

CONSCRIPTION FOR CANADA TO RAISE 100,000 MEN TO KEEP DIVISIONS TO STRENGTH

Proposal of Government is to Have Military Enlistment on a Selective Basis. Machinery to Select and Mobilize Men Will Be Put Into Force at Once. Premier Borden Declares There is no Other Way of Meeting Need to Support the Gallant Men at the Front.

OTTAWA, May 19.—Conscription for Canada—a new Constitution for the Empire—these were the messages that Sir Robert Borden brought to Parliament yesterday. In a speech that reached a great height of eloquence—the most eloquent ever delivered by the Prime Minister—he proclaimed that voluntary efforts to fill the ranks of our army had been exhausted, and that compulsory service would be adopted to redeem the country's pledge to maintain our army in undiminished strength at the front and strike the final blow that would make for victory. Fifty thousand, and perhaps one hundred thousand, men will be needed and the machinery to select and mobilize these men will be put into effect at once.

The scene in the Commons chamber when the Premier announced that selective conscription would be enforced would long be remembered. Crowded Conservative benches broke into cheering; members leaped to their feet, waved hats and pounded desks. In the galleries some of the spectators joined in the applause, and many women leaned over the railing waving their handkerchiefs. On the Opposition benches, the announcement was received in silence, except by Dr. Michael Clark, George McCraney, Dr. Cash, and Hon. A. K. Maclean, who applauded the Prime Minister.

Sir Robert and his colleagues had carefully concealed their intentions. The Premier was expected to announce his decision to introduce extension legislation. His statement of the work of the Imperial War Conference, and his description of the army's accomplishment, had been completed, and the members awaited the announcement of extension legislation. The Prime Minister turned to the gravity of the situation at the front, expressing the opinion that the war would not end this year.

"Now, as to our efforts in this war," he continued, "and here I approach a subject of great gravity and seriousness, and I hope with a full sense of the responsibility which devolves upon myself and upon my colleagues." The intense earnestness of the Prime Minister caught the members. At once it was evident that something unforeseen was coming, and the thoughts of all turned to the one subject—conscription. The members were not long left in doubt. "I bring back to the people of Canada from the men at the front," went on Sir Robert, "a message that they need help badly, that they need to be sustained, that reinforcements must be sent to them. Thousands of them have made the supreme sacrifice for our liberty and preservation. Common gratitude, apart from all other considerations, should bring the whole force of this nation behind them. I have promised in so far as I am concerned that help will be given. I should feel myself unworthy of the responsibility devolving upon me if I did not fulfill that pledge. I bring a message from the men in the hospitals, from the men in the shadow of death, many of them maimed for life. But is there not some other message? Is there not a call to us from those who have passed from the shadow into the light of perfect day, from those who have fallen in France and in Belgium, from those who have died that Canada may live—is there not a call to us that their sacrifices shall not be in vain?"

An Imperial Cabinet, rather than an Imperial Parliament is the trend of Empire constitutional development, according to Sir Robert Borden. "The Imperial War Cabinet will become a permanent institution, and that body will decide the foreign policy of the Empire, and its military and naval development, co-operation and co-theorization."

The Imperial Cabinet will consist of the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom and the Overseas Dominions, and the chief members of the Cabinet of Great Britain. Each of the Empire's dominions will retain complete autonomy, but will consult and combine on foreign affairs and defence.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Hon. Wm. Pugsley refused to commit themselves on the new issue. They both, however, deprecated the work of the Imperial War Cabinet.

ONTARIO PREMIER FAVORS SCHEME OF CONSCRIPTION

(Canadian Press Despatch.) TORONTO, May 19.—Satisfaction at the new conscription scheme announced on page 12.

TOOK FULL RESPONSIBILITY. "I have had to take these matters into consideration, and I have given them my consideration. I realize that the responsibility is a serious one, but I do not shrink from it. Therefore, it is my duty to announce to the House that early proposals will be made on the part of the Government to provide by compulsory military enlistment on a selective basis such reinforcements as may be necessary to maintain our army today in the field as one of the finest fighting forces in the Empire."

APPEALING FOR HELP. Sir Robert Borden in the course of his speech said: "No one who has seen the positions which our men have taken, whether at Vimy Ridge at Courcellette or elsewhere, can realize the magnitude of their task or the splendid resourcefulness which its accomplishment demanded. Nor can anyone realize the conditions under which war is being carried on. I have been somewhat in the midst of things at the front, yet I know I cannot realize what life in the trenches means. Yet I can realize it better than those who have not been as near the front as I have been. I bring back to the people of Canada from these men a message that they need to be sustained; that reinforcements must be sent to them. Thousands of them have made the supreme sacrifice for our liberty and preservation. Common gratitude, apart from all other considerations, should bring the whole force of this nation behind them. I have promised in so far as I am concerned, that help will be given. I should feel myself unworthy of the responsibility devolving upon me if I did not fulfill that pledge. I bring a message from the men in the hospitals who have come back from the very valley of the shadow of death."

INTEREST NOW BEING CENTRED IN THE DETAILS OF GOVERNMENT CONSCRIPTION PROPOSALS.

OTTAWA, May 19.—Ottawa interest now centres in the details of the Government conscription proposals and the attitude of the Liberal party. While the Government has decided on a policy of conscription, the details of the legislation are not yet completed. It will take some time to draft the legislation and thresh it out at cabinet, and it is unlikely the bill will be introduced for another week.

It is understood the Government has decided on the British system of conscription with modifications to meet the Canadian situation. There will be local boards in every district, before which every man, single or married, of military age, will have to enroll for National Service. After enrolment the required men will be called out.

SINGLE MEN ONLY. As the Premier placed the number of men required as fifty to one hundred thousand, only single men of a certain age will be called to the colors. Certain necessary industries as in England will be exempted. There will also be exemptions for Menonites and Doukhobors, as they were brought to Canada under definite agreements that they were to be exempt from military service.

The Liberals will call a caucus on Monday to discuss their attitude. The present outlook is that it will be a stormy caucus. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Wm. Pugsley both reserved judgment yesterday until the measures were brought down.

PRESS COMMENT ON SCHEME FOR CONSCRIPTION

Proposal of Sir Robert Borden to Increase Canadian Army is Given Support.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) TORONTO, Ont., May 19.—Commenting on Sir Robert Borden's announcement of conscription the Globe says: "The big problem before Canada today is the problem of war. The first step necessary to insure this active co-operation of the Dominion in the final phases of the campaign is the compulsory organization of all the military resources of the country. Canadians are no longer satisfied to fight the battle of human freedom by proxy. Voluntary recruiting in Canada is as dead as Julius Caesar. It is too late to amend the past. The ravages of war have rendered obsolete the principle of national service that passed muster a year ago. There is but one course now to pursue if the honor of Canada is to be preserved. Until the war is ended Canada must be a nation in arms. Those who will not volunteer must be made to serve. The fighting divisions of Canada must be reinforced by Canadians."

REJOICING IN CANADIAN LINES. Mail and Empire says: "There will be rejoicing in the Canadian lines in the war area when the two words of Sir Robert Borden's speech of yesterday are flashed to the front—the words 'compulsory service.'" Sir Robert says the time has come for resorting to selective drafts to maintain our four divisions throughout the war. Voluntarism has done well in Canada, but not well enough. For every Canadian who holds a place in the front lines there must be at least four well-trained men in reserve. It is said that at one time Germany had nine men behind every one she had at the front. Britain and France will continue to make good the wastage of war as long as they have man power to draw on."

MOVE WILL BRING RELIEF. (Canadian Press Despatch.) OTTAWA, Ont., May 19.—(Ottawa Journal)—When Congress at Washington passed the compulsory military service bill, a sigh of relief went up in Canada. We all realized that our own experiences with the system of voluntary enlistment, that only by selective conscription, in some form could the United States rise to its full stature in the war against the Teuton menace, and avoid many pitfalls making for weakness and impotence. A similar sigh of relief will go up in Canada over the announcement of Sir Robert Borden.

FRENCH AT ONE WITH OTHER PROVINCES. (Canadian Press Despatch.) MONTREAL, May 19.—La Patrie (Conservative), in the course of an editorial on the conscription announcement, says: "The grave and inevitable determination which the Government has reached will doubtless be received in our province in the same spirit as in other provinces. In the hours of anguish through which we are passing, the Canadian people can have but a single heart and a single desire—the triumph of the cause of right and justice over German barbarism."

WANT DEMOCRATIC PROMOTION. LONDON, Ont., May 19.—The Advertiser says: "The public in general, including many eligible young men, will breathe more freely because of the announcement. The voice of the recruiting speaker will be silenced. Men who claim they have been badgered and kept out of the army will no longer have an excuse. From all walks of life men will be drawn into a democratic army, and it is to be hoped that democratic promotion will be the rule, as with the French."

DECISION MADE FOR YOUNG MEN. London Free Press: "Many young men will be glad to have this decision made for them. It is grossly unfair to suppose that those who will be summoned under conscription are all slackers. Canada, pledged the last man and the last dollar, and we are going to live up to the promise. The Government that plans to summon the needed men will not hesitate also to conscript wealth in any degree that may be necessary."

VOLUNTARY SYSTEM IS DEAD. GIBBO, May 19.—The Chronicle (Conservative) says, commenting on the selective conscription: "Premier Borden has announced selective conscription for Canada. In taking this action he will have the support of all right-minded and patriotic citizens. The time is critical, and the voluntary system has long outlived its usefulness."

SPAIN SENDS SHARP NOTE TO GERMANY. Demands Immediate Satisfaction for the Sinking of Steamer Patriotic.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, May 19.—A Madrid despatch to the Exchange Telegraph says that the note sent by the Spanish Government to Berlin in regard to the sinking of the Spanish steamer Patriotic demands immediate satisfaction and guarantees for the future.

The Patriotic note was presented to the German foreign office yesterday. The Spanish Premier, Marquis Prieto, announced in Madrid that the note "was couched in such terms as the importance of safeguarding the lives and property of Spaniards demanded."

DEPRECATES DIVISION OF IRELAND

Viscount Middleton Writes That Unionists in West and South Oppose Government Proposal.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, May 19.—Viscount Middleton, former Secretary for India, had written the prime minister saying that in accordance with the premier's request he has conferred with the Unionist representatives in the west and south of Ireland and that, on their behalf, he can state that they consider the proposal of home rule for a part of Ireland involves great imperial dangers and strengthening of the Sinn Féin movement, which is "actively seditious and pro-German."

Viscount Middleton said those with whom he has conferred also deprecate a division of Ireland on principle, and cannot support the Government proposal. As regards the alternative of an Irish convention Viscount Middleton says that, while those with whom he has discussed the situation are convinced that the Imperial Government only can form a Government through which the control of Ireland may be safely committed, they were willing with a view to minimizing the existing differences and to secure the full participation of Ireland to submit the proposal to an Irish Unionist Council, and there was reason to believe they would be willing to participate if all interests were fully represented and the conclusions of the convention were made subject to a decision by the Imperial Parliament.

NO DATE YET SET FOR SUMMONING IRISH CONVENTION. (Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, May 19.—The question of summoning an Irish convention remains open pending the submission of the proposal to the Unionist Council, and the Irish Unionist Alliance. It is understood that the Unionist Council meets next week, but no date has been announced for a meeting of the alliance. In the meantime statements regarding the Irish proposals will be made by the Government in Parliament on Monday. Premier Lloyd George will speak in the Commons and Lord Carson in the Upper House.

No request to be allowed to resign, made by officers in high command with a desire to escape responsibility at a time so grave, will be accepted by me. Deserters are enjoined to return to the army and fleet by May 28th. All infractions of this order will be severely punished."

After a conference with the Government, the Duma Committee and the Council of Deputies the commanding generals have returned to the front. M. Milukoff, former foreign minister, has refused to accept the Ministry of Education because his presence in the cabinet would involve a responsibility for the projected foreign policy of the administration. He considers this policy dangerous and likely to compromise Russia's relations with her allies.

PETROGRAD, May 19, via London.—The Provisional Government declared today that it was united in the rejection of a separate peace, and that it adopts as its aim the re-establishment of a general peace which will tend either to domination over other nations or to the seizure of their national possessions, a peace without annexations or indemnities.

The Government expresses its conviction that the Russian army will not suffer the Germans to destroy Russia's western allies.

ARE FARMERS CROWDED OFF THE MARKET?

Claimed Lansdowne is Being Turned into a Middlemen's Market.

