WESTMOUNT MAYOR FINDS AMERICAN CONFERRERS FIRMLY BEHIND BRITAIN

Tells Examiner That Municipal-Federal Co-operation On Defence Formed Major Part of Agenda at Conference of American Mayors in New York Last Week — Impressed by Mayor LaGuardia — Six Canadians Present

Mayor Walter A. Merrill returned last week-end from the conference of American mayors held in New York City firmly convinced that Great Britain has hundreds of staunch supporters among the chief magistrates of American communities. He was particularly impressed by the vivid personality of Mayor LaGuardia of New York.

It was the first time that Canadians had ever attended the gathering of their American conferrers; six of them, led by Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, were present at the 1940 deliberations.

In an interview with the Examiner, Mayor Merrill made the following comments of the conference at which he represented the City of Westmount:

"The most vivid impression I brought back with me from the conference of American mayors in New York last week was the dynamic and energetic personality of Mayor LaGuardia and the unanimous feeling among the mayors of the United States that nothing should be left undone to help Britain to win the battle which she is waging so that the democracies and civilization may survive.

"Under the able leadership of Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, president of the Federation of Canadian Mayors, six Canadian mayors for the first time were given the opportunity of discussing with their American colleagues matters of common interest, the most important at the present time being the most efficient manner in which municipalities can aid and co-operate in matters of defence and make adequate preparation for any emergency under present conditions.

"The most thrilling moment was when the Lord Mayor of London and the Mayor of New York exchanged greetings and sympathetic messages of goodwill by radio, and it is no exaggeration to say that at the end of the two-day broadcast there was not a person in the audience of mayors who was not deeply moved."

CITY REDUCES PROPERTY ROLL IN NINE CASES

Valuation is Maintained in 14 of the 23 Appeals For Revision

The valuation roll for 1940-41 was homologated by the Westmount City Council at this week's meeting after consideration was given to 23 appeals for revision. Of these the valuation was maintained in 14 cases and reductions were granted in nine cases. These reductions ranged from $200 to $1,800 and totalled $9,450.

The total taxable value according to the new roll is approximately $66,785,575. The taxable valuation according to last year's roll was $67,485,775.

The reduction of $700,200 is accounted for mainly by revision of values and by certain large properties having been acquired by the city for parks and other municipal purposes.

Mayor Walter A. Merrill presided.

R.M.R. COMMITTEE TO HOLD RUMMAGE SALE

The Ladies' Committee of the Royal Montreal Regiment will hold their semi-annual rummage sale on Saturday, October 5, at 2 p.m. in the Westmount Armoury, St. Catherine Street West, near the Glen. Mrs. J. H. Richardson, 457 Mount Stephen Avenue, is convener.

Socials And Hobby Clubs Major Events At "Y"

With the opening of school, "Y" activities are now in full swing. Among this season's novel activities will be a Saturday evening recreational program for boys and girls of high school age to commence in mid-October. Planned to last from six o'clock in the evening until midnight, each "party" will include badminton, swimming, social and folk dancing, and refreshments. The committees of the boys' and girls' "Y"s will probably take charge of the programs.

One of the feature attractions of the fall program is the Friday night social and recreational evening for young people. Starting the first Friday in October, the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium and swimming pool will be open to young couples who wish to participate in some wholesome recreation. Badminton will start the evening off, and all players will find the well-ventilated floor just the place to thoroughly enjoy themselves at this famous Canadian winter game. Bridge will also be played, followed by dancing, swimming, and light refreshments. This is an opportunity for the young people of Westmount to gather together amid ideal surroundings to mix socially and to enjoy health through recreation and exercise.

The Westmount "Y" Photography Club will meet this Saturday afternoon under the leadership of Mr. Graham Yates. All members interested in this modern hobby are invited to attend.

Craft Club activities start on October 1st. The club, which proved so popular last year, will carry on all the crafts started at that time and several new ones in addition. Once again it will be under the supervision of Ross Seaman, Wallace Beaton and Gordon Mackey.

Last year the club had during its seven month season over fifty members, and carried on ten different crafts. It gave several displays of its work at the local "Y" and several other branches in addition. Last week at the opening of the N.D.G. "Y" a fine exhibition of crafts was put on by the Craft Club.

Any member of Westmount Y.M.C.A. may join this season. Most popular of the crafts last year proved to be leatherwork. This year there will be a still wider field for leatherwork enthusiasts. Other crafts to be carried on are basketry, woodwork, cordwork, fretwork, hino-cutting, corkwork and plastercasting. Radio will also be included.

R.M.R. Men Train With McGill OTC Unit

Following its traditional policy of selecting its officers from the ranks, the Royal Montreal Regiment, N.P.A.M. (M.G.) will send a platoon of about 30 N.C.O.'s and privates to the McGill Contingent Canadian Officers' Training Corps, when that unit commences its fall work next week.

These men, however, will continue to be attached to the R.M.R. both during and after their period of training.

375 AIR CADETS ENROLLED IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Parades to Begin Early in October — Syllabus Includes Squad and Arm Drill, and Aviation Lectures

375 boys from Westmount High and Intermediate Schools have already registered for the local Air Cadet Corps, one of the local Air Cadet Corps, organized in the first units to be organized in a Dominion-wide scheme recently approved by the Department of National Defence. Authorities had expected that only about 300 would register, but in spite of the large class, there is still room for additional recruits.

Under the command of Captain H. P. Hisey, the corps will train according to a syllabus which includes squad drill, manual of arms, lectures on topics pertaining to aviation, model aircraft work, and the theory of flight. Mr. L. P. Patterson will represent the staff of the High School, while Mr. J. K. Snyder will act as the Intermediate School's representative.

Training commences at the Intermediate School near the beginning of October. When the corps meets as a body for the first time, the boys will be divided into squads of about 40 for instructional purposes.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO ALPHONSE RACINE

Many Montrealers paid their final tribute to Alphonse Racine, prominent Westmount citizen for many years, at the funeral service held for him last Tuesday morning in St. Leon's Church. Mr. Racine died at his residence, 205 Edgemoor Road on September 21 in his 59th year.

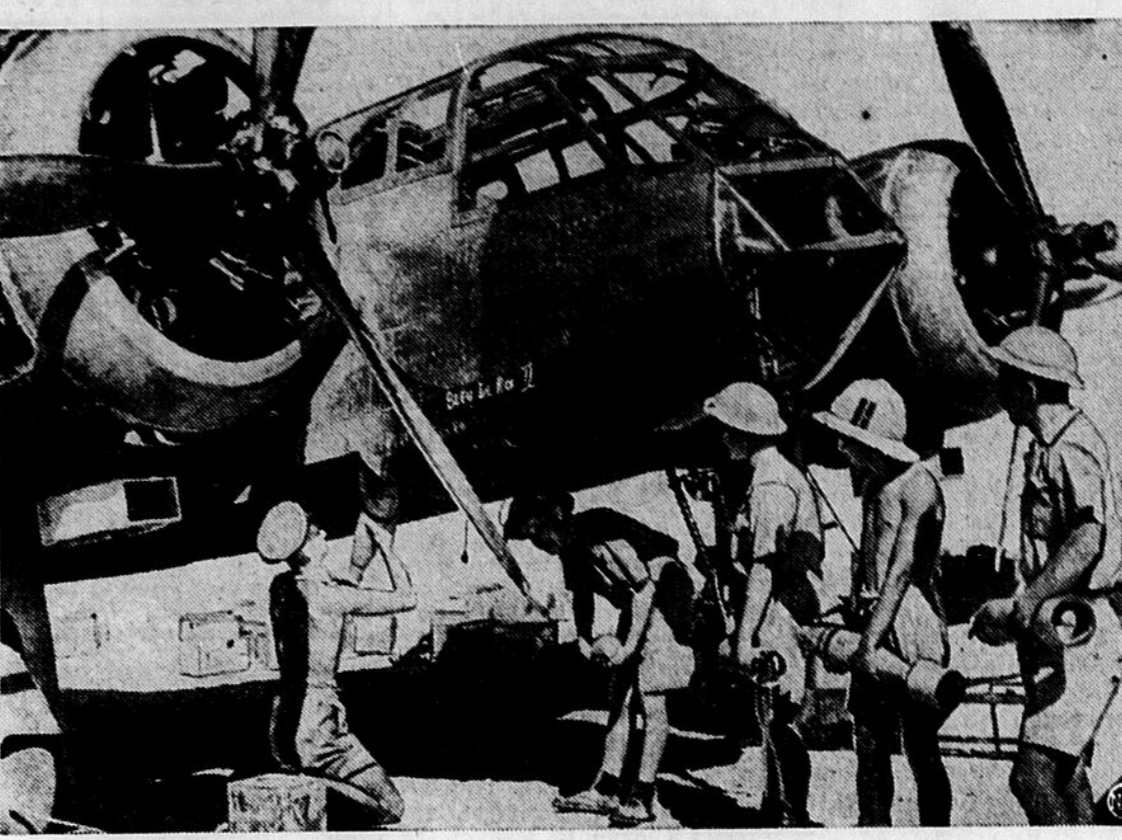

In the pouring rain, the mourners went by automobile to the church, where the body was received by the Rev. Hector Daly, of Loyola College. Rev. J. Gauthier officiated at the solemn high mass, assisted by Rev. M. Derome and Rev. J. Wardel.

The chief mourners included a son, Alphonse E. Racine; two daughters, Mrs. John Malcolm and Mrs. Frank W. Ramsay; two brothers, Hector and Arthur Racine; a sister, Mrs. Yvon Dupre, and four grandsons.

MURRAY HEADS "Y" COMMITTEE

K. H. Murray, vocational guidance director and physical training instructor at Westmount Intermediate School, has been appointed chairman of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Boys' Work Committee, succeeding Mr. Irving Tait in that position. A graduate of Springfield College, Mr. Murray was formerly executive secretary of the Mount Royal Ave. branch of the Y.M.C.A. For the past ten years he has been advisor to the Westmount Hi-Y Club. Many will remember the survey of 1,000 Westmount boys he conducted some years ago; he intends to repeat this study in the near future.

R.A.F. KNOWS THE ANSWERS TO ITALIAN CHALLENGE

Italy's invasion of Egypt and advance toward the Suez Canal is constantly harassed by British troops. Newly arrived photo, above, shows R.A.F. flyers in Egypt loading bombs aboard a big Blenheim bomber, preparing a deadly answer to Il Duce's challenge.

