WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1939

PRICE—TWO CENTS

FINAL PLANS ARE MADE FOR ROYAL VISIT

Approximately Hundred Thousand Persons Expected to Assemble in Westmount

DECORATIONS UP

King and Queen Will Enter And Leave City Through Special Arches

Everything is in readiness for the visit of the King and Queen in Westmount on Tuesday.

Approximately one hundred thousand persons will assemble along the route of the procession and 3,200 school children will view the Royal couple from especially erected grandstands.

Westmount streets on the route, and municipal buildings and schools, will be completely decorated by the end of the week, it was announced at the City Hall yesterday.

The arches through which the parade will pass as it enters and leaves the boundaries of Westmount were constructed this week. The one located on The Boulevard just west of Mount Pleasant avenue bears the wording "The City of Westmount Welcomes Your Majesties," while the arch on Sherbrooke street at Atwater extends the sentiment of the residents with the words, "Citizens of Westmount Bid Your Majesties Godspeed."

City Urges Care

In order to avoid preventable accidents city officials urge residents who live on the route of the procession to have their galleries, stairways and window ledges thoroughly inspected in order to ascertain the number of persons they can accommodate safely.

They also point out that the average roof was not designed to support a great deal of weight and suggest that residents view the parade from other points of vantage.

Every effort is being made by the special committee in charge of arrangements and police officials to prevent accidents occurring and the cooperation of residents is requested.

Assemble at 3 p.m.

To provide proper supervision all school children must assemble at schools by 3 p.m. and be in place at the special stands by 4 o'clock. Teachers and members of home and school associations will be in charge. Some 3,200 pupils will be accommodated.

The city's remaining 800 students of public schools have not requested tickets and therefore will presumably witness the procession from other points.

Police Rules

Police will strictly forbid persons to climb trees, poles, or other public property from which they could get a better view of the parade, but at risk of being injured.

To augment the Boy Scouts in lining the route, arrangements have been made by S. C. Holland, of Scout headquarters and C. E. Rush, field secretary, to volunteer a large body of ex-Scouts. They will line the route on Lansdowne avenue from The Boulevard to Westmount avenue. Shortly before the parade passes along this street they will be joined by Scouts from the Pine and Cedar sections.

The route will also be lined by members of the Westmount Police Department, military units, the R.C.A.F. No. 115 Squadron, and Veterans' bodies.

All those who have volunteered their services will be on duty from 10 a.m. until the procession is over. They will be supplied with a lunch consisting of sandwiches and coffee from 12 to 2 o'clock.

Minister Will Speak On Visit Of Royalty

On Sunday Reverend J. A. Johnston of Westmount Baptist Church will speak of the deeper significance of the Royal Visit. At the morning service the theme of the address will be: "The Queen—The Scottish Lass who shares the Throne." In the evening the subject will be: "The Coming of our King" or "Canada prepares for the Royal Arrival."

AMENDMENT IS MADE IN REGULATIONS

Cars Will be Allowed to Pass Through Restricted Area Earlier

TRAM RULES MADE

Street Cars Will Operate Along Sherbrooke Street Until Four O'Clock

As a result of a minor amendment in the municipal regulations pertaining to the Royal Visit in Westmount, automobiles will be permitted to proceed over city streets a short time after the procession has crossed Atwater avenue, it was announced by T. J. Hughes of the city manager's office yesterday.

Previously the rules set down by the special committee in charge of arrangements stipulated that cars could not be driven in the area bounded by Sunnyside, Grosvenor and Western avenues, from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Now, however, vehicular traffic will be permitted half an hour after the procession passes.

The change was made due to the fact that a number of Westmount residents will attend the Royal banquet to be held in the Windsor Hotel and that the schedule to be followed by the procession has been advanced some forty minutes.

Street cars on routes that pass along Sherbrooke street will be permitted to operate until 4 p.m., but from 2 o'clock on are forbidden to make stops for the purpose of discharging passengers between Metcalfe and Atwater avenues. Trams that pass over Westmount avenue and the Boulevard will be stopped at 2 o'clock sharp. Tramway vehicles will be allowed to proceed five minutes after the procession has passed.

High Old Boys Act As Special Police

Through arrangements made by W. C. Nicholson, president, and B. M. Alexander, secretary, about one hundred members of the Westmount High Old Boys' Association of the classes from 1922 to 1938 will line the route of the Royal procession on Tuesday, it was announced at the City Hall yesterday.

They will act as special constables and will assemble at Murray Park at 2:30 p.m. to be equipped with arm bands.

Many of the members of the Old Boys' Association have been particularly active in athletics and are expected to prove particularly valuable during the procession.

Scouts Have Big Part In The Royal Parade

For the first time in the nearly thirty years of Scouting in Canada, Boy Scouts will have the honor of guarding Their Majesties, when the King and Queen visit Montreal next Tuesday. Scouts of the Westmount and Western District will play a large part in the ceremonies, and all Troops in the Districts are up to full strength, and are as efficient as painstaking drill can make them.

A really severe physical ordeal is ahead of all Scouts lining the route, for there is no doubt that the Troops will be required to be in position several hours ahead of the scheduled arrival of the procession. All Scouts have been reminded that as regards on the Royal route, they will be personally responsible for the protection of Their Majesties, and to properly carry out their task, good physical condition is essential. It is suggested that early retiring hours, and care in avoiding getting overtired should be the rule with all Scouts during the next few days.

Scouts of the Second Westmount Troop held a practice last week in preparation for the part they will play during the visit of the King and Queen. Following an inspection the boys played indoor games.

Four awards were presented, Bob Smith receiving a Missionary badge; Don Matthews, pathfinder; J. Mackenzie and A. Heuser, handyman badges.

Special Precautions Will Be Taken by Police Here

In order to give complete protection to the homes of residents of Westmount not located on the route of the Royal procession a large squad of policemen will be on special duty during the day on Tuesday patrolling streets in all parts of the city and petty thieves who have the notion that they have a Roman holiday in store would be well advised to keep out-

Weredale House Leads Fine Evening Parade

Led by the new drum and fife band of the Weredale House Troop, troops of the Westmount District, including the Lions Club and Second Westmount Troops, and the Rover Sea Scouts, took side the boundaries of the municipality. All members of the police and fire departments will be called out and unusual precautions are to be taken to apprehend persons who attempt burglaries. Police, moreover, anticipate little trouble, so thorough are the arrangements to provide proper protection.

part in an evening parade, last night, marching west on Western avenue to Marlowe, returning to their headquarters on Atwater avenue by Sherbrooke. The parade was under the command of C. E. C. Rush, scoutmaster of Weredale House Troop, with R. N. Talbot and E. Neale, scoutmasters of the other Troops.

