Milk price increases

QUEBEC — Benoit Lavigne, President of the Quebec Agricultural Marketing Board, announced yesterday that, starting March 1st 1975, fluid milk producers will receive 12.21 dollars per hundred pounds of milk, an increase of 1.08 dollars over the present price.

Mr. Lavigne said that this decision by the board is the result of a hearing held in Montreal on January 22 at which the Milk Producers' Federation asked for an increase of 2.26 dollars per hundredweight or the equivalent of an increase of 6 cents a quart to the consumer. In addition, Mr. Lavigne pointed out, "We also heard applications during the hearing for increase and readjustment of the profit margin from the Quebec Dairy Industry Council and the Food Retailers' Association. The Board is accordingly granting the dairy plants an increase of one sixth of a cent per quart."

Mr. Lavigne said that the Agricultural Marketing Board's decision will be felt as an increase of 3 cents a quart regardless of fat content or type of container. For example, at stores in the central region, a quart of milk will sell for a minimum price of 51 cents as of March 1st 1975.

On the basis of a formula which was used as a guide said Mr. Lavigne, "We had to take into account the obvious rise in production costs but without forgetting that recent increases in the price of milk have led, according to the statistics, to a decline in per capita milk consumption which is worrying the board."

Says farmers entitled to equal conditions, incomes

OTTAWA (CP) — John Dean, convicted Watergate conspirator, told students at Carleton University Thursday night he was blinded by ambition and seduced by power and the trappings of power.

Mr. Dean, speaking to a gymnasium crowd of about 1,600, said he enjoyed the trappings of power he had while he was counsel to former president Nixon.

He found it was possible to summon a helicopter for virtually any reason and could use White House telephones to connect him with any place he wished.

"American people place more power in their president than you can conceive," he told the courteous and receptive audience.

In answer to a question from the audience concerning his personal standard of living, he said he has $4,000 in his checking account and has no plans to get rich on the proceeds of Watergate.

"I plan to drive my old Datsun for a long time," he said.

Many of the offers he had received to write magazine articles would have been more profitable than the whole lecture tour of college campuses, he said.

Students paid $2 to see Mr. Dean and non-students $3. Mr. Dean's fee is said to have been $3,500. His two-hour appearance unveiled no revelations regarding the affair that culminated in Richard Nixon, resigning as president.

He said in answer to another question that former president Nixon had good characteristics which have been clouded by the Watergate affair.

The former president was human and easy to talk with, he said. He also showed great ability in being able to consume large amounts of material in order to be well-briefed on a subject.

Mr. Dean was making one of two visits to Canadian universities on his current lecture tour. He spoke Wednesday to students at the University of Guelph.

Montreal hit by gangland slaying

MONTREAL (CP) — Four persons were shot to death and four others, including a woman, were injured when three masked gunmen opened fire in a bar and discotheque in suburban Brossard Thursday night, police said. Two of the injured were reported in critical condition at the nearby Charles Lemoyne Hospital on the south shore of Montreal island.

Police said the shootings had gangland overtones and investigators believe a settling of accounts may have been the motive behind the incident.

Three men burst into the crowded bar and opened fire, apparently aiming at a group sitting around a table in the centre of the bar, police said.

About 60 persons in the bar and discotheque of the Hotel Lapiniere at the time of the killings were taken to Quebec Provincial Police headquarters for questioning.

At the scene of the shootings early today Bob Lamle, reporter for radio station CJAD, said: "There must have been panic with everyone running to get out of the way. Tables and chairs were overturned, with broken glass everywhere and pools of blood."

A QPP spokesman said investigators are working on "several leads" but preliminary details are sketchy.

Police and hospital officials refused further comment.

The shootings occurred less than a month after 13 persons were slain in Montreal's north-end Gargantua Bar-Salon Jan. 21. They were the latest in a crime wave which has pushed the Quebec murder rate to one a day since New Year's Eve and brought public demands for more effective police action.

Less than a month ago 10 men and three women died in the sleazy north-end Gargantua nightclub, described as one of the worst premeditated mass murders in Canadian history.

Victims were herded into a six-by-eight foot beer storage closet and a fire deliberately set.

At an inquest last week, after hearing 12 hours of testimony from 23 witnesses, Coroner Cyrille Delage held a 28-year-old man criminally responsible for the slayings. The man was later arraigned.

More teachers boycott tests

MONTREAL (GS) — The Teachers Alliance of Montreal has recommended its members participate in the French language testing for Bill 22.

The president of the Alliance, Mr. Robert Chagnon, underlined that the Department of Education project does not offer sufficient guarantee of a minimum level of seriousness.

The Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers has also asked its members to boycott the experimental program of the tests.

Mr. Chagnon said that more than just the written test is needed for a fair evaluation. He expressed concern that the results of the oral tests were left to the discretion of the person administering them.

One of the chief problems seen with the language tests is how to standardize them. The Quebec Government has asked teachers to cooperate in administering the tests so that they may be standardized more readily.

Mr. Chagnon called the tests against the interests of the public because of their complications.

Senator Laing dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Senator Arthur Laing, who spent more than 25 years involved in Canadian politics, died Thursday in hospital of stomach cancer at the age of 70.

The former federal Liberal cabinet minister and British Columbia Liberal leader was respected and admired by politicians from all parties. Shortly after news of his death was announced, tributes poured in from political allies and opponents alike.

Prime Minister Trudeau remembered Senator Laing "as a person who could fight tenaciously for what he believed in without allowing his personal convictions to blind him to the worth of an opponent's position."

Former prime minister John Diefenbaker said "he was a devoted parliamentarian and a good minister."

"I knew him for 30 years," he added. "He was always a gentleman."

LAING DEDICATED
Ray Perrault, government leader in the Senate, said Senator Laing was "one of the most dedicated public servants in the history of this country."

Allister Grosart, deputy opposition leader in the Senate, said "He was absolutely outstanding and when he spoke in the Senate he added greatly to everyone's knowledge."

Robert Stanfield, Progressive Conservative leader, praised Senator Laing as "a warm and generous man who was always able to see Canada as a whole."

Blass inquest hears testimony

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP) — Person fugitive Richard Blass shouted "I surrender" several minutes before he was shot and killed by police inside his rented Laurentian chalet Jan. 24, a coroner's inquest into his death was told Thursday.

A witness inside the chalet at the time of the shooting testified he heard "police shout through a bullhorn 'the place is surrounded, give yourself up.'"

The witness, a 29-year-old unemployed scrap dealer whose name was ordered withheld, told the inquest he then heard a female witness scream: "Richard, get out, get out," after which Blass shouted to police: "I surrender."

About three minutes elapsed between Blass' offer to give himself up and the moment he was shot, the witness said.

Loses retrial bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sirhan B. Sirhan, convicted in the assassination of Senator Robert Kennedy, has lost his bid for a retrial on grounds that new evidence shows he didn't fire the murder weapon.

The California Supreme Court denied Sirhan's petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which means it refused to reopen the case involving Kennedy's murder in June, 1968, in Los Angeles.

The court gave no reason for its decision Thursday. Sirhan, serving a life sentence, filed a petition Jan. 13 through his lawyer, Godfrey Isaac, claiming his guilt was in question because of new information not brought out in the trial.

Isaac said ballistics evidence tending to show that Kennedy was not killed by Sirhan's gun "was deliberately and knowingly suppressed by the prosecution."

Blink saves life

MILWAUKEE (AP) — William Winogrand, pulled back from the brink of death by a blink Monday, ate breakfast Thursday and talked to his wife.

Winogrand, 46, suffered a heart attack Monday and was rushed to hospital. His wife, Iris, was told he appeared to be clinically dead.

She agreed to have his eyes and other organs prepared for donation. But when small covering on his eyes were taken off in preparation for removal, he blinked.

Winogrand was taken to the cardiac unit where he has been improving since.

He sat in a chair and talked briefly to his wife Thursday and had breakfast.

"He is functioning well," she said, but noted that he is still listed in critical condition.

Man eludes police

HARVEY, Ill. (AP) — A Harvey man continued to elude police today after he was charged with attempted murder in the shootings of five policemen, officials said.

Timothy Johnson, 36, was named in two warrants after a shooting spree Thursday in which five officers were wounded, two of them critically, said Police Chief L.L. Lower.

Lower said the series of shootings started when Patrolman Frank Maslanka, 24, stopped an automobile for a traffic violation. Another patrolman arrived minutes later and found Maslanka lying in the street with a bullet wound in his forehead.

Lower said the second officer quoted Maslanka as saying: "Tim Johnson shot me."

Lower said a check of the license plate numbers of the assailant's car showed the vehicle was registered to Johnson, whom Maslanka had arrested last year on several charges which were later dismissed.

Commandeers bus

PORTLAND (AP) — A New Hampshire man, whose only apparent demand was to go to Augusta, Maine, faces arraignment here today on charges of commandeering a Continental Trailways bus.

Kenneth James Smith, 40, of Rochester, was arrested Wednesday and charged with kidnapping with a firearm and armed assault and battery.

Authorities said six shots were fired inside the bus before the gunman was subdued by the driver and a young woman passenger.

The bus was headed north on busy U.S. 1 in Scarborough, Maine, when a gunman commandeered the vehicle. He ordered the driver to skip a scheduled stop in Portland, turn onto the Maine Turnpike and take him to Augusta, police said.

Passenger trips ready

ELLSWORTH, Me. (AP) — Bar Harbor Airlines said Thursday it is "ready, willing and able" to start daily passenger service between Portland and Montreal, if Air Canada can legally transfer its operating rights to the American company.

Thomas Caruso, Bar Harbor Airlines president, said his commuter air line would be prepared to start service "almost immediately," but that it was not prepared to extend service to Halifax.

The Halifax leg was part of the route which Air Canada announced last week would be indefinitely postponed due to economic conditions.

The route between Montreal, Portland, Bangor and Halifax was to have opened this summer.

TAX TIPS

Q. The expression, moving expenses, probably means many things to different people. Can you be specific regarding the types of moving expenses which can be deducted from income for income tax purposes?

A. Yes, moving expenses would generally include the cost of travelling from a former to a new residence, including meals and lodging while en route, transportation and storage costs for household effects, and the cost of up to 15 days temporary board and lodging near the former or new residence.

Q. What about the cost of cancelling a lease, advertising and legal costs, or real estate commissions. Are costs of this nature regarded as moving expenses?

A. Yes. Each of the items you mentioned is included in moving expenses. We should probably mention that expenses for any work done to improve the property before sale, or mortgage penalty when the mortgage is paid off before maturity, or any loss incurred on a sale are not included in moving expenses.

