Canucks About To Move Into Former "Fortress Holland"

With the 1st Canadian Army, May 7.—Guns were stilled today on the once-flaming 1st Canadian Army Front in Holland and Northwest Germany and the British 49th (Polar Bear) Division, under 1st Canadian Corps Command, was scheduled to start the move into former "Fortress Holland" from the sodden Grebbe Line.

Canadians will follow up the movement tomorrow into the sector the Germans flooded after Gen. Crerar's troops smashed the IJssel River line and drew up along the Grebbe Line running from the Zuider Zee south of the Neder Rhine.

The movement followed a surrender agreement reached Saturday at a conference between Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes of Victoria, and London, Ont., and Field Marshal Johannes van Blaskowitz, German Commander in Holland. Made in Wageningen, west of Arnhem, the agreement covers 120,000 Germans in Western Holland and the Frisian Islands and 30,000 more in the Emden and Wilhelmshaven areas of Northwest Germany.

The German surrender was received by Gen. Foulkes in the lobby of a battle-wrecked hotel at Wageningen, west of Arnhem, and the German Commander of the 25th Army agreed to all surrender terms without dispute.

For the time being, German forces will remain where they are and retain personal weapons such as rifles, pistols and machine-guns. After the Canadian Corps moves in they will be moved to concentration areas and disarmed.

"In the Netherlands now there is only one authority and only one person to issue orders and that is me," Gen. Foulkes declared. "No orders will be issued by German civilian authorities in Holland from now on."

Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, also with Gen. Foulkes party, wore on his battle-dress the battle patches of the 1st Canadian Army. While photographers recorded the conference in the flood-lighted room, war correspondents watched. The stern-faced Blaskowitz sat directly opposite Gen. Foulkes and his heavy-lidded eyes flitted balefully from the table to the Canadian Commander as Gen. Foulkes slowly read the terms of the instrument of surrender.

Gen. Blaskowitz asked when the German forces would be moved out of Holland and Gen. Foulkes replied they would be moved as soon as possible into northwest Germany by way of the Zuider Zee causeway. "I don't want any incidents," Gen. Foulkes declared after his terms were given. "If there are any I will hold the German commander personally responsible."

Crerar Promises Troops An Early Return To Homeland

By ROSS MUNRO

Canadian Press War Correspondent
With the 1st Canadian Army, May 7.—(C.P. Cable)—Gen. Crerar said today in a V-E message his 1st Canadian Army is about to dissolve and that he believed the future of Canada rests in the hands of Canadian Overseas soldiers who will be returning home.

"It will be a grand future should they be given the opportunity in peace to prove and practise the admirable characteristics they demonstrated in war," he added.

Text of his message:
V-E Day at long last has arrived. The business we Canadians came over here to do is virtually finished. There will yet be quite a lot of tidying up to complete, but the military might of Hitler's Germany is a horror of the past. The world definitely has been delivered from domination by Hitler and his pack of gangsters. And in this prolonged and bitter struggle, now crowned with victory, the army of Canada has played a striking part. Canadians everywhere are entitled to be very proud of their soldiers.

I am certainly proud beyond words to count myself one of them. It has been a great inspiration and a great challenge to one's capacities to be a commander of such men. I have never met a Canadian commanding officer who has regarded his responsibilities otherwise. The very best one has been able to give them has never been as complete as one would have wished.

Yet the compelling urge to be fully worthy of these responsibilities has shown itself during all our operations in the outstanding conduct of the Canadian commanders—senior and junior, brigadier and lieutenant-colonel, sergeant and corporal. They have led their men in battle. They have never spared themselves. Also they have paid the full price—knowing beforehand that whatever it might be it would be worth the payment.

We have reached the time when the great and gallant company which has formed the 1st Canadian Army is about to dissolve. By group and by units, with anticipation and joy in their hearts tempered by memories of friends they have lost, the Canadians who survived will be returning home to Canada. I believe the future of Canada rests in their hands. It will be a grand future should they be given the opportunity in peace to prove and practise the admirable characteristics they have demonstrated in war.

What makes a fighting unit, fighting division or magnificent army? I will tell you in a few words. First of all, a cause worth fighting for and, if necessary, dying for. Secondly, good, intelligent, strong men. Thirdly, capacity of its individuals for teamwork, which means willingness to subordinate self for benefit of the side. Fourthly, determination to win through. Finally, knowing or being taught how to fight effectively. We have had these advantages inherited or obtained in

Unconditional Surrender At Eisenhower's Headquarters

Chief of German General Staff Formally Signed Agreement Providing for the Unconditional Surrender of the Remaining German Armed Forces to the Western Allies and to Russia at General Eisenhower's Field Headquarters Near Reims—Official Announcement from Allied Headquarters Followed Several Days of Reports and Rumors of Imminent Peace.

London, May 7.—The greatest war in History ended today with the unconditional surrender of Germany.

The surrender of the Third Reich to the Western Allies and Russia was made at Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters at Reims, France, by Col.-Gen. Jodl, Chief of Staff for the German Army.

This was announced officially after German broadcasts told the German people that Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz had ordered the capitulation of all fighting forces, and called off the U-boat war.

Joy at the news was tempered only by the realization that the war against Japan remains to be resolved, with many casualties still ahead.

The end of the European warfare, greatest, bloodiest and costliest war in human history—it has claimed at least 40,000,000 casualties on both sides in killed, wounded and captured—came after five years, eight months and six days of strife that overspread the globe.

Arrogant German armies invaded Poland September 4, 1939, beginning the agony that convulsed the world for 2,319 days.

Unconditional surrender of the beaten remnants of Hitler's legions first was announced by the Germans. The historic news began breaking with a Danish broadcast that Norway had been surrendered unconditionally by its conquerors.

Then the new German Foreign Minister, Ludwig Schwerin von Krosigk, announced to the German people, shortly after 2 p.m. (8 a.m., E.D.T.) that "after almost six years struggle we have succumbed."

Von Krosigk announced Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz had "ordered the unconditional surrender of all fighting German troops."

The world waited tensely. Then at 9:35 a.m., E.D.T., came the Associated Press flash from Reims, France, telling of the signing at Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters of the unconditional surrender at 2:41 a.m. French time (8:41 a.m., E.D.T.). Germany had given up to the Western Allies and to Russia.

GENERAL DWIGHT EISENHOWER, Supreme Commander of the Allied forces in Western Europe to whom the Germans made an unconditional surrender.

KING GEORGE VI, sharing with his people the common joy of the victory of the United Nations over Germany and the final conclusion of the war in Europe, is expected to make a broadcast to the world at three o'clock, Eastern Daylight Time, today. During the almost six years of fighting the King has been an indefatigable leader in the battle against aggression.

U.S. Army Is Preparing To Retain Strong Air Arm In Europe For Police Duties

By HENRY B. JAMIESON.
London, May 7.—(P)—All indications here point to the fact that the United States Army is preparing to retain a strong air arm in Europe for police and transport duties long after the end of the war.

While there has been no official announcement concerning the size of the Allied occupational air force, it is estimated unofficially that it probably will require a total of between 75,000 and 100,000 men in the ground crews alone. The force will be composed of both British and United States planes and personnel, though not necessarily in equal numbers.

