

High Seas Call

LONDON (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones sailed westward through the placid waters of the English Channel today, bound for a sunshine honeymoon in the Caribbean.

To the customary "whither bound?" signal from channel shore stations, the royal yacht Britannia, carrying Princess Margaret and her commoner husband flashed back the jaunty reply of olden-day British sea dogs: "Destination unknown — high seas."

Then the ship closed its radio to all but official messages. The Britannia was headed for the West Indies but no port of call has been announced. Most speculation favored Trinidad, which Margaret has visited before and was warmly greeted as the "calypso princess."

Others suggested the honeymooners might swing northward and call at a U.S. gulf port such as New Orleans or the Florida coast.

The admiral refused to say. NEVER TO BE FORGOTTEN Behind the princess was a wedding day of never-to-be forgotten magnificence and pageantry.

It was a day of sunshine, smiles and the thundering cheers of close to 2,000,000 Britons for their favorite princess and the man of her choice.

An estimated 300,000,000 people throughout the United Kingdom and western Europe either heard or watched the solemn Anglican wedding ceremony Friday in Westminster Abbey on radio or television.

The newlyweds finally waved goodbye to London as the Britannia cleared Tower Bridge over the Thames.

The honeymoon yacht was cheered by thousands thronging the river banks. Every riverside town emblazoned its waterfront with floodlights, flags and huge bonfires.

Sirens blared a deafening send-off from a myriad of ships. Big and small ocean liners and battered old merchantmen of a dozen nations joined in the chorus.

Pilot Of U.S. Plane Said Alive

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The pilot of an American plane shot down over Russia last Sunday is alive and in Russian hands, Nikita S. Khrushchev said today.

The Soviet premier said the pilot, 30-year-old Francis Garry Powers, was on an espionage flight and may stand trial here. Khrushchev told a tumultuous session of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) that he thought "it would be right to put the pilot on trial."

He said Powers, a former captain in the U.S. Air Force before transferring to the central intelligence agency in 1956, was shot down by a rocket near Sverdlovsk in the Ural mountains.

The pilot was under orders to kill himself to avoid capture but was now "alive and kicking" in Moscow, he said.

Khrushchev dismissed an American suggestion that the plane might have strayed over Soviet territory when the pilot lost consciousness at high altitudes.

Powder Milk Support Urged

OTTAWA (CP) — Restoration of the federal support price on powdered milk was urged in the Commons Friday by Augustin Brassard (L.—Lapointe).

He conceded that the government could lose between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 a year in buying up surplus powdered milk under a renewed support program.

But the surplus milk could be donated by the government to needy countries under the Colombo plan. This would be a "highly humanitarian measure" and at the same time would aid the dairy industry — which Mr. Brassard said is in a critical state in Quebec.

Since February, the market price on powdered milk had dropped to 7½ or eight cents a pound from 12.

Canada milk powdered production now was running at about 170,000,000 pounds a year, of which about 120,000,000 was consumed in Canada.

Trade With China

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett said Friday "we should trade with everyone, including Red China." "That is the way to get peace," he told a press conference. Asked if he believed Canada should recognize the Red Chinese government, the premier said: "I'm talking only about trade, nothing else."

A Wedding And An Execution

Glad, Sad Events

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN Canadian Press Staff Writer

You could contrast two stories in the week's news—one sad, one glad.

A princess married her man, just an ordinary man, a photographer. Widely publicized and sometimes with scoffing overtones, the marriage of Princess Margaret to Antony Armstrong-Jones was the highlight of the week.

When the marriage took place Friday, there was rejoicing in the Commonwealth—even the old and cynical spoke of it with a soft smile of sweet memory.

BUT... The news was far from hearts and flowers in other ways. In California, a 12-year battle came to an end when Caryl Chessman, 38, was finally executed, still protesting that he was not the Red Light bandit who terrorized women in Los Angeles years ago. Chessman's execution let loose a flood of protest in the Western world—mostly from people who disagree with capital punishment in principle.

COMMONWEALTH TALKS Commonwealth leaders meeting in London shied away from formal discussion of the South African racial issue. Prime Minister Diefenbaker proposed an aid plan—along the lines of the Colombo plan—for South Africa.

SOVIET SHAKEUP In a major change of the Soviet Communist party leadership, Frol Kozlov was released from his duties as first deputy premier and elevated to a re-organized secretariat of the Communist party's central committee.

NATO FOLLOWUP The NATO foreign ministers—ending their meeting in troubled Turkey—in a final communique called on Russia to practise co-operation and co-existence.

They accused the Kremlin of attempting to swindle world public opinion on the issues of war and peace. On disarmament, the ministers said Russia has refused thus far even to discuss specific practical measures for ending the arms race.

STILL DIFFICULTY Disturbances continued in Turkey, meanwhile, although they did not get out of hand. The United States Embassy there issued an order saying that the ambassador had not interfered in the internal affairs of the government—as had been charged in South Korea last week.

Defence Minister Peareks said in Ottawa Tuesday that work on Canada's two Bomarc missile sites will continue for another two months at least.

The minister said that no final decision on scrapping the Bomarc by the United States government could be expected until the end of June.

Repeating these remarks in Victoria Tuesday night, he added that there had been no change in Canada's defence plans.

IN CANADA June 8 was picked as Saskatchewan's provincial election day. The CCF government of Premier T. C. Douglas, in power since 1944, will campaign on a proposal to institute a pre-paid, compulsory, all-embracing medical care program.

This makes three provincial elections for the summer—Nova Scotians will vote June 7 and Quebecers June 22.

GERMAN TROUBLE West Germany's refugee minister, Theodor Oberlander, resigned after coming under pressure from government and opposition forces because of his Nazi past.

He has admitted being a Nazi but denied some charges that he took part in the 1941 massacres of Jews at Lemberg, Poland.

Lesage Unveils Platform

Quebec Bonuses Promised

MONTREAL — Liberal Leader Jean Lesage unveiled his party's election platform which includes a promise to pay a bonus of $10 a month to old age, disabled and blind pensioners.

He said the supplementary payments, after means test, will be established in the first session of the next Quebec Legislature, if his party is elected to power.

"And we are assured of victory," he told a press conference attended by Liberal candidates and party organizers from all 95 constituencies in the province.

COST TO PROVINCE Later he told a reporter the supplementary payments, similar to those paid in Ontario and some western provinces, will cost the provincial treasury $20,000,000.

The Liberal party's 53-clause platform is divided into five main sections dealing with the life of French-Canada, economic expansion, welfare, constitutional problems and provincial administration.

Old age allowances to the needy between 65 and 70 years of age and pensions to the blind and disabled, which now are $55 a month, are shared by the province and the federal government. Old age pensions to all persons 70 years or more are paid by the federal government alone.

The Liberal platform contains the promise to extend, at provincial cost, the old age allowance to needy widows and unmarried women between 60 and 65.

HOSPITAL PLAN One of the first things a Liberal government in Quebec would do would be to establish a hospital insurance plan which would permit Quebecers to share in the benefits of the federal hospital insurance plan while retaining their constitutional rights in the matter.

Big Election Guns Start This Weekend

By CUTHBERT JONES (Record Staff Writer)

The first heavy artillery battle of the 1960 provincial general election campaign is scheduled for this weekend when the two major party leaders, Premier Antonio Barrette and Hon. Jean Lesage, officially open their campaigns.

Premier Barrette will address a monster rally on Sunday afternoon in his home riding of Joliette, following the Quebec tradition that the head of a government should present to his own electors the accomplishments and promises of his administration.

Liberal Leader Lesage will open his drive for election at Louiseville in Maskinonge County, also on Sunday afternoon. Although Mr. Lesage himself is a resident of Quebec City, his ancestors established themselves in Maskinonge in 1680, his parents moving to Quebec City in 1924.

Premier Barrette will be supported by Hon. Maurice Teller, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Victor Chartrand, former MPP for L'Assomption, and Azellus Lavallee, former MPP for Berthier.

Speaking for Mr. Lesage will be Georges Lapalme, former Liberal party leader and candidate in Montreal-Outremont; Rene Hamel, former MPP for St. Maurice, and Paul Gerin-Lajoie, candidate in Vaudreuil-Soulanges.

Active campaigning generally waits on these opening speeches by the party leaders as the basic party platforms are generally presented at these meetings. Once the leaders have spoken, the boys know what to talk about.

LISTS FILLING — But while the election campaign only opens tomorrow, the organizations of both parties have been busy in the important preliminary work.

One of these tasks is the lining up of candidates and this has advanced so far that by tonight, both parties will have selected

Mother's Day

Even Special Menus For Dad and Kids

By MIKE DAIGNEAULT (Record Staff Reporter)

Mothers, tomorrow is your day!

A day which has been set aside for you and you alone. Why not take advantage of it?

You can start preparing for it by placing the alarm clock either beside your husband or beside your oldest child. They will probably need plenty of time in the morning if they are to prepare for a truly festive occasion for you.

You could also arrange to attend an afternoon church service if possible since there will be no need for you to get up in the morning.

If Mother's Day is to be a real tribute to mothers, then the family should prepare dinner on that day. And of course, mother shouldn't be allowed to do the dishes.

Following is a me.1 menu, planned especially to be made by dad and the children, worked out by the consumer section of Canada's Department of Agriculture:

Tomato juice, baked marinated chicken, baked potatoes, buttered corn niblets, spring salad, apple jelly, hot tea biscuits, canned peaches with brown sugar crunch.

Preparations should be started early in the day and even then you will probably consider yourself lucky if dinner is served before 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The rest of the day, you can spend in your favorite chair while the family does dishes and runs errands for you.

Incidentally, if you get away with this, you will earn the envy and respect of thousands of other mothers who can't.

$75,000 Damage In Fire

DRUMMONDVILLE — Fire caused an estimated $75,000 damage and left thirty-seven people homeless yesterday morning at Drummondville.

Originating from a private garage, the blaze quickly spread to two nearby buildings when barrels of oil and gasoline exploded. When firemen arrived, the three buildings, all of wood construction, were a mass of flames.

All the buildings which were the property of Patrick Lampron, 58 Papineau Street, were a total loss. So rapid was the spread of the fire that the inhabitants escaped with little more than the clothes which they were wearing.

The Red Cross was on hand to provide coffee for the firemen and comfort to the victims of the blaze.

105 Hurt In Tokyo Explosion

TOKYO Saturday (Reuters) — Police reported one person missing and 105 injured early today after a gunpowder magazine exploded in suburban Yokosuka.

The blast destroyed 25 houses and damaged many others, routing scores of sleeping families from their beds.

Police said 22 of the casualties were severely injured. Personnel from a United States naval base at Yokosuka went to the scene to give assistance.

The gunpowder magazine belonged to a private company.

Police had reported earlier that at least 40 persons had been killed and injured and about 2,000 houses damaged.

BISHOPTON — The Christmas Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Herring with a good attendance. The evening was spent playing 500 and Mrs. Lloyd Harrison and Mrs. Horace Ainsworth were prize winners. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. Harrison. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Flora McIntyre.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Knight George were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Forgrave of Sawyerville.

Mrs. M. A. Porter, of Randolph, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ainsworth.

Mrs. Clara Gilbert is reported making satisfactory progress after recent surgery.

Mrs. C. Powers, of Brigham, was a guest of Mrs. William Bentley.

Mrs. Albert Willard has returned home after some time in Stanstead with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andersen.

IT'S ALL OVER — Actress Lucille Ball sits in court at Santa Monica, Calif., where she obtained a default divorce from her bandleader husband, Desi Arnaz. Miss Ball testified that her life had been a "nightmare" for the past three years.

HENDERSON VALE — Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Wright were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Little in Inverness.

RAIL MAGNATE — Jay Gould, the U.S. railroad magnate who died in 1892, began his career as a railway surveyor's assistant.

Socio-Cultural Highlight

Certificates - Prizes Presented At Art Tea In Thetford Mines

THETFORD MINES — The Art Tea, highlight of the season so far as socio-cultural events go was held in the Elks Club under the direction of Mrs. Leo Poudrier, teacher of drawing, oil painting, carved and embossed leather work and copper work.

There was a capacity crowd in attendance and the art work was delightfully displayed.

The afternoon's program was opened by Mrs. L. Beaudoin after which Mr. Plouffe, director of the Arts and Trades School, presented the certificates to the various classes.

Five students graduated from the Art School this year and in addition to their certificates each received a token gift. Among the graduating class were: Misses Cecile Carrier, Aline Marceus, Carmen Rousseau, Aline Roy, and Royal Lessard.

Other students who received first and second year certificates included: Therese Beaudoin, Hugette Grogreire, Therese Lessard, Clemence Potvin, Mrs. Shirley Simpson, Mrs. Madeleine Allaire, Mrs. Lucille Bilodeau, Francois Couture, Mrs. Ann Edwards, Denise Gagne, Jeannaise Hamel, Arnel Morneau, Mrs. Stephanie Nadeau, Aline Rahal, Mrs. Gabrielle Simard, Lucette Therberge, Mrs. Monique Coriveau, Esther Couture, Mrs. Yolande DiCicco, Lise Gagne, Claude Grenier, Mrs. Isabelle Messel, Lise Pare, Mrs. Jeannette Poirer, Denise Pomerleau, Rose-Helen Pomerleau, Mrs. Gabrielle Roy, and Frere Gaetan.

Those who exhibited leather or copper work included Lise Bergeron, Florence Breton, Paulette Dufresne, Frere Gaetan, Mrs. Rachelle Houle, Lise Lachance, Pauline Lagueux, Solange Lagueux, Jeanne Lizotte, Laval Mercier, Francoise Poirer, Mrs. Nelson Poirer, Mrs. Monique Poulin, Jacques line St. Hilaire, and Jean-Guy Veuillet.

Following the presentation of certificates, the students presented Mrs. Poudrier with flowers. Guest speakers were W. Dugre and J. Fugere who spoke on different phases of photography. Mr. Dugre spoke on photography as a hobby and by illustrations from his own work and hints on technique pointed out how the amateur photographer can not only have fun with his pictures but perfect the art until he learns to tell a story in pictures. Two of Mr. Dugre's most interesting pictures were, Portrait in Bronze, and one of a man in a boat taken at 5 a.m. through mist and fog.

