Macdonald College Students Visit Farm of W. A. S. Ayerst

Tour Sponsored by S. W. & P. Co. in Interests of Rural Electrification

A party of thirty-five students and other interested personnel travelled through the Chateauguay Valley on Saturday, to study rural electrification as applied to farms in this district. The party was made up of students of the Macdonald Branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, two professors from Macdonald College and a supervisor of the Rural Service of the Shawinigan Water and Power Co.

They started out from Macdonald College in the morning and made their first stop at Ste. Martine, at the Agricultural School. Mr. N. April, who is in charge of the school, showed them around the farm and pointed out the tools and equipment. The group spent much of its time there watching the new hay drying machine which has been installed at the school. Later they came on to Huntingdon for lunch at the Chateau.

The group arrived at the Chateau in a bus of the Provincial Transport Co., at about 1 o'clock. In charge of the group which was sponsored by the Shawinigan Water and Power Co., was Mr. J. W. Lavigne, supervisor of the Rural Service Bureau of the company. Accompanying the students also were Professors Malloch and Cooper, who teach agricultural engineering at Macdonald College. The idea of the tour was to show the students the practical workings of the various equipment about which they are receiving instruction. Mr. Lavigne has been attending the lectures at Macdonald College and giving talks on rural electrification and his company decided that more knowledge would be gained if the students were taken on a trip to farms where modern electric power methods were in operation.

Following a luncheon at the Huntingdon Chateau, the Gleaner photographer took a picture of the group on the steps of the hotel, which appears elsewhere in this issue. The whole party then left for the W. A. S. Ayerst farm near Ormstown. This farm was picked as being the most electrified farm in the neighborhood at present.

On arrival at this farm, the students were met by Mr. F. W. Ayerst, manager of the farm and son of the owner, and his assistant manager, Mr. W. Varin, who were introduced to the students by Mr. Lavigne. Mr. Lavigne has visited this farm on many occasions in the course of his duties with the Shawinigan Water and Power Co. and thus knew Mr. Varin. The tour of the farm was commenced with little loss of time as the party had to return to Macdonald College that evening.

The first thing pointed out was that the lighting is done by the use of fluorescent lamps throughout all the barns. The modern office and fixtures, which is situated at the front of the first barn, caught the eye of all present, as did the wash basin and toilet fixtures at the back of the office. The party then proceeded to the workshop where all the machinery is operated by electric power. There are several machines such as a lathe, a band saw, drills, circular saws, a forge and numbers of tools that can be used in connection with any job that may be required to be done on the farm. Mr. Varin explained that the men do most of the work, but if it is a large job they hire experienced men to do the job for them.

Having seen this part of the farm, the party went on to the next barn which houses the cattle. Here just inside the door was seen the $10,000 bull purchased by Mr. Ayerst a year or so ago and also the young bull which is being shipped to Jamaica this week and sold for a price of $4,500. The students were greatly interested in these and other animals in the barn, of which there are 43 head. From here the party went to the modern and up-to-date milk house. Here were seen the electric coolers, the can cleaning and sterilizing equipment in the milk house and the large tanks for heating the water and the pumps for pumping the water from one end of the farm to the other. In every case electricity is used to do the work, even the water is heated by electric heating units.

The silo came in for some questions and it was found that it had a 90 to 95 ton capacity, was entirely made of brick, having three rows of brick, an airspace, and another row of brick. It had been on the farm when purchased by Mr. Ayerst and had been there for a number of years and was still in perfect condition. The students were then taken to the feed grinding and mixing shop where they witnessed a 500 lb. capacity feed mixer mixing oats, bran and oil cake in just a few minutes. There is also an oat rolling machine and a grinder. Mr. Varin stated that they rolled the oats in preference to grinding, as they found it a better type of feed. These machines are all operated by electric motors.

Throughout the tour, frequent stops were made for the purpose of the students asking any questions about any of the equipment or the methods of farming. Explanations were given either by Mr. Lavigne or Mr. Varin, to the questions that were asked. In answer to a question on ventilation in the barns, Mr. Lavigne stated that it was the intention of the owners to instal electric fans to keep down the humidity. A shaft was now being used, but this did not operate as effectively as it should. When the fans are installed, the humidity will be lessened and will result in less deterioration through the moisture rotting the timbers of the barn. Notes of the various items of interest were taken by the students for future reference and all were deeply interested in the whole setup of the farm. After the last question period the party went over to the implement shed to see the various machines and tractors that are used on the farm and on the land. Here again they found much of interest and spent a short time looking over the various pieces of machinery.

Principally the various ones in the group were amazed at the many jobs that were made easy by the use of electricity on the farm. Speaking to different ones, the Gleaner representative found that few if any, had seen such equipment on a farm before. They marvelled at the ease with which the hard chores of the farm were accomplished with the equipment at hand. Milking is done by machine and the barn is equipped to take the machines on its power lines. The Shawinigan Water and Power Co. is naturally keeping a close eye on the installations at this farm, as it is a great asset to proving the use and help that electrification can give the farmer in all he does. Many hazards are cut down by the use of electricity besides the fact that it is always ready to go to work and it is clean and economical to use. Checking on a recent bill it was found that the cost was about nine-tenths of a cent per kilowatt. The number of kilowatts used was 6,750 and this amount covered everything on the farm including the houses and all the electric equipment used in them. The students remarked that they had learned much of practical value from their visit to this farm.

The following are the names of the students who were in the party and they were from all parts of the Dominion, from the Maritimes to the Western provinces: R. Mulqueen, J. A. Allen, D. Craig, J. G. Crowe, A. D. Crowe, W. Turner, M. Whiteman, J. Beaudet, D. Dixon, B. Eastwood, F. Charrette, R. Perreault, G. Byers, R. Macdonald, G. Treland, R. Greenbank, M. Fullerton, P. Poapst, R. Gilivray, J. Laurie, J. Turner, W. Maclaren, J. Maclaren, N. St. Jean, A. Cole, B. Boldrick, C. Cooper, J. Zavitz, J. Shields and W. Voghan. Among them were many veterans taking the engineering course at Macdonald College and they were all deeply interested.

Sugar For Beekeepers

Beekeepers who need sugar to feed their bees this spring should send in their requests as soon as possible to the Provincial Apiarist, Jules-R. Methot, Department of Agriculture, Quebec. The number of hives should be mentioned and if the request is considered reasonable, the necessary amount of sugar will be granted. Although the sugar situation is improving, rationing is still in force and distribution to beekeepers under strict supervision.

A complete list of beekeepers who have colonies and second hand beekeeping material for sale may be had upon request by writing to the Beekeeping Division. This service will be very useful to those who wish to strengthen their colonies with bees bred in the Province of Quebec.

Allow Double Tax Deduction For Housing Projects

In an effort to stimulate construction of rental housing, the Government announced recently that it will double the rates of depreciation for rental housing projects and their equipment built or acquired between March 31, 1947, and December 31, 1949.

Reconstruction Minister Howe, tabling an enabling order-in-council in the Commons, said the move recognized that "our supply of new rental housing is proportionately too low and there is a great need for this type of dwelling" and also the fact that "perhaps the principal reason for the reluctance of private owners to enter this field is their belief that present capitalized costs may be high in relation to stabilized rents".

Under the order, a rental property owner will be entitled to deduct from his income tax return twice as much as he now can, for depreciation of his property. Current rates for building vary between two and five percent, depending on the type of structure. In the case of equipment, the rates vary from five to 10 percent.

In other words, the order gives capital investment a warmer invitation for return.

On a $14,000 building, considered apart from any equipment within, an owner could thus chop off as much as $1,400 a year from his income for tax purposes.

The double depreciation will continue for 10 years on projects consisting of four or more family dwelling units which meet Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation specifications, which rent for less than $70 a month per unit, which give veterans' preference and have an average of 1.75 bedrooms per unit.

Under questioning by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton), the Minister said the order applied to single houses but if the owner was an occupant of his house it must be a four-family house. In other words, it did not apply to a duplex where the owner was also a tenant. If the owner was not a tenant, it applied to a duplex or any unit.

Bingo to be Put Down in Quebec

Duplessis Declares War on Game; Definite Action to Come

Quebec.—Premier Maurice L. Duplessis, Attorney General of the Province of Quebec, put his foot down decisively on the bingo abuse which has of late months reached huge proportions in the province, and especially so in the City of Quebec.

During the winter months just ending there has been widespread advertising, in street cars and elsewhere of bingos to be held in the Coliseum, where the hockey matches take place and which has the largest seating and standing capacity of any hall here, and at which prizes totalling $12,500. were to be given. There is at present advertising of a bingo to be held at the Coliseum at which the prizes will total $13,500. The same advertisement carries a notation that this bingo is arranged by the organization of a certain named person, and that a certain parish is to benefit, thereby following the same lines as advertisements for previous bingos. Crowds of 10,000 to 12,000 have been attending the events.

This outburst of bingo holding follows upon an epidemic of sale of raffle tickets which took place at the most important centres of Quebec last summer, the raffles being said to be for the benefit of this or that particular parish in the province. So large has the raffle business been here of late, that on one occasion there was a public drawing at the armory with the mayor of the city scheduled to appear and preside. The pro-mayor appeared, the local newspapers carried big stories of the event.

In one respect the City of Quebec appears to be virtuous. There are apparently no handbooks in operation.

Red Cross Drive Next Week

Dear Fellow Citizens:

The opening of the Annual Campaign of The Canadian Red Cross Society in our district is being preceded by a dinner on Tuesday evening, 8th April, at Huntingdon Chateau, to which you are cordially invited. Special speakers will be present to discuss the work of the Society, which is legion. It is doubtless democracy's greatest humanitarian agency as, no matter what emergency, war, pestilence, floods or fires, you may feel assured the Red Cross always will be there with your dollars, converted into comforts, to alleviate the suffering and want of humanity.

It is with this assurance that we appeal to you for support each year. When you recall that as recently as within one month it has had a major duty in connection with the flood disaster in England we are confident you will wish to make your donation a little greater than usual this year.

Our canvassers are going to do their best to visit your homes during the next two weeks. Will you please help them by having your contribution ready and do make it as generous as you can afford. Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

DAN FAUBERT,

Large Audience Appreciates School Concert Offering

Pupils Taking Part Did Very Well in All Choral Parts

Something quite different from the regular run of school concerts was staged at the Huntingdon High School auditorium, on Friday evening, and it met with a splendid response from the public. At the opening, Mr. E. C. Martin, school commissioner, spoke a few words on the presentation and explained that the school inspector had remarked quite favourably on the work and said he hoped that more schools would introduce the idea. Mr. Marting also explained that he was substituting for Mr. M. Ruddock, the Chairman of the Board, as he was suffering from asthma.

Mr. Stanley Liversidge, who was mianly responsible for the concert, made the various announcements regarding the concert items and explained that a new type of singing had been introduced whereby the singers had been taught to sing out without shouting.

The first item on the programme was an operetta, "Dream Bags" by the pupils of Grades 1, 2, 3 and 4. This was entirely a singing number and songs gave the idea of what the setting was about. The setting on the stage was quite pretty, being entirely of flowers on trellis work, which made it most colorful. The children were grouped across the stage, some standing and some sitting and the whole presented a really beautiful scene. The dream fairy came in and distributed the dream bags among the sleeping children, as the sandman completed his visit of spreading the sand from a large bag that sent the children into slumber land. Each one had a part either in song or verse and from this the story of the dream bags was traced through to conclusion.

The cast of characters in the operetta was as follows: Betty, Ruth Humberg; Margaret, Patricia Harrison; Leonard, Brian Smith; Sam and Friend, Donny Cogland and Roger Saumier; Bobby, Carl Wilson; Jane, Allison Reid; Frances, Ruth Ann Barrington; Dream Fairy, Sylvia Baird; Billy, Ronnie McNaughton; Ellen and Friend, Lois Kyle and June Amyot; Patsy, Betty Zeisler; Molly, Dorothy Helm; Sandman, Jimmy Faille; Paul, George Stark. Those taking the choral numbers were: "Moon Song", quartette, June Amyot, Nola Stark, Brian Smith and Ronnie McNaughton; "Fairy Folk Song," solo, Ronnie McNaughton; "Slumber Song", duet, Brian Smith and Ronnie McNaughton; "Awake" quartette, Bruce Smith, Barbara Jane Ambrose, Patricia Ann Lang, Ronnie McNaughton; Opening Chorus, "Dreamland", complete chorus; "Dream Bags", complete chorus; "Sandman", complete chorus.

The second item on the programme was the High School Girls' Choir with the following three numbers: "Three Blind Mice", a round song; "Fires Burning" and "Blue Danube". This was exceptionally nice to listen to and the girls did very well in the fade-away of the first number.

A piano duet was given by Mrs. S. Currie and Mrs. N. W. Sparrow, first selection "Qui Vive" and second, "King Cotton". These were two very good pieces for a concert of this nature and added a variety to it.

The fourth item was the Rhythm Band composed to pupils of Grades 1, 2, and 3, and directed by Mrs. E. Foster. This gave a very good illustration of timing and co-ordination. It presented a little different type to previous items by the Rhythm Band, by the fact that different instruments played in sequence, and together as one. Mrs. Foster directed the first round and was followed in turn by Jimmy Ross, Grade 1; Douglas Beattie, Grade 2 and Garfield Beare, Grade 3.

Mrs. Sparrow and Mrs. Currie gave two more selections as piano duets, "Dance of the Demon" and "Approach of Spring". Again these numbers caught the fancy of the audience and fitted in well with the programme.

The sixth item was by the Mass Choir composed of pupils of Grades 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, with the following selections: "Farmers in the Dell", "Cowboy Riding Song" and "The Mermaid". The young singers did very well with these pieces and carried out the instructions of the director very closely.

The final number was by the High School Girls' Choir with the following selections: "All Thro' the Night", "The Old Lamp Lighter" and "Sun of My Soul". Here again was excellence in diction, light and flow. The songs were sung smoothly with emphasis in just the right places, yet no strain was on the voice. Harmony was perfect, there was no lagging and everyone was in time.

Throughout the whole concert was shown the time and care that had been put into teaching these youngsters what was required and some very good voices were heard. If this type of training is persevered with these young voices could easily be used to advantage at some of the music festivals. Much credit is due Mr. Liversidge and the teachers who assisted in the training, and arranging of the programme. As we said in the beginning it was different to what has been presented here before, and the very large audience thoroughly enjoyed it. Many encouraging remarks have been heard since the concert and hope has been expressed that more of this type will be staged in the near future.

STAGE SETTING FOR OPERETTA, DREAM BAGS, AT HUNTINGDON HIGH SCHOOL

The above will give some idea of the lovely setting of the stage for the presentation of the operetta by pupils of Grades 1, 2, 3 and 4, of the Huntingdon High School. The costumes for the children and the flowers interwoven with the trellis work all blended well with the theme of "Dream Bags".