Constables Will Remind King Of London

Their Majesties, the King and Queen, will receive a cheerful reminder of London, itself, when they pass through Westmount on Tuesday, for all members of the police department are to wear their summer uniforms, the hats of which are designed along the lines of those worn by the London "Bobby."

City To Re-Name Park On Monday

The re-naming of Murray Park to commemorate the visit of the King and Queen will be held at the regular weekly meeting of the Westmount City Council Monday

Flying Officer Fee Takes Over Duty on Saturday

Flying Officer Fee takes over his duties as chief permanent officer of the No. 115 R.C.A.F. Fighter Squadron on Saturday, replacing Flight Lieut. Briese who has been transferred to Dartmouth, N.S. Flight-Lieut. Briese has been attached to the squadron for the past two years. The training plane transferred from the unit to Camp Borden last fall, due to lack of storage space at St. Hubert Airport, has been returned to the squadron and is helping out considerably in instruction work.

The unit, however, is still shy one plane, it having been flown to Toronto last year for the same reason. The ship is expected to be back at St. Hubert by the end of the week. Work on the new hangar at St. Hubert airport has been held up considerably due to the fact that concrete and other heavy material cannot be driven over the highway to the airport until roads are in shape to stand loads of this nature.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1939

REFLECTIONS ON ROYAL VISIT

Next Tuesday, for the first time in the lives of most of us, will be vouchsafed an opportunity to see our King and Queen. Their Majesties will be among us in Montreal for only a few hours, yet the estimates of the number of people who will greet them as they make a tour of the city run to over two millions. From a hundred neighbouring municipalities, and by special train from the New England States, the people will come — all anxious for a brief view of the man and woman who are the living symbols of the unity of the greatest association of free nations the world has ever witnessed.

The Royal Visit has great significance, both for Canadians and for Americans. It will drive home to Canadians the great gulf between leadership as understood by British peoples and as understood by the totalitarian countries; and it will drive home to Americans the extreme thinness of the veil that marks the dividing line between their ideals and those of the British.

There are "leaders" in Germany, Russia, and Italy — leaders whose position is maintained by the force of armed might, whose individual will is law, whose governments are called together not to discuss and reason together on the important problems of the day, but simply to sit in silence and hear the will of one mind. In British countries, the leader is the King — but what a different conception of leadership he symbolizes! Through many centuries British peoples have developed government by the strength of the collective mind. When the King speaks, he speaks for and on the advice of his ministers, who, in turn, have reached their decisions in open and free discussion, and have advised their leader, or King, of their collective decision. This decision, the King is bound to take. There is an old saying to the effect that "the King can do no wrong." That means that he carries no responsibility for the decisions he makes, he is simply the spokesman for his ministers whose blame it is if the King is wrongly advised.

At no time in the history of the two countries have British-American relations been better than they are today. The unusually comprehensive trade treaty recently effected between Britain, Canada, and the United States has already greatly strengthened the bonds of friendship all round. Sentiment, reinforced by "good customer" relations, makes for bonds of mutual esteem that are not easily broken. Sharing political and social ideals, with unbounded confidence in the good faith of each other, Canada-U.S.-British relations today are an example to the entire world. The Royal visit to the United States will emphasize these considerations, and cannot help but bring the two great empires still closer together. Not long ago an American professor suggested that the two Anglo-Saxon peoples share a common national anthem, the first verse to be from the British "God Save the King," the second from the American "My Country 'Tis of Thee", and the third as follows:

Two Empires by the sea,
 Two peoples great and free,
 One anthem raise,
 One race of ancient fame,
 One tongue, one faith, we claim,
 One God whose glorious name,
 We love and praise.

QUEBEC'S BEER POLICY

The levy of additional Provincial taxes on beer, recently announced, is surely not calculated to strengthen the policy of temperance on which the Quebec Liquor Commission was founded. Indeed, a program designed to restrict the use of beer will inevitably lead to intemperance with consequences as bad or worse than those which led to the establishment of the Commission.

The policy which has been pursued during the past few years seems to be designed to increase the sale of Commission brands of liquor, and the subsequent profits of the commission, regardless of the public welfare. Private brands have been discriminated against in the matter of taxation, while beer, which is seldom elsewhere classified as an alcoholic beverage (so low is its alcoholic content) is not only classed by the Commission among alcoholic beverages, but its use is actually discouraged by taxation.

The Commission would do well to reflect that in 1667, the Intendant Talon, greatly concerned over the spread of intemperance among the settlers, consulted with the leaders of New France to find a remedy for the evil. The remedy proposed, and endorsed by his advisers, was to establish a brewery and encourage the use of beer.

At one time this Province enjoyed a reputation throughout Canada and the United States for the saneness and temperance of its liquor policy, but the policy now being pursued will soon dissipate that good opinion, we fear.

The Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest

The Westmount Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest is run with the kind co-operation of Mr. Godel, manager of the Westmount Theatre. Each week twelve passes are given to the six lucky winners who comply with the following requirements:

Simply find the two "ads." in the current issue of The Westmount Examiner in which the names of the two feature pictures being shown at the Westmount Theatre during the first half of the coming week are hidden.

Submit all answers to The Contest Editor, The Westmount Examiner, 2191 Hampton Avenue, using the special coupon provided in each issue for the purpose.

Contestants must be over 16 years of age. Residents of Westmount, only, are eligible. All answers must be in the office not later than Wednesday, and the names of the winners will be published in Thursday's issue. A convenient coupon will be found elsewhere in the paper. The winners are drawn from among those who submit the correct answers as, unfortunately, it would be impossible to give passes to every-one submitting the right answers.

The winners of last week's contest are as follows and their passes will be received in Friday's mail:

Mrs. Frank Doherty, 80B Sully St.; Miss A. E. Gahan, 331 Clarke Ave., Apt. 23; Mr. G. Sadler Pierce, 343 Roslyn Ave.

The Hidden Titles were evidently too well "hidden" last week as the three passes above were the only ones to submit correct answers. It is important that the name of the company must be mentioned. Several answers gave the kind of business but not the company name.

THE FORUM

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C.

NOTE:—The opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them. They are published for their general interest, variety and originality of treatment.