Mr. Fugere listed the five errors most often made in portrait photography, namely the split profile, the head tilted without meaning, the profile tipped too far backward, bad lighting and the neck too vertical. He pointed out that a portrait should appeal to the emotions or tell something and then it doesn't matter whether you know the person or not. Mr. Fugere delighted the audience with such notable examples of his work as, The Shawl and The Traveller, and ended his interesting talk by pointing out that in many ways photography was more difficult than painting, since the painter had before him what he wanted to paint while the photographer must plan his picture and then capture it on film.

In token of appreciation to the speakers, Mrs. Poudrier presented each with a gift.

Mrs. Georges Poirer won the door prize.

Following a delightful tea the guests inspected the display of art work.

Through perhaps not always the best in performance, the creative pictures as usual captured the most interest, since they depicted scenes with which many were familiar, for example, Therese Beaudoin's Sun Going Down on Lake Aylmer, and Mrs. Shirley Simpson's United Church Manse. Cecil Carrier's creative work was called Clair de Lune and Aline Marceus's was 368 Cyr.

Mrs. Ann Edwards had on display two outstanding reproductions called, Ocean View and By the Lake. Miss Lucette Therberge continued her reproductions of old masters this year doing Girl in pink blouse and Brown Hair, among others. Second year student, Aline Rahal, elicited much admiring comment with her straw Hat still life. First year student, Mrs. Yolande DiCicco, evinced great promise for future work in her outstanding Winter Scene and Rocks at Shetland. Denise Gagne exhibited two very interesting pictures, An Old Lady In a Red Shawl, and a rather startling piece of work entitled Business. Jacques Fugere exhibited two very striking pictures featuring swans.

The exhibit of paintings was on display in the Golf and Curling Club during the week following the tea.

GET-TOGETHER CLUB — The Get-Together-Club featured hat-making as its entertainment and led to the wearing of some riotous head-gear before the evening was over.

There was a comparatively short business session although a number of decisions were made. Owing to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. E. Alexander are leaving Thetford Mines to live in the United States, it became necessary to appoint a new secretary in her place of Mrs. Alexander, and Mrs. John Mossop was elected.

A nominating committee, made up of Mrs. John Mossop, Mrs. Pat Kennedy and Charles Smith, was set up to bring in a slate of new officers at the next meeting.

It was decided that the invitation to visit the Sherbrooke Double-or-Nothing Club would be accepted, the annual get-together of the two clubs to take place on May 21. A committee headed by Lorne Taylor will be in charge of the entertainment. It was also decided to hold the next club meeting on May 11 with the Simpson group in charge.

The devotional was handled by Charles Smith and Pat Kennedy. Armed with ribbons, bows, flowers and such, the members were divided into groups and undertook to make hats during the social part of the evening. Model for one group of hat-makers was Lorne Taylor and modelling the other group's creation was Mrs. Jim Lovatt.

Following the hat session, refreshments were served by the Hill group.

BONDVILLE —

Mr. Herman Hadlock is making extensive repairs to the front of his store.

Mrs. Hazel Miller, of Montreal, spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Tibbitts.

Foster Group Entertained By Mrs. L. Allen

FOSTER — The Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. Lionel Allen with 11 members present. Mrs. G. C. Whitcher read the Easter message in the absence of the devotional leader, Mrs. Gordon Honey.

The president, Mrs. B. R. Mizener presided. Minutes were read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. B. Williams. Several bills were ordered paid.

Mrs. Allen Whitecher brought in a quilt top and several knitted articles. Mrs. L. Sidorchuk also presented several more finished aprons.

Mrs. Ross Boyd will entertain the next regular meeting at her home.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by members, nine gentlemen joining the ladies.

BROME —

Word has been received by Mrs. Flora Draper of the death of her son-in-law Mr. Ray Beauregard, of St. Albans Bay, Vt. He leaves his wife, the former Florence Draper, their two children, Priscilla and Ralph.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Frizzle, of Amhurst, Mass., have been spending a holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Edwards. Mr. Frizzle's grandmother, Mrs. Maude Richeard, accompanied them on their return trip, and will visit her daughter, Mrs. D. H. Frizzle, Mr. Frizzle and family, at Springfield, Mass.

Friends will be sorry to learn that Mrs. W. T. Sibley is a patient in the B.M.P. Hospital, Sweetsburg.

Mrs. Charles Derby, of Sutton Junction, is assisting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Eldridge.

A successful collection for the Cancer Research Society has just been completed. The canvassers, Mrs. John Osterdahl, Mrs. J. C. Soles, Miss Norma Owens, with team captain, Mrs. H. Belcher, report a generous response. A total of $74.15 was realized.

International Theme At Tea In Waterloo

WATERLOO—The International tea held in the United Church was of much interest to the large number of mothers and children who attended. Sponsored by the Junior Groups of the church, it was well arranged in every detail.

The hall was decorated with large posters of every land to carry out the theme of the tea. Big maps of different countries added to the color and interest. Cut flowers and pots of spring blooms were on the tables.

Around the hall were booths with products from all nations for sale. The boys of the Junior Choir sold their unusual articles very quickly and at a good profit.

Chairman for the short program was Mrs. W. H. Boomhour. The Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. M. Singfield and accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. Wing, sang several songs. Recitations were given by Anne Norris and Heather Squires. The Mission Band, trained by their leader, Mrs. George Young, assisted by Mrs. Gordon Westover, added a charming little number, when each child wore a costume of a different race, including Dutch, Japanese, African, Indian, Swiss, etc.

The program opened and closed with a piano solo by the talented musician, Miss Irene Boomhour, whose classical numbers were most appreciated.

The table was attractively centred with a large, round cake to represent the world, decorated with tiny silk flags of the nations. Pouring tea were Mrs. Bruce Soles and Mrs. Gerald Daine.

The tea was arranged and served by the C.G.I.T. with their leader, Mrs. John MacAskill as supervisor.

SUTTON —

Mr. and Mrs. Clare R. Wilson, of Montreal, and daughter Greta were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson, Miss Greta remaining over for a week's holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Shroeder, of Ville St. Pierre, were weekend guests at the Wilson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lapitre and family, of Ottawa, were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Flanagan, Mrs. D. N. McCounin and family, of Essex Jct., Vt., were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Laraway, at Easter.

For Better Cycling

City And Lennoxville Plan All-Out Bicycle Safety Drive

Spring is here and once again bicycles are appearing on the streets in ever increasing numbers as young people from six to sixteen take to their favorite mode of transportation.

For years, ever-increasing emphasis has been placed on bicycle safety and this year an all-out drive is planned in this city and Lennoxville to attain an accident-free record for cyclists.

Sherbrooke Police Chief Edouard Moreau revealed plans for a safety campaign something like the car checkups held annually. He said that it would not be obligatory and that it would be held sometime before school ends for the year.

Lennoxville Police Chief Eric Maddiss is obtaining from Prudentia (the Highway Safety League) 500 pamphlets in English and French which contain safety slogans and a pledge for the cyclist to sign. On bylaws for bicycles, Chief Maddiss had this to say:

By MIKE DAIGNEAULT
 (Record Staff Reporter)

"We have them and we firmly intend to enforce them. I have no hesitancy about handing out tickets to people who violate these bylaws."

Why all this emphasis on bicycle safety? Both police chiefs agreed that a reckless driver on a bicycle could cause as much trouble and as much damage as a reckless driver in a car.

A nerve wracking sight is that of one or more cyclists weaving in and out of traffic on a busy street. Nerve-wracking not only because of danger to the cyclists themselves, but because of what might happen if a car were forced to swerve suddenly to avoid them.

It costs little to outfit a bicycle so that it is safe and complies with regulations and it could save a lot of tragedy and heartbreak, police point out.

Here are some tips for safe bicycling obtained from the police departments of Sherbrooke and Lennoxville.

Never ride on sidewalks.

When riding with one or more companions, stay in single file.

When riding at night, the bicycle should have a light in the front and a good reflector or small light on the back.

Don't ride with more than one person on the bicycle.

Observe all stop signs, traffic lights and other traffic regulations.

Above all, don't be a show-off. This type of person usually ends up by showing assorted injuries to his friends.

Cost Of Referendum Said $1,500

Need 10 Per Cent Of Eligible Voters

It would cost the City of Sherbrooke about $1,500 if the Sherbrooke Proprietors' League forces a referendum on the $910,000 public works loan by-law to be presented to the public for approval next Wednesday, the Mayor of Sherbrooke said yesterday.

"And then at least 10 per cent of the proprietors must vote if the by-law is to pass," he said at his weekly press conference.

Two New Plants For City

Two new industries will be built in Sherbrooke when the new Walter M. Lowney plant comes into operation next year, it was learned yesterday.

The two new companies — one a chocolate bar wrapping paper company, the other a manufacturer of fancy chocolate boxes would employ about 100 people.

It is believed that Mayor Armand Nadeau who was in Montreal yesterday on a business trip, was negotiating with officials of the two companies.

"If less than 10 per cent of the property owners vote, the by-law will be defeated. The number of Sherbrooke property owners was set at 6,000 in 1959.

In a public works loan by-law referendum, there would have to be 20 polls set up throughout the city. Cost for each poll would be about $35.

"If there are more than 10 per cent of the property owners voting, the only way the by-law can then be defeated is by a majority vote against it," the mayor said.

Concerning the Sherbrooke Proprietors' League, the mayor said: "They seem to forget that there is not only the mayor in a municipal administration. There are also 10 aldermen. The mayor is simply the president of the council. All the basic work is done by the aldermen."

"Last Monday night I did not oppose anyone, I simply gave my opinion as to what should not be done," he said.

The new $3,000,000 addition at the American Biltrite Company is expected to be in full operation by October, the mayor announced yesterday.

The company is expected to employ 300 new employees to work in the new addition.

Time Now For Shots Of Lakes, Streams

The great outdoors is calling, and streams and lakes are offering great picture possibilities.

Right about now and during the next few weeks is the best time to take pictures of brooks and lakes. The trees are just budding. Normally, in mid summer when the trees are in full leaf, they tend to hide much of the vistas that are available to shutterbugs now.

Snaps like the one above, of course, can be taken anytime.

A flash was used to fill in the shadows. The exposure was computed for the scene and as I used electronic flash, the lens opening was set for the flash exposure and the shutter speed calculated to give correct exposure of the entire scene with the flash fill-in.

Once again, a reminder about your subject or model. To help make your pictures more interesting, have them do something. The shot above, for example, is a novelty or "gag" shot. You may have some ideas of your own, so try them out for fun, providing a co-operative model is available. And another important note. If you are using pan-film with a K-2 filter (yellow), be sure to have the model wear plenty of lipstick or some dark or purple shade or she may end up rather pale looking. Only pan-film will tend to do this.

And don't forget a little blackening of the eye-lashes to add sparkle and life. Happy fishing.

John W. Quinn Former Mayor Of Windsor Dies At 83

Funeral for John W. Quinn former six-term mayor of Windsor Mills, was held this morning at St. Phillippe Church in Windsor.

Mr. Quinn died in hospital there on Wednesday. He was 83. Mr. Quinn owned and managed a lumber business for over 40 years, until his retirement two years ago.

He was a member of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, the Montreal Reform Club, the Sherbrooke Country Club and the Knights of Columbus. For many years, he served as president of the Windsor Fish and Game Club and was himself an active sportsman. He was also a director of the Eastern Townships Telephone Company when it served this area.

Mr. Quinn is survived by his son Bernard, and two grandchildren. Burial was in St. Phillippe cemetery.

Jaycees Sponsor Road-E-O

The local Junior Chamber of Commerce will again this year sponsor a Road-e-o, a competitive examination for young drivers in the district. This year the Road-e-o will coincide with the annual Security Week, May 8-14.

Any young people both boys and girls — under the age of 20 may compete in the Road-e-o as long as they fulfil the required specifications.

To compete they must have a driver's license and no record of breaking any driving laws during the past six months.

The local winner will represent this city at the provincial competition. In turn, three winners from the province of Quebec will be invited to represent the province in the national competition. All their expenses will be paid and the national winner will receive a $2,000 prize.

The local competition will be sponsored by Fabi et Fils and held May 14. In case of rain, it will be held May 21.

The Security Committee is under the chairmanship of M. A. Duquette. Other members are Colin Cole, Raymond Gilbert, Albert Gosselin, Jean-Guy Lachapelle, Ronald Marcel, Pierre Masse and Gerard Morin.

Spring Convention

Education Is For Individual, Boards, Administrators Told

The aim of education should be to benefit the individual child primarily, rather than the group to which he belongs, Dr. J. D. Jeffers, Professor of Education at Bishop's University told a joint meeting of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards and the Quebec Association of Protestant School Administrators at their Annual Spring Convention last night. He expressed the belief that if education first benefited the individual, it could not help but eventually benefit the society.

Speaking on conflicting views on the aim of education, Dr. Jeffers pointed out that one view is that education is for the benefit of the individual being educated, and that the school exists for the child.

Another view is that education is not particularly for the benefit of the individual being educated, but for the benefit of the group which provides the education, that schools exist to serve the community, of the nation, or mankind, he said.

QUALITIES

He offered a list of qualities and characteristics in which we want our children trained, but emphasized that it was not a final one, but one very much open to addition and amendment.

Dr. Jeffers said he would like to have pupils in our school trained in loyalty, obedience, unselfishness, good faith, truthfulness, fortitude and thrift.

If the school will make its aim the inculcation of such civic

Fertilizer And Seeding Problems Come As Ground Begins To Dry Up

During the past week, the ground has been drying up quickly. Farmers having light soil or well drained soil have already commenced preparing the seed bed for spring seeding. Therefore, fertilizer and seed are appropriate factors in the farm calendar for this week.

In preparing the seed bed, farmers should know if their soil requires lime or not. Simple soil tests for acidity may be made at your local agricultural office. More exact analysis of your soil will be made free of charge at the Provincial Laboratories, Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, or by your fertilizer company. A large percentage of our soils in the Eastern Townships require lime to correct the acidity. Liming is especially important where clover and grass seed will be sown.