Annual Meeting Barrie Memorial Hospital April 9th

The annual meeting of the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown, will be held in McDougall Hall, Ormstown, on Wednesday, April 9th, at 1:30 p.m. There will be many items of great importance to all persons interested in the affairs of the hospital and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance. It it understood that the plans for the new hospital will be on display and the matter will be up for discussion at this meeting. In addition the usual reports of the finances and operation of the hospital during the past year will be given.

Jewelry Store Broken Into

Stock to Value of $1,500 Stolen

A robbery took place during the early hours of Monday morning at the jewelry store of Mr. Y. W. Turcotte, situated in Mr. Gagnon's barber shop, on Chateauguay Street, Huntingdon. The thief or thieves gained entrance by breaking out a piece of the glass in the door and reaching in to release the night latch. Once inside, both show cases were cleaned out of the rings, bracelets, pendants, etc., and the boxes were left strewn over the floor of the shop. Nothing was touched in the window display, or any of the watches and clocks that were in for repair. Only the new stock was taken and this is valued at $1500 by Mr. Turcotte.

When the owner arrived on Monday morning he found the door locked, but the hole in the glass arroused his fears and on entering he found the place had been burglarized. Mr. Turcotte told a Gleaner representative that he carried no insurance as this had been refused him because the door was not considered safe enough, thus it is a total loss so far.

The Provincial Police from Valleyfield are investigating the case, but, no trace of those responsible for the theft has been found as yet.

Cash Prizes For Bowling Tournament

Much enthusiasm is being displayed over the coming Bowling Tournament being sponsored by the Huntingdon Bowling Alleys, which starts April 13. $150.00 is being awarded in prizes—20 prizes for women and 20 for men. Prizes will be as follows: Women: 1st, $20.; 2nd, $13.; 3rd, $8.; 4th, $5., six prizes of $2. each and 10 prizes of $1. each. Men—1st, $25.; 2nd, $15.; 3rd, $10.; 4th, $5., six prizes of $2. each and 10 prizes of $1. each.

Prizes will be awarded for the best averages in eight games. Four consecutive games will be played two succeeding weeks. Any person will be eligible to compete upon payment of an entry fee of $1.00. Closing date for entries is midnight Saturday, April 12.

Seeks Communication With Party Assisted

A letter has been received by the Postmaster at Ormstown, from a Mr. Alfred Quintal, 126 E. Park Avenue, Oaklyn, New Jersey, U.S.A., seeking to find the name and address of the party he was able to assist near Ormstown. The writer says he assisted a motorist who was in difficulties about 11 miles before he reached Ormstown. The car was stalled and the writer was able to offer help in getting the car running again. He was struck by the gratitude of the driver of the car and he would like to get in touch with him again so that he can write a letter to him. If the party who was the driver of this stalled car happens to notice this article, he could get in touch with the writer at the address given.

T. T. Gebbie Honoured at Howick Curlers Banquet

Presented With Gold Medal and Honorary Life Membership From Branch

Approximately 145 friends and guests attended the Annual Curlers Banquet of the Howick Curling Club, held on Tuesday evening, March 25th, in the Howick Temperance Hall.

The date and occasion this year was of special significance due to the fact that the President, Mr. T. T. Gebbie was being dutifully honoured for having been President of the Club for 25 years. Members of the Branch, i.e. The Royal Caladonia Curling Club were present as guests and during the evening made brief remaks about their association with Mr. Gebbie during the past 25 years and his great contribution to the game of curling.

Mr. W. E. "Ted" Thompson, President of the Branch, presented Mr. Gebbie with a gold medal and an honorary life membership from the branch. In his brief remarks he congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Gebbie on having given three fine sons to the 'roarin' game' as well, paying special tribute to the late Stan. Gebbie, of whom he said "besides being a wonderful curler there wasn't a finer gentleman on or off the ice."

Mr. R. E. Raquin, Secretary of the branch in presenting the honorary life membership said that this was the highest honour that could be given to any curler and during the 95 years of its existence not more than one such honour could be given in any one year and the person receiving the honour each year had to be unanimously chosen by each and every member of the board of directors of the branch.

Mr. Chas. Crutchfield, Past President of the branch, mentioned that he had always liked to visit the Chateauguay Valley, Huntingdon being his birthplace and where he learned to curl, it made him feel like coming home. He said that he had been associated with many branches of sport but curling was the greatest game for making friends and curlers meet the finest people in the country.

Mr. T. Howard Stewart, the grand old gentleman who has contributed so much to the advancement of Granite Curling all over the country and who is the donor of the Edinburgh Trophy and Pat Lid Trophy and all that goes with them, sat next to Mr. Gebbie at the head table. He too wears the Gold Medal and is an honorary life-member of the branch. In his remarks he said that this was the first time he had worn his medal and felt that on such an occasion as this it should be worn.

T. T. GEBBIE

of Howick, Que., who was honoured after being President of the Howick Curling Club for the past 25 years, at a banquet held at Howick on March 25th.

Mrs. T. T. Gebbie was also honoured with the presentation of a beautiful bouquet of roses from the branch as well as one from the Howick Lady Curlers.

Other guests present who spoke briefly were R. Brodie Ness and Mr. Travers, President of Kingston Curling Club and Past President of the Ontario Curling Association respectively, W. O. Roy, John Graham, E. Maw all of Montreal.

Mr. A. J. Ness, Vice-President of Howick Curling Club, in a few words presented Mr. Gebbie with a cane on behalf of the club. He mentioned that the increase in membership and activity in the club this year was mainly due to the Shawinigan Trophy competition which gives Junior Curlers a chance to curl at the various clubs in the district and meet and curl with other curlers.

Mr. Archie Roy on behalf of the Junior Curlers presented Mr. Syd Stewart, Secretary of the club, with a small token in appreciation of his extra work in conducting the Shawinigan Trophy competition.

Dr. W. Watson ih his usual jovial manner assisted Mr. Gebbie in presenting the prizes to the various

Huntingdon, Wed., April 2nd, 1947

It Is Easter

ON Friday, we shall all commemorate the solemn occasion of the Christian belief, the betrayal and crucifixion of Jesus Christ, which follows what is known as the Lenten Season. It is followed by the greater occasion of Easter whereat Christ was risen from the dead, from which the belief arises that the souls of all people shall arise from the dead.

It is a more somber occasion than Christmas, at which time the birth of Christ is celebrated and all people are supposed to be filled with happiness. As Easter gives the belief that new life is given to the soul, so does the season inspire new life and hope in every living thing. It is Spring, birds begin to come back to favorite haunts and add their voices to the new sounds of life and activity that seem to abound afresh at this time of the year. Trees start to bud and leaf, the grass once again begins to turn green, flowers make their appearance and human beings commence to take more interest in the great outdoors. It is the general awakening after the winter months and everybody looks forward to the warmer weather and the sunshine, yet it is a religious festival that we are celebrating. To a great many the true significance of the festival is lost and they think only of having a good time and ignore entirely the real reason for the break in the regular round of life's work. But despite all this, Easter is probably one time that produces the greatest record in church attendance throughout the year. This is as it should be for all those who profess to be Christians. At Christmas we rejoice that a Saviour is born, at Easter we mourn the loss of one who has made a great sacrifice that mankind might have life everlasting and forgiveness for sins.

In these times of stress and when the whole world is still in such uncertain state, it would be well that we keep the true significance of Easter in mind. It is well that we take time to think and to summarize whether we are doing all we can to live up to the ideals set for us as Christians and whether we are thinking more of the pleasures of the world than of making the world a better place in which to live.

We have been warned of the Communistic influence that is trying to invade our way of life. We have been warned that if it succeeds, that there will be no place for religion. We must therefore face the fact that if we are to preserve our way of life we must do everything in our power to keep the Christian faith in evidence and to treat one another as the teachings of Christianity have led us to believe. In the past few weeks we have been urged to turn to the church and the leaders in the churches have been asked to seek ways and means of bringing the bonds of the church and the people closer together, in order to preserve democracy against the inroads of Communism.

With this season of re-awakening, surely there is no better time to think the matter over seriously, than now. There is definitely a threat and it is what we do about it that will count in the end.

Ormstown War Memorial

THIS week notices are going out to those who subscribed to the Ormstown War Memorial Fund, to have their opinion recorded on a new aspect of the site and upkeep of the proposed memorial. While the amount of the objective set for this project has been reached insofar as promises ande cash received are concerned, the actual building of the memorial has been delayed on account of the shortage of supplies and material for construction. A site was also chosen for the building and land obtained for same. The funds are being held in trust by the Board of Governors and are subject to the supervision of the Federal Government. The campaign was for $25,000, payable over a period of five years, over 50% of this fund has now been paid.

In the interim The Live Stock Breeders' Association of the District of Beauharnois, have made an offer of assistance toward the erection and maintenance of the proposed Memorial Hall, as well as offering their assistance for the furtherance of the objectives of the Ormstown Memorial Association. It is this offer that the Board of Governors are now submitting to the members. If the offer is accepted, it would mean changing the original site selected for the erection of the Memorial Hall, but by so doing the Memorial objective would tend to gain greater monetary support and a regular annual payment toward the upkeep of the hall. The proposal briefly is this—That the Live Stock Breeders' Association would deed a parcel of land within the main entrance to the Ormstown Show Grounds and in such manner the Memorial Arch erected to the memory of those who fell in World War I, would make a fitting approach; The Association further offers a donation of $10,000 payable over a period of five years toward the erection of the Hall; The Association also offers to pay $400. annually toward the maintenance of the Hall on the condition that it be granted the use of the building during the annual show. The Association also offers the free use of the grounds to the Ormstown War Memorial Community Centre for parking and other community activities.

This looks like a very good and appropriate idea for the Ormstown War Memorial Centre and also a very generous offer from the Livestock Breeders' Association. The title to the Memorial Hall would remain with the Ormstown War Memorial Committee and its Board of Governors; the fund would receive an additional $10,000 over a period of five years and after the building is built and put into use by the Livestock Association, a further payment of $400 would be made annually for the use of the building during the Ormstown Show. There is no doubt that the Memorial Board would be able to use this extra money and it is likely that some extra work could be done that is not provided for in the present plans. The fact that an assured annual income could be secured from one source, means much in measuring the cost of upkeep over the years. Further to all this there is no doubt that the present Memorial Arch would make a most fitting approach to the new Memorial Hall at all times and help to link up the two wars with veterans of both wars. If the Memorial Hall is built at the Exhibition Grounds it would be a step toward making the whole of more community interest throughout the entire year rather than just a few weeks of the year as at present. The operation of the Arena as a skating rink this year has shown that these grounds are not out of the way and that good use can be made of the grounds and buildings for the benefit of the community. Such a point would supply ample and safe parking for all vehicles either in the winter or during the summer.

The whole proposition is something the people of Ormstown and district want to think about very carefully so that they can make a wise decision on the ballots that are being sent out this week. They need to be satisfied with the offer generally, to approve the change of location and to be sure that they understand the offer. They also need to attend the meeting that is being called, as at this meeting anything they do not understand can be explained more fully. The Board of Governors would like to have a 100% record of opinion if such can be obtained, for only in this manner can there be a true picture of the feelings of the members. Under such conditions there would be no doubts as to how the members felt if the majority should go one way or the other. If a majority should be obtained from only a small percentage of the members, some dissension would probably come from those who did not cast a vote. However, there is no excuse for anyone not voting as notice of this meeting and ballots are being sent by mail to all who have subscribed. Further notice of the meeting is being inserted in this newspaper and also La Gazette de Valleyfield, in accordance with regulations of the Ormstown War Memorial Association. We can only urge each and everyone to record their opinion and to add as our opinion that we believe the offer is too good to pass up.

Red Cross Campaign in the District

WHILE the actual time of the Dominion Red Cross Campaign has passed, the drive in the Huntingdon area was postponed on account of the winter conditions pertaining. As announced in a recent edition of this newspaper, the committee in charge has decided to open the campaign here on April 8th, with the annual meeting and a dinner at the Chateau. Special speakers will be at the meeting to help and advise as to the work of the peacetime Red Cross. There is much needed work to be done and the Red Cross is the only body that can do it successfully. Perhaps we shall not see much of the actual work in this district, but should we ever need help or assistance such as the Red Cross can give, there is no doubt that we will receive it. One important service which we may need at any time in this district, is blood transfusions. It is the intention of the Red Cross to make provision to build up blood banks which will be available for everyone and every hospital free of charge. No one knows when the emergency may arise that blood transfusion will be the means of saving a life. To have a supply of blood and blood plazma available will mean much to all hospitals.

For this one service alone the Red Cross intends to devote a considerable sum of the money raised in the present campaign. This will be only a small part of the work scheduled to be done, but even if this were all, it would be well worth all the support we can give it. Where facilities are available, the Red Cross teaches swimming and life saving for all children. The idea behind this is to prevent drownings as much as possible by having the young people taught the art of swimming so that eventually all will know how to swim. The objective set for this county is $4,000 and this should be easily reached if the people will get behind the drive to their utmost. Some of the past campaigns have raised some very good sums as follows: 1943, $6,851.90; 1944, $8,031.26; 1945, $9,774.56.

It will be seen that the objective set is quite small compared to what has been raised in other years and taking into consideration that other years were war years and the peacetime drive objective is much smaller as a consequence, the objective set for this drive should be easily reached.

We therefore urge all to give generously when the canvasser calls upon you and to keep in the mind the great service that Red Cross supplied during the war years and what it still will have to supply in the peace era. Don't be misled by the idea that because the war is over the Red Cross work has been completed, for this is not true. The Red Cross still has plenty to do and always did have plenty to do in peacetime, naturally the amount of work is considerably less in peacetime, but the Red Cross must be ever prepared to go into action whenever the call comes. The future of the Red Cross work therefore depends on the success of this campaign, your help will be counted in that success.

Improvement in Milk

SINCE our last editorial on the milk situation, we are plased to say that we have been informed, by Mayor A. C. H. Picard through a letter, that the last report received by the Town Secretary, Mr. E. C. Martin, a few days ago, shows a decided improvement.

There seems to be a feeling on the part of some vendors that The Gleaner is especially trying to bring them to the fore. Such is not the case, but we do feel it is a public duty that we perform in making the public aware of conditions. If the vendors do not wish to see such publicity they have recourse to see that their product never warrants receiving it. We are just as ready to offer praise when such is due and in this case we are ready to report that the situation in bacteria count of the milk has greatly improved. From the information we have received we understand that from samples of milk taken on March 10th, 1947, the following report is given: Pringle Bros., 5,800 bacteria per c.c.; R. Goodfellow, 7,300 bacteria per c.c. This report is vastly improved from those published and reported over several months previously. This one report is not conclusive evidence that the situation has been entirely cleared up, but it does show that the milk can be kept clean if trouble is taken and care exercised in the matter of production. While the law does not compel such a low figure, if this bacteria count is consistently kept down, there will be no complaint from anyone. We want to congratulate these vendors on the reports obtained of the March 10th samples and we want to urge them to keep the reports coming as low as possible. They have proven it can be done and it is to their own advantage to see that their product is handled with care at all times. Milk is such a widely used food and is so easily affected by bacteria, that every care possible should be taken in handling it. Maintain this improvement and everybody will be satisfied.

