PM defends democracy, federalism in Canada

QUEBEC (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau defended democracy and federalism before an audience of junior colleges students Monday in a one-day visit to the Quebec City region.

Relaxed and informal with his tie loosened and collar open, the prime minister fielded questions ranging from bilingualism to his government's policy on marijuana.

The visit marked the sixth anniversary of Mr. Trudeau's election to Parliament in the federal general election of Nov. 8, 1965.

To a student who questioned his use of the word "democracy," Mr. Trudeau quoted Winston Churchill's statement that democracy is the worst form of government "except for all the others."

The student had asked for the prime minister's definition of democracy in face of an anti-demonstration bylaw in Montreal, use of the War Measures Act last year, and the fact that the separatist Parti Quebecois polled more than 20 per cent of the popular vote in the last Quebec election but won less than 10 per cent of the seats in the Quebec national assembly.

Mr. Trudeau said democracy has its imperfections and doesn't always please everyone, but provides a mechanism for change through discussion rather than by threats.

The student's freedom to question the system was an exercise in democracy, he said. And although the Canadian democratic system sometimes produced distortions such as the Parti Quebecois representation in Quebec province, it was the system of representation chosen by most countries because it was both the simplest and the most stable in times of change.

The prime minister entered the gymnasium at the Levis-Lauxon junior college to warm applause and a scattering of boos.

Questioned by a linguistics teacher about the federal government's bilingualism policies, Mr. Trudeau said they were intended to protect minority languages—English in Quebec and French in primarily English-speaking provinces. French would remain a living language in North America if the French-speaking population was strong and vigorous.

The prime minister agreed with a questioner that French is economically less important than English, but this was "not strictly the fault of the English."

He pointed to Jews and central Europeans as groups which in some cases had become economically strong by being vigorous in economic activity and not wasting time worrying about nationalism.

Labor political extremists scored

QUEBEC (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau and Jean Marchand, regional economic expansion minister, attacked the "cowardice of union leaders who exploit the workers for political ends," at a banquet here Monday night.

Meanwhile, outside the community centre where 2,500 Liberal party supporters attended the banquet, about 100 people demonstrated in support of the Lapalme mail truck drivers who lost their jobs on Montreal Island when a post office trucking contract was re-assigned in 1970.

Inside, Mr. Marchand said the Confederation of National Trade Unions wanted to create a myth about the Lapalme affair.

The Lapalme drivers were being used by certain union leaders who, Mr. Marchand said, "did not have the courage to contest an election for political ends, as I did."

Mr. Marchand refused to believe there are 600,000 unemployed in the country as reported in the latest statistics.

He didn't doubt the statistics but the level of unemployment had been "increased considerably by the arrival on the employment market of young people and women" who join the ranks of the unemployed before they ever find a job.

Mr. Trudeau touched only lightly on the subject, backing up what Mr. Marchand had said.

He said Canada was a rich country, even surpassing the United States in some areas. The gross national product had doubled to $90 billion in the last decade.

The natural resources of each province belong to the whole country and it is the federal government's job to redistribute these riches to help the underprivileged areas.

GREETED BY JEERS

When he arrived at the community centre, Mr. Trudeau was greeted with jeers and "fiddle-fuddles" from the demonstrators.

On the inside, however, he was welcomed by a crowd of women who asked for autographs and escorted him to the platform.

As he left police had to make a path through the audience in the community centre. Outside the demonstrators repeated their jeers as Mr. Trudeau got into a limousine.

It was the prime minister's first visit to Quebec City since the 1968 general election.

Trudeau to proceed with reform

QUEBEC (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Monday his government will go ahead with plans to reform Canada's tax laws and not set the matter aside until after the next election. The prime minister was asked at a news conference whether the federal government would delay action on the controversial tax reform for a year.

He was told Quebec Finance Minister Raymond Garneau had expressed the opinion in the Quebec national assembly last week that it was likely the federal government would not proceed immediately with the legislation.

However, the prime minister said his government was through hesitating on the question. "I don't want to be impolite toward Mr. Garneau but I can't give him much hope," Mr. Trudeau said.

Mr. Garneau had said he hoped to get the federal government to delay action on the tax-reform proposals of Finance Minister Benson in representations at a federal-provincial conference on the economy Nov. 15-17. He wanted action delayed in order to adjust provincial fiscal policies.

Mr. Trudeau was asked about the possibility of legislation which would hold organizers of demonstrations responsible for damage done during the demonstrations, legislation which Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette said he is considering.

The prime minister said he was unfamiliar with the French legislation.

NDP pulls surprise upset in West

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP) — The New Democratic Party gained the rural seat of Assiniboia in Southern Saskatchewan from the Liberal government in a federal byelection Monday with a 24-year-old standardbearer making his first bid for political office.

The victory by Bill Knight, a high school teacher from Weyburn, gave the NDP its 25th seat in the Commons and seventh seat in Saskatchewan. Liberal strength in the province dropped to one seat, held by Manpower Minister Otto Lang.

Mr. Knight defeated two veteran farmer politicians—Lawrence Watson, 52, of the Progressive Conservatives, who had held the seat from 1963 to 1968 and Liberal James Hooker, 61, who had sat in the provincial legislature for seven years.

Mr. Hooker was a distant third in his bid to retain the seat for the Liberals, who were looking for an indication of what support they commanded in the grain belt, particularly for legislation to stabilize Prairie farm income.

Mr. Watson, despite campaigning help from Conservative leader Robert Stanfield and former party chief John Diefenbaker, found that the recent political tide that produced Conservative victories provincially in Ontario, Newfoundland and Alberta did not wash over into Saskatchewan federally.

Standing in the 264-seat Commons now is: Liberal 150, Conservative 71, NDP 25, Social Credit 13, Independent 2, Independent-Liberal 1, vacant 2.

Mr. Knight piled up most of his victory margin in his hometown

...sees shift

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democrat Leader David Lewis said Monday night that the victory of NDP candidate Bill Knight in the Assiniboia byelection was clearly a repudiation of the "Trudeau-Lang agriculture policies and the Trudeau-Benson economic policies."

"I am naturally very pleased," said Mr. Lewis, adding that the victory was expected.

"I spent three days in the riding and I got the impression we were holding the major part of the support the party gained in the provincial election."

"The poor Liberal candidate was fighting a losing battle—not because of himself but because of Ottawa's policies."

Number of upsets in area contests

By BERNARD ST. LAURENT

SHERBROOKE — Three new mayors were elected, two old mayors were re-elected, while 13 new councillors were elected and three re-elected in seven municipalities in the Sherbrooke region.

In Fleurimont Julien Ducharme was re-elected mayor by a majority of 293 over Marcel Gagne. Mayor Ducharme tallied 611 votes to Mr. Gagne's 318.

Mr. Marcel Blais received 567 votes to Maurice Harpin's 316 in the election for seat no. 4.

In the contest for seat no. 1 Clement Jacques defeated Gerard Letarte by a score of 571-321. Sylvia Duplessis was elected to council seat no. 3 with 474 votes to Arthur Cloutier's 406.

Mayor Julien Ducharme declared after the election that his whole team had won thanks to effective organization and good team spirit. He also thanked the population for having voted in such a large number. He ended by warning his councillors that there was much work to do but that he was confident that with the older councillors Fleurimont will have a team able to surmount all the difficulties.

In East Angus a new executive was also elected. Alphonse Godbout won with a majority of six votes over incumbent Mayor Herve Maltais. The final count was Godbout 1,096, Maltais 1,090.

In seat no. 1 Roger Couture won over Hormidas Lepitre with a majority of 312 votes.

In seat no. 2 Marcel Roberge defeated Bertrand Dugal by 149 votes.

In seat no. 3 Mr. Arthur Bibeau defeated Roland Boutin by a majority of 106 votes.

In seat no. 4 Robert Fournier obtained a 165 vote majority over his opponent Andre Giguere.

In seat no. 6 Edgar Beaulieu defeated Simon Lagueux by 105 votes.

Maltais has asked for a recount.

In the Town of Rock Forest incumbent Mayor Alberic Dusseault was re-elected with a majority of 207 votes. Dusseault obtained 855 votes. His opponent, Carlo Fabi, received 648.