CONDITIONS WILL BE INVESTIGATED IN THE INTERESTS OF THE FARMER AND CONSUMER.

What's the matter with the Sherbrooke market? One householder declares that it is fast ceasing to be a farmers' market but is being converted into a middlemen's market, and with the result that prices are unduly advanced.

The council of the Sherbrooke Board of Trade, at a meeting yesterday, gave consideration to this matter and appointed a special committee to investigate and report to a subsequent meeting.

The Saturday market is supposed to be a place where the farmers of the surrounding country will assemble and offer the produce of their farms, the public buying directly from them. Is the Sherbrooke market getting away from this idea? If the farmers are disappearing from it and their places are being taken by dealers who buy up the farm produce and sell it again at advanced prices, the matter is one that should be investigated.

There is a city by-law which forbids what is termed forestalling on the market, that is, local dealers have no right to go on the market and buy up farm produce offered before a certain hour in the forenoon. Is this by-law being observed?

The advances in farm produce prices justify the most rigid inquiry into market conditions and the taking of such action as will ensure the marketing of produce under the most favorable conditions for the parties concerned—the consumers and the Austrians Admit Loss of Monte Kuk. Italians Keep Pounding Enemy Positions on the Isonzo Battlefield. British Made Successful Raid North-east of Gouzeaucourt, and Brought Back Prisoners and a Machine Gun.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) PARIS, May 19 (Noon)—The Germans once more returned to the attack on the Aisne front last night, hurling troops in waves against the French positions north-west of Braye-en-Laonnois. The War Office announces that the Germans were unable to reach the French lines except on the extreme western part of the front attacked, where some German detachments won a footing in advanced trenches.

Prisoners remained in the hands of the French. The Germans used burning liquid in an unsuccessful attack north-west of Rheims.

"The Isonzo battle continues. Monte Kuk, south-east of Plava, was abandoned yesterday morning after two days of varied fighting of the greatest fierceness. Our troops took up positions several hundred metres east of the hill."

In the Gorizia region a remarkable calm prevailed during the day. After nightfall, refraining from any artillery preparation, the enemy suddenly dashed forward in dense masses, but all his efforts to gain a foothold in our lines failed before the cool defense of our brave troops.

"Early today the enemy strongly attacked Monte Hanto but was repelled after hand-to-hand fighting. Since the beginning of the infantry battle we have brought in more than 3,000 prisoners."

"In the Flitsch and Ploceen sectors and in the Southern Tyrol the Italian artillery fire has increased."

PARIS, May 19.—The French official statement follows: "After a violent bombardment yesterday evening the Germans attacked our lines in the region northwest of Braye-en-Laonnois, from Epene-de-Chevigny as far as the Oise canal. Our artillery and machine gun fire broke up the futile attack, and the Germans were not able to approach our positions except on the western end of the attacking front, where some fraction of the enemy's forces gained a footing in advanced trenches. A score of prisoners remained in our hands."

"On the California plateau skirmishes and grenade fighting occurred. Northwest of Rheims the Germans attacked our small posts south of Courcy employing liquid fire. They were repulsed by our fire."

MRS. J. MACDONALD, SCOTSTOWN

SCOTSTOWN, May 19.—(Special)—Marion Macdonald nee MacLean, widow of the late Rev. Jno. Macdonald, who served as minister in a wide district of Compton County in the early days of the district, and who at the time of his demise was pastor of St. Andrew's (Presbyterian) Church, Scotstown, died here on the night of the 18th, inst., at the advanced age of eighty-one years. For various reasons this event is one of more than immediate local interest. She died, after but a few days illness, at the advanced age of eighty-one, and at the residence of her eldest son, Mr. Jno. Macdonald, Scotstown, with whom she had made her home during the period of her widowhood.

The funeral took place on the 14th, inst., from her late residence to St. Andrew's Church, thence to the Scotstown cemetery, in which the mortal remains of her late husband have rested for thirty-one and a half years.

The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. R. MacLeod, who preached a timely sermon from the words: "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." He was assisted by Rev. D. MacLeod, Gould, and Rev. M. MacLeod, Milan, a long time friend of her family.

The large attendance of citizens, and many from the surrounding district, was an indication of the esteem in which the departed was held. Among the many present the following were noticed: Dr. Stewart Macdonald, Sherbrooke, a son; Dr. Alex Macdonald, Bury, a son; Rev. Dr. K. MacLennan, Gengarry, Ont.; Mr.

APPEAL FOR MORE MEN AT MAGOG MEETING

Col. Blondin Called on French Canadians to do Their Full Duty.

MAGOG, May 19.—The spirit in which the Blondin-Lessard recruiting campaign is being greeted throughout the province was indicated here Thursday night, when there was grouped on the platform with Major-Gen. Lessard and Lt.-Col. Blondin, the parish priest, a priest of the Benedictine Order, a clergyman of the Church of England, a Methodist minister, a further illustration of the spirit was given by the fact that the Methodist minister spoke both in French and English.

The interest which the campaign has aroused was revealed by the fact that a large number of people were turned away from Wonderland Theatre, in which the meeting was held, because there was no room for them. A great proportion of those who attended were employees of the cotton mills here, many of them English-speaking.

Gen. Lessard received a great ovation when he made his address in English as well as his native tongue. The Rev. F. X. Brossard, who spoke first, remarked that in Europe there had been formed a rapid union to meet the common enemy. "We see the same thing here," he said, "on this platform tonight. I will do all that is in my power that the object of our visitors may be achieved, that they may obtain recruits, and that victory may be won. We priests can do little but pray, but it is a heartfelt prayer that we send up to the God of Victory."

The Rev. Father Biron extended a cordial welcome and hearty expressions of sympathy to the visitors. "We are proud," he said, "to see Gen. Lessard preaching voluntary enlistment."

Another priest on the platform was the Rev. A. Genest, Father Felix, of the Benedictine Order, who spoke. He is a native of France. He left Belgium just as war was beginning, and came to this country.

PROUD CANADIAN FRENCHMAN.

After a picturesque description of some of the sights he had seen when the troops were mobilized and the first batch of German prisoners brought to France, Father Felix said: "You are, I can see, proud of being French-Canadians. May I, after what I have seen tonight, tell you that I am proud of being a Canadian Frenchman."

The Rev. Mr. Roy, the Methodist minister, spoke of the good feeling that exists between people of the two races in this country, and congratulated his French-Canadian brothers on the movement started by Lt.-Col. Blondin.

Gen. Lessard said: "I am happy to see on this stage all political classes and clergy of all denominations." Continuing, he made the following reference to conscription, the meaning of which he detailed: "The proper balance does not exist," he said, "when we do not have conscription. But we have a voluntary system, and it is our duty to do our best by it."

"We speak of the glorious deeds of our ancestors. But if we do not keep up with the standards set by them, how can we boast of them?"

Lt.-Col. Blondin opened by saying that the campaign was one to wipe out any doubts that might exist regarding the spirit of the Province of Quebec.

"We have dropped the toy swords of politics," he said, "now that it is a real weapon that threatens us. NO REPROACH DUE YET."

"There is no reproach due to the Province of Quebec as yet," he said, "for it has not yet been possible for us to do our full duty. But, in spite of the glorious record of our ancestors and of the 22nd, we must at the present time put forth our best effort. Every young French-Canadian who is unattached and has no responsibilities, who is not doing work essential to the country or the progress of the war, must enlist at once, as if the enemy were at our very doors, as if his mother were in actual danger."

"And remember, you who are of a race that is called a small one, remember what they say of another small people whom Germany asked for a free passage for which they would have paid with riches, remembering that that little people did not hesitate in taking the path of duty."

"Belgium reminds me of the Queen of Portugal, who, when her husband was being assassinated, shielded his body with hers, while with a bouquet of flowers she beat at the face of the assassin. Her spirit was the same."

The following is the programme for the Blondin-Lessard French-Canadian educational recruiting campaign for next week:

CRAZY OVER CANADIANS

Wounded Had Fine Reception From English People

Pte. J. C. Henderson of a Toronto Highland battalion, who was written as follows from hospital at Westcliff-on-Sea, England: "I was the first Canadian to come here from the Ypres battle. The people knew we were coming and were all down at the pier. As soon as I came to the edge of the boat two men picked me up and carried me through the crowd. I never heard such shouting. I thought peace had been declared. Then they began shouting 'Good old Canada!' I felt lonely. I wondered if it would be anything like that at home. I was put into an auto and brought up here. It was just like Toronto Exhibition all the way up. Everyone seems to have gone crazy over the Canadians."

Modern War Romantic

Who said that the war and the twentieth century had killed romance? Here is a true story. A wounded officer recognized in one of the voluntary nurses at his hospital a young lady to whom he was once engaged. He was greatly embarrassed, as he was engaged to another girl, who was also a nurse in the same hospital. It so happened, however, that lady No. 2 had fallen in love with a doctor and he with her. Somehow things were straightened out, the officer renewed his old love, and lady No. 2 was set free. So all ended happily.

Clergyman Has Recovered

Was Unable to Fill Appointments and Greatly Discouraged by Continued Ill-Health.

GANANOQUE, Ont., May 19.—Many friends of Rev. George Alton are pleased to learn of his recovery after a long period of ill-health from biliousness, stomach troubles and severe headaches.

Mr. Alton had become very much discouraged over his inability to obtain relief, and thought he would have to quit the ministry, when fortunately he read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and began their use. He tells the particulars of his case in this interesting letter:

Rev. George Alton, Gananoque, Ont., writes: "I had been suffering from bilious attacks for four years. I was very weak, had headaches, and my stomach was so bad that I could hardly eat anything without being troubled by it. I had tried many cures, herbs, pills and salts, and was under the doctor's care for some time but instead of getting better I seemed to get weaker. I was unable to fulfill my appointments on Sabbath and had to secure help. I used to take dizzy spells and could not walk across the floor straight. I had almost given up all hope, and my wife said that if I did not get better we would have to quit the work of the ministry. However, in looking over the 'British Whig,' the well-known Kingston paper, I saw Dr. Chase's advertisement in it, and read how Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills had helped others who were troubled as I was. I resolved to give these Pills a trial, and I must say that in a short time I obtained relief. I continued taking them for some time, and now I am able to resume my work again. From the benefit I have obtained from these pills, I would recommend them to all who suffer as I did."

Rev. C. Cunningham, 124 First Avenue, Toronto, "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Dr. George Alton of Gananoque, and believe his statement with reference to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."

PABLO CASALS' enchanted rendering of Wagner's beautiful "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser" has a sheer, pure loveliness never yet attained by anyone but Casals on the cello. It has a ravishing glory and sweetness of tone—a human voice sings in the vibrant strings!

Other gems are Kotelbey's tone-picture "In a Monastery Garden," with the calls of nesting birds and the deep-voiced intoning of the "Kyrie-Eleison" by a splendid male chorus; Lazaro dominates again in the Love Aria from "La Favorita"; Joseph Hoffman's enchanting piano technique is displayed in "The Erlking" and "Caprice Espagnol"; the Saxo Quartette render "Poor Butterfly" and "Katinka" in singularly rich shadow-tones. The cases of several young men as probationers for the ministry were considered and favorably recommended to Conference. On Tuesday evening a public meeting was held when addresses were given by Rev. G. H. Forde and Rev. G. A. Adamson which were marked by thoughtfulness and earnestness. Rev. N. Manson, the newly appointed secretary of the Provincial Sunday School Union, was also introduced to the audience and gave a short address showing the importance of the Sunday School work and urging our hearty co-operation.

The reports of the respective circuits were presented on Wednesday and showed that marked progress had been made during the year especially in Church membership and in contributions to Missionary work. The Sunday School Secretary of the District also presented every gratifying report.

The sessions were brought to a close at 6 p.m. Wednesday with prayer by the pastor of the Church.

RECKLESS DURING WAR

Canada Burns Up Forests, Defying Increase of Taxes

In war time, and while many interests are urging thrift and economy, the Canadian people are burning up their created resources at a much greater rate. During the first five months of 1916, the fire loss in Canada exceeded that of January to May, 1915, by approximately $3,000,000, or $600,000 per month. Canada has need of all her financial resources. She is borrowing money to carry on the war, and is paying 5 per cent interest thereon. The additional fire loss of 1916 would therefore pay the interest charge on the recent war loan of $100,000,000 and would pay $2,000,000 of the principal. Canada's average annual fire loss, of over $23,000,000, would pay 5 per cent interest on approximately half a billion dollars. Our fire loss is, however, something for which we are receiving no value, either financial or patriotic; it is simply a tax, due in great part to carelessness, which Canadians appear willing to pay, and which they, as a whole, are doing little to avert.