Westmount Home-School Entering Year's Work

The Westmount High Schools Home and School Association is now entering its first full year. It was founded last winter, its inaugural meeting being held on April 3 when J. S. Astbury, Principal of Baron Byng High School, spoke to some 500 people on the subject "Parents and Their Children."

On the evening of April 24, Prof. John Hughes, of the Department of Education, McGill University, addressed another largely-attended meeting upon the subject "Education for Children and Adolescents, or the 6-3-3 Plan."

Shortly after the turn of the present year when a group of parents, who had been members of Roslyn or King's Home and School Associations when their children had attended those schools, decided to form a similar organization which would bring them into contact with the teaching staffs of the Westmount High School and the Westmount Junior High School (then Argyle School) into which their children had by then graduated.

After some consideration these parents took the first step towards the creation of the new association by calling a meeting on February 22, 1940, in the Argyle Junior High School. At that meeting, at which some 55 persons were present, the Chairman, Leslie N. Buzzell, a member of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education, explained that the principal aims and objects of a Home and School Association were to bring into closer relationships the Home and School, to promote the study of educational problems and to improve conditions generally in the schools. Mr. Buzzell pointed out that much of the potential effectiveness of the school was not realized if the parent failed to cooperate with the teachers. He urged that members of the Home and School Association, whether parent or teacher, should use their association as a means of educating themselves to their peculiar responsibilities.

Under the direction of Mr. Buzzell an organizing committee was set up at this meeting. This organizing committee met at intervals throughout March. As a result of its labours the inaugural meeting was successfully held on April 3 when, in addition to the address by Mr. Astbury, the constitution of the new Association was passed and the first officers elected, as follows:

President: H. E. McCrudden; Vice-Presidents: Miss B. Truax, Col. R. A. Fraser, R. Steeves; Treasurer: Mrs. A. G. Cushing; Recording Secretary: J. N. McGoun; Corresponding Secretary: Wm. Stewart, these with Messrs. H. B. Parker and J. W. Brunt to constitute the Executive Committee.

War activities and other contingencies have necessitated changes in the personnel, and an announcement in this regard is expected shortly.

St. Paul's New Building To Open Soon

The new building of St. Paul's Academy, now nearing completion, will be ready for use about October 1. It was announced yesterday. Meanwhile, both English and French sections of the 7th grade and the high school division are carrying on their classes in the older part of the structure. Grades 1 to 6 will not begin their studies this session until the new building is opened.

D. J. M. DARLING DIES AT HOME IN 87TH YEAR

Early Westmount Resident, Former President of Darling and Brady Ltd., Enjoyed 20 Years' Retirement

Westmount lost one of its first and oldest resident last Saturday when David J. M. Darling died at his home, 4282 Dorchester St. West, after a brief illness in his 87th year. The funeral service was held there on Tuesday, the Rev. Dr. Leslie Pidgeon officiating.

A native of Montreal, Mr. Darling moved to Westmount when he was a young man and built his home when Dorchester St. was in the country and St. Catherine St. but a narrow lane. Throughout his life, he was keenly interested in the affairs of Westmount.

Mr. Darling was president of Darling and Brady Ltd., but retired from business 20 years ago. He succeeded his father who founded the firm. In 1935, Mr. and Mrs. Darling celebrated their golden wedding.

Mr. Darling is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Mary I. Vipond; a son, Morton Darling; and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Somerville, of Mars Hill, Me.; Mrs. R. S. Darling and Mrs. T. M. Gillingham, of Montreal. There are 16 grandchildren.

32nd Season Of Dickens Fellowship Starts Oct. 22

The Dickens Fellowship announces that their 32nd season will be opened on Tuesday, Oct. 22nd in Victoria Hall, Westmount. The Hon. President, the Venerable Archbishop A. P. Gower-Rees, will give the opening address, which will be a review of the "book of study" for the season, "Barnaby Rudge."

The Dickens Fellowship following the policy pursued during the last war, will be behind every patriotic and philanthropic effort, and the Executive has planned a program, which they believe will provide an escape from the stress of the moment without being considered unsympathetic on the one hand or frivolous on the other. A program designed to strengthen the morale of the members and of the public in general will be dealt with.

In addition to lectures, there will be musical numbers and dramatic sketches at the various meetings. The following are the details of the program:

October 22—Venerable Archbishop Gower-Rees, Review of "Barnaby Rudge"; musical numbers by James C. Scott, baritone, and Joseph Feriawky, violinist; dramatic sketch directed by Walter Wakefield, "Merry Pecksniff before and after marriage," adapted from "Martin Chuzzlewit."

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF HOME AND SCHOOL GROUP ARRANGING FINE PROGRAM

Four General Gatherings Will be Held — First on October 15 When Parents Will be Welcomed and New Teachers Introduced — Excellent Series Prepared for Discussion Topics

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Westmount High Schools Home and School Association, held in the Intermediate School, Tuesday, plans were laid for an active and interesting Fall and Winter Season. There will be four general gatherings held in the months of October, November, February and April, at which distinguished guest speakers will give addresses upon subjects of broad educational interest. The first of these meetings is announced for Tuesday evening, October 15, in the Assembly Hall of the Intermediate School. Its main purpose will be to welcome parents who are newcomers in the community, and the new members of the teaching staffs of the two High Schools.

A social period, with refreshments, will follow the meeting, at which there will be addresses, and Charles Savage, recently appointed Principal of the Intermediate School, will be one of the speakers.

The Executive is also planning to provide opportunities for discussion of topics of interest to parents and teachers through a series of groups to be composed of about 20 members each, and series of topics with tentative dates has been drawn up as follows:

Oct. 30—"Health & Athletics"
Nov. 20—"Intelligence Tests"
Dec. 11—"Guidance Program"
Jan. 18—"Home Work"
Feb. 5—"The Teaching of French"
Feb. 26—"Examinations"
Mar. 19—"To be arranged."

It is hoped that accommodation for the Group Meetings may be secured in the Intermediate School and it is expected that leaders will be chosen for each meeting to guide the conduct of the discussion. Outlines containing a series of questions bearing upon the general topics are now in course of preparation and will contain lists of reading references which will be of assistance in preparing members for the meetings. In this connection also, the Westmount Public Library will make available special facilities in the matter of reference books on educational topics and will collaborate with members in their reading.

Arrangements have been made for publication in the Westmount Examiner of a series of articles bearing not only upon the topics to be discussed by the Groups but upon educational problems generally. A strong committee of educational leaders has this matter in hand.

All in all, a serious effort is being made to bring educational matters to the fore and it is hoped that all those interested in the High Schools will participate fully in the activities of the organization.

CORONER RULES AUTO FATALITY IS ACCIDENTAL

Dr. Hebert Closes Resumed Inquest Into Death of Westmount Officer

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by Dr. Pierre Hebert, coroner of the district, at the conclusion of the resumed inquest into the death of Constable Alex J. Riddoch in a highway accident near Laprairie last week. Constable Riddoch had been a member of the Westmount Police department for the past two years.

The inquiry, which necessitated Dr. Hebert's visiting St. Luke Hospital to question witnesses who had been injured in the same accident, revealed Constable Riddoch was at the wheel of an automobile when it left the road on a sharp curve and crashed into a ditch.

Of the four other occupants in the car, none was seriously injured. Riddoch was killed instantly.

"Y" ORCHESTRA

A Westmount "Y" Symphony Orchestra will be organized under the leadership of Mr. L. V. Elvin this season. Those interested can get further information at the "Y" between 8 and 10 o'clock tonight. Last year, Mr. Elvin conducted the Westmount "Y" Junior Symphony Orchestra.

Automatic Heating Topic Of Talk At Rotary Club

Speaking at the regular weekly meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club yesterday noon, Mr. David Kerr outlined the history of domestic and industrial heating, stressing particularly automatic heating which has come to the fore within the last 20 years. Mr. Kerr, a member of the Club, has been employed by the Imperial Oil Company for 25 years, and is now resident manager in charge of sales on the Island of Montreal.

Beginning with the common stove, invented by Benjamin Franklin in 1750, Mr. Kerr indicated the stages by which heating has improved during the past 200 years, concluding with the modern oil burner which has been rendered practically foolproof by science and industry. A burner which cost $800 to $1000 but a few years ago can now be purchased for as little as $400, he said.

Mr. Kerr then went on to describe the method whereby the oil companies supply customers. At first much difficulty was experienced because too many customers would wish to purchase oil at one time, and so overtax the facilities of the dealers. That, however, was overcome by the introduction of the Degree Days System, commonly referred to as the D. D. System. This scheme establishes a definite relationship between the prevailing temperature and oil consumption, and enables the dealers to keep their customers regularly supplied with fuel oil from September to May. By employing this system the oil companies are able to deliver from 29 to 30 per cent more fuel with existing rolling stock, while employees are assured of regular hours.

At the beginning of the meeting, Mr. S. W. Cuthbert, president of the Rotary Club, announced resignation of Mr. George Wakeman who will shortly take up residence in Winnipeg. Mr. Arthur Hillary was sworn in as a member of the Club. Members were then entertained by Mr. Ernest Michaud, tenor soloist at St. James' Basilica, who rendered two selections from French grand opera.

On October 9, the Club will celebrate its tenth anniversary at a special evening meeting to which wives of members are invited. The Executive expects that visiting Rotarians will be present from the Montreal and Montreal Westward Rotary Clubs.

"OUTER LINE" IS BRITAIN

"American defense policies should be based on American interests." That statement is an accurate one. But too often it has been uttered by persons lacking a broad understanding of American interests, says The Christian Science Monitor.

That was in the days when Americans had to give no thought to the "outer line" of American defense. Most of them were in ignorance of its existence. They could afford to be. For, as Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of War, made clear in a press conference this week, that line was held by Franco-British sea power.

Now Americans must man it for themselves. Air force units, fortifications, guns—"even in peacetime" all these costly defense instruments plus an even more costly Navy must be supplied out of American pocket-books. Now it is plain that friendly European naval Powers have saved the American taxpayer many a dollar. Yes, and the existence of great Powers with a stake in law and order has permitted small European nations to develop standards of living higher than those of the great Powers themselves.