In seat no. 1 Maurice Boulanger bested Maurice Couture 798 to 647.

In seat no. 2 Fernand Lambert received 808 votes to his opponent Leonard Martin's 638.

In seat no. 3 Israel Frechette lost out to Laurent Boudreau 745-725.

In Bromptonville 43 per cent of the population exercised the right to vote and re-elected Mr. Leonard Lemire with a majority of 124 votes. Mr. Lemire obtained 391 votes to Gerard Beaudette's 267. The election was for council seat no. 5.

In Orford Township the Orford Democratic League won all the seats contested.

G. Brier obtained 216 votes. His closest opponent was J. Clement Fortin's 180 votes and Mr. R. Ducharme, incumbent mayor, who received 72 votes.

In seat no. 4 G. Potvin won with a majority of 30 votes over his opponent Jean Guy Depot who obtained 214 votes.

In seat no. 5 S. Archambault defeated J. Dion.

The population of Orford Township asked to have elections in the summer and universal right to vote.

The other Democratic League candidate Jean Guy Robidoux was elected by acclamation to seat no. 3.

Municipal elections were held in 27 municipalities in the Eastern Township region Sunday, and in 24 of these towns there were mayoralty elections.

Twelve mayors managed to be re-elected while 10 others did not seek re-election and two who did were defeated.

A total of 57 council seats were contested Sunday, of that number 23 councillors received a renewed mandate whereas 34 new figures appear on the respective local councils.

A few extraordinary events took place in a few municipalities among these Coaticook, La Guadeloupe and Orford Township.

In Coaticook the population ended what seemed to be a gentlemen's agreement that at least one council seat be reserved for a representative of the English population of the town. This year Andre Bourgault opposed the incumbent Leonard Akhurst and defeated him by a 343 majority. This was the second time that a French-speaking citizen contested the traditionally English seat. The first time this occurred the population of Coaticook, although 90 per cent francophone, kept the tradition and elected the Anglophone.

In the town of Guadeloupe the mayor's seat was being contested by two members of the same family. Georges Emile Quirion defeated his brother-in-law Jean Eudes Bilodeau.

In the municipality of Orford another anomaly occurred when Mr. G. Potvin was elected to council seat number 4. Mr. Potvin did not have the right to vote in the election because he has not been a land owner for a year, but because of special legislation he had the right to be councillor because his wife has the right to vote.

MONTREAL (CP) — Four men were arraigned in court Monday on charges of attempted murder of a policeman and armed robbery in the theft Saturday of $450,000 in jewels from a downtown store.

Two of four bandits who robbed the store were hit by police bullets during a high-speed chase through Montreal. One of the bandits shot at a police car, shattering the windshield, but did not injure its occupants.

Bomb discovered

MONTREAL (CP) — The Gazette says police dismantled a dynamite bomb placed against the outside wall of a police station in the Rosemount district in the city's north end early Monday.

The newspaper says police were reluctant to release any information about the incident, which marked the first time a police building has been a bombing target since urban terrorism began here in 1963.

It quotes one unnamed police officer as saying "we were told to deny it if anyone made any inquiries."

The newspaper says the bomb was discovered by a detective captain at 8:30 a.m. and carried to the middle of the police station's parking lot by a young constable. The area was cordoned off until a member of the bomb squad deactivated the bomb.

Seigneurial mansion sacked

MONTREAL (CP) — Thieves broke into a 150-year old seigneurial mansion in nearby Varennes over the weekend and made off with the entire household of antique Canadian furniture.

Constable Bruce Conway of Varennes police was shot at Sunday morning after he gave chase to a truck loaded with furniture.

He said he believes the furniture he saw in the truck was part of the furniture stolen from the mansion.

"I'm positive it's the same furniture—I've been in that house several times," he said.

The house is operated by Gulf Oil of Canada as a guest house for visiting dignitaries.

CEGEP REGISTRARS MEET — Quebec's four English-language CEGEP registrars met in Lennoxville Wednesday. Champlain hosts registrars' meeting

LENNOXVILLE — Champlain Regional College, newest of the English language CEGEPs in Quebec, played host to a registrars' co-ordinating committee meeting at its Lennoxville campus last Wednesday. The group, representing Champlain, Dawson, Vanier and John Abbott CEGEPs and Marianopolis College, met to discuss common problems and to explore areas of co-ordination for future co-operation.

One of the most important results of the meeting was a decision to use a common application form for admission to the junior colleges by secondary school graduates for the 1972-73 collegial year. These forms are now in the process of production and should be available for distribution to Quebec secondary schools by early December.

Vanier College was represented at the meeting by Edward Harper, registrar; Fred Harris, admissions co-ordinator; and Mrs. Mary Ellen Harper. John Tibbits, admission officer, represented Dawson College, while John Abbott College was represented by Allen Mackinnon, registrar, and his assistant, Miss Juanita Boselli. Sister McDougall, registrar, and Sister Eileen Clarkin attended the meeting for Marianopolis College. Champlain Regional College spokesmen were David St. A. Sewell, director of student services on the Lennoxville campus, and Adrian Groenenberg, director of student services for the college's St. Lambert-Longueuil campus, scheduled for opening in September, 1972.

Youth Appreciation Week "for the kids"

SHERBROOKE (LH) — "It's all for the kids," an Optimist Club member told The Record at the annual father and son supper held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night. And as far as this member was concerned the "raison d'être" for the Optimist Club is the annual "Youth Appreciation Week" being held all this week in Sherbrooke.

Last night about 100 youngsters supped with their dads, eagerly accepting the extra portions of dessert at the end of the meal. And to add icing to the cake, three of them won prizes, two hockey sticks to help them through the long season ahead and a first prize of a cheque for $27.50. "It's OK, his dad will probably take it away from him," someone jokingly called out as the youngster went up to collect his prize. "But his dad doesn't play cards," someone else added. "And what's wrong with playing cards?" said someone else. But the beaming youngsters, clinging to their new hockey sticks and busy thinking of their unexpected gifts weren't aware of the good-natured ribbing going on around them.

Earlier in the day the junior "mayor," Richard Belanger of Pie X School, and Mayoress Marie Quintal led a parade to city hall and were greeted by civic officials. And while Richard made himself comfortable in the mayor's seat the aldermen on hand took turns advising the new dignitaries and asking them if they had any new plans for the city. Being cagey politicians, they were at first reluctant to make any promises but the new mayor did admit to giving serious consideration to declaring "a school holiday" for the pupils of Pie X School. After all they did elect him. And junior police chief Charles Lisotte did agree to the suggestion that the police should issue fewer tickets. And while Alderman Quintal congratulated his daughter Marie on becoming the "mayoress" of Sherbrooke, junior fire chief Michel Bureau, not related to Mayor Marc Bureau, went off to inspect the city's fire-fighting equipment.

Youth Appreciation Week continues tomorrow as members of the Optimist Club pay their annual visit to Pie X School to distribute candies and chocolate to the children and attend a reception the kids have planned for them.

Remembrance ceremonies held at Border

BOUNDARY (IH) — A Stanstead Chapter IODE; and by parade, Memorial service, dedication, a dinner and dance were all a part of the Remembrance Armistice observances held here at the Boundary on Saturday, November 6.

PARADE

The parade was formed at Sunnyside School and was headed by a color party of Douglas Greenleaf, Bruce Trevail, Marcel Dennis, Frank Hudson, Arthur Slade, Stanley Emslie, Mrs. Helen Heald and Mrs. Aileen Roy, a large number of Veterans and the Sherbrooke Pipe Band. They paraded to the Rock Island Cenotaph for the Memorial service.

Arthur (Scully) Langevin was emcee and called upon Ralph Rogers, who offered prayer. Mr. Langevin recited in Flanders Field. Richard Wallace called the roll of the area people who had paid the supreme sacrifice in WW1 and WW2.

Raymond Meunier sounded the bugle. The Last Post, which was followed by The Silence, in memory, "They Shall Not Grow Old" by Mr. Langevin and the Reveille by Mr. Meunier.

