Fifth party in election?

By CUTHBERT JONES
 (Record Staff Writer)

Canadians already faced with the prospect of four parties making a nation-wide bid power in the next federal election, may find a fifth set of names on the ballot papers in certain areas if the hopes of a group of Vancouver individuals are realized.

In recent days, literature has been circulating in favor of The Free Society, a party whose prime slogan is "Property for All."

The prime purposes of the new group, according to the four-page quarterly bulletin, are: To restrict government powers to tax or borrow for war, for nationalization and for the financing of welfare services; removal of all artificial restrictions on the full distribution of goods and services which can be increasingly provided by private business; termination of forced savings schemes such as pension plans, etc.; freedom of production and investment by the consumer and investor; restoration of the inalienable personal and property rights of the individual; freedom of conscience, expression and opinion, freedom of press and communication, freedom to dissent and freedom to critisize; freedom of elected members of parliament from domination by Campaign Funds. Noticeably absent from the document is any indication as to the real or nominal sponsors of the movement, the only address found in the sheet being that of The Free Party's post office box in Vancouver, where subscriptions — seven dollars a year for the quarterly four page paper — may be sent and a branch of a Canadian chartered bank where "large, anonymous donations may be deposited to the account of The Property-for-All Party."

However, the general tenor of the articles indicates the present chief enemy of the new group is Premier W.A.C. Bennett's Social Credit Party in British Columbia, leading to the belief the movement is sponsored by a group of disgruntled B.C. Power shareholders.

Find couple slashed to death

TORONTO (CP)—A man and woman were found slashed to death Friday in a downtown rooming house and police chief James Mackey said their murder may be linked to prostitution and the United States marijuana traffic.

Thomas Crater, 30, and Jean Rochelle, 28, were found by a night-shift postal worker when he returned home.

Crater, clad in underwear shorts, was lying almost decapitated in a downstairs vestibule.

Miss Rochelle, lying nude in an upstairs bedroom, was slashed across the throat.

Chief Mackey took personal charge of the case. He notified border points and the FBI in the United States to watch for three cars bearing Michigan, New York and New Jersey license plates.

He said evidence has been found linking the double murder to the traffic of marijuana between the U.S. and Toronto and that they may also have been connected with a move to gain control of Negro prostitution in Toronto.

Crater and Miss Rochelle were Negroes. They were on $1,000 bail on a charge of keeping a bawdy house when they were slain.

The bulletin offers one weapon for curbing government intervention in business and welfare fields. It advises its readers:

"Buy only private securities and the bonds of municipalities in which you live, where there are strict limitations on borrowing and spending powers, and where you have ready access to your elected representatives.

"Refuse to finance big government by refusing to buy the bonds of federal and provincial governments or their Crown corporations. Remember your rebellious ancestors."

The "Property-for-All" sentiment is nice anyway.

CHAMBLY BATTLE LIKE
 LY — The choice of Pierre Laporte, Montreal political writer, as Liberal candidates for the Chambly provincial by-election next month may cause some change in the plans of the central Union Nationale organization to let this seat and Jacques Cartier go by default.

Laporte, parliamentary correspondent for Le Devoir long has been carrying on a personal feud with the Union Nationale party which was highlighted by his expulsion from the press conferences held by the late Premier Mau-reanwhile, the commission has appointed Prof. William C. Hood, professor of political economy at the University of Toronto, as an economic adviser and director of commission research.

The commission's next step will be to open offices in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, and hold a further organizational meeting—its initial one ended here Friday—in Montreal, Dec. 14-15.

Its tentative schedule of public hearings next year:

Victoria March 12, Vancouver March 13-17, Edmonton March 19-21, Regina March 22-24, Winnipeg April 9-11, Toronto April 12-19, Quebec City May 7-9, Montreal May 10-20, Fredericton June 4, Charlottetown June 7-8, Halifax June 11-13, St. John's, Nfld., June 14-16.

The Porter commission then will settle down at Ottawa for extensive hearings of various national organizations, the Bank of Canada, the Canadian Bankers' Association and others.

The Ottawa sittings will start July 3 and last about three weeks, re-open Sept. 10 for another two or three weeks, and then re-open again sometime in December for a cleanup hear-

Montreal police disclose Vice wide-spread

MONTREAL (CP) — Wide-spread vice including torture and beating to force women to remain prostitutes and threats of murder to keep witnesses quiet, is operating in Montreal, police investigations show.

The vice is not limited to one red-light district, but is spread through many large hotels, luxurious motels and even private homes, police who conducted the investigations report.

The investigations, carried out during the year by the morality squad, were made public today by Acting Police Chief J. Adrien Robert.

He described the work of the investigating officers as sensational.

"These matters are usually left for the more sensational press to deal with in a manner that leaves a bad taste in everyone's mouth," he said.

"But the work of this team is so sensational and has given such great results that I have congratulated those concerned and spurred them on to even greater efforts."

The morality squad is one of the police departments to have been reorganized during the last 11 months by two police experts brought to Montreal from Europe.

The experts—Cmdr. Andrew Way of Scotland Yard and Andre Gaubiac of the Paris Surete—were brought over to try to find ways of combating a spiralling crime wave in the city.

One of the leading investigators in the vice study is Lieut. Emile Ducharme.

He said the investigations show that many prostitutes want to reform, but they are kept in line by their procurers by threats and beatings.

"In scores of cases before we reached the girls, or before they came to us, they were subjected to repeated beatings, torture and ignominious treatment."

"In some cases girls wishing to end their bondage to men who had forced them into prostitution were threatened with being sold to more degrading procurers and with being forced into intolerable conditions where they would have lost their minds."

The investigations showed that a large number of young girls—some only 14—had been forced into prostitution.

Lieut. Ducharme said two call girl rings were smashed in the north and west ends. The rings were interlocking, he said. "Calls were taken on one telephone, relayed through another and a collector was sent around to collect the money."

U.S. fails to orbit payload

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP)—Rocket failure ruined an attempt today to send a Ranger 2 spacecraft far into space to investigate techniques for sending future vehicles to the moon and the planets.

A 102-foot Atlas Agena rocket boomed away from Cape Canaveral at 3:12 a.m. EST. The Agena second stage whirled into a 100-mile-high "parking" orbit but failed to eject the 675-pound Ranger 2 payload into a deep space orbit designed to take it more than 500,000 miles away from earth.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced an hour after launching that "the Atlas portion of the flight and the firing of the Agena rocket appeared to be normal. Tracking and telemetry information indicates the second Agena ignition did not take place and the spacecraft remained in the parking or near-earth orbit."

The body of Terry Jo's sister, Renee, was in a heat in which Harvey was picked up Monday.

Presumed drowned were the child's father, Dr. Arthur Duperrault, 49, his wife, Jean, 38, of Green Bay, their son, Brian, 14, and Harvey's wife, Mary.

Richmond-Melbourne bridge to be overhauled — St. Pierre

By DAVID TODD
 (Record Staff Reporter)

Quebec Public Works Minister Rene St. Pierre disclosed here last night that the Mackenzie Bridge which spans the St. Francis River between Richmond and Melbourne will be rebuilt.

He said the renovation will "represent a great improvement for the Eastern Townships."

Mr. St. Pierre who spoke to the Professional Engineers of the Eastern Townships at the Sherbrooke Social Club gave no further details about the bridge project nor did he say when work will start.

The condition of the 57-year-old bridge has worsened in the past few years. Pot-holes and other signs of deterioration appeared early last month.

When it was built, a weight limit of eight tons for vehicles was placed on the structure. Increased traffic and more frequent use of the span by heavier vehicles helped to weaken the bridge which is the only link between the west and east shores of the St. Francis.

The minister also noted that work is progressing on the St. George Pavilion near Sherbrooke. Cost of the new mental hospital is $15,000,000, he said.

Elsewhere, Mr. St. Pierre explained that because of the lack of heavy industries in the province, "we are losing each year many fellow citizens who could help in the progress of their native province."

"But," the minister explained, "we will have a transformation of industries on a large scale in this province and we don't expect to see workmen coming from outside to help Quebecers take part in the transformation of our national resources."

"I have often thought of the great benefit which could be derived from the setting up of

Man dies

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Frederick Pica, 29, a Sun Valley resort employee injured in an automobile accident crawled nearly 500 feet through the snow before being found Friday but died en route to hospital.

Searchers found him unconscious in a pasture, hands frozen in a clenched position on his chest. Officers said they followed his bloody trail from his wrecked car through a ravine to the pasture.

Man injured in crash

A young Sherbrooke man was taken to hospital late Friday night suffering from fractured ribs which he received in a car accident on First Avenue in Sherbrooke about 11:30 p.m.

Marcel Faucher, 21, 363 First Avenue South, was taken to St. Vincent de Paul hospital after his car collided with a vehicle driven by Patrice Fontaine, of Weedon.

Cause of the accident and damages were not disclosed.

European nations revise U.S. proposals

OECD approves growth rate as new target for next decade

PARIS (CP)—The ministerial council of the 20-nation Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development Friday approved a 50-per-cent growth rate as a collective target for the 1960-70 decade.

But Britain and other European countries revised the original American proposal, on which the target is based, to take into account their fears of balance of payments difficulties and inflation because of the high growth rate.

The communique, issued after a two-day meeting of economic ministers from 18 European countries plus Canada and the United States, said the 50-per-cent rate would enable industrialized nations to help underdeveloped nations by providing enlarged export markets for them.

In accordance with British wishes, the communique specified that to achieve the over-all target, the growth rate should vary each year and that each country could fall short since it was a collective rate of growth that was the aim.

The British position reflected the country's present economic difficulties—in which the government is trying to cool off quick growth in order to check inflation and therefore be able to compete in export markets.

Emphasis in the communique was put on the need for equilibrium in external payments of member countries as a condition for filling the expansion target.

The communique also stressed that rises in personal incomes should be kept in line with increases in productivity as the only means to make an improvement in living standards durable.

Canadian Finance Minister Fleming who presided over the two-day council meeting, called the OECD decisions "a call for action" and an "auspicious beginning."

Transport report ready soon

OTTAWA (CP)—The final volumes of the long-awaited report of the MacPherson royal commission on transportation may be ready for delivery soon to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, informants indicated Friday.

For the transportation industry—particularly for the railways—a great deal hinges on what the government decides to do about the MacPherson commission proposals.

The commission began its nation-wide transport investigation in September, 1959 and submitted its first report April 10.

The first volume dealt with the broad general problems facing the railways. The second covers specific troubles—local, regional and industrial. The third contains the results of a number of special studies initiated by the commission.

The government withheld action on the first volume until the other volumes became available.

Royal commission on banking plans cross-country hearings

OTTAWA (CP) — The royal commission on banking and finance Friday mapped cross-Canada hearings between March and December next year for a wide-ranging study of what one official said would be "anything with a dollar sign attached."

It then expects to take 10 months in 1963 to write a report to the government, hoping to submit it by Nov. 1 of that year—in time for Parliament's review of Canadian banking legislation in mid-1964.

Chief Justice Dana Porter of Ontario, commission chairman, said there will be extensive investigation of the chartered banks and of the Bank of Canada, including the central bank's relations with the government in the monetary field.

He also told a press conference that "undoubtedly" the commission will invite an appearance by James E. Coyne, who resigned as Bank of Canada governor last July after a festering dispute that erupted in an unsuccessful government attempt to fire him.

ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENT
 Meanwhile, the commission has appointed Prof. William C. Hood, professor of political economy at the University of Toronto, as an economic adviser and director of commission research.

The commission's next step will be to open offices in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, and hold a further organizational meeting—its initial one ended here Friday—in Montreal, Dec. 14-15.

Italian airmen slain

Congo uprising the week's top headlines

By CARMAN CUMMING
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 Airmen slain in Congo. UN talks of crackdown. Agree on BNA amendment.

Open mutiny flared in the troubled Congo interior this week following the slaughter and mutilation of 13 Italian airmen of the United Nations force by a band of drunken soldiers.

The killings took place last Saturday shortly after the Italians had flown into the town of Kindu in Kivu province with powdered milk and hospital supplies.

The flyers were dining in a UN mess when the mob of some 80 soldiers dragged them out and shot them; then cut up the bodies and tossed pieces to excited onlookers.

The soldiers were part of a mutinous contingent of some 2,000 to 2,500 men sent to in-va de secessionist Katanga province in the south. Their uprising was disclosed by the UN in Leopoldville Wednesday, but the fate of the Italians was not learned until the following day.

UN SHOCKED
 Officials of the multi-national UN force reacted with cold anger to the Kindu massacre, making clear they would ensure punishment for the murderers if the central Congolese government failed to do so.

Premier Cyrille Adoula also expressed disgust and said "the guilty must be punished with utmost severity."

On Friday, plane-loads of UN Malaya troops were flown into Kindu with orders to encircle and disarm the rebellious contingent.

Sture Linner of Sweden, head of the Congo force, reported to UN headquarters in

New York that all resources of the Congo command would be used to seal off the Kindu area and round up suspects.

The incident sent a feeling of revolution and outrage through the UN headquarters, where Acting Secretary-General U Thant considered a request from the UN force for reinforcements.

In the security council Friday, U.S. Ambassador Adlai

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The two most frequent complaints about television, if letters from viewers to this columnist are an indication, are about stepped-up sound often used when the commercials take over the screen and sharp annoyance with much background music.

"Background music is fine," runs a typical complaint on the latter subject, "but there is too much of it and it is too loud. I don't need a lot of screaming and grinding to tell me the person I'm watching on the screen is in danger and frightened. Sometimes a quiet foot fall or no sound at all—can be twice as eerie because that's the way it would be in real life. The same for fight scenes." The real trouble with annoying background music, obviously, is that it is handled incompetently. Just as in motion picture scoring, the test is whether the viewer is conscious of the music.

MAY NOT SERVE
If it diverts him from the plot, it is not serving its purpose. Jacques Belasco, the composer who wrote the background music for tonight's "Vincent van Gogh, a Self-Portrait" on NBC estimates that conservatively about half of the musical scoring on TV shows is poorly handled—particularly in shows using jazz backgrounds.

"The use of jazz has resulted in distorting the use of several instruments in a quest for new sounds," Belasco said. "I think part of the trouble is that so many TV producers are young men who have done most of

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's enough to make an actor strip his gears — Andy Duggan's shifting from sex-probing Dr. Chapman to father of a wholesome brood in a family TV series.

Luckily, Duggan is strong, strapping (6-foot-5) and versatile. He looks able to make the transition with no pain, no strain.

The actor is leading a survey of suburban sex habits in The Chapman Report. As soon as he takes up the facts and figures, he races to resume Room for One More, which has had one of the strangest histories of any TV series.

It is based on the 1952 movie that starred Cary Grant and Betsy Drake (their first film after marrying). A TV pilot was made three years ago with their listening to music in nightclubs. They believe, therefore, that jazz music is good and noisy and jazz music is better."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with MAJOR HOOPLES

Richard Long in the Grant role. It never got off the ground.

"We did our pilot a year and a half ago," Duggan reported. "We never got a sale, but there were always reports that we were going on the air. So we'd do four or five of the shows, then quit. Then we'd do another batch and quit."

"Now we've got 20 of them in the can, and the show is finally going on the network." It will start on ABC Jan. 27, occupying half of the Saturday night time vacated by Roaring Twenties. The long lapse has been both a blessing and a possible blight, Duggan reported.

"We've been fortunate to have no interference," he said. "Nobody can complain about the rating because we don't have any."

"But it's also a problem because we've been working in the dark. There are no reviews, no public reaction to tell us whether we are on the right track or not. With a comedy show, that can be a problem. We have to keep looking back on the shows we have done to see whether things are going right."

"As soon as I finish the picture, I'll go back to the series. It's possible that we will finish the entire season before one of them has been shown to the public."

Gene won the opening trump lead in dummy and noted that he would have little trouble with the hand if the spade finesse would work, but he suspected that it wouldn't and looked around for a way to avoid it if possible.

He decided to start with the diamond suit so he played ace, king and another diamond and ruffed the third diamond in his own hand. This cleared up all his troubles with that suit.

His next step was to lead two more rounds of trumps so as to get rid of any possible ruffs and also any possible red suit leads.

Then he led dummy's deuce of clubs and put in his ten spot. West won the trick with the ace and was completely en-

Sherbrooke Court Driver changes plea 3 times in week

For the third time in less than a week, a 27-year-old Sherbrooke man changed his plea in connection with a charge of operating his car while his driving permit had been suspended. Hermenegilde Fournier changed his plea in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Friday morning to one of guilty. Judge Joseph Marier fined the accused $50 and costs, or in default, 15 days.

Last week, a slight argument had occurred between Judge Marier and the accused counsel, lawyer Ashton Tobin, of Sherbrooke, in connection with the plea entered by the lawyer's client. Fournier had originally pleaded guilty to the charge, but had reversed his plea a few minutes later after Mr. Tobin began explaining the circumstances surrounding the case.

Fournier's permit was suspended following his appearance last October 31 in Sorel. Raymond Goulet had pleaded guilty last week in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions to a charge of theft involving approximately $575 in merchandise. Judge Joseph Marier imposed the one-month sentence after it was revealed that the accused had a criminal record. Last year he had served a four month sentence following a theft charge. Goulet had admitted perpetrating the theft but had asked the court's clemency. He said he was the sole support of his mother and two sisters.

Judge Marier had then remanded the case to Friday morning. As soon as court convened however, the accused changed his plea once again and entered a guilty plea.

Kenneth Buzzell, 51, of Magog, pleaded not guilty in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Friday morning to charges of impaired and reckless driving. Judge Joseph Marier remanded his case to November 23 when a date will be set to proceed.

Buzzell was arrested Thursday night by the QPP near Magog. Bail was set at $50.

Jack Frost's artistry
 Odd-shaped patterns in plants, buildings, or even clouds, all make interesting photographs. Add a bit of Jack Frost to all and your imagination could run wild.

Objects covered with frost give an unusual appearance — a sort of fairyland which captures the mood of winter. These prints could be useful for Christmas cards or mounted under a glass tray could keep your drinks cool next summer (at least they will look cool).

There are two ways of approaching frost covered scenes. One is to pick an effective grouping of trees and perhaps a bit of open water to add contrast to the white in black and white through the use of a yellow (K2) filter.

Old barns surrounded with trees and bushes and lighted by a strong back light such as the rays of the sun will give an interesting picture. The buildings will be dark but will maintain their shapes and the architecture white the white bushes, etc., will gleam in the sun.

Winding streams with tall grass, covered with frost lining the banks, present a good composition. The open water will contrast against this backdrop.

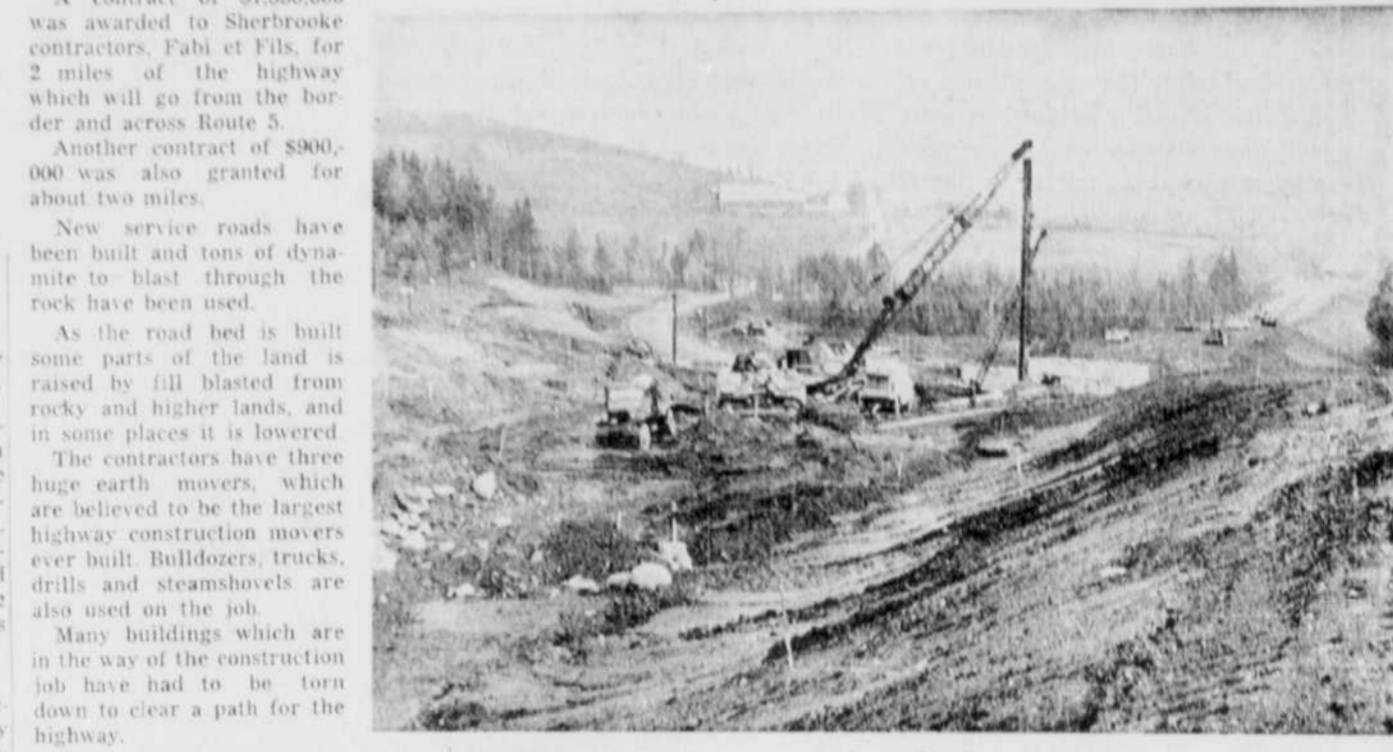

The other approach to this subject is to concentrate on closeups, such as bushes, twigs, and bits of grass. In fact, the lovely-weed becomes a glittering jewel in the cold morning sun and many an exciting pattern with intricate designs can be photographed. Close-ups concentrate the viewer on these fabulous spectacles of nature that have been transformed into a world of Christmas fantasy.

The key to this close-up technique is to have strong backlight which will help separate the background from the subject. It also gives roundness, in short third-dimension effect. On a cold morning after a warm trend, there will be frost high on the trees and bushes giving us opportunities to photograph many an exciting picture, which could have many uses later on.

