

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Now that Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz have split, it can be revealed that their television sidekicks, Vivian Vance and William Frawley, didn't get along either.

Viv and Bill played Ethel and Fred Mertz on I Love Lucy, and TV never had a funnier, more smooth-working pair of supporting players. But their smoothness together apparently was all professional.

"We weren't the happiest pair in the world," said Bill with his customary frankness. "I knew Lucy real well before the show started, Desi not so well. I never heard of Vance. She came up like a mushroom."

When told Vivian was going back to the stage now that the I Love Lucy team has disbanded, Bill replied:

"That's okay with me. It doesn't matter one iota to me. She could go to Buda-est- I wouldn't care." He added, however, that he believed she was a fine performer.

Informed of Bill's remarks, Vivian asked, "Was he drunk?" Told he didn't seem to be, she commented:

"Bill and I got along fine—like a couple of Irish. We worked together, fought together, cried together and made up together. I think we did very well, considering we were not the best-mated pair in the world."

Their co-workers agree that the pair acted professionally in their relations with each other. There were no scenes, no name-calling. But the coolness between them was always apparent. That made their TV-screen bickering all the more realistic. But it also made their lovey-dovey scenes more difficult.

Both she and Mertz feel no remorse that the series is over.

Mayor Makes Impassioned Rebuttal

Nadeau Raps Slurs Against City Council

By PAT BOUGIE
(Record Staff Reporter)

In one of his most impassioned speeches since he was elected mayor of Sherbrooke in 1955, Mayor Armand Nadeau last night verbally tore into Sherbrooke's ex-mayor, Alphonse Trudeau, the local French language daily newspaper, and ended his outburst with a heated word exchange with his West Ward Ald. Antonio Pinard.

The "speech" was the result of a question from West Ward Ald. Pinard asking if the city was paid $25,000 for electricity sold to Les Industries de Pulpe et de Papier Inc. by the City of Sherbrooke.

The company, originally doing business under the name of Lafayette, declared itself bankrupt, leaving the city on the short end of a $25,000 electricity bill.

However, the company re-formed shortly afterwards under the name of Les Industries de Pulpe et de Papier Inc.

Finance committee chairman, Carrier Fortin, in replying to Mr. Pinard's question, told him that under a court order, the company would have to pay their bill within three months. If the company is unable to pay the city would receive three per cent of revenues from the company until the bill is paid up.

Mr. Fortin also added that a $500 weekly deposit has been called for by the city from the company so that the city would continue to supply the company with electricity on weekends.

"They should pay their old bills before we give them other privileges," Mr. Pinard said.

HITS TRUDEAU

Mr. Nadeau referred to an article which appeared in yesterday's edition of the local French language daily which quoted ex-mayor Alphonse Trudeau as saying industrial assistance during the past five years in Sherbrooke was given to friends, and that some $8,000,000 voted for public works during the past five years had not as yet been spent on these works.

"Some people lack realism," Mr. Nadeau said, "the impression some people try to give in this city is that the city is bankrupt."

"Within three weeks, the city's financial report will be made public. We will see if the city is bankrupt or not. In fact, our report will be good enough to be used as an example by other cities throughout the province, provincial governments and even the Federal Government," Mr. Nadeau added.

"When it comes to administering a city, we have no lessons to learn from anyone."

"All they (the local French language daily) talk about is the city's money involved in small bankruptcies. They seem to forget the great steps forward we have taken in the industrial field lately. We gained the best industry in the province, the Lowrey Company."

"People should inform themselves before they talk. Sherbrooke's ex-mayor, (Alphonse Trudeau) cannot even read figures properly. He got his figures mixed up. Instead of there being $8,000,000 worth of work not done it is the opposite. Over $8,000,000 worth of work has been done. Only $2,000,000 has not been as yet completed and this work will be done this year."

Industry Loan Debts Total $1,560,669

Various Sherbrooke industries still owe the city of Sherbrooke $1,560,669 a report from city clerk, Henri-Paul Emond showed last night.

RAOUL-JEAN FOUÉ

Spring Fashions To The Fore

The Women's Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships is holding a Luncheon meeting on Thursday, at 1:00 p.m. in the Main Dining Room and Mayfair Room of the Sherbrooke Hotel.

Their guest speaker will be Raoul-Jean Fouré of the Canadian Couture Association. Mr. Fouré was born in France and studied in Paris, after which he came to Canada where he opened his own salon. He is well known in Montreal society and has created gowns for Embassy and Government ladies. Mr. Fouré has extended his clientele internationally by showing his work in the Hotel Pierre in New York. He has also travelled from coast to coast as the guest of the Hudson Bay Company to promote Canadian couture for Canadian women.

Mr. Fouré will bring with him two of his models and will show some of his Spring Selections while giving a talk on high fashion.

The report was prepared on Mayor Armand Nadeau's request. A total of 15 companies have borrowed a total of $1,958,000 in industrial assistance.

The companies, amount of loan and amount outstanding are as follows:

Bruck Mills, $300,000, $210,000; Fil National, $200,000, $110,000; Seal-Dri Sportswear, $32,500, $16,400; Sherbrooke Paper Products, $200,000, $111,000; American Billrite, $125,000, $66,550; Glenhill Knitwear, $38,000, $27,500; Carnegie Locknit, $15,000, $9,000; Austin Glove, $75,000, $60,000; Sherbrooke Footwear, $50,000, $47,219.

Industries de Pulpe et de Papier, $150,000, $135,000; Bemis Associates, $33,000, $28,000; Venus Mills, $50,000, $50,000; Koolvent Awnings, $65,000, $65,000; Sherbrooke Wood Products, $125,000, $125,000; American Billrite $500,000, $500,000.

Of these companies, three have declared bankruptcy — Industries de Pulpe et de Papier, Venus Mills and Koolvent Awnings. Present loss to the city from these three bankruptcies is $250,000.

"Are all these loans in order. Have all these loans been registered. Is the city fully covered in all respects?" queried West Ward Ald. Antonio Pinard.

"In every respect," replied Mayor Nadeau.

Alarm Not Crime Just A Check

The sound of the police alarm at the Royal Bank of Canada 161 Wellington Street North, about 8:30 this morning attracted many police officers and spectators to the scene, but it wasn't a holdup.