In an article "Housing for the Millions," by former congressman Maury Maverick of Texas, which appeared in Common Sense (New York monthly), it is pointed out that less than 100 years ago, many people, generally cultured, rich and well born, were opposed to building roads by the public, and for the public. Leading politicians said it would ruin the toll-road business, let lazy people walk for nothing, provide means of escape for slaves, destroy the stamina of the people, and, by the loss of taxes, bankrupt the state. Many leading statesmen of the country said that "internal improvements" by the government were unconstitutional, and six presidents vetoed them as unconstitutional. Some leaders said:

In certain instances, building of roads was unconstitutional, because the constitution only provided for "post roads."

Now billions are spent by Federal and State governments and everyone approves. Roads increased rapidly when the automobile came in. "The automobile manufacturers promoted good roads with deep zest, with almost holy zeal. So did sellers of cement, steel, rock and other materials. Governments entered the highway business and in doing so, subsidized the automobile business and made multi-millionaires of Ford, Chrysler, Olds, and dozens of others. The point is we got the roads built and got cheaper and better automobiles. There are now twenty-five million automobiles instead of fifteen thousand (in U.S.A.), when roads were bad; and we have billions of dollars invested in fast, safe roads, in every part of the nation."

He believes that if the government will start housing in a big way, numerous other industries will at once get back on their feet. "Millions will go to work throughout the whole fabric of our society. Most important, millions will get homes in which to live. The government subsidy might run a billion dollars a year, or even more, (considering the expenditures for relief and other purposes in the past), and considering what will be accomplished by housing, it will be money well spent. The great industries would be the first to benefit. They could put hundreds of thousands to work. The new building industry would be like the automobile industry. It would be started by a subsidy, and for all I know kept up by one, as the auto industry is, but it would put people in homes, millions to work—and keep business alive."

One wonders how such reasoning applies to our housing problem in Canada, but of course, on a much smaller scale.

The Welland canal which cost down to March 31, 1938, $131,024,551, is operated as a service to shippers, not a source of revenue. All tolls were abolished in 1905.

Germany must import three-quarters of the iron she uses (much of it from Wabana, Newfoundland); 65 per cent of her copper, 75 per cent of her lead, 35 per cent zinc, all her aluminum and tin, practically all her nickel— as well as most of the chrome, chromium, tungsten, molybdenum, vanadium and pyrites needed for munitions. She also lacks gold and credits with which to import those metals which explain Chancellor Hitler's "Export or die" statement.

Forget "slums" a moment. For

At a Peace Conference of the American Friends Service Committee it was declared: "We shall never have peace so long as people put their ultimate faith in force. The Christian strategy for achieving justice, equality and freedom is much more vital than mere profession of peace as an ideal." It is the responsibility and privilege of churches, regardless of national boundaries, to keep fellowship unbroken. Because of the social, economic and political forces behind fascism, governments today must take a road leading "to the eventual establishment of a world commonwealth, based on the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, where natural resources and markets are shared for the benefit of all. So that human beings everywhere may not be hampered in the full development of their individual capacities by lack of the material necessities of life, where treaties are subject to periodic review and law and order preserved by sincere attempts to resolve the causes of aggression and treaty breaking rather than by punitive provisions to maintain the status quo or bring about changes."

In an address delivered in America, Sir George Paich, noted British economist and churchman declared that "all the great nations must come together, put their wisdom together, face our present terrifying problems, and solve them. Nation collaborating with nation. Nations must realize that they must each one make its contribution to the common good of mankind. Christian ethics is good economics, politics and statesmanship."

At the evening service at 7.30 p.m. the Junior Choir, directed by Mrs. W. S. Walker, with Miss V. Jamieson as accompanist, will lead the choral service rendering a special programme of music in keeping with this festival occasion. Dr. Jones will preach the sermon, which will be the second in the special series on The Protestant Faith, the theme being "Its Historic Revival under the Great Reformers". The mothers of the members of the Choir will be entertained by the Junior Choir in the parlors of the church following the evening service.

At 2.30 on Sunday afternoon the Senior Choir and the Minister of Calvary will broadcast over the C.B.C. network.

On Monday, at 8.15 p.m. the Young People's Union will hold a special patriotic service to celebrate the coming of Their Majesties. A Patriotic Pageant will be given by the young people and an Illustrated Address on Canada and the Empire will be given by the Minister.

A Mother and Daughter Banquet will be held on Friday, May 19th, at 6.30 p.m.

Tonight, Thursday, at 8.15 p.m. The Legend of the Willow Plant will be presented in Calvary Church Hall by the Dramatic Society of the Southwestern "Y". A variety concert by members of Calvary Church School will also be rendered. All are urged to support this event.

St. Andrew's Church Notes

Services of patriotism will be held Sunday in St. Andrew's Church, when Dr. F. W. Kerr will take as his morning theme "God Bless Our King and Queen". He will show the significance and influence of the monarchy in the British constitutional system, as well as his increased importance to Canada since the Statute of Westminster. The value of patriotism will be stressed as a power to bind together our World-Empire. In order that it may play its part worthily in the development and peace of mankind. At the evening service, motherhood will be honored, and Dr. Kerr will preach on the beauty, the sacrifice and the mystery of motherhood.

ROYAL VISIT MEDALS
 More than 2,500,000 of the bronze medallions to be distributed to school children throughout Canada to commemorate the visit of the King and Queen have been struck already at the royal mint in Ottawa, it was learned. Other medallions in silver, bronze and other alloys will be turned out for purchase by the public.

Drive Instituted To Rid City of Rodents

A drive to exterminate all rodents from the City of Westmount was opened this week by the municipal health department, headed by Dr. F. M. A. McNaughton.

In order to advise residents on the danger of rats to public health and the steps that should be taken to exterminate them, the following article was released this week by Dr. McNaughton in collaboration with A. L. McNab, city health inspector:

"The Dominion Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has published a leaflet on rats and mice, giving valuable information, extracts of which are repeated here.

"The Brown or House Rat (Rattus Norvegicus) invades houses, stores, markets and out-buildings, destroying property as well as devouring groceries, fruit, vegetables or anything edible.

"Everywhere it destroys continually, causing damage amounting to millions of dollars annually, and yet its presence is tolerated.

"The rat is more destructive than all other wild animals combined.

"As a health hazard, rats have been guilty of bringing death to millions of human beings.

"From the filthy conditions in which they live, the attacks of disease they are subject to, which in turn can be carried to man by the fleas that infest their bodies, the rat can be a constant danger to our health.