The recommendations regarding commercial fertilizer to be used have been made by the Quebec Fertilizer Board. The Board is composed of representatives of the Quebec Department of Agriculture, our agricultural colleges, experimental stations and fertilizer companies. All these agencies carry on each year many fertilizer experiments. The results of these tests are outlined at the annual meeting of the Board and recommendations are made. Most of the fertilizers offered for sale are known as complete fertilizer. That is, they contain three main fertilizing elements: nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

All complete fertilizers have the percentage of each of these elements on the sack or label. The first number indicates the percentage of nitrogen, the second the percentage of phosphoric acid, and the third the percentage of potash. Therefore, if the sack is labelled 4-24-20, it means 4 percent of nitrogen, 24 percent phosphoric acid and 20 percent potash. Some soils may not require nitrogen and potash for a grain crop. In this event, the farmer may apply phosphoric acid by using 20 percent superphosphate or basic slag. Pastures may be top-dressed by using a nitrogen fertilizer such as ammonium nitrate. This would be used after the pasture had been properly renovated and fertilized the previous year.

Market gardeners sometimes use a nitrogen fertilizer, such as ammonium nitrate, to push such crops as lettuce and spinach to maturity more quickly. Potatoes require a fertilizer high in potash. Consequently, the fertilizer to be used depends on whether you have made a heavy or light application of manure, or no manure at all.

The first crop to be seeded will in most circumstances on our Eastern Townships farms be the cereal crops (oats and barley). On our cereal crops, we may use 20 percent superphosphate or basic slag at the rate of 375 lbs. to 625 on the non limed acid soil. If the soil has been limed, 2-16-4, 4-24-20 or 8-16-16 may be used. If using 4-24-20, apply 250 to 375 lbs. per acre depending on the fertility of the soil.

The variations in the mixture indicate clearly the importance of having the soil analyzed. The personnel of the provincial soil laboratories, Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, will make a complete analysis of your soil. Boxes for soil samples may be obtained at your nearest agricultural office.

The recommendation for swedes on heavy soil with manure is 525 to 750 lbs. of 8-16-16 per acre. Without manure, 750 to 1250 lbs. of 8-16-16. Swedes on light soil with manure require 750 to 1000 lbs. of 8-16-16, without manure 1000 to 1250 lbs. of 8-16-16 per acre. In order to prevent Brown Heart in swedes, boron is often required. Boron may be applied in the form of granular borax. It is possible to purchase fertilizer with the borax included. If your merchant does not have the fertilizer with borax included, you may purchase the borax and mix it with the fertilizer and broadcast before the final soil preparation.

Our fertilizer Board recommends a mixture of 8-16-16 for potatoes, 750 to 1500 lbs. for late potatoes, 1000 lbs. to 1500 lbs. for early potatoes. If using manure for potatoes use only well rotted manure.

Support Your Hospital

At any hour — at dawn, through the day, at dusk, in the middle of the night — the people in our community hospitals are ready to answer any emergency. And today — the beginning of National Hospital Week — we'd like to pay special tribute to them.

And, at the same time, we'd like to draw attention to the annual campaign for funds of Sherbrooke Hospital which gets under way on Monday, May 9 and continues through to May 31.

This year voluntary campaign workers are seeking $65,000, a sum which they feel will guarantee the ability of Sherbrooke Hospital to continue its necessary work of community service.

When you or your loved ones enter the hospital, the help of many hands and many skills is mobilized at once. Whether you're going to have a baby, an emergency appendectomy, a broken leg set, or a swallowed safety pin removed, the services of the entire hospital family are there to aid you.

And this hospital family is made up of many people whom the patient never sees. We're all aware of the work of our physicians who direct our care, of the nursing personnel who perform so many services, and of others whom we meet directly in the hospital.

But there are many skilled teams behind the scenes, some concerned with tests and treatments, some planning and preparing the regular and special diets which are brought to the bedside three times a day, some busy with the tasks of keeping building and equipment in condition, providing fresh and sterile linens, and keeping everything "hospital-clean," and some specializing in the business management of the hospital, seeing to it that all the complex services are ready when called upon, and that the hospital dollars are wisely spent for more effective care for every kind of patient.

From the governing board of volunteer community leaders, which sets policy and program for the hospital, to the young worker just employed who is learning a new hospital skill on the job, hospital care for each patient is the product of the thought and devoted effort of many people with many kinds of skills.

We hope you will all join with us in saluting the dedicated volunteer and career workers who constantly strive to give us the best in modern hospital care at the lowest possible cost.

And we hope also, that you will give the Sherbrooke Hospital canvasser your cheerful financial support when he or she calls on you this month.

Scouting And Modern Youth

President of the Canadian Boy Scouts Association Rhys M. Sale yesterday posed some serious questions as to whether scouting in Canada today fits the needs of present day social climate.

In a talk at the Association's annual dinner, Mr. Sale said a "searching inquiry into all phases of the Scout program" is now in progress.

One of the factors behind this inquiry is the fact, as Mr. Sale put it, that "whether we like it or not, many boys of Scout age look down upon certain phases of the Scout program as childish."

The root of the problem, he implied, may be that leaders and even parents are not looking deeply enough into Scouting through a boy's eyes. He cited the Boy Scouts' short pants as an example of this. To many Scout Leaders, short pants are an essential and traditional part of the Scout uniform.

But, as Mr. Sale pointed out, many boys are deterred from becoming Scouts because of them. To an adult, he said, this may seem a trivial thing, but it is all important to today's adolescents.

Mr. Sale said the Boy Scout movement today is not attracting and holding Scout-age boys with the same success as is being done in the Cub-age group.

He suggested that one of the reasons for this is that Canadian boys of Scout age are more sophisticated than they were a decade or more ago. Some of the practices and policies practised by Scouting today are only looked upon as corny.

Those concerned with Scouts and Scouting in the Eastern Townships and elsewhere in Canada would do well to take Mr. Sale's words to heart.

Scouting has done an incalculable amount of good in the world since its foundation more than 50 years ago, and the things for which it stands can do still more good.

But like any other organization or project, it must keep up with the times. Otherwise its potential will be largely wasted.

Canada's Navy

Battle of the Atlantic Sunday will be observed across Canada tomorrow in honor of those who served and gave their lives at sea during the Second World War.

Church parades and special service will be held in naval establishments across the nation and in ships at sea to commemorate the long and bitter battle in the North Atlantic. In winning this battle, Canadian ships and men played a major role and brought glory to their native land.

At the same time, Canada's Navy is marking its 50th anniversary.

Founded in 1910 with two old Royal Navy cruisers, Canada's infant navy played a minor role in the First World War and by 1922 its ranks had dwindled to 366 officers and men.

But during the recent war in the successful fight to keep Atlantic lifelines open, the RCN grew to a force of nearly 400 ships with a proud record. The navy sank 70 ships and lost 30 of its own.

All Canadians — not only those whose lives have been directly touched by naval services — should mark these two important anniversaries with gratefulness and pride.

CHESSMAN AFFAIR

(Ottawa Journal)
The irony of the Chessman affair is that American justice is being denounced because it has been too scrupulously respectful of the letter of its own intricate processes. Had the law been less sensitive to law, Caryl Chessman would have died sooner, a routine and almost anonymous execution.

ASTEROID FOR RENT AS PEACEFUL HAVEN

(Peterborough Examiner)
Every man, at some time in his life, dreams of an island paradise with cream-topped surf, wind-rippled palms, tropical fruit dangling just overhead and peace — perfect peace. Alas, it has become an idle dream. Uninhabited and fully-equipped desert islands are rare today and those available are usually cowering in a mushroom shadow. Every week the public relations office at Suva, Fiji, sorrowfully disillusions dozens of would-be Robinson Crusoes who write asking for information on how to get away from it all. They are told that there is no available land.
Proof that many people are approaching the problem of living in the world of today from the other extreme comes from

INDECENT LITERATURE

(Windsor Star)
Drug store and other newsstands get most of the censure, and sometimes censor, because of provocative literature. But all of this isn't contained between the covers of cheap "paperbacks." Some is found in the most surprising places.
Recently we came upon a copy of Current Events, a weekly guide for visitors to Montreal. This is a glossy job designed to attract people to that metropolis and to enable them to enjoy themselves while there.
At least two of the pictures are of the sensually provocative sort. One is of a "belly dancer" described as King Farouk's favorite dancer, then appearing at a Montreal night spot. Her lovely shape was covered by the merest bits of cloth at only the most essential locations.

Another showed a lass described as "The Loretta Young of Burlesque," her attire likewise was most apparent by its lack, and her posture exceedingly seductive.

Quebec Province is an area where censorship of various kinds is not unknown. Yet these pictures are contained as part of Montreal's tourist promotion. And we are told the promoter of this pamphlet is a close relative of a top authority in Montreal. Tut, tut, and another tut!

LESSON IN BREVITY

(North Bay Nugget)
The telephone was invented by Alexander Graham Bell, and the first words spoken over it were "Come here. Mr. Watson, I need you."
And as the parents of any teenager know, the telephone is always busy. The conversations usually begin with the words: "What are you doing?" And an hour later the question has still not been settled.
Perhaps they should be reminded in a friendly fashion that even Dr. Brel had his say in seven words.

BATTLE OF ATLANTIC SUNDAY

Adventures With God

Christ's Ransom Was Effective

By JANE SCOTT

Impatiently I left my typewriter to answer the door. Because of many interruptions I had done nothing but insert the copy paper, and with a deadline to make I was not in the mood for lengthy discussion on any subject.

But when I opened the door and saw a clean-cut, serious-looking young man, I made an effort to be courteous.

He smiled pleasantly as he launched into his sales talk. "I'm representing a group who want to help you to know the truth, regarding world conditions and what they mean to you."

In his hand was a copy of his version of the Bible and a few tracts.

I listened attentively as he recited the speech which I have heard in variations very often. I waited for an opening to ask some questions.

When he paused for a breath, I assured him that I was acquainted with his teachings and I also knew Jesus Christ as my Saviour, and I had made a lifetime study of the Bible.

"Do you believe in His ransom?" he queried me.
"Yes," I said, "I believe that Jesus died on the cross for the sins of the world in general and for me in particular."
Then I countered with the question: "Do you believe in the resurrection of Jesus?"

"I do," he replied, "Jesus came back in spirit but not in body."
"You are wrong there," I ventured. "The Bible says plainly that Jesus arose from the dead in the same body which hung on the cross."
"Oh, no He did not," argued the boy. "If Jesus arose from the dead His ransom would be ineffectual, because He gave His life a ransom, and if He took it back and rose again, it would cancel the effect of His death."

"But," I said, "Jesus himself said: 'Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. . . I have power to lay it down and take it again.' (John 10:17-18)."
"And having paid the price for man's redemption by going through the suffering and experience of death, He was at liberty to exercise His power and rise again, which He did. He had served His term in the prison of death, and not only men, but He himself could go free."

"But," interrupted the young preacher, "there is no proof that Jesus rose in the same body that hung on the cross."
"There is proof," I said, "if you will excuse me I shall get my Bible and read Christ's claims."

When I returned I read: "And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, 'Peace be unto you.' But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit."
"And he said unto them. Why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts?"

Behold, my hands and my feet that it is I myself; handle me, and see; for a SPIRIT HATH NOT FLESH AND BONES AS YE SEE ME HAVE. . . and he shewed them his hands and feet."
"And as if to assure them that He was the same Jesus who had broken bread with them a few days ago He said: 'Have you here any meat? and they gave him broiled fish and honeycomb. And he took it and did eat before them.'"

And "he opened their understanding that they might believe the scriptures which said: 'It behoved Christ to suffer and rise from the dead the third day.' (Luke 24:36-48.) Read the chapter."

ALL BE CHANGED
But, "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God," the young man argued, "neither can corruption inherit incorruption." And he stopped there and I took up the quotation: "Behold, I shew you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed. . . and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed." (I Cor. 15:50-58.)

Before the death and resurrection of Christ, His spirit was subject to the dictates of His body. He could not enter a room, the door being closed.

After His resurrection the chemistry of His body was changed by some mysterious process and under the control of the Spirit and He could appear to His disciples, the doors being closed, and shew them the same nail scarred hands and feet.

This is the mystery of which Paul writes and we must accept it in faith and look forward in hope to going through the same wonderful transformation.

For "if Christ be not risen from the dead, your faith is vain; ye are still in your sins. . . and they which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished." (I Cor. 15:14-18.)

EFFECTIVE RANSOM
"That means," I said, "that Christ's death and resurrection are both essential to make His ransom effective. And we may die in full confidence that because He died and rose again we shall live also."

If Christ be not raised from the dead how can He, a dead man, return to set up the Kingdom of God on earth? And how can dead men of any religious persuasion become rulers in a kingdom of dead men?

No. We must face the fact of Christ's bodily resurrection, always remembering that: If Christ be not raised from the dead your faith (and my faith) is vain.

And your Bible and my Bible and your church and my church are no earthly good. "And we are of all men most miserable."
But the Church, the Bible and Christians all prove that Christ is a living Lord, and at work through His Spirit in our world today.

OTTAWA — A progress report on the strange but significant spectacle playing weekly in the House of Commons.

The two CCF members, Frank Howard from Skeena and Arnold Peters from Timiskamin, show no sign of weakening in the two-man campaign to take divorce out of parliament.

It has been going on since the start of the session when the Senate at once set the mill going and quickly sent over dozens of divorce bills for the usual Commons rubber stamping.

The two young CCF members, as have some of their party predecessors in the past set up a barrier of debate.

They have steadfastly maintained that each bill must be debated on its merits. Normally the Speaker would call the bills in a mass (there are 53 on the order paper today) and all would be put through all stages in a flash.

An amusing and interesting aspect of it this past week, and earlier is the fact that the CCF members are getting some assistance from Conservative members.

Not that it is planned aid or meant to be a help.

It is that some Conservative members get so fed up with the constant and repetitive speeches of the two hold-outs that they jump into the attack on what they call a filibuster.

Nothing could be more welcome to the two holdouts. Such interruptions give them a welcome relief and if it is a filibuster it is aided by those who want to see it end.