Q. Can a divorced woman claim the equivalent married exemption of $1,492 for a 13-year-old child?

A. Yes, provided the child lives with the taxpayer in the self-contained domestic establishment maintained by the taxpayer.

Q. My wife and I are the same age and this year we qualify for the age exemption. On my tax form do I claim $1,066 age exemption for my wife as well as $1,066 for myself?

A. No. The fact that your wife is entitled to claim the age exemption if she files her own tax return does not effect the amount you can claim as married exemption.

Q. My wife and I were married in September. She was working before marriage but has not worked since. Can I claim the full married exemption of $1,492 for her? What does she do about filing a return?

A. If she received no income after your marriage, you may claim the full married exemption of $1,492. Otherwise, calculate your exemption taking into account only the income she received after your marriage. If your wife is taxable or had tax deducted from her salary, she must file her own return.

Q. My nephew, aged 15, came to live with me last year when his parents were killed in an auto accident. Although I have not been appointed as his legal guardian, and no papers have been signed, he is totally dependent on me. Can I claim him as a dependent on my income tax form?

A. Yes. The fact that you have not been appointed his legal guardian would not bar you from claiming your nephew as a dependent if he otherwise qualified.

Q. My wife is working and will file her own tax return. I know I can't claim the married exemption on her behalf, but can I claim this on behalf of our child instead?

A. No. The exemption for support of a child may only be claimed by a person who is not married or, if married, is separated from and not supporting his wife.

Q. We had our first child last week. How do I go about having my tax deductions changed, or do I need to do anything?

A. A child will affect your personal exemption status. Whenever your personal exemptions change, notify your personnel office and they will have you fill out a new TDI form. You should do this as soon as possible.

Price of rubber products up 10%

TORONTO (CP) — The price of rubber products may rise as much as 10 per cent in 1975, a survey of Canadian rubber manufacturers indicates.

Peter Mason, retiring chairman of Rubber Association of Canada (RAC), told the annual meeting Wed. that two-thirds of its members are predicting raw material prices to increase between three and 10 per cent this year.

This will mean an equivalent rise in product prices, Mr. Mason said.

RCA members produce tires, belting, hose, rolls, mechanical goods, clothing and footwear and account for about 90 per cent of all rubber consumed in Canada.

The retiring chairman said the slowdown in the automotive, petroleum and mining industries, plus hesitation in consumer spending will have an effect on the industry this year.

However, sales and profits are still expected to increase by more than 10 per cent from 1974 levels, the member survey showed.

The industry expects increased labor costs, with over half anticipating a rise in excess of 10 per cent. Capital expenditures will rise by over 10 per cent, mostly for plant conversion to handle new products such as radial tires.

Alvin McMullen, incoming chairman, said the downturn in the auto industry, increasing labor costs and a dramatic rise in the cost of living are causes for concern in the industry.

But, he hoped that raw material prices will stabilize to some extent and "help to eliminate some of the extreme cost variables experienced in this area in 1974."

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices soared in heavy trading Thursday on the Montreal Stock Exchange amid investor optimism that interest rates will continue to drop.

Once again the Federal Reserve intervened in New York money markets on behalf of lower rates in short-term bond and Treasury Bills issues and the chief economist of a leading U.S. commercial bank predicted further drops in the prime lending rate from the current 9½ per cent level to as low as seven per cent in 1975. Closing volume was 1,026,000 shares compared with 735,000 Wednesday.

Banks led the indicators with a gain of 4.76 to 251.67. Industrials added 3.61 to 187.37, the composite 3.32 to 184.90, utilities 1.56 to 140.51

Among speculative issues, Gaspe Quebec lost five cents to $1.35 on turnover of 18,100 shares.

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A strong surge of buying activity pushed the Toronto stock market sharply higher Thursday with industrials and western oils closing at their highest levels since mid-August. Trading was active.

Following the lead of a strong New York market which had a record volume, the Toronto market's industrial index, widely-based indicator of market trend, closed up 3.53 to 184.07. That was the highest level since Aug. 12, 1974, when it touched 184.94.

Western oils were up 3.67 to 161.97, the highest mark since Aug. 20, 1974, when the index hit 163.29.

Gold rose 27.9 to 435.05 and base metals 1.09 to 67.77.

The recovery in Toronto and New York began late Wednesday.

New York closed with a record volume of 35.16 million shares on Jan. 27 this year. The Dow Jones average closed sharply higher.

Analysts attribute the strong gains to a number of factors including forecasts for lower inflation, a sharp turnaround predicted in unemployment in the United States later this year, lower interest rates, and optimism over the situation in the Middle East.

Read your Tax Guide. It's worth it.

Income Tax.

Let's face it. You probably believe filling out your tax return isn't easy and all the talk in the world wouldn't convince you otherwise. But it doesn't have to be difficult.

Each year the Federal Government tries to make it easier for you to understand your tax form and to fill it out accurately and quickly.

For instance, this year we've rewritten the Income Tax Guide to make it easier and simpler for you to use while you complete your return.

And, for most of you, the Guide will be the only help you'll need.

Now, let's touch on the tax form itself. It's used, basically, to identify yourself, to list your income, to reduce your income by subtracting allowable deductions and to calculate your tax.

Using the six easy-to-follow steps in the Blue Section beginning on page one of your Tax Guide is a quick and simple way of filling out the tax form accurately.

The Blue Section takes you through the form, step by step, from front to back. In plain language it tells you how to list your income and claim your deductions. It tells you how to go about calculating your tax, arriving at your refund or balance due.

And that's it.

Following the Blue Section, there is a detailed explanation of different types of income, and how they affect you and your tax return.

Your questions on what you can deduct will probably be answered under the heading 'Deductions' beginning on page eleven. Be sure to read this section carefully.

Your Tax Guide also includes an area of general information, a page or two of answers to some common questions and solutions to problems you could encounter while working on your return.

On the back page you'll find District Taxation Office addresses and telephone numbers if you decide you need more help.

So, you see, your Tax Guide will probably be your best friend come Income Tax time. Read it thoroughly and follow it carefully. You'll find it will make your job a lot easier.