(It was not known how many Canadians would be gained in the aerial police task. A dispatch from Ted Blackhouse, Canadian Press staff writer in London, said Thursday that "the role to be played by Canadians would be in the body" is not likely to be a large one.)

Presumably the American contingent will be drawn from both the 8th and 9th air forces and will be retained in Europe for varying periods, depending both on the needs of the moment and the previous length of service of individual members.

The main purpose of the post-war "air policy" will be to help maintain order in Germany. If everything goes well, many of the battle-worn heavy bombers probably will be pressed into service as cargo carriers and transports.

After the last week there can be no doubt about their adaptability to the job. Coming to the rescue of starving Dutch civilians, several hundred British, Canadian and American heavies dropped 9,550 tons of food over Holland in eight days.

In two days R.A.F. Lancasters brought back to Britain more than 2,000 liberated prisoners of war.

the 1st Canadian army. As a result no task, however difficult and wherever the operations, has ever failed to have been accomplished by the Canadians in this war.

The individual and collective factors I have mentioned are tremendous assets in making of a great nation. If Canada in peace can realize these fine potentialities of her citizens and can encourage their expression there is no limit to its future.

"Each for all" has been the guiding principle of the Canadian Army in battle. That same principle is the essential one to which we must adhere if we are to assure the life and growth of democratic government in the world—that community system which has been so eloquently described by Abraham Lincoln as "government of the people, by the people, for the people." Soldiers of Canada have worked to it in war. Citizens of Canada can do no less in peace.

4,000,000 Victims In Nazi Camp

London, May 7.—(P)—The Moscow Radio said today that more 4,000,000 persons of various European nationalities were killed by the Germans in the Oswiecim concentration camp in Poland.

The broadcast quoted the Soviet Extraordinary State Commission describing the camp as "far surpassing all hitherto-known German death-camps in its elaborate equipment, technical organization and mass-scale extermination of people."

"German professors and doctors conducted here mass experiments on perfectly healthy men, women and children," the report said. "They conducted experiments in sterilization of women, castration of men, experiments on children, experiments on artificial infection of masses of people with cancer, typhus and malaria and they tested poisons on live people."

RECORD'S VICTORY EDITION TOMORROW

The Victory Edition of the Sherbrooke Daily Record, reviewing the history of the war and outlining the complete terms of the German surrender, will be published early tomorrow morning. This should make a suitable souvenir of the greatest war in which the world has ever engaged.

London went wild at the news. Crowds jammed Piccadilly Circus. Smiling throngs poured out subways and lined the streets.

(Cheers went up in New York, too, and papers showered down from skyscrapers.)

A discordant note came from the German-controlled radio at Prague. A broadcast monitored by the Czechoslovak Government offices in London said the German commander in Czechoslovakia did not recognize the surrender of Admiral Donitz and would fight on until his forces "have secured free passage for German troops out of the country."

But the Prague radio earlier announced the capitulation of Breslau, long besieged by Russian forces.

The BBC said telephone conversations were going on between London, Washington and Moscow in order to fix the exact hour of the V-D Day announcement by Prime Minister Churchill, President Truman and Premier Stalin.

AMENDMENTS TO DALADIER AND REYNAUD HAVE BEEN SET FREE

By C. R. BLACKBURN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer
San Francisco, May 7.—Committees of the United Nations Security Conference today turned their attention to hundreds of proposed amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks basic organization charter plagued by a number of circumstances which added to the difficulties of their monumental task.

Some of these difficulties are:
1. Preoccupation of all delegates, particularly the leaders of groups from nations actively participating in the war, with immediate military victory in Europe, and the political problems which will demand their attention when the last shot is fired.
2. Uncertainties created by the Polish situation, latest development of which an admission by the Soviet Government that a group of Polish resistance leaders were under arrest in Russia for "diversionist" activities.

3. The laborious process of carrying on discussions in large committees where many languages are spoken and interpreters are constantly required.
The first two difficulties will disappear in due course but the third will remain a stumbling-block to progress, requiring added time and patience. But the over-all effect of the major powers working informally together to smooth out major issues and reach compromise agreements.

Such informal conferences were held in week with the result that many proposed amendments of the Dumbarton Oaks Charter will reach the committees in a form likely to be acceptable to all, and already approved by the major powers.

Canada's delegation has not been included in these private discussions by any delegation or representative of the "Big Four" leaders. France was included in the later stages.

However, the benefit of Canadian opinion frequently is sought in an informal way by visits to Prime Minister Mackenzie King by leaders of other delegations or representatives, and by consultations between Canadian experts and those on the major delegations.

In this way the Canadian delegation is kept informed of what is going on behind the scenes. The Canadian delegation not only is preoccupied by the great news which marks the end of the European fighting in Europe and by the imminence of the complete victory at that theatre, but by the approaching necessity of five of them including the Prime Minister—leaving here to carry on election campaigns at home.

The Prime Minister attended church yesterday but was forced to devote the rest of the week-end to domestic affairs, including the 8th Victoria Loan, for which he prepared a special message to Canadians.

The Canadians all seemed in good health today—even Charles Ritchie of the External Affairs staff, who was thought to have measles last week. He appeared yesterday, complete with a doctor's certificate stating his condition was non-contagious.

Ramesses II of Egypt had the largest family of which there is a record. Two hundred children were in the family.

Italian Campaign Proved Big Item In Final Defeat Of German Forces

By NOLAN NORGAARD

Rome, May 7.—(P)—The battle for Italy is finished, after a solid 20 months of some of the grimmest, most heart-breaking fighting this war has seen, but it probably will take military historians a lot longer than that to determine finally and accurately how much it contributed to victory over the Axis.

Never before in the history of warfare have so many men and machines been thrown into a struggle for such a forbidding terrain as Italy's mountains.

Never before in modern war did the real fighting for a country begin only after the country itself had surrendered.

Perhaps never before did such a battle begin after the man who was in a considerable degree responsible for its planning conceded that "we are trying one of the biggest bluffs in history."

Those words were uttered to war correspondents in Algiers on the night of September 8, 1943, by Walter Bedell Smith, then a major general, General Eisenhower's Chief of Staff, a few hours after the reports flashed to the world the news of Italy's surrender. Even as he spoke a gigantic landing fleet, already under enemy air attack, was nearing Salerno.

It was more than a bluff. It was a gamble, because the invasion fleet had sailed for Salerno before Gen. Eisenhower and his staff were certain the Italians would carry out the surrender terms and refuse to fight.

Moreover, the Germans had a fair idea where the landing would come. They needed only to look for the best piece of landing beach well up the coast from the toe of Italy—where a small British 5th Army force (including the 1st Canadian Division) had landed on Sept. 3, 1943, which would still be within range of Allied fighter planes based in Sicily.

During the next eight days there was opportunity to learn just how big a gamble it was. The Nazi command quickly threw a ring of steel around the shallow beachhead and began a series of tank counter-attacks which several times threatened to hurl the invading American and British troops back into the sea.