The alarm was sounded as a trial check of the system, according to municipal police officers. Daily checks of the systems are made at various banks in the district.

management. The contest in dairy cattle is held at the time of the Sherbrooke Summer Exhibition, and for beef cattle and sheep at the time of the Sherbrooke Winter Fair. The winners in these contests represent their Province at the National 4-H club week at the time of Royal

"In case some tight wads in this city are concerned, the city did not lose one cent over the industrial assistance it has given. I think these people should wait till the house starts burning before they start yelling fire," Mayor Nadeau said.

"I am not afraid of being re-elected or defeated at the next elections," the mayor said. "If some people are afraid of the city losing money on industrial loans, I am not. Even banks whose business is loaning money make the occasional mistake."

In a plea to the local French-language daily, the mayor said: "Stop tearing apart Sherbrooke in the eyes of others."

At this point, Mr. Pinard told the mayor that he was surprised that ex-mayor Trudeau had mentioned the figures.

"Council was accused of detouring public funds at the proprietors league meeting Sunday," Mr. Pinard said.

"But I did not say a word at the meeting," Mr. Pinard added. "What?" Mayor Nadeau said. "I would not have stayed quiet."

Mr. Pinard said: "I did not have the necessary information to answer him on the public works figures he mentioned."

"You should have at least defended your ward," the mayor countered.

"At least I attended the meeting. That is more than I can say for you," was Mr. Pinard's brusque reply.

"You had no business there if you were not well informed," concluded the mayor.

$85,000 Needed

43 Oppose Magog Beach Purchase Referendum To Be Held In April

MAGOG — Magog ratepayers will vote in a referendum April 11th and 12th, which would authorize the city to spend $85,000 for the Memphremagog beach and farm of J. Broadbent, two and a half miles from Magog.

The proposal was made at the last two council meetings, after considerable enthusiasm was shown in the property by local businessmen, who claim Magog needs better beach facilities for its citizens. Council approved the project and citizens were advised of the plan.

Forty signatures of opposition were needed in order to force the referendum. These were to be registered last evening within two hours, during the council meeting when 43 ratepayers registered opposition.

Of the $85,000 cost $75,000 would pay for the property, and $10,000 would be used to adapt the site for public use.

Presently Magog has no beach, despite the fact that it is on the lake shore, and promotes itself as a vacation centre. Three years ago, a stretch of beachland was donated to the city for one dollar, but being surrounded by swamp land, it has been impossible to build a road to the site. In their second attempt, the city lost a truck, in the swamp.

Asking for the proposed beachland and Broadbent property, are various groups including the Magog Tourist Commission, the Memphremagog Conservation Clubs, service groups and others. These groups maintain that this is Magog's last opportunity to acquire beach facilities for the city.

In expressing his views, Gerry Murphy, President of the Memphremagog Conservation Club said, "It's a pity that we live on one of the largest and most beautiful lakes in Quebec, and still the people of Magog haven't a place to go where they can enjoy this natural resource."

City Finances Healthy, To Be Healthier In 1970 Special Report Predicts

The City of Sherbrooke's present financial situation is healthy and in no apparent danger, and is expected to be even healthier by 1970, a 63-page report prepared by city Director of Services Charles Langlois shows.

Mr. Langlois' predictions, presented to council last night, are based on a study dating as far back as 1938.

According to Mr. Langlois, the principal object of the report is to evaluate the city's financial position according to studies made in the past thus showing the future expansion possibilities and at the same time permit preparation of a budget for the next 10 years.

A $178,127 budgetary surplus for 1970 was predicted in the report.

EASY ON PUBLIC WORKS

However, Mr. Langlois warned that city officials would have to go easy on public works to help make his report come true.

This financial situation report is not the city's yearly financial statement. The financial statement is not expected to be made public before another three weeks.

Mr. Langlois' report is based on the various factors which affect the city's finances — variations in evaluations, revenues, operational expenses, normal and essential financial reserves, net service debt for 1970, 1970 budgetary provisions, possibilities of capital expenditures between 1960 and 1970, variation in the city's debt and debt service between 1960 and 1970, and actual financial situation.

Population increase was a major factor in the preparation of the report.

Suggests Point System:

Financial Responsibility Urged For All Car Owners

Cars in this province should not be licensed unless their owners can file proof of financial responsibility for at least $20,000 by way of a bond or insurance, for the damage the cars might cause, it was contended last night.

Local lawyer A. R. Monty set forth this proposal before members of the Progress Club at their luncheon meeting yesterday at the King George Hotel.

Speaking on the new highway code of this province, he explained its main features and benefits and how its provisions bring our highway rules up to date and make it one of the best highway laws in America.

But he pointed out that the innocent victim of a road accident has no certainty of being compensated for his loss and expenses caused by the guilty driver who hit him.

A practical solution therefore, would be for car owners to be financially responsible.

He suggested, too, that a system of points be established to grade and evaluate drivers based on their good or bad driving records.

Mr. Monty said that to implement these proposals there would be no need to set up expensive governmental commissions or agencies. Private business could provide the financial responsibility.

"There proposals work elsewhere in Canada and in the United States," he said, "and can be made to work here as well, for the benefit of the highway accident victim."

A practical solution therefore,

DOGS KILL DEER — Adrien Gaulin, special game warden deputy for the Tomahawk Game Club of Magog, displays one of three deer he found last week, which had been killed by dogs. Mr. Gaulin said that any dogs found on his club's reserve, would be instantly shot, and farmers in the region are being given advance warning.

Bands Of Dogs Menace To Deer

By ELAINE SMITH
(Record Staff Reporter)

Each spring game wardens must fight against the natural savage instincts of dogs which band together and run wild. "It just takes one bad one to influence a whole group to run wild in the woods and kill animals such as deer and rabbits," Clement Bouchard, Sherbrooke district chief of the Provincial Fish and Game department, said this morning.

"Warnings have been issued to farmers throughout the province to keep their dogs at home in captivity to help to combat this problem," he continued.

Already many dogs in the Eastern Townships have been killed in an effort to save the deer population. Two were killed last week in each of the Scotstown, Fitch Bay and Magog areas.

In Magog the hardest hit district, the Fish and Game officers are patrolling the area with the help of members from the Tomahawk Game Club.

Mr. Bouchard explained that possibly the reason for so much trouble in this district is the fact that in three farm homes on 'Settler's Range', there is a total of 14 dogs. Banded together, they do not give the deer much of a chance.