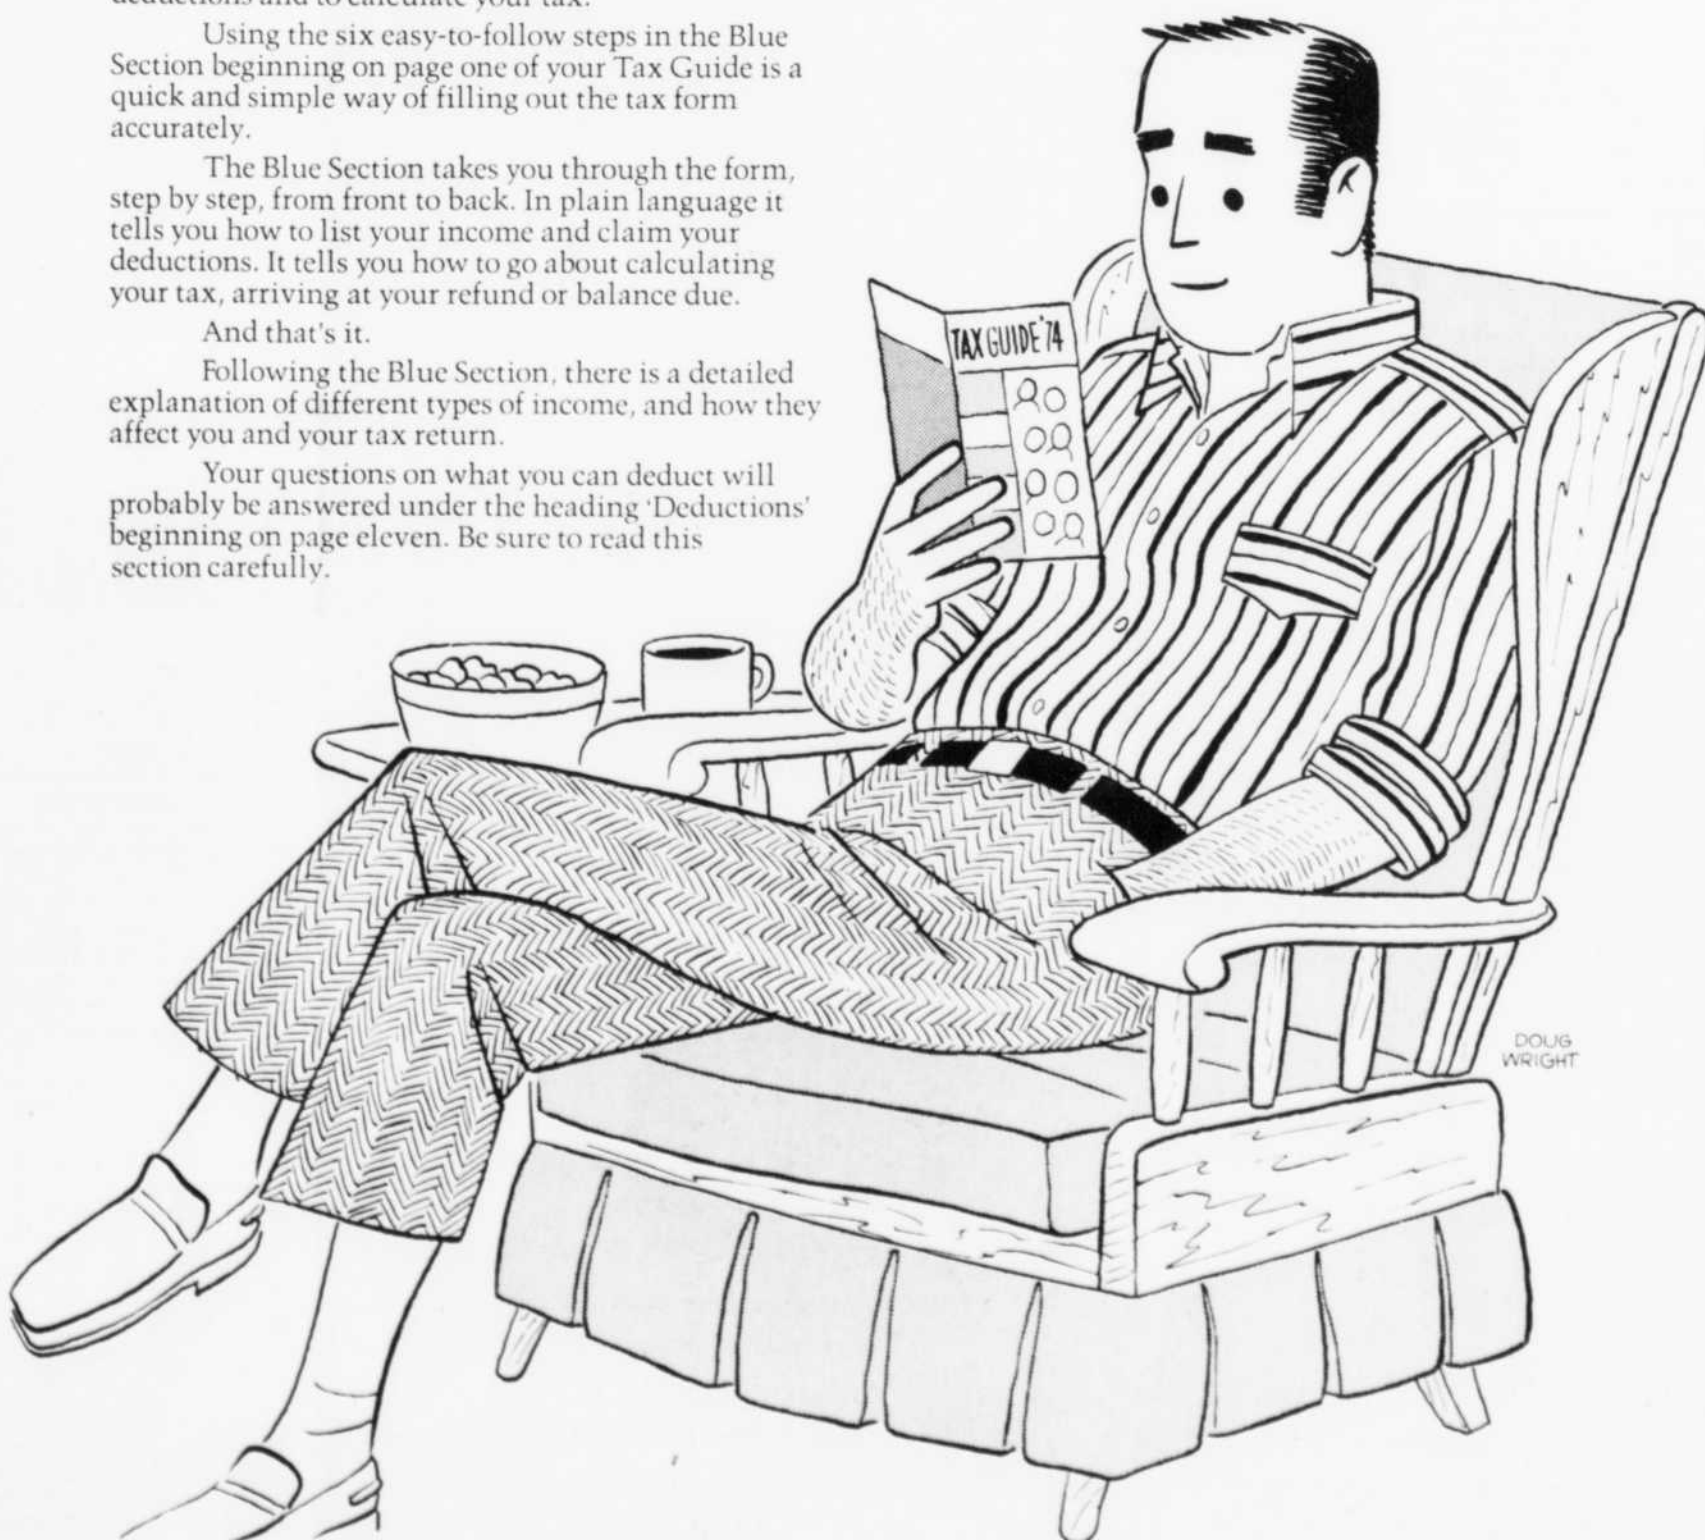

Tax Guide '74. How long has it been since you've read a really good book?

We're making it easier to understand.

Sherbrooke Snow Shoe Club

By LES HUMPHRIES

If you were driving past the Sherbrooke Snow Shoe Club House last Saturday afternoon and wondered what was going on, the explanation is simple. It was Children's Day and about 150 members and their children enjoyed ski-doo rides and a combination of soccer-broomball - if you had a broom it was broomball, if you didn't it was soccer.

When all had gathered inside and the children started to devour popcorn and orange drinks, who should appear on stage but Ronald MacDonald, the fun loving clown.

He entertained the youngsters with balloon tricks and magic, then presented them all with gifts of cookies - courtesy of MacDonald's. Many thanks, Joe Scott, for making all this happen.

Sunday morning some 50 members attended Morning Worship at Lennoxville United Church, where Rev. Doug, Warren, who had just returned from the meetings of General Council brought us up to date on the state of union between the Anglican and United Churches.

Wednesday night's menu was stew and was served to 93 members and guests assembled for "Youth Night."

Cecil Blenkhorn was back to lead the sing song - but as he seemed to be slow in getting started, the Red Party went ahead without him.

He tried to tell a story, but had to wait until after the sing song to finish it.

Stan Saunders made his annual "visit" to the club, and although he grumbled about being "Dunned" for Half and Half tickets - actually smiled when he won.

Red Party Vice-Presidents Irv. Richards and Wendell Greer, representing "Lyons Litter", read a "Litter" about President Don's early beginnings up to the present time.

A "Litter" present was offered to him which consisted of used tea bags, a burned out light bulb, used paper cup, etc. He also received a token of the "Litter Lyons" and a box of genuine litter for a genuine litter box.

Thanks Irving, Wendell and the Red Party - this part of the meeting is always well enjoyed.

1st Vice-President Bob Richardson introduced John Pille, Music Director at AGRHS who spoke of teaching music at Galt and in turn introduced Maureen Vallee and Chris Green who, with John, entertained us with baritone, trumpet and trombone selections. Thanks of the club were expressed by Wendell Greer.

Saturday is our "Beaux and Arrows" Valentine party - Bring your lady to supper at 6:30 p.m. and enjoy the evening with your friends.

Next Wednesday "Gavel Echoes" as we meet to listen to our past presidents tell of the "Good old Days" at the club. Let us continue the good attendance we have enjoyed this year.

Two more groups, under sub-section art-vocal received grants. Les Petits Chanteurs de Granby and Chorale d'Asbestos were given $5,000 and $1,000 respectively.

Lennoxville tax explained

By BRUCE PORTER
Record Reporter

LENNOXVILLE — No matter how much town residents complain about the new service tax by-law, it is in effect for this year and nothing can be done in the meantime to change it, but this article will attempt to put some light on different areas to show the move was necessary.

A large number of residents have cried out in the past month or so, stating that it is too much. According to Lennoxville finance chairman

Robert Nichol, an increased revenue has to come from one place or another to help dissolve a large deficit of $115,877 the town incurred in 1973.

He stated that many are complaining about the new $100 service tax, while in fact, the increase is only $75 for this year. Lennoxville, he claims, has been slow with tax increases in the early seventies and that this year, everyone is feeling the crunch a little more than they normally would.

The new service tax basically comprises the old garbage and water taxes and is charged to each dwelling in the municipality. Public discontent was voiced by several older residents, most of whom are receiving old-age pensions. They didn't understand why an increase in evaluation and the beginning of a new tax had to be done at the same time. For them, the money is often thinly spread and having to pay out more in taxes seemed as if the town was picking on the fixed-income residents.

Mr. Nichol said the only reason for the switch this year is that operating costs have increased over the past few years and taxes have not risen accordingly. He cited water tax at $30 has been constant for at least two decades, and the $15 garbage tax is also very low in comparison with other towns.

He gave examples of Windsor Mills, where the garbage and water taxes are $62 per year, with the mill rate being 15½. Lennoxville's presently stands at 7½, a drop from 8 mills last year. Windsor residents also have to pay eight per cent rental tax on top of that.

East Angus has a mill rate of 13 and only charge $34 service tax, and eight per cent rental. But they have close to $100,000 revenue from a tax levied on Duntar mill there, it was learned.

Rock Forest charges five mills, but its service tax is around $135, $120 being for water and $15 for garbage.

Mr. Nichol says the $75 figure isn't high in comparison to the 7½ mill rate and after much thought by council, it was decided the new service tax was justified and normal.

Guiding on the Move

By MRS. KEN HERRING

From the Second Lennoxville Guide Company Mrs. Frances Smith reports that Susan Wilson has flown up to Guides from the 1st Lennoxville Brownie Pack, District Commissioner Mrs. Mary Ward enrolled the following Guides: Shelly Smith, Susan Wilson, Laura Mayhew, Jane Lynch and Susan Coward.

The 1st Lennoxville Guide Company entertained the people at the Grace Christian Home during the Christmas Holidays with Guide songs and carols. Handmade gifts were distributed. The two Lennoxville Companies then joined together that same evening by holding a profitable bazaar.

In the latter part of December the Guides and Scouts of the 1st Lennoxville Company and Troop held a joint Christmas Party; songs, games, Santa, and gifts, followed by refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Hard work has earned the Guides of the 1st Lennoxville Company numerous badges: Hiker, Alison Booth, Heather Calder, Debbie Gillam, Guylaine Gosselin, Caroline Leonard, Sandra MacCaskill, Julie McComb, Jocelyn Smith; Hostess, Noreen Gallagher, Jennifer Garfat, Donna Gillam, Susan Patrick, Holly St. Onge; Campfire Leader, Sandra MacCaskill; Petkeeper, Penny Nutbrown, Sandra MacCaskill; Challenge Badge, Jocelyn Smith; Physical Fitness Emblem, Heather Calder.

On Saturday, January 25th the Lennoxville Local Association of Brownie, Guide and Ranger Mothers sponsored a highly successful Fun Fair. Many youngsters turned out to participate in the games, see the magic show, eat lunch provided by the Guides, and buy some books from the Rangers. A bake table and white elephant table were also featured.

Bury Rangers sponsored a slide show presented by Mr. and Mrs. Ken Herring. A good turnout on a cold winter's night to see pictures of the Eastern Canadian Arctic and Greenland helped the Rangers with funds for their projected trip north next summer.

February 15th is the date for the Lennoxville Ranger's Tea as all Guides and Scouts approach Thinking Day on February 22. It is hoped that all of us will remember the World Friendship Fund this year when we try to help others who are coming to see this great land of ours.

Several Canadian girls and young women will also be travelling overseas in the coming year. They will be representing us, so let's give them a hand!

Sleigh ride held

HATLEY (IH) — It was as if the pages had been turned back to "the good old days" on Saturday, February 8, for a good many of the adults and a look into the past for the younger generation who went to Hatley for an old fashioned sleigh ride held by the Massawippi Valley Horse-riding Association.