Some concepts of this interdependence of peaceable peoples is now coming home to United States citizens. But even today, some Americans recoil before the possibility that the steps in co-operation which are now forced on them by events may lead toward some wider international collaboration.

One of the hardest lessons in international politics is this: that defense lines cannot be drawn on static geographical points; that they rest on ideas and ideals shared by great peoples, and that one people's defense must always be based in part on the strength of other peoples whose sense of values and morals is similar.

One may be sure there is plenty of stark realism behind the steps now being considered by American and British statesmen. One may be grateful that there is so much more than mere realism, namely a stake in which all peaceable and free peoples have a share, the moral right of men and women everywhere to live and prosper on this planet not simply as they are physically strong but as they are just and merciful.

HELP THE RED CROSS

An appeal for five million dollars will be launched in Canada on Monday, and of this sum the Province of Quebec is being asked to raise one million. The work of the Red Cross appeals to everyone and brings comfort and healing to all sorts and conditions of men throughout the world. Its activities in peacetime, great as they are, are vastly more numerous in wartime. Of the money collected in the Province of Quebec, about eighty per cent. goes for war work. Public health services, care of war veterans, care of refugees arriving in Canada, and other tasks are paid for out of the peacetime fund that the Red Cross money is carefully spent, and that there is no waste, there is no doubt. One has only to read the list of men and women actively associated with the Society in Quebec to be sure on this point. A budget committee of well-known business men in the province passes judgment on all proposed expenditures. It is in the confidence of that truth that the Red Cross once more makes an appeal to the public for funds, well aware as all are that the need for its activities has greatly increased in the past few weeks; aware too that the need will increase as the tempo of war increases.

ARE YOU MOVING?

This is the time of year that many people return from the country to take up new residence in the city, while early next month many others will move at the termination of their "October leases". This year everyone who moves will have an extra duty to perform: the notification of the change of address to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. Within fourteen days of a change of address, everyone subject to national registration must notify in writing the Dominion Statistician, giving both the old and new address, as well as the electoral district name and number, and the polling division number from the registration certificate in his possession. Upon the change being recorded at Ottawa, new certificates will be duly issued. So, if you are moving, make a note to write to Ottawa as soon as your new address is determined.

32nd Season . . .

January 23 — Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal of McGill University, "The London of Charles Dickens," vocalists, Mrs. Esther McLean, contralto, and Charles Hutchins, baritone; dramatic sketch, directed by Harry Malner, "Two Scenes adapted from 'A Tale of Two Cities'."

February 25 — The Hon. W. G. Martin, Grace United Church, Winnipeg, former Minister of Welfare, Ontario, recital, "David Copperfield," vocalists, Margaret Niessenger, soprano, and Harry Maude, baritone.

March 25 — Members' Night, under the direction of Andrew Paterson.

April 25 — Rev. G. E. Trueman, M.A., St. Matthew's, Hampstead, "Sam Weller—Philosopher or Clown?," musical numbers by Harold Gillingham, tenor, and Arthur Davison, violinist; dramatic sketch, directed by Winnifred Parker, "Captain Cuttle's Story" from "Dombey and Son."

In addition to the above there will be the Annual Bridge in November, the Dickens Birthday Banquet in February, and the Annual Play by the Dickens Fellowship Players in March. With reference to this last event, the Players propose to produce the three-act drama, "Dolly Varden" based on the book of study, "Barnaby Rudge." This play will be presented under the direction of Maud Aston, the lady vice-president.

The president of the Dickens Fellowship for the coming season is Arthur H. Carter, and the secretary is Miss Winnifred Parker, 810 Upper Belmont Avenue, Westmount.

The Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest

The Westmount Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest is run with the kind co-operation of Mr. Godel, manager of the Westmount Theatre. Each week twelve passes are given to the six lucky winners who comply with the following requirements:— Simply find the two "ads." in the current issue of The Westmount Examiner in which the names of the two feature pictures being shown at the Westmount Theatre during the first half of the coming week are hidden.

Submit all answers to The Contest Editor, The Westmount Examiner, 2191 Hampton Avenue, using the special coupon provided in each issue for the purpose. Contestants must be over 16 years of age. Residents of Westmount only are eligible. All answers must be in the office not later than Wednesday, and the names of the winners will be published in Thursday's issue. A convenient coupon will be found elsewhere in the paper. The winners are drawn from among those who submit the correct answers, as, unfortunately, it would be impossible to give passes to everyone submitting the right answers.

The winners of last week's contest are as follows and their passes will be received in Monday's mail: Mrs. H. H. Jones, 99 Somerville Ave.; Miss P. A. Fox, 420 Metcalfe Ave.; Mrs. A. Whipp, 263 Melville Ave.; W. D. Beaton, 8 Burton Ave.; Mrs. E. Clarke, 4412 St. Catherine West; Miss H. Stewart, 439 Victoria Ave.

THE FORUM Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L. In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed. The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Like most twins, triplets and quadruplets, the famous quintuplets are intensely loyal group. They speak of themselves always in the third person as "les jumelles" ("the twins," as there is no equivalent for quintuplets in the French language.) It is said that the greatest and only punishment for misbehavior is isolation from the rest of the group.

Farm Bureau Cooperatives of Ohio transact about one fifth of the fertilizer business of the State, and, by producing their own fertilizer in their own plants reduced the price level for all farmers in the State by $4 per ton. This meant a saving of $700,000 to the farmers of Ohio—almost three times the cost of the fertilizer plants saved in one season!

Writers in the British Medical press urged "an educational campaign that would popularize the whole wheat loaf, especially if it would be supplied at the same price as white bread." In August synthetic vitamin B made compulsory in the English staff of life to offset the use of devalitized flour from which most of the essential vitamin B had been removed.

Germany, even before Munich, adopted a diet of whole wheat bread, vegetables, potatoes and cheese, supplemented by synthetic vitamins issued not only to soldiers but to the civilian population. After the war began France undertook similar measures; notably with respect to increasing the vitamin and mineral content of bread.

The USA is considering this matter. Studies by their department of Agriculture show that 40 per cent of their people are not getting a diet adequate to maintain health and vigor. Surgeon General Parran cited this figure and urged action. From all I hear our men in all the services are well fed and those in the low income and formerly unemployed groups show remarkable improvement as to fitness after a short time in training. No doubt our experts have this matter before them and we will hear something to be done about it before a great while. And let us hope the benefits will be extended to all our people. Our Government has the power to bring this desirable change about and should not hesitate to do so and no doubt would get the cooperation of the food industry even if it did mean some inconvenience for a while.

Notwithstanding all the advantages of having electric power on farm, in January 1925 only 3.2 per cent were in the USA getting central-station electrical service. By January 1931 the percentage had gone up to 10.2 and in the next four years to 10.9 by 1935, not so wonderful for a country so progressive in most respects.

It is interesting to know that in 1935 about 20 per cent of the farmers in Ontario had electricity and the percentage figure was 60 for New Zealand, 90 for Germany and Japan, 90 to 95 for France, 65 for Sweden, 55 for Norway, 55 for Denmark and 100 for Netherlands.

The only division in the ranks in England is that sometimes while the crowd is singing that stirring song "There'll Always Be an England," a small band of sturdy men with a peculiar accent are singing with the words, "There'll Always be a Scotland."

Mrs. Lloyd Thomas of Holdenville, Okla., has voted first in her ward in every election since 1920—the first year USA women had the right to vote. To cast her first vote she arrived at the poll at 6 a.m. The officials told her it was too dark so she went home and returned with a lantern—and voted. She plans to keep her record on election day in November.

Some try to confuse the Co-operative movement with Communism which means state ownership while under cooperation ownership is by the people. According to the World Committee for Relief, in one year recently over 2,500,000 people in the world died of starvation and nearly 1,300,000 committed suicide because of economic distress. In the same year millions upon millions of pounds of foodstuffs were destroyed to maintain prices at a so-called economic level.

The Southern Pacific's old ferry boat Yosemite (now Argentina) retired in 1938 by San Francisco's two great bridges, made the journey to Montevideo a distance of 10,000 miles and most of the time in the open sea. One of her dish shaped bows was fitted with an ocean-going prow and her windows and gangways were boarded up. She was bought by Captain Eduardo M. Saez, retired, of the Uruguayan Navy, and will be used as an auto and passenger ferry across River Plate between Uruguay and Argentina.

A demonstration of stereophonic reproduction of enhanced music was given by Bell Telephone Laboratories at Carnegie Hall, New York. There for the first time was shown the possibility of recording and reproducing every sound that the ear could have heard initially. The Hstener in Carnegie Hall had the same spatial sense as to the source of the sounds as if he had been sitting in the original hall and in addition he heard the music enhanced by variations of loudness and tone quality according to the interpretation of the original director. The programme climaxed in the closing scene of "Gottterdammerung" for its fortissimo passages. Dr. Stokowski took full advantage of the ten-fold increase of sound over that of the largest orchestra, and used effectively the individual controls to make the soloist's voice clearly heard above the orchestra. — From The Blue Bell.

More older workers are a problem to themselves and to the younger men. The labor force is now at the 55,000,000 mark, whereas it was 48,000,000 in 1930—a growth greater than the proportional growth in population. Workers over 40 and young men under 25 find it difficult to break into a labor market already over-supplied.

In the same year millions upon millions of pounds of foodstuffs were destroyed to maintain prices at a so-called economic level.

Some try to confuse the Co-operative movement with Communism which means state ownership while under cooperation ownership is by the people. According to the World Committee for Relief, in one year recently over 2,500,000 people in the world died of starvation and nearly 1,300,000 committed suicide because of economic distress. CALVARY CHURCH NOTES

Next Sunday, in Calvary United Church, Greene Ave. and Dorchester St., Westmount, the preacher at both services will be the Rev. Colin R. Rudd, B.A., B.D. The theme of the sermon at the morning service will be "The Unending Love", and at the evening service "The Fulfillment of Prayer". Following the evening service the congregation is invited to join in the singing of favourite Hymns, both old and new.

At 3 p.m. the Sunday School will meet in all departments. Also at 3 o'clock the Men's Own Brotherhood will meet. The men of the congregation are invited to share in the fellowship of this service. The Young Peoples Union will open its activities for the Fall and Winter months by a Social, at 8.15 p.m., to which all the young people of the church and congregation are heartily invited.