Adrien Gaulin, a special game warden deputy for the Tomahawks Game Club of Magog, found three deer mutilated and killed by the savage animals last week.

Most of the dogs are at least part collie, Mr. Bouchard said.

Farmers often help in the capture of their own animals, not realizing that theirs have joined the destructive band.

When game warden officers find proof of which dogs are running wild and causing the destruction, they try to find the dog's owner. If the owner refuses to have the dog destroyed or tied up, he may be prosecuted.

"But most of the farmers are helping us in this chase in good faith and do all that they can to help us," Mr. Bouchard said.

"It is with regret that we face this problem each spring," Mr. Bouchard said, "but as long as we have families keeping a number of dogs when they cannot afford to look after them properly, we will have the problem."

It is expected that the situation will be alleviated to a large extent within the next two weeks.

4-H Clubs Vital Training Rural Youth Movement

By W. G. MACDOUGALL
(County Agriculturist)

Youth training is receiving more attention each year. Consequently, the Provincial and Federal Departments of Agriculture sponsor the 4-H clubs as a part of the youth training program. These clubs are specifically designed for our Rural Young People. It is a program that places personal responsibility upon each boy or girl taking part. It is compulsory for each member to raise, manage or complete at least one project each year. This project is centred at the member's home. The project is the means by which the member is taught to use the best material available to him, and to follow the most efficient methods in management.

The project may be in Agriculture or Home Economics. In Canada, 4-H clubs may adopt any one of the following projects in Agriculture: Dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, grain crops, vegetables, forestry or tractor maintenance. In Home Economics, one of the following projects may be selected: clothing, foods, home decorating, handicrafts. In Quebec, 4-H clubs have been confined to dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine projects. All the projects are of a practical nature and serve to illustrate improvements in farming and home making as recommended by the supervising extension staff. The entire program is designed to enable the 4-H club members to increase their mental, spiritual and physical growth. Thus trained, he or she will ultimately be aided to take his or her place as a more responsible citizen.

The 4-H club movement has grown rapidly in Canada. There are clubs in all provinces from Newfoundland to British Columbia. Canada had 5118 clubs in 1958 with a membership of 73,881. The membership is divided almost evenly between boys and girls. The 4-H club movement is international in scope and is organized today in fifty-three countries. There are over two million members in the United States.

4-H club members receive other benefits besides those of technical skill and knowledge. Through 4-H club work, they receive a well balanced training in citizenship. They are learning the proper manner in which meetings should be conducted. They learn to express themselves ably and well by taking part in group discussions, demonstrations and public speaking. In serving as officers on committees or in other capacities they learn to accept and discharge responsibilities, and to work cooperatively with others. This not only develops them as individuals, but also prepares them for a longer field of service in their communities when the opportunity occurs.

BUSINESS SENSE

The keeping of records on production costs, develops their business sense. Judging programs sharpens their power of observation, judgment, concentration and self-reliance. They become aware of the contribution that science is making in the field of agriculture and home making.

There are several 4-H calf clubs in the Eastern Townships and a sheep club. The membership in these clubs is open to boys and girls 10 to 20 years of age. In the case of calf clubs, each member must raise a heifer calf. The member is supplied with a feed record book, in order to keep a record of the cost of raising a calf. Each club organizes an Achievement Day, when each member is expected to exhibit his or her calf.

Members are expected to give special care to their heifers after Achievement Day as they are expected to exhibit same when they become yearlings and two year olds. When members have been in a club for 4 years, they exhibit their calves, yearlings and two year olds as a herd. The prize money offered at Achievement Day by the Provincial and Federal Departments of Agriculture is according to the number of cattle exhibited.

A certain number of calves are selected on Achievement Day for the class B. Fairs. As Example: There are classes at Ayer's Cliff for 4-H dairy calves, and at Cookshire Fair for 4-H Beef calves. At the Sherbrooke Exhibition in August, there are classes for 4-H dairy calves, and at the Winter Fair 4-H beef calves.

In each Province, there is a Provincial contest. This contest consists of judging cattle, and an oral examination in breeding and feeding of livestock and farm

A Strong Police Force

While most of the proposals and counter-proposals at the 10-nation disarmament conference in Geneva have concerned only the Big Four — Russia, the United States, France and Great Britain — all of whom have nuclear arms, the small nations of the world, of which Canada is one, have a vital stake in the discussions, too.

It was this stake that the spokesman for Italy had in mind when he said that only a strong, international police force could free mankind from the age-old scourge of war.

He said that disarmament alone is not enough to prevent the big powers from imposing their will on the small powers.

There is a great deal of truth in this. The causes for war of some kind will probably remain in the world as long as man inhabits it. Whether or not these causes are allowed to erupt into open warfare may well depend on the safeguards against just such an eventuality.

A disarmed large nation with a quarrel against one or more small nations can rearm itself fast enough to make its wishes felt.

Small nations would not have the resources to rearm as rapidly, or with the same power as larger nations.

With the knowledge the Big Four now have, for example, it would not take long for any one of them to develop an atomic or hydrogen bomb right from scratch, should any of them decide it was necessary.

None of the smaller powers could do this.

A strong, international police force, dedicated only to the preservation of peace, is the only sensible answer. It could be a branch of the U.N.

Even if Russia and the United States were to agree on a system of inspection one of the dividing points at the moment — the system would be worthless without an accompanying agency to enforce the findings of inspection.

Political Payoff

A member of the federal Income Tax Appeal Board, Maurice Boisvert, has ruled that political payoffs by architects and others to secure contracts for schools, churches, etc. are not deductible from the fees earned by the professional man when computing his income tax.

In his ruling, Mr. Boisvert gave a dissertation on the ethics of payoff, which he termed deplorable.

One question that might arise as a result of the Income Tax Appeal Board decision concerns just how the recipient of the payoff should deal with this amount in computing his own tax.

The recipient could argue, logically, that since the man making the payment could not deduct the sum from his income, the government must believe the money had never been paid out.

Thus if it had not been paid, the recipient theoretically never received it and therefore can deposit it in a bank without fear, arguing that the payment was never received. He could cite the Tax Appeal Board's decision to support his contention.

Signs Of Spring

The grass hasn't riz yet, but spring has sprung.

Aside from the weather, there are other sure signs.

In Paris, Mrs. Christiane Minet, 48, was sentenced to 18 months in prison for leasing the same apartment to 65 people.