We must take advantage to exploit this seasonal transformation. It is even made more appealing when the ground is covered with snow, but by taking the proper angle and using close-ups it really doesn't matter except that we have a wider scope with the snow.

Link with Canada Vermont highway work reaching final stage

By IVY HATCH (Record Correspondent)
DERBY LINE — Work on the new Vermont Interstate highway is reaching its final stages as it approaches the border. The new highway will connect with the Canadian four-lane road in the east sector of Rock Island and Derby Line. A contract of $1,550,000 was awarded to Sherbrooke contractors, Fabi et Fils, for 2 miles of the highway which will go from the border and across Route 5. Another contract of $900,000 was also granted for about two miles. New service roads have been built and tons of dynamite to blast through the rock have been used. As the road bed is built some parts of the land is raised by fill blasted from rocky and higher lands, and in some places it is lowered. The contractors have three huge earth movers, which are believed to be the largest highway construction movers ever built. Bulldozers, trucks, drills and steamshovels are also used on the job. Many buildings which are in the way of the construction job have had to be torn down to clear a path for the highway. The telephone company has begun work on underground cables to clear the overhead obstructions. On the Canadian side, the Frelighsburg Construction Company has a group of men working, laying asphalt topping to the highway. With good weather this part of the work will probably be finished shortly. The International Water Company is presently laying eight inch water lines under the new highway north of the Vermont border and again at Stanstead near the Devey residence to provide water for the future buildings east of the highway. Along with the many problems the workers have also been troubled with wild life. A couple of weeks ago while working on the highway in the Kelley resort section a huge black bear came out of the woods, looked the situation over, stood curiously by as engineer Tom Tetreault, of Newport, took several pictures. The animal sauntered back to the woods, probably to hibernate for the winter. About a week later, Mr. Fabi was looking over the road site of his second contract when he saw a beautiful buck and doe deer standing near the road. The construction crews have been favored with warm weather late this fall which has enabled them to continue their work late. They will work as long as possible this fall and early winter. In another two years when the present construction job is completed, motorists will have a chance to enjoy not only the big highway but also the beautiful scenery that can be seen near the road.

Rotary Foundation Students aided with funds

This week was Rotary Foundation Week for more than 11,000 Rotary Clubs in 116 countries, and students who have studied through Rotary Foundation scholarships have paused to thank the Rotary Clubs for making the extension of their education in other countries possible. "Through Rotary Foundation scholarships, districts in alternate years have the opportunity of selecting a student to attend colleges and universities abroad under the condition as set forth by Rotary International," said Albert Munster at a Sherbrooke Rotary Club meeting, recently. At the beginning of 1947, the number of Rotary Foundation Fellowships was 18. This year a total of date of 1,322 selected from 67 countries have been elected to study in colleges and universities in 45 countries. The countries from which these students were selected and the schools that were chosen are world wide, the only exceptions being Communist countries where no Rotary Clubs exist. Socialism becoming a dirty word?

Is "socialism" in Canada in danger of becoming the dirty word as it seems to have become in the United States. There are indications that in some sectors, it may be. In the latest news letter of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, for example, the six articles comprising it are devoted to a discussion of socialism and Communism that sounds very much like some of the utterances of such ultra-Conservative groups south of the border as the John Birch Society and the Minutemen.

ference in private business and personal life; it must be constantly guarded against, but high standards of living demand high standards of social conscience, and it is only natural that these should be expressed through government, since it is composed of our elected representatives. Even extremes of this development do not lead to Communism; indeed, historically speaking, they have not. Britain has a highly developed social welfare system, but no one would suggest the next step is Communism. Australia and New Zealand have comprehensive schemes of a similar nature; indeed, the latter is one of the most complete welfare states in the world, and New Zealanders are proud to call their country just that. Are these countries on the way to Communism? Sweden is perhaps the best example of a socialist state. The Social Democrats have governed that country for 30 years, and have raised it to the point where, according to some statistics (and notwithstanding the National Chamber's letter) its people enjoy the second highest standard of living in the world, recently displacing Canada from that position. Are the Swedes Communists or about to become Communists?

The impression is given that socialism, in any of its overt forms, inevitably leads to Communism. At one point in the letter, in a section which admirably states the case of the responsibility of the individual in maintaining our democratic way of life, the letter says that "failure in this regard means an inevitable drift to socialism and from socialism to Communism." In another section of the letter dealing with the costliness of Canada's social welfare services, the letter says: "Socialism which leads to Communism is no answer to Canada's problems." The arguments in themselves are logical and the points well-taken. But it is difficult to believe that the deliberately created impression that socialism is nothing else but a herald of Communism represents a true cross section of Canadian Chamber of Commerce opinion. The social welfare program that our government has undertaken is, after all, a response to the needs of our society. The Canadian Chamber of Commerce is not alone in decrying an overabundance of government intervention.

Sweden is perhaps the best example of a socialist state. The Social Democrats have governed that country for 30 years, and have raised it to the point where, according to some statistics (and notwithstanding the National Chamber's letter) its people enjoy the second highest standard of living in the world, recently displacing Canada from that position. Are the Swedes Communists or about to become Communists? Socialism is not necessarily a subversive philosophy, and should not be made a synonym for subversive activity. In upholding the sacredness of the freedom of the individual, one may take issue with socialism and its implications; one may work against its influences — but to equate it with communism out of hand is to ignore the very ideals we strive to maintain.

Pity the man who thinks the room for improvement isn't big enough for him.

Another view on Quebec secession

Indications that French-speaking minority groups outside Quebec province would be in the vanguard of any fight to prevent the secession of Quebec province from Confederation have been forthcoming during the past few days in speeches of representatives of New Brunswick and Ontario French-speaking groups. Perhaps the best reasoning comes from the editor of L'Evangeline, a French daily published in Moncton, N.B. He declares that French-Canadian groups outside Quebec fear they will be placed in a very unfavorable position should secession become a reality. Any rights and privileges they have achieved over the years have been the result of the leadership given by Quebec province. To separate Quebec from the rest of Canada would be to deprive them of their main source of strength and perhaps the rights they now enjoy. It is not difficult to appreciate the position of L'Evangeline. Only the political power of Quebec has preserved the dual culture of Canada. Should Quebec bolt confederation it is conceivable that a revised constitution might remove many of the safeguards granted minority groups and result in their ultimate assimilation by what would then be an overwhelming English-speaking majority. The only protection the secessionists could guarantee them would be an invitation to move to the projected Laurentian Republic, an offer that might not prove too attractive.

Publicizing liquor board decisions

The public hearings of the Quebec Liquor Board held this week in Sherbrooke provided an opportunity for many groups and individuals in the Eastern Townships to present their cases, pro and con, for the granting of new liquor licences to a number of establishments. It is well that such proceedings are now carried on in the open, for everyone to see and hear. What happens now that applications and protests have been aired? Some applications will be granted; others will be rejected. But if the Board follows the procedure under which it has been operating so far, the general public will not know which applications have been approved and which have been rejected. So far as has been evident to date, no provision is made for this, despite the fact that the names of those who apply for licences are well-publicized ahead of the hearings. This is not to say the decisions of the Board are kept secret. It is possible for any member of the public to find out what the decisions are. But the process is not one which most people would care to go through, or would be able to follow. Now that a good example has been set in bringing most of the business of liquor permits out into the open, the government might well consider ways to extend this policy to the complete operation.

neither too young nor inexperienced to sense the challenge of Truth. Or to feel the warmth of well-being as we quietly pledged ourselves to follow the star of truth to the end of life. BURNING DESIRE What did it mean to TRUST in God? We were not sure, but we were sure of what was right and we had a sincere and burning desire to Trust in God and do the right. A desire which has never burned out. The unchanging truth is like light. It needs no noisy fanfare to call attention to it. By its very nature it attracts those who are seeking spiritual guidance just as a silent, glowing light attracts the human eye to a given point. The silent stars are like unchanging and unchangeable truth. Sometimes they are hidden by passing clouds as truth is obscured by the intellectual vapor of time. But always they remain unchallenged and unchanged to shine as lights in the darkness. There is one fact of truth that stands out like the North Star above the dark abyss of life for me. It is the truth that dawned on me long years ago as the young teacher led

Other papers say:

Extemporaneous diplomacy unwise

When President Kennedy first came to the White House, he held news conferences about once a week. But after a few months the rate fell off to one a month, a lower average even than that of President Eisenhower. At his last conference Mr. Kennedy was asked why he did not submit himself more often to reporters' questions. His answer reveals how the responsibility of power changes a point of view. Mr. Kennedy said, "We are involved in a number of very sensitive matters on the question of Berlin." He pointed out the obvious fact that what he said was closely followed not only at home but abroad. Therefore, he said, "I feel that the schedule as we have had it is in the public interest." Undoubtedly some sections of the press will be professionally critical. But Mr. Kennedy is right. Diplomacy by press conference is not the way to conduct delicate international affairs. At a press conference the President is at the mercy of questioners and subjects himself to the consequences of extemporaneous answers. Some matters are too delicate to be left to chance handling. Adventures with God Truth is as immutable as God though interpretation changes

Truth is changeless. Man's interpretations of truth may vary but TRUTH itself remains as immutable as God. It changes not. We do not agree with the theory that there are no absolute standards by which we may be guided. There are some infallible rules set forth in Holy Writ which are both timeless and changeless. And they are timeless and changeless and infallible because they were given by God, the timeless and changeless One. We are looking at life through the rear-view mirror so to speak. Stretched out behind us is the road we have covered. As we go forward into the future we catch a glimpse of the past reflected in the mirror of memory. Certain landmarks stand high above others. These are the spires of truth which remain when other things change and decay. UNCHANGING TRUTH Scientific facts change with every new invention. But truth, as spoken by God through His inspired penmen, remains forever the same. "Thy truth unchanged has ever stood," wrote the hymnist. And Christ, who claimed to be "the way, the truth and the life," confirmed that the word of God is TRUTH. And that it is the sanctifying element in lives of men and women who will accept it as Truth and apply it to everyday situations. It is a far cry back to first grade for some of us. But it was back in first grade that the first spire of revealed truth began to rise before me. We were fortunate to have a teacher who was a convinced Christian. She was not the preachy type but her deep faith and graciousness gave her pupils hope and confidence. She taught the three Rs efficiently and without talking of faith or morals she demonstrated them in every gesture and lesson. The scripture lesson, the Lord's prayer and the ten commandments were spoken with a reverence that commanded our respect and attention. But the closing exercises held a particular charm for me and I believe, for every member of the class. It was the highlight of those happy days when the attractive schoolmarm said: "Clear your desks, children, it is almost time for dismissal. Before we leave let us sing together." Sometimes we sang: Now the day is over, night is drawing nigh, Shadows of the evening steal across the sky. But the song that impressed me was one written by Norman Macleod and the lines keep recurring again and again: Courage, brother! Do not stumble, Though thy path be dark as night; There's a star to guide the humble, "Trust in God and do the right." We left the classroom subdued and thoughtful carrying scribbler and slate under our arm and wended our homeward way strangely aware that we had found a clue to life. We were too young and inexperienced to analyze our reactions to Truth but we were

MODEL FOR SURVIVAL (Ottawa Journal) Prime Minister MacMillan confidently advocates a national wage policy in Britain under a development council on which government, industry and trade unions would be represented. The Trades Union Congress still has to decide whether to accept the wage policy proposal but Mr. Macmillan has reason to feel optimistic about cooperation. The trade unions and the Labor Party, whatever their anxieties, have not recoiled in horror from the proposed entry into the Common Market with all it means in competition from lower wages in Europe. If joining the Common Market results in extinction for inefficient British factories—a risk accepted calmly by the Macmillan government—it will not be all beer and skittles for working men. In Canada the skirmishing between industry and labor goes on as if these trade blocs, so menacing to our vital overseas business, were being established on the moon. Here are the Canadian railways groaning over recent wage increases and traffic problems who are told by spokesmen for unions that large new wage demands are to be made. The New Democratic Party, loaded with planners who might be expected to lift their eyes beyond the horizons of union-company rows, has a typically woolly approach to the problems raised by the Common Market. The NDP policy statement says, of course, that Canada wants expanded trade. And how does it propose to bring this about? By planning to adjust production to trade requirements. Tariffs are "outmoded" and there must be a "positive approach".