The Girl Guides are notified that their activities will commence on Tuesday, October 1st.

Wednesday, at 2.30 p.m. the Women's Association will meet. All ladies of the congregation are urged to attend. Also on Wednesday, at 8.15 p.m. the Prayer Meeting will be held in the Ladies Parlours.

Thursday, at 7.15 p.m., the Cubs will meet.

Friday, 7.15 p.m. Movies, under the auspices of the Sunday School.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday, September 29.

The Golden Text is from Luke 12:32. "Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good." (1 Thess. 5:21).

The Lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine metaphysics is now reduced to a system, in a form comprehensible by an individual adapted to the thought of the age in which we live. This system enables the learner to demonstrate the divine Principle, upon which Jesus' healing was based, and the sacred rules for its present application to the cure of disease." (Page 146).

CANADIAN CLUB PROGRAM WILL START FRIDAY

Friday will see the inauguration of the 26th season of the Young Men's Canadian Club, which was founded in 1915 by the hon. president, P. W. McLagan, former Mayor of Westmount, with the object of developing an enlightened public opinion in the community. During its years of service, the Club has been an inspiration to thousands by fostering in them a deeper sense of their responsibilities and privileges as Canadians.

The inaugural meeting on Friday will be held in Queen's Hotel, and will take the form of an old-fashioned "smoker" to enable members and friends to get together and discuss plans for the coming winter.

The first regular dinner meeting of the season is scheduled for Monday, October 7, and will also be held in Queen's Hotel. Lieut.-Col. James Mess, Toronto, will be guest speaker. He is president of the Association of Canadian Clubs, and is expected to tell of the patriotic work of that great organization.

The president of the Young Men's Club for the coming season is Kenneth F. McNamee.

Westmount Baptist Church News

On Sunday morning, in Westmount Baptist Church, Rev. J. A. Johnston will have as his sermon theme: "A Real Soldier—the Marks of the Ranker God has slated for Promotion." Christian Men have a Captain who has earned His Wound Stripes.

In the evening Mr. Johnston will speak of: "Stirring Watchwords—Go to it! Keep at it!" The address will be based on an Old Testament story of unusual interest. It will be illustrated by the exploits of the men and women who shall win the "George Cross."

Australia will ship 25,000 tons of raisins and sultanas to Europe.

MUSICAL Sharps, Flats and NATURALS

by FRANCES GOLDMAN

TASTE IN MUSIC In forming our musical taste we must remember that all of us can have (and are privileged to have) different varieties of musical choice. There is a wide rift between good and mediocre, and poor taste in music of which the highest form is called classical. Jazz is artistic when well-played but it is never looked upon as the top form by important musical authorities. It appeals to most people because of its simple, understandable structure, its easily learned melody and a definite rhythm. But the vast majority of people have to acquire a taste for classical music and the surprising fact is, that when an individual suddenly realizes that he appreciates this type of music, this taste is something that has arrived to stay. It is not at all like the passing fancy of some popular piece which is being performed by every orchestra and singer throughout the country at the same moment until we have had such an over-dose of the number, which may have been a very appealing musical item, that we don't care whether we ever hear it again. As an example, we have only to mention, "Yes, We Have No Bananas." No piece enjoyed more widespread popularity than that which would think of playing it today? But a Beethoven Symphony—that is a different story. Music of this order adds continually to the army of listeners and admirers. Children who have been brought up in a musical atmosphere naturally become acquainted with this good diet of alyth melodic fare and do not have to acquire the taste for it later.

The radio has done much to educate the public in this regard and the parents who turn on at least one program of good music daily and who sometimes take Mamie and Johnnie to a concert are doing their offspring a good turn, not only because they are having them listen to classical gems, but because they are helping to shape their children's future taste in music. It is not a desirable practice to keep the radio on all day because after a while people do not listen to each programme intently but only hear it with their subconscious mind.

As we have mentioned before in these columns, it is too bad that the wonderful programme of Musical Appreciation given by Dr. Walter Damrosch is not broadcast to Canadian youth in their school hours as is done in the United States. However, it may happen one day. Who knows!

Overseas Parcel League Doing Splendid Work

Seamen of the British Minesweepers and Trawlers are urgently in need of woollen comforts—is the word received from England by the Overseas Parcel League. The constant needs of these men can best be realized from the following information: "During seven months, one patrol depot alone handed out individually to men returning to their ships, and to those most in need, almost 42,000 woollens. During this time 1086 shipwrecked men and women were fed, lodged, and generally cared for pending arrangements for return to their homes." There are many depots along the coasts of Britain with similar records—all with the same story. Even during the summer months the supply available was inadequate for the demands. Wintry weather for long months ahead and present wretched conditions in Britain require more outside assistance. Their needs are our problem. We must help.

The Overseas Parcel League, an entirely voluntary organization with a Charter under the War Charities Act, (after eleven months of service still operating with no overhead expenditure) is devoting its energies on behalf of the seamen of the British minesweepers and trawlers. The officers for the current year are President, Mrs. L. S. Wallgate, 424 Lansdowne Avenue, Westmount. Secretary, Mrs. R. S. Kennedy, 5010 Sherbrooke W., Treasurer, Mrs. A. S. Griffith, 624 Murray Hill, Westmount.

In an effort to assist those desirous of helping the seamen by the contribution or required comforts; and as an aid to more direct, speedier, and perhaps safer delivery (keeping in mind also the necessity of conserving space on British-bound ships) the Overseas Parcel League will gladly accept, and ship with its own work—which goes direct to the British Seamens Red Cross Voluntary Depot in Surrey, England, from whence distribution is made to the various Patrol Depots—any contributions donated for these men. There is no shipping charge—the Red Cross ships and insures our consignments, a generous and gratefully acknowledged service. Shipments are made at least once a month.

Comforts are needed most in the order given. Heavy turtle-neck sweaters, sea stockings, socks, sleeveless sweaters, scarves, caps and balalaavas, mittens. On application, instructions for the making of any of these, with the exception of the turtle-neck sweaters, will gladly be furnished.

SHAAR HASHOMAYIM OBSERVES HOLY DAYS

Congregation Shaar Hashomayim, Westmount, will join the rest of the Jewish community in holding Rosh Hashanah Services to usher in the Jewish New Year 5701. Services will be held on New Year's Eve, Wednesday, October 3, at 8 o'clock, as well as on Thursday evening, October 4, and on Friday morning, October 5, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Dr. H. Abramowitz will preach on Thursday and Friday mornings at 10:30 a.m. The Shaar Hashomayim Religious School, under the guidance of Rabbi S. Gershon Levi, Educational Director, has resumed its regular sessions for the new school year with an increased enrollment. A number of guest children from England have joined the school this term. Many of them have also affiliated with the Junior Congregation which holds Sabbath Services for young people every Saturday morning in the Synagogue Chapel.

BAND WAGON PRESENTATION

"The Navy's Here!" Standing outside its headquarters in Montreal, the new "Band Wagon," the gift of a friend, was caught by the photographer just after its presentation to the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, two members of which are in charge of the two fine Newfoundland Mascots. This specially designed truck was equipped by National Sound Services Limited of Montreal, with a complete Northern Electric Music Reproducing System, and is used by the unit for marching and ceremonial occasions. It was seen on N.D.G. streets on Monday.

RABBI STERN SPEAKS AT NEW YEAR SERVICES

Season Will be Observed By Many Special Events In Temple Emanuel — School Staff Chosen

Next week Temple Emanuel will observe the Jewish New Year by holding holy day services on New Year's Eve, Wednesday, and New Year's Day, Thursday. The topic of Rabbi Harry J. Stern's sermon at the first service, to be held in the evening at 8 o'clock, will be "The World Tomorrow," while on New Year's Day, at 10:30 a.m., his theme will be "There will always be a Jewish People." A children's New Year service has been planned for Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in the Temple Auditorium.

Other special services arranged for the near future include the following: Annual Memorial Service at Temple Emanuel Cemetery, Mount Royal, on Sunday, October 6, at 11 a.m.

Yom Kippur Eve, Friday, October 11, a 7:30 p.m. Kol Nidre will be chanted at 7:45 p.m. Day Yom Kippur, Saturday, October 12. Service at 10:30 a.m.; Children's Service at 1 p.m.; Memorial Service at 4; and Neilah at 5.

Religious School Faculty
The following teachers will comprise the staff of the religious school for the 1940-41 session. Kindergarten, Miss Miriam Sherman (MacDonald); Class 1, Miss Ann Frank (MacDonald); Class 2, Miss Marjorie Bercovit (McGill); Class 3, William E. Finklestein, B.Sc.; Class 4, Wilfred Schuchat (McGill); Class 5, Edward Joseph (McGill); Class 6, Milton Schiffman, M.Sc.; Class 7, Hyman Surchin, (McGill); Class 8, Herbert Stern, P.Sc.; Class 9, Bernard Figler, B.A.; Class 10, Miss Francis D. Katz, B.Sc.; Librarian, Miss Edith Jacobson.

Hebrew Classes will meet under the direction of Mr. Bernard Figler on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. Hebrew is also given in all grades of the School on Saturdays and Sundays in the morning. The department of music will be in charge of Mr. Figler with special instruction in Hebrew and Palestinian melodies in the Primary and Junior Departments. Miss Francis Katz, B.Sc., is again this year in direct charge of the School.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. Hyman Grover and his committee, additional space has been made available to accommodate those who wish to worship in accordance with the Rite of the High Holy Days. Application for seating accommodations are to be made with the Temple Secretary or the Pew Committee. The Temple Emanuel School for Emigres will meet every Mon-

CAR FENDERS MARRED IN FRIDAY MISHAPS

Three minor mishaps occurred in Westmount last Friday leaving in their wake three damaged fenders, three scratched auto bodies, and one startled fire hydrant.

The fire plug got a shock when it was hit by an auto driven by Frank Stoesel of Beaconsfield; he failed to see it when starting his car from a parked position near 4400 St. Catherine St. The car came out second best.

Later in the day, an auto driven by Laurent Tranchemontagne of Vaudreuil, was sideswiped by another car starting from the curb on Sherbrooke St. near Prince Albert Avenue. Mrs. H. C. Beatty of Notre Dame de Grace was driving the second car. Both machines received fender injuries.