Thus, last Friday for instance, when the hour for discussion of private bills (such as divorce bills) came up at five o'clock, and the young pages were sent out of the chamber so their minds would not be corrupted by talk of adultery which is the only ground for divorce in these cases, Messrs. Howard and Peters braced themselves for an hour of talk against time.

That hour of discussion could and normally does place about 8,000 words on Hansard. Quite a lot of talking.

But interruptions by Conservatives, some of it pretty snarling and almost angry, occupied about a quarter of the time.

This obviously delighted the blockaders.
Even Bob McCleave, the harassed young Halifax lawyer and Conservative member who heads the committee and puts his name on all divorce bills as Commons sponsor, helped his tormentors.

He and some of his Conservative associates, talk as if they believed Messrs. Howard and Peters had something against the particular Quebecers seeking freedom by parliamentary divorce.

All the two are doing is to try to force this nasty business into the courts where it belongs — into a federal court if Quebec insists on its stand against establishing divorce courts as all other provinces except Quebec and Newfoundland have done.

This talkathon may bring about the most significant change any act of the current session will effect.

It is a change probably every member, in the secret recesses of his heart, dearly wants to see.

But politics being what it is, only the two CCFers and their party associates, may be but silently seem free to do anything about it.

EVEN HEROES ERR IN BRIDGE PLAY

Robert Whitcomb of Champaign, Ill., writes, "Most of your correspondence comes from people who have been heroes. On this hand I expected to be a hero, but wound up a bum. I regret to say that I would double six spades again with the same hand and I wonder if you or anyone would be smart enough to pull out that king of spades as your opening lead?"

Bob is wrong about one thing. Many of my correspondents tell of their own misadventures and I simply refuse to print them. It is dangerous for a columnist to go so far as to criticize an anonymous East or West and if I should criticize a real person all his friends would get mad at me even if he didn't mind.

In this case I can discuss Bob's tough luck. I can't blame him for doubling the six spade contract, and I refuse to discuss the bidding sequence that produced the slam bid. There is no formula for bidding a hand with 8-5-0-0 distribution and North's diamond void was just what South needed. As for the one lead to beat the slam, I assume that all you readers have noted that all Bob had to do was to drop the king of spades on the table and South would be held to 11 tricks.

All I can say is that if I were South any one would lead that against me I would feel that mayhem or even homicide would be justified.

vegetable crops. Leafy crops, such as lettuce and spinach require an application of 750 to 1125 lbs. of 8-16-16 mixture per acre whereas 750 to 1200 lbs. of 3-12-12 or 375 lbs. to 625 4-24-20 per acre for carrots and beets.

The recommendation for strawberries is 20 tons of well rotted manure the autumn before planting, 8 to 10 days before planting in the spring, apply 375 to 500 lbs. of 8-16-16 per acre. In August when the runners are forming, apply 60 to 100 lbs. of ammonium nitrate; a similar application should be made the first week in September. The following year after harvesting, apply 625 to 750 lbs. of 8-16-16. Later, when runners are forming, add 60 to 100 lbs. of ammonium nitrate.

The recommendation for bush fruits such as raspberries is 625 lbs. to 750 lbs. of 8-16-16 per acre annually.

In the fertilization of orchards a 10-5-10 fertilizer commonly applied at the rate of one lb. for every inch of the diameter of the tree. If the tree has a diameter of 6 inches, apply 6 lbs. to that tree.

SEED

Having the seed bed prepared, limed if required, manured and fertilized, seed is the next important factor.

What seed will be used? If the farmer is using home-grown cereals, they should be properly cleaned with a power fanning mill if possible. If a power fanning mill is not available, a hand fanning mill should be used to remove all weed seeds, light seed and chaff. Germination tests should be made. Pedigreed seed is always advisable. There are two classes of pedigreed seed: registered and certified. Both are true to name, are practically free of other varieties, and have very few weed seeds. Either is satisfactory for use for crop production, but certified seed cannot be used to produce pedigreed seed. Both have been inspected by government inspectors. All sacks are labelled and are sealed.

The provincial seed board recommend the following varieties for the Eastern Townships:

OATS—Glen, Abegweit, Shefford and Gary. Glen and Shefford are early maturing. Gary is medium early maturing. Abegweit is a medium late maturing variety, and Gary is resistant to stem rust, crown (leaf) rust and smut. Glen shows considerable resistance to stem rust and some resistance to crown (leaf) rust.

BARLEY—Parkland Montcalm and Brant are varieties recommended. Parkland has smooth beards, the same applies to Montcalm.

GRAIN MIXTURE — Many farmers sow a mixture of oats and barley. In this event, O.A.C. 21 barley with Glen or Shefford oats is recommended. Brant, Parkland or Montcalm barley may be sown with Gary oats.

In silage corns, many new hybrid varieties are on the recommended list. Such as Algonquin, Cornell M4, Pfister 44, Pioneer 377A; these are similar in maturity to Canada 531.

Pride K 300, Warwick 600, de Kalb 240, Pioneer 349, are similar in maturity to Canada 607.

Funks 830 A and Jacques 11583 are similar in maturity to Wisconsin No. 7.

The correct hybrid for any farm is one which will reach the soft dough stage of maturity before it is ensiled. The difference in maturity between the earliest, which is listed first, and the latest which is listed last, is about two weeks.

SWEDES—Ditmars Bronztop and Laurentian, the latter being recommended for table stock.

POTATOES — Irish Cobbler, early maturing, Katahdin and Sebago, medium maturing, and Green Mountain, late maturing.

and moral virtues, the group will be benefited and the individual will be benefited too, he said. But there is no easy resolution of the conflict since the time in which educators have to instill these virtues is all too little.

Dr. Jefferis contended that the fact we compel children to attend school makes it clear that we do not regard education as being primarily for the benefit of the individual child. He could think of any area of life in which an individual is compelled to benefit himself and in any event such compulsion is unthinkable, he said.

In concluding, Dr. Jefferis said: "Our title should remind us that we cannot run away from our difficulties, and also that we cannot march boldly off to face the future before we decide in what direction to march, or why we are marching at all. We must first decide on our educational aims and the reason for the existence of schools before we attempt to go anywhere or to chart the direction of our going."

Proclaims Hospital Week

Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke today proclaimed May 8 to May 14 as National Hospital Week in Sherbrooke.

"More and more of us are restored to health each year through the care we receive in our hospitals... those centers in our community where Many Hands and Many Skills combine in a ceaseless fight against disease. It takes all kinds of people to make a community hospital... The community leaders of the governing board who establish the hospital's program and policies... the doctors of the medical staff and the nurses who work together to give our citizens the very best of medical care... the administrative staff which co-ordinates the many services to meet each patient's needs... the trained workers in every hospital department... and the volunteers who help to put the Plus in good hospital care."

"We salute the Many Hands and Many Skills joined together in our hospitals. They stand ready to serve in our individual human needs and in community disasters. And they serve twenty-four hours a day — every day of the year!"

"As Mayor of your City of Sherbrooke, I therefore do hereby Proclaim this week — May 8th to 14th — as National Hospital Week; and I commend the "Many Hands and Many Skills" in our community hospitals to the thoughtful consideration and commendation of all our citizens."

STANDEAU—Denis Gerin, UN; Georges Vaillancourt, Lib. RICHMOND—Dr. C. Gosselin, UN; Emilien Lafrance, Lib. WOLFE—Rene Lavoie, UN; Dr. Gerard Lemieux, Lib.

The situation in Megantic is somewhat vague. Earlier reports indicated that Dr. J. E. Fortin, UN member for the past three years, intended to step down and arrangements had been made to hold a convention. But later, Dr. Fortin said these reports were wrong and that he planned to seek another term. It is understood that efforts are being made to iron out the difficulties.

DR. LIZOTTE OUT — Apparently Dr. Fernand Lizotte has gone through with his threat to quit politics because of the way Premier Antonio Barrette was chosen premier and Union Nationale party leader after Paul Sauve died January 2.

In any case, a convention was held at St. Jean Port-Joli in Dr. Lizotte's riding of L'Islet Thursday night at which Raymond Coulombe of St. Pamphile was elected Union Nationale candidate on the fourth ballot. He defeated five other candidates on the fourth ballot.

ELECTION PROCEDURE — With nomination of candidates nearly completed, much of the public interest turns to the operation of the election procedure itself.

From the viewpoint of the ordinary citizen, the next move is the preparation of the voters' lists, or enumeration.

Starting Monday, May 16, enumerators will go from door to door making up lists of persons eligible to vote. In the urban polling divisions, the enumerators will travel in pairs.

One of these enumerators will be named by the Union Nationale and the second by the Liberals.

In rural polls, the list will be prepared by a single enumerator.

The enumeration must be made by Friday and the completed lists turned over to the returning officer for the constituency by Monday, May 23. Copies will be posted at some central location in each polling division and the revision of the lists will get underway next day.

Why spiritualization of thought is essential to the peace and progress of mankind will be explained at the services in all the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Mortals and Immortals." Appropriate Bible selections will feature the following from Romans: "To be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."
Explanatory passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Progress takes off human shackles. The finite must yield to the infinite. Advancing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from the material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal."

Classic Simplicity

Princess Wed In White Organza

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret was an all-white bride yesterday in a beautiful dress of white silk organza and carrying a bouquet of white orchids. The dress she wore for her marriage to Antony Armstrong-Jones probably was the simplest royal wedding gown ever in terms of embroidery and other trimmings. Its only trimming was rouleau piping in the same white silk organza from which the whole dress is made. This time royal dressmaker Norman Hartnell added no pearls, no rhinestones, no sequins. The dress was classic in style, with a fitted hip-length bodice slightly pointed in front and a voluminous skirt flowing out into a train at the back. STANDUP NECKLINE The high standup neckline with a small V-front was piped with an organza rouleau which continued right down the centre front of the bodice. The skirt was made of three layers of organza cut into 12 panels set in unpressed pleats into the base of the bodice and joined by a fine rouleau piping which gave the effect of a stripe. The entire hem of the dress, the end of the tight-fitting, full-length sleeves and the fine veil also were piped with organza rouleau. The whole dress was mounted on a foundation of stiffened white tulle. With it the tiny princess wore white crepe court shoes with white satin facings and 2½-inch heels. high right. Two layers of the fine chiffon were used throughout. The coat over the dress was of pure silk shantung, also in sunshine yellow. It was straight and loose, cut high at the neck and with a small upstanding collar set away from the neck. Inverted pleats on either side of the back of the coat gave a little bulk across the shoulder blades. The coat had three-quarter-length sleeves. The princess' hat was a tiered toque in pale yellow veiling, dotted with minute lover's knots in yellow chenille. Her shoes were of pale grey nylon mesh with a 2½-inch heel of matching calf. BUSTLE ON QUEEN'S DRESS The Queen wore a turquoise blue lace gown with a bustle. She also wore pearls, a three-strand necklace and big pearl earrings. The Queen Mother was attired in a long, slim white sheath of white and gold lame, with matching mink-trimmed stole. Her jewels were diamonds — big, dangling earrings and a sparkling medallion necklace. The groom's mother, the Countess of Rosse — his parents are divorced — was in a huge bouffant hat and a fur-collared coat. A multistrand pearl necklace filled her deep rounded neckline with a large jewelled clip in the centre. The only visiting royalty, Queen Ingrid of Denmark, chose a deep V-shaped decollete floral dress with a thick pearl necklace. Diamonds glistened in her small flowered hat and at her ears and shoulder. The bridegroom, seldom out of slacks and sweater a few months ago, wore frock coat and striped pants. His flourish for the occasion was a white carnation.

KINGS FAVORITE

Princess Anne and the seven other bridesmaids wore dresses which were replicas of the bride's first evening dress—the favorite of Margaret's father, the late King George VI. The dresses were of plain white silk organza, like the bride's, had little-girl bodices, short cuffed sleeves and Peter Pan collars, tied with a blue ribbon bow. Panels of broderie anglaise, slotted with pale blue ribbons, fell from the narrow waist to the ground-length skirt. Around the hem was a band of graduated pin-tucking, bordered with three rows of broderie anglaise. The bridesmaids' head dress was in the form of a halo, slightly higher in the centre and with a forward sweep over the ear and on to the cheek, in soft white feathers. They were made up of flowers, fashioned in white feathers, interspersed with white ribbon rosettes and groups of "trembling" crystal drops. The bridesmaids' shoes were soft white kid court shoes with low kid-covered heels and white satin bows.

DIAMOND TIARA

In the midst of royal splendor, only a wide diamond tiara blazing on her head distinguished Princess Margaret's bridal attire from that of other springtime brides. The royal wedding dress was no surprise, for it closely resembled advance reports and sketches. But Margaret's hair-do was. A high chignon was pinned on top of her own short hair, adding inches to her five feet two inches. A veil of white illusion tulle sprang out on each side above the ears. It pulled back from the shoulders and fell to the floor. Margaret's wedding bouquet was small and dainty, slightly crescent-shaped, of cymbidium orchids—white with a slight pink flush on the petals, lilies of the valley and stephanotis, with a few off-white odontoglossum orchids.

GOING-AWAY DRESS

Margaret's going-away dress was of pale yellow silk chiffon, with the bodice cut on the bias and gently draped to a high neckline. Soft sleeves just covered the shoulders. The slim skirt was elaborately draped from low left to waist-

Large Crowd Attends Trinity Spring Tea

The tasteful arrangement of spring flowers and the flicker of lighted tapers gave a pleasant atmosphere to Trinity Church tea room on Thursday afternoon, when members of the Woman's Association sponsored a successful spring tea and sale. An ideal spring day, and the known popularity of Trinity teas, drew a large number of guests, who were welcomed by the president of the group, Mrs. R. S.

Bauman, and Mrs. Graham Barr. Mrs. Adam Clarke acted as cashier. The attractively appointed tea table with its gleaming silver and deep red roses, was presided over by Mrs. C. Wilson, Mrs. S. M. Cross, Mrs. R. Gittel and Mrs. G. Wilcock. Hosting the successful event were the co-conveners, Mrs. T. A. Cadman and Mrs. D. Howard. The guests were served by Mrs. G. Burt, Miss B. Hess, Mrs. H. R. Vine, Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. Lorne Campbell, Mrs. D. MacLennan, Mrs. P. Lancaster, Mrs. N. Baldwin, Mrs. F. Palmer, Mrs. B. Jarvis, Mrs. Murray Campbell and Mrs. B. Carr.