Bygone days

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO (From the Record of Wednesday, November 18, 1936)

A tea and bazaar was held at the home of the Regent, Mrs. Malcolm W. Mitchell, for the benefit of the Sir John Sherbrooke Chapter of the I.O.D.E. Assisting in receiving were, Miss Louise Mitchell and Mrs. Norris Robins, the latter acting as treasurer. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. F. A. Baldwin and Mrs. P. M. Robins. Assisting in the tea room were, Miss Ava Walsh, Mrs. R. Muir, Mrs. Ashton Tobin, Mrs. Wallace Barrie, Mrs. E. T. Harbert and Mrs. D. I. Bothwell. In charge of the fancy work table were Mrs. K. B. Jencks, Mrs. W. E. Hume and Mrs. W. E. Baker. Miss Moira Bradley and Miss Madeline Baldwin sold mystery parcels. Mrs. O. R. Webster and Mrs. Gordon Hume looked after the home cooked dainties.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO (From the Record of Monday, November 18, 1946)

The Sherbrooke Curling Club held their semi-annual meeting with president Dean Bishop in the chair. The committee named for the ensuing season were, Bylaws: chairman, W. H. Bradley; Bruce Millar, ice; Max Long chairman. House entertainment: Chairman, Nelson Lothrop; members, D. Brundage, Craig Bishop, Dr. Neil Dinning, F. Kirby, Don Johnston, Bert Keeler. Match Chairman, Bruce Millar, members, E. G. Bascom, S. Cross, A. S. Cleary, J. G. Armitage. Instruction: Chairman, Dean Bishop; members, Joseph Mooney, D. J. Salls, W. S. Roy, H. B. Johnston, S. A. TEN YEARS AGO November 18, 1951, fell on a Sunday.

The "positive approach" would be involved with arrangements for full employment and "planned economy" adjustments to meet trade needs. This is the party which professes to speak for Canadian labor but its policy never gets down to the basic question of how Canadian labor and industry can best work together for economic survival. In Britain plans for common effort are forwarded despite political differences and the ambitions of industrialists and union leaders. Canada, if her economic future is to be secure, must have equal assistance from her leaders in these fields. It may not be necessary for High Commissioner Drew to attend every meeting on the Common Market in London, but there are British methods and tolerances we can usefully watch in coming months.

May cut quota

WASHINGTON (CP) — The White House is considering an eight-per-cent cut in compulsory oil import quotas for 1962, but Canada and Mexico will continue to be excluded from the restrictions, well-informed sources said Thursday.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — No cabinet minister is likely to admit this publicly, but one thing that ruffles with the government is that what Canada stands to lose through British entry into the European Common Market, Germany stands to gain.

Having helped Britain through two world wars started by Germany, having sacrificed hundreds of thousands of lives and billions of dollars to defeat Germany in 1918 and 1945, Canada is entitled to special consideration in its trade with Britain. This statement accurately reflects feeling within the Canadian cabinet.

For nearly 30 years the Empire preferential tariff has given Canada such consideration. In seeking ECM membership, Britain undertook to try to persuade the other ECM countries — France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — to let Britain continue its Commonwealth trade preferences. Prime Minister Macmillan, Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys and High Commissioner Lord Amory have all said that if the choice is between the ECM and the Commonwealth, Britain will not desert the Commonwealth.

However, in the last week the indications have been that the Inner Six will not permit Britain to maintain Commonwealth preferences as a member of the ECM. A logical guess is the best deal the Inner Six will make is to permit a gradual reduction of preferences over a period of years to the point of abolition. This is not good enough for Canada, but the attitude of the British government now was summed up by Macmillan when he told London businessmen that it is "essential" for Britain to join the ECM.

Britain is the world's second largest importing nation and Canada's second largest export market. If it enters the ECM, Canada's sales to Britain will be sharply curtailed by (1) higher ECM tariffs which will replace British tariffs, and (2) abolition of the low Commonwealth preferential tariff.

The government is convinced that our secondary manufacturers, for which Britain has been a growing market, would be unable to compete. The chief beneficiary promises to be the manufacturing industry of the country that "lost" the war.

In addition to negative opposition to British membership in the ECM and the bitterness of which George Drew's alleged snub to the British was probably a reflection, the government has lately developed some positive thinking on the trade policy crisis.

Trade Minister Hees suggested last month "a reexamination of the possibilities of expanding trade within the Commonwealth." With Britain in the ECM, this might mean a Commonwealth trade confederation without Britain.

Last week Finance Minister Fleming called for United States leadership in solving problems raised by regional trade blocs. He was not specific, but it has been ascertained that he hopes President Kennedy will abandon the US reciprocal trade agreements, and instead seek congressional authority to negotiate freely in trade matters leading to the formation of a western trade alliance larger than the ECM, linked with the ECM but without the latter's political overtones, and encompassing countries like Canada, Japan and India that will be hurt by the ECM. This plan is advocated by the Ball report to the president, and the Herter-Clayton report to the Congress.

Press Comment

THE SPREAD OF JUSTICE (Christian Science Monitor) Nobody, my darling, Could call me A fussy man...

BUT, when Britain says to Australia, "Please DON'T pass the butter," well—one does begin to wonder about "The Royal slice of bread." No matter how thick you spread it, butter has become an economic problem for the British Isles, not so much in the eye (or mouth) of the man with the crumpet as that (or those) of the statesman responsible for harmony in the Commonwealth of Nations. Apparently the terms on which one Commonwealth member is willing to butter the Briton's bread (on both sides, if he likes) are terms that yet another member cannot fairly be expected to meet. That member's dairy industry is threatened by unfair competition, and unless producing countries agree to limit butter exports, Britain may impose a tariff against them.

A generation that grew up to the lilt of the A. A. Milne verses about the royal slice of bread never thought it would see the day when there would be too much butter in Britain. It can adjust itself only gradually if at all to the proposition that economics, politics or even ethics should come between the sandwich and the spread. On first thought one would have supposed that a British butter barrier would aim at enforcement of some new austerity (a jam yesterday jam tomorrow but never a jam today approach) to pay for whatever the British recently have never had to good. But no—this is not repentance. It is that sort of self-denial typical of a former Round Table Diners' Club whose members could not have loved butter half so well loved they not justice more. And it may yet be celebrated by some poet who, preferring to remain unknown, will write: The dripping scene— 'Tis gone! —Anon

at Bishop's

By NORMAN WEBSTER

The blood drive got underway Friday afternoon to the accompaniment of a barrage of posters, skits and newspaper articles urging both the fearless and faint-hearted to drain a vein for the Red Cross.

A total of 243 pints were donated last year, as the drive fell well short of its goal of 300. Objective this year is again 300 pints, and no effort has been spared to ensure success.

Divinity will be defending its position as the faculty having the highest proportion of donors last year, 71 per cent of its students donating.

Bishop's University as a whole will be out to retain the Codere Cup, awarded for a percentage competition with the University of Sherbrooke.

Civil defence at the University was headlined Thursday in a special two-page report in The Campus, Bishop's weekly newspaper.

The paper's editorial staff interviewed Lennoxville Mayor Ernest Gilbey, Bishop's Bursar Lyman Tomkins, Major G. C. H. Barlow, officer commanding the University's COTC contingent, Sherbrooke Army officials and Bishop's Senior Freshman, Vic Suthren.

Mr. Suthren has been placed in charge of a student committee on preparedness, which an editorial called "at least as important as the scores of other committees on campus whose bulletins daily clog the notice boards".

The Campus pointed out the dangers of radioactive fallout in the area, in event of a nuclear attack; outlined the preparations being made by the Town of Lennoxville to prepare for such emergencies; and revealed that the basement of the Bassett Memorial Library had been classed as "eminently suitable" for conversion to a possible emergency and fall-out shelter.

Peter Gordon and Clifford Maclean this week travelled to Laval University in Quebec to attend one of the year's headline conferences. Delegates from every university in the land were scheduled to hear a wide range of well-known figures, both English and French, speak on the theme: "The Canadian Experiment: Success or Failure?"

Invited to address the delegates were the Hon. E. Davie Fulton, minister of justice; Premier Jean Lesage; the Hon. René Levesque, Quebec minister of natural resources; Union Nationale bigwig Jean Jacques Bertrand; Andre Laurendeau, editor-in-chief of Le Devoir, and Mason Wade, noted for his writings on French-Canadian themes.

Topic for the Quebec regional seminar of the National Federation of Canadian University Students (NFCUS), to be held at Bishop's in February, was also announced this week.

Delegates will discuss and hear learned discussion on "The Canadian Identity — A Positive Force?" One panel and three speakers have been scheduled, in both French and English.

NFCUS National President Walter Maclean, formerly of the University of Toronto, was scheduled to visit the University Sunday to meet the local NFCUS committee and the Students' Executive Council.

A mixed pot of athletic action last week saw the football Gaiteurs lose their sixth straight game in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence conference to end the season firmly in the cellar.

A brighter note, both in appearance and athletic record, was struck by the Vee Vees, Bishop's women's soccer squad, which tied its final game with Compton 2-2 and wound up with a season's record of four wins, two ties and but one loss.

As snow begins to fly, the hockey and basketball teams are hard at work preparing for tough league games before Christmas. The pucksters play Macdonald at home next Saturday, while the cagers travel to Montreal for week-end games with Loyola and Macdonald.

The second basketball team beat Bury 33-20 Thursday night at home in their season opener.

And — oh yes — the ski team is going through some rugged running workouts, running UP the hills at Hilcrest to see what it's like going the other way.

RED CROSS AT BISHOP'S — The annual blood donors clinic organized by the Bishop's University Women's society was held Friday afternoon at the campus gymnasium. Bishop's competing with U of S for the Codere trophy, has set this year's goal at 300 pints. SUCCESSFUL SAWYERVILLE DANCE — Last Friday night's dance at Sawyerville High School proved to be most successful says Diana McCallum, Sawyerville correspondent. Proceeds from the dance went to the Students' Council and the Junior Red Cross. Music was supplied by Rosse's orchestra. Meanwhile, it is reported that well over 100 people attended the Sunnyside High School Athletic Association dance held last Saturday night.

EXAM TIME AT ST. FRANCIS — Extra-curriculum activities at St. Francis High School have slowed down to a near halt this week. It's examination time at the Richmond school and students have turned to their books for last minute cramming instead of heading for football, basketball games, dances, and what-have-you.