Three vehicles were involved in the third accident of the day; a truck, moving along Dorchester St. at its western end struck two parked cars, but failed to stop. When the driver was later questioned by the Westmount police, he stated that he was unaware that an accident had occurred, but the car owners could point to three silent witnesses — two scratched cars and a scratched truck.

HUNTINGTON HEADS CORPS

The Senior Leader Corps of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. elected Dick Huntington to the position of President, at their second meeting of the year, held last Saturday evening, at the local "Y". Dick has been an active member of the Corps for the past ten years. He has always shown an active interest in the activities of the association and has taken prominent parts in the promotion of the various classes.

This is the second time that Dick was in charge of the boys from the MacKay Institute, who used the physical privileges of the "Y" throughout the fall and winter season.

Gordon Mackie was elected to the position of vice-president; and these two members of the executive will be ably assisted by the Corps, who is composed of John Foster, Ross Johnson, Seth Taylor, Bob Harvie, Dave Sproule, Ross Seaman, Bob McCulloch, and Len Schryer. Many new candidates have applied for membership in the Senior Leaders Corps, and it is likely that they will be taken into the membership directly. The next meeting of the Corps is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at five p.m.

LADIES' COMMITTEE WILL CONDUCT SALE

The Ladies' Committee of the Royal Montreal Regiment will hold their semi-annual rummage sale on Saturday, October 5, at 2 o'clock, in the Westmount Armoury, St. Catherine Street West, near the Glen. Proceeds go to provide comforts for the men of the regiment. Mrs. J. H. Richardson, 457 Mount Stephen Avenue, is convener.

Contributions of cast-off clothing, books, furniture, toys, etc., will be called for on notification to Mrs. J. H. Richardson, 457 Mount Stephen Avenue, Mrs. W. T. Trenholme, 150 Brock Avenue, Montreal West, or Mrs. C. B. Price, 64 Forden Crescent.

day evening at 8:15 o'clock. Classes will be conducted in English and Citizenship for newcomers to Canada. Regular sessions will commence Monday evening, September 30th at 8:15 o'clock.

NEW EXECUTIVE OF HI-Y GRADS PLANS EVENTS

Neil Compton Elected Tenth Year at Meeting On October 7

The Executive of the Westmount Hi-Y Grads held an important meeting last week-end, and have drawn up final plans for the season to come.

This year, the Club celebrates its Tenth Anniversary and special steps have been taken to insure that the birthday year will be one long remembered.

The Executive who will guide the destiny of the Club for 1940-41 consists of Messrs. E. I. Taylor, Hon. President; Frank B. Wilson, Advisor; Neil Compton, President; Allan McGill, Vice-President; Keith Charters, Secretary; Bill Jarvis, Promotion; Doug Coughtry, Membership; and Lloyd Williams, Social Secretary. Last year's president, Jim McEwen is now with the R.C.N.V.R. on active service. However, it is hoped that he will be on hand at the first meeting on October 7.

Membership in the Grads is open to all ex-students of Westmount High and to any young men whose applications may prove acceptable to the Executive

BOYS BRIGADE HOLDS OUTING ON WEEK-END

Last Friday evening, boys of the First Company had a thrilling time when they accepted the kind invitation from the 11th Company at St. James United Church to join in with their opening program. An out-door program had to be postponed due to inverse weather conditions, however a much more thrilling time was had indoors as the bowling alleys of that Church were placed at the disposal of the boys. Each boy joined heartily in the games which followed, and the evening was topped off with refreshment. Both companies will work closely together on special feature programs, throughout the season.

Saturday afternoon, the Company went on National Service work at Molson Stadium, where a Red Cross benefit game was played, on which occasion an additional thrill was in store for the boys as Gracie Fields favored the audience with her presence. The Band of the 5th Company, brass section, rendered selections during the intermissions, while Brigade boys assisted in various duties required of them. Each boy returned feeling he had had a thrilling time. Sergeants Donald Taylor, Robert Morrow and Corporal Leonard Gough were honored by their appointment to the Colour escort for the occasion.

Brigade Bible Class will resume its meetings on Sunday, October 5, which occasion has been set aside by the B.B. throughout the world as a National Day of Prayer for Victory. Much wonderful work is being done by Brigade boys in all parts of Britain where emergency has arisen, as A.R.P. workers, fire fighting departments and ambulance stations, thousands of whom are thus engaged in this hazardous work.

The Company will meet at their usual time and place on Friday evening when another special feature will be presented. Recruits will be made welcome. The regular company activities will be resumed the first Friday in October.

The Boys' Brigade is endeavoring to place evacuated B.B. and Life Boy members in Canadian Brigade homes and any interested parties are asked to communicate with Captain J. Howard Richardson at AT. 0751, who will gladly furnish full particulars. This scheme has met with great success in Australia and New Zealand and looks very promising in Canada.

IMPROVES
Mr. H. B. Parker, principal of Westmount High School, who has been confined to bed for over a week as a result of illness, is now much improved, and is permitted to be up for a short time each day.

Ladies Auxiliary To Hold Benefit Tombola

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Grenadier Guards will sponsor a tombola in aid of war work on October 5. This event is under the direction of Mrs. H. D. Rolland, wife of the commanding officer of the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Grenadier Guards, N.P.A.M., assisted by Mrs. Malcolm Rielly, Mrs. Cyril Luren and Mrs. Donald Meagher.

Members of the 6087 Overseas Association are assisting Mrs. Rolland and her committee. Mrs. F. M. Peller, wife of the commanding officer 1st Battalion C.A.S.F. is the president of the Auxiliary.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. G. HANSON HELD MONDAY

Westmount Resident, Native of Yorkshire, England, Was Active in Khaki League During Great War

On Monday a funeral service was held at the chapel of D. A. Collins for Mrs. George F. Hanson, who died in Westmount after a long illness on September 20. The Rev. Kenneth Naylor, rector of Trinity Memorial Church, officiated at the service.

Mrs. Hanson was born in Yorkshire, England, in 1858. On her arrival in Canada in 1884, she lived first in Toronto, but later became a resident of Westmount and Montreal.

During the last war, Mrs. Hanson took an active part in war work; among her activities were the Soldiers' Wives' League and the Khaki League, which she would visit daily.

A widow of the late George F. Hanson, she is survived by three sons, Col. Paul R. Hanson, Phillip Geoffrey Hanson, and Eric Brian Hanson, all of Montreal, 17 grandchildren, and four great grandchildren. Four of her sons saw active service during the Great War, while four grandsons are now serving with the forces

WESTMOUNT MEN ARE TRAINING FOR SERVICE

Arrive in England Safely—Reservists to Continue Training

A number of Westmount men were among those landing in England recently with the Royal Canadian Volunteer Reserve according to an announcement made recently by the Naval Minister Angus L. Macdonald.

All men in the group arriving safely on the other side are either lieutenants or sub-lieutenants in the reserve and will take a portion of their service on ships in active service. Their men who arrived recently were:

- Lieut. W. G. Aird, Montreal;
- Lieut. S. J. L. Balby, Westmount;

What has Beer to do with Education?

One of a series of advertisements designed to show the importance of the brewing industry in the economic life of the country.

The breweries pay millions of dollars in taxes every year. Governments and municipalities use some of this money to build new schools — pay teachers' salaries — provide scholarships — help our universities. In this way, the brewing industry contributes to the advancement of education in our country. And, in addition, the taxes that the brewing industry pays help keep your taxes lower.

The Way to a Man's Heart

Creamed Fish or Chicken With Canned Button Mushrooms

Surprise your friends with a "good news luncheon." Ask them to bridge and when the menu is well along, tell them you are going to be married.

Keep the luncheon charming, lovely to look at and delicious. Serve it at the card tables. Have tiny envelopes passed, containing mints and chili until firm. Chill the announcement, or else have a batch of telegrams delivered during the party.

For the main course, serve cubes of chicken and canned button mushrooms, or chicken a la King. Here's an appropriate menu.

ANNOUNCEMENT LUNCHEON
Strawberry and honeydew cocktail, chicken a la King in heart-shaped patty shells, or chicken and mushroom in scallops, platter of fresh asparagus and baked whole tomato, pickled peaches, hot rolls, jellied avocado and lime salad, toasted Parmesan crackers, mold of vanilla ice cream with raspberry ice center, twin heart cakes, coffee.

JELLIED AVOCADO AND LIME SALAD
One package lime-flavored gelatin, 1 pint hot water, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 medium avocado, 1/2 teaspoon scraped onion.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add vinegar and salt. Pour thin layer of gelatin into individual remaining gelatin until cold and syrupy.

quietly on Monday morning at half past ten o'clock in St. Matthias Church, Westmount, the Reverend Canon Gilbert Oliver officiating.

Given in marriage by Mr. E. N. Mercer, the bride wore an ensemble of grey wool with a hat and veil of the same shade, and a corsage bouquet of roses.

Mr. Waters, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, acted as best man for Mr. Petersen.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Petersen left for the Laurentians.

BETTY SPEIRS SCHOOL

A feature of the Betty Speirs School activities is the class for Business Girls in which the young ladies specialize in physical culture and tap dancing under the direction of Peter Miller. This congenial group have lots of fun while keeping in shape.

CLASSES FOR GUEST CHILDREN PLANNED

Special arrangements for guest children have been made at The Mary Beetles School for classes in dancing and elocution. Owing to the stress and strain of the times, Miss Beetles feels that it is most essential that these children should have their minds diverted from the horrors of warfare and possible homesickness by developing their bodies as well as their minds and giving them a healthy outlook for the future much needed heartache can be eliminated.

PIANOFORTE TAUGHT AT FLETCHER SCHOOL

The Fletcher Music Method and Piano School is a private school where instruction is given in pianoforte and theory to pupils in all grades. Fletcher Music Classes are conducted for beginners.

The school established by Mrs. H. O. Wilson, and Miss Elizabeth Davidson, is now under the direction of Miss Jane Ludgate Reid, A. S. Coll. M., and Miss Henrietta M. Giles.

A Normal Course in the Fletcher Music Method is now available in schools, and is open to music teachers, and young women who have sufficient musical training. Formerly the course was available only in New York and Boston, where Mrs. Fletcher-Copp has trained some twelve hundred teachers, but is now given in other centres, the Canadian centres being Montreal, Toronto and Saskatoon.