L'ville Home Scene Of IODE Tea

A warm sunny day and a spacious lovely home are perfect ingredients for the success of a spring time tea, and the Sir John Sherbrooke Chapter, I.O.D.E., were fortunate to have both on Wednesday when they held their Spring Tea at The Lodge, the home of Mrs. A. R. Jewitt in Lennoxville.

The dining room was enhanced by masses of spring flowers and a beautiful mauve hydrangea graced a large round table in the drawing room. Tea was served from the dining room lit by tall green tapers in cut glass candelabra holding yellow daffodils which centered the lace covered tea table. Poursers during the afternoon were Mrs. R. L. Bishop, Sherbrooke Municipal regent, Mrs. S. Pearson, Honorary regent of the chapter, Mrs. W. P. Charlebois, 1st vice regent, and Mrs. Earle Hall. The guests were received by the hostess and Mrs. D. F. Watson, regent of the chapter. Members of the chapter served the many guests. Tickets were sold on the raffle of a steam iron, donated to the chapter, and the lucky winner was Mrs. J. K. Rafal of Lennoxville.

The dainty decorations were the work of Mrs. Lorne Campbell and Mrs. K. Halpenny. The table of hand sewn articles was presided over by the conveners, Mrs. L. H. Williams, Mrs. W. Lavallee, and Mrs. E. Burrows. The dainty doll clothes were in charge of Mrs. S. Berwick. The knitting table was in charge of the conveners, Miss L. Farnsworth assisted by Mrs. D. A. Lavalliere and Mrs. R. Deitz. Aprons were sold by Mrs. W. Mutchler Sr., convener, with Mrs. A. St. Onge and Mrs. E. Coombs assisting. During the tea hour the children were entertained in Wesley Hall under the convenship of Mrs. J. Hazle assisted by Mrs. Bruce MacAuley, Mrs. G. Parisseau and Miss F. Allen. The table of home cooking was convener by Mrs. B. C. Howard, who was assisted by Mrs. G. B. Loomis, Mrs. M. Martin and Mrs. H. L. Cleveland.

MORE LETTER.
Last week, as a follow-up to my column on Talking Books, I received a letter from Neil Tracy, Field Secretary of the CNIB, Quebec Division. Writes Mr. Tracy:
As the representative in Sherbrooke of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, I wish to thank you for your interest and thoughtfulness. We are always glad of this kind of publicity. May I add, Mrs. Gladys Taylor, that your weekly column in the SHERBROOKE RECORD is always read to me.
May I add, Mr. Tracy, that I am always glad to get such letters as yours. It is pleasant to know when I have been able to help some one or some group, even in a small way.
"Thank you," Miss Betty Warshaw of Montreal, for your very nice letter. The extra copies of JOTTINGS for which you asked will be in the mail as soon as I can manage it. In the meantime you will know from reading this column that I haven't forgotten your request.

EVERYBODY SEEMS TO BE GETTING INTO THE ACT. With reviews of Errol Flynn's MY WICKED WAYS and Billie Burke's WITH POWDER ON MY NOSE scarcely dry, advance publicity is now pouring in on several other books of this type. For instance Pat Page has penned ONCE UPON A DREAM, Jack Pacer has come out with I KID YOU NOT (including a chapter on his petulant or publicity-seeking walk-out), George Jessel has JESSEL, ANYONE being published in May and also that month there is appearing a rather intriguing book called BEVERLY HILLS IS MY BEAT in which Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson reveals new aspects of the case of Lana Turner's daughter Cheryl (again in the news with her escape from reform school last week) plus the chief's reminiscences about such people as Will Rogers, Sylvia Sydney, Clara Bow and Greta Garbo. All in all it sounds like an interesting—and revealing—reading session.

MEET AN AUTHOR: Major Frederick V. Longstaff is a Naval Historian, a member of the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Authors Association and in his spare time an active member of the Alpine Club of Canada. A recognized authority on naval history, he has authored several books on the subject, among them being THE BOOK OF THE MACHINE GUN, HISTORY OF ESQUIMAULT and H.M.C.S. NADEN. Major Longstaff was born in Yorkshire, England, in 1879. Son of an army officer, he too donned uniform—as a Cambridge University Volunteer—and by 1914 had attained his rank of major. Since his retirement he has carried on his military interest by his work with "The Boys Brigade" a group which partly by means of military training tries to draw boys of 12 to 17 into a Christian life and also as a philanthropic endeavor the Major keeps an eye out for all ex-Imperial Army Men in Canada. His home, high above the Strait of Juan de Fuca has an extensive historical library in view of which it is not surprising that Major Longstaff is a charter member of the British Columbia Historical Association.

Offers Work In Exchange For Apartment
PARIS (AP)—Author-playwright William Saroyan put an ad in the papers offering two or three original manuscripts of his works in exchange for 12 months rent in an apartment.
Saroyan conceded Monday he had no takers. He said all the apartment owners want cash. He said he "will even pay money if absolutely necessary."

'Robots' In An Improbable World

THREE MEN ON THE LEFT HAND — Ilka Chase — Doubleday Publishers — $4.50 — 282 pp. — This is the sort of novel that ought to be confined to the condensed-book section of a ladies' magazine — exclusive reading matter for light-headed women.
It is glorified soap opera; but the glamorous and utterly false tone of the first half of the book is altered in the second half to include murder, political corruption and intrigue — probably equally false, but much more interesting!
Ilka Chase writes of an alien world, an improbable world peopled by beautiful and intelligent women and rugged, attractive and experienced men, where no humdrum mediocrities exist.
Every one has money to burn, swank city flats, lavish country estates, gorging clothes — all the accessories for easy living; but this is where the book begins to disappoint, for none of the characters live. It is as though we had been asked to enjoy a play where an elaborate, but the parts were taken by robots, rather than orate stage-set had been pre-living, breathing people.
The story centers about the heroine, Tansy Delafield, who at the beginning of Chapter I is a public relations adviser, vitally interested in her career.
Before the end of that same Chapter I, Tansy has begun to concern herself so completely with old beaux and new ones, discarded ones and prospective ones, that from then on there is no time for anything but men.
The story tells of how the lives and loves of the four main characters are interwoven, and there are many snags and knots in the warp and woof of the characters' lives before the obviously right man claims his reward, as he should have done years before the story opens.

If the hero had had the sense to do this, we would all have been spared this waste of Miss Chase's time, and our own!
THREE MEN ON THE LEFT HAND may please summer readers who thrive on froth. It is glibly written; and easily read; as a time-killer and light entertainment, it deserves a measure of success.
Elizabeth Campbell.

A Glimpse At An Era That Is Past

THE GRAND LADY by Marian Keith, Published by McClelland and Stewart Limited Toronto. Price $4.50.
This novel is based on memories of the author's childhood in a small Ontario town in the latter part of the 19th century.
The story teller is Flora Jean MacNeill and her tale includes her numerous cousins and their many antics and loves.
However, the central figure around whom all the action takes place is an aged Aunt who seems to be endowed with all the wisdom of the ages and who invariably seemed to sense a crisis and knew without being told, when to hitch up her horse and head for town.
This book reads like a "The Most Unforgettable Character I have ever known." However, it does give the reader a real glimpse into life in a past era.
I found fascinating the author's vivid descriptions of visits to the old farm home, their Aunt's generosity and storytelling prowess.
Mrs. Keith although she does tend to deify the old aunt somewhat, is nonetheless a good storyteller. This is a comfortable book and one to relax with.
Shirley Simpson.

Biography of an Unorthodox and Unpredictable Man

"Eye Opener Bob" Grant MacEwan, Institute of Applied Art, Ltd., (Edmonton) 227 pages, $3.75. — "So this is Winnipeg," exclaimed Edinburgh-born Robert Chambers Edwards as he stepped off the train at the gateway city of the West, in September, 1894, on his 30th birthday anniversary. "I can tell it's not Paris!"
With this gay remark biographer Grant MacEwan tees off on the unique life and editorial career of one of the most unorthodox and unpredictable journalists ever to grace the prairie provinces.
The result of Mr. MacEwan's research and choice of material is a highly informative yet hilarious volume, the type of reading that provokes unrestrained laughter.
An insatiable drinker himself, and over-fond of discussing the effects of the habit on himself and others, nevertheless Bob Edwards fought a critically important and winning fight in his paper on behalf of prohibition forces in the province-wide vote in 1915.
As his close friend, Rev. Robert Pearson, observed, "Bob, I have an idea there is more joy in heaven over one old boozier who is big enough to overcome the habit, than over ninety and nine Methodists who never took a drink."
After his widely-mourned death in Calgary in November, 1922, Bob Edwards' remains were buried at a spot which, by sheer coincidence, commanded a view of two well-known local breweries. A pocket-flask of whiskey was sealed within the tombstone, along with a copy of the final issue of his "Calgary Eye Opener."
As the non-conformist, mischievous editor of the irregularly published but eagerly sought after "Eye Opener" Bob Edwards claimed that after twenty years of publishing it, his original capital of "$1.47 cash on hand" had become "liquid assets of 67 cents plus a half a bottle of scotch." He often commented that "if money talks—all it says to me is good-bye."

The Eye Opener was indeed something different in Canadian newspaperdom. It had no subscription list, no printing plant of its own and, according to its critics, no conscience.
But its very human editor was, in fact, a profound hater of phonies and despised hypocrisy in public life. His numerous kindnesses and big-hearted acts of charity he kept carefully hidden.

On the whole he exercised a beneficial influence on the public surpassing that of any prairie editor of his times. His heart was true and his vision clear on the issues that really counted.
He began his Alberta career by writing the Free Lance at Wetaskiwin, "a town of 287 souls and three total abstainers." He delighted to say, "I am a prohibitionist.

What I propose to prohibit is the reckless use of water. It is sad to contemplate the results of steady tipping of germ-laden water."
Mr. MacEwan, presently Liberal party leader in Alberta, has written a highly readable, lively book a treasury of entertaining yet revealing "eye openers"—sparkling gems of wit and homely wisdom that will long be cherished as samples of early Canadiana of the western plains.

Duplessis' Story Hits Best Seller List

By BERTRAND THIBAUT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Each of the 12 chapters of the book deals with a different facet "of the man who always refused to disclose his true character completely."
The book notes that Mr. Duplessis was one of the most-captured men of his generation. His nose, "its length over-magnified," his eyes "astonishingly alive and intelligent," and his hands which "frequently reflected his thoughts" always supplied inspiration to cartoonists.
The late premier was invariably dressed impeccably except for his hats which were old and battered.
"An old hat brings you closer to the people," he is said to have explained.
SUPERIORITY COMPLEX
Mr. Laporte describes Mr. Duplessis as highly intelligent with a superiority complex, outspoken and sometimes brazen, a man with a quick retort, "sometimes cruel," and one whose reasonings were sometimes fantastic.
He loved politics passionately, knew the history of Canadian politics intimately and spoke about politics constantly.

The author recalls an exchange of quips between Mr. Duplessis and Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland at a federal-provincial conference in Ottawa. Mr. Duplessis said Sir Wilfrid Laurier, former Liberal prime minister, had made a public statement which said a great deal about the principles of the Liberal party.
"What did Laurier say?" inquired Mr. Smallwood.
"He said that the Liberal party had only one principle . . . and that was not to have any," Mr. Duplessis replied.
"Agreed," said Mr. Smallwood, "but why in the devil was it necessary for Laurier to say that in public?"
PETIT LARCENY
Another anecdote deals with a day in the legislature when the Liberals were accusing the Union Nationale of stealing their political program.
"No, Mr. Speaker," interjected the premier, "that is not theft. If one consults the Criminal Code it can be seen that for there to be theft, the item taken must be worth at least 25 cents."
Other stories show how Mr. Duplessis could humiliate an opponent or laugh at protocol, even on important occasions.
On the day that Onesime Gagnon, long-time member of the Duplessis cabinet, was sworn in as lieutenant-governor, the premier suddenly shouted:
"Lieutenant-governor, go jump in the lake! Go jump in the lake, lieutenant-governor!"
Mr. Laporte says the word "stupor" is not exaggerated to describe the painful impression this outburst left on the invited guests.
CALM PHILOSOPHER
Izaak Walton, author of "The Compleat Angler," was 99 years old at his death in 1683.

About Books

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

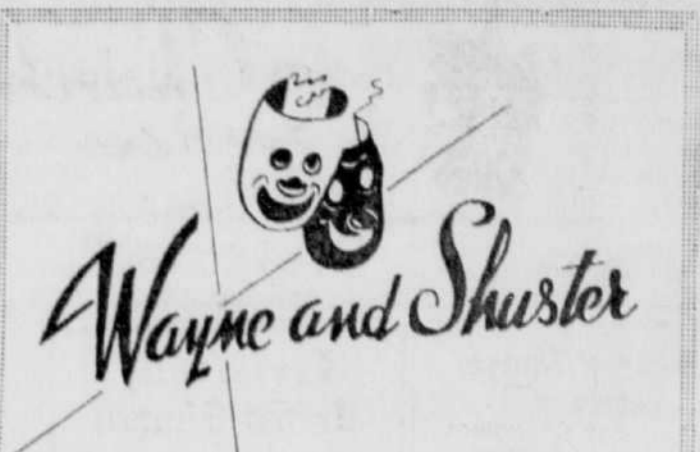

Sir Joseph Pope was born in Charlottetown in 1854. As a 10-year-old he climbed on the knee of George Brown and was introduced to Sir Georges Etienne Cartier, D'Arcy McGees and other Fathers of Confederation.
His own father, William Henry Pope, was a lawyer, politician and county court judge. His uncle, James C. Pope, was a Conservative premier of Prince Edward Island and later a federal cabinet minister, and his grandfather, Joseph Pope, was a provincial treasurer and gave Joseph his first job, as a clerk in the treasury.
It is small wonder then that from the time he took that job at 16 until his retirement in 1925 at 71, Sir Joseph worked in the service of government, except for a brief period in the 1870s when he was a banker.