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP YOU SHOULD USE MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Sleeplessness is caused by the nervous system deranged.

Perhaps too much worry has gotten on your nerves, perhaps you have overworked yourself, or have been excessive in your use of tobacco, but whatever the cause, the nervous system must be built up again before restful sleep can be assured.

Those whose rest is broken into by frightful dreams, nightmares, sinking and smothering sensations, who wake up in the morning as tired as they went to bed can have their old, peaceful, undisturbed, refreshing sleep back again by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. John Sloan, Haley Station, Ont., writes: "Over a year ago I was very nervous. I could not sleep at night, and I would faint at the slightest fright. I tried several doctors, but they did me practically no good. I noticed your advertisement, and immediately tried Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I am proud to say they cured me!"

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SEVEN YEARS TORTURE

Nothing Helped Him Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

ALBERT VARNER

Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915.

For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. I am grateful to "Fruit-a-tives", and to everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach, I say take "Fruit-a-tives", and you will get well."

95% OF ILLNESS DUE TO ONE CAUSE

Physicians agree that 95 per cent. of all illness is possible only because of accumulated waste in the Colon (Lower Intestine).

In fact, the most eminent of the World's Specialists claim that if the Colon were always kept clean the average life of humanity would be doubled.

There is now a new and simple method of cleaning the Colon of this poisonous waste, and keeping it clean, pure and healthy. Of curing Constipation and the depressing bilious attacks which make us dull, listless and inert—without any sort of ambition.

That method is Internal Bathing, with warm water, administered by the "J. B. L. Cascade," aptly termed "Nature's Cure."

Over 500,000 people are now enthusiastically using this modern warm water cure, and Physicians are prescribing it everywhere. It is making sick folks well, and well folks better, stronger, more ambitious, energetic and confident.

This letter from Mr. A. Maclean, of Conger Lumber Co., Parry Sound, Ont., a sufferer for 25 years from Constipation, is very valuable.

Parry Sound, Ont.

Dear Doctor,—I have used the J. B. L. Cascade since I received it 21 days ago, with wonderful results. Before I started this treatment I could not pass one day without taking medicines; since have not taken one dose, and feel so much better in every way.

I have been troubled with Constipation for the past 25 or 40 years, and, of course, at my age cannot expect a speedy cure, as I am now in my 78th year, but the relief it has already given me is a promise of the good it will do for me.

I think a good many orders will come from Parry Sound as the treatment becomes known. I cannot speak too highly of the Cascade treatment, and will surely talk much about it.

Yours gratefully,

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is now being explained and shown at the Brock Drug Store, 163 Wellington St., Sherbrooke, and they will be glad to explain its action and uses to you in detail.

If you cannot call, you should write today to Chas. A. Tyrrell, M.D., 163 College Street, Toronto, for booklet, "Why Men of Today are Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient."

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called Freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Him Well and Strong

Arthur Rousseau Tells How He Found Health and Strength After Ten Years of Pain and Sickness.

FISHER BRANCH, Man., May 18, (Special).—"I suffered from kidney trouble from the time I was twelve years old. Now I am in the best of health and I owe it to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The speaker was Mr. Arthur Rousseau, well known and highly respected here. Today at twenty-two years of age he is in robust health. No one would think that for ten years he had been a victim of kidney disease.
But such is the case.

"I suffered from headaches and neuralgia," he states. "I had a very sore back, my appetite was fitful and I was troubled with sleeplessness. I was always tired and nervous, I felt heavy and sleepy after meals while heart flutterings made me uneasy."

"I took just six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills to make me sound and healthy all over."

When the kidneys are right they strain all the impurities out of the blood and the whole body is right.
Dodd's Kidney Pills make the kidneys right.

GRANBY, May 19.—(Special).—Lt.-
Col. Renouf, O.C. 7th Brigade, C.F.
A. was here on Thursday making arrangements for the re-organization of the 15th Field Battery. He was accompanied by Capt. J. J. Gibb of the 15th. Col. Renouf says that the Battery is not being reorganized for overseas service. He interviewed the Mayor and other leading citizens and was assured of their support. It should be possible to raise the battery to its full strength without going outside the city limits. There is probably over a thousand men of military age in the city, and out of that number it should be easy to raise one hundred which is the number required. Being near the Battery headquarters they could drill evenings and thus lose no time.

There are three batteries in the brigade, the other two being at Sherbrooke and Coaticook. The Sherbrooke battery has already its full complement of men.

GOOD WORK OF FIRE BRIGADE.

A fire broke out in the loft over the kitchen of Mr. J. Leger, baker of Kentville on Thursday afternoon.
The fire brigade were on the spot in quick time and although the nearest hydrant was at a great distance from the building the firemen soon had the hose playing on the flames and the fire extinguished. The loss will be in the vicinity of $250.00 but unfortunately the insurance has been allowed to lapse Kentville is without the city limits. The services of our efficient fire brigade were furnished free in fact this suburb has the benefit of fire protection, electric light and water from the city without contributing in the way of taxes anything to the maintenance of the corporation.

WELCOME TO SERGT. HEBERT.

Sergt. Hebert, the first man in Granby to enlist for overseas service and who is now on an eight weeks furlough, arrived in town on Tuesday evening and was met at the evening train by the band and a large number of patriotic citizens and friends.
Sergt. Hebert enlisted with the 54th Regiment, Sherbrooke, only two days after war was declared and left for England from the training camp at Valcartier with the first Canadian Contingent. He crossed to France in April 1915, and was in the trenches until March, 1916. He afterwards was attached to headquarters at Le Havre as staff interpreter until November 1916. He was then sent to England where he has since been connected with work in connection with the organization of Canadian Forces.
Sergt. Hebert tells some interesting experiences of the two and a half years spent in England and France.
He says the people of England have every confidence in ultimate victory.

WENT THROUGH VIMY RIDGE.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mudd received word on Thursday that their son, Lloyd who went overseas with the 11th last August, was wounded on the 12th in the ankle and wrist. They had just got a letter from him the day previous saying he had been through the battle of Vimy Ridge and escaped without a scratch, and with only a mouthful of dust and dirt.

Pte. Edward Lacey is also in an hospital in England suffering from gastritis.

"Built in Canada"

The Wilson Piano has more improvements of real value than any other upright piano made or sold in Canada. Our patented double brass flange action will out-wear the ordinary piano action about two to one. This has been demonstrated over and over again with Wilson Pianos used in large schools, and convents in the Province, during the past 18 years. Another feature is the special Practice Pedal (operated by hand lever) which saves wear on hammers and noise of children's practice.

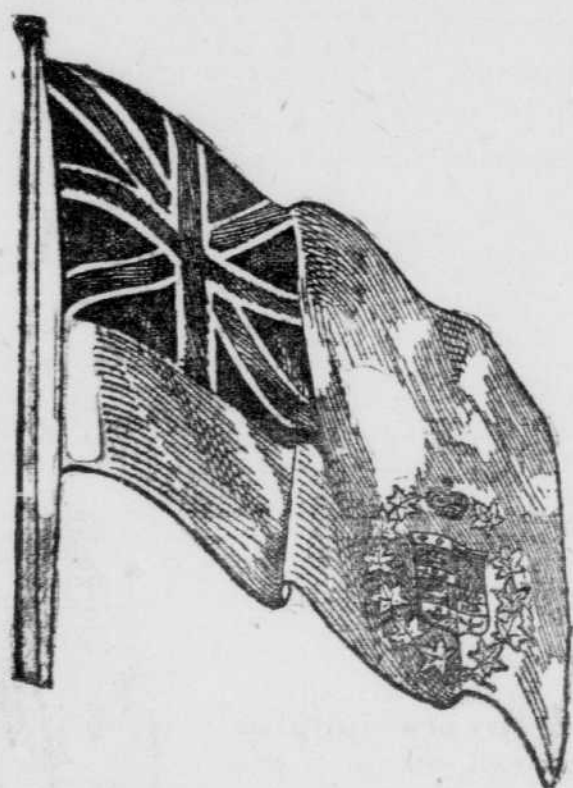

Six Wilson Pianos were sold to King's Hall, Compton, in 1902, and are in excellent condition today, notwithstanding the excessive use of these instruments by the large number of pupils. The materials used in building the Wilson Piano are the best that money can buy, and remember they are "Made in Canada." Reasonable in price and fully guaranteed.

Fair value for other pianos in exchange.
Full particulars by mail if you cannot call.

"THE PRIDE OF THE CLAN."

"The Pride of the Clan," a splendid picture featuring Mary Pickford, was shown at His Majesty's yesterday and will fill the bill today and tomorrow. This fine production, while especially appealing to those of Scottish descent, cannot fail to be thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by all. Apart from the perfect acting of "Mary," additional pleasure is derived from the beautiful views of the storm-beaten coast of Killisnoe and typical scenes of the life of the clan, including the betrothal feast on St. Collin's Day. A beautiful romance and an almost fatal tragedy at sea round out an excellent production.

PATRIOTIC ASSOCIATION.

A special meeting of the Patriotic Association was held on Wednesday, the president, Mrs. Bowen, presiding. A letter was read by the secretary, from the board of the Library and Art Association, re occupancy of rooms. A subject of deep interest was the letter from Miss Hale, read by the Joint convener, Mrs. DeLottinville, appealing for help for the French hospitals. The supplies have been cut off from England on account of a shortage of supplies from Canada, and at the present time when the wounded are being brought into the hospitals in increasing numbers, it is the duty of every Canadian to make an effort to send supplies for our wounded boys who have done their duty. "The need is urgent, the answer must be swift."

It was moved and carried that a committee be appointed for this work, with Mrs. Horace Roy, convener, Mrs. DeLottinville, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dastous, Mrs. Genest and Miss Campbell, members, with power to add to their number. An appeal from the Red Cross Ambulance, head office London, for help was laid, before those present, and it was decided to donate to this much needed fund. The members of the Patriotic and Red Cross committees are requested to meet Mrs. McLaren Brown, secretary of Women's committee Canadian War Contingent, London, Eng., who will give a talk on this work next Wednesday. All the supplies and work done by our societies pass through this committee of which Mrs. McLaren Brown is secretary, and it is needless to say that she will have much to tell of vital interest, and great help to our workers, especially those who are engaged in knitting; and a good opportunity for workers to get to the heart of things.

CANADIAN SPRING ELEGY

Again the Spring her robes is weaving,
On long denuded trees and vines;
While balmy winds are warmly breathing,
And verdure everywhere reclines.
With merry song the brook meanders,
Unheeded by the world's affray;
Meanwhile, ah me! to distant Flanders,
Our thoughts continuously stray.
There hero men for us are striving,
The fight for freedom to maintain;
Whilst under foreign mounds are lying—
Our Country's sons for that cause slain.
Above their heads shall larks sing praises,
And build their nests from year to year,
And alien buttercups and daisies—
Shall bloom in hallowed beauty near.
Think not that fame ends with their story,
(Or Canada forgets the fray)
No! 'Tis their valiant fight of glory
Shall live in memory for aye.