Wreaths were laid at the base of the cenotaph by Mrs. Arthur (Adelaide) Laberee, a silver STAR widow, who represented the silver CROSS mothers; by Roy States, on behalf of the Provincial Command of the Royal Canadian Legion; Gordon Laberee, and Mrs. John Heald, on behalf of Stanstead Frontier Legion Branch and Auxiliary; Mrs. J. S. McCannell, the co-ordination for future co-operation.

Gordon Ware, of the Pipe Band played a solo, The Lament, after which Father R. Mainuay offered benediction. The parade formed attention to march to the Rock Island parking lot with Mr. States and Gordon Laberee taking the March Past on the steps of the Post Office.

Owen Quillinan was Parade Marshal. Representatives of the Legion Branch and Stanstead Chapter IODE laid wreaths at cenotaphs and cemeteries in the Three Villages of Rock Island, Stanstead and Beebe, and Baxter Park in Derby Line, Vt.

DEDICATION OF SHERMAN ARMY TANK

The Veterans formed at the north end of Stanstead Village on the Square for the dedication of the Sherman Army tank, purchased by the Municipality of Stanstead in tribute to the boys who served this branch of the armed forces.

Stanstead municipal councillor and a war veteran, Donald Prangley, was emcee for the ceremony. He said that this tank was being dedicated to the men who had served in the army tank corps, to include Gordon Laberee, president of Stanstead Frontier Branch, Stanstead.

The tank was dedicated by Mr. Laberee who in his remarks said: this is a memorial to all veterans, the ones who gave their lives and those who lived and today carry the torch.

E. J. Struthers, mayor of Stanstead, a WWI veteran, who served with the Victoria Rifles and was wounded, spoke the address mentioning when tanks first went into service September 15, 1916, and their history through the wars.

The Last Post was played by Mr. Meunier, John Heald as led for the Silence and repeated the Legionnaires creed, then the Reveille was played.

DINNER

Approximately 140 veterans, men and women, assembled for the banquet in the Legion Memorial Home. Gordon Laberee, branch president, in his opening remarks, said the branch has gained in membership since a year ago. He asked for silence in memory of those departed, then called upon Richard Wallace, branch vice-president who proposed a toast to the Queen; James Wilson, to the Unknown Soldier; Archie Taylor, Pierre Trudeau, PM of Canada; Max Brouillette, the president of the United States; Mr. Nixon; after which Rev. Philip Gaudine spoke the Blessing.

The Legion Auxiliary members served an excellent family style turkey dinner and home made assorted pies for dessert.

Mr. Laberee introduced the head table: Cecil Miller and Harold Bean, life members of the branch, both WWI veterans; Rev. Mr. Gaudine, branch chaplain; E. J. Struthers, Roy States, guest speaker; Richard Wallace, vice-president of the branch; J. D. Ferguson, an honorary member.

Mr. Struthers introduced Mr. States, chairman of the Poppy Campaign in Greater Montreal, seen on Hour Glass, of Channel 6, TV the preceding night speaking to students at Sir George Williams University, of which Mr. States is a graduate. Mr. Struthers said Mr. States had served 30 years in the armed services in 33 different countries. He is active on Provincial Council of the Royal Canadian Legion and active in Legion work.

Mr. States chose to speak on the poppy theme for 1971. "If you can't remember — Think" which is a special message to the youth of today. The poppy, he said, is the red flower that won the Peace.

Mr. States talk was one of challenge from start to finish. He commented "from the looks of the assembly tonight it does not look as if the Legion is burning out as some say it is." He continued with these words "The Royal Canadian Legion will live in the hearts of people for many more hundred years to come."

"I believe in Canada, as imperfect as it is, in the Indian, Eskimo, the Jew and the French Canadian, let us have more faith in new Canadians," he said.

To the young people he said: "The poppy represents peace, we don't want you to go through the hell of war as we did." Legions are not segregated, Russians, Jews, others have their Legion Branches, but as conventions we meet as one because we are all Legionnaires."

He remarked appreciation to WWI Veterans for what they did for WW2 Veterans, giving opportunities for furthering education to those who came home, and other ways to make it an easier lot for the second vets. than the first ever had."

One of the greatest joys of life is to know people, he said, and if we isolate ourselves we forget we are all God's people, adding there's personal satisfaction in giving, doing for others."

Of the Legion, he said, "we don't blow our horn enough," and illustrated how money from the poppy funds is used to help those in need. "They called us to WW1, to WW2 and to Korea, we served, our comrades sacrificed for freedom," now he challenged "we must preserve and maintain it. The comradeship in the service years, in battles for freedom has been carried into civilian life and it's something that can't be bought."

So impressive was the address that the speaker was given a standing ovation, he was thanked for his talk by Mr. Ferguson.

Mr. Laberee presented 20 year Legion pins to Keith Armstrong, Paul Ricard and W. T. May and 25 year Legion pins to Arthur Langevin, Douglas Greenleaf, John Heald, E. C. Middleton, Victor Denney, Howard Wells, Frank Hudson, William Pope, and there was one for Mr. Laberee. All the boys were not present to receive them, so they will be delivered.

Mr. States presented the Past District Commanders medal to Mr. Heald who had served four years as District Deputy Commander before being District Commander.

The Auxiliary presented three student bursaries this year to daughters and a son of Veterans. To receive them were Gordon White a student at Champlain CEGEP, Lennoxville; Miss Penny Middleton, a student at Berkshire Christian College, Lennox, Mass., and Miss Louise Gosselin, a student at Sherbrooke CEGEP for nursing.

Mrs. Heald presented a cheque for $500.00 from the Auxiliary to Mr. Laberee for the Senior Branch work, also noting purchase of material items for the Memorial Home, paid by the Auxiliary.

Mr. Laberee voiced his appreciation on behalf of the assembly to the Auxiliary for their continued support and for the supper so much enjoyed by all, which terminated in standing ovation for the group.

With music played by Reg Sayer and Stuffy Stafford, all enjoyed dancing and when old Vets got together, telling stories of war years, Mr. States added to the enjoyment by singing solos accompanied by the orchestra.

French professor lectures at U of S

SHERBROOKE (LH) — Visiting professor of philosophy Gilles Gaston Granger led a conference at the University of Sherbrooke yesterday. Professor Granger, from Aix-en-Provence in France is visiting the University of Sherbrooke under the terms of an exchange agreement undertaken by universities in Canada and Europe in which scholars in certain universities are exchanged for a term.

Professor Granger addressed students and faculty of the philosophy department on "Science and Language" and underlined the epistemological differences between "natural" languages such as English and French and scientific languages such as the symbols used in mathematics. Professor Granger explained that perhaps the main function in improving our scientific knowledge was in our pursuit of more sophisticated "symbols" by which we store scientific knowledge. He went on to explain that the main differences between scientific languages and "natural" languages was that scientific languages operated within strictly defined limits. That is, all terms in a scientific language such as chemical symbols have one and only one carefully structured meaning. By comparison to the meaning contained in a chemical symbol, a picture of flags of different countries might have any number of different meanings. Professor Granger attributed this last phenomenon to what he termed the "double articulation of language" and to "different layers of meaning." He explained that the difference between a sophisticated and a simple system of scientific language was analogous to the rather inefficient systems of communication used such as flag signalling used by ships and the modern systems of demarcation used in physics which allow scientists all over the world to communicate.

Professor Granger returns to France later this month, his term at University of Sherbrooke being completed.

First snow

This past weekend saw the first appreciable snowfall in the Eastern Townships for the winter of 1971-72, although the Border area was blanketed with white as early as Friday morning.

The first appearance of the winter's snow and the concomitant hazardous road conditions invariably produce a flurry of traffic accidents. This year was no exception, with 16 persons dying in road fatalities in Quebec from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, while 18 others died on the roads in the nine other provinces combined.

Sherbrooke was, fortunately, fatality-free, but police reported numerous minor accidents Sunday night when the city's roads were covered with a fine sheet of ice.

It is time, of course, to point out to those caught off guard by the first snow that the installation of snow tires on their vehicles is a priority chore for this week.

More important, however, is the obligation to stress the need for added caution in driving over the course of the next few weeks as motorists accustom themselves once again to the particular problems posed and dangers encountered by winter driving.