The Fletcher Music Method is a system of group instruction for beginners, and is recognized by educationists as the ideal way for children to approach the study of music. It meets the child upon his own platform, and through the ingenuity and charm of its apparatus and games, wins his cooperation and spontaneous effort.

When sufficient knowledge has been acquired the class is divided and the knowledge gained is applied to the more advanced study of the piano, violin, voice, or any musical instrument.

LATEST CENSUS
Uruguay estimates that it now has 2,000,000 population.

Betty Speirs Studio Is Started On New Season

The Betty Speirs School has been humming with activity during the last few days, with classes in process of formation for the new season and rehearsals taking place in every available corner of the studios for the various entertainment engagements which the school soloists are fulfilling. Included in the entertainment program of the past week was the visit of Peter Miller and Miss Speirs to Sherbrooke where they were guest artists of the I.O.D.E. at the Country Club Khaki Ball for the Red Cross, and where they were enthusiastically received in their demonstration of ballroom dancing. On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Miller teamed with Therese Landry and Peggy Coorer in their celebrated "tea for two" soft shoe dance, and also led the ensemble in his version of "Time Step" routine which "brought down" the house and had to be repeated. Miss Speirs was M.C. and Isabel Blane at the piano gave splendid support to every number on the program. The concert party, with augmentations and variations of program has been engaged to entertain the soldiers regularly from now on. In the studio Miss Speirs reports that the class enrolments are very heavy, and that her new assistant and associate, Alla Shishkina, who recently arrived from Paris, has made a very pleasing impression

The SNAPSHOT GUILD MAKE YOUR PICTURES POINTED

Make your pictures pointed. In this shot, the sign helps tell the story. Such details often "make" a picture.

WHEN you see an opportunity for a picture, shoot it—but don't always stop there. Think a bit, and see if there isn't a way to improve the shot and make it more pointed.

Every good picture has a point—it tells you something when you look at it. The more definite you can make the idea or "story," the better the picture. And often little added details, things that don't occur to you at first glance, yield a much-improved shot.

For example, consider the boys and their wagon-works, as shown above. Chances are, Dad supplied the tools and the idea, and shot a first picture in the backyard. Then, very likely, the "men working" sign down the street suggested a better background—one that would make the picture more effective—so the scene was changed for a second shot. Incidentally, this shot might have been even better if it included the whole sign.

That's the way a lot of good pictures are made. The first picture doesn't have to be the final one. If an idea is good, it's worth repeating later—in a different location, or with different subjects. Oftentimes,

In examining a print, you can see points where the picture might be improved—and in a great many cases, it's easy enough to get a second shot.

To make your pictures more pointed, here are some tips. First, show the action clearly, so anybody can tell what is going on. The camera position has a lot to do with this, and sometimes a shift of a foot or so to one side will make a world of difference. Holding the camera higher or lower makes a difference, too.

Second, eliminate things that don't contribute to the picture idea. If there are objects that have no part in telling the story, move them aside, or choose a viewpoint that leaves them out of the picture.

Third, keep the interest within the picture. Let the subjects look at what they're doing. Few pictures demand that the subject look at the camera, or even appear aware of it.

Try these hints, when you're shooting pictures—and when the first shot isn't perfect, get a second one. It's a poor idea that isn't worth two or more pictures.

Owing to the enlargement of her classes Miss Biggers decided to move to more convenient and up to date Studios in the center of the City. The studios are most modern with large reception hall, dressing rooms and showers. Miss Biggers has just returned from New York where she has spent considerable time studying new methods of teaching with the best known teachers of the dance arts and education. All summer her pupils have been entertaining the Soldiers, Sailors and the Air Force her school has had concert parties for years made up from her own pupils attending classes and they have always been well received. Miss Biggers has many requests for shows this season so she will have two or three concert parties ready to comply with the requests. The theatrical agents have been phoning for her professional pupils they have been in the best shows all over Canada and the United States these classes will be held every morning. The ladies club which was such a success last year will be held again for body conditioning, health and beauty ladies who would care to spend an enjoyable and beneficial morning phone for your appointment. Boys classes will again be held for tap, national, and elocution on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Classes for the business girl now forming in Tap Conditioning etc. High School Students Ballroom and Tap classes will be held on Saturdays this class made a big hit at the annual spring recital. All classes are personally taught by Miss Biggers. Registration is now open for all classes in all styles of dancing.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

'Mortal Storm' Brings Four Stars To Monkland Screen

The stellar aggregation of Margaret Sullivan, James Stewart, Robert Young and Frank Morgan head the distinguished cast of "The Mortal Storm," film adaptation of the powerful Phyllis Bottome best-seller story of a family caught in the upheaval of a political storm, which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre.

LOVE! LAUGHS! SONGS!

Ray Milland and lovely Anna Neagle as they co-star in the sparkling musical comedy, "Irene," featured at the Monkland United Theatre starting Sunday playing until Tuesday night.

KING & QUEEN OF SONG TOGETHER!

Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald in a scene from the dazzling musical spectacle "New Moon," which opens at the York United Theatre starting Saturday playing until Tuesday night.

ANDY AND GIRL FRIEND QUARREL

When Andy Hardy falls head-over-heels for a New York debutante it looks as though Polly Benedict will be left in the lurch. The young sweethearts of the popular Hardy Family series come close to the parting of the ways in "Andy Hardy Meets Debutante," latest of the series, which opens at the Westmount United Theatre starting Sunday playing for one week. But you can be sure that Ann Rutherford and Mickey Rooney make up again before the final fade-out.

'Beau Geste' Rousing Tale Of Gallantry, Adventure

A glorious, rousing story of three loyal brothers who embark on a gallant adventure in the French Foreign Legion roared into town last night. It is Paramount's vivid, new excitement-filled production of "Beau Geste," co-starring Gary Cooper, Ray Milland and Robert Preston. The film is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre.

The three stars of "Beau Geste" are seen as the brothers "Geste," a trio whose loyalty burns brightly through desperate battles with desert tribes, and endures even the brutal treatment of a mad driving sergeant who is determined to wrest a valuable jewel from the brothers, convinced that they possess it. Gary Cooper has the greatest of all his roles as "Beau," eldest of the trio; Ray Milland is seen as "John," and Robert Preston, promising young player, is cast as the youngest of the Geste—"Digby." This outstanding trio is supported by a great cast including Brian Donlevy, Susan Hayward, J. Carroll Naish, Donald O'Connor and James Stephenson.

Judy Kelly lends her charm and considerable talents to the role of Cynthia Maybridge, and Geoffrey Toone is most aptly featured as Commander Clive Stanton. In fact, the entire cast, too long to list here, is expert even in the most minor roles. "North Sea Patrol" is a picture you must see; it takes you closer to the inside story of the war than your daily newspaper.

"North Sea Patrol" Has Great, Timely Appeal

No more stirring picture than "North Sea Patrol" has reached the screen of the Snowdon United Theatre this year, and it is not likely that you will see a more vital drama for many, many months. "North Sea Patrol," released by Alliance Films, is spectacular and exciting. Its drama will grip you and thrill you, and its profound mystery will keep you guessing until the very last scene.

"North Sea Patrol" is a story of today. It is the drama of spies in the war that is blackening all of Europe, and it is so well directed and so well acted that it lifts you bodily out of the peace of America and takes you to the very heart of the conflict that is raging on the high seas. Rare foresight must be credited to Mrs. Clifford Mills upon whose play the story is based, for many of the most dramatic incidents of the picture closely parallel news bulletins that have reached these shores within the last few days.

The story is set against the spectacular and inspiring background of the British Navy, ruler of the seas, whose ships of all dreadnaughts, blaze into devastating action in some of the most awe-inspiring battle scenes ever screened. Airplanes play their part in the drama, too, and Director Norman Lee has set a new high—if you'll pardon the pun—for warfare in the skies.

Fine Screening At York United

Maisie, the stranded showgirl character whom Ann Sothern created so successfully in the original film of that name, returns again in "Gold Rush Maisie," third in the series, which is now playing at the York United Theatre.

Maisie is still stranded, still looking for a permanent place to alight, but she, breezier and funnier than ever despite the fact that her latest adventures place her adrift in the midst of the Arizona desert.

Teamed with her for the first time is Lee Bowman the young Archduke of "Florians," now appearing as Bill Anderson, owner of a desert ranch who gives Maisie shelter for the night when her old jollity breaks down almost at his doorstep. Much to his disgust, she returns with a family of itinerant crop followers who are on the trail of a gold strike and who want to camp on his property. Slim Summerville enacts the frozen-faced Anderson hired hand, Fred Gubbins; Virginia Weidler is seen as Jubie Davis, young daughter of the crop-followers, who insists on "adopting" Maisie. Also prominently cast are John Hamilton as Jubie's father, Mary Nash as the mother, Scooty Beckett as the son, Harold, Baby Quintanilla of "Forty Little Mothers" fame as the baby, Wallace Reid, Jr., Victor Killam, Jr., Irving Bacon and Louis Mason.

BRITANNIA RULES THE WAVES!...

... a timely drama of British naval exploits and fight against Fifth Columnists. From the play "Luck of the Navy." Exciting and Enjoyable.

"NORTH SEA PATROL"

First Run British Picture! ... see the Navy in Action. Destroyers at high speed in heavy seas with multiple guns blazing.

AN ILL WIND BLOWS THE DRAFT! Hollywood, September 25. — To paraphrase an old typewriting test, now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country — and Uncle Sam last week passed extensive legislation to guarantee an America free from slackers in this hour of increasing peril.

In short, the draft is here—and America at peace finds itself with conscription. This nation's 16,500,000 men 21 to 35, inclusive, must register for service October 16. One month later the first group of 400,000 will march off for a year's military training. Though America may well have been slow of decision, none can accuse her of stodgy action since passage of the draft!

While some of the lads — including Uncle Adolf and Crustin Benito — are not over-happy about the affair, there is little they can do to escape the draft unless they join the ministry or become physically unfit overnight! Conscriptive legislation is almost fool-proof, and well it should be.

With less than eight weeks remaining before the first group of selectees is called to the colors, there is unending discussion hereabouts concerning possible effects of the draft on the film industry. Of America's 25 top male box-office draws, five are British, eight are over 36 — and the remaining 12 are liable for a year's freedom from the work as guests of the government. A generous handful of producers and directors, too, fall within draft age limits — and the vast majority of technicians, designers, writers and musicians find themselves faced with prospects of 12 months in the country, cleaning rifles and becoming yes-men to the sergeant-major.