"In past centuries, epidemics of bubonic plague, which carried off millions of people in Europe, was traced to the rat as a carrier.

"Typhus fever, and even infantile paralysis, have been blamed on the rat as a possible carrier.

"Habit of Rats
"Though the rat can live on anything edible, they prefer the same kind of food as human beings and do not stay long in a place where it is not plentiful.

"Control of Rats
"First of all, they must be prevented from getting into places where they can get food or rear their young. By ratproofing and closing all apertures in foundations, or where water-pipes enter buildings, having doors bound with sheet metal, and all holes closed with cement or like material, their entrance to buildings and nesting places is prevented.

"In our cities, accumulation of refuse and uncovered or scattered garbage is a constant source of food and protection to this filthy animal.

"The City of Westmount is anxious to eradicate or at least control this menace. To help in this effort every house should be provided with tight garbage cans which should be kept in place constantly, according to By-law No. 273.

"All accumulation of rubbish about ardens and yards giving cover or food for rats should be carefully cleared away.

"The City of Westmount Health Department is ready to exterminate the rats by a method approved and carried out in most cities, which is absolutely harmless to pets or domestic animals. The outstanding feature of this exterminator is that the rat leaves the building or hole he inhabits in search of air and water and is found dead outside."

"Jews Who Have Served the Empire," will be the dramatic presentation given in the Religious School Assembly next Sunday morning, under the direction of Miss Frances Katz, B.Sc. Combined with this program will also be a tribute to motherhood in observance of Mother's Day.

A number of boys have signified their intention of working for the King's Badge and it is hoped before many sessions, the First Company may boast of numerous King's Badgesmen.

On Wednesday the company will send a number of boys to Molson Stadium as ushers for the P. Q. F. A. Scottish game. Boys of the 5th Company will accompany them.

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Athanocios D. Schoolarenas, of 4842 Western avenue, was held in the chapel of Jos. C. Wray and Bro., on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment took place in Mount Royal Cemetery. Mrs. Schoolarenas, the former Elizabeth Etches, died on Saturday in the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital following a short illness.

Born and educated in Manchester, England, she had been a resident of this city for a number of years. Active in charity work, she was a member of the Christ Church Cathedral.

KING AND QUEEN TO OPEN NEW REMEMBRANCE ROAD

Will Break Ribbon of New Memorial to Fallen Soldiers At Site of Former Shakespeare Road — Remembrance Legion Branch and Montreal Women's Club to Participate

Their Majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth, will officiate at the formal opening of the new Road of Remembrance, on the site of the former Shakespeare road, with appropriate ceremonies on Tuesday next. Final plans for the event, which will see the completion of efforts to have the Road of Remembrance moved from its present location on Sherbrooke street west, were completed yesterday.

Montreal Women's Club and Remembrance Branch of the Canadian Legion will assist in carrying out the arrangements, at the new site leading from Cote des Neiges to the Mountain Park.

The car carrying the Royal Party will break a ribbon, stretched across the road, and held at one end by the president of the Montreal Women's Club, and at the other by the president of Remembrance branch. Almost at the same time, a name plate will be unveiled designating the new Road of Remembrance.

The two subsequent events will bring to a happy conclusion months of effort on the part of these groups to suitably re-locate the memorial.

More Permanent Memorial
It is hoped that the new site will enable the development of a permanent memorial to those of Montreal who died in the great war.

Initial planting of trees will take place at a date to be announced later, probably on Armistice Day. Suitable ceremonies will be arranged for this occasion.

While many of the members of Remembrance Branch will be on official guard of honor duty in other parts of the city, as many of them as possible will be present at the entrance to the new Road of Remembrance. Members of the Montreal Women's Club will be massed at this point.

Plates To Be Moved
A new site for Remembrance Road was sought late last year when it was pointed out that many of the trees planted in the memory of the fallen dead had been destroyed or damaged in the march of progress, or by carelessness on the part of residents and others.

The plates on the trees, each bearing the name of a soldier left in France, or elsewhere, will be removed and later placed on the new trees.

There is no intention to remove the trees at present on Sherbrooke street west, but rather new trees will be planted at the site to be opened on Tuesday by the King and Queen.

Art Of Making Friends Held High Attainment

Referring to the art of making friends as one of life's most important attainments, Baz O'Meara, sports editor of the Montreal Daily Star, addressed the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club in Victoria Hall on Wednesday.

The session was in charge of the fellowship committee and was attended by sons and daughters of the members.

Friendship, love and laughter are the most important things in the world, the speaker declared. By acting as an anecdote to the many sections of present day newspapers given over to the discussion of world problems, the prominence now accorded sporting news in the world press was fully justified, Mr. O'Meara contended.

Speaking of sports in general, he stated that confidence was the most important requisite of a successful athlete. All who had made the grade, to his knowledge, were men possessed of self-reliance.

Sports, and sports figures of the present day are just as good as they ever were, Mr. O'Meara opined.

He was introduced by John Davie and thanked by Stan Neilson. The president, John Colton, occupied the chair.

The Way To A Man's Heart

These Recipes Are Fruit of Research For the Ideal Summer Thirst-Quencher.

Tall glasses of grape juice with the dry refreshment of fresh lime juice plus a garnish of fragrant mint, produce a cooler to make you forget hot weather.

Fruit juices wash away your troubles on a sultry day. As coolers they are tops, and their "pick-up" value makes them popular with often-tired people. They literally spark with vitamins.

Grapejuice — Lime Cooler
 (Serves 4 to 6)
 Four cups grapejuice, juice of 2 fresh green limes, fresh mint, shaved ice.
 Combine grapejuice and lime. Stir. Pour into tall chilled glasses, add a little shaved ice, put a sprig of mint in each glass.

Citrus — Tomato Cooler
 (Serves 4 to 6)
 Two cups tomato juice (fresh or canned), 2 cups grapefruit juice (fresh or canned, unsweetened), juice of 2 fresh limes, and a little fruit syrup if sweetening is preferred.

Combine chilled juice and serve in glasses without ice. This is an unusually good drink and is popular as a cocktail for afternoon parties.

Strawberry — Pineapple Cooler
 (Serves 4 to 6)
 Four cups pineapple juice (unsweetened), 1 cup orange juice, 1-2 cup fresh strawberry juice, 2 teaspoons lime juice, pinch of salt, clover honey for sweetening, fresh mint for garnish.

Combine chilled juice and sweeten to taste. Serve with ice cubes.