Each winter, there is a period during which drivers must readjust to slippery conditions, and it is during this period that many needless and often expensive accidents transpire.

Driving practices from which, while not safe, one could escape without undue effects during the compatible conditions encountered in the other three seasons are rendered dangerous on slippery roads, especially the secondary routes which abound in the Eastern Townships.

Stopping distances are increased on icy roads, and visibility is drastically curtailed during winter snowfalls. The only safe recourse is to slow down, especially on curves, and to exercise increased vigilance in winter driving. Chances of avoiding unnecessary vehicle damage and delays in reaching one's destination are greatly enhanced thereby, to say nothing of minimizing the incidence of tragic loss of life.

A responsible voice

Former Prime Minister Lester Pearson has added a calm voice of reason to the debate over Canadian-American relations, a voice most welcome after the unfortunate initiatives and remarks of his successor, Mr. Trudeau.

Mr. Pearson delivered his comments in an address to the annual meeting of the Society of Actuaries in Toronto yesterday.

The former Nobel Peace Prize winner said Canada and the United States must solve their "increasingly complicated and serious" differences through goodwill and understanding and that if they do not, "we will be in serious trouble."

Underlining the necessity of maintaining what he called "this bond of basic belief" in view of the violent Canadian reaction to American economic measures, Mr. Pearson said:

"We can solve the problems arising out of these decisions by goodwill and understanding; by a clear appreciation of where the long-range interests and advantages of our two independent, but inevitably closely associated, countries lie."

This required, he said, "a cool head; sound rather than emotional judgment, based on a clear understanding of Canadian interests."

"It requires also a determination to defend those interests without whining or provocation, but with steadiness and resolution."

Well said, Mr. Pearson.
One can only hope, however futile that hope may prove to be, that Mr. Trudeau listens to the wise counsel of his former leader.

Newspapers make advertising gains

By BUD JORGENSEN

TORONTO (CP) — This fall is a crucial period for newspapers and television stations in their fight for a share of advertising revenue as newspapers attempt to consolidate gains made during the first half of this year.

Newspaper executives point to high television production costs and studies which appear to indicate a lessening of the impact of television advertising in explaining their gains in share-of-market.

The television executives say poor economic conditions are a factor and advertisers make shorter-term plans during such periods.

Many advertising executives agree that the general economic situation has contributed to the shift in advertising spending but opinions vary on whether there is a disenchantment with television advertising.

Magazines and radio stations also take part in the competition.

Production schedules for newspapers and radio stations are more flexible than those of television stations and magazines, which usually have more expensive unit costs and must have more advance planning.

During the first six months of this year, the four major media had combined revenue to $154.9 million from national advertising, up 3.3 per cent over the same period of 1970.

HOW REVENUE SPLIT

The television share was 47 per cent during the first half of this year and 49.7 per cent during the same period last year; the newspaper share was 29.8 per cent to June 30 this year and 27.2 per cent the first half of last year; radio, 14.2 per cent and 13.7 per cent; and magazines, nine per cent and 9.4 per cent.

The figures are regularly compiled by Elliott Research Corp., Ltd., Toronto, and cover advertisements of products available nationally or regionally.

The national advertisements normally do not include the price of the products or store locations, thus excluding such things as supermarket or classified advertisements. National advertisements account for about 10 per cent and about 35 per cent of the advertising income in newspapers.

Most of the competition between media is in the area of national advertisements and this type frequently generates more revenue per line, sometimes because the rates are higher and because national advertisers make greater use of color, which is more expensive.

The television share of the market on an annual basis had climbed steadily up to 49 per cent in 1970. Its share was 43.9 per cent in 1967.

Newspapers' share-of-market went down to 27.6 per cent in 1970 from 31 per cent in 1967.

PATTERN STABLE
Figures on growth patterns for both newspaper circulation and television viewing appear stable during the 1967-70 period when, Statistics Canada figures show, there was a population increase of slightly more than four per cent.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations, which compiles figures for 119 dailies, reports combined circulation of 4.62 million by the end of 1970. The increase over the 1967 total was about 3.5 per cent.

BBM Bureau of Measurement, which conducts surveys across Canada to measure television and radio audience, says the average daily television audience in 1970 was 17.68 million or 85 per cent of the population above the age of two. The increase over 1967 was about three per cent.

The average daily hours of viewing were 3.6 in 1967, 3.8 in 1968 and 3.7 in 1969 and 1970. BBM figures are based on surveys in 92 geographical areas with sample sizes ranging between about 2,000 in the largest urban centre and about 170 in rural areas. The surveys are done during a two-week period after the end of daylight time.

HIT BY GROWTH

Harry Baird, advertising manager for the Kitchener-Waterloo (Ont.) Record and president of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association of Canada, says he believes the growth of the electronic media has lessened their impact.

The addition of television or radio stations fragments the market and, Mr. Baird said, advertisers must go to several stations to reach a broad segment of the population.

He said newspapers are competing as they have never done before by doing research — through their national professional associations — to analyze the effectiveness of newspaper advertising.

Keith Campbell, vice-president, marketing, for CTV Television Network Ltd., said the poor state of the economy was the principal reason for the relative decline in TV share-of-market.

Mr. Campbell also cited various government regulations as inhibiting factors. Advertisers "fear diminution of audience by more Canadian content." Concern about potential bans on advertising tobacco and liquor was another problem.

Television stations work six months or more in advance on schedules for advertising and CTV was working currently on the 1972-73 season.

NAMES ELUSIVE

Mr. Baird said he believes advertisers are questioning whether they get their message across on television. Recent surveys indicate that people frequently mis-identify brand names in recalling advertisements and the proportion of viewers who can identify brand names the day after seeing a commercial (day-after recall or DAR) has dropped sharply since the early years of television.

David Harrison, media director for MacLaren Advertising Co. Ltd., Toronto, said many advertisers believe that the recall of specific facts is not as important as the impression that is created by a television advertisement. "A lot of people are getting away from the DAR concept."

Mr. Baird said he believes advertisements now must provide facts which consumers can analyze and with newspapers, "you can tell your message in detail."

John Tomlinson, media director for F. H. Hayhurst and Co. Ltd., another Toronto-based advertising company, said increased production costs and fragmentation of market are major factors affecting television. Market fragmentation has become more of a problem with the introduction of cable systems.

"Some advertisers say: 'Ye gods, I've increased my budget by 20 per cent and I can't do what I did three years ago.'"

CITES FLEXIBILITY

During the last few years, Mr. Tomlinson said, rates for television and radio have gone up twice as fast as rates for print media.

The fact that radio had made gains in recent months indicated that costs were only a part of the answer.

"Flexibility is one of the big reasons why radio and newspapers may be picking up TV dollars," Mr. Tomlinson said. Television stations have been adapting by offering shorter contracts and by including escape clauses in long-term contracts.

Roy Chernoff, media director for McKim, Benton and Bowles Ltd., said the nature of advertising was another factor — one which could not be predicted — affecting distribution of advertising dollars.

"There is always in creative peoples' minds a desire for change, not just for the sake of change but for new ideas."

Mr. Harrison put it another way: "These things are built on whims and fancies anyway."

Non-believer

Dear Sir,
The following is the wording on one of many plaques prepared by me in former days:

"If Doctors of Divinity were first obliged to earn a civil engineer's degree, there would be no Doctors of Divinity."

If the religion born in Egypt of low grade morons had never been forced down the white man's neck there would be no Dark Ages for the whites to be ashamed of.

It is simply impossible to imagine, let alone prove, the existence of heaven, hell, Satan, God, angels, holy ghosts, holy spirits, saints, souls, sin, purgatory, miracles, life after death, or that prayer has more power than the squeak from a gate, the caw from the crow, the cackle of a hen or the buzz of a bee.

Woman calls abortion "nightmare"

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto woman who went to New York for an abortion describes the experience as a nightmare.

The woman, identified only as Dorothy, told her story in an interview. She is the mother of two boys. After she separated from her husband in August, she discovered she was pregnant.

"I had a nervous breakdown once and I felt I was going the same way again. I just couldn't take the responsibility of another baby now and I couldn't afford to take time off work," she said.