In England, a Sunday newspaper began publishing a saucy, gay series called How to Make Love, and another began serializing a report by the French institute of public opinion on the love lives of 1,050 French women.

Off the northeast coast of Britain, a trawler pulled in nets, and found it had caught a dead elephant.

Bus fares have gone up in Sherbrooke. And just about everywhere in the Eastern Townships the roads are getting rougher and rougher as the weather gets warmer and warmer.

INSECURE FOUNDATION

by Clyde Blackburn

OTTAWA — There is a danger of becoming a "Johnny-one-note" when writing about the House of Commons.

That is because the interesting things here are the continuing threads or themes of activity that show the way parliament is developing.

Right now the most human and certainly interesting activity is the CCF campaign to destroy the parliamentary divorce mill.

I have written about it before and hope I shall have things to write about it again because I hope it goes on to a successful climax.

Parliament should be released of the humiliating role of rubber-stamping the kind of divorce actions that clutter its agenda.

Quebeckers and Newfoundlanders have no divorce courts.

Parliament has certain responsibilities over marriage laid down in the British North America Act.

Parliament has, through the years, assumed the responsibility of providing divorces for presumably worthy applicants who have no divorce courts in their provinces.

Thanks in a measure to another CCF member, the party's founder and late leader, J. S. Woodsworth, the necessity of parliamentary divorces was decreased by creation of provincial divorce courts.

The majority of Quebeckers don't believe in divorce and that province is unlikely to establish courts.

Parliament is the resort of the minority and few parliamentarians want to disappoint the minority in Quebec by depriving them of a means of arranging divorces.

So the years go on, with the parliamentary divorce mill grinding divorces out like sausages and members wishing they did not have to do it.

Arnold Peters, Timiskaming, Frank Howard, Skeena, leading CCFers in this campaign, hope to carry on the slow-down effort so long as their vocal cords and physical stamina permit.

Normally, by this time, the House would have passed about 100 divorce bills which have come over from the Senate.

Thanks to the campaign only about 25 have gone through and the time for consideration of these private bills is limited. It gets more limited as the session advances.

Possibly people who have saved up for a divorce like others save up for a fur coat will be disappointed.

But the CCF has a chance to force some action to abolish this evil and the brave few who are trying it are getting a lot of encouragement from the people. But not from their Conservative and Liberal colleagues.

When the divorce bill period comes up the young House of Commons pages are herded out of the chamber. They go

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

TENS IMPORTANT AT NO-TRUMP

When you play the 15-17 point no-trump your opening two no-trump is 21-23 points and your opening three no-trump is 24-26.

All 18-20 point balanced hands fall into the no man's land between one and two no-trump and are opened with one of a suit and almost invariably one of a minor suit. Then, if partner responds one of a higher ranking suit you jump in no-trump as your rebid. With 18 points or a poor 19 (if there is such a thing) pour jump is to two no-trump, with a good 19 or any 20 point hand your jump is to three no-trump.

With exactly 18 points South's club opening and two no-trump rebid follow this pattern. As for North's raise to game he has 17 points and two tens. Seven plus 18 only adds to 25 but those ten spots are important cards at no-trump and partner could have 19 points.

West opened his fourth best diamond and the first ten spot crashed through with an immediate trick. Then all South had to do was to knock out the ace of hearts and make his contract with three tricks in each major suit, two diamonds and one club.

Set Goal At 10 Years Hence

India Confident Of A Better Life

NEW DELHI (CP) — India's economic planners express confidence that they can guide the way by democratic means to a better life for the country's 420,000,000 people within 10 years.

"Provided India has peace and the necessary foreign assistance, I think in another 10 years the country can have a self-generating economy," said V. T. Krishnamachari, vice-chairman of the National Planning Commission. "After that it will be much easier."

Next year India will launch her third five year plan at an estimated cost of $20,000,000,000 and she hopes to grow most of her own food by 1965.

Said Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru:

"I do hope that we shall have broken the hump of poverty and unemployment at the end of the third plan, and that we can proceed with greater strength and confidence in ourselves to the next step."

However, the prime minister's optimism was tempered with a grim warning that unless greater efforts are made to step up the country's economic productivity, it will be impossible to meet the demands of a population rising at the rate of two per cent, or 10,000,000, every year.

National income would have to be increased by six per cent a year to cover population growth, facilitate better living conditions, and provide a surplus for investment in further development.

Achievements in industrial development, power production and mineral output have been checked by inflationary price rises, lower food production, mass unemployment, reduced exports and dwindling foreign exchange reserves. Between 1955 and 1958 national income in real terms rose by only 5.4 per cent, while total population increased by nine per cent, so that by 1959 real income seemed in decline.

The $7,000,000,000 first five-year plan concentrated on agriculture improvement, power and irrigation projects, and rehabilitation of transport and communications. The $12,000,000,000 second plan emphasized construction of heavy industry. The projected third plan will again give priority to agriculture and improving conditions in rural areas.

Although the first two plans may not have succeeded in achieving their bold objectives in terms of raising national income and better distribution of economic wealth, most of the physical targets were completed.

The darkest side of the picture is in food production. A series of bad harvests reduced output from 68,710,000 tons in 1953-54 to 62,000,000 in 1957-58. Last year in the second plan's fourth year, the position improved and production was estimated at a record 73,000,000 tons, but this figure was only the third year target.

A fierce running debate has been taking place on the desirability of state trading in food stuffs and the reorganization of the national food distribution system.

The National Planning Commission believes India technically can feed herself if 65,000,000 families can be taught how to cultivate 300,000,000 acres by practical scientific methods. It hopes this objective can be reached through a national community development program, agricultural extension work, land reform and the introduction of agricultural service co-ops.

With more than 75 per cent of India's population living in 500,000 villages, rural unemployment and under-employment threaten to offset improvements in urban areas. Out of a labor force of 140,000,000, approximately 7,500,000 persons are estimated to be totally unemployed and in 1957 another 20,000,000, who are reported to have not worked more than one hour in the year, were listed as underemployed.

In terms of industrial achievement, the picture is brighter. Huge hydro-electric power projects, steel mills, shipyards, aluminum and oil refineries, automobile, airplane, ballbearing, railway rolling stock and electronics industries, and hundreds of smaller factories making every thing from strawberry jam to pots and pans have been started since independence in 1947. The imprint "Made in India" is everywhere.