SMORGE WEEK AT SUNNYSIDE — If the Sunnyside High School girls have lame backs this weekend it's because they have spent the week carrying heavy books and bookbags for boys. It was Smorge week this past week at Sunnyside and a Sadie Hawkins dance last night brought the week to an end.

necessarily of a scholarship marvel, but one imbued with a high purpose, who has an abiding respect for all races and religions," Mr. Munster explained.

The selection is not made by the board, responsible for the screening interview of the applicant, solely on scholastic merits. It differs from the average scholarship or bursary which is given to those who have high marks and have the inclination to go ahead but because of financial stress are unable to do so. The scholarship is given to a youth with an enquiring mind, and who possesses the qualities of leadership.

General dies

MONTREAL (CP) — Maj. Gen. R. O. G. Morton, one-time general officer commanding the army's Quebec and Prairie commands has died at Palma, on the island of Majorca off the Spanish coast, it was learned here Friday night. A pre-Second World War permanent force officer, General Morton served overseas throughout the war and was commander, army troops area, of the 1st Canadian Army at the end of the conflict.

Probably Mr. Johnson may decide to make a special effort to keep the journalist from the floor of the Assembly where he might be able to ask some rather embarrassing questions.

The decision to run a candidate in Chambly would be made by the "local organization" to save the central committee from any loss of face, but should the Chambly voters decide a contest was in order they reasonably should expect financial aid from the central treasury.

After the sentencing a charge of perjury was laid against Bériault in connection with testimony he gave during the trial.

His lawyer said he will appeal against the conviction and sentence in the evidence charge, laid in connection with two bottles of bootleg alcohol found in the alderman's car.

The Laval University Canadian affairs conference, examining the question of whether the Canadian confederation is a success or failure, was told by two English-language speakers that Canada cannot withstand American culture influence without French-Canada.

"If we are not going to become American, we must work out a bilingual Canada," Murray Ballantyne, Montreal writer and historian, said.

Dr. Eugene Forsey, research director for the Canadian Labor Congress, said the real danger to English-Canada is that it will give up the battle for cultural independence and be swallowed up by the United States.

The Quebec Court of Appeals has ordered a new trial for Norman Theroux, scheduled to have been hanged in February for murdering a fellow convict at the Sorel prison. The court ruled the jury at Theroux's trial was not sufficiently briefed on the question of insanity. Theroux was convicted of murdering Maurice Fraser of Montreal by hitting him over the head with a rock.

Scouting and Cubbing

BY DIANE DURRANT

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating." This frequently quoted maxim was certainly proved true last Friday night at an apple pie supper held at Plymouth Church at which some forty-two boys and fathers enjoyed all the apple pie they could eat.

The event was a suitable reward for the boys' efforts on Apple Day. Guests for the occasion included the fathers who had provided transportation. Reverend Williams of Plymouth Church, Stan Lohrop, president of the district council, and Gord Smith, group committee chairman.

The supper provided an excellent opportunity for the presentation of awards. Scott Planché received an award for the most sales in the Cub Pack and John Gillam was his runner-up. Lars Hansen was rewarded for the greatest number of sales in the Troop.

First stars were awarded to the following Cubs: John Gillam, David Collinson, Bruce Wagner, Ricky Goodfellow, Ian Rose, and Scott Planché. First, second and third year service stars were also presented on this occasion to those qualifying for same.

An Armistice Day parade was held by the Bulwer-Birchton Cubs and Scouts last Sunday at the Birchton United Church. The Scout Group was led by George Picard and the Cubs by Herbert Halsall, each bearing their respective flags, which were placed at the front of each aisle.

Reverend J. A. Plowright rendered a sermon befitting the occasion, after which the boys returned to the church hall followed by their leaders, scoutmaster W. S. Labere, and Scoutmaster William Hill.

At the 5th Sherbrooke Pack last week, Guy Leclair passed his Second Star Signalling test and Grant Blackmore and Tony Davidson passed their second star knots.

All Cub and Scout non-swimmers will be interested to know that there will be a swimming course at the Y.W.C.A. beginning on Saturday, November 25.

The price will be 25 cents per boy. This beginner's course will be followed by the Scout swimmers badge course and eventually the life saving course. Let's have a large turnout from all non-swimmers on Saturday, November 25, at 1:30 p.m. at the Y.W.C.A.

At a meeting of the 7th Sherbrooke Troop last week, Warren Sanderson was presented with his First Class Badge, a very high level of attainment in the Scout Movement.

Also in the 7th Sherbrooke Troop, there were some promotions made last week. Richard Cillis and Peter Maher were promoted to patrol leaders, and Malcolm Taylor, Mark Armitage, and Donald Hutchinson were appointed Second Leaders. Ken Edgecombe was given the position of troop leader.

A note of interest to all the Scouters of the district, the date of the next district council meeting was given in error as November 21st. It is to be held on November 28th, a Tuesday evening.

with the Canadian government." and The Observer said Canadians had adopted an attitude of open obstructiveness.

Drew, however, flatly denied that any snub was intended by his absence from the briefing.

In Ottawa, Opposition Leader Pearson also had some barbed words for the government on its Common Market policy.

"We complain and whine, we preach, bluff, bully and bluster," he said in a TV speech Wednesday night. "This is creating very bad feeling between our two countries." He thought Canada should aim at creation of an Atlantic common market.

The cold war simmered through the week with these developments: West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who visits Washington next week, urged that NATO be permitted to use nuclear weapons without U.S. permission. The U.S. and Britain called on Russia to resume nuclear test ban negotiations but in the UN the Soviet and U.S. delegates disagreed on a disarmament commission. Foreign ministers of the U.S., Britain, France and West Germany agreed to meet on Berlin, probably in Paris, next month. The UN political committee approved resolutions declaring Africa a nuclear-free zone and calling for the outlawing of all nuclear weapons.

Two of them went aloft in the same rocket from Cape Canaveral, Fla., while the third, the 35th shot in the Discoverer series, was fired from a California base and caught in the air over the Pacific by a recovery plane on Thursday.

Spotlight On Business

By JOHN BELANGER Canadian Press Staff Writer

It was a busy week. Every penny mine and his brother jumped on the speculative handwagon and brokers mused wonderingly at the fact that two months ago Lake Du-fault was selling at 38 cents. On Wednesday, Default issued its eighth assay report showing additional high-grade copper values, and on Thursday broke through the $10 barrier. It closed Friday at $10.37 1/2, ahead $3.25 on the week on a turnover of 907,788 shares. The stock at one point touched a high of $10.87 1/2.

Wiltsey-Coghlan, with property adjacent to Lake Du-fault, established a record Friday when it traded 2,616,450 shares—the largest number of shares traded in one stock in one day in the Toronto Exchange's history. Wiltsey was ahead 32 cents this week and settled at 53 cents, after turning over 4,731,800 shares and touching a high of 60.

Other active speculatives were Black Bay Uranium, Acadia Uranium and Donalda Mines, all up in the 6 1/2 to 11-cent range.

INDUSTRIALS SLIP Industrials, after setting three new index highs in as many days at the start of the week slipped towards the close and finished on the downside. The record high of 613.19 was set Wednesday at the noon compilation of the 20-stock industrial index.

Generally, weakness among steels, banks, utilities and papers caused the decline, with a number of key issues taking hefty drops. Banks featured losses with falls in the 50-cent to $2 range to Montreal, Nova Scotia, Imperial Bank of Commerce, Royal and Toronto-Dominion. All five had gained on Monday and Tuesday.

Consumers Gas, Power Corporation and Union Gas all reached new highs among utilities. Gatineau Power was ahead $1.12 1/2 at $40.75 and touched a high of $41.25 on Thursday's news of two extra dividends.

The senior base metals list was down on index, despite marked strength by a few scarce veterans. Falconbridge, Ventures, Wata Amulet and Labrador all rose appreciably, while East Sullivan, Opemiska and Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting dropped in a relatively low range.

GOLDS DULL Golds and western oils both gained a little ground but in general were dull. McIntyre Porcupine featured gold trading by reaching a new high of $50, but later declined to $49 to remain unchanged on the week. Index changes: Industrials down 2.16 to 606.94; golds up .40 to 88.69; base metals down .71 to 297.55 and western oils down .53 to 105.55.

Volume at Toronto was 33,242,000 shares compared with 18,764,000 last week, and the total dollar value was $66,233,546 compared with $59,462,880.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks down .92 to 670.44; industrials down 2.3 to 147.2; utilities up .9 to 333.0; papers up 2 to 498.0 and golds up .33 to 83.92.

Volume at Montreal was 743,107 industrials shares compared with 798,596 last week and 5,138,177 mining shares compared with 3,318,553.

Of the 446 issues traded at Montreal, 160 advanced, 140 declined and 146 were unchanged.

FORMER ANTHEM Ruffst du, Mein Vaterland, to the tune of God Save the Queen, was Switzerland's unofficial national anthem from 1811 to 1961.

His lawyer said he will appeal against the conviction and sentence in the evidence charge, laid in connection with two bottles of bootleg alcohol found in the alderman's car.

SUTTON

At a recent session of the Red Cross, held at the Baptist hall, two quilts were tied and work done on aid articles. Since the Red Cross room will close before the Christmas season, it has been decided to postpone Packing Day, usually set for last meeting of each month, until just before closing time next month. A large shipment will be sent then to headquarters in Montreal.

The availability here and now of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be stressed at the services in the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Soul and Body." Bible selections will feature Luke's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the "woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself." Correlative passages from "Science and Health" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God. Truth casts out error now as surely as it did nineteen centuries ago. All of Truth is not understood; hence its healing power is not fully demonstrated."

Cafeteria and sale most successful

The citizens of Sherbrooke turned out in great numbers to attend the annual Cafeteria and Christmas Sale which took place Thursday, November 16, in the Memorial Hall of St. Peter's Anglican Church.
The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with sprays of hemlock hung in the windows and baskets and vases of greenery upon the sills. In the centre of the stage, suspended from the ceiling was a large wreath of evergreen and small gold ornaments, tied with a large orange transparent bow. In the front of the stage were placed large brass plates, a brass coal scuttle filled with greenery, and brass candlesticks with red tapers.
The cashiers for the event were Mrs. G. Chapman and Miss D. Giroux while Mrs. Roy Wiggitt, the president, Mrs. B. Simms and Miss M. Giroux were in charge of the trays.
The buffet was under the supervision of Mrs. Guy Bishop, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. J. Quintin, Mrs. R. Moe, Mrs. J. Joslin and Miss L. Fales.
The tea and coffee was looked after by Mrs. J. Franklin and Mrs. H. C. Bennett.
Convener for the hall and tables was Mrs. R. D. Rice.
The very delectable food table was cared for by Mrs. G. Parsons, assisted by Mrs. E. Taylor and Mrs. G. Stewart.
The wool table was in the capable hands of Mrs. H. Pets and the novelty and aprons were looked after by Mrs. E. Peabody, Mrs. D. Spafford, Mrs. C. A. K. Bartlett and Miss G. Fox. The card and novelty table was

To speak to club here

The Women's Canadian Club will hold a dinner meeting on Monday, November 20, at seven o'clock. This meeting will take place at the Social Club, and the guest speaker will be Willson Woodside. Mr. Woodside's topic will be, "The UN Under Attack."
Willson Woodside was born in Portage la Prairie and raised in Saskatoon and Calgary. Graduating from the University of Toronto, he travelled a great deal in Europe, and with the rise of Hitler became a specialist in German affairs.
He became Foreign Editor and then Associate Editor of Saturday Night, contributed to many other leading magazines, and during the war his voice became familiar to many Canadians through his nightly commentary on the C.B.C. He has continued to broadcast since then, and recently did a regular Canadian commentary for N.B.C.
Best-known for his interest in foreign affairs, Mr. Woodside has also written a book on the Canadian universities, "The University Question... Who Should Pay?", and contested a federal election.
He was perhaps the first Canadian to point out the need for an Atlantic Alliance, having written about this before the end of the Second World War, and believes the next step should be an Atlantic Common Market.