In September, a friend gave her some birth control pills which made her sick but did not induce an abortion.

"Then I was really frightened that I'd done something to the baby and I just had to have an abortion."

She called city hospitals but when she told them she was 16 weeks pregnant, they said they were "booked solid."

Dr. Edwin V. Abbott, assistant medical officer of health in Scarborough, examined her and gave her the name of the Wick-ersham Women's Medical Centre on East 58th St. in New York.

The hospital said it was booked but she begged admitting officials to take her and they finally agreed.

HOSPITAL CROWDED

In New York, she waited for 2½ hours in a small room crowded with about 30 women. There were not enough chairs so the patients took turns standing. Many were crying.

She said when she was ushered into the examining room she saw that the sheet on

For repeal

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Justice Minister John Turner suggested Friday that criminal law should retire from the field of abortion.

He told high school students his duty as justice minister is to try to reconcile the varying views on abortion in terms of criminal law.

"It could be that the criminal law should retire from that field," he said.

Mr. Turner said he must distinguish between his public duty as a legislator and his parental convictions.

"My purpose must be to achieve a consensus for the public good and we have to try to make the law to meet the widest consensus possible," he said.

The examining table was wrinkled and apparently unchanged between patients. She spread her dress over it, to the annoyance of the nurse.

She was taken to another room where she paid the all-inclusive fee of $400.

In Toronto an abortion costs $75 to $100 but a three-day stay in hospital would cost close to $100 a day. Medical and hospital insurance would cover most of this.

She returned to her four-bed room where a doctor gave her a local anesthetic and injected a saline solution. By this time it was 7 p.m. and she got her first meal of the day.

She began labor at 9 p.m. and was told not to get out of bed again to use the bathroom. When she used a bedpan, a nurse angrily asked why she could not go to the bathroom like everyone else. Later she did so and another nurse, equally angry, told her to get into bed and stay there.

NURSES HARSH

The nurses spoke to her and other patients in a contemptuous and humiliating manner, she said.

At 4 a.m. amniotic fluid was released but the nurse refused to change the bed until she had delivered.

She said no one came in to help or advise during the delivery.

"I tried to remember what the doctor told me when I was having the children and when the pains came, I pulled up my legs and pushed and that helped."

She saw a 12-year-old girl and gave the child the same advice.

She delivered the fetus at 9:30 a.m. and rang for the nurse.

The nurse laughed, then raised the bedclothes and said, "Oh you really have, but the placenta has not come."

After discharge of the placenta she was left sitting on the bedpan for a further hour before it was taken away.

The next day she suffered pain but was due to be discharged in the morning. Breakfast was not brought to the room but she could not go to the hospital dining room because she had to wait for the doctor, who arrived about 9 a.m.

She was given painkillers and antibiotics and instructed to see a doctor when she got home.

"CRY-BABY COMPLAINT"

In New York, Louis H. Harris, administrator of Wickersham Hospital, said: "As far as I'm concerned, it's strictly a cry-baby complaint."

Gesturing to a suite of new operating rooms during a tour of the hospital's wards, admitting-offices and examining facilities, Harris called nursing supervision "more than sufficient."

The ratio of patients to registered nurses is as high as one to seven during the busy day shift and declines to about one to nine in the evening, he continued.

The hospital began performing abortions 16 months ago and now deals with 40 to 50 girls a day, he said.

"There hasn't been a death in the abortion service," Louis added. "Sure we've had tough and go, we've had bad cases. There have been mistakes; we've had to give blood to some patients and so on, but there have been no deaths."

"If I see the slightest bit of abuse of any type — one report — we have them right on the carpet."

Leafing through a sheaf of evaluation forms prepared by patients as they depart, Harris said: "That some of them have some legitimate complaint, I don't argue."

While one form selected at random complained about the attire of admitting personnel and another mentioned, "confusion," other forms had praise for the treatment.

Bulwer Branch of the Quebec Farmers meet

BULWER — The Bulwer Branch of the Quebec Farmers Association met in the Bulwer Community Center in October, with the President Mr. Douglas Grapes welcoming the large number present.

A letter of thanks was read from Galen Driver for his gift which had been given him before leaving to reside in North Bay, Ont.

Plans were made for members to attend the Annual meeting at Macdonald College Farm Center on Oct. 23.

All Officers were returned for another year and Mr. Grapes was named Director with Mrs. G. Montgomery as alternate.

All were pleased to have Mr. Rudi Dallenbach and Miss Colleen Coates from Macdonald College present for this meeting.

The Quebec Farmer's Association had invited the Compton County Women's Institutes to meet with them and furnish part of the program.

The County President, Mrs. Wells Coates was introduced by the Farmer's Association President, Mr. Grapes, who responded by saying how pleased she was to be able to bring the Institutes and Farmer's Association together to a joint meeting. This being a first time project.

She first called on Mr.

Macmillan, Cookshire, who said he was pleased to take part in such a program. Then Mrs. Coates introduced Mr. Rudi Dallenbach of Macdonald College Farm, who spoke on the world situation in Government in Agriculture. He took for his example other countries and compared Canada as to the percentage of control each government had over their Farming Industry.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Gordon French, Provincial Convenor of Agriculture for the Quebec Institutes who introduced the Panel Discussion participants on the subject Government Involvement in Agriculture.

The Panelists were: Mrs. Coates, Chairman; Mr. Macmillan speaking on the Government role in Agriculture; Miss Marion Ord, County Institute Treasurer on Agribusiness; Mrs. Graydon Montgomery on Farmers' and Farm Organizations; Mrs. Andrew MacRae, President, of Sawyerville Institute on Consumers and Consumers Association of Canada.

The role of Government in Agriculture began at the time of Confederation: Land Settlement Programs provided for grants and sales of land to prospective settlers during the first 60 years of Confederation. Grants to Agriculture Societies to aid increase in production and quality of crops and livestock. Health of animals, Experimental Farm Systems, grants to establish and operate dairy plants, grain marketing, terminal elevators, research, inspection and grading, Farm Loan Boards are a few of the areas in which it is involved, stated Mr. Macmillan.

Mrs. Coates gave the information that there are 400,000 farms involved in the Farming Industry, 500,000 farm workers, 2,000,000 farm people keeping thousands of firms in business. There are 21,000,000 Canadian Consumers depending on Life Itself on the Farming Industry.

Miss Ord's point of discussion was-do government sponsored policies mean a cheap-food policy? Mrs. Montgomery answered by stating $4.4 billion Farm Industry which would cost the consumer much more without government benefits. Then Mrs. MacRae spoke for the Consumer, due to the fact that they spend over $11 billion on goods from the farm Industries they should have a voice in forming the Farm Agricultural Policy.

Then the group divided into ten smaller groups to discuss the

Greater Love Hath No Man... Than That He Lay Down His Life!

Remembrance Day is a time set aside to pay tribute to those who have fallen in battle and to the civilian dead. Yet the celebration of Remembrance Day is empty if it does not prompt us to remember the causes for which they have given their lives and to rededicate our lives for the welfare of humanity. Let us each and everyone, resolve to keep faith with those who have gone before us and to give substance to that faith in our daily thoughts and actions.

Don't tell me to leave him

By Ann
Landers

Dear Ann Landers: How does one tell a 300-pound friend that he is wrecking your furniture? When he comes to our home he heads straight for one of two easy chairs and needless to say, he is bad news for anything that is put together with springs. We have tried, tactfully, of course, to offer other chairs, but he declines.

Both easy chairs were repaired recently and the upholstery man said he reinforced them so solidly that an elephant could sit on them and they would not break down. Last night our guest was here and this morning the springs are sagging again. What can we do? Remember, this is a dear person and we do not want to offend him. Thanks a lot.

—Too Much Friend

Dear Too Much: Buy a special chair for the fellow and have a little plaque made with his name on it. When he comes to visit, escort him to his chair, purchased especially for him, and he could not possibly refuse to sit in it.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married less than eight years and have been beaten up at least 10 times by my husband. Here are some of the reasons: The car wouldn't start. (I used it last, so it must be my fault.) The TV broke down. (I sit around all day with the set on and weaken the tubes.) The supper is lousy. Can't I fix something tasty for a change? (Of course I could if he'd give me enough money to buy a half-way decent piece of meat.)