The whole campaign might have been different too if the Italian army had been more organized. When the surrender was first agreed to, Allied officers were flown secretly to Rome and asked Premier Pietro Badoglio to rally his troops and hold the Germans out of Rome a few days until Allied airborne troops could be landed in sufficient strength. Badoglio insisted it was impossible and the project was abandoned.

The Allied Command had no alternative but to land with what was immediately available and take a chance. They did, and won.

The Italian campaign compelled the enemy to divert to the south hundreds of thousands of troops, tanks and guns which he would have used in the Mediterranean.

The British and American soldiers who fought at Salerno and Anzio, who crossed the Volturno, Rapido and Garigliano, and who battled a whole winter from one mountain to another toward Bologna, would probably like to find the originator of the term and learn whether he meant Italy.

So would the Canadian troops who battled house to house through the Adriatic town of Ortona, the Polish troops who scaled Monte Cassino and the proud men of a dozen more lands who followed their leaders always said they'd do—destroy the enemy in Italy.

PREPARING FOR V-E CEREMONY AT LENNOXVILLE

The Lennoxville Community Service of Thanksgiving for victory in Europe will be held at three o'clock in the afternoon on the day following the official announcement of the unconditional surrender of the enemy.

All citizens of Lennoxville and the vicinity are invited to attend. The service will be held at the playing field of Bishop's University.

A special order of service has been printed and a copy will be given to each person. The massed choirs of the Lennoxville churches, Bishop's College School and Bishop's University will lead in singing and the music will be under the direction of W. A. Page.

The pupils of the Lennoxville schools will assemble at the High School at 2.15 p.m. and march to the University campus.

The clergy of Lennoxville will take part in the service and the address will be given by the Rev. A. H. McGreer.

Cars with passengers who are not able to stand during the service will be permitted to approach sufficiently near for occupants to take part in the proceedings.

Doubts Hemorrhage Took Hitler's Life

By LEE MCCARDELL,
Baltimore Sunpaper's
War Correspondent

Distributed by The Canadian Press
With the U. S. 3rd Army, May 7.—Maj. Erwin Giesing, brain, ear, nose and throat specialist who attended Hitler as recently as Feb. 15, rules out the possibility that the Fuehrer died from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Giesing is a German Army surgeon and was the superintendent of a German military hospital captured by American troops near Nuernberg.

When he last saw Hitler, Giesing said, the Fuehrer's blood pressure was normal, his lungs sound and he was in unusually good physical condition for a man of his age.

Giesing was called to attend Hitler last July, two days after the bomb attempt of the Fuehrer's life. He did not know who his patient was until he reached Hitler's headquarters.

Both of Hitler's eardrums had been broken by the explosion, Giesing said, but contrary to reports his arm had not been paralyzed. The only injuries he had suffered aside from his ears were superficial wounds from wood splinters.

AIR STRIP UPON TARAKAN BEING PUT INTO SHAPE

Japanese Forces Withdraw Into Mountain Positions to Avoid Showdown Battle With Australian Ground Troops.

By The Canadian Press

G.A.A.F. crews were putting Tarakan's captured 4,500-foot air strip into shape for Allied fighter planes today while Japanese forces on that little island of Borneo withdrew northward into mountain positions, avoiding a showdown battle with Australian ground troops.

Capture of the field was announced today in a communique which also reported seizure of the centre of Tarakan city by the Aussies. With the aid of Dutch East Indies troops they had employed tanks and flamethrowers to reduce a maze of pill-boxes and interlocking tunnels on Tarakan Hill.

Hammering at Japan's shrinking sea lanes, land-based bombers sank or damaged 20 enemy ships Saturday at the entrance of the sea of Japan, the United States navy reported today. The planes came from Okinawa where U. S. ground forces now have killed 33,642 Nipponese—5 for every American slain.

On Mindanao island in the Philippines, the U. S. 24th Infantry division attacked strong Japanese hill positions west of captured Davao City. Considerable Air Force equipment was seized and several naval guns were silenced.

In Central Mindanao the 3rd Division, with close air support, moved on the big Japanese air base at Del Monte.

On Northern Luzon, the 25th Division, after a four-day assault, occupied most of Kenbu Plateau, the last big hill mass south of long-estimated Baletta Pass. Planes swept Northern Luzon with 370 tons of explosives.

GERMAN ANNOUNCEMENT DISRUPTED ALLIED PLAN
Ottawa, May 7.—A premature German announcement of unconditional surrender over the Flensburg radio disrupted Allied plans for simultaneous announcement of V-E Day in London, Washington and Moscow—an announcement believed to have been scheduled for tomorrow. The Canadian Press learned today.

The greatest loss occurring in forest fires is not the destruction of mature trees, but the ruin of young growth, and charring of the forest floor, since much of the older timber still can be utilized.

COUNTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCTS PRICES

Montreal, May 7.—Markets were mainly steady at the week-end. Eggs held unchanged with receipts for the week quadrupling those of the corresponding week of last year, but it should be taken into consideration that a great majority of this week's total was for export pack overseas. Butter was steady and arrivals for the week showed a substantial increase over the same same period of last year. Cheese receipts were also up in greater volume and the tight situation which existed for a greater part of the winter and part of spring seems to have eased up and supplies for the future look more promising. The potato and poultry markets continued firm with no changes in prices.

Liberal Government Record Lauded At Gathering Of Junior Liberals From Eastern Townships Branches

The election of a new executive, addresses by party stalwarts and the disposal of a lengthy business agenda occupied some two hundred delegates and guests who gathered in Sherbrooke over the week-end for the annual meeting of the Junior Liberal Federation of the Eastern Townships.

The chief event of the gathering was the dinner at the Social Club Saturday evening when the chief speakers were Hon. Ernest Bertrand, Dominion Minister of Fisheries, and Senator Wishart Robertson, President of the National Liberal Federation of Canada.

During his remarks, Mr. Bertrand defended the general record of the Mackenzie King administration since it assumed power in 1935, with special emphasis upon the leadership which the Government had given the country during almost six years of war. As a result of this leadership, he declared, Canada had established a record which was the envy of other nations much greater from the population point of view.

He characterized the manpower and mobilization policies of the Government as those best suited to the needs of the Dominion, producing maximum results and at the same time imposing the least strain on national unity.

One proof of the efficient manner in which the Government had prosecuted the war was the fact that although twenty billion dollars had been spent by the administration—

WARNS AGAINST FIRE HAZARDS

Due to the fact that many people are moving and there is a danger of fire at such times, Percy Donahue, Director of the Fire Department, today issued the following instructions in the hope that the public may take the necessary precautions to prevent dangerous and costly fires.

In moving: On quitting premises, care should be taken to make sure all holes or vents in chimneys are blocked, not with cardboard or wood, but with tin or other non-inflammable materials.

Wastes: Waste paper, greasy or wet rags, oil or other inflammable materials should be burned or otherwise disposed of immediately after use.

Gas: All vents should be checked to ensure absolute closing, and should be blocked in such position. Uncertain closing or possible leaving partly open is running the chance of creating an explosion or fire and endangering the lives and property of others.

Stoves: Never, in moving, set up a stove for use unless it is in its permanent position. Temporary installations have been the cause of many fires. Make sure pipes fit snugly into chimney, and that no risk whatever is being taken.