He was a delegate to the Bruges Conference on Atlantic Community, sponsored by the Ford Foundation, in 1957, and the Atlantic Congress in London, in 1959.
Mr. Woodside has also followed the development of the United Nations from its inception in San Francisco, and attended most of the sessions of the General Assembly since then. In 1958 he was appointed National Director of the United Nations Association in Canada.

Young Canada's Book Week held

By GLADYS TAYLOR
Hugh MacLennan, this year's patron of YOUNG CANADA'S BOOK WEEK says that years ago the first books children read were nearly always good because there weren't so many of them printed, and those a family had were more highly valued. "Nobody can measure what reading does to a man who starts young enough." Mr. MacLennan continues, recalling how translations of the Iliad and the Odyssey so enraptured Heinrich Schliemann that he retired from business at 41.

Gladys Taylor to search for the site of ancient Troy and became the father of archaeology. "Books are more than books," adds Mr. MacLennan, "they are private visions. No matter how great a writer may be, he shares his story, his vision, his excitement with just one other person. Each reader has been alone with the author and he with them."

YOUNG CANADA'S BOOK WEEK, (which we are celebrating this week.) each year sees more children's books on the market - most of them in their beautiful and expensive detail - aimed at the indulgent grandparent's pocket! However whatever the financial motives may be, anything that sees more good books in children's hands, seems laudable.

Among the good children's books available this year is THE CHILDREN'S NEW TESTAMENT prepared by Jay Green, Peter Palmer and Manning De V. Lee, published by MUSSON BOOK COMPANY. The only complete New Testament ever produced in children's language, it has 400 illustrations, 200 in color and interspersed throughout the testament are 100 illustrated Bible stories.

A wonderful summer in the life of a twelve-year-old boy is described by Lyn Cook in THE ROAD TO KIP'S COVE published by MACMILLAN OF CANADA. Lyn Cook is no doubt familiar to many children through her book PEGEEN AND THE PILGRIM and through her popular children's program DOORWAY TO FAIRYLAND broadcast from Toronto.

MISS AUDREY MCKIM
MEET AN AUTHOR: YOUNG CANADA'S BOOK WEEK would not be complete without meeting one of the Canadian authors of children's books. Known as school teacher, Sunday School teacher, children's magazine editor and children's book author to countless children across Canada is Audrey McKim. Miss McKim grew up in the West going to school and later teaching in Edmonton, Alta. It was there that the writing bug first bit her when, unable to attend Laura Goodman Salverson's writing classes during the day, she drove twenty miles each Saturday evening to study with the novelist and develop her own hitherto untried writing talent. When Alberta cele-

GUARDS FOR MATT by Beman Lord, Henry Z. Walk Inc., 63 pp.
This story is about a young lad named Matt. Matt faces a lot of difficulties. In the first chapter we find Matt in gym and afterwards in music. Matt is asked to sing in front of his classmates and when his music teacher asks him to sing for the "Women's Club" his friends begin to tease him. After school he goes to play HORSES, a kind of basketball game. While he is playing he accidentally breaks his glasses. When he tells his mother, she is angry with him. He asks her to buy him a pair of guards for his glasses. She says if he must play the game she will buy the glasses but he will have to wear his catcher's mask instead of glasses. Matt is very upset so he puts on his water goggles. When they are scheduled

A children's favorite

THE STORY OF RAPUNZEL by Felix Hoffman, Oxford University Press, $3.00.
The story of Rapunzel has long been a favorite with small children. In this book the Swiss artist, Felix Hoffman, has made it even more interesting by the use of beautiful pictures. In the beginning of the story there is an old witch who had some special kind of lettuce. The wife next door wanted a bit so her husband got some for her several times until he was finally caught. His punishment was that when their first child was born they would give it to her to raise. When Rapunzel was twelve the old hag put her in a tower. Each day she came and Rapunzel let down her hair. One day a Prince heard her singing and wanted to marry her. He climbed up to ask her and she accepted. Soon the witch found out about this and cut poor Rapunzel's hair.

DELIGHTFUL SONGS, WELL ILLUSTRATED

THE POOH SONG BOOK - A. A. Milne, H. Fraser-Simson and E. H. Shepard. McCLELLAND & STEWART - $4.75.
Here is a collection of Pooh's favourite songs assembled in a delightful new book, with dust jacket and each song attractively illustrated. Any teacher of elementary grades would welcome this volume as a valuable addition to her teaching library as the songs are easily adaptable for child participation. Parents and children alike will value this book; children being particularly delighted to have a copy all their own. This is a book that the child can "grow into" but because of its appeal for adults as well, it is one he will not readily "grow out of."

HAZEL HALL
THIS BOOK IS JUST RIGHT
EVERYONE HAS A NAME by Richard Browne, pictures by Emma Landau, co-workers at the American Heritage Publishing Co. Inc. $5.00.
This is a beautifully-bound children's book quite suitable for Christmas giving to the 2-4 years age group. The illustrations are in brilliant colors, slightly abstract, and are bound to appeal to the imagination of a youngster. The rhymes are easy and short, and form fast associations with each picture: "He can fly in the sky, way up high; His name is BIRD" This book is just right for the child who loves colors and animals. And what child doesn't? - JEAN DOHERTY

A concoction of bits, smatterings, and gobs

THE SECRET WORLD OF OG—Pierre Berton 146 pp. . . McCLELLAND & STEWART . . . $2.95.

Pierre Berton's latest book—this one for children—is a loosely constructed concoction of fatherly pride, remembered bits of Alice in Wonderland and a smattering of the Wizard of Oz, all stuck together with big gobs of not-too-subtle take-offs on children's TV shows and comic books.

If Mr. Berton intended this book to be read by children, he used far too many big words. If he intended it to be read to children by their long-suffering parents, he should have remembered that those parents have children too, of whom they are just as proud as Mr. Berton is of his.

However after Mr. Berton gets beyond the love-my-children section of his book, the tempo does pick up and he tells a remarkably interesting story. Interesting enough that the parent doesn't get bored and the child to whom it is being read doesn't stop pleading for more until the last page is reached.

My eight-year-old daughter recommends it highly. G. T.

Philippines honor leader

The Philippines, named after Philip II of Spain, has issued a coin set honoring Jose Rizal, its national hero, leader of the insurrection in 1896, a prelude to the Spanish American War, after which the Philippines was released by the Spanish.

The silver coins of one peso and half peso correspond in size with the dollar and half dollar of the United States. One hundred thousand pieces of each denomination were struck at the Philadelphia mint during April and June.

Commemorating the centennial or the birth of Jose Rizal, his portrait appears on both coins. The one peso shows him full face with "Jose Rizal Centennial, National Hero" around the edge and the dates 1861 and 1961.

The reverse reads "Central Bank of the Philippines One Peso" around the edge of the shield and "Republic of the Philippines." The smaller half-peso piece is similar with the exception of the portrait, shown facing left.

History of the Philippines is shown clearly on its coinage. Spanish money was used until 1898, when that land was bought by the U.S. government. Under sovereignty of the U.S., coins from 1903 to 1946 bear words "United States of America" with exception of a silver peso dated 1936 which reads "Commonwealth of the Philippines" showing heads of Roosevelt and Quezon commemorating establishment of Philippines.

At the close of the war in 1946, it was recognized as an independent nation and in 1947 the first Republic coins appeared.

One peso and 50 centavos show the head of General Douglas MacArthur with words "Defender and Liberator of the Philippines." The Philippine army had trained under him, and was called into the U.S. service in June, 1941, in time for use in meeting the Japanese invasion on Dec. 8.

The new 1961 commemorative silver coins are the first since 1947, and are now available in Canada.

Ivor Whitehouse Collecting in the Townships

The Eastern Townships Stamp Club had a very successful meeting last Thursday evening, the attendance was good and every one seemed most enthusiastic. The highlight of the evening was the first auction held by the Club with Ted Pilgrim of Bishop's College School as the Auctioneer. Ken Jackson of Sherbrooke had the all important task of listing items for the auction and the payment of the owners. The first successful bidder was Mr. H. Maybank of Sherbrooke and I suppose he will place such a notation under the item when it is mounted in his collection. It is activities such as this that make for a better club. There will be another auction at the first meeting in December. The programme for the gathering on Thursday, 23 will be a general one where members may discuss stamps and collecting. The newly formed Stamp Club in Lennoxville will meet on Wednesday the 29th for the first time. This will bring together collectors of that area for a discussion of what they would like to see and do. The writer of this column will be there to give a short talk on Stamp Clubs for the Average Collector. We will look for you there.

Luxembourg will issue its annual Caritas set on December the 4th and they will depict the children of their Royal Highnesses the Hereditary Grand-Duke and the Hereditary Grand-Duchess of Luxembourg. The surtax will go to funds of the various charitable institutions of that country. The stamps of this small country have always been popular with collectors and the annual Caritas stamps are no exception, they are in various colours and well designed.

The Royal Visit that is now in progress to many countries of Africa will see some beautiful stamps issued by the countries Her Majesty visits. These stamps will form a very good group to have in your collection and early booking is suggested, there should be no shortage but it is always wise to make sure. The Crown Agents have announced a number of new issues for the coming month, among them are the following: Antigua, a set of two stamps commemorating the Restoration of Nelson's Dockyard, Pitcairn Islands have a very pretty set issued on the 15th of this month commemorating the Century of the return of the Islanders from Norfolk Islands. There will be a more complete listing of the new issues in next week's column.

Most people know the story of the founding of the little settlement on Pitcairn Island in 1790 by the mutineers of His Majesty's Armed Vessel Bounty and their Polynesian wives. What is not so well known, except to the Islanders themselves, is that twice in its history Pitcairn has been abandoned by its inhabitants to the birds and wild goats.

Music on Records

by Hugh Doherty
MAREK JABLONSKI is a 21-year-old Polish-born Edmonton pianist who won the grand prize in the first JMC national music competition held at the Jeuneuses Musicales camp at Mount Orford in August of this year. On August 13, he presented his first big concert at the camp auditorium. This month, Les Jeuneuses Musicales of Canada released a long playing recording of the concert (CDJMC 2). It is not available on the general market, but is available to members of JMC, and is well worth having. The recording includes works by Brahms, Mozart and Chopin, and has not left out the encores Mr. Jablonski played at his Townships debut. What was evident then, comes through even more clearly on the new recording — an exceptionally talented young pianist, perhaps destined for fame, playing with confidence and a spiced flourish.

More than that, the recording is a thoroughly professional product. Sound is first class, and serves to prove just how fine the acoustics are at the Mount Orford concert hall.