FRIEND OF LAURIER
The story of this remarkable man, biographer of Sir John A. Macdonald, friend of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, creator of the external affairs department and supervisor of numerous royal visits to Canada, is told in Public Servant: The Memoirs of Sir Joseph Pope (Oxford University Press).
To the year 1907, Public Servant is autobiographical. From there it is taken up by Sir Joseph's son, Lt. Gen. Maurice Pope, who before his retirement from public life in 1956 had served Canada as a soldier and diplomat in many posts, among them ambassador to Belgium and Spain and head of a military mission to Berlin.
Sir Joseph's uncle gave him his start at Ottawa, employing him as his private secretary when he became minister of marine and fisheries under Sir John A. Macdonald in 1878.

SERVED MACDONALD
Four years later Sir Joseph became Sir John's private secretary and held that post until Sir John's death in 1891. He coupled with this position the assistant clerkship of the Privy Council from 1889 until his appointment as undersecretary of state in 1896, the office he retained until his retirement.
Public Servant is the story of those years in Ottawa and of the men who shaped the destiny of Canada in the closing years of the 1800s and the first quarter of the 20th century. It is warmly personal in anecdote and in its behind-the-scenes accounts of the many international conferences Sir Joseph attended in London, Paris, Washington and Tokyo.
Sir Joseph was an authority on constitutional matters and on protocol and frequently his advice was sought by a Governor-General or prime minister. His affection for the Crown and for what it stood knew no bounds but in his courteous, diplomatic manner he set straight any Governor-General who went beyond his rights.

TIES WITH BRITAIN
A Canadian first and always, Sir Joseph nonetheless was opposed to any action that drew Canada away from the Old Country and he became more and more distressed as the spirit of independence grew in Canada after the First World War.
His views of Canada's relations with the motherland seem out of place in today's setting of independent nations within the Commonwealth; yet they were honest views based on the fear that Canada would be the loser in any change.
"I do not want any change in the present relations between the Dominion and the Mother Country, and I hope I may never see one," he wrote his son shortly before his death in 1926.

NEW BIBLE
A new translation of the New Testament from Greek texts into contemporary English is to be published in 1961—the 350th anniversary of the Authorized Version—under the title The New English Bible. The work of translating the Old Testament and the Apocrypha is going on now. The work is being prepared at the Oxford and Cambridge university presses and will be distributed in Canada by the Macmillan Company.
SOVIET TOUR
Larry Henderson, who has visited the Soviet Union twice in the last three years, found the vast country a land of contrasts and also one of frustrations.
In A Journey to Samarkand (Longmans, Green), the lecturer and former television news announcer, tells of 9,000 miles of travel in side the Communist country last year.
Conducted through Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and many smaller centres by government guides, Mr. Henderson relates in his first book how he managed to slip away from under the official eye to learn from ordinary citizens of the high costs of food and clothing and such facts as the requirement that they must also have permits to visit other parts of the country.
Although the state officially condemns religion, he writes, all known icons—small portraits of the Saviour and the saints made of beaten gold or silver—have been enumerated by the government as national treasures and

Carson is one of the most versatile mimics in the business as well as being one of the most quick-witted masters of spontaneous repartee, which he proves daily on his TV show, ungrammatically named "Who Do You Trust?"
Carson's greatest talent is for the zany off-beat remark which he springs on you unexpectedly. We were talking seriously about discipline for children when he informed us . . . "As a youngster I was spanked so hard, I can still go to a fortune teller and have my father's palm read!"

OUT OUR WAY By J. R. Williams

O'Hara Plans His 'Best' Novel

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Because of high taxes and a fear of wearing out their welcome with the public, some major novelists now feel it pays to produce a book only every five years.
But author John O'Hara, with one novel (Ourselves to Know) now high on the best-seller list, has already completed another—and is planning a third which he feels will be the best of his life.
"I'm working harder than I ever did, and producing more," he said. "I'm 55, and I want to write what's in me."
"I want to get it done, even though financially it's better to put one out every five years. The dough isn't the main consideration with me, and never has been."
Anyone who knows O'Hara knows this is true. Although he may not be taken out of the country.
INDIAN SETTING
The clash between mythical and modern India is the underlying theme of The Underish Brides (Doubleday), a novel by Molly and Philip Deane. Mr. Deane is the Washington correspondent of the Toronto Globe and Mail and the London weekly, The Observer.

once was one of the greatest literary playboys of his day, he always also was recognized as one of its most earnest craftsmen. He ranks with his own writing heroes—Hemingway, Faulkner, Fitzgerald, and Steinbeck.
"I've been dry now for nearly seven years," remarked O'Hara, a big fellow who earlier was a quasi-day athlete. He now fuels his creative efforts with 20 demitasses of coffee daily.
Despite a painful back ailment, he hammers four or five hours nightly at his 1940 typewriter, turning out 2,000 words or more.
A rollover of 17 books is one testament to his industry.
O'Hara and his second wife live quietly in a 10-room white brick home on a 25-acre plot about three miles from the Princeton University campus.
As in his newspaper days, he still likes to write in the late night or early morning hours.
O'Hara is a ruggedly honest about his purpose and his goal. "My goal is to depict life as straight as I can," he said. "It is to tell the truth. I don't want to change the world."
He feels the great dangers to creative writers are "procrastination, special pleading, and going off on a political kick."
"I'm against any of these big brother things—whether big brother is science, government, business or labor," he said.

May 7 - 14 Is Spring Clean-Up Week In Sherbrooke

Help Avoid Accidents, Fire

Because the past winter has been an exceptional one, Spring Clean-Up this season is of greater importance than ever to safety and health. The reason is that during the winter months, rubbish and other combustible materials have accumulated and the danger of fire has multiplied. In emphasizing the need for a Spring Clean-Up Campaign, fire underwriters which have long encouraged this movement point the benefits accruing. For instance:

The home is a healthier and more cheerful place after a thorough cleaning.

Removal of rubbish from home, garage and yard minimizes the danger of fire and disease.

The value of the homeowner's property increases, as does that of his neighbor and the community in which he lives.

Industry benefits in many ways, chiefly because:

Employees are more contented and interested in their jobs when working in a plant where the grounds are beautifully kept and where the interior is clean, light and fresh, and where no fire hazards exist.

Any example set by plant management is likely to be copied at home.

There is little to criticize in healthy, beautiful and fire-safe surroundings, whereas dark work-rooms and dirt provoke bad tempers and inefficiency, and accumulated rubbish causes many fires.

Other reasons for a Clean-Up Campaign, which the underwriters set forth, reflect good community and industrial public relations. The community benefits because:

Streets, when repaired and kept clean, are more inviting and safe from accidents.

Vacant lots, when turned into playgrounds, miracle gardens or yard parks, no longer are eyesores or fire hazards.

A campaign, in the interest of the general welfare, encourages all citizens to take part.

General morale and efficiency of all cooperative municipal activities are increased.

A clean, beautiful, wholesome, healthy city is its best advertisement.

Here is a check list, prepared by the fire underwriters, to assist householders in correcting fire hazards on their property. It is particularly useful now—during Spring Clean-Up time.

All questions on this check list may be answered "Yes" or "No". Each question answered "No" points to a fire hazard. You should take immediate steps to correct those you have found.

THE BASEMENT AND ATTIC

Have you cleaned out accumulated rubbish?

Is the furnace clean and in repair? Is it inspected each fall?

If your house is heated by oil or gas, is the equipment inspected and serviced on a regular basis?

Do you use covered metal containers for ashes?

Are you careful never to store paints, turpentine, rubbish or kindling near the furnace?

Is the inside basement door at the head of the stairs tightly fitted and kept closed at night?

Are walls, ceiling and partitions near boiler, stove, burner, and heating pipes protected by noncombustible insulation, or is adequate clearance provided?

Are all stove pipes and chimneys clean and in good repair?

Are wood floors under stoves and heaters protected by metal, brick work, concrete or ventilated air space?

Have you thrown out of attic and basement all that old clothing, broken toys, and back-issue magazines, which you "hated to part with"?

THE KITCHEN AND DINING ROOM

Is the range clean—the broiler, oven and burners free of grease?

Have you hung curtains or towels so they won't blow over burners?

Is there sufficient clearance between stove and walls for ventilation?

If the floor under the stove is wood, is it protected from the stove by a metal base?

Are members of your family forbidden to start fires in stove, fireplace, or furnace with kerosene or other flammable liquids?

Have you made sure that several electrical appliances, such as the toaster, waffle iron and coffee percolator are not connected to one outlet?

Do you make it a practice never to use multiple attachment plugs?

Are the electrical appliances used for cooking (as well as your electric iron) equipped with metal stands and heat-limit controls?

LIVING ROOM, BEDROOM AND BATH

Is there enough space around your television set for proper ventilation?

Has a lightning arrester been installed on the antenna lead-in?

If there is a wood burning fireplace, is it protected by a metal screen?

Is the fireplace chimney cleaned and inspected periodically?

Are worn lamp and extension cords replaced with new ones?

Have you removed extension cords strung around room—under rugs, over nails?

Better
CLEAN UP
For Fire Safety

If a portable oil or gas heater is in use, is it turned off before going to bed?

Is the portable heater placed where it cannot be tripped on or overturned?

If you use portable gas heaters or appliances, are shut-off valves installed in the metal gas pipe line?

Do you make it a rule never to smoke in bed?

Have you put the radio or any other electrical appliance out of reach of any one bathing or clutching a water faucet?

GARAGE AND YARD

Have you cleaned the garage floor of oil drippings?

Do you make it a rule never to smoke in the garage?

If the garage is attached to your house is the door between always kept tightly closed?

Has all combustible rubbish, leaves and debris been removed from the yard and garage?

Have weeds, dried leaves and rubbish been removed from adjacent vacant property?

GENERAL PRECAUTIONS

Are ash trays handy, are they used?

Are matches kept out of reach of children?

Do you make sure to put out all matches, cigarettes and cigar butts before disposing of them?

Is a competent electrician employed to repair or extend electrical wiring when necessary?

Are you careful not to overload electrical circuits by the use of several appliances on one circuit?

Do all rooms have an adequate number of outlets?

Have you done away with multiple attachment plugs?

Have you provided special circuits for heavy duty appliances, such as washing machine, refrigerator, range, ironer?

Do you use fuses on proper amperage for your household lighting circuits?

If you use an oil mop, do you keep it in a metal container or other safe, well-ventilated place where it will not catch fire by spontaneous ignition?

Do you destroy or safely dispose of oily polishing rags or waste after using?

Has your family been forbidden to use gasoline, benzene, or other similar flammable fluids for cleaning clothing or floors in your home?

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

CITY OF SHERBROOKE
PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

NEXT WEEK IS CLEAN-UP WEEK

Clean Up Week will be observed this year from the 7th to the 14th of May, 1960. As in former years, I hope that this week shall be a complete success. I urge all citizens to cooperate with the Municipal Health and Parks Department by cleaning their premises, painting their buildings, planting shrubs and flowers and generally beautifying their properties in order to render same attractive to the many tourists who will visit us this year and also maintain for Sherbrooke its reputation of being a clean and attractive city.

Given at Sherbrooke, this 7th day of May, 1960.

Armand Nadeau
MAYOR.

BEDFORD —

Mr. Johnston, of Phillipsburg, who has been a patient during the past weeks at Notre Dame du Rosaire Hospital, after a short stay at his home, has entered the Royal Victoria Hospital. He was accompanied to Montreal by his daughter, Mrs. William Corey.

Rev. W. J. White was in Montreal to attend the annual meeting of the Anglican Synod. Mrs. D. P. Jones, of Montreal, is a guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair McIntosh.

Rev. John Bonnard, principal of the Indian School at Sioux Outlook, Ont., was welcomed at morning service at St. James Church. Mr. Bonnard was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gasser at Pike River.

District Deputy Grand Master Howard Salisbury paid his official visit to Stanbridge East Lodge, A.F. and A.M. No. 19. After the meeting a dinner was served by the Lodge members to the visitors.

Miss Jocelyn McNamara, of St. Johns, was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McNamara over the weekend.

At the annual meeting of the St. Johns Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the following members from here were elected as officers, Harold M. Deming of the Torrington Company and John F. Lloyd, of Shawinigan Chemicals Ltd.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sornberger and Mrs. M. Royce, of Cowansville, visited Mrs. James Everatt.

Mrs. Sadie Vesey, of Stanbridge Station, accompanied Miss Madeline Falcon and Mr. J. Bedard, to Franklin, N. H., where they were guests of Mrs. Vesey's daughter.

Mr. Edward Goyette is a patient in the B.M.P. Hospital at Sweetsburg.

Mr. Edson Demers has returned from Montpelier, Vt., where he visited his father, Mr. Edward Demers.

Pete. William M. Dorsch and Pte. David Wilson of the R.C.A.F., School, at Camp Borden, Ont., spent a leave with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dorsch. Mr. W. Dorsch, of Newport Center, Vt., was at his home over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sturgeon with their sons, Robert, John and Peter, visited Mrs. Sturgeon's mother, Mrs. A. Houle, in St. Johns.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Rothwell, of Ville La Salle and Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Gasser, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, visited Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Black. Other guests were Mrs. Persis Caswell and friend, of Stonington, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sheppard with their daughters, Betty and Donna, have returned to their home in Ste. Eustache sur le Lac, after a stay with Mrs. Sheppard's father, Mr. William Stewart.

Mrs. Sarah Messier, with her daughter, Miss Therese Messier, was a weekend guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rodolphe Messier, in Highgate Center, Vt.

A successful rummage sale under the auspices of the St. James Women's Auxiliary was held in the church hall, when $220 was realized. The committee in charge were Mrs. Malcolm McCaw, Mrs. Jack Palon, Mrs. Hannibal Shellus and Mrs. Ralph Van Horn. Those who helped were Mrs. Allan Palmer, Mrs. Adolph Greenwood, Mrs. Richard W. Craighead, Mrs. John Ewing, Mrs. Sinclair McIntosh, Miss Wanda Jones, Mrs. W. J. White, Mrs. Dan Webb, Mrs. George Moody and Mrs. Lloyd Elliott. The articles remaining unsold were sent to the Salvation Army in Montreal.