We wish to point out that while this report was taken on March 10th, a week previous to the adjourned meeting of the Town Council on March 17th, it was not on hand for that meeting. It arrived after that meeting and since our editorial. We also want to add a word of congratulation that the Mayor had this information passed along to us in time to make this report this week. A situation such as this was should never be allowed to delay and we are just as anxious to report that it has improved and even better pleased, than when it is the reverse. We like to feel that we can make good reports of everything in this territory as such publicity has a much more pleasing effect on the territory as a whole.

What Egypt Owes to Britain

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

What is the history of the British occupation of Egypt? It is certainly not one of conquest. Britain did not go into Egypt with the deliberate intention of conquering its people and annexing their territory, but was gradually drawn into a protectorate of the country by a series of international complications. The Government of Egypt at the time was bankrupt, and the country was in a state of chaos, which reached its climax in the year 1876.

The Khedive had suspended payment of all Treasury bills which amounted to nearly $500,000,000. Corruption and maladministration prevailed. Ultimately France, Italy and Austria nominated representatives to a commission for the purpose of dealing with the financial situation and collecting the debts owing to those countries. Great Britain was unwilling to interfere, but was finally persuaded to appoint a representative to the commission in the person of Sir Evelyn Baring, who afterwards was known as Lord Cromer.

As a result of the intervention of this commission the financial position of the country improved, but in the meantime a political storm was brewing. Amed Arabi, an Egyptian of humble origin who had risen to the rank of Colonel, led a revolt in the native army and finally assumed the position of virtual dictator. He built strong batteries at the port of Alexandria and challenged the British fleet in the harbor. The historical bombardment of Alexandria followed. British troops were landed and Amed Arabi's forces were defeated at the Battle of Tel-el-Kebir.

Even now the British declined to remain in Egypt, although they had the support of the other powers. Trouble broke out in the Sudan, and Britain decided to withdraw her garrison and abandon the country. Meanwhile a religious fanatic, known as the Mahdi, rose to power. General Gordon was sent to report on the situation and suggest the best means of evacuation. While on this mission General Gordon and the garrison at Khartum were slaughtered by the Mahdi's men. That was in 1885. Khartum was not recaptured until the year 1895, when Sir Herbert Kitchener (afterwards Lord Kitchener) finally routed the Sudanese forces.

Reforms were instituted throughout the country under Lord Cromer, who was known as the "Savior of Egypt". The River Nile was dammed and a system of irrigation was established. Peace and prosperity prevailed, such as had not been known in Egypt since the time of the Pharaohs. It should be stated that the British occupation of Egypt was decided upon by the Anglo-French Convention, which was signed in 1905.

There have been periodic disturbances and riots, but these have not been due to British misrule. They have usually arisen among Egyptian students who have had sufficient education in British principles of democracy to give them a desire for independence, but not enough to impress them with a sense of responsibility and gratitude for what Great Britain has accomplished for their country—to say nothing of the saving of the whole of Egypt and North Africa from the Germans at the Battle of Alamein. These political uprisings on the part of students in Cairo were in reality a tribute to British rule. As the country and its people have advanced, Great Britain has gradually developed a system of democratic government, until at the present time Egypt is virtually an independent state.

The conditions and the political situation in Northern Africa are far removed from what they were seventy or even forty years ago when Britain at the request of other European nations entered into the occupation of Egypt. The Ethiopians have benefitted by British rule in Egypt. They co-operated with the British in the suppression of the fanatic terrorism in the Sudan, from which they suffered for centuries. The wild Dervishes used to make periodic raids into Ethiopian territory, and after the defeat of the Mahdi their troubles from that quarter ceased.

The history of the occupation of Egypt is similar in many respects to that of India and other British possessions. In any case, the entire world has changed enormously in the past hundred years, due largely to the progressive policy that has characterized the development of all countries that have come within the British Empire.

MAKES FOR MISCHIEF

Too often interests outside the home interfere with the normal home associations of parents and children. If youngsters are to be let grow up on the streets instead of receiving companionship, guidance and good example—from their mothers and fathers it is a wonder that some youngsters do as well as they do to keep out of mischief.

NEWSPAPER FREEDOM

A newspaper should possess a free voice in this, a free world. From to time large combines and corporations attempt to dictate editorial policies to this, and other weekly papers. Subtly they remind the editors of small (and no doubt, in many cases, large) newspapers that they are "heavy" advertisers. The World has never paused long enuogh to the suggestions or to heed the pleas.

REWARDS VERSUS CRIME

Hold-up men continue to ply their activities with varying degrees of violence... The people themselves might do something to check the epidemic of hold-ups...the provincial or federal government could offer a substantial reward to anyone instrumental in capturing a hold-up man or leading to his arrest.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

by the Canadian Press

Specially Written for THE HUNTINGDON GLEANER
By SHANE MacKAY

OTTAWA— (CP) —Meat coupons have joined those for canned fruit, maple syrup and other one-time rationed items and this week Canadians were able to buy all the beefsteak and ham they could get at their corner butcher shop. But the Prices Board hoped they wouldn't overdo it.

Announcement of this latest decontrol measure was made to a cheering House of Commons by Finance Minister Abbott, and both he and the board tempered the news with a warning to purchasers not to go on a buying spree.

Meatless Tuesdays and Fridays, the minister said, would remain in effect in restaurants and other eating places. The Prices Board would also continue to supervise the "area" distribution of meat in an effort to hold supplies going into each region to a point which would not reduce the amount available to meet export commitments. Regulations governing slaughter permits and quotas would also remain in effect.

However, the board asked housewives to institute meatless days in their homes and to buy "only on the basis of real need."

In his statement to the Commons, Mr. Abbott said full co-operation of the public would be required to prevent supplies in each area from being too rapidly exhausted, thereby causing temporary shortages.

He added that the government would undertake certain publicity measures to inform Canadians of the need for restraint, and to invite their co-operation so that the Dominion's exports of meat could be continued at the highest possible level.

Meat rationing first went into effect May 27, 1943, lasting until Feb. 29, 1944. Reinstated in September, 1945, for the purpose of providing more meat to Europe, the final removal took effect March 27.

On Parliament Hill, the Commons ended a week of stormy discussion on a resolution seeking permission to introduce the government's "omnibus" control bill. It finally got into the Commons.

The bill will continue for a year some 57 wartime and reconversion orders-in-council which provide for controls over certain prices, rents, food exports and a wide variety of other items.

The Commons appeared at first to be mired down in the debate, despite an appeal by Prime Minister Mackenzie King that further discussion take place after the bill had been actually introduced. He suggested members could have a complete discussion when the bill reached its second reading, during which legislation is dealt with clause-by-clause.

He said that ordinarily passage of such a resolution—necessary before introduction of any measure involving expenditure of money—was merely a formality. Debate on the resolution, he added, would only be duplicated when the bill itself is discussed.

Answering criticism that the proposed bill was "unprecendented" in that it actually involved 57 separate matters, Justice Minister Ilsley said the same procedure had been followed in the United Kingdom and Australian parliaments.

Scheduled to end March 29, the controls already have been extended to May 15 in order to give parliament time to discuss which ones will be continued beyond this statutory time-limit. And at weekend it looked like the government might have to ask for another extension at the rate the debate was going.

Hearings by the board of transport commissioners of an application by the Canadian Railway Association for, a 30-per-cent increase in freight rates continued here as some observers predicted the companies might be granted an interim hike in rates.

Nearing the end of their second month on the job, weary corporation and provincial counsels indicated they might still be arguing by mid-summer.

Alberta counsel J. J. Frawley contended the Canadian Pacific Railways in paying more than $1,000,000 a year in rentals for 682 miles of tracks owned by the Ontario and Quebec Railway Co., was giving too high an interest rate to the smaller company's shareholders.

He demanded information on how the Ontario and Quebec company had a directorate composed entirely of C.P.R. officers when the C.P.R. owned only 50 of the smaller company's 20,000 shares.

The annual rental represented interest rates of five and six per cent of the Ontario and Quebec company's debentures and stock.

F. C. S. Evans, C.P.R. counsel, told the board payments were being made under a contractual obligation negotiated in 1884. He added that the company was not paying interest to "someone they can control," and he derided any suggestion the C.P.R. was "covering up and paying money from one pocket to another."

451,726 NEW DEPOSITORS CHOOSE THE B of M

Nearly half a million Canadians began saving at the Bank of Montreal during the war years. Today, the B of M family of depositors has well over a million and a half members.

Many of our customers know this: what they can spare today they may need tomorrow. So—bit by bit—their nest-eggs grow.

These are the people who have been fighting the battle of inflation—doing a good turn for their country and a good turn for themselves.

These people know what saving means—they know that growing dollars mean growing confidence—that a "backlog" in their bank account is the first step to achieving personal independence and to getting those things they want most.

Why not follow the lead of more than a million Canadians and begin saving now at the B of M?

YOUNG AND OLD ENJOY EGGS AT EASTER TIME

With the coming of Spring, a sense of joy and happiness seems to invade all domains. The snow is rapidly disappearing, grass, crocuses leaves, etc. are coming out and all nature smiles.

Men, women and children go about their business as if they had shed a heavy burden. The animals also feel the change, the hens for instance decide they have been lazy long enough and start laying aplenty.

At Easter one immediately thinks of eggs; children of all ages, although some of them would object to being called children in other circumstances, have been watching the store windows and counters for their favorite easter egg. Mothers on the other hand have other eggs to fry, boil, poach, scramble, etc. The more eggs there are, the better they like it for main dishes or to supplement dishes that may be lacking in protein.

Eggs have a place in any of the three daily meals and also in any course of the meal, from appetizer to dessert. Occasionally we find persons who say they do not like eggs, meaning the egg poached, scrambled and so on. These same persons do not usually object to eating desserts and other dishes in which eggs are used, but disguised. If really is not difficult to include sufficient eggs for the non-egg eater because fortunately there are many desserts and sauces in which eggs lose their identity.

Spring is a wonderful season but sometimes before its good effects are felt a person feels sort of limp after the long winter struggle and needs a little extra food. This surplus food might take the form of egg nogs between meals. Again, a plain egg nog might be objectionable to some people, this can easily be overcome by flavouring the egg nog well with spice or a sweet flavouring.

The home economists of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest ways of using eggs in the daily meals.

Spanish Eggs

6 eggs
2 strips bacon
1 small onion, chopped
1 tablespoon flour
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 green pepper, chopped
or
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup chopped celery
salt and pepper

Hard-cook eggs: cover to depth of one inch with cold water, heat to boiling point, set where water will keep hot and let stand 15 minutes. While eggs are cooking, cut bacon in small pieces and cook until crisp.

Remove bacon from pan and cook onion in the bacon fat until clear. Blend in flour, add tomatoes, green pepper and celery and simmer 20 minutes. Add bacon, salt and pepper. Remove shells from eggs, cut in half lengthwise and arrange in serving dish. Pour hot sauce over eggs. Six servings.

Moulded Egg Salad

1 tablespoon unflavoured gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
4 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
3 tablespoons chopped pickle
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon chopped pimento

Soften the gelatine in the cold water. Add boiling water, vinegar and salt. When the gelatine mixture begins to stiffen, add the remaining ingredients. Pour into wet moulds and chill until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce or other salad greens and garnish with mayonnaise.

Almond Sponge

½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
1 cup sifted pastry flour
or
1 cup less 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in ¼ cup sugar and flavourings. Fold half the stiffly beaten whites into the yolks, then add the flour, mixed and sifted with the baking powder, stirring lightly. Fold in the remaining egg whites. Turn into a slightly greased 8x8" cake pan. Set in a pan of hot water and overpoach in a moderate oven, 350°F. for 30 to 40 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with the following sauce. 8 to 10 servings.

Fruit Sauce

1 tblsp. cornstarch,
2 cups juice from canned fruit,
dash of salt
1 teaspoon almond extract

Mix the cornstarch with little of the cold juice and blend until smooth. Heat remaining juice and gradually add the cornstarch mixture and the salt. Cook about 10 min, stirring constantly until thickened. Add flavouring. Six servings.

Price Control and Rationing Notes

This column is conducted under the supervision of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

All questions regarding rationing and information concerning the Wartime Prices & Trade Board should be addressed to the Information Branch, W.P.-T.B., Room 910, Aldred Building, Montreal, Quebec.

Q.—I pay thirty dollars a month for an apartment in Huntingdon, the apartment consists of one large furnished bedroom, and a slightly smaller room as kitchen, also furnished, and a fully equipped bathroom, the lights and water and heat go in with the rent. Do I pay too much?

A.—We cannot give you a definite answer because each house has a different rent. Your legal rent is the maximum rent that was paid on October 11, 1941, or the one fixed by the W.P.T.B. You could write to Regional Rentals Office, 84 Notre Dame Street West, giving full particulars for specific information about your rent.

Q.—We rent a six roomed house and sublet two rooms. The man who now owns this house is a returned soldier who lived here when he joined the Armed Forces. His mother actually owned the house and he rented a flat from her, and now she has turned the house over to him. He has given us three months' notice to vacate. Is he allowed to do this?

A.—Yes, as he is a veteran and lived in this home before he enlisted, he can give you notice. This notice must be given on the proper forms, and if this was done, he may expect to get possession of his home at the end of the three months' notice.

Q.—Is there still a ceiling price on shoes? Just last week I paid $19.00 for a pair and am sure I never paid such a price before.

A.—There certainly is a ceiling price on shoes. As you gave us the name of the store where you bought these shoes and all details about them, we checked into the matter and find that they were imported from the U.S. Shoe prices have increased in that country and naturally the increase must be passed along to the customer.

Q.—Has there been any recent permission granted bakers to increase the price of brown bread?

A.—No Bread of all kinds including white, vitamin B Canada approved bread, brown bread, whole wheat bread, cracked wheat bread and rye bread are still at their basic period levels.

Q.—Could you tell me if restaurants have been allowed to increase the price of a ham sandwich?

A.—If the ham is hot, the price may be increased five cents. If it is cooked, cold ham, the price may not be increased under the recent allowance for meals.

Mama Skunk was worried because she could never keep track of her two children. They were named In and Out, and whenever In was in, Out was out; and if Out was in, In was out.

One day In didn't come home for lunch, so Mamma sent Out out to search for him. In no time at all they both returned. Mamma was amazed and said, "How, in all that great forest could you find him in so short a time?"

"It was easy," said Out, "Instinct."