RAVEL — Concerto in D for the left hand; PROKOFIEV — Concerto No. 3 in C; John Browning, pianist; Erich Leinsdorf conducting the Philharmonia Orchestra (CAPITOL stereo SP 8545) — The playing of John Browning, 28, while perhaps less celebrated, is marked by more personality and fire than that of the other young American virtuoso, Van Cliburn. The Ravel work is the showpiece of this album. In it, young Browning gives an awesome display of left hand power and virtuosity. In this difficult, but grand sounding concerto, the greater part is scored for the solo instrument in the lower ranges, and in these, Browning is most impressive. But his touch in the higher registers — more unfamiliar territory for the left hand — is deft and sure. The Prokofiev work is less brilliant, and lighter in tone. In it, Mr. Browning fairly sparkles with prowess.

BEEHOVEN — Symphony No. 4 in B flat major; Leonore II Overture; Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, Eugen Jochum cond. (DEUTSCHE GRAMMOPHON stereo SLPM 138694) — This light-hearted, vivacious symphony is an exercise in contrasts as performed by maestro Jochum and the Berlin Philharmonic. In a recording notable for its restraint and musical control, Jochum leads the orchestra through a highly-polished, thoroughly enjoyable performance.

The result is a symphony fraught with taut drama despite the essential gaiety of the piece. The Leonore Overture, always overwhelming, gains additional excitement from this treatment.

JEWSH SCHOLAR
Nahum Sokolow, Polish-born Jewish scholar who died in 1936, was president of the World Zionist Organization from 1931 to 1935.

The Doctor Says
Dr. Hyman

BE KIND TO YOUR STOMACH AND IT WILL RECIPROCATE

In a preceding column I started to list some of the "Crimes" many of us self-inflict on our digestive organs whose justifiable complaints we then label "indigestion," "dyspepsia," "heartburn" and the like. Here are some more of these misdemeanors:

Not giving your stomach a chance to provide you with "appetite juice."

By reading the paper or carrying on a lively conversation while you eat.

By hasty gobbling as if you were only given so much time to "come and get it."

By the clutter, noise and confusion of a busy lunch room, eating counter or cafeteria at regular meal hours.

By the solitude and loneliness of a "table for one."

By the disgust due to greasy tableware, a cup rimmed with lipstick or the odors of offensive cooking smells.

By the appearance of an overloaded platter that looks like something set out for the dog.

Failing to moisten your food so that it gets into your stomach like a big dried cake, often due to the popular misconception that drinking with meals causes, or contributes to, overweight.

Not without reason did the custom arise of starting the meal with fluids (fruit or vegetable juices, soup or broth; and of ending with fluids (tea, coffee). And not without reason do the Chinese, in their wisdom, sip warm tea throughout the meal, while the French and Italians, particularly regard their table wine as a necessity.

All too often, many of us gulp down iced, carbonated beverages that chill the delicate stomach lining and add to its difficulties by filling its upper portion (cardia) with a gas bubble that may be as big around as an orange.

Not giving your stomach a chance to empty. Although food starts to trickle through the exit (pylorus) almost immediately, it may take two or more hours for the quart or more of food plus appetite juices to get out. Since the stomach is normally situated so that it empties from left to right; and since, when weight is added down with an overload, he has also to discharge its load uphill when you're on your feet, you delay its emptying time when you fail to sit awhile after you've eaten.

You may make it necessary for it to shift into low gear and crawl to the top of the hill. And, if your clothing or corset is tight around the middle or you have pulled your belt to the last notch, you may be slowing things up even more by blocking the pyloric exit, like fellow passengers who

SCOTSTOWN —

Mr. Murdo E. Murray was an overnight guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Mackenzie, coming from Montreal to attend the funeral of Mr. Willis Macdonald, at Milan, on Nov. 10. While Mr. and Mrs. Murray, of Verdun, Man., were visiting their daughter, Hazel Brunt, in Montreal, Mrs. Murray fell, fracturing her leg. Friends are sorry to hear Mrs. Murray has suffered another setback since having the second cast removed recently.

Messrs. Robert Nicholson and Ronald Macdonald, of Lake Megantic, spent the weekend at their respective homes here.

Rev. R. D. Sandford, of McGill University, Montreal, spent several days at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cook and son, Brian, of Ayer's Cliff, were weekend guests of Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. C. M. Smith, and brother, Robert Smith.

Mrs. J. W. Smith, who spent six months in her home on Coleman Hill, accompanied her daughter, Miss Ruth Smith, to Montreal, to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin MacAulay and son, Tony, of Dorval, were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gaulin and Mrs. Murdo MacAulay.

Mrs. A. M. Goodin spent a few days in Cowansville visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. L. McCrum. Friends will be sorry to learn Mr. McCrum is a patient in the Sweetsburg Hospital.

Guest at the home of the Misses Jennie and Clara Hanright and Mrs. Bea Atkin were, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ross, Mrs. Norton Baldwin and Mrs. Gerald Burt, of Sherbrooke. A recent weekend guest of the Hanrights also was Mrs. Alan MacKay, of Montreal West.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nicholson, who are living in Sherbrooke and have been employed at the Sherbrooke Hospital for the past two years, have sold their home on Coleman Hill to Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Hotte, who will take possession shortly.

won't get out of your way when you try to leave a crowded car at your own station.

By making a poor choice of foods and drinks, such as continuing to eat things like fish, eggs, strawberries or pork to which you know, by experience, you're allergic. Such as eating a big meal in the middle of the working day when you know you won't have the time or opportunity to let the stomach empty properly. Such as drinking excessive amounts of coffee, tea and caffeinated beverages despite the fact that we've been warned that ulcers have been produced in laboratory animals by just such excesses.

And finally, for present purposes, by forgetting that our tummies also may be insulted by medicines, notably most pain-killers, including aspirin alone or in combination and buffered or unbuffered, many tranquilizers, especially those containing reserpin that also produces ulcers; some of the blood pressure depressants; and other drugs in common use like digitalis, "tonics" that contain iron or iodide, etc.

What this all comes to is a suggestion to start a campaign for a "Be-Kind-to-Your-Stomach" week before you add to the confusion by self-medicating with peptic digestants, antacids, gastric sedatives and the like. But don't let what you have read keep you from consulting your doctor if your distress persists, if you have been losing weight and strength, if you have been seasick on land or you have been unchucking or if you have had bloody or tarry evacuations.

Parade, Youth Service held at Thetford Mines

THETFORD MINES — A combined Remembrance Parade and Youth Service was held on Nov. 12 in the Church of St. John the Divine, Scouls, Cubs, Junior and Girls' Auxiliary members and officers took part in a ceremonial parade to the church, led by the choir and crusifer.

During the service, a special memorial ceremony was conducted by the rector, reading the names of those who had fallen in the two great wars. A Scout color party on parade stopped at the back of the church for the Last Post, and in front of the altar for Revell.

The bugler was F. J. Buck, L.R., who also was crusifer. The lecture was read by Miss Verteran, Bob Johnston.

Enrolment and progress certificates and stripes were presented to J. A. members as follows: Progress Certificates, Margaret Ann Lawrence, Nancy Merrill and Barbara McCann, enrolment cards and ties, Linda Hodgson, Danielle Massant, Sharon Pharo and Marlene Mather, the First Stripe, Linda Hodgson, the Third Stripe, Linda Lowry, Joanne McCammon, Dora McCadden, Shirley McFadden, May and June Morrier. The rector made the presentation assisted by J. A. Leader, Mrs. George Riley.

Enrolment and presentation of Servers' Crosses, emblematic of membership in the Diocesan Order of Service, were made to Peter Bateman, Robert Coleman, John Little, Terence Macmillan and George Moad.

The rector, Canon S. A. Meade spoke briefly on the significance of the poppy symbol and about St. Martin of Tours, whose day is also Nov. 11. The services closed with special prayers for peace.

The parade led by a color party from Branch 10 of Sherbrooke, moved from the Community Hall to the cenotaph, where the simple but impressive service was held. At the given signal the colors were lowered and two minutes' silence observed.

Prayers were offered by Rev. C. Cheesman and Rev. Father G. Pellerin. Wreaths and crosses were placed on the cenotaph by the Mayor of North Hatley, Charles Coleman, and representatives from the churches and various organizations of the town.

Forming the parade were several members from Branch 10 of Sherbrooke; the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 242, led by the color party, Mrs. Harold Taylor bearing the standard, Mrs. Ralph Riley and Mrs. George Price; the North Hatley Scouts and Cubs with their standard borne by Allan Sharrman; the Guides and Brownies with Gayle Hatrick carrying the colors. The pupils from both North Hatley and Waterville schools, were in the parade.

The color party from Branch 242 was comprised of Comrades P. Gagnon, G. Price, F. Lukas, S. Kezar, and W. Kezar. Comrade Russell Kezar, of Waterville, was parade marshal.

It was decided to spend $10 for sheets or blankets for the Dixville Home for Retarded Children. Socks and mittens will be made by the members and handed in at the December meeting when each member will answer the roll call with a small gift for the children at the Dixville Home.

It was also decided to hold a card party in the gymnasium of the Elementary School on Dec. 8 and each member is urged to notify four or more friends.

Mrs. Robert Denney gave an interesting report on the County meeting held at North Hatley and Mrs. G. Boisvert read a new list of articles wanted for the fair exhibit.

UNICEF cards and note paper were distributed to those who had ordered them. Several letters were read and it was noted that the canvass for the blind was a success.

Mrs. R. Denney won the round robin and following adjournment, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Charles Bullock, Mrs. Carrie Leney and Mrs. Alfred Smith.

Flowers on the altar at St. John's Anglican Church on Nov. 12, were in memory of Mr. Robert Grey, and were placed there by Mrs. Grey.

The Catholic Women's League held a drawing on a doll and wardrobe, the winner being Pierrette Rouillard.

Armistice Day service held at Cookshire park

COOKSHIRE — An Armistice Day service took place in the town park on Nov. 12, at 11:30 a.m., when veterans with Nelson Fuller in charge, paraded from the Legion Hut to the park, led by the East Angus Band and Majorettes.

At the park the band played O Canada and Rev. Ernest Breen offered the opening prayer.

Claude Gosselin, M.P.P. paid tribute to the fallen, and asked all to keep united in order to prevent a re-occurrence of war. Mr. Breen then gave the memorial prayer.

The Last Post was sounded, and a two-minute silence was observed in tribute to the war dead. R. G. Hodge read the names of those who fell in war, and also of those who have since died as a result of war.

The band played Abide With Me while wreaths were being placed at the cenotaph by merchants of the town, various organizations and by individuals.

Mayor B. Turcotte gave a short address in French and in English, and stated that World War II had been worse than World War I, and asked all to unite in prayers for the cessation of all wars.

God Save the Queen was played by the band, and Mr. Breen pronounced the benediction.

Two local curlers, Bob McMurray of Lennoxville and Hubert Johnston of Sherbrooke, will be honored next month by the Canadian Branch of the Royal Caledonia Curling Club. The presentations will take place Dec. 15 and 16 when the Seniors Competition will be played here.

Bob McMurray is no newcomer to curling ranks as he has been tossing stones for the past fifty years. He was the first president of the Lennoxville Club and has held various positions on the executive. He was always ready to give a helping hand to a beginner and many new curlers learned tips from him. He is highly respected and regarded by his numerous curling friends and no doubt they will be pleased to hear about the new honor.