A trip to Quebec City by the High School students in Grade IX, took place. They were accompanied by Mrs. Edward Piche Jr., and Mr. R. Johnson of the High School staff and Messrs. Charles Bergeron and Gordon Bishop. The students left by car on Friday morning returning on Saturday evening. Those who went were: Bruce Martin, Dale Bishop, Charles Bergeron, Richard Swan, Gayle Nichols, Janet McIntosh, Diane Harland, Joyce Procter, Cheryl Lammpan and Janet Smith. The members of the class deserve great credit for their money-raising efforts, $156 having been raised.

Mrs. Nellie Westover, of Stanbridge East, is a patient in Notre Dame du Rosaire Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Menard who came to Bedford last year from L'Ange Gardien, and have occupied the house of Mr. George Palmer on Victory Boulevard, have gone to Pike River, where Mr. Menard has purchased a four and feed business.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Poirier, who have occupied Dr. Robert Or's house on Dutch Street during the past year, have returned to Montreal. The christening of their infant son took place at St. Damien Church, and he received the name Charles.

Miss Isabel Marshall, of Montreal, was at her home here recently.

Miss Jean Parsons, of Montreal, is the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Best.

Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer and daughters, Susan and Patsy, who since their return from Bombay, India, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guthrie in Pigeon Hill, have taken an apartment in the Taylor apartments.

Mrs. Henry Greenwood, of Arlington, Vt., spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nicholson before going to Montreal, where she entered the Royal Victoria Hospital for surgery. Miss Betty Ann Nicholson and Mr. Don Morrill, of Montreal, were weekend guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Campbell and son Gary, of Chalk River, Ont., have been guests of Mrs. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Derick.

The wedding took place at St. Damien's Church of Miss Therese Gagnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Gagnon, of Bedford, formerly of St. Ignace, to Mr. Jacques Giasson, son of Mrs. George Giasson and the late Mr. Giasson, of St. Laurent. Following the marriage ceremony, a reception was held at the Hotel Maurice.

The Record's Farm Report

U.S. Agriculture secretary Benson's commodity stabilization service (CSF) has found a new means of promoting wheat exports. It is a provision in the U.S. price support act for sales on deferred payments. Up to now export credit of this kind has been negligible for wheat sales. Last fall CSF sent a sales team into Central America and several deferred payment agreements were made, some for as long as three years. With more such agreements in the offing, Canada's wheat exports to the Caribbean and South America are seriously threatened.

Recently Canada's deputy trade minister J. A. Roberts travelled to the Barbados with officials of his department and of the Canadian Wheat Board to have on-the-spot discussions about this with Canada's trade commissioners in that area.

that the Resources for Tomorrow Conference will be held in Montreal in September, 1961, means more than fixing a place and date. It indicates that the policy subcommittee of the conference (made up of five provincial resources ministers with Mr. Hamilton as chairman) has decided that the work done for the conference is to be of the highest possible calibre and to ensure this, plenty of time for preparing background and other papers will be needed. Attendance at the six-day conference is expected to be at least 500.

ment is increasing—the number of people with jobs in March this year was 116,000 above a year ago—but the number of new people looking for jobs is increasing faster. The first big postwar upsurge in children (births from 1946 to 1951 averaged almost 360,000 a year) is now beginning to swell the labor market. These, together with the failure of economic activity to hold up as well as expected, resulted in unemployment rising to 566,000 in March this year, 41,000 above last year and 9.1 per cent of the labor force.

This growth of unemployment, while jobs increase, can be expected to continue unless some fairly positive action by government takes place. It seems likely that at least 40-50,000 more jobs will be needed each year than the Canadian economy can provide under current "high level" activity.

WORLD WHEAT STABLE CANADA DOWN

Canada's wheat stocks at March 31, 1960, were 685.2 million bushels, down 48.7 million from last year and not far above the 10-year average of 636.8 million. Grain on farms was reduced by 40 million bushels below 1959. Oat stocks at 220 million bushels are well below average, and down 24 million bushels from March 31 last year. Barley at 204.7 million bushels showed little change from a year ago. Rye stocks were down over 10 per cent but flaxseed was up 10 per cent above last year and 72 per cent above the 170-year average.

HATCHINGS APPROACHING DANGER LEVEL

With egg production to April 16 down by almost 8.5 per cent from the same period in 1959 and eggs going into incubators down 17.9 per cent from last year, the prospects for good prices this year remain excellent. But numbers of eggs going into incubators are creeping closer to last year's level—the week ending April 16 was only 5.5 per cent below the same week last year. Now is the heavy hatching period and a few weeks like that will bring the supply of pullets for next fall's production dangerously close to last year's level. A safe level would probably be about 10 per cent below last year's production.

FLOUR BANK STARTS IN NORWAY

The beginning of the food bank suggested last year by Prime Minister Diefenbaker was announced by External Affairs Minister Green. The first unit will be established in Norway with a stockpile of 20,000 tons of flour for emergency wartime use.

WOOL SUPPORT HELD HIGH

Wool prices will be supported at 113 per cent of the 10-year average price of 53 cents a pound for the next year. If the average price falls below 60 cents a pound a deficiency payment will be paid to make up the difference.

GRAIN SALVAGE UNCERTAIN

Losses on grain now being threshed on the Prairies are still undetermined. Because of adverse weather this spring, harvesting has made little progress so far. Most has been threshed in Alberta and losses there are reported to be less than expected. Too little has been harvested in Saskatchewan and Manitoba to estimate the overall losses in prospect. Some speculative forecasts last week put Manitoba's loss at $20 million.

BIRTHRATE PERILS FULL EMPLOYMENT

The government's difficulties in maintaining full employment are now becoming acute. Employment

MELBOURNE —

Guests of Mrs. Beatrice Rodgers were Mrs. Bertha Boast, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Buzzell and daughter Carrie, and Mr. Buzzell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buzzell, of Magog.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. R. Fortier, Messrs. Raymond and Paul Fortier, Mrs. Beatrice Rodgers and Rev. J. A. Smith attended convocation exercises in St. Andrew's and St. Paul Church, Montreal, where Mr. John Fortier was in the graduating class. He will be ordained at L'Eglise des Cantons de L'Est, Melbourne, on Sunday evening May 8, at 7:30 p.m.

On Sunday in L'Eglise des Cantons de L'Est chimes were unveiled, also a plaque in memory of Mrs. J. S. Dayon, wife of the late Rev. J. S. Dayon and sister of Mr. Dolphus Lemoine, of Kingsbury, who assisted in the unveiling.

Miss Margaret Brill spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. William Ledger, who has been a patient in the hospital, and Mr. Ledger.

Five New Members Are Welcomed To Ladies Legion Auxiliary At Richmond

RICHMOND — The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion was held in the Legion Memorial Hall.

The meeting was opened by advancing of the colors, Cde. Cunningham acting as Sgt.-at-Arms in the absence of Cde. Carr. Standard Bearers were Cdes. E. Roberts and D. Montgomery. One minute of silence was observed in memory of fallen comrades.

The secretary, Cde. V. Lowen, called the roll and read the minutes. Five new members were initiated and welcomed into the Auxiliary. They are, Cdes. Sullivan, Paige, Blemings, Hodge and Forest.

Cde. Stevens presented bills which were ordered paid, and gave the financial statement which showed a substantial bank balance. She also reported that the usual amount of tobacco and cigarettes had been sent out.

Secretary V. Lowen read the correspondence consisting of thank-you notes for flowers which had been sent. A donation was made to the Red Cross.

A report from the social committee was given by the president, Cde. A. Dalton in the absence of Cde. Bush, who was in hospital. Cde. Dalton also gave the report of the rummage sale and thanked all those who had helped in any way.

Cde. Hills gave a report of the sick and welfare, in the absence of Cde. Fuller.

It was decided to hold a social evening the second Thursday in the month, when cards and darts will be played. Money for prizes for the social evenings and bingo will be taken from the funds, and the prizes will be purchased by the convener.

President A. Dalton thanked the hostesses, Cdes. M. Boast, V. Lowen, V. Miller and Cde. Wallis. Hostesses for May will be Cdes. E. Roberts, D. Montgomery, F. Cunningham and E. Hampton.

The usual drawing took place, the prize being donated by Cde. Andrews and won by Cde. Girard.

WEEK OF IMPORTANT EVENTS IN THE SPORTING WORLD

This seems to be the week for releases and announcements in the sporting world. The first matter of great importance was Burke Emery winning the Canadian light-heavyweight championship to start the week off. This was followed by Doug Harvey copping the James Norris Trophy then Gordie Howe was awarded the Hart Trophy and to climax the week Noel Fontaine of Drummondville was named secretary of the Sherbrooke Racing Club.

Emery's victory gives Sherbrooke three Canadian championships which in our mind is quite an honor. Bob Bedard holds the tennis crown while Jean Lessard was the skiing champion and now Emery. The City should be proud of our boys for their noble efforts in the sporting world.

The naming of Doug Harvey as the top rearguard in the National Hockey League was a natural this year. Doug's playing certainly proved without the least bit of doubt that he is still one of the best blue-line defenders around. He won the trophy for the fifth time and picked up 129 points, almost three times more than the runner-up.

As for Gordie Howe and the Hart Trophy Gordie became the first player in NHL history to win this five times. He amassed a total of 118 points, twice as many as Bobby Hull of Chicago. It is recognized as the outstanding individual hockey award. Both these awards, in our opinion, were well deserved.

The next item of the week was the naming of Noel Fontaine of Drummondville as secretary of the Sherbrooke Racing Club. This will certainly put an end to all the rumors floating around on who would get the job.

We haven't had the occasion of meeting Mr. Fontaine but judging from his past experiences in the sport he should be quite able to do the job. Jacques Beauchemin, George Giguere's assistant, is going to help him in getting organized.

The racing season is slated to open Sunday May 15 and Mr. Fontaine hopes to have things straightened away by then. He is looking for a good year and figures with some of the spare horses in Montreal he should be able to line up some pretty good classes.

This should meet with the approval of the local fans. He claims that Sherbrooke should be in a position of having just as good crowds as the other tracks especially from the ideal location in which the City is. Sherbrooke is situated in the middle of the Townships.

We are of the opinion that if he gives the fans some well balanced classes he will get the support. This has always been the big factor in determining the success for the year. Anyway fans the season opens SUNDAY MAY 15 so don't forget to be on hand. Will see you at the RACES.

The 86th running of the Kentucky Derby this afternoon is the big event for the weekend. This "Run For The Roses" seems to be a two-horse affair between Tompion and Bally Ache but there are plenty of dark horses in the classic.

Tompion, with Willie Shoemaker up, is the favorite but the odds will be slim. Bally Ache is second choice in the classy field. The experts figure it is still Tompion and Bally Ache despite the rest of the class. The winner will get $120,000 which will go quite a ways towards buying more oats and hay for the contestants.

We see where the QFRU is holding an All Quebec Football Conference at Trois Rivières next Friday and Saturday. This is the first ever to be organized and from looking over the agenda it should be a great help for the boys in the game. Ed Asselin has lined up quite a program with Perry Moss, head man with Als, on hand.

The National Hockey League Statistical Card is now available for anyone desiring one. These can be had by writing to the Information Bureau, National Hockey League, 601 Sun Life Building, Montreal. They contain the final statistics for both the regular season and playoffs.

See where the P.O.N.Y. Baseball League is going to hold clinics for the rest of the month. These will be staged at Victoria Park, just opposite from the Park Avenue Stadium, and will commence this afternoon at 1.00

We understand that Gerry Cotnoir, who toiled behind the plate for Sherbrooke and Drummondville in the old Provincial League, will be in charge. Gerry is a good choice and certainly knows what he is talking about. If the youngsters will listen we are sure he will help them. Good luck Gerry.

The St. Bruno Riding Club is presenting its annual horse show at St. Bruno Station on Sunday May 15. This is just 12 miles south of Montreal on Route 9.

This is the first show of the season and it is sanctioned by the Canadian Horse Show Association and the best riders in the district will be competing. There will be sixteen events on the card which commences at 9.30, rain or shine, and judging from the advance report it should be a good show.

The 18th annual Eastern Townships Track and Field Meet is slated to take place Saturday May 21 at the Parade Grounds and from advance appearances it would seem that another great event is in the making.

Just a reminder to the various coaches of the different schools don't forget the deadline which is Sunday, May 15, midnight. All entries must be in the mail before 11.59 in order to be accepted.

Curtis Bishop states that so far fifteen schools have signified their intentions of competing which means about 300 entries for the day. The Y's Men's Club, sponsors of the event expect to hear from a few more schools before the deadline so it looks as though the Meet should be one of the best ever staged to date.

Canadian Football Camp Sponsored By Alouettes Is Huge Success, Ninety Players Attending Special Workouts

MONTREAL — The Canadian Football Camp for local football players sponsored by the Montreal Alouettes moves into the fourth day today. It's anticipated that a few more young football players will add to the rank of the already 90 players dressed out.

After three days of practice the coaching staff of the Alouettes has voiced the opinion that the players trying out are good prospects.

Coach Moss pointed out that it was a pleasant surprise to see the aggressive and sincere attitude the kids have. He thinks that with a little coaching, and given a few years, a good number of the boys now trying out with the Alouettes will be on the regular Alouette roster.

"Our coaching staff, so far, have found the kids very cooperative and eager to learn. A few of the boys have good potential of making the Alouette squad

Tompion Remains Slight Favorite In Kentucky Derby

Rated 7-5 While Bally Ache Is 2-1 But Wet Track Would Even Odds For Second Choice, Showers Sprinkled Friday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —(AP)—Tompion, a Kentucky colt who raced mainly in sunny California, remained a slight favorite Friday over Bally Ache, hero of Florida's three-year-old races, in today's 86th running of the Kentucky Derby.

The 1 1/4 mile run for the roses at Churchill Downs will be televised and broadcast nationally.