The ride in the Hatley area was in double sleighs drawn by Stan Whitcomb's teams. The weather was delightful with sun and blue skies to make it all the more enjoyable.

The ride gave those on it a hearty appetite and the riders were joined by other members who could not make it earlier for a home cooked baked bean supper in the hall and other goodies to eat. This was under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ruth Willard and Mrs. Rheta Taylor of Stanstead.

After the supper, Mr. Whitcomb, the president, held a short business session. The entertainment for the March 7 meeting to be held in the Hatley Village hall at 8:30 p.m. sharp will include a special film, and there will be more discussion about the summer riding school.

The summer riding school was introduced at the Saturday night meeting, and so was the April annual dinner and dance, with Mrs. Willard and Mrs. Taylor to make inquiry of this and report back at the March meeting. The wish was expressed for larger attendance at the regular meetings. Several members paid their dues on Saturday.

A Year of Expedients?

Judging from the way 1975 is beginning to shape up we may expect not so much the threatened Armageddon as a slow decline into disintegration. The reserves accumulated in the 30 years of prosperity are too large to vanish overnight, even in a deepening depression. On the other hand, the lack of statesmanship, and above all the collapse of responsible elites, the increasing weakness of democratic institutions and the ungovernability of almost every Western nation — perhaps with the exception of Germany and Switzerland — all point to a downward road. Our reserves will give us months, perhaps even a couple of years, of respite, a time during which we shall hope that something unexpected turns up. Mercifully, the future is a closed book to the human mind, so there always is a possibility of a startling turn. But if that turn does not come, democratic society as we know it may now be basking in the last rays of its rapidly setting sun.

It is apparent that no drastic measures will be taken to cope with the economic situation. President Ford's program is like an amateurish tinkering with a computer that has gone wild, spouting billion-dollar NSF cheques. The Congress for its part seems determined to let the computer print its phoney money while the Congress' economic experts busily program it for further inflation. With the Western world's leading economy out of control, there is little likelihood of remedial action in countries that depend so much upon the economic health and well-being of the United States.

Following these pusillanimous precepts, the International Monetary Fund meeting in Washington has been equally unimaginative in its decisions: It applied sticking-plaster where drastic surgery was required. The IMF "facility" — always provided the OPEC countries condescend to lend the IMF the necessary funds — will once again bail out countries from the consequences of their own profligacy. The $6 billion of which the "facility" hopes to dispose will just about cover either the British or the Italian deficits. No wonder then that the British labor unions have brusquely rejected the warning of the chancellor of the exchequer, Denis Healey that "unless we are prepared to make sacrifices, not only in our living standards but more in our way of life, I would say, over the next year or two, we may not get through the crisis." The unions have said there will be no lowering in the living standards of union membership. With new loans in the offing and prosperity promised to return in August, there is no reason why any nation should change its spending habits.

Meanwhile, State Secretary Kissinger is getting ready to erect in the Middle East another jerry-built, Vietnam-type peace structure. One should not blame the peripatetic doctor. He is dealing from a weak hand: Polls show that only about one tenth of the American people would agree with a military intervention in the Middle East, and Israel's isolation has been as complete as could be imagined. The Palestinian case has reached a momentum such as had the Sudeten case in 1938, and Yassir Arafat is appearing in the best society, as Konrad Henlein did of yore. Even if the United States Congress were to be persuaded formally to guarantee Israel, as President Ford hinted in his interview with Time magazine, it would be a sheer miracle if a settlement proved to be more durable than that of Munich. How does one guarantee a state against mounting terrorism from across indefensible borders, such as would be those between Israel and the new Palestinian state? The Ulster people are fleeing North Ireland's terrorism, a lesson the Palestine Liberation Organization will not be slow to absorb. Thus if there is no Middle East war this spring or summer, the problem, like that of our economic troubles will not have been solved but merely postponed.

It is always possible that the presence of nuclear weapons will concentrate the minds of nations, and that each will stop at the brink. The repeated Berlin crises did not, after all, lead to a shooting war, and the periodical "authoritative" forecasts of an imminent Soviet pre-emptive strike against China have proved false. However, nobody can now deny that we are in the depth of an economic recession, the outward appearance of business as usual notwithstanding.

'Survival' shows us
we are Canadians

Survival by Margaret Atwood.

Margaret Atwood's book gets its name from what she claims is the most recognizable theme in Canadian writing. This very readable book has twelve chapters, each on a separate subject, packed with quotes and details to illustrate her surmise, and followed by useful lists of publishers and books in all fields.

Each chapter starts with quotations that tantalize. The themes and the characters taken from Canadian prose and poetry are familiar to us in real life — the human characters whether in English or French Canadian writing are always victims, and in English Canada the animals are too.

There are a number of dictionary meanings for victim: "One who is reduced or destined to suffer under some oppressive or destructive agency makes an interesting departing point for a discussion.

Although stories of explorers and settlers, of martyrs, artists or dissatisfied women, about nature and the family are common enough in literature, Atwood is able to show that Canadian writers treat them in a way that is distinctly Canadian.

She feels people judge Canada by standards and surroundings from other countries, and not finding what they seek, in their disappointment miss what is here.

Atwood says at the beginning of the book, "It's hard to find out who anyone else is until you have found out who you are." The recurring themes from Pratt and Mowat, MacLennan, Laurence, Ringuet, Blais or Berton and dozens of others find us victims.

Survival shows us we are Canadians.

Thelma Pitman
Evelyn DuvalTales from Indians

Review of "Tales from the Smokehouse" by: Herbert T. Schwarz; Illustrated by: Daphne Odjig; Published by: Hurtig Publishers, Edmonton; 102 pages.

Most books dealing with stories of a sexual nature tend to be either clinical, pornographic, badly written, or a combination of all three.

Happily, "Tales from the Smokehouse", by Herbert T. Schwarz, illustrated by Daphne Odjig, falls into none of these categories. Dr. Schwarz has assembled, in an ingenious fashion, thirteen ancient and contemporary erotic tales from several Indian tribes, especially the Ojibwa and Mohawk.

The stories are presented as an exchange by a group of Indian men of all ages in the sweat-lodge or smokehouse.

They range in fairly logical pattern through pure folklore phantasy, (surely!) to modern-day fact. Each man's story, in sequence, gives us an insight into the primitive customs and morals of a native people's transition from an established natural and free lifestyle through to the painful, restricted and humiliating way of life inflicted on them by the intervention of the oftentimes selfish and corrupt white man.

One is both amused and saddened by these legends and reminded of Aesop's fables, in that each story had a moral, which provided a guideline for Indian social behavior; indeed the consequences suffered by most of the characters who exploited sex and went against the established social mores were dire and painfully fitting.

The illustrations by Daphne Odjig, herself an Indian, have a primitive rhythm of line, color and composition which enhances the flavor of this delightful collection of stories and complements Dr. Schwarz' sensitive storytelling. The book gives us a valuable understanding of our North American Indian cultural heritage and provides several hours of worthwhile reading.

The spirit of This Country in the Morning

Peter Gzowski's Book About This Country in the Morning. Hurtig Publishers, Edmonton, 229, pages, $7.95.

Peter Gzowski's Book About This Country in the Morning was put together, in the author's own words, "to recreate the spirit of the program for those who knew it, and to parallel it for those who didn't." After reading it, I was sure he had succeeded, because I regretted my lost opportunity to be one of those readers in the first category, but I was delighted to have had the chance to share in the parallel experience.

This book is surely a tribute to Canada and its citizens, all of whom are so eloquently represented within its pages. These present a potpourri of musings by Gzowski and others, conversations with eminent Canadians, contributions of a literary and amusing nature by the program's listeners, together with a dash of recipes, letters, songs, games, and helpful directions. By reading this book, you can get acquainted with such diverse people as W.O. Mitchell, Paul Hiebert, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, Donny Osmond, and fellow-citizens who may be your next-door neighbours. The illustrations and photographs, too, are fascinating.

The tone of the writing varies from factual reporting to delightful whimsy, while the subjects cover a range from a recipe for pickles through an interview with Lester Pearson, to an essay on Goggles, Helmets and Air Mail Stamps, Georgette Vachon, translated by Mary Downey; Clarke Irwin.

Georgette Vachon's book is one about, and dedicated to, "Those pioneering spirits of aviation, the bush pilots."

The book starts with a short history of man's attempts to fly. Here, as all through the book, there are ample illustrations of relevant material. Leonard da Vinci's designs (1485-1500 A.D.) for flying machines, including his plan for a helicopter, are shown.

The story of aviation in general is followed until the first heavier than airflight in Canada has been successfully completed. The Silver Dart, took place at Baddeck, Nova Scotia, on February 23rd, 1909.

Having given her readers a picture of early flying, Georgette Vachon concentrates on the period she knows so well, the beginnings of commercial aviation in Canada. It was the time of the early days of air mail and of the bush pilots who helped open up our inaccessible north and the mine fields.

Mrs. Vachon's husband, Romeo, was one of the first air mail pilots, and she was deeply involved in the hopes and fears of the men who pioneered that era.

The book is well worth reading from every point of view. Mrs. Vachon knows and loves her subject. Her personal knowledge of the period in which her husband flew, is augmented by the research she did during her six years in the RCAF Historical Section and afterwards. Naturally that part of the book which is devoted to flying in Quebec is particularly fascinating. It is told most vividly, at times even emotionally.

Anyone with an interest in the history of Canadian Aviation will enjoy this book and will be proud of the pilots who helped develop our country.

LENNOXVILLE — Sherbrooke County Women's Institutes held their quarterly meeting in the Lennoxville Women's Institute club room with Mrs. B.A. Turner, president, conducting the meeting, which opened with the Salute to the Flag, singing of the Ode and Collect.

Thirty-seven members representing the seven branches in the county were present. Mrs. W.T. Pearson, secretary-treasurer, reported a substantial sum on hand and correspondence included a letter from the Sherbrooke Machineries Company, in which they stated that the booth at the Sherbrooke Fair, used by these Institutes for a handicraft sales booth in the Industrial building, would be sponsored again by this company. This news was well received and many will fill their leisure hours for the next few months in making their special crafts. Mrs. H.L. Wallace, of the Lennoxville branch, will again be in charge of this work and information may be obtained from her.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

SHERBROOKE (EGGS) — There was no further change in the condition of the local market for fresh eggs yesterday, prices being maintained at the late advance announced, but on the other hand prices for fresh firsts were weaker at a decline of 2 cents per dozen. The demand from grocers and other dealers for small lots was steady and a fair business was done in a wholesale jobbing way in fresh extras at 58 cents, and in firsts at 53 cent per dozen.