Hubert Johnston has been one of the main cogs of the Sherbrooke Club and has held various positions on the executive also. The presentation of life membership to both these curlers is well deserved and on behalf of your many friends gentlemen, please accept our congratulations.

The annual Interscholastic Volleyball Tournament opened this morning at the Sherbrooke High School gym and will continue throughout the day with the finals slated for this afternoon.

In the girls' section eight high schools are taking part while in the boys' nine will be seeking honors. The girls' finals will be played at 3:00 followed by the boys at 3:30. So all in all it should be quite an event. It is open to the public.

The CBC is trying to work out a solution with Jake Gaudaur, TV chairman of the Eastern Football Conference, dealing with television of Eastern and Western football playoffs. CBC has the rights for the west while CFTO-TV holds the east. As yet nothing definite has been released.

Coach Bud Grant and his Blue Bombers move to Calgary to take on the Stamps in the first fixture of a two-out-of-three Western final, worrying as much about the weather as the Stampeders' new dangerous offence.

The spread is similar to the one being used by the Argos and can cause a lot of headaches to the linebackers and ends. Coach Grant has taken this into consideration and has made several changes in an effort to offset it.

Can Ticats stop Argos' famous "scatter-gun" offence? — This question and several others will be answered Sunday afternoon when the two teams meet at the CNE grounds in Toronto. The bookies have installed Ticats as one-point favorites in the opening game and six-point favorites to take the round.

The last time these two clubs met in the eastern final was in 1952 and Hamilton was favored even more heavily than that time. The Argos held a 16-point advantage after the first tilt but the Ticats tied it up forcing an extra game and the Argos came through. They went on to win the Grey Cup against Edmonton Eskimos. It was the last time they won the classic.

Coach Jim Trimble stated his team can stop the Argos' new pass pattern and that their offence is better and he hopes the defence will be adequate to contain Tobin Rote. The condition of the field will have a lot to do with the outcome.

Argos are a faster team but if it is wet under it will be tough going as Ticats are mudders. Rote and company certainly pulled the big surprise last week when they knocked over the Rough Riders.

On paper the Argos have a good team but they seem to play inconsistent ball. One week they look like Grey Cup champions and the next time like a bunch of school kids. Can the Argos come up with another top performance, two in a row, and take the Ticats? We think they can as they have the horses to do the job.

Bruce Coulter will be looking for two things today, to celebrate his 34th birthday, when he leads his Redmen to battle against the Golden Gaels for the Senior Intercollegiate championship. This will be his farewell appearance as coach of McGill and he would like to end with two consecutive titles to his credit.

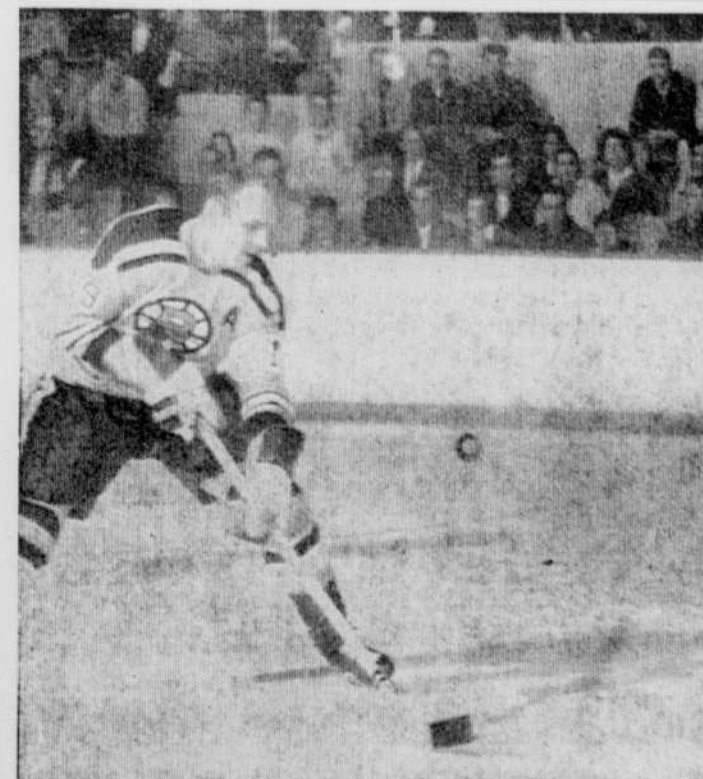

McGill bumped Queen's last year to take the title and Coach Coulter is expecting the Gaels will be tough today in an effort to make up for their loss. The game shapes up as a passing battle between Tom Skyepek of McGill and Cal Connor of Queen's. Both teams have minor injuries but it is expected all will be on hand for the important battle.

Sherbrooke Junior Hockey League officially opens tomorrow with two games on tap commencing at 1.45

The official opening of the Sherbrooke Junior Hockey League will take place Sunday afternoon at the Arena with a twin-bill on the agenda. In the first tilt the Junior Beavers will tangle with the Maroons while in the nightcap St. Francis and the Indians clash.

Mayor Armand Nadeau has been invited to face the puck to get the season underway. He will be accompanied by President Ivan Dugre, city aldermen, league officials and special guests.

Coach Pat Murphy of the Beavers will be out to defend the title his team won last year and will present about the same club. A few new players have been added but the majority have remained from last season.

Ticats confronted by elements that make upset possible

Argos have revamped their attack with "shotgun spread" offence, Tobin Rote to get special attention

TORONTO — (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats, a team so powerful during the regular season it left no doubt about its superiority, take on Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Football Conference final confronted by those elements that make an upset possible.

The two clubs, longtime arch rivals in the Big Four league because of their bitter past battles and the nearness of the two cities, clash in the opening game of the two-game, total-point series here Sunday, starting at 2 p.m. EST.

The second game will be played in Hamilton, Saturday, Nov. 25, and the new Eastern champions will meet the winner of the Western final, either Winnipeg Blue Bombers or Calgary Stampeders, for the Grey Cup in Toronto Dec. 2.

Tiger-Cats, who made a run-away of the regular Big Four season with a 10-4 won-lost record, have been established as slight favorites over the erratic Argos on the series with the odds fluctuating almost daily. They now are rated as seven-point choices on the round but the oddsmakers have steered clear, in their latest figures, of quoting a point spread for the first game. The betting for the opener is 11 to 10, pick your team.

UPSET POSSIBLE

Well-balanced Tiger-Cats, aware of the great potential scoring power of Argos, are not taking anything for granted even though they beat them in all three of their previous games this season—28-24, 21-19 and 37-10. The upset factor is a distinct possibility nevertheless.

Since their last meeting the third-place Argos have revamped their attack to inject more running and passing punch and have improved steadily. They showed they might be reaching their peak in their devastating 43-19 surprise win over the runner-up Ottawa Rough Riders in the sudden-death semi-final.

Argos' unveiling in that game of their shotgun or spread pass offence — the modernized version of the old short punt formation—has given Hamilton an additional worry. However, coach Jim Trimble is confident Tiger-Cats won't have as much trouble with it as the Rough Riders.

Coach Bobby Dobbs is mum about Calgary's bag of tricks for today's opener of Western Football finals

CALGARY (CP) — Whatever coach Bobby Dobbs has planned for his Calgary Stampeders today he is — naturally — keeping it a deep, dark secret.

"Ah'm gonna keep my mouth shut," drawled the Oklahoma native Friday when he was asked about his team's plans for the first game of the Western Football Conference finals against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Coach Bud Grant of Winnipeg has at least gone as far as to say he may make some linebacker shifts and alter the offensive blocking. But Dobbs kept mum.

The only thing that brought son.

The Maroons, under Guy Lindley, this year, lost their complete squad with the exception of one player, Alain Beaulieu. The rest of the team was picked at the draft and having held only one workout it is hard to predict anything about the future.

The other two clubs are about in the same class as the majority of the players are all new to their respective teams. The other two clubs in the league, Bishop's and Technical School, don't make an appearance until later.

On Monday evening another twin-bill will be played with Bishop's University meeting Technical School in their first appearance while in the second St. Francis and the Indians will meet.

A commercial company was hired to do a $225 spraying job on the fading turf. It took six hours to put the bright non-staining vegetable matter on the field.

The coating — "strictly for appearance," says Finks — dries in 15 minutes and will not fade for months.

"We do things big around Calgary," Finks added.

A crowd of at least 17,000 in the 20,000-seat stadium is expected, possibly larger if the weather is good.

Wolverhampton sells Ed Clamp for $98,000

LONDON (AP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers sold the contract of Eddie Clamp, their star wing, to Arsenal of the English Soccer League for $98,000 Friday.

Clamp, 26, has played in all the Wolves' league games this season. Arsenal said Clamp will start today's home game against Nottingham Forest.

Marilyn Paugh elected president of ET Women's Basketball League with five teams ready to operate again

The first meeting of the Eastern Townships Women's Basketball League for the 1961-1962 season was held Wednesday night at the YWCA in Sherbrooke.

The gathering saw representatives from five teams meet to discuss plans for the forthcoming season.

The first item on the agenda was the election of officers with Nancy Love being elected president, Marilyn Paugh as vice-president and Margaret Clark as secretary-treasurer. The outgoing executive consisting of president Archie Christianson, vice-president Barbara Cope and secretary-treasurer Betty Denison have all either moved away from the district or are unable to continue with the League.

Five teams represented at the meeting expressed a desire to get the season underway as soon as possible so as to finish before Easter. The teams represented were Magog, Teachers, YWCA, Student Nurses, and Bishop's.

Representing Magog were Margie Clark and Pam Moore, the YWCA, Valerie Rawlings and Joan Davidson, Student Nurses, Marilyn Paugh and Hazel Godefellow, and the Teacher, Sglvia Loomis and Nancy Love.

It was decided at the meeting that no player could play games before her team's registration was in and also that each team could sign on 20 players for the season.

In addition, three new rules in women's basketball were discussed by the representatives as well as several clauses in the constitution of the League being amended.

The first game in the circuit is set for Tuesday night, November 28, when Magog visits the YWCA in Sherbrooke. The second tilt is slated for Thursday night, November 30, with the Teachers taking on the Student Nurses. Both fixtures start at 8:00.

The executive of the league wishes to announce that if any women's team in the district are interested in joining the association, they should contact either Miss Nancy Love or Miss Margaret Clark for further information.

Passing duel looms today at Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The Senior Intercollegiate Football League playoff game today between McGill University Redmen and Queen's University Golden Gaels looms as a passing duel between quarterbacks.

Cal Connor of Queen's, a so-so quarterback last season, has shown this season in which Gaels finished on top at the end of the regular schedule. He threatens to dethrone McGill's Tom Skyepek as best quarterback in the league.

Connor and Skyepek both are expected to throw from short punt formations in today's game, a challenge affair in which the Redmen seek to wrest the title from Queen's.

McGill made history repeat last weekend when they dethroned the previously undefeated Queen's squad 15-7, thereby earning the right to have another whack at the title.

Under intercollegiate rules if the second-place team has a victory over the leader, a playoff results. Queen's and McGill ended one-two a year ago. McGill defeated the league-leading Queen's and went on to take the playoff, capturing their first intercollegiate title in 22 years.

Both clubs have men on the injured list but Queen's is the hardest hit. Coach Frank Tindall will have to operate without hard-running halfback Mike Pettit in his lineup.