Unless special exemptions are made, major film factories will be bereft of the cream of their talent. Darryl Zanuck will find himself without Tyrone Power and Don Ameche. Paramount will lose Bing Crosby and Bob Hope. Warners will wave adieux to Errol Flynn and Jimmy Cagney; and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will have to part with Mickey Rooney — who is 21 despite all studio denials — and Robert Taylor. These lads have been instrumental in paying off studio mortgages in recent years, and their loss creates a problem of immense proportions for their respective companies. Though some observers see an impending halt in film production due to the loss of key men behind and before the cameras, it is doubtful that conscription will have so dire an effect upon the nation's fifth-ranking industry. Nonetheless, problems posed by passage of the draft are intriguing, to say the least, and unless picture production is declared an essential industry, thereby exempting its employees from military training, the prospects for continued camera-grinding seem rather hazy.

for the Saskatchewan city October 21... PREVIOUS OF THE WEEK Three new films, all entertaining but none a masterpiece, sent review critics home happy this week. Samuel Goldwyn's "Westerner" is the typical horse opera, garnished modestly with beauty of cast and setting. Basically, it's the tale of Lily Langtry and Judge Bean, the great actress and the notorious dictator of early pioneer days. Gary Cooper, Walter Brennan and Fred Stone head the cast. "Westerner" is amusing, but not up to Goldwyn's usual standard. Warner Brothers have an uninspired but interest-sustaining film in "Dispatch from Reuters," the tale of Julius Reuter and his struggles in founding the world's first telegraphic news agency. Edward G. Robinson steals the show in the title role, rivaling his performance as Dr. Ehrlich. Edna Best and Eddie Albert lend fine support.

Dick Powell makes Paramount's "Christmas in July" a breezy and always human comedy. This one concerns the adventures of a young people whose future depends in part of their winning a national slogan contest. Penned and directed by white-haired boy who gave you "The Great McGinty", "Christmas in July" is pleasing entertainment in an unobtrusive vein. # WESTMOUNT CLASHES WITH WEST HILL IN SENIOR OPENER

SMITH CALLS LOCAL SQUAD "LIGHT BUT FAST-FIGHTING TEAM" - MCGEE MEETS C.H.S.

Westmount High's 1940-model football squad goes on active service for the first time this Saturday afternoon when they are scheduled to meet West Hill High, city senior football champions, at Molson Stadium. A second game will be played later in the afternoon between D'Arcy McGee and Catholic High School.

Although the Red and Gray squad went unbeaten through their entire schedule last season, the Westmount squad intends to stop them from making a double play.

George Smith, when questioned about his team chances, said: "I think we have a pretty good team here in Westmount, but I'd rather wait till after Saturday's game to make any further comments. We are fortunate in having a number of last year's squad back... yes, we have a light but fast-fighting team."

This season only three teams, Westmount, West Hill and Montreal High compose the Senior A Section, with nine games scheduled.

Nine games are also listed for the Senior B West and East Sections and the Juniors. The Senior B West loop is comprised of Town of Mount Royal High, West Hill, and Montreal West while the Senior B East teams are Montreal High, Verdun High, Westmount High. Three teams also make up the Junior Section, Mount Royal High, Westmount Intermediate School and Montreal West High.

The Senior B West Section will open their schedules on Monday with Montreal West playing West Hill and the East Group will start on October 1, with Montreal High at Verdun.

The Juniors share the opening day with the Senior A Section with Mount Royal High visiting Westmount Intermediate.

The schedules:

SENIOR B EAST

- Oct. 1—M.H.S. at Verdun.
- Oct. 7—Verdun at W.H.S.
- Oct. 15—W.H.S. at M.H.S.
- Oct. 18—Verdun at M.H.S.
- Oct. 22—W.H.S. at Verdun.
- Oct. 28—M.H.S. at W.H.S.
- Nov. 1—Verdun at M.H.S.
- Nov. 6—W.H.S. at Verdun.
- Nov. 8—M.H.S. at W.H.S.

JUNIOR

- Sept. 28—M.R.H.S. at W.I.S.
- Oct. 2—W.I.S. at M.W.H.S.
- Oct. 7—M.W.H.S. at M.R.H.S.

ST. LEO SQUAD PLAYS M.H.S. TODAY AT 4

St. Leo's Academy footballers are marching again, now that the fall is here, rehearsing their bag of tricks! The Academy will field a Senior and a Bantam team again this year and Andy McGillis is busy putting his proteges through their paces.

The Senior Team will show many new faces and very few of the old. Some ten regulars have been lost to the School through graduation and it takes some trouble to replace such seasoned warriors. Many of the Juniors have jumped to Senior ranks and it remains to be seen how they fare in the heavier Senior firing-line. However, if enthusiasm and practice are any indication, the Clarke Avenue boys will be worthy successors of previous teams.

The Bantams have, as usual turned out in numbers and are ready to defend the Championship they won last Fall. These pocket-warriors are a treat to behold.

The Senior team plays an exhibition game with Montreal High today at 4 o'clock on Westmount Park Grounds. All supporters will have a chance of forming some opinion of the team's prospects for the season.

FIRST "YES MAN"

Cullen ("Hezi") Tate, Hollywood's first "yes man," is back working with Cecil B. DeMille. As a result of a misunderstanding when the producer ordered six white sheets and got sheep instead, Tate was instructed to say "Yes, Mr. DeMille" whenever the producer gave an order that he understood, and to ask to have the order repeated if he didn't understand it. That was back in 1913, when Tate was second property boy. On "North West Mounted Police," his title is "personal assistant to Mr. DeMille."

BUD KITCHEN WINS GOLF CADDIE TITLE

Bud Kitchen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kitchen, 31 Staynot avenue, recently won the Peterborough Golf Club caddie championship. Bud tied with Dick Heslip with a 50 each on the first nine holes.

Two extra holes were played in the playoffs in which Bud beat his opponent by two strokes and won a wrist watch.

FENCING CLUB ISSUES CALL FOR MEMBERS

In the instruction department of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. this week, the bright rays of the spotlight come to rest on the figures of two modest Westmount youths, Pat Lewtas and Alec Sproule, both of Westmount High, receive all the attention for their initiative in reference to the newly-revived Westmount Fencing Club. These two eager young men will deserve first place, for, it is to them that the credit rightly goes for their perseverance and intense interest in seeing to it that the Fencing Club commence early. Without their demonstration of ready enthusiasm the fencing lessons might not have started until later on in November.

While every possible thought is given to the needs of Westmount young people in social meetings, athletic drill and handicraft training, there must be material with which to work. Last year, although the local Y anticipated a popular show of swordsmanship there was a sad and serious lack of raw material. This is still left unexplained and it is particularly difficult to understand when one considers what an impetus the war should give to such a class.

In Montreal, the first Y.M.C.A. Fencing Club was born in the Central Branch not more than six years ago. There was little ceremony and no publicizing of the event. Someone made a short speech on the convenience of being able to manoeuvre the blade while another exponent of the art raised a paper cup filled with water in proposal of a toast. After a few weeks of diligent work, a body of would-be fencers marched up to the Northwestern Branch to spread the fever. When it came Westmount's turn for a taste of the sword, they absorbed it like a sponge and now have the reputation of being able to produce proficient notices as quickly as Herr Hitler produces warplanes.

To the Westmount Y goes the enviable honour of having turned out the largest group of first-rate beginner fencers since the Club's inception back in 1936. The chief among many good reasons for such a triumph as this Y has known in fencing circles, lay entirely in the sincere response which was, with the exception of last year, manifested at the outset and the regular and punctual attendance at all classes. Not the least important reason for the singular success of the 1938 instruction classes was the presence of George Tully, who, after he had won Dominion wide recognition, gained attention in numerous centres in which sword-play was practiced in the United States. There has been no other name associated with fencing at the Y here but Mr. Tully.

Two years ago when Jack Mc-Niven presided over a sizeable

GYM FLOOR AT "Y" BEE-HIVE OF ACTIVITY

The Gymnasium at the local "Y" saw plenty of action the first week of the opening of classes. Despite the fact that the ladies and business girls have, as yet, not started their classes, the gym and swimming activities for the fall are off to a bang.

On Monday the business men, young men, and business boys initiated the recently finished gymnasium floor with calisthenics, handball, dodge-ball, floor-hockey and basketball. On Tuesday the University School turned out in the afternoon with four strong teams to start their fall competitions in basketball and gymnastics.

On Tuesday evening fifty boys from the MacKay School were seen in action on the gym floor, going through their paces at calisthenics, basketball, wrestling and boxing. Already the gymnastics of the local "Y" have eagerly broken in the reconditioned apparatus equipment and are rapidly showing signs of developing into potential champions.

Whenever there is a spare hour on the floor or in the swimming pool the various military units are seen busying themselves with basketball, boxing and swimming. The No. 14 Hospital unit of the C.A.M.C. occupy the gymnasium each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings. The swimming club of the boys department will be started this coming Friday night; the fencing club has already started under the able tutoring of Doug Reilly. With the business men's volley ball, basketball, the Young men's house league basketball, and competitive basketball teams, the wrestling, weight lifting and boxing classes still to start, to say nothing of the ladies activities, the Westmount "Y" is definitely a beehive of activity.

The business girls gym class meets on Wednesday evening at seven at which time the girls participate in the following activities, calisthenics, tap dancing, games, basketball, etc.

OUR SHORT STORY

ESCAPE

Nancy Blair was nervous and distraught. She was full of tumult much like that which afflicts young married women—and single women and young men, married and single alike—in the springtime.

If she had been living in the Eighteenth Century, her malady would have been known as "the vapors," which meant a spiritual disquietude liable to lead to almost any kind of an emotional explosion. She was reading a circus advertisement in a Baltimore newspaper.

Billy and Audrey, her 7-year-old son and 4-year-old daughter, watched her as she read, convinced that she was the "most beautiful lady in all the world." She wasn't of course. But she was beautiful enough until the most beautiful lady in the world came along. She had brown hair and brown eyes and her head was narrow and her mouth smiling. Her body was something that made men turn and stare. It was an athletic body with its strong tensile muscles encased in soft feminine flesh. No unseemly bulges but curves where they should be on ladies, nice feminine curves. Height? Nancy was just a little under average and as graceful as a shaft of light.