The March meeting of the Elgin W.M.S. was entertained at the home of Mrs. G. P. Elder, on Friday afternoon, March 28. The meeting was conducted by the president and started with singing the hymn, "I Need Thee Every Hour" and Scripture from Psalm 95, Mrs. Rutherford giving prayer from Glad Tidings. Minutes of last meeting were read and accepted. Eight members answered the roll call with a Scripture text. A few items of business were discussed. Mrs. Murray, treasurer reported having sent $25.00 towards the allocation. The meeting closed with hymn, "Stand up, Stand up for Jesus," all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. G. D. Elder to around 25. Collection $10.

Mrs. G. Murray, having spent the past month here, left for her home in Brockton Mass., accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. G. Paul, who is going to spend some time with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Zephir Major are the proud parents of a daughter born March 29, 1947, receiving the name Mary Genevieve Monique. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Adrien Cholette, Valleyfield, Que.

Mrs. Vinet, of St. Timothy is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Major.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McDonald and sons visited relatives in Massena, on Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon, March 30, Mrs. Ildori Quesnel and Mrs. Emile Leblanc gave a shower in honour of Miss Marie-Ange Leblanc at the home of Miss Anita Quesnel, at Cazaville. A large number of her friends gathered to offer their best wishes for her married life. The bride-to-be was presented with a set of cutlery in Gardenia design. Vocal numbers by Miss Ghislaine Leblanc. Mrs. Hubert Leblanc and Miss Anita Quesnel were enjoyed during the afternoon.

Several pictures were taken, after which refreshments were served and a beautiful cake was presented to Miss Leblanc by her godmother, Mrs. Ildori Quesnel, in honour of her approaching marriage. Miss Leblanc very fittingly thanked her friends for their token of friendship, and very cordially invited them to visit her in her new home.

Covey Hill

Buyers representing the Federal Government have been looking for two-year-old heifers which are to be exported.

Miss Jean Lowden spent the past week with friends on the Hill.

Miss Lois Sutton has been a week-end guest of Huntingdon friends.

The price of syrup has soared above all previous records and is considered exorbitant by consumers. However, if the farmer valued his own time and that of other members of his family on a scale equal to the wages demanded by outside help, and taking into account the cost of equipment and providing fuel, not to mention the expense of boarding workers, the net returns for maple products might not appear so unreasonable. The very people who demand the highest wages for helping the farmer, object to paying the market price for the syrup. The producer is at the mercy of the weatherman, and may wake up some morning to find hundreds of his buckets burst, a mishap which occurred to many the past week.

Franklin Centre

The past week has been far from good sugar weather. The sudden drop in temperature, Tuesday night, caused some damage to buckets by freezing and bursting open at seams. Evaporators froze in camps and had to be thawed out and emptied. Very little syrup has been made to date. The sap that has run so far is quite sweet, which is a sign, some folks say, of a short sugar season.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Bruce were Sunday guests of Mr. John and Miss Libbie Waddell, Covey Hill.

Mr. Kenneth McNiece, of Montreal, spent the week-end at the same home.

Dr. and Mrs. Turcot and family of St. Chrysostome spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cassidy and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. French.

Tec. Serg. Arnold McGuggan returned to Mitchell Field, Long Island, on Saturday, after spending several weeks at the Manning home.

Mr. Gerald Cassidy returned home last Sunday after an absence of over five weeks. He and his friends visited the most important places in the State of Florida and thoroughly enjoyed their trip of over 8,000 miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dickenson spent Thursday with Messrs. Geo. and Fergus Moore, Covey Hill.

Mr. Earl McNiece, of Montreal, spent the past two week-ends with Mrs. E. M. Sharpe and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brooks and Joan, of Lacolle spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brooks.

Mr. Harry Moneypenny, Jr., and Miss Carol Robinson, of Montreal, were Sunday guests at the Moneypenny home.

This is an extract of a letter, sent from a friend in England:

"Dearest Mother:— You must forgive the writing, for I am doing it with woollen gloves on my hands. You will probably have read about the "fuel crisis" etc. etc — I think it is about the last blow that we can stand. We were sent home for a week — no pay — and last Saturday we all got word to report back. We worked two days without heat or light, and now we have two oil heaters for a large office, and we are frozen. We have warm cardigans, coats and scarves for the whole day, but we can't write in ink with gloves on. "Blackout" is on again — we've no coal and are using wood or anything we can find. Mrs. Sharp's house, with whom I board, is all electric and the cuts are from 9-12 o'clock and 2-4 in the afternoon. Now we have been told that food is very scarce, maybe just our basic rations — this is about the last straw. How I wish the Labour Government had never got in— I think the "working man" in Britain is mad — they are so greedy and discontented. It is of themselves they think, not their country. All the war-time restrictions are on again and I think it will come again, that no one can leave the country. The Conservatives had the money and the experience and we will never get anywhere with this government. It does seem a shame, when we had all suffered so much in the war, and now have the prospect of harder work, longer hours, no food or very little, and no clothes. I cannot see one bright spot and I think it is amazing that we keep going. I wish you had seen the queues for potatoes yesterday — 500 in a queue for coal, queues for eating ham and eggs, while we eat powdered ones and not much of that. Then we read of the King and Queen, etc., dressed in silks and satins, shoes and hats galore, getting gifts of diamonds and gold, wallowing in sunshine, while we are freezing — Well I'm fed up. I've always been an ardent admirer of the Royal Family, and of course I don't blame them — they have to do as they are told by the Government. There, I've filled three pages with grumbles, isn't it dreadful? But I feel better when I get things off my chest.

Maple Syrup Blows Its Top

By EDNA JACQUES

Maple Syrup blows its top—yes sir—prices hit $6.00 a gallon with ceilings off—plus a neat little twenty-five cents extra for the tin—almost double the ceiling price of last year—70% higher so far.

Yes—maple syrup has put on a demonstration of sky-rocketing prices that shows you—in one easy lesson—where prices could get to if all ceilings were suddenly declared off and the fellow with money in his jeans could live on the fat of the land, while the little guy with his small family on the other side of the tracks just couldn't pay for the bare necessities of life.

Funny how people are. You see, there are still a few near-sighted folks dwelling in Canada who really believe that if all price controls were off, everything would be sweet and lovely.

They have a right to think that. It's a free country and every man jack of us has a right to think what we like. We can even talk about it, and no long arm will reach out to whisk us away to a concentration camp....for freedom of speech is one of the Four Freedoms that we just finished fighting for.

Nevertheless, the man who believes that prices will GO DOWN if controls were removed....has a lot to learn.

So while sap is running freely from the old gnarled trunks of hard maple trees, dripping from the little spouts into clean new pails, prices for the finished product are running freely also and new highs are expected right along.

On Prebuary 17, all maple products were removed from the list of rationed preserves and therefore no longer subject to rationing regulations and on March 14, the W.P.-T.B., announced that all 1947 maple products were removed from under the price ceiling. With these two releases, the lid was off.

It is quite obvious that people who have to watch their budgets will have to pass up maple syrup this spring and take the next best thing, which won't be too hard on us, for corn and cane syrups—as well as table blended ones—are off the ration list—though still price controlled—and what more could you ask for than pancakes with corn syrup for Sunday breakfast.

Sugar growers are working hard to get their plantations back in prewar shape....native workers in the Far East once again are free to work in the sugar fields... and in due time, the world supply of sugar will be back where it was before the war and we'll have icing on our cakes and sweeter apple sauce.

Following the pattern of gradual decontrols, there has been a goodly list of things released from coupon-control in the sweet line. Added to the syrups mentioned, canned fruits were released from coupon-controls which naturally left more for different sugars.. granulated .. brown .. fruit .. icing .. sugar cubes .. etc., besides the increase of one pound each quarter for the year, which makes three pounds more for each member of your family.

The Government has assured us however that as long as rationing and price controls are necessary for the well being of our citizens, these will be kept on.

Concerning the recent extension of controls until May 15, Mr. Ilsley said that "confusion if not chaos would result from an abrupt ending of controls in Canada".

CHILDREN'S CORNER

"JOHN HARVARD"

Being sincere lovers of animals we desired to procure a pet for our young son. I mentioned this to a friend and one winter day, a little later, she called on me. As we sat conversing, I was startled to see the face and bright, soft eyes of a wee kitten looking at me from the end of the visitor's muff. I was amazed and delighted and we had a laugh in which kitty seemed to join. It was my friend's way of introducing "John Harvard," who became a cherished and devoted member of our family for many years. It was quite natural that our kitty, bearing a name so distinguished in this classic land, should soon develop a high degree of intelligence and, also, an appreciation of his educational advantages as a resident of historic Cambridge.

John soon endeared himself to all his friends and when visitors came, they were made aware of a welcome by having a small, gray paw extended to them. After that, if his friendship was accepted, he would seek the most capacious lap and settle himself for a nap. He was friendly to everybody and his care of the family was like that of a watchdog.

One day he came running to me making excited noises. I thought he wanted the front door opened for him, but he paid not attention to that, running before me and urging me in the direction of a lavatory. On opening the door, water streamed over the door sill. The room was flooded from an open faucet. As soon as John saw that I was aware of the situation, he departed to his accustomed chair and went to sleep.

He travelled with the family in his own basket and when the usual luggage appeared, which indicated a journey, he would seek out his traveling basket and remark, in his own way, that he was ready to occupy it.

As one of God's beautiful creatures, friend, companion, and constant delight, John Harvard lived a long life of helpfulness and contentment and when he left us, he was laid away with tender care in his own little basket to go on his last journey, and placed under a bed of violets. When we see John Harvard again perhaps he will be able to tell us more of the thoughts he had and the kindly feeling he always shared with all his friends.

SWEETER TASTIER White Bread

RECIPE

Put 1 c. lukewarm water in bread bowl, add 1 envelope Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast and 1 tsp. sugar, stir; let stand 10 min. Scald 2 c. milk, add 5 tbs. sugar; add 5 tsp. salt; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast with 1 c. water; add 6 c. sifted flour; beat well. Add 5 tbs. melted shortening and 6 c. more sifted flour, or enough to make easily handled dough. Knead dough quickly and lightly until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl, cover; set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch dough down in bowl; let rise again until about ¾ as high as first rise. When light, divide into 4 equal portions; shape into balls. Cover with cloth; let rest 10 to 15 min. Shape into loaves; place in greased bread pans. Cover; let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in 425° F. oven for 15 min., then reduce heat to 375° F. Finish baking about 30 min. longer.

Mother Advised Sick Son to Try Monastery Herbs

"Did me a lot of good" he says

MR. J. L. R. writes: "I once had very bad stomach trouble and rheumatic pain. Was in bed for 10 days when my mother advised me to take Monastery Herbs. I gave them a good trial: have since felt lots better and haven't lost a day's work in months. My wife has been taking Monastery Herbs also, for relief of constipation and rheumatic pains and now feels fine. Father Pierre Monastery Herbs are a mixture of finely ground and pleasant-tasting medicinal herbs, blended in the tradition of the monks of old. Sprinkled on food they help to expel poisonous wastes which often give rise to rheumatic pains. 40¢ package: Family size package (three times as large) 90¢: at drug stores.

NO BREWING NO BOTHER
Simply take as much Monastery Herbs as you can pile on a dime . . . and sprinkle on your food.

Stormy Week-end

Starting out as a very nice day, Saturday turned out toward afternoon to be a very stormy one. A high wind and snow blew all night and all day on Sunday, to block many of the roads and to make travel very difficult. The result was some travellers were delayed and church services in the country points had to be cancelled. Coming at the end of March, one can truly say that March went out like a lion instead of a lamb. But Tuesday, April 1st, brought a warm day and saw the snow melting fast.

Malone Garage Blasted

A report appears in the Malone Evening Telegram to the effect that an explosion occurred at the Manson Garage, on Sunday morning, at about 10 o'clock. The explosion occurred in the furnace and ripped up a section of the flooring at the entrance to the garage. Mr. John Manson, Proprietor, was seated in a room about 15 feet away from the explosion, but was unhurt. The explosion was heard by many people and firemen rushed to the scene, but there were no flames. The building was filled with gas fumes and the damage amounted to about $3,000.

Obituary

The Late John Baptiste Lefebvre

The death occurred on Friday, March 28th, of a long time resident of Huntingdon, in the person of the late John Baptiste Lefebvre, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Baptiste Lefebvre, in his 82nd year. The deceased was born in Huntingdon, in 1865, and spent his entire lifetime here, attending school and later working as a laborer. He was married to Miss Lucy Riel and ten children were born of this union, four sons and six daughters. One son and one daughter died, leaving eight children surviving as follows: Frederick, Romeo and Adrien; Dora, Mrs. J. Ricard; Vinalda, Mrs. W. Condon; Lucien, Mrs. Lucien Berthiaume; Albina, Mrs. P. Galipeau, and Catherine. Also surviving are his wife, three brothers and four sisters and a number of grandchildren.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Father Pigeon, at St. Joseph's Church, Huntingdon, on March 31st, with interment in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

CANADA'S health

KEEP IN ORDER

Normal people wind watches regularly, and keep their other precious accessories in good condition, but, complain National Health officers, few people seem to think of the need for maintenance and repair of that most valuable possession of all—their health.

The more finely-balanced a mechanism, the doctors point out, the more care and attention it requires. Neglect is the forerunner of decay and disease.

"Which is more important,—periodic physical check up and attention to needs of mind and body, or upkeep of material things?" they ask.

CLEANING UP

Commendation is extended by health authorities to housewives who make a thorough job of Spring cleaning. With the season for the periodic overhaul of cupboards and storerooms at hand, the medical authorities discuss the relation of cleanliness to health.

Spring cleaning means better environment and an improved standard of sanitation, which aid health preservation.

The doctors also point out that the annual (or semi-annual) clean up may have another important advantage, too,—it will probably remove dangerous substances, such as deteriorated medicines, and rickety furniture, while clearing out the health hazards lurking in litter which has been allowed to accumulate during the winter months.

GRUB FOR GROWN-UPS

Nutritionists remind us that food needs vary with age. In advanced years, they say, protein requirement is reduced. Only a small amount of tissue-building material is needed for body repair. Physical processes and activity having slowed down as we grow older, caloric need from food is reduced.

While the same basic food rules apply to all ages, the form and quantity of meals for the elders differ from those required by younger people. As we "get up in years", meals should be simple, and should consist of easily-digested foods. We need smaller, more frequent, meals, with warm food, easily chewed.

WOOLLIES AWAY

In putting away heavy winter clothing, be sure that they have been cleaned thoroughly, or you may have trouble next time you wear these things. This warning comes from health authorities at Ottawa, who point out that winter garments need cleaning as much as things worn in summer.

The dirt may not show up as definitely on the woollies and mittens, but it will be there just the same. Since filth favours disease, and vermin thrive in dirt, it is unsafe to store the cold weather wearing apparel without first having it cleaned.

Dirty gloves and mittens have been found responsible for skin infections on face and hands.

WET CLOTHING

Dampness invites disease of the rheumatic type, particularly in undernourished children. Parents, therefore, are urged by the National Heauth authorities to give special attention to the youngsters' clothing when they come in wet from play. Wet and cold shoes, outer clothing and other garments which may have become damp, should be changed immediately.