POULTRY—Owing to the somewhat limited supplies of fresh-killed dressed poultry coming forward here a firm feeling prevailed in the market and prices showed no change. Sales of turkeys were made at 34 to 38 per lb. chickens weighing 5-7 lbs. at 31 cents to 35 cents per lb. ducks at 24 cents to 26 cents per lb., and geese at 15 cents to 18 cents per lb.

HAY—The trade in baled hay continues steady and as supplies coming forward and stocks on spot were ample to meet all requirements, prices were unchanged, with sales of car lots of good No. 2 timothy hay at $14 to $15 per ton and No. 3 timothy hay at $12.50 to $13 per ton, f.o.b. cars here.

National Ballet principal dancer returns to O'Keefe Centre stage

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Augustyn, principal dancer of the National Ballet, returned to the O'Keefe Centre stage Wednesday after nearly 18 months to dance with Karen Kain in a program of contemporary ballets.

Kept out for nine months by an injured knee, the Hamilton-born gymnast has been dancing on tour during the current National Ballet, but Wednesday was his first appearance here.

He and Miss Kain, who became celebrities after winning first prize in the Moscow International Ballet competition's duet section in 1973, also will dance this season in Giselle and in The Sleeping Beauty.

The National Ballet dancing its regular spring season here this year without a guest star, gave its own talent a showcase in the three one-act ballets performed Wednesday—Gerald Arpino's Ketentanz, originally presented by the New York City Centre Joffrey Ballet; Norman Vesak's Whispers of Darkness, premiered last fall in Quebec City, and Inventions.

The latter, created by Constantin Patsalas of the National Ballet corps, is the first work by one of the company's dancers to move out of ballet workshop sessions onto the main stage.

MUSIC BY STRAUSS

Kettentanz is a series of 10 dances to music of Johann Strauss, Sr., and a contemporary, Johann

Mayer—mostly polkas, gallops, and step dances.

Veronica Tennant, perhaps the leading lady among the National's principal dancers—though the company carefully avoids labelling as stars any of its dancers—led Whispers of Darkness, which also featured Augustyn and Miss Kain.

It was the only work of the evening to have a set other than a painted and lighted backdrop—a galaxy of bent steel tubing surrounding a sun-like splash of light.

Patsalas' Inventions, danced to percussive music by Miloslav Kabelac, was an exercise in sensuous, modern ballet, heightened by splashes of vivid red and blue lights.

LENNOXVILLE — The Annual meeting and election of officers for 1975 of the Lennoxville Auxiliary for Retarded Children was held on January 27th in the Women's Lounge of the United Church, Lennoxville.

The President, Miss Dorothy Wallace, convened the meeting and welcomed a new member, Mrs. Susan Shipway; regular reports and letters of thanks were read by the secretary, treasurer and donations committee chairman.

The President expressed thanks to members and friends of the Auxiliary who by their work, interest and donations had made 1974 a very successful year. She made special grateful reference to work in the past of some long time members who have changed to associates but whose interests will continue to support the Auxiliary.

The Annual report of the Secretary, Mrs. Frances Smith, outlined the year's work — the meetings, the letters of appeal, the food sale, the bazaar and activities of the Donations Committee.

The Donations Committee report from its chairman, Mrs. Frances Noble, showed that about $1,450 had been spent for mattresses, sheets, pillow cases, dish towels, pyjamas and Christmas treats for about 500 children at Alderbrooke, Dixville, Cecil Butters and the Daisy workshop. In addition many donations in kind have been made to Dixville and Cecil Butters through the gifts of members and friends — especially of clay pots, books, games and used clothing.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Winifred Moore, reported that the letters of appeal, food sale, drawing and bazaar had each ABERCORN — Rev. R. Burn Purdon officiated at the christening of the three month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hawley (nee Janice Burnett) of Abercorn, held at Calvary United Church, Sutton, on Sunday, Feb. 2nd.

The baby wore a two-piece white suit and received the names Jeffery Lester.

The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Frame. At the end of the christening the choir sang the Hebrew Benediction "The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee."

Following the service Mr.

and Mrs. Hawley entertained sixteen relatives at their home. The buffet table was centered with the christening cake, decorated by the baby's great-aunt Olive Ingalls, in colours of white and blue.

Relatives attended from Montreal, Massachusetts and surrounding area.

The christening of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Taylor of Thompson, Man. took place on Jan. 26, 1975. Rev. Glen Thompson, of St. John's United Church officiated. The baby received the name Tina Marie. Tina Marie is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Latewood of Birchton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor of North Hatley.

Annual meeting held

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Sherbrooke, was held in the church hall on Sunday, February 2, at 7:15 p.m., following a fellowship meal. After opening worship was conducted by the minister, D.L. Campbell, during which there was a memorial for those having died during the past year. Mr. John Delisle was elected to serve as secretary, while the minister acted as chairman.

The printed report showed the communicant membership of St. Andrew's to be 204 as of December 31, 1974. There are 14 active elders on the Session, a six deaconesses in the Deacons Court, 12 managers on the Board, and six trustees.

The Session report highlighted a joint VBS held with First Baptist Church last summer, involvement in the Presbytery camping program at Richmond, and joint sponsorship of Operation Hope, a series of evangelistic meetings held in Oct. Adult Bible study series, ecumenical involvement with monthly study and prayer groups, and the visit of Les Amis de St. Benoit tour service in March were also noted. John Vaudry was certified to Presbyterian College Montreal as a student for the ministry.

Messiah's Minstrels, a youth evangelist team, visited the area in the summer, and stayed in the church. Several centennial projects were noted, marking 100 years of Canadian Presbyterianism. The youth group has purchased a centennial sign for the building. A banner was designed and executed by two members, and was chosen to be among those touring Canada. Operation Concern, an Opportunity for youth project shared in by 8 members of our PYPS, had proved a great blessing to the community in its impact upon the lot of the handicapped in the social service portion of the project.

The Deacons Court arranged and supervised a comprehensive visitation program conveying shut-ins at home and in institutions. Various social service programs were under its care, and various evangelistic and community opportunities were brought before the attention of the session by the court. The Deacons continued their active support of the Overseas Students Services Committee. Aileen McKelvie was elected as a deaconess.

John Rose, Chairman of the Board, presented the manager's report. During 1974, the church roof had been repaired, the tower stairwell and entrance had been renovated, the Ladies' Parlour completely made over, and the entire downstairs area repainted, this last thanks to the efforts of the young people involved in Operation Concern. Projects for 1975 include redecorating of the church auditorium and parking lot entrance, new front steps at the tower entrance, and a fence around the parking lot.

Duncan Bruce, Treasurer, presented the financial report, showing revenues of $40,051, and expenditures of $37,095. This latter included $4,029 for special repairs, $2,000 repayment of a bank loan, $3,866 for the General Assembly Budget, and $1,951 for the National Development Fund. This completes St. Andrew's allocation of $11,600 for the NDF accepted some years ago by the congregation. The proposed budget for 1975 of $31,860, with a General Assembly allocation of $4,200 was accepted by the congregation. Jack Imrie, Isabel Moulard, Ian Savage and Louise Savage were elected to replace retiring members of the Board.

The Trustees' report showed our present securities held at $31,800. $1,750 income from the investments were transferred to the Board in 74. Tribute was paid to W.G. MacDougall, retiring chairman of the trustees, for his years of service. J. Davidson is the new chairman. Nan Duncan was elected to the trustees to replace Mr. MacDougall.

The Word of Grace continues to be a valued service of St. Andrew's to the community. Income during 1974 was $3,322, with expenditure of $3,021. The combination of labour unrest and increased cost for the Wednesday morning program necessitated cutting back to the weekly Lord's Day program. This series of broadcasts has now been on the air for six years, and has been supported completely by the gifts of the listeners.

An accession of several young people has swelled the number of the choir to 20. Thella Crawford continues as choir director, and Wright Gibson as organist.

The Lennoxville League and St. Andrew's Guild had a combined income of $2,174. The Women's Missionary Society raised $742 for its purposes. Appreciation was expressed to all of the above mentioned groups, who, with the diligent Christian Education staff, and individual members of St. Andrew's, made their contribution to the work of Christ in our midst.

It was reported that the Executive Corporation of Bishop's University had no reply to the letter of last year's meeting, protesting the sale of liquor on the campus, and the involvement of members of the staff in the ownership of a beer outlet in close proximity to the university. Copies of the letter had been sent to every member of the body concerned.

Grants to the Back to God Hour and to the Presbyterian Prayer Partnership were voted. The Presbyterian Record is to be continued to be sent to every home in the congregation.

Duncan Bruce was confirmed as Treasurer, J. Davidson and A. Mackenzie as Auditors, and R. Beattie was named chairman of the nominating committee for next year's meeting.

In response to an expression of appreciation for the work of the minister and his wife, and of regret at their approaching departure to take up work in Ottawa, Mr. Campbell voiced the thanks of his wife and himself for the encouragement and support experienced from so many people in St. Andrew's and the community over the past six and a half years. He charged the congregation to pray that they, with their new minister might give a fresh and powerful witness to Christ in the Sherbrooke area.

The meeting closed at 9 with prayer.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parrish, Beebe, Que., who will observe their 58th wedding anniversary on Friday, Valentine's day, February 14.

Ann Landers
Parties for babies?

Dear Ann Landers: A giant raspberry to "Turned Off," who thinks birthday parties for one- and two-year-olds are ridiculous. Sure it's dumb to invite people you haven't seen since the wedding, but such a celebration is wonderful for close friends and relatives who have been following the child's growth and development since birth.

In these days when the American family circle is being murdered, it's a treat to get together and celebrate a young child's birthday. Even if the kid doesn't know what's going on, he at least senses the love and festive aura that surround him, and these days that's a big plus.

—Please Invite Me To Yours

Dear Ann Landers: I'm for any happy get-together that gives people a chance to express love and concern for one another. Lord knows there are enough of the other kind.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son's wife divorced him a year ago because he was a lazy, irresponsible slob. She never saw a dime of his paycheck and had to go to work full-time to feed and clothe herself and the darling little boy they adopted.

My husband never accepted the adopted child as a real grandson. Since the divorce, he ignores the boy completely. We have a big fight every time I mention visiting the child. My husband insists that our only "real" grandchild is our daughter's son.

I love the boy dearly and want to include him in our will. My husband insists that our only "real" grandchild is our daughter's son.