Don't tell me to leave him. My pastor and the lady at Family Service suggested it but they don't understand that the man has some good sides to him. He loves his kids very much — but when it comes to me, forget it. I don't know what I'm doing — he is a wonderful person except for his temper. Can you help me?

—Hurt Feelings

Dear H.F.: I can't do a thing for a woman who has been beaten up 10 times and thinks her husband is a "wonderful person." You don't want advice, you just want someone who will listen to your complaints. I'm glad you wrote. Do so again anytime — and keep a crash helmet handy for future "emergencies."

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me if a guest who has been invited to dinner (in a restaurant) is expected to leave the tip? I am frank to admit I do not know the answer.

Our son, Lou, was invited by another couple to join them for dinner. He said when the dinner was over, the waiter brought the check and the host took it. When they got up to leave, the host looked at Lou and said something like, "Well..." Lou didn't understand what he meant. The host then fished around in his pocket for some change and left it under his plate.

A few moments later it dawned on Lou that perhaps he was expected to leave the tip. Is this considered proper etiquette? Thanks for your advice.

—Marked Tree, Ark.

Dear Ark: The tip is considered part of the cost of the meal. A guest is not expected to pay it. When Lou treats the host couple, he will, of course, pay for everything — as a gracious host should.

Dear Ann Landers: Your definition for the difference between a wife and mistress was pretty cute. It would have been better, however, had you used words which were more descriptive. For example: Passive Acquiescence versus Enthusiastic Cooperation. In fact, when there is Enthusiastic Cooperation a mistress is unnecessary.

—Santa Fe

Dear Fe: Thanks for improving my language. From now on I'll use yours.

The meeting was closed by repeating The Lord's Prayer in unison, after which refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour enjoyed.

Massey, Wright exchange vows

SOUTH DURHAM — The marriage of Barbara Elaine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Wright of South Durham, and Mr. Ronald George Massey, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Massey, of Chambly, Que., took place on Saturday, Oct. 9 at 3 p.m. in the St. James Anglican Church, South Durham.

Rev. Gordon Peabody of Drummondville officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Audrey Millar played the wedding music and Mrs. Allan Sutherland sang "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register. Fall leaves and multi-colored dahlias were used to decorate the altar and arch. Pink and mauve asters with satin bows marked the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a floor length gown of white peau de soie, with fitted lace bodice featuring a V-neckline long sleeves with lace cuffs and detachable lace train. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and pink carnations. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls with matching earrings, a gift of the groom.

Miss Darlene Findlay, as maid-of-honor, was in a floor length gown of yellow peau de soie, with imitation pearl trim on a fitted bodice with short sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and bronze mums. These dresses were both made by the bride.

Little Marsha Massey, niece of the groom, acted as flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of blue peau de soie, trimmed with multi-colored lace. She carried a basket of mixed flowers. The dress was made by Mrs.

Elton Massey.

Master Brian Wright, brother of the bride, acted as ring-bearer. He carried a white peau de soie pillow trimmed with lace and red roses and wore a beige crimplene vest-suit with a brown turtle neck sweater.

Mr. Steven Gunter acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Galen Wright, brother of the bride, and Mr. George Findlay, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a purple and white bonded orlon, street length dress with long sleeves and beige accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Harvey Massey wore a grey wool jersey dress with multi striped three-quarter length vest and black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the marriage ceremony, a reception was held in the Legion Hall, Richmond, which was decorated with pink and white streamers and wedding bells. The bride's table was centred with a four-tiered cake flanked with silver candle holders and white tapers. After the wedding supper, dancing was enjoyed by all, with Warren Fleming's orchestra in attendance.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Massey left by car for their home at 1056 Orchard Drive, Port Credit, Ontario. The bride travelled in a blue flowered nylon pant-dress wearing an orchid corsage and black accessories.

Guests attended from Brampton and Port Credit, Ont.; Chambly, Candiac, Greenfield Park; Ville La Salle, Sherbrooke; Lennoxville; Capleton; Bromptonville; Huntingville; Thetford Mines; Riverton, Ont.; McIndoe Falls, Vt.; Richmond; Danville; Asbestos; Melbourne; Drummondville; and South Durham.

Iron is needed by the body in the formation of hemoglobin, the red substance of the blood.

Anemia can result when too little hemoglobin is present. Liver, red meat, egg yolks, whole grain and enriched breads and cereals, dried fruits, dried beans and peas, and dark vegetables (like spinach) are good food sources of iron.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Excessive noise can affect mental health

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would appreciate advice and counsel on the subject of hi-fi effects on hearing.

In particular, we've been bugging our kids to cut the volume on their record and radio playing. Am sure that an improper relationship of decibels to volume can be most harmful to the human ear. Now, our boy wants to buy a pair of the muff-type earphones for his personal listening. Is there no harm, or less harm, in using earphones instead of loud-speakers?

Dear Reader—Earphones would certainly cause less harm to everyone else except the person using them. You are absolutely right about possible harm from loud music. Noise deafness is common to people who must work around loud noises, such as around aircraft. Most places where this is an occupational hazard have the level of noise checked to be certain it is within the range of safety for hearing. In addition, people working in such environments often wear ear muffs or "ear defenders."

People who have been exposed to too much noise will show loss of hearing when tested with an audiogram. Interestingly enough, the noise deafness makes it impossible for a person to hear the finer aspects of music such as the high frequency tones. I have always been amused with the hi-fi bug who spends large sums of money for hi-fi equipment and has enough ear damage not to be able to hear any more tones than are normally transmitted by relatively cheap equipment. Anyone planning to spend a lot of money for hi-fi would be well to have a hearing test first to see if they can even hear the highly touted additional sounds.

There is evidence that a number of people listening to loud music, usually rock 'n' roll, have developed noise deafness. The damage is irreversible. It is no different than damage from loud noises like that produced by gunfire.

The factor that determines whether the hearing will be damaged or not is the level of intensity of the noise—loudness—received at the ear, regardless of whether it arrives there is an open room or through an earphone.

Many people interested in environment regard noise as "noise pollution." The big cities are full of noise pollution and it is thought by many to have a bad influence on the psychic and emotional health. It appears to be one factor in fatigue and irritability. It is just as important a problem in pollution as the more commonly discussed problems of auto exhaust. Most of nature's creatures flee from locations of excess noise. Man alone seems to be trapped within his own noise sphere.

Legion ladies plan turkey supper

The October meeting of Branch 10 Ladies Auxiliary was held at the Legion Home with 15 members present. The president, Mrs. Jean Thorne, opened the meeting by advancing the flags and the usual procedure.

First vice-president of the Branch, Peter Webb, who is also chairman of the Poppy Campaign, approached the Auxiliary for their cooperation in selling poppies on Nov. 5 and 6. The president reminded the girls of the Parade and Armistice Service at the Cenotaph on Sunday Nov. 14.

An Armistice Supper is being served on Saturday Nov. 13. Plans were made for the Annual Turkey Supper sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary.

It was reported two of our members are ill and have been hospitalized. We all wish them a speedy recovery.

The members decided to donate a sum of money to the Branch, which is to purchase a rug for the lounge which they are redecorating.

Tentative plans were made for the Legion, Children's Christmas Tree to be held on Dec. 12.

In today's hand South found himself in a comfortable three no-trump contract. East played his queen of spades at trick one and South was in with the king. He could cash out seven clubs and two hearts for one overtrick if he so desired. Everyone was not going to arrive at three no-trump and the score for making four no-trump would surely be above average.

South wasn't interested. He wanted a top and decided to lead the jack of spades right back.

He did just that. West took his ace and South had some anxious moments while West huddled over his next play. Finally, West led a third spade. This gave South an extra trick in spades and he promptly ran off his seven clubs and dummy's two hearts for his top score.

Was it well deserved? No, but who are we to quarrel with success. West might have plunked down his king of diamonds because when both sides play the same suit one is wrong.

Overtricks mean little in rubber bridge. Twenty or 30 points don't amount to much compared to the value of game or slam.