Electric systems: Never put up installations of any kind which would be classed as illegal, wiring or otherwise. Always be sure to have an adequate supply of fuses on hand. Never use coppers or other metal objects instead. Overloaded circuits are the cause of many fires also. Avoid too many motors, radios, electric irons, etc., on the same circuit.

Furniture: During moving such articles as paint, turpentine, varnish, oil, naphtha, gasoline and other inflammables are liable to be left around in unsuitable places. Care should be taken that these be kept in safe places. The same with oily rags. These should be disposed of.

Director Donahue is confident that the public will heed these few words of advice and do their best to prevent fires and the consequent damage caused by them.

Arthabaska And Missisquoi Have Exceeded Victory Loan Objectives

Two counties, Arthabaska in Division Five and Missisquoi in Division Six stood as the only counties in the Eastern Townships who have gone over the top of their objective when beginning the third and last week of the Eighth Victory Loan Campaign today.

Late Saturday night, Arthabaska reported subscriptions of more than $600,000 to leap from last place in Division Five to stand first among the twelve counties of the Eastern Townships, and became the first county in Division Five to go over the top.

Residents in Arthabaska have purchased $1,256,650 worth of bonds, giving them 104.7 per cent, while Missisquoi, in Division Six, who went over the top on Friday, reports subscriptions amounting to $942,200 for 100.8 per cent.

Spurred on by this showing it is expected that several more counties close to the 100 per cent mark, will reach their quotas set them in the early part of this week.

Drummond County reported that it had passed its objective and at the end of the second week of the drive the figures stood at $1,022,000 against the required $995,000. The amount raised by the general sales section was $520,050 on a quota of $517,000 and in the payroll $501,950 was pledged on an objective of $478,000.

The standing of the various towns in the County was as follows: St. Jeanne d'Arc-Danby, $5,000 for 90 per cent; St. Majorie, $1,000 for 28 per cent; St. Edmond, $1,950 for 32 per cent; St. Eugene de Grantham, $10,450 for 104 per cent; St. Germain de Grantham, $21,500 for 86 per cent; Wickham West, $1,350 for 13 per cent; South Durham, $5,900 for 15 per cent; L'Avenir, $16,000 for 177 per cent; St. Nicéphore, $3,600 for 80 per cent; St. Lucien, $800 for 27 per cent; St. Felix de Kingsey-Trenholm, $19,700 for 70 per cent; Kingsey Falls, $8,550 for 47 per cent; Notre Dame de Bon Conseil, $12,000 for 160 per cent; St. Cyrille de Wendover, $12,550 for 78 per cent; Grantham West, $4,500 for 75 per cent; and Drummondville, $849,200 for 105 per cent.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE "GOOD AS NEW" AFTER 37 YEARS

Most building materials are subject to wear and deterioration over the years—yet not one Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingle has ever worn out! This remarkable record is typified by the experience of one property owner who found that his J-M Asbestos roof shingles were "still as good as new" — after 37 years' exposure to snow and sleet, rain or sun.

When the original building was torn down recently, the owner saved the shingles to use again. Johns-Manville wanted this evidence of long life, so replaced the veteran shingles with some of modern design.

Today, Johns-Manville Dura-asbestos Shingles—made of asbestos and cement—offer you maximum protection from weather and fire. Colorful beauty, too. Ask your J-M dealer for illustrated booklet. J. S. Mitchell & Co. Ltd., 78 Wellington St. North, Sherbrooke, Que., Telephone 2300.

Making Over A Man

Creative Impulse Prompts Woman
To Try Altering Hubby

WOMEN'S creative impulse that impels them to rip up a new dress and hat and make them over, and to cut another window or block up a door and change the wallpaper in every house into which they move, also extends to husbands. Conceding that there is no such animal as a perfect husband, if there were, no woman would have him on a bet, for the chief pleasure that brides look forward to in marriage is in altering their husbands to their tastes.

Perhaps this explains what is otherwise a mystery, and that is — why drunkards and gamblers and rouses and ne'er-do-wells have such an irresistible fascination for women. It is because they offer such an unlimited field for reformation that not many women can withstand the temptation to go to work on them.

Even before marriage and even in those cases where the matrimonial prospect is a pretty good article, as men go, Angelina isn't thanking God for what she is about to receive in a husband, she is thinking she is going to snip off this habit, and enlarge that characteristic, and shorten his arguments, and add a few fluffy ruffles to his conversation, and pick out his clothes for him, and change him so his own Mother wouldn't know him.

Of course, no man ever suspects the fell designs that his sweetheart has upon him, or else there would be few wedding bells, for men are as allergic to mental and moral surgical operations as they are to bodily ones. They love their faults and peculiarities and cling to them as they do to their old hats and shoes, and if they knew they had to give them up when they married, there would be a lot more old maids than there are now. For, to paraphrase Mr. Kipling, a woman is just a woman, but one's old ways are a comfort.

It is folly to argue with women about a passion that has been implanted in them by Nature. In a thousand years you couldn't convince a bawling amateur that she couldn't improve a dress made by a famous designer by taking something off it, or putting something on it; or that she didn't know more about building a house than any architect.

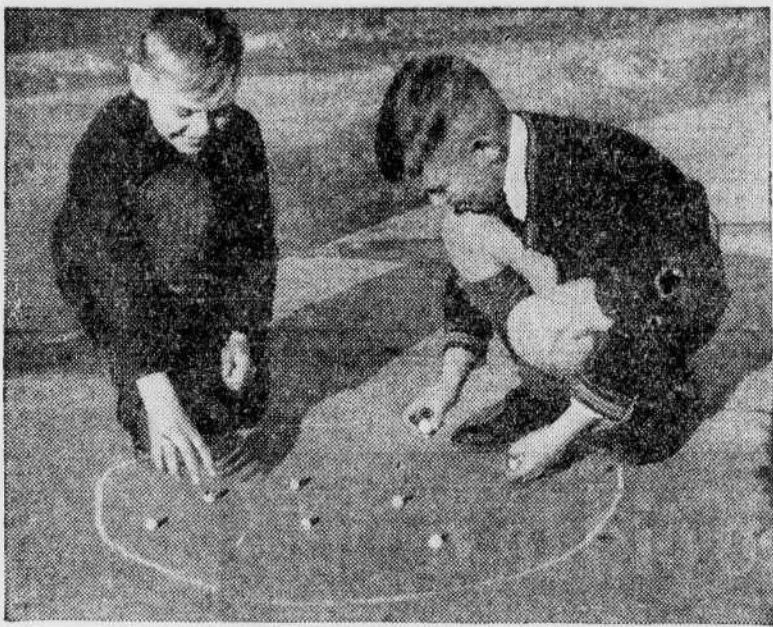

Nor, though you spoke with the tongue of men and of angels, could you make her see that she isn't doing her husband an inestimable favor by making him over. She is so sure of it that she is self-righteous about it and boasts of how she has broken him of drinking coffee, and eating highly seasoned foods, and going hunting, and of bringing his old friends home to dinner.