In statistics the record is impressive. Industrial output since 1951 has jumped by 50 per cent, electricity generated by more than 100 per cent, value of mineral production by 60 per cent. Tea machinery, electric fans, transmission towers, lamps and cable switches are made with 100 per cent domestic components; railway carriages have 95 per cent Indian-made parts; and cars from 36 to 64 per cent Indian-built.

The recurrent problem is that in laying the foundations of industrial growth, India has had to import millions of dollars worth of capital equipment manufactured overseas.

Among India's principal exports, tea shipments are being maintained at a consistently high level, jute has improved after falling off, but cotton textiles are sharply down.

More favorable indications are in exports of light engineering goods and in pig iron to Japan and Pakistan.

In addition to all India's development plans, an urgent appeal is being made for creation of a national consciousness to carry them out. Posters at railway stations inform literate travellers about five-year plan progress and urge increased effort.

But Indian states still enjoy more than 20 public holidays a year, and the work day for many office employees doesn't start until 11 o'clock—a legacy of colonial rule.

Study Redistribution Of City Hall Tasks

Redistribution of the city's superior officers' tasks will be studied at a special council meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Council is also expected to hold a third meeting this week to study the city's permanent works by-law.

The permanent works by-law report issued two weeks ago called for $1,200,000 worth of work to be done during 1960 but council decided to try and hold off most works not paid 100 per cent by property owners.

The apartment above the Number 4 fire station will be remodelled by the Paul Talbot Company at a cost of $41,661.

Industrial committee Chairman, Paul Gervais announced last night that a notice of by-law for a $100,000 loan to the American Biltrite Rubber Company would be presented next week.

This would boost the total loaned by the city to the company to over $800,000.

Sherbrooke and Lennoxville bus travellers should have been publicly warned of the Laramie Transport fare increase, complained West Ward Ald. Antonio Pinard last night.

Mr. Pinard said, "in future I hope that the company will advertise their fare increases ahead of time should there be any others."

Ald. J. M. Jeanson took a personal loss of $9,000 when the Lafayette Pulp and Paper Company went bankrupt he told council last night during a council discussion on the subject.

City of Sherbrooke officials emphatically denied that they owed or loaned money to the now bankrupt Orient Hosiery Company.

St. Patrick's Players In Delightful Comedy

A thoroughly delightful comedy called "Lilies in the Rain," was presented by the St. Patrick's Parish Society Saturday night before a full and appreciative audience in St. Patrick's parish hall.

The three-act play by Ruth and Nathan Hale was directed by Geraldine Hebert and brought both new and familiar faces before the footlights.

The story is that of the Lambert family whose romances, dates and business affairs are complicated and exceedingly funny.

The role of Eileen Lambert, eldest of John Lambert's four daughters, was played with poise and charm by Ann Rizzotto, a newcomer to Sherbrooke.

John Maher and Geraldine Fortier, as Mr. and Mrs. John Lambert, who have frequently appeared with the St. Patrick's Players gave their usual competent performance.

Jean Roach and Sandra Ball, playing the two middle daughters, Laurie and Letty Lambert, opposite their "dates" Richard Waite as Bill Sullivan (whose appearances always announced trouble) and Richard Bean as Raymond Connelly (a serious-minded, bewildered youth of sixteen), provided comedy of a high order as they scrambled through their teen-age mixed-up dates.

Charles Attabury, engaged to Eileen Lambert, was capably handled by Douglas Fletcher, while Mrs. Attabury, his mother, a managing club woman, came to life as played by Arlene Hand.

John Branswell, suave and polished, was Paul, a typical "ladies' man" with a line.

A shining light was Sharna Lambert, the 10-year old daughter of the Lambers, played by little Carol Tobin with complete naturalness and charm.

Between acts Irish music was provided by Mrs. Doreen White, who sang "A Little Bit of Heaven" and "Let Him Go, Let Him Go."

Mr. Roger O'Connell who sang "Danny Boy," and together with Mrs. White, "Mother Machree," all accompanied by Mrs. L. P. Leveque.

Peacemaker Is Stabbed To Death

ARLINGTON, Mass. (AP) — A man attempting a peacemaker's role was stabbed to death in this quiet Boston suburb Monday night as he sought to avert a clash between teen-age gangs.

Within hours police rounded up four youths in neighboring Watertown and said all admitted a part in the killing. At least three were expected to be charged with murder.

The victim, Franklin K. Theall, 26, an unmarried tree surgeon, was left dying in a gutter only 100 feet from his home.

Witnesses told police a dozen youths, "looking for trouble," entered a variety store where Theall was having coffee. Theall, apparently fearing for the safety of his customers and employees, ordered them out of the store.

The witnesses said the gang dragged Theall and two unidentified youths from the store, beat them unmercifully and stabbed Theall near the heart.

Boarding School For UK's Bulls Irks Cattlemen

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Britain's plan to open a "boarding school" for bulls has stirred the ire of the cattle breeders. "It's a reckless, theoretical experiment with the nation's cattle," fumed the secretary of the British Friesian Cattle Society.

In one of its rare press conferences, the society Monday demanded that the project be abandoned.

The milk producing board last month announced a "pilot" dairy cattle breeding scheme whereby 200 "boarders" — the elite of the British Friesian bull population — are to be sent soon after birth to a "school" for five years.

The animals are to live behind a bull-proof fence on a 287 - acre farm in the north country. They will not be allowed to see a single cow.

The project is being handled by the milk board in an effort to help farmers produce better dairy cattle through artificial insemination.

The board plans to mate each of the elite bulls with 1,000 cows. The heifers will be reared and mated, and when they bear calves their milk yields will be measured.

From progress reports, a few bulls are to be selected to return to the artificial insemination service. Second-year performers will end up as steak.

The board's breeding scientists believe that if the pilot project is successful, 200 top bulls can eventually sire the entire national dairy herd of 2,500,000 cows.

The Friesian Cattle Society said the program is "a tremendous potential danger" to farmers.

"Breeding is a slow and gentle business of pitfall and heart-break in which all those of experience know there is no shortcut to success," said secretary W. H. Bursby.

"... By restricting the size of the stud, the buildup of common blood both by design and accident would be such as to frighten any practical experienced breeder."

Spencer, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Essex West, said Monday. The Saskatchewan court of appeal Monday unanimously upheld a conviction of O.K. Economy Stores Limited under the trading stamps section of the Criminal Code. The chain store firm was fined $300 by judge J. E. Friesen in district court last December. The trial before judge Friesen was a crown appeal against an earlier acquittal on the same charges.