All of these fruit beverages can be served for breakfast, as cocktails before meals, and as coolers during the day.

Jitterbugs Ousted By Polka Dancers

Jitterbug jumpers are giving place to polka dancers, say the dancing teachers—who think it's about time. "There isn't much jitterbug dancing being done on public floors anymore," said Pearl Allen of Culver, president of the Chicago National Association of Dancing Masters, recently. "And we're mighty glad," he went on. "Those jitterbugs. The older folks become tired just watching them, and they keep lots of people off the floor because the dance looks so strenuous."

BRIGHT PRINTS ADD ZESTFUL SEASONING TO STYLE MENU

Paris Likes Their Colorful Variety

Prints are the seasoning of spring fashions. They contribute the note of the unexpected, of color and also of ingenuity. They are not expected to be taken seriously, but no summer wardrobe is quite complete without at least one little number in print.

Designs in prints are marvelous this spring. They have gone from the more sober, conventional dots, stripes and floral patterns to the highest flights of imagination, including Jean Cocteau's design which makes one think of Fourth of July fireworks.

Even the old classics have renewed themselves. Take dots, for example. They are as old as the hills, yet they have taken on a new lease of life, disposed in stripes and borders, or a combination of both or, again, alternating with flowered patterns.

One of the most spectacular of the new prints is this Molyneux design of American, English and French cigarette package wrappings in their original colorings. The coat is a simple, straight model of navy wool, and the hat is a large, paillasson straw sailor.

TWO BOWS FOR THE DUCHESS

The Duchess of Windsor chose this summer day ensemble from the collection of Mainbocher. The slightly gored coat is of navy lightweight wool. Blue and white surah starts as a bow at the neckline and continues down to the waistline where it ties in another bow at the back. The lining of the coat and the dress are of the printed surah, the dress following the lines of the coat.

Stripes are cutting all sorts of capers too. Vertical horizontal, wavy or asymmetrical like a barber's pole, worked in chevron effects, they contrive to look essentially 1939. The great novelty of the season, though, is the combination of solid stripes and floral garlands.

Topical events are especially favored for prints. Mr. Chamberlain's

On Tuesday the King comes to Montreal, and Announcers Rooney Pelletier, Tony Leclerc and Gerry Wilmot, aided by a corps of

Seven Hundred Trout For Royal Visit are Ordered

Seven hundred trout! Here's a tall order for any fisherman, but when it's a command order for King George VI it must be filled and there is no better place to find the trout than in the waters of the Laurentian lakes and streams to the North of Montreal. Seven hundred speckled beauties fit for a King—that was the order received by F. H. (Tom) Wheeler of Gray Rocks Inn, St. Jovite, Quebec, the trout to be ready on the arrival of the Royal party at Quebec, May 15th.

So the legal limit of 15 pounds or 40 trout per person per day, was waived and Tom and his brother Harry, whose Siberian huskies have won many an international dog derby, recruited their guides and all the natives who know how to cast a line. La Carpe, Cold Lake, Lake Commandant, the Devil River and even Lake Quimet, right at Gray Rocks Inn will each give up its share to make up the 700. Sportsmen from all over Canada and the Eastern United States have fished these waters and there is little doubt but many of those who learn of this "command" will wish they could participate in the catch.

As soon as the 700 trout are ready they will be flown to Quebec in the Gray Rocks Air Service plane by Pilot Burt Trerice, who has just returned from the Antarctic, where he was co-pilot for the Lincoln Ellsworth Expedition. Incidentally, some of the trout which will be transported from these waters were originally transported to them as fingerlings by the same plane and same pilot, this being the Province of Quebec Fisheries Department's newest way of stocking northern waters.

Well-Fitting Shoes Needed For Walking

No item is more important to comfort when doing "The Fair" than well-fitting shoes that give support. The Oxford type is preeminently adapted to days on foot. It is true that people are suited by different lasts, according to their foot structure and their natural posture, nevertheless when it is attempted to justify definitely high heels for long walks, vanity rather than an appreciation of facts is the speaker. More and more we are realizing that good dress is, first of all, dress appropriate to the occasion. This being so, high-heeled sandals, however beautifully designed and becoming, are not smart footwear for sight-seeing. We recommend also a five-thread stocking of good quality which is not likely to drop its stitches. Between a comparatively heavy stocking that is in sound condition and a sheer stocking which is treated with dribbling runs, we think there is no competition.

Washable gloves in white or some subtle color are the choice. For mid-summer

TEA TIME TOPICS

Redingotes, or dresses that give a redingote effect, are the smartest formulas for slenderness and summer charm, that we know of. This idea is very smart and effective, when print and plain fabrics are combined in a mock-redingote frock. Revers that spread out in a becoming point are very flattering, whether in a contrast to match the skirt inset or self fabric trimmed with a double row of lace. Many redingotes shown this year are made for double duty, the redingote being made with a full skirt, and long sleeves, topped a smart print frock, both being made in such a manner that they may be worn separately.

Schiaparelli, thinking that music has charms even in dress, is featuring musical themes throughout her collection. Enamelled drums, horns, harps and grand pianos are used for boutonnières, buttons and clips. Music box handbags tinkle with catchy tunes.

Ladies' Auxiliary Plan Annual Picnic

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the United Commercial Travellers held its regular meeting in the Community Hall last Friday evening with Mrs. Austin Jackson presiding.

Mrs. A. Brophy invited the ladies to attend a sewing meeting at her home, 4179 Hampton avenue, on Monday evening at eight o'clock.

The Auxiliary decided to make donations to the Day Nursery and the Well Baby Clinic. Plans are also being made to hold the annual picnic at St. Helen's Island on Saturday, June 17th.

Following the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

HANDBAG CALENDAR

No larger than a silver dollar is the 22-year-old perpetual calendar which would fit in a very small purse. It has the trylon and perisphere stamped on the back.

The meshes will prove coolest, but they do not keep the hands as clean as a thin but solid fabric, like silk.

CALVARY CAGE TEAM CLOSES FINE SEASON

Defeat Verdun Oxfords, 41-37 in Final Contest Last Week

Calvary United Church, Juvenile Basketball Team, successfully completed their second year as an organized unit by defeating Verdun Oxfords 41 to 37 on Wednesday evening last.

The game was fast and driving; both teams being forced to play heads-up basketball. The Oxfords, composed mostly of Verdun High School Team seniors quickly jumped into the lead by accurate shooting of Lynch and Matthy. This lead Verdun did not relinquish until the closing minutes of the game.