AT THE PREMIER

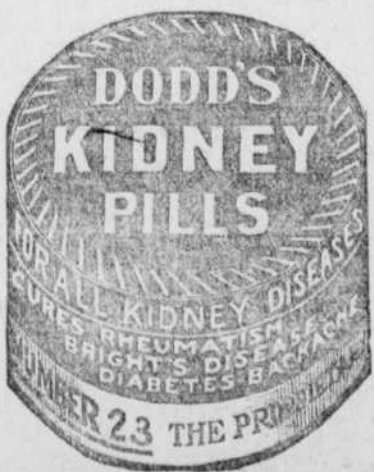

"MOTHERS OF FRANCE"

THRILLS BIG AUDIENCE

AT THE PREMIER

BIG FILM, FEATURING SARAH BERNHARDT, EX-CEEDS ALL ADVANCE NOTICES."Mothers of France," which opened to capacity crowds at the Premier yesterday is a film which exceeds in merit, photography and real human interest, even to the most flattering notices of its press agents.It is not an ordinary motion picture—it seems to the onlooker, that he or she is looking at real life, feeling and breathing with the people shown on the screen that excitement which prevails when war is declared, their love of country, their sacrifices,
their emotions and their patriotism.
One cannot see this magnificent film through and remain unmoved—in fact, it is difficult for any one to see it without being obliged to wipe away tears which spring to the eyes.
Sarah Bernhardt, the world's greatest actress, is featured. She portrays the heroic role of a mother of the heroic nation, France; but, this film is not made only for the exploita-There is no shirking. The young men leave their sweethearts and mothers, fathers leave wives and children. The women bravely withhold their sorrow as long as possible, but when their men have departed they give vent, for a brief spell, to their pent-up feelings in the only relief, tears.The scene then shifts to the trenches, showing the heroic fighters of France holding off the relentless aggressor. The part the women are playing, of course is the main object of the film and their work in hospitals, at home, and in the fields as illustrated without marring the story—in fact, it is all part of the story. Mme. Bernhardt's acting is excellent all the way through, while the other principal roles are sustained in such a natural manner as to remove all thoughts from the minds of the onlookers that what they are witnessing is other than a real occurrence.tion of any great star; the actors do not appear to act—they simply live in the atmosphere called for by the story, and therefore, as a war picture, it gives the public a more vivid view of the terrible struggle in France than many of the much-heralded "war films." As battalion after battalion of the famous "poilus" swept by to action, the applause from the audience was hearty and sustained until the last glistening bayonet had disappeared.The opening scenes depict the peaceful village, the little romances which were about to ripen, the love of a mother for son, the little school-house with its happy, chattering children, the fields filled with gay-hearted workers; all is sunshine. But a cloud appears; the spiked helmet of a ruler drunk with lust for world power, is seeking a place in the sun; rum-mors of war disturb the peaceful villagers and finally grim realism is brought home; France, their beloved country, is about to be invaded.As one watches the film, a realization—probably not as great as it should be—of the terrible sacrifices, and the heroic manner in which they are borne by mothers all over the country tried by war, dawns upon one and he or she is truly inhuman, who could sit through the showing of this picture without having the eyes dimmed with tears at one part or other."Mothers of France" will be shown here for only two days more and no one should miss it. It is one of the greatest things which has ever been filmed.

DEATH OF MR. ETIENNE BOUCHER

The death occurred on Thursday of Mr. Etienne Boucher, one of the oldest French residents of the city, passed away at the age of 81 years.
Mr. Boucher was born in Cacoma, but came to Sherbrooke when a young man and when the place was in its infancy. His reminiscences of the early days were most interesting and he often said that he could have purchased a great part of Wellingstreet for less than two hundred dollars. For many years he was engaged in business, being in partnership with the late P. X. Codere, and for a long period had done no active work. Mrs. Boucher, whom he married in Sherbrooke, died two years ago. Mr. Boucher was a man of sterling qualities, and was respected and esteemed by all who knew him. He is survived by three sons, Messrs.
Oliva, and Osias Boucher, of Providence, R. I., Mr. Rodolphe Boucher, of Manchester, N. H., and Misses Georgianna and Antoinette Boucher, of this city. The funeral took place today from his late home, 65 Frontenac street, to St. Michael's Cathedral.

Overland
Motor Cars

A Car of Pleasing Design

The design of the new Willys-Overland Light Four is notably pleasing and satisfying in lines and proportions. Crowned fenders, sweeping in their curves, and unobstructed running boards, emphasize the long, low appearance. This car is a beautiful example of the modern tendency toward straight, flowing lines. The attractive finish—in keeping with the other distinctive qualities of this Willys-Overland car—completes its thoroughly stylish appearance. And the tremendous volume of the Willys-Overland factories makes it possible to offer this efficient, stylish and comfortable car at a reasonable price.

$1,000 CAR HAS ASSURED FUTURE

Moderate Priced Car Continues to be the Most Popular.

"Probably the most important development of the automobile industry during the past few years has been the gradual defining of price classification among those manufacturers turning out a large volume of cars annually, says an automobile factory executive. It has been fairly well settled, for instance, that the four-cylinder car is destined to lead in the lowest-priced fields. And the sixes, eights and twelves have their markets almost as sharply defined.

"Because the $1,000 field offers the automobile manufacturer an opportunity to incorporate improved features of construction with quantity of production, I believe the future of the car selling near that price to be already assured. When we pay 25 or 30 for a suit of clothes we do not expect to obtain the quality of goods for which we pay $50 or $60. But as our worldly prospects increase we gladly pay the difference to obtain long-wearing qualities in our apparel. For exactly the same reason, we know that the buyers of cars in the $1,000 field are required to a great extent each year from owners of cheap cars.

"From time to time we hear the pessimists haul out and dust off their little talk on the point of saturation in the automobile history. To the men who have followed the automobile industry from its inception this viewpoint appears ridiculous. In the first place, we must remember that the industry has been passing through a steady process of evolution for over ten years.

Hundreds of thousands of automobiles have been turned out in that time, but I venture to say that a big majority of the cars now on the road are products of the past four years. Each succeeding year sees thousands of cars relegated to the scrap heap. Which answers conclusively the question "What becomes of the old cars?"

"We are not familiar in the early days with the best heating processes of the metal combinations which make for long life. If we had been, our first models would still be doing yeoman duty on city streets and country roads. This natural process of elimination has made room each season for a fresh crop of better motor cars, and the probabilities of over-production, it seems to me, are largely confined to the cheap car field.

"Briefly, the most difficult problems in the automobile industry are what kind of car or cars to build, at what prices, and how many. Due to the rapid development of the engineering end, changes in the automobile industry have been kaleidoscopic in the past. Severity of competition and caprices of public demand have caused changes of policy not always for the best.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

In drying a car after washing it, or after it has been rained upon, use only clean chamois skins or very soft cloths. Some kinds of cloth will scratch and dull the finish in a short time.

A very handy tool is a portable vulcanizer. With it the tube may be patched and thus expense saved. It may also be used to close up small cuts in the tread of the outer shoe, thus prolonging its life. The method of using it may be easily mastered after a few attempts. Use an old tube to practice on and you will be surprised at the good work you can do.

The use of the self-starter prevents one from keeping in as close touch with his motor as he should. Where we used to crank the motor to start it we found out if it was properly lubricated and if the compression was good or not. Whenever there is any sign of loss of power the starting handle should be used to see if the crankshaft turns freely and the compression is good. Do it now, while the engine is in proper condition, and then you will have a basis for comparison when something goes wrong.

Be sure to change the water in the cooling system at least once a week. This will carry off most of the rust and assist in preventing a clogged radiator.

Do not neglect to put a wrench on every nut and bolt on the car at least once a month, and on the steering connections once a week. No other mechanism receives the racking that the automobile gets, and it is impossible to keep the motor together if the nuts and bolts are not attended to frequently.

Be careful in the use of the air hose. It is so easy to connect to your tire and wait for it to be blown up that one often gets too much pressure. There is but little danger of the tire bursting. The harm is in making the tire too hard and so losing the benefit of the air cushion.

When an automobile motor is hot care should be taken not to pour cold water into the cooling system too rapidly. When the cold water strikes the overheated cylinders it is very apt to crack same, due to the rapid contraction which takes place.

When the proper oil level in the crank case is determined the installation of a drain cock in each compartment will enable the operator to keep his oil at a fixed level. This is an expensive installation and may obviate considerable trouble for the automobilist.

The gasket under the spark plug of the auto often causes a slight leak by holding a piece of dirt against the counterbore. The dirt, even though it is very small, may cause the gasket to permit gas to leak out around the spark plug. When replacing the plugs it is well to clean the gasket and its seat thoroughly.

PHOTOGRAPHER IS HERO OF AVIATORS

Low-flying Made Necessary by Clouds and British Airmen Fly Lowest Of All

Nevertheless it is not the score of personal successes in combat which give the measure of heroism in air service in war. Personally, if there were a scale of merit, I should put the serial photographers first, writes an English expert. Consider their task. Very often they are called upon to act at the very crisis of an engagement when, to their great danger, they will be "the cynosure of neighbouring eyes." They have one set little piece of ground over which to work, and they must fly at a moderately low altitude, taking the summit of risk all the time. Immeasurable and his fellows can dive home if they will with a bundle of fairy tales, with conjectures as to the bullet of their bullets and the fate of the enemy.

British Supreme

No vagueness is left to the photographer. He hurries home, his plate is developed, and he knows before the sun is high whether he is going to receive "a banquet or a punch." Generally he gets the bouquet, but it does not come from the members of a large house. His photographs are, of course, private and confidential and his work is in a sense journeyman's work, very sound but not at all spectacular.

On behalf of our air photographers it should be set down publicly to their credit that they are supreme. Undoubtedly and in the belief of specialists they take the best photographs yet seen. But if any better photographs have been made than those brought back soon after dawn in the fights at St. Elia and the Hohenlorenz Redoubt they must be very good indeed.

Below 1,000 Feet

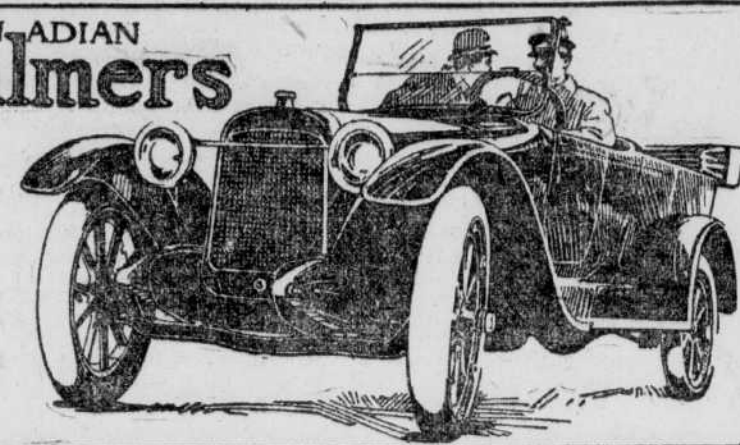

The mark of the flying of the British airman as contrasted with the German has been the readiness on due occasion to fly low. One of the most courageous enterprises was the patrol, the chase of one of our reconnaissance machines over the German lines at so low an altitude that the enemy's "Archies" did not cease fire till their ammunition was exhausted. In two of the most heroic deeds of the war our men came down to within 200 ft. of their target and made sure of the bullseye. This low flying is more often than may be thought a necessary manoeuvre if any aggressive flying is to be undertaken at all. On many comparatively fine days the clouds will come down to levels considerably below 1,000 feet and no man can fly for a long space within clouds. Even a bird will lose direction in a mist; and if the airman has the advantage over the bird in his possession of a compass he has much more trouble than the bird in discovering whether he is flying upwards or downwards.

DISLOCATES MUSCLES

Strange Feats of Doctor-Private in Montreal Unit

At a sporting and musical evening given by the Irish-Canadian Rangers at Valcartier, Dr. A. Whitman of New York, enlisted as a private, gave an exhibition that was easily the feature of the evening. Doctor Whitman is possessed of lax ligaments and can perform more dislocations of the human body than any person living. One of the most dangerous of his acts is the lowering of the heart four inches. His heart can plainly be felt beating in the centre of the abdomen. He extends his height four and a half inches, and adds a length of eighteen inches to his arm.

WHAT will the Chalmers do? Prove that to your own satisfaction. Drive it. Put it up your pet hill. Throttle it down. Jump into speed. The acceleration of the motor will amaze you.

It was a Chalmers that made the famous 24-hour run through the dense traffic of Chicago. On high gear. Without stopping the engine. Imagine the stops, the slowing down, the dodging in and out of traffic. The Chalmers went 586.8 miles—14 miles to the gallon of gasoline.★ 358 miles was the best previous mark.

It was a Chalmers special that won the Giant's Despair Hill Climb last October. Beat four 12-cylinder cars, racing creations, and many costly cars.

This sort of driving proves the soundness of the Chalmers. Proves its wide flexibility. Proves the cooling. Proves economy.

MORE VALUE NOW FOR PURCHASERS

Automobile Buyers Receive More For Their Money Than Ever Before.

Despite the high prices of every commodity, automobile owners are receiving more of their money today than ever before. In the last few years efficiency has been the watchword in every branch of the motor car industry. Constant application to this policy has produced labor saving devices and methods which have enabled the motor car makers to give greatly increased values.

Even with the big rise in the price of steel and other metal products essential in the building of automobiles, and in spite of the increased cost of labor the motor manufacturer has kept down the selling price of cars to a minimum.