In duplicate an overtrick may be just as valuable as the contract trick and is always worth a match-point or two.

NHL discusses expansion

NEW YORK (CP) — The National Hockey League governors struggled Monday night to resolve "procedural matters" arising from a report on expansion.

League president Clarence Campbell said early in the evening that the 14 league governors had not proceeded past procedural questions which would be involved in adding further teams to the league starting the 1972-73 season.

With the governors still in session at 10 p.m., vice-president Don Ruck told reporters there would be no statement Monday night. The governors who had started their expansion discussion at 4 p.m. were to resume meeting at 8 a.m. today.

There was only one item on the meeting's agenda—the report from the expansion committee headed by Campbell.

Briefing reporters at a dinner break earlier, Ruck was noncommittal about the contents of the report. He expressed hope a decision could be reached today.

From other sources came indications that Hempstead, Long Island, and Atlanta stand high in line for expansion teams, probably next season. The Nassau County Coliseum with seating capacity of 15,500 will be ready to receive a team by next fall. The new World Hockey Association has been seeking to place a team in the Coliseum.

Atlanta also will have a new stadium by next fall with seating capacity of 17,000 for hockey.

Although top NHL officials have been quoted as saying there will be no further NHL expansion before 1974 except with the unanimous approval of all 14 franchises, there were indications that the current deliberation might be seeking a way around this self-imposed limitation, at least to the extent of adding two teams in 1972.

There were reports Monday that the governors had agreed on a 12-vote majority as requirement for approval.

That would sidestep objections of one or two dissenting owners such as Charles O. Finley of Oakland, who indicated that while he was not opposed to expansion he would be unhappy with having his club surrender any players to stock new teams now.

Ruck indicated that after a decision is made on the principle of expansion the governors might then get down to a discussion of applications, some of which were presented some months ago by interested groups. He would not say how many applications for new franchises are on hand.

On the expansion committee with Campbell are Bill Jennings of New York Rangers, Bruce Norris of Detroit Red Wings, Jack Kent Cooke of Los Angeles Kings, Weston Adams Jr. of Boston Bruins and Bill Wirtz of Chicago Black Hawks.

Colts buck to 24-17 win over Rams

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Curtis will have two metal pins removed from a mending broken thumb today, and he hopes the operation will give him more football mobility.

But the bulky cast worn by Baltimore's middle linebacker may have restricted his play just enough Monday night to produce a 24-17 victory for the Colts over Los Angeles Rams.

With his right thumb in a rigid position and unable to grasp properly, Curtis used his arm as sort of a club to jar the ball loose from Larry Smith of the Rams in the fourth quarter.

Fellow linebacker Ted Hendricks snared the ball in full stride and romped 31 yards into the end zone for a touchdown which snapped a 10-10 tie with 9:03 to play.

Scores by Baltimore's Tom Matte and Maslowski of the Rams were added in the closing two minutes, but it was the fumble popped free by Curtis which turned the tide in the game.

"It was a freak thing, and I just happened to be there," Hendricks said.

Just 82 seconds before Hendricks scored a 32-yard field goal by Baltimore's Jim O'Brien had tied it 10-10, overcoming a Los Angeles lead that had existed since just before halftime.

Matte, Baltimore's 32-year-old workhorse who gained 97 yards, had given the Colts a 7-3 lead with the first of his two touchdowns with 5:26 to go in the second quarter.

But the Rams, who opened the scoring with David Ray's 20-yard field goal, struck back quickly. They drove 60 yards in seven plays to go in front 10-7 on a 12-yard TD pass from Roman Gabriel to Les Josephson.

The victory pulled Baltimore to within a half-game of first place Miami in the American Conference East, while the Rams fell 1½ games off the pace from front-running San Francisco in the National Conference West.

Gumper still leads NHL goalies

MONTREAL (CP) — Two veteran goaltenders—Lorne Gump and Cesare Maniago of Minnesota North Stars—have provided the National Hockey League with its best early-season netminding mark since 1953.

Statistics released by the league today show that after limiting the opposition to only two goals in three Minnesota victories last week—including Worsley's 3-0 shutout over the Flyers in Philadelphia last Sunday—the pair has allowed 21 goals in 14 games.

This is five fewer goals than any other team has allowed and it lowered the Worsley-Maniago combined goals-against average to 1.50 from the 1.72 figure the pair had compiled one week ago.

Not since the 1953-54 season when the late Terry Sawchuk and Dave Gathum teamed up with Detroit Red Wings for a combined 1.43 goals-against mark after 14 games, has an average been lower.

Worsley and Maniago also share the lead in shutouts with three, the same number as the combo of Tony Esposito and Gary Smith of Chicago Black Hawks. Esposito has two of Chicago's three shutouts.

GUMPER'S AVERAGE 1.00

Worsley, 42, has a goals-against average of 1.00, while Maniago, 32, has two shutouts and a 2.00 individual mark. Each has played seven games.

After the same number of games last season, Minnesota netminders had allowed 32 goals for a goals-against average of 2.29, had not recorded a shutout, and the club was in fourth place.

Today the Stars have a share of the West Division lead with the powerful Hawks. Both clubs have 22 points, but Minnesota has a game in hand over Chicago.

Only one game is scheduled tonight when Pittsburgh Penguins visit the Blues in St. Louis.

In the individual scoring race, right winger Rod Gilbert and linemate Vic Hadfield of New York Rangers each collected seven points last week for totals of 24 and 23 respectively. Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins dropped to third spot with 21 points, two more than Jean Ratelle, who centres Gilbert and Hadfield.

Boston defenceman Bobby Orr is on a level with Ratelle's 19 points. Orr leads the league in assists with 15. Tied for sixth place with 18 points each are the leading goal scorers, Frank Mahovich of Montreal with 14 and rookie Richard Martin of Buffalo Sabres with 11.

The line of Gilbert, Hadfield and Ratelle has amassed 66 scoring points in 14 games this season and is in a good position to break the record for most points by a line set last season when Phil Esposito, Ken Hodge and Wayne Cashman of Boston combined for 336 scoring points.

If they continue at their present rate, the New York trio could finish with 368 points.

Equestrian team meets problem tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — The Canadian equestrian team was basking today in the glory of its first Nations Cup victory of the year and first at the National Horse Show since 1959.

But the Canadians still have another major problem in tonight's final session of the 88th edition of the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden. They are four points behind the Americans in the battle for overall honors.

The United States equestrian team leads Canada for the team title, 76-72, with Argentina, the third team in the competition, trailing with 36 points.

The Nations Cup is the most important international class in horse shows around the world. Each country, with the exception of the U.S., is permitted only one Nations Cup. The U.S., because of its numerous shows, is permitted two.

The U.S. team won the other at the Pennsylvania National Show in Harrisburg two weeks ago. That was the third time coach Bert de Nemethy's riders won the event this year. They also triumphed in France and West Germany last summer.

ONE CUP REMAINS

One Nations Cup remains for both the U.S. and Canadian equestrian team. That is scheduled for the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto next week.

In the cup competition Monday night, the Canadian team finished with seven faults and the U.S. team had 12. Ironically, all the faults incurred by both teams took place in the first round during the afternoon session. Both teams had clean performances—only the scores of the top three of the four riders on the team are counted—in the final round during the night session before a crowd of about 8,000 in Madison Square Garden.

The Canadian performance was paced by Torchy Millar of Ste. Marguerite Station, Que., riding Le Dauphin, who produced the only clean performance in the first round among the 12 international riders competing. Millar repeated the feat in the second round as did Barbara Simpson of Calgary, riding Catbird. Anchorman was Jim Day, Olympic medalist from Hornby, Ont., riding Sundancer. Day was the last rider up and his flawless performance clinched the title for the Canadians.

In the first round, Day had three faults and Miss Simpson four.

The U.S. riders were Neal Shapiro, on Sloopy, Joe Fargis on San Lucas, Frank Chapot, on White Lightning and Bill Steinkraus, on Fleet Apple.

Sloopy, San Lucas, and Fleet Apple all were charged with four faults in the first round. White Lightning had 11, but that score didn't count.