It never occurs to the wife engaged in the pleasurable pastime of changing her husband nearer to her heart's desire that being made over is a painful process that probably no man ever really forgives his wife for performing on him. For when she does that she deals a death blow to his vanity and kills his self-confidence, and when they are gone, there is nothing left in life for him.

No man marries to get a critic. He marries to get a clique who will always be giving him the glad hand. And that is what causes making over a husband to be the most dangerous business in which any wife ever engages.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

CORRECT COSTUME TOUCHES CUT AGE

BY ALICIA HART
Certain costume touches make a woman look youthful no matter what her vital statistics say; others picked from the same counters and hat racks can put the unmistakable stamp of age on her looks.

If you're casting about for legitimate defences against age, pick dramatic high-fashion bags, gloves and jewelry. Familiar conservative styles often typify the conventional livery of advancing age. Especially to be avoided, if you want to slice years off your looks, is a pocketbook swung by its handle. Swing it from your arm or choose one that can be carried with flair.

Small hats worn at a flip angle look youthful. So do hats with shallow crowns, softly curved brims, saucy trimmings. Bulky hats, especially if lines are severe and they are worn plunk on the head, seem to add to a birthday count.

Ruffled necklines and pert scarves tied under a chin spell y-o-u-n-g. But fichus and surplices will make you look like Whistler's Mother, if you don't watch out.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: You are discussing bridge with a woman at whose house you have recently been a guest for a bridge luncheon.

Wrong Way: Say, "I don't know why I keep going to bridge parties. It wears me out to sit all afternoon at a bridge table."

Right Way: Say, "I enjoy an occasional afternoon of bridge like the one we had to your house, but I don't like to play bridge every afternoon." You must not let a general hurt or offend a person who has shown you hospitality.

Public Relations Director Gives Address To Waterloo Kiwanis Club

Waterloo, May 7.—Mr. E. J. Blandford, Public Relations Director of the National Breweries, Montreal, paid the Waterloo Kiwanis Club a visit to deliver a stirring address on public relations. A good attendance of thirty-one members and four guests were on hand to listen to the address.

In the absence of President Peter Gunter, the Vice-President, Fred St. Denis, was in charge, and asked Roger McKergow to introduce the speaker, who included Messrs. Vernon Graves, Gerald Jackson and Fred Hayes, all of the Mack Molding Ltd., and Mr. A. J. Buckland, of the Atlas Plywood Corp., Ltd., of Canada.

Special mention was made of the fine work done by Mr. Kenneth Robinson, of the Inter-Club Committee, who arranged for the meeting held at St. Johnsbury, when twenty-three members of the local club attended to enjoy an excellent gathering. Congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Art Pinder and Mr. and Mrs. Philippe Jolin on the occasion of their wedding anniversaries.

Mr. Charles Slack announced that the Agriculture Committee is offering special prizes for the finest collection of vegetables displayed at the Waterloo Fair to be held this fall. The collection is to be arranged in a barrel hoop, and is open only to members of the Agriculture Society and Kiwanians. The prizes are to be $5, $4, $3, $2 and $1. The chairman stressed the importance of all taking an active part in this undertaking, and to plan their gardens accordingly.

Mr. George Dubois, Joint-Chairman of the local Victory Loan Committee, announced that the amount at that time was $159,560, against the objective of $225,000, and claimed that it had still a long way to go.

Rev. E. D. Mitchell announced that on V-E Day a large parade will be held at seven o'clock in the evening, including all patriotic societies and representatives of the citizens, led by the Waterloo Concert Band, after which a divine service of thanksgiving will be held in the Town Hall at eight p.m., with representatives of all churches being invited to take part. Citizens will be asked to decorate their property for this occasion, and to lend their support in every way to celebrate victory over Germany.

The singing followed, after which Mr. Bert Fisher rose to introduce Mr. Blandford, who commenced by saying that his address would be on "Public Relations" and that another translation of this subject could be "Better Understanding With People." "Often the impression we create of others is unfair because we have not listened to them," he said. "It is possible to see another person's point of view, learn to know him, and consequently learn to like him, and become friends."

"To do special favors to win one's admiration is a good idea, as the manner in which the gas stations used to do, in times of plenty of gas and tires, when the attendant standing and friendship will blossom and bear fruit even to a greater extent in future."

Transportation was provided by Messrs. Hubert Wells, Neil Manson, Felix Beaudry, Leonard Adam and Elmo Ashton, and in the absence of the President and Vice-President, the Secretary, Herbert Boyle, was in charge of the local representatives.

The meeting proved to be a most happy one, and further get-togethers are being planned for the near future.

Designer Studies Actress And Play

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Writer
New York, May 5.—(AP)—When a great designer dresses a great star, great sparks often fly.

This was not the case, however, when usually volcanic Tallulah Bankhead asked Mainbocher to design her wardrobe for her current Broadway vehicle, "Foolish Notion."

"She came to me as a patient would go to a doctor," said Mainbocher, tilting back in his chair during a recent interview. "I expected temperament but there was none. She was as docile as a child during the fittings. Maybe it was because she approved of my prescriptions."

His prescriptions were for flowing, dramatic gowns with startling color contrast and floating draperies to give a sense of motion. Mainbocher explained:

"If I can't design clothes that will not only heighten the beauty of the actress but also enhance the story, then I won't do the job at all."

In the first act Tallulah wears a long black dress with a full-length red cape. Later she appears in her child's dream, and the cape is five times as large as she slipped around her like a vampire, because this is the child's idea of her mother."

In another sequence the actress walks about the stage holding aloft an urn of her husband's ashes. Much of the time her back is to the audience. This presented a challenging problem to Mainbocher. Said he:

"It would have looked awful, wouldn't it, to have a tight dress straining at the shoulder seams, as the usual dress would do in such a position. So I avoided this by attaching long, vertical draperies which would fall straight and loose when Tallulah raised her arms, would give a feeling of grace and motion and also carry out the somewhat classic Greek feeling of the scene."

Yes! If you overlook the fact that I gave him a strong sedative and left him sleeping soundly!

Who'd suspect poor crippled Lord Humphrey of being the musketeer tonight, especially when Doc thinks I drank his sleeping potion!

SHERBROOKE POUNDS OUT 9-0 TRIUMPH AGAINST THREE RIVERS

Dussault And Couillard Wield Heavy Bats In Notre Dame Win

A pair of long-distance triples by Norm Dussault and Cliff Couillard proved disastrous for Three Rivers as Sherbrooke Notre Dame swept to an overwhelming 9-0 triumph against the Commandos in the curtain-raiser of the 1945 Provincial Baseball League schedule at the Park Stadium before an estimated crowd of 2,500 fans.

The win gave Notre Dame a share of first place in the league standings with Quebec who eked out a close 3-2 win at Drummondville yesterday.

After a listless beginning, Notre Dame came to life yesterday in the fourth stanza when Norm Dussault, league fielding sensation, clouted Pitcher Clyde Roy's 3 and 2 pitch for a 350-foot triple to centre to clear the loaded bases. On the next play Dussault came home himself on a bad throw by Pitcher Roy forcing the count to 4-0 in Sherbrooke's favor.