"Is that your picture, Mummy?" Billy asked, peering over her shoulder at a lady in a most abbreviated skirt and tight slippers standing on the back of an ambling white horse.

"Let me see too," Audrey insisted.

"No, darling," Nancy said. "Mother doesn't ride that way any more."

"Yes, you do, Mummy," Billy contradicted. "Remember? You ride old Sally that way. You stand up on her back and ride her round the pasture." He looked at the picture critically. "You don't wear those teeny dresses. You wear your regular dresses. Don't you, Mummy? You ride like that. You ride better than that. Remember, Mummy?"

"Let me see, too," Audrey said a little shrilly and pushed Billy aside and climbed in Nancy lap. "What's she doing, Mummy? Billy asked.

"She's riding in a circus, Sugar," Nancy told him in a soft draw. "Out here, she pointed to the sides of the picture, "where you can't see them are hundreds of people watching her. And the bands are playing. And two other riders in two other big horses. And hundreds of other people are watching them, too. And while she rides, she can smell the horses and the sawdust and the popcorn and peanuts. She can smell the elephants and the lions and the tigers. She can see the gray walls of the big top flapping in and out against the tiers of seats." Her eyes were dreamy, fixed on the picture of the equestrienne, yet looking beyond her, smelling, feeling, listening. "She can hear the bands playing and the horses' hooves going 'clackety-clack' and the people murmuring and the clowns yelling."

"Nancy Stop that dreaming!" Her eyes snapped out of their dreaminess and she looked up and saw Zeke Blair, her husband, standing in the doorway. He was tall and loosely built in his riding breeches and puttees and his heavy gray flannel shirt. His blue eyes were full of annoyance and something like jealous fear. "One look at a circus picture drives you crazy as a loon. How about supper?"

"Supper," Nancy said. "I'm just in the midst of it. I was getting it ready. I just sat down for a moment."

"Daddy," Billy said, "can we go to the circus and see the lady ride a horse standing up like Mummy rides Sally? Can we Daddy?"

"We'll see," Zeke promised gruffly. "Come on now. Climb down off your mother and let her get supper."

Obediently, both swarmed off Nancy's lap and made a run at him. He bent and caught them both in his great arms and hugged them. Nancy got up from her chair and went into the kitchen of the little farmhouse, her eyes still full of a faraway look. Circuses had always been a deadly drug to Nancy Blair, who had been Nancy Creston until she married Zeke. That was because she had been born on a circus train and brought up on a circus lot. At 18 she had been leader of the Creston Troupe, Equestrians, which consisted of Tom Creston, her father, Billy, her brother, and Marianne, a little French woman who had come to them from the Hagenbach Shows. And at 18 she had met and married Zeke Blair, young Maryland farmer, after a whirlwind courtship that had carried them over twenty states. Zeke had followed her and the show.

That was ten years ago. Ten years ago she had forsaken the life in the seasonal monotony of farm life. Seven years ago she definitely laid away her role as lady rider in the chest of memories to essay that of mother. Billy was born.

And she was as successful in that role as she had been in the circus. She adored Billy and Audrey. She loved tall and taciturn Zeke. She loved to work through the seasons, spring and planting, summer and tending, autumn and harvesting, winter and preparing for the spring. She loved to work through the seasons, but spring was an unrelenting time for her, because the circus emerged from winter quarters and hit the road.

Then she was full of a nostalgia. She longed to be uprooted and to follow the caravan and to be part of it. She longed to hear the grifters chanting and the spellers pulling in the suckers to everything from a hootch show to a fake jewelry raffle. She wanted to smell the animals and hear the bands and feel the undulating back of a trained circus horse under her silk-clad feet.

That feeling must be like the one a drunkard feels before he takes a drink, she thought, as she went about the preparations for supper. First, it made her moody and then hopeful and then un-knowing of anything about her. It was a desire so strong that it took her out of herself.

Well, there was no sense of giving in to it, she told herself sternly and set herself to forget it. She did very well, too. She forgot all about it in the days that followed. One thing that helped her to do this was her refusal to look at a newspaper. She didn't want to see any more circus pictures. They made her nervous.

That went on for ten days and in those ten days she forgot that the circus always put out what the press agents called "two weeks advances," that is, it advertised in a community two weeks before it would show there. Then, on a Tuesday Zeke walked into the house in the evening after a day in town and threw down four tickets on the dining room table.

"What's them, Daddy?" Billy asked and reached for them.

"What's them?" Audrey repeated and tried to take them away from Billy.

"Here! Here!" Zeke said and snatched up the tickets from both of them. "They're circus tickets. You and you and me are all going tomorrow night."

Nancy looked at him with fear in her eyes. "No, Zeke," she protested. "I won't go to the circus. I don't want to go." "Don't be crazy," Zeke laughed. "You'd think I was trying to start you off drinking. Of course, you're going to the circus! You act this way every year. You get so you're afraid. You got to get over that, Nancy. You got to get so strong that no temptation can touch you."

"All right," Nancy smiled doubtfully and then smiled. "I'm afraid to go. But I'm glad to go too. I'm awfully glad!" And she was. She sang all through the rest of the evening and she sang all through the next morning as she got things ready for the trip, clothes for her and the children. Tom's suit pressed, a little bag of sandwiches to take along in case the children got hungry. But at noon, John Davers, the hired man, came plodding into the kitchen. Zeke had sent word that he couldn't go with them. He had to repair a sower that had broken down. But Nancy and the kids were to go along. Maybe Mrs. Lennox down the road would go along with her.

Nancy. My, you're a sight for sore eyes." She acknowledged his greeting with a warmth that made his smile widen. And she went into the main tent with Mrs. Lennox and the children.

She watched as in a dream the parade and the acrobats and the antics of the clowns. She watched the big cats going through their paces in the big cage under the menace of their trainer's gun and the crack of his whip. She was gazing at them when an usher touched her arm and beckoned. With a word to Mrs. Lennox about the children she followed him. He led her into the performers' tent and straight to the office of Jed Hamish, the proprietor of the show. He greeted her as though she was a lost daughter and spoke his piece directly.

"Nancy, you keep up your riding?" And when she told him she still could ride. "Good," he praised. "Cause we're in an awful tight pinch. Madame Leonievitch, our head equestrienne's just turned up a case of appendicitis. They've carted her away in an ambulance. Will you help us out and ride till we can get somebody else, I'll pay you big and I'll see your husband knows about it. He'll understand."

She was like a young girl in love being tempted by her lover. She was like a miser at the sight of gold he'd give his life for. She was like a man dying of thirst in sight of water. She fell into temptation, was engulfed by it.

"That's Mummy!" Billy yelled as she came riding in on a big beautiful white horse.

"Where's Mummy?" Audrey demanded.

"Lan' sakes!" exclaimed Mrs. Lennox and turned to take a note and a big roll of bills from a strange man who melted away in the crowd.

Zeke Blair sighed when Mrs. Lennox came home with the children and haltingly began to tell him what happened.

"I know," Zeke said. "Dog gone it! Jeppers Creepers! Double dang it! I should never have let her go alone to that circus! I mighta known it would get her again. It always does. That's the fifth time I've had to go after her. Got a good mind to sue some circus for alienation of affections!"

He found her with the show down at Kirkville, Virginia two weeks later.

"Well, Nancy," he drawled. "Had enough?"

"Oh, Zeke!" She cried and kissed him. "How are the babies? Are they all right? Oh, Zeke, I'm sorry. I just couldn't help it!"

"Go change into your street clothes," Zeke told her. "Nancy, you're the doggondest trial a man could ever marry. The kids are fine."

Nancy got into her street things and went home.

MARCH HUNCH BETTOR

Fredric March, co-star with Betty Field in Paramount's film-ization of the Joseph Conrad novel, "Victory," likes to make small bets on odd things such as the temperature on a given date, the color of the next car past an intersection, and similar freak happenings.

NATIVE DAUGHTER

Carol Adams, sensational tap dancer who is featured in Paramount's "Dancing on a Dime," is a native daughter of Los Angeles.

58TH CONGRESS OF SALVATION ARMY PLANNED

The 58th Annual Congress of The Salvation Army will be held in Montreal on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, September 28, 29 and 30, when representative delegates from Quebec and Eastern Ontario will meet in conference. The congress leader will be Commissioner Benjamin Orames, territorial commander of the Salvation Army in the Dominion.

An Australian by birth, Benjamin Orames entered the work of The Salvation Army as an officer in 1929. The commissioner served in Australia and New Zealand in various positions including field, staff and editorial work. He occupied the position of chief secretary for Southern Australia prior to his appointment as territorial commander for North China. The territorial command of the Western United States followed, where for seven years he directed the work of The Army, with his headquarters at San Francisco.

The commissioner served as chaplain with the Australian Expeditionary Force in the Great War with the rank of major. He also served in Egypt and France and following the close of the war served as a chaplain in Australia. The commissioner is still on the reserve of Australian chaplains.

Commissioner and Mrs. Orames came to Canada just about a year ago to take charge of all Salvation Army operations throughout the Dominion, as well as in Alaska, Newfoundland and Bermuda. The direction of the Army's huge War Service program has added to his tremendous load of responsibility. The Commissioner's major task since coming to Canada, in addition to covering almost the entire Territory, has been the successful completion of a national Campaign for War Service Funds—when over a million dollars were raised.

Public meetings will be held in the Auditorium of the High School, University Street, commencing Saturday evening, and continuing on Sunday, when three services will be conducted by the Territorial Commander. Convention meetings will follow in the Point St. Charles Citadel on Monday.

Commissioner Orames will be accompanied by Commissioner Edgar Hoe, (London), Lieut-

Colonel Frank Ham, (Toronto), Brigadier John McElhiney, (Quebec).

Air Force Veterans Seek Loan Rifles

The Air Force Veterans Association of Montreal would appreciate the loan of any rifles used by the Old Home Guard "Old Ross or Lee Enfields Rifles" preferred, for drill purposes (good condition not necessary).

If the donors would kindly phone Squadron Leader J. H. Tudhope, leaving their name and address, or write to the secretary, A. E. Roodhouse, P.O. Box 242, Westmount, one of the Air Force Veterans would call for them.

Practically all cotton now produced in Uganda is raised by natives.