By playing a wide open game and waiting for the breaks, Verdun were able to stretch their lead to eight points by half-time.

Calvary started the second half playing a deep defensive game to check the sleepers, which Verdun had pulled in the first half.

The changing point in the game came late in the fourth quarter, when "Lolly" Wright scored the tying points, followed by Flynn's basket, scoring after breaking up an enemy attack deep in its own territory.

With this lead, Calvary went on to victory, even though pressed hard by a strong Verdun team, but they were unable to overcome this defeat.

Flynn led the Calvary team to Baseball fans usually regard Joe DiMaggio, who was seriously injured on Saturday, as a great hitter, and overlook the fact that the Yankee center fielder is a real ball hawk with one of the best throwing arms in the majors. The above strip shows how DiMag's tears in to retrieve a high bouncer and then cuts down the baserunner who tries to stretch a single into a double. From left to right: Joe comes in fast on the ball. In the second picture DiMaggio catches up with the ball, starts a short hop so that he won't have to take too much time in getting set to throw. Next, Joe has the ball, keeps his eye on the runner. Joe comes down all set for the throw. Back comes his arm, and in the final picture he gets it away—straight to the base for a put-out and a warning to future baserunners. It will be some time before he is back for action, however.

victory by his smart generalship on the floor, but it was due chiefly to the wonderful teamwork displayed by Calvary, that spelled defeat for Verdun Oxfords.

This year Calvary have won 16; lost one; scored 816 points for an average of 48 points per game, and over the last two years, since organized in 1937, have played 37 games and won all but three; scored 1,560 points with only 774 points against them.

The Calvary team are Magnus Flynn, captain, "Lolly" Wright, Ian Hellyer, Bob Sloan, Austin McConnell, John Wonfor, Johnny Wright, Bob Thompson, Normy Follette, George Churchill, Allen Hughes and Jack McCreath. The team is coached by Eric Read, and managed by Mr. Anson E. Robinson.

An open 100 and 440 yards will be held in connection with the McGill Interscholastic Track Meet on May 27th. Entries for McGill Interscholastic meet closes Monday, May 22nd.

A Mere Oversight
A man was walking down a London street with his life hand up in a peculiar manner. An inquisitive visitor asked him the reason, and also pointed out that man a few yards behind him was doing the same. The man turned, saw the other, and exclaimed: "Great Scott, Bill, we've forgotten the ladder."—Fredericton Mail.

Lacrosse Club Elects Fred Dey As President

The Westmount Junior Lacrosse Club elected Fred Dey as its president at a meeting held Tuesday night. Dey who has coached the club to two championships, will again act as coach.

Westmount expects to have an unusually fine team this year as Harold Burden has joined the squad from St. Anthony's and Gordon Noseworthy will turn out this season. The team expects to lose Frank Eddelle, however.

Jack Eagan, who played hockey at Perth will be back home this summer, and he will be with the Westmounts again.

Westmounts will start practices soon. They will be a favored entry in the Junior Amateur Lacrosse Association, a five-team circuit headed by Arthur Walker. Shamrocks, two Verdun teams and St. Michaels have entered.

Last year the Westmounts lost out to Mimico in the Eastern Canada final of the Minto Cup at Toronto.

All in Readiness For Kid Glove Tournament

Young boxers from all parts of the city will participate when the annual Kid Glove Tournament is held at Loyola stadium on Monday at 8.15 o'clock. Finals of the Interscholastic A.A. of the Catholic schools will be staged. The affair is being sponsored by Loyola Alumni.

Boxers will be present from Loyola, Daniel O'Connell, Darcy McGee, Catholic High and Luke Callaghan schools.

In all there will be ten classes, from 85 to 175 lbs.

Johnny Greco will not participate this year, but is coaching the Catholic High entry.

NEW MEMBERS JOIN ROVERS

Invested Into Movement Tuesday by Provincial Leader John Coupland

On Tuesday evening four members of the Westmount Rover Crews were invested into the movement by Provincial Rover Leader John Coupland and assisted by the District Rover Leader Eric Johnston. Rover Squares Ian McAuley, Peter Brunt, Bert Gilhooley and Melvin Burge, after spending the week-end in Vigil, were dubbed Rover Scouts in a most impressive ceremony.

On Sunday three of the Crew went on a hike.

The Crews are taking an active part in the King's Visit, while two of the members are taking the Rover Sphinx Course at headquarters on Saturday and Sunday. The Picnic Committee is going great guns, and have reported great progress to date. The picnic is to be held at Senneville on May 20th.

There is still room for new members. They meet Tuesday evening, at 8.15 at 10 Burton Avenue.

Quit Your SKIDDING!

A SUDDEN STOP OR TURN — PERHAPS TO AVOID AN ACCIDENT — MAY CAUSE YOUR CAR TO SKID.

When this happens, you're in for that sickening, pit-of-the-stomach feeling that comes when your car skids out of control.

Goodrich Engineers

Have spent years in developing and perfecting a tire to eliminate just this hazard.

When your car is equipped with GOODRICH TIRES you have positive assurance that you can bring it to a straight line stop — quickly and safely, where normally a serious accident might occur.

We would appreciate the opportunity of demonstrating to you the SAFETY and QUALITY which the Goodrich Rubber Company has built into these tires.

OUR SHORT STORY

HONEYMOONERS

Tanned by Mediterranean sunshine through which their expensive honeymoon had let, Trilla and Jim Garland hurried down the gangplank and toward the friend waiting to greet them.

"Old faithful!" cried Trilla. "Of course, Dad was too busy to welcome home his only child!"

Pale, sandy-haired Claude Rossitor smiled as Jim caught his hand. He said, "It's swell to have you back. I'll drop around tonight and—"

"You're coming home with us— to lunch," Trilla told him. "I'll phone busy old Dad and tell him you won't be back at the office any more today, Claude, boy. You look tired. I'll bet you haven't had a vacation all summer."

The three drove to the Layne home where, until the time of her marriage, Trilla had lived with her widowed father, a man whose mining machinery was sold all over the world.

"I suppose you and Jim will live here?" Rossitor inquired. "We're moving to an apartment," Trilla answered. "Of course, I'm going to see that Jim gets a raise. And you, too, Claude."

"Why me?" Rossitor parried. "I haven't any bride to support. Oh, it's all right for Jim. You and he are in line for the Layne riches anyhow."

"Trilla is," said dark, husky Jim Garland. "But me—I'd rather earn my luxury than marry it."