Mothers should encourage active, healthful outdoor recreation, but are reminded that they must protect the children against sickness, and wet and damp clothing is a sure way of encouraging ills of all sorts.

FARM FORUM

The meeting of the River Outarde Farm Forum was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Robertson with 26 present. After listening to the broadcast, the "Greenleaf" was read. It was decided to meet once a month during the summer months. The winners at "Five Hundred" were Mrs. John Shapcott and Mr. Tom O'Leary. Mr. Gerald Smith held the high score at the Crokinole board. Refreshments were served followed by dancing. Mr. Wm. Cameron moved a vote of thanks to the host and hostess for the enjoyable evening.

The Barrie Memorial Hospital wishes to acknowledge the following donations received recently: Anonymous, $10.; Mr. J. D. Bryson, $10.; Mr. Wilfred Bryson, $10.; Anonymous, $10.

Miss Muriel Winter, of Montreal, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. McGerrigle.

Dr. and Mrs. G. Sutton and family spent the week-end visiting relatives in Montreal.

Mrs. Agnes Nussey of Hudson Heights, Que., who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Nussey returned to her home on Saturday.

Mrs. John Howden, accompanied by Miss M. Moffat, spent the week-end at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Howden in Montreal.

Messrs. Stewart Duncan, Willard Greig and Donald McCaig have returned home from Macdonald College having completed the short course in Agriculture.

Mrs. Hugh Ward entertained fifty ladies at a miscellaneous shower, Saturday evening in honour of Miss Alexa Rember, whose marriage is taking place early in April. Miss Rember was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Barrie Memorial Hospital

A special public meeting of the governors of Barrie Memorial Hospital was held last Friday evening, March 28th, to consider the question of employing a campaign organizer and to outline a program for the financial campaign to be held early this summer. Notices of the annual meeting on the 9th of April are being mailed and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance on that date in MacDougall Hall as there is important business to be discussed, with plans for the new hospital as the outstanding item.

Y.W.A. Meeting

On Friday afternoon the Presbyterian Young Women's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Nelson Hooker. Mrs. McMahon presided. Mrs. Ivan Rember conducted a brief worship service and Miss Dorothy Hooker reported on the previous meetings. An invitation was extended the Auxiliary to meet with the Senior Auxiliary on April 10th, when Rev. Wilkie of Montreal will speak. Mrs. Pritchard gave an interesting talk, choosing for her theme "And a highway shall be there." Tea was served by Mrs. Ivan Barrington and Mrs. Alton Barrington to 20 girls and plans were made to hold the April meeting in the evening at the home of Mrs. Ivan Barrington.

Ormstown Curling Club Notes

The Ormstown Curling Club officially closed its season on Thursday, March 27th, when, after a friendly game with four visiting Valleyfield curlers, skipped by F. Soucy, an excellent banquet was served by R. Corkran and his efficient refreshment committee.

The retiring president, B. L. McGerrigle, reviewed the season which has been very active, with all games played off, for the first time for many years. The president's prizes, white scarves were presented to B. Campbell, A. Hooker, B. Brunet and Dr. Mills. The vice-president's prizes, sets of hostess glasses, to J. McAllister, M. Gartshore, J. Hunter, W. G. McGerrigle. W. R. Graham's prize, an electric clock, for Junior singles was presented to C. Dickson. The officers elected for the coming term were: President, I. D. Barrington; Vice-President, A. Brunet; Sec.-Treas., Dr. J. W. Mills; Chaplain, Rev. Pritchard. A highlight of the meeting was a decision to order a second set of granite stones. The meeting was in favour of allowing the local Branch of the Legion to hold their meetings in the club rooms during the summer months.

Ladies' Curling Notes

The grand finale of the Ladies' Curling Season took place on Wednesday evening, March 26th at the Ormstown Curling Club. The "Reds", being the winners, were entertained by the "Blues" at a sumptuous banquet. Delicious chicken salads, cakes, cookies, ice-cream and coffee were served to over 50 members. The "Reds" were requested by their partners to wear an original and comical hat. Needless to say, everyone co-operated wholeheartedly and some of the models could be worn in that Easter parade, should favourable weather conditions prevail. In addition to making the hats the "Reds" were required to perform stunts which provided much merriment for the spectators.

A clever table decoration depicting a curling scene was made and donated by Mrs. Mervin Barrington.

Special mention should be made of the attractive appearance of the club roooms which were artistically decorated by Mrs. Merrill Barrington and Mrs. Ted Harrop.

Mrs. O. Bradley, 1st Vice-President, took charge of the meeting and election of officers, in the absence of Miss L. Walsh. With the exception of some committees, the officers were asked to carry on once again for the following year. It was agreed by all members present that the men be given $50.00 to help cover renovating expenses.

Prizes donated by the following were given to the winners:

Mrs. A. McCaffrey's prize for "Irons": Mrs. I. Barrington, Mrs. H. McMahon, Mrs. B. L. McGerrigle, Mrs. M. Lindsay.

Mr. J. D. Bryson (Runners up): Mrs. T. Harrop, Mrs. E. Sault, Mrs. R. Graham, Mrs. D. Barrington.

Mrs. D. A. Barrington's prize for "Granites": Mrs. Merrill Barrington, Mrs. E. Sault, Mrs. A. Hooker, Mrs. W. Mann.

Mrs. W. Mann's prize (runners up): Miss M. McCaffrey, Mrs. M. Gartshore, Mrs. R. Graham, Mrs. D. A. Barrington.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to the many kind friends, neighbours and relatives for visits, cards, messages of sympathy and flowers sent during the sickness and death of our husband and father.

Mrs. Jean Baptiste Lefebvre and family.

I wish to thank all the kind friends who remembered me with visits, cards, also the Doctors and Nursing staff of the Barrie Memorial Hospital during my stay there.

Mary E. Brisbin.

The definition of "amateur" seems due for an airing before the 1948 Olympics are held in London.

The development is the result of one man's change of opinion. The about-facer is Lord Burghley, former Olympic hurdle champion and chairman of the International Amateur Athletic Federation. He had originally accepted a ruling adopted by the Federation some time ago that Olympic athletes should not be permitted to receive allowance for the time they are away from their jobs or, for that matter, any other payment.

Now Lord Burghley wants the amateur rule to be revised so that participants may receive their regular earnings from employers or other sources. In our humble opinion—and they sneer at us saying "shamé"—we agree.

In the United States this is opposed to the very tenets of the Olympic Committee which meets shortly. The same view exists in Canada and threatens to prevent a Canadian entry in the Olympic Hockey competition—an event Canada has lost but once. Of course, we all know what amateur hockey is like. But then, why not?

The question is not new. It came up for the Olympics at Los Angeles and Berlin and both times was defeated. So far as opinion is in this part of the world, it will take more than the thin edge of the wedge to get anywhere.

And yet, in England never before has the stand been so solidly based on sound reason. The country is economically in bad shape. It cannot afford anything that resembles these "noble gestures," those rigid points of amateurism which are so easily followed when economic affairs are easy.

Lord Burghley is not a man who would willingly ditch any principle of amateurism. But this is a case of necessity vs. principals—and many are the men who will argue that "broken-time payment" is very subordinate to the large canons of amateur observances.

The preliminary fireworks are sure to be set off on this continent soon, though it is possible that there will be some reversal of opinion.

There's brighter views on Canada Olympic hockey entry from Hanson Dowell, the C.A.H.A. president. The big amateur question at the recent hockey meeting in Prague was definition.

In Canada this definition is "an athlete not now engaged in professional hockey." In Europe a player registers as a "pure amateur" or an "independent." The "independents" receive travelling expenses and work-less compensation.

There still is some doubt as to whether Canadian players will get under the "pure amateur" barrier, but Mr. Dowell seems confident our boys will be "acceptable."

European papers may copy—perhaps Olympic rules should list a third classification: "'Acceptables."

Shower for Miss Alma Robson

Miss Alma Robson was very agreeably surprised on Saturday afternoon, March 22. She was invited to call at the home of Mrs. Warren Thompson, and on entering the house, she was greeted by a chorus of about thirty friends singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow". Miss Robson was seated in a gaily decorated chair and a large basket of gifts was brought in. The gifts, which were both beautiful and useful were unwrapped and passed around to be admired. Miss Robson thanked all present and invited them to visit her in her new home. Ice cream, cakes and coffee were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Greta and Mrs. A. W. McNaughton and daughter Dorothy and Helen.

This Week

IN QUEBEC

Quebec — (CP) — Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon has delivered in Quebec's Legislative Assembly his third budget speech since the Union Nationale party assumed power in 1942. And, for the third consecutive year, he has estimated a surplus.

Mr. Gagnon estimated revenues for 1947-48 at $147,434,000 and expenditures at $137,843,636, leaving a forecast surplus of $9,590,364.

Quebec corporations, since April 1, have had to contribute to new taxes. The budget provided (as had been announced earlier by Premier Maurice Duplessis) for reimposition of the provincial tax on corporations' capital and profits. This tax was in effect before the 1942 financial agreement between Quebec and the federal government, but Mr. Gagnon's budget revealed an increase boosting the tax to seven per cent from the previous five per cent.

Also, the provincial government will continue to charge gasoline buyers a three-cent per gallon tax, which had been collected for several years by the federal government. Mr. Gagnon said, "This decision does not, therefore, add to the burden of the tax-payer." Revenues of the two taxes are expected to net some $42,000,000.

Speaking of taxes on personal revenues, the treasurer said: "Without renouncing its right to a tax upon personal revenues, the government of the province judges it wise at the moment, not to impose it.... This does not mean, and I insist on it, that it renounces its priority rights upon personal revenues."

Of revenues he mentioned especially the sum of $20,586,000 in reimbursement of arrears by the federal government, which represents arrears of tax fields vacated to the Dominion government, without interest, in persuance of the 1942 financial agreement.

As for expenditures, he spoke of some $34,000,000, divided between the credits of the departments, to be spent on advancement of education in Quebec, especially that of technical schools, and said that money collected from the gasoline tax, some $20,000,000, will be used only for the construction and repair of the province's road system.

Mr. Gagnon also announced last year's budget, which, based on 11 months actual and one month forecast, showed a surplus of $1,131,000 from revenues of $139,112,000 from revenues of $139,113,000 and expenditures of $137,982,000.

Premier Maurice Duplessis at a press conference warned that commercialized bingos must cease because they were a challenge to the respect of law and public interest. He asked collaboration from all and said the government would co-operate with all "who want to repress those abuses and prevent their repetition."

"Commercial bingos constitute an intolerable challenge to the respect of laws and public interest, an intolerable danger to social welfare. It is our well determined intention to adopt measures which will make those abuses cease," he said.

The premier added: "We give formal notice to cease those abuses which we cannot tolerate.....We ask collaboration from all and we shall collaborate with all who want to repress those abuses and prevent their repetition."

In Montreal a month of bitter campaigning ended with constituents of Montreal Cartier ousted the Labor-Progressive party which had represented the riding at Ottawa since 1943 and returned as member of Parliament Liberal Maurice Hartt in succession to jailed Communist Fred Rose. Mr. Hartt is former M. L. A for Montreal St. Louis.

Mr. Hartt, on the basis of returns from 147 of 151 polls, received 9,493 votes. Second-place Paul Masse, anti-Communist and autonomist, polled 6,419. Three other candidates trailed far behind and lost their deposits.

The election was interpreted in Ottawa as an indication of public approval of the government's handling of the Soviet espionage investigation and repudiation of the Labor-Progressive party.

Rose, elected first at a by-election and re-elected in 1945, is serving a six-year penitentiary term for serving as an agent for the Russian spy ring.

Robson

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller, Maureen and Betty spent Thursday in Montreal.

Mrs. Robt. Turnbull, Dick, Milly and Gladys Turnbull, of Plattsburg, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sweet.

Mrs. Fred Perras has returned home from Montreal, after spending five weeks with her daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cleland are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter, while Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Cleland are the baby's paternal grandparents.

Mrs. Robt. Blair is also rejoicing over the arrival of a great grandson, born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jackson, of Plattsburg. By this birth, Mr. Jos. Jackson has also become a great grandfather.

Some of the farmers who have tapped their sugar bushes have not made very much syrup as yet. The weather is not suitable for the flow of sap. The prices too being offered are not as high as are being paid in other localities.

Prize Ayrshire Herd, House, Barns, Silos all Destroyed in Flames

One of the most disastrous fires in recent years destroyed the house and several barns on the Douglas Dodd's farm, a short distance east of the village of Champlain, early Monday morning, March 17th, and with them all but six head of one of the finest herds of purebred Ayrshire cattle in Northern New York. Two valuable horses also died in the flames.

Mr. Dodds, 24 years old and unmarried, has been staying at the Savoy, in Champlain, this winter and the house was unoccupied at the time the fire started, around 1.30 a.m. He had only recently completed the purchase of the property from the Estate of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dodds. The value of the cattle destroyed in the fire is said to be more than $20,000. All members of the herd were registered animals notable for their quality and quantity milk production and as breeding stock.

The fire was discovered by Duane Bechard who lives opposite the Dodd's farm, as he drove past on his way home at 1.30 a.m. on Monday morning. Smoke was issuing from the barn at the time. With Philip Bechard he rushed to the burning building and opened the doors, only to be met by a wall of flame. The Champlain Fire Dept. was called and neighbours assisted in removing the furniture and furnishing from the house, which caught fire from burning brands carried by the wind. There was no water with the exception of a small spring with which to fight the fire and it made little impression on the flames.

When Mr. Dodds reached the scene of the fire he had to be forcibly restrained from rushing into the burning barn in a hopeless attempt to save his cattle.

A bull and five head of young cattle which were in the barnyard at the time the fire started were saved, as was one calf which broke away and got into the nearby woods. They are all that remain of the 37 Ayrshires that made up the herd. A small barn, set back in the fields, which contained much of the farm machinery and a small quantity of hay, was not burned, the wind having carried the burning brands in the opposite direction.

The house was a nine-roomed brick structure and completely furnished. Nothing remains of the burned barns and silos except their cement foundations and a few iron staunchcons. The origin of the fire is a mystery and is being investigated by State Police and local authorities. The hay in the barn was dry and for that reason, not likely to have been ignited by spontaneous combustion. So far as is known the electric wiring was in good condition.—Copied from "The North Countryman".

Chateauguay Village, Chateauguay Basin and Chateauguay Heights News

Community League Officials Interest Younger Citizens

Officials of the Community League are turning their efforts in an attempt to draw younger citizens of Chateauguay to their various committees. Many veterans of the last war having taken up residence in the community are becoming more and more interested in the affairs of the town both in a social and political aspect. It is becoming widely known that the Community League is the place to find both those interests. A committee of executive members of the League are successfully interesting these younger residents in the League activities and it is expected that a good majority of the League's Future Executive will be made up of young men who have recently become home owners or citizens of good standing in the Town of Chateauguay.