It is true that many makers have had to increase the prices of their cars but an analysis of the situation will prove that the prices of automobiles have not been increased in the same proportion as those of other commodities. War orders have sent the prices of materials, even the smallest parts, soaring, and unless the manufacturer was far sighted enough to prepare for the situation, he found himself in a difficult position.

The material market left the maker a choice of three courses: First, lowering the standard of the car by using cheaper material; second, raising the price of the car to meet the increase in materials; third, building for the future and for permanency the best car of its type for the same money.

CANADIAN IN HOLLAND

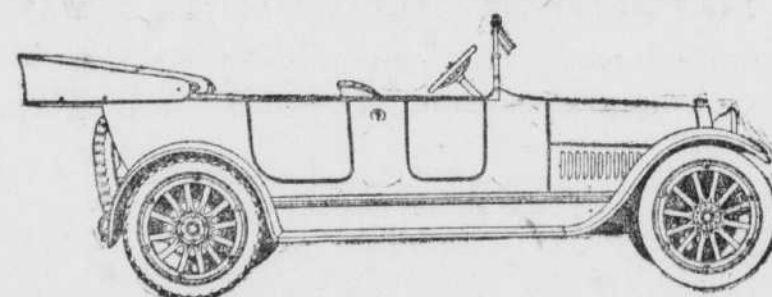

Found Dutch Kind—How Huns Treat Canadians

Pte. Sanderson of Winnipeg, an 8th Battalion man, after escaping from a German prison into Holland wrote home: "The Dutch could not have been kinder. The Germans treat Canadians just like Englishmen, in fact, don't recognize any difference, but they often ask how it was Canadians wanted to come such a way to fight when not compelled. One day while in captivity there came a call for a party of prisoners to work on the Russian front. An English sergeant told the German, 'If you think the fellows will do anything to help you beat the Russians you might as well kill them right off here, because they won't.' Sanderson believes the project of taking these prisoners to work in front of the Russian lines was accordingly abandoned.

French prisoners, he says, are treated much more leniently than English. Russians formerly were badly off for food, but since that English prisoners are looked after so well by those at home they get a lot of help indirectly. All prisoners are most ready to share together.

Road-Conquering Power

Power—and plenty of reserve power—is absolutely necessary in the car built for Canadian service. Not merely "claimed" horse-power—but actual, usable road horse-power.

In the Studebaker FOUR at $1375 the owner is sure of full forty horse-power, and in the SIX at $1685 full fifty horse-power—reserve power for all the exigencies of crowded traffic, steep hills and rough, heavy roads.

In ratio of power to weight the Studebaker is probably the most powerful car on the market.

Because of the perfect balance of the chassis it is a common occurrence for owners to get from 8,000 to 10,000 miles from a single set of tires.

Come in and see the new Series 18 Studebaker cars. Examine them carefully—ride in them—drive them. Let us convince you that to equal the Studebaker in power—or any other essential of good motor car construction—you have to pay hundreds of dollars more.

PLOT Laid Bare in Ireland.

BELFAST, May 18.—At a court-martial here yesterday of three men charged with the issue of leaflets containing quotations from the writings of John Mitchell, an Irish revolutionist and a leader of the "Young Ireland" movement, who died in 1875, the prosecuting counsel said it was a matter of notoriety that great revolutionary propaganda was being conducted in Ireland against the constituted authorities.

Relaxing the Tension with a good Gillette Shave

A day-a-wing over enemy lines—scouting, observing, fighting, dodging shells and machine-gun bullets—is a nervous strain that has no precedent and probably no equal. When our airmen alight at last, after flights an eagle might envy, they certainly do enjoy the refreshing relaxation of a cool, smooth Gillette shave.

Nor is this appreciation of the Gillette Safety Razor limited to our airmen, or even to our own British armies. Every service has its own tense moments, hours or days, with its welcome intervals of relaxation when the Gillette is a friend indeed. Keen, compact, always ready for action, the Gillette Safety Razor is treasured in tens of thousands of kits on every fighting line on land and sea—and by no means least in the land of its birth, with the forces of our newest Ally.

Nor does its service end here, for "the man behind the man behind the gun", who in the factory, the office or on the land is bending every energy towards production—he too gets solid comfort and satisfaction out of the Gillette Safety Razor and its wonderful three minute shave.

Spend a five dollar bill to send a Gillette to one of your defenders—and get one for yourself to see how much he'll appreciate it!

ADVERTISING BRINGS
QUANTITY MARKET

There is No Demand Until Car Breaks Into Print.

"Whenever well planned advertising fails to pay and we look carefully for the reason, we invariably find weakness in the product advertised," said the President of an auto factory.

"Questionable business cannot afford to chance the lime light any more than honest business can afford to keep out of it. Printers ink will bring searching public attention to either resulting in disaster to the former and prosperity to the latter.

"As to the automobiles this is particularly true. While men are induced through advertising to look at cars, few buy them on the mere advertised assertion that they are all right. They insist upon knowing why they are good and testing each claim." He pointed out the fallacious reasoning of that small and diminishing class who assume to believe that a good article will "sell itself."

"Nothing in the world from soap to automobiles will find a quantity market without advertising backed by intelligent salesmanship," he said. "Often automobile manufacturers have to test cars placed in various parts of the country long before the model is announced yet whoever heard of a demand for one of them before it breaks into print?"

"But when Mr. Agate Lane gets busy the proposition all motor-dom is alert. Everybody who is thinking of buying a car of its class is interested and willing to be shown. Business is located and it is up to the merits of the product and proper salesmanship to close it."

THIRST AT ITS WORST

But Heroic French Defenders Held on Till Relieved

H. Warner Allen, correspondent for all the British newspapers with the French army, sends the following account of the heroic defence of Port Vaux, one of the principal positions before Verdun. One of the most heroic incidents in the defence of Vaux is the story of the entrenchment to the northwest of the fort, known as R1, which was held by the 101st line regiment. No supplies could be brought up, and thirst began to be the most terrible of foes, but not a word of complaint was heard.

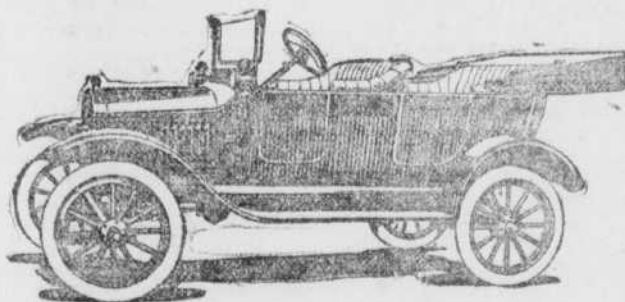

One night a rocket was sent up to ask the French artillery to protect R1 with a curtain of shell. Unhappily the rocket missed fire and set fire to the supply of rockets in the depot. Red and green flames rose on all sides and the trench was hidden in clouds of smoke. The men, who did not know what had happened, were at a loss to understand. Was the enemy attacking, they wondered, with flaming liquids? Had the French position been turned? But not a man lost his presence of mind. Everyone set to work to remove cases of grenades out of danger from the fire.

When the fire was under control and at the same moment the weary men who had been fighting it received a recompense for their labors in the shape of two gallons of water, which had been brought from Framin Wood. The precious liquid was served out at once—just a mouthful for each man.

But R1 was entirely isolated by the screen of German shells falling round it, and thirst became a more and more terrible enemy. Then there came a rainstorm. Hastily sheets of canvas were spread out to catch the drops, and drinking tins were set along the edge of the trenches. The fight went on all next day, and on June 3, 1916, at 9 p.m. the defenders of R1 were relieved.

BUSY VERDUN ROADS

Horses Tabooed and Road Menders Worked Furiously

The day after the battle of Verdun began, February 22, the order was given to clear all horse-drawn vehicles from the roads leading to the city. Within four hours the road to Verdun was free, except for motor trucks. Every bit of ammunition and provisions was carried to the Verdun sector by railroad or by motor truck. An average of 2,000 motor trucks passed through Verdun in each direction every day. Four thousand trucks were in commission in this part of the battle front alone. The roads were divided into sections, each in charge of an officer, for policing and for repaving. The road-menders worked like madmen, rushing onto the highway as soon as a motor truck train had passed, and laboring feverishly until the next train arrived.

MOBILIZE BY RAILWAY

Methods By Which France Drilled Herself For Crisis

A review of the military operations beginning with the mobilization shows that the railroads of France have accomplished everything that was expected of them, contrary to the experience of 1870. The first consideration in developing the efficiency of the military railroad is the maximum number of trains that can be run one after another within a given time. Consequently all military trains are obliged to run at the same reduced speed, following each other at very close intervals under the block system; without risk of accident, the continuous movement accomplishes more than would be done by high speed which would necessarily involve increased spaces between trains.

In preparation for this intense movement necessitated by the mobilization, the officers of the railway service of the French army met every year under the direction of the general staff, to study the problems involved, each officer being placed on the spot where in time of war he would be called upon to exercise his functions. The last drill of this kind was in April, 1914, when the manoeuvres undertaken imposed the grouping of two armies face to face. Orders for the operations had been established, taking into account the vicissitudes of battle and all the needs of the army, so far as possible bringing their men face to face with problems, incidents and accidents and consequent necessity for immediate decisions such as they would have to make in time of war. That was how the men charged with the transportation of troops prepared themselves for the mobilization and the intensive movement of military trains that has continued ever since.

INDIANS GOOD SOLDIERS

Camp Life And Soldiering Appealed To Canadian Braves

A correspondent wrote from Camp Borden, as follows: Many tribes of fighting Indians, ancient rivals, are represented in the 114th Battalion. The Delawares, the Iroquois, Hurons, Abenakis and others are among them, but the Indians are united in a common cause. Outside of their training, they are now chiefly concerned with their sports. They play the original Indian game of lacrosse, and the team representing the Brock Rangers is able to hold its own with practically all teams at camp. They also have a crack baseball team in which there are several players of the Borden and Meyer type. The battalion has a band which is made up almost entirely of Indians. The Indians have proved themselves agile and quick at learning because they have officers whom they know and respect. They like to handle weapons and they have taken a liking to modern methods of warfare as practised at Camp Borden. Many of them are crack shots and clever scouts. It is also natural that they should like camp life and activities in the open country.

There are five ministers of the gospel among the members of the Brock Rangers of Haldimand County, Ontario, which is officially the 114th overseas battalion.

SWEDISH ENVOY ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 18.—Herman L. F. Lagercrantz, who was minister from Sweden to the United States from 1907 to 1910, arrived here yesterday on a Danish steamship. Mr. Lagercrantz is going to Washington as a special envoy of a commercial character, having consented to accept the appointment on the personal solicitation of King Gustave. The fear in Sweden that the United States may place an embargo on exports to that country is said to be responsible for his coming to America.

THIS PREVENTS TRACKING.

Many a gear-box has been ruined by using unsuitable lubricants, and many an owner has viewed with dismay the condition of his gears, although he has superciliously taken all precautions, keeping the gear-box well supplied with grease. It is not generally known that if a suitable lubricant is not used the gears will "track," or in other words, will displace the grease, and leave a clear channel for them to revolve dry with disastrous results. To obviate this a thicker-than-oil lubricant must be used, and doing so considerably quietens the running.

Every birth
—every death
—every marriage
is an argument in favor of Life Insurance.

A CHILD, for example, is a visitor always given a glad welcome to the home, but it also brings a responsibility and demands protection. A Mutual Policy protects the "little one."

When death visits a home and the husband and father is taken, life insurance protection immediately becomes an invaluable defence for the stricken household. A Mutual Policy will save the home.

Wedding bells also suggest life insurance. The newly-made wife must not be left to be cared for by friends in the event of her husband being unexpectedly taken from her. A Mutual Policy is an ideal wedding gift.

Moreover a policy should be taken in The Mutual Life of Canada to cover any indebtedness that may have been incurred in purchasing the home; the Company has saved many Canadian homes. A Mutual Policy pays off the mortgage.