Later, old Barnard Layne came home to greet the newlyweds. He hugged Trilla, whacked Jim lustily on the shoulder, and said that his son-in-law would have to leave for Colorado tomorrow.

"Hurray!" cried Trilla, blue eyes dancing. "I knew our honeymoon hadn't ended yet... The Rockies! Fishing, hunting..."

"Listen, child," said Layne. "This is a business trip."

"We'll take Claude with us Jim!" Trilla exclaimed. "He hasn't had a vacation or a raise since—"

"He can have a vacation!" Barnard Layne jumped at a compromise. "But it's going to be short. We're swamped at the office... Er, come in the other room, Jim. I've got all the dope on your trip with me."

Alone with Trilla, Claude Rossitor smiled. "You shouldn't have gone to bat for me, lady. Your dad doesn't like me. I think he feels that I was foisted on him... by you and Jim. He tolerates me, but doesn't like me... You like me, but you couldn't love me."

"Claude!" Trilla's smile faded. "It's just that I loved Jim more. I'm sorry, fellow."

"I'm not," he replied. "I love you both. That's why I'm not tagging along on the fadeout of a glorious honeymoon."

"You're coming along!" Trilla declared. "Now run home and pack your boots and leather jacket. Tomorrow we're off for the top of the world."

Four days later the Rockies; and a car with three passengers speeding along a pine-fringed highway.

Garland hailed an old man who was herding a small bunch of sheep on the slope: "Is this the Blue Spire property? And is Mr. Bingham around?"

"Nope," called the flock tender. "He's over in San Louis Valley. Won't be back 'fore three, four days. You that minin' machinery feller from the Layne Company?"

"Yes... Can't we stay here till Mr. Bingham gets back?" "Sure... Uh—my name's Preble, but just call me Preb, folks. Put your stuff in that first cabin there. I'll help you."

met him returning, running through the big drops of rain which had started to fall. "Come on, folks!" he called. "Let's get under cover!"

The three of them dashed back to the buildings of the mining company where they found old Preb glumly poking a reluctant fire. Another of his sheep had fallen victim to bearish appetite last night.

"The tenderfeet will come to your rescue," Rossitor said. How about some bear hunting this morning, folks?"

"That old mutton eater hangs around up on Quakenasp Point. Maybe we can find him. If I could see to shoot as well as I used to—"

"We'll do the shooting," Jim promised eagerly. "I'm not budging from camp," Trilla declared.

But Trilla followed, and scolded Jim for not fetching along his waterproof jacket.

"I have an extra coat he can wear," Claude Rossitor said quickly. "I'll run back to the cabin and get it." Soon he was back with a black leather coat.

When they neared the top of Quakenasp Point, old Preb said: "Some of us ought to swing around the knob, boys. Rossitor, do you want to try—"

"Maybe I'd better stick with you," came the reply. "Jim's a big outdoor man. He won't get lost if he goes alone."

"Sure, I'll go," Jim volunteered, and struck out alone. "You want to go with him, Trilla?" Rossitor asked.

"I'm keeping to the shorter route," she answered impatiently. For some reason she was nervous. She didn't know why.

Some little distance beyond Rossitor and Preb, Trilla saw them halt suddenly; heard Rossitor call sharply to his companion then Trilla's wide blue eyes could see a dark shape moving through the tangle of small trees. She thought of the black coat Jim had borrowed—

Before she could cry out, old Preb's rifle had cracked. A rumbling, angry roar rose from the half-hidden shape. Trilla caught the look of sudden terror on Claude Rossitor's face. She saw him turn, start running. But he slipped on the wet grass and tumbled into a rocky gulch below.

His left leg wedged into a crevice of rock. He was trapped! Now old Preb was trying to bring down the wounded bear which was making Rossitor. But Preb's gun had jammed, useless.

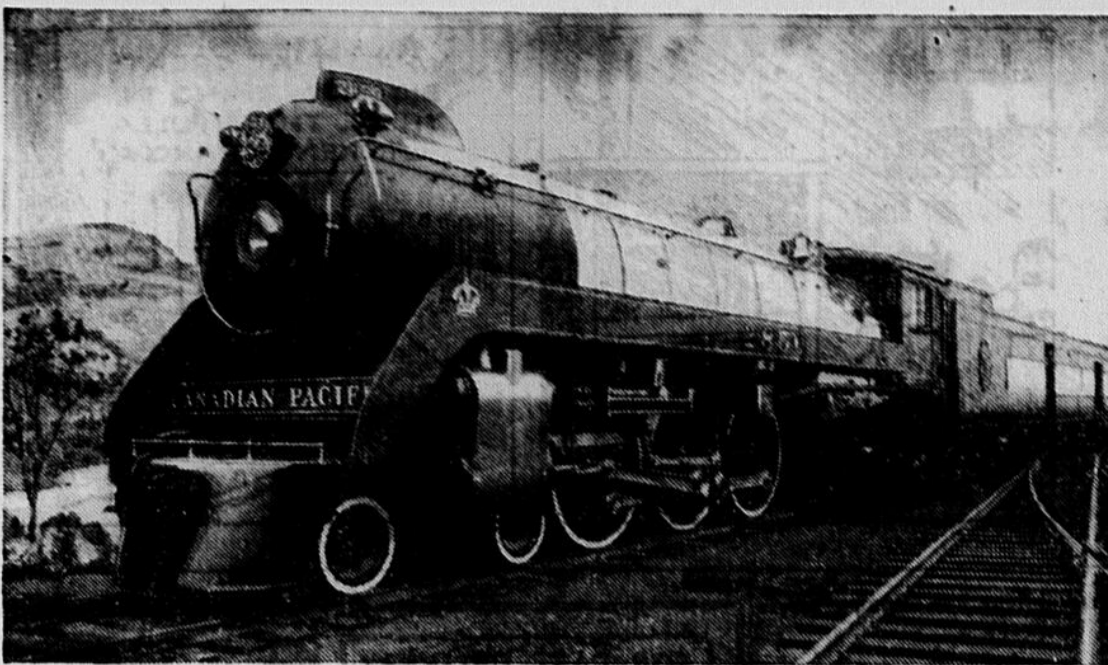

The bullet-headed bear was within twenty feet of Claude Rossitor when another rifle cracked sharply... twice. The sheep killer floundered, rolled down into the gulch. Then Jim, coatless despite the chill of this stormy country, dashed to Rossitor's side.

