organizations to perpetuate their species, without due cognizance of changing conditions.

It is significant that certain European countries which have risen from their ashes in recent years to rate as formidable competitors in the industrial and commercial fields, have swept away old habits and customs, are no longer consulting precedent in the formulation of law, commercial practice, and diplomacy, but are rather looking ahead in contemplation of inevitable evolutionary changes which face the world, as a basis on which to plan.

These countries are enjoying an economic prosperity in an increasingly competitive world, in which we are losing ground.

Canada needs, new, virile and dedicated leadership — perhaps a new party, with ideals and objectives rather than a static or limited platform. Our electoral system has to be drastically overhauled and modernized to meet changed conditions. We must have more statemanship and less politics. Canadian citizens must have opportunity to exercise their rights and influence. It cannot be done under our present electoral system.

Sidney G. Chick

To the electors of St. Antoine-Westmount: —

I want to talk to you today about the attitude Canada should take towards nuclear arms and defence policy.

As you know, the New Democratic Party is the only party which is clear and consistent in its opposition to the use of nuclear arms by Canadian forces. Why is this so? It does not mean that we of the New Democratic Party have a negative and unconstructive policy about Canadian defence.

On the contrary. We believe that our defence policy must be part of our foreign policy — and that the chief object of the foreign policy of any country must be the preservation of peace. Canadian foreign policy must be based on the preservation of the free democracies which are our friends. We have obligations to our allies, and a belief in the values of freedom which determine the policy we must follow.

But we should not merely follow the lead of our allies. We must do, for the common good, those things which we are best able to do. It is important for the whole world that the new countries of Asia and Africa are drawn into a fruitful partnership with the countries which were once colonial powers. Because Canada is known to have an independent mind, and because we have no selfish interest of our own in dealing with them, we are able to exert great influence on the uncommitted countries in the United Nations. We should not adopt arms policies which might endanger the confidence we have built up among the new countries.

If we accept nuclear arms for our forces in Canada and in Europe we magnify two of the present dangers to peace. One of these is that the use of tactical nuclear weapons (like the Honest John rocket) greatly increases the danger of escalation if hostilities break out. The second grave danger is that the more countries have nuclear weapons the harder it will be ever to reach agreement on nuclear disarmament.

Furthermore, if we adopt nuclear weapons ourselves we can no longer expect the non-nuclear nations to take us seriously as a leader in the cause of peace. We are listened to by other countries because we have in the past taken an honest and independent position. We cannot afford to throw away the goodwill we have built up in the councils of the world. And neither can our friends.

Cordially yours,

Julien Major,

Japanese atmosphere created in restaurant

By Millicent Hickmore

When I was a child, my father, who had travelled over most of the world, used to tell me fascinating tales of the different countries he had visited, one of them being Japan.

How in Japan, one had to remove his shoes before entering the homes, sit on the cushions on the floor, Japanese style, use chop-sticks, and how the man of the house, in Japan, was master.

This was brought to mind when we visited Madame Butterfly's Restaurant, 220 Jean Talon street, east, recently. After removing our shoes, we were ushered into a room with a traditional Japanese atmosphere, bamboo matting on the floor, wall paper designed with dainty Japanese women holding parasols and soft Oriental music. Seated on cushions in the softly lighted room, trying to manipulate the chop-sticks, we felt that we were indeed in another world.

The two Japanese women, Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mrs. Kay Endo, owners of the restaurant, dressed in colorful kimonos, served the delectable Japanese courses and instructed us on the use of chop-sticks.

Women who desire something smart and different in the way of entertaining for dinner or luncheon parties, will find this restaurant ideal, and reservations are attended to personally by telephoning 271-4803.

WHAT NEXT: Can-openers may soon become as obsolete as the wash-board or the button-hook. An item recently introduced at the Packaging Exhibition held annually in Paris was a can sealed with a strip of plastic. All you do to open it is pull the tab, in the same way you remove the wrapper from a cigarette pack. According to reports, the can was one of the most successful items at the show. In view of this, perhaps the phrase "cooking with a can-opener" will change to "cooking with plastics". The bride of the next generation will certainly have it easy.

CO-CHAIRMEN: Mrs. Leo Rosentzweig, chairman of the YM-YWHA 1963 Women's Campaign Organization announces the appointment of Mrs. Leo Goldfarb and Mrs. Theodore Goldman as co-chairmen of the new governors committee for the forthcoming Membership Drive. A report dessert luncheon for the Women's Campaign executive and new governors committee will take place at the home of Mrs. Goldfarb, 24 Glenmore road, Hampstead, on Tuesday, April 23 at 12.30 p.m. Committee workers are urged to complete their prospect lists as soon as possible.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

PREVENTION OF DIAPER RASH
By WILLIAM F. BURDICK, M.D.
Clinical Professor of Pediatrics
Georgetown University
Medical School

It is a mistake to think that diaper rash occurs only during babies' early months. Babies can get diaper rash as long as they wear diapers. Indeed, the most distressing and dangerous cases tend to be among older babies.