I have no income of my own and my husband keeps track of every penny. He said, "Write to Ann Landers. She'll agree with me." Do you — Sad Granny

Dear Granny: Your husband has rattled the wrong cage. I'm with you.

That adopted grandson deserves to be loved and treated in exactly the same manner as your daughter's child.

If "Lord Bountiful" won't give you or am I a normal mother? When you can bake cookies, cakes, pies, etc., for your little grandson. This will mean much more than any store-bought gift, if you bring them with loving hands and a warm heart.

About the will — chances are that you'll outlive the cuss — which could put a significant crimp in his plans!

Dear Ann Landers: Am I sick or am I a normal mother? When my 17-year-old daughter has a problem with a boyfriend and cries from being disappointed or hurt, I cry, too. (Not in front of her. I go where she can't see me.)

When she is happy about something wonderful that has happened, I'm right there with her, on cloud nine.

I was popular when I was a teenager, so I don't have to relive my youth through my daughter. My own marriage is a good one so I'm not escaping from reality by fantasizing. Am I crackers or what? — Canadian Candor

Dear C.C.: It's normal for a parent to empathize with a child. You'd be crackers if you didn't. But to shed tears over her little disappointments and hurts is a bit much. Either you aren't busy enough or you are identifying in a way that is unhealthy. Check the umbilical cord and see if perhaps it isn't a little too short.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents?"

Mrs. Geo. Parsons On Monday evening February 3, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Berwick entertained at their home, in honor of the birthday of their aunt, Mrs. Marjorie Jenkerson of Brookbury, which occurred on that day.

The evening was pleasantly spent, visiting and playing cards. Delicious refreshments featured the nicely decorated candle-lit birthday cake, accompanied by the gifts and good wishes of all present, who were Mr. Cedric Jenkerson and nieces and nephews, Mrs. Pansy MacLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook and Dottie, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCormack.

Mrs. Jenkerson has been in poor health for several years, and her nieces and families are happy to manifest their affection and esteem for her at these occasions.

Mr. Preston Kirkpatrick is a patient in a Toronto Hospital where he has undergone surgery. Last reports are that he is getting on satisfactorily. His friends and relatives hope he will soon be able to return home.

Off-screen, nothing's bothering Columbo

Falk finds the pain of fame bearable

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — I would like to be able to report that Columbo came slouching into our meeting in his comfy old trench coat and, as we parted, he turned and said, "Oh, by the way, there's one thing that's been bothering me."

He didn't. He was wearing ordinary clothes and nothing seemed to be bothering him. There were a few things, however Peter Falk wanted to get off his chest but you could hardly say he was bothered by them.

Take the matter of his raincoat. There have been many wild and irresponsible stories printed about his raincoat by people who don't know the inside story of Columbo's cherished garment. It's high time the record was set straight, once and for all.

It's his own coat you see every week. No stand-in raincoat. No double. No Hollywood chicanery or special effects raincoats. That's the genuine article.

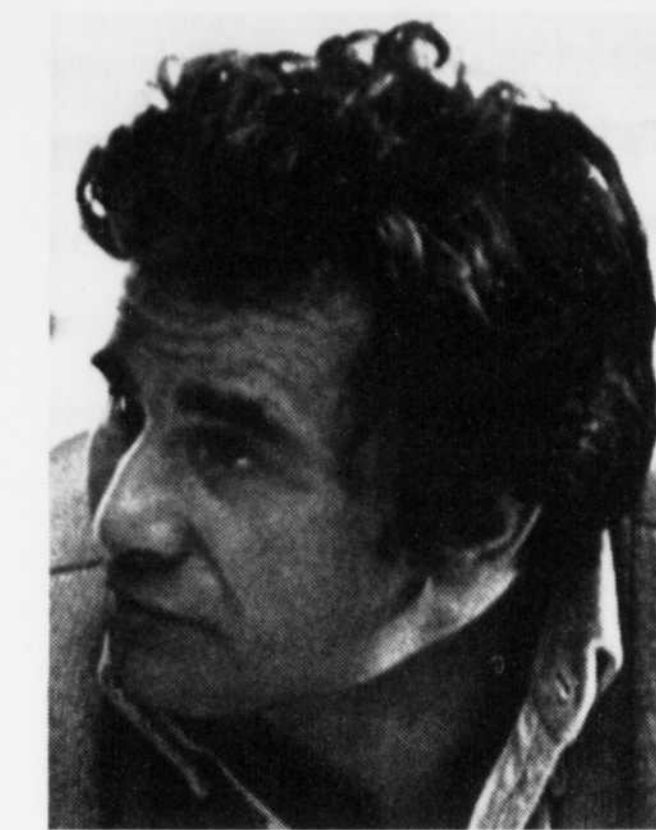

"I still use my own raincoat out there," Falk says. "I wore it before the series started and I use it all the time. It's getting a little threadbare in spots and I have to be very careful about it."

He does admit that there are a few doubts about the premises of his hit NBC show. But they are only used in rehearsals and you have his word of honor as an actor and a gentleman that they are never used on camera.

So much for that nasty rumor. There also has been much reported in certain newspapers and magazines to the effect that Falk is unhappy with his series and wants out. These have been circulated for several years.

He says that these yarns, too, are basically untrue.

"My dissatisfaction," he

PETER FALK: About that raincoat...

says, "was not with the show itself. I still like Columbo, both the character and the program. No, I'm happy. What I wasn't happy with was the studio's determination to make the episodes all two hours long."

It is his feeling that two hours is a long time for a TV show and only particularly exciting scripts should be written that length. He feels most of them are only worth 90 minutes. That's been the bone of contention between him and his employers.

"But I must say," he says, "that this year's scripts have been super. We've had a couple — the cruise one, the one with Oskar Werner — which were excellent. As long as we can keep getting strong scripts I'll be very happy."

You might think that watching Columbo, every few Sunday evenings, would be a must for the entire Falk family. But it isn't. In fact, Peter says, his oldest child — Jackie is 8 — has never seen him in Columbo. Not only that, she's never seen him act in anything.

The closest she came was when Peter was appearing on Broadway in Neil Simon's "The Prisoner of Second Avenue." She was brought backstage to meet him and happened to be watching when there was a scene in which Peter was doused with a bucket of water.

She was terribly upset by that incident and, since then, her parents have carefully shielded her from seeing her father work.

She's also confused by the fact that her father is famous. When she's with him and he's stopped by fans asking for autographs she doesn't know what to make of the whole scene.

She rolls her eyes heavenward and says, "Oh, brother," Peter reports.

At the moment, Falk is perhaps more excited about his latest movie than he is over anything else in his life. He is part of John Cassavetes' exciting film, "A Woman Under the Influence," which is certain to be heard from at Academy Award time.

His own performance is smashing and rates a possible nomination, but his costar, Gena Rowlands (Mrs. Cassavetes) is almost a shoo-in to win the Oscar as best actress. And Falk concurs.

"Gena's performance," Falk says, "is one of a handful of great performances I've seen. She is a marvelously inventive actress."

The film, he explains, is about women and what they do — especially what they do when they have nothing to do. He says the thesis of the film does not apply in his own home because his wife, Alyce, has something to do.

"She's a pianist," he says. "She plays the piano at least two hours a day, sometimes four or five."

Between TV and films, Falk's face is now one of the most recognizable in the world. It's become almost too recognizable for his own peace of mind.

"Sometimes it's a little annoying," he says. "As a matter of fact, it can be a pain, but it's a little pain."

"Sure, sometimes I'd like to take my kids out or go to a restaurant and I can't, but there are plenty of compensations. Anyhow, I don't think about the word 'fame.' I think about the word 'idleness.' I'd rather have a little annoyance than a lot of idleness, a lot of loose ends, nothing to do."

Critic's daughters have a problem

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Richard Schickel is one of our more eminent and skillful movie critics, working for Time Magazine. He has two daughters and I wondered whether he lets them see whatever films they want to see.

"I let them see most things," he says, "within reason. I feel that some R-rated pictures are better than some G-rated pictures — they tend to promote family discussion, which is good."

"I feel Disney films are bad. They are harmful to a child's mental health. They show a silly, perverted way of life."

Being a critic, Schickel has naturally been a target of many producers whose movies he has panned. He takes that in his stride but objects to those who say critics are enemies of moviemakers.

"We wouldn't be in the business to start with," he says, "unless we basically liked the movies."

His new book is a reflection of his love for the movies. "The Shape of Laughter" is a brief biography and a filmography of Harold Lloyd.

"It's just a hack job," Schickel says. "Time-Life was going to issue a Lloyd movie and I felt a book would help promote the movie. They own the publishing house (N.Y. Graphic Society) that asked me to do the book. But I always liked Lloyd as a performer, so it was fun to do."

Most history books pay little attention to entertainment but William Manchester's monumental new "narrative history" of the last 40 years of the United States weaves in much about the world of show business amid the other facts and figures.

"Most histories concentrate on politics and wars," Manchester says. "But I feel strongly that there is much more to history than that — the popular things, such as the lively arts, fashion and sports."

"Movies and radio were important in our history, particularly as they were the last things the family participated in as a group. I'll always remember 'The Philadelphia Story,' because our whole family saw it together. And we used to gather around the radio and listen to Jack Benny or Fred Allen or Charlie McCarthy and Edgar Bergen."

Manchester's first step, when he began the book, he says, was to go back through the last 40 years of The World Almanac's annual chronology. That gave him the framework he needed. Then he fleshed it out with other sources.

The result, "The Glory and The Dream," is 1,408 pages of excitement. The book, incidentally, is dedicated to Manchester's daughter, Laurie, 11. When it came out, she was somewhat disappointed to find her picture wasn't on the back cover, along with her father's. She felt that the person to whom the book was dedicated should have had at least a small picture on it.

Schools replace junk food with nutrition

MONTREAL (CP) — The school council of the Island of Montreal is eating holes in the theory that kids prefer junk food to wholesome nutrition.

Seven school boards on the island have banned trash foods from school cafeterias, slashing prices for wholesome dishes with a subsidized food program and replacing candy food with nutrition and soft drinks in vending machines with milk and fruit. The result is that more than 30 per cent of students now buy the nutritionally balanced hot plate (for less than 50 cents) and 90 per cent of both elementary and secondary pupils buy one or more single items (priced from five cents to 15 cents) such as fresh fruit or side salad, yogurt or cheese. Milk is the most popular drink.

Nicole Saint-Jean-Demers, chief dietitian of the Montreal Catholic school commission, said prices were cut only on items that were not automatically popular.

Miss Demers' own board is the largest participant with 59 schools and now is working on a nutrition program to educate parents as well.