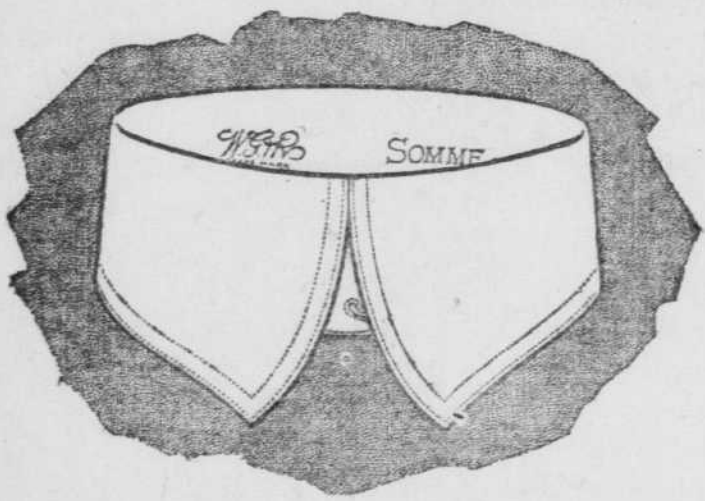

For young men who desire to save money, an endowment policy payable to themselves, at the end of a given period, is a golden investment—payable in full to the estate if death occurs prior to maturity. A Mutual Endowment is a gift-edge investment.

THE ONLOOKER COMMENTS

Just Now Feeling the War

It is wonderful what one can do without, if necessary. Letters coming from Canadians in England tell of the food restrictions and the absolute absence of potatoes, and many other articles. All state, however, that they have enough and feel no ill effects.

A shortage of potatoes, therefore, need cause no alarm as long as substitutes are available. It has been said that if everybody would stop eating potatoes for one week, the million bushel surplus which the minister of agriculture speaks about would come from hiding places and the markets would be overstocked.

The people of Canada are only now beginning to feel the effects of the war in their daily life. They will do well to adjust their minds to a right consideration of their actual needs. If they do this the sacrifices will be easier to bear and it is not likely that there will be any serious lack of the "essentials" in this country.

Votes for Women

Governments in all lands appear to be yielding to the demands for women's suffrage. The announcement at Ottawa this week indicates the possibility that women throughout Canada will participate in the next general elections.

The part women are taking in the war, more than anything else, has won them recognition in the world of politics. The services of the women of Canada to the cause are second only to those of their sons on the firing line and their sacrifices are even greater.

They have earned their right to full equality with man in directing the affairs of the country.

The Larger View

The extraordinary events of the last few years should have removed the local or provincial viewpoint from the minds of all people considering themselves worthy Canadians. Until the war, in which we are participants, is ended, our country's future is in doubt. We are in the midst of happenings, greater in calamity than anything in written history. And yet continually recurring incidents prove how slowly certain minds broaden to the significance of the moment.

Two recent occurrences illustrate this lack of proper appreciation. Previous to their meeting in Sherbrooke Col. Blondin and Gen. Lessard held a recruiting gathering in Montreal. Among the speakers were men in uniform, who had seen service at the front. The meeting was a disorderly one. The audience heckled the speakers continually, and paid no heed to the fact that men in their country's uniform, men who had fought for Canada, were addressing them. That each and every disturber at that meeting should have been arrested as disloyal is undoubtedly true. No country can allow men who have fought for her, and who wear her uniform, to be treated disrespectfully, or insultingly, and no more decisive proof of the need for conscription could be shown than in the Blondin-Lessard meeting in Montreal. Young men who jeer the uniformed soldier, returned from the war, should be disciplined, or interned. The soldier who has fought that such as these might enjoy freedom, may well regard them with derisive bitterness.

Still again we find the provincial viewpoint in a very different quarter. Last Sunday Marshal Joffre, of France, visited Montreal. He stood, a hero, among hundreds of our wounded, he gave us a word of greeting, but already he had given us freedom, at the least a long respite, from German domination, for his was the strategy to which we owe our fighting chance to defeat Germany today. And the day after his visit to Montreal there was a public protest because his visit interfered with certain church services of that city. That Montreal with its churches, stands intact today, unravaged by an enemy, is probably due more to Marshal Joffre than to any one man. Surely God could not think it unbecomingly for worshippers in His churches to turn aside to thank a good Samaritan of their country, for gracious services and noble deeds in that country's behalf.

A Critical Time

The Russian situation continues to hold the attention of the world. The United States and France have particular interest in the upholding of a sister republic in its tedious struggle to force order from the existing chaos, and the government of the former country has loaned a hundred million to the Russian provisional government, and is also despatching an American mission to Russia. In its struggle to maintain the newly-established form of government Russia finds her enemy is now insidious in offerings of all kinds of desirable peace. Germany openly admits her desire for a separate peace with Russia, and has demoralized certain sections of the army by promises and presents. Such a peace the Duma will not consider, but other forces are undermining the republican spirit.

Less than four centuries ago 37,000 square miles of the Tsardom of Muscovy was the beginning of that enormous country, lately known as the Russian Empire. Today Russia contains one-seventh of the land surface of the globe, situated partly in Europe, partly in Asia. Under autocratic rule, with its desire for expansion, Russia has become formidable among nations, and her enormous territory was bequeathed, with all its wealth, to the Republican Russia that "totters on its throne" today. Unfortunately democratic Russia has thousands upon thousands of her people who can neither read nor write, and to whom liberty means license, the right to steal what they can, and break the laws if they will.

Russia's eight million and more square miles of country, to be governed in a night by a government harassed by many opponents, is sure to be left ungoverned in places, and here the enemies, external and internal, are crowding in. In peace a revolutionary Russia would be a task for a genius; in war the task seems too gigantic to be carried through. Russia, the republic, is threateningly near destruction. An uneducated people must have a dictator, until education has taught them the primary lessons of self-government. Since 1812 Russia's thoughtful reformers have worked for and dreamed of the Russian Republic. Now that they have won freedom will it slip their hands and take with it as it falls, the liberty of the world?

Never before has a country held its own, and the world's destiny, so completely in its power, as the new democracy of Russia. We wait, we hope, we believe, she cannot fail in this strenuous hour.

MAIMED SOLDIERS DELIGHT ROYALTY

Their Cheerfulness and the Wonderful Artificial Limbs Amaze King and Queen—A Happy Canadian

The King and Queen spent two very interesting hours at the Queen Mary Auxiliary Hospital for Limbless Soldiers and Sailors at Rehampton. Patients with artificial hands and arms showed how they were learning to use them. Private E. G. Fisher, of the 1st West Ontario Regiment, achieved what he declared afterwards to have been his ambition. "Can you shake hands?" asked the Queen.

"Try me, your Majesty," promptly replied the Canadian soldier. So the Queen shook hands with him and laughed merrily, despite the very convincing grip of the artificial hand.

"How did you lose your leg?" the King asked Mr. A. E. Thomas, the manager of one department, who had an artificial limb. "A horse reared and fell back upon me, sir," replied Mr. Thomas.

"You have my deep sympathy," said the King. "It was the sort of mishap I experienced in France, though not with such a serious result."

Makes Legs Now

Corporal Jones, 1st Coldstream Guards, who can walk firmly and quickly with artificial legs, said he lost his legs at Givenchy in 1914. "And now I am helping to make artificial legs for my comrades."

"Perfectly wonderful!" declared the King as he saw one owner of a dummy leg run and jump. Their Majesties watched a curious parade of "leg cases." They stood in the centre of the old dining hall and a large party of convalescent men walked round them to show how well they were getting used to their artificial legs. The King and Queen stopped the parade from time to time to ask patients how they met with their injuries, how long they had had their new limbs, and other questions.

Cheerful and Modest

In the workrooms their Majesties saw a company of cheery basket makers. One of them shyly offered the Queen an apple basket he had just made. Her Majesty, in thanking him for the gift, complimented him on his skill, but he modestly declared that "Foreman Hardy" made the foundation of most of the baskets, because he was very clever at piercing the holes and threading the first thread, although he had only the left arm to work with.

Not once did the King and Queen hear an expression of complaint or regret. "It might have been worse still," said a young soldier cheerfully, sitting erect in a chair, he described to the King how he had lost both legs at Loos.

OPINIONS OF WALL STREET

Reaction in Market Was Unexpected and Was Due to Many Causes.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The reaction in the stock market yesterday afternoon was rather unexpected and appeared to be due to a variety of causes, the principal one of which was probably that the market had gone up very fast for several days and a certain amount of profit taking was to have been expected. A considerable part of the short interest has been eliminated by the rise and the technical condition was consequently that much weaker. The recurrence of unsettling rumors in regard to Russia was very vague. The action of the secretary of the treasury in raising the interest rate to 3 1/2 per cent on the latest offering of government certificates of indebtedness is a step in the right direction.

DAIRY PRODUCE

BUTTER PRICES MAINTAINED.

Montreal, May 19.

The butter market during the past week has been somewhat irregular, but on the whole prices have been fairly well sustained, owing to current receipts being only about equal to meet daily requirements, dealers stating that their boards during the past week have been cleared of fresh receipts from day to day, and until production increases to a point that will leave a surplus, receivers do not look for any great change in values. At St. Hyacinthe on Saturday prices declined 1 1/2 c to 40 c, but this was attributed to a depreciation in quality.

A lot of 50 pkgs. of an Eastern Township factory grading finest was sold at 42 1/2 c, delivered here, results of which were made to grocers at 43 c to 43 1/2 c. Owing to the late spring and the fact that the butter up to the present has been mostly all fodder made, prices have kept up remarkably well. The few lots of Ontario creamery butter so far received have been of excellent quality and have brought fully as good prices as could be obtained for Eastern Township creamery. A lot of fresh Western dairy was sold at 36 1/2 c.

CHEESE MARKET UNSATISFACTORY.

Montreal, May 19.

The market is in a very unsatisfactory condition and will remain so until the Cheese Commission have received instruction from the Imperial Government. A lot of 2,000 boxes of Quebec cheese, however, were sold at Gould's Cold Storage on Tuesday last at 22 c, f.o.b. country points; and the first business to be done on the country boards within the past three weeks was in Peterboro, when on Wednesday last all the offerings consisting of 117 boxes of cheese were sold at 21 1/2 to 22 c, equal to about 22 1/2 c, laid down here, which is 2 1/2 c, per lb. above prices paid at this time last year. Whether or not the Peterboro price was arrived at by agreement with the Cheese Commission is not stated. In any event, however, it is hoped it may form a basis upon which the held over cheese may be moved, although it still conforms to the strong market in New York where finest fresh whole milk cheese sells at 25 c, to 26 c; but this, it is presumed, represents the home, and not the export trade. Cheese are still going forward from New York, 22,700 boxes being shipped from that port last week, a portion of which were Canadian goods.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

Montreal, May 19.

Eggs—Another week of high prices in the country has been experienced at the average rate of 40c. f.o.b. for fresh gathered, a higher figure having been paid in exceptional cases. Round lots have been sold to packers here at 42c, and in some instances 43c, has been paid, one dealer admitting that he paid that figure, as he wanted the eggs for the local trade; and he said that if he had not bought them they would have gone into the hands of an exporter at the same figure.

Beans—The market remains firm under continued light stocks. Rangsons sell at $7.50 to $7.75 per bushel as to quality. Yellow eyes are also quoted at $7.50 to $7.75. Japans are quoted at $7 to $7.25.

Potatoes—The market remains firm with sales reported in a wholesale jobbing way at $4 per bag for Quebec white, and $3.75 for Quebec reds.

Maple Products—Car lots of sugar are held at 12c, per lb. Syrup is steady and sales are reported of choice in 12 lb. tins at $2 per gallon, and fair to good quality at $1.50 to $1.75. In small jobbing lots sales of sugar to the local trade were made at 14c to 15c, per pound.

Honey—The market is quiet but with business reported at 14 1/2 c to 15c, for white clover in comb. Strained white clover honey in 30 lb. tins, 12c to 12 1/2 c. Brown honey in comb, 11 1/2 c to 12c. Buckwheat, 10c to 11c.

SHERBROOKE MARKET PRICES

Another Advance in Eggs and Butter. Potatoes up to $3.20, Very Few Sold Except For Seeding.

The price of eggs was further advanced at this morning's market to 42-44 cents per dozen. Dealers claim that the higher prices are due to scarcity and the fact that Montreal cold storage houses are paying 38-40c delivered at country depots.

Dairy butter has also advanced a few cents, selling this morning at 42-44c. The reason given is that large quantities of cream are being shipped to various creameries at good prices.

Potatoes remained firm at $3. to $3.20. The quantity offered for sale was smaller than last week and the majority of those sold were bought for seeding purposes. Prominent farmers claim that there is a real shortage of potatoes in this section of the country, but admit that when seeding is over the cost will be reduced.

A few lines of fruit are cheaper, but otherwise the general high prices are maintained.