Cliff Couillard, star of pre-season practice, came to life in the sixth frame, bringing in two runs with a rousing 340-foot triple to centre. Catching the pill squarely on the nose, Couillard drove home Gaby Meunier and Norm Dussault, who had each been given a free pass to first by Maurice Lorraine who had replaced Roy after Dussault had broken up the ball game in the fourth.

Between Dussault's clout and Couillard's yard-ender, Notre Dame had scored one run on a series of walks and errors. In the seventh, the Sherbrooke aggregation continued the rout by pushing two more runs and third and belted the Trifluorine pitcher's Sunday pitch for a 340-foot triple to centre, scoring both and a "hit by pitcher."

Walking Alfie Malfara, Lorraine saw Lamontagne fly out but Martel reached first on an error by Billy McIntyre. Lamotte wound up at first when hit by a pitched ball and Alfie Malfara reached home on Gaby Meunier's fielder's choice which saw Lamotte forced at second.

A base on balls to Dussault loaded the bags and another walk to Nick Malfara forced Martel in with the ninth and final run.

In the remaining two times at bat, the Commandos were effectively handcuffed by the steady hurling of Julien Lamotte and the game ended in a 9-0 triumph for Sherbrooke.

Cliff Couillard's smart fielding around second earned him a selection as a co-star of the game, along with Norm Dussault, whose work in deep centre bordered on the sensational.

Mannie McIntyre, playing at short for the Commandos, was actually the only one in the game on the Three Rivers side of the fence.

Before the game, usual opening day ceremonies were held with the Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests, officiating at the flag-raising ceremony, assisted by a group of aldermen and local sportsmen.

The first ball was batted out by Mr. Bourque, with Alderman Paul Hamel hurling and Alderman Alphonse Trudeau on the receiving end.

WINDSOR DEFEAT RAND BY 21-15
Playing at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night, Windsor beat the Rand by a score of 21-15.

The game, played before a very small crowd, was a tough fight throughout. Windsor was out for a win after their defeat Wednesday night in Windsor Mills. Their shooting was much improved and they played a fast game. The score at the end of the first half stood at 18-4 for Windsor.

The second half saw a turn of events, Rand making a bid for a comeback, but despite their best efforts Windsor managed to keep them down to a score of 21-15 at the end of the game. They gave Windsor a good fight for it, however, scoring eleven points in the second half but this was not enough to swing the game in their favor.

Stars of the game were Nault with 6 points, MacKenzie and Beaton with 4, while the remaining points were made by Parker, Robb, Ross and Tanner for Windsor. For the Rand, Mel Porter scored 6 points, Martin 5, Eastman and Cook 2 each.

ORIOLES GAINED DOUBLE TRIUMPH AGAINST BISON

By The Canadian Press
Frankie Skaff, aided by his brother, Mike, enabled Baltimore Orioles to gain a double International League triumph over the Bisons, 12-4 and 2-1, as 5,836 witnessed the season's first double header at Buffalo yesterday.

Frankie Skaff blasted three home runs accounting for seven runs, two coming in the early stages of the opener to erect a five-run lead for Rolfe Vanslate while the third gained a finale-inning victory for Guy Coleman and ruined a fine shutout bid by veteran Hank Oana in the nightcap. Mike also swatted three hits.

Toronto swept both ends of a twin Fennelers by identical scores of 1-3, although the Leafs were out-hit in both games.

Alex. Martin bested Francisco Davila in the opener after Davila's wildness gave the Leafs a three run lead in the first inning and a dropped fly ball by Wally Cazen gave the Leafs the winning tally.

Tom Ananitz was touched for 10 hits in winning the nightcap, as Charley George's two-run single in the sixth and Nick Castano's bases-loaded single in the seventh kept the Leafs ahead at the finish.

Saturday, in the only game Ole Man Weather allowed to proceed as scheduled, Montreal Royals, behind the five-hit pitching of John Gahard, downed the visiting Baltimore Orioles 8-1.

Shawinigan Falls, Que., May 7.—(C) —Montreal Canadiens turned back Shawinigan Falls Cataracts 15-12 here Saturday in the opening game of the Provincial Senior Lacrosse league.

Canucks displayed better passing plays around the nets, along with a tight defensive game. Chubby Raymond led the Canucks offensive with four goals while Gaston Bourdon and Eddie Foy Wilkinson also contributed to the Montreal victory with a brace of goals each. Bernard (Coco) Blanchard proved the mainstay of the Cataract offensive with five spectacular tallies while his strong defensive work around the Shawinigan nets prevented a much higher Canadiens' victory.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati split before 10,157. The Reds won the opener 3-1 for Ed Heusser's third victory and the Pirates took the nightcap 5-1 as Rip Sewell outpitched Bucky Walters.

The Athletics and Washington broke even, the Mackmen winning the opener 3-2 for Russ Christophers' fourth triumph and the Senators, behind Dutch Leonard's three-hit pitching, taking the aftermatch 2-0.

St. Louis Cardinals deadlocked Chicago for third place by winning both games from the Cubs 6-2 and 5-1 before 13,718 spectators. Max Lanier and Mort Copner each won his second game of the season. Red Schoendienst of the Cards dislocated his shoulder in a fall in the first inning of the opener.

There's the PLACE I GET MY GENUINE C.C.M. PARTS

"Boys will be boys" and in that process they often give their Bikes hard usage far beyond reasonable wear and tear. They soon get to know where they can have their "Bikes" "fixed", or obtain new long-wearing Dunlop tires and accessories and those all-important genuine C.C.M. spare parts. Invariably "that place" is at the sign of the C.C.M. dealer. There are over 2,000 such dealers in Canada forged into a long chain of country-wide service for the convenience of C.C.M. Bicycle Riders. Remember these things when you go to select a bicycle—remember, too, that C.C.M. Bicycles have been made in Canada for over 45 years. Bicycle rationing on a voluntary basis, as instituted by the bicycle dealers of Canada in co-operation with the manufacturers and the "W.T.P.B." (War-time Prices and Trade Board), is still in effect. If you need a bicycle, and qualify as an essential user, go to your C.C.M. dealer and fill in a Bicycle Purchase Application Form and he will supply you with a new C.C.M. from stock or within a reasonable time. And should you ever need parts, service, Dunlop Tires or accessories, follow the lead of the boys—they know—and go to a C.C.M. dealer. Then you, too, can say "There's the Place I Get my Genuine C.C.M. Parts"—the store with the "C.C.M. Service" sign.

Seek To Expand British Trade

London, May 7. — (Reuters) — New export lines and better selling organizations are needed if Britain is to achieve her target of a 50-per cent increase in exports to the United States after the war, the Department of Overseas Trade says in a survey of trade prospects.

The United States will end the war more nearly self-sufficient industrially and more export-minded, it reports. The total value of goods and services produced in 1946 will be 70 per cent more than in 1940 and by 1948 American export trade will be one-third more than in 1937.

Imports, on the other hand, will have been cut from $7,000,000,000 to $4,500,000,000.

British exporters must continue to seek their major opportunity with manufactured and semi-manufactured goods which before the war represented three-quarters of their shipments to the United States, the survey says, adding:

"It is reasonable to think there will be an increase in the value of United Kingdom exports to the U.S.A. roughly proportionate to the expected rise in the levels of consumption in the U.S.A. But by relying solely on that it is doubtful if the accepted target of a 50-per cent increase could be achieved."