There are several reasons for this. During the first few months, mothers are usually more fastidious and prompt in changing their baby's diapers. Any slight skin blemish is apt to be given prompt attention. Proper diaper hygiene becomes increasingly important as the baby gets older when the diet contains substantial amounts of food that helps the urine to produce increased amounts of rash-causing ammonia.

There's helpful advice for all mothers of babies of diaper age in the booklet "A Mother's Guide to Diaper Hygiene," prepared by the National Baby Care Council.

The booklet points out that there are five different causes that singly or in combination are responsible for the ailment.

1. Ammonia, the most common, a powerful skin irritant formed by the decomposition of urine in the diaper.
2. Live bacteria, present in a washed, dried and clean diaper that has not been sterilized.
3. Chafing of the skin due to a diaper left harsh after washing.
4. Alkaline condition of the diaper resulting from most conventional laundering.
5. Skin scalding due to the chemical action of traces of soaps or detergents which have not been completely rinsed out of the diaper.

The booklet is available from the National Baby Care Council, 1913 Walnut St., Philadelphia 3, Penna. Enclose 10c for mailing.

The public is invited to attend. This program will close the Wednesday teas given by the Ladies' Committee.

Four interesting films at Museum

A program of films on arts associated with Church decoration will be shown at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts on April 3 at 6:30 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m. These represent examples of liturgical art from four countries — France, Germany, Greece and Great Britain.

The first film is entitled "The Tapestry of the Apocalypse" and describes the magnificent tapestry in the Castle of Angers, ancient seat of the Dukes of Anjou. It was woven to the order of Louis, 1st Duke of Anjou on the theme of the Revelation of St. John the Divine. Details are studied with dramatic close-ups; the commentary is based on the text of the Apocalypse.

The second film "Ad Dei Honorem" shows in detail the Borderholm Altar, one of the masterpieces of German 16th century art. The many panels representing scenes from the Passion of Our Lord are the work of the wood-carver Hans Bruggeman. These great sculptured retables are in Schleswig Cathedral.

The third film "Daphni: Virgin of the Golden Laurels" features the life of the Virgin and Christ as depicted in the Byzantine mosaics of the 11th century church at Daphni, near Athens. The narration is by Ethel Barrymore and Maurice Evans and the music by Howard Brubeck.

Lastly, "Stained Glass at Fairford" shows in great detail the famous mediaeval stained glass windows at Fairford in Gloucestershire. The film follows the story of the Bible from the Garden of Eden to the Day of Judgment as designed by the artists who created the windows. The exterior of the church is also studied.

PLANNING THE CONCERT at Plateau Hall on April 27, which will feature the eminent American Artists, Leonard Rose, cellist, and Leon Fleisher, pianist, are committee members of the Concert Society of the Jewish People's Schools. Have you ever been asked?...

"How did Canada get into this mess, anyway?"

It's hard to believe, now, that not long ago the world looked with envy at Canada's rapid growth, rising standard of living, social progress, her national prestige—and paid a premium for the Canadian dollar.

We're the same people with the same tremendous country. What happened?

There is no denying we're now living in a tough, competitive world. Our position and our trade have slipped.

The hard fact is . . . most of our troubles result from mismanagement by government.

Ineffectual, do-nothing government is one thing we just can't afford . . .

Empty words about how good things are, while hundreds of thousands haven't jobs . . .

Proving how independent we are by adopting a chip-on-the-shoulder attitude toward our friends and allies . . .

Refusing to face facts or to "level" with the Canadian people, while the nation drifts and confidence sags . . .

That's what we've been getting long enough. And the price has been too high.

April 8th is our chance to prove to ourselves and the world that we know how to manage our national affairs.

If you are fed up with weak minority government; if you are ready for sound decisions, a government prepared to govern — cast your vote for your Liberal candidate. Help assure a sound working Liberal majority in the next Parliament. It's the one way we can get started on the job of cleaning up the mess.

Vote for a strong, decisive, responsible, do-something
LIBERAL GOVERNMENT

Dear Abby...

Memo To All Teen-agers

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You hear a lot about teenaged girls going wrong. Here's the other side of the story: I am a male, age 20, and I have a four-year-old son to support. I've never been married. I went with a nice 16-year-old girl and we thought we were in love. We got serious and before we knew it we had gone further than we had intended to. I would have married her but I was scared. And I didn't want to be tied down at the age of 16. Annie (not her real name) died nine months later in the delivery room. She left me and her parents with a ten-pound bundle. Her last wish was for me to take care of the baby. Annie was a wonderful girl. I have been running from the idea that I killed her ever since. I joined the Army to forget, but I can't. I haven't dated a girl since. I don't think I ever will. Annie's parents are raising the boy and I still haven't the courage to face them and ask them to forgive me. Abby, please keep preaching to teen-agers that playing with grown-up ideas is asking for trouble.

SINGLE FATHER

DEAR FATHER: For every girl who gets "in trouble," there is a boy. But seldom does one have the courage to step forward and take the blame. If your letter makes one boy or girl think twice — it's worth the space in this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY: Tell the woman who can't watch television during the day because her husband takes a tube out of the set before he goes to work in the mornings to take another tube out after he leaves. So when he come home at night and replaces the tube he took out so HE can watch television, it still won't work.