Her face ashen pale, Trilla stood there watching her husband free Rossitor's trapped foot. She said: "It's cold, Jim dear. Why aren't you wearing the coat—"

"I got to thinking it might be the wrong color," he answered. "How's the leg, Claude? Wrenched too badly to walk on?"

"I'll be able to make camp," gasped the frightened man. Rossitor was gone when the others returned to the cabin. In a low voice Jim said:

Locomotive of Royal Train Ready

Scheduled for the biggest job ever assigned to a steam locomotive, Canadian Pacific engine 2850, photographed at the Angus Shops in Montreal, is ready to haul Their Majesties the King and Queen on their 3,000-mile trip across Canada. The royal tour will mark the first time one engine has made a continuous journey of this length, and 2850's record will not be equalled on the tour.

Specially re-fitted and decorated for the occasion the big Canadian Pacific locomotive is a mass of shining stainless steel, royal blue, silver and gold. The semi-streamlined engine bears the royal arms over the headlight which has been sunk flush with the front of the boiler-casing; Imperial Crowns decorate each running board; the crest of the Canadian Pacific appears beneath the window of the cab and on the tender, the royal arms four feet high are blazoned in relief.

The general decorative scheme comprises a background of deep blue on the underframe, smoke-box, front of engine and all marginal work on engine and tender. The sides of tender, cab and running boards are painted Royal Blue.

A panel of aluminum leaf laid in diagonal squares matching the panel on the cars of the royal train extends half way on the tender. The panel is outlined in gold. The jacket on the locomotive, handrails on it and the tender and other trim is of stainless steel. Gold leaf has been employed on the engine numbers.

Engineer Eugene Leclerc, of Quebec, who was fireman on the royal train in 1901, will be the first Canadian engineer. He has been in regular Canadian Pacific service between Quebec and Montreal for approximately 48 years.

Several hours will elapse between the time it is necessary to occupy balconies and stands and the time the procession passes west end points. The Royal Party arrives at 2.15 and the proceedings will be broadcast by all local stations.

We suggest that stands and balconies be equipped with radio, so that progress of the parade can be followed. Long extension cords will reach most front-lawn stands. Portable battery sets can be hired for those which can not be so reached.

Let Radio Help Make Visit Enjoyable

Here is a worthwhile tip for persons planning to use balconies and verandahs, and for school authorities and others providing stands for the Royal Visit.

me that black coat was because he thought near-sighted old Preb might—might kill the wrong bear? ... Don't answer, my sweet. Let's forget him... Seems swell, just the two of us honeymooning again doesn't it? Now if I were to kiss you like this...

"Please do, Jim!" and the arms she slipped around his neck—arms that another man had longed for—were endowed with more than customary strength tonight.

AND ... AND THINGS

THE DUKE IS SILENCED

The Duke of Windsor paused briefly Monday to break his 30-month silence and voice some vital truths from a country inn in battle-scarred France.

"I speak simply as a soldier of the last war," he said, "whose most earnest prayer is that such cruel, destructive madness shall never again overtake mankind."

"I am convinced that could they (the dead), make their voices heard, they would be with me in what I am about to say . . ."

"Peace is a matter too vital for our happiness to be treated as a political question. In modern times the victory will lie only with the powers of evil."

"There is no land whose people want war. Of this I am profoundly convinced."

This speech was banned by the European powers — Italy, Germany and Britain.

Although the full text of the speech had been received here many hours prior to the actual broadcast, Canadian authorities, too, put a muzzle on the Duke. Windsor has often been accused of pro-Nazi leanings, and none will deny that his app 1 was ill-timed, but the Duke is understood to have broadcast with his brother's approval — and radio censorship of the speech appears to have been unnecessary and dictatorial.

Briefly, the facts are these:— The British Broadcasting Corporation banned Windsor's speech on direct orders from Downing Street.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation obediently followed suit.

Station CFCF suddenly abandoned plans to carry the broadcast one minute before it was scheduled to hit the air.

Parliament has vested in the CBC full control of network broadcasting in Canada. C.B.C. policy must automatically become the policy of independent broadcasters—on pain of possible license suspension or cancellation.

Indication of C.B.C. wishes is as good as an order.

Put two and two together—and you will easily discover the extent to which freedom of the air has been curtailed in the Dominion.

None will deny that the C.B.C. has a definite place in . . . country—but it is indeed deplorable that a program production agency should become at times little more than a narrow political censorship of things ethereal in Canada.

★ DEMOCRACY AGAIN!

Mutual Broadcasting System has lined up a new series of programs titled "Making Democracy Work", during which representatives of five major American universities will outline the principles of free government. . . Allan MacIver's famed Lyric Trio hit the national network again this week with the first in a new summer series of Tuesday evening airings. McIver's arrangements are new and delightful. . . Montreal's Mary Munn will be heard from London in a pianoforte recital May 23 via the Empire Service of the B.B.C. . . The 156th renewal of the Derby Stakes on May 24 will be televised and broadcast by B.B.C. with T. B. R. Woodruffe at the mike. N.B.C. is to carry the commentary in America. . .

SYNAGOGUE IS PREPARING FOR ROYAL VISIT

Children to View Procession From Steps and Plaza of Shaar Hashomayim

The steps and plaza in front of the Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue on Cote St. Antoine Road at Kensington Avenue, will be filled with children of the Synagogue School when the Royal Procession passes on Tuesday.

On Sunday evening, June 4th, another large graduating class of the Shaar Hashomayim Religious School will receive diplomas and prizes at the Graduation Ceremonies to be held in the Main Synagogue. More than 35 students, having completed nine years of study in Jewish History and Religion, Bible, Customs and Ceremonies and Modern Jewish Problems, are expected to receive diplomas.

Graduation from the Hebrew School will also be celebrated at the same time. In addition, the first graduate of the Hebrew High School established four years ago, will be awarded his diploma.

Pupils of the Schools from Kindergarten to eighth years, exclusively, will receive promotion cards and prizes for the year's work at the closing exercises to be held in the Auditorium, on June 11th.

The following conversation took place one morning in the home of the Superintendent of Schools (and principal of the high school) in a small New England city, while little daughter Peggy, aged five, was getting ready for school:

Peggy: "Daddy, are you principal of the high school?"

Daddy: "Yes, Peggy, I am."

Peggy: "And are you principal of all the other schools, too?"

Daddy: "Why, er-er, y-yes, I am."

Peggy (with a decided nod of her head): "Bu y're not principal here, are you, Daddy?"