IF it is a duty—

to economize in the use of food—IF it is essential to increase the volume of food production—IF it is imperative to make the most of Canada's raw materials—

THEN WE HAVE NOT THE SLIGHTEST HESITATION, not the smallest scruple of false modesty, in asserting that no plan, whether for helping the farmer to get labor, or cultivating back yards, or advancing seed-money to the Canadian farmer can do as much, as cheaply, as quickly and of as great permanent value to Nation and Empire, as can the British Cattle Supply Company.

YOU KNOW THE PRICE OF BEEF. You know the importance of maintaining that supply not only for our armies, but for our people. You know how the breeding herds, through neglect or by act of war, or for lack of capital, have been reduced to a dangerous margin. Not only are these things true, but—while we talk about meatless days—while Eastern Canadian farmers are sacrificing their young cattle to Americans because they haven't money to feed them during an Eastern Canadian winter—thousands upon thousands of acres, millions upon millions of tons of the best cattle feed in the world is absolutely unused—wasted in our Canadian West, Alberta.

This Company is now growing cattle, and will continue to build up its breeding herds, purchase and "finish" unfinished animals on Alberta grass (the best finishing feed in the world) and to combat the beef shortage as a matter of profitable business. We have already $2,500,000 paid up capital, consisting—not of promotion stock or water—but in part of 492,000 acres of grass land, in part of 1,600 of the best breeding cattle and in part of several well-managed ranches already in operation.

Ask any stock-raiser—or, if you are a stock-raiser, ask yourself—how much money he could make if he could winter his cattle outdoors, if he could provide the best of winter feed in unlimited quantities, for the mere cost of putting it up, and if that feed was of such a quality that it equalled the expensive "distillery feed" of Eastern Canada as a finisher.* He will tell you that (even with normal beef prices) even without these advantages he could make good profit if he had the capital to carry his stock.

THEN, HOW MUCH MORE can be made—How much greater and better production can be achieved through a comprehensive and efficient organization under the direction of the most experienced cattle men in the Dominion, using the cheapest and best land, co-ordinating all their efforts toward raising cheaply and marketing with a minimum of loss? Communicate with any Branch in Canada of the Royal Bank of Canada, or write or call at the Company's head office for application blanks or prospectus. Shares, $100 (par), 40% on allotment, 30% in 12 months, and 30% in 18 months.

WE THINK IT IS NOT ONLY GOOD BUSINESS, but good citizenship to try to increase the scope of our operations to a maximum. We are offering the balance of our capital stock—not at a discount, but as a straight business opportunity. WE can give employment to your capital. You can do a practical thing toward helping reduce the food shortage and at the same time make money. Your investment will be no less patriotic because it has enormous possibilities of profit.

CHICAGO IS BATTLING WAY TO THE LEAD

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

CHICAGO, May 19.—Batting their way to the lead of the National League, with only one player, a pitcher, hitting 300, the driving power of the Chicago team is one of the baseball puzzles today. Averages show that Ruether, Chicago, is batting 370, with Jack Smith St. Louis, leading the list with 444. Chicago is behind New York and Philadelphia in team batting. The averages include games of last Wednesday. Leading hitters:

Jack Smith, St. Louis, 444; Wilhoit, Boston, 393; Griffith, Cincinnati, 381; Ruether, Chicago, 370. After being displaced for a week, this speaker is back in the lead for hitting honors among the regulars.

In the American League with an average of 337, Rumber, the St. Louis pinch hitter, is out in front with an average of 444, but he has only made nine trips to the plate in thirteen games.

St. Louis is leading in club batting with an average of 294. Leading batters: Rumber, St. Louis, 444; Billings, Cleveland, 429; Speaker, Cleveland, 337; Unsworth, Chicago, 333; Strunk, Philadelphia, 326.

LITTLE MISS MUFFIT

If there's anything I do despise," said little Dorothy, "it's picky and crawling things—specially spiders!"

"You must be like little Miss Muffit who sat on a tuft," remarked her young Uncle Bob, who was just back from college.

"Want to see her run?" cried Brother Jack, teasingly. "Just wait a minute!"

He took a stick and was just about to lift a big, fat spider out of its web—(what a mean thing he was, to be sure!)—when Uncle Bob stopped him.

"Hold on there!" he cried. "Don't you go to disturb my old friend, Mrs. Meadow Spider!"

"He'd better not," cried Dorothy, tearfully. "I'll tell mother!"

"Good morning, Mrs. Meadow Spider!" said Uncle Bob, doffing his hat and making a deep bow, which made both children laugh.

The spider, who had been hanging upside down, suddenly began to shake her web, as hard as she could, faster and faster, until one could scarcely see her at all.

"She's saying 'how-de-do,'" remarked Uncle Bob. "Now she's stopped. Come near, Dorothy, I want you to meet her."

"Oh, I can't!" protested the little girl, with a shudder. "It might jump down my back!"

"No! No!" laughed Uncle Bob. "Of course not. She's not going to leave her comfortable, little house. See her little winding stairs!"

"Where?" asked Dorothy, for she'd heard the story of the "Spider and the Fly."

"See that white zigzag line going up the middle?" said Uncle Bob, pointing. "You can always tell Mrs. Meadow Spider's house by her little winding stair. She always makes it like that, and spins a round mat in the middle to sit on."

"Oh, yes!" cried Dorothy with interest. "She's a pretty one too," remarked Jack.

"Yes," said Uncle Bob. "Mrs. Meadow Spider is always neat and pretty. She wears a silver-gray blouse, a yellow skirt spotted with black—very tasty indeed—and orange-colored stockings."

"Has she any family?" asked Dorothy, looking around.

"I shouldn't wonder," replied Uncle Bob, "but she keeps her children in the nursery. Look around and help me find it."

"What is it like?" asked Jack, looking down at the ground then up in the sky.

"It's shaped round at one end and pointed at the other and it's white," replied Uncle Bob. "It's hanging in the grass. Several blades of grass are fastened together to make a nice tent over it. There ought to be one around here somewhere."

The children ran about looking eagerly in the grass. "Who finds it first? Who finds it first?" they cried.

"I've found it!" exclaimed Dorothy. "It's a tiny one though!"

"Of course it's tiny," said Uncle Bob, coming quickly to the spot, "we're in Tiny Town now."

"Let's see it," said Jack. "Sure enough, there hung the little said Dorothy, reverently. "Just so," replied her Uncle. "Mrs. Meadow Spider just builds her nest the best she knows how and puts it in the safest place she can find, then she trusts Mother Nature to bring out her little Spiderlings and take good care of them."

"I guess maybe Mother Nature wouldn't like us to open Mrs. Meadow Spider's nest and see what it's like inside," said Jack, who was of nest in the grass, just as Uncle Bob had said it would.

"Don't you think Mrs. Meadow Spider feels worried about her babies?" asked Dorothy, who was a thoughtful little girl.

"Oh, I don't think so," replied Uncle Bob. "You see, she depends a lot on Mother Nature. Mother Nature attends to most everything for little wild folks. She provides nuts for the squirrels, and nice grubs for moles and leaves for caterpillars—"

"Ugh!" exclaimed Dorothy, with a shiver.

"And cozy, little brooks for tadpoles," went on Uncle Bob, paying no attention to Dorothy. "So Mrs. Meadow Spider depends on Mother Nature to take care of her babies."

"Just like people depend on God," an inquiring turn of mind, and once took the clock apart, to "see the wheels go 'round."

"The eggs would die if we did," said Uncle Bob, "but to teach you how interesting and clever Mrs. Meadow Spider is, I could open this one."

Uncle Bob then took the nest out of the grass, and sitting down on a stump, he gently cut it with his penknife, while the children looked on quite breathless with interest.

"You see," explained Uncle Bob, "the nest is shiny and varnished on the outside to keep the rain out, so the eggs will be all dry and snug. Under the varnish is yellow velvet, see? Isn't that pretty?"

"Where'd she get it?" asked Dorothy, breathlessly.

thy, breathlessly. "Not in a store, you may be sure!" replied Uncle Bob. "She got it—Guess!"

"She spun it," cried Jack. "That's right," Uncle Bob said. "Spun it herself."

"My gracious!" exclaimed Dorothy. "I wish I could spin velvet."

"I'm glad you can't," said Jack. "We'd be having velvet all over the house and Mother'd make me wear a velvet suit, like as not!"

"Don't worry," laughed Uncle Bob. "Dorothy isn't going to spin velvet in a hurry. Now, look! Inside the yellow velvet bag what do we find? Purple silk!"

"Oh, oh!" cried Dorothy. "Clever Mrs. Meadow Spider!"

"That's a blanket," went on Uncle Bob. "Next is a cushion and next a white, silk sheet wrapped around the little, yellow eggs—hundreds of eggs."

"Hundreds!" echoed the children in surprise.

"Yes, hundreds," said Uncle Bob. "How would you like to have a hen like Mrs. Meadow Spider?"

"It's like it!" cried Jack. "I'd soon be a millionaire!"

"Oh, I'm getting quite fond of the lady!" exclaimed Dorothy. "Will she sting?"

"Not if you leave her alone," replied Uncle Bob. "She's an independent old body, minds her own business, and doesn't like people to interfere."

"I believe I see another Mrs. Meadow Spider," called Jack, for he was strolling around. "Yes, I see her little, winding stair."

"Oh, let me see her!" cried Dorothy, running forward.

Uncle Bob smiled, saying to himself: "She isn't little Miss Muffit any more!"

LICE IRONED INTO LIFE

Laundresses of French Convent Tried to be Kind to Soldiers

A surgeon writes: The following story will illustrate the vitality of these nasty little beasts of lice. Our Field Ambulance once stopped at a small town in Northern France and was billeted in a French convent. The good sisters allowed us the use of the schoolrooms, the kitchen, and some of the bedrooms. All the officers were anxious to get their shirts and linen washed. The laundrywoman duly appeared and boiled all these articles, and the sisters ironed them for us. On the afternoon of the ironing the Mother Superior and two sisters came to us in a state of excitement, talking rapidly, and evidently overcome with amazement. They explained that our shirts had been boiled and then dried in the open air. When they began to iron the necks of our shirts the lice sprang to life and were exceedingly active. They assured us solemnly that scores sprang to active life under the comfortable warmth of the hot iron.

I do not doubt the story. The heat had matured the chitinous envelope in which the young lice lay, and out they came, joyous, active and sportive on the nice warm surface. Hence the amazement, the uplifted hands, and the consternation of the good sisters. The riddle of the extermination of lice has not yet been solved completely, but measures are in active progress towards that end.

APPRECIATE ENGLAND

Generosity of Nation at War Amazes a Neutral

The Philadelphia Ledger said: No one who sees an English newspaper can fail to be impressed with the generous energy of the English people, even at this time of trial, for causes not their own. They have their share of suffering from the war to bear; wounded and crippled soldiers returning home, families in straits because the breadwinner is away, incomes reduced by heavy taxes. The demand on their resources and on their sympathies is very great. Yet they are working quite as zealously as Americans, who are at a safe distance from the conflict, for the victims of German ambitions in other lands. They are raising funds and giving personal service for their allies almost as if they were at peace.

Shop Or War Office? A commercial traveller entered a shop in a certain North of England town, the other day and asked for the senior partner. "Colonel—is not here to-day," came the reply. He then asked for the junior partner.

"Major—is at the front," was the firm response. "Then can I see Mr. —?" asked the traveller.

"Captain—is undergoing military training at the moment," chanted the responder. The traveller rubbed his eyes wearily. "Tell me," he murmured, "am I in a draper's shop or the War Office?"

THE LARGEST CUSTOM TAILORS IN CANADA

Not Generally Known That the Semi-ready Company Make Individual Suits to Measure for Their Customers.

The Semi-ready Company have a Special Order Department, which has grown to truly wonderful proportions. As many as 200 orders come to their tailoring shops in a single day from all parts of Canada for individual suits to be made to custom measure. These orders are taken at the various Semi-ready stores in Canada and are for customers who cannot find in the stores the particular style or pattern which pleases them, but who do like some cloth pattern which they see in another garment.

These "Special Order" suits, as they were christened by the Semi-ready Company twenty years ago, are made to measure as truly as though one went to a retail custom tailor shop. They are made by reason of the efficiency methods which can be introduced into a great wholesale system. Right at the start a saving of from $3 to $5 is made in the cost of the cloth as compared with the same cost to a retail establishment. Then the team system of tailoring, only possible in a large organization, effects other savings.