SANDY

DEAR SANDY: And what has she gained? Then neither of them will be able to watch it. You remind me of the man who drilled a hole in the bottom of the boat so the other guy would sink.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law carries my father-in-law his juice while he is shaving, and then drives his car out of the garage and warms it up for him. I have tried to get my wife to adopt these tender, loving gestures, but she won't do it. How can I get her to take a lesson from her mother?

LATE RISER

DEAR LATE: You can't "get" your wife to perform "tender, loving gestures" by demanding them. Find out what your father-in-law does to inspire such thoughtfulness, and take a lesson from HIM.

DEAR ABBY: Since I got pregnant four months ago, every little thing upsets me. The house looks a wreck, I never get caught up on my washing and ironing and the kitchen sink is always full of dirty dishes. I can't control the older children. I scream at them until I'm hoarse and whip them until I'm exhausted. I'm so glad when they're at school. I cry a lot when I'm alone and think I must be "crazy." I have prayed for help but none comes. I could never tell this to my doctor. Everyone thinks I'm so calm. This baby will be number ten.

"CRAZY PERSON"

DEAR MOTHER: A "crazy person" does not usually know that she has a problem, nor does she seek help as you have done in writing to me. If you can't talk to your doctor, see your clergyman right away. He will understand and help you, but you must do as he says.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for five years to a man who is getting on my nerves. He doesn't give me a dime unless I tell him what I need it for. I haven't bought myself any clothes for two years. He says I don't need anything. If HE wants something, he buys it. I don't know what he earns as I've never seen his pay check. He takes me to the local drive-in movie three times a year. That's my entertainment. He has an ugly temper and when he gets mad he kicks everything in sight. He won't leave the house without suntan lotion on his face and dark glasses. Winter and summer! Is something wrong with him? Do you think he's dangerous?

SICK OF IT ALL

DEAR SICK: He is certainly peculiar, and could be dangerous. Ask your clergyman to help you get him to a doctor. And do it now.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 16. He is constantly going up to his room and looking across into the neighbor's window where two teenaged girls have their bedroom. I told my husband and he said it was "natural." I don't think so, do you?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Curiosity IS natural, but this is bordering on the mischievous, it not pathological. Tell your son to cut out the peeping, and peep on him until you are sure he has.

National convention

The XV National Convention of the Czechoslovak National Association of Canada will be held at Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal, April 6 and 7.

Junior bowling set Saturday

Ted Elsby of the Alouettes and Don Burnett have organized the Canadian Junior Bowling Circuit. This is a series of duckpin and ten pin tournaments for boys and girls aged 18 and under. A mammoth tenpin tournament will be held on Saturday March 30, at the Laurentian Lanes located at 222 Montee de Liesse (Metropolitan boulevard) commencing at 11:00 a.m. and running through to 5:00 p.m.

More than 50 prizes will be drawn for all bowlers who participate. In addition the regular top prizes will be awarded to winners in the boys' and girls' classes.

The cost is just $1.50 and boys and girls from the West End are welcome to participate. The 192nd finisher will receive $7.50, which is 50% more than his entry fee.

The 96 teams will be paired in this manner: The players finishing in first and second place will play as a team. Third and fourth place finishers as another team, and so on down the line. All bowlers may enter as often as they like, but they can only qualify once and cash once. These 96 teams then compete in the Pro-Am Tournament.

The top 192 players that finish highest in the Pro-Am Qualification Tournament are divided into 96 doubles teams. Each one of these teams will have a top name PBA Star member bowl with them to form a three man team in this event.

Both amateurs on each team will receive 100% of the difference between their average and 190 for each of the three games as their handicap. The Pro of course will bowl scratch.

The total score for three games including the amateurs' score, their handicaps per game, and the Pro's score will determine the winner. In this tourney only the amateurs win cash prizes. The Pros do not share at all in this prize fund.

The only cure, he said, was for the country to get back to positive thinking, planning and building, by electing a majority government.

The Conservative Party today has the best chance to form such a government, he said.

At the same meeting, the Hon. M. Wallace McCutcheon, Minister of Trade and Commerce and former Toronto industrialist reviewed 1962 from an economic point of view. He said it was one of the best post-war years the country had experienced.

"There are two fundamental concerns for 1963," he said. "The first to step up the long term rate of growth by improving employment and increasing productivity; the second to work to overcome the problem of the balance of payment deficits.

'Clique system of government'

"In the rest of Quebec, the Chateau Clique' system of government came to an inglorious end in 1837, he commented. "It seems to flourish still in Westmount."

Four specific protests

The NDP candidate went on to make four specific protests: "I accuse the Westmount City Council of changing public rulings by informal agreement."

Over 100,000 clubs, more than 5,000,000 women, have competed in CCA to earn cash awards for the local club treasuries. Here in Montreal, the plan's sponsor, WPTZ, will make available over $5,000 to area club women.

"Finally, I accuse the Council of making a mockery of free elections by permitting large campaign banners to appear on a building in which several polls are located on election day. I have sent a formal protest on this score to the Returning Officers and to the Chief Electoral Officer."