APPROVED LAST SPRING Miss Demers helped devise the program, which evolved from a successful food subsidy system innovated by the Catholic commission in 1973.

A year ago, the island council asked the Catholic board, the island's largest, to submit a program which could be applied to all eight school boards. Representatives studied the proposal and voted funds last April.

Six school boards adopted the program when schools opened in September. Another joined in November and the eighth is expected to follow suit next fall.

Junk foods banned include any food made mostly of sugar, such as candy, pastries rich in sugar and fat, biscuits or cookies with more sugar than dough, popovers, carbonated or soft drinks, peanuts, chewing gum, potato chips and deep-fried foods, fish and chips and doughnuts.

Favorite foods such as hamburgers, hot dogs, pizza, smoked meat and submarine sandwiches are permitted, but only as alternatives and only two or three times in a six-week period.

CHOCOLATE ALLOWED Ice cream, milk chocolate and jello are allowed and many parents have called Miss Demers to question why.

The dietitian quoted the Order of Dentists research which she said proved that foods leaving particles in the teeth contribute most to tooth decay. Therefore ice cream and chocolate, which melt quickly in the mouth, are allowed while peanuts are banned.

Children mourned the disappearance of sugar-laden foods at first, but after five months the majority in the schools seemed to have accepted it.

"Only the teachers are asking for soft drinks now," said Miss Demers.

The principal of one school in the Protestant School Board noted more children have been given permission by their parents to go out to "junk food stores around the corner" for lunch, as a result of the program.

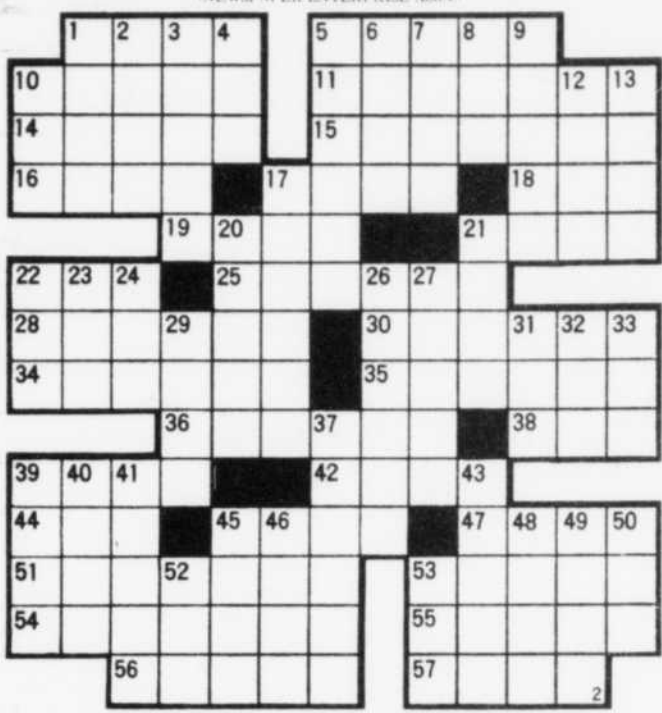

"Now what we need is a good, strong nutritional education program for parents," said the principal.

The Catholic board is working on a program for parents and three separate school boards elsewhere on the island are studying ways to enlighten them.

German Taj Mahal surprises tourists

WIESBADEN, West Germany (CP) — Most people never hear of it till they come to Isenbad—the Taj Mahal of Germany on the Neroberg in the Taunus Hills above the city.

A German archduke, Adolf of Luxembourg, built it in memory of his beloved Duchess Elizabeth, niece of Czar Nicholas I of Russia. She married the duke in 1844 and died the following year, aged 19.

The archduke commissioned the chapel right after her death and it took 10 years to build. It is known locally as both the Russian Church and the Greek Chapel. A Wiesbaden architect carried out the plans of a Russian colleague to create the chapel in ancient Greek and Byzantine styles in the shape of a Greek cross.

The sarcophagus of white Italian marble is the work of a Munich sculptor and the figure of the beautiful princess reclines as if in sleep. Her marble draperies are so realistic they look like fine linen. Above her head marble angels keep watch.

INTERIOR ELABORATE The interior is decorated in blue and yellow Egyptian marble; the door pillars are Greek marble and local marble is used in other pillars. German artists did the elaborate screen and ceiling paintings and Russians painted the icons on silver. Portrait medallions on one wall depict the artists and sculptors who worked on the chapel.

The chapel's golden domes gleam in the sun and through a door of red glass and iron filigree can be seen the Castle of Biedrich down by the Rhine where the duchess spent her brief married life and where she died. Today the castle houses movie production companies and is surrounded by an English park where equestrian tournaments are held every Whitsuntide.

The chapel is set in a woods and a curious way to reach it is by a cable car operated by water, in Rube Goldberg style. "It costs 30 pfennings a ride and the people around here won't hear of it being replaced," said a local man. "It's the oldest cable car in Germany and I guess it will be going for a long time yet."

The Neroberg surroundings of the chapel are a popular recreational part of the city, laced with hiking and riding paths and equipped with a large swimming pool and tennis courts. A number of years ago a colony of Russians settled around Wiesbaden and about 200 of them remain. The memorial chapel is their place of worship. Local residents say the broken-hearted archduke never married again. But at the door of the chapel an attendant sells a leaflet that says the Duchess Elizabeth was the Grand Duke's first consort.

We don't approve of South's bidding. When South told us about this hand, he didn't approve of his own bidding either. His excuse was that his partner was one of those players who can be depended on to misplay a hand any time he gets to play one. He pointed out that North had gotten in the first notrump bid. South gave two reasons for not using Blackwood. The first was that North might just pass four notrump; the second doesn't really matter. Anyway, when dummy hit the table South saw that six notrump would be a laydown, while there was no real play for six spades. South also expected to be embarrassed. North might not see that six notrump was cold, but either East or West would surely say something.

No one could tell that anything was wrong from South's manner. He took the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, discarded the jack of hearts on the diamond king and continued with the queen. East hurried to ruff with the four of spades. He wasn't going to stand for another heart discard. South overruled, picked up trumps, conceded a trick to the ace of clubs and chafed up the slam amid what might be described as thundering silence.

W+CARD

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
2♦	Dble.	1♦	Pass
Pass	4♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

43♥ A Q 7 ♦ K J 4 3 ♠ A 9 5 4

What do you do now?

A—in very modern circles, four notrump would ask him to choose between the minor suits. Here, the best bid is five clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three clubs your partner has jumped to four clubs in response to your double. What do you do now?

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): You can make this an exceptional day. The possibilities are there for you to exploit if you will.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Being thrifty should not be confused with being cheap. It's a must in these inflationary days.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Someone with a pixie personality attracts you and close relationship could ultimately develop.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Attend to household bookkeeping early in day. Some changes in budgeting may be necessary.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Starry-eyed youngster looks to you for advice. Be realistic but don't dampen his enthusiasm.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): A snappy retort brings a laugh but it can also bring a tear. Don't use sarcasm as a weapon.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): You get a late start but feel rested and rarin' to go when you do get started. A very good day!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Meekmouthed person says one thing and (you feel certain) means the opposite. Don't be taken in.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You are generous to a fault—not a bad trait if you can afford it. Ask yourself if you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Your efforts are applauded and you feel that it was worth your time after all. Now relax.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Stay away from large crowds if possible. Your resistance is low and flu is easily transmitted.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Plan an old-fashioned get-together with friends—with conversation instead of TV games instead of gossip.

Simon Boucher rates most improved driver at Blue Bonnets this year

MONTREAL — If they had an award for the most improved driver on the local harness racing circuit, a strong contender would have to be young Simon Boucher.

Now 27 years old, Boucher has been campaigning in Montreal off and on since 1969. In his first three years here, he won a grand total of 13 races. But since 1972, his racing fortunes have been on a steady rise and today Boucher rates as one of the leading drivers in Montreal.

Boucher's rise to prominence during the past three years has been steady if unspectacular.

In 1972, he won 30 races. In 1973, he raised this total to 48. And last year, he really started to roll. He won a total of 73 races and his horses earned a highly respectable $209,325.

But it now appears that Boucher is heading for even a better year in 1975.

With less than two months gone in the new season, the native of the tiny community of St. Leonard D'Aston already has won 15 races and ranks only behind Adrien Bedard and Gilles Gendron for leading dash winning honors.

A quiet, unassuming type of individual, Boucher goes about his work on the track without fanfare. But the results are starting to speak for him and are now reflected in his confident manner of driving.

Boucher came by his interest in racing through family ties. His father was a blacksmith and his cousin Andre and Uncle Arthur are involved in racing. Simon began his racing career at Trois-Rivieres where he ranked as one of the top reinsmen before moving on to try his luck in Montreal.

Boucher will have another opportunity of adding to his victory total at Blue Bonnets Friday as he is scheduled to drive in three races. He will handle pacers Good Hunch and Oliver Twist A in the second and third races and trotter Nimbless Mir in the featured ninth.

The latter horse rates as a real outsider in the eight-horse field as he has started only once this year and finished a well-beaten seventh. But the young son of the Silk has drawn the pole and this may aid him somewhat.

The favorite in this mile dash is Benoit Cote's Cedar Crest Ayres, a seven-year-old campaigner who enjoyed a fine season in 1974 with six victories in 17 starts. The Brodeur Farms' A.F. Baron and Gerard Bouvrette's Dean Lobell are considered top threats with the other entries being Miss K. Todd, Mighty Emperor, Some Meteor and Truant Tom.

SAYS DRUG USE DOWN
NEW YORK (AP) — Drug use in the National Football League has decreased considerably in the last several years, says commissioner Pete Rozelle, but he said there has been a drug problem in the sport. He said it would be impossible to determine the extent of private drug use—such as marijuana and cocaine—by NFL players. He said football players were part of society and vulnerable to drug pressures which other persons face.

ROBINSON SIGNS
BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson, who won his 15th Gold Glove award last season as the American League's top defensive third baseman, has become the 11th member of Baltimore Orioles to sign his contract for 1975, general manager Frank Cashen announced Wednesday.

WCT tournament more eventful

TORONTO (CP) — Phil Dent, Cliff Drysdale, Cliff Richey and Mark Cox combined Thursday to make up for some of the three previous days of uneventful tennis action in a World Championship Tennis tournament.

Dent of Australia outlasted South African Drysdale 6-7, 7-5, 7-6 and Richey of the United States beat Cox of Great Britain 7-5, 4-6, 7-6 in two of the best matches yet in this $64,000 tournament.

In fact, many of the players who saw the two-hour Dent-Drysdale contest said it was the best one yet on the WCT pro tour this season.