Tompion is a son of the great Tom Fool and is owned by C. V. (Sonny) Whitney. He is rated the 7-5 favorite. Bally Ache from Leonard Fruchman's stable is 2-1 but track conditions, with a wet one favouring Bally Ache, would set the true odds.

Originally these two were to have opposed a dozen others. But a cold forced the California bred Henrihan out late Friday.

Two other questions marks clouded the final hectic hours before America's colorful julep jamboree. Trainer Jimmy Jones said there was less than a 50 - 50 chance that the Calumet Farm's Hillsborough would start, and there was some uncertainty about Fighting Hodge, another California-bred colt. Fighting Hodge is owned by Mrs. C.S. Hodge of Canoga Park, Calif.

Her husband and trainer, Carl Hodge, wants rain and a soft track, and was playing it cozy with an eye pointed upstairs at the weather. Hillsborough and Fighting Hodge are entered at least tentatively for races earlier today on the Derby program.

Showers sprinkled Louisville Friday, but were scheduled to stop overnight. Partly cloudy skies with 70 - degree temperatures was the Derby Day forecast. Whether the track would be fast or muddy was of major importance.

"Nothing has shaken my confidence in Tompion," said Bert Wheeler, trainer of the fleet son of Tom Fool. He would prefer a fast strip, but notes that Tompion can handle the off going if necessary.

Canada's pride, Victoria Park from E.P. Taylor's Toronto stable, held even with Cuvier Relic at 15-1. Cuvier Relic is owned by S.I. Crew of Cincinnati.

If 13 start the purse will gross $138,950, the winner netting $114,850.

Eddie Arcaro To Miss Derby

NEW YORK (AP) — The most familiar name on the Kentucky Derby Jockey list will be missing in the 86th running of the classic today.

Eddie Arcaro, who rode in his first derby in 1935 and who has missed one since he piloted Stir Up to a third - place finish in 1944, will be busy with his chores at Aqueduct, and he isn't too disturbed over his absence from Louisville.

Wolverhampton Slight Favorites Over Blackburn In English Soccer Final

LONDON (Reuters) — Soccer enthusiasts will jam Wembley Stadium 100,000 strong today for the English Football Association Cup final—the dream game for any player who pulls on a jersey.

Wolverhampton Wanderers are slight betting favorites over Blackburn Rovers.

"The Cup," as the fans always call it, is a classic in this land of tradition. It goes back to the last century and in theory every amateur or professional team in England or Wales can reach the final.

Some non - league or Third or Fourth Division team often reaches the quarter - or semi-finals of the Cup, but almost never make it to the final, usually a First-Division affair.

As every player dreams of someday playing at Wembley, so every regular fan dreams of getting a Cup final ticket. Tickets can be had—for whopping prices from scalpers—but these generally never seem to come the way of the little man.

ANNALS OF THE YEAR
This year, as usual, the fan who turns out in rain or shine—mostly rain in the damp English winter—is gripping about the social set who make The Cup final a "must" even though many won't know a goal from a cleat.

The road to Wembley begins in September when amateur teams start knocking each other off. Later, the Third and Fourth Division professional teams have a crack with the First Division big boys—the last ones to get into the act.

Although the lowly clubs don't make Wembley, they often manage cup elimination games with First - Division teams which brings in an undreamed of gate.

Natural GOLF No. 12 - Forward Press

By JIMMY DEMARET

IF YOU start without coordination, you'll perpetuate or magnify awkwardness throughout the swing.

With either goes all chance for hitting the ball solidly and sending it on the intended line of flight. There must be rhythm to the start of the swing which instinctively tells you it is off to a well-coordinated start. This is what the accomplished golfer calls "feel."

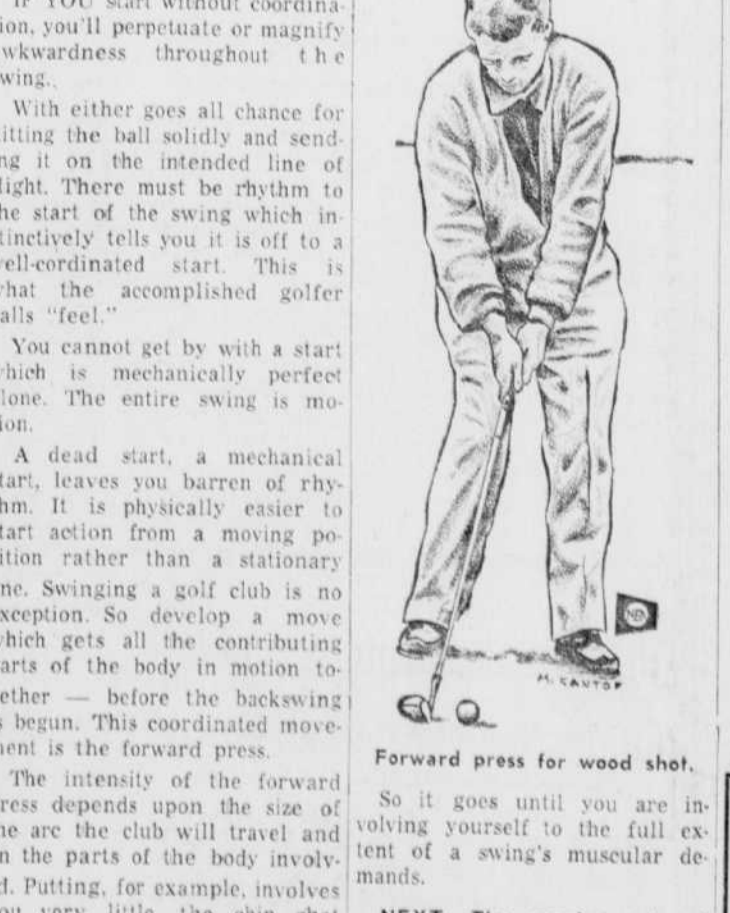

You cannot get by with a start which is mechanically perfect alone. The entire swing is motion.

A dead start, a mechanical start, leaves you barren of rhythm. It is physically easier to start action from a moving position rather than a stationary one. Swinging a golf club is no exception. So develop a move which gets all the contributing parts of the body in motion together—before the backswing is begun. This coordinated movement is the forward press.

The intensity of the forward press depends upon the size of the arc the club will travel and on the parts of the body involved. Putting, for example, involves very little, the chip shot very little more.

So it goes until you are involving yourself to the full extent of a swing's muscular demands.

NEXT: the requirements of the forward press.

Veryl Switzer Signs With Als

MONTREAL — General Manager and Head Coach, Perry Moss announced today that Veryl Switzer, fullback, had signed his 1960 contract.

"After watching the films of last year's Alouette games, Switzer showed me that he had the ability to make any ball club. We're glad to have Switzer back for 1960 and hope he has a good season," Moss said.

Switzer came to the Alouettes from the Stampeders in 1959 in a trade deal involving Pat Abruzzi. Switzer played his collegeball at Kansas State University and played the 1954-55 season with the Green Bay Packers. In 1956 and 1957 Switzer played with the Bolling Airforce Base team. He was All-Military in 1957 and then went back to the Green Bay Packers in 1958 where he was their last cut for the season.

For the Alouettes last year Switzer racked up six touchdowns for 36 points and gained 836 yards on the ground. He snagged 16 passes for 114 yards.

Quebec Aces Buy Four Players From Cleveland

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League Friday announced the purchase of a defenceman and three forwards from Cleveland Barons.

They are defencemen Georges Bouchard, right wingers Don Hogan and Michel Labadie and left winger Bob Barlow, who played with Aces last season on loan from Cleveland. He scored 28 goals.

Labadie, a Quebec City native, scored 24 goals and 22 assists.

Davie Moore To Meet Japan's Katuso Takayama

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The manager of Davie Moore announced Friday that the world featherweight champion will defend his title against Japan's Katuso Takayama in Tokyo in July or August.

Manager Willie Ketchum said he has agreed verbally to the bout.

Larry Hillman Nabd Top AHL Defensemam

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Hillman of Providence Reds Friday was named the winner of the Eddie Shore award as the American Hockey League's outstanding defenceman for 1959-1960.

The award carries a $300 bonus. Hillman also was awarded $300 for being named to the league all-star team.

He drew 26 points out of a possible 35 in the voting by the league's press, radio and TV representatives.

SETTING THE HOOK AS FISH TAKE

MERELY LIFTING THE ROD TIP OR TIGHTENING THE LINE WILL SET THE HOOK WHEN USING DRY FLIES OR BASS BUGS—STRIKE ABOUT ONE SECOND AFTER LURE IS SEIZED.

WITH A WET FLY ON A TAUT LINE, TWITCH LINE TO SET THE HOOK LIGHTLY—IF YOU MISS, CONTINUE RETRIEVING AND THE SAME FISH MAY TAKE IT AGAIN.

IF YOU FEEL THE FISH AFTER A LIGHT TWITCH, THEN GIVE A SLIGHT JERK TO SET HOOK SECURELY. FISH OFTEN HOOK THEMSELVES ON WET FLIES.

Casey Stengel's "Old Yanks" Came Through As McDougald Singles Home Winning Run, Tigers Lose To Red Sox

One of Casey Stengel's "old" Yanks came through in the clutch Friday. Gil McDougald's two-out single scored Bobby Richardson in the last of the eighth to give New York an 8-7 win over Kansas City Athletics in a three hour and 28 minute marathon.

The victory, third straight for the Yanks, kept them in top spot in the American League.

Detroit Tigers dropped a 3-2 squeaker to Boston Red Sox in Boston on Frank Malzone's ninth inning single. Malzone's efforts came off one - time Red Sox nemesis Jim Bunning.

Milwaukee's National League encounter with Chicago was rained out, leaving three night games in that circuit: St. Louis at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at San Francisco and Philadelphia at Los Angeles.

New York's win went to relief artist Ryne Duren, who now has not given up a hit in his last nine innings covering four relief appearances. It was his first win of the season.

Elston Howard and Roger Maris paced the Yanks. Howard drove in three runs with a pair of singles, while Maris hit a double and two singles to raise his league-leading batting average to .476.

Ex - Yanks Norm Siebern and Hank Bauer led the A's. Siebern hit a homer and a double. Bauer, as a pinch-hitter, drove in the tying run in the sixth.

FANS 13, LOSERS
At Boston, Bunning struck out 13, but tired in the ninth to allow the Malzone looper. He owns a 13-5 lifetime won - lost mark against the Sox.

Detroit manager Jimmy Dykes has blamed poor team hitting for the Detroit nose dive after the club won its first five starts, but until the last of the ninth Friday it appeared Detroit had managed to make good use of its six hits.

The loss was the second against no wins for Bunning. Tom Brewer who pitched the last two innings in relief of Frank Sullivan got credit for the win.

Coach Perry Moss Uses Mathematics When Grading His Players, Points Used For Various Team Assignments

MONTREAL (CP) — Football breaks down to a numerical mumbo-jumbo for Perry Moss, new coach and general manager of Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four.

In the final analysis, it's only the figures on the scoreboard that count. But, with the calculating approach of a business accountant, the 33-year-old Moss employs mathematics to grade his players.

Films of the team in action give Moss and a three-man staff a rundown on each player's performance.

The system works this way: Five points are awarded a player who carries out an assignment properly—a perfect block, a good run by a ball-carrier or a sharp tackle, for example.

A failure is assessed downward according to degree—four points, three and so on. For a goof such as a missed tackle or block there's a fat zero.

BONUS CLAUSE
But a player who comes up with the spectacular—a brilliant pass interception, a clutch recovery of a fumble or the like—gets a bonus, 10 points.

"A team whose players average three points or more in any given ball game is almost a sure winner," Moss says.

With four men it takes up to seven hours to do through 120-play film of a football game, running and reversing the reel to determine the effectiveness of each player in each scrimmage.

But Moss considers the projection room time well spent.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .
Roger Bannister, then a 25-year - old medical student, cracked the four-minute mile barrier by racing the distance in 3:59.4 at Oxford, England, six years ago today. Up to then the record was 4:01.4 set by Gunder Haegg in 1945. The existing record of 3:54.5 was set by Australia's Herb Elliott at Dublin in 1958.

Wren Blair To Coach Kingston For Boston Club

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Wren Blair, who led Whitby Dunlops to the world hockey championship in 1958, has signed a three-year contract with the Boston Bruins organization and will take over as general manager and coach of the Kingston Frontenacs in the Eastern Professional Hockey League. It was announced Friday.

In a statement Blair said: "I will remain as general manager of Clinton of the U.S. Eastern League and have signed a two - year contract with the Comets to that effect. As of now the Comets will become the Boston Bruins No. 1 senior amateur farm club and will have a working agreement with Kingston.

Blair has won two Ontario senior B titles in four tries, two Allan Cup championships in three years of senior A operation and in the off year won the world hockey championship with his Whitby Dunlops.

Secret For Low Mile, Train In Mountains

NEW YORK (AP)—A secret for running a 3.57 mile high up in the mountains.

By training at very high altitude, a man able to run a four-minute mile probably could shave one to three seconds off his own record.

The scientific tip comes from Dr. Bruno Balke, physiologist at the School of Aviation Medicine, San Antonio, an expert on exercise and high altitude, and himself a superbly-trained athlete.

The miler should train for three to four weeks at 14,000-foot altitude or higher, Dr. Balke explained in an interview here. In the high, thin air there he would increase his breathing capacity and also his red blood cells and hemoglobin which carry oxygen to his muscles and tissues.

NL Attendance Jumps Over Last Year By 216,733

CINCINNATI (AP)—The fans are flocking to National League baseball games this year, the attendance already being 216,733 greater for the first 24 playing dates than for the same time a year ago.

Dave Grote, manager of the service bureau of the league, announced Friday that a total of 1,354,189 fans have seen National League games to date, as compared with 1,137,456 for the same time in 1959.

The all-time league attendance mark was set in 1947, when 10,388,470 fans paid to see the games.

Tigers Swap Harris For Sandy Amoros

BOSTON (AP)—Detroit Tigers traded first baseman Gail Harris to Los Angeles Dodgers for outfielder Sandy Amoros Friday in a straight player swap.

Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Tigers made the announcement but had no comment concerning the deal.