Chateauguay Home and School Association

Modern Trends in Education was the theme of an address given to the Chateauguay Home and School Association on Wednesday, March 19th. The speaker, Mr. H. G. Hatcher is Education Officer for the Montreal Central School Board, and his explanation of present teaching methods as compared with the "good old days" made a very educational and pleasant evening.

The modern method of teaching is not to superimpose our education on children but to feed knowledge to the child in small doses within the scope of his understanding so that the child learns through practice rather than by memory.

During the business session of the meeting the Creed of the Association was read and the new roll call explained. A pennant is to be held for a month by the classroom having the largest representation of parents at the Home and School meetings.

Chateauguay Basin

Mr. Peter Reid and Miss Myrna Kennedy were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Reid of Chateauguay Basin, recently.

Mrs. Alice Price of Chateauguay Basin has returned from a two months sojourn in the Eastern Townships. Mrs. Price, who lived alone during the course of the last war while her two sons, Les and George, were in the services, is now living with her son George, and his Dutch bride, Mrs. George Price, on Durocher Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, of Hamilton Ave., Chateauguay Heights, have recently returned from a ten-day vacation in Atlantic City and New York.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Gilmour, Chateauguay Heights. The Rev. McKinley Rose conducted the devotional exercises. Number two group held a talent table that proved most successful. Tea was served and an enjoyable social hour was spent.

Aubrey - Riverfield

The Good Comrades Club met on Tuesday evening, March 18th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Black with fourteen members present. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Phyllis Black from 2nd Psalm. Mr. Burton Reddick led in prayer. Rev. W. C. McBride was the special speaker for the evening, and carried on a series of talks about the Bible. He stressed the fact that the Bible is not a book of science or history, but a book of religious philosophy, written by men of intimate religious experience, and we must remember this, if we wish to receive any spiritual enlightenment from the Bible. On behalf of the members, Mr. Burton Reddick thanked Mr. McBride for his very inspiring address. The offering amounted to $2.45. Several interesting games were enjoyed and delicious refreshments were served. The meeting was then adjourned.

Sorry to report Caroll Rorison is at present a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital, having met with a very unfortunate accident on Saturday morning. Preparing to go to a neighbor's on an errand, he got on horse back in the stable, and when about to go out, the horse struck its knee on a water tub and made a sudden start through the door, the top of the door catching Caroll's shoulders and bending him backwards over the saddle, before he could jump off. He was taken to the Doctor's Clinic at Ormstown where it was found that he had a broken vertabra in his spine, and he was immediately sent to the hospital. On Monday a cast was put on, which will have to remain for at least three months. At present he is resting comfortably.

The Aubrey Lady Curlers enjoyed two full days curling last week, thus finishing up most of their games for this season.

Mrs. Angus Black was the guest of friends in Montreal last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Orr, Mrs. Willis Craig, Miss Marion Craig and Mr. Clifford Craig, spent Saturday in Montreal.

Mr. Calvin Orr, Miss Mildred Glen and Miss Ruth Orr, of Montreal, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Orr.

Miss Jean Milne, of Ormstown, spent the week-end with her parents.

Mr. Eldon Orr was the guest of friends at Macdonald College over the week-end.

Three of the local boys, Donald McKell, Robert E. Ness and Murray Templeton, who have been taking a course in Agriculture at Macdonald College, have now arrived home after finishing their exams, last week.

The Riverfield and Aubrey Farm Forums held their last meeting jointly in the Riverfield Curling Rink and enjoyed an Oyster Supper together. Following this Progressive Euchre was played, the prize winners being Mrs. John Gruer, and Mr. Andrew McFarlane, while the Consolations were won by Mr. W. G. Allen, and Mrs. Percy Stacey. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Brooklet

The regular monthly meeting of the Brooklet W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. Bert Rennie on Thursday afternoon, March 27th, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. Murdoth Rosevear presided. This being the annual meeting, reports were given. The president then declared all offices vacant and called on Mrs. H. E. Wilson to take charge of the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. M. Rosevear, re-elected; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. H. E. Wilson, re-elected; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. Elliott, re-elected; Cor.-Sec., Mrs. W. J. McCracken, re-elected; Treas., Mrs. J. O. Levers, re-elected. The superintendents were also re-elected. The meeting closed with a hymn and Mizpah benediction. A delicious supper was served by the hostess.

The Brooklet Farm Forum held their final meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maither, on March 24th. The broadcast was listened to and the business of the year finished. Cards were played and refreshments were served.

The many friends of little Ronald Elder are sorry to hear that while out playing Friday evening and when crossing a fence he in some manner slipped and fell hitting his head on the ice, cutting a deep gash in his forehead and breaking his collarbone. He was rushed to Ormstown where he was attended by Dr. Hyndman, who made him as comfortable as possible. A speedy recovery is hoped for.

The following are the results obtained by those who wrote in the National Temperance Study Course as corrected by the Brooklet W.C.T.U.:

Juniors, 9 years: Charlotte Roy, 72%; Wanda Miller, 68; Helen Lindsay, 60; Gordon Rennie, 40; Ernest Maither, 40.

Juniors, 10 and 11 years: Beatrice Pringle, 75%; Bobby Leuty, 73; Kenneth Maither, 71; Lily Barr, 67; Sandra Strange, 62; John Grabouski, 60; Francis Roy, 59; Hilton Farquhar, 46; Pat Lindsay, 46; Gilberta Douglas, 34.

Intermediate-Senior: Keith Rennie, 90%; Patsy Leuty, 80; Mickey Andrews, 80; Ronald Douglas, 68; Ernest Porter, 60; Bobby Welburn, 54; Kevin Durnin, 50; Jean Farquhar, 50; Merrill Farquhar, 42; Leslie R. Simpson, 10.

Those from Elm Tree School who received County prizes were: Wanda Miller, Charlotte Roy, Kenneth Maither, Ernest Maither, Gordon Rennie, Keith Rennie.

The March meeting of the W.M.S. of Rennie's United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Allen Wilson with a good attendance of members and home helpers. The president, Mrs. Henry Wilson had charge of the meeting and the program in the Missionary Monthly was followed. Mrs. Rosevear gave a splendid report of the Presbyterial held in Montreal. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Hemmingford

Mr. Bennie Brown has purchased the Charles Sellar farm from Messrs. Brown and Orr.

Mrs. John Ferns is spending a time in Montreal.

Miss Norma Curry, of Montreal, spent a few days at her home here and is now the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. Addie, Quebec City.

Mrs. Martin B. Fisher attended a special meeting of the governors of the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown, on Friday night.

Palm Sunday was observed in the local churches, with large attendances.

Mrs. Martin B. Fisher has been in communication with the Shawinigan Water & Power Co., re the distribution line along Roxham Road and Henrysburg. The Manager, Mr. J. Bouchard informs her that they hope the line will be in service by April 25. The delay has been caused by the lack of porcelain cut-outs, which have now been shipped.

Mr. Andrew Kennedy has finished his course in electric welding, etc., and has returned to his former position in this place.

Miss Evelyn Petch has left on an extended trip through the American and Canadian West. Hollywood, via Seattle, by boat to Victoria, Vancouver, Kelowna, B.C., is part of her travelling itinerary, de luxe.

Rockburn

On Wednesday evening of last week the members of the Y.P. Societies of Athelstan, Franklin, Gore and Ormstown were invited to be guests of the Rockburn P.Y.P.S. at a Sugar Social in the Church Hall. About 65 gathered and the evening was spent very happily with a feast of sugar and other good things, followed by games and music. Two of the visitors proved to be celebrating their birthdays, so Happy Birthday was sung for them individually and most hearty good wishes tendered them.

Messrs. G. W. and G. Strange made a business trip to Montreal, on Wednesday, but found the roads in very poor condition.

Regret to report that Miss Eleanor Sloan is ill with the grippe and the Rockburn School is closed temporarily. At time of writing Miss Sloan is some better.

The Gore

W.M.S. Notes

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth McCartney, on Thursday afternoon, March 27th, with a good attendance. The devotional meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. McCartney. The usual Missionary Monthly program was followed, the theme being "Fulfilling our Church Membership and Christian Stewardship." This was the first meeting of the year and the annual report for 1946 was read by the Treasurer, Mrs. Willie Graham. Mrs. Mervyn Graham was presented with a Life Membership Certificate. Miss Harriett Ruddock gave a very interesting report on the W.M.S. Convention which was held in Montreal, the past month. The meeting closed with the hymn, "Lord Dismiss us With Thy Blessing." Supper was served by Mrs. McCartney.

The March meeting of the Sunshine Mission Band was held at the home of Mrs. E. A. Mason on Friday afternoon, March 28, with a good attendance. The meeting opened by singing "Jesus Bids us Shine," followed by the Lord's Prayer. The Bible reading was given by Mrs. Mason. The World Friends' Story was read by Janet Morgan. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The meeting closed with the Mission Band purpose, followed by singing "When Mothers of Salem."

Sorry to note that little Linda Anderson is a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown. All hope she will soon be able to return to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Mort Manson, Norma and Doris were Friday evening guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Taylor, of Montreal, were week-end guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ord Taylor.

Miss Jean Henderson of the Barrie Memorial Hospital was the Monday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Henderson.

Dundee

Mrs. Wm. Fleming was hostess to the Women's Association of Zion United Church, on Wednesday afternoon, March 26th. In spite of bad roads there was a good attendance and the President, Mrs. Colquhoun conducted the business session of the meeting. The Secretary, Mrs. John Fleming, gave a report of the work recently done on the Manse.

Mrs. H. A. Cameron and Mrs. J. Fleming are to be sponsors of a social evening some time soon.

Mrs. J. Fleming had charge of the program and conducted a general quiz, starting with questions dealing with the workings and officials of our own town and ending with questions of world interest. Some of the members who are conversant with world affairs lost out on the prize when they failed to answer local questions. Mrs. Lyle Currie was prize winner but Mrs. Kerr turned out to be the chief prompter from the audience although not the winner. Mrs. Wm. Fleming will have charge of the program next month.

Following the program the ladies pieced quilt blocks and then Mrs. Fleming served supper to ten members and several visitors.

Powerscourt

Mr. McConnell and Mr. Slaid, of Montreal, spent a few days at the McConnel Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt. Wallace, Mr. Jas. Wallace and Mr. Matthew Atcheson motored to Cornwall, on Friday. Mr. Alex. Wallace of Toronto returned home with them and spent the week-end with his parents.

Owing to the cold and stormy weather the sap did not run since last Monday.

Mrs. Koski and Patsy of Montreal are spending this week at their home here. Mr. Koski and Jean spent the week-end.

Mr. John Wallace spent two days at St. Lambert. Mrs. Wallace who visited with her parents for a few days, returned home with him.

Powerscourt Women's Association met on Friday at the home of Mrs. E. M. Wood with 18 members and visitors present. A mission quilt was tied in the forenoon, then a hot lunch, provided by the members, was served. Another mission quilt was tied after lunch and a number of blocks pieced. The president conducted the meeting which opened with the singing of hymn "Thy Life Was Given for Me," and Scripture reading. It was decided to send Easter Greetings to shut-in members. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Gordon McClatchie. $2.00 was voted for the Aid to China Fund. Meeting closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer. Proceeds $9.40.

Howick

Mrs. F. Mattice, spent the week-end with relatives in Montreal.

Having completed his first year in the diploma course at Macdonald College, Robert Earle Ness returned home on Saturday, he was accompanied by Mr. Richard Kirby, the latter returned to his home in Cookshire, on Monday.

Miss Mildred Ness returned to her school in Cowansville after spending ten days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Ness.

Mr. Earle Ness attended meetings in Toronto the latter part of the week.

Mr. Dan Roy, of Bainsville, Ont., is spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roy.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mair, and daughter, spent Sunday at Dewittville, visiting with relatives.

SKOKUM JIM'S TOTEM

Winnipeg, (CP)—An Indian totem pole 22 inches long has been donated to the Manitoba Museum by Mrs. I. O. Stringer, widow of the late Archbishop Stringer. It was the personal totem of "Skokum Jim," a Tagish Indian, who acted as guide for George Washington Carmack, an American prospector who first discovered paying placer gold in the Klondike.

Athelstan

Mrs. McCaffrey's Roll of Honour for perfect spelling during the month of March has the following names: Pauline Foers, Shirley Wattie, Ronald French, Billy Aird, Russell Forget, Percy McArdle.

Miss Jessie Armstrong, Macdonald College, is doing practice teaching in Athelstan Intermediate School this week.

Mr. R. Van Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones and son David of Bedford called on friends here on Sunday.

Mr. Archie Hampson motored to Shawville and Sturgeon Falls over the week-end.

Owing to the storm, there was no service in Athelstan Presbyterian Church on Sunday. Rev. De Courcey Raynor, who was to have spoken in the interests of the Montreal Branch of the Bible Society was unable to reach Athelstan.

LAW WINKED AT

The regulation governing sweepstakes ... is too restrictive. It is contrary to the wish of the people. It is being evaded and winked at, and is bringing into disrepute the whole code of law. It is time it was changed.

LIVE OWN IDEOLOGIES

The urgent need is for the peoples of the democracies to accept and live their own inspired ideology. They will not then need to fear the materialistic ideologies of race or class rule. For the ideology of democracy is bigger than any sectional power bid...It belongs to all free people everywhere.

Kilbain

Mrs. Eddie Wells, Bobby and Shirley of Buffalo, N.Y., are spending some time with Mrs. Wells' mother, Mrs. Michael Foran.

Mr. Howard Wilson, of Utica, N.Y. and Mr. Ed. Rogers, of Malone, N.Y., were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smythe and Mr. and Mrs. James Smythe on Sunday.

Miss Rita Curran spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Bill Smythe.

UNPLEASANT IDEA

There is something unpleasant in ..a nation arguing that it cannot afford to give its citizens adequate necessities, because of the large proportion of the national income required to give them convenience and luxuries... There is... shortage of housing, staple clothing ...foodstuffs...but...never more money available to buy other goods and services...less essential...

FARM FORUMS

AUBREY CORNERS' GROUP

The final meeting of the year of Aubrey Corners' Farm Forum Group was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fraser with a good attendance of members. After listening to the broadcast the question of whether or not to have a monthly meeting was decided upon in the negative.

This meeting took the form of a box party and following the usual "500" game the men drew for their supper partners. Winners at "500" were Ladies: Mrs. Earl Gardiner and Gents: Mr. Wm. MacPherson. Several of the boxes were decorated in Easter colors but all held a splendid lunch.

It is the plan of this group to spend an evening together, taking in a show and a supper, when and if the weather becomes reasonable and thus round out another successful year of Farm Forum work.

The members of this group wish to extend their congratulations to the newly engaged couple of the Beaver Group as announced in their report last week.

TROUT RIVER GROUP

The Trout River Farm Forum Group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rowat, on Monday Night, March 24, with an attendance of 17. This meeting was a round-up of the previous broadcasts of Forum opinions reported by four Provincial Secretaries and the National Secretary. Cards were played and refreshments served by the Rowat family and an enjoyable evening spent by all.