The first and final set went to tie-breakers. The two players were so evenly matched that the final-set tie-breaker went to a 6-6 count before Drysdale dumped the ball into the net.

Dent called it "one hell of a game."

The crowd had plenty of action when the Richey-Cox cliffhanger followed immediately after Dent's victory.

But with only a short rest, Dent turned into a loser when he teamed with fellow Aussie John Alexander in doubles play. The No. 2 seeded pair was upset 6-3, 7-6 by brothers Vijay and Anand Amritraj of India.

Dent will face top-seeded Marty Riessen of the U.S. in the singles quarter-finals. Riessen advanced Thursday with a 6-1, 4-6, 6-2 win over Milan Heccek of West Germany.

Also advancing to the final eight was Paul Gerken with a 6-2, 6-3 win over fellow American Mike Estep.

Other second-round doubles play saw top seeds Dick Stockton and Eric Van Dillen of the U.S. beat Riessen and Tom Gorman of the U.S. 7-6, 7-6.

1976 Summer Olympic Committee will face some tough questions when they meet with IOC board

MONTREAL (CP) — When the organizing committee for the 1976 Summer Olympics faces an executive meeting of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) in Lausanne, Switzerland, next week, it will be faced by some stiff questions.

For example, IOC questioners will want to know why the Games, originally planned with an over-all, $310 million balanced budget through self-financing plans, suddenly loom as a $600-million-plus project faced with a deficit of more than $200 million.

In addition, the questioners will want definite assurances that the main facilities—the stadium, Velodrome and village—will be completed on time for the July 17, 1976, opening ceremony.

Until now IOC requests for a formal meeting, sparked by reports of spiralling costs and construction problems, were forestalled while the committee faced a similar quiz from the Quebec national assembly's standing committee on municipal affairs.

And despite continued assurances from Montreal's Mayor Jean Drapeau that the Games will be self-financing, the Quebec government has accepted that a deficit of more than $200 million will result.

While the City of Montreal is responsible for construction of the main stadium, swim hall and the Velodrome, it is the organizing committee that is responsible to the IOC for these projects.

HARD ANSWERS
"There's no question Montreal (the organizing committee) is going to have to come up with some hard answers," said Toronto lawyer James Worrall, elevated to the IOC executive board in Vienna last fall.

"In the past it's been possible to come to these (IOC) meetings and file fairly general reports, but not this time," he added.

Worrall admits his appointment to the IOC board leaves him in an awkward position.

"For me it will create a funny feeling—I'll be sitting on the other side of the table as a member of the IOC."

Canusa Bonspiel takes place next week at Border Curling Club, large entry expected BOUNDARY (IH) — There's plenty of action at the Border Curling Club these days. Starting February 20, the popular Canusa Bonspiel commences with the finals to be played Sunday, Feb. 23.

There are several teams registered from both sides of the Boundary in the popular event. The various committees are busy making arrangements for the several social events that are a part of Canusa weekend.

A delightful social evening took place at the club house last Friday when a large number of members and their friends came for a mixed evening of cards. Several were interested in watching the curling and afterwards some non-curlers tried it.

There were nine tables of cards with a prize for each table. The refreshments served were much enjoyed by all which included sandwiches, stuffed rolls and other goodies, along with coffee. The hostesses were Mrs. Helen Edgar, Mrs. Faith Olson and Mrs. Ann Denney who received many compliments on the success of the evening.

Skip, Mrs. Helen Edgar, Mrs. Olive Wells, Mrs. Dodo Renwick and Mrs. Agnes Myers travelled to the Montreal West Curling Club for a one day bonspiel and were high point winners to each receive a lovely prize. Later they visited Mrs. Wells niece for dinner before returning to the Border.

Mrs. Marianna Carruthers entertained Sunday at a dinner to honor her husband, Garry, and his team of Ron Belden, Archie Quick and Henri Seguin and their ladies. The rink left Tuesday for Trois-Rivieres where they will compete in the Provincial Curling championship and the right to advance into the MacDonald Brier playdowns. The Border rink copped the Eastern Townships playdowns.

A special decorated cake, complete with stones and brooms, was served for the party of eight. Miss M. Gagne of Beebe made the cake with its fancy trimmings.

THE VETERAN ANGLER who is watching the days roll by with nothing to do should take a look at the major eight-page article in this month's Outdoor Life magazine on fishing in general.

IT HAS A LITTLE of everything for the angler covering every phase of the sport. I think it is well worth the price. It discusses the right selection of rods for all occasions, among other articles.

WE ARE SORRY to hear that our good friend, Gordon Breen, CKTS's Golden Voice, is in the hospital. We trust Gordie it is only for minor repairs and that you will be back on the job soon. Good luck Gordie and speedy recovery.

SHERBROOKE BEAVERS were feted Tuesday evening by a group of supporters for their fine effort against the Russians last month at the Sports Palace. There was a large crowd of fans on hand at Le Toubib Club on Bowen Ave.

THE COMMITTEE consisted of Paul Tourigny, Gab Cloutier, Pierre Mathieu, Guy Martin and Bob Dauphin. Jacques Mercure acted as MC for the occasion and did a fine job. All the players along with Georges Guilbeault, general manager, and Coach Ghislain Delage were on hand.

GIFTS WERE presented to each player along with their trainer Pierre "Boom Boom" Meilleur. Jean-Louis Dupuis presented travelling bags while watches were also given. Michel Brisebois and Richard Mulhern thanked their fans for the gifts. George Guilbeault, on behalf of the club executive, thanked his players for the big win over the Russians.

A COLOR TV was presented to the players for their "Hutte" which should give the boys plenty of enjoyable hours during the off-hours. The committee with Videotech were responsible for this fine gesture.

THERE MUST HAVE been plenty of work for the committee as tickets were sold in advance and in this manner they could figure out what to give as gifts. We believe the boys will remember this gesture for some time. It certainly will let them know the fans are really behind them 100 per cent.

QUEBEC CITY will be the gathering place for the world's leading experts in physical activity sciences this weekend in the Capital City. The Canadian Scientific Commission will play host to the world's top experts, who are coming from five different continents.

THE INTERNATIONAL advisors will be invited to state their opinions of the work done so far by the Congress and as well as the contents of the program. They will visit the Quebec Municipal Congress Centre, where the events of 1976 will take place. They come from 10 different countries and looking over the list they are the best in World Physical Education. It should be a real chance for Canada to obtain some very good ideas about things in general.

THE WINTER GAMES officially opened in Lethbridge Tuesday with more than 2,500 competitors from ten provinces and the Territories who will battle it out for top honors in 16 sports, ranging from alpine skiing to wrestling.

THE CENTENNIAL CUP will go to the team that shows the greatest improvement over previous Games. The Games will involve a volunteer army of 2,000 citizens many of whom have been planning for over two years for the Games. The cost for the Games will be split three ways. Capital costs are split among the Federal, Provincial and various municipalities. Federal contributions to the 1975 Canada Winter Games will total $1,867,000 towards capital as well as operating costs. Pretty nice package but we think it will be something to help our athletes.

ONTARIO TO AID Games for the physically disabled and it will take place at Cambridge this summer. It is expected to draw over 500 men, women and children from all over Ontario.

WE ARE OF the opinion that this would be something for our Province to think over. We are sure that there are plenty of handicapped people who would enjoy such an event and it would be something for them to look forward to. Just a thought in passing by.

REMINGTON 3200 will be available in June this year according to the latest reports. I am sure the hunters will be glad to hear this. The most common use for this shotgun is for waterfowl and it should be a big help for hunters in bagging their fowl. So don't forget the 3200 Magnum will be on the market in June.

NEW REGULATIONS for fishermen this season is finally released by the Minister of Tourism, Hunting and Fishing Department and all those interested should obtain a copy before the season opens.

IT OUTLINES the dates for fishing various fish and sets a limit on them also. The dates in different zones are not the same as well as the number of fish which can be caught. It would be a good thing to obtain a copy and study it before you take to the brook and lake. It might save you a lot of trouble.

MONTREAL EXPOS are signing their players at a pretty good clip and by the time they hit Daytona Beach, for their spring training, there won't be too many outside the fold.

THEY HAVE snared 23 towards the 40-man squad and no doubt they will pick up some more within the next week or so. They have some very good young players who will help their cause. They possess some very good records for last year and should be a big help to the Expos.

JUDGE REDMOND HAYES may have retired from the bench but he must be in good physical condition if we judge from his actions the past week.

HIS HONOR took part in the Kinsmen Club Skating duel and it seems he led the field with his 81 trips around the Sports Palace. He beat His Worship Jacques O'Bready and Michel Cote by one trip around the oval.

WE THINK that his honor must have been doing a little night work before he took to the ice. He claims he had not put on his skates for the past 25 years and top of that he just got out of the hospital the week previous to the contest. Not bad for a man who was rated too old to sit on the bench. Just doesn't make sense in my opinion.

Beavers at home to Trois-Rivieres tonight at 8:00

Sherbrooke Beavers will swing back into action tonight at the Sports Palace when they play host to the Trois-Rivieres club with game time at 8 p.m.

The Beavers played last Sunday when they blasted the Shawinigan Dynamos 11-7 and since then have been holding daily workouts in preparation for the coming battles. Following tonight's tilt they move to Hull for a Sunday evening engagement at 7:30 p.m.

Following the weekend game at Hull the Beavers return to the Sports Palace for their daily workouts and then next Thursday they move into Cornwall for an important tilt before returning home for a Sunday evening encounter with Chicoutimi at 8:00 p.m.

There is a strong possibility that coach Ghislain Delage will be going with the same lineup he used last weekend when the Beavers dumped Chicoutimi and Shawinigan. Peter Marchuk and Pierre Bedard sat out the two tilts.

Sidney Veysey has returned to Sherbrooke and yesterday he had his cast removed. He will be on the inactive list until the end of the month. He is taking special exercises to regain the strength in his leg.

Sherbrooke is at present on top of the Western Division with a total of 81 points, which is 12 points ahead of Cornwall. The Beavers have posted a string of 39 victories with nine losses along with three ties. They have 17 games left on the schedule and if they retain their present pace they should finish on top of the heap.

They have three games in hand over Cornwall and in order to remain out in front they must chalk up all the victories they can to finish ahead. Their next game in Cornwall is practically a must for them as the outcome will have a big bearing on the standings.

Coach Delage knows how important all games are, and especially next week's battle in Cornwall, and he will no doubt have his crew up for it. At this stage of the season every game is important as the season draws towards the end with the teams battling for special spots in the final standing.