Suits are made to special order within five days. They go through the shop on a schedule time just as an express train travels across the continent. A suit can be had to measure for $18, made from imported British woolsens, whilst a customer may prefer more expensive woolsens from Botany and Saxony wools, are shown in charming patterns at $30, $35 and $40. The selection is more varied in both price and pattern than even a wholesale woolen warehouse can show. This department has grown to such proportions that the English Semi-ready Company in Bradford devote much time to buying special cloths for the Special Order tailoring.

The Fashion portfolio published by the Semi-ready Company shows in minute detail the lines of over 35 different styles in suits and overcoats. There are business suits in 20 different styles, 6 styles in outing pinbacks and Norfolk suits, 3 styles in morning coats and frock coats, four styles in dress suits, 7 styles in clerical coats, and four spring overcoats styles, besides the plates showing ten vest styles, three trouser styles and various shaped coat backs. Each measure for a custom-made suit is taken on a physiologic chart which gives the cutter a physiologic photograph of his customer, just as clearly as though he stood before him.

McMurray & Hall, Lennoxville, can show just as wide a range of Semi-ready suitings as any Montreal store. They say that one of the new styles in the Semi-ready Boys' Suits is to be called "Lennoxville." Most of the boys from Quebec Province are outfitted at the Semi-ready stores since the "High School Clothes" were made in the Semi-ready shapes.

MASSAWIPPI

The passing away of the late Dwight Paul, has left "a vacant chair and place" in the home. The family have the sympathy of all in their bereavement. The funeral service was held at the church by Rev. Mr. Kerr, of Hatley; and interment took place at Fairfax, where their former residence has been, the two sons, and two sons-in-law of the deceased, were the bearers. Beautiful flowers were laid upon the casket, and many relatives and friends gathered to render their last respects to the departed. During the short few years that Mr. Paul has lived among here he had won and held the esteem of all as a friendly man and kind neighbor. He was quite advanced in years, being 79. His last days were days of intense suffering, alleviated all possible by the ministrations of his family and kind neighbors.

Mr. H. Paul and Mr. E. Paul, who came to attend the funeral of their father, have returned to Boston. Mr. E. Hovey, of Rock Island at Mr. S. Colt's on Thursday; Mr. A. Gibson, of Stanstead, in town Thursday; Mrs. G. Kezar, who has spent the winter in Jamaica, N. Y., is expected home Saturday; Mrs. H. Edson to Newport for the day; Mr. and Mrs. Tweed, of Hatley, C. P., visitors at Mr. L. Stebbins' Friday; H. D. Turcotte and family, at Elm cottage Sunday; Mrs. G. Colby, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Hurd of Ayer's Cliff, callers on Mrs. J. Ayer, Sunday; Mr. and Mrs. H. Ayer at Greenbank, Sunday.
Mrs. J. Ayer is slowly gaining from her recent attack of illness and can sit up a portion of the day.
The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. J. Colt on Wednesday, who was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. H. Edson, and Mrs. Luke Colt, a nice tea being served. The election of officers resulted in the continuation of the old staff, namely, Mrs. L. Hovey, president; Mrs. L. Colt, 1st vice-president; Mrs. W. Frappied, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. E. St. Dizier, corresponding and recording secretary; and Mrs. T. N. St. Dizier, treasurer. The addition of three new members, Mrs. L. Colt, Mrs. J. Colt, and Mrs. P. Albee, was a pleasant feature of the afternoon, and brings the membership up to 23. Each one was put in charge of a department of work, by doubling up in a few of them and the union will start out the coming year with increased vigor. The outlook grows brighter in Quebec Province for prohibition.

BREAD FAMINE IN ATHENS

All Other Foodstuffs Are Scarce, and Prices Are Exorbitant.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
LONDON, May 19 (noon).—In addition to the bread famine that prevails in Athens, there is a great scarcity of all other foodstuffs, Reuters correspondent at Athens telegraphs under yesterday's date. Since Thursday scarcely any meats or vegetables have been on the market, and the small existing stocks are selling at exorbitant prices, making the condition of the poorer classes pitiable. Disturbances that threaten to assume alarming proportions are constantly taking place, says the correspondent, who attributes the deplorable economic situation in large measure to the cornering of provisions by unscrupulous speculators.

PARIS, May 19.—Only three French merchantmen were sunk by submarines in the week ended May 13, according to official announcement yesterday. During that period 952 vessels entered French ports and 991 departed.

OTTAWA, May 19.—If negotiations for a settlement of the difficulties in the Western mining areas prove unavailing, the mines will not be shut down. "The Government will see to it that they are run all right," remarked Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, today.

20,104 CASUALTIES SINCE APRIL 9.

CANADIANS KEPT ENEMY ON THE JUMP

Patrols Bombed Enemy Trenches and Inflicted Considerable Casualties.

BY STEWART LYON
(Canadian Press Representative in France)

CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, May 19.—Following up yesterday's bombardment of the electric station at Avion, patrols from the division holding our line at this point explored the enemy's position. His trenches were found to be heavily manned in evident anticipation of the attack. The patrols bombed them, and in view of their crowded condition must have inflicted considerable casualties.

Throughout the night the enemy was restless on the sector to the left of the Canadians. His guns put up a heavy barrage on the front held by the British as well as the Canadians west of Lens. Berlin will doubtless report that another desperate attack on the defenses of Lens has been repulsed, whereas the whole affair consisted of one small raid by the British and patrol engagements by two Canadians.

The morale of the enemy on this front is suffering under the fire of our heavy artillery.

DISCUSS HIGH PRICES OF PROVISIONS

Council of Board of Trade Holds Meeting in This Connection.

MAY ADOPT RESOLUTION FAVORING DOMINION FOOD CONTROL LEGISLATION—LOCAL MARKET CONDITIONS.

The Council of the Board of Trade held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the office, the special object of the meeting being to consider what might be done in the way of making representations to the Government with regard to the control of food supply. The latest advance in the price of bread was considered as quite unnecessary, but the bakers of the city complain that it is beyond their control. The question of what measures might be recommended for the Government to adopt was discussed at some length, and finally a committee composed of Messrs. C. W. Cate, V. E. Morrill and F. Fortin were appointed to give the matter consideration and make a report. It was considered that this subject will likely be discussed at the National Convention next week, and the committee might be guided by this discussion.

SHERBROOKE MARKET.

It was felt that conditions in Sherbrooke with regard to the price of produce might be improved if some reforms were introduced at the local market, and if the farmers were given a better opportunity to offer their products to the citizens. It was pointed out that a great number of the vendors at the Sherbrooke Market were not farmers but speculators who buy up the goods from the farmers and sell them on the market. This matter was referred to the Civic Improvement Committee, and Mr. J. Nicol was added to the committee, with the request that he give the matter special study. Definite recommendations will be made to the City Council in connection with the Sherbrooke Market and the question of encouraging the farmer to sell produce in the city.

ENEMY SUB. SANK BRITISH TRANSPORT

Torpedoed in the Mediterranean and 140 Men Are Reported to Have Been Lost.

LONDON, May 17.—(Delayed)—The British Admiralty issues the following statement for the newspapers of Saturday: "The British transport Cameronia with troops was torpedoed by an enemy submarine in the eastern Mediterranean on April 15. One hundred and forty men are missing and are presumed to have been drowned."

MANY SOLDIERS WERE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
LONDON, May 19.—The survivors of the Cameronia say the vessel was torpedoed in fine, calm weather, in the afternoon. The submarine was not seen.

A large number of the casualties were due to the explosion of the torpedo, which struck where there happened to be many soldiers. There was some excitement and confusion at the outset after the torpedo had struck, but discipline soon prevailed. The boats were smartly launched, but one of them was smashed, and many lives were lost. The Cameronia was afloat for forty minutes after she was torpedoed, which enabled torpedo-destroyers to run alongside the wounded vessel. Soldiers from the Cameronia jumped on these boats in disciplined succession. The destroyers ceased taking on board men as soon as they had obtained their full complement. Many men from the Cameronia who jumped into the water, were picked up by the boats.

NAVAL BATTLE IN ADRIATIC

Allied Warships Forced Austrian Vessels to Seek Shelter.

LONDON, May 19.—The British Admiralty announced yesterday that fourteen drifters had been sunk in a raid by Austrian light cruisers in the Adriatic Sea, and that the British light cruiser Dartmouth was torpedoed in a subsequent engagement with the Austrian warships, but reached port safely. The Admiralty stated that the British warships Dartmouth and Bristol pursued the Austrian vessels to a point near Cattaro, when battleships came to their assistance and the British vessels were compelled to withdraw. The text of the statement reads: "The Admiralty announces that from reports received from the Rear-Admiral commanding the Adriatic squadron, supplemented by the Italian official communication, it appears that early Tuesday morning an Austrian force, consisting of light cruisers, subsequently reinforced by destroyers, raided the Allied drifter line and succeeded in sinking fourteen British drifters, from which, according to the Austrian communication, 72 prisoners were taken."

CONSCRIPTION FOR CANADA

nounced by Sir Robert Borden was expressed last night by several representative men.

Sir Wm. Heerst, Premier of Ontario, said: "I am very pleased to know that conscription has been introduced." Sir William has two sons in the army.

"Everything in this district," said General Logie "is in splendid shape for such a measure. It is what the military men have been waiting for several months past."

With regard to equipment, General Logie stated that this district has large supplies on hand which have been brought in within the past few months.

President R. A. Falconer of the University of Toronto said: "I am glad indeed to know that Sir Robert Borden has introduced the bill. I have felt for a long time that it was the only fair and right thing to do."

150 MISSING AFTER WRECK OF SHIP

Sailing Ship Standard Went on the Shoals in Bristol Bay, Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—More than 150 men are missing, following the wrecking of the three-masted ship Standard of the Libby, McNeill and Libby Cannery fleet, on the shoals of Cape Constantine, Bristol Bay, Alaska, according to messages received by the United States naval radio station at Goat Island.

The men are adrift in lifeboats. Only 29 men had been picked up when the last despatches were received. The exact number of those missing cannot be ascertained, until the uncertainty as to the number of cannery employees aboard can be cleared. One report here is that 150 persons in all were on the vessel, but the Seattle despatch asserts there were 150 crew men, in addition to the crew of 77.

The Standard was under command of Capt. C. Christianson. She left here April 5, carrying new employees to the canneries on Bristol Bay.

TO RUSH MUNITIONS AND SUPPLIES TO RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, May 19.—All available American ships, seized German liners and all the ships Great Britain can spare from her own needs probably will soon be carrying war munitions and great quantities of railroad supplies to Russia.

As part of the united effort to hold fast the Russian provisional government against German influences and encourage a Russian military offensive, the Allied war committees are making preparations to furnish the necessary transportation for supplies to properly equip and maintain the Russian armies.

In addition to supplying war munitions, the important railway leading from Archangel is to be equipped with American locomotives and freight cars to bring it to its fullest degree of efficiency in moving the great quantities of material which will pour in during the five months the port is free from ice.

Lantic Sugar

Has Nothing to Hide

Now that the Government has absolutely prohibited the use of any artificial coloring matter in sugar, We tell you again that we have NEVER USED BEETS NEVER USED ULTRAMARINE BLUE NEVER USED ANILINE DYES NEVER USED VEGETABLE DYES in refining any of our sugars.

The Lantic Pure Cane Sugar you buy today is exactly the same high quality as what you bought when our refinery started two years ago. This means every pound in the hands of your grocer is pure and uncolored.

So why take chances? Why not insist on having Lantic—the sugars that have always been pure—and cost no more than any other?

You should exercise the same care and discrimination in buying sugar, as in choosing any other food. The way to guard against inferior quality is to demand Lantic Pure Cane Sugar, which is guaranteed pure and wholesome. Lantic Sugar has nothing to hide. It comes from the most modern refinery in the world. So great is the demand for Lantic Sugar that we are now refining three quarters of a million pounds a day. This shows what the people of Canada—and particularly those who want pure food—think of this absolutely pure food product.

HELPLESS VESSELS ATTACKED IN THE ADRIATIC

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
LONDON, May 19.—Naval commentators in the London morning papers regard the fight in the Adriatic as a raiding dash of the kind that the Germans have made familiar in the North Sea. Similar raids have been previously made in the Straits of Otranto with some success, notably last July and December. The drifters, it is said, are used as watch vessels, but their tonnage and class is not stated. They are described as helpless against an attack by destroyers.

Horses MORE HORSES

Just received this morning a fine lot of draft and general purpose horses. Some beautiful farm mares.