Warble Grubs Cost Farmers Millions

Countless millions of warble fly grubs have begun their annual campaign against beef and dairy cattle in Canada. Unless controlled by the application of rotenone wash or spray they will do many millions of dollars damage to hides, and substantially lower milk and meat production. Now is the time for farmers to arrange to apply the wash during the next three months. The nearest Dominion Experimental Farm or the County Agricultural Representative will advise on how to apply the insecticide. Power spraying machinery for applying the wash is presently in short supply. Orders for such machinery to be used in 1948 should be placed with the manufacturers without delay. Here is shown a power sprayer being used to kill warble grubs and inset a warble grub which has emerged from the back of a cow.

Abolish Meat Rationing

Following Finance Minister Abbott's announcement in the House of Commons that Consumer coupon meat rationing would be discontinued forthwith, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has issued a statement giving details of this move.

In brief, the main points are: 1. Consumer meat rationing is discontinued, effective March 27. 2. Tuesdays and Fridays will be retained as meatless days in all public eating places. 3. Price control over all meat will remain as at present. 4. Regulations governing slaughter permits and quotas will be continued.

Board officials point out that although coupon meat rationing re imposed September 10, 1945 will be dropped, the Tuesday and Friday meatless days in all public eating places will be continued. The major savings in meat consumption made possible in this manner, have constituted an important contribution to Canada's meat exports to the United Kingdom and other needy areas.

In order to maintain this contribution at a maximum level, Canadian housewives will be asked to institute meatless days in their own homes, and to buy only on the basis of real need.

So that a fair share of available supplies of meat will be assured to all Canadians, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, in collaboration with the Meat Board, will continue to supervise the "area" distribution of meat. An effort will be made to hold supplies going to each area to a point which will not reduce the amount of meat which would have been available for export if the rationing system had continued.

It was emphasized that all holders of meat tokens should immediately return these to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

MR. J. A. GOSSELIN

President and founder of Electrical Home Limited, with head offices in Valleyfield, who was recently honored by the Shawinigan Water & Power Co. Mr. Gosselin was district manager of this Company for several years before founding Electrical Home Limited.

Mr. Gosselin has opened a branch office for Electrical Home Limited at Huntingdon and offices at St. Remi, Beauharnois and Vaudreuil will be opened on May 1st.

From Life's Scrapbook

More important than the things we do are the things we do not do; more influential than the things we say are those we do not say.

One lie can destroy years of truthfulness.

Clerk: "I have been here 10 years doing three men's work for one man's pay. Now I want a raise."

Boss: "I'm sorry, but I can't afford a raise now. But if you'll tell me who the other two men are, I'll discharge them."

Oil and gasoline are combinations of hydrogen and carbon atoms, called hydrocarbons.

Betty P: What are you doing?

Polly C: Writing a letter to my little cousin.

Betty P: Why are you writing so slowly?

Polly C: Because my little cousin can't read fast.

Big drop of ink: I haven't seen your brother lately.

Little drop: Oh, haven't you heard? He's in the pen finishing a sentence.

Mrs. H: How do you spell "thread," Mr. Martin?

Mr. M: T-h-r-e-d.

Mrs. H: I think you'll find the dictionary spells it "t-h-r-e-a-d".

Mr. M: I know, but you asked me how I spelled it.

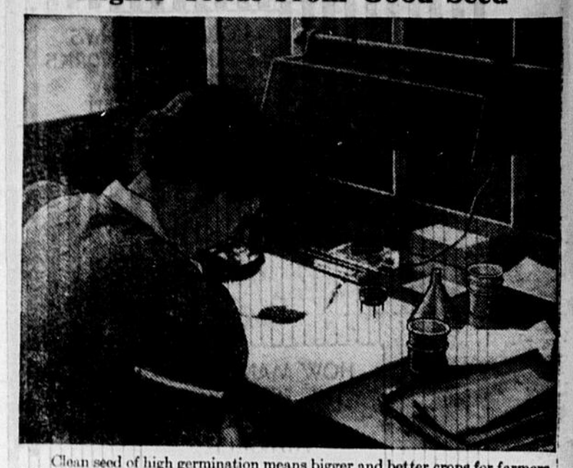

Charlotte J: (at busy crossing) —Do people get killed here very often?

Policeman: No, ma'm, only once.

Art: I wonder if Norma loves me?

Lynn: Of course she does. Why should she make you an exception?

Higher Yields From Good Seed

Clean seed of high germination means bigger and better crops for farmers. This picture shows a sample of seed being checked for cleanliness in one of the Dominion Department of Agriculture Seed Laboratories located at several centres throughout Canada. Germination tests are also made at these laboratories and seed cleaning plants are available to farmers in all parts of the Dominion.

The weeklies say...

TIN CUP BEGGING

We must keep sniping at that anachronism, that strategic roadblock (tollgate) where the rich government of British Columbia holds out its tin cup like a mendicant, seeking a dollar from every passerby.

—Kamloops (B.C.) Sentinel.

REPULSIVE BEER PARLOR

The Legislature . . . would do a real service if it could find a decent and satisfactory substitute for the beer parlor. Public drinking and entertainment places exist the world over, but British Columbia's version, the beer parlor, is surely the most repulsive.

—Vernon (B.C.) News.

MONTH OF MENACE

This is the month when unsightly and unsanitary slush is often underfoot. Wise Canadians are advised to recognize March as a menace and watch their health.

—Manitou (Man.) Western Canadian.

NEEDS HUMANITY, TOO

Canadian justice like British justice on which it is founded is renowned for its impartiality. A penniless man may expect as fair a trial as the most wealthy in the land besides impartiality, however, justice needs to be tempered by humanity.

—Virden (Man.) Empire-Advance.

WANTED—COMPLETE HOMES

What the average home-owner wants to know before purchasing is —"What is the house going to cost me by the time I move in?"...most housing projects have neglected to state the price of a house ready for habitation. That is exactly what average persons want to know.... They are not interested in purchasing a $5,000 house without doors, windows, plumbing, bath, stove, furnace, etc.; they want to purchase a $5,000 house complete with everything.

—Cobourg (Ont.) World.

FAIR IS FAIR

To those who consider an increase in taxes can be blamed on school teachers' increases, we offer the thought that if this is true this year, then we have to thank the school teachers, for many years past, for the lower tax rate enjoyed then. If this were true....teachers have been paying our share of taxes by accepting low pay for themselves. Perhaps it is time someone else took the load.

—Perth (Ont.) Courier.

RECREATION COUNTS

There are many phases to the life of a town, and ranking high in importance are its athletic teams. Our young people require facilities for physical development and outlet for excessive energy. If it is not provided, they blow their tops in the wrong way, and present a problem ...The town or city that has its athletic facilities organized on a sound basis can count itself fortunate.

—Kentville (N.S.) Advertiser.

TIME TO SPRUCE UP

Town council will have its clean-up week soon but council can do little without the co-operation of every property owner and every householder . . . The tourist business will never amount to anything here unless the townspeople spruce up a bit. Tourists like quaint towns but they don't like dirty towns.

—Pictou (N.S.) Advocate.

PECULIAR PEOPLE

We are a peculiar people. We claim that we are primarily, agriculturists...yet we can not produce enough butter to supply our own needs. Hay is one commodity which will grow without much attention from the farmer, yet today we saw farmers hauling hay to their farms as fast as it could be unloaded from the freight car.

—Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune.

Hi-Spots in Recreation

High School Spring Concert

The High School spring concert is over, and seemed to be a complete success. Most people who were there, remarked about the operetta, Dream Bags, and the pupils of grades one, two, three and four deserve a lot of credit for their untiring efforts during many, many long rehearsals. In fact, all those who took part in the concert really worked hard to make it a success and everyone has my thanks.

Summer and Spring Activities

Now that spring is really here to stay (we hope) outdoor activities are beginning to be first in everyone's mind. As soon as the Benni Coccia ball park dries up sufficiently to play on, we shall start our Junior town league again. Many people have expressed their desire to coach teams and things look pretty good for a good ball season.

Playground Equipment

Some months ago, playground equipment was ordered for the Academy playground and it is beginning to arrive now. This equipment when erected will prove to be strong enough to take pretty rough treatment, and should last many, many years. It is hoped that it will be erected as soon as the weather is settled, and when the present High School playground has dried up a little.

During this off-season, it is pretty difficult to run very many activities due to the weather. It is too warm to run indoor activities and too wet to run outdoor activities, so it's merely a matter of marking time until more stable weather is with us.

Bread Restrictions

Wartime restrictions governing the sale and manufacture of bread, such as limitations on loaf size and the return of unsold bakery products to manufacturers are being removed, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced.

Officials state that the only two restrictions remaining are: 1. Bakers are still limited to a single sheet of buff coloured paper for wrapping their bread. 2. The ready-sliced loaf, which requires extra wrapping, is still prohibited.

These restrictions are continued, Board officials explain, because there will not be a plentiful supply of wrappers for some time to come.

LOWER ORMSTOWN GROUP

The Lower Ormstown Farm Forum Group held their final meeting March 25th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Forrester. This meeting took the form of a Bean supper, with home made rolls, cake, cookies and coffee. It was enjoyed by all.

At the close of the meal a pleasant surprise awaited Mrs. Wm. Rice in the form of a presentation of a Waterman pen and pencil set. Mr. Clarence Ovans read the address while Mr. Everett Forrester presented the gift. The address read as follows:

Mrs. Rice, we wish to express our sincere thanks to you, tonight, for having been our Secretary for the past six years.

Many times, we have all been gossiping about other things, when of course we were supposed to be answering our questions and Ethel would patiently wait, but when we strayed away too far she would get the attention of her pupils by dingling a little bell.

We would like you to accept this gift as a token of the deep appreciation of all the group.

We hope in the winters to come, it will help you in writing out the answers, as you have done so cheerfully and faithfully in the past.

The gift isn't much, but we do hope you will find it useful. We hope when you use it, you will think of us all.

From The Lower Ormstown Farm Forum.

After a few words of thanks from Mrs. Rice, Progressive Euchre was played, those holding high score were Mrs. Wm. Rice and Mr. Douglas Sproule, low score Miss Florence Cook and Mr. Clifford Sproule. Games and music were enjoyed also a couple of hours of dancing.

A hearty vote of thanks were given Mr. and Mrs. E. Forrester for the use of their home.

Dundee

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smellie were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Baker of Summerstown, also Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gallinger and son Byron and Miss Kathleen Smellie, of Cornwall, Ont

Mrs. H. S. Smith returned home Saturday evening after spending a couple of weeks in Amsterdam, N.Y.

Last Friday afternoon, Mrs. C. R. Grant, Dundee Centre, had the misfortune to trip and fall in the dining room of her home, thereby fracturing her left hip and wrist. Mrs. Grant is quite an elderly lady and suffered a bad fall last year when stricken with a slight shock as she was walking along the roadside in front of her home. She is being attended by Dr. Clouston and is expected to be moved to the Huntingdon County Hospital for further treatment and care.

The reason so many persons are playing the fool is that they're doin' what comes naturally.

FARM STATIONERY

• Every breeder of purebred dairy cattle should most certainly have a supply of printed correspondence paper on hand. Such stationery, besides being appropriate and businesslike, tends to improve your standing with prospective buyers you may have to correspond with from time to time.

TAXPAYER'S INCOME

(MARRIED MAN, NO DEPENDENTS WIFE NOT WORKING)

This chart, published by The Letter-Review, Fort Erie, Ont., is based on the amounts of income tax payable in 1947 by persons in the income groups indicated, but the tax is translated into days worked per year for the Ottawa Government, on the basis of a 300-day working year. It should be noted that the amount of time worked to support the Dominion expenses is an understatement as income taxpayers are also subject to many other Federal taxes, such as sales tax, luxury taxes, excise taxes on tobacco, cigarettes, alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages, candy, etc.

Health Education for Restaurant Personnel

By H. Cecil Rhodes, Director Community Health Service Division Health League of Canada

Editor's Note:—The following was taken from the magazine, "Canada's Health and Welfare", published by the Dept. of National Health, and points out the need for great care and cleanliness where meals and food are handled for the general public and shows how easily disease can be spread when proper methods are not used.

-o-

Measured statistically, the estimated five hundred and fifty million meals served each year by the Canadian restaurant industry make it one of the country's most important businesses. Measured in terms of its impact upon the health of the nation, its importance becomes even more evident.

Health authorities are agreed that many preventable diseases are spread by careless work habits in the kitchens and dining rooms of public eating places. Some of these infections include septic sore throat, influenza, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, trench mouth, diphtheria and the common cold.

Outbreaks of food poisoning, which periodically make the headlines and which not infrequently involve "better class" restaurants or hotels, point to an additional danger. What is done to erect a barrier between potential infection and the consumer? First, responsible operators (of which there are many) do their best to protect the customer's health by trying to maintain clean premises and by urging the practice of sanitary work habits. Second, trained health department inspectors in the larger centres keep watchful eyes on all food handling establishments to see that at least the minimal requirements of the sanitary code are observed. This service is welcomed by progressive management as an extra safeguard.

Despite these measures, almost every restaurant patron has had the experience of having been served unclean dishes, glassware or cutlery. Dirty hands and finger nails are often too intimately associated with food service. More queasy customers may spoil their appetites by speculating on what goes on behind the swinging doors to the kitchen, if practices such as these are carried on openly!

Where, then, is the breakdown in service? At what points do health department inspection and management's own control efforts fail, in all too many cases, to achieve desired results?

One of the most important reasons appears to be that the majority of restaurant staffs are inadequately trained in even the more elementary aspects of their work as it relates to public and personal health. It is true that some instruction is usually given the employee regarding the techniques of service BUT—and this is the "but" which gives public health officials a headache and the customers many unnecessary colds, sore throats and sometimes more serious infections—little or no effort is made to show personnel why smearing the lips of a glass or cup with fingerprints is a dangerous practice. Or why energetically sweeping dust into the customer's beef stew might result in his getting a throat infection. Or why handling a soggy handkerchief or tissue and immediately grasping a spoon by the bowl may cause a customer later on to wonder where he could have "picked up such a bad cold". And, just as important, why careless handling of soiled dishes and cutlery associated with careless personal habits can expose restaurant personnel, also, to the danger of infection.

In short, the "why" of good health practices has in but few cases been made known to restaurant workers in a way that is readily understood.

To meet this need, the Health League of Canada has developed a program of restaurant health education which is concerned primarily with the instruction of employees. The Health League's plan is, basically, not a new idea, for employee-education programs have been carried on for some time by a number of city and state health departments in the United States. In Canada such a program was started by the Prince Rupert Health Unit in 1942, and, more recently, the Saskatchewan Department of Health has incorporated this feature in its health education activities.

The League's plan is a simple one, founded on the principle of cooperative effort between the three chief interests: the health department, restaurant management and the Health League—each with its own particular function.