Rev. Harry Preece of Ottawa, Ont., officiated at the service in St. Peter's Anglican Church, assisted by Rev. Guy Marston. Mr. Morris Austin played the wedding music.

Spring flowers were used to decorate the altar and the Brownies formed a guard of honor during the ceremony for their Tawny Owl of the 2nd Sherbrooke Troop.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white brocade satin ballerina-length gown which she made herself. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline and the long sleeves ended in points over her hands. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a crown of leaves made of matching material. She carried a cascade bouquet of shattered carnations.

Mrs. Barry Mahor, sister of the bride, as matron-of-honor, wore a gold corded silk dress with matching head piece and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze mums. Miss Sheila Kyffin, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a green dress styled identically to that of the matron of honor's and carried bronze mums.

Mr. Nelson Rycraft, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Barry Mahor of Upper Woodlands, Que., and Mr. John Rondeau.

The bride's mother wore a blue silk crepe dress with beige accessories and a red carnation corsage centered by a mauve orchid. A reception for about 40 guests was held at Elmwood Inn, Lennoxville, following the ceremony. A three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Burt, centered the bride's table.

For their wedding trip, the bride wore a grey wool suit with white and black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The couple have taken up residence in Toronto, Ont.

Six ditty bags were filled and sent to the Sailors' Institute in Montreal; sick and shut-ins were remembered with gifts and one wedding gift was sent. Donations were given to the MacKay School for the Deaf, the Salvation Army, the Temperance League and County treasurer.

Ruth Millett Keep Your Hubby at Ease; Many Ways Open to Wives

Take pity on the man—

—If your husband has a poor memory for dates, don't let him forget an anniversary and then act injured because he goofed.

See that he remembers by saying brightly, "Do you realize we have an anniversary coming up day after tomorrow?" Then if he neglects to bring home a gift you have the right to make him feel a little guilty.

—If your husband never has the foggiest notion of what to give you, don't let him wander from store to store trying to get an idea. Give him some hints and make him broad hints.

—If your husband says wistfully that he has been invited on a hunting or fishing trip with several friends, don't make him ask if you mind being left alone. Jump right in and urge him to go. Ease his conscience by assuring him that he needs to get away for a few days.

—If your husband apologizes for losing his temper, accept the apology. Let him know that everything is all right between you again and that you don't hold any grudge, instead of putting him in the doghouse for days.

—If your husband doesn't like or feels uncomfortable around one of your friends, see that friend on your own time. Don't inflict her on your husband.

—If your husband hates big parties, don't keep dragging him to them. Invite friends over in small groups and pass the word along that "George" prefers small gatherings so that you'll be invited to small parties in return.

—If your husband finds it difficult to let the children know how much he loves them, go it for him. It's easy if you want to.

—If your husband finds small talk difficult, draw him into conversations instead of chattering madly to cover up for the fact that he isn't talking.

Beauty Tips

Only constant care will cut down on enlarged pores. Steaming the face with a hot washcloth when bathing helps open up the pores. If you tend toward this condition, use tepid water for bathing, finish with a splash of cold water in the face or run an ice cube over the face for a few minutes.

Women's Groups

GROUP V. W.F.

The March meeting of Group V of the Women's Federation of the Lennoxville United Church was held in Douglas Hall, Queen St. The devotions were conducted by Mrs. C. Bernard, assisted by Mrs. A. Booth and Mrs. M. Stefano.

The study of "Africa Disturbed" was continued under the leadership of Mrs. T. A. Judson and Mrs. Martyn.

The business meeting followed when further plans were made for the Children's party which is expected to be a big event during the Easter holidays for children from 5 to 12 years.

This is to be the main money raising event of the year. Tea was served by the hostesses.

TRINITY WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The March meeting of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church was held recently in the Ladies' Parlour.

Mrs. R. Bauman, the president, chaired the business meeting which opened with a Devotional Period conducted by Mrs. M. Fuller.

The members were reminded of the Rummage Sale to be held on April 29th and the Spring Tea of May 5th.

The next meeting of the Association will take place at 7:30 p.m. on April 26th, the same evening as the C.G.I.T. Mother and Daughter Banquet. Miss M. Quigley, of Montreal will be the guest speaker at that time.

Following the business session, Mr. Paul McKenna gave an interesting demonstration of floral arrangements. Mr. McKenna was introduced by Miss V. Hatch and thanked by Mrs. D. Howard.

The hostess, Mrs. W. Bowman, Mrs. G. Wilkin, and Mrs. K. Broadbelt served refreshments during the social hour. Mrs. M. Soles presided at the tea table.

Feud Over Retired Catcher Leads To Ford Frick's Office, Rule Is Clear On Player's Retirement After Trade

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick says he may rule in favor of Frank Lane in his running fight with Bucky Harris, general manager of Boston Red Sox.

"But . . . I'll have to have all the facts," Frick said Monday night.

The feud was touched off when Red Sox catcher Sammy White and Jim Marshall were traded to Cleveland Indians for Russ Nixon. White then retired to devote full time to a bowling business.

Lane, Cleveland general manager, said the trade was off and demanded Nixon's return. Harris refused. A heated exchange of telegrams followed.

Frick said: "We have a rule in baseball that in the event a trader player doesn't report to his team by 10 days after the season opens, the deal is cancelled."

"The rule is clear and simple. If White isn't with the Indians by the specified time or he applies to be voluntarily retired before the 10th playing day of the season, the deal would have to be cancelled."

DENIES ACCUSATION

Harris said Lane accused him of fraud. He called the accusation "profoundly untrue . . . vicious."

"If what I've said and done is vicious, then I'm vicious," Lane replied, adding Harris assured him White was not going to retire.

"Now it appears he had already been notified that if White was traded from Boston he might quit," Lane said.

"Lane is guilty of a gross distortion of fact," Harris said. "I'm not going to move until I hear from the commissioner . . ."

Harris, obviously picturing a situation in which any player could threaten a retirement if traded, said "if the commissioner decides against the Red Sox it could ruin the whole structure of baseball."

Nixon was signed to a Red Sox contract calling for an increase of about $3,000 over his salary of about $15,000 at Cleveland. He said he is happy and does not want to retire to the Indians.