"The importance of more intensive industrial research in the United Kingdom cannot be sufficiently emphasized. . . . Because of the United Kingdom's traditional exports are limited, even if such possibilities be fully exploited, it therefore seems essential to develop a new range of exports, based probably upon recent inventions, in order to tap new areas of potential sales."

Another "most important factor," it says, will be the revision and improvement of merchandising methods.

"To some the method in use in the U.S.A. may seem over-aggressive and persistent in comparison with those met with elsewhere, but it is essential that United Kingdom exporters ensure that their goods should be presented by methods similar to, and equally as efficient as those used by U.S.A. distributors operating in the U.S.A."

"The U.S.A. offers a rich, but not an easy, market. . . . 'Made in Britain' is a useful starting point in favor of the sale of United Kingdom goods, but increased volume can be attained only by a combination of this initial advantage with what is most modern and effective in sales technique."

OBITUARIES

MRS. A. W. SAUNDERS, CITY.

The funeral of Mrs. A. W. Saunders, who passed peacefully away at the Sherbrooke Hospital on April 13, after an illness of over two years, took place on April 16 from Blake's Funeral Home to St. Peter's Church, the Rev. R. E. Dunsmuir, officiating, assisted by the Rev. John Ford, of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, officiating, and Mr. Frederic L. McLeeson, L.R.S.M., A.C.C.O., presiding at the organ.

The bearers were Messrs. Lewis Dunsmuir, Garnet Ross, George Ogston and Robert Whitley, all close friends of Mr. Saunders.

Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, where she had expressed a wish to be laid to rest in the family lot, the Rev. Russell Brown conducting the last committal service.

The chief mourners were her husband, Mr. A. W. Saunders, two sons, Captain Harold E. Saunders, and Mr. Saunders, Ottawa, and Raymond, who is at home, also two brothers-in-law, Sydney and Frederick, with their wives and one nephew, Reginald, and his wife.

Her sisters in Toronto were unable to attend.

The late Mrs. Saunders, Lydia Holmes, was born in Yorkshire, England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes, and came to Canada with her father and five sisters in 1893, Mrs. Holmes having died previously in England. On September 16, 1897, she married Albert W. Saunders, of Sherbrooke, where most of her life, with the exception of three years in St. Catharines, Ont., had been spent.

Of this union four children were born, Gladys, in 1898, who lived only eight days, Charlie, 1900, who died in 1910, Harold, born in 1903, and Raymond, in 1906.

Mrs. Saunders was confirmed in St. Peter's Church, in 1909, and for many years took an active interest in the work of the church, the more especially in the Boys' Auxiliary.

Previously, Mrs. Saunders and her family had been connected with the Methodist Church, now Trinity United Church, Court Street.

Besides her bereaved husband and family, Mrs. Saunders is survived by all but one of her sisters, Mrs. J. Sangster, the eldest, having died in 1908. The survivors are Mrs. W. Coker, Mrs. A. Moore and Mrs. W. Fawcett, Toronto, and Mrs. W. Browne, of Nanaimo, B.C.

Many friends will mourn the passing of this lady, who bore her long and trying illness with Christian fortitude, but after an accident, when on February 1, she suffered a fractured leg, necessitating her removal to the Sherbrooke Hospital, she failed gradually until on April 13, she peacefully entered into rest.

PROFESSOR CAL H. COREY, OF BEDFORD AND MONTREAL. Bedford, May 7.—Professor Cal H. Corey, of 5609A Park Avenue, vocal teacher and composer of music and opera, died on Thursday, April 26th, at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Montreal, in his 76th year. He had been ill for more than a year.

The last of a group of vocal professors that included such names as Landry, Jessop and Taylor, known in Montreal for many years, Professor Corey had many gifted opera and concert singers as pupils. He composed three operas himself, one of them, "Nona," was successfully produced in Victoria Hall, Westmount, in 1904, 1907 and 1910. He composed songs as well.

He staged many concerts for the armed forces in the last war and in the present wars. These became annual affairs at the Catholic Sailors' Club and the Sailor Institute, both of which he considered as his life's work. He also arranged church concerts. At one time he was the leader of a singing orchestra.

Professor Corey was born in Bedford, the only son of the late T. Corey, a gentleman farmer. He received his musical education in New York City, and was also a graduate of the American College of Music, New York. At an early age he was stricken with infantile paralysis, which left him partially crippled for the rest of his life.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Amelia St. Denis; two sons, Reginald and Earl Edward Corey; and one granddaughter, Carol Ann. Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon, April 28, at three o'clock in the United Church, Bedford, Professor Corey, being a member of the United Church. The Pastor, the Rev. Thomas Tyson, officiating, with interment in the Union Cemetery.

MRS. EDGAR CHADSEY, OF SWEETSBURG. Sweetburg, May 7.—Following an illness of sixteen weeks in hospitals in Montreal and Sweetburg, there entered into rest on Tuesday, April 17, Mrs. Edgar Chadsey, formerly Miss Mildred Worden, of Brome Centre, daughter of the late John Worden and his wife, Nancy Beattie.

She was a lifelong resident of the township of Brome and is survived by her husband, one son, Munroe Chadsey, residing on the home farm about three miles north of Sweetburg; and one daughter, Mildred, Mrs. Hugh Thompson, of Lyndonville. Hand-some floral designs were much in evidence.

FAMINE REDUCED OUTPUT. A corn famine in 1732 reduced the iron output of America when a blast furnace at Fredericksburg, Va., suspended production for lack of food for the animals that hauled raw materials.

FAST CABLE SYSTEM. The earth is belted with more than 300,000 miles of submarine cables, 100,000,000 miles of telephone wires, and 5,000,000 miles of telegraph cables.

GREED BROUGHT EXTINCTION. In early days, walrus were plentiful in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, but man's greed and failure to ration his killing soon brought about the total extinction of the large Acadian herds.

British Commons Backs Principle Of Baby Bonuses

BY JOHN DAUPHINEE

Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, May 7.—The House of Commons has approved in principle the government's £57,000,000-a-year family allowances bill, but one major point of difference remains unresolved: whether the money should be paid to the father or the mother.

On second reading almost without exception speakers in the debate urged that the allowances be payable to the mother, instead of the father as the bill provides. Sir William Jowitt, minister of national insurance who was piloting the measure through the house, promised a free vote on this issue in committee.

An estimated 2,500,000 families will receive benefits from the exchequer when the plan goes into effect on a date to be set by the minister after the war ends.

A sum of five shillings ($1.12) a week will be paid for every child except the first in every family, as long as the child is below school-leaving age. The estimated £57,000,000 ($256,500,000) annual expenditure was based on the expectation 4,500,000 children will qualify.

An additional £2,000,000 ($9,000,000) a year will be required when the leaving age is raised to 16 from 15, as planned. Administration will cost £2,000,000.

The family allowances bill provides for a benefit three shillings below that recommended in the social security report submitted to the government in 1943. The government, however, contends its total benefits to children will be considerably above the Beveridge figure since a program of free meals and milk in the schools will cost the exchequer £60,000,000 ($270,000,000) when fully developed.