Ottawa was the first proving ground for the plan, and the steps taken there may be regarded as typical:

(a) The Medical Officer of Health, Dr. T. A. Lomer, was first approached for his endorsement and cooperation. This was immediately given.

(b) A small representative group of restaurant operators was invited to form an advisory committee to work with the League and the health department in organizing a sustained program of education.

(c) A program (two hours in length) of selected films and sound film slides was arranged. Afternoon and evening sessions were provided so that two shifts of workers could attend. In addition to the films, short talks were given by authorities in the restaurant sanitation field.

Restaurant operators are encouraged to enrol their staffs as members of the Health League in order that they will receive Health News, an informative monthly bulletin. In addition, posters on a number of health subjects are furnished for staff quarters. The purpose of this is, of course, to broaden the interest and knowledge of the personnel with regard to health matters which affect their everyday lives.

The plan is approved by the Canadian Restaurant Association which feels that this plan ties in with the Association's own active efforts to raise the industry's standard of service. The program is now in operation in a number of Ontario and Maritime centres and is gradually being expanded.

Important? Most important! Not only is the health of the nation linked closely with the quality of healthful service given in eating establishments, but the economic effect in terms of tourist good-will is a substantial consideration. The Health League's plan is not a "cure-all", but it is a progressive step in the right direction.

Post Office Appointment

Mrs. Marion A. Reese has received a letter from the Deputy Postmaster-General, Ottawa, informing her of the permanent appointment as Postmistress at the Athelstan Post-Office.

Mrs. N. Stone spent a few days with her daughters in Montreal, this week.

Mrs. Gordon Shearer, of Vermillion, Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shearer and son, of Shirley, Mass., were among the relatives who attended the funeral of the late John Shearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Elie Carriere and son Roland, of Lisbon, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Boudeau, of Cornwall, Ont., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. U. Desrosiers.

Miss Helen Elder has been the guest of friends in St. Lambert and Rawdon, Que., this week.

Miss Ann Tully, R.N., of Montreal General Hospital, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tully.

W.M.S.

The Easter Thankoffering meeting of the Presbyterian W.M.S. Auxiliary was held on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. George Elder. The meeting opened with singing "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross", the Easter story from Matthew, 28th chapter, and prayer by Mrs. Grant. An invitation for Auxiliary members to attend an open Executive meeting, on April 24, in Melville Church, Westmount, was read. The offering amounted to $11.50 and the Offertory prayer was given by Mrs. Jamieson. Miss Kimball read a story, "The Lost Word" by Dr. Van Dyke which was most interesting. Meeting closed with a hymn and W. M. S. Prayer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elder and daughter, Miss Helen Elder, to members and also members of Y. W. A. who were invited guests.

...that's the length of Long Distance Lines installed in 1946

It has been a tremendous job to keep up with the ever increasing use of Long Distance.

Last year we completed 7,400,000 more calls than in the previous year yet Long Distance operators connected eighty-five out of every hundred while the customer held the line.

Our vast construction programme involving more lines, more switchboards, more operators is being rushed at top speed so that "Long Distance" will continue to give the best communication service.

Specially Written for THE HUNTINGDON GLEANER By EDWARD CHANTLER

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sir Edwin Noel Plowden, a 40-year-old steelmaker who was one of the "boys in the back room" in British aircraft production during the Second World War, was chosen this week to take charge of the country's uphill drive toward peacetime stability.

Named as "economic czar" by Prime Minister Attlee, the man who worked behind the scenes in wartime prepared for a more public role in peace—to start the complex task outlined in Britain's White Paper for 1947.

To his £6,500-($26,000)-a-year job of mustering the national resources of men, machines and materials at a critical hour in Britain's history, the Cambridge University graduate brought a reputation for swift thinking and ruthless action in pre-war commercial circles. If there was red tape to be slashed, associates said, Sir Edwin was the man to do it.

Employed by the ministry of economic warfare when war broke out in 1939, Sir Edwin was transferred to the ministry of aircraft production headed by Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook. There he worked in comparative obscurity, speeding production of fighter planes for the Battle of Britain.

Later he directed British South American Airways. He was one of the guiding spirits in development of Power Jets, Ltd., an organization which helped give Britain world supremacy in jet propulsion. He was knighted in the King's birthday honor list for his outstanding contributions to the war effort.

The appointment of Sir Edwin to implement the government's economic plan for 1947 and go forward with a four-year plan still in the making was announced in the Commons by Attlee, who warned that the appointment of a "planner" did not mean that Britons could sit back and take things easy.

The 1947 policy announced in the White Paper called for economy in all imports, continuation of rationing, direction of manpower and materials into strategic industries for export production, repair and modernization of key industries, and the foregoing of increased leisure by workers.

That Sir Edwin will have no easy task was indicated when the White Paper came underfire from the Trades Union Congress, backbone of the Labor Party, which said it would persist in its demands for a shorter work week despite the economic crisis.

At the Moscow conference, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov dispensed with diplomatic language last week to term as "senseless" inclusion of Turkey in the peace discussions.

He charged that Turkey had declared war on the eve of Germany's defeat and had "profited" from her economic aid to Germany. Molotov belittled the statement of United States Secretary Marshall that it seemed "unjust" to exclude states which had made heavy economic sacrifices. Russia, he said, could not agree to treating "Turkey, Paraguay and the Philippines on the same terms as the United States, the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union.

Meanwhile, Marshall pursued his point of prodding Russia into revealing what concessions she would make on important German issues. These include German economic unity, a provisional government, level of industry, and reparations.

Some observers think Marshall may suggest negotiations be stopped and delegates return home about the middle of April—if nothing is accomplished on the German and Austrian peace treaties.

Authoritative sources in Madrid reported a new development affecting the Spanish cabinet's discussions on a proposed return of monarchy rule. They said an announcement might be made this week of a decree which would declare Spain a "traditional monarchy" and, in effect, recognize the Franco regime as merely temporary.

As the week ended, 4,000 Ruhr coal miners struck against short food rations. It was the first such action since unrest over the German food situation developed early last week.

Hunger strikes and demonstrations involving some 500,000 persons previously had paralyzed Essen and Dussoldorf.

In Washington, president of the United Mine Workers District 26—Freeman Jenkins—said striking coal miners in Eastern Canada would stay out until they got "a just settlement." Jenkins made the statement following a two-day conference with John L. Lewis and other officers of the United Mine Workers union.

The United Nations Security Council at Lake Success, N.Y., last week heard United States spokesman Warren A. Austin explain President Truman's $400,000,000 plan to bolster Greece and Turkey against totalitarian pressure.

He said the plan was a stop-gap measure to keep peace until the United Nations could take over. The United States, he said, hopes the United Nations soon would be able to solve the problems contributing to the "tragedy of Greece."

"The program of economic assistance contemplated by the United States is of an emergency and temporary character," Austin emphasized.

"The United States believes that the United Nations should assume the principal responsibility, within their capabilities, for the long-range tasks of assistance for the reconstruction of Greece."

He particularly urged the council to keep a border commission in northern Greece, where, he said, "the danger of border violations obviously is increasing."

Parliament takes recess

There are ten items of legislation on the order paper of the House of Commons as this is being written but prospects are that when parliament rises for its Easter recess this week all but two or three will be passed. Supplementary estimates to March 31, a minor amendment to the Militia Act, publication of statutes, appointment of auditors, a bill respecting the inspection and sales of food products and the regulations respecting trading with the enemy are among the non contentious bills which should be passed before adjournment although there may be considerable discussion on the last. A new bill governing compensation to government employees for accidents or industrial disease encountered in government service is important new legislation, perhaps of special interest to labour, which may evoke much discussion.

Controversial legislation

The only two items which appear to be controversial are Bill No. 10 respecting Chinese immigration and the bill giving the government the powers necessary to maintain controls for the period required in the public interest. The government has declared for a policy of de-control as soon as it can be done having consideration for the general interest as opposed to special interests. This may have been a factor of the bill going to committee (only 6 members voted against it.) By long established practice this vote is taken as agreement to the principle of a "controls" bill. The overwhelmingly favourable vote came as a surprise as many had expected the Progressive-Conservative party to vote against the principle of emergency government controls. It is understood that the budget is ready and will be brought down as soon as the "controls" legislation is dealt with. To say that Agriculture, Labour and Industry, which include the overwhelming majority of our people, are anxiously waiting for the news which only the budget can bring would be an understatement. Legislation amending the Old Age Pensions Act and legislation respecting priorities for veterans are to be introduced as soon as possible.

The Totalitarian Threat

The Prime Minister's statement, at the luncheon tendered by the United Church members of the Senate and Commons, that "Canada, as other countries, was menaced by the terrible threat of totalitarianism" is taken seriously in politically-minded circles here. The possibility of a breakdown in the negotiations, now going on in Moscow, for a peace settlement for Germany is ominous. Even the friends of Russia cannot deny that the Russian representative is very largely to blame for the lack of progress and many feel that it is a deliberate attempt to prevent a satisfactory settlement. If this happens the "terrible totalitarian threat" becomes an imminent threat to democracy and freedom. The realization of this is probably what has inspired the strong action against communists in the civil service which has been taken by the British government.

The Power of Idea

It must have been a sense of this "totalitarian threat" which inspired a recent radio address by Erwin Canham editor of that highly respected American daily "The Christian Science Monitor".

"There are two kinds of power in today's world. They both seem to be necessary, and sometimes they are blended together". Mr. Canham spoke of physical power and the power of ideas. The "ideas" which he believes have great power if maintained and spread effectively are "our concept of democracy and of the individual". This is the "power of ideas" which general Marshall seeks to blend with the physical power of the free democratic countries in his stand at Moscow.

General Marshall has raised a standard in the "war of ideas" which the Western world has underestimated "There is infinite power in the true concept of the rights of men".

The increased anxiety of labour and management to find peaceful ways ending disputes both in Canada and the United States is proof that we are advancing in the practice of our democracy. A democracy in which we are ruled by laws, not by men. That Communists fear and oppose this trend is proof that totalitarianism knows it cannot successfully compete with freedom and democracy in the "war of men's minds" which Russia has been carrying on for thirty years.

This is the democracy which Mr. Canham says has "stirred mankind for many centuries, since it was set forth in its clearest and most moving form in the sermon on the mount.

RUGGED RUGBY

Yorkton, Sask. (CP)—A group of 100 rugby enthusiasts here couldn't wait for the normal football season. Recently they organized a game on a field covered with six feet of snow. Action was reported slow, enthusiasm high.

Thin Sowing Saves Seed And Lessens Garden Work

Let small seeds drop slowly through your fingers.

Seed sowing is an art which it will pay home gardeners to study. By skill and care, fifty per cent of your small seed, and a lot of work in thinning out can be saved.

By small seed is meant those not large enough to be grasped singly and placed in the row the right distance apart. Among these are lettuce, carrot, radish, endive, parsnip, parsley, onion and others. It is expected that they will be sown more thickly than plants will be allowed to grow, because even with the high germination which the federal seed law insures, there are many hazards which beset the infant plant, and to which a considerable number may succumb.

It is not necessary, however, to sow these small seeds so thickly that ninety per cent of the seedlings have to be uprooted in order to give room for the remaining ten per cent to mature. This heavy waste can be prevented by learning how to sow "thinly."

The surest way is to take a few seeds in the hand, and let them fall through the fingers into the drill which has been prepared. Get close to the ground, and with a little practice you can quickly acquire control, so that the seeds will be evenly distributed, each sufficiently distant from the next to prevent entanglement of stems or roots.

Keep the seeds in line as well as you can. It helps to let the garden line which was used in making the drill remain in place until the seeds have been dropped.

When seeds are thus sown, only a corner of the packet should be torn off, and a small quantity poured into the hand at a time. This will enable those that remain to be kept safely in the original packet until another sowing of the same variety is required.

Glenelm

Mrs. H. R. Wilson spent the past week with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McClenaghan, Huntingdon.

Miss Harriet Coffey visited on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. T. Higgins, Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McKinnon, Montreal, spent the week-end with Mrs McKinnon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D .L. Brown.

There was no church service on Sunday morning in Kensington Church, owing to the roads being blocked when the Bible Society meeting was to have been held.

Mrs. G. Murray returned to her home in Brockton, Mass., after having spent the past month visiting at her brother's, Mr. Wm. Paul.

MOVE HUNGRY DEER

Didsbury, Alta. (CP)—Deer, which have been creating havoc in the Pincher Creek district by eating stacks of feed, are being moved to other sections of the province.

GRAVEL and SAND

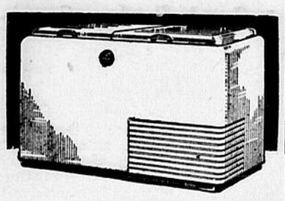

Last fall we purchased a section of a gravel pit and at the present time we have between 5000 and 6000 yards of cement gravel ready to be delivered. We also have 100 yards of river sand in stock.

Order your requirements immediately and we will endeavour to have you supplied before roads are closed to heavy hauling.

NOTICE

Ormstown War Memorial

(COMMUNITY CENTRE)

The Memorial Hall to be erected as a tribute to those who served their country from Ormstown Parish and Village during the World War — 1939-1945 — is now in the architectural state of development, but due to high costs and shortages of material construction has been delayed.

The funds subscribed for this purpose are held in trust by the Board of Governors subject to the supervision of the Federal Government. At the time of the Financial Campaign over $25,000 was subscribed payable over a period of five years, and more than 50% of this amount has been paid.

The Live Stock Breeders' Association of the District of Beauharnois, owners and operators of the Ormstown Show Grounds, have made an offer of assistance towards the erection and maintenance of the Memorial Hall as well as offering their facilities for the furtherance of the objectives of this organization.

The acceptance of this offer which would change the location of the Hall as originally planned, is now placed before the members for their approval.

1. The Live Stock Breeders' Association will deed to the Ormstown War Memorial — Community Centre — a parcel of land within the main entrance to their grounds on which to erect the Memorial Hall. The present Memorial Arch erected to the memory of those who served in the Great War — 1914-1918 — would be a fitting approach.
2. The Live Stock Breeders' Association offer a donation of $10,000, payable over a period of five years, towards the erection of the Memorial Hall to be owned and operated by the Ormstown War Memorial — Community Centre — organization.
3. The Live Stock Breeders' Association offer to pay $400. annually towards the maintenance of the Memorial Hall on condition that they be granted use of the building during their Annual Shows. (This payment is equivalent to setting up an endowment fund of approximately $15,000 at present interest values).
4. The Live Stock Breeders' Association offer free use of their grounds to the Ormstown War Memorial — Community Centre — for parking and other community activities.

The Board of Governors whose duty and desire it is to act in accordance with the wishes of those who placed them in their position of trust, urge all members to record their acceptance, or rejection, of this offer, by attending a special meeting called for the purpose at 8.00 p.m., Thursday, 10th April 1947, in the Town Hall, Ormstown, Que.