U.S. RALLIES

The U.S. rallied in the second round with four faultless rides by Shapiro, Fargis and Chapot. After Day's faultless round, Steinkraus scratched Fleet Apple when it became obvious that the U.S. team couldn't win.

"This is a good feeling, beating the Yanks on their home grounds," said the jubilant Day, a 25-year-old auto salesman who rode in the cleanup spot for the first time.

Brig. Dannis Whitaker of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian team, was more somber in his analysis.

"We were very thrilled because Tom Gaylord and Jim Elder, for many years our mainstays, were unable to accompany the team," he said.

"I think it also proves the program we have been following has given depth to the team, not only in riders, but in horses as well."

Gotta expected to get vote of confidence

OTTAWA (CP) — Coach Jack Gotta is expected to get a vote of confidence within a short time and then begin scouting for next year's edition of the Ottawa Rough Riders.

Gotta, who still has a year to go on his Rider contract, appeared to be in trouble when Riders threatened to end up for the second straight season as the last-place team in the Eastern Football Conference.

They recovered to win three straight games and a place in the EFC semi-finals, only to lose to Hamilton Tiger-Cats during the weekend in the sudden death game.

Owner David Loeb had said that he and general manager Frank Clair would "reassess" team personnel and policy soon after the season ended.

If Gotta's job was in danger, he probably wiped away the doubts with a third-place finish in the second year of a rebuilding job.

Attendance for the year at Lansdowne Park was 159,797, roughly 6,000 fewer than 1970.

Shortly after the loss to Hamilton, Gotta outlined his scouting plans for next year.

"First of all, we'll bring in some quarterbacks," he said. "The greater percentage of our recruiting has centred around quarterbacks."

The job now belongs to Rick Cassata, who took over from Gary Wood late in the season. The coach indicated Cassata is a front-runner for the position.

"He has come along real well in the late season," said Gotta. "He's improved and can't be overlooked."

NEED OUTSIDE RUNNERS

The Ottawa offence this year also suffered from the lack of outside running. Filling that gap also is high on Gotta's shopping list.

Gotta also wants to bolster his defensive backfield. All of the jobs now, with the exception of Al Marcellin, are held by Canadians.

Gotta has no alibis for the loss to Hamilton that ended the Rider season.

"We know we were short in spots," explained the coach. "But you always hope. They just beat us."

Ali

HOUSTON (AP) — Muhammad Ali planned a workout today that he hopes will knock a couple of pounds or so off his 224½-pound weight.

Ali went eight rounds with four sparring partners Monday in preparation for his scheduled 12-round bout Nov. 17 against Buster Mathis.

Ali arrived in town Sunday weighing 228 but dropped that to the 224½ mark with the Monday sparring session.

W.I. members meet with Mrs. C. Brock

DENISONS MILLS — The regular meeting of the W.I. was held on Oct. 14 at the home of Mrs. C. Brock.

Jams and jellies were brought in and Mrs. Boreham kindly offered to deliver these to the Wales Home in Richmond for the senior citizens.

Mrs. Carson, Education convener, read a very informative article "New warning labels on Headache Preparation". She stressed the importance of reading all labels on bottles or cartons of any kind.

Mrs. M. Stalker and Mrs. Boreham were to form a committee to buy articles for the handbags. These are to be filled during the spring months.

Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Brock offered to mark the flowered quilt. This is to be quilted in the near future.

The Sunshine collection netted $2.80 for the fund. Mrs. Carson won the mystery prize.

Mrs. Harold Beard kindly offered her home for an evening of cards. Mrs. Brock offered to make the tallies and Mrs. Boreham to look after the prizes. All members to assist with the lunch.

All members present decided to buy UNICEF cards and the absent members were to be contacted to see if they wished to support this worthy cause.

The next meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. Boreham when the citizenship program will be in charge of the convener Mrs. Patrick.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Border Curling Club meets

BOUNDARY (IH) — The semi-annual meeting of the Border Curling Club was held at the Club House the evening of Wednesday, November 3.

President Roger Colehower presided and highlighted the business from the summer directors meeting.

Some changes had been made, the previous auditor who had moved away has been replaced by Raymond Prue, C. R. MacLean, after several years as membership chairman has resigned and been replaced by Miss Arlene Probyn assisted by Miss Laurette Davignon. He also noted chairman of his various committees.

These include Garry Carruthers as outside match, and Bert Renwick, inside match. Raymond Langevin, chairman of entertainment. Dick Wheelock, publicity, and others for good curling and management.

Mr. Colehower was named chairman of the Canusa Bonspiel committee, which is feature spiel of the season.

Miss Probyn, reporting on the membership for this season, noted it is very satisfactory with prospective members interested, several active and associate already paid.

Dr. Perry Fitch, chairman of Caledonia District No. 5, reported on a recent meeting he had attended. He stressed the importance of Branch participation and noted several important dates for curling in other clubs. November 27 is the Grand Match for the Edinburgh Trophy. The Border can handle four teams with two ice sheets. He urged entry with Harry Blain of Sherbrooke who will assign the registered teams to the various clubs.

Ron Smith, vice-president, and chairman of bar and ice, said the directors had made a study of both and agreed to recommend hiring Craig Grieve as general maintenance man starting on salary November 8. This move was approved by the assembly. It was also agreed to try out an extra waiter for the large parties, if this proves feasible one will be continued throughout the season on party evenings.

A notice of motion was made to change one of the bylaws of the club by adding four words for clarification, all shareholders to be notified and a vote to be taken at the spring annual meeting.

Mr. Colehower announced that National Curling Week has been declared across Canada to be November 8-13 when visitors will come to the club and be given an opportunity to observe and try a hand at the game. The Border ice is now being made, if ready this specified week will be observed, however, if the ice is not ready it will be the following week.

The men's club officially opened on November 5 with an oyster stew tag supper and Monte Carlo Night which was attended by members and friends.

The Women's Club officially opened with a fashion show in October which was most successful.

A committee of nine men with Mr. Renwick, as chairman, will meet to discuss pro's and con's of running the Men's League this year, it was announced by Mr. Colehower.

QWI Think-in at Richmond

Mrs. W. Lancaster
RICHMOND — A QWI Think-

In was held at St. Francis Elementary School on Oct. 16, 1971.

Ninety-five members from Sherbrooke Compton and Stanstead Counties attended.

Mrs. V.R. Beattie QWI President and Mrs. W. Brocombe, Richmond County President, gave a warm welcome to everyone.

Beattie introduced Mrs. McGibbon FWIC 4th vice president and past QWI president who took charge of the meeting, which opened with repeating of the Mary Stewart Collect, and singing of the Ode.

Mrs. McGibbon said this one day Think-in or Leadership Course was a trial basis, a pilot to future Courses. QWI must move with the times, keep alert, communicate with people.

Learn something from your meetings and then she went on and explained How to Conduct a meeting such as Parliament Procedure. Get business done in a businesslike way. To make a motion, second it, ask questions about project, then ask for vote. How to make an amendment.

Mrs. Cascadden QWI treasurer was then introduced. She gave a report on the QWI funds and how they were used. Extension funds and pennies for friendship help to keep this going.

Meeting was adjourned at 12 o'clock for lunch. Casseroles, salads, rolls, squares and tea were served, all branches of Richmond County helped make and serve this dinner.

Meeting resumed at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. McGibbon gave a talk on her trip to Oslo and part of the business at Convention. She displayed some embroidery and crafts of Norway, gave a souvenir to the youngest and oldest member attending the Think-In.

Mrs. McGibbon and Mrs. Beattie both gave further information on the Oslo convention. A cup was donated to Mr. Henderson, Adjudicator, to present to the winner of the best 1972 play.

QWI Agriculture Mrs. G. French gave a report, also QWI 2nd vice president Miss Edna Smith.

Meeting came to a close with a vote of thanks given to Mrs. McGibbon, Mrs. V.R. Beattie and Mrs. Cascadden.

Spontaneous collection was taken to be given to Mrs. Cascadden towards the Land Rover.

Canada will buy a Land Rover for the Republic of South Africa Ladies, to travel to their meetings. It was suggested that the December tea money or 10 cents per member be sent for this project. If we sincerely try