The £57,000,000 is the amount which will be paid out by the exchequer in benefits. While there has been no final statement yet, it is anticipated the allowance payments will be subject to income tax as in the Canadian scheme, but the effect of taxation on net expenditures under the plan has not been estimated.

Reciprocal Arrangements. The intention is to make reciprocal arrangements with Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Eire which already have family allowance plans whereby their nationals living here and British subjects living in those countries will get their weekly payments. Foreigners who have lived in the United Kingdom for a number of years will also benefit.

The government's family allowance plan generally has been well-received. There have been criticisms particularly from the Labor Party that the benefits should be higher and that the first child should be included, but the basic idea has been widely approved.

Sir David Fyle, solicitor general, said one reason why the first child was not covered was that such action would bring the cost of cash benefits to £120,000,000 ($555,000,000) instead of the proposed £57,000,000. (MORE)

ENGLISH LADY EXPERT ON AUSSIE ABORIGINE

Canberra, May 7.—At the age of 83, Mrs. Bates of Wymbring, Inner Australia, has just been given a Commonwealth fellowship to enable her to compile a collection of native stories for children. She will also prepare a work on aboriginal laws and customs and on other features of native life.

Mrs. Bates has lived for 45 years amongst the aborigines of the west and centre of Australia. Born in England she came to Australia in 1899 and soon became deeply interested in Australia's Stone Age people.

In 1904 the West Australian government commissioned her to compile a history of the native tribes of Western Australia. This work has long been completed but has not yet been published.

When the Trans-continental Railway was put through in 1917 it began to attract the primitive people from regions hundreds of miles to the north. Aborigines were allowed to ride free on the freight trains and found a lot of fun in this. Mrs. Bates settled at Oldea, on the line, in 1919 and has lived amongst the natives there, or at Wymbring nearby, ever since.

The natives call her grandmother. She wears, whether she is amongst the aborigines or called into consultation at the Australian capital, the tightly fitting blouse, high collar and long skirts of the late Victorian style.

Says New Guinea A Crinkled Hell Of Bush, Swamp

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

These are days in which Allied armies strike hard, often confidently because they know how to fight and they have the stuff with which to fight.

Long past is the stage of cruel experiment, of brutal desperation when the lives of the few sacrificed to learn the lessons for the many who now are inexorable in their might and their knowledge. Dieppe was experiment. The Battle of Britain was desperation. New Guinea was a bit of both, but mostly it was a slimy, unbelievable detour "where white men slipped and slithered, panted, sweated, bled, sickened, dropped and died in a sodden and crinkled hell of mountain and forest and swamp."

It is of Guinea that Omar White writes in "Green Armour" (George J. McLeod Limited, Toronto.) Upon a background of pre-war jungle exploration and tropical mountaineering, the New Zealand-born, Australian-educated war correspondent has imposed first-hand experiences in the war itself.

It was among the green armor, the tangled, knitted jungle and the razored slopes of New Guinea that the Japanese march to Pacific domination came to a halt. But Omar White is annoyed at suggestions the Japanese were stopped 30 miles from Port Moresby by any feat of defence. It was, he says, "a law of nature."

He is authoritative in his military analyses but it is in his descriptions of men and terrain that he achieves success. There, a few of his sentences, may best serve to telegraph and give the feel of his story.

Mechanical Age Increases Girth

New York, May 7.—War, despite rationing, hard work and worry, has helped pad the woman's figure—and in the wrong places. After a two-year survey of 100,000 women, Clarice MacLevy, director of slenderizing schools throughout the United States, has come to the conclusion that the main figure problem of today's woman is an abnormal development of thighs. She says:

"One of the reasons for this condition appears to be the new types of standing work women have been doing in war plants. Tight measurements increase as a result of using muscles that hitherto were not developed."

When the war is over, she believes, there will be the same rush to reducing salons that occurred after the First Great War.

"Though my father had established his first slenderizing salon for men only it was after the war that women demanded admittance for themselves. So many of them registered that eventually Dad disposed of the men."

Miss MacLevy carried on for her father. She helped devise various gadgets to make reducing less of a chore. In her salons there are machines that can be set to massage the body wherever it needs slimming, and a girl can stand, sit or lie in comfort while it is being accomplished.

Used To Slim Women. It is too early to predict what the after-war trend in figures will be. The soldier Overseas will be used to seeing slim women. Whether or not he will like fleshy thighs, hips and the plump little arms to welcome him home remains to be seen.

If you can't get in to a salon to be rubbed, patted and squeezed by a good masseuse or you can't take advantage of slenderizing gadgets that can be found in salons, why not try these good home exercises suggested by Miss MacLevy and start them now—don't wait until Johnny comes home:

To reduce the thighs, lie on your back, legs together and straight out. Bend the right leg up to your chest and press with both hands. Return to starting position. Bend the left leg up to your chest and press with both hands. Return to position. Do this rapidly 10 times.

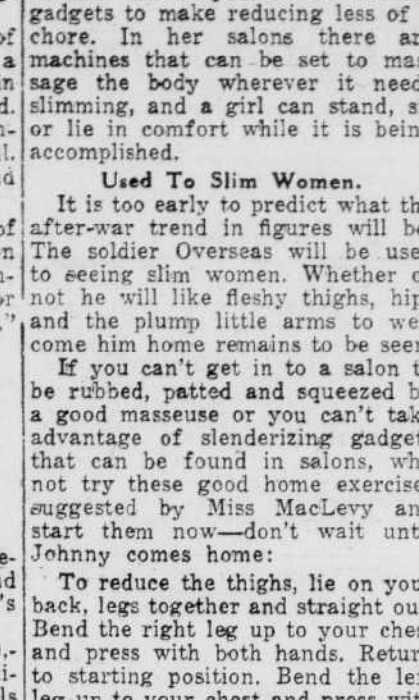

Another good thigh reducer starts by lying on your back, legs together and straight out, arms raised above face. Kick the right leg directly up, touching hands and keeping the knee straight and toes pointed. Lower leg to starting position. Kick the left leg up, touching hands and keeping the knee straight and toes pointed. Lower leg to starting position. When one leg is kicking, do not let knee of the other leg bend. Do this exercise rapidly at least 10 times.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Frankly, I think Sarge is going to frown on that sort of thing!"

On such occasions as weddings and funerals, ancient customs are observed in China to such an extent that the cost keeps many families poor.

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Steady, Canada!

Are we thinking that, at long last, there is an end to it all?
Our soldiers know better.

True, the dust of defeat rises over the fallen pillars of hideous temple.

But our men have a vast mopping-up operation ahead of them. And, after that, they have still another capital to topple in the dust, still another aggressor to drag out of his hole.

Millions of tons of materials must continue to flow across both seas until Victory is final, complete!

We must continue to produce these materials.

And we must continue to gladly buy the Victory Bonds that will pay for them.

Time for rejoicing, yes. But let it be in our hearts only. It is also a time to remain steadfast.

There are still many tomorrows ahead of our boys across the seas.

Let us all be men who think of tomorrow by investing to the utmost in Victory Bonds today.