Orval Tessier's Brilliant Play Just Didn't Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Orval Tessier's brilliant scoring performance in the Eastern Professional Hockey League couldn't move Kingston Frontenacs out of last place.

But he distinguished himself as the best professional goal-getter. Tessier, 23, scored 59 goals and got 67 assists for a total of 126 points during the 70-game schedule that concluded during the weekend. The record formerly was 122 points held by Guyle Fielder of the Western League.

Tessier's goal total also dethroned Sid Smith and Carl Liscombe of the American League, who held the record jointly with 55 goals in a season.

Tom McCarthy of Sudbury Wolves, first-place finishers, was second with 46 goals and 62 assists for 108 points. Bob Courcy and Bill Carter of Hull-Ottawa Canadiens tied for third with 102 points each.

GOALIES PAY OFF

Top scorer for Montreal Royals, who finished second, was Bill Sutherland—in 11th spot with 75 points. But Montreal's lack of goal-getting strength was made up for by its outstanding array of goaltenders, who had the best combined goals-against average of 2.82.

Gerry McNeil played for 29 games and had a 2.39 average. Charlie Hodge, who later went to Hull-Ottawa, averaged 2.90 in 33 games.

In a slightly revised schedule announced Monday for the two best-of-seven semi-finals, Sudbury and Hull-Ottawa play in Sudbury Wednesday and Friday and in Hull the following Sunday and Wednesday. Montreal and Trois-Rivieres play in Montreal Tuesday, in Trois-Rivieres Wednesday and in Montreal Sunday afternoon.

Four-Foot Putt Earns $2,000 By

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — George Bayer dropped a four-foot putt in a sudden death playoff of the St. Petersburg open golf tournament and is $2,000 richer today.

The Glenagles, Ill., pro tied with Jack Fleck of Los Angeles at 282 at the end of 72 holes Monday. He took a par 72 in the final round but Fleck shot a three-under-par 69 for the tie.

Fleck put his third shot on the first extra hole a foot from the pin for an easy par four, but it wasn't good enough as Bayer sent his chip bouncing and rolling into the cup for a birdie.

Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif., finished with 283s, Venturi shooting a seven-under-par 65 for his third round.

Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., thwarted in his effort to make it four straight tournament tour victories, was alone at 284.

Former Pitcher Critically Ill

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Vern Bickford, former major league pitcher for Boston and Milwaukee Braves and Baltimore Orioles, is in serious condition at McGuire Veterans Hospital.

Bickford, 39, recently underwent surgery. A resident of New Canton, Va., he pitched for the Braves from 1948 through 1953 and was one of the club's better right-handers. He finished his professional baseball career in 1955 with Richmond Virginians of the International League.

Hall And Plante To Resume Goaltending Battle In NHL Semi-Finals

Greatest Goalers In Modern Hockey Prepare For NHL Semi-Final Games, Plante Vs. Hall, Bower Vs. Sawchuk

It's going to be a goalers' series. The way things worked out in the National Hockey League when the 70-game schedule ended Sunday, the greatest goalers in modern hockey will be pitted against each other in the Stanley Cup semi-finals.

Although having his poorest season since he joined the NHL, Montreal's worried, funny, accident-prone Jacques Plante won an unprecedented fifth straight Vezina Trophy.

He ended only two goals ahead of Chicago's Glenn Hall, the calm young iron man of hockey who disdains Plante innovations such as face masks and the wandering style and who hasn't missed a single game since he made the NHL in the 1955-56 season. He had 180 goals scored against him.

Both will meet in the best-of-seven semi-final that pits the champion Canadiens against third-place Chicago. Montreal is favored 8 to 5.

ALSO CLOSE
In the other series, the goalers are also only two goals apart. It's been no secret that Terry Sawchuk and Johnny Bower have been the backbones of Detroit and Toronto this season.

Sawchuk in Detroit's better days as perennial NHL and Stanley Cup champions earned recognition as one of the all-time greats. Three times he won the Vezina.

This year the Wings were the lowest-scoring team. Even the last-place New York Rangers managed 187 goals to beat Detroit by one.

A total of 197 goals were scored against the Wings. Toronto's goals against total was 195.

The Leafs specialized in keeping goals out rather than putting them in as they finished second. They were the only team without a player in the top 10 scoring column.

ADVANTAGE FOR LEAFS
The Leafs, who play the semi-final's odd game (if necessary) on their home ice, are favored to oust the Wings.

Says Detroit general manager Jack Adams: "If Johnny Bower continues to give them that fantastic goaltending, Maple Leafs could go all the way."

Leafs coach Punch Imlach, Toronto's big hero last year when he miraculously talked the drooping Leafs into the Stanley Cup finals, is feuding with the press this year and Toronto writers have gone off to cover the Detroit training camp instead of the Leafs. Imlach said he wouldn't let them into the camp at Peterborough, Ont. It'll be out of bounds to everyone except players and club officials and even players' wives are unwelcome.

Sherbrooke Man Hits Hole-In-One

PINEHURST, N. C. — Dr. Armand Ledoux, PineCrest Inn visitor from Sherbrooke, scored the season's 22nd ace with a shot on the 18th hole of the Pinehurst Number One Course. It was made on the 151-yard 18th with a 5-iron during a round with fellow Canadians; Dr. M. W. Hicks, Ronald Stratton, and Joseph Leblanc, all of Sherbrooke.

Hull And Horvath Should Agree On Peculiar Bounces

BOSTON (AP) — Pucks, like footballs and baseballs, take funny bounces.

Ask the Bruins' Bronco Horvath and Chicago Black Hawks' Bobby Hull.

Hull beat out Horvath for the National Hockey League scoring title in the final game of the regular season Sunday night, edging the Boston forward by one point.

That point came on an assist when Hull's pass from behind the Boston cage deflected off the skate of teammate Eric Nesterenko into the net for a goal.

That was one bounce.

The other?

Horvath, who led the league through most of the season, missed the entire second period because he was in hospital undergoing x-rays.

A bullet-like slap shot by Boston defence player Bob Armstrong had caught Horvath in the face and dropped him near the Chicago net.

There was no fracture and Bronco reappeared for the third period.

But the Black Hawks played him so closely he not only couldn't score, he could hardly get his stick on the puck.

LITTLE BIT OF LUCK
Hull, who earlier scored a goal that tied him at 79 points with Horvath, conceded he had a little bit of luck.

"I was lucky but you have to get some luck in this game," said blonde Bobby. "I can think of a lot of shots over the season that were labelled and didn't go in, so they even up."

Horvath, obviously crestfallen, had nothing to say, just shrugged.

Hull will collect $1,000 from the league for winning the title and will collect another $1,000 from

Heiss-Jenkins Marriage Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's worst kept secret is out of the bag — Olympic figure skating queen Carol Heiss and Hayes Alan Jenkins are getting married here April 30.

Jenkins, an Akron, Ohio, attorney, was Olympic figure skating champion in 1956. His younger brother, David, won this year.

"This must have been the world's worst kept secret," said Miss Heiss, 29, a New York University-English major, Monday. "But now it's official."

There have been rumors of the romance for months.

Carol also said she would turn professional but this was a surprise. She had maintained ever since winning the Olympic title that she was not interested in a pro career.

"I had to say that or lose my amateur standing," said Miss Heiss. She added:

"I wouldn't want to go into an ice show on a regular basis. I wouldn't want to be away from Hayes that long."

"As for the movies and television, they make some mighty tempting offers. I just can't turn my back on them."

Observers say Carol should be able to make $100,000 quickly in movies or TV.

She and her husband-to-be will live in Akron and she plans to finish college there.

Broomball Finals In Richmond To Start Wednesday

RICHMOND — The final series for the local Broomball championships will start Wednesday night at the local Coliseum when Jaycees and Duchess Shoe go into a best-of-three set.

Jaycees earned the right to meet Duchess when they blanked Brown Shoe here Monday night 1-0 with Claude Blanchette racking up his second straight winning giving his club the win. Jean Guy Fleury scored the only goal in the game.

In other local sports, the Tremholm Dart Club held their singles Saturday night at the Brunswick Hotel with Bill Brock coming out on top over Len Boast in the final round. Only thirteen players took part in the tourney with Jacques Gervais, Blanche Mastine and Len Boast making the semi-finals with Bill Brock.

The Legion ladies of Branch 15 held their singles with Kay Crack emerging the winner.

Larochelle leads the Dow Trophy race in the Richmond Zone of the SETDL series which is a best-of-five affair. Their opponents, Windsor Mills, lost the first two games by 21-19 scores and the third in this series will be played this week. If Larochelle, zone champs, wins the third game, they take the trophy.

NHL TV Coverage Arrangements Set

TORONTO (CP) — Televising of the National Hockey League playoffs will be based on a policy of taking coverage to cities of the home teams in all games and covering as many games as possible on the full network, a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation spokesman said Monday night.

The opening game Wednesday in Toronto against Detroit will be televised on the full English network, starting 9 p.m. EST. Thursday's game in Montreal against Chicago will go out only to Montreal and Quebec City.

Saturday's Detroit-Toronto game will go out from Detroit on the minor network covering Toronto and Southern Ontario, while the Montreal-Chicago game at Montreal will be televised on the major network, covering all other stations.

NHL Statistics Out

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League's final official statistics released today confirmed Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks as scoring champion and goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal Canadiens as winner of the Vezina Trophy.

Each carries a $1,000 bonus from the league.

A goal and an assist in the schedule windup Sunday night gave the 21-year-old Hull 39 goals and 42 assists for 81 points and a one-point margin over Bronco Horvath of Boston Bruins. He gets the Art Ross Trophy.

Horvath had 39 goals but was one assist shy of Hull.

Plante won the Vezina for the fifth consecutive season, a feat without parallel. The award goes to the goaltender who sees the most action for the club with the best defensive record.

TWO GOALS FEWER
The league's champion Canadiens, with Plante in nets for 69 of the 70 games, yielded 178 goals to the opposition. Glenn

Hall and his Chicago mates allowed two more.

The Doctor Says

HAIR ON WOMEN'S FACES
SIGN OF HORMONE IMBALANCE
By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Ever since I invited postal requests of topics for discussion, I've been collecting quite a stack in the file reserved for skin conditions. In order to answer as many as possible as speedily as possible I'll have to respond briefly and somewhat arbitrarily, for which I ask your tolerant understanding.

The appearance of hair on the female face (hirsutism) is a cause for great embarrassment.

As a result, many women subject themselves to painful and, at times, dangerous counteractive measures.

To begin with, you must understand that this is a manifestation of a disturbance in the balance of circulating sex hormones.

When the proportion of the male factor exceeds that of the female factor there may be a male type of hair growth in mustache and beard areas.

This disproportion may result in hirsutism in young girls who also may be afflicted with acne pimples. It may accompany change of life, and it is quite usual in older women.

Hirsutism also may be an early sign of certain tumors of the ductless glands. And it may be caused by overdoses of male sex hormone (usually given to control certain types of bleeding) or by effective doses of pituitary-like preparations used in the treatment of certain types of arthritis.

Because of the important implications of hirsutism, the afflicted woman must place herself in the hands of a qualified physician before undertaking any form of corrective treatment.

If no correctable underlying cause is discovered, she may have individual stubbles removed by electrolysis, preferably by a qualified skin specialist. Or she may resort to shaving with an electric razor if the growth is more profuse.

Contrary to general belief, shaving does not stimulate hair growth.

Shaving is preferable to X-ray exposures and the use of chemical depilatories, each of which is almost certain to cause difficulties in the long run.

Internal treatments with glandular products, given by mouth or injection, are ill-advised since they are bound to result in far more undesirable side effects. They may be compared to us of an explosive for clearing a clogged pipe.

Wrinkles are another cause of embarrassment to the fastidious female.

They result from loss of tissue in the deep layer of the skin.

Hence they cannot be prevented or smoothed out by massage or any form of constricting contraption. Neither will they be affected

Mrs. L. Fee, organist for St. Ann's Church presided at the organ. Hymns were sung by an augmented choir for the occasion. The theme for the day was, "Labourers together for God."

St. Ann's Church entered into the spirit of Education Week by having special comment on the theme printed on the pew pamphlets for the Sunday beginning the week. Also, some of the school pupils took special part in the church service at the close of the week.

Christopher Annett acted as crucifier. Gary Fraser and Barry Brock read the Scripture lessons for the day. Other pupils were in the choir. Mr. J. Caswell, Divinity student from Bishop's University, was the preacher.

A class of 25 candidates for the rite of Confirmation is being instructed and prepared by the Rev. H. I. Apps, rector of St. Ann's each Sunday evening. The lesson period is preceded by a session of hymn singing and prayer.
